

Farm Machinery Ration Board Is Selected

The rationing of farm machinery became effective Sept. 17, and the following farmers have been selected by the Collingsworth County War Board to serve as the County Rationing Committee: J. C. Emmert, Tom Berry, and A. J. Peters, with B. W. Boardman and C. E. Roberts as alternates.

A more complete explanation of farm machinery rationing is found on the editorial page of this week's Leader, in the column, "On the Home Front."

Under the setup the chairman of the County AAA Committee automatically was to be chairman of the county rationing committee. The other members, Mr. Berry and Mr. Peters, were selected as they are representative farmers and located near town where not much time or tires will be lost when they are called in to perform the necessary duties, B. A. Zorns, county agent, said.

The following machinery may be sold only to persons having rationing certificates issued by the county rationing committee; combines, disc harrows, feed grinders, fertilizer spreaders, grain drills, hay balers, milk coolers, milking machines, and tractors.

Most other machinery and small tools can be bought as before by certification by farmer to dealer that it is needed for current production, Mr. Zorns said.

Office headquarters of the County Farm Machinery Rationing Committee will be in the AAA office. As soon as the necessary forms and further instructions are received the committee will be ready to begin functioning so there will be no delay for those that need machinery that is now rationed.

Dowell Made American Farmer

Pete Dowell of Quail has been named an American Farmer by the Future Farmers of America, he was notified recently from the Washington headquarters of that organization. He is one of about 20 boys and young men in Texas to receive this honor.

The American Farmer is the highest degree conferred by the FFA.

Dowell left here a short time ago to enter Iowa State College at Ames, Iowa, where he will study this year in the dairy industries department.

Before going, he enlisted in the U. S. Army Air Force Reserve and was placed on the deferred list to continue his education. When he is called into service, he will begin training as an aviation cadet.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Dowell of Quail. He graduated from Quail High School and attended Texas Tech at Lubbock for two years.

Exams For Teaching Certificates On October 16 and 17

In an attempt to relieve the teacher shortage situation that has become acute, a special examination for second-class teaching certificates will be held October 16 and 17, 1942, B. W. Beard, county superintendent, announced Monday.

High school graduates who are at least 18 years of age are eligible, and those intending to take the examination should begin preparation at once, Mr. Beard urged.

All applicants should register with the county superintendent by October 1.

Rockets Face Tough Foe In Childress Bobcats Friday

"Key Kollection Kampaign" Opens

The nation-wide "Key Kollection Kampaign," in which Wellington will participate, is now under way and will continue until September 29, it has been announced.

Three "Key Kans" have been located in Wellington, at Cal Sugg's Grocery and Station, the Palace Drug Store and Parsons Drug Co.

People throughout the county are requested to gather all old and unusable keys and drop them in one of the cans.

The campaign is sponsored throughout the nation by the Paper and Twine Club, and proceeds derived from each town will go to the U. S. O.

The goal for the campaign is 12,000,000 pounds of nickel, of which most keys contain 80 per cent, it was explained. This metal is badly needed by the government for its war production work. One hundred pounds of old keys are equal in value to one ton of scrap steel, Linton H. Estes, who is in charge of the campaign, pointed out.

All kinds of keys are acceptable, and this campaign will furnish valuable material that otherwise will benefit no one.

Navy Gets Six County Men

Six men from Collingsworth County have enlisted in the United States Navy through the Amarillo recruiting substation, C. M. Norman, who is in charge, announced Monday.

These men include Robert Preston Wesson of Dodson, Edgar Lee Rogers of Samnorwood, Meryl Wallace, Clovis Pat Alford, Wilborn Martin Davis and James Bryan Williams of Wellington.

These enlistments give Collingsworth County approximately 55 per cent of the assigned quota of eleven men for the Navy during the month of September, Norman stated.

Teachers Hear Of New School Betterment Plan

Teachers representing every school in the county Wednesday heard of Texas pioneering work in the improvement of elementary school systems, a movement which is expected to spread within the near future to other states in the nation.

J. C. Jernigan, deputy state superintendent of Childress, was in charge of the meeting, which was held at the Wellington High School. All schools were dismissed for the day.

Miss Edgar Ellen Wilson of the state department of education was the speaker at the morning session. In discussing what constitutes a good elementary school, Miss Wilson stressed that it must first of all meet the needs of the community that the particular school serves.

Light-hearted and confident after the drubbing they administered the Paducah Dragons in their opening game, the Wellington Skyrockets will invade the Childress Bobcat territory Friday night, September 25, in what is expected to be one of their toughest engagements of the season.

This is the first time in a number of years that these teams have met.

The game will be played at the Bobcat field, beginning at 8:30.

Seats on the south side of the Childress stadium have been reserved for Wellington fans, and these can be reached easiest by entering through the south gate, information here indicates.

Tickets for the game are on sale in Wellington at the office of John Harper, secretary of the school board, in the First National Bank.

The Bobcats, a Class AA team, lost by the heavy score of 31 to 0 to the Amarillo Sandies in their only game this year. This overwhelming loss doesn't mean that the Cats will be a pushover, by any means, Coach Al Duncan is continually reminding his men and their local supporters. Since the Sandies are one of the two or three strongest teams in the entire Panhandle, and since the Childress team put up a stiff fight throughout the game, it may mean that the Rockets' opponents this time will deal them considerable trouble.

Coach Duncan and the Rockets are busy this week polishing off a few rough edges that have appeared, but as a whole, those fans who have seen the boys in action agree with the coach that they look like they were in mid-season form.

Already the Rockets have been mentioned as championship material, and their business this week is to show that the prediction is right, even where non-conference games are concerned.

Since transportation of football players and band members is a problem of this year's playing, Superintendent Logan Cummings has requested that any person going to Childress for the game, who has room to carry one or more (Continued on Page Ten)

Austin Continues Grid Performance

Don Austin, Wellington athlete, will continue his outstanding football record with the Texas Tech Red Raiders this season—his last before entering Uncle Sam's service on the seas.

Regarded as one of the team's best players last year, Austin is expected to be even more colorful this season.

The following article regarding him appeared recently in a Lubbock newspaper:

The "whirling dervish" as well as the speed merchant, of the Texas Tech squad is Don B. "Donald Duck" Austin. Relying on a twist spin, and amazing speed that make him a difficult target for a would-be tackler to hit, Austin carries the Red Raider's threat of broken field running into the fray with him. Though small, weighing only 161 and being some 5 feet eleven inches tall, Austin relies chiefly upon his amazing speed to "whittle the big boys down to his size." Austin is a senior, will probably be the starting right half for Coach Morgan, and being in the Naval Reserve will not be called until graduation. He has been working in Sundown the past few months.

Dodson Students Plan Operetta

Students of the elementary grades of the Dodson Schools will present an operetta Thursday evening, Sept. 24, at the school auditorium, it was announced this week.

Mrs. Cleo Newman and Mrs. Hurshal Risinger, teachers in the school, are directing this musical presentation.

"A number of talented children have been selected for the leading parts in the operetta. The entire group has worked hard, and we feel that each of you will enjoy this school presentation thoroughly," Hurshal Risinger, superintendent, said.

A cordial invitation has been extended the public to attend.

There will be no admission charge.

Banks Announce New Hours

Beginning October 1, all banks in this county will open at 10 a. m. and close at 4 p. m., war time, it was announced this week.

This change has been made due to the fact that the new hours better fit the convenience of the bank patrons, as well as employees.

Actually, it will mean that the banks are open for the same hours they were before the country went on a war-time basis, Dick Wiley of the First National Bank, pointed out.

Banks observing this new time schedule include the First National Bank, Wellington State Bank and City State Bank in Wellington, and the First State Bank of Dodson.

County May Vote Off $500,000 Bond Issue

Taxpayers of the county can cancel the $500,000 road bond issue, approved by them almost two years ago, at the time of the general election, November 3, County Judge C. C. Bishop announced Saturday, September 19, following a meeting of the Commissioners Court.

This bond issue was voted Dec. 28, 1940, to provide for hard surfacing of state highways in the county. At that time, it was planned to surface the east-west highway across the county, but a short time later, the federal and state governments allotted money for this purpose and the bonds were never issued.

"All preliminary work was completed, and the topping of the road across the county would have begun within a few weeks when emergency orders issued by the government following the declaration of war froze the asphalt materials which were to be used. This work will be completed as soon as the government releases the material," Judge Bishop explained.

It was further explained that while the bonds have not been sold as yet, they could be sold at some future date if the state should designate some road in the county as a state highway.

"This is just to give the people of the county an opportunity to vote the bond issue off," Judge Bishop said.

A two-thirds vote will be required to vote the issue off, it was pointed out.

This is the second special election to be set at the time of the general election. The other will determine whether or not the office of county superintendent shall be abolished. Such a vote is necessary when the scholastic population of a county falls below 3,000, as has happened in this county.

In addition, five constitutional amendments will be voted upon. These proposed amendments are on the following questions:

1. Whether accounting officers of this state shall be permitted to draw and pay warrants for salaries to officers of the United States Army or Navy who are assigned to duties in State Institutions of higher education.

2. Whether the Legislature may in certain counties create other courts having either exclusive jurisdiction or concurrent jurisdiction with the county court in civil, criminal or probate matters.

3. Whether not more than two million dollars ($2,000,000) of the Permanent School Fund shall be invested in bonds of the State of Texas and to be issued for the construction of a State office building or buildings and providing for the repayment of the said sum of money to the Permanent School Fund.

4. Whether appropriation bills (Continued on Page Ten)

Drivers License Rule Explained

Due to confusion which has arisen over the expiring of old drivers licenses on November 1, Highway Patrolman W. J. White, who is in charge of renewing the licenses in this county, has given the following explanation:

All old-style licenses, which are yellow in color, expire November 1. All new licenses, which are yellow with a green face, are good until two years from the date stamped on them. These are not to be renewed.

"Some people are of the opinion that all operators licenses expire November 1. This is not the case. However, all original licenses that have not been renewed do expire November 1 and should be renewed before that time. If you have al-

Devenport Grocery To Hold Opening Saturday

Formal opening of the Devenport Cash Food and Market will be held Saturday, Sept. 26, T. W. Devenport, owner, announced this week. The store will be opened in a new building, constructed especially for the business at the corner of 8th and Dallas streets.

The market adjoins the Devenport Produce, which Mr. and Mrs. Devenport have operated at this location for more than a year.

In connection with the opening of his new grocery annex, and of interest to poultry raisers, Mr. Devenport has announced a 2-day Poultry Clinic, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, September 25 and 26.

Gordon Beall of Dalhart, a poultry specialist, will be here, and he and his assistants will examine birds brought in by county raisers, and give them information concerning poultry diseases and sanitation.

"We cordially invite our friends to take advantage of this clinic. It is one of our aims to help improve the poultry standards of the county, and we feel that sponsoring this clinic is in line with this aim," Mr. Devenport said.

"We have a complete grocery stock featuring nationally known brands," Mr. Devenport said. "In addition to the grocery and market, we will continue to deal in poultry, cream, and feed. With all these combined under one roof, we feel that we are offering a service and convenience to the people and especially to those living in rural sections, that cannot be overestimated."

In building the annex which houses the grocery and market division, Mr. Devenport pointed out that this was constructed for the convenience of the patrons as well as for the owners and employees. (Continued on Page Ten)

Ben Hurst, Wellington lumberman, has been named county salvage chairman, to succeed A. B. Mears, who is moving from Wellington within the near future, it was announced Tuesday evening. Mr. Mears has served in this capacity since early in the year.

Mr. Hurst will take over his duties in the middle of what has become this county's most intensive scrap metal drive for war purposes.

A truck sent here to aid in the collection of the scrap metal is making a house to house canvass through the county, buying or accepting as donations scrap metal materials that local residents are anxious to go into war production channels.

Mr. Mears stated that the truck will remain here until the county has been covered. He urged that all persons who have not already done so assemble their scrap metal, and if they are to be away from home, to flag their collection, indicating whether it is to be sold or donated.

In addition to the miscellaneous collection of metals to be found around almost every home, Mr. Mears said that a number of worn-out tractors, were being wrecked for the drive, and that an unusable sand pump, located near Wellington, had been secured. The latter will yield between eight and ten tons of scrap for the government.

Beginning October 5th, all schools of the county will join in an intensified search for scrap. Mr. Mears and Mr. Hurst were scheduled to speak before the teachers of the county in a meeting here Wednesday afternoon. They outlined the plan for the drive and instruct teachers in the handling of the materials.

3 War Courses Offered At Quail

Three War Production Training courses started at Quail last week under the direction of the Vocational Agriculture Department, headed by G. S. Dowell.

An Auto Mechanics course is being conducted in the Jack Clark garage with Mr. Clark as instructor. In this course, trucks, cars, and any kind of gas engines may be brought in for repair. Anything from the simplest job such as tightening to complete overall jobs may be done.

A Farm Machinery Repair course is in progress just across the street at the Hammit blacksmith shop with Buster Smith as instructor. Any kind of farm machinery including wagons, trailers, row binders, and combines may be repaired there. It is being conducted on the community shop plan where people may come and put their machinery in shape to harvest and market the crop.

The only requirement is that a person be out of school and less than one hundred years old. An electric welder, acetylene welder, forges, electric drills, electric post drill, power driven emery wheels and other equipment will be used. People are urged to get started on their work or at least turn in their names for work during the course as soon as possible. In addition to those doing their own work, a number of men and boys will take the course the full time to prepare them for defense industries.

A course in poultry and egg production will be conducted somewhere in the Quail Consolidated School District. The place will be announced by Mr. Dowell later.

Ed White On West Texas State Football Team

Ed White, former Skyrocket star, is a member of the West Texas State College Varsity squad this year, the announcement of the roster recently shows. White is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elzie White.

Classified as a sophomore, White plays in center position. He was a member of the freshman team last year.

White has volunteered for military service, and is on the reserve list of the United States Marine Corps.

C. R. Breeden, 80, Dies At Marella On Wednesday

Carson R. Breeden, 80-year-old retired farmer of the Marella community, died at his home Wednesday evening, Sept. 16, at 6:30 o'clock. He had lived in this county for the last 32 years.

Funeral rites were conducted Friday afternoon from the Baptist Church at Quail, with Rev. J. P. Neal of Wellington in charge. Gathering to pay tribute were friends, many of whom had known Mr. Breeden during all of the years he had made that community his home.

Pall bearers for the service were Noble Childress, Ben Farmer, Ben Morris, Frank Coleman, Fred Cagle and Herbert Winegar. Hymns included "Where We'll Never Grow Old," and "Farther Along." Burial was in the Quail cemetery with the Kelso Funeral Home in charge.

Mr. Breeden was born July 25, 1862, at Nashville, Tenn., and at the time of his death he was 80 years, one month and 21 days of age. He grew up in Tennessee, and worked there until he was about 30 years of age, when he came to Texas. In 1910, he came to Collingsworth County.

He became a member of the Baptist Church in early life and remained a member until his death.

Widely known through the western section of the county, Mr. Breeden had many friends who loved and respected him.

Despite his age, he had remained active until a short time before his death.

Surviving are three sons and three daughters: H. T. Breeden of Deaenville, Texas, H. O. Breeden of Quail, J. C. Breeden of Sweetwater, Mrs. T. A. Owens of Mobeetie, Mrs. C. H. Seymour of Shamrock, and Mrs. D. D. Mangrum of Saginaw. Thirty-three grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Breeden preceded him in death last year.

Air Corps Waives Physical Standards In Some Classes

The Army Air Forces can use men who cannot pass the physical examinations for general military service, according to a report Saturday from Lt. Col. Marvin B. Durrette, District Recruiting and Induction Officer at Lubbock.

Age limits are 18 to 50 and the applicants should have some mechanical or radio experience. Those who have been placed in the I-B classification by their Local Boards are eligible for enlistment now.

Anyone mechanically inclined who has been making a livelihood through some mechanical trade, even though he has some physical defects, is thus eligible for enlistment into the Air Forces where he is needed to help "Keep 'Em Flying."

Partial blindness in one eye, partial deafness, insufficient teeth, loss of a thumb, loss of as many as three fingers on one hand, defects of the feet and other physical disabilities are thus waived.

Now is the time to enlist. Recruiting sergeants at the following Army Recruiting Stations will be glad to discuss the many advantages of the service in the Air Forces with those interested. There are now family allowances for men with families and promotions for mechanics and technicians are usually rapid.

Army Recruiting Stations are located at the following cities: Odessa, Big Spring, Sweetwater, Pampa, Amarillo, Plainview, El Paso, Fort Bliss, and Lubbock.

Limestone is found in practically all parts of Texas except the Coastal Plain.

High School Pre-Flight Aviation Work Explained

By LOGAN CUMMINGS

Students of Wellington High School are a part of the 50,000 high school boys and girls who are studying the hows and whys of aeronautics this fall in a special war-stimulated course offered by the State Department of Education.

This pre-flight aeronautics course embraces aircraft structure and identification, aerodynamics, power plants, meteorology, navigation and communication, and is open to boys and girls in the last two years of high school.

Part of a nationwide program sponsored by the Civil Aeronautics Authority, the United States Office of Education and State School Systems, the course will materially shorten the period of specialized training necessary for those who expect to participate in the nation's air program.

Boys and girls in Texas high schools will be acquainted with the jobs which are available in the field of aviation and the qualifications necessary to fill each job through this course.

The University of Texas and other colleges have agreed to accept this course on the basis of a laboratory science. The course was prepared by the staff in aviation at the University of Texas and by graduate students who participated in the teacher's course in pre-flight aeronautics at the University.

Mrs. Howard Ezell, who is teaching this course in Wellington High School, was enrolled in this course at the University this summer.

The general objectives of the course are: To stimulate a consciousness and recognition of the need for providing aviation education for our youth;

To gear the operation of Texas secondary schools to the war needs by promoting instruction in subjects pertaining to aviation;

And to prepare the youths for a post war period in which airplanes will bring about changes in our economic and social life.

Church Announces Changes In Usual Schedule

Announcement was made Monday of a change in the regular meeting nights of the local Assembly of God. Beginning this week, instead of a regular Wednesday evening prayer service at the church there will be group prayer meetings in the homes of members of the church on Tuesday nights. The regular Saturday night services are set for Thursday. Time of meeting is not changed. According to Rev. J. M. Cockerell, pastor of the church, these changes are thought to be more advantageous since services will be more evenly distributed throughout the week.

A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend in any of the meetings of this church.

County Sends Five To Navy

The two-week "Lexington Volunteers" recruiting drive, launched by the Navy Department last Monday, is expected to lend stimulus to Naval enlistments for the North Texas district during September, and serve to boost the month's total past the goal of 3,600 recruits, Lieut. L. H. Ridout, Jr., officer-in-charge, announced today.

Latest figures show that nearly 2,500 enlistments have been handled at the main station in Dallas, and Lieutenant Ridout pointed out that a whirlwind campaign during the final days of September will bring in the recruits necessary to round out the month's quota of 3,600 men.

To date, total figures for the month include 5 recruits from Collingsworth County. The September quota is eleven.

Every man recruited during the two-week "Lexington Volunteer" campaign, prompted by the launching Sept. 26 of a new aircraft carrier bearing that name, will receive certificates which they may keep as mementoes. Lieut. Ridout explained that 10,000 more blue-jackets than are ordinarily enlisted nationally during a two-week period are anticipated.

A recruiting officer will be in Dallas Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1 to interview applicants for the Seabees, popular overseas construction regiment. Applicants should remember that physical examinations must be passed and two letters of recommendation must be presented at the Dallas recruiting station anytime before Sept. 29. This must be done before interviews are granted and ratings assigned.

Red Cross Takes Messages To Men Missing In Action

Messages for men reported "missing in action" in the Far East but not yet listed as prisoners of war now are being accepted by the Collingsworth County Red Cross chapter, Miss Katherine Boverie, secretary, said today. She pointed out, however, that no assurance of delivery can be given.

Miss Boverie said the messages will be forwarded on the exchange ship "Gripsholm," expected to sail from New York shortly. They will be sent to the International Red Cross Committee's delegate in Japan, who will make every effort to see that they are delivered if the men are in Japanese prison camps. "This effort to communicate with missing men of the Armed Forces," she said, "has been necessitated by the Japanese failure to supply complete lists of American prisoners of war."

"Friends and relatives wishing to contact men reported missing in action, but not yet officially reported by the enemy as prisoners of war, should contact Miss Boverie. They should be able to give complete information on the missing man, including name, number, rank, military unit and last known address. The message must be filed on Red Cross form 1616 and must be limited to 25 words."

In order that the message may have the best possible chance of delivery, the Red Cross urges all relatives and friends of a missing man to combine their messages on one form, according to Miss Boverie.

"For prisoners officially reported by the Japanese," she pointed out, "regular letters may be sent through the Prisoners of War mail, on which information may be obtained at any post office. It is not necessary to use the Red Cross message form in these cases."

Mr. and Mrs. Don O. Wiles of Hot Springs, Ark., arrived recently to be with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wiles, and Miss Dorothy Wiles. The elder Mr. Wiles is recovering from a heart attack suffered recently. Mrs. Don Wiles returned home Friday night, but her husband will remain for a while.

Weather Bureau Seeks Women For Forecasting

Uncle Sam is looking for men and women—but especially the gals—to go to work in the weather bureau, Lee N. Gragg, secretary, local Board of U. S. Civil Service examiners, announced this week. Applicants should be at least 17 years old and have a high school education or its equivalent. They'll have to pass a mechanical aptitude test to qualify.

The fledgling weathermen (or weatherwomen) will be known as junior observers in meteorology, and will draw down $120 a month while they're in a three month course of instruction on weather observing, weather coding, and the plotting of weather data on maps.

The ones who make the grade in this training course may be rapidly promoted, with duty in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico.

Applications can be obtained from any first- or second-class post office in Louisiana or Texas; the regional director, Tenth Civil Service Region, Customhouse, New Orleans; or from the Post Office at Wellington.

A calendar of events on one war job in one recent week gives a graphic picture of how General Electric is working to meet wartime emergencies.

1. THURSDAY: An order was received at an eastern G-E factory for equipment needed by a U.S. warship near Australia. A special call went out.

2. THURSDAY NIGHT: As many workers as could be efficiently employed on the job worked all night, all day FRIDAY, assembling the equipment.

3. SATURDAY: Under police escort, the equipment was rushed to a nearby airport. Traveling by plane, it arrived in San Francisco on SUNDAY.

4. WEDNESDAY: A bombing plane landed the equipment at its Pacific destination—10,000 miles from the factory—six days after receipt of order.

Elmore Dodson Helps To Make Old West Real

If the traditions of the old west are kept alive in this section, much credit for this must go to Elmore Dodson, a rancher from Dodson who was one of this county's earliest settlers. Few living men know more of ranching in the Panhandle fifty and more years ago, or of trail driving, which was a part of the cattle raising industry then.

While in Wellington last week, Mr. Dodson told of the T-Ancor round-up which he attended at Canyon late last month. This organization is made up of early day cattlemen and cowboys, who meet each year for a barbecue and reunion.

The following, taken from the account of the reunion was printed in the Amarillo News immediately after the event:

"Elmore Dodson, who has sighted the north star between the horns of many a steer on the trail, was asking the blessing over John Snider's barbecue, sauce, beans and black coffee at the old cow-punchers reunion today.

"Mr. Dodson had a prayer and a short speech in his heart. So in saying the prayer, he became slightly mixed and trailed off on the speech. Suddenly he stopped. He asked the Lord to pardon him; then he went ahead with the prayer.

"Hundreds of members of the Western Cowpunchers' Association from all parts of the Panhandle, from West Texas and New Mexico attended this 22nd reunion. And the thing took a war effort theme. President E. C. Britain, Vice-President Mel Armstrong, Secretary Herbert M. Timmons and Membership Chairman Mrs. H. E. Brady announced that if the old punchers and their women folks would pay their 1943 memberships in advance, the money would be invested in war bonds. There was a rush to the secretary's table, and a lot of money was made available to Uncle Sam. The organization has some 300 members, and today's reunion drew a record crowd for the 22-year history. All the officers were re-elected and they said they'd have the reunion the same place the last Thursday in next August."

October 4-10 Proclaimed Fire Prevention Week

AUSTIN.—Gov. Coke Stevenson has formally proclaimed October 4 to 10 as "Fire Prevention Week" in Texas.

Citing the urgent necessity for preventing fires during time of war, Gov. Stevenson said, "the production of materials essential to the prosecution of the war by our nation is taxing the capacity of industrial plants, and curtailment of production because of fire becomes a menace to our own safety * * *"

The Governor called upon Texas citizens and various local organizations to emphasize the danger of fire and to encourage fire prevention.

Commenting on Fire Prevention Week, Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner, suggested that every Texan accept individual responsibility in adopting fire prevention measures at home and at work.

"According to the official proclamation" Hall said, "Fire Prevention Week has special significance this year. The defense of factories, farms and homes against destruction by accidental fires is essential to the war production program and conservation of vital resources.

"There is another reason why we must devote more attention to preventing fires. We are now receiving dividends of lower insurance rates—the result of preventing fires. In order to keep the low fire insurance rates now in effect, it will be necessary for us to prevent fires in the future."

Quail, Norwood Split Second Game Series

Outcome of the second Quail-Samnorwood basketball game this year was the same as the first—the Quail girls defeated Samnorwood, and the boys lost to the Samnorwood Eagles by a score of 27 to 11. Most action was shown in the girls' game at the Quail gym Friday night when the score was 22 to 20 in favor of the Bobwhites.

The score was close throughout the game, with Samnorwood girls leading Quail 15 to 13 at the half. In the first game, which was a week ago Friday at Samnorwood, Bobwhites won by a score of 15 to 8. Alpha Neeley was captain for the first game, and Modena Spier was appointed captain of the second game.

"Both teams were good sports," stated Elver Brown, coach of the Quail girls. He also commented on how much the Samnorwood girls had worked during the past week. Paul Morris of Samnorwood is coach of both the boys' and girls' teams.

Alpha Neeley was high point scorer in both the girls' games, making 19 points in the game Friday. Sparkman of Samnorwood was second high with 10 points. In the first game of the season, Lelia Merchant of Samnorwood was second high with four points.

In the boys' game, Morris of Samnorwood was high point man, with 12 points. Jones of Quail made three points, and Gilbreth, Stratton, Robinson and Dennis each scored two points. With their first games over, Coach Herman Moseley and his boys are looking forward to a much better team soon. Only two of the boys had played before their games with Samnorwood.

Rockets Down Paducah 32-0 In Contest Friday

Playing in a drenching rain, and before a crowd composed only of reserve players, coaches, band members and a handful of spectators, a high spirited and smoothly clicking Skyrocket eleven rolled over the Paducah Dragons 32 to 0 in their opening game Friday night, September 18.

Although during a part of the contest the watchers were unable to see just what the players were about, not once did the Rockets let the game get out of hand, or give their opponents a single chance to display their good points.

The Rockets more than justified the hopes of their coach in this first game, with the ball lugging department of the team looking as if they were in mid-season form, and the fellow players, the linesmen, doing almost what amounted to mind reading in anticipating the movements of the Dragons.

Touchdowns came at close intervals throughout the game.

Accounting for the first score of the season was Elmer Roy, Rocket center. Early in the game the Dragons fumbled behind their goal line and Roy recovered, giving the Rockets their first score. The attempt for the extra point failed.

A short time later, the Rockets again went dangerously near the Dragon goal line and Thompson, taking the ball on the two yard line, went over for the touchdown. Again the try for the extra point was no good.

Fred Covey, Rocket half, accounted for the next touchdown. The fleet Rocket back broke into the open on the Dragon 20-yard line and scampered down to the 5 before he was downed. On the next play he went over for a touchdown. Melton ran the ball across the goal for the extra point.

A short time later, playing in Dragon territory, Thompson raced from the 25-yard line to the 8, and on the next play went over for another score. The try for conversion failed.

Quarterback Melton made the final score. He splashed 30 yards to find six points, then ran the ball across for the extra point. Melton's jaunt was the longest of the game.

The Dragons were never able to get near the well defended Rocket goal. Although they fought gamely throughout the muddy interval, their ground attempts failed to advance their positions, and their attempted passes met with no better luck.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

Camp Robinson, Ark.
Sept. 13, 1942

Dear Deck:

Thought I'd drop you a few lines to let you know that I am still here at Camp Robinson. It sure has been hot here the last week. I still believe I like West Texas sandstorms better than I do this hot sultry weather they have in Arkansas. Well, Deck, I have just about completed my basic training so I guess I will be transferred before long. I lack about one more week and I will be through. We will go on a three day hike the last three days of this week and I will be glad when that is over because that is where the walking takes place. That hike is done with your full field pack on too.

I thought when I first came here and heard what they told us we had to do in eight weeks that I would never make it. It was hard the first two or three weeks but after that I caught on to the idea of the training and then it wasn't hard at all. There are several men here that were in the other war and they said it was much easier now and that they learned more in these eight weeks than they learned in a year the other time. They claim that these eight weeks equal a year's training in peace time. I can't begin to mention the things we have studied and trained in. I am sure glad I was in this cycle because the next cycle that comes here after we leave will have only six weeks to learn what we did.

They are enlarging this camp here now and are going to make it one of the largest B.I.R.T.C. camps in the nation. I believe that I was lucky to be sent to such a good training center as this one. They claim that after we finish our eight weeks' training here we will be eligible for any branch of Army service. From what I can hear the crops there are good this year. I sure hope they make good because if anybody deserves a good crop the people of Collingsworth do.

Well, since I have run out of news, I'll close. Tell all my friends in good old Collingsworth County hello for me. I hope to get a furlough after my transfer and if I do I am coming back there to see all my friends.

Your friend,
Earl Box.

(Note: The following interesting letter was received by Mr. and Mrs. Fleet Pruden from Lieut. J. M. Moore who is in the service of his country.)

Somewhere In Australia
Dear Mrs. Pruden and Fleet:

How in the world are you? Guess you are enjoying life as usual during these summer days (it is winter here). Nothing would please me better than to walk in the Pruden's store and have a big malted milk. Over here you can have an ice cream in your malts but there is an extra three or six pence added to the cost. We've about educated these people as to how to make malts, and there's a place in town that sells hamburgers. (They're doing right well in the business.) We are issued American cigarettes and tobacco and every once in a while we can buy cokes.

Fleet, you haven't had to answer the call to the colors yet, have you? Guess there are several of the boys that have entered the army since I was there last. Hope you don't have to go. Maybe this war will be over before long, we hope.

How is everyone at the club getting along? Give them all my best regards and tell them I hope to become a member again before long. Sure look forward to seeing the fellows soon.

By the way, how is the election coming out? Don't suppose there is too much interest along that line this year. Guess Paul will still be sheriff when I get back. Hope so anyway.

In closing may I wish you and my friends at the club all the best of health and happiness in the world. We Americans are holding our own with the Aussies. They are swell people.

Just the same old guard,
Binder.

(Editor's Note: James Elton Abel (better known as "Strawberry Abel") on active duty in Uncle Sam's army "somewhere in England" wrote the following letter to his sister, Mrs. Bob Leggett.)

Darling Sister and Bob:

Please forgive me for not writing to you much sooner, but as you know, I have been constantly on the run for the past month moving from one place to another and haven't had a great deal of time for writing.

At the present time I am somewhere in England, but because of spies, losing of mail, etc., we are strictly forbidden to write anything that might give the enemy any knowledge of troop locations or operations. Of course, if we carelessly include something in the letter that we shouldn't the very capable British censors cut it out immediately.

This is a very beautiful country, very typical of our New England states. Every home whether the family is in the upper or lower class has a very pretty flower bed in the yard. The people are very friendly and treat the American soldier with due respect. I personally can say that I think the people of England are very brave because they have been at war three years now, losing sons in battle, others being killed by bombing raids, and all living under very strict ration limitations and yet they take it on the chin and with a look of determination continue to do their part toward the war effort, and our goal, which, of course, is victory.

Since my arrival in England I have had the good luck of visiting London. While there I visited St. James Park from where I saw Buckingham Palace. Also, I saw Big Ben and of course many other things of interest but I won't attempt to write about everything. I'll just save it and tell you all about it when I get home. O. K.?

I wish you would tell Miss Hulsey that I said "hello" and that because of my interest in literature, if I have any possible chance of visiting Shakespeare's home at Stratford-on-Avon, I certainly intend to do so.

Give Dad all my love and tell him I am in the best of health and certainly well taken care of by the U. S. Army. Don't ever worry at all about me.

Bye now and cheerio,
James Elton Abel.

Editorial

There won't be as much food next year as there is this year, and the public can make up its mind to this. So comes the warning from investigators who have looked into the question carefully.

Collingsworth County folks won't go hungry by any means, but it probably does mean that some of the foods we have been used to buying in the local stores will be missing.

A combination of factors will be to blame for the situation. It is believed there will be less food raised for commercial purposes because of the rationing of farm machinery on farm products, price ceilings, scarcity of labor, etc.

People are eating more, too. Soldiers eat more per man than men in civilian life. This goes for many defense workers. Then there is the job of feeding our allies that will not become lighter.

All this seems to indicate that while much of the canning season in this section is over, special effort should be made by housewives during the remainder of the season to preserve at home as much food for the coming year as possible.

This is food for thought.

If Americans limit their gas buying the way they do their diets, voluntary rationing won't work.

Reds will see that a lot of Nazi soldiers spend their next Russian winter under ground.

In baseball, it seems, the output is equaled in importance by putouts.

This time it's "Stamp, stamp, stamp, the boys are marching."

We trust that anti-inflation legislation won't apply to the season's footballs.

With winter just ahead, now is a fine time to freeze onto enough money for coal—and buy it pronto.

A saxophone stolen in Kansas City was recovered by police. Law enforcement is getting worse and worse.

- Cottonseed Oil Neglect

We agree with Lawrence Matthews of Paducah, student of chemistry as well as master farmer, when he says the neglect of the possibilities in cottonseed oil is a disgrace. Cottonseed is a domestic product, and its oil can substitute and is even superior to olive oils and other similar materials. It can be converted into butterfats which defy experts. It provides cooking oil and shortening which is superior to other similar products. With other slight chemical and physical treatment, the oil can produce more than 200 useful products. We are sure that proper application of research would find this domestic oil an answer to the grease shortage problem.—Curtis Cook in the Wichita Falls Record-News.
- Still Ambitious

This department came out several days ago with a pat on the back for the older men who are now filling jobs left vacant by youngsters (some of them 40 years and older) who have entered military service. Without the aid of these men who are again getting active business in every community would be in a jam. We must not forget them when the war is over. It proves that the right to work belongs to every man as long as he is able and willing. Some might desire retirement at an early age but the majority of men prefer to stay in the harness until they die.—The Altus (Okla.) Times-Democrat.
- Presidential Leadership

By threatening to act on his own authority should Congress fail to dance to his tune, President Roosevelt has again attempted to relegate the legislative branch of the government to the second fiddle class, a thing sure to arouse the ire of Congress and alarm of the people who see in Congress, the last bit of hope for truly democratic government.

He would have had far more people with him had the President made the request for action and then used whatever powers he intends to invoke, after Congress had turned him down.—W. R. Ruth-erford in The Moore County News.

- Know Your Law

If your property is sold for taxes, it might be a good idea to check on the manner in which notice of sale was made. There is room for doubt in some cases, since the last legislature has changed the publication law. Many things formerly posted must now be published in a newspaper in order to be legal.—T. A. Landers in the McLean News.
- Sign Of Prosperity

We know that some of our Castro County friends are prosperous because their pants are bagging at the pockets instead of the knees. Which is a good tip for some of these storekeepers who have been complacent enough to let all this shopping money go to other towns—just because they're too timid with their advertising dollar to invite their trade.—De-Witt Lamb in The Castro County News.

I Give You Texas

Did you know that they don't hang men with wooden legs in China? No, sir; they use rope.

And did you hear about the Indian chief who ordered a ham sandwich at a soda fountain? He lifted the slices of bread and then said to the attendant, "Ugh! You slice 'em ham?" The other replied, "Yes, I sliced the ham." The chief grunted, "Ugh! You darn near miss 'em."

You might think that editing a newspaper in a small town would be devoid of excitement. But in the days when this writer was a small town editor, it was a favorite pastime in many communities to "give the editor a licking."

I recall one very tense occasion when two men walked into the newspaper office. What made the occasion tense was that one of the men, just the day before, had been acquitted of murder. He was a big fellow, with a temper so fiery that once or twice during the trial he started from his seat with the intention of taking a swing at the special prosecutor but was dissuaded by his own attorney. Of course I had written a full account of these, and other, events in special connection with the trial for our little paper each day.

And now here he was, one killing out of the way, entering my office. Bringing along a friend too—(always a bad sign as that means the trouble seeker wants a witness so there will be fair play.) He asked if I was the editor, which I acknowledged. He then called for a copy of the day before's paper. (Another bad sign—because the preliminary to giving the editor a whipping is to confront him with the offending writeup.)

The visitors read the account through—it was the main article in the paper—and then the recent defendant said:

"That was a mighty fine speech my lawyer made to the jury and you've got a real good write-up of it, too. Let me have six copies, please—and how much are they?"

"Not a cent, not a cent," said a very relieved newspaperman. "Take them with our compliments."

"It certainly taught the city not to grant any more 99-year franchises."

On The Home Front

If you tried to buy a new piece of farm machinery or equipment within the past week, you found, no doubt, that Uncle Sam had placed control on such sales—a prelude to rationing.

Government agencies have decided that the all-out agricultural production program scheduled for the coming year is so important that it is necessary to place present stocks of new farm machinery and equipment into hands of farmers who need it most. Stocks of such equipment were ordered temporarily "frozen" by the U. S. Agriculture Department, with the order to remain in effect until machinery for rationing can be set up by the USDA.

Under the proposed rationing plans, details in each state will be handled by State USDA War Boards, and in each county by the County Farm War Board, of which the county AAA committee chairman is the head. In addition to the chairman, the county rationing committee will be composed of two farmer members and their alternates, appointed by the County War Board. In the Southwestern region, the State War Board chairmen are B. F. Vance, College Station, Texas; G. J. Durbin, Baton Rouge, La., and C. T. Cameron (acting), Stillwater, Okla.

The temporary plan classifies farm machinery and equipment in three groups.

Items in the first group (Group A) include farm machinery vitally essential to current agricultural needs and which hereafter may not be sold by a dealer unless the farmer has obtained a purchase certificate from his county rationing committee—not the county war price and rationing board. In this group are included combines, disc harrows, feed grinders, grain drills, hay balers, milking machines, beet lifters, beet loaders, corn pickers, grain elevators, lime and manure spreaders, milk coolers, pickup balers, potato diggers, shredders and tractors (including garden tractors).

In the second group (Group B) are other farm machinery and equipment not in the first group, and which may be sold on certification by the farmer to his dealer that the equipment is essential for current agricultural production needs. In the third group are such items as hand tools and smaller horse-drawn equipment which may be sold without restrictions. The temporary rationing plan does not apply to repair parts.

Another item of interest to the Home Front army during the past week was the announcement by Regional OPA Administrator Max McCullough that the tentacles of inflation were again clutching at the nation's pocket-book—that the cost of living was still rising in the Southwest despite price control. He pointed out that price control was proving an effective deterrent, because figures issued by the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that prices of controlled items were remaining stable, but prices of uncontrolled items were rising. A survey of the major cities in the nation showed that from July 15 to August 15 the cost of living climbed 2.2 per cent.

In the last week, the Office of Price Administrator took cognizance of protests to Maximum Price Regulation No. 211 (cotton ginning services) by the Southwest's ginner. The OPA issued an amendment to permit a ginner to seek a price adjustment if he can show that his ceiling and those of substantially all the ginner in the same competitive area are "out of line" with maximum prices prevailing in the nearest competitive area and that this condition subjects him to substantial hardship. Another change in the regulation provides that the "hauling" of cotton to and from gins by the ginner shall no longer be included in the ginning services for which ceilings are established by MPR No. 211. The first change was made to take an exceptionally low base period price. Petitions for adjustments should be filed with the regional OPA office in Dallas if the petitioner's gin is located in Texas, Louisiana, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas or Kansas.

We Are Ready for Wartime Service

The cotton season is getting under way in Collingsworth County, and all of us are brought to a realization of how important this crop is in wartime. It serves literally hundreds of uses on both the fighting and the home fronts. It is both patriotic and profitable to have your cotton ginned in the most efficient manner.

For this reason your Farmers Co-Op Gin has taken extra care in overhauling and repairing our gin machinery in order to provide farmers who gin here with the best sample and turnout. As usual we have a competent and experienced crew to operate our double gin plants to insure you prompt and efficient service.

Your Gin Is In Position To Give Excellent Service & Greater Returns

Besides the plant being in the best mechanical shape it has ever been in, the Farmers Co-Op Gin is in the best financial condition in its entire history. That means that every farmer has a better chance of receiving greater returns at the end of the year than ever before.

In the past we have ginned your cotton at all hours of the day or night, and will do it again when necessary, but with the Government asking for the most efficient operation by making the fullest use of labor, fuel, electricity and production itself, we would like to ask your co-operation in enabling your gin to obtain the maximum amount of ginning with the minimum amount of labor and expense.

Whenever possible take advantage of the early morning hours. It will mean less waiting and better service for you at the time, but it will also mean greater profits returned to the farmer at the end of the season. And this year we have the chance to make the greatest returns to you of any year. By your co-operation help make it even greater.

Maximum Price for Ginning Service

32c PER CWT. FOR GINNING ALL SEED COTTON.

$1.84 PER PATTERN FOR BAGGING AND TIES.

This is the price we will charge, but remember that regardless of what the price may be you get your ginning at cost when you gin at the Farmers Co-Op Gin because the profits are RETURNED TO THE FARMERS. The more you gin the more your return.

FREE CLASSING: Each farmer will be able to know the exact class of his cotton as classed by a government classer. There will also be buyers for your seed and cotton stationed at this gin and the usual help in putting your cotton in the loan will be available.

Maybe you don't know what it means to have production fall off. Maybe you can't imagine how it feels to be hunkered down in a foxhole wishing for just one more clip

Farmers Face Hard Problem, But They'll Find An Answer

By ROSE ERISMAN
County Home Demonstration Agent.

A. and M. College Extension Service staff members and home demonstration and agricultural agents from each county in the state were called in to a state conference at College Station last week to outline work for the coming year.

The picture is not a very bright one according to Reuben Brigham, assistant director of Extension Service, Washington, D. C., because farm people will be trying to produce more and more with less and less from here on out.

With farm machinery frozen and only 20 percent as much farm machinery manufactured next year as in 1940, and with the labor situation starting the farmers in the face, one wonders how the farm people can take the stride that will be their responsibility. But it can be done and it must be done. When a shortage occurs in materials vital to the war effort, it does not necessarily mean the nation will do without. It does mean, however, that a substitution must be made. We were told at the meeting that there will be no tin cans available next year for home canning and a drastic reduction will occur for commercial canners.

A substitution to take care of this problem has already been produced in the form of dehydrated foods for both commercial food packers and home use. Drying fruits, vegetables, and meats was one of the most important phases of the Extension Service conference, and this phase of food preservation will be one of the phases of work carried on by home demonstration club members in this county during the coming year, as well as krauting and brining.

Greater production, conservation; family living for victory and peace; care of farm machinery and home equipment; health and nutrition; inflation and farm people; and emergency group feeding were some of the phases of Extension work covered at the meeting. Attending the meeting from this county were Rose Erisman, county home demonstration agent, and B. A. Zorns, county agent.

Role Of Cotton More Important

AUSTIN, Texas.—Cotton is going to play an increasingly important role in the war economy of the United States during the year ahead, in the opinion of Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University of Texas' Bureau of Business Research.

Declaring that present prices of cotton in the United States that indicate a substantial increase in cotton acreage under favorable weather conditions, Dr. Cox points out reasons for his belief in the greater role of cotton.

In the first place, he points out that cotton "can be and should be" a strong brake against run-away inflation, since it has a wide range of civilian and war uses and may be substituted for many other commodities of which there is a shortage.

"There is a burdensome surplus of cotton in the United States that has been a threat to the cotton growers for years," Dr. Cox says, in the second place. "This can and should be fed into the market to supply a large quantity of goods at reasonable prices and at the same time relieving the surplus."

In the South, Dr. Cox declares, where small enterprises are being closed because they are unable to handle war contracts, the high rate of employment in the cotton textile and clothing industries offers a stabilizing influence.
