College FTEs highest since 1979

Enrollment at Western Texas College is the highest in five years, elated college officials pointed out during Monday's September board meeting.

Dr. Duane Hood, dean of student services, also revealed figures which show that Western Texas has served 3,126 people instructionally during the past calendar year. That number includes 1,794 in credit courses, 796 in community services and 536 in adult vocational.

"This is not normally a figure we work up, but I think it shows some of what we are doing here at Western Texas College," said Dr. Hood of the 3,000-plus students.

Fall enrollment for WTC is 1,146. This includes 1,094 in college credit courses and 52 in quarterly programs. Total contact hours are 269,984 and semester hours are 11,325. All are five-year highs for the college.

Dr. Hood also pointed out that the college's "full-time equivalents" — students enrolled in 12 or more hours — is 995.8, the best since 1979.

"That I think, is the most interesting statistic of them all. These are full-time students," said Dr. Hood.

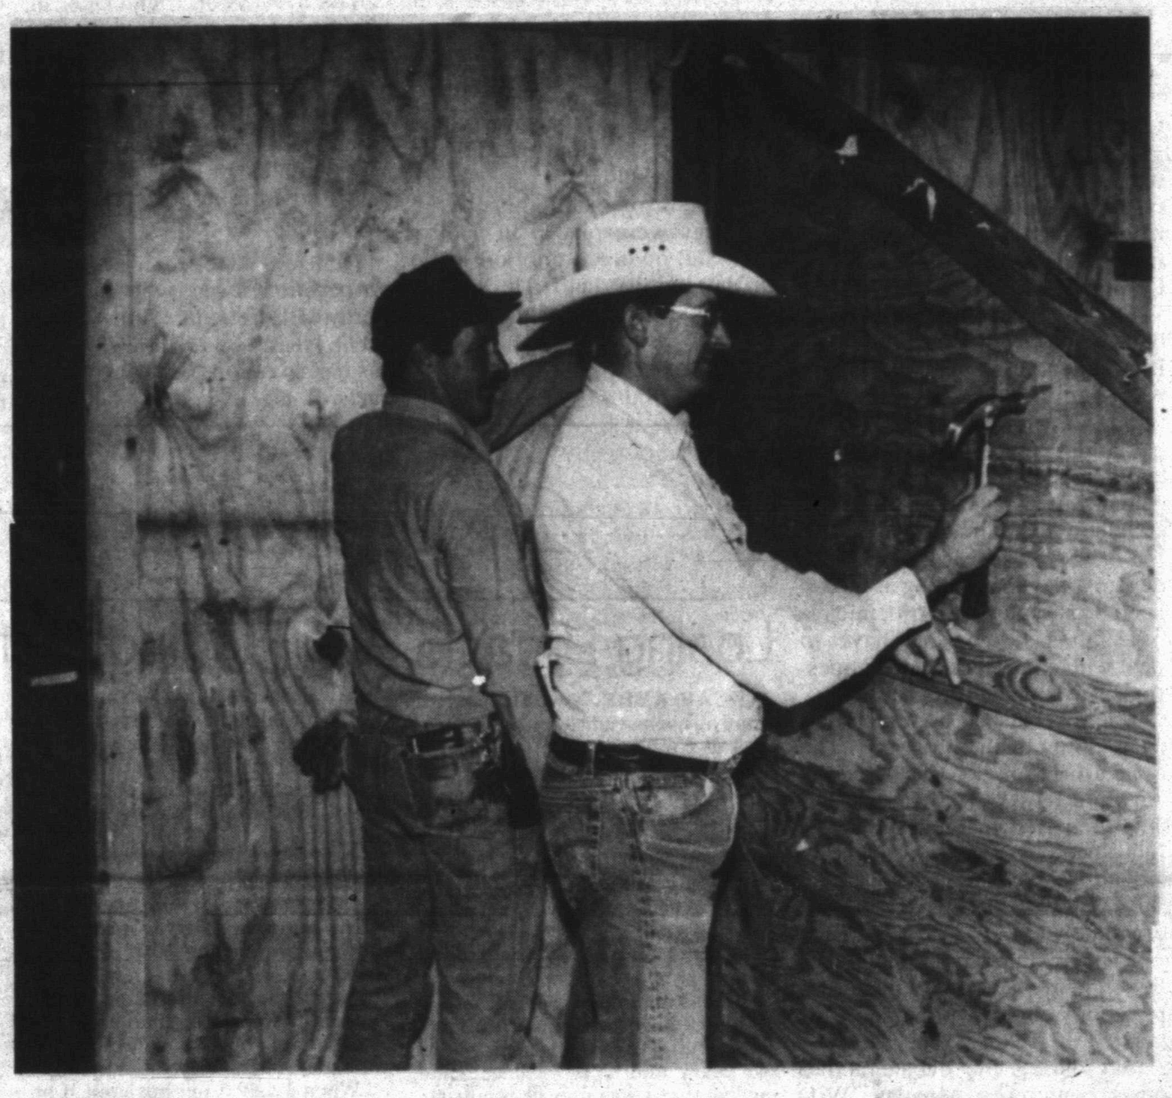

Fall figures include 453 Scurry County students and a record 13 foreign students, including six from Japan, three each from Canada and Australia and one from France.

Enrollment was the key item during Monday's meeting, in which the board also approved personnel recommendations and a resolution in support of expanding the community college mission statement.

Mike Thornton, dean of continuing education, presented figures showing 359 students had been enrolled in fourth-quarter adult vocational education classes, including correctional officer training, automotive, nurses aide, substitute teacher and workplace literacy courses.

Some 367 had been enrolled in

Anderson asks to place audit on next agenda

Saying "the community deserves some answers to some questions," Snyder ISD trustee Charles Anderson said he has asked that discussion of missing funds be placed on the board's October agenda.

Anderson's request follows an audit of the Snyder Junior High student services fund — specifically focusing on monies from soft drinks and candy — which revealed shortages of $7,824.36 over a two-year period. The audit was presented during Thursday's board meeting, following a 1½-hour executive session.

The board unanimously accepted the audit without comment Thursday. Anderson said he withheld comment at the meeting in order to "study the document."

In a prepared statement released Monday, Anderson said, "there are many questions that need to be answered concerning the audit on the Coke and candy fund at Snyder Junior High School from 1989-91. When I voted last Thursday night to accept the audit, I did it with full knowledge that this was an acceptance of the audit only. I knew at that time that further investigation should be pursued..."

Anderson said he has had "numerous, numerous inquiries" concerning the audit. "I feel like the community deserves some answers to some questions," the trustee said this morning.

Anderson said that any board member has a right to request that an item be placed on the agenda.

Superintendent Dalton Moseley confirmed that the topic will be placed on the agenda for the Oct. 8 board meeting. Asked if he was surprised at the request, he said, "I didn't know" whether the subject would be pursued or not by the board.

Anderson said he is not sure what further action might be taken at the October meeting. Asked it he anticipates the appointment of a committee or individual to further investigate what happened to the missing funds, Anderson said "I can't say what will happen. I just think it should be taken to the full board. I can't really say what will transpire."

The audit, performed by Joe H. Morren of Colorado City, did not place blame on any individual or group in the school system, but rather points to a lack of established procedure for control of the funds.

Current High School Principal Gary Patterson, who was junior high principal during the time the audit covered, has said it was his responsibility to supervise the funds.

"I want to make it clear it is my responsibility to supervise that entire procedure and obviously it was not controlled as it should have been," Patterson said Friday morning, following the board meeting. "We have already taken steps to improve the process in the areas of vendor commissions, inventory accountability and collection procedures to try to prevent

HISD oks tax rate of 44.09 cents

Hermleigh ISD trustees adopted a 1992-93 tax rate of 44.09 cents per $100 valuation Monday evening.

The board had previously approved a budget of $1,150,000.

This year's tax rate is slightly below last year's, which was 44.19 cents.

The board also began a study into baseball and girl's softball programs. Superintendent Jerry Church said the board will determine if there is enough interest in the sports. If so, they could be implemented this spring, he said.

Church also noted that Hermleigh's enrollment is at 200. He said last year's peak enrollment was 186 but the school averaged about 175.

The board also approved payment of bills and previous minutes.

All trustees were present, to include Jimmy Hudgins, Ronnie Price, Chip Roemisch, Juluis Roemisch, Tony Lambaren, Neil Beeks and Brian Blair.

Pasture Party, 'Fair Days' mulled by chamber board

Upcoming events for the chamber of commerce were discussed Monday as the chamber board held its monthly meeting.

Jerry Baird told board members that plans for the Pasture Party are moving along well, but that more tickets must be sold in order to make money on the project.

According to chamber officials, approximately 60 tickets have been sold for the Sept. 26 event, which will be held for a second year on Jack Greene's land.

Baird said about 150 tickets need to be sold in order to make the party a success. He told board members that a couple of acts lined up as entertainment have had to cancel, but have been replaced with similar acts.

Pearline Stewart said that the chamber's booth for the upcoming Scurry County Fair and White Buffalo Days celebration will be put together at the coliseum on Wednesday. Plans are to sell tickets to the Pasture Party and Saturday's Dan Seals concert at the booth.

Chamber Manager Ricky Fritz said that ticket sales for the concert are going well. He estimated that 600 tickets have been sold. He said that the 200 floor seats have sold out.

Board members were reminded of the first workday for the Light up Snyder Christmas project, which is scheduled for Oct. 3. The day will be used to check all of the lights and make sure they are burning.

In the monthly financial report, treasurer Susan Neves told the board that the chamber's balance dropped last month due to a separate account being set up for the Ritz Theatre. The chamber had been holding money in its account for the theatre group. Other reasons for the decrease include expenses from the AJRA National Finals Rodeo and other events held in August.

The board entered a closed session to discuss nominations for positions on the chamber board. No action was taken on the matter.

Present at the meeting were Chamber President Nelda Huddleston and board members Les Woods, Bobby Beard, Donna Gray, Betty House, Paula Gilbert, Baird, Neves and Stewart.

County sets special meeting Wednesday

Scurry County commissioners will discuss computer equipment needs for the county at a special meeting Wednesday at 10 a.m.

In a recent meeting, Sheriff Keith Collier requested that commissioners check into purchasing a centralized computer system to be used by all criminal justice-related county offices.

The court advertised for bids, receiving proposals from United System Technologies, Inc. of Irving and Software, Inc. of Plano.

The bids were turned over to a review committee headed by representatives of Computer Solutions, a local computer dealer.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The trouble with experience is it likely will teach you something you really don't want to know."

Will Rogers once said that everything is funny as long as it happens to somebody else.

This might apply to a local dentist, but even Dr. John Best had to laugh at himself.

Best, a Snyder native and former city councilman, is known as a quiet type, unless you happen to be seated in his dental chair where John has become proficient at carrying on both sides of the conversation.

The incident we refer to happened outside his denial office in Cogdell Center. John noticed a half of a brick in one of the vacant parking spaces.

John reasoned that a loose brick might be too tempting for somebody, thinking particularly of those large plate-glass windows in his office. Best picked up the brick and tried to determine how to dispose of it.

The tall, lanky dentist decided that tossing it atop the building would be a good idea. The brick, however, didn't quite make it over the awning.

It came crashing down, right into the windshield of his parked vehicle.

Brick 1, Best 0.

A few weeks ago, we told about some local folks who did not pay sufficient attention to their driving, and ended up in the wrong town.

A couple of staffers from Lubbock's St. Mary of the Plains Hospital were due to visit Cogdell Hospital. When the pair had not arrived by noon, local folks became worried that something might have happened.

But before the afternoon was over, the visitors from Lubbock arrived — redfaced.

Rather than taking U.S. 84 to Snyder, the St. Mary's staffers instead took U.S. 82, ending up in Seymour.

And no, they can't fly the helicopter.

Grid contest winners noted

SDN Football Contest players improved their accuracy in the second week of the game, with the first and second place winners missing only two games each. The third place winner (three misses) was determined using the tie-breaker procedure.

Jo Alyce McMullan of 2804 35th won the first place $50, and Braulio (Brock) Fuentes of 4006 Eastridge won the second place $25.

Four players missed three games, and Desmond Ayala of 705 W. 4th St., Post, Tx. guessed the closest tie-breaker score. He won the third place $15.

Winners will be mailed their checks.

Another contest appears in this issue.

Study: economists expect Clinton to win presidency

DALLAS (AP) — Business economists expect President Bush to lose the election despite having what they believe is a better economic plan than Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton, according to a survey.

The poll of 243 members of the National Association of Business Economists shows 67 percent expect a Clinton victory and 33 percent expect Bush to win re-election.

But 60 percent of those surveyed said they believe Bush's economic policy proposals are better for the economy.

The NABE, convening in Dallas this week for its annual meeting, released the annual political and economic survey Monday.

"Our members feel by a 2-to-1 margin that Clinton would win the election," said Joseph W. Duncan, NABE president-elect.

On the economic side, the group said the median forecast of the 49 professional forecasters surveyed in late August projects the gross domestic product will expand by just 1.8 percent this year.

The new projection was down from a 2 percent GDP growth forecast in a survey last May. The GDP is the total output of goods and services produced in the United States and the broadest measure of the nation's economic health.

Economic growth slowed to a 1.4 percent annual rate during the April-June quarter, less than half of the 2.9 percent rate in the previous three months. Many analysts believe the economy remains stagnant during the current quarter.

But despite the slackening pace, the NABE forecasters don't see the economy coming to a complete stop.

"While the consensus for growth has moderated, it does not call for a recession," said Duncan, vice president and corporate economist for The Dun & Bradstreet Corp.

The latest survey found that the forecasters believe the economy will expand by 2.7 percent in 1993, down from 3 percent in the May poll.

Duncan said the forecasters saw two main reasons why the economy will strengthen somewhat in 1993. Nearly one-half attributed a faster expansion to lower interest rates.

He said an additional 45 percent believe the shrinkage of structural imbalances — such as debt burdens, government deficits and depressed real estate values — would contribute to the recovery.

The Bush administration, under election-year criticism for its handling of the economy, is projecting economic growth of 2 percent this year and 3 percent in 1993.

More jobs to stimulate the nation's productivity rate are needed to help the economy emerge from the slowest recovery period in history, according to the U.S. Economic Council chairman, Michael Boskin.

Boskin, Bush's top economic advisor, stressed that the slower than anticipated recovery from the recession was not an indication that another decline is expected.

He added that a healthier economic future rests on banks to free up more consumer loans, businesses, to retrain unskilled laborers for a more specialized workforce and Bush's plan to reduce federal spending, thereby easing the federal deficit.

That future does not include, he said, an economic package such as the one suggested by Clinton, he said.

"Some of these are undoubtedly well intended, but I think they basically put a straitjacket on our economy with excessive litigation and excessive regulation," Boskin said.

Williamson, Guerrero duel over resumes

AUSTIN (AP) — Railroad Commission candidates Lena Guerrero and Barry Williamson, dueling over their resumes, accuse one another of not being fit to hold the office.

Williamson on Monday charged that Ms. Guerrero is telling a "second big lie" over a claim that she was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa academic honors society.

Ms. Guerrero said family oil business ties give Williamson a major conflict of interest. The commission regulates oil and gas.

Williamson, a Republican, said his Democratic opponent showed an "appalling lack of credibility and integrity" by claiming for 12 years to hold a college degree she didn't have, then by denying that she ever took credit for the scholarly honor.

"That web is starting to grow of deceit and misrepresentations. And that's unfortunate in a public official of this state," Williamson said.

Responding, Ms. Guerrero said she had believed she was a graduate and never personally claimed to be a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

She accused Williamson of using an honest mistake about her college record to divert attention from his family's oil and gas holdings, businesses the Railroad Commission regulates.

The Democrat described Williamson, a former U.S. Energy Department appointee, as "a guy who spent five years in Washington, D.C., whose wife has oil and gas holdings, and whose father-in-law is in the oil and gas business. And now he wants to be the fox to go guard the henhouse.

"It was very clear to me in this debate today that as long as he can keep bringing up the academic record, then he doesn't have to deal with conflict of interest questions," Ms. Guerrero said.

The two clashed during and after a taping of the program "The State of Texas," to be aired by Austin's KLRU-TV Thursday. It was their first face-to-face meeting since Ms. Guerrero acknowledged last week that she wasn't a 1980 University of Texas graduate.

"Until Thursday, I really believed in my heart that I had completed my course work at the University of Texas," she said.

But during the debate and a news conference Monday, Williamson accused her of other exaggerations in her resume.

He gave news reporters a 1984 biography from Ms. Guerrero's state House campaign, in which it was stated she belonged to Phi Beta Kappa.

Ms. Guerrero told a news conference that she hadn't written the campaign biography Williamson distributed. "I did not" prepare it, she said.

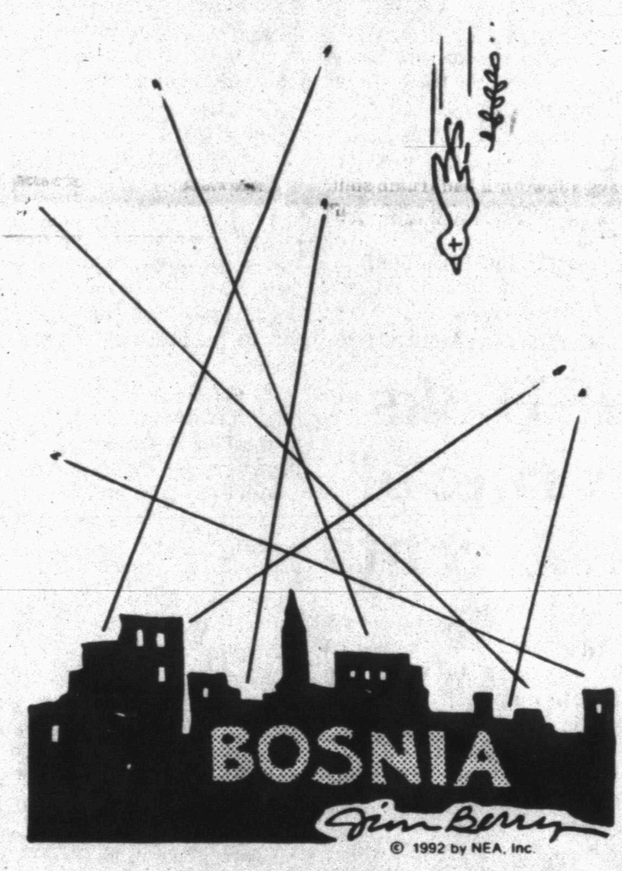

She also said she was unaware of a 1985 Texas House biography which claimed the academic honor.

Williamson called those statements "the second big lie she's perpetrating on the people of Texas ... We can't have someone leading $60 billion worth of industry that is not honest with the people of Texas," he said.

Williamson said he has achieved a bachelor's degree and law degree from the University of Arkansas and offered to make public his college transcripts. He called on Ms. Guerrero to do the same to prove her statement that she needed only four more hours to earn a degree.

Williamson said his wife's holdings were placed in a blind trust and involved only oil leases on her family land. He said he would excuse himself and not vote on any Railroad Commission cases involving that property or holdings of his father-in-law.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1992 Universal Press Syndicate

Losing Breasts And Finding Self-Esteem

DEAR ABBY: I would like to share my experience with "Inhibited and Embarrassed," who lost a breast to cancer.

I am a 41-year-old divorced mother of four — I am also a grandmother. I, too, had a radical mastectomy (last year), have undergone six months of chemotherapy and am facing a bone marrow transplant and radiation.

Abby, I lost all of my hair — including my eyelashes. Needless to say, I was not a very pretty sight.

I have been dating a handsome, successful, 41-year-old bachelor for two years, and he never once made me feel that I was ugly or repulsive. I can tell by his touch that he still finds me attractive — and even sexy.

Yes, there are men out there who see beyond physical perfection and will love you for what you are — inside and out. I hope you find one of them.

LUCKY AND LOVED IN DENVER

DEAR ABBY: By my 47th birthday, I had had a double mastectomy. There were only two things my surgery prevented me from doing: (1) becoming a topless dancer and (2) a nursing mother. I should add, neither would have been likely regardless of the surgery.

What I didn't realize, however, was that for many years I subconsciously remained in a marriage that was increasingly unsatisfying and hopeless. It was the fear of being alone that made me settle for this kind of marriage.

Finally, the situation got so bad that I took action and divorced. I am here to tell "Inhibited and Embarrassed" that I was amazed to find that I had many dates and one relationship before meeting and marrying a wonderful man. (We just celebrated our 10th anniversary.)

A real man is interested in the person the woman is. If all he wants is a pair of "boobs," what kind of woman would be interested in him?

When I asked my husband if he thought I should have reconstructive surgery, he replied, "Please don't do it for me — I love you just the way you are."

I'm age 63 and "breastless," but he makes me feel more like a beautiful, sexy woman than I ever have before.

TOPLESS WINNER IN CINCY

DEAR ABBY: I had a mastectomy at age 38, and thanks to modern plastic surgery, I look better now than I did at 18!

I had a reconstructive surgery on my left breast, and an uplift on the other one. The results have done wonders for my morale. The surgeon used a saline solution implant, so there is no reason to worry about leakage.

If "Inhibited and Embarrassed" hesitates to date because of fear of rejection, she should consider reconstructive surgery. She could very well end up looking better and feeling better than before. I did.

SHEILA B. IN PHOENIX

DEAR ABBY: To "Inhibited and Embarrassed," who was worried about the effect her radical mastectomy would have on suitors: You have the greatest built-in screening test a woman could ask for. After the man really gets to know you as a person, tell him. If he runs, you got rid of a real jerk, and it didn't take a divorce to do it. You may say "adios" to a lot of frogs, but you won't have any trouble recognizing a prince when he comes along.

Hang in there — not all men are looking for wet-nursing; some of us are grown up.

LARRY IN ANN ARBOR, MICH.

READERS: I'll share more of the letters I received on this sensitive topic tomorrow.

Heat problems

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — About 40 people needed medical treatment after a hot, daylong wait for country music sensation Billy Ray Cyrus.

Many in the crowd of 50,000 arrived in the morning for the show, set to begin at 5 p.m. Sunday. By late afternoon, 40 people had been treated for problems associated with the heat, and nearly a dozen were taken to the hospital, said paramedic Bob Thatcher.

The temperature reached only 82, but coolers weren't allowed at the Louisville Motor Speedway and lines to buy soft drinks and beer were over an hour.

Despite the wait, two opening acts and delays that pushed the concert back an hour, fans were thrilled to see one of Kentucky's native sons.

"I wouldn't stand out in this heat for just anybody," said Vonda Hendricks of Louisville.

Chapter has first meeting at restaurant

Deep Creek Chapter of the American Business Women's Association met Sept. 3 at the Golden Corral Steakhouse for their regular meeting. Dorothy Dortch, president, presided.

Vivian Cochran gave the invocation and the budget for the new year was approved. It was also announced that the Deep Creek chapter would have a booth at the Scurry County Fair. A quilt will be given away Saturday night. Also, donations will be taken. Funds are used for a scholarship each semester to a student attending Western Texas College.

The chapter is celebrating its ninth anniversary.

Vivian Cochran gave a history of the American Business Women's Association. There are more than 3,000 chapters and more than $3 million in college scholarships awarded each year.

Bonnie Carroll, one of the chapter's scholarship recipients, has received her registered nurses's degree.

A skit was presented by members of the chapter. Entitled "In Court," Dorothy Dortch played the judge while Ms. Complainer was Johnnie Pyburn. Ms. Energetic was Pauline Withers and Ms. Ways and Means was Pam Dortch.

Perfect attendance awards were presented by Dorothy Dortch to Johnnie Pyburn, two years; Pam Dortch, five years; Vivian Cochran, 14 years; Stella Bailey, six years; Penny Cochran, two years; and Pauline Withers, seven years.

Seven members and five guests were present. Guests included Barbara Scrivner and Vern Beasley from the Scurry County Chapter, Irene Canales, Bonnie Carroll and Dorothy Hanks. Irene Canales and Bonnie Carroll were introduced as new members.

Receiving hostess gifts were Vern Beasley, Johnnie Pyburn and Pauline Withers. Members also received new yearbooks.

Eby gives program on Russian trip

The Alpha Alpha Theta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Tuesday, Sept. 1, at Snyder County Club with James Eby as guest speaker.

Eby, instructor in the golf grounds and landscape technology program at Western Texas College, was the guest speaker. He gave a slide program on his 1992 summer trip to Russia. He was a People to People program delegate, one of 16 dealing with underground irrigation.

The program was introduced by President Jackie Buckland. Sue Sewell, ways and means chairman, reported on plans for the annual holiday extravaganza. Hostess for the meeting was Carolyn Limmer.

It is a reliable rule of thumb that if you are in a 4-4 fit and faced with a 4-1 break, you do best not to try to draw all the trumps, but instead to play primarily on the side suits. Today's deal, taken from the 1992 Pan American Championships, is a good example of this.

The deal was played during one semifinal of the Open Teams. At the first table, the declarer won the club lead with dummy's ace and played a spade to his jack. West won with the queen and led the club king, forcing declarer to ruff. South cashed the spade ace, East discarding a heart. Now declarer turned to diamonds, but it was too late. West ruffed the third round, drew South's last trump with the spade king and led a club to his partner's jack: one down.

In the given auction, one club was Precision: artificial and strong, promising at least 16 points. North's one-diamond response was artificial and weak, showing at most seven points. The rest of the auction was natural.

Larry Cohen, on his way to the gold medal, saw the danger. After a club to dummy's ace, a spade to his jack and West's queen, and the club king ruffed, Cohen played on diamonds immediately. West ruffed the third round and led another club, but Cohen ruffed, cashed the spade ace and then went back to diamonds. When West ruffed with his last spade, he led a club, but it was ruffed in dummy. Declarer had conceded three trump tricks but had won the other 10 tricks.

Always allow for a bad trump split, if doing so doesn't endanger your contract.

BSP sorority begins with festivity

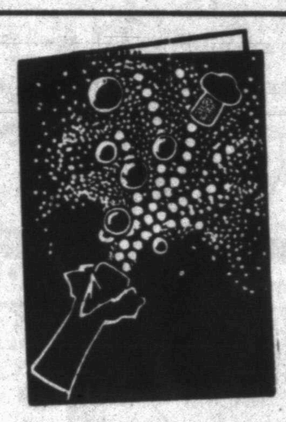

The Beta Delta Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi began its 1992-93 year on Aug. 28 with a Hawaiian Luau at the Snyder Country Club.

Club members and their husbands participated in Hawaiian festivities and refreshments.

The sorority held its first business meeting at the Martha Ann Woman's Club on Sept. 8 where President Lynn Lancaster presided. The 15 members present voted to put together care packages to send to hurricane victims in Louisiana and Florida.

Upcoming events, including the annual Christmas Ball, were discussed. The next BDP meeting is set for 7 p.m. on Sept. 22 at Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Joan of Arc entered the besieged city of Orleans in 1429 to lead a victory over the English.

Lady Tigers regroup for non-district battle

Snyder's Lady Tigers will attempt to put a pair of weekend volleyball losses behind them when they battle Sweetwater in a non-district road match today.

Snyder lost to Pecos, 4-15, 1-15, before regrouping and making a stand against San Angelo Central before falling, 8-15, 16-14, 14-16 in a three-way match played in San Angelo Saturday.

"We came back and played well against Central," said Lady Tiger spike coach Patty Grimmett. "We did pretty well serving the ball, our blocking game was good and we played well defensively.

"We did a lot of things in the Pecos match that led to points for them. We made a lot of errors."

Senior Melody Sargent hammered 13 service points to lead the Snyder charge Saturday.

The Lady Tigers slipped below the .500 mark with Saturday's losses, to 7-8 on the season.

Snyder has faced the Lady Mustangs twice this season, posting a 15-7, 15-12 semifinal win in the season-opening Monahans Tournament, and notching a 15-7, 15-10 victory in the consolation quarterfinals of the Denver City Tournament in late August.

The Lady Tigers will be on the road for a Saturday match at Andrews, then will return to SHS for a non-district meeting with San Angelo Lake View on Tuesday, Sept. 22.

District 2-4A competition begins when Levelland comes to town Saturday, Oct. 10.

Temple named top 5A squad

Wildcats take over No. 1 after upsetting Odessa Permian

DALLAS (AP) — The Temple Wildcats weren't awed by their upset victory over Odessa Permain.

Temple coach Bob McQueen expects the same low-key reaction from his players in response to taking over Class 5A's No. 1 spot in The Associated Press schoolboy football poll.

"This is a matter-of-fact group," McQueen said Monday after his team received 20 of a possible 25 first-place votes. "They were pretty down to earth about (beating Permian). I haven't heard a single kid talk about (the possibility of) being No. 1."

Temple moved up two spots in the poll, voted on by sports writers and broadcasters across Texas, on the heels of its 20-14 victory last Friday over then-No. 1 Permian. The defending 5A Division II champions fell to No. 4 in the poll.

"I hope we can live up to the expectations," said McQueen, whose team will be on the road the next two Fridays, against San Angelo Central and No. 6 Converse Judson.

Jersey Village soared from fourth to No. 2 following a 14-13 victory over Klein Oak. Dallas Kimball, which received two first-place ballots, is ranked third, only one point ahead of Permian.

Marshall's 30-14 upset victory over then-No. 2 Dallas Carter sent the Mavericks (3-0) into the poll at No. 10. The Cowboys slid to ninth, only one point ahead of Marshall.

The rest of the Top 10 includes No. 5 Arlington Sam Houston, which received two first-place votes; No. 7 Aldine MacArthur and No. 8. Aldine.

All other No. 1 teams held their spots, including 3A's Southlake Carroll, which won its state record-tying 53rd consecutive regular-season game Friday against Gainesville. The Leopards dropped from fourth to eighth.

Carthage remains atop 4A with 18 first-place votes, but Austin Reagan is only 12 points behind. The Raiders were named first on five ballots.

Houston C.E. King is third, one point ahead of Austin Westlake and Bastrop, which are tied for fourth.

Waxahachie jumped two spots to No. 6, followed by former No. 1 A&M Consolidated, Jasper and new entries Corsicana and Corpus Christi Calallen.

Carroll, which received 22 first-place votes, will try to break the record it shares with Big Sandy on Friday against 4A's Azle.

Should the Dragons lose, No. 2 Vernon is ready to take over the favorite role. The Lions, named first on one ballot, are 31 points behind Carroll.

Bellville is third, followed by defending 3A champion Groesbeck and Anahuac.

Strikers post Saturday victories

ODESSA — The Strikers, Snyder's Under-12 soccer team, posted a pair of wins in their first weekend of action, beating the Midland Diamonds, 5-2, and the Odessa Flames, 4-1, Saturday.

On the Strikers' fall schedule are teams from Lubbock, San Angelo, Midland, Odessa and Carlsbad, N.M.

Team members include Eddie Abel, Banks Alexander, Jason Bates, Eric Clifton, Chris Fields, Ryan Fritz, Trey Gorman, Jared Hester, Clint Hook, Dallas Jones, Andy Parker, Brad Roemisch, Ben Rollins, Allen Smith, Josh Ward and Tyler Warren.

SJHS volleyball teams take fourth at tourney

ANDREWS — Snyder's seventh and eighth grade A volleyball teams each took fourth place at Saturday's Andrews Tournament.

The seventh graders knocked off Pecos, 15-10, 2-15, 15-9, and lost to Big Spring, 13-15, 15-9, 12-15, and Andrews, 8-15, 11-15.

Snyder's eighth grade squad started out with an 8-15, 15-4, 15-8 win over Pecos, then lost to Wink, 15-5, 5-15, 5-15, and host Andrews, 15-13, 13-15, 7-15.

Kristy Bollinger led the seventh grade in its win over Pecos with eight points from the service stripe. Mandy Heaton and Julie Vaca each finished the match with six points followed by Kacy Cole's three and two apiece by Tiffany Martin, Lisa McNair, Misty Curry and April Fletcher. Daysha Weaver knocked in one.

Latecia Anderson hammered 10 for Snyder in the loss to Big Spring. McNair and Misty Davidson each drilled six, while Fletcher, Vaca and Marissa Wilson got five apiece.

The loss to Andrews saw Vaca and Fletcher each rap four winning serves. Davidson managed three and McNair, Bollinger, Weaver and Cole each popped a pair.

Anderson, Davidson and Kristy Bollinger were singled out as MVP's for Snyder in the seventh grade effort.

The eighth graders were topped by Mary Beth Dillaha, who scored 14 points in the victory over Pecos. Elyse Merritt followed with eight, Terry Nachlinger had six, Tyra Brooks punched four and Nicole Lyons, Shelly York and Brandy Cortez each lifted a pair.

Brooks slammed nine winners against Wink. Teammate Sarah Knowles added six, Merritt had three, Dillaha served two and Angie Rodriguez, Lyons, York, Cortez and Nachlinger had one apiece.

Brooks' 10 was tops in the SJHS match against Andrews. Rodriguez contributed nine, Dillaha smacked six, Knowles hit four, Nachlinger had three, Dottie Vanderpool lashed two and Lyons nailed one.

The junior high teams will be back in action Thursday with matches in Sweetwater beginning at 5 p.m.

Late TD lifts Miami over Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Very few quarterbacks can make you nervous when they're three points down, 84 yards away, with a minute left in the game. Joe Montana comes to mind. John Elway. And of course, Dan Marino.

After the Miami Dolphins blew a 20-3 fourth-quarter lead Monday night, Marino hit four quick passes on an 84-yard, 68-second drive that beat the Cleveland Browns 27-23. Mark Higgs finished it off by diving over from 1 yard out with seven seconds remaining.

It's the 19th time Marino has brought the Dolphins back from a fourth-quarter deficit. He went 25 of 35 for 322 yards, leaving him eight completions away from surpassing Johnny Unitas for fourth all-time.

"That's about as thrilling as you can make it," coach Don Shula said. "It was vintage Marino."

"It's almost as if their offense is better at that time than at other times," Cleveland linebacker Clay Matthews said. "We did our best to try to be prepared, but we couldn't pull it off."

Marino, proving the layoff was inconsequential, completed his first seven passes, including a 25-yard scoring pass to Mark Duper and a 45-yard pass to Robert Clark that set up Higgs' first touchdown, a 7-yard burst up the middle.

Two field goals by Pete Stoyanovich extended the lead to 20-3 early in the fourth quarter, and the Browns — still smarting from a 14-3 loss at Indianapolis last week — seemed headed for another embarrassment, this one on prime-time television.

Bernie Kosar, however, limped onto the field on an ankle he had sprained in the first half and completed a 60-yard pass to Michael Jackson to the Miami 20, pumping life into an offense that hadn't scored a touchdown in its first seven quarters this season. Seven plays later, Jackson caught a 6-yard touchdown pass, making it 20-10.

Two plays after that, linebacker Mike Johnson stripped Higgs of the ball, and David Brandon returned the fumble 32 yards for another Cleveland touchdown.

Blair, Astros blank Giants

HOUSTON (AP) — Willie Blair held San Francisco to an infield single over six innings to lead Houston over the Giants, 5-0.

The Giants' only hit off Blair (5-6) came when Darren Lewis beat out a slow roller to lead off the fourth. Blair struck out seven and walked for his first win in five starts this season.

Unable to make deal; Cowboys cut Noonan

IRVING, Texas (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, saying they were "baffled" by their inability to trade veteran defensive lineman Danny Noonan, released him on Monday.

Noonan, a first-round draft choice from Nebraska in 1987, started in both the Cowboys' games this season, including Sunday's victory over the New York Giants.

He became expendable because Russell Maryland, who has been out with a preseason toe injury, is expected to be ready for Sunday's game against Phoenix.

"It's frustrating for me that we couldn't make a trade for Danny," Jimmy Johnson said. "This has been an ongoing process for a year and a half. I'm surprised we were unable to do something."

Johnson said the team needed Noonan's roster spot. He said the team "wanted to see (rookie lineman) Chad Hennings." The release also frees the Cowboys from Noonan's $600,000 salary.

"This gives Danny a chance to be a starter on another team," Johnson said. "We just need to develop our other tackles. We plan to keep nine defensive linemen."

Noonan, who was relegated to a backup role last season, is known for playing well against the run, but his pass rush is lackluster.

The Cowboys filled their pass-rushing need in the off-season, when they obtained Charles Haley in a trade with the San Francisco 49ers.

On the issues

The issue: reducing tax rate on capital gains

EDITOR'S NOTE: This marks the beginning of the On the Issues series for the fall campaign. The Associated Press asks President Bush and Bill Clinton their stands on an issue each weekday and assembles their responses.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the views of the presidential candidates on the question: Should the tax rate on capital gains be reduced? If so, to what level?

Bush: "I want to lower the tax on capital gains to a rate of 15.4 percent so capital will be more abundant. Then investment will increase, labor will be more in demand, wages will rise and unemployment lines will shrink. I also want to index capital gains so that — when average Americans sell their homes or farms or small businesses — they are not forced to pay taxes on the amount of increase from inflation."

Clinton: "I do not support providing a special capital gains tax break for the rich; instead, I support encouraging entrepreneurs who risk their savings rate to create new companies, the main source of new jobs in our economy. Half of the profits from the original investments in new firms will be excluded from tax, so long as the investment is held at least five years."

Dr. Gott By Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 19-year-old son has just finished his second three-month treatment of Accutane for acne. Since Accutane is a form of vitamin A, is there a means of increasing this vitamin in his diet so the acne will not return? If his oil glands are over-active, is there a way of controlling this through diet or vitamins?

DEAR READER: Accutane, a compound related to vitamin A, affects the skin in several ways, primarily by inhibiting the skin's sebaceous (oil-forming) glands. This characteristic makes the drug particularly suited for treating acne, a chronic skin disease marked by inflammation of (and over-production by) these glands.

How Accutane works is unknown. The drug is associated with several side effects (including irritation of the lips, sore joints, and an increase in blood fats); therefore, it should be administered only under close medical supervision, which includes periodic blood tests.

The addition of vitamin A supplements has not been shown to affect acne. Nether do high doses of other vitamins.

Dietary treatment of acne has been controversial. Years ago, patients with the affliction were urged to avoid chocolate and fatty foods. Today's dermatologists seem less inclined to restrict the diet, although some patients' skins do improve on a reduced-fat diet.

Your son should ask his dermatologist about dietary modifications.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've suffered from psoriasis for 15 years. I've tried creams, lotions and recently had a couple of treatments with ultraviolet (which my insurance company does not cover). Inspiration hit one day and I bought a plant light with a blue bulb, which I use while reading my morning paper. Lo and behold, my psoriasis is going away. My doctor has urged me to wear sunglasses while using the light to prevent vision impairment. I just thought I'd pass along this relatively cheap method of treatment to your reading audience.

DEAR READER: The standard treatment for psoriasis includes medicated creams and lotions. Severe forms are often aided by ultraviolet light therapy. It was inevitable that an astute and imaginative consumer would put two and two together: If ultraviolet light therapy helps psoriasis, why not use the cheapest form available — namely, a plain old UV plant light. I confess I don't feel comfortable with this option, because the amount of UV light cannot be suitably monitored at home.

Nonetheless, providing your doctor approves of its use, I suppose there's no reason why you shouldn't continue with it. Remember, however, that chronic exposure to UV light is associated with a higher incidence of skin cancer. Also, UV light can cause cataracts, thus your doctor is correct in urging you to use eye protection.

Because UV light from any source is potentially harmful, I advise other readers who might try out your suggestion to clear it with their doctors first.

Koop encourages prenatal care

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Former Surgeon General C. Everett Koop says the nation is facing a crisis of ignorance when it comes to prenatal health care.

Koop was in Ashville for Monday's groundbreaking at the Ruth and Billy Graham Children's Health Center at Memorial Mission Hospital.

He said many pregnant women use drugs, eat poorly and otherwise neglect their children in the womb.

"We are truly facing a crisis in America, and we must do whatever it takes to interrupt this cycle of ignorance," Koop said. "There must be close cooperation between health care and the education system; we must be committed to a regional ethic of prevention."

Funds earmarked for super collider

WASHINGTON (AP) — The super collider, in danger of being canceled just months ago, is expected to receive $517 million next year, congressional sources said today.

The chairmen of the conference committee deciding funding for the giant atom smasher agreed Monday to the figure, which was expected to be approved by the full conference this afternoon, the sources said on condition of anonymity.

The funding is part of a $22 billion energy and water development appropriations package that if approved by the conference, then returns for final approval by the House and Senate.

The $517 million is a compromise between the $550 million allocated in August by the Senate and the $483.7 million earmarked by the House Appropriations Committee before the full House voted in June to kill the project.

"It's livable and it's obviously a lot better than what the House gave," a House aide said. "It's the minimum level that the super collider needs to keep on schedule."

"That's the name of the game, keeping the project on schedule, because if you don't then the costs go up in the long run."

Although the figure falls $133 million short of the funding sought by the Bush administration, it is significantly higher than the minimum amount the Energy Department said would be necessary to keep construction on track.

"That sounds great," said Russ Wylie, spokesman for the super collider laboratory near Dallas, when told of the news.

Wylie wouldn't go so far as to say the $517 million would guarantee that the collider would remain on time and on budget, but said: "I think it will be close. We are going to have to take a careful look."

"The number one priority is to get the accelerator designed and built with two detectors ... If we have to postpone building administrative buildings and work out of trailers to do that, we will."

Last week, the DOE's chief overseer of the project said the $8.25 billion collider might not be completed on time if Congress didn't earmark at least $483 million for fiscal 1993. That was the amount allocated for this fiscal year, which ends Sept. 30.

The collider, which faces difficult funding fights each year on Capitol Hill, has had a tougher year than usual. The House vote to kill the project stunned backers, causing them to redouble their lobbying efforts.

Scientists hope to learn more about the fundamentals of matter by crashing proton beams into each other at near-light speeds in the collider's 54-mile underground tunnel.

To date, almost $1 billion in federal money and $227 million in Texas funds have been spent on the super collider, which is due to be completed in 1999.

fourth-quarter community services classes (June, July and August) such as driver education and swimming.

In other business, the board accepted with regret the resignation of Jim Rambo, associate professor of speech and drama, and approved a recommendation to hire Michael Endy as his replacement. The board also approved a promotion in rank from instructor to assistant professor for biology instructor Sue Freemyer.

Board members approved a resolution to endorse the expansion of community colleges' mission statement to include workforce development programs and literacy and other basic skills programs. Dr. Harry Krenek, WTC president, pointed out that Western Texas currently does offer both types of programs. The resolution, being adopted by community colleges throughout Texas, will be presented to the state legislature.

The board was advised that cart path fee funds will be used to repair the secondary cart path around the No. 2 green on the golf course. Also discussed was prebid information concerning an autoclave for use in the science classes as related to the nursing program.

During discussion of the financial report, Trustee John Fagin pointed out that the T-bill rate is 2.89 percent, which he said is lower than the rate of inflation.

"I'd like to see some investigation...I know there is enabling legislation to give us more flexibility where we can invest our money," said Fagin. "We're getting consistently sub-par rates. We're elected here and have some responsibility to the taxpayers."

Dr. Krenek asked that optional methods of investing be explored by Gay Hickman, vice president for business and finance.

Trustees approved past minutes, with one clarification. In a previous meeting, the board appeared in agreement that the college take $15,000 in funds to supplement a 1 percent raise passed on by the state. Not all WTC personnel would be eligible for the 1 percent hike, and the $15,000 would allow all employees to have a raise.

Monday, however, Trustee Carl Williams asked that the words "the board concurred $15,000 budget transfers will be approved at a later date" be stricken from the minutes.

"I feel that taking $15,000 from the budget is certainly worth a vote," Williams said.

Trustees agreed with the change, and will vote on the $15,000 in raises at a later meeting.

All board members were present Monday, to include Fagin, Williams, Bill Wilson Jr., R.C. Patton, Carolyn Barbee, Jay Kidd and John Gayle.

Gore denies claims about ban on offshore drilling rigs

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Democratic vice presidential nominee Al Gore says he doesn't support a total ban on offshore oil drilling.

Gore, who made two campaign stops in Texas Monday, was responding to Republican leaders who accused him of wanting to eliminate all future oil drilling off American coasts.

"I'm in favor only of a moratorium on new rigs in environmentally sensitive areas that have been designated, such as those off the California coast and Florida coast," Gore told The Associated Press. "This would have absolutely zero effect on rigs in the Gulf of Mexico except around the Florida Keys and the west coast of Florida."

Energy Secretary James Watkins issued a statement last week on Bush-Quayle campaign letterhead saying Gore had called for a total ban on offshore drilling.

"Of course those Republicans who support Bush and Quayle want to twist words and take them out of context and make them appear to say what I did not mean," Gore said. "But it (the moratorium) would have absolutely no impact of any kind on rigs off Texas and Louisiana and elsewhere in the Gulf of Mexico."

In Fort Worth Monday, Gore told about 300 workers at Bell Helicopter Textron, which jointly develops the V-22 Osprey with Boeing Helicopter, that Republicans have opposed the tilt-rotor aircraft "tooth-and-nail," threatening jobs in Tarrant County.

"The only time they start worrying about your jobs is when their jobs are on the line," Gore said.

The Tennessee lawmaker dismissed as an election year flip-flop the Pentagon's recent announcement it would free up money it had been holding back from the controversial V-22 program.

"Whenever I hear George Bush say the principal issue in this election is whether or not he can be trusted, I think of the history of his statements and actions with respect to the tilt-rotor technology," Gore said.

In Lubbock, Gore was greeted by about 1,500 people and the rousing tunes of Buddy Holly, a native of the West Texas city that President Bush has referred to on occasions as his "pulse of America."

"I have often heard that President Bush says he listens for the pulse in Lubbock. Well, I am just wondering if he is listening today. Because I want to ask you if it is time for Bush and Quayle to go," Gore said.

The crowd cheered, "Yes!"

"One more time," Gore said, "I'd like you to tell me what time it is, loud enough so if the president is listening to the pulse, he can hear it."

"It's time for Bush to go!" they yelled again.

"I think Bush's pulse of America is losing its beat," Bo Camp, said.

City fights request for evaluations of ex-officials

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Members of the Lubbock City Council have asked for an attorney general's opinion on whether the state's Open Records Act requires them to turn over their individual evaluations of three employees, including a city manager who resigned under fire.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal submitted written requests to all seven council members to make public their evaluation of former City Manager Larry Cunningham, City Attorney John Ross and City Secretary Ranette Boyd.

Mayor David Langston said Monday that the city will seek the attorney general's opinion before handing over the documents.

Langston said the city fears that making the individual evaluations public, and thus subject to media scrutiny, might affect future personnel deliberations by the council.

Amarillo students return to school after shooting

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Students on Monday returned to Palo Duro High School, site of last week's shooting that left seven students wounded, but many students and parents said they remain concerned about security.

Henry Worth said he was wary about sending his ninth-grade son and 10th-grade daughter back to the school.

"I'm thinking of home schooling," Worth said, adding that he didn't blame school officials for the shooting.

"I think a lot of this is their parents' fault," Worth said. "Parents let their children off easy and then expect someone else to do something about it."

Six students were shot and another trampled Friday morning when a 17-year-old student opened fire in a crowded hallway after a pep rally.

Donyel Austin, 16, and Bobby Archie were released from Amarillo hospitals on Sunday. Delmond Carruthers, 17, who was shot in the chest, remained at Northwest Texas Hospital Monday. A nursing supervisor there said he requested that his condition not be released.

Police investigate burglary reports

Snyder police began investigations into four burglaries and made two unrelated arrests Monday and early this morning.

At 10:54 a.m. Monday, Mary Batchelor reported a break-in at M B's Beauty Salon and at 11:53 a.m. Tonya Fausett reported that her home at 2209 29th St. had been broken into. Nothing was immediately noted to be missing from either place. Reports for burglary of a business and burglary of a residence were filed.

At 1:53 p.m., Cecil Green reported that someone had entered his residence at 301 24th St. and taken some miscellaneous items. A report for burglary of a residence was filed by police.

Officers also investigated the theft of some items from a Ford Bronco after Harold Britton contacted the department at 11:40 p.m. to report a burglary of a motor vehicle.

Police arrested a 23-year-old man at 10:33 a.m. Monday at the police department on a county warrant for driving with a suspended license.

At 6:28 a.m. today, police arrested a 27-year-old woman for public intoxication at the C&W convenience store.

Officers received a report of children crying outside a residence in the 3700 block of Avenue U at 11:38 p.m. Monday. After investigation, police and an MHMR employee accompanied a 30-year-old woman to Big Spring State Hospital. The children were released to an uncle.

Officers responded to a report of juveniles fighting with knives at 6:51 p.m. Monday in the 300 block of 25th Street. Two juveniles were transported to the police department and later released to their parents.

Officers also worked two traffic accidents Monday.

At 7:31 a.m., police investigated a mishap at 30th Street and Avenue B. Involved were a 1973 Dodge driven Cynthia Lee May of 120 Coliseum Drive and a 1988 Chevrolet driven by Renea Ruth Romero of 907 30th St.

At 8:52 p.m., officers worked another two-vehicle accident in the 3600 block of College Avenue. Involved were a 1986 Ford Tempo driven by Roberto Diaz of Rt. 2 and a 1986 Chevrolet driven by Emmitt Dean Cochran of 1611 17th St.

In its report, the accounting firm listed several findings, including that cash from soft drink and candy sales was placed into a petty cash fund before it was deposited and that formal records of amounts and dates of purchases were not kept. It also noted that five people had keys to the storage areas where inventory was kept and that there was no established procedure for collecting cash from the vending machines.

The audit further revealed evidence of extra pay for employees, but did not stipulate how much pay or to whom. Also, there were several envelopes of cash in the school safe which had not been turned in to Central Accounting at the end of May, 1992.

Anderson, a former public school principal, was followed at Snyder Junior High by Patterson who is in his second year as high school principal. Anderson was elected to the board last May.

Troopers note felony arrest

Department of Public Safety officers arrested two Lubbock men Monday, one on an outstanding theft warrant.

Juan Medina Salazar, 37, is being held in Scurry County Jail on $5,750 bond after he was arrested on an outstanding warrant for theft from Lubbock County. Bond was set at $5,000 on the warrant.

Salazar was also charged with possession of marijuana. An additional bond of $750 was set on the charge.

A second subject, a 33-year-old male, was arrested on misdemeanor charges of possession of marijuana, no insurance and an expired sticker. Bond was set at $750 for the possession charge, and $400 each for the other charges.

BIG SPRING — Services are set for 2 p.m. Thursday in the Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home Chapel for Arthur Lee Tamplin, 84, of Big Spring. Burial will follow in the Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Tamplin died in a Denver, Colo., hospital Monday.

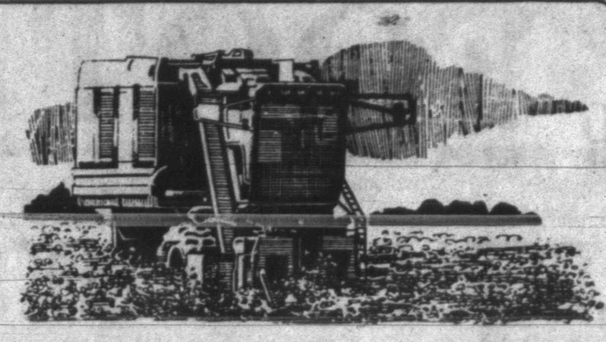

He was the brother of Bea Trevey, Nell Walker and Adel Holdren, all of Snyder.

Born Nov. 10, 1907, in Big Spring, he was married to Ellen Scott on March 22, 1941, in Big Spring. She died on Feb. 3, 1987. He was retired from Cosden Refinery.

Survivors include one daughter and son-in-law, Janie and Mike Davis of Denver, Colo.; two other sisters, Patsy Williams of Lubbock and Evelyne Davis of Midland; one brother, Elton Tamplin of Monahans; two grandchildren, Scott and Michelle Davis of Denver, Colo.; and several nieces and nephews.

Scurry County Country

SCS Notes

By Michael Squires
Range Conservationist

FSA (Food Security Act) compliance. Do you operate a farm on soils designated as highly erodible? Are you following a conservation plan to avoid any penalties of farm program benefits? Is your plan up to date or does it need to be revised?

Many of you reading this will not be able to remember exactly what your plan calls for. Perhaps you are planning to lease new land or have recently began operating new land. Did you check to see if a conservation plan was on file at the Soil Conservation Service office?

Scurry County farmers are doing an excellent job of meeting the requirements set forth in the 1990 Farm Bill. There have been many changes during the past several years in application procedure of these farm plans. In the next paragraphs, I am going to review some of the important dates and requirements which involve windstrips when used to satisfy the requirements of the Food Security Act.

Windstripcropping is a tool designed to reduce (not prevent) wind erosion by planting wind resistant, high-residue strips alternated with strips of low-residue row crops. The strips can be annually planted or seeded to a perennial grass. Windstrips are most effective when planted at right angles to the prevailing and damaging winds. They may be planted on the tops of terraces also.

In Scurry County, however, utilizing the terraces for windstrips will not necessarily offer the best protection from prevailing winds. The reason for this is that standard, level terraces follow the contour of the land. Terraces built on the contour will usually wind and turn in many different directions. The results are that at some point in the field the damaging northwest winds will be blowing parallel with the lines instead of at right angles.

Specific width patterns have been developed and must be followed when planting these strips: four rows, 40 inches apart (or drilled 160 inches wide) for annually seeded strips or two rows, 20 inches apart, for perennial grasses. These strips may be incorporated into your planting pattern such as 2X1 or 2X2.

The major type of soil on your farm will determine at what distance apart these strips must be planted. In Scurry County the average widths between windstrips is 400 feet, however, some extend outward to 1,000 feet. Residues produced from previous crops should be managed for adequate soil protection until current strips are tall enough to suppress wind erosion.

Time of year for planting these strips is very important. Below is a planting guide for the most commonly planted species in the Scurry County area.

Species	Planting Date	Seeding Rate (row)	Seeding Rate drill
Small Grains	Aug. 15-Oct. 1	--	50#/ac
Sorghums	Mar. 15-Aug. 15	10#/ac	15#/ac
Sudan	Mar. 15-Aug. 15	6#/ac	10#/ac
Lovegrass	Nov. 1-May 15	1#/ac	3#/ac
Kleingrass	Mar. 15-May 15	1#/ac	3#/ac

Finally, windstrip management is very important. High residue strips should be left standing until April 1 (longer if possible). Perennial grasses may be shredded after June 1. A minimum of 18-inch stubble must be maintained throughout the critical erosion season which is considered to end around June 1.

Shredding or bailing is permitted but should not be done after Aug. 15 to allow for enough regrowth prior to frost. Always remember to check with the SCS and ASCS when planning to utilize these strips outside of the above-mentioned procedures.

These regulations set forth by the Food Security Act are not going away. Our goal at the SCS office is to assist each producer to effectively incorporate some type of sound conservation plan into his or her operation. If you find that you are having difficulty carrying out your existing conservation plan, come by the Soil Conservation Office and let us work with you to make any necessary revisions. Time is running out. All practices must be installed and working by Dec. 31, 1994.

LIVING WITH LACTOSE INTOLERANCE

If you are like one of 50 million American adults, you may have problems in digesting significant amounts of lactose — milk sugar.

Lactose intolerance is more prevalent in certain ethnic and racial groups. As many as 75 percent of all African Americans, Jewish, Native Americans and Mexican Americans and 90 percent of Asian Americans are affected by the disorder.

Common symptoms are nausea, cramps, bloating, gas and diarrhea 30-minutes to two hours after eating or drinking lactose-containing foods.

Lactose found naturally in milk and milk products is often added to processed foods such as breads, baked products, processed cereal, instant potatoes, soups, breakfast drinks, margarine, luncheon meats, salad dressings, candies, pancakes, biscuits, cookies and non-diary creamers. Avoidance of products containing lactose is the best insurance to prevent the disrupting symptoms of the disorder.

Smart consumers should read food labels with care, looking for the words milk, lactose, whey, curds, milk byproducts, dry milk solids and nonfat dry milk powder.

Additionally, lactose is an ingredient in 20 percent of prescription drugs such as birth control pills and in 6 percent of over-the-counter medicines such as do tablets for stomach acid and gas. So read the label of these products as well as food products.

Even if you cannot drink milk daily, select foods that contain calcium such as greens, fish and calcium-rich foods free of lactose. In addition, calcium supplements may be ordered by your physician to supplement a carefully selected diet free of lactose.

Wine exports note fast-paced growth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although California wines lead a surge in U.S. exports, other states also are helping fill wine glasses around the world, according to American trade experts.

U.S. wine exports grew from $35 million in 1985 to $145 million in 1991, says a report in this month's issue of AgExporter magazine put out by USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service.

"Most of the double-digit growth can be attributed to greater awareness of California wines, which account for well over 90 percent of the export market," it said.

"However, where California is leading, others are following. Washington, Oregon and New York have become very active in exporting and, to a limited extent, Idaho, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona have also exported."

Those states are developing a growing international reputation for their wines, as evidenced by growing sales, the report said.

"In less than two decades, the Washington wine industry has grown from virtually nothing to the second-largest state producer of fine wine in the United States," it said.

Washington State wines are sold in 35 countries, with the principal markets being Japan, Britain, Scandinavia, Belgium, Switzerland and Germany. Its wines earned gold medals recently in the Vin Expo Wine Competition in Bordeaux, France.

"Oregon has been acknowledged for its world-class pinot noirs, comparing favorably with France's fine burgundies," the report said, and Idaho's chardonnays and rieslings have achieved growing international popularity.

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association is sponsoring an October sheep and goat referendum for predator control. If passed by producers during an October 29 ballot election, the referendum will provide funds solely for predator control.

Funds are to be raised through a per-head-sold checkoff of not more than 20 cents per head. Any sheep and goat producer whose operation lies within 111 designated Texas counties is eligible to vote.

Ballots will indicate first, whether or not the voting producer is interested in supporting a referendum dedicated to area-wide predator control, which would be additional control on predation to any program now in place. Second, producers will vote for three directors to represent their district on the commodity producer's board, provided the referendum passes.

Prospective board member candidates must contact the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association office for necessary paper work. They also need ten producer names on a petition to be listed on the ballot.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service will conduct the election with local county extension offices as the voting sites in each of the designated counties.

Producers can learn more about the referendum by attending one of the following scheduled educational programs.

Sept. 14 — Fredricksburg (Gillespie County Fairgrounds).

Sept. 18 — Ft. Stockton (Pecos County Civic Center).

Sept. 21 — Coleman (Coleman County, Panther Creek School.

Sept. 22 — Hamilton County (Hamilton National Bank).

Sept. 29 — Real County (Real County Courthouse).

Oct. 13 — Eldorado (Schleicher County Extension Office).

Oct. 19 — Ozona (Crockett County Civic Center).

For further information concerning the referendum, contact your local County Extension Agent.

U.S. to provide food assistance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will provide $10 million in food assistance to Moldova under the Food for Peace Program.

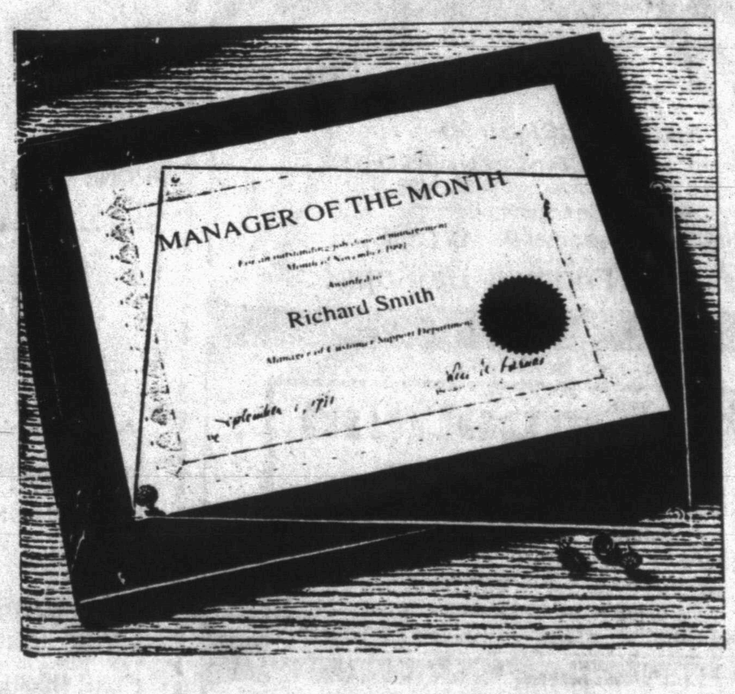

"This first food aid agreement between the United States and Moldova demonstrates our continued commitment to the people of the former Soviet Union as they continue to restructure their economy," said Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Ann M. Veneman.

Moldova will purchase about 13,000 tons of U.S. wheat and 36,000 tons of U.S. corn with the funds, she said.

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played around the country this weekend. On the entry blank at the bottom of the page, fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only...opposite the name of the business firm on the entry blank. Then clip out the entry blank and send it to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, Snyder Daily News, Box 949, Snyder, TX 79550, or bring it by the news office at 3600 College Ave. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 5:00 p.m. Friday. Games ending in a tie must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

To avoid splitting the prize money a TIE-BREAKER slot will be provided on each entry blank. Pick the total points of the score for that game and in case of a tie the one who picks the winner and the nearest number of total points will receive the prize money. The same formula will apply to second and third place winners. In the case of a perfect score, the formula would apply for the $250 cash prize. To win the $1,000 cash prize, all twenty games must be picked correctly, plus the exact score must be predicted on the tie-breaker.

There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted for any one person. More than one will disqualify all that person's entries. Entries must be on the official entry blank (No Copies Please). Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing except in the case of the tie-breaker. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number and watch for the winner's story in next Tuesday's SDN. Employees of the SDN and their families are not eligible to enter.
