Agreement Reported On Pueblo Incident

Dig Mass Grave

South Vietnamese soldiers dig a mass grave Sunday in Saigon's Mac Dinh Chi cemetery for the bodies of a South Vietnamese army colonel, his wife, and five of their six children. The Viet Cong massacred the family last week in their surprise attack in Saigon. One child escaped death.

Cong Opens Fresh Attack In Saigon

SAIGON, (AP) — U.S. Marines beat off 200 to 300 North Vietnamese troops attacking a hill overlooking the northwest fortress at Khe Sanh today. The Viet Cong opened a fresh heavy attack in Saigon while fighting continued in Hue and other targets of the Communist offensive against South Vietnamese cities.

Police reported about 400 Viet Cong overran a police substation in Saigon after nightfall and launched a heavy assault on a main police precinct in the city. The attacks came after allied officials reported the Communists would open a second big attack on the capital.

IN FLAMES

After 90 minutes of fighting, the Viet Cong had the main precinct in flames. The police abandoned it and headed for the center of Saigon. Police said they refrained from using heavy return fire because of the danger to the heavy population in the area.

U.S. B52 bombers flew six raids Sunday and today in support of the 5,000 Marines at Khe Sanh, who face an estimated 20,000 North Vietnamese soldiers. U.S. commanders feel that if the Communists can push through Khe Sanh, they could move on through the Quang Tri and Cam Lo Valleys 30 miles into Quang Tri, capital of South Vietnam's northernmost province.

The U.S. Command said the Communists have lost 16,976 men killed since launching the cities campaign last Tuesday. It said 1,477 allied soldiers have been killed, 471 of them Americans.

NEAR NORMAL

Saigon appeared almost normal for a while Sunday, with Vietnamese women out strolling and food vendors resuming business, but Viet Cong troops were attacking government forces in the city today. Some government troops set up machine guns on roof tops and fired up and down alleys and into buildings.

The heaviest fighting was raging near the International Control Commission compound, about four blocks from the central market place. Thousands of civilians were evacuated from the area.

DENIES AGREEMENT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of State William P. Bundy denied today that agreement has been reached for the release of the 83-man crew of the U. S. Navy intelligence ship Pueblo.

"We have no confirmation of that," he told a newsman.

"As of this moment we cannot report any progress," Bundy added.

No Official Word From Bargainers

SEOUL (AP) — The United States agreed today to admit that the USS Pueblo trespassed in North Korean territorial waters, and the North Koreans agreed to return all 83 crewmen of the intelligence-gathering ship, the Seoul newspaper Chosun Ilbo said.

Quoting an unidentified South Korean government source, Chosun Ilbo said the agreement was reached at the third secret meeting of U.S. and North Korean representatives held at Panmunjom, where the Military Armistice Commission meets in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

The report said the United States agreed to a Communist demand that it sign a new apology admitting the Pueblo violated North waters.

U.S. officials in Seoul said they could neither confirm nor deny the report.

OFFERED

Earlier South Korean sources had reported the meeting at Panmunjom today and said the North Koreans offered to release the body of one dead American and "several" injured if the United States would admit the Pueblo was trespassing.

A Seoul radio station said three helicopters were waiting at the conference building at Panmunjom in expectation of the release. A source at the 121st U.S. Army Evacuation Hospital 15 miles west of Seoul said one wing had been on the alert since Sunday to receive the Pueblo's casualties.

The sources said the negotiations at Panmunjom are being carried on by Rear Adm. John V. Smith for the United States and Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Kook for North Korea. They were reported meeting with only interpreters present, as they did first on Friday and again Sunday.

U.S. Embassy and military spokesmen in Seoul refused to comment on the reports of the meeting today.

Reports of the North Korean offer to return the casualties circulated after the meeting Sunday, but U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said he had no word of any such offer.

COMBINES CAUTION AND ZEST

Sure He Can Win Fight

KHE SANH, Vietnam (AP) — The defender of Khe Sanh combines the caution of a banker and the zest of a hardened combat man who is sure he can win his toughest fight.

Col. David E. Lownds and his reinforced 26th Marine Regiment are surrounded by two divisions of North Vietnamese troops—more men than Hanoi has committed to one battle so far in the war.

The Communists have artillery, heavy rockets and deadly accurate mortars. All are zeroed in on the Khe Sanh base camp and take a daily toll of Marines.

'HELL, YES'

"Can we hold this place?" Col. Lownds responded to a question. "Hell, yes. The morale and discipline of my men are high, and because the enemy has delayed our defenses are better every day."

That's the professional fighter speaking. Lownds, who was nearly killed in the opening phase of the battle for Khe Sanh, adds: "But if I said I was satisfied with my position the general should take another look at me. Any commander who is satisfied with his defenses is a fool. If I stay here two more years I'll still be at it. Complacency is dangerous and foolish."

Khe Sanh sometimes is likened to Dien Bien Phu, where the French suffered their final decisive defeat in their Indochina war. Both are in remote mountain valleys that are hard to resupply. In both cases the defenders were badly outnumbered by a hard, well supplied Communist force bent on annihilating its foe.

COL. DAVID E. LOWNDS

But Lownds says the French made a series of key errors. They underestimated their enemy, failed to prepare their bunkers for a real siege and were short of artillery. They could not count on the necessary aerial bombardment and resupply to keep them going.

Lownds, twice wounded in World War II, feels he and his Marines have none of these factors working against them.

Lownds knows well the problems of assaulting fixed positions. During World War II he was wounded during the Marine landing on Saipan and again at Iwo Jima.

A North Vietnamese 122mm rocket almost got him before the battle of Khe Sanh really started. The round smashed his hut just after lunch when he normally would have been in it. That day he was briefing a general deep in a command bunker.

MUSTACHE

The regimental commander sports the handlebar mustache favored by many Marines in Vietnam. His close cropped hair and trim physique make him look younger than his 47 years. Born in Holyoke, Mass., and a graduate of the University of Rhode Island, Lownds served in the Domincan Republic during the 1965 crisis there.

Recalling his days as a battalion commander, he says, "Having a Marine battalion is the ultimate in any Marine's life. It's more personal and more immediate. Having a regiment is an honor."

TONIGHT

Burleson To Speak At C-C Banquet

COLORADO CITY — Rep. Omar Burleson will be the speaker for the 59th annual Colorado City Chamber of Commerce banquet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Civic House.

Burleson is chairman of the House Affairs Committee and a ranking Democrat on the House Foreign Relations Committee.

Emcee for the event will be Tandy Curlee, past president of the chamber.

Two major chamber awards are to be presented, to the outstanding agricultural family and the outstanding chamber member for 1967. In addition, there will be four other community awards presented, for the Woman of the Year, picked by the C-City Business and Professional Women; and the Jaycee commendations for the Distinguished Service Award, the outstanding young educator award, and the outstanding farmer award.

James F. Kelley will be installed as the new president of the chamber, succeeding Frank Deregibus. Other new officers are Trevlyn Kelly, first vice president; Don Benson, second vice president; Eddie Piland, treasurer; and Truman Bodine.

New directors are Benson, J. C. Britton, John T. Merritt and Joe Morren.

Says Reds Not Interested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says North Vietnam helped mount the major Communist offensive in South Vietnam knowing U.S. air attacks were being curtailed during exploratory peace moves.

The United States therefore must conclude, Rusk said, that the North Vietnamese "are not seriously interested at the present time in talking about peaceful settlements."

His statement that the United States "exercised some restraint" in its bombing of the North came during a joint radio-television appearance with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who left open the possibility of new American troop deployments to the war zone.

The program was NBC's "Meet the Press," doubled to an hour's length for Sunday's joint interview, which reportedly was suggested by President Johnson.

Both Rusk and McNamara said they believe—but are not "1,000 per cent sure," in Rusk's words—that the USS Pueblo did not intrude in the territorial waters of her North Korean captors.

Martin C-C Banquet To Hear Harry Clark

STANTON — Harry W. Clark, who headed Texas industrial development from 1962 until recently, will address the annual meeting of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce this evening.

The affair, which will see Cecil Bridges turning over the reins of the organization to Paige Eiland, will begin at 7:30 o'clock in the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative auditorium.

Other officers to be installed are Alton Turner, vice president, and Charles Elmore, treasurer. Besides the officers, the other incoming director is Ira T. Clark.

Bridges will give a review of the program for the past year, while Eiland will look forward to the chamber's objectives for this year. Bridges also will make a special award, and Jake Hodges will recognize the Martin County farm family of 1967. Entertainment will be furnished by the Joe Cruse family, and prayers will be worded by the Rev. Richard Payne, First Methodist pastor, and by Doyle Corder. Owen Kelly will be the toastmaster.

Prior to heading the Texas Industrial Commission since January, 1962, Clark was with the Texas & Pacific Railway Company and the Texas Power & Light Company in industrial development. He served as president of the Southern Industrial Development Council, which made him one of the first three fellows to be honored for outstanding service in the field. He also was cited by the Society of Industrial Realtors in 1963.

More Sales Tax Votes

Four more Texas cities are due to vote this week on the new optional one per cent municipal sales tax.

Voters in Sinton are to go to the polls Tuesday while Carrizo Springs, Cooper and Hillsboro have scheduled special elections for Saturday.

Four other cities — College Station, Muenster, Wills Point and Caldwell — approved the levy Saturday.

Calls Fighting 'Great Tragedy'

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)— Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., says American involvement in Vietnam is "one of the great tragedies of our history."

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he opposed initial American involvement in Vietnam, and insists that the United States had no obligation to add its presence to the Vietnam War.

DON'T SEE HOW

"But, frankly, I don't see how we could come out of there now and abandon the field to Communist forces," Russell said.

The 70-year-old senator made his comments in an interview published Sunday in the Atlanta Journal - Constitution Magazine.

Russell said the U.S. engagement in Vietnam has created "a greater sense of personal frustration than anything he has encountered in 35 years as a senator.

Russell said his painful experience of originally opposing involvement in Vietnam has made him more determined than ever to speak out whenever he feels the administration is taking an unwarranted military risk.

"As soon as I hear about it, I denounce it so there will be neither disloyalty nor doubt. I am going to take that position from here on out," Russell said.

As an example, Russell said that last July he challenged a decision to send American airplanes to the Congo, when the Congolese were fighting rebels and white mercenaries.

Russell said he first made no objection to the decision when he was told that Air Force jet transports were being used only to evacuate Americans.

But then it developed that the transports were transferring trops around the Congo to fight the rebels.

DENOUNCED

Russell denounced the move from the Senate floor, noting that some senators might not consider the small number of troops involved serious. But "Vietnam started out with a force not much larger than this," he said.

"I told them it was wrong, that I was weary of seeing American soldiers being used as gladiators to be thrown into every arena of the world."

Raiders Bomb Florida Home

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A firebomb was hurled at the home of an assistant state attorney Sunday night. Police Capt. Robert Angel said he "assumed it was related" to a firebombing at the home of a judge three weeks ago.

No one was injured in Sunday night's attack on the home of Mack Futch, assistant state attorney for 12 years in this northwest Florida city.

A passer-by noticed the rear of Futch's home was burning and alerted Futch 40, who put out the fire. There was only minor damage, Futch said.

"Had not a passer-by called it to my attention my five children and my pregnant wife would have been grievously injured and maybe killed," Futch said.

On Jan. 17, midnight raiders hurled two bombs at the home of Circuit Judge James Adkins Jr. Only minor damage was done.

Stay In School Effort Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, conceding that his budget will dedicate cutbacks in some federal education programs, asked Congress today nevertheless to authorize some new efforts, including a "Stay in School" program.

In a special message, Johnson said:

"My recommendations are tailored to enable us to meet our most urgent needs, while deferring less important programs and expenditures."

To meet what he sees as the most urgent needs, Johnson said that "several programs must be reduced or deferred." As an example, he said the federal government can cut spending on construction of facilities and the buying of equipment.

"But," he said, "many of our urgent educational programs which directly affect the young people of America cannot be deferred. For the cost—the human cost of delay—is intolerable."

The President recommended that a new stay in school program to cost $30 million in the first year be set up to help educators "turn potential dropouts into high school graduates."

The chief executive also called for several other new laws, some designed to consolidate programs and eliminate red tape.

He also said he wanted $380 million—an increase of $40 million—for the popular Head Start and Head Start Follow-through programs, dealing with preschool children.

$20 Bill Won't Buy Peanuts

CHICAGO (AP) — You can't buy a box of popcorn for a $20 bill at Chicago Stadium. You can't get peanuts or a hot dog, either.

"Because of a recent influx of counterfeit $20 bills we won't take them," a concessionaire explained Sunday night.

State GOP Race Is Warming Up Too

By The Associated Press

Texas Republicans filled out their slate of statewide candidates Monday with indications that the GOP governor's race may be as hotly contested as the crowded Democratic gubernatorial sweepstakes.

"I'm seriously considering the race," said Jack Cox, Austin hotel and investments man who gave Gov. John Connally a hot race in 1962.

DECISION

Cox, a former Democrat, indicated his final decision might not come until shortly before the Monday midnight filing deadline.

Sproesser Wynn of Fort Worth, another former Democrat, filed Monday for attorney general on the GOP ticket. Wynn said he became a Republican in 1967 after serving as state chairman of Texans for Tower in the successful re-election campaign of Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., in 1966.

State GOP officials said they planned to have Republican candidates for each statewide office.

Former U.S. Ambassador Ed Clark said in Fort Worth Sunday he had no plans to run for governor. He had been telling friends that privately for several days. Clark never said he was considering the race but there had been considerable speculation since he resigned as ambassador to Australia.

The traditional conservative-liberal feud within the Democratic primary was guaranteed Saturday when Don Yarborough, no kin to the senator but also an outspoken leader of Texas liberal Democrats, got in the governor's race. He was expected to get much of the support that would have gone to Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., who earlier decided not to run for governor.

Paul Eggers of Wichita Falls, who announced his intentions last week, formally paid his filing fee Monday morning as a GOP gubernatorial candidate. Eggers has said he expects to have the backing of Tower and other state party leaders.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith was the first Democrat to announce for the governor's race, even before Gov. John Connally said he would not seek a fourth term.

Every candidate for a statewide office must deliver his filing application by midnight tonight to his party headquarters in Austin or mail it with a postmark before midnight. The candidates then have three days to pay their $1,000 filing fees.

ANNOUNCED

Announced Democratic gubernatorial candidates include Dolph Briscoe, 44, a Uvalde rancher and former state representative; Gordon McLendon, 46, a Dallas radio-television executive who ran against Ralph Yarborough for the Senate in 1964; Eugene Locke, 49, Dallas lawyer and President Johnson's choice for the second spot in the South Vietnam ambassadorial ranks; Waggoner Carr, 49, former attorney general who lost to Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., in a 1966 Senate race; Pat O'Daniel, 49, of Dallas, son of former Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel; John L. Hill, 44, who resigned as Connally's secretary of state to run for governor, and Edward L. Whittenburg, 39, Houston banker-businessman.

Besides Eggers, Republican candidates include John Twice, 35, Dallas lawyer, and Comptroller John Bennett of San Antonio, a retired Air Force general now a banker-rancher.

Houston Man Saw 'Killings'

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston television repairman who escaped from Cummins Prison Farm near Pine Bluff, Ark., has agreed to return to that state to testify about inmates he says he saw killed, providing that authorities keep a promise not to arrest or detain him.

Edward Redmond, 47, said Sunday he detailed the slayings and agreed to a protected return to Arkansas in a deposition made Friday night and forwarded to Arkansas authorities by the Harris County Sheriff's Department.

In 1940, Redmond was sentenced as a vagrant to 15 days at the farm, escaping after 11 when prisoners mounted an insurrection. He told of seeing "guards" kill four inmates with shotguns and strangle a fifth with barbed wire.

The repairman said he fears that former inmates or prison officials may attempt reprisals if he talks. He said a man identifying himself only as a Houston businessman and former Cummins official warned him by telephone this week to keep quiet.

Officials Pave Way For Ship Apology

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara appear to be paving the way for a possible U.S. apology to North Korea if that's essential to recover the captured Pueblo vessel and her crew.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department seems moving toward a head-on collision with Congress over whether the seizure of such U.S. spy ships as the Pueblo can be prevented by military action.

The possibilities of a U.S. apology to North Korea and of a Pentagon-congressional battle surfaced Sunday when Rusk and McNamara appeared on NBC's radio-television show "Meet the Press," in a joint interview reportedly suggested by President Johnson.

The major purpose of the national television performance of the two top Cabinet members was undoubtedly to influence domestic public opinion. Both men stressed Johnson's Friday news conference declaration that the Communists in Vietnam had failed militarily in their attacks on Saigon and other cities.

NOT SURE

But the comments Rusk and McNamara offered on the Pueblo incident also indicated parallel diplomatic and political purposes.

Diplomatic authorities later agreed it must have been a bid to let North Korea know that if an apology would help win release of the Pueblo crew, then an apology might very well be available.

McNamara was asked whether he could say flatly that the Pueblo had not at any time entered the territorial waters of North Korea. That country asserts jurisdiction over a strip of sea 12 miles wide and the length of its coast.

"No," McNamara answered, "I think we can't say beyond a shadow of a doubt, at no time during its voyage it entered North Korean waters." He added the ship's captain had strict orders to stay in international waters and, "we believe he did."

SEIZURE FEARS

But McNamara said the Pueblo maintained radio silence from Jan. 10 when it took up station on the Sea of Japan until Jan. 21 when, presumably, North Korea identified the ship. The capture occurred Jan. 23.

Rusk added to the McNamara comments that "it would not disturb us" to make public the ship's location if it were determined after the crew was released that there had been a violation of North Korean waters.

The statements of the two officials moved away from the previously emphatic position of the Defense and State Departments that they were confident the ship had stayed outside the 12-mile line.

McNamara touched on the developing dispute with Congress over protecting such ships when he said such incidents as the Pueblo seizure might happen again. He further indicated that situation as it developed. He might not send rescue forces.

BLOODY BATTLE

In the Pueblo's case, McNamara said emphatically that "no reaction force (sent out by the United States) could have saved those men."

Furthermore, he argued, a U.S. aerial striking force going to the Pueblo's assistance would have moved into North Korea's "air reaction zone" and a bloody battle might have resulted.

Many congressional critics have said the Pueblo should have been protected and that such small vessels on their dangerous missions—operating close to hostile shores—should have air and sea support in the future.

McNamara said to protect the ship with such a display of military power "would have been a provocative act."

Nixon Battles 'Loser Image'

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon moves into Wisconsin today, opening one of the most critical battles in his fight to win the Republican presidential nomination for a second time.

This is the second leg in Nixon's drive.

He finished three days of intensive campaigning in New Hampshire today and one of his aides, commenting on the receptions to his appearances, said "It was all and more than we expected."

ULTRA IMPORTANT

New Hampshire holds the nation's first presidential primary election on March 12, followed by the Wisconsin primary April 2.

Nixon is counting heavily on destroying his "loser image" by winning decisively in six primaries—and especially the first two.

His lieutenants see New Hampshire as ultra important to him to start the momentum which they hope will carry into Wisconsin. He himself concedes the significance of the first primary, but he said, "Put it this way: The New Hampshire primary isn't going to nominate any cnadidate and it isn't going to defeat any candidate."

His opposition in the Granite State is Gov. George Romney of Michigan, the only other avowed Republican candidate. Romney also has entered the Wisconsin primary.

ROCKY WRITE-IN

Meanwhile, reports persist that New Hampshire supporters of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York are preparing to organize a write-in campaign on his behalf. Rockefeller says he is not running. Whether such a campaign would take more votes from Nixon or Romney is a matter of speculation here.

Nixon spent Sunday in Hillsboro, a village of 2,600, in informal question-and-answer sessions with five separate groups, housewives, businessmen, students, farmers and young married couples. The conversations with them were filmed for television spots to be used later in his campaign.

Between sessions, he strolled through the snow-and-ice rimmed streets of the village, shaking hands and chatting with the residents.

Nixon goes to Green Bay in his first Wisconsin stop where he will speak and will hold a news conference. On Tuesday, he goes to Wisconsin State University at Stevens Point, Fond du Lac and Appleton.

Motor Line Has Increased Income

ABILENE—Merchants Fast Motor Line, Inc. operating revenues in 1967 were seven per cent above the previous year, according to preliminary unaudited figures. For the year the motor carrier had revenues of $24,384,086, compared with $22,714,494 in 1966.

Net income from operations was slightly higher and amounted $2,243,906, or $2.32 a share, compared with $2,217,275, or $2.28 a share, based on the 969,100 shares outstanding at yearend.

As a result of sale of its old Dallas terminal Merchants had total net income last year of $2,569,644, equal to $2.65 a share, compared with $2,446,582, equal to $2.52 a share, in 1966.

Pays Dime Debt

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Mannahawkin, N.J., woman wrote to Temple University Hospital that she checked her late husband's papers and found "I owe you 10 cents," from a 1961 bill. "I know this will seem very silly, but I had to get it off my mind," she wrote, enclosing the dime.

Thunderstorms Boom In Texas

By The Associated Press

Temperatures dipped to frigid levels in the Panhandle early today while a narrow band of thunderstorms boomed up and down North Central Texas.

A weak low pressure system also gave rise to some showers in an area roughly bounded by Austin, Waco and College Station. More light rain fell in the Gulf of Mexico southeast of Galveston.

Skies were clearing from the west and temperatures were in the 20s in the Panhandle. Most of the rest of the state had readings in the 50s.

The outlook was for warm weather and a few showers for most of the state.

Probation Penalty

GARDEN CITY — Jerry Clay Beaver, charged with DWI second offense, entered a guilty plea here last weekend before Judge Ralph W. Caton in 118th District Court. He was placed on two year probation.

Double Trouble

ARGONIA, Kan. (AP) — The Arthur Drouhard family has a double feeding problem since the birth of a two-headed calf last week.

The heads are joined at the forehead, there are two sets of eyes, two noses, and two mouths.

The Drouhards are bottle-feeding the calf, which seems to do better with two bottles at once.

Flames Destroy Vacant Building

An old, vacant building at 900 Cherry was completely destroyed by fire at 2:15 a.m. this morning according to reports at the fire station. The cause of the fire was undetermined and the owner of the building was not known.

Firemen were called to two grass fires Sunday afternoon. One grass fire was one block east of Birdwell Lane between Third and Railroad and the other was at Twenty-first and Goliad.

1968 Upland Cotton, Grain Programs Sign-Up Begins

LUBBOCK — Sign-up time is drawing near for Plains cotton farmers concerning the 1968 Upland Cotton Program and the feed grain program. Feb. 5 is the first day for sign-up and the period continues through March 15 at county ASCS offices.

"Basic provisions of the program are similar to those last year," says John J. Seibert, extension farm management specialist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center north of here. "The important point for producers to remember is to take into consideration their overall resources and their level of management when selecting the options in the program."

Seibert outlined the basic provisions of this year's program as follows:

1) Loan rate at 20.25 cents per pound of lint for middling one-inch cotton at average location; 2) farm domestic acreage allotment at 65 per cent of effective farm allotment; 3) participating farms must divert from cotton production a minimum of five per cent of effective allotment for price support and diverted acreage payments; 4) participating farms may elect to divert from cotton production an additional 30 per cent of effective allotment; 5) price support payment at 12.24 cents per pound of lint on projected yield on 65 per cent of effective allotment.

6) Diverted acreage payment at 10.76 cents per pound of lint on projected yield on five per cent of effective allotment; 7) diverted acreage payment of six cents per pound of lint on projected yield on optional acreage up to an additional 30 per cent of effective allotment.

8) Optional acreage diverted may be planted to castor, sesame, guar, crambe, flaxseed, plantago ovata, or mustard seed and may receive three cents per pound of lint diverted acreage payment (50 per cent) on this acreage. Safflower and sunflower may also be planted on this diverted acreage with no diverted payment; 9) rows planted to cotton will count as allotment acreage. For example, two in-one out will count as 66.6 per cent allotment acreage; 10) farms with 10 acres and -or 3,600 pounds of lint or less may elect to plant the entire acreage, receive 12.24 cents price support payment on the domestic allotment and 10.76 cents diverted acreage payment on 35 per cent acreage allotment.

Basic provisions of the '68 feed grain program are:

1) Loan rate at $1.61 per hundredweight on grain sorghum and $1.05 per bushel on corn (local county loan rate adjusted to $1.59 on grain sorghum); 2) price support payment at 53 cents per hundredweight on grain sorghum and 30 cents per bushel on corn on 50 per cent on base acreage assigned to participating farms; 3) participating farms must divert at least 20 per cent of the base acreage to qualify for price support and diverted acreage payments.

4) Participating farms which divert up to an additional 30 per cent of the base acreage will receive diverted acre payment at 45 per cent of the total loan rate (45 per cent of $1.59 plus $.53) which equals 95 cents per hundredweight on grain sorghum and (45 per cent of $1.18 plus $.30) 66.6 cents per bushel on corn; 5) participating farms may substitute feed grain for wheat or wheat for feed grain (Where feed grain is substituted for wheat, acreage eligible for feed grain diversion payments may be reduced to none).

6) Optional acreage diverted may be planted to castor, sesame, guar, crambe, flaxseed, plantago ovata or mustard seed and may receive 50 per cent of the qualifying diverted acreage payment, or safflower and sunflower may be planted on this diverted acreage with no diverted payment; 7) participating farms with 25 base acres or less may divert the minimum 20 per cent or as much additional base acreage and earn diversion payments on all the additional diverted acreage; 8) participating farms with 125 base acres or less may temporarily reduce this base to 25 acres and qualify under small farm provisions, provided the 25 acres are diverted to a conserving use; 9) participating producers may enroll on one farm and not on another farm. However, program benefits may be eliminated if the base acreage is exceeded on any farm in which the farmer, his wife or minor children have an interest.

SMASHUPS KILL AT LEAST 24

State's Weekend Toll Soars

By The Associated Press

A perfect weekend of weather sent Texans in pursuit of outdoor fun and boosted the state's weekend violent death toll to grim heights.

An Associated Press survey showed 29 dead over the weekend, with 24 victims claimed by accidents involving automobiles, trucks and motorcycles.

DRAG DEATHS

Two motorcyclists were killed and one mother of three died while drag racing her automobile in a speed car meet between Dallas and Fort Worth The AP survey began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Many of the automobile smashups involved more than one death. A one-car smashup nine miles east of Hamlin on State 92 Sunday claimed the lives of Jerry Dan Adkins, 17, and David Oliver Jacobs, 18, both of Haskell.

Mrs. Doris Louise Cook, 31, of Dallas, the mother of three, was killed Sunday when her car hurtled off a drag strip at Grand Prairie.

The body of Frances Buckmeyer, 69, of Dallas was found Sunday in a shallow creek near a freeway. Police said she apparently died from a head injury.

FATAL FLIP

David W. Barnes, 21, of Arlington was killed Sunday when he lost control of his motorcycle and struck a wire fence. The accident occurred in a northern section of Grand Prairie.

Barbara Caraway, 21, of Pasadena was killed Sunday when she lost control of her motorcycle on the Gulf Freeway at Houston. Police said she was thrown into two steel posts.

A Rio Grande Valley man, Rene Gonzalez, 24, of Harlingen, was killed late Saturday when the car he was in turned over nine miles west of Harlingen on US 83. Two other persons were hurt.

James Lafayette, 24, of Houston was shot to death during a tavern fight in the Bayou City late Saturday night. Police said Lafayette apparently tried to stop a shooting and one of the brawlers turned on him.

Jerry Autry, 60, was shot to death during an argument Saturday at his apartment on the north side of San Antonio.

Timmy Shane McMillan, son of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas McMillan, was accidentally electrocuted at Corpus Christi Saturday when he tried to recover his kite snared by a power line.

Mrs. Geraldine Cox of Grand Prairie was killed Saturday when her pickup truck struck a bridge 15 miles southeast of Bowie and the town of Alvord. Police said Mrs. Cox' body was found in the wreckage of her truck which plunged into a deep ravine.

PILEUP

Two persons were killed Saturday when a truck overturned on a rural road six miles east of Palestine. They were Dorothy H. Beavers, 16, and her uncle, Edward McQueen, 26, of near Palestine. Two other members of the family were critically injured.

Barton Cornwell of Oil City, La., was killed Saturday night when three cars slammed together on the southern edge of Atlanta in Cass County of East Texas.

Three bodies were found at dawn near Muenster in wreckage of a car that struck a 25-ton piece of road machinery in a constuction stretch of US 82.

Five died in and near Houston in crashes Saturday and late Friday night.

Two died in Dallas.

Killed a quarter mile east of the North Texas town of Muenster were Sheila Marie Voth, 19; Mrs. Anthony Grewing, 24; and James Klement, 20, all of Muenster.

Injured and in fair condition was Charles Otto, 20, of Muenster, who escaped the wreckage and flagged down a motorist.

CARS RAMMED

Police said the dirt-laden earth roller was parked in a road section under construction and closed to traffic.

A three-car smashup in southeast Houston killed Jerry Bruce Faulkner, 23, and Elizabeth Marie Yost, 36, both of suburban Pasadena.

About the same time, just north of Houston on US 59, a pedestrian, James Michael Knight, 17, of Pittsburg, Tex., was killed by a car.

Two cars rammed together near downtown Houston Saturday killing Amy F. Theiss, 44, and Miguel Esheverria, 26.

Two cars collided in West Dallas before dawn Saturday killing Ervin Greene, 31, and Joe Rubalcado, 34, both of Dallas. Robert Rubalcado, 8, a son, was injured critically. Dave Chance Jr., 32, was hurt less seriously.

Reagan's Budget Calls For Welfare Cutbacks

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan gave the Democratic-controlled California legislature a $5.7 billion budget today that calls for no new taxes and proposes cutbacks in the rate of spending for welfare and medical aid to the poor.

His record-spending program for the fiscal year beginning July 1 also contains $216 million for property tax reductions for the elderly, the businessman and the homeowner.

NO TAX HIKE

In presenting the second budget of his administration, Reagan—who asked and got a $1 billion tax hike from last year's legislature—pledged there would be no tax increase this time.

He conceded the budget—which totals $5,699,536,034—is up 7.1 per cent from estimated spending this year. But he said this largest proposed spending bill in the history of any state is a tight budget, one that would provide for the needs of a population that will hit more than 20 million in the next year.

Although his economies are less rigid than last year, they are still expected to draw the opposition of Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh and other legislative Democrats. They charge Reagan is trying to use his tightfisted fiscal policies as ammunition for a possible run at the presidency in this election year.

U. S. Senators Eye Offshore Revenues

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tremendous treasure trove—billions of dollars in minerals beneath submerged offshore lands—is the subject of a congressional hearing this week.

The hearing, opening today before the Senate Interior Committee, concerns disposition of federal revenues from the buried treasure.

GULF ASSETS

This big federal asset—in the form of gas, oil and sulphur—lies beneath the submerged land in the Gulf of Mexico and off the coast of California. In the future, more may be found off Alaska, Washington, Oregon and other coastal states.

It is a federal resource since it lies beyond the offshore boundaries of the states as defined in Supreme Court cases—generally three miles.

Since federal ownership of the outer submerged lands was determined in 1954, oil companies have paid the federal government nearly $2 billion in bonuses merely for the right to lease, explore and drill for oil and gas. They've paid probably another $1 billion in rents and royalties on actual production.

FEDERAL BITE

The federal take last year from bonuses and royalties was $676 million. In 1966 it was $354 million. Experts in the field estimate the federal income will be around $500 million this year and that this will increase as oil and gas production rises.

This money has been going into the U.S. Treasure except for a relatively small amount impounded in a dispute between Louisiana and the federal government over ownership of a portion of the offshore lands in the Gulf.

Now proposals have been made for other disposition of all or part of this federal income.

Before the Senate Interior committee is a bill by Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., to earmark all the offshore income during the next five years for the land and water conservation fund. This fund, up in 1965, is divided between federal agencies and the states for purchase of recreation land.

Jackson, who estimated this would provide between $2 billion and $3 billion for land purchases, has said this amount is needed, in view of rising prices, to acquire the parks necessary for the future.

Similarly, President Johnson has told Congress he will recommend about $100 million of the offshore income be used for the land and water conservation fund to bring the total, along with money already received, to $200 million yearly.

Both of these proposals conflict somewhat with Louisiana plans for offshore income. The bulk of offshore oil and gas development at present is in the Gulf off the Louisiana coast.

Louisiana proposes 37½ per cent of the total income go to the adjoining coastal states and that the remaining 62½ per cent be divided among all 50 states on the basis of population.

This proposal—embodied in bills by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., and Rep. Edwin Willis, D-La.—would mean none of the money would go to the U.S. Treasury and, of course, that Louisiana would receive a generous slice each year.

Louisiana congressmen oppose the Jackson bill unless it is amended to provide that some of the revenue—preferably 37½ per cent—goes to the adjoining states.

REALITIES OF WAR

Homeless Seek Shelter, Food

SAIGON (AP) — Six days of fighting in Saigon have thrust the reality of war upon a city population that for years escaped the horrors that occur every day in the blood-stained countryside of South Vietnam.

This was the face of Saigon Sunday afternoon:

A Vietnamese doctor shrugged his shoulders beside the bed of a dying 3-year-old boy lying sightless, his body a raw scar from stomach to forehead. The flamethrower that had scorched him killed his mother and father.

MASS GRAVE

A nervous policeman raised his rifle at a dozen Vietnamese families that wandered to the park in front of the National Assembly building in the center of the city.

The weary men and women picked up their babies and bundles and straggled up the street toward the central market, homeless nomads in a city paralyzed by the war.

On the northwestern outskirts of the city, bulldozers gouged out a mass grave for Viet Cong soldiers who died in the assault on the capital. They were to be buried anonymously in a cemetery that holds the remains of French Legionnaires and the Vietnamese who fought beside them in the 1946-54 war.

COLONEL BEHEADED

Other gravediggers were at work in the National Cemetery, preparing for the elaborate official funeral of a Vietnamese colonel beheaded by the Viet Cong. Six other graves were being dug alongside for his wife and five children, machine-gunned beside him.

On the once fashionable boulevards in the center of town—rats scurried in man-high piles of garbage outside American officers' clubs.

A Vietnamese housewife hurried through police checkpoints during the brief lifting of the curfew, seeking food to replenish her larder. Food is available only on the black market and at three times normal prices.

Wounded civilians lie at least two in a bed at all hospitals. At Cho Ray, the biggest hospital in Vietnam, an old man wounded in both legs and the chest sprawls on the tile flooring because all the beds are full.

HORROR

On a bed next to him are two badly burned men. In the children's ward, a young girl, her head swathed in bloody bandages, nestles on the bosom of her mother, who moans with similar wounds.

The homeless wander the city seeking shelter and food. The fearful crowd the grounds of hospitals, churches and pagodas.

Some already are trying to rebuild on the ruins. A shopkeeper who had lost everything was one of the few people in a block-long scene of destruction. He was trying to flatten the twisted tin roof on his house and replace it on the charred walls. The destruction that surrounded him was as total as in Berlin in 1945.

Thousands of people in the city are now homeless. Many had fled the fighting in the country, and now they have nowhere else to run. The war has caught up with Saigon.

Bridge Test

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A 6 4 ♡7 5 ◇Q 8 4 3 2 ♣10 9 8

Your partner opens with one spade. What is your response?

A—One no trump. Altho this hand appears to contain the elements of a single raise, it will be seen that it is worth only six points in support of spades [one point must be deducted for only three trumps].

Q. 2—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠AJ10 ♡A10 8 5 ◇AQ7 6 ♣KJ

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	2 ♣	Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Three no trump. When partner is able to project the bidding into the two level, game is assured and there is a fair chance for even bigger things. In order to alert partner to the possibilities, an immediate display of strength is recommended. If North has anything extra he will proceed.

Q. 3—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠J 5 ♡AK10 9 7 4 ◇3 ♣A10 8 5

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	3 ◇	Pass
3 ♡	Pass	3 NT	Pass

What action do you take?

A—Four clubs. With this sound hand and in view of partner's vigorous response, South must make one effort toward slam. The suggested call is four clubs. If North should then bid four diamonds, South should bid four hearts. Subsequent action would depend of course on North's bid at this point.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠J 3 ♡10 6 2 ◇AKJ ♣QJ 7 6 5

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♡	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A—Three no trump. No doubt partner has a singleton diamond, but this should not deter you inasmuch as your protection in that suit is so strong. A nine trick contract should prove easier than a minor suit game.

Q. 5—Both sides vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠A Q J 9 8 ♡A K Q 9 6 2 ◇8 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	2 ◇	2 NT	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	3 NT	Pass

What action do you take?

A—Four clubs. This is preferable to a bid of four hearts. Since partner has covered West's diamond bid, chances for slam are very good. The rebid of spades will apprise partner that you have a 6-5 holding and will induce him to go on if his values are not concentrated in the club suit. That is, if he has the right kind of diamonds and spades.

Q. 6—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠A K Q 7 6 ♡7 6 ◇A 2 ♣Q 10 9 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Dble.	Rdble.	2 ♣

What action do you take?

A—Double. This seems almost too good to be true. West was probably in an experimental frame of mind and no thought should be given to such petty matters as trying for game.

Q. 7—Both sides vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠4 ♡A10 6 ◇A Q 9 8 7 ♣K Q 10 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	1 ♠	2 ♡	Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Three clubs. While you have adequate heart support a further temporizing bid is recommended. When you raise partner's suit on the next round, he will then have a complete picture of your distribution and may be in position to proceed further.

Q. 8—Neither side vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠3 ♡A10 9 8 6 2 ◇10 3 ♣K J 5 4

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♡	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A—North's sequence of bids indicates a 6-5 distribution. On the surface, therefore, it seems that a return to three diamonds, the suit in which the partnership is known to have eight trumps, is clearly indicated. However, it is our belief that South should give himself an extra chance at this point by bidding three clubs. He knows that in hearts and clubs North has only two cards. If he has one of each, he will naturally return to three diamonds which South will pass, similarly if he has two clubs. But if he happens to have two hearts and no clubs he might be induced to give a delayed heart preference in which event South can decide whether to gamble it out for game.

Coal Miners Back In Pits

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Soft coal miners returned to the pits in western Pennsylvania Sunday midnight, signaling the end of a one-week walkout that idled some 84,000 workers in five states.

United Mine Workers and company officials in the other affected states—Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky and Virginia—said they expected workers on the job today and the resumption of normal operations.

Thousands of miners met Sunday and voted to go back to work.

The strike was triggered last Sunday midnight when miners in western Pennsylvania stayed off the job to protest the use of Pennsylvania state troopers at a small, nonunion mine being picketed by the UMW.

The walkout spread to other states, cutting heavily into the nation's soft coal production.

In Pennsylvania, Harvey Younker, president of District 2 of the UMW, said the 8,500 men in his 17 county area would be on the job. And major coal producers—Bethlehem Mines Co., Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Co., North American Coal Co., and Barnes and Tucker Coal Co.—reported miners returned to work at the midnight shift.

The return-to-work agreement hinged on a triple compromise hammered out among the UMW, the state's labor and industry secretary, William Hart and Solar Fuel Co., where picketing sparked the strike.

Another meeting among the three parties was scheduled today in Harrisburg.

In the agreement Saturday, Solar agreed to negotiate with the union, the UMW said it would not picket the company's mine and the state agreed to patrol the mine with only three state troopers.

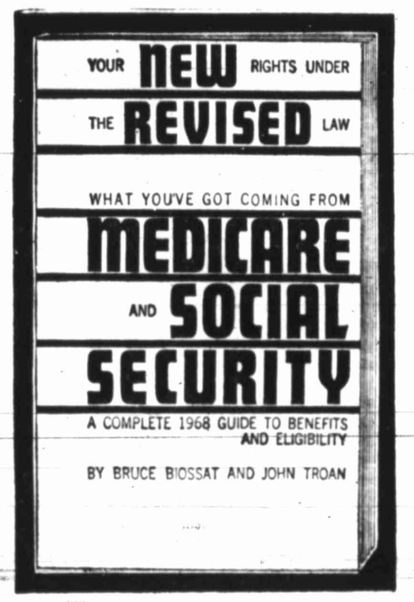

The strike was the biggest to hit the coal industry since 1950 when the UMW struck during contract negotiations.

Commissioners OK Water Tank

Howard County Commissioners Monday morning bought a 3,500-gallon water tank for the road and bridge department and took under consideration bids posted for a tractor and bulldozer for the same department.

The water tank was bought from Downs and Clarke, Odessa. The company offered a tank for $2,749. The top bid of four submitted for the equipment was $4,436. Ray Nichols moved the Downs - Clarke bid be accepted. The second was by Mrs. Joe Hayden and the vote was unanimous.

Allis Chalmers posted a bid and an alternate on the bulldozer and tractor as did Treanor Equipment of Abilene. The Chalmers proposals were $27,800 and $30,230. Treanor's bids were $32,210 and $33,885. The difference in the equipment was in connection with the type of drive provided.

The commissioners delayed decision on this bid while they took up routine county business. Also waiting to be considered were bids for electric lighting at the Howard County Airport.

Apartments Zone Decision Looms

A request for a zone change in the Highland South addition to enable an $800,000 apartment center to be built will be brought before the Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday at 5:15 p.m.

Ike Robb is requesting the change. Partners Charles Dodson, Ben Faulkner and Bill Weaver are planning the multi-family unit, which will contain about 40 apartments. The property is a 9.953 acre tract in section 7, block 32, township 1-south, west of Goliad and south of the Big Spring Creek.

Landmarks Leveled For New Housing

STANTON (SPL) — Two old Stanton landmarks have recently been torn down as another phase of the Urban Renewal Project. The old Post Office building and the old hospital building, more recently the City Cafe and Bentley Furniture Store, were leveled to make way for new housing additions.

Texas Electric Service Company has nearly completed the installation of 92 mercury vapor lights.

Texas Cotton Group Formed

LUBBOCK — Representatives of six Texas cotton producer organizations, in Oklahoma City Jan. 29-30 for another cotton meeting, got together there and launched an all-Texas coalition called the Texas Association of Cotton Producer Organizations.

Joe B. Pate Jr., Lubbock, was chosen as the new group's first chairman. Pate, who is chairman of the water committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and is active in other PCG affairs, was instrumental in getting the six associations together.

Pate said TACPO might be described as "Operation Pull Together," under which individual producer groups can better serve their members through "improved communication, better understanding and unity of action."

He said "There are many, many problems in the cotton industry common to the people of all cotton areas in the state, and the collective action of all producer associations in Texas can be much more effective in getting those problems solved."

Charter members of the new affiliation, in addition to PCG, are the South Texas Cotton and Grain Association, Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Blacklands Cotton and Grain Association, Trans - Pecos Cotton Association and the El Paso Valley Cotton Association.

National CWU President Here

Mrs. James Dolbey, center, national president of Church Women United, chats with Mrs. Truman West, left, state president of the organization, and Mrs. Marvin Dixon, right, local president, at the first of three statewide CWU meetings today at the Settles Hotel. Other assemblies are slated this week at San Antonio and Lufkin. Mrs. John Beard, in charge of registration here, said that over 100 women were signed up for today's assembly and luncheon.

Republican Green Enters County Commissioner Race

One additional Republican was added and three candidates for Democratic precinct chairman were listed as the deadline approached for candidates to get their names placed on the ballots for the ensuing primary elections.

Dr. Akin Simpson, Republican County chairman, said that Lamar Green was filling out his application to be listed as Republican candidate for County Commissioner Precinct 1 at noon today.

George Thorburn, Democratic chairman, said that W. D. Berry, Precinct 16; L. R. Mundt, Precinct 6; and Joe Roemer, Precinct 3, had all filed with him as candidates for re-election as Democratic precinct chairman in their respective precincts.

He said he would accept any mailed application accompanied by the stipulated $50 filing fee which bore postal cancellation before midnight today.

Simpson said that he did not expect any additional filings, but if any were submitted they would be handled until the deadline. He added that he had not decided definitely but would probably file for re-election as county Republican chairman.

Thorburn has already stated he will not seek re-election. C. V. Riordan has filed for the post of county Democratic chairman.

The only contests in the forthcoming Democratic primary are in the two county commissioners races and in the bid of Walter Grice, incumbent justice of the peace, who is seeking re-election. He is opposed by Russell Johnson.

The race for county commissioner has produced five contenders in the Precinct 1 and four in the Precinct 3 contest.

So far, Wayne Burns, district attorney; Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor - collector; and Sheriff A. N. Standard, all incumbents, have no opposition. W. H. (Bill) Eyssen, local attorney, has no one against him in his bid for the seat now held by County Attorney Dee Jon Davis, who is not seeking re-election.

The precinct commissioner race for Precinct 1 finds Simon (Cy) Terrazas, the incumbent, facing opposition from Frank S. Goodman, A. E. (Shorty) Long, Jimmie L. Jolley and Manuel Puga.

Mrs. Joe Hayden, who became commissioner by appointment, when her husband, Joe Hayden, the incumbent from precinct 3 resigned due to ill health, has three opponents. She has filed for re-election and Miller Harris, H. W. Smith and Joe B. Matthews are in the field against her.

One Republican candidate has has filed for Commissioner of Precinct 3 — Bill Crooker — and, as stated, Lamar Green will be in the race for Commissioner of Precinct 1.

Sub Will Fire Two Missiles

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Britain's first Polaris-firing submarine was at Cape Kennedy today, preparing to fire two missiles down the Atlantic missile range.

The sub, the HMS Resolution, arrived Sunday to the tune of a bagpiper of the Royal Scots Greys. The bagpiper, Lance Corporal David Cairns, piped out "Scotland the Brave" and "Highland Laddie" as the submarine docked.

Oil Jargon Jacks Woes

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — The people of the Foster Cathead Co. here have a couple of problems. For one thing, many people are unsure what a "cathead" is.

A cathead is a sort of windlass which enables the lifting of heavy loads — perhaps 5,000 pounds or so—with little effort. It is used in oil fields.

On a ship, the same piece of machinery is called a capstan. The British Navy calls it a gypsyhead.

J. Lewis Foster, company president, said the firm tried giving it a "high-sounding title" some years ago. But when a salesman explained its use in the oil fields, people said, "Oh, you mean an automatic cathead."

So it has been a cathead in the company and catalog name for years.

The other problem concerns other various items of oil field equipment that the company makes. In the colorful language of the oil field, the items are known as power tongs, backout tools, spinners and sucker rods.

How do you translate them into other languages for world markets? A drawworks, for example, may be called a "malacate" along the Mexican border and "drauercs" in Venezuela.

HCJC Count Exceeds 900

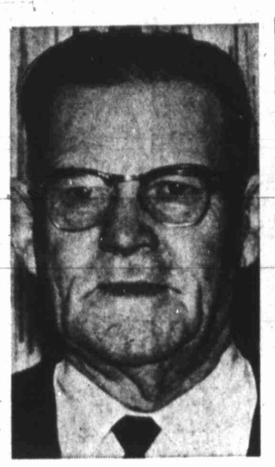

Registration at Howard County Junior College continued to edge upward Monday. Shortly before noon the total had reached 920, of whom 544 were full-time students.

This compares with 867 enrolled for the spring semester a year ago, of whom 501 were full-time students. The full-time load now is only 11 under the final figure for this category during the fall semester.

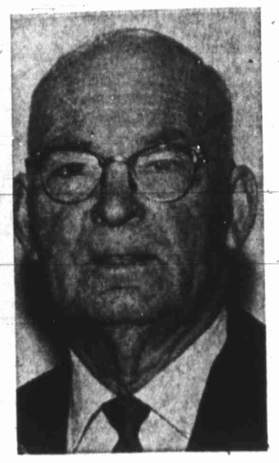

Registration continues throughout this week.

Two Vet Cosden Employes Retire About The Same Time

It is rare that one department of Cosden Oil & Chemical Company loses two employes by retirement within a single month. But this happened last week for the mechanical department when two veterans, with 60 years of service between them, stepped down.

JOHN W. WOOD

HERMAN H. WRIGHT

Fellow workers crowded into the refinery lunchroom last week to wish John W. Wood and Herman H. Wright much happiness in their retirement. Mr. and Mrs. Wood have indicated they want to do a lot of traveling to visit their scattered family, and friends had a set of matched luggage for them. On the other hand, the Wrights have their eye on fishing, and there was fishing equipment for them.

In the mechanical department for the past 14 years Wood has been foreman, while Wright has been the leadman.

"Woody" had been with Cosden continously since Sept. 1, 1933, but before that he had three years at the refinery, extending back to 1928 before the plant came on stream the following spring. He remembers how small it was, and how men picked cotton and cleared the fields to make way for the refinery. When he became a mechanic helper there were only four men in the shop. When he retired, he had 32 men working under him with something like 1,800 pieces of equipment such as pumps, engines, compressors, etc. to maintain throughout the complex.

Both Wood and Wright have seen great improvements in working conditions and tools. And in 1954, they welcomed the new central shops building which gave all crafts working space of their own.

Wood was born in Sagerton and grew up in Peacock. He and Ruby Donnell of Vashti were married Nov. 8, 1925. Since 1941 they have been residents of Coahoma, where he serves the Methodist Church as secretary-treasurer and general Sunday School superintendent. They have three sons, William W. Wood, a 21-year veteran in the U. S. Army, is a sergeant major with the Medics at Fort Lewis, Wash.; Clinton R. Wood is with the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C.; Johnnie L. Wood is employed at Big Spring Refinery and resides in Coahoma. The senior Woods also have five grandchildren.

Herman H. Wright, a Hico native, and his wife, who is the former Mattie Terry Tubb, Lamesa, were married Sept. 20, 1925. Their home is at 1613 East 16th. Both are charter members of Birdwell Lane Baptist Church.

Wright's Cosden tenure began Sept. 14, 1942 on the yard. He became a gang pusher and then joined the pump doctors. From pump mechanic helper, he rated a craftsman, then advanced to mechanic leadman.

The Wright family is a large, devoted group. There are three sons, Roy Tubb and Joe M. Wright, Big Spring, and Herman Lee Wright, Dallas, all of whom have served their stints in either the USAF or Navy. The three Wright daughters live in Big Spring. They are Mrs. Clarence (Wanda) Daves, Mrs. Milton (Juanita) Lewis and Mrs. Niles (Barbara) Cole. There are 12 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Social Boozers Fumble, Fuss Behind Wheel

COLLEGE STATION — The danger of a social drinker behind the wheel was tested by a national insurance company and results proved that you don't have to be dead drunk to be a deadly driver.

The test measured visual perception, alertness and driving habits of three volunteers before and after each had "only a few" drinks, reported Joy Arrington, extension specialist in home management at Texas A&M University.

Miss Arrington recently returned from a leadership conference on highway safety at Michigan State University's Highway Traffic Safety Center.

Visual tests showed that visual perception of each driver was reduced by drinking. Changes in depth perception varied with the driver with a distinct deterioration in the oldest subject, aged 45 years.

The drivers fumbled at the wheel and seemed unaware of their incompetence. Each expressed confidence that he was doing better during the second driving test.

Driver's performance after drinking seemed more causal and one became irritated more easily. The three volunteers, two men and one woman showed slower timing, less awareness of surrounding traffic and poor steering techniques.

The blood-alcohol content of the three was safely within the law in a majority of states.

Water Service To Be Cut Off

A few residents in the Western Hills addition will have their water cut off about 1 p.m. Tuesday so that water connections may be installed in that area, Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said today.

Lillard said the area affected includes houses along Thorpe Road and abutting streets. Water service should be restored before 5 p.m., he added.

Wins Promotion

HOUSTON (AP) — Halliburton Services, a division of Halliburton Co., has promoted Leonard Leon, manager of the Shreveport division since 1963, to southern region manager at Houston.

Freeport Maps Urban Renewal

FREEPORT, Tex. (AP)—The city of Freeport has decided it will provide urban renewal without federal help after the government said the city proposed does not qualify under present laws.

However, the project will be carried out on 220 acres instead of the 522 acres originally planned under federal urban renewal.

The land long has been undeveloped. It is in the northern part of the former town of Velasco which was consolidated with Freeport in 1957. Lots are only 25 feet wide, laid out in 1890. Because of the small size and number of owners it has been difficult to get title to groups of lots.

The land is to be bought or condemned by the city, redivided and sold to developers.

Graduate Center Is Taking Shape

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The first part of a $3.25 million Graduate Center for Materials and Structural Mechanics is taking shape on the Texas A&M University Campus. After completion, engineers will launch further investigations into materials and configurations which range from roads to rocket cases.

The intent is to provide researchers, whose specialties may range from road building to aerodynamics, topnotch laboratories in which they can investigate a variety of materials and structures.

Area Youths Gain Bids To Academies

Two young men from Big Spring and one from Coahoma have been nominated by Rep. Omar Burleson to compete for appointments to service academies.

One of the boys is Richard Gilbert Macklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Macklin. Last week he was nominated by Sen. John Tower as one of seven young men to take examinations for a place open to the United States Naval Academy. The congressman's nomination entitles Richard to compete with others in the district for appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

Also nominated for the competitive examination for an appointment to the United Statse Naval Academy is Michael Lev Spradling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lev D. Spradling, Big Spring. Each of these young men will be placed on slates with not more than five other young men for the further tests of officials of the military academy, who determine those qualified for admission.

This also is true for Troy Lynn Fraser, son of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible], Coahoma, who was nominated by Rep. Burleson for further tests from the United States Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Gray Whale Pat Proves Painful

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — While taking photographs 70 feet below the ocean's surface, Rick Grigg couldn't resist the impulse to pat a 25-foot migrating California gray whale.

The whale responded with a flip of its tail that knocked the airpipe from Grigg's mouth, pushed his face plate to his shoulders and slashed his forehead.

Another diver helped Grigg to the surface after the encounter Saturday. Grigg's injuries were minor.

OIL REPORT

Will Re-Enter Howard Wells

SOCIAL SECURITY—13

'Doctor Bill' Costs Climb

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A lot more elderly Americans than expected have run up doctor bills and related charges under the supplemental "doctor bill" insurance which 17.6 million of them signed up for in medicare's first year and a half.

That means the monthly premium the signers pay (matched by the government) goes up in 1968 to help meet the added cost. Some 28 million doctor bills already have been paid under the program.

BIGGER BITE

Very likely that premium will climb some more in the years ahead. The original medicare law said the government could raise it every two years. The 1967 revisions changed that to read "every year."

Incidentally, people who become eligible for this insurance at age 65 but do not sign up at the first official opportunity automatically have to pay a higher premium if and when they finally do sign up. It rises about 10 per cent for each year of delay.

The 1967 Social Security law revisions make it easier hereafter to claim benefits under the supplemental doctor bill insurance.

TWO WAYS

There are two ways to get payment. If your doctor agrees, you can assign the matter to him and he applies to the government for payment. If he will not do this, you formerly had to pay the bill and then apply for payment by the government.

Beginning in January, 1968, if your doctor does not wish to apply for payment, you can do so even if you have not paid the bill. All you need to do is get an itemized bill and send it in with your application.

Supplemental insurance covers doctor bills run up through office visits, house calls, services performed in a hospital or extended care facility.

But routine physical checkups are not included, and neither are vaccine shots, tests for eyeglasses or hearing aids.

Plastic surgery for "cosmetic reasons" is out. So is ordinary dental care. As for psychiatric care outside a hospital, the insurance covers just half of the bill, up to $250 a year.

IRON LUNGS

Besides doctor bills, the supplemental coverage includes certain kinds of diagnostic tests like x-ray checkups, radiation therapy, surgical dressings, casts, etc., artificial limbs and some other artificial devices, rental or purchase (new) of durable medical equipment like wheel chairs or iron lungs, ambulance service if other transport would endanger the patient.

Supplemental insurance has a deductible feature. You have to pay the first $50 of covered service you get each year. You also have to pay 20 per cent of the balance of your bill for the various supplemental services.

You get this kind of insurance, of course, only if you sign up for it.

The first enrollment period starts three months before the month you reach 65 and runs for three months after that birthday month. To be sure your protection starts as soon as you are 65, you should sign before your birthday month.

GRACE PERIOD

If you pass up this first chance, you will not get another until the next so-called general enrollment period. The new law now provides that these shall come from Jan. 1 to March 31 each year. But, as noted, if you wait your premium goes up. The longer you wait, the more it costs.

If you do sign up and are also getting regular Social Security benefits, your premium will simply be deducted from those payments. If you do not get Social Security, the government will notify you later how to pay premiums.

You can drop doctor-bill insurance at any time and end-of-coverage becomes effective at the end of the calendar quarter following the quarter in which you serve cancellation notice.

The government also can drop you after a 90-day grace period if you fail to pay premiums.

After one drop-out, you can sign again. After two, you are out of the program forever.

Dallas Bellhop Charged With Murdering Priest

DALLAS (AP)— A 28-year-old bellhop was charged with murder Sunday in the beating death of a Roman Catholic priest in a downtown Dallas hotel.

The body of the victim, the Rev. Joseph C. Morrell, 41, of Conroe, was found Saturday morning in his room on the 10th floor of the Baker Hotel.

Investigating officers said his nude body, found on a blood-stained bed, bore a cut over one eye.

Perry Wayne Renolds, a bellhop at the hotel, was charged before Justice of the Peace W. E. Richburg. His bond was not set immediately.

Detective Capt. Will Fritz of the homicide and robbery bureau said Reynolds signed a statement in which he said he had a fight with the priest and that he had used karate blows on the priest.

Father Morrell was assistant pastor of the Sacred Heart Cathedral in Conroe, about 40 miles north of Houston. Formerly, he had been assigned to a Beaumont parish.

A spokesman for the church said the priest had come to Dallas to pick up his car, which had been damaged in an accident several weeks ago.

VA Orientation Program Slated

The Veterans Administration hospital will present the third volunteer orientation and training program of the 1967-1968 year Thursday.

Registration will be at 7:15 p.m. in the former dining room on the second floor. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. with Mrs. Ara Cunningham, director, voluntary service, presiding.

Highlight of the evening will be a discussion of "The Patient Returns to the Community," a VA-sponsored program in which volunteers assist veterans in adjusting to their surroundings following discharge from the hospital.

Campus Revue '68 Ducats Sell Fast

Over 900 tickets have been sold for Campus Revue '68, and those planning to attend should purchase tickets early to assure a good seat, Bill Bradley, band director, said today.

The production, which band members hope will become an annual event, is slated Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Bradley said that over 1,100 people are expected to attend, and ducats would be available at the door for auditorium seats beginning with the number 1,300.

Some 200 students will be participating in the show, Bradley said. Coordinators are R. E. McKiski and Richard Grady. The band is sponsoring the production.

Tickets are on sale at the high school office or from any bandsman and range from $1.50 to $7.50, according to Tricia Bogard, who is handling publicity for the production. The $7.50 and $5 tickets include a Mexican dinner. Ducats for reserved seats only are priced at $3 and $1.50, and tickets for the dinner may be had separately for $1.50.

All acts will be costumed, Bradley said, and there will be many unusual highlights of the show, including special lighting and technical effects.

Administration Takes Aim At Free-Spending Tourist

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wide-ranging, free-spending U.S. tourist is a major target as Congress is urged to plug at least partially the outflow of dollars that reached some $3.6 billion last year.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler heads a delegation of officials to appear before the House Ways and Means Committee today seeking additional legislation for parts of President Johnson's program to cut the payments imbalance by $3 billion.

TRIM TOOLS

For some measures, such as restrictions on investment abroad, the authority is already on the books. But the administration is seeking legal tools to trim the tourist outflow by $500 million.

Details of the proposal have been guarded, but it is believed to include an excise tax on tickets for overseas travel and a tax on tourist spending, probably with an exemption intended to help low-budget travelers like students and teachers, and probably exempting travel in the Western Hemisphere.

Some tax arrangements intended to stimulate exports and discourage imports also may be proposed.

Congress' initial reaction seemed to be that the travel tax would be a second dose of bitter medicine after the still unswallowed proposal for an income tax hike.

TROUBLE

But Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee, which has repeatedly shelved the tax increase while demanding more spending cuts, has shown himself more favorable at least to the principle of the balance-of-payments program.

"I don't think there is any question but that some action will be taken in this area by the committee," the Arkansas Democrat told an Indiana audience last week.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford was not so encouraging in a weekend speech at Duke University, Durham, N.C.

"The proposal to restrict travel may run into trouble in Congress but it is too early to tell," he said, calling these restrictions and those on investment abroad "alien to a free society and destructive of free intercourse in goods and persons between nations."

Senate Leader Delays Civil Rights Bill Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has abandoned efforts to get a vote on a pending civil rights bill until after the Senate returns Feb. 14 from a Lincoln day holiday.

Mansfield said in an interview he expects a compromise version of the measure to be offered shortly. But he said he won't try to get a vote on it before the Senate recesses for the holiday Thursday.

FEDERAL CRIME

"This bill is not going to please either side in the controversy," he said. "Members will want to talk about it and I don't see any possibility of getting a vote by Thursday."

The Senate already has had 12 days of desultory debate over the measure. It would make it a federal crime to interfere by force or threats with the exercise of federally-guaranteed rights because of an individual's race, color, religion or national origin.

Southern opponents of the bill call it discriminatory. Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who may hold the key votes on any compromise, has contended the measure should be broadened to protect the rights of all persons, not just those of civil rights workers and Negroes.

MORE VIOLENCE

Senate liberals want the legislation limited strictly to deal with crimes in which race is a factor, contending crimes against Negroes often go unpunished in state courts.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said in a weekend report to constituents the argument over the bill is keeping the Senate from taking up other pressing national problems.

"It is my belief that in the field of race relations and race improvement Congress has gone just about as far as it is possible legally to go," he said.

"We were led to believe that earlier laws, which were enacted supposedly in behalf of civil rights, would have the effect of moving racial violence from the streets into the courts. The violence became 100 times worse than it was in the early 1960's."

First Entry In For Beauty Show

Big Spring Jaycees have received the first entry in the Miss Big Spring Pageant, according to Jimmy Anderson, entries chairman.

She is Patricia Adams, 19, daughter of S. M. Sgt. and Mrs. B. K. Adams Jr., 196-A Hunter. The ash blonde, green - eyed young lady won the talent division in the Miss Mt. Pleasant, S.C., preliminaries of the Miss South Carolina Pageant, Anderson said. Her talent is singing and her ambition is to be a nurse, he added. She stands five feet, three inches tall and weighs 126 pounds.

The pageant this year will be held two nights, March 8-9, according to John Anderson, pageant coordinator. The junior division will be Friday night and the senior division and crowning of Miss Big Spring and her junior counterpart will be Saturday night, Anderson said.

Those girls wishing to enter should stop by Professional Pharmacy at Tenth and Main Streets and see Jimmy Anderson. Entries will close Feb. 24.

Ike Bawls

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — "I haven't bawled like that in 40 years," said former President Dwight D. Eisenhower at a ceremony in his honor after the Bob Hope Desert Classic golf tournament.

Eisenhower, who spends his winters nearby, watched the tournament's end Sunday from his seat of honor at the Bermuda Dunes Country Club.

Then massed Marine, Navy, Air Force and Army bands marched down the fairway and played for the five-star general. Eisenhower stepped forward and shook hands with the officers.

Dear Abby

Should Practice His Preaching

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I'd be writing to you for advice, but I need help and I can't go to my friends. Besides, I need help, not pity.

My husband is a minister, about middle-age and average looking. About a year ago he met an attractive young woman while calling on the sick in a hospital. They developed quite a friendship because after she went home he continued to visit her at home. (She is not even a member of his church.) I told him that I didn't like the looks of it, etc., to no avail. Matters grew worse. He became very angry with me and insisted he was doing nothing wrong, but I notice he visits her only when her husband is at work.

People are beginning to talk, Abby, and I am worried. What should I do?

NOWHERE TO TURN

DEAR NOWHERE: Pastors have been relieved of their duties for this kind of thing, which your husband surely knows. Even if he is doing nothing "wrong," remind him to "abstain from all appearance of evil," (I Thessalonians 5:22) in case he wishes to practice what he preaches.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I'm in love with a married man. We've been seeing each other for over a year now. He told me that he and his wife weren't actually living as man and wife, although they shared the same house for appearances sake. Also, because they have five children, he didn't want to break up the marriage just yet. But Abby, he promised that in due time he would divorce his wife and marry me.

I have been 100 per cent true to this man, Abby, since the day I realized I loved him. He said he loved me, too, but now he gives me the news that his wife is expecting! I don't know what to think. I need your opinion.

MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP: I think you should thank your lucky stars for two things. One, that you discovered early in the game that the "love bug" that bit you was a louse. Two, that if he had to get one of you pregnant, it was his wife.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My problem is that I am a very poor hostess—at least I think I am. It's not that I can't relax around people because when I'm a guest, I'm perfectly relaxed and have a wonderful time, but when guests are in my home, I am nervous and tense and I am just not "myself."

I am not the fussy kind of hostess who runs around emptying ash trays all the time, but if there's a lull in the conversation I feel embarrassed, and worry that I'm not giving my guests a good time.

When I invite people over, they say, "Why don't YOU come HERE instead? — which leads me to believe that they have noticed my nervousness, too, and would rather spare me the agony. What's wrong with me? And is there a solution?

POOR HOSTESS

DEAR HOSTESS: Guests can't relax unless the hostess is relaxed. The secret to being a good hostess is in getting compatible people together in a comfortable atmosphere. No host or hostess can give his guests a good time. The guests must make it themselves.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LIKES TO GOSSIP": To paraphrase a little gem of philosophy I learned years ago: "He who steals my gold steals trash. But he who gossips about me and steals my good name enriches himself not, but makes me poor indeed."

County Docket Call Scheduled

Judge Lee Porter was to hold a docket call in Howard County Court Monday afternoon, to find out how many cases are to be ready for trial when a docket opens in his court on Feb. 12.

A lengthy list of cases involving both original cases in the court and cases brought to the court on appeal from the municipal court, has been prepared.

Judge Porter said he would call a panel of 60 jurors for duty when the court opens on Feb. 12.

Girl Fights Smog

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Amy Steinback, 9, is so concerned about smog in Portland that she sent her 25 cents allowance to Gov. Tom McCall to help fight air pollution.

The third-grader wrote, "I am . . . very sorry that the air was ever dirty. Last night it was so thick you couldn't see the street light. The paper said that ours is thicker than New York. Here is 25 cents to help you."

COLD-SINUS Miseries

Is your head pounding — nose running — are your eyes watering and are you sneezing—sneezing—sneezing?

Have you blown your nose until it's raw?

We're sorry you're suffering so because obviously you're not aware of our product SYNA-CLEAR and this is our fault.

SYNA-CLEAR is the original timed tablet that gives up to eight hours of relief from head cold symptoms and clogged up sinuses.

We do not have millions to spend on T.V. to tell you about SYNA-CLEAR, just this small ad. We do not gimmick our advertising and product by offering twelve hours of medication. What is medication without relief? SYNA-CLEAR is what we offer and it gives you eight hours of relief per tablet or your money back in full.

We could go into detail how our product works and about the fine formula, but we would rather you ask the experts about SYNA-CLEAR. The druggist at the store listed below or your family doctor can tell you about the merits of our fine formula. SYNA-CLEAR costs more ($1.50 and $3.00 sizes) because it does more. You're buying relief and not gimmicks.

Try SYNA-CLEAR as soon as possible—you know—all your head cold symptoms and clogged up sinuses are all you can lose.

A Devotional For The Day

I will go in the strength of the Lord God. (Psalm 71:16)

Conditions Require Watching

Arkansas is suffering worldwide shame from the sickening prison farms scandal now unfolding. It is a shockingly sordid story of torture, murder, brutality, slave labor, filth, perversion, racketeering and subhuman conditions for a prison population more than half Negro.

Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, who inherited this from Democratic Gov. Orval Faubus, is taking commendably vigorous action to expose and correct the evils. A professional criminologist has been put temporarily in charge, a state police investigation is under way and the Arkansas Legislature is preparing reforms. Nevertheless, the state will long suffer the stigma of these revelations.

The Arkansas scandal should move other states to review critically their own prison conditions. Such punitive cesspools are crime-breeders rather crime-preventers, and wherever prison policy is based on revenge rather than rehabilitation, society is the ultimate loser.

The need for civic vigilance in the management of state prison systems is not ruled out even in Texas, which now has one of the nation's better systems.

The Texas Prison System's remodeling was begun in 1927 under Gov. Dan Moody and was fully modernized in 1957 as the Texas Department of Corrections under Gov. Price Daniel. It is now supervised by a nonpolitical nine-member board and directed by a penologist of national reputation, Dr. George J. Beto. Industrialized, as well as agricultural, the system has educational, vocational and recreational programs, with rehabilitation stressed.

Texans can be proud that their own state has taken the leadership in the Southwest in improving penitentiary conditions. But this should result not in complacency but in renewed resolve to keep the Texas system one of the best in the land.

Clifford's Biggest Job

Clark Clifford becomes secretary of defense with the highest credentials as possibly the most popular Cabinet appointment of the Johnson administration. But there is one critical doubt that can be resolved only by performance: Can he resist pressure from the military establishment and defense-industry complex in order to hold national security spending within reason. This is where Secretary McNamara experienced his greatest resistance.

President Johnson submitted a military budget to Congress for next fiscal year of $76.7 billion, a third of which is earmarked for the Vietnam war. That is huge, but it is $27.4 billion—equivalent to a year's cost of that war—but less than the three military services requested. Their requests totaled $104.1 billion, and McNamara must be credited with most of the reduction, though trimming also was done by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Bureau of the Budget and the President.

In his seven years as secretary of defense, McNamara is credited with trimming a total of $104.5 billion from the military services' budget requests, or an average of nearly $15 billion a year. Had that not been done, either the national debt would be $104 billion more than it now is or domestic programs would have had to be kept $15 billion a year below their already inadequate levels.

The rebuttal to this is, of course, that McNamara risked the nation's security by skimping on defense. But the record shows that he converted a perilous "massive - retaliation" one-strategy military machine into a flexible-response system by building up conventional forces while sustaining superior nuclear-strike strength. It is highly debatable that the nation's military security would be any stronger, or its military forces more effective, if that additional $104 billion had been spent as requested by the admirals and generals.

This is admittedly an immensely complex argument on which total agreement is impossible. But Clifford must undoubtedly realize that its satisfactory resolution is his greatest challenge, and to meet it he cannot avoid accumulating the kind of personal unpopularity that never fazed McNamara.

Strange Straws In The Wind

WASHINGTON — The newsman's antenna, sometimes as receptive as his eyes and ears, takes in some strange intelligence about the coming campaign.

Item: Friends of President Johnson drop guarded hints that he may be serving his last year of office. Friends don't say that of a man in high office when they expect him to be defeated. The more uncertain he is of winning the next test, the more his intimates will sing out his invincibility. But if they think of him as tiring, or of feeling that his best has not been good enough, or of considering himself betrayed and deserted by his own party, or of yearning for surcease from lifelong labors, then you can count upon it that this man's friends will disunite it among themselves, — and that the guarded secret will escape and will mingle with other bits of evidence to the same effect.

TO WIT, Mr. Johnson's state of the union address did not sound to many of us like the document of a presidential campaigner. To wit, the appointment of Clark Clifford, aged 61, to be Defense Secretary, did not seem one that anticipated five years of service in that grueling post. Significantly, the first question which Secretary - designate Clifford was asked by Armed Services Committee Chairman Dick Russell went to that point: How long had Clifford agreed to serve?

ITEM: Persons close to Sen. Robert Kennedy feel that he is reconsidering his plans for '68. Speaking of antennae, none are more delicately attuned to coming events than Kennedy's are. If there is some doubt about the President's campaign intentions, nobody in town would sense it sooner than RFK. And unless it's Hubert Humphrey, who could succeed by death or disability, no Democrat is more certain than Bob Kennedy is of someday reaching the White House. Eventually he will move in force upon that ambition — why not now?

KENNEDY'S FRIENDS are openly debating that question. Not now, say some, because his candidacy would devastate the party unity (what unity?) and let in the Republicans. Yes, now, say others, because his candidacy would restore the fallen House of Kennedy and, with it, the collapsing party. When I last asked Kennedy his plans for this election year, he only repeated my last words: "Sixty-eight?" Nothing would remove that interrogation mark faster than the rumor (it can't be anything more at this writing) that Mr. Johnson may not run.

ITEM: Never was a vice president kept in such a state of candidacy as Hubert Humphrey. Not Harry Truman, who hadn't even been told about the A-bomb. Not Lyndon Johnson, who was in some danger of a "Dump Lyndon" movement and was certainly not President Kennedy's choice as a successor (Bob Kennedy was that).

But Humphrey the handpicked, Humphrey the public trumpeter of the Great Society, Humphrey, the keynoter and the backgrounder who explains the President's policies to gathered-around reporters — he's as close to being a Presidential alter ego as anybody except a blood brother could be.

CAN A SITTING President pass the nomination to his chosen successor? Theodore Roosevelt (to his regret) did so to William Howard Taft. Dwight Eisenhower (with not much relish) did so to Richard Nixon. But, this year or any year, President Johnson would find a Democratic Convention ready to stampede (as it was at Atlantic City in 1964) if Bob Kennedy moved into contention.

Billy Graham

I become very discouraged and sad when I commit the same sins again and again. When you sincerely submit yourself to God, do you no longer commit these sins? H.B.

When a person like yourself has a sensitive conscience and a weak will, frustration is the result. Like Paul you are saying, "Who will deliver me from the body of this death?" I think that you are not far from inner victory, for the Bible says: "Blessed are they that hunger and thirst after righteousness for they shall be filled."

You put your finger on the secret of triumph when you said: "When you sincerely submit yourself to God, do you no longer commit these sins?" That is exactly the point of difficulty in your life. You have used your power of choice to do what you will, rather than what God wills. We sing the song in all of our Crusades: "Blessed Assurance, Jesus is mine." But the verse begins with these words: "Perfect submission, all is at rest; I in my Savior am happy and blest." Perfect submission always goes before Blessed Assurance. He forgives our sins, but He also wants a yielded heart, and a will brought under His control.

Motorists' Medicare Plan Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The process that brought the federal government into the health insurance field has begun to work in automobile insurance, much to the industry's dismay.

Whether the auto insurance people, unlike the doctors, are alert enough to head off the motorists' equivalent of medicare remains to be seen. What seems clear, however, is that one way or another there will be changes in the present system.

EXPRESSIONS of wide and growing dissatisfaction by the motoring public with the rates and practices of auto insurance companies has been noted by President Johnson. In his State of the Union message he called for a government study of the industry.

Johnson is well behind Congress in his request. Four congressional committees have either announced investigations of their own or asked that a federal agency undertake one.

THE POSSIBILITY that such government scrutiny could lead to federal regulation, if not some form of federal accident insurance, has produced a searching self-examination within the industry and studies by outside observers. But the voices that have been raised as a result indicate wide differences of opinion about what should be done.

Suggested solutions range from minor tinkering with the present system to a proposed drastic revision that challenges the concept on which the system is based—namely, that someone has to be found at fault in every accident before a claim is paid.

TWO LAW professors, Robert E. Keeton of Harvard and Jeffrey O'Connell of the University of Illinois, have despised the sweeping plan which, in essence, would operate like medical insurance. The victim of a traffic mishap would recover his actual medical costs and lost wages up to a fixed amount no matter who was at fault in the accident.

The professors say the present system is appallingly wasteful and rampantly unjust.

ONLY HALF the money paid out in premiums comes back in benefits, they say, adding:

—Claimants settle for far less than they are entitled to in the face of hard bargaining by insurance companies and long delays in paying off.

—Victims in accidents where no blame can be fixed, or where both parties are at fault, collect nothing.

The O'Connell-Keeton plan has won some advocates in the industry and more outside it. The fiercest attacks on it have come from the legal profession. An editorial in a recent issue of the American Trial Lawyers Association magazine called it "a collectivist idea that group security is more important than individual rights."

Variety Spices Zero's Life

NEW YORK (AP)—Zero Mostel may well be the happiest fat man in America. He is 235 pounds of living joy.

The secret of his happiness? "Getting lost," he said. "Being involved in something you can't understand.

"MYSTERY is the main thing in life. Why should you have to understand everything?"

Regarded by many as one of the most versatile performers in the history of the theater, the pudgy-faced, stringy-haired actor spends more time at his first love—painting—than he does on stage or before the cameras.

Since completing his 11th film, "The Producers," in which he stars as a zany and impecunious Broadway showman, Zero has been contentedly spending his days working alone at his easel in a third-floor walkup studio in Manhattan's wholesale flower district.

"ARTISTS LIKE to work in this area because the stuff florists spray on their flowers keeps down vermin," Mostel said. "This was George Gershwin's first studio when he was a Tin Pan Alley king. I've had it now for years."

Zero, who never does anything quite like anyone else, bore little resemblance to the public's idea of an artist. He wore a brilliant pair of blue corduroy pants and a paint-splotched blue work shirt worn from many washings.

"I'M DIRTY," admitted Zero contentedly. "I love these old shirts. I have about 10 of them. They seem to last forever."

Although he once taught art in his youth and is recognized as a genuinely talented painter, Mostel is somewhat unorthodox in his technique.

"I like to fool around with new materials and tools," he said. "I don't stick to brushes. I also use dental picks, spoons and finger scratches to get a particular effect."

Variety has been the spice of Zero's life. He feels that the greatest problem facing creative American artists in any field is the public's insistence that they be typed.

"PEOPLE TEND to want to identify you with one thing, perhaps because that helps them to feel they can understand you," he remarked. "That's all right if you can only do one thing. But I like to do a number of different things.

"I don't like to do just one thing at a time either. Before I start on a film, I prepare about 10 to 12 big canvases so I'll have something to come back to. And while I'm doing the film, or appearing in a play, before I fall asleep at night I make dozens and dozens of preliminary drawings for my paintings."

Mostel won three Tony awards in a row for his appearances in "Rhinoceros," "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," and "Fiddler on the Roof." But flattering as his productions are to his ego, he dislikes long runs.

Worry Over Cancer Probably Unwarranted

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 25 and have two children. My periods went back to normal after the first child, but have not done so in the year since the second was born. Could this mean cancer?

I have a dark menstrual flow for a solid month, not excessive but continuous. Then I wait a month, and have another whole month of flow. No pain, but I tire easily.

Isn't one of the danger signals of cancer excessive drainage? How does cancer of the ovaries or uterus react in early stages? Excessive bleeding? Pain? — Mrs. S.L.

I trust that you have discussed this with your doctor, because something obviously is wrong. But for reasons which I will explain, there isn't much reason to think it is cancer.

The dark flow doesn't mean much; it can happen in many instances of perfectly normal cycles. But the protracted loss of blood could be one factor in your tiring so easily. (Your worry — over whether it is cancer — could be another.)

I would not attempt to say the exact cause of this flow, but your gynecologist may well find it necessary to do a scraping of the uterus (a dilation and curettage, or "D. & C.") to rid the uterus of a defective lining or abnormal tissue that may have been retained after your last pregnancy. This sort of thing sometimes occurs.

A Pap smear obviously should be done, not only as a means of detecting cancer, if any exists, but for such other information as may often be gleaned from the Pap test.

Abnormal bleeding can, indeed, be a sign of cancer, but I doubt it in your case. You menstruate with regularity. Even though you are currently following a different pattern, it still is a regular pattern.

The bleeding of cancer is usually an intermittent spotting which does NOT follow any pattern of regularity.

Early cancer of uterus or ovaries may give no symptoms at all except spotting. There is no pain.

That, of course, is the reason the Pap smear is so valuable. It gives us fair warning of cancer in stages so early that no symptoms have yet appeared, sometimes not even spotting.

For the above reasons, I would doubt very much that your symptoms indicate cancer, but some relatively simple procedures often correct a situation such as yours.

Go back to your doctor and show him what you wrote to me.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 50 and so far my monthly periods have been regular. I have been taking birth control pills for nine months. My question: How will I know when I stop ovulating? When I do, should I change to a different hormone? — Mrs. J. G.

Special tests could be used to determine whether you are still ovulating, but the simpler way would be just to continue the pills until you stop menstruating, which will indicate that ovulation has stopped. This will happen in due time, and judging by your age, probably rather soon now.

Whether you will then need a different hormone will depend on whether you have annoying symptoms of menopause. You may not, but if you do, your doctor can prescribe the proper hormone for you.

Many physicians believe that women your age do not need birth control pills. I trust you have sought your doctor's advice about this.

Around The Rim

Little Things That Count

Living can become very complex at times but it's the little things in life for which I am grateful and which help keep me going. These are some of the things I appreciate:

Beautiful sunrises, rather than sunsets. The world never looks more enchanting than before we all start stirring like ants, with the whole day ahead of us.

Green traffic lights all the way home.

THE WAY TWO little girls greet me when I walk into the house, not to mention a cheerful wife, as if they had truly missed me.

A dinner of barbecue, potato chips and baked beans—I still like that collection of dishes after all these years.

Good report cards brought home by the children.

Mannerly little boys. They reflect good teaching at home.

The smell of freshly mowed grass late on a summer evening and the way the aroma of a rose garden can permeate the air.

THE OLD SONGS, sung in a way you can understand them by people who seem to put their heart in them.

A friendly wave from a passing automobile, although I am not always quick enough to wave back.

The spectacle of a winter snow falling soundlessly at night, which seems to purify everything it touches.

A check from Uncle Sam, signifying that you have paid too much income tax.

TWO CHEERFUL Texas Electric Service Company people, who helped me dismantle a troublesome old willow tree in the back yard, systematically sawing its limbs so that they would not fall into the power lines.

The sight of a piano in the living room, and the thought that the girls might yet learn to give it the artist's touch.

THE SOUND of the gas heater springing to life in the mid-watches of a cold winter's night.

The feel a wonderful hot shower can bring, as if it were the Fountain of Youth.

A fry cook who really knows how to put together a Texas hamburger—not too greasy and garnished with fresh vegetables perfectly blended.

A good report from my dentist.

A CHEERFUL waitress — such people have a special knack for making a good meal a better one.

Topping the last hill for a look at the lights of the home town, after a long trip and a lengthy stay away.

Power In Prayer

WASHINGTON—It didn't make big headlines. It wasn't on television. It was just a meeting on Thursday morning of 1,000 persons — mostly from the government—all praying together for God's help and guidance. Among them were the President and members of his cabinet, the Vice President, the governors of seven states, a justice of the Supreme Court, the Speaker of the House, numerous senators and representatives, and high-ranking military officers.

THE FUNCTION, known as the "Presidential Prayer Breakfast," is held under the auspices of the breakfast groups of the Senate and House, which meet weekly. Persons of all faiths have attended these private prayer meetings as well as the annual event.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas presided. There were brief remarks by Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi, leader of the Senate breakfast group, and by Rep. Ben Reifel of South Dakota, leader of the House breakfast group. Vice President Humphrey read some passages from the Bible. Gen. Harold K. Johnson chief of staff of the United States Army, delivered the principal address of the occasion. He said:

"THERE IS A SOLUTION to the problems of this world—turn to God. There is a solution to the conflicts between nations—turn to God. There is a solution to the problems of our cities and of our streets—turn to God. Not in a superficial way, but in a human and compassionate way — as man to man and friend to friend. There is a solution to the problem of our young—together with them, turn to God."

PRESIDENT JOHNSON spoke briefly. He declared in part:

"America needs to grow on the strength of our many faiths. The nights are very long, the winds are chill, our spirits grow restive. For such seasons man was given the joy-giving strength of faith which we call upon when we pray.

"It is not my right to tell other citizens of this free land how or when or what they should worship. But I can tell you that on these long nights your President prays."

There are some observers who may wonder whether participation by high government officials in a prayer meeting impinges in any way on the doctrine of separation of church and state. The Supreme Court of the United States, however, has not banned prayers outside the classroom or other school property. It has merely declared that prayer directed by any governmental agency is unconstitutional. So it is significant that voluntary prayers and meetings of private breakfast groups have increased in recent years in and around the federal government itself as well as in state governments.

WHILE CLERGYMEN sometimes attend as guests, they do not direct or conduct the prayer breakfasts. It is left to laymen to choose from their own membership a leader each week. Guests are permitted to attend, but the prayer service is private and, as a rule, is not given any publicity.

The prayer-breakfast idea was originated more than 25 years ago by Abraham Vereide of Seattle, Wash., who formed an organization known as International Christian Leadership. Its purpose was to encourage the formation of prayer - breakfast groups throughout the country. No denominational affiliation has been required, and most of the breakfast groups are composed of members of all faiths.

THE SENATE AND House breakfast groups have been in existence for a number of years, and now are well known. In the meetings of the Senate group, there are usually about 15 to 20 senators present, though not the same ones every week. There are usually 50 to 75 representatives in the House group. These meetings have unquestionably played an important part in cementing the friendships and associations of many members of Congress with each other.

The "Presidential Prayer Breakfast" was first held during the Eisenhower administration, and this week's was the 16th.

Faith, Idea, Hard Work Pays

NEW YORK (AP) — There are many morals to Dave Fiedler's story. It is evidence, for one thing, that faith in an idea and hard work still can move mighty corporations.

Less than seven years ago Fiedler was a 21-year-old unemployed printing salesman with a wife to support and night school tuition to pay. He had a yearning to be in business for himself.

TODAY HE is vice president of a Standard Oil Company (Indiana) subsidiary, a position he attained after helping to reduce a problem that has bothered every gasoline company since automobiles were invented.

Fiedler did this by demonstrating over a five-year period that road maps needn't be a costly nuisance to oil companies. By selling advertisements on the rim of the map, he showed, the losses on maps could be sharply reduced.

AMAZINGLY, Fiedler accomplished his goal from without. Unlike some bright young college graduates who rise quickly through the ranks, Fiedler had only a high school diploma and wasn't even an employe of the company.

The odyssey began with $5,000 borrowed from a bank on security provided by in-laws. With this he formed an outdoor advertising company that was less than successful.

Shortly after, Fiedler had an artist make a mockup of a directory containing information for motorists. He approached the regional office of American Oil and told them he would publish it if they would distribute it.

AMERICAN was interested. Gradually, as they talked, the idea was refined and it was agreed that a map would be better than a directory. Fiedler was to produce it at no cost to American and derive his profits from ads. Tempo Designs was formed.

WITH LIMITED capital the going was slow. He needed money for each regional office to whom he hoped to sell the idea. "My expenses almost equalled my income." It was difficult to accumulate capital.

Printers wanted their money in advance. But advertisers refused to pay ahead of publication.

"MY ONLY discouragement though, was that I didn't have money to grow faster." Then he was introduced to a stranger, C. L. Webster, a retired National Cash Register executive. "I chased him for three months. He invested $10,000 and set up $35,000 in credit."

Said Fiedler: "He was my angel. He asked nothing. He was unbelievable. He was interested only in my success and concerned with my future. He was impressed with our ability to arrange things with the oil company."

Fiedler expanded more rapidly now, moving into additional regions of American Oil. Then he visited Standard's main office in Chicago and told them he wanted to go nationwide but might need financial help.

THEY PUT their financial people on it. They studied the capital needs and then offered to let me raise the money for the project. But I couldn't raise that kind of money. They offered to buy me out and I accepted in 1966."

Under the agreement, Fiedler is vice president and general manager of Tempo Designs, Inc., a Standard subsidiary. He supervises 29 salesmen and 11 office workers under a five-year contract.

New Tricks Help Solve Problems

Droopy, hard-to-manage hair can be one of the most frustrating beauty problems. You shampoo it, set it, brush it into your favorite style, then it immediately collapses.

There are all sorts of tricks you can use to rescue a droopy hairdo. Transform lank locks into a happy flip by first spraying lavishly, then with a comb, whip up the ends with short, choppy strokes. Or, glamorize longish hair from a down-do into an updo by spraying first then backcombing gently to make a puffy pillow. Smooth over this cushion with top hair then scoop up and tuck in ends into soft loopy curls.

Hold the tall atomizer can about seven inches away from your head as you spray. The fine mist leaves your hair soft, mildly fragrant and completely free from dullness or flakiness.

A LOVELIER YOU

Practice Beauty Tips While Doing Work

By MARY SUE MILLER

A lovely young mother writes: Little children and a lot of housework leave me almost no time to take care of myself. I look and feel neglected. I know other young mothers with the same problem. Any advice you might give us would sure be appreciated.

The Answer: Whatever their line of work, few women have enough leisure time to make an elaborate affair of grooming. The homemaker really has an advantage in the beauty department over other toilers. For she is in a position to combine home and beauty duties.

For instance, you hair can be washed and set while children nap. If lotion and gloves are worn for grimy jobs, your hands need little more attention than a weekly manicure. And it can usually be fitted into television evenings. You can film on your favorite skin treatment product and let it set while you do the morning chores.

Just so, most any beautifier can be dovetailed with household duties. To fit in those that can't, you have to push the clock a bit. You may have to get up three minutes earlier, for example, if you want to appear as fresh as the morning at family breakfast. It takes that long to suds you face, slick up your hair, slip into a clean breakfast coat, and apply a dash of lipstick. But you'll look like the family glamour girl and feel you really are.

HOUSEWORK

Attention homemakers! If housework saps your energies, looks and nerves, send for my booklet, "Beauty of Housework." It explains how to keep home and self sparkling with time to spare. Also included are an effort-saving work plan, shortcuts in housekeeping, and advice on how to give yourself a beauty treatment while engaged in your duties. For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 20 cents in coin and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Delaine Crawford, HD agent, spoke on "Extension Home Economics Focuses In Your Family" at the Thursday meeting of the Lomax Home Demonstration Club. The group met in the home of Mrs. J. P. McIlvain.

Mrs. David Roberts brought the devotion, and roll call was answered with "Give a Good Deed Done To You." Refreshments were served from a table laid with a yellow cloth and centered with a permanent arrangement of yellow flowers.

The next meeting will be Feb. 15 at 9 a.m. in the home of Mrs. James Moore.

Knott Food Group Plans Sessions

Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins hosted an organizational meeting recently in her home at Knott for a group of girls participating in food groups. Six sessions were planned, and the group discussed the county food show.

Mrs. Gaskins will be adult leader, and Diane Billingsley will serve as junior leader of the group studying "Exploring Foods the Picnic Way." Group Two will study "4-H Food and Fun," and Mrs. Robert Nichols will be adult leader and Janette Nichols will be junior leader. Mrs. J. E. Peugh will serve as adult leader of another group studying the same course.

Knott Residents Have Guests, Visit

KNOTT (SC) — Guests of the Rev. and Mrs. E. G. Newcomer recently were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wright of Searcy, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roman Sr. have returned from San Antonio where they visited the James T. Rutledge family and with the Donnie Roman and Robert Owen families in Austin.

Mrs. Willie B. Walker and Mrs. Dennis Walker and son of Lenorah visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roman Thursday.

GRANDMA

Beman Loses Joust With Golf Giants

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —It was asking too much, but Deane Beman, a former two-time U.S. amateur golf champion and now a sophomore in the ranks of the professionals, almost knocked off two giants in one afternoon.

But it just wasn't to be. Billy Casper, one of the Goliaths, fell back, but not Arnold Palmer.

And so Palmer held the Bob Hope Desert Classic championship for the third time, a feat accomplished with the familiar Palmer dramatics and excitement.

ALMOST HAD IT

Beman, 29, who won the British Amateur in 1959 and the U.S. in 1960 and 1963, came from behind to pass Casper, the leader, and shoot a 7-under-par 65 in Sunday's final round. He had a 90-hole score of 348, 12 under par, and it looked reasonably safe.

But up came Palmer to the final green at Bermuda Dunes Country Club's par five 18th. The place was packed. In the gallery in a private box were former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Gov. Ronald Reagan, and other dignitaries.

Palmer knew he had to reach the green of the 520-yard hole in two shots and go for a birdie to tie—or an eagle to win.

Palmer's No. 4 approach wood sailed some 260 yards over a forbidding lake and reached the green, 20 feet from pin. He putted boldly for the eagle but came up 18 inches short.

BIRDIE TIES

He tapped it in for the birdie to bring on a sudden-death playoff with Beman.

They both had par four on hole number 15, where the playoff started. On the par four 16th, Beman's approach drifted into the fringe of the crowd to the right of the green. He scuffed the next shot—"I only hit half the ball"—and it skidded across the green.

Palmer meanwhile was on in two and putted up from about 12 feet, inches away from the cup.

Beman putted back but was short. Palmer holed out and the match was over.

It was a hectic final nine holes. At different times, three golfers were in the lead. They were Casper, Harold Henning and Beman—but never Palmer.

FAT PURSE

When it was over, and Palmer had collected $20,000 and Beman $12,000, Henning was in third place for $7,500.

Casper finished with a 71 for 350 and a tie with Tom Weiskopf. Together at 351 were Lee Trevino, 69, and Charles Cooty, 69.

Casper led Palmer by one stroke starting the round and was two in front after nine holes. Beman then came on with his 32 over the par 36-36—72 course.

Players Wounded But Win Anyway

By The Associated Press

In the course of Arizona's basketball game with New Mexico Saturday night, Dick Root suffered a cut jaw, a chipped tooth and a mild concussion.

His substitute, Gordon Lindstrom fared a little better. He left the game with just a cut over his eye.

New Mexico, obviously was not prepared to give up its 17-game win streak and fourth-place Associated Press ranking without a battle.

But when the game was over, so was the Lobos' perfect record: Arizona won 69-68.

New Mexico's Greg Howard was thrown out of the game for unsportsmanlike conduct after inflicting Root's injuries with 15 minutes left in the game. Mike Kordik scored 24 points for Arizona and picked off nine rebounds.

And in another basketball game that turned into a boxing match at times, Marquette beat DePaul 58-53.

Second-ranked UCLA easily beat hometown rival Southern California 101-67 behind Lew Alcindor's 32 points and Mike Warren's 18. Third-rated North Carolina won its 12th straight game, beating Maryland 73-67 with Larry Miller and Charlie Scott each scoring 17 points.

Tennessee, No. 6, won its 33rd straight home-court victory, stomping Mississippi 88-46. Vanderbilt, No. 7, was surprised by Florida 91-85. Neal Walk scored 35 points for Florida, which won its first game ever on the Vanderbilt court.

Eighth-ranked Columbia beat its major Ivy League competitor, downing Princeton 69-60 as Jim McMillian scored 32 points, 24 in the second half.

Tenth-ranked Kentucky beat Louisiana State 109-96 despite a 4-point output by Pete Maravich. Top-rated Houston, fifth-ranked Purdue, sixth-ranked Kansas, seventh-ranked Davidson and ninth-ranked Duke were idle Saturday.

Long Island University, No. 1 in the small-college poll, won its 14th straight, downing American University 67-64.

Brahmas Capture SA Consolation

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring Brahmas captured consolation honors in the ninth grade division of the San Angelo Junior High Basketball tournament here Saturday night, defeating San Angelo Lake View for the honor, 54-40.

Brownwood earned the title by beating back San Angelo Lee, 51-43.

Two Big Spring players made the all-tournament team — Mark Slate of the Brahmas and Benito Rubio of the Toros.

San Angelo Glenn edged San Angelo Edison, 52-48, for third place.

Consolation finals (ninth graders):
BS BRAHMAS (54) — Slate 5-3-13; Womack 5-2-12; Dean 0-3-3; Johnson 2-2-6; Crosby 5-0-10; Fletcher 1-0-2; Olaque 4-0-8. Totals 22-10-54.

Sinches Stars

BROWNWOOD — Bill Sinches, former HCJC cage star, scored 17 points as Howard Payne College continued unbeaten in Lone Star Conference play by defeating Stephen F. Austin, 81-64, here Saturday night.

Purser To Angelo

SAN ANGELO — Bill Purser, line coach at Howard Payne College the past three seasons, has been named offensive line coach at Angelo State College. From 1953 until 1960, Purser served as line coach at San Angelo Central High School.

Linder Leads For Hawks

Larry Linder has taken over as the leading scorer on the HCJC basketball team, which returns to play Tuesday night in Amarillo against Amarillo College.

The shorter of the Linder twins has scored a total of 461 points on the year.

The leader, Robert Jackson, finished with 454 points. He became ineligible at midterm due to failure to clear a scholastic hurdle.

Jackson still leads in field goals with 202 while Linder has a big edge in free shots, with 139 to his credit.

Still well back of Jackson in third place is Hiron Hubert, who has a total of 340 points.

The Jayhawks have outscored the opposition, 2,222 points to 1,961.

Individual scoring:

Toros Drop Tilt To Lakeview

The Toros dropped a close one to Lakeview in the San Angelo junior high basketball tournament Saturday, 36-33.

Off to a good start, the Toros led 24-20 at the half, were tied at the third quarter's end and then fell behind in the stretch. Benito Rubio rated a spot on the all-tournament team. The Toros and the eighth graders entertain Andrews at Goliad starting at 5:30 p.m. today.

The box score:

TOROS — Evand 4-0-8, Rubio 4-4-12, Gamboa 2-0-4, Franklin 2-1-5, McLaughlin 1-2-4, Price 0-0-0, Wilson 0-0-0. Totals 13-7-33.

Porsche Has Easy Victory At Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — If this isn't the year of the Porsche in international sports car racing, someone better step forward quickly with newer and faster machinery than they showed in the 24 Hours of Daytona season opener.

Porsche's 1-2-3 finish and disdainful gesture of giving five drivers turns in the winning car Sunday left no doubt that the durable German cars are on top of the heap heading into the 12-hour Sebring race March 23.

"We will have a slightly different car at Sebring," said Hans Herrmann of Germany who drove the second place car with Jo Siffert of Switzerland who drove the second place car and also took a brief turn in the eventual winner. "It will be the same engine but a slightly shorter body."

HAS BIGGER MOTOR

Alfa Romeo of Italy, whose three small car entries at Daytona finished fifth, sixth and seventh, is reported ready to unveil a bigger, three-liter engine at Sebring.

Porsche, too, is working on a larger engine than the 2.2-litre used in its three-car victory sweep. But it won't be ready for Sebring and maybe not for any races on this year's international schedule toward the manufacturer's championship.

Vic Elford, a 32-year-old Englishman, had the honor of starting and finishing the winning car.

A pair of faster and bigger engined GT-40 Fords from England showed early speed. But one failed after four hours and the other after 15 hours.

The winning distance of 2,526.69 miles and speed of 106.697 miles an hour missed the 2,570.62 miles and 108.020 m.p.h. record set by the late Ken Miles and Lloyd Ruby in a Ford Mark 2 in 1966.

A Ford Mustang driven by Jerry Titus of Sherman Oaks, Calif., and Ronnie Bucknum of LaCanada, Calif. entered in the Trans-American division, finished fourth.

Came On Own, Scores Upset

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Kerry Pearce came to the United States on borrowed money but it's a good bet Australia will pay for his return trip, with a Mexico City visit to boot.

The blond 5-foot-8, 150-pound Pearce surprised the track world by running two miles in indoor record time of 8:27.2 Saturday night in the second annual San Diego Indoor Games.

The longshot performance eclipsed by 1.6 seconds the 1966 record of Australia's Ron Clarke, and Pearce wasn't even the favorite. His best previous indoor effort was 8:43.6.

Fellow countryman Kerry O'Brien, who had been undefeated indoors this season, set the pace before giving way to Pearce after the first mile. O'Brien was second in 8:41.3.

Pearce said his family in the Melbourne suburb of Richmond borrowed to help pay the $600 cost of his trip to the United States 13 months ago.

Pearce's coach, Wayne Vandenburg, said he had expected Kerry to reach a peak next month at a NCAA indoor championship. Australia selects its Olympic team April 30.

AT GRENOBLE, FRANCE

Pomp, Pageantry To Open Winter Olympic Games

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — The 10th Winter Olympic Games open with their usual pomp and pageantry Tuesday with Gen Charles DeGaulle among the 80,000 spectators but with the attention of the sports world on skier Jean-Claude Killy, figure skater Peggy Fleming and the daring king of the bobsledders, Eugenio Monti.

When the lavish ice and snow spectacle finally gets under way in earnest Wednesday, the main question marks of the games will ring the heads of these outstanding figures.

Can Killy, France's le superman of the Alpine slopes, pull off a triple gold medal sweep as Austria's Toni Sailer did in 1956—or even win one of the events—under the pressure of competing before an idolatrous nation of fellow Frenchmen? Many contend he can't.

PEGGY FAVORED

Can Miss Fleming, the 19-year-old ice darling from Colorado Springs, Colo., regain for America the women's figure-skating supremacy lost as the result of a tragic airplane accident in Brussels that killed the cream of U.S. talent? She is rated a cinch.

Can Monti, the red-haired dare-devil from Italy who has won nine world championships, finally win an Olympic gold in a sport in which he has been rated the best for years? He is heavily favored.

Some 1,500 athletes from 37 nations march into the huge temporary stadium in the lavish opening ceremonies, starting at 3 p.m. local time.

BIG SHOW

The French president, who will sit in a specially heated box, will officially declare the Games open during an extravaganza that will see 30,000 perfumed artificial roses rained on the crowd, parachutists drop from the sky and a blast of spectacular fireworks after lighting of the traditional flame.

After a swirling snow storm halted training and raised fears Saturday, the weather turned beautiful again Sunday and prospects were good for clear skies and cold temperatures. That's what the contestants want—and need.

Quarry To Meet Ellis For Title

OAKLAND (AP) — After less than three years of professional fighting, Jerry Quarry finds himself within one bout of obtaining boxing's biggest prize — the heavyweight championship.

The 22-year-old Los Angeles belter earned the right to meet Jimmy Ellis for the title by stopping Thad Spencer at 2:57 of the 12th and final round Saturday.

The fight was the second semifinal in the World Boxing Association's tournament to find a successor for Cassius Clay, stripped of his title by the WBA after refusing to be drafted into military service.

Ellis, of Louisville, Ky., winner over Oscar Bonavena in the other semifinal, was a ringside spectator and said he was not surprised by the outcome.

Quarry, knowing he was ahead after he floored Spencer in the closing seconds of the fourth and 10th rounds, finished with a flurry that staggered his heavier opponent. Referee Jack Downey stopped the fight.

Through the 11th Quarry, who weighed 193 to Spencer's 200½, was ahead on all three official cards.

Downey had it 7-6. Judges Dick Young and Rudy Ortega scored it 9-4 and 7-3, respectively.

Ralston Leading Tennis Matches

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The World Cup professional tennis matches continued today with Dennis Ralston the leading money winner with $2,732.40.

Ralston, representing the United States, increased his earnings on the current tour Sunday when he and Earl "Butch" Buchholz won the tennis doubles title over an Australian team.

Buchholz and Ralston topped Australians Tony Toche and John Newcombe 31-25 and 31-29 and earned nearly $450 each in the process.

The professionals, appearing at the St. Louis Arena, were using the Van Alen Simplified Scoring System (VASSS).

Ranger's Revenge

RANGER — Ranger College gained revenge for an earlier defeat at the hands of Temple College by winning a 123-92 Texas Junior College Conference game here Saturday night. The zone championship goes up for grabs tonight, when Ranger meets Hill County JC in Hillsboro.

Runnels Falters In The Finals

SAN ANGELO — Big Spring Runnels lost to San Angelo Lee, 37-26, in the consolation finals of the eighth grade division of the San Angelo Junior High Basketball tournament here Saturday.

Earlier, Runnels had reached the finals by edging San Angelo Lake View, 29-28. Imel hit a 15-foot jump shot with a few seconds left to get the win.

Coleman copped the championship by routing San Angelo Glenn in the finals, 55-37.

Big Spring Goliad lost in the consolation semifinals to San Angelo Lee, 46-37.

David Carter of Goliad was named to the all-tournament squad.

Baylor's Lead Still Precarious

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Southwest Conference basketball race whirls past the halfway mark this week with Baylor's lead as precarious as ever.

The Bears, who are making it on a team effort, face Texas, which is only one game back and in a tie with Arkansas for second, in the big one of Tuesday night's resumption of conference hostilities.

The Bears and Longhorns clash at Waco. Arkansas will be aiming at a tie for first, in the event the Bears should lose, when it meets revitalized Texas Tech at Fayetteville.

Baylor doesn't have a player in the top 10 scorers and Texas, Texas Christian and Texas A&M each has more offense. But the Bears have it on all of them from a defensive standpoint. Keeping the other side from scoring seems to have become more important than outscoring the opposition in run and shoot basketball.

Baylor ripped Rice 70-52 and Texas A&M 77-67 last week to roll along at the top with a 5-1 record and also lead in the season campaign with a 12-4 mark. It was a remarkable recovery from that 99-86 strapping from Texas Christian when it seemed Baylor hopes were taking the plunge.

Arkansas, however, made the biggest impression of the week. The Razorbacks whipped Texas Christian 68-67 and Southern Methodist 70-68 and tied Texas for second with a 4-2 record.

Texas won its only game of the week—68-64 over Rice.

Texas Christian made the biggest plunge, following up its loss to Arkansas with an 83-65 defeat at the hands of Texas Tech.

Tech, which seems to have finally righted itself, has won its last three games, two of them conference affairs.

Texas A&M will be at Rice and Southern Methodist at Texas Christian in other conference games.

Knicks End Celtic String

BOSTON (AP) — The New York Knickerbockers had faith once again today in the old saying: "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

The Knicks staged a dramatic comeback behind rookie Walt Frazier and Bill Bradley and veteran Walt Bellamy to beat Boston 110-108 for their first victory over the Celtics in a regular season game at Boston since Dec. 22, 1962.

"We won here in the playoffs last year, but you still might call it a long drouth," New York Coach Red Holzman said.

The Knicks had lost 25 straight National Basketball Association games in Boston except for the playoff triumph last season.

In other NBA games Sunday, Philadelphia drubbed San Francisco 141-117 to open up a 3½-game lead over second-place Boston in the Eastern Division, St. Louis edged Cincinnati 106-100, Detroit nipped Baltimore 117-115 and Los Angeles downed Seattle 137-131.

Philadelphia broke open a close game in the third period and coasted home behind the scoring of Hal Greer, 29, and Chet Walker, 27. Wilt Chamberlain added 19 points to the Philadelphia attack and handed out 16 assists. Rudy LaRusso led San Francisco with 25.

Don Ohl sparked the St. Louis victory, scoring 12 of his 16 points in the fourth quarter. Len Wilkens led St. Louis with 20. Jerry Lucas scored 23 for Cincinnati, which played the final quarter without Oscar Robertson, who suffered a muscle pull. The Big O also scored 23.

Dave Bing put Detroit ahead 114-113 on a basket with 35 seconds left, and then Happy Hairston clinched it with two foul shots. Bing finished with 31 points and Hairston 27. Earl Monroe paced Baltimore with 35.

Jerry West poured in 43 points and Archie Clark 35 to top Los Angeles, which played without Elgin Baylor who has an injured foot. Tom Meschery and Walt Hazzard scored 28 and 26, respectively, for Seattle.

Boston edged New York 112-108, Philadelphia downed Baltimore 133-121, St. Louis beat Cincinnati 125-111 and Los Angeles outlasted San Diego 133-122 Saturday.

Daniels' '24s' Give Muskies 114-95 Win

By The Associated Press

There's nothing unlucky about the number 13 for the Minnesota Muskies. Not when Mel Daniels is making with the 24s.

Daniels scored 24 points and pulled down 24 rebounds Sunday night as the Muskies beat Pittsburgh 114-95 and moved within one-half game of the Pipers, who lead the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

Charlie Williams led Pittsburgh with 27 points, including four long three-point baskets in the first half. But the Muskies led all the way, opening up a 20-point lead early in the fourth period from which the Pipers couldn't recover.

In other ABA games, New Jersey edged Kentucky 111-109, Anaheim topped Houston 132-120, and New Orleans beat Denver 105-100.

Pittsburgh played without Connie Hawkins, the club's leading scorer, who is out with a blood clot in his left leg.

New Jersey snapped Kentucky's four-game winning streak at home.

Steve Chubin scored 34 points to lead Anaheim to within 1½ games of fourth-place Oakland in the Western Division. Les Selvage had 27 and Ben Warley added 24. Willie Somerset led Houston with 28.

Red Robbins scored 31 points in New Orleans's victory over Denver as the Buccaneers opened up a 3½-game lead in the Western Division. New Orleans led 97-84 only to have the Rockets close the gap to 100-97.

Larry Brown then converted four consecutive free throws in the last 30 seconds to clinch matters. Brown finished with 21 points while Larry Jones was high for Denver with 18.

FLOWER GROVE

Honor Roll Is Released

By ANN HAGGARD

FLOWER GROVE — The honor roll for the third six weeks period has been announced with Ann Dennis, Mary Pribyla, Sharon Miller, Jimmy Walker and Neil McMorries, seniors, and Ann Haggard, junior as some of the honorees named.

Other students making the "A" honor roll were Bonnie Hill, Beth Holcomb and Virginia Pribyla, sophomores, Rita Pribyla and Danny Howard from the freshman class. Nancy Seely, an eighth grader also made this honor roll.

Members of the "B" honor roll were Barry Hill, Kenneth Reynolds, Elizabeth Perry, Joy Oaks and Maxie Fly, seniors, Gregory Gonzales, Victor Hewitty, Helen Costilla, Neta Hightower and Rita Hightower, juniors. Jennifer Geurin, sophomore, Jackie Cave, Glenda Dennis and Eugene Hill, freshmen, also made this list. Junior high members were Cathy Dennis, Cynthia Hill, Karen Huse and Janet Simmons, seventh grade, and Judy Cave and Judy Simmons were listed from the eighth grade.

The basketball team met to decide on the style and color for the new basketball suits to be ordered next year.

A shower was held in the home economics department, Jan. 18, honoring Mrs. Bobby Deatherage. The Homemaking III class prepared the refreshments.

Cracked Safe Yields $500

Approximately $500 was taken from the safe at Barney Toland Volkswagen Company Saturday night. Money from a coin operated machine and a pair of men's shoes were also stolen.

A cutting torch was used to open the safe. Only the cash was taken and checks and papers were left on the floor. The cutting torch was also used to gain entry into the building; a hole was cut in the northwest corner of the building.

Vernon's Liquor Store No. 1, 602 Gregg, was also burglarized Saturday night and $200 was taken from the cash box. It has not been determined whether or not any liquor was stolen. A rope was left hanging through the air conditioner duct where entry had apparently been made.

Police are also investigating two thefts reported Saturday. Six stereo tapes were stolen from a car belonging to Jack Smith, Compress Lane, while parked at Howard County Junior College. Andrew Merrick, 600 E. 15th, reported a crash helmet stolen at the Skateland Roller Rink, Andree and West Eighth.

FROM MARINE HAWK McMATH

Fulbright May Get Election Fight

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, who hasn't had a serious election challenge since Arkansas sent him to the Senate 24 years ago, is threatened by a Marine hawk who contends Fulbright's opposition to U.S. policy in Vietnam is delaying the day of victory.

Fulbright's response: Plead his case to the voters and field their roughest questions.

NO. 1 DOVE

The Senate's No. 1 dove isn't retreating from his criticism of President Johnson's Vietnam policy; in fact, he's telling his homefolk he doubts the administration now will accept anything less than victory in the war.

Fulbright's possible opponent in the August Democratic primary is former Gov. Sid McMath, a major general in the Marine Corps reserve who has two Marine officer sons—one in Vietnam.

McMath, now a Little Rock lawyer, is making an average of three speeches a week across the state, where hawkish sentiment is strong, contending Fulbright's criticism "is holding up victory" by receiving "undue attention."

Many observers see evidence that Fulbright is gaining strength through an increasing number of personal appearances. In each, he sets out his views briefly then invites questions from the audience.

His constituents respond with alacrity. They probe his stand on Vietnam; they prod him about his role in steering the Gulf of Tonkin resolution through the Senate; they worriedly inquire about the North Korean seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo, and they bluntly ask the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee if his dissent is indeed prolonging the Vietnam war.

"I don't think it has any significance at all in keeping Ho Chi Minh from the negotiation table," Fulbright told one such gathering in Pine Bluff.

"Are you willing to accept the infallibility of one leader?" he demanded.

Fulbright is said to feel the administration will help McMath if the former governor decides to run against him.

But many political observers see Fulbright's strength reflected in former Gov. Orval Faubus' attitude.

Faubus held the state house for six straight terms before stepping out in 1966. The Democrats nominated Jim Johnson, but the voters defied tradition and elected a Republican, Winthrop Rockefeller.

FENCE MENDING

Faubus has talked of taking on either Fulbright or Rockefeller this year, whichever appeared the weaker. Now Faubus is believed to have given up any idea of challenging fellow Democrat Fulbright in favor of zeroing in on Rockefeller.

The senator has been fence mending since last fall, "discussing the issues" with the voters in 32 speeches and question-and-answer sessions.

In appearances in Pine Bluff, Searcy and Hot Springs, Fulbright told his audiences that big-stick diplomacy is awesomely dangerous in a nuclear world, that restraint is needed in dealing with incidents such as the North Korean seizure of the Pueblo.

He recalled "our friends" the Israelis "shot a similar ship of ours almost out of the water at great loss of life." He referred to the attack on the USS Liberty last June during the Israel-Arab fighting.

"We didn't threaten them with atom bombs," said Fulbright. "I understand it is agreed informally to sell them more planes."

Coahoma Pack Wins President's Award

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a chance to get some down-to-earth idea put into motion but in order to do so it's necessary you are not so wrapped up in some emotional relationship or some change in associations that lose out in the material realm of your existence. The morning is adverse. The afternoon excellent. The p.m. difficult.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You can increase your income depending upon the quality of work you put out now. Avoid going off on tangents. Better analyzation of your financial position is important, also. Know exactly where you stand.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Instead of making those radical changes, get busy and plan now to improve present conditions, have greater happiness in the days ahead. Improve both health and appearance. Take the right treatments.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Although you feel you are not making any real progress, if you fool nobody and follow through on promises you have made, you find the opposite is true. Be objective and you remove tensions. Be wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have some emotional urge that needs expression, but you have to show gentleness if you are to be happy. Be encouraging with a good friend who is feeling down-in-the-dumps. Make him, or her, happy.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be very sure to do any figuring accurately or one in power can rake you over the coals, and rightly so. Getting into civic work that you have been procrastinating in doing is wise now. Be active, busy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get into the duties that are progressive and are important to your scheme of things, and make those small changes that are vital. A new setup is possible now that will be infinitely better.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) It will be all right to follow your hunches about getting ahead faster but be sure you also use your good judgment, or you make an error. Meet mate's expectations. Don't be disappointing or there is trouble.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be available when partners are discussing some big project that is in the making. Discuss carefully what part you are to play in this. Become very enthused and you find that the future will be much more successful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is a day when you can accomplish a great deal, so don't waste time with the unimportant. Co-workers are very cooperative and you must take advantage of this attitude. Be wise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make it a point to seek pleasure during your spare time today. Show ingenuity in making good friends happy. Getting work done in an efficient manner gives you a feeling of satisfaction, too.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Give your attention to the bettering of conditions around you instead of wasting time with something foolish? Be sure you do not lose your temper with others. Show consideration instead.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Don't procrastinate in doing all that shopping keeping professional appointments, etc., that are important right now. Show that you know how to amuse others, gain their good will. Be more friendly and be happier.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow . . . he, or she, will be one of those youngsters with a two-sided nature and you must teach early to coordinate the two properly or there is bound to be trouble in this chart later on. Teach that the humanities and the practical must each have its proper niche and place. Much success is then possible here.

January Rainfall Ran Ahead Of 69 Year Average Here

January rainfall is 1.24 inches ahead of the average for the month, Grady Randell, weather observer at the U.S. Experiment Station, has announced. Total rain for the month was 1.84 inches and the normal rain in January for the past 69 years is .60 inch.

There were nine days in January when measureable precipitation occurred. A three-inch snowfall Jan. 18 yielded .42-inch moisture.

Dates on which it rained with the amount:

Jan. 2, .02; Jan. 3, .02; Jan. 7, .08; Jan. 17, .06; Jan. 18, .42; Jan. 19, .35; Jan. 20, .49; Jan 22, .04; Jan. 30, .04.

Texans Grab Rodeo Honors

FORT WORTH (AP) — Kenny Patterson, a smiling young cowboy from Nashville, Tenn., slipped off with the calf roping championship at the Fort Worth Stock Show Rodeo which ended Sunday night.

Patterson, on the rodeo circuit only one year, turned in what oldtimers said was perhaps the best performance in history to win the event. He downed and tied a calf in 11.1 seconds for a three-calf total of 37.4 seconds to win $2,910.46.

Champions in other events were:

Kenny Stanton, of Weiser, Idaho, bareback bronc riding; Jack Roddy, of San Jose, Calif., steer wrestling; Nelda Patton, of Mansfield, Tex., barrel racing; Dennis Reiners, Clara City, Minn., saddle bronc riding, and Dickie Cox of Rockwall, Tex., bull riding.

Maybe She Didn't Read Small Print

LONDON (AP) — After her London apartment was robbed, 21-year-old Rebecca Bowring checked her insurance policy but found she wasn't fully covered. Her father is an underwriter with Lloyds of London and three of her uncles are directors of Bowrings Ltd., one of Britain's bigger insurance companies.
