Lions fall to Coleman in area play

By Lisa Colin

On Tuesday, March 3, the Ozona Lions set out to San Angelo in hopes of capturing the Area title from the Coleman Bluecats. The Lions tried valiantly to overcome their opponents but were outscored 54-49 although the game was close all four quarters.

The game opened in the Lakeview Gym with soaring spirits. Competition was high and both teams were hoping for another win. At the end of the first quarter, Coleman had a one point lead 17-16, but the Lions were still hopeful in achieving a win.

As the second quarter started, the Lions came out full of fire, but the Bluecats would not let down and the lead remained theirs, 29-24.

As the second half opened, Ozona made a desperate attempt to regain control from Coleman. Coleman was still ahead at the end of this quarter, but the Lions were closing in on the lead by a two point margin, 40-38.

In the final quarter, both teams were striving towards a win and it looked as if Ozona would come out on top. Unfortunately, the Lion's dreams of victory were shattered and as the closing second came across the clock, Ozona realized its defeat.

Coach Curry was quite pleased with the game. "I thought we had a good game. We played well enough in spots to win, but mistakes in the fourth quarter stopped us from victory."

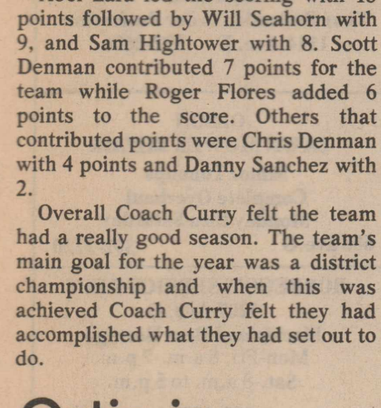

Abel Lara led the scoring with 13 points followed by Will Seahorn with 9, and Sam Hightower with 8. Scott Denman contributed 7 points for the team while Roger Flores added 6 points to the score. Others that contributed points were Chris Denman with 4 points and Danny Sanchez with 2.

Overall Coach Curry felt the team had a really good season. The team's main goal for the year was a district championship and when this was achieved Coach Curry felt they had accomplished what they had set out to do.

Outstanding conservation rancher

Dr. Jimmy McMullan was chosen recipient of the 1986 outstanding conservation rancher award. Earl Acton presents the award to Dr. McMullan at the San Angelo Area Awards banquet held March 5. Dr. McMullan and his wife, Ann, spend their time on the ranch east of Ozona, and in San Antonio, where he is a practicing veternarian.

Discussions on roads and hospital district occupy court

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met Monday in regular session, and what should have been a routine meeting was highlighted by a discussion about county roads and the pros and cons of a hospital district.

Commissioner Jack Williams, senior member of the court, conducted the meeting in the absence of County Judge A.O. Fields.

Approval of the bills was delayed until after department heads gave reports and visitors were heard.

Jackie Womack was present to ask the court to continue to maintain the Mitchell blacktop road as a county road, although a landowner above Womack's place had erected a gate across the road.

County Attorney Tom Cameron explained the law on this issue. Anytime a landowner erects a gate on a road maintained by the county, it ceases to be a county road. The county must have easements to claim county roads, and there are no easements for roads in Crockett County. Cameron explained the county is liable when any obstruction is erected on a county road and this is the reason for signs which have been erected informing the public as to what point the road is maintained by the county.

The court was in sympathy with Womack's plight, but was unable to offer a solution. This problem has come up throughout the county since the state passed a law making it illegal to work county employees on private property. When a gate is put up or a "no trespassing" it becomes obvious the road is no longer open to the public and the county can no longer legally maintain it.

Bill Boswell appeared to give the hospital report, and told the court the hospital district election could be held as early as July 25. This announcement sparked a lengthy discussion on how forming a hospital district would help the ailing finances of the hospital. Boswell told the court the district, if passed, would not need the 35 cent per $100 valuation stated in the bill. He was of the opinion that if the county lowered taxes to compensate, there would only be a few cents increase to the taxpayer. The court took no action. Most seemed to be of the opinion the people would not vote to form a district with a separate taxing entity when the county already takes responsibility for the facility.

Some discussion was held on the treatment of employees who had been collecting workman's compensation and had returned to duty. After going over the record of one road employee, it was discovered that the file presented to the court was an employee of the same name who had had the same injury several years ago. After some discussion, the court instructed department heads to secure a full release from a physician before putting the injured party back to work.

In giving the parks department report, Onisimo Ortiz asked for another employee at the cemetery. Due to the non-hiring rule, the court instructed Eddie Moore to trade out workers with Ortiz from the road department. The summer Manpower project was discussed. Tom Cameron offered to look into this program which affords summer jobs for underprivileged youths.

Eddie Moore reported the cost to repair the #9 loader would be around $9,000. He was asked to get another bid on the repairs and get the project underway. The cost of a new loader was estimated at around $130,000. The fence on the seven miles of FM 1973 has been constructed and most work finished in order to turn the maintenance over to the State Highway Department.

Moore asked about the summer paving project, mentioning that all roads had some bad places which needed repair. The court agreed that each commissioner would contact Moore and instruct him on the paving in their precincts.

Some discussion was held on the runway at the airport, which Moore reported was in need of repair. The court will look into a federal-state program which offers grants for airport construction and repair.

Garland Young gave the youth center report, telling the court that there are now over 200 high school members enrolled. He said plans were underway for the all-night graduation party which was very successful last year.

Louise Ledoux gave the library report. She reported on receiving state certification and a workshop on cataloging she plans to attend. The workshop will assist her in properly handling sheet music which has been donated to the library.

Rev. Jim Gray, chairman of the Crockett County Child Welfare Board, reported on work his committee was doing and submitted a list of names for new members. He also informed the court the date for meetings had been moved to the first Wednesday in the month in order to give a report at the monthly court meetings. The meetings will be held at 5:30 at the Community Center. Members of the court were invited to attend.

Some discussion was held on the county's responsibility in the field of child welfare. It was agreed that unless a child was turned over to the court the county was not responsible for expenses.

In other business, the court named Dr. Owensby county health officer and approved Ozona National Bank for the county depository.

After approving the bills for payment, the court adjourned during the noon hour.

Conservation award given

Jimmy McMullan has been chosen as the recipient of the 1986 outstanding conservation rancher award by the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District. The award was presented to Jimmy at the San Angelo Area Awards Banquet held at Angelo State University on March 5.

Jimmy operates two separate operating units in Crockett County totaling approximately 6,400 acres. He runs all three classes of livestock and retains a great amount of flexibility in his stocking operations. He normally stocks light on both ranches and will reduce his stocking if periods of dry conditions persist.

Various range management practices have been carried out to improve the ranches. Fencing and water development have improved grazing distribution tremendously and have allowed for initiation of intensive grazing systems.

To achieve his goals of range improvement and livestock performance, he has utilized various grazing systems through the years. He is presently utilizing a 6 pasture - 1 herd system and a 2 pasture switchback grazing system.

Jimmy has been improving the quantity and quality of desirable forage not only through well executed management practices, but also through an extensive brush control program. Over the years, approxmately 3,000 acres of undesirable brush have been treated by various control methods. Followup treatment on brush species is very important to Jimmy. Individual plant treatment has allowed him to control reinvasion of brush species on areas previously treated.

The improvement of desirable forage is not only beneficial to his livestock operation and protects his soil, but has also improved his wildlife habitat. Deer and turkey are the predonminant wildlife species on the ranches and provide supplemental income.

The Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District is proud to present the 1986 outstanding conservation rancher award to Jimmy McMullan, for his excellent working understanding of range and ranch management and his wise use of available resources.

Ozonans retire from Hiway Department

The employees of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation recently honored Gearge D. Olson. The occasion was the presentation of his certificate of appreciation of thirty-five years of service to the Department and his retirement.

Olson began his career with the Department as a Rodman in Stamford, Texas under Resident Engineer B.C. Rogers. He advanced through various titles as he became proficient in all phases of design and construction inspection.

In November 1964 George moved to Ozona to assist in the work on IH 10 through Crockett County under the supervision of W.F. "Bill" Dixon.

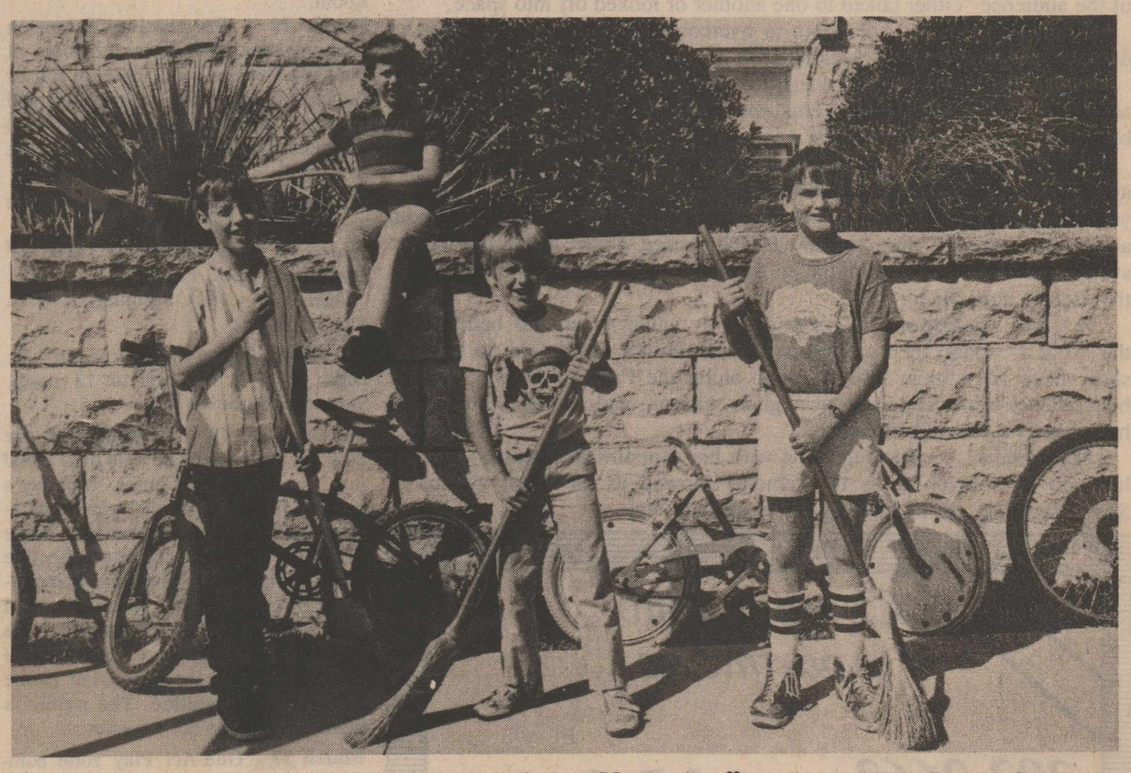

At the time of retirement, George was working for Supervising Resident Engineer Joe W. Lane of Sonora.

Mrs. Virginia Hubbard of Ozona also retired recently from the Department. Virginia began working for the Department in September 1967 for Supervising Resident Engineer W.F. "Bill" Dixon. Her time was during most of the work on IH 10 in Crockett County.

In June 1984 Virginia transferred to the office of Maintenance Construction Supervisor Cecil F. Hedrick, where she was working at the time of her retirement.

Both George and Virginia were honored with parties by their coworkers and friends. George received a tap and die set to help him in his lawnmower repair shop. Virginia was given a gift of cash to pamper herself.

Both retirees and their families will continue to make their homes in Ozona.

Spring break volunteers

The Crockett County Museum staff was pleased to have these young volunteers during spring break last week. The boys showed up asking to help out without pay. "We just like museums and want something to do," they said. They swept rooms, halls and sidewalks, along with watering flowers and shrubs. They dusted and polished exhibit cases and unpacked books for the gift shop. The staff was excited and grateful, not only for their help, but their enthusiasm.

LOVE THAT PHIL

By Edwin Feulner

Golly gee, boys and girls, life is beautiful and everybody loves everybody else. Life is so beautiful and everyone is so lovable that it makes no difference what you do—you're still beautiful in your own way. If you don't believe it, you must not be a Phil Donahue fan and you must have missed his recent shows from the Soviet Union.

The gushy talk-show host taped five shows in Moscow recently. It wasn't completely smooth sailing, to be sure. Compared to his motormouthed American studio audiences, Phil's Moscow ones were strangely uncommunicative on several issues.

For example, when the blue-jeaned, very "with-it" Phil asked 400 Soviet teenagers if they were having any problems in school, "not a single hand went up," according to the Associated Press account. Nor could Phil get them to open up about some other favorite topics of his—sex and drugs and their relationships with their parents.

Phil told them Americans had a "stereotype" of Soviet students as "sheep." Finally, breaking a long and painful silence, especially for television, a student explained: "What can we do if everything is all right here? American students have many more problems than we have—criminality, drugs."

Another student piped up to say, regarding Afghanistan, that he considered it his "internationalist duty" to serve the Soviet cause there. And so on.

But though his audiences may not have been the liveliest, Phil himself didn't miss a trick in elucidating the complexities of East-West relations. The trouble, he explained, is caused by a "small percentage of people in both countries . . . who remain hardline and militaristic."

Indeed, as the New York Times' John Corry reported, Phil doesn't see any moral difference between American and Soviet societies. He told his Soviet audiences there was "a moral and political symmetry between East and West" that "only a few madmen disturb." Phil allowed that "some Americans" believe that the Soviets expand their empire "by military might," but hastened to add that "the vast majority of people in the United States admire you."

In a tone Corry describes as indicating "that he didn't believe it himself," Phil cited another of those damnable stereotypes we Americans are fool enough to believe: that "Russians are discouraged from believing in God." Why, no, the audience assured him, it was simply that Soviet science had proved there is no God.

At the show's conclusion, a young woman suggested that everyone sing. "Like magic," Corry reported, "a guitar materialized in the audience." Phil and a few young people sang "We Shall Overcome." Most of the audience "either talked to one another or looked off into space."

How, indeed, does one begin to overcome such illimitable idiocy, to de-bamboozle a complete blockhead?

Unfortunately Phil really doesn't understand how total and savage totalitarian oppression is. He seems not to know that nobody disapproved by the Kremlin could have made it into his Moscow studio audiences.

By its very nature, totalitarianism seeks total control through terror and indoctrination. When indoctrination is fully successful, as it has not yet been, you get a nation of robots—the sort of people in Phil's studio audiences. Short of that, totalitarian states need a vast and brutal prison system, as the Soviets maintain, to deal with dissidents who dare express themselves honestly.

Just one suggestion: If Phil thinks only naive Americans believe that the Soviets expand their empire by military might, he should do his next show from an Afghan refugee camp along the Pakistan border, and fill his audience with dismembered Afghan children, and Afghan women who have been raped and bayonetted.

He wouldn't need to regale us with his geopolitical inanities. In fact, he'd do us a favor if, as the cameras showed us the latest victims of Soviet savagery, he had the dignity to just shut up.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Gov. Bill Clements walked alone in a firestorm of controversy last week, while the Texas House quietly passed a $2.9 billion tax extension.

For whatever reason or sense of timing, Clements chose last week to admit that he knew of illegal payments to SMU football players while the school was on NCAA probation.

Clements was chairman of the school's board of governors at the time, and his statement linked members of the board to the payment scheme for the first time, reopening the file in the public's awareness, as it were.

After his admission spread like wildfire, Clements stood firm behind it. Some board members denied it, but at least one other confirmed Clements' version. Now a panel of Methodist ministers is probing the affair.

The incident is either a political faux pas of the first magnitude, or . . . well, what is it?

Momentum To Democrats

In effect, Clements has cast a dark cloud over his own credibility, creates somewhat of a crisis of confidence in the Texas Republican Party, and shifted public opinion momentum back towards the Democrats.

At least for the moment. He may be sitting on a way to slip out from under it all.

What no one at the Capitol can figure out is, if he did it deliberately, then why?

The SMU thing was dying down, Reagan was grappling prettly well with the Tower Commission report, and the public had already accepted Clements' softened position on new taxes.

Why choose now to bring a skeleton out of your own closet to stir everything back up? Maybe his conscience was bothering him. Maybe he opted to ride it out now, rather than chance it later.

He'll have more to say at some date, and for a guy who rode out the worst oil spill in history to the biggest political comeback in the state, this may even be small potatoes.

Tax Bill Readied

The House approved and sent to the Senate a bill keeping the sales tax and gasoline tax hikes approved during last summer's special session.

The Senate is expected to follow suit quickly and quietly.

House and Senate leaders are setting the stage for more taxes, and Treasurer Ann Richards says the state is about $3 billion too short of meeting Clements' budget.

The favorite escape out of the mess still appears to be an overhaul of the sales tax base and rate, but Clements will have to give a green light to higher revenues.

Tort Reform

The real action is with the tort reform legislation, and the insurance companies and trial lawyers went after it.

Pro-insurance witnesses presented charts to back up their contention that high-dollar settlements of injury cases are driving up the cost of malpractice and liability insurance.

Two lawyers on the panel, Sen. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, and Sen. Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville, questioned the pro-insurance figures. Caperton wants to set up an insurance consumer advocate similar to the public utility advocate.

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox asked the panel to postpone action on tort reform to give his office more time to collect information on liability insurance programs.

Mattox, with his trial lawyer background, has been probing the way insurance companies set rates, and says the real problem is with the companies, not the tort laws.

Other Highlights

• A North Texas lawmaker filed a bill to proclaim English the official language but Hispanic legislators said they killed the bill just minutes after it was introduced.

• The House advanced a plan to add about $515 million for higher education, mostly junior colleges, to the appropriations bill.

• Attorneys for mentally ill Texans last week asked a Texas judge to prepare to call the Legislature into a special session if it does not supply enough money to comply with court orders to improve mental hospitals and community services for the mentally ill.

• A senate committee approved a bill requiring county officials in the 20 largest counties to file financial disclosure statements the same as state officials.

• Federal regulators closed two Houston area banks for poor management and bad loans, bringing the '87 total of failed banks in Texas to 12.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by Mrs. Bailey Post

Since the dormant season is about to end, finish making any landscape changes that involve planting or transplanting woody ornamentals.

These warm spring days give the urge to start putting out bedding plants, but remember frost time is not over.

As lawns green up and new growth begins on trees and shrubs, make the spring application of fertilizer on nearly everything in the garden, flowerbeds, cool season vegetables, outdoor potted plants, established strawberries, shrubs and small fruits. When you purchase fertilizer, tell the nursery man so he can recomend the best for the job. In flowerbeds use a fertilizer high in phosphorus and potasium such as 5-10-10. Apply at the rate of ½ cup per square yard of planted area. On your spring flowering bulbs such as tulips, daffodils and crocus use a complete, low-nitrogen fertilizer after they finish blooming. Do not remove foliage until all leaves have browned and died back naturally.

Extension Office News

by Rachel Hall

Almost every day a "new" and "better" or exercise plan is publicized in the media. As if we don't get enough from television and magazines, relatives and friends are always willing to offer advice about losing that extra ten pounds or getting in shape.

When you're serious about losing weight and becoming fit, you need all the help you can get. Following badadvice not only sets back your diet and fitness plans, but can also leave you discouraged at your failure.

There are three simple questions that can help you distinguish good from bad dietary and fitness advice.

Who is the source? Is the person who wrote the book, or the person being interviewed on television qualified? Descriptions such as "famous," or "leading authority," can be misleading.

A degree in one field does not automatically qualify a person to write about a different field. For instance, "Dr. Jane Doe" may have a degree in child psychology. If "Dr. Jane Doe" is a physician, she may not have ever had a course in exercise physiology or nutrition.

Why was it written? Will the author or publisher gain by presenting biased information? Some diet plans may recommend massive doses of vitamins or special food supplements as a means of selling those products.

What do other experts say? Diet and exercise plans are often sold to the public on the basis of personal opinions or testimonials alone. Even if you believe that the person who made the testimonial lost weight, that doesn't mean the plan would work for you. Be especially suspect of information that conflicts with that coming from other sources.

Diet and exercise information based on university or hospital research is most likely to help you be successful because it has been tested scientifically.

Mrs. Bobbie Fatout presented the program for the evening. Mrs. Fatout's program on crafts contained articles from anyone's home to create an item to use for yourself or home.

Members used two models and created a kitten and clothing for a model. Everyone had a good time and realized that you can do anything if you put your mind to it.

Members attending were Brenda Newton, Betty Koerth, Donna Sanders, Arlene Clayton, Nancy Hale, Alice Sawyer, Jeannie Wellman, Donna Snyder, Debbie Phillips, Bobbie Fatout, and Marsha Cannon.

All taxable income must be reported

Although wages and salaries are the most common types of income subject to federal tax, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) says that there are many other kinds of income that must also be reported on your tax return.

Examples of other taxable income include;

*Interest and stock dividends paid to investors.

*State income tax refunds and sales of stock, bonds, or other property.

*Sick pay benefits not covered by insurance paid for by the recipient.

*Unemployment compensation that exceeds $12,000 for a single person or $18,000 in the case of married couples.

*The value of prizes and winnings from raffles, races, and other forms of gambling.

*Bonuses and tips.

To ensure that all income is correctly reported, the IRS routinely compares individual tax returns with income information provided by payors.

A View of the World Through The Word

By Ralph O. Moore, Minister
Ozona Church of Christ

A FRAGRANCE OF CHRIST

King David gave thanks to God for being "wonderfully made" (Ps. 139:14). The human body, as a creation of God, holds many fascinations. After years of exploring and studying the body, discoveries are still being made as to its content and capabilities.

Traditionally, the body is said to have five senses: touch, smell, taste, sight, and hearing. Some of these can be divided into other distinct areas. Externally, and internally, the body detects, transmits, and uses sensory information for its own good.

The Lord often used the physical senses to illustrate the spiritual. For instance, Christ said, "He who has ears to hear, let him hear" (Mt.13:9). The Word also used sight (Lk.8:10), touch (Mk.5:30), smell (Ps115:6), and taste (Ps.34:8) to convey the essence of spiritual meaning.

Olfaction is used emblematically in Scripture to define the role of a Christian as he serves the Lord. Paul says one can manifest "the sweet aroma of the knowledge of Him in every place" (2 Cor.2:14). In the next verse of that context, the Apostle says, "we are a fragrance of Christ."

The idea of a disciple being a fragrance of Christ is one that is anchored in Him being a sacrifice, "a fragrant aroma" for us (Eph.5:2). Fragrance carries a connotation of sweetness, a pleasing or agreeable smell. That is what the Christian should be to his environment - a pleasing aroma.

When one is intwined with Christ, the aroma of devotion will fill the air around him. Remember the act of the woman who broke a vial of expensive perfume and annointed the Lord? Read Mark 14:3-9 for the story. Her act has given history a fragrant memory of her.

There are times that an aroma is pleasing to one and offensive to another. Catfish bait, when put on a hook draws the fish to it, but the smell of it makes a man gag. The Christian, walking in the footsteps of Christ, perfumes the surroundings for some, but others are repelled by his acts.

Generally speaking, the more pleasing the aroma - the costlier the perfume. To extract the most agreeable scent the process is demanding. These principles hold true in producing the fragrant aroma of Christ in our lives: it's costly and demanding.

After the Flood, Noah built an altar and made an offering to God. The Lord accepted that offering as a "soothing aroma" and made a promise that the earth would enjoy His blessing (Gen. 8:20-22). When one today does as righteous Noah of old, his life is a sacrifice of soothing aroma to the Lord and blessings are God's gift to him. Paul instructs the Christian to be a "living and holy sacrifice" to God (Rom.12:1); in doing so, the child of God smells good to the Lord and to others.

The smoke from countless fires of sin has polluted the world with their putrid odors. Sin leaves its victims dying in the streets, and the stench from its effects linger for a long time.

Calvary made it possible to end sin and have its reeking odor nullified (cf. Heb.2:14). Christ refreshed the world with His living presence, and the fragrance of His life is worn today by those who do His will.

Let's support Ozona

IT'S OUR TOWN

Ozona is a pretty place, in fact, it's one of the most beautiful small towns in West Texas. The large pecan trees, the town square, the clean streets, the nice facilities, all make our community a great place to call home. Its been said more than once that Ozona and Crockett county are very independent. Its been called "the free state of Crockett" because of the individual spirit of the people here. Our town is self-contained, we have most everything a very large place has, ours is just a little smaller. It's true you cannot go to a movie theater here, but you can get a book at one of the best libraries of its size around. You can rent a movie or watch one on cable. It's nice to be able to buy some blue jeans on sale, or TV dinners, or furniture, or just about anything in Ozona.

There are few people that would want that to change, but it could. We could gain or we could loose, it has a lot to do with our spending habits. We all like to get away from time to time. It's fun to run to San Angelo and walk through the mall, but we must remember that our town depends on our patronage. Every dollar spent somewhere else that we could have spent at home threatens what makes Ozona a great place. These are not the best of economic times. Vacant buildings do not contribute to the appearance of our town, so lets support Ozona, buy it here. A dollar spent in Ozona goes around seven times, a dollar spent elsewhere, well it just goes away.

A Useful Mix

By Ken Harrison
Ozona United Methodist Church

Ethylene glycol is the most common of the "permanent" antifreezes we use in our automobiles. Mixed half and half with water, it will protect your auto engine to about 30 degrees below zero Farenheit. Some people feel that if a little antifreeze is good, then a lot is better. They put it in their car radiators straight. But pure antifreeze provides less protection for your automobile than the 50 percent antifreeze and water mix. In fact, pure antifreeze becomes slush at around 32 degrees Farenheit. Without water it's ineffective.

The biblical writers tell us the same thing about faith. In order for our faith to be effective, faith in the Gospel must be mixed with usefulness and action. When we examine the life of Jesus we learn very quickly that he did more than simply talk about religion. He used his faith to bring about results. He delivered people from sin, disease, demons, fear, poverty and other detriments. "Faith without works is dead" (James 2:26).

There is a touching and true story about the magnificent "Hand of God" by Rodin. Prior to sculpting the "Hand of God" Rodin sketched the hands of a thousand people whom he met in every walk of life; the doctor, the businessman, the secretary, the farmer, the mother, the child, the elderly, the youth. It was from these hands that he sculpted the "Hand of God." In the palm of the hand Rodin etched a man and a woman embracing. The "Hand" became Rodin's favorite sculpture. By making it a composite of the hands of many people, and by placing in the palm a man and woman embracing, Rodin was saying, with his art, that we know God more intimately when we embrace others and use our hands to caress, soothe and heal.

Young William Penn was once asked by an acquaintance to take him to a Quaker meeting in London. Penn, the future founder of Pennsylvania, complied. When he and his friend had sat through an hour of silence, the friend asked Penn, in a whisper, "when does the service begin?" Penn's answer was, "The service begins when the meeting ends." So it is today. Through faith and with faith go out and be useful.

Hospital district must set priorities

[Ed. note - The following is number 3 in a series of articles written by Hospital Administrator Bill Boswell, who advocates a hospital district for Crockett County. These articles in no way reflect the editorial opinion of this newspaper.]

By Bill Boswell

Previously, we have talked a little about the hospital district law, the creation of the district itself, taxes, the election of board members, the responsibility of the hospital district, and how a hospital district's creation would affect the county government. Remember that when the hospital district is ratified locally, the hospital district would be responsible for providing financing for the hospital and care center, and the county would reduce the taxes it collected accordingly. The net affect, all things being equal, is no increase in the amount of taxes paid to support the hospital and care center.

As important as knowing the effect of a hospital district on taxes, is knowing the long-range plans formulated by the board for the hospital, care center, professional building, and the needy of Crockett County.

Dramatic improvements in the ability of the hospital to provide the equipment and services that physicians need in their practice of medicine can be achieved without large tax increases, if planned properly and implemented over time. Priorities have to be set, time tables established, and common sense used. There is no justification for buying a cadillac when a ford will do just as well.

Several primary priorities have been identified. These include recruiting physicians, returning to the Medicare program, upgrading the emergency room equipment and facilities, upgrading the laboratory equipment and facilities, modernizing the radiology department to include a newer model x-ray machine, renovating three or four patient rooms, upgrading or acquiring the equipment necessary to monitor a patient for a short time, and upgrading and/or acquiring rehabilitative equipment. All of the above priorities could be achieved in three or four years with very little need for additional tax revenue. Three to five cents per one hundred dollar valuation would probably be sufficient. Physician recruitment, plus a newer model x-ray machine and a couple of pieces of equipment for the emergency room would probably be the choice for the first year. The remaining priorities are not that pressing, and could be grouped by need and accomplished a little at a time during subsequent years.

I don't think that there is one person in Crockett County who believes that we need a fully equipped, fully staffed, 20 bed hospital in Ozona. That would, in my opinion, be a shameful waste of scarce resources. However, a four or five bed hospital with the training, skills, and equipment necessary to assist our physicians in successfully treating our accident victims and heart attack patients, and to provide care for our senior citizens and our needy is absolutely essential. Also essential is a well-trained and equipped ambulance service. As you all know, we already have one of the best ambulance services in the state, and we must ensure that it stays that way.

The role of the small rural hospital has changed drastically in the past three or four years. The time has passed when small town hospitals stayed 80 percent to 90 percent full; when all but the most serious medical problems were treated in the local hospital. There are many reasons for this role change of our smaller hospitals. The reasons, though, are essentially irrelevant, since very few, if any, of the reasons can be corrected in the near future. State and federal legislation will be required to correct the more major problems, problems which were created by legislation in the first place; and the passage of legislation takes time.

What is important is to have the necessary training, equipment, and medical staff available locally to save our lives. This is not possible utilizing even the very best of ambulance services as the sole source of emergency care. There has to be more sophisticated trauma treatment available. Hence, the necessity of a four or five bed hospital with super emergency room complemented by exceptional diagnostic capabilities provided by a well-equipped laboratory and radiology department. Of course, all of the above will be useless unless we continue to maintain a highly skilled medical and nursing staff to use the equipment and services made available by the hospital. It is imperative that we have the capability to deal effectively with trauma, to diagnose, treat, stabilize, observe, and transfer, if necessary.

RECENTLY WED-Miss Elizabeth Marie Donald became the bride of Mr. Dennis Fred Young in a ceremony in San Angelo February 21. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Garland Young and Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Donald of Kerrville. The bride is a 1985 graduate of Tivy High School in Kerrville and is a sophomore marketing major at Angelo State University. The bridegroom is a graduate of Ozona High School and is a senior accounting major at ASU.

Girl Scouts to deliver for annual cookie sale

The Girl Scout cookies which so many supportive Ozonans ordered in January and February were delivered to the troops on March 10. The Girl Scouts will be delivering the orders in the coming two weeks. The sale of these cookies benefits not only the national Girl Scout organization and the area councils, but directly supports the local Girl Scout troops, which receive a percentage from each box of cookies sold. If you didn't get your order placed in advance, there are always extras on hand. To purchase cookies, get in contact with any Girl Scout or troop leader or call Helen Kenison at 392-2318 after 4:00 p.m.

Girl Scouting celebrates seventy-fifth year

The World Association of Girl Guiding/Girl Scouting (WAGGS) will celebrate its 75th Anniversary on Thursday, March 12. On that day, an international Promise Circle will take place, in which Girl Guides and Girl Scouts from around the World will join hands and recite the Girl Scout Promise to demonstrate their belief in Girl Scouting.

The Promise Circle is the only event common to all WAGGS 75th Anniversary celebrations. Girl Scout National President Betty F. Pilsbury will begin the circle in Washington, D.C., at approximately 2:30 p.m. Eastern Time. The Promise Circle will move around the globe, finally closing the circle and symbolizing the unity of Girl Scouts everywhere. The local Promise Circle will take place at 4:00 p.m. in the park in downtown Ozona. Starting at 5:15 p.m., there will be a program performed by the local troops.

El Camino Girl Scout Council Board Member Mary Kay Skains believes that this will "be a once-in-a-lifetime experience for our girls." The Ozona Service Unit invites all of Ozona to bring a basket supper and join the Girl Scouts and their families in enjoying the program and a picnic in the park.

Hospital board meets

The Crockett County Hospital Board met in regular session on March 5 at 7:00 p.m. in the Emerald Room of the Ozona National Bank.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Jo Davidson. The minutes were read and approved with one correction.

Dub O'Bryant reported from the floor that a new EMT class had been started with nine persons attending the first class.

Bill Boswell reported that the fire alarm system must be brought up to 1976 safety code specifications which will require an additional $3700 to $4000 expenditure.

The Crockett County Hospital Board District Bill was passed by the Texas House on March 2nd. Governor Clements now has ten days to sign or veto the bill, then an additional 120 days is required for judicial review before an election may be held. The Hospital Board Law has been changed to designate the second Saturday in August as the date to hold Hospital Board elections; therefore the Hospital District election could be held around July 25th.

Mr. Boswell reported a new washing machine has been purchased for the Care Center. The old machine will be repaired and used as a back-up.

The kick plates are installed on all doors except for four of the hospital doors.

Dr. Jackson and Mr. Boswell are currently looking at X-Ray machines in Ft. Worth and Houston.

Mrs. King gave the financial reports for both the hospital and care center. Total hospital cash deposits in February were $36,202.74 and disbursements were $78,544.70. There were 216 visits to the emergency room. 195 were released, 7 transferred, 10 admitted and one dead on arrival at the hospital. There were 300 lab procedures and 56 x-rays. A total of 17 ambulance runs were recorded. The reports indicated the ambulance service was showing a profit.

The Care Center summary indicated $36,768.47 in February deposits, with disbursements of $52,430.42.

After reviewing the bills, the Board moved to pay February bills. The motion passed.

Mr. Boswell reported that the lobby and front hallway of the hospital would be painted in the near future. Expenses will be minimal.

Dr. Bass has told Mr. Boswell that he will arrange to have Dr. Owensby covered while Dr. Owensby is attending a seminar next month.

Under new business, Mr. Boswell asked the board to approve his contacting the THA Engineering Services to enroll in the Utilities Charges Verification Program. The Texas Health Services Corporation has discovered that eight out of overy ten participating hospitals received refunds from utility payments, resulting in a total refund of approximately $150,000. There is no cost for the program. The only fee paid will be 60 percent of actual refunds obtained. The hospital will retain 40 percent of the refunds and 100 percent of any future savings.

Mr. Boswell submitted information and activity reports from the Community Hospital Association for Rural Medicine. He asked the board to review the information and ascertain whether Crockett County might wish to join the Association. The Board will discuss it further at the next regular meeting.

Mr. Boswell has mailed a copy of the new Ambulance Policies and Procedures to John L. Henderson, Ambulance Coordinator and Dee Keilers, President of the EMT's. Their comments and suggestions will be incorporated into the new policies and presented to the Board at the March meeting.

Jo Davidson reported that the hospital Open House will be held during Hospital week in early May. She proposed to involve the primary schoolchildren in a poster contest or other promotional activity, as well as the 4-H and Scout groups being asked to participate.

Members present were Jo Davidson, Raymond Borrego, and Betty Perry. Others attending were Bill Boswell, Elvira Caldwell, Jacque King, Tina Moran, Dub O'Bryant and Louis Hall.

Hernandez chosen for mission work

Marcelo Hernandez of Ozona, a student at Sul Ross State University, has been chosen to serve as a Baptist Student Union missionary this summer in Mexico.

He is among 126 students from Texas universities and colleges who will serve as summer missionaries in 20 states and seven foreign countries this summer through the special program.

The student missionaries will be supported on the mission field through funds raised by students from 120 BSUs at Texas universities and colleges, said Jack Greever, director of the Division of Student Work of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. The students set a goal to raise $140,000 for the summer missions project.

"As the students serve in home and foreign mission areas and with churches, institutions and Baptist mission centers here in Texas, they can make a crucial difference in sharing God's love with thousands of people," Greever said.

The statewide BSU program is supported through the Cooperative Program gifts of about 5,000 Southern Baptist congregations in Texas.

Lions and Ladies enter first track meet of season

The boys and girls varsity track teams traveled to Rankin Saturday and displayed outstanding efforts as well as showing great team spirit.

The girls team placed third with a total of 74 points.

Maria Sanchez placed second in the long jump with a leap of sixteen feet. She tied with Rachel Honea of Irion County, but the tie was broken by using the second farthest jump and hers fell shy. Regina Cervantez leaped fourteen feet, four inches to come in fifth.

In the triple jump, Kristina Cervantez placed seventh with a jump of twenty-seven feet, four inches.

The 400 meter relay team blazed into a second place finish with a time of 54.07, less than two tenths of a second behind Rankin. The team is composed of Regina Cervantez, Lacy Miller, Maria Sanchez and Dee Frazier.

In the 100 meter dash Regina Cervantez sprinted to fourth place in 13.15.

Dee Frazier sizzled to a first place finish in the 400 meter dash. Her winning time was 66.38.

A fifth place finish was brought in by Lacy Miller in the 200 meter dash in the time of 29.84.

Another winning effort was by Maria Sanchez who ran the 1600 meter run in 5.59.49. Tricia Ethridge placed fifth trailing Maria with a time of 6.08.91.

The 1600 meter relay team consisting of Regina Cervantez, Lacy Miller, Tricia Ethridge and Dee Frazier placed fourth with a time of 4.54.28.

The boys placed fifth overall with a total of 60 points.

In the field events, Scott Denman placed fifth in the shot put and sixth in the discus.

In the running events, the 400 meter relay team placed fourth with a time of 45.71. The team is composed of Beto Diaz, Johnny Lombrano, Valdo Galindo and Robbie Tambunga.

Danny Sanchez won the 3200 meter run in a time of 10.22.76. Coming in second, not far behind was teammate Louis Rico, clocked at 11.09.24.

In the 100 meter dash, Valdo Galindo blazed to a first place finish in 11.15.

Danny Sanchez exhibited his versatility by winning the 400 meter dash with a time of 52.82. Also placing in the 400 meter was Johnny Lombrano, clocked at 53.5 for a fourth place finish.

In the 400 meter intermediate hurdles, Robbie Tambunga came in fifth with a time of 42.41.

Jason Montgomery dashed to a seventh place finish in the 200 meter in 25.34.

In viewing his team's efforts, Coach Pete Maldonado stated, "I was really pleased with their performances considering the conditions and being short some athletes who are participating in other athletic events. We are still looking for our first win in five years."

The Lions will get their next chance for that win Saturday in Eldorado. The field events begin at 9:00 a.m. and the preliminaries for the running events are at 11:50 a.m. The running event finals are set to begin at 4:00 p.m.

Livestock industry suffers losses from poisonous plants

Huge monetary losses are sustained each year by the Texas livestock industry due to poisonous plants. These losses stem from animal deaths as well as reduced animal performance and increased management costs.

Deteriorated range conditions due to high stocking rates and the change from open range to fenced pastures has restricted animal movement and choice of forage. These two things combined have altered the diet selection of livestock so that grazing animals are more likely to consume significant quantities of poisonous plants.

Locally, many potentially poisonous plants can be found at any given time. Fortunately, most of these plants are not very palatable and are not readily consumed by livestock. Some of our more common poisonous plants are: bitterweed, twinleaf senna, sacahuista, lechquilla, perennial broomweed, rayless goldenrod, and senecio.

Poisonous plants can reach such densities as to require some type of control. Control measures include mechanical, biotic, and chemical.

Mechanical methods include hand pulling, cutting, grubbing, or burning.

Biotic methods include heavy grazing of limited areas by large numbers of livestock so that none are allowed to get a lethal dose, grazing different classes of livestock, or deferring infested pastures.

Various chemicals are available to control poisonous plants. This type of control is expensive but is effective in controlling large acreages of poisonous plants in a short time.

Poisonous plants are a natural component of our rangeland ecosystems. Range managers who have a thorough knowledge of their toxic plants and who follow sound range management practices can keep losses from poisonous plants to a minimum.

For more information about identification and control of poisonous plants contact the Soil Conservation Service who provides assistance to local ranchers through the Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District.

When will last freeze hit in this area--soon

Farmers as well as gardeners get the urge to plant spring crops just as soon as there are a few days of warm weather, says Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System. But there's still plenty of time for freezing temperatures over much of Texas, according to data compiled by the National Weather Service's Southwest Agricultural Weather Service Center at Texas A&M University.

The tables below show the last freeze dates for the various districts of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Early" represents a 90 percent chance for a freeze (32 degrees F.) later than the date indicated. "Average" represents a 50-50 chance of a freeze after the date indicated while "late" indicates only a 10 percent chance of a freeze occurring after the date shown.

Chance for Freeze Later Than	Date Indicated
Early
9 in 10 years	Feb. 5
Average
5 in 10 years	Feb. 28
Late
1 in 10 years	March 24

The latest National Weather Service 90-day outlook indicates below normal temperatures statewide through April. So, the last freeze of the season may well occur later than the "average" date over all but Far South Texas.

Hope for trip to State dashed by Coleman Cats

By Stacy Lay

The Lion's were up against stiff competition Tuesday night, March 3, at the Lakeview Gymnasium. The Coleman Bluecats were the prey and the predators (Lions) were out to get a full meal. The meal turned out to be more than the Lions could chew as the Bluecats slipped from the Lions grasp with a 54-49 victory.

Ozona's stingy defense, which was the district's best, could not stop Coleman's determined offense from scoring. The Bluecats shot 44.6 percent from the field, 37 percent from the free throw line and hauled down 36 rebounds whereas the Lion's only shot 37 percent from the field, 30 percent from the free throw line, and pulled down 16 rebounds.

Scott Denman, the Lion's top scorer and rebounder throughout the season was held to 7 points and 3 rebounds, due to sitting on the bench because of foul trouble, as compared to his usual average of 14 points and 10 rebounds. Others who worked hard to contribute points were Senior Roger Flores with 6, Senior Abel Lara with 13, Junior Will Seahorn with nine, and Senior, Sam Hightower with 8. Chris Denman, Freshman, contributed 4 and Junior Danny Sanchez had 2.

The Lion's end the season with an excellent 21-12 record. They made giant strides this year and will be back to once again defend the district crown. Good job Lions!

County Health nurse to address Lions

Karen Huffman, county health nurse, will address the Lions Club at noon on March 12. Karen will have a program related to health and fitness.

The Club heard from Bobby Aycock on H2S gas at their meeting March 5. Bobby stressed the importance of knowledge when around toxic gas. His presentation was very informative.

The Lions Club would like everyone to remember their mop and broom sale will be held March 21. Club members will be "beating the bushes" for sales and community support will be needed. The main display will be at the Village shopping center.

Levis & Lace club to sponsor dance

Levis and Lace Square Dance Club will sponsor a dance Saturday night, March 14, at 8 p.m. at Ozona United Methodist Church.

Tommy White of Odessa will do the calling. Visitors are welcome.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity to thank our many friends for the kindness and sympathy shown us upon the untimely death of my father last month in Wyoming. For the many acts of condolences we are truly thankful. For the flowers, the food and the many other thoughtful acts, also looking after my boys while I was away. A special thanks to Lisa and Billy Wagoner who were wonderful help.

Sincerely,
Frances Denman

Leonard Munoz celebrates his 24th birthday this Friday, the 13th. We wish you luck, Leonard.

Radio has new call letters KYXX

Permission has been granted by the FCC for the call letters KRCT to change to KYXX effective March 10. So, as a result of that action, Ozona's 94.3 fm and Big Lake's 102.3 fm took on the new call sign Tuesday.

KYXX, pronounced Kicks, has more listener appeal, it's catchy, easy to remember and more versatile for the DJs, according to station manager Carol Hunnicutt.

KRCT had been used as the call letters since the Ozona station originated in 1976, but most listeners never realized that the letters stood for Crockett County.
