

Rockets Meet 'AA' Bobcats On Friday

Confident after their 40-0 win over Paducah in their opener, the Wellington Skyrockets travel to their second game Friday night, September 29, against the Class AA Childress Bobcats. The game will be played at Childress.

This will be the Rockets second non-conference play before going into action for the district title. Friday's game will be the second in recent years the Childress and Wellington teams have played. Two years ago the Rockets upset predictions to defeat the Bobcats. No game was played last year.

Luck has been against the Childress boys this year. After losing their first game to the Amarillo Yannigans, they again suffered defeat 25 to 21 from the Plainview Bulldogs.

This has spurred Bobcat efforts, however, and their fans predict that the Rockets will have no easy time Friday night. Those who have watched them report their blocking and tackling has improved as a result of some stiff work along that line and that they have timing on their plays.

The Bobcat backfield averages approximately 145 pounds, all with considerable speed. Coach Al Duncan reports that the Rockets are looking good and that a few weak spots that showed up in the game with Paducah are being ironed out.

Probable starters for the Bobcats will include Weldon Bates at center, Johnny Shofner and Red Goodwin at Guards, Don Decker and Capt. Dan Lewis at tackles; Bud Shoults and Duane Moates at ends; Tannel Dakil, Jack Barry, Jack Felton and Coobie Kitchens in the backfield.

Tickets for the game are on sale here at Nored's Confectionery.

In district 3-A playing Friday, besides the Rocket-Paducah game, Shamrock bowed to Canadian 14 to 7; Lakeview, which won its first game, was defeated by Clarendon 7 to 0; Phillips won over McLean 26 to 6; and Memphis defeated Wheeler 33 to 6.

Memphis leads with two games won and none lost, while Wellington has one win and no losses. Lakeview has one win and one loss. McLean has one loss and no victories, while Shamrock and Wheeler each have lost two games.

LIEUT. NOLES

Above is a picture of Lieut. John Roy Noles, a prisoner of the Japanese, received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Winn of Stephenville, a few weeks ago. Although the picture was taken a number of months ago, they feel that he looks well to have been a prisoner since early in 1942, when the Philippine Islands fell. The family formerly lived here and Mr. and Mrs. Winn feel that the picture may offer encouragement to others of this section who have relatives imprisoned in the Orient.

Tobe Deahl To Sell Herd Of Fine Horses

The largest sale of fine horses in the eastern Panhandle in many years is scheduled for Tuesday, October 10, when 26 head, part of them registered thoroughbreds, will be sold by Tobe Deahl of Dodson at public auction in Shamrock.

Two-State Singers Hold Annual Meet Here Oct. 7-8

The largest group of singers in this entire area, the Oklahoma-Texas District Singers Association, will hold its annual convention in Wellington Saturday night and Sunday, October 7 and 8. More than 3,000 persons from throughout the Panhandle and western Oklahoma are expected to attend.

The singing will be held in the community building, with the Rotary Club co-operating with local singers in sponsoring the event. Bess Owen and Bob Spears are in charge of local arrangements.

"There's no doubt about it, this will be the biggest and the best singing Wellington will see this year. Chances are it will be the best convention the Association has had in several years, in spite of war time restrictions," Mr. Owens said.

"A large number of outstanding quartets and other special singers will be present, in addition to this there will be plenty of group singing."

Efforts are now being made to secure rooms for the visiting singers for Saturday night, and any family here who will keep one or more persons is urged to contact Mr. Spears or Mr. Owen.

Complete arrangements for the singing will be announced next week.

President of the Association is Fred Cope of Eldorado, Okla. Other officers are Alvin Byram of Carter, Okla., first vice president; M. H. Conn of Childress, second vice president; and Mrs. Pervin H. Williams of Vernon, secretary-treasurer.

W. E. Holmes of Wellington has filed suit in the 108th District Court at Amarillo seeking damages of $2,500 and costs from Western Union.

Mr. Holmes in his suit alleges the Western Union office in Wellington received a telegram for him on August 2 of this year and, despite the fact that he is well known, it was placed in the mail that evening and did not reach him until August 4.

The telegram, the petition alleges, was from St. Jo and was to the effect that his mother had died (Continued on Page Twelve)

Wellington Can Have Youth Center

One Texas Town Solved Its Problem With 'Club Corral'

Interest of the young people and several adults of Wellington in securing a recreation center where boys and girls may enjoy their leisure hours in supervised play prompted a former resident, Mrs. Joe York, to tell what was done in her little city of Corsicana. Mrs. York said:

Being a former resident of your town, I was very much interested in your article in "Deck's Didactics" on the need of a recreation center for the children of Wellington.

Let me tell you what a group of interested mothers did in our little city of Corsicana.

A committee of seven chosen from the Corsicana Recreation Board were to serve with seven high school boys and girls, chosen by the Student Council. These were to form the Youth Center Recreation Board. They met together to request the use of a section of the YMCA building as a youth center.

Two floors of this lovely building were given over to the Recreation Board, as the deed was recognized as being in line with a youth movement that is enveloping the country from coast to coast.

The constitution and by-laws for the new project, known as Club Corral, were compiled by the teenage members of the Couth Center Board. Thus "Club Corral" was formed for all white residents of Corsicana of teen age.

The next move was to provide a colorful setting for the activities of the teen-age. A Texas motif was chosen and all of the interior decorating was done by mothers and the teen-agers themselves. Many a Texas cattle brand can be found on the walls or on one of the various tables. Our light fixtures are very cleverly made from wooden bread bowls. There are cowbells, frying pans and various other decorations. Game tables were designed on barrels and bunks are made in corners to rest on.

The lower floor consists of various game tables, reading centers and radios. The latest books and magazines are donated by either clubs or individuals. The loveliest ranch furniture is found here, mostly donated by friends and worked over in true style by the mothers. Back of this is a small but lovely powder room for the girls.

Up the stairs and to the second floor where dancing is enjoyed and where the "coke bar" is always a happy meeting place. Candy, ice cream, soft drinks and sometimes hamburgers are served here. There is a juke box and an autograph wall, made in the shape of the map of Texas, which is almost filled up now.

Numerous benefit affairs have been had by the teen-agers to secure funds for equipment and decorative features. They really enjoy helping with these things, for after all they enjoy the fun which it brings back to them.

We have a hostess committee to keep some adult always present. (Continued on Page Twelve)

In recognition of this and of the work he has done Mr. Henry has received a letter of congratulation from M. S. Sloan, an officer of the company, along with an emblem of recognition.

"It is my privilege and pleasure to tell you that the management and your fellow workers greatly appreciate your co-operation and the loyal and faithful service you have performed in behalf of the company in which we are all so much interested. The future success of the company is very largely in the hands of the younger members of the organization, but with the continued leadership and co-operation of the veterans its welfare is assured," the letter read.

County Officer In First Group Cited by French

Capt. Hansell Carter, Dodson, an officer in the Army Air Force, was a member of the first American unit to be cited by the French government in this war, he wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Carter, recently.

Men of his bombardment wing, stationed in Sardinia, were awarded the famous Croix de Guerre for their action against the enemy. This was the first group, either ground or air, to be so decorated, the captain wrote.

Capt. Carter enlisted in the Air Force as a private shortly after graduating from Dodson high school. He later attended officer candidate school at Miami Beach, Fla., and after being commissioned was sent to North Africa.

He has one brother in service, Olan Carter, who enlisted in the Navy a few weeks ago and is stationed at Farragut, Idaho.

New Oil Test Is Scheduled

Approximately 2,000 pounds of scrap paper has been gathered in Wellington to date by the Boy Scouts, sponsors of the county-wide paper salvage campaign, Sandy Parsons, Scout Master, has announced.

This is but one small part of the drive and it will be continued until 40,000 pounds of waste paper has been collected, that being the amount needed to fill a freight car, Mr. Parsons declared.

Participation by rural families as well as those in town is urged if the large quota is to be met.

Scouts will collect paper in Wellington each Saturday morning. Rural families are asked to get their paper together and bring it to the old City Hall on North West Avenue, where Scouts will be on duty all day Saturday to receive it.

"It is impossible for us to secure the services of a truck to call at each home in the county, and consequently we must ask each of you living outside the city limits to co-operate with us by bringing in your own paper," Mr. Parsons explained.

All persons living in Wellington are asked to save all waste paper, tie it in bundles and leave it on the front porch, by the front door, or in some other place where the Scouts can easily see it.

"These boys can collect several times more paper if it is out waiting for them than if they have to knock at each house and ask for it," the scout master pointed out.

Paper of all type can be used—newspapers, magazines, cardboard, unneeded paper sacks and all other types of waste paper.

This paper is being baled by the Wellington Farmers Co-op Gin, managed by Ross Wilkerson.

"It is extremely difficult to realize the enormous importance of paper in war," Deskins Wells publisher of The Wellington Leader and co-chairman of the Texas Newspapers' Waste Paper Drive said today in discussing with local sponsors the vital need for salvaging every scrap of waste paper.

Waste paper constitutes almost 90 per cent of the content of every piece of paper used in the 700,000 different items made from this material needed by the Army and Navy.

"It is startling to learn that waste paper has so many uses," the co-chairman of the drive stated in pointing out some of the uses for paper in modern war:

One hundred pounds of waste paper makes 17 protective bands for 500-pound bombs.

One hundred pounds of waste paper makes 650 cartons for Army "K" rations.

One hundred pounds of waste paper will make 2,911 cartons containing ten cartridges for inflating life boats.

One hundred pounds of newspaper will produce 50 casings for 75-mm. shells.

Two pounds of waste paper will make one V-Box container for food and supplies.

One pound of waste paper will make 15 life-boat emergency ration containers.

"When the people of Texas understand what a vital part waste paper plays in the war we've no doubt that their response will be overwhelming," Mr. Wells said. (Continued on Page Twelve) bution Station for his next Air Force assignment, the sergeant will be examined by doctors and interviewed by personnel specialists to determine where he can best fit in the AAF set-up and aid the war effort.

Rockets Down Paducah 40 To 0 In Friday Tilt

Showing both speed and power, the Wellington Skyrockets defeated the game but outclassed Paducah Dragons 40 to 0 with most of the scoring in the first half. Coach Al Duncan managed to turn it into a contest during the second half by using every man on his squad and keeping the starters on the bench.

The Rockets superiority was evident in the first few minutes of play when they took the ball from Paducah on three plays and scored the first touchdown in four offensive tries. After failing to gain Paducah punted to Kendrick on the 45 and he advanced to the 35. Russell went through the line for six yards and Hatch skirted end for 25 yards and from that point Russell had an easy time making the remaining 5 yards.

The second score came in much the same fashion. The Rockets punted to the ten and Paducah kicked to the forty on the first down with Kendrick taking the ball and bringing it back to the 25. Russell picked up five through the line and Kendrick made the second touchdown around end as he gained 20 yards.

The third touchdown came soon afterward with Paducah receiving ball and kicking out of bounds on their own 25 with a poor punt. Austin went for 15 and Tim Hatch carried the ball over.

There was more scoring that featured an intercepted pass by I. D. Russell who raced 35 yards for another touchdown and the sensational run of Harold Maddox who early in the third quarter took a punt on his own fifteen and after getting good blocking to start him off ran 85 yards for the final Wellington Touchdown.

This was made with most of the second string in the game, and Coach Duncan started pulling this second string and sending in third string men who performed well. In the fourth quarter Paducah threatened to score on two occasions. Once they reached the one yard line and again they went to the five, but Duncan had enough confidence in his young men that he did not let a single one of the starters back into the game and both times the younger men held.

Fans were delighted to see Harold Maddox come out from under the wraps. He is the substitute for Ernest Kendrick and bids fair to become a most valuable man when the games get tough and substitutes are essential.

Ted O'Neil and Edward Harrison the starting ends showed themselves capable of holding down the end sweeps and of strong offensive blocking, and their substitutes Covey and Baird also played head-up ball. It was Baird who caught the pass for point after touchdown that contributed Wellingtons last score. Burns and Copeland, at tackle, Fulton at center and Winters and Nelson at the guard positions completed a line that should be stronger than the line of '43. And there were able substitutes in Derryberry, Orr, Raburn, Mauldin, Hunt and Johnson who showed that there will be plenty of tackle material in other games and other seasons.

Wheelhorse of the line was Harold Burns, but also very effective was James Winter who handled his position at guard well as did his running mate Nelson.

Substitutes who turned in a good performance were Jr. Orr, Kenneth Winter and Newman Brown in the backfield and Parker Turner and Sam Raburn in the line.

Next Friday the Rockets meet the Class AA Childress Bobcats who scored two touchdowns on Amarillo and came close to defeating Plainview with their sensational passing. The game will be played at Childress.

Arizona was the 48th and last state admitted to the union. The date: February 14, 1912.

E. B. Haralson Breaks Hip Thurs.

E. B. Haralson, 75-year-old Wellington man, received a broken hip Thursday night, September 14, when he fell while visiting a son, Herman Haralson, in Texarkana.

An operation was performed Tuesday morning and a metal pen placed to hold the broken hip joint together. This will eliminate the necessity of placing him in a cast. A message to his daughter, Mrs. O. B. Raburn, following the operation said that he was getting along as well as could be expected. He will remain in the hospital for approximately six weeks.

Two other daughters left for Texarkana following the accident, Mrs. George Clark and Mrs. W. M. Williams. Mr. and Mrs. Haralson left to visit their son three weeks ago.

...speak no evil!

"There is only one evil", wrote Socrates, "that is ignorance." And ignorance it obviously is, which sometimes prompts the careless car-owner to say that all motor oils are alike, that there is no difference between any of them.

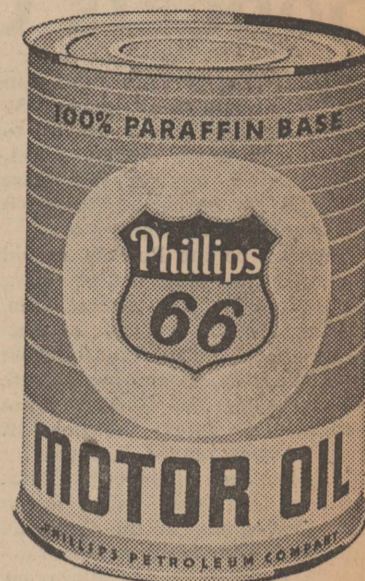

Oils vary in chemical composition, in stability, in freedom from harmful impurities, in lasting power, in ability to maintain viscosity, and in many other ways as well.

That is why all intelligent car-owners naturally prefer a quality oil. But not all of them know the simple, easy way to be sure of getting it, as explained by the following facts:

Phillips offers a number of oils because car-owners' preferences vary almost as much as their cars and pocketbooks. But when you want our best oil, remember Phillips tells you frankly that Phillips 66 Motor Oil is our finest quality... the highest grade and greatest value... among all the oils we offer to average motorists.

Figure the cost per year of draining and refilling with quality oil every two months, as experts advise, as against the cost of using cheap oil; and it is plainly foolish economy to take a chance. So when making the seasonal change from summer-worn lubricant, get quality by getting Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

The Truth About The Lumber Situation

The broad statement that lumber is "frozen" and will no longer be available is not only misleading but false. Due to the unprecedented demands of our world-wide war fronts and the record-breaking industrial consumption incident to manufacturing and shipping war materials, the use of lumber for SOME CIVILIAN NEEDS must be curtailed.

The new lumber control plan (War Production Board Reg. L-335, effective August 1, 1944) regulates the distribution of lumber from mill to consumer. Retailers may sell only to the consumers and for the purposes specified in the order. We are allowed to sell a small quantity of lumber on what are called "uncertified and unrated" orders.

This "uncertified and unrated" class of consumers covers a MULTITUDE OF USES, including practically all home owners, small business and industries, service trades, etc.

People Who Can Buy

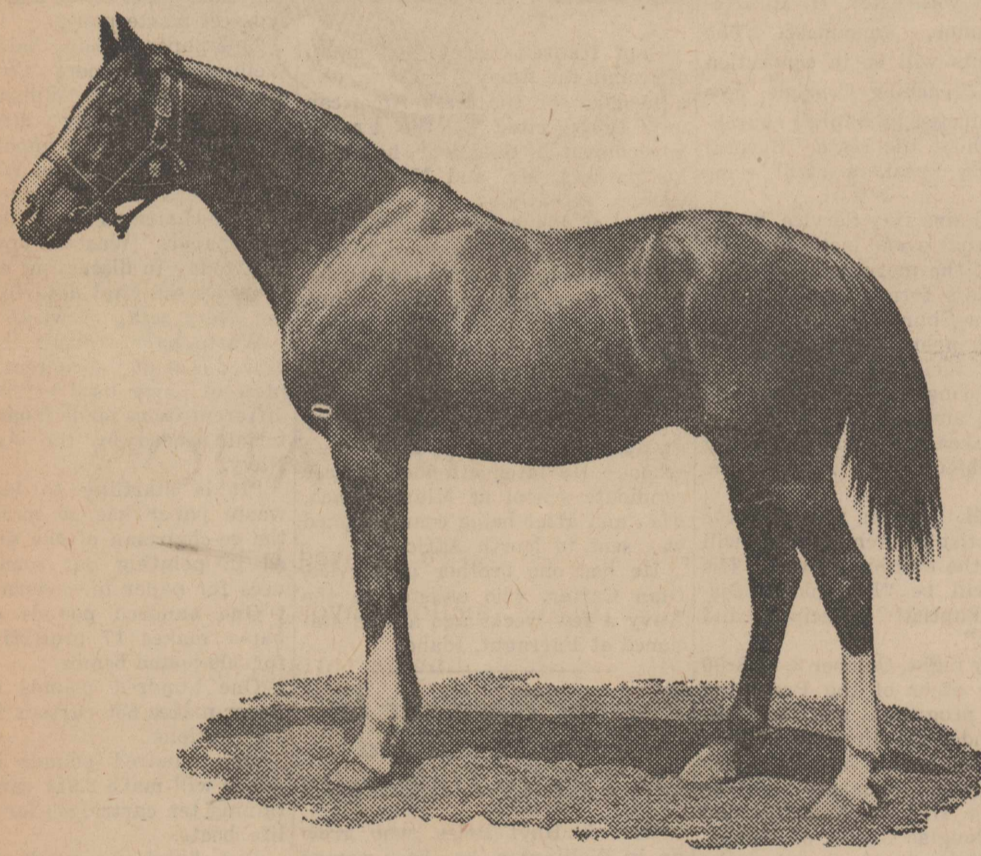

1. Provision is made for Lumber for ALL ESSENTIAL FARM NEEDS. See us for full particulars.
2. Property owners who need lumber for repairs and maintenance.
3. Businessmen for operations in their business.
4. All departments of Federal, State and Local Governments and hospitals.
5. Permission may be had from the War Production Board to build additions to houses and to business buildings where a definite need can be shown. Lumber is available for such permits when granted. We will be glad to assist you in preparing applications of this kind.

You Can Still Buy

ANY QUANTITY (without certificate) cedar shingles, posts, hardwood flooring, cement, brick, windows, doors, insulation, asphalt roofing, paint, or the HUNDREDS OF ITEMS OF BUILDING MATERIALS OTHER THAN LUMBER. Building material dealers can still sell lumber for MANY uses and can sell other materials and supplies for ALL USES.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

(The following letter was written to Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Mabery of Rt. 5 from their son, Sgt. R. L. Mebery, Southwest Pacific.)

Dear Mother and Dad:

Yesterday a few of us moved up the way a little. Very nice place here. I don't like it though. We live in nice little huts. Outside by the window is a banana tree. It has two bunches of half grown bananas on it. The food here is very good, considering. We have a very nice Red Cross here. We can get do-nuts and coffee here anytime we want.

We have an outdoor movie about twenty yards from our huts. I went to a movie last night.

Gee, I sure wish I could get with our outfit so we could get some letters. Probably be a long time though. Keep on answering my letters they will finally catch up. Be good and don't worry.

Love,
R. L.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

(The following letter is from S-Sgt. J. R. Henard to his sister, Miss Mildred Henard.)

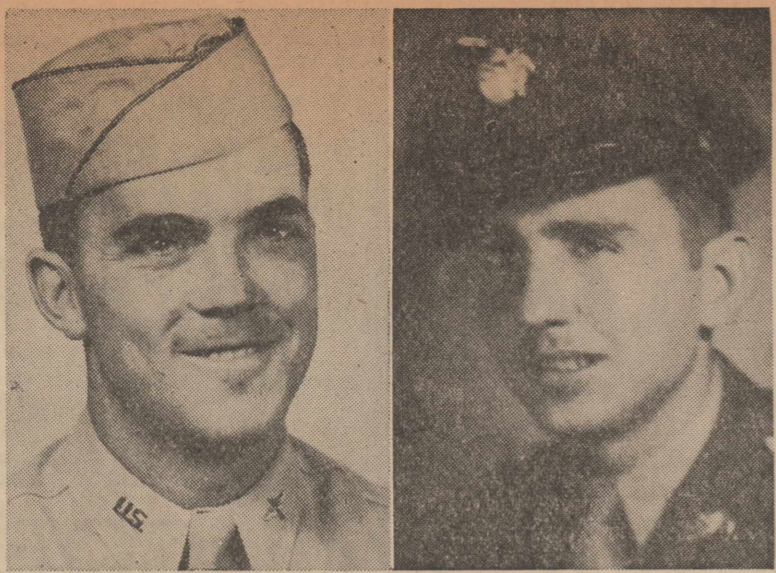

Dear Sis:
Have been trying to find time to get some letters written but the work has stacked up on us now and it seems rather hard to find time. Things always go from one extreme to the other though.

I finally got to Rome to really spend some time to see some of the things of interest. It is by far the most beautiful city I have seen overseas. Even better than London although I didn't get to spend enough time in London to see anything but a few of the things I wanted to. Many of the places of interest in Rome were not open to public visitors yet either. Of course the first thing I did was to go down the Appian Way and see the Arch of Constantine and the Colosseum and the old Roman Forum. The colosseum is exactly like the pictures but so much larger than I had ever imagined. It is made of huge marble stones and brick. The part that is missing was torn down to build many of the buildings erected a few centuries later. The famous building where Musso made his speeches I understand was built from the stone also.

Above all the other places of interest St. Peters is the most beautiful. The mosaics are really something. I only hope you get to see them someday. Of course the sculpture work of Michelangelo's is really beautiful. There is also work by Raphael and others. A person could visit the Vatican every day for a week and still see only a small part of it.

The old bridge across the Tiber that Horatius was supposed to have defended is still used. The Tiber is lined with beautiful boat houses used for swimming clubs and boating clubs—boy what a place. I really wouldn't mind living there. It is by far the cleanest city I have ever seen. The Italian people say that Florence is the city though. I am afraid that it is rather war torn by now though I hope to see it. Many of the famous masterpieces have been ruined and stolen they say. It is too bad they can't spare those things but war has no feeling for anything regardless of what it may be. It is a shame it didn't remain an open city.

We are living in tents now and I am writing this on my knee by candlelight so just pardon my mistakes. Maybe there will be better times ahead. The way this thing is going I might even be home in a couple more years. (I certainly hope so.)

ROBERT BAUMGARDNER ROY KERSTEN
Robert Baumgardner, left, received his wings and commission as a second lieutenant at Blackland Field, Waco, June 27. The third son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Baumgardner to receive his wings as a flyer, Lieut. Baumgardner is now stationed at Liberal, Kansas. Cpl. Roy F. Kersten, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kersten of Wellington, is now serving with the Army Air Forces in England. He volunteered for service November 9, 1942, and received his training at Coffeyville, Kansas, and Lincoln, Nebraska.

I could write on and on but my eyes are closing. It seems as though I can never get enough sleep since I have been here.
Hope to see you soon.
Love,
Johnny

her insurance by now. Remember that I want you to keep all the money because I don't need it over here and I took the allotment because I know you can use the money.

Mom, you take good care of yourself and Lucille and the children and tell them that Jack loves them very much. You all go and see Johnye Ruth and help take care of her for me until I return—soon I hope—will you? Tell everybody hello for me and I will try to write to all of them when I have time.

The people over here are really glad to see the Americans and when we stop our trucks in a town the people throw flowers at us, give us apples, pears, tomatoes and all kinds of drinks and things to eat. Hope the war ends soon though because I am ready to get home to see my new family and all of you too. I'll write more all before too long. I love you all later when I have more time. I'll close for now, but hope to see you very much.

Your son,
Jack.

Dear Mom and Dad and Handleys:
Will drop you a few lines to let you know how I am. Things are going o. k. and I am feeling fine. We have moved a long way recently. All France is supposed to be liberated today according to Gen Ike.

We don't know yet what Jerry will do in his homeland, but it won't be long till we find out. We have really given him a fit on several occasions. They sure can't say they weren't defeated on the battlefield this time.

Enclosed you will find a little

I am o. k. Don't worry. Write soon.
Love, Your son,
Harris.

Pvt. Effie Lee Richards returned to Wellington last week from Ft. Custer, Michigan, where until her recent illness, she served as a filing clerk in the office of the Provost Marshall General. Pvt. Richards received her honorable discharge on the 15th of September. Accompanying her to Wellington was an Army Nurse, Lt. Lucia Turunen, whose home is Alston, Michigan. Lt. Turunen was much impressed by her visit to the Panhandle as her previous impressions of West Texas had been simply sage and sand. Pvt. and Mrs. W. O. Richards endeavored to show her the most fertile land in the county, including some of the fruit orchards. Lt. Turunen had her first sight of milo maize and cotton and declared that from now on Texas would have another loyal supporter at Ft. Custer.

The story of Damon and Pythias had nothing on the story that has come out of France concerning two Privates in Uncle Sam's Army. The two soldiers are Pvt. Albert Sherman, a 20 year old boy from Richmond, Calif., and Pvt. James L. Shumate, of Wichita Falls. Pvt. Shumate is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shumate and all are former Wellington residents, while his sister Mrs. Aubert Keller lives here now. Both soldiers trained at Camp Wolters and both sailed on the same boat but it wasn't until they reached Ireland that they met. There they were trained together and assigned to the second infantry division. But the separation came then. Sherman was sent to a signal company to operate a switch board (a comparatively safe position) while Shumate was assigned to fight as a rifleman in an infantry regiment. Three weeks later, Sherman decided he would not tolerate the separation and during the day he would hike a number of miles to work beside his friend Shumate all day while his buddies in the signal company covered up for him. This plan was so successful that he tried staying away from his company at nights and then was afraid to go back for fear of what his officers would say. Several noticed the strange face around the company, but did not investigate or when they did were sympathetic. During this time Sherman and Shumate were in a seven day battle. Twice he ran into officers in his company but who were kind enough to help him affect a transfer and this story has a happy ending for finally Sherman was officially granted a transfer into the same company with his friend Shumate... a Texan with a personality.

Cpl. Harvey L. Duncan, Jr., graduated from the Marine Aviation detachment, Naval training center at San Diego, Calif., September 8. On completion of this course he was promoted to the rating of Corporal.

Cotton Vandivere, who served with the Army Air Force for almost two years, received a medical discharge from Borden General Hospital at Chickasha, Okla., and has returned here. Vandivere served for seven months with a ground crew of the 9th Air Force in England. After becoming ill, he was returned to the United States for hospitalization, reaching here April 14.

His wife and son made their home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ford of Lodson, while Pvt. Vandivere was in service. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Vandivere of Wellington.

They plan to return to Phillips, where he was employed before going into service.

Pfc. John Boverie left last week to report to Fort Meade, Maryland, near Washington. He spent the first three days this week with his aunt, Mrs. Constance Schulz, in Washington, D. C. Pfc. Boverie is the son of Mrs. A. C. Boverie, and has been stationed at Camp Wolters, Mineral Wells.

15TH. A. A. F. IN ITALY.—Staff Sergeant Winfred H. Morrow, 23 year old, of Wellington, Texas, has flown fifty combat missions as left-waist gunner on an AAF Flying Fortress unit of the Fifteenth Air Force.

Sgt. Morrow joined the army on August 20, 1942, and was awarded his gunner's wings at Las Vegas, Nevada, on November 21, 1943. He left for overseas combat duty March, 1944, and flew his first mission over Pas De Calais, France on April 20, 1944. His fiftieth was to Toulon, France, on August 14, 1944. He has been awarded the Air Medal with four bronze Oak Leaf Clusters.

He was a graduate from Wellington High School in 1938.

T-Sgt. William V. Childers left Wednesday, September 20, to report at Santa Monica, Calif., after servicing for a second time with the Army Air Force in Italy. He had been here for 10 days with his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Childers of Samnorwood.

This time in Italy he did not fly combat missions, however during his first stay there, he served as gunner on a heavy bomber and flew more than 50 missions against the enemy.

He was awarded the Air Medal with eleven Oak Leaf Clusters and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Sgt. Childers returned to the United States in May after completing his missions, and later this summer he was returned to the Italian theatre.

At Santa Monica he expects to be assigned as an instructor.

Cpl. Tice Sisk left during the week end to report for service at Fort Logan, Colo., after a three-week furlough spent with his wife and children, his mother, Mrs. A. G. Sisk, and other relatives.

He returned in late July from the southwest Pacific, where he had served since November 1943.

Luck held for the last group of men from this county who entered service. Twenty three of the twenty five are now at Camp Wolters, Quinton Brewer wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Brewer, a few days ago.

This includes William Walter Depauw, Paul Wingear, Vernon Kerklin, Herman L. Kenkins, Howard Hunt, Joe Alex Coleman, H. C.

Morrow, John D. Calcote, Athan Mayhugh, Willis Morris, Mac Herbert Wilkerson, Olan Carter, E. R. Roberson, Jr., Owen Fate West, Paul Edward Davis, Preston Gilbreth, Harlen Carrel Srader, James Edward Moody, Bery Lyslie Duke, Quinton Brewer, Herbert Bearden, Jiggs Jones, and Eddis Sam Henard.

Bill Harwell was assigned to the Air Force and is stationed in Amarillo.

Cpl. Winfred L. Scott has returned to the Pampa Army Air Field after spending a fifteen day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Scott of the Arlie community. Cpl. Scott will soon go to Kerns, Utah, for further training. Mr. and Mrs. Scott have also been notified by their son Dale Coott, S 2-c, that he has been transferred from San Diego to San Francisco, California.

Aviation Student James B. Berry, who has been stationed since July at the Army Air Field at Merced, Calif., arrived in Wellington to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Berry, last week. Berry has been in the service since last Feb. and until he was sent to Meceed Field, was stationed at Tacoma, Washington where he attended school. He will report back to Merced on the 30th of this month.

Mrs. J. L. Burt received birthday greetings from far away last week when her son, Cpl. J. L. Burt sent her a cablegram from Italy.

Candy for the Man in Service and for the People at Home

We have secured an especially nice Texas Pecan Roll—light in weight, delicious in quality, which is suitable for mailing overseas to your man in service. This PECANO is better for shipping than chocolates, because it does not turn white when in hot climates. Since CHRISTMAS packages must be sent early, we have stocked and will receive additional shipments to care for this demand.

It has given us pleasure to have had large quotas on candy, all of which we have distributed to merchants in this section. Our records show that we have given merchants of this immediate section more than twice the candy we sold them before the war—yet demand has increased until even that is not sufficient. Other jobbers who in former years shipped many merchants here at cut prices have ceased this practice—which automatically throws that business to us—and makes greater demand than we can meet. Also, the fact that other frozen confections, cakes, etc., that were formerly sold here, and the makers of which have closed those business' have made the demand heavier. We wish we could have received enough merchandise to have satisfied every call—but we sell out to the walls frequently—and close till more stock is received. In this way, we can continue to receive all goods to which we are entitled on our quota, and see that merchants have it for retail selling.

The extra candy and gum the town of Wellington has enjoyed has been possible because the three trucks we formerly operated to distant towns had to be stored because the men selling for us were of war age—and selling candy was classified as a "luxury business"—so our salesmen were glad to offer themselves to Uncle Sam during the great need for men to defend our country.

You merchants have missed the service, and we have given the best we could under the conditions—some expect the same old good service we used to give—but we are frank to admit it isn't possible now. We call ourselves "CASH AND CARRY JOBBERS" now, and most merchants have been very pleasant about it all. For fifteen years, we had a man at your door twice a week—to see if you needed anything at all. Those who bought least in those days, sometimes expect MOST now.

After the war, there will be millions of men back wanting jobs—and we intend for this section to be served as formerly by trucks distributing dozens of the best confections manufactured—This will be our contribution to our nation's welfare—to help several young men regain a place in the business world after helping save our country. We are proud of them all—and we know you are. They will need some help from older people when they come back—to become adjusted again. This section should not and will not fail them.

Call on your local merchant for full boxes of these bars—all suitable for overseas shipments.

Pecano, Ft. Wotr Pecan Roll, Pecan Pralines, Pecan Treat, Dallas Fudge Bar, Americano Bar, Bit O Honey, Pal O Mine Fudge, Little Lambs Fudge, Dixie Peanut Bar, Goober Plank, Assorted Sweet Cakes, Cheese Sandwiches.

Any merchant in Wellington has—or will get—these bars for you.

Editorial

In the U. S. Army alone, since we entered the war—74,000 dead. 74,000 dead! Yes, our victorious troops drive on. The news of our advances makes big black headlines.

But, in small factual type, the war department announces: "74,000 dead . . ."

Let us pause here a moment. Let's forget the movies, the radio shows, the crisp unrealities on which we feed.

Let's remember there are 74,000 who will never again feel the cool, sharp tang of an autumn morning, nor the glow of the noon-day sun. Let us remember that they are dead—so many of them before they had fully lived.

They are white crosses on a hundred far fields; they are small gold stars in windows; they are memories in the hearts of mothers.

Victory cannot bring them back. Nor can our prayers, nor our remembering.

Then it is for us, the living, in Lincoln's immortal words, to be dedicated to the unfinished work which they have so nobly advanced; for us to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us—

"That from these honored dead we take increased devotion . . . that we highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."—Wichita Falls Record News.

The Navy has announced that rebuilding operations on the French liner Normandie have been halted, because manpower and materials are needed more urgently elsewhere. Maybe it's a case of the Normandie taking a back seat for a peninsula of the same name.

Seattle psychiatrists are puzzled over a man who tried to commit suicide because he couldn't stop running backwards. In view of all the postwar planning, one concludes that he is the only person in the nation more interested in where he's been than where he's going.

A Texas town has banned bare mid-ribs on its streets. The city council could not stomach the situation any longer.

Connecticut Democrats have nominated a woman to oppose Clare Luce for Congress. Evidently the men feel that campaigning, too, hath no fury like a woman scorned.

Industry In The Little Towns

That small towns in Texas need to industrialize at least on a small scale, either by luckily obtaining factory locations financed by outside capital or by cooperatively financing their own industries was the opinion voiced here Monday night at the Kaufman Chamber of Commerce by William R. Hoge, a vice president of the Liberty State Bank of Dallas, who was speaker of the evening.

Mr. Hoge said he had spent some time in New England and that he had observed that every town, even the villages, had at least one industry, which provided employment for townsmen and gave the community a year-round payroll.

"A town usually must start in a small way by financing its own industries," he said. "It takes a great deal of luck to successfully locate large industries financed by outside capital."

Mr. Hoge pointed out that Texas had definite advantages over New England—rich resources, milder climate, gas instead of coal for fuel, better labor conditions.

He said that small factories could turn out any one or more of thousands of items used daily in quantity.

"If you ever get a successful factory here, it will bring more," he commented. —Jack Callan in The Kaufman Herald

Soldier Publicity

Readers of newspapers should understand that neither parents nor sons nor relatives often release information to newspapers for publication. Ninety per cent of our information regarding boys in service comes direct from their own public relations officer. Most of the time when the news appears it is even news to parents. Don't think when you see a news item of a local boy that either the boy or his parents brought it to us. Sometimes they do but most of the time the news comes direct from their own officers. Some public relations offices are more diligent than others and some boys are mentioned in print more often than others. But this is due to no fond parent or publicity-seeking youngster. The chances are that most of the time the boy would not prefer the publicity.—Ed Bishop in The Dalhart Texan.

Unemployment

Unemployment must be expected with the end of the war against Germany. Government men estimate that there will be two to three million out of war jobs within 30 days after German war end and that four to four and one-half and maybe five million will go out by spring. Most of these workers will probably find other jobs in private industry but there will be much unemployment.—Van Stewart in The Ochiltree County Herald.

The Beasts In Nations

The question is often heard asked as of what manner of men are the Germans who as they retreat, kill, torture and leave a path of atrocities. The answer is that they are the same kind of men that a minority of which can be found in any country. What type of man is he, who, hooded as a Klansman, and in numbers tortured and mutilated the individual who displeased him? In what category is the striker who beats and often kills the man who is willing and wishes to work at a job that has been abandoned? No, beastiality and greed is not entirely confined to the enemy nor are their crimes any more openly and arrogantly committed than many here at home. —Anton Koch in The Quannah Tribune-Chief.

Mrs. Harley Kern and Mrs. Byron Duncan buying material for the PTA yearbooks . . . Mrs. Annie Barker passing the Leader with a lovely bouquet of fall flowers, as pretty as those you see in pictures.

Gifts that the service men send home: Mrs. I. C. Carter with a pin sent by her son, Pvt. J. D. Carter from Persia. It was made of mother of pearl, hand painted with an eastern scene and set in a silver mounting of filagree work . . . Mrs. Earl Reynolds with a dandy cameo rocket her son, Frank, had sent from Italy. It, too, was set in silver.

And Mrs. L. M. Colwell wearing an Arabian silver bracelet sent by her husband from North Africa. Heavier than most, it has a beautiful design and is of expert craftsmanship. It's a little too large for her wrist and there's no way of cutting it down without spoiling the design. It goes without saying that her friends who have seen it are wishing they were wearing it.

Mrs. Higdon wondering what to send her son, Cpl. Joe Higdon for Christmas. He's stationed in Africa. . . Mrs. T. R. Michie, who lives at Vega now, saying sometimes she couldn't stay away from Wellington any longer, so she just had to come down.

M. J. Holland, who came in last week from Los Angeles, California, where he was working, saying that he had a good job, but he couldn't find a place to stay and everything was so crowded and "in such a mess." "And anyway, I like to be able to walk down the street and say 'hello' to folks," he said.

A note from Mrs. Annie Bird, now teaching at Westway School near Hereford: "I am well and have been very busy. I teach first, second and third grades. Have 23 pupils, a nice bunch and this is a very nice community," she wrote.

POST-WAR Magic

STORYBOOK automobiles—light metals—plastics—100-octane gasoline—television—electronics . . . Postwar America is in for an incredible and marvelous homelife.

With the coming of electronics, all-electric kitchens, washers that do everything but laundry-mark, let's not lose sight of why we so avidly yearn for these coming tools to make our leisure hours longer. Time was when the thought of purchasing additional electrical appliances had to be carefully considered, lest we exceed our budget—our cost for electric service was about as much as we felt we could afford. Now, after many years of increased use of electric current, we find the cost of service very little greater!

More and more West Texans are telling their neighbors that there is one household item that has stayed down in price . . . that they are using twice as much electricity as they did fifteen years ago at the same monthly cost!

WHY? You don't have to get a crystal ball to figure this out—steady reduction in cost of electric service has been attained by strict business management . . . and because company employees consider it their personal responsibility to see to it that all additional costs are eliminated in rendering such service.

Vary Your Meat

Versatile ground meat makes attractive wartime fare. Beef, lamb, pork, or veal may be used. Mashed potatoes, left-over vegetables, bread or cracker crumbs, will extend it. Meat stock, milk, fruit, or vegetable juices will moisten it. Spices, onions, pimiento or green pepper will season it.

B And P W Club Begins 1944-45 Year At Meeting In Hotel Banquet Room Sept. 12

"How do we rate ourselves," was the topic of the first program of the 1944-45 year begun by the members of the Business and Professional Women's Club at a meeting in the banquet room of the Wellington Hotel, Tuesday evening, September 12. P. E. Starr was guest speaker and ably discussed standards by which people should judge themselves when taking inventory of their lives. Mrs. Alf Wynn, program leader, was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker.

In the business session the president, Miss Hattie D. Wells, presided and appointed the following chairmen: Finance, Bonnie Willis; Health, Rose Erisman; Education, Alda Wynn; International Relations, Katherine Boverie; Legislation, Cleo Templeton; Membership, Dora E. McClaskey; Public Affairs, Delene Nall; Program Coordination, Margaret Shields; Publications, Clay Sullivan; Music, Irma Garner; Pianist, Bessie Rainer; News Service, Inez Leach; Parliamentarian, Bobbie Gholson.

Methodist Nursery Redecorated In Pink And Blue

The children of the Nursery Department of the Methodist Church were delighted when they arrived at Sunday School recently with their newly decorated Sunday School room. Using pastel shades of pink and blue, their teacher, Mrs. Sandy Parsons, Jr., assisted by some of the mothers, re-decorated the room and furniture completely.

Against a background of fresh white walls hang Bible pictures in pink and blue frames. These pictures are spaced between the windows hung with white curtains with pink ribbon tie-backs. The floor painted in a soft shade of blue blends with the lighter shade of pastel blue used in painting the tiny chairs half of which are blue and half pink. The large sand table which occupies the center of the room is white and is ever the center of interest.

Mrs. Parsons was assisted in this work by Mrs. Bryon Duncan, Mrs. Frank Campbell, Mrs. Olan Alexander, Mrs. A. A. Watts, Mrs. Bryan Denley, Mrs. Amon Elliott, and Miss Amy Sue Way.

Betty Ruth Thomson Has Thirteenth Birthday Sept. 12

Those attending were Diane Wells, Joy James, Betty Sue Walker, Veda Mae Kiker, Delores Somerville, Jeanne Way and honoree.

Home Wedding For June Jarrell And Lt. Edwin L. Atkins

The wedding of Miss June Jarrell to Lt. Edwin L. Atkins which was announced in last week's Wellington Leader is described more fully in the following story from the Pampa News:

In a double ring ceremony read Sunday, September 11, Miss June Jarrell became the bride of Lt. Edwin L. Atkins when vows were exchanged before an improvised altar of baskets of fall flowers and candlelight. Bronze and yellow mums were placed on either side of the fireplace with a flower arrangement reflecting in the mantle mirror.

The marriage ceremony was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Fraser with the Rev. E. B. Bowen reading the ritual at 10 a.m. Mrs. Fraser is a sister of the bride.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Jarrell, Wellington. Lt. Atkins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Atkins of Corinth, Miss., and has been stationed at the Pampa Army Air Field.

"Serenade" by Schubert, Irving Berlin's "Always," Lohengrin's "Wedding March" were played at the piano by Mrs. Malcolm Brown. Mrs. Fraser was candlelighter and wore a black crepe dress with sequin trim and a corsage of yellow roses. Maid of honor was Miss Wilma Jarrell, sister, who wore an aqua blue dress with black accessories and a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses.

Crouch, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Weatherford, last Saturday evening at seven o'clock, when Miss Juanita Fulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Fulton, became the bride of Monte Ray Davis. The single ring ceremony was given in the presence of only a few, the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Davis, Mrs. Floy Freeman, Bob Daugherty and Miss Mary Ann Harmon.

Following the wedding, the party returned to the home of the bride's aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Akers, West Oak Street, where a reception was held in their honor. Miss Fulton has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Akers since going to Weatherford two years ago.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Akers and Misses Marjorie Black and Elizabeth Letson. The bride's cake was cut and punch was served to more than twenty-five guests before the young couple left for a brief honeymoon to points in Texas.

The bride wore a bluish grey woolen suit, with black accessories and carried for "Something Old" a vanity belonging to Miss Black and containing very very old coins. For something "Borrowed" she carried a handkerchief belonging to Mrs. Steve Akers. Her corsage was of lilies and gladioli, in pink and white.

They returned home last week and Mrs. Davis has resumed her work as operator for the Western Union Company and Mr. Davis has resumed his work at Convair Aircraft.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Fulton of Wellington, Texas, where she was reared and educated, graduating from the high school here and later from business college. She went to Weatherford two years ago and accepted a position as nurse in the Medical and Surgical Clinic and later accepted the place as Western Union manager.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

(The following letter was received by Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Jones from P.F.C. Pete Moulton of the Marine Corps.)

Sept. 6, 1944

Dear Dr. and Mrs. Jones:

Well, it's been quite a spell now since I corresponded with you so I will drop you a few lines and let you know that I'm still O. K. and doing the best I can.

There's really not much I can say due to the strict censorship we have here, so just bear along with me and maybe you can get a little something out of it.

Things have been pretty lively out this way the last few months, and there seems to be no sign of weakening on our part or the Japanese as far as that goes. They are a tough, smart and daring enemy and the two years I've spent out here, I've never seen one give up without a fight, yet.

Looks like the war is going well in Europe, and will probably be over before too long, we hope so.

I hear Cotton Nelson was home on furlough, he always did have all the luck, especially with the women. Ha. Ha! But I am glad he got to come home. I had the pleasure to meet him once out this way.

I think Jr. Montague is out here, also Boyd Williams, but haven't met them as yet. What kind of ball club is Wellington having this year? I wish them all the luck.

Tell everyone I know Hello, and hope to send them my greetings from Tokyo soon.

As Ever,

Pete Moulton

(The following letter is from Sgt. D. E. Tompkins U.S.M.C. to his mother, Mrs. Earl Tompkins.)

Sept. 12, 1944
San Francisco

Dear Folks:

Just a few lines to let you know that I have moved again. This time I have a darn good job though. I am working here in Frisco at the Signal Supply Depot and am living out at a boarding house just like a civilian . . . not bad what?

I go to work at eight and get off at four thirty and the rest of the time is my own.

There was sixty of us came up here to relieve those men who are fit for combat duty. They were sure glad to see us—I don't think I am pretty sure that we will be here for at least a year, maybe longer. I hope it is for the rest of

The brothers met by chance in England a number of months ago and have enjoyed several furloughs together.

I still haven't heard a thing from Wayne. Tell him that he still owes me a letter the next time you write him, and that if he is ever in Frisco to drop around and see me. If he comes between eight and four thirty, come to 100 Harrison St. to building 3 and ask for me. You can also tell Junior Young's mother that if Jr. ever comes in here he can stay with me for a while, also tell T. D. Austin's mother. Thanks.

Dad it has been quite some time since you strained a finger and wrote me so how about a few lines. How is my number one girl, Patsy? Still mean I guess.

Well, I have to quit and write to my better half or she will have heart failure.

Love,

Dub

ington Leader means to the men, I think you will be well satisfied.

I would love to take this opportunity to congratulate the intelligence of Collingsworth for planning ahead of most of the surrounding cities for the future of aviation. The group has been selected for aviation, has the problem well on its way, there is still something very mysterious. Do not the cities of this county always respond first to the requests made by our government? The people realize the changes that are going to be made in the future. Yet they will not prepare for it. Each person should ask himself, "What can I do to improve Collingsworth County?" People should have inducements to make Collingsworth their home. I am afraid that the population is going to decrease though. Instead of having the adjoining towns building a project first could it not be constructed first in Collingsworth? Collingsworth produces about as much agricultural products as any county in the Panhandle . . . Especially cotton. Why not construct a textile mill. The merchants could save freight and delivery charges on their merchandise. Therefore the public would have this much discount on the material that is purchased. If it is necessary to have a salesman, why not let a person from Collingsworth have the job? This industry would induce men that are acquainted with textile to work in Collingsworth. With aviation in our county, quick delivery could be given to our county purchasers. The mill could establish merchants not only in our state to order from Collingsworth, but the surrounding states as well. Citizens, things are going to change fast in the future, Collingsworth must be made a very progressive county and always a step ahead of its neighbors. Sincerely, J. I. Morgan.

WFA Announces Revised Cotton Price Practice

The War Food Administration and the Office of Price Administration have announced, jointly, a revision of the cotton price stabilization agreement which was announced April 24, 1943, Millard Brown of the AAA office announced Tuesday.

Under the original agreement, in lieu of a price ceiling on cotton, the War Food Administration agreed to offer for sale Government-owned or controlled cotton through the Commodity Corporation in the open market when market prices reached parity.

Under this revision, which is effective until May 1, 1945, the Commodity Credit Corporation will not offer for sale any of the cotton owned or controlled by it except at prices which will not prevent cotton from averaging parity. For the present, this will mean that no Government points (1/2 cent a pound) above the parity price, this margin having been determined to be necessary, in view of the fluctuations of the market, to net a parity average. The margin of 50 points will not be reduced prior to May 1, 1945, unless the price of cotton should average above parity in an amount and for a period of time sufficient to raise a question as to the adequacy of manufacturing margins under ceiling prices that are being computed for major cotton textiles on the basis of parity prices for cotton. In that event, the sale price of cotton of the Commodity Credit Corporation will be reduced only in an amount sufficient to prevent the price of cotton from averaging above parity, Mr. Brown explained.

The two agencies have further agreed that no ceiling price is to be placed on raw cotton to May 1, 1945, below the price at which, under the terms of the agreement, the Commodity Credit Corporation will offer cotton for sale.

This action is taken in furtherance of the purposes of the law recently enacted by Congress that directs the President, acting through any department, agency, or officer of the Government, to take all lawful action to assure that the farm producers of cotton, and other basic and proclaimed agricultural commodities, receive parity prices.

Tuesday Night Rain Benefits Late Cotton

Rain which fell during Tuesday night measured .38 of an inch at 7:30 Wednesday morning, according to J. M. Strong, at whose home the government rain gauge is located.

Slow rain was still falling when the Leader went to press Wednesday morning.

Farmers in various sections of the county during the last week had reported that rain was badly needed on cotton if the top crop was to be saved, and that late feed was also needing the moisture.
