Those Let Out Have Been Promised Old Jobs Back By Mellon, Said

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. — The smouldering embers of the bureau of engraving controversy which first blazed up two years ago with a wholesale dismissal of employes by President Harding, has again been famed into flame.

Charles B. Brewer, department of justice attorney who investigated charges of duplication of government securities, brought the case into the open today with the filing of sensational charges against the treasury, and despite denials by Secretary Mellon and other officials that Brewer's allegations contained merit, Representative LaGuardia, republican, New York, began steps by introducing a resolution of inquiry to force a congressional inquiry.

The charges of Brewer were contained in a copy of a report he had sent previously to President Coolidge and Attorney General Daugherty, and

Government To Make Probe Of Standard Oil

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The department of justice will immediately set in motion its machinery to go to the bottom of charges of Governor McMaster of South Dakota that "allied interests of the Standard Oil" had cornered the crude oil supply and enhanced gasoline prices. The department action had been taken upon instructions from President Coolidge to whom was directed a telegram from the South Dakota Governor setting forth his charges and also a similar message from Governor Bryan of Nebraska.

Shortly after the announcement the president had ordered an inquiry into the gasoline and crude oil situation, former Representative Campbell of Kansas, speaking for the Prairie Oil and Gas company, substituted to the executive a statement giving reasons for the fluctuation of crude oil and gasoline prices in the last year. Mr. Campbell suggested the operations of the economic law of supply and demand alone was responsible for the fluctuating price.

The president's instructions, it was said at the department of justice, would mean a broadening of an inquiry which has been under way many months. United States attorneys long have had instructions, officials added, aided by local officers, to run down monopolistic tendencies of all kinds.

Governor McMaster declared in his telegram that South Dakota "had performed its duty in preventing excess profits in the distribution business" and called upon the federal government to check excess profits in the refining of gasoline.

The department is prepared to study both phases of the industry, however, and the federal trade commission which also was directed today by the president to inquire into the situation is considering its course in the matter. The commission already had much data bearing on the questions involved, and a review of that will be made to determine its future course.

Closed Car Death Trap For Two As It Collides With Fast Train, Catching Fire

The Day In Washington

A tax revision bill was reported by the house ways and means committee.

The senate oil committee abandoned its purpose to examine Albert B. Fall.

Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, delivered a prepared address attacking the Sinclair and Doheny oil leases, Secretary Denby and Albert B. Fall.

The senate adopted the Walsh resolution looking to annullment of Standard Oil leases in the Elk Hills, California, naval oil reserve, and renewed the authorization under which the oil committee is acting.

E. L. Doheny wrote the senate oil committee that William G. McAdoo's law firm received only $150,000 from him instead of $250,000 and that the payments were in no way conenected with cases now before the committee.

The state department announced that arrangements had been made for the withdrawal of the marine legation guard at Managua, Nicaragua, after next January 1.

President Coolidge directed the department of justice and the federal trade commission to investigate charges of Governor McMasters of South Dakota, that the crude oil market had been cornered.

Charges of duplication of federal securities were contained in exhibits filed in the District of Columbia supreme court by Charles B. Brewer, department of justice attorney and the charges were denied by Secretary Mellon.

Ballot Collector In Mayfield Row Must Keep Quiet

Washington Bureau Record News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Deputy sergeants-at-arms collecting ballots in Texas have no right to make comments on their findings, Senator Spencer, chairman of this committee, investigating the Peddy-Mayfield case, declared today. This announcement was made after his attention had been called to the published statements of a deputy concerning certain irregularities, which he claimed to have found in connection with the performance of his duties.

"Any such comments are entirely out of place," Spencer said, "and outside the duties of the deputy sergeant-at-arms in the matter.

"I very much regret any attempt to prejudice in any way this case which must be decided entirely by the evidence as it is submitted in the presence of both parties, before the regularly constituted committee of the senate, and gossip of the kind to which my attention has been called cannot be too severely reprimanded."

Man and Wife Cremated Before They Could Be Dragged From Flaming Car; Two Others Injured.

By The Associated Press.

GREENWOOD, Miss., Feb. 7.—Two persons were burned to death and two others seriously injured late today when the closed automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad passenger train near Minter City, 25 miles north of here, and caught fire.

The dead:

John Lindsey, 35, and his wife, of Money, Miss.

John Farmer, 35, a salesman of Ittabena, Miss., driver of the ill-fated machine, suffered burns that probably will prove fatal physicians said.

I. I. Kerr of Money was badly burned, but is expected to recover.

The automobile burst into flames as it was pushed along the tracks by the train, which was backing into the station. The imprisoned autoists were helpless and Lindsay and his wife were cremated before they could be dragged from the flaming car by passengers.

Although it was pushed along the track for some distance by the train the automobile remained upright.

14 Are Adrift On Ice Cakes In St. Lawrence

By The Associated Press.

QUEBEC, Feb. 7.—Fourteen persons were adrift on cakes of ice in the swelling waters of the St. Lawrence river tonight and efforts of a ferry boat to reach them were futile. The fourteen members of a party of 17 were standing on an ice bridge between Quebec and Levis when it snapped and broke away. Three were rescued.

Hurriedly formed rescue parties set out for Quebec bridge, toward which the ice floes were drifting, in the hope they could rescue the victims with ropes as they passed beneath the bridge. From point along the short, it was reported as many as nine or ten persons had been seen on one cake of floating ice.

The ice bridge, the first formed here in 25 years, was an unusual sight and hundreds of persons entered to witness it. The persons who were carried away when it broke were standing about the middle of the stream, making efforts at rescue all the more difficult.

BRITAIN PREMIER OUTLINES PLAN U. S. RELATIONS

McDonald Says Newcastle Controversy Will Be Solved Soon

FOR WORLD PEACE

Is Against Wholesale Armament of Nations and Asks U. S. Help

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Prime Minister MacDonald, in his desire to remove every obstacle calculated even remotely to impair the good relations between this country and the United States, will at an early date attempt to effect a settlement of the controversy concerning the re-opening of the American consulate at New Castle, it was learned from authoritative source this afternoon.

The prime minister also will support the confirmation in the house of commons of the Anglo-American liquor treaty and he expects no serious opposition to the passage of his measure.

Mr. McDonald is said to feel regretful that it had ever become necessary to guard America's right to enforce her own prohibition laws by the negotiation of this special treaty. He would prefer, it is indicated, to see all foreign nations, individuals and ship owners honorably respect the American desire to keep out illicit liquor.

On the question of disarmament Mr. MacDonald is known to share heartily the views of the American government and would welcome a gesture from Washington.

The British prime minister is firmly convinced that an appeal to the sense of justice, the reason and the higher instincts of the nations would do more to restore the peace of the world than the maintainance of the giant navies and armies.

In this connection it is understood Mr. MacDonald favors the shelving of the project to establish the far eastern British naval base at Singapore until the application of these principles have been tried.

It was indicated, however, that the cabinet maintains an open mind on the Singapore question and will not announce its decision until it has concluded all phases of it.

"Common honesty, neighborliness and frankness between nations as among individuals," the premier believes will yet be applied to the settlement of all international disputes and will put to shame the forces of might such as huge standing armies, fleets, airplanes, poison gas and other instruments of destruction.

The premier advocates the extension of the principle of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain and will do everything possible to facilitate formal agreement on this subject, although the United States has not yet made any official advances in this direction. He is also hopeful that he United States will lend its great influence and assistance in solving the problems of Europe.

He regards the participation of American experts in the reparation inquiry and the probably fruitful outcome of their labors as a good argument in this direction.

Mex. Federals Are Occupying Vera Cruz Is Report

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Feb. 7.—Mexican federal troops entered the city of Vera Cruz this forefoon, A. R. Hegeswich, consular agent here for the De la Huerta insurrectionary government, announced late today he had been advised. He would not say where his information came from.

VERA CRUZ, Feb. 7.—(Radio to The Associated Press).—Mexican federal forces are marching toward Vera Cruz, which was evacuated by the rebels yesterday, according to a Cordoba dispatch received here today. Jalapa is in the possession of the federals, trustworthy sources reported.

All revolutionary forces left Vera Cruz yesterday, almost all of them going via railway to a destination somewhere near Horna Blanca, from which point they will try to reach Tuxpam, where revolutionary headquarters will be established. Two Mexican gunboats accompanied the San Bernardo.

Order is prevailing in this city, there being few cases of looting. The customs house, telegraph offices and other public buildings closed and few business houses were opened.

Four Negro Murderers Were Electrocuted At Midnight First to Die Under New Mode

One Negro Is Granted An Hour Reprieve For Attorney to Communicate with Lieut. Gov. Davidson.

By The Associated Press.

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Feb. 8.—Four negroes were put to death in the electric chair at the penitentiary here early today and a fifth was granted a one-hour stay of execution by Commissioner Walker Styles in order that his attorney might confer with Lieutenant Governor Davidson, who is reported to be en-route to Austin to act as governor while Governor Neff is out of the state.

The four negroes executed were Charles Reynold, Ewell Morris, George Washington and Mack Matthews. They were executed in the order named, the first one going to the chair at nine minutes after midnight and the last being pronounced dead at 7 minutes after one.

N. L. Speer, assistant warden announced that the electrocution of Melvin Johnson would be delayed one hour to allow his attorney, E. W. Love, to communicate with Davidson.

The condemned men are: Charles Reynold, Ewell Morris, Melvin Johnson, George Washington, and Mack Matthews Reynolds, 27 years old, was convicted of murder in Red River county and sentenced to death for the killing of a white man. Morris, 22, was charged with killing a white man and convicted in Victoria county. Johnson, 19, was convicted in Liberty county for the slaying of a negro woman, and Washington, 38, in Newton county for the death of a negro man. Matthews, 58, was sentenced to death on conviction of killing his wife, also in Newton county.

Governor Neff had granted several reprieves in the case of each man except Reynolds, because of the delay incident to the installation of the electric chair and the obtaining of a warden after the resignation of R. F. Coleman, who declined to perform the duty of executioner imposed upon him by law.

WIFE FAINTED WHEN GUILTY VERDICT IS AGAINST HUSBAND

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Robert Ingalls fainted in federal court here today when a jury brought in a verdict of guilty against her husband charged with others of using mails to defraud in alleged oil promotions.

Gordon Ingalls, Robert Edmond Ingalls, and Richard Rader, were found guilty on all except three of the 18 counts in the indictment charging them with using the mails to defraud in alleged oil promotions. Judge William H. Atwell, presiding, instructed the jury in his charge to find the defendants not guilty on three of the counts, saying he deemed the evidence insufficient in connection with them.

Sentence was deferred, but it was expected to be passed tomorrow or Saturday.

H. F. Powell, defense attorney, announced that the case would be appealed.

The three defendants were indicted last September for alleged misuse of the mails in connection with the promotion of the Richard Rader Mineral Deeds syndicate, the indictment alleging fraud.

The verdict was returned after about 30 minutes deliberation.

Coolidge Promises Release To 54 Negroes Who Were In Big Houston Race Riot During War

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Release of 54 former negro soldiers imprisoned in Leavenworth penitentiary for the Houston, Texas, riots of 1917 was promised by President Coolidge to a delegation of negroes who asked clemency for the imprisoned men.

The delegation, headed by James Weldon Johnson, secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, presented a petition signed by more than 120,000, they said, asking for executive clemency.

At the war department it was learned a strong disposition existing in favor of granting a considerable degree of clemency in the case of the former members of the 24th infantry, all of whom with one exception, were said to have been model prisoners throughout the portions of their terms already served. Sentences of several have already been reduced on various occasion because of unusual conduct in the prison.

Some time ago the negro prisoners intervened in a mess room riot at the prison when the life of the superintendent was threatened by an outbreak among the other prisoners. One prisoner was knocked down and was about to be trampled and seriously injured if not killed, when the negro prisoners, a number of them former non-commissioned officers with long records of faithful service in the army, prior to the rioting in Houston, charged to his rescue and beat off the attack of their fellow prisoners. The outbreak, it was said at the war department was due to the activities of I. W. W. men confined.

Test Case Before Appeals Court Expected to Have Great Bearing.

By The Associated Press

GALVESTON, Tex., Feb. 7.—The constitutionality of the Texas married woman's separate property act is involved in a question certified to the supreme court today by the first court of civil appeals. The question arises in the case of Gus I. Arnold, administrator vs. Adelee Leonard, from the district court of Galveston county.

The supreme court is asked to decide where the act of the legislature, section 1, 37th legislature, which declares the rents and revenues of the wife's separate real property to be her separate estate, violative of article 16, section 15, of the Texas constitution. The facts upon which the case is based are briefly that Mrs. Leonard obtained from the district court an order restraining Arnold, administrator, from subjecting the rents and revenues of her separate property to the payments of her husband's debts.

Attorneys attach great importance to the case.

Control Board To Buy Highway Supplies, Ruling

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 7.—Purchase of $1,000,000 worth of highway supplies including trucks, tractors and other maintenance equipment will be handled by the state board of control instead of the highway commission, under a ruling from the attorney general announced today by R. B. Walthall, member of the board. The board will open bids February 13 for the equipment, Mr. Walthall said.

In the past these supplies have been purchased by the highway commission. When the bids were recently rejected because of a technicality, the question was raised as to who had authority to make the purchase. The attorney general ruled them purchases come under the board of control, the same as all other supplies purchased by the state. The bids will be opened, the samples examined and the goods bought by the board, Mr. Walthall said.

DOHENY BACKS UP ON ORIGINAL SALARY LINE-UP

Says He Paid McAdoo Firm $150,000 instead of $250,000

THE POT STILL BOILS

Fall Will Not Be Called Yet But Will Come Later Is Belief

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. — Mr. McAdoo's announcement was contained in a letter to Chairman Lenroot of the senate oil committee, in which he expressed the desire to testify before the committee immediately. He may be heard tomorrow.

The former treasurer said that when he read in the newspapers Mr. Doheny's amazing disclosures about his transactions with ex-Secretary Fall he refrained from immediately terminating his professional services with Mr. Doheny, as was his first impulse but had done so now, "fearing that the newspaper accounts might be as various and unfair" to Mr. Doheny as some of them had been to him.

"I indignantly protest" wrote Mr. McAdoo, "against the whispered suggestions that I—and the others, lawyers and laymen, who helped in the Mexican enterprises of which Mr. Doheny is the head—share any taint of any kind. I deny that insinuation as monstrously unfair. For those who, like myself, can stand up and make good this denial, it is not so important, but particularly do I resent the insinuation that because the late Franklin K. Lane, after his service as secretary of the interior, resigned and

JAP IMMIGRANT QUESTION HERE

Japan's Foreign Minister Wants New Negotiations On Question

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The desire of the Japanese foreign minister for new negotiations with the United States government relative to the question of the migration of Japanese to the United States, indicated in the authorized statement made by the minister in Tokio today, is assumed here to be based on the movement in congress to restrict sharply by law the entrance of Japanese into the United States rather than to be a reflection of any refusal by the Washington government to talk matters over in a diplomatic way.

It is recognized in Washington that the Japanese immigration question is a difficult problem of domestic politic in Japan, as it is in the United States. Many observers are inclined to believe the ministers statement was prompted by such consideration.

There is little reason to suppose that the Japanese government does not fully understand that it would be useless to negotiate a new gentlemen's agreement on immigration unless the terms of that agreement were entirely satisfactory to the forces at work in the United States which have led to congressional proposals for restrictions by law that might amount to Japanese exclusion.

The government would be powerless to carry out any agreement not in harmony with the law and it therefore seems unlikely that the Washington government will see the practical value of undertaking diplomatic conversations until the intent of congress is known.

In the meantime there is little doubt that administration leaders in congress are fully advised as to the necessity of living up strictly to the terms of the existing immigration agreement with Japan. If as the Tokio statement indicates, that Agreement has been carried out in a complete good faith and the public in the states of the west particularly interested in the question become convinced that such is the case, there would seem to be little reason to anticipate drastic action by congress.

SALE OF ORIENT RAILWAY, ORDER

Order of Sale Says Purchaser Must Continue Its Operation

By The Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 7.—Sale of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway, the railroad which the late Arthur E. Stilwell visioned as the shortest route from Kansas City to the Pacific ocean, was ordered in federal court here today to satisfy a government loan of $2,764,037. The order of sale, however, stipulates that the purchaser must continue operation of the road.

Judge John C. Pollock named Ben F. McLean, president of the Fourth National bank, Wichita Kans., as special attorney to conduct the sale, at a date yet to be fixed.

The Orient was organized in 1901 and went into receivership in 1917.

The Orient system in the United States has 737 miles of track and operates between Wichita, Kans., and Alpine, Texas, with a gap between Sweetwater and San Angelo, Texas. The road also has 37 miles in Mexico. One line extends from Las Trancas to Guereso and passes through Chihuahua. The other extends from Topolobampo, on the gulf of Lower California of La Guana.

Promoters of the road have asserted that if the route could be completed as originally planned Topolobampo would become a port rivaling San Francisco. Deprived of transcontinental traffic, the road has been unable to flourish because of the little traffic originating in sparsely settled districts through which it passes. Numerous towns in western Oklahoma and west Texas depend on the Orient for transportation, however, and the interstate commerce commission has endeavored to keep the road in operation.

The Orient was capitalized for fifty million dollars. About thirty million dollars, it was said today, was expended in development of the system.

Stilwell, one of the main projectors and first president of the Orient, also projected and directed construction of the Kansas City Southern. This road is now operating from Kansas City to Port Arthur, Texas, as the most direct route to the Gulf of Mexico.

became quite openly an officer of the Doheny companies, he thereby shares the taint of corruption. It would be ridiculous if not so vicious.

"What I have done was within my rights as a lawyer. In my representations of the Doheny companies in Mexican matters I never dealt in political influence, nor did I ask or promise, or give or receive, political favors or other favors."

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—William G. McAdoo announced here tonight he had terminated his professional service with E. L. Doheny, California oil magnate.

Abandoning further efforts to question Albert B. Fall, the senate oil committee went forward today with plans to press the naval oil lease investigation along every other available channel.

A new grant of authority for the committee to act was given by the senate to remove any ground for a challenge of its jurisdiction such as that made by Mr. Fall last Saturday when he refused to testify.

At the same time the senate voted to enlarge the area of naval oil lands sought to be recovered by the government by including Sections 16 and 36 in the Elk Hills, California, field now held by the Standard Oil company of California.

With these two matters disposed of without debate or a dissenting vote, the senate renewed its bitter war of words over the resolution calling for the resignation of Secretary Denby, but without reaching a vote.

Chairman Lenroot received and made public a letter from E. L. Doheny in which the oil magnate asked permission to correct his previous testimony by stating that William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, and his one-time New York law firm had received a total of only $150,000 in fees from his company instead of $250,000 as originally testified to by Mr. Doheny.

President Cummins of the senate signed and sent to President Coolidge the Walsh resolution directing the instituting of court proceedings for the annulment of the naval oil leases and the punishing of any guilty of wrong-doing in connection with the granting of them to the Doheny and Sinclair interests.

Silas H. Strawn and Atlee Pomerene, special government counsel, continued their investigation into the oil cases, while opposition to their selection apparently was spreading in the senate, but with with few indications that it would attain proportions sufficient to prevent their confirmation.

In its inquiry as to possible transaction in oil stocks by government officials, the committee formally requested certain information and records of the New York stock exchange from Seymour Cromwell, president of the exchange.

Decision of the oil committee not to recall Mr. Fall when it resumes its public hearings tomorrow, was reached upon the advice of Mr. Strawn and Mr. Pomerene. They recommended that he be not heard unless he waived his constitutional right, as otherwise he might gain immunity from prosecution.

The committee had been advised that Mr. Fall's decision to stand on his constitutional right was irrevocable and also it had been told by special government counsel that proceedings against him for contempt in refusing to testify probably would fail, since the statute governing in such a case was less broad in its scop than the constitutional guaranty against compelling a witness to incriminate himself.

FALL DISCHARGED

With Mr. Fall discharged from further attendance the committee has not decided tonight what witnesses will be called tomorrow.

Events moved fast in the senate once it reached the oil question. Since he was the father of original resolution, the senate committee accorded Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, the courtesy of introducing the new resolution authorizing the oil investigation. The senate adopted it after it had been approved by the members of the committee of audit at conference on the senate floor.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, then called up his resolution for the recovery of the oil fields held by the Standard Oil company of California and it was rushed through with such dispatch that apparently few of the spectators in the crowded galleries were aware of what had transpired. The measure later was sent to the house, where prompt action was forecast.

Renewal of senate debate on the Denby resolution was marked by another break from the democratic ranks by Senator Bruce of Maryland, Sharp exchanges between Senator Pepper, republican, Pennsylvania, and several democratic senators, and a scathing attack by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, upon Mr. Fall, Mr. Doheny, Harry F. Sinclair, Secretary Denby and Secretary Mellon.

Senator Reed supported the Denby resignation resolution with characteristic vigor, while Senators Pepper, Bruce and Edge, opposed it with equally fiery speeches.

After reviewing in detail the evidence in the leases, the argument and improvement of Mr. Fall's New Mexico ranch holdings and the loans made to the former secretary by Mr. Doheny and Mr. Sinclair, Senator Reed said the "facts adduced prove more than the guilt of Fall, of Doheny, Sinclair and of Denby."

"They indicated," he said, "a lowering of official ethics and a debasement of official morals. The process has been going on for years."

MISSOURI SENATOR

The Missouri senator then charged political debts were boldly paid in the writing of the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill and that William G. Wrigley of Chicago, "had bought and paid for the privilege of exemption by congress from an excise tax on his chewing gum."

"But he paid the money into the coffers of a political party instead of into the treasury of the United States," he said.

Opening fire on Secretary Mellon, Senator Reed said held office in violation of the law prohibiting "men engaged in trade from holding that high position." He declared that at the time he took office the secretary was a director of 68 banks and industrial companies and chief owner of one of the "greatest trusts on earth." Senator Reed said he also is heavily interested in oil.

As Senator Reed concluded half a dozen senators clamored for recognition. Obtaining it, Senator Edge told the senate that the Denby resolution was "un-American" and added that "if partisan division has brought us to this, we have come to a low state indeed."

Announcing he would withhold his support from the resolution said "he would rather see every plank in the democratic party shrivered into a thousand pieces than that any action should be taken which would destroy the magna charta of American freedom, the right of trial by jury."

Senator Bruce declared this was not a partisan matter; that there were hapless wings and feet of democrats floating off on this sea of oil, as well as hapless wings and feet of republicans."

"I am for bringing every rascal to book," he went on, "but I am in favor of bringing him to book in the proper constitutional way."

PLAYERS' CLUB IN TWO PLAYS

Good Crowds See Matinee and Evening Offerings At Library

By WINNIE D. JACKSON

Members, associate members of the Players' club and their visitors formed the enthusiastic audiences that filled the auditorium of the Kemp public library to its capacity, Thursday afternoon and night when, according to the usual custom of the club, two one-act plays were presented.

The first, a heavy drama, "Two Crooks and a Lady" by Eugene Pillot, a play that has won much fame throughout the country, and has proved very popular, received much applause, both from the story and the tense action and by the work of the players. The second, a Booth Tarkington comedy, "The Trysting Place" proved a scream from start to finale, keeping the audience in an uproar of laughter. Each part was taken in a professional manner, and added other laurels to the high standard of work done by the organization.

The play "Two Crooks and a Lady" has been considered by the Players' club for the past two years as a drama suitable for production, but it was not presented until the matinee and last night by the organization. It was originally produced by "The 47 Workshop," growing from a course in playwriting, English 47, for many years offered by the department of English of Harvard university.

The story opened with a French maid, Lucille, taken by Josephine Fisk, when the crook, interpreted by Burns Hegler, comes in. A plan is made by the two to steal the 32 diamonds from the lady of the house, Mrs. Simms Vane, a paralytic, whose part is characterized by Mrs. E. T. Gipson. Miss Jones, the companion to Mrs. Vane is Mrs. J. T. Carter.

The play ends with the two crooks in the hands of the police whose parts are taken by H. O. Newton and C. A. Rogers.

Mrs. Gipson as the paralytic, did her part exceptionally well. She is not able to move a muscle, she sits quiet in the tense moments of the drama, and her poise when she stares death in the face, holds the audience breathless.

The parts of the crooks taken by Burns Hegler and Miss Josephine Fisk were well taken, and each showed marked ability in the difficult parts which they portrayed.

Owing to the fact that three members of The Record News staff were characters in the play, and being rather modest, it is difficult to point out all the good points, but judging from the favorable comments, the characters were well chosen, and the play an undeniable success.

The only secluded spot away from the public of a great hotel is a public room—the scene of "The Trysting Place." As only a trysting place can be a mecca for lovers, so was this "secluded" spot in the hotel. There the typical Booth Tarkington boy in white trousers, blue coat and a sta-combed hair, well interpreted by Clifton Clay in the role of Lancelot, the boy, meets the widow, whose part is taken by Mrs. Leslie Humphreys.

The boy's mother, and sister enacted by Mrs. J. T. Harrell and Mrs. Joe Huckins, III, care little for the boy's widowed friend, and try to keep him from seeing her in the secluded spot. But as it were, both mother and sister are not in the same secluded place of the hotel to meet their friends.

That there is no fool like an old fool is shown in the play by Mr. Ingleby, played by T. B. Greenwood, when he seeks the hand of the boy's mother, and the unfortunate circumstances of the proceedings brought out by the unknown voice of H. O. Newton's, reveals the hiding place of sister's beau, Rupert Smith, done by J. Baldwin Montgomery.

Between the plays favors of miniature hand-painted flower pots with red and green flowers were presented to the audience.

The hostesses for the evening were Mesdames T. B. Greenwood, M. C. Beatty, Guy Rogers, Julian Montgomery, Chester Wynne and A. J. McNess.

The director of the plays was Mrs. W. G. Pagan, Mrs. T. A. Hicks was general chairman and Mrs. George Paull was in charge of the favors.

The plays will be presented again this evening at 8 o'clock.

CHAMBER PLANS PUBLICITY FEATURES

At a meeting of the publicity committee of the chamber of commerce Thursday morning, a tentative budget for the expenditure of the publicity appropriation of $7,500 for 1924 was presented. The budget includes salary for the assistant, in charge of publicity, the publication and distribution of the Community Builder, the monthly magazine of the organization, booklets and folders advertising the advantages of Wichita Falls, as a place to live, and to do business in newspaper and bill board advertising and other plans in connection with the publicity for the city and its interest.

W. T. Sadler, of the United States Advertising corporation, presented a billboard proposition, and details of a chamber of commerce electric sign were discussed by the committee, and action was deferred, awaiting further investigation.

The committee decided to meet every Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the directors' room of the chamber of commerce offices. Members of the publicity committee were all present Thursday at the meeting, and they were P. A. Rogers, chairman; Burns Hegler, Frank Timberlake, Raymond Myers, C. C. Kirby, J. H. Allison, C. W. Snider, and Hubert M. Harrison.

MASKAT MINSTREL MELANGE OF MUSIC, MERRIMENT, MALES

Every Number Encored and Crowd Craved More of Talented Take-Offs

By FRED REASER

The Maskat Minstrel opened last night at the Wichita Theatre, 915 Indiana Ave., before an ardent, enthusiastic audience that was appreciative the nth degree, and with the opening chorus the success of the minstrel was assured. The audience was apparently enthralled until the final chorus.

The opening number the "Sextette from Lucia," was one of the features. The voices mingled with richness and with affecting chords that crept into every music lover's soul and when the sextette ended, an exalted audience encored again and again.

After the operatic number the audience settled down in their seats, took on an air of ease and prepared to enjoy themselves to the fullest extent.

Those who sang the selection from Lucia were: Louella B. Thompson, director, William Young, Mrs. Wayne Holmes, A. L. Ford, Rev. Leslie Miller and R. F. Shepherd.

Louella B. Thomason sang "The Rosary," which was followed by a pantomine, "Indian Pageant," the solos by Mrs. Thompson. The dances were well directed and the lighting effects were refulgent.

Virgie E. Whitworth, a charming little miss dressed in a handful of dainty silks, ably assisted J. S. Pittman with three excellent numbers on the xylophone.

Mrs. J. S. Pittman, with her sketches of character songs brought forth much hilarious applause and encores galore.

With Mrs. Pittman's exit, the curtain dropped for the clearing of the stage for part two. The audience was becoming more responsive and were enjoying the program. Nods of approval to friends and the babel of praise floated through the crowd and the spirit of appreciation was everywhere manifested.

When the curtain went up for part two the following personnel and their respective positions were presented to the audience:

Interlocutor—Walter D. Cline.

Chorus—W. S. Abbott, P. R. Anderson, J. H. Barnard, R. E. Basham, W. H. Caldwell, W. C. Cook, J. E. Gill, W. L. Holloway, Homer Karrenbrock, Edgar Mann, L. E. Martlew, O. D. McCoy, C. L. Moore, P. G. Putty, C. C. Parfet, Dr. W. T. Wells, R. M. Wilhite, J. M. Williams, C. G. Williamson, E. E. Scannell, E. H. Dyer, C. G. Murray, Guy Sinclair, L. L. Sellers, Jonette Bonner, Harry White, H. B. Joiner, W. S. Pettit, C. E. Baldwin, Chester Pugh, Sidney Gaines.

The first number, "A Smile Goes a Long, Long Way," was ably sung by Dr. J. H. Fletcher and company. Dr. Fletcher put the number over with little effort. His singing was loudly encored.

Leslie Stringer sang "Waitin' for the Evenin' Mail," the song, a tangent off a famous southern melody, was uniquely given with some slight variations from the original.

"A Little Nonsense" by Judge Guy Rogers, was all the number could be called. Much laughter, with encores for more nonsense was appealed for by the audience.

Charles W. Nolen, surely must have had some actual experience on back porches for he put more feeling into the song "On The Old Back Porch" than the author could have imagined when writing the popular air.

Jerry W. Moffett, tall and slender, could rock most any little tot, for he sings remarkably well and children worship dream daddies. "Dream Daddy," as sung by Mr. Moffett, was one of the hits of the minstrel.

Moonlit nights, sandy beaches, with the breeze wafting cool and refreshing, the train of the ukelele floating with the wind that swayed the fronds of the palm trees and a Hula maiden dancing. The great Madam Olkasaka, (himself), master of the art of the Hiwalians, glided in and out as sinuous as a python, hypnotising all those who followed the movements. Several had to be brought out of trances after the closing of the minstrel so that the theatre could be locked for the night. Others were semi-conscious after that number.

Dan Daniels brought back the dozed audience with "Louisville Lou" and was encored lustily. Dan was a little slow on his feet but he is a hit as a feature soloist.

"I'm Drifting Back to Dreamland" by Judge H. D. Sartin was appreciated and Judge Sartin as usual was given due praise by the audience.

R. E. Shepherd with "My Lover Came Back" was delightfully received and takes a leading rank with the other features of the splendid program. "Shep" is resplendent on all occasions.

The Maskat Chanters: Ivan Murchison, Vaughan Ray, Grover Dullington, Paul von Allman, and J. S. Pittman, accompanist, were entertainers of the first rank, and their bit aided greatly to the program of the minstrel.

Torrence Does Good Work In Latest Picture

Fortunate indeed is the actor lucky enough to have a role in a production which scores one of the biggest hits in the history of the cinema art, but when he comes right back as a featured member of the cast of another production hailed at least as equally great, he can surely be said to be a child of destiny. Such is Ernest Torrence, who plays one of the principal roles in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" which opens its local engagement at the Palace on Monday.

Torrence was given lavish praise for his work in "The Covered Wagon," but all who have seen him in the new Universal production, admit that he has accomplished a piece of art that will go down into history. In "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" his part is second only to that of Lon Chaney, the star, who portrays the role of "Quasimodo." Torrence will be seen as "Chopin, King of the Underworld." It is no reflection on either man to say that with any other man than Chaney in the title role Torrence would have "stolen" the stellar honors.

While every show that makes a decided hit in New York does not do so here, theatre-goers from this city who have seen performance at the Astor Theatre in Gotham, have expressed the opinion that it will prove as great a success here. There is no question but that Hugo's story is so well known and liked that sectional likes and dislikes will play no part in determining its general popularity and the unanimous praise given it by the New York critics has aroused a general attitude of interest.

Aside from Chaney and Torrence the cast is one of the most notable ever assembled there being a total of 75 principals, including Tully Marshall, Brandon Hurst, Patsy Ruth Miller, Gladys Brockwell, Norman Kerry, Nigel de Brulier and aKte Lester. 200 players, ordinarily programmed names, played small parts while the extras totaled in excess of 3,500.

The production was eighteen months in the making, six in technical research and twelve in actual "shooting." The entire Cathedral of Notre Dame was reconstructed in its entirety at Universal City, as well as eight blocks of Parisian houses and squares of the period of Louis XI. It was directed by Wallace Worsley.

COOLIDGE ADDRESSES MARKET ASSOCIATION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Endorsement of the co-operative marketing movement by President Coolidge and addresses on various angles of the question marked the opening session here today of the three-day conference of the national council of Farmers Co-operative Marketing associations.

President Coolidge in his message to the conference also declared there was need of co-operative organization among urban consumers. He advocated "a close working co-operation" between the farmer and consumer groups as an ideal toward which the larger co-operative movement of the country should aim.

Frank W. Simmonds, deputy manager of the American Bankers' association, told the conference, that "it would be unfortunate for the farmer if he becomes imbued with the idea that co-operative marketing within itself is a panacea for all agricultural ills." While a widely managed co-operative association can be most helpful in many ways, he said its operations would be amenable to economic law as those of other business enterprises.

A tremendous problem awaits solution in crop mortgages and farm tenantry, Carl Williams, president of the American Cotton Growers' exchange said in urging appointment of a special group for a year's study of these questions.

"The threat of the money lender to make the farmer sell his crop at harvest is keeping the American farmer in virtual bondage," Mr. Williams said.

SENSATION

were made public when they were attached as exhibits to an injunction suit filed here against government officials whom Brewer said were interfering with his investigation. They set forth that there had been duplication of bonds; that the treasury had suppressed knowledge of them; that treasury officers had thwarted Brewer in his attempts to uncover the condition, and that duplicates of bonds had been destroyed in the treasury.

Secretary Mellon on learning that Brewer's charges had been made public, said that for every bond which has been issued its face value had found its way into the treasury vaults. It is added that there had been duplication of numbers, but that there had been no loss to either the public or the government. He attributed the duplications of numbers to mechanical errors, which Brewer has said was not the case.

WIDE RANGE

Brewer's charges covered a wide range, the main features of which have been known to treasury officials for many months and which they said had been under investigation and disproved. They included the assertion that a clique swayed the action of the treasury department and that J. W. McCarter, former assistant of the register of the treasury, had complained of being discharged for bringing complaint to the notice of the treasury officials in connection with alleged irregularities. Brewer also charged spurious securities had been issued from the treasury and that duplicate bonds had been traced to treasury sources from surrendered bonds stolen from treasury vaults."

The report of Brewer disavowed that he had caused the dismissal of bureau employes by President Harding and set forth that the president had been informed of "many irregularities at the bureau before Brewer entered the c... Treasury officials said today the department of justice would make reply to Brewer's suit which seeks to prevent the treasury from recovering bond which the money has been using in his inquiry.

These bonds were given to Brewer on his receipt. He said also that a detailed check had been going forward on all of the charges, but that no alarming condition had manifested itself.

While the charges of Brewer, the denials of Secretary Mellon and the threats of congressional investigation, filled the air today, the employes discharged by President Harding and later exonerated, called on Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, who has been active in their behalf to make complaint that they had not been reinstated. Secretary Mellon has announced they would be given re-employment but no date has ever been set for it.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nauseless, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat, and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the nauseless calomel tablets called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calotabs at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price 35c for the large, family package; 10c for the small, vest pocket size.—Adv.

WHEN MEN BECOME GREAT

Much has been said, since the death of Woodrow Wilson about our failure to recognize his true greatness until death had claimed him. There is no denying the fact that Wilson, when he sat in the White House was much maligned.

It is fact, but nevertheless a pity, that this is the lot of all men who, through the force and strength of their individuality and power, find themselves in exalted places, must suffer the pangs of regret that their true motives are not known to the world at large.

In the year 1860 one of the New York newsppers had this to say of Abraham Lincoln:

"The republican convention at Chicago has nominated Abraham Lincoln of Illinois for president of the United States—a third-rate western lawyer, poorer than poor Pierce. The conduct of the republican party in this matter is a remarkable indication of a small intellect growing smaller. They passed over Seward, Chace and Banks, who are statesmen and able men, and they take a fourth-rate lecturer who cannot speak good grammar and who, to raise the wind, delivers his hackneyed, illiterate compositions at $200 apiece. Our readers will recollect that this peripatetic politician visited New York two or three months ago on his financial tour, when, in return for the most unmitigated trash, interlarded with coarse and clumsy jokes, filled his empty pockets with dollars coined out of republican fanaticism."

Five days later a leading Philadelphia newspaper said of Lincoln: "There is not in all the history of his life any exhibition of intellectual ability and attainment fitting him for the high and responsible post for which he's been nominated. His coarse language, his illiterate style and his vulgar and vituperative personality in debate contrast strongly with the elegance and classical oratory of the eminent senator from New York."

Some of the newspapers and politicians of the day called Lincoln a "freak, a baboon, who had escaped from the morasses of Illinois," "a vulgar clown" and a "low-bred village politician." When he ran for the presidency he stood about as much ridicule and slander as any political candidate in history. But now that he is gone, his greatness grows on us.

It will be so with Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson, who gave the best that he had and who earnestly preached the doctrine of good will and the brotherhood of man will take his place in the hall of fame which he earned through the fight he made for universal peace. There are none who will slander him now.

The truth is that in the bitterness of politics and the struggle for the advancement of our own pet ideas, we are too prone to condemn those who do not agree with us. When death comes we realize our errors and seek to make amends. If men are great after they die, they are great men while they live.

CAPPER ON DECK.

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas is a republican farm bloc emmissary of glad tidings. He opines that reduction of freight rates is the big vital problem, a marketing system the second vital problem and greater authority lodged in state railway commissions to deal with local rates and conditions a third vital problem.

He would have a governmental maketing agency established in European countries to push the sale of American products. He would have very low income tax rates for the little fellows and very high income rates for the big fellows. And after careful investigation and prayerful consideration of the problems he finds that it is possible for the former soldiers to have the bonus and all the people to have sweeping tax reduction.

He has another plan for raising the wind. He would assess special taxes against inheritance from estates built up through incomes from tax free securities. And there you have it.

It is possible, according ot the Sunflower statesman, to pay a liberal bonus to all former service men and to make a sweeping cut in all federal taxes now so joyously paid by property owners of the nation.

Jones must early love to be fed on bunk. It is his principal diet in campaign years. Some day Jones will think as well as work. Then he will break his chains and shoot the demagogs full of paper ballot bullets.

PANTOMIME . :-: -:- .By J. H. Striebel

Having the Time of Their Lives

The Middle Of Things

"It's a long story, sir," the landlady answered. "You're aware, of course, that just outside the town here is Ellingham Park, the seat of the Earl of Ellingham. Thirty-five years ago the head of the family was the seventh Earl, who was then getting on in life. He was a very overbearing harsh old gentleman, not at all liked and he had trouble at home with his elder son,—he only had two sons and no daughter,—and about the time I'm talking of it came to a head. When Lord Marketstoke—that was the elder son's name—was about twenty-five or twenty-six there was a great quarrel between them. That night, gentlemen, Lord Marketstoke left the house and set off to London, and from that day to this he has never been heard of or seen again—hereabouts, at any rate. It was known that he had money of his own, that had come to him from his mother, who had died years before all this. But it wasn't known where he went. He couldn't have disappeared more completely if they'd laid him in the family vault in Marketstoke church.

"About fifteen years after Lord Marketstoke had gone away, the old Earl died. And then there was no end of trouble and bother. The Earl had left no will; at any rate, no will could be found, and no lawyer could be heard of who had ever made one. And of course, nobody knew where the new Earl was, nor even if he was alive or dead. There were advertisements sent out all over the world—asking for news of him and stating that his father was dead.

"All the efforts and advertisements were no good whatever, and after some time—some considerable time—the young brother, the Honourable Charles Cave-Gray—that's the family name—came to the conclusion that Lord Marketstoke was dead, and so—I don't understand the legal niceties, gentlemen, but they went to the courts to get something done which presumed his death and let Mr. Charles come into the title and estates. And in the end that had been done, and Mr. Charles became the eighth Earl of Ellingham. And of him we see very little; he scarcely ever stayed at Ellingham Park, except for a bit of shooting, since he came to the title, "Nob," she concluded, with a shrewd glance at the old lawyer, "I wonder if you see, sir, what it was that came into my mind when this Mr. John Ashton came here a few weeks ago, especially after I heard him say what he did and after I saw how he was spending his time here?"

"I've no inkling, ma'am; I've no inkling!" said Mr. Pawle. "You wondered—"

"I wondered," murmured Mrs. Summers, bending closer to her listeners, "if the man who called himself John Ashton wasn't in reality the long-lost Lord Marketstoke."

CHAPTER X.
The Parish Register.

Mr. Pawle, after a glance at Viner which seemed to be full of meanings, bent forward in his chair and laid a hand on the old landlady's arm.

"Now, have you said as much as that to anybody before?" he asked, eyeing her significantly. "Have you mentioned it to your neighbors, for instance, or to any one in the town?"

"No, sir!" declared Mrs. Summers promptly. "Not to a soul!"

"Well, ma'am, we're much obliged to you," said the old solicitor. "Now take my advice and keep to your very excellent plan of saying nothing. Tomorrow morning we will just have a look into certain things, and see if we can discover anything. Viner!" Pawle went on, when the old landlady had left them alone, "what do you think of this extraordinary story?"

"You think it probable that a man who is heir to an English earldom could disappear like that, for so many years, and then reappear?" asked Viner.

"I won't discuss the probability," answered Mr. Pawle, "but that it's possible I should steadily affirm."

"I don't understand much about the legal aspect of this," said Viner. "Supposing Ashton to be the long-lost Lord Marketstoke—could he have established a claim such as you speak of?"

"To be sure!" answered Mr. Pawle. "Had he been able to prove that he was the real Simon pure, he would have stepped into the title and estates at once. Didn't the old lady say that he seventh Earl died intestate? Very well—the holders since his time, that is to say, Charles, who, his brother's death being presumed, became eighth Earl, and his son, the present holder, would have had to account for everything since the day of the seventh Earl's death. When the seventh Earl died, his elder son, Lord Marketstoke, ipso facto, stepped into his shoes, and if he were, or is, still alive, he's in them still."

"A queer business altogether!" commented Viner.

"But now here's another matter," continued Pawle. "If Ashton really was the missing Lord Marketstoke, who is this girl whom he put forward as his ward, to whom he's left his considerable fortune, and about whom nobody knows anything?"

"Has this anything to do with it?" asked Viner. "Does it come into things?"

"In certain events, it would come into it pretty strongly! I'll tell you why, later on. Now I'm for bed—and first thing after breakfast, in the morning, Viner, we'll go to work."

Breakfast over next morning, Mr. Pawle conducted Viner across the square to the old four-square churchyard, and for half an hour walked him around the ancient gravestones.

"I am looking," announced Mr. Pawle, "to see if I can find any tombstones of monuments in this churchyard bearing the name Ashton. There isn't one! I take it from that significant fact that Ashton didn't come down here to visit the graves of his kindred. But now come into the church."

In the church, Viner began to examine the Cave-Gray monuments, and suddenly he turned to his companion.

"Look here!" he said. "There are Cave-Grays commemorated here from 1570 to 1820. No end of 'em—men and women. And now, see—there's a certain Christian name—a woman's name—which occurs over and over again. It's evidently been a favourite family name of women for three hundred years at least. Avice!"

"Yes," Pawle answered, "I see it—several times, as you say. Avice! Yes!"

"Miss Wickham's Christian name is Avice," said Viner.

Mr. Pawle started.

"Very strange!" he exclaimed. "Viner—we'll go next and have a look at the parish registers. But look here! Not a word to parson or clerk about our business! We merely wish to make a search for a certain legal purpose, eh?"

Three hours later, Viner heartily weary of turning over old registers full of crabbed writing, was glad when Mr. Pawle closed the one on which he was engaged and intimated that he had seen all he wanted.

"We've established two facts, anyway," remarked Mr. Pawle. "One—that there have never been any folk of the name of Ashton in this town; the other, that the name Avice was a favourite one amongst the women of the Cave-Gray family. And there's just another little fact which I discovered; In turning up the records of the Cave-Gray family. I found that Stephen John Cave-Gray, sixth Earl of Ellingham, married one Georgina Wickman. Now, is that another coincidence? There you get the two names in combination—Avice Wickman. That particular Countess of Ellingham would, of course, be the grandmother of the Lord Marketstoke who disappeared. Did he think of her maiden name, Wickham, when he wanted a new one for himself? Possibly! Are Marketstoke and Wickham and Ashton all one and the same man?"

Another surprise awaited them when they walked into Mr. Pawle's office in Bedford Row at 4 o'clock that afternoon. A card lay on the old lawyer's blotting-pad, and after glancing at it, he passed it to Viner.

"Now, who on enth is Mr. Armitstead Ashton Armitstead of Rouendale House, Rawtenstall? Who left this?" he went on, as a clerk entered the room with some letters.

"The gentleman is here now, sir," replied the clerk.

"Bring him in," commanded Mr. Pawle. He made a grimace at Viner as the clerk disappeared. "What are we going to hear next?"

CHAPTER XI.
What Happened in Paris.

Mr. Armitstead lost no time in stating his business. "I have come on the matter of the Ashton murder," he said. "I met John Ashton in Paris some weeks ago. We were at the Hotel Bristol together and after introducing ourselves to each other we got talking and he told me that he had emigrated to Australia when he was young, and that he was going back to England for the first time. He must, he said, have been completely forgotten in his native place by this time."

"Did he tell you what his native place was, Mr. Armitstead?" asked Mr. Pawle.

"Yes," replied Mr. Armitstead. "He did—Blackburn. He left it as a very young man."

"Ashton's of Blackburn?" exclaimed Pawle. "We must go into that. Do you know anything more?"

"I can tell you one thing more," Armitstead said. "You will remember that Hyde, said before the coroner that as he turned into Lonsdale Passage, he saw coming out of it a tall man in black clothes who was swathed to the very eyes in a big white muffler?"

"Yes!" said Mr. Pawle. "Well?"

So Goes It

By BURNS HEGLER

Rush! Rush! Bing, Bang! What's it all about. Folks have gotten into the habit of developing a lot of speed—it's gotten to be the regular order of things. We, being like the rest, would have no time to discuss the matter, except for the fact that we have to write the column and that makes it possible to comment on this universal hurry-up.

The average city man arises in the morning, dives into his clothes like a fireman going to a fire, dashes into the bath room and shaves himself with a fool-proof razor eats his breakfast, reads the morning paper, kisses his wife a fleeting kiss, steps on the gas and is off. The only thing he does in an orderly way are to eat breakfast and read his morning paper.

He swirls through the streets, passing those who can not keep up with him, and arrives at his office breathless but happy. Then jerkily he opens the morning mail; hurriedly he dictates a few letters. The phone rings. The conversation is cut short (supposed to be a sure sign of efficiency.)

And then what does he do? Well if he's normal he listens to the funny story an acquaintance has to tell, looks at the "funnies" and takes a more careful perusal of the morning paper.

After a few hours of this the morning is gone. He makes an engagement for luncheon is gone two hours and a half and returns to his place of business in a mad frenzy and starts speeding up again. He keeps the mad pace up until he lands at home. Having gulped his dinner he makes a quick change and is off for an evening of pleasure. Then to bed, and the same thing all over again.

Now, how much of this is actual efficient speed? Not much. The chances are that if he would eliminate the froth and fuss he would get just as much done and could travel "in second" all day long. That is, if the other folks would give him a chance.

But they won't. So it seems to be a hopeless case.

Life has gotten to be just one mad rush after another. So goes it.

I never drop my work to find things for my children that they can find themselves. When they were very small I used to send them to find things for me, and the first one to find what I wished was very proud. WHAT TODAY MEANS

By MARY BLAKE

AQUARIUS.

The sun in opposition to Neptune causes a negative state which produces disappointment, loss, misunderstanding and deception. Their vibrations improve very much after 5 p m, and are conducive to pleasure and harmony.

A child born today will be imaginative and creative but rather solitary in temperament.

You are born with the consciousness of nobility, if today is your birthday. You feel yourself an exceptional person—unlike any other ever born and you wish to contribute your own individual gift to mankind. And really it is no small gift you could give if you schooled your will to do it.

You are energetic and dominant, both analytical and creative, but perhaps the foremost faculty of your mind is your power of observation. Nothing escapes your attention. You naturally observe other people and you can re-create their entire lives from a few chance remarks they might make. If you were to capitalize this gift in writing—especially novels of the realistic type — you should achieve distinction.

You have also an innate sense of rythm. You talk and think more or less in measure and you cannot make a simple gesture without grace.

You are fond of art and music and you undoubtedly have a talent for the latter that is well worth cultivating.

You are particularly fond of people and you are continually being disappointed in them. The older you grow the less you will depend upon others for your companionship. Anyhow you are naturally your own best friend and always your own best audience.

Your mind is ingenious and inventive but extremely impractical and subject to the errant fancies of your moods.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

WITHOUT BENEFIT OF PUBLICITY

Though Mr. Shakespeare's name did not Appear in large electric lights
Which brightened up the fog a lot,
Through London's muggy winter nights;
And though it was not painted bold
Upon the chalking cliffs of Dover,
For passing tourists to behold,
Somehow his plays got over.

The bard of Avon never had,
Not even in his prosperous days,
A gifted fiction-writing lad
To sing to editors his praise.
His private occupations were
Unmarked, unnoted and unheeded,
His daily doings made no stir,
And yet his stuff succeeded.

No photographs of him were seen
With smiling children on his knee,
Or bowling on the village green,
Or driving screamers off the tee,
Or setting down with flying quill
Some tense and thrilling situation
For his impending play, but still
He got a reputation.

Publicity, that wondrous aid
To latter day dramatic art,
Had not become a thriving trade
When Mr. Shakespeare got his start.
And yet he rose to high success,
Its lack could never keep him under
And so we might as well confess,
He must have been a wonder!

TIMELY VIEWS on WORLD TOPICS

"CURB INFLUX OF ALIENS TO SAVE U. S." URGES IMMIGRATION COMMISSIONER

This country today is "dangerously near being discordant, disunited and divided against itself," Henry H. Curran, commissioner of immigration at Ellis island, declared recently. Curran said that he favored "any change that will give us less immigration," and asked for the support of the proposed quota law which, by substituting 2 per cent based on the 1890 census for the present 3 per cent of the foreign born population, according to the census of 1910, would reduce the annual influx of aliens from 357,802 to 160,857. The commissioner urged further that the laws be revised to do away with needless hardships to immigrants.

"Our gates have stood open to the immigrants of the world for many years," the commissioner said. "Now I think it is time we close them a bit. We have too much in our country of foreign colonies, foreign papers, foreign points of view, foreign loves and foreign hates inherited from the history of other continents. No nation can bear its part effectively in the future of the world if it be discordant, disunited, divided against itself within its own borders. We are dangerously near th : today."

"I had a telegram from a congressman the other day demanding the admission of a certain Greek immigrant because, he said, the Greek vote in his city depended upon the admission of that immigrant and there were 8,000 Greek votes in that city. Just what is a 'Greek vote' in America? What business has it to be here."

Jobs Won't Last Forever

The immigrant follows the job, said Commissioner Curran, expressing doubt that America could hand out jobs indefinitely. Both from the point of view of the immigrant and that of the citizen, he thought, the "best thing to keep this country homogeneous and American is to decrease this immigration invasion and take account of stock for a while."

Commissioner Curran recommended a period of 15 or 20 years, instead of five, before an alien might be naturalized. "I think it is time to put the quality of American citizenship ahead of the quantity of American dollars that we pile up out of foreign labor," he said. "The best way to enjoy an adequate supply of labor in this country is for more of our young men to tear off their white collars and put on blue shirts and go to work."

SOILS AND SOIL PHYSICS.
Calcium and Magnesium.

These two metals are found in various combinations in most soils. They are essential elements for the proper growth of many farm plants.

Both metals are found in the fibers of plants, but their main occurrence is in the seeds. Magnesium is especially prevalent in the seeds of plants.

Calcium and magnesium when combined with the gas, carbon dioxide form a great part of the sedimentary rocks of the world.

Calcium alone when combined with carbon dioxide forms limestone, chalk and marble. Quicklime is simply limestone that has been burned so as to remove the carbon and some of the oxygen, leaving behind only calcium and oxygen. It is calcium oxide.

When calcium combines with sulphur then we have calcium sulphate, commonly called gypsum or "gyp."

When calcium and magnesium together combine with carbon dioxide we have a limestone called dolomite or dolomitic limestone. This is a rock of frequent occurence.

Calcium in its metallic form is rarely seen as its commercial use is very limited, but magnesium has certain valuable uses. It is a lustrous white metal resembling silver or aluminum. It is used largely in flash light powders by photographers who have to take pictures at night or in a dark interior.

Magnesium is sometimes prepared in ribbon form and as such it can be ignited with an ordinary match. It burns with an intensely bright light rivalling the electric arc.

These two elements are of such great importance to the farmer that we will discuss them further in our next article.

Household Hints

WOOL DRESSES.

What shall we wear about the house? We are all agreed, I am sure, that a woman should be as neat and trim and businesslike while superintending or doing the work about the house as the business woman. Of course I realize that it is a little difficult for the woman who does all her own work and without an electric washer, and cleaning, to look as immaculate as if she were selling goods over the counter or taking dictation, but she might wear special clothes for such tasks—I have long wanted to advocate overalls for all such jobs.

Special dresses of washable material are the best—not halfworn silk or velvet frocks. And all white has been advocated as it launders well without the danger of fading, can be boiled if necessary, and spots and stains can more easily be removed. Also, mending shows less on it than on colored materials.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Orange Sweet Pickle—Remove skin from one dozen oranges, cut oranges in thick slices, steam until tender, and clear, drain, place in hot syrup, keep hot for an hour without cooking, place in jars and set aside at least a week before using.

Syrup—Three pounds sugar, one quart of vinegar, two tablespoons mixed spices (in cheesecloth bag.) Boil syrup about 20 minutes.

Salmon Croquettes—Take one cup salmon (flaked), one-half cup milk, one-half cup crumbs, one tablespoon flour, one tablespoon butter, one egg, salt and pepper to taste. Cream flour and butter, heat milk to boiling point, add flour and butter, stir until smooth, add seasoning and salmon. Let cool. Shape, roll, in flour, egg and crumbs and fry in deep fat. Serve on a hot dish and garnish with parsley and sliced lemon.

Orange Pie—Bake shell of ordinary pastry. For the filling, cream three tablespoons of butter, with one cup sugar, yolk and white of one egg, beaten separately; stir in juice and grated rind of one orange and juice of half a lemon, a bit of salt. Bake until done, remove from oven and when partly cooled, cover with meringue. Return to oven and brown.

Orange and Marshmallow Salad—Two oranges, one slice pineapple, eight marshmallows, one quarter cup nut meats, one-half cup white grapes, golden salad dressing, pimento. Cut pineapple, marshmallows and nuts in small pieces; skin and seed the grapes before measuring, and mix with orange pulp and a little salad dressing. The empty orange skins may be used as cups, if cut in two and carefully scraped. The salad may be placed in cups covered with dressing with strips of pimento on the dressing. One-half grape in the center and chopped parsley between strips of pimento makes a very attractive dish. Serve on lettuce leaves. Navel (California) oranges are best for this salad since they cut to better advantage being more solid.

Pimples Cause It

Whenever you go out to places of amusement, you can't help but pity the folks you see trying to have a good time, but are so shrinking and backward about coming near others where they can see their pimply, blotchy and eczemic skin that you can see they are only torturing their minds instead of throwing all cares to the four winds and enjoying themselves.

You almost feel like going up to them and telling them that they ought to begin using the wonderful Black and White Ointment, which so many thousands of happy people are depending on to keep their skin clean, smooth and good to look at.

Black and White Ointment is selling at the phenomenal rate of nearly two million packages a year, and the fact that it is so economically priced is largely responsible for this record. The 50c size contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have it —Adv.

Kindly Removes Her Hat!

"Say, this isn't an April Fool party, is it?" grinned Billy Cut-out, on whom Cecille was trying a sample of her valentine party dessert.

"No, why do you say that?" asked Cecille.

"Here you give me a dish of something to eat, and no spoon to eat it with!" Betty Cut-out and Cecille shrieked with laughter, pointing to the little heart lady favor sticking in the top.

"What's this doll here for?" asked Billy, disgustedly.

"Take off her hat, and there you have your spoon," directed Cecille.

Paper spoons dressed in hearts make an inexpensive favor. They are sensible, too, for if you use them, you are saved the trouble of washing sticky silver after the party. Put a big red heart on one side of the paper spoon and a little red one on the front, tying them in place with narrow ribbon. Tie a ribbon loop through the heart for the hat and hang it over the end of the spoon. Make the face with crayons.

Home-Wrecking Is Always An Inside Job — Dorothy Dix — I, Yo Blame For Stolen Affections on Lack of Effort

There's No Royal Road to Happiness. If Marriage Has Shattered Your Dreams, Forget Them, Stop Brooding and Have the Courage to "Carry On."

I get hundreds upon hundreds of letters from disgruntled wives bemoaning their fates. They tell me that they are sick of the monotony of domestic drudgery; that they have few amusements; that their husbands are indifferent to them and never pay them any compliments or show them any affection; that their husbands find fault with them for their every mistake, but never give them one word of praise for all the good work they do.

And these women have brooded over the hardships of their lot until they have grown morbid and they see the world as one great gob of gloom, with themselves as the blackest spot in it.

Without doubt, marriage is a cruel and a bitter disappointment to nine-tenths of those who enter into the holy estate. Especially is it disillusioning to women because they build such impossible hopes upon it, and go into it with such a blind faith that they are going to find it an earthly paradise.

It is incredible, but it is true, that despite her lifelong knowledge of the daily life her mother has led and her observation of the domestic strife in the households of her married friends and neighbors, every girl honestly believes that her own matrimonial venture will be a perpetual picnic, and that the man she marries will remain the perfect lover.

Of course, it doesn't happen, and when the woman finds out that her own marriage brings her more kicks than ha'pence; when she realizes that she much share the common lot; when she has to bend her back for the hard and dreary lot of making a family comfortable, for which she gets neither the glad hand nor a pay envelope, and when she has to put up with a man who seems to have cornered the whole visible supply of pure cussedness that a husband can possess, why, it gets upon her nerves, and she feels like flunking it.

So she beats upon her breast and cries out that this is not the marriage of which she had dreamed. This sordid existence is not what she married for.

Of course, it isn't. But it is life.

None of us realizes our ideals. Our dreams never come true. And even when we get what we want, it is so warped and twisted that it is no longer the object of our desires, and we have paid for it more than it is worth. That is life.

To these unhappy wives I would offer this bit of homely counsel:

Sit down, sisters, and have a real heart-to-heart session with your own souls. Put out of your mind firmly and for all time the idiotic idea that there is any lot of perfect peace and happiness, any road you might have traveled that is not strewn with tacks. Worry and anxiety and sickness and sorrow and disappointment and loneliness are the portion alike of the highest and the lowest, and you cannot escape the human lot. It is life.

Then take a calm and dispassionate survey of your own situation. You will find your work tiresome and monotonous. So does every other person in the world find his or hers. The thing we do for our daily bread is bound to becomes a grind. Do you think for a moment that the banker doesn't get sick and weary of grappling with credits and loans; that the author doesn't have to flog himself to his desk; that the actor doesn't weary of the lines he has said over thousands of times; that the film star is not nauseated with grease paint.

Every one thrills to his task at first as you did your new pots and pans and bridal furniture. But the novelty wears off, and then comes the long, grim stretch of carrying on, because it is your job which you have set your hand and which you mean to make a good job just because it is yours. That is life.

You complain that your husband takes your good work as a matter of course, but he howls loud and long over your mistakes. That is what happens to all workers. If you were a stenographer and spelled one word wrong; if you were a saleswoman and made one error in your calculation, your boss would pass over the thousands of words you had spelled correctly and the hundreds of good sales you had made, to call you down for your blunder.

If you were a writer or an actor, you would find that the critics would forget all the good work you had done to call attention to the weakness of your new book; or bemoan the performance you gave in a new part. As long as we walk straight no one notices it, but when we fall off the path we attract attention. It is life.

Perhaps your husband is far from being the hero of your girlish dreams, but he gives you a home, and that compensates for much. It takes the woman who has to earn her own bread and butter many hard years of scrimming and saving and saving to reach the place where she can set up her own house, with her own furniture and household goods in it. And believe me or not, as you like, sisters, even an unsatisfactory man in a house gives it a flavor that the manless home lacks.

All of which just boils down into this: Dry your eyes on your best embroidered towns, O ye disgruntled sisters, and realize that you are not so bad off as you think you are, and that what you are called upon to bear is just life.

SPANISH VETS MEET TONIGHT

Spanish war vterans will hold their regular monthly meeting Monday evening at the K. P. hall, Ninth and Travis street, according to W. R. Duke, member of the David C. McCaleb camp, local organization of the veterans.

Mr. Duke stated that this meeting would close the drive for charter members.

This is a Presidential year, and we suppose we are going to put the great war grafters in prison even more ruthlessly than we were going to at any time the last three years.—Ohio State Journal.

STAGE AND SCREEN

By JOSEPHINE FISK

PALACE—Maskat Minstrel.
STRAND — Viola Dana in "The Heart Bandit."
OLYMPIC—Irene Rich and Monte Blue in "Flaming Passion," the story of Lucretia Lombard.
MISSION—Jackie Coogan in "Circus Days."
GEM—Western feature.

At the Strand.

From a gangster of the underworld to a society debutante with a penchant for breaking safes is the record set by Viola Dana in the title role of Metro's "The Heart Bandit," the Strand theatre.

One of the big climaxes in the picture is a thrilling auto wreck which occurs at midnight. Electioneering torches were used to furnish the light and several cameramen were stationed along the road, for the scene could only be taken once as the car was destroyed when it ran amuck.

The little Metro star recently had a pleasant time at the studio during the making of her latest picture. She stayed in bed all day. The script called for her to be recovering from injuries acquired in an automobile accident, and it took a day to film the scenes of her convalescence.

Excitement, a good story and a splendid cast make this deliciously thrilling picture a real entertainment.

Spectacular Drama of Rome.

As a happy relief from the flood of costume pictures that have been, and are to be presented in Wichita Falls the Mission is offering the modern spectacular drama "The Eternal City" starting next Sunday.

While it was filmed amid the picturesque and ancient atmosphere of Rome and includes scenes of the mammoth historical coliseum, the forum, the appian way, the old Roman baths and the imperial palace, the story is thoroughly modern and includes such momentuous characters as King Victor Emanuel, Premier Mussolini and Fascisti leaders who appear in person as actors in the film.

It is also one of the most interesting pictures seen in many months, the story is one that grips you at the start and holds you to the very end. It has a beautiful romance woven through some of the most exciting scenes of action anyone could possibly wish. Barbara LaMarr, Bert Lytell, and Lionel Barrymore play the leading characters.

At a private showing recently Manager H. S. Ford was so pleased with the production, and so confident that it would please all who could see it, that he made the remark that "he wished everyone in Wichita Falls could see 'The Eternal City.'" And with this thought in mind he is presenting each adult who attends the Mission the last four days of this week, a coupon good for admission to "The Eternal City" on Sunday, the opening day.

MOVIES IN THE MAKING

One of the most important acquisitions of dramatic property to be announced this year was made public last week by Jesse L. Lasky's office when it was declared that "Aren't We All," Frederick Lonsdale's comedy, which has been running for more than a year at the Gaiety theatre, has been purchased by Famous Players-Lasky corporation and will be put into production for release next fall.

With Cyril Maude as the star, "Aren't We All" has been one of the big comedy hits in recent years on the New York stage, and was much sought after by motion picture producers. As written for the stage the play was an ideal vehicle for Mr. Maude, but in its motion picture version it is likely that the role of the young wife will be given chief prominence and that it will be a vehicle for one of Paramount's feminine stars. Who will star in the picture has not yet been decided, but plans are under way at the Paramount ofices to make it one of the big pictures of next season.

Buster Keaton is now hard at work on his third Metro feature length comedy, "Sherlock, Junior."

While the complete cast has not been selected, those who play in the opening sequences are Kathryn McGuire, Buster's leading lady; Ward Crane, Jane and Erwin Connelly, Dad Keaton, Ford West, John Patrick and George Davis.

"Sherlock, Junior," was written by Jean Haves, Joe Mitchell and Clyde Bruckman. Fred Gaubori is art director, and it is being photographed by Byron Houck, Elgin Lessley and Gordon Jennings.

"Sherlock, Junior" is a Joseph M. Schenck presentation through Metro.

The chamber of commerce of historic Natchez on the Mississippi river joined with James Cruze in making "Magnolia," his newest production for Paramount, a faithful motion picture record of southern life in the days before the civil war.

From the time that James Cruze selected Natchez and its picturesque vicinity as the location for the production of "Magnolia," the chamber of commerce and other local bodies brought all their powers to the assistance of the director. Scouts with cameras scoured the neighborhood preparing data concerning the most suitable places for filming scenes for the picture. Information and photographs were forwarded together to the Paramount studio in Hollywood.

The Natchez of today is a thriving commercial center with many prosperous industries. According to the chamber of commerce, a great deal of valuable publicity will be obtained for their city as a result of the assistance to James Cruze, the man who made "The Covered Wagon," in producing "Magnolia" in Natchez and its environs.

The featured players are Ernest Torrence, Mary Astor, Cullen Landis, Noah Beery and Phyllis Haver.

Herbert Brenon began work upon his fifth picture for Paramount, "The Breaking Point," in the Hollywood studio one year to the day from the time he started his first production, "The Rustle of Silk."

Between the start of "The Rustle of Silk" on January 15, 1923, and the same date of the present year Mr. Brenon produced "The Woman With Four Faces," "The Spanish Dancer" and "Shadows of Paris." The last two were Pola Negri starring pictures.

"The Breaking Point" features Nita Naldi, Patsy Ruth Miller, Matt Moore and George Fawcett.

Sam Wood has begun the production of "Bluff" at the Paramount West Coast studio. Agnes Ayres and Antonio Moreno are to be co-starred.

The start of this picture brings the total under way at the Lasky studio up to five.

"Bluff" was written for the screen by Willie Goldbeck from a story by Rita Weiman and Josephine Quirk.

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

If Back Hurts or Bladder Is Troubling You, Take a Little Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning, for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. Byall means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

Coyote Baseball Prospects Looming Bright

MANY OLD MEN ARE BACK AND NEW ONES WORKING HARD FOR PLACE ON THE 1924 LINE-UP

With a mob of baseball candidates out Thursday afternoon, roughly estimated at between fifty and sixty in number, Wichita Falls Hi begins to prick up its ears and remark that baseball for 1924 should receive a fair boost.

Coach Henderson, himself, breaks down and admits the strong probability of a strong Coyote nine. He states the prospects are exceedingly encouraging.

First and foremost among the diamond candidates may be mentioned Captain-elect Stacey "Red" Jenkins. Jenkins will be remembered as the red-headed youth who broke into several good games at quarterback for the footballing Coyotes last season. He is making a strong bid for the shortstop position.

Despite the fact Jenkins looks good for shortfield, the infield is open to date. Roberts and Basham, last year stars, are missed. At first, Gordon, basket ball letterman, and Morgan are humping themselves. But second and third are wide open for the scramble. H. Franklyn, former second sacker with Sedan, New Mexico and Dalhart, will be a good shot for the pivot bag.

GLOVE ARTISTS LIKE WICHITA

Waugh and Dixson Want to Come Here Again

Reports from glove artists due to show their ring stuff before Wichita Falls fans and from others who have been introduced here, would show the boys take it not lightly when they are given a chance to step [illegible] cards.

Manager Don Wefford is the recipient of two missives from Bobby Waugh and Dickey Dixson, both of whom are at Fort Worth. Bobby states a desire to appear before fans here once more, in company with Duke Trammell, another well known Fort Worth boy. He is now undergoing treatment for his eyes, which proved his undoing here, it will be remembered, against Duke Trammell. Accordingly if his eyesight is bettered, the veteran would like to fight here again.

Dixson says he is ready to do his stuff, and will meet anyone here at 118-122. He is scheduled to tie into Jack Arnold of Shreveport tomorrow night in the double header at the opera house.

Just back from a trip to the western coast, Dixson has some publicity of his work there. From this it may be gleaned he did good work with the Pacific coast lads. Art Brathean and Billy Papke, once noted middleweight, took him in while there and gave him some pointers, he states.

Besides his Pacific coast fights, Dixson has met some of the best boys in the south, among them being Kid Pancho and Mutt McKee, he writes.

CANYON WILL MEET SAM HOUSTON

Special to The Record News.

CANYON, Feb. 7.—The West Texas State Teachers' college Buffaloes will probably meet the strongest team they will face this season when the Sam Houston State Teachers' college Bobcats walk into the Buffalo camp Friday and Saturday nights for two T. I. A. A. conference games. The Bobcats have been going at a terrific stride defeating the East Texas State Teachers' college and amassing other victories in their section of the state.

Local fans, however, believe that the strong Buffalo machine will be able to tame the Bobcats and add a couple more of conference victories to their list. The fact that the locals are at home and that Canyon is much higher than San Marcos gives the Buffaloes two distinct advantages in addition to the dope as to the strength of the two teams being in favor of the West Texas five.

2 AGGIE STARS WON'T PLANT TONIGHT GAME

By The Associated Press.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Feb. 7.—The loss of two men from the Texas Aggies' basketball squad will give them a new line-up against the Southern Methodist university Mustangs here tomorrow and Saturday nights. Coach Bible announced today that Eugene Derby, forward, has been suspended on account of breaking training rules and that Wilcox, his substitute, has incurred scholarship ineligibility as the result of mid-term examinations.

Bible announced he would use Prather in place of Derby and put in a new man at center, S. M. Kyle.

The shortstop position in the big leagues will contain several new faces when the gong rings this coming April—or before the season is well advanced. As things appear now seven newcomers will make their debuts in shortfield. Travis Jackson will start his first season as a regular at short for the Giants. The Dodgers will give young Jim Jones a chance. Dudley Lee will try to prove he's worth $50,000 as a shortstop for the Red Sox. Midget Adams will start there for the Cubs. The Pirates have young Wright. The Cards will try out Bell, and Frank Chance will give Bill Barrett, an outfielder, a crack at the shortstop job.

Heinie Sand, who started like a flash for the Phils at that berth last spring and then fizzled, will be given another crack at the job this year.

He cannot be considered with the others, however, for he was expected to play the bag regularly all last season.

Two more youngsters may join the growing list of new infield stars before another season rolls around. Roger Peckinpaugh of the Senators and Everett Scott of the Yankees are nearing the end of their career. Scott may have to step out before the coming season ends. Peck may hold his berth until the 1925 campaign.

The pitching figures on the National league for last year would tend to show that the no-hit artist isn't the most valuable man in the game. Adolpho Luque, who led the league in all the main requisites of good pitching, didn't turn in even a one-hit game. Dazzy Vance, who led the league in strikeouts, pitched but one single hit game. Several other pitchers whose records for the season were not at all startling performed that feat.

Just how far does a ball club promise to go when it agrees to pay a ball player's transportation from his home to his new ballwick? That's what Elmer Jacobs, Pacific coast star, inquired when told that the Chicago Cubs had purchased his services. For Jacobs' wife recently presented him with the fifth child. And all five as well as the Mrs. go where papa goes.

Another home boy has come home to roost Indianapolis. This winter Donie Bush, native son and later scintillating shortstop of the Tigers, was called back to his native haunts in the Hoosier city to manage the American association club there. Now Donie has signed Otto Miller, catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers for 11 years, to do the backstopping and help coach the Hoosier pitchers. Miller began his career as a sandlot player in Indianapolis. The Dodgers gave him his unconditional release a year ago that he might manage the Atlanta Southern league club.

It has been definitely decided by the Yankee bosses to abandon New Orleans as a spring training camp after the coming one. In 1924 the club will go to Florida and the prospects are that St. Petersburg, will be selected. That city is now the spring home of the Boston Braves.

Jack Cheshro, once hurling star of the Yankees, who has been angling for a way into baseball after years of retirement, may land the job of coaching Princeton baseball players—the same sort of post as that held by Joe Wood at Yale and Fred Mitchell at Harvard.

Johnnie Talt, fast, rangy forward of the University of California five, was chosen for the All-Pacific Coast team the last two years.

HOW'S BRECKENRIDGE IDEA?

Going To Call Juniors "Spudders"

Support is one thing the Wichita Falls Spudders have lots of, both local and outside, even though the 1924 season has yet to be inaugurated with the start of another hot run for the Texas league rag.

Take the boys out at Breckenridge, for instance. Something happened out there the other day which is in itself proof conclusive, the Wichita Falls club is strong in that vicinity. This incident is all the more full of meaning, in that quite a bit of those parts are affected by it, and the boys at Breckenridge are not the ones to let somebody deliberately slip up on their off side, and them with their eyes open.

The city of Breckenridge is to support a junior baseball team the coming season, players to be between the ages of 14 to 18 years. Frank L. Peebles was elected manager, and then the palm was handed to the Wichita Falls club of the Texas league.

For Peebles declared the name of the team will be the "Spudders," as he wants the team to bear the name of the pennant winners of the Texas league, 1924.

Having gone so far toward naming the class of ball this team will play, Manager Peebles stated that by the first of March he will have a team ready to meet any junior team in West Texas.

Above announcements were received from Mr. Peebles, himself, the communication being signed, "Frank L. Peebles, manager of the Breckenridge Spudders."

JUNIOR COLLEGE TO GET ATHLETIC MATERIAL SOON

Wichita Junior college athletes will be among the best equipped in this section, from the way Wichita Falls organizations and citizens are arranging to outfit them.

In the way of athletic material, the college of the Indians will not be wanting. Equipment for the gymnasium will be given by Wichita Falls commandery No. 59, Royal Arch Masons, it was announced last night by James R. Backman, imperial commander.

The action of the Masonic lodge here toward outfitting the college with the best of athletic equipment was made last night at a meeting, according to the announcement.

CUB PREXY PUTS ULTIMATUM TO CHAS. HOLLOCHER

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—President Veeck of the Chicago Cubs tonight served notice on Charles Hollocher, holdout shortstop that he must either accept terms offered him for signing the 1924 contract or remain outside the ranks of organized baseball. No trade or deal involving the player would be considered, President Veeck said.

The secret of Hollocher's demand against the Cubs in refusing to sign until the "financial differences between him and the club" has been adjusted, was revealed today when Hollocher said:

"That scrawny amount of back salary" would have to be paid before he would affix his signature to a contract. The sum involved is believed to be between $4,000 and $5,000.

President Veeck said the club was willing to grant his demands, but insists upon splitting the payment, half of it at the end of the 1924 season and the balance at the end of the 1925 season, to assure the club the services of the shortstop for that period.

WOMEN SWIMMERS BREAK RECORDS

By The Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7.—Gertrude Ederle and Sybil Bauer kept up their record breaking activities today and each cut down her time in swims for new world's records in the third day of the women's association swimming meet in the Roman pools of the Miami Beach Casino.

Miss Ederle, starting from scratch, outswam Adelaide Lambert and Virginia Whitnack in the 75-yard free-style event, her time being 46 3-5 seconds. Her former world record was 47 3-5 seconds. On the next event of the program, Sybil Bauer, Illinois A. C., made her second world's record in as many days when she swam 50 yards backstroke in 33 3-5 seconds. Her old world's record was 34 2-5 seconds.

TWO SWIMMING RECORDS SMASHED

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Two new world's record and one American record splashed into existence tonight at the Central A. A. U. swimming championship under the auspices of the Illinois Athletic club. John Farey I. A. C., bettered his own world's record for the men's open 200 meter breast stroke event in a 60-foot tank by 4 1-5 seconds making the distance in 2:35 3-5. Johnny Weissmuller clipped 3 4-5 second from the world's 60-foot tank record for the men's open free style swim of 400 yards, making the distance in 4:50 3-5.

AGGIES FIGHT MUSTANGS SOON

Ancient Rivals In Two Contests This Week End

Special to The Record News.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—The Aggies will engage the Mustangs at College Station Friday and Saturday nights in dispute for place in the conference race. There has been a close equality in the race between the Mustangs and the Aggies all season. The results of last week slipped the Farmers behind their northern opponents and they are looking forward with eagerness to the opportunity to reverse positions by the contests here Friday and Saturday. They will be striving this week with the ideal of raising themselves to fourth place before the contest comes to a close. A more immediate goal however, will be to avenge the defeats given them in Dallas two weeks ago.

If Darby can get away from Brooks and McIntosh for even a few fair shots at the basket the Farmers may accomplish their purpose, but if they should be as effective in the guarding as was Foster at the University of Texas last week the Aggies may have no reason for aspiring to fourth place even at this early stage of the game. It seems to be the opinion of other teams that the greatest threat of the Aggies is Darby for they build their defense to overcome that danger. Their tactics have been marvelously effective also, justifying their judgment.

Wilcox has not proven a competent substitute for Darby, so that when the Aggie ace has his aggression subdued by ineffectiveness under the guarding the Farmers have no recourse in substitution. Washburn at the other forward position has shown considerable aggressiveness on the floor but has not shown dependable aptness in goal shooting which has reduced the problem of defense of the Aggie opponents to a single case.

For the Farmers it seems to be a case of having all the eggs in one basket and the opponents the wisdom to keep eyes on the basket.

Gill and Dealey at the guard positions are sufficient to break up any scheme of play including close shots at the basket but for teams with their Cantelmis, Bedefords, Sellers, Georges, Settegasts and Ponsfords giving them an accuracy at goal throwing from center field and middle sideline positions they are not so potent on the defense.

The Farmers will have their best opportunity to improve their position in the next six games, including the two with S. M. U. here this week, two with Rice at Houston the following week and two with Arkansas at College and two with Baylor at College the next week. They are expected to find great difficulty on their trip to Fort Worth and to Stillwater and unless they should show considerable improvement on the university o should suffer a catastrophe in the meantime of the final games with the Texas horns here. The final stage of the contest will be a movement of retrogression rather than progression in the percentage column.

AUSTIN, Feb. 8.—La Tertulia, honorary organization for Spanish students in the University of Texas, held initiation recently for the 11 new members elected in the fall term.

La Tertulia has for its primary purpose the fostering of a greater interest in the study of the Spanish language among the students of the university, and election is based upon the ability shown by students in their courses.

Miss Connie Garza, of Rio Grande City, president, says that the club will undertake a close study of the customs and culture of the Spanish during the present term, and will attempt to give the members a closer understanding of the Spanish peoples, and thus foster better relations with the Latin peoples.

The new members are Martha Rene Austin; Guy E. Green, Mason; Gladys Peeler, Dallas; Maultyne Phelps, Jasper; J. Darbe Jones, Austin; Patty Deaver, Austin; Hosie Roach, Hebbronville; Mrs. Ruth M. BASKET BALL

What rule or the abolition of what rule do you think would improve the game most? Why?

Answered by

"MAURY" KENT

Coach of basket ball, Northwestern university and originator of many successful adaptations of the game.

A new rule making the ball "dead" after any free throw for basket, the ball to be put in play by toss-up at center would eliminate the free throw lane and circle and help the game materially.

This new rule would do away with the struggle for position along the free throw lane and the wild mass lunge for the ball after the free throw which generally promotes a great deal of bodily contact and a type of play that is more football than anything else.

Along these lines a new rule that would require, after a held ball, the ball being put in play from out of bounds instead of by tossing-up is worthy of consideration. Just who would put the ball in play from out of bounds could be determined by respective scores of each team or in which half of floor the ball was declared held.

COYOTES MEET ARCHER TONITE

This week's cage game for the Coyotes will be a return match with the Archer City Hi crew tonight, at legion hall.

For the McCallum combination it will be the sugar game, in that it will determine whether they are to win one game with the Archer county boys or lose two.

Last Saturday night at the Archer county capital the Wichita Falls quint went down to a 13-7 count, and were forced to admit Archer has a fast bunch. However, with Baldwin and Tyson back in the local club is due to follow up their intentions of winning this game.

County Basket Ball Meet At Burk Today

Today at Burkburnett the regular county basket ball meet is scheduled to get under way for a two-day stand. Winners in the three classes, senior, junior and sub-junior, will be all set and ready for the district tournament to be held here February 15-16.

Those towns of Wichita county entering teams in the senior events are Iowa Park, Burkburnett, Electra, and Fairview. As for the rural schools, they will be there with the rest in the other two classes.

Wichita Falls will not enter teams in this meet, due to the classing of the Interscholastic league which places them among the county units, as a city of over 25,000 population.

Spring Is Came Says President Harvey As Player Contracts Come

Young Morgan From Wellington Expected To Be a Sensation.

By T. T. HUNT

Two contracts were returned, with the correct monikers attached, to Spudder headquarters Thursday, being those of Pitchers Morgan and Freeman.

According to President R. O. Harvey, these legal-looking documents which a few players in the game are known to prize so much, should be coming into town in droves the next few days. Some of the boys do not live so close as Freeman and Morgan, and must be given time to get 'em in the mail.

Then too, in all fairness, it must be said some of these Spudders and prospective Spudders may be of a retiring nature, others of modest tendencies, and a few, maybe, of a cautious turn of mind. How'er it be, this little preliminary matter should be entirely off hand before the March hare has thrown a runaway on first sight of his shadow.

As the first sweet emblems of harmonious promise between player and bosses come tripping in, baseball season has almost opened as far as these are concerned. Prexy Harvey is all pepped up over Morgan, the young burler from Wellington, Texas, and says there's nothing to it, he'll be a sensation. Morgan has several things to offset his Welling birthright. He is a big, husky, and well proportioned young man, and can throw a ball 'till the sun goes down. Here awhile last season toward the finish, he made quite a bit of respect for his abilities.

Freeman, throwing aside all hankerings for clogging the works as he formerly did on a deal with Wichita Falls, sends his contract in with the first. Just what he can do since missing a lot of good time out of baseball is the question, but he has now the chance to show it.

By a 34-16 defeat of the rampaging American Legion crew, Landon-Hill quint continued leader of the city basket ball league last night. The Knights of Columbus threw the second wrench in the works when that ill-fated club beat the once dangerous Iowa Park Hi five by the close count of 23-24.

For the first time in several games, the American Legionnaires were caught off their swift stride, but the determined bid of the Landon-Hillers for a win of the second half had much to do with this. As for the second tilt, the Knights of Columbus caught something of their old stride, and managed to pull a victory from the mixed line-up of Iowa Park. It is most likely Iowa Park sacrificed temporary chances in the city league in saving their team as much as possible for the county meet today. At that, the Iowa Park youngsters came near annexing the game.

Don Faichney, star Knights center, again led the field in scoring, piling up nine field goals for a victory. He was followed by Van Horn, Iowa Park; Huffman, Landon-Hill; Ferguson, Landon-Hill; all of whom had six field goals apiece. Van Horn high with an extra foul pitch.

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 7.—Warmth of Woodrow Wilson's friendship for Texas and Texans, which was earlier shown in his selection of Col. E. M. "Your letter of November fourteenth has given me a great deal of pleasure, and I thank you for it most sincerely. Such assurances of confidence and friendship sustain and cheer me greatly, and I thank you with all my heart.

"I am proud to think that I have so many and such loyal friends in the great Lone Star state, and I appreciate your giving me the evidence of it.

"Pray accept assurances of my very cordial personal good wishes, and believe me,

"With much regard, Faithfully and sincerely yours.

By SUMMERS

The Powell field is producing approximately 90,000 barrels, according to figures released Thursday.

Conservative operators are of the opinion the price of crude is up to stay and the schedule will be advanced again by February 15.

The effects of renewed activities of all fields has not yet reflected in the production reports.

Archer county held its own during the past week. Burkburnett district again takes the lead in production in the Wichita Falls area.

In the Louisiana-Arkansas district producers are being paid as high as $2 a barrel for crude. It's been a long time since Louisiana oil sold above $1.50 per barrel.

Pipe line connections are not hard to get from the major carriers in the mid-continent district.

Another Advance In Mirando Area

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 7.—For the third time within the past month, the price of Mirando crude has been advanced. At the beginning of the year the Texpata Pipe Line company was paying 55 cents per barrel for the Laredo district oil and the Magnolia Petroleum company 50 cents. The Texpata advanced the price to 65 cents per barrel on Jan. 4 and the Magnolia met the price. Then both concerns about 10 days later advanced the price to 75 cents per barrel and it remained there until Feb. 6 when the Magnolia advanced the price to 80 cents per barrel and Texpata did likewise. Another advance is expected soon and it is believed that before the end of February Mirando crude will be quoted at around $1 per barrel.

Weekly Oil Report Boosts Sales In That End of Business

Market Features

Total stock sales, 1,128,000 shares.
Twenty industrials averaged 100.91; net loss .32.
High 1924, 101.23; low 94.88.
Twenty railroads averaged 84.65; net loss .68.
High 1924, 85.09; low 82.84.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Reactionary price tendencies prevailed in today's irregular stock market which was called upon to absorb another large volume of realizing sales in addition to the rather extensive offering to bear operators. Late selling was inspired by the announcement that President Coolidge had ordered an investigation of gasoline prices and the heavy calling of loans by out-of-town banks apparently in preparation for the repayment of treasury funds to the federal reserve bank.

Steel shares developed temporary strength in reflection of reports that January pig iron production had shown the first increase since last June and that mill operations were expanding but the gains were reduced or cancelled before the close. United States Steel common touched 109 or within ⅝ of the high established in March last year but it sagged later to 107⅞, off ⅜ on the day.

Selling of the oil shares was also influenced by the weekly report of the American Petroleum institute showing increases in both oil production and oil imports. Pacific Oil dropped 2⅛ to 55, Standard Oil of California dropped two and loss of a point or more were recorded by Cosden, Houston, Mexican Seaboard issues, Phillips, Producers and Refiner, Royal Dutch Shell and Atlantic Refining.

Call money opened at 4¼ and advanced, successively, to 4½, 5, and 5½, where it closed. The time money market was dull with the rates 4½ to 4¾, depending upon maturity. The bulk of prime commercial paper continued to more at 4¾.

Foreign exchanges rallied at the opening, followed London's lead, but reacted in the later trading. Demand sterling fell from 4.33 to 4.31⅛, where it was up half a cent. Other rates showed nominal net changes. French francs selling around 4.63 cents.

TEXAS MOHAIR PRICES STARTING HIGHER

By The Associated Press.

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Feb. 7.—Contracting for Texas mohair of the 1924 spring production, yet unsheared, has opened at prices ten to 15 cents per pound higher than a year ago. Sutton county goat raisers sold the county's total accumulation of 175,000 pounds and Menard and Edwards county raisers disposed of approximately 200,000 pounds, all to a Boston concern, W. L. Aldwell, Sonora banker, reported here today.

Grown hair in both lots commanded 50 cents per pound, he said. The Sutton kid hair brought 75 cents and the Menard and Edwards from 65 to 75 cents per pound. The average prices last year in sales by commission houses over the state were 48 cents for grown hair and 60 to 75 cents for kid hair, while contracts opened at 35 cents and 55 to 60 cents.

DELIVERED CORN REACHES TOP

Profit Taking Sales Lead Today's Setback

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—All deliveries of corn today reached the topmost price yet this season, but profit taking sales led afterward to something of a setback. The market closed unsettled ⅛ to ⅜ cent net lower, May .81½ to .81⅝. Wheat, which even more than corn was affected by selling to realize profits, finished heavy, half to 1 cent down. May was 1.11½ to 1.11⅝ and July 1.11⅛ to 1.11¼. Oats closed ⅛ to ¼ cent off and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to 10 cents advance.

Wheat closed at the day's lowest levels. Much of the wheat selling was ascribed to the circumstances that numerous traders were looking for some reaction from the recent continued advance here.

Provisions were governed a good deal by the action of corn.

SEVERE BREAK COTTON MARKET

Slight Rally In Afternoon On Bullish Figures

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Cotton futures closed easy:

	High	Low	Close	Prev. Close
March	34.15	33.30	33.32-35	34.04
May	34.35	33.50	33.50-59	34.26
July	32.85	32.05	32.05-06	32.78
Oct.	28.45	28.05	28.05-08	28.33
Dec.	27.92	27.65	27.65-68	27.70

Opening: March 33.98; May 34.20; July 32.73; October 28.31; December 27.85.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—There was a severe break in the cotton market here today with May contracts selling off from 34.35 to 33.48, or 77 points net lower and 149 points below the high price touched on the advance of last Monday. May closed at 33.50 with the general market closing easy at net declines of 72 to 75 points on present crop months and of 22 to 29 points on later deliveries. The market opened steady at a decline of one to four points on all months except December which was five points higher. Liverpool made a relatively easy showing but the initial offerings were quite readily absorbed and the market stiffened up several points right after the call on covering and buying which was supposed to represent price-fixing for the trade. March rallied to 34.15 and July to 32.85, making net advances of 7 to 11 points, while the new crop sold about five to 12 points net higher.

Offerings increased at these figures and later there was another slight rally during the middle of the afternoon on rumors of bullish private figures on domestic consumption for January, the market weakened again in the late trading. March sold off to 33.30 and July to 32.05, making net declines of 73 to 75 points. New crop months were relatively quiet and steady but October declined to 28.05 and December 27.65, or 29 to 28 points net lower. The close was within a few points of the lowest.

Afternoon selling movement seemed to be prompted by reports of a continuous poor demand for cotton goods in the domestic markets.

SOON TO DISTRIBUTE CITY CHARTER COPIES

The one hundred copies of the city charter recently authorized for issuance will be ready Saturday, it was announced Thursday by City Clerk W. E. McBroom.

Proofreading was being done on the work yesterday, and officials state the work is being done very satisfactorily and on record time by the American Printing company. The copy will be in fifty-five pages, brief size, and in attractive style.

Besides the copies to be distributed among attorneys, officials, and other interested citizens, a copy will be filed at the Kemp library and also one with the public schools.

CAMPUS CHATTER

All rooms at Franklin school are busy collecting and selling old paper in order to raise money for more play ground equipment.

At the Girl Reserve meeting Tuesday at the Barwise school, the girls told stories about various foreign countries and the lives of girls in those lands.

Plans were made for the members to make posters showing how girls live in America to be sent through the Y. W. C. A. to foreign girls.

Troop 6 of the Boy Scouts of America will meet this afternoon at 6:30 at the Barwise school.

Two of the city schools have organized Camp Fire groups among their girl students. Alamo school has a Fire, the Anowa group, under the leadership of Miss Adeline Penny. Two groups have been organized at Sam Houston school, one among the older girls of which Miss Olga Morris is the guardian, and a circle among the younger girls with Miss Norma Rollins guardian.

The girls are busy earning money for their dues and working for their first rank. Many good times are being planned and enjoyed by the new members.

Nelson Ferguson and Luther Baker of Barwise school are ill with measles.

A piano solo by Miss Leta Channing prepared the wedding guests for the ceremony, after which Carlton Bowman gave "O Promise Me" from Robin Hood, accompanied by Miss Winifred Alves.

While Edna Rundel played Lohengrin's Wedding March, the pretty little Spanish bride, Melba Ashabranner entered with the groom, John Robinson, who made a dashing Spanish caballero. The ceremony was performed by J. R. Martin who made an impressive parson. Fred Smith was best man and Mary Brown was the bridesmaid. Other wedding attendants were Misses Lavelle Williams, Cleo Wood, Dolores Peavey, Dorothy Ludey, Lela Feilds, Mary Peters and Olaf Blakely, Cleo Wood and Welson Carter.

Mrs. J. C. Berney spoke to the debating class at the high school Thursday on the subject "The League of Nations."

The Coyote drive is progressing splendidly—876 annuals have been sold so far.

The High School Spanish club is ordering membership pins. They are of solid gold, and have the club monogram.

The Fine Arts club has begun rehearsal for "Carmen," a burlesque which will be given in a couple of weeks.

One dollar and sixty cents entitles you to a membership for one year in the book library of new fiction and in the research library for study at THE BERNEY'S LITTLE BOOK & LETTER SHOP.—Adv.

JACKIE COOGAN IN "CIRCUS DAYS" HERE

Jackie Coogan a "Circus Days"

A circus has come to town!

The big red band wagon parades blithely down the street every afternoon, giving forth exhilirating strains for a real circus band and then backs up before the big tent at the Mission Theatre, opens up a little window and becomes the ticket selling wagon for the big show.

The band plays on top of the brilliant red and gold wagon in the evenings before the main tent and draws the passing crowds into the cleverly reconstructed lobby which now has animal cages, ballyhoo attractions, the fat lady, and Jackie Coogan as he appears in his big picture "Circus Days" backgrounded by canvas walls, sawdust floor and a real sure enough circus atmosphere.

The resplendent circus wagon was built entirely in the Berg workshops above the Mission theatre where the attractive theatre fronts for the Olympic and Mission theatres are designed and created. The circus people are realistically mounted and placed about, and lions and tigers roar in their caged wagons.

The work has been very cleverly done, and it sidewalk comment of the passerby may be accepted, is one of the most realistically and attractive show fronts that has been in the city for some time.

Cars Collide And 2 Narrowly Escape Injury

Paul Cotner of 1308 Twelfth street and J. R. Ingle of 1512 Polk, narrowly escaped serious injury when cars driven by them collided Tuesday evening about 7:30 at the corner of Lamar and Ninth streets.

Cotner was driving a Ford touring car and going up Ninth street. Ingle, driving a Ford truck, which is owner by a local creamery, was approaching from Cotner's left. When he tried to cross Ninth street his car was struck by the car driven by Cotner and thrown around and over against the curbing.

Both cars, according to witnesses, were making good speed, and the impact was heard for blocks. Neither party was injured seriously, although Cotner suffered a few minor bruises, and Ingle a small cut on the face and bruises.

There was no one in either car other than the drivers. Both cars were smashed badly in the accident.

WOMEN HAT STYLES TO BE BEAUTIFUL

Women and misses of Wichita Falls and vicinity are in store for a treat in new millinery when Mrs. Mary Gross returns from an extensive buying trip to the East. According to Mrs. Gross, this spring will find a wider variety of hats in every shape than ever before.

Clever little turbans, some with turn-up effect and trimmed daintily in fancy brocade, flowers and other pretty accessories, chic polk hats with a touch of bright silver here and there, large chapeaux of rare and distinctive beauty for the theatre and dainty little motor hats that bespeak the last word in snap for sports wear will be among the coverings shown for milady's approval this spring, she said.

Mrs. Gross will purchase millinery in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and other eastern points in an effort to make her hat shop one of genuine pleasure in shopping, she said.

Old Home Town Stuff

THINGS YOU SAY, DO AND SEE AND SOME YOU DON'T

Guests of a local hostlery were suddenly awakened from their peaceful slumbers at a late hour last night by a series of feminine screams, followed quickly by short gasps and a final gurgle that seemed to put an end to the presumed agony the victim was experiencing. Those within hearing distance of the sounds felt cold shivers preambulate their spinal column, while other guests prepared for the worst. The days of '49 were recalled as parties lightly clad and with their trusty shootin' irons poked queeried faces and anxious heads through a very small opening of their various doors. Still others failing to understand the situation sought shelter beneath their couches, and according to their own testimony, did not venture forth until the wee sma' hours of morning awoke the faithful chanticleer of lusty lungs on the next block.

Various guests, upon being questioned as to their opinion of the cause of the unexpected hilarity stated that a certain young lady, after eating many foods and much, passed through an unforgetable night horribly and fluently frequent with nightmares. Arrangements were completed yesterday, it was said, to have a complete set of harness in every room for those desiring a change of scenery.

A rummage Sale Will be given Friday and Saturday of this week by the women of the Floral Heights Methodist church. The sale will be held at 820 Ohio next door to the city hall.

R. C. Huckabee, religious educational director of the First M. E. church, south, has gone to Chicago for a week to attend the International Convention of religious educational directors of all denominations.

EDUCATORS ORGANIZE P. T. A. AT CLARA

County Superintendent Burl Bryant, Miss Georgia Lansford, county demonstration agent, Miss Gladys Baucom, all of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. J. M. F. Gill of Burkburnett were the principal speakers Wednesday evening at a community meeting held at Clara for the purpose of planning a Parent-Teachers' association in that city.

Splendid talks were also made by prominent citizens and mothers of Clara, and by teachers in the Clara schools.

As a result of the interest shown by those present, E. W. Cullers, city superintendent of schools in Clara, called a meeting Tuesday evening, February 12, for the organization of the association. This marks another step forward in the community progress of this enterprising little city, and according to Clara school people, the organization of mothers and teachers will mean much for the building of the school system there.

NEGRO ACQUITTED ON LANGUAGE CHARGE

Cleye Waldrop, a negro, was acquitted by a jury before Judge Guy Rogers Thursday morning of a charge of abusive language.

Complaining witness, S. H. Willis, testified how Waldrop had ordered him away with violent language when he went to collect a bill from the negro. Other testimony brought out that Willis had pushed the collection of a small debt which defendant promised to pay on pay-day, a few days off.

Sanderford Goes To Eastern Market Convention Today

W. S. Sanderford of Sanderford's Booteria leaves this afternoon for the National Shoe Retailers association convention to be held in Chicago Feb. 11, 12, 13, 14.

The convention which is an annual affair promises to be this year, one of the biggest in the history of the shoe business, Mr. Sanderford said yesterday. All the largest manufacturers from different shoe centers of the east will be represented, showing their latest creations for the coming season.

At the convention hall there will be employed over 400 models who will promenade before the many buyers, that they may see exactly the becomingness of the mode.

Mr. Sanderford said he believed the new season would be one of many different colors and designs, with the popular sandals that were worn last year much in demand. Brown in its many shades will be a predominating color while the different creations of suede with the reptile trimmings such as lizard, crocodile and the like will prove the newest of the new.

Patent leather, the old standby, focuses the attention by appearing in quaint colonial pumps, resplendent with shiny metal buckles. For evening wear slippers of brocade and silver, or if the gown be plain fanciful tapestry effects will be the thing.

In all, Mr. Sanderford said, it is to be a season of beautiful footwear and as it is with the hat or gown, so it is with shoes; and the Booterie will show the very latest and lovellest creations.

Mr. Sanderford expects to be in Chicago and eastern markets for about two weeks.

J. I. STALEY SUES KATY FOR $2,422.67

Suit was filed Thursday by J. I. Staley against the M-K-T Railway company of Texas for damages cited at $2,422.67 which the petition alleges were caused by failure of shipmen of cattle to Chicago by the Katy according to contract.

It is alleged in the petition the Katy got the shipment of cattle to Chicago twenty-four hours later than regulation time thereby causing a shrinkage in weight of forty pounds to the head and also missing the market price for which they were intended by plaintiff.

FIRE DAMAGES CHICKEN YARD $2,500

Fire partially destroyed a two-story chicken-brooder barn to the extent of about $2,500, owned by Fred Weeks, on Speedway avenue about 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The fire started from a brooder stove, it is reported. Insurance partially covered the loss.

Fireman Turner of Station 1 reported the loss of a yellow bunker coat, with a sheepskin collar, thought to have been left in an alley during the fire there.

Miss Katherine Henricle and Miss Margaret Gamble of the Texas Children's Home and Aid society will return from Petrolia this afternoon where they have been in the interest of the organization.

Allison, Rotary Speaker, Pays Wilson Tribute

A tribute by J. H. Allison to the life and works of Woodrow Wilson was the feature of the Rotary club luncheon Thursday. Mr. Allison told of the accomplishments of Wilson as a president and as a citizen. He pointed out the big things in the ex-president's life and told of his strict adherence to principles of right.

The district Rotary conference which is to be held here in April, was discussed and plans outlined for the entertainment of visitors who will be in the city.

Walter D. Cline, president of the local club, thanked the members for their co-operation in the preparation for the coming convention, and told them that they were equally responsible with the officers for the sucess of the conference.

Letters from the presidents of the Kiwanis and the University clubs in which these two organizations offered to the Rotarians every assistance in the work for the convention were read. Appreciation was expressed by Rotary officers for these offers.

The program was shortened to allow time for committee meetings following adjournment.

Los Angeles Times: There were three at the table in the cafe, a girl and two men. Suddenly the lights went out and the girl drew back quickly.

An instant there was the smack of a compound kiss. As the lights went on each man was smiling complacently.

"I thought I heard a kiss," said the girl, innocently, "but nobody kissed me."

Then the men glared at each other and got red in the face.

ECZEMA SKIN IS HEALED BY THIS SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Adv.
