MADRID, May 11.—Helpless throughout a day of anarchistic terror when mobs burned down five Catholic institutions and fired five others, the Republican government sprang into action tonight to break up an assembled Communistic mass meeting in the heart of Madrid.

Detachments of infantry and cavalry that had replaced the impotent civil guards allowed the Reds to get their inflammatory meeting under way in the Plaza Mayor and then dispersed them, arresting 80 of the leading agitators.

Martial Law Defied

The meeting had been called in defiance of the martial law clamped down on the city following a day of wild anti-clerical fury. The government announced that the number of religious edifices put to the torch was 10. Some of them were still burning tonight.

Provincial reports declared the rest of the country quiet with the exception of Cordoba, Malaga, and Barcelona. In Cordoba and Malaga disturbances were slight, but in Barcelona an attempt to storm the powder magazine was frustrated only by the quick arrival of troops.

Churches in Ashes

Columns of smoke rising from the ruins of Iglesia de La Flor, chief Jesuit church, the Carmelite convent, the Maravillan convent, the Church of Santa Teresa de Pisa, all in the center of the capital, and a convent of the outskirts, bore mute testimony of the fury of the mob.

Fear that tonight's mass meeting may unleash fresh terrorism was openly expressed as the cabinet continued in extarordinary session, seeking, apparently futile, some way of restoring order.

It was officially declared that today's violences were the result of a "Communist and Monarchist plot to undermine the republic."

Over all hung the ominous echo of the full-throated shout that arose from the mob that prevented firemen from extinguishing the roaring

Young Bandit Sentenced Despite Bride's Plea

NEW YORK, May 11. (US)—Despite the pleas of his bride and his father for leniency, Hewlett Rainwater, 21, indentified as the son of E. H. Rainwater of Bowden, Ga., was sentenced in general sessions today to not less than six and one-half years in Sing Sing prison.

He pleaded guilty to an atempted holdup March 22. Judge Koenig said he was forced to impose a prison sentence because Rainwater had used a loaded revolver in attempting the crime.

Rescue Sledge Team Back to Civilization

COPENHAGEN, May 11. (US)—The dog sledge team bringing Augustine Courtauld back to civilization after a winter spent marooned in the interior of Greenland today reached the British arctic air route expedition's headquarters, 35 miles inland from Angmagsalik Bay, Greenland, according to advices received here.

The dog team is headed by H. G. Watkins, chief of the expedition, who traveled overland defeated Captain Albin Ahrenberg, Swedish airman, in a race to Courtauld's rescue.

Trestle-Walker Struck By Dallas Freight Train

DALLAS, May 11. (AP)—W. W. Downing, 55, of Greenville was injured probably fatally today when struck by a freight train as he was walking across a trestle in railroad yards here. Hospital attendants said there was little hope he would recover. He was in semi-conscious condition and could tell only his name and address.

Cotton Market Veteran Succumbs to Illness

SAN ANGELO, Texas, May 11. (UP)—William L. Black, 88, last surviving organizer of the New York Cotton exchange and a campaigner for a wool futures market, died today at his Ft. McKavitt ranch near here. The end came just a week before the opening of the wool futures market on the New York cotton exchange.

He was vice president of the St. Louis Cotton exchange and contributed the land on which it was built in 1882.

RANGER FORCE EVADES HOUSE ECONOMY BILL

General State Salary Cut Vote to Reduce Appropriation

AUSTIN, May 11. (AP)—Efforts of the economy bloc of the house to make sweeping reductions in the appropriation for the adjutant general's department for the next two years met defeat today.

A blanket amendment to the departmental appropriation bill, reducing salaries 5 and 10 per cent was adopted however. All departments were affected. Cuts of 5 per cent were levied on persons receiving salaries from $1,500 to $2,750 and 10 per cent above $2,750.

It was estimated the salary reduction would decrease the total appropriation between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

An amendment to reduce traveling expenses of all departments by 10 per cent was ruled out of order. It will be offered later and will be admitted. It was ruled out as the result of the house voting to consider the bill by departments.

Guard Supported

The house rose to the defense of the Texas national guard, when an amendment was offered to reduce its appropriation $140,000. It was defeated, 83 to 22.

An amendment cutting out $2,400 for a chaplain at veterans' bureau hospital No. 93 was adopted.

Efforts to eliminate the 10 additional men allowed the state ranger force were defeated, the house voting to raise the force from 36 to 46. Pleas that the rangers were the most effective law enforcing officers in the state and would curb "racketeering" were made in behalf of the increase in personnel.

The house adopted the free conference report on the Oneal split tax payment bill. It was adopted last week in the senate. Under the bill, tax payers who paid one-half their taxes by Nov. 30 would be permitted to pay the other half the following June 30 without penalty or interest. It received enough votes in both houses to go into immediate effect if approved by the governor.

Monument Voted

A resolution to allow the Texas Bar association to erect a monument on the capitol grounds to the first Texas supreme court was adopted, provided the monument was constructed from Texas granite and not Georgia marble, as specified by the association.

The senate ordered the Weinert suspended sentence bill printed on

Ethel Barrymore Sees Operation on Son's Knee

CHICAGO, May 11. (US)—John Drew Colt, son of Ethel Barrymore, underwent an operation at St. Luke's hospital today to overcome a "locked" knee joint, occasioned by an injury at football.

His mother, the distinguished actress, looked on as the surgeons went about their delicate task.

It was found that a fragment of torn cartilage had become lodged between the bone ends in the joint, making it impossible for Colt to straighten his leg. The operation was successful and Colt is expected to be back on his feet within a few days.

THE ERIE CANAL AND PULLMAN CARS

GEORGE MORTIMER PULLMAN, of New York, is responsible for the luxurious type of sleeping car we have today. At the age of 22, he was making contracts to move large and small buildings from the line of the Erie canal. He settled in Chicago in 1859 and engaged in the business of raising entire blocks of buildings without disturbing their occupants. In 1861, he constructed the first sleeping car and four years later organized the Pullman Palace Car Co. Today this company is the largest car-building concern in the world. A great deal of traveling is done by automobile, which gives an opportunity to whole families to enjoy their own car. Amarillo Votes to Buy Gas System Through Condemnation Proceedings

AMARILLO, Texas, May 11. (AP)—Public ownership of the Amarillo Gas company's distributing system by condemnation was ordered by the city commission tonight at a special meeting.

Instead of awarding contract for building of a new plant, as had been planned, the commission rejected all bids and voted to acquire the gas company's property through court proceedings.

Corporation counsel was instructed by the commision to prepare condemnation papers immediately.

Mayor Ernest Thompson stated the purpose of the meeting was to consider bids. He then read the three bids on installation of a new system. The bids ranged from $1,161,531 to $1,352,323.

As soon as the bids were read the commission voted to reject them all. It was then moved that the city acquire the system by condemnation. A favorable vote was polled immediately.

"We seriously considered putting in our own system until today when we decided on this procedure," said Mayor Thompson.

Mayor Thompson said after the meeting that the commission believed acquisition of the present plant "will be better and will suit more people than putting in a duplicate system."

"We tried to arrive at a purchase price with the gas company," he said, "but failing through negotiations we decided to institute condemnation proceedings."

"We have the right, under the gas company's franchise, to buy the property. All the condemnation is for is to see that a fair price is fixed by the courts."

ASSETS OF W. M. S. SHOW $426,000 GAIN

$111,000 Collected During 'Depression' Year, Report Says

2,000 TO ATTEND

Mayor to Welcome Visitors To Wichita; Holt To Respond

The Texas Christian Missionary society has gained more than $426,000 worth of tangible assets during the past seven years, it was shown in the report of J. B. Holmes, general secretary of the organization, at the preliminary meeting of the executive board held Monday afternoon at the Kemp hotel prior to the opening of the 46th annual convention of Texas Christian churches which will be held at the First Christian church here Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Early Arrivals

Approximately 2,000 delegates are expected to arrive Tuesday morning for the four-day session. Among the early arrivals for Monday's meeting were Dr. L. N. D. Wells, Dallas; Harry Knowles, Houston; Clifford S. Weaver of McKinney; Judge R. H. Foster, Colby O. Hall, J. B. Holmes and Miss Meta Zimmerman all of Fort Worth.

The report at Monday's missionary session further showed $111,000 was received during the past year, the amount of which included one gift of $30,000 and two gifts of $25,000 each. The society now has on an annuity basis a total of $119,711.

The convention proper will open Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock with Rev. Patrick Henry, vice president of the organization, presiding. Mayor Walter Nelson Jr. will give the address of welcome and Judge J. F. Holt of Sherman will make a response. The larger part of the afternoon will be taken up with sectional work after which the guests will be entertained at dinner at the Wichita club.

Briand Is Candidate For French Presidency

PARIS, May 11. (INS)—Foreign Minister Aristide Briand today accepted a proposal by the left parties in the chamber of deputies that he become a candidate for the presidency of France.

The election will take place on Wednesday. Briand's decision was taken after the left groups had issued a vaguely worded announcement that they would "vote for the most favored candidate."

Briand's chances for election to the presidency are believed to have been enhanced by the almost unanimous vote of confidence granted him last week by the chamber of deputies, following a savage attack on his foreign policies by his political enemies. The vote was 450 to 32.

Wholesale Commodity Prices Decline Again

WASHINGTON, May 11. (US)—The decline in wholesale commodity prices continued during the week ended May 9, the general index dropping seven fractional points compared with two fractional points the week before, the National Fertilizer company weekly price index disclosed today.

The index on May 9 stood at 71.6, with 100 representing the average price for 1926-1929.

SHRINERS TO GATHER TODAY

20 Novices Wait Trek Over Ceremonial Sands

More than 1,000 visiting nobles and their wives are expected to arrive in Wichita Falls Tuesday to attend the annual Shrine spring ceremonial which will be held at Maskat temple throughout the day, it was announced by Al Ellis, recorder.

Luncheon at Noon

The activities of the day will begin with the registration of the novices at the temple at 9 o'clock, under the direction of M. E. Wallace. A business session will be held at 11 o'clock after which the guests will be entertained with a luncheon in the temple at 12 o'clock.

Elaborate plans have been made for the conferring of the first and third degrees on the 20 novices which will be held in the auditorium of the temple on the top floor of the City National building at 2:30 o'clock. The cast appointed by Potentate W. B. Hamilton for this ceremonial includes:

Guy Rogers, potentate; W. H. Caldwell, chief rabban; Sydney A. Gaines, assistant rabban; Ed Peterson, high priest and prophet; Dr. J. H. Fletcher, oriental guide; J. M. Spoonts, first ceremonial master; P. B. Curd, second ceremonial master; Kindel Paulk, director; J. W. Akin, marshal; C. E. McCutchen, captain of the guard; Woodward L. Bass, orator; Wayne Somerville, orator; O. F. Marchman, alchemist; Henry Ford, alchemist; Neely R. Vaught, alchemist; T. D. Wilson, alchemist; G. W. L. Spencer, inner guard; C. C. Randle.

Parade at 4

One of the most entertaining features of the ceremonial will be the parade which is expected to be the best the group has ever presented. The parade will form promptly at 4 o'clock at Tenth and Scott streets under the direction of J. M. Williams, assisted by Horrace Robbins, J. T. Fletcher, Ray Wilhite, L. R. Stringer, W. R. Creamer, C. C. Randle, Eugene Liepold, and D. L. Fritz, with the following lineup:

NEW ASSAULT ON PRORATION IN U. S. COURT

MacMillan Petroleum Corp. Seeks Injunction To Halt Curb

STATE SUIT MAY 22

Austin Judge Overrules Plea for Temporary Restraining Writ

AUSTIN, May 11. (AP)—Oil proration was attacked in federal court here today by the MacMillan Petroleum corporation, a concern chartered under the Delaware statutes and operaitng leases in East Texas and by Alfred MacMillan individually as trustee.

The MacMillan corporation said proration "has such a widespread effect on market conditions in the East Texas field that in order for plaintiffs to obtain adequate relief it is necessary that enforcement of said order be enjoined as to all persons and companies subject thereto and affected thereby." The petitioners added, however, that in case that request should be refused, they believed the commission should be enjoined from enforcing its order against them.

Still another injunction suit was filed in the court of J. D. Moore, district judge. It was filed by the Nat Hunter Producing company and the Nat Hunter Oil company which said they had wells in Rusk and Gregg counties, capable of producing 35,000 or 40,000 barrels daily.

Dan Moody, former governor, was attorney for the companies.

Injunction Hearing Set

Meanwhile J. D. Moore, district judge, set the injunction petition of the Central Pipe Line company, operating in the East Texas field, for trial on its merits May 22. He overruled a petition for a temporary injunction after Fred Upchurch, representing the railroad commission, had pointed out that penalties for violation of the proration order ceased with the filing of the suit and that a temporary injunction therefore would serve no purpose.

The Central Pipe Line company was joined in the suit by the operators of the lease from which it is taking oil. The company claimed it had a contract to take 15,000 barrels a day from the well but the railroad commission had endeavored to reduce the daily output to 387 barrels. This was an interference with a contract and a deprivation of property without due process, the plaintiff contended.

Penalties Halted

Any penalties against the MacMillan corporation likewise were halted by the federal court suit. The plaintiff claimed that before the proration order was issued it had made certain contracts to sell oil which could not be carried out under the restricted production prescribed by the commission.

The plaintiff corporation said it had two wells from which it had been marketing 15,000 barrels daily but the commission had cut the allowable to 1,455 barrels.

Some of the allegations were that the proration order was a violation of the anti-trust law, that it interfered with private contracts, that it was a violation of the due pro-

Hapsburg Restoration Proposal Meets Defeat

BUDAPEST, May 11. (US)—Prime Minister Count Stephen von Bethlen has rejected the proposal of Foreign Minister Briand of France to support a movement for the restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy in Austria and Hungary, it was reported here today.

The restoration, to have been carried out under young "King Ott," was not supported by the official press, which declared that the French scheme consisted of an attempt to play Hungary against Germany by bringing about an Austro-Hungarian entente to stave off the Austro-German customs alliance.

Oil Worker Held In East Texas Slaying

Special to The Record News.

HENDERSON, Texas, May 11.—Jesse Vick, oil field worker near Overton, is being held in county jail here in connection with the fatal shooting Sunday of Jesse Caine, about 30 years old, at a teaming camp near Pistol Hill, Rusk county. Caine died instantly after he was shot through the heart with an old style .45 caliber pistol. The tragedy followed a quarrel, the origin of which was not learned by officers.

Families of Unemployed Plead for U. S. Relief

WASHINGTON, May 11. (US)—A delegation of wives and children of unemployed today urged President Hoover to call an extra session of congress to deal with the situation.

They were unable to see the president, but left a message with his secretary. They later called at the American Red Cross and urged Chairman John Barton Payne to rescind his decision against giving relief to the unemployed.

Joint Funeral Held For Six Victims Of Car-Train Collision

Special to The Record News.

ALVORD, Texas, May 11.—Six times a funeral carriage moved from the Roy Majors home to the Alvord cemetery Monday afternoon, bearing in the half-dozen solemn trips the bodies of three generations of the Collins family who died together in an automobile-train crash Sunday night.

While the whole town looked on, the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Collins and their 5-year-old daughter, Charlene, were lowered into a single grave. Beside them in one grave were buried Mrs. Fannie Collins and her daughter, Miss Florine Collins. A third grave received the body of Cecil Ferguson, 18-year-old brother of Mrs. Charlie Collins. Mrs. Fannie Collins was the mother of Charlie Collins and the grandmother of the baby. The entire family was wiped out when a northbound Fort Worth and Denver passenger train crashed into their automobile as they were returning Sunday night from a week-end visit to Mr. Collins' sister, Mrs. Pearl Evans, at Fort Worth.

Alvord business houses closed their doors for the six joint funeral services, conducted at the cemetery. The bodies were taken first to the home of Mrs. Roy Majors, aunt of Mrs. Charlie Collins. Separately, each casket was borne to the three waiting graves. Rev. Mr. Childress of Bowie and Rev. M. Andrews of Alvord conducted the services.

Survivors include Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ferguson, parents of Mrs. Charlie Collins and Cecil Ferguson and grandparents of the little girl. Mr. Ferguson formerly operated a restaurant in Wichita Falls.

DR. EVERETT JONES TELLS OF TRAGEDY

Dr. Everett Jones, Wichita Falls, division surgeon for the Fort Worth and Denver railroad, was aboard the northbound passenger train which Sunday night crashed into an automobile at an Alvord crossing, killing the six occupants of the car.

Dr. Jones said Monday he was dozing in the Pullman at 11:20 when the jolt of the impact and the suddent jarring of brakes aroused the train. Almost before the train had come to a halt, the physician said, Conductor Huggins had summoned his aid.

"We went out the back end of the train together and five bodies lay strewn on either side of the tracks for a distance of about 50 feet," Dr. Jones said. "The elder Mrs. Collins and her daughter, Miss Florine, were still alive. The other four were instantly killed. The baby's body we found on the cowcatcher at the front of the engine.

Doctors Forbid Brooks to Sign Final Diplomas

WACO, Texas, May 11. (AP)—Dr. S. P. Brooks was gradually sinking, his physicians reported early tonight, but they added that the vitality he has shown made his death unlikely for at least 24 hours.

Despite extreme weariness and intense suffering, the dying Baylor president today asked to be allowed to complete signing of graduation diplomas, about 100 of which remain on the desk in his sick room, but his doctors forbade the exertion.

A lifelong friend of Dr. Brooks, Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of Oklahoma university, was the only person aside from members of the family, admitted to the sick room today.

RITES SET FOR TIRE VICTIM

Iowa Park Man to Be Buried In Jacksboro

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, May 11.—The body of K. W. Dodson, Iowa Park man killed by the blowout of a large pneumatic tire in Snyder Monday morning, will be taken to Jacksboro, the family's former home, Tuesday. Mrs. J. F. Dodson, Sugdon, Okla., mother of the slain man, passed through Iowa Park Monday afternoon on her way to Snyder where Dodson's widow preceeded her. Funeral services will be held in Jacksboro.

Dodson was instantly killed and Virgil Scott, also of Iowa Park, was injured by the terrific force of the explosion, which hurled both men several feet through the air. Scott suffered a broken leg. J. L. Young, Iowa Park, was slightly hurt.

Until recently Dodson had been employed as a salesman for the Iowa Park Motor company. He was working as a truck driver for the John Barbour company of Iowa Park at the time of the explosion. He is survived by his mother, his widow and two children.

Nagging Branded As 'Slow Death to Husbands'

LONDON, May 11. (US)—A woman who nags her husband is committing slow murder.

L. W. Brewster, Veteran Bank Teller Here, Dies in Oklahoma City

L. W. Brewster, 56, veteran employe of the City National bank, died suddenly Monday morning at the home of his mother, Mrs. Redge Brewster, in Oklahoma City.

With Mrs. Brewster he left here several days ago to visit his mother in Oklahoma City. Although his health had not been good for the past two years, his death was unexpected.

Mr. Brewster had been a resident of Wichita Falls for 20 years, during which he was employed by the City National bank as a teller and in the accounting department until two years ago when failing health caused his retirement.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed Monday night, althought services will be held Wednesday afternoon from the family home, 1112 Polk street, probably at 4 o'clock. The body will arrive here from Oklahoma City Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Brewster, the mother, and a brother residing in Oklahoma City, arrived here Monday night.

JOE GANT DIES IN ACCIDENT IN EAST TEXAS

Oil Worker Drops 70 Feet To Ground When Plank Gives Way

RITES IN WICHITA

Young Wife of Victim, On Way to Field, Unaware Of Tragedy

Falling 70 feet from an oil derrick, Joe Gant, 25, Wichita Falls oil field worker, was instantly killed Monday near Henderson, in the East Texas oil field, according to a special dispatch to The Record News.

Wife Unaware of Death

Before news of his death reached here, Gant's wife left Wichita Falls for Henderson, happy in the prospect of a reunion with her husband. Gant had notified her only a few days ago to join him in the East Texas fields. The young wife was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Gant. Charlie Gant, a brother of the victim, is a special officer and former deputy sheriff here.

Efforts to communicate with the widow and brother, en route to Henderson, had been to no avail Monday night. Relatives here wired all towns along the route in an attempt to reach the automobile party, but it was believed that no communication could be made before the three reached their destination. They were due to arrive at Henderson about 2 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Gant had been working in the East Texas fields for about 45 days. At the time of the accident which took his life he was working on the Gordon & Gordon No. 1 Young test, eight miles west of Henderson. Gant, it was said, was working near the top of the derrick, losing his footing when the board on which he was standing fell out.

Services Here

The body was taken in charge by the Walker Undertaking company at Tyler. Although it is assured that the body will be returned to Wichita Falls for funeral services, relatives said that completion of arrangements await word from the widow, after she is informed of the death of her husband.

The young man was born and reared in Wichita Falls. He had been employed on various wells in this section as an oil field worker.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gant, 3124 Thirty-fourth street; two brothers, Charlie Gant, with whom he resided, and B. E. Gant; and a sister, Mrs. J. H. Douglass, all of Wichita Falls.

HOUSE CUTS SALARY BILL

Reductions Voted Through All Departments

a minority report. The bill would allow liquor law violators above the age of 25 years to be given suspended sentences.

House and senate free conferees, working on the two truck regulatory bills, brought in a report on the first of the two. The report was to be carried before the houses tomorrow.

The 31 amendments added by the senate during its lengthy discussion of the bill were left intact. As agreed upon by the conferees, the bill would not disturb the smaller carriers operating about cities and towns. The conferees agreed to write a different definition of motor carriers as those which traversed a highway between two or more cities or incorporated towns.

Products Added

Wool, mohair and dairy products were ordered added to the list of special commodities which might be transported under special permit.

Senator Williamson of San Antonio introduced a bill which would provide for the creation of the San Antonio canal and conservancy district, as in the Trinity river navigation bill, a tax would be levied in the San Antonio district and preliminary surveys made preparatory to asking the federal government for aid in making the San Antonio river navigable from San Antonio to San Antonio bay on the gulf coast.

Murder and Holdup Witnesses View Suspects in Gang Massacre

CHICAGO, May 11. (AP)—A nationwide "showup" began today for the six desperadoes seized last week at East St. Louis and accused of a crime career that brought millions in loot.

They were hurried into Chicago from Morrison, Ill., by state police, detectives and federal agents.

They marched across the highlighted "stage" at the detective bureau while victims in bank robberies, kidnapings and a murder or two looked on. Efforts were made to identify them in a murder or two.

The first "show-up" was early in the afternoon, and it brought forth a renewed identification of Thomas P. O'Conners as a participant in the robbery of the Piano, Ill., State bank.

Others were marked on the blotter for later—as police set out to round up the handful of persons who they believe may connect some of the men with the St. Valentine's day massacre two years ago, when seven men were machine-gunned to death in a North Clark street garage. Though no one saw the actual slayings, six persons watched a group of men leave the garage shortly before the bodies were discovered. They were asked to view the sextet.

A group of witnesses from Lincoln, Neb., were present at a special sitting. They were unable to identify any of the men as taking part in the $2,000,000 National Bank and Trust company robbery a year ago. The men are charged with this crime, and witnesses at Morrison, Ill., had definitely pointed out O'Conners and Howard Lee as participants.

cess clause of the constitution and that it was in restraint of interstate commerce.

The bill to give the railroad commission additional proration powers and to speed up trials of injunction suits was due to get its first hearing tomorrow night before the house committee on oil, gas and mining.

BOARD ADOPTS ADDITIONAL RULES

AUSTIN, May 11. (AP)—The railroad commission today adopted additional rules for the new East Texas oil area governing the method of drilling and completing wells and including special safety measures to protect property and life.

The commission said an emergency had arisen since the adoption of the previous rules. It stated a hearing of objections to the new rules would be held here May 22, but the rules would go into effect immediately.

The rules were:

"The producing string of casing in each instance must be cemented by the pump and plug method.

"After setting and cementing of the producing string, and before drilling operations are resumed, a blow out preventer in good condition and working order must be placed on the well, and in no event shall the cement plug be drilled out or pay formation cored or drilled into until such blowout preventer has been properly connected.

"Drilling of the pay formation must be done slowly and carefully, and operators are hereby ordered to refrain from drilling the maximum amount of pay, and hereafter drilling operations in every well must be stopped at a safe distance above the water level shown by the geology of the area in which the well is located.

"The use of casing head gas for fuel and other purposes, aside from gas lift, is encouraged, but it is hereby ordered that all casing head gas which cannot be utilized in accordance with the conservation law and rules and regulations of the railroad commission, be piped to a safe distance from tank batteries, wells and buildings and burned. This shall apply to gas from tanks as well as separators and in the burning of such gas, risers must be used in order to keep the fire at a safe distance above ground."

The East Texas field has been the scene of several disastrous fires.

Hoover the Grandfather Glimpsed Through Graying Man of Affairs

Editor's Note—The following story, giving intimate, little known facts about President Hoover, is the first of a series, "Personalities Behind the News." (Copyright, 1931, by The Associated Press)

By EDWARD J. DUFFY

WASHINGTON, May 11.—President Hoover works methodically through long days and of many an evening. He keeps red and yellow sugar candies on his desk for two grandchildren.

He smokes cigar after cigar, talks freely to one or another man whom he knows but generally becomes uncommunicative in a group. He likes fast walks and keeps his head down as a rule. His hair is getting thinner and grayer.

He will be 57 on Aug. 10 and is in his third year as president of the United States.

"Mr. President" has a personality somewhat different from that of the Herbert Hoover who directed Belgian relief during the war and was secretary of commerce in the Harding and Coolidge cabinets. He seldom relaxes and constantly observes the dignity of his office in formal manner.

When at ease in familiar company he enjoys swapping yarns and contributes more than his share from the store of his adventurous experiences. At times like this, the steady tapping of a foot or scratching on a pad—which he does while talking at his desk—does not come. Except when making a public speech, his voice is quiet almost to a whisper.

In two years he had made more radio speeches than did Calvin Coolidge during his seven in the White House. Technicians say he has mastered the task of calm and clear enunciation before the microphone.

Mr. Hoover usually keeps his desk clear of papers. Appointments less numerous nowadays than during the congerssional session, are kept short and to the point.

Individuals with whom he has business often are invited to the White House. It may be to play medicine ball at sunrise with breakfast thereafter, or it may be for luncheon or dinner or both.

Among the more or less regular callers on him at twilight are the children of Herbert Jr. Peggy Ann, 6, and Herbert 3rd, 4. They frequently escort the president the short space from office to home. They get the candy.

After dinner of an evening, President Hoover and his men guests retire to the Lincoln study on the second floor for their smoke. Time and again, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover entertain their guests with talking moving picture reels. He especially enjoys animated comics.

He walks the decks early and late during the battleship Arizona's trip to the West Indies, sometimes alone and from time to time with Secretaries Hurley and Wilbur or correspondents for companions.

One newspaper man, feeling low spirited one morning as he looked into the sea before breakfast, was surprised when his arm was gripped and a voice said, "come on take a walk, you'll feel better." The speaker was the president. They paced back and forth rapidly for minutes until the breakfast call came.

McKenney Gives Chief Address At Annual Hi-Y Father-Son Banquet

"You can buy flesh or fish with dollars and cents, but no father would ever value his son by that measure," said Dr. S. S. McKenney in his address at the annual Hi-Y father-son banquet held at the Wichita club Monday night.

He continued, "A few years ago the country was wild over the loss of Floyd Collins, who was buried in a cave for several days. Everything possible was done to rescue the boy; the life of this one boy was valuable to the country. Today there are millions of boys as valuable to their parents as he was to the people of the country, and these boys are just as exposed to the dangers and pitfalls of worldly temptation.

"There are possibly 60 million males in the United States. Two-thirds of these are above the age of 15 and have formed their habits. The one-third must be trained in the right habits, and that is a father's responsibility. According to statistics the average Christian convert is under 15 years old. Even the loaves and fishes with which Jesus fed the multitude were obtained through the gift of a youth. 'There is a lad here,' the scripture says, and the same can be said in every community. There is a lad here!"

Marvin Pierce gave a welcome to the fathers and B. D. Donnell gave the response. Max Raney played an accordina solo, and Bill Hord talked to the group on "Our Hi-Y Club." A talk on what a boy can do for his father was given by Joe Uttz. Dr. Q. B. Lee responded with what a father can do for his boy. J. L. Pope Jr. played a cornet solo.

T. F. Richardson, club sponsor, gave the invocation, and Pat Henry Jr., pronounced the benediction.

HERE'S 24-HOUR COMFORT FOR

Sore Feet

Have pity on your sore, burning feet! The minute you put them in a TIZ bath they'll thank you. You can just feel cool comfort soaking in as pain is drawn out. Comfort comes instantly and stays for 24 hours. Acids and poisons—the cause of pain, swelling, bad odors and itching—are destroyed. Tired muscles soothed and revived. Tender feet made hardy—ready to carry you happily on your way. For the quickest and surest relief—for 24-hour foot comfort—try this way. All duggists sell TIZ tablets.—Adv.

FRECKLES

Remove The Ugly Mask This Way

Only that freckle-mask keeps you from a lovely complexion. Get rid of those homely spots and your skin will look soft and fine instead of dry and harsh; clear, fresh and young instead of rusty, patchy and old.

What you need is Othine-double strength. After a few nights' use of this dainty white cream, you should find that even the worst freckles are disappearing while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It seldom takes more than an ounce jar of Othine to fade out those homely blemishes and restore the natural beauty of your skin.

Be sure to ask for Othine-double strength at any drug or department store. Money back if it does not remove even the worst freckles and leave your complexion soft, clear and beautiful.—Adv.

Giant Flying Boat Waits Good Weather

BOLAMA, Portuguese Guinea, May 11. (US)—The DO-X, giant Doriner flying boat, is being held at Bubaque bay, Bissagos Islands, for favorable weather before attempting to fly the South Atlantic ocean to Fernando do Noronha, a small island off the coast of Brazil.

Definite word was received today from Capt. Friedrich Christiansen that the test flights of the DO-X last week were successful, and that his giant craft was not damaged, as reported.

ade, colors escorted by armed guard, mounted past captains of the patrol. Maskat temple band, Maskat temple Arabic patrol.

Division Two—Divan, mounted; distinguished visitors, past potentates, degree team, De Molay patrol, nobles marching.

Division Three—Paul Seeds' band, cowboys mounted, novices on floats, American Legion drum corps.

The line of march will be as follows: East on Tenth street to Indiana; north on Indiana to Seventh street; west on Seventh to Scott; south on Scott to Tenth.

The novices will be in charge of the class committee, W. M. Wolfe, B. B. Bacon and C. C. Connor.

A concert by members of the Maskat temple band will precede the second section of the ceremonial which will be held at the Memorial auditorium at 6:45 p. m. Potentate Hamilton, assisted by all divan officers, will be in charge of this section. The memorial service will be directed by Dr. S. S. McKenney.

Dance to Close Day

The evening's entertainment will be completed with a dance for all nobles and their ladies in the auditorium of Maskat temple. The dance will begin at 9:30 o'clock and will be given under the direction of J M. Spoonts, chairman of the dance committee and his assistants, Sydney A. Gaines, C. A. Rogers, Dr. J. H. Fletcher, Gerald Pond, Eli Morgan and W. H. Ruggles. Members will be admitted on their 1931 membership cards and the ladies on their courtesy cards. All nobles are requested to wear their fez throughout the day.

Mrs. W. B. Hamilton, assisted by wives of the divan officers, has arranged a delightful program for the visting ladies. They will register in the lobby of the Holt hotel after which they may choose their own form of entertainment.

A pre-ceremonial program, termed as a "home good will trip," was presented by Maskat temple Monday night.

Entertainment was first furnished on Scott street between Eighth and Ninth streets, at 7:30 p. m., when a concert was given by Maskat temple Shrine band, directed by Gerald Pond. Following a parade a fancy drill was given by the Arab patrol, under the direction of Capt. Ray Wilhite and Lieuts. J. T. Yeargan and R. P. Broutherton.

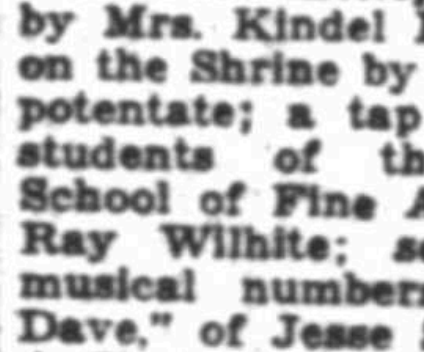
Later a varied and entertaining program was presented at the Memorial auditorium. Judge Guy Rogers acted as master of ceremonies and presented a program arranged by J. M. Franklin. A stage background was created with divan officers and past potentates seated in a group.

The entertainment opened with a concert by the high school orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Hermione Stewart Vaughan, and continued as follows: Vocal numbers by the Shrine quartet, accompanied by J. S. Pitman; solo by Mrs. Tom Littlepage, accompanied by Mrs. Kindel Paulk; an address on the Shrine by Ed Peterson, past potentate; a tap dance chorus by students of the Knickerbocker School of Fine Arts; solo by Mrs. Ray Wilhite; several songs and musical numbers by "Jack and Dave," of Jesse Smith's orchestra; A Shrine address by Potentate W. B. Hamilton; and a two-minute concert by the Maskat Shrine band.

NOW READ HOW KONJOLA WORKS

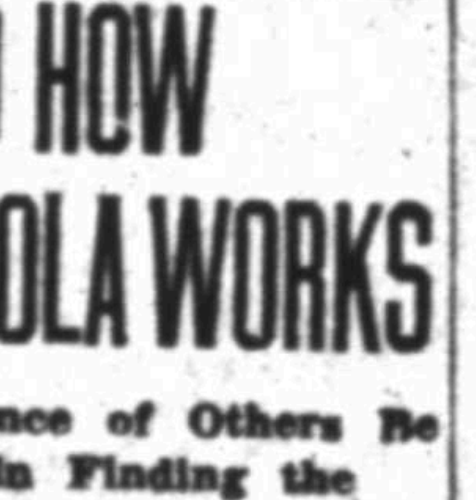
Let the Experience of Others Be Your Guide in Finding the Right Medicine

After all, what wiser thing to do than to be guided by the happy experiences of those who have put Konjola to the test. Read, right now, the grateful words of those who know what Konjola has done for them.



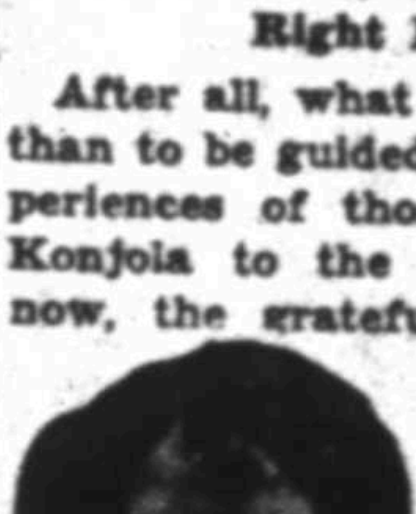
Mrs. C. J. Slaney

"I feel great," says Mrs. C. J. Slaney, 1104 Cherry street, Fort Worth, Texas, "after taking the fourth bottle of Konjola. For more than a year I suffered with kidney trouble, nervousness and constipation. I was tired and worn out, and my complexion was bad. Now I have vitality, and I think Konjola is a wonderful medicine."



Mr. Henry Feiske

And read the words of Mr. Henry Feiske, 1427 Market street, Galveston: "Four years I suffered terribly from rheumatism. There were times when I could not stoop nor walk without pain. I tried many medicines. Now I am on my fourth bottle of Konjola and am better than in ten years, for my general health is vastly improved."



Mrs. Magdalena Muehe

And read the grateful statement of Mrs. Magdalena Muehe, 1409 K street, Galveston, who declares: "For years I had stomach trouble and constipation, and I tried many medicines, but none gave me the relief that Konjola has. I give this endorsement so that others who suffer as I did can get the same relief."

Isn't this the medicine you want; one that gives relief like described here? Konjola works swiftly, all of its 29 ingredients working together. Konjola is for the aged or the infant; for all the family. Buy Konjola in any good drug store anywhere, and do not accept a substitute.—Adv.

Spanish Rioters Burn Churches

flames consuming the Carmelite convention on the Plaza de Espana during the day of terror. Their shout amounted to a call to war:

Clerics in Flight

Tonight hundreds of nuns, monks and priests, their lives endangered by the mob's fury, in many cases their religious establishments in ruins or else untenable, donned civilian garb to find refuge in the homes of the faithful.

Street warfare was in prospect as the regular troops began and erection of barbed wire entanglements and barricades. Machine gun detachments were summoned to strategic points.

An official communique attributed the day of anarchy to Monarchists and "extremists elements of the left." This is taken to indicate government avowal of Communistic responsibility.

Reinforcements Planned

Another government statement declared that, should the situation grow more ominous, the Madrid garrison will be reinforced by troop levies from the provinces.

The stock exchange is closed and business is at a standstill, with Communist agitators urging a general strike.

At least three persons have been killed in the rioting which began yesterday with anti-Royalist demonstrations and today took an entirely new turn when the mob attacked the Jesuit headquarters in the Calle Flor.

Two hundred priests fled to safety as the rioters beat down the door and surged in. One Jesuit was seized and badly beaten. The building and an adjoining church were then soaked with gasoline and burned while the howling mob stood outside throwing stones and bricks through the windows and derisively making the cross atop the church their target.

A Carmelite monastery, a Jesuit seminary, and a Franciscan school in the center of the capital were the mob's next objectives. These were looted before gasoline and torch were applied.

In all instances, firemen made valiant efforts to save the buildings but in all cases they were so hampered by the rioters that the flames were beyond control before they could bring hoses into action. Detachments of civil guards rushed to each threatened building were swept aside.

Meanwhile, other mobs in the suburbs beseiged monasteries and convents, putting them to the flame after they had been looted. A Jesuit school and priest residence in the Chamartin suburb were reduced to smoldering embers.

The chief of police tonight announced that attempts to fire 10 other religious institutions had been frustrated.

Archduke Determined To Wed Despite Ban

VIENNA, May 11. (US)—Archduke Leopold of Austria is determined to marry Mrs. Alicia Coburn of New York even though Pope Pius XI, to whim he has applied for permission, refuses to sanction the marriage.

This was said by friends of the archduke to bear out his recent announcement that he had been divorced from his wife, the Baroness Dagmar of Nicolics-Podrinska, although no record of the divorce has been unearthed here.

rear of the train, took charge. We covered the living victims with blankets until the ambulance arrived. The girl, whose legs were crushed in addition to other injuries, died before she could be taken into the Alvord hotel. The grandmother lived 10 minutes longer, dying after she had been laid on a hotel bed.

"The bodies, except that of the child, were mangled. Apparently the wheels of the train had passed over Mr. Collins, severing a leg. His mother's skull was crushed.

"The train stayed in the Alvord station for two hours while we patrolled the right of way in search of other victims."

The accident occurred just one block south of the main Alvord crossing, where the view on either side is unobstructed. Engineer J. F. Gillespie reported that he had whistled for the crossing and had seen the approaching car. He said the machine came to a stop 10 feet from the crossing, but as the train approached, suddenly lurched forward immediately in front of the locomotive. The crash split the car in half and dragged the occupants of the machine about 50 feet.

Reward Up For Mayor's Assassin

PORT ARTHUR, May 11. (AP)—A reward of $500 was posted today for the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons who last night fired shots into a room where Mayor-elect J. P. Logan was talking with several persons.

The reward was offered by Mayor J. W. O'Neal, unsuccessful opponent of Logan's in the recent municipal election, and M. B. Word chief of police seeking reelection.

Citizens remained divided in their opinions of the attack, some contending the shots were fired for political effect, while others believed that Logan's life actually was attempted.

PROWLERS GET $5

House prowlers entered the home of J. H. Durnal, 1814 Collins street early Monday night, securing a purse containing more than $5 in money and several keys, according to police. While members of the family were in the living room with the radio turned on, the prowlers entered through a side door, it was said.

First Presbyterian W. M. S. Studies Missions In Texas

Home missions were the topic of study when circles of the First Presbyterian Woman's Missionary society met Monday in different homes. Mrs. J. W. Culbertson was hostess to members of circle one when Mrs. R. T. Weidmer, circle leader, presided in the business session.

Mrs. H. J. Strief introduced Dr. B. A. Hodges of Waxahachie who made an interesting talk on Mexican Missions in Texas. Mrs. Strief had charge of the devotional and each member present quoted a verse of Scripture. The Lord's prayer sung in unison completed the devotional following which Mrs. Strief directed a Bible quiz.

Mrs. W. M. Priddy sang as a pretty solo, "Sweet and Low," accompanied by Mrs. Carey Hunter, and an instrumental duet was given by Irvine Roberts and Sara Culbertson.

A pleasant social half hour followed the program. Those present were Mesdames R. T. Weidmer, J. A. Kemp, J. D. Robertson, E. T. Duff, C. C. Hagmann, H. J. Strief, R. L. Hargrave, F. E. Rose, C. I. Weldon, W. P. Bolding, J. W. Crews, A. G. Johnson, J. W. Erwin, Wm. McIlheran, I. J. White, Carey Hunter, W. M. Priddy, Leon Cygon, Mrs. J. W. Culbertson, the hostess, Dr. Hodges, Sara Culbertson and Irvine Roberts.

Circle Two

Mrs. R. R. Robertson presided in a business meeting preceding the program when members of circle two met with Mrs. I. H. Roberts at her home, 2124 Berkeley.

Mrs. Luther Wright had charge of the program which was opened with a song by Mrs. J. Will Gray, "Just for Today," with Mrs. Robertson playing the accompaniment. Mrs. J. C. Hunt made an intensely interesting talk on "Among the Mexicans in Texas," stressing the home mission work of the church and Dr. Geo. Horst also talked to the group.

A pleasant social hour was spent by members including Mesdames R. R. Robertson, Luther Wright, D. J. White, Ralph Peterson, Max Shumake, M. B. Oates, J. L. Mears, E. W. Nicholson, Everett Jones, Harry Fidler, O. Slopansky, J. Will Gray, I. H. Roberts, J. C. Hunt, Campbell, Miss Daisy Slopansky and Hazel Campbell and Dr. Horst.

Circle Three

Mrs. Orville Bullington was hostess to members of circle three when the meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. A. K. Jarrell and in the short business session, Mrs. R. O. Harvey presided.

Mrs. H. B. Patterson had charge of the program which was opened by an inspirational devotional by Mrs. Albert Crenshaw. Mrs. John Davenport made an interesting talk on Latin America and Mrs. John Caldwell spoke vividly of the Mexican Missions in Texas.

Mrs. C. H. Reid gave a clever reading, "When the Missionary Offering Talks."

Those present were Mesdames R. O. Harvey, J. M. Bell, T. J. Brock, Albert Crenshaw, W. E. Cobb, John Caldwell, John Davenport, W. A. Ehlert, B. L. Fain, A. K. Jarrell, Luke McCrory, H. B. Patterson, J. N. Prothro, C. H. Reid, R. M. Tittle, J. P. Witherspoon, George Wilson, J. T. Watson, the hostess, Mrs. Bullington, and one guest, Mrs. White.

Circle Four

Mrs. Frank Kell was hostess to members of circle four at her home when a short business meeting was held. Features on the program on "Our Spanish Speaking Neighbors" included papers by Mesdames W. H. Apple and W. E. Brothers.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames O. T. Ailes, W. H. Apple, C. W. Beavers, W. E. Brothers, W. W. Fraser, L. N. Jernigan, Frank Kell, V. D. Miller, J. D. Maddrey, C. O. Nickell, W. W. Robertson, C. C. Randell, E. E. Scannell, O. W. Wilson and M. H. Walker.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

In a recent Harper's magazine article a remark of the Lord's in "Green Pastures," is quoted. Irked by the perverseness of mankind, He said to the angel Gabriel, "Being God ain't no bed of roses, Gabe."

There isn't a job filled in good measure that is a "bed of roses." No merchant, no lawyer, no physician, no school teacher, no housewife—no person who is doing the job right has a bed of roses in 1930-31.

One of the debated subjects at this period in history is "birth control." It is one that brings wrath on the head of the person expressing convictions for or against. There is one fact that might be considered in connection with this subject; that a survival of humanity physically would mean calamity without a spiritual survival.

And a spiritual survival among very poor people who are tortured by dreams of a barren future; tortured by a fear of losing out in the fight for survival; tortured by a dread of what children with no chance for education and training may become—for them, a spiritual survival is a difficult thing.

"What have I to leave my children?" is asked. Plain figures will prove that the smaller family has the greater chance for the building of those principles and ideals that mean the survival of a spirit that means democracy. It takes much patience to teach idealism when one works hard to furnish bread.

Life is no "bed of roses" for a mother who is hungry to see her children acquire a real education, who is sad when she cannot give them those "good times" regarded as perquisites of youth—who feels that she must look after them physically and who prays over them spiritually.

It is no "bed of roses" for the merchant who has identified himself with a city and regards its citizens as his assets and liabilities; who has built for his own future, for that of his family and also that of his city. The prosperity that has lingered so long a time "right around the corner," has put him at the mercy of those whom he calls friends.

Life is no "bed of roses" for a city manager and councilmen who have the same problems to deal with that have not been settled for a protracted period; cheaper gas, better water—the question of salaries.

It is no "bed of roses" for the unemployed who meet face to face each day the specter of want that only haunts the man who still holds his job. And it is no "bed of roses" for the citizens who endeavor to help the unemployed through today and toward a new tomorrow.

It is probably no "bed of roses" for Governor Sterling who gave the voters a clear statement of his ideas as to the laws best for Texas and is hampered in their execution by a legislature that does a thousand small things and cannot agree on a few big ones.

It has possibly been no "bed of roses" for Mr. Hoover who has been blamed intermittently for everything that has gone wrong in America. There is no Moses (with a bed of roses) to lead us out of the wilderness and the only thing that can be done is set a shoulder to the wheel and keep a stiff upper lip. Just the best one can do.

Grant Street Methodist W. M. S. in All Day Meet

In the all-day meeting of the Grant Street Methodist Woman's Missionary society, Mrs. O. F. Coleman had charge of the afternoon program including the last three chapters of the mission book, "Life and Letters of Paul," and in her talk stressed the fact that Paul's life was a model to its closing days.

Mrs. W. H. Black, president, presided in the morning business meeting and Mrs. G. N. Walker gave an interesting conference report.

It was announced that a chicken dinner would be given Friday evening at the church after which the meeting was dismissed for a bountiful luncheon.

Those present included Mesdames Sam Beard, Y. C. Clark, E. A. Miles, M. W. Johnson, J. L. Gambrell, O. W. Holmes, J. S. Counts, W. E. Hodges, I. L. Sides, W. H. Black, O. L. Gibbs, D. O. Waymire, C. McLendon, A. T. Crump, W. O. Dallas, H. A. Baker, O. F. Coleman, H. A. Bancroft, G. N. Walker, J. M. Lokey, Charles Berry, B. O. Badgley, T. M. Bridges, W. D. Smithson, Marshall Doke, Albert Banning and Miss Maxine Larson.

High School P.-T. A. Will Install Officers

The High school and Junior college P.-T. A. will install officers for the coming year at the regular meeting to be held at the school Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Following the devotionals opening the program, a silent tribute will be paid to R. B. Ford, deceased, recently teacher of English in the high school.

Durward Parks will direct violin ensemble numbers and Mrs. Homer McGregor will give the Scripture reading.

"How Art and Music Impress the Life of the Student" will be discussed by Miss Ina Pendergrass, Mesdames W. W. Silk and Hermione Vaughn in cooperation with national P.-T. A. music week observance and the installation services will be conducted by Mrs. J. C. Mathis.

Happiness For Young Couples Called 'Luck'

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have a son who married at the age of 16 a darling little girl only a little older than he. They have a beautiful home and everything to make them happy, but now after three years they have fallen completely out with each other and want to part. They don't even seem to care for their child, a dear little baby boy that they don't even keep at home, but who lives with the girl's mother. I am very fond of my little daughter-in-law and have done everything in the world I could to heal the breach between her and my son and have struggled to keep them together, but it seems as if they can't be reconciled. Is there anything I can do? —A. M. S.

Answer—I think the only thing you can do is to advise them to separate for a while, but not to get a divorce at least until they find out that their love is dead.

The trouble with them is that they were children playing at love, playing at setting up a home, playing at being parents, and now, like children, they have tired of the game and want some new toys with which to amuse themselves. Children of 16 and 17 are incapable of the love that lasts, and it is a crime against civilization that we permit them to wreck their lives by marrying and undertaking responsibilities for which they are not fitted.

When a boy and girl marry it is sheer luck if they develop along together and if they do not lose their taste for each other. Apparently this good fortune has not befallen your son and his wife. They are growing up and they do not like the kind of man and woman they have become. They have nothing in common. They are antagonistic instead of congenial.

It is a great pity, but I do not see how it can be helped, nor what morality can be served by forcing them to live together when they hate each other, and when they make a home of strife into which other unfortunate children may be born. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have had occasion recently in discussing with my friends the propriety of removing a hat when a lady enters an elevator. There is a difference of opinion among us. What is the proper thing to do? —D. V.

Answer—The entrance of women into the business world has done away with many gracious social usages, among them the obligation for a gentleman to remove his hat when a lady enters an elevator. Nevertheless the doing of it marks a man as being just a little bit more of a gentleman than the one who doesn't. —DOROTHY DIX.

Interesting 'Peace' Lesson Heard At Floral Heights

Mrs. Val Land directed an interesting lesson on "Peace" when members of Floral Heights Methodist Missionary society met at the church Monday afternoon. Mrs. W. J. Stuckler led the song service with Mrs. Austin Leach at the piano, and the beautiful devotional was given by Mrs. G. E. Laskey, followed by prayer by Mrs. C. M. Simpson.

Mrs. Yeager dismissed many ways in which peace may be realized between nations, saying that individuals should think peace, talk peace, pray for peace and work for peace.

Mrs. Skeen Staley described "The Menace of Armaments," stating that disarmament cannot be brought about until national, state and civic leaders are men of peace in terms of the great leader of New Testament times. She said that constant propaganda is keeping up turmoil and that the world is still far from the real meaning of harmony between nations.

"Keeping Lives in Tune With Station H. E. A. V. E. N. Through Prayer," was the theme of a talk by Mrs. Val Land and the study program was closed with "Whispering Hope," sung by Mesdames John R. Saunders and A. G. Robbie, with Mrs. R. A. Sanders accompanying after which Mrs. Land gave the closing prayer.

Mrs. Simpson announced that Mrs. H. W. Barton is the newly appointed district secretary following Mrs. B. P. Williams' resignation on account of ill health, and Mrs. Austin Leach exhibited lovely handmade tea towels given the church kitchen by Mrs. F. R. Collard Sr. It was announced that Mrs. Tittle's circle led in attendance and the meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. W. H. Roper.

Those present were Mesdames O. W. Harvey, W. D. Rowland, F. T. Kelleher, R. A. Sanders, John R. Sanders, O. W. Atkins, C. M. Goodwin, W. J. Stuckler, W. H. Roper, A. B. Gough, Austin F. Clarendon Twilight League Opens Season

Special to The Record News

CLARENDON, Texas, May 11.—The first week of the newly organized Twilight leagues of this city resulted in wins for the nines representing the Grocers and Dry Goods. The Grocers led by the fine pitching of Stevenson carried off the first game over the Gassers, 7 to 1, and the Dry Goods on last Tuesday took the measure of the Baptists, 7 to 4. These teams will complete a 14-game schedule, playing two games each week for the first half of the season, and much interest is being manifested here in their games. No admission is charged, the teams being backed by the business houses they represent.

Petition Opposes Ousting of Cabrera

MEXICO CITY, May 11. (AP)—Petition for a restraining order against possible deportation of Luis Cabrera, former minister of finance, has been filed in the supreme court by his wife.

Senora Carbera said her husband was arrested Saturday by agents of the interior department, taken to a military barracks and later transferred from the barracks in a truck under heavy military escort to a mysterious destination.

The newspaper La Prensa said Cabrera and Paul Madero, brother of the former president, Francisco I. Madero, were both arrested and already had been deported to Laredo but other reports said they were taken to Guatemala.

Cabrera served in the government of the late President Venustiano Carranza and recently delivered a series of political lectures.

There has been no official confirmation of the apprehensions nor of the charges that may have been lodged against Carbera and Madero, who is said to have shared Cabrera's political views.

Mystery Letters Attack Professor

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 11. (AP)—At least 16 persons have received "poison pen" letters attacking Professor A. Taracuzio, Harvard law school instructor, and former captain in the imperial Russian army, District Attorney Warren L. Bishop said today.

Those receiving the letters included 12 members of the faculty and several young society women.

Alienists and typographical experts were today examining reams of manuscript and other typewritten and numerous typewriters within the confines of Harvard in an effort to establish the identity of the writer.

The authorities also had in their hands a letter, copies of which were received by several newspapers, which stated the "poison pen" letters attacking the Russian professor had covered a period of about a year. The letter, which was typewritten and unsigned, said Taracuzio knew the identity of his attacker.

Court Discharges Temporary Receiver For C. C. Julian After Short Hearing

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 11. (UP)—The temporary receiver appointed for the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalties was discharged by District Judge Sam Hooker this afternoon.

Judge Hooker instructed J. B. Dudley, an attorney for the Julian company, to take charge of the books until May 18 when a hearing will be held on an application for a permanent receiver for the large oil promotion company.

Julian was in the courtroom with Dudley and O. A. Cargill, his other attorney, when the oral order was issued.

B. C. Housel, named Saturday as temporary receiver by Judge Hooker promptly withdrew and ordered guards stationed at the palatial offices of the Julian company removed.

Under Judge Hooker's order the company's business can be conducted pending the hearing May 18.

Woman Asks Receiver

The temporary receiver was named on application of Miss Marjorie Bennett of Hollywood, Calif., a holder of six shares of capital stock valued at $20.

A motion for dissolution of the receivership filed this morning, Cargill and Dudley contended that it was unfair to tie up the business of the company on the petition of a stockholder of only six shares who had held the interests less than 15 days.

The motion stated that Miss Bennett, who obtained the stock through the Los Angeles stock exchange, should give an address so that she could be repaid her investment if she was dissatisfied.

$10,000,000 Property

Cargill contended that the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalties company has property appraised at $10,000,000 in Oklahoma alone and that it could easily be valued between $3,000,000 and $10,000,000. He said that Julian, who is sole trustee of the company, had an investment of $2,500,000 in the company.

Miss Bennett contended, among other things, in her petition that Julian was incompetent to handle the affairs of the company because of "riotous living."

Housel, Oklahoma City business man, posted $10,000 bond required when he was named temporary receiver. Housel employed the guards himself when Sheriff Stanley Rogers refused to supply deputies for the task.

Whether Julian oil wells in the city field and in Texas would be permitted to run was not determined. Julian has four large gushers in the Oklahoma City field, one in East Texas and about 30 in the north central area of Texas.

Julian was in the courtroom today awaiting the hearing.

Cargill represented the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalties and Dudley represented the Black Warrior Oil company and the Julian Development trust, alleged subsidiary companies.

In seeking an immediate hearing, Cargill said the Julian Oil and Royalties company is solvent, "worth from $3,000,000 to $10,000,000."

"It is unfair to stop the operations of a large concern like this on a suit of a person holding only $20 worth of stock," Cargill said. "She purchased the stock within the past 15 days."

The motion charged Miss Bennett was a non-resident of Oklahoma and insolvent. The motion charged that no notice was given of time and place of hearing and that the petition failed to state the facts sufficient to justify the appointment of a receiver without notice or "even upon notice."

Miss Bennett was represented by M. A. Beets, an Oklahoma City attorney.

TONY LEARNS TO FEED FLIERS

Airmen Take to Little Cafe In New York

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP)—A couple of army pilots from Mitchell field dropped into Tony Argan's little restaurant in Hempstead one day and complained of being hungry, especially since they had just finished a long flight. And from that time on, Tony became a specialist in air-catering.

The walls of his home and restaurant are covered with photos, telegrams and letters signed by famous aviators.

Tony, aided by his wife, has prepared the food for most every important transatlantic and cross-country flight since Lindbergh's.

Although fliers tell Tony what kind of sandwiches they want, they will always find chicken, turkey meat and Swiss cheese. Nothing more, except for a quart of coffee and a gallon of water in vacuum bottles, for each man.

He never puts salt and pepper on the sandwiches. Mrs. Clarence Chamberlin once told him that salt makes pilots thirsty and pepper is likely to produce sneezing.

The sandwiches—about six to a man—are packed in special wax containers, tied together like a bunch of firecrackers. This enables each man to pull out one or more sandwiches at a time, without destroying the full air-tight package.

Tony says the fliers never find out they've been given "the regular three" brands of sandwiches until they are out over the ocean. They never complain when he sees them again.

Ruth Elder fooled Tony. She sent a boy to his restaurant and got six chocolate bars, olive and egg sandwiches and pickles. Tony would never have sold it if he knew it was for a flier on a long distance hop.

The average transatlantic plane carried about $6 worth of food per man, Tony estimates. Byrd's bill was higher, for besides the 40 sandwiches, he ordered four whole roasted chickens.

Old Timers of Floyd County Prepare for 41st Anniversary

Special to The Record News

FLOYDADA, Texas, May 11.—Members of the executive committee of the Pioneer's association of Floyd county began laying plans this week for the third annual meeting of the association, which will be held in Floydada, May 28, celebrating the 41st anniversary of the organization of Floyd county.

Invitations are going out to various parts of the Southwest to former residents of Floyd county in pioneer days to be present for the meeting. A basket dinner will be spread on the courthouse lawn in old-fashioned style which will be prepared by pioneer residents of the county, and will be for old timers only. J. J. Day of Floydada, the second oldest pioneer now living in the county and president of the association will make the welcome address. Mrs. Sarah K. Duncan of Floydada, the oldest pioneer of the county and the twin sister of Mr. Day will make the response.

The program will consist of talks by old timers, old-time fiddling music and other diversions known to pioneers of those days. Preparations are being made to entertain 300 or more on that date.

Other officers and committees of the association are as follows: Vice president, R. E. L. Muncy; secretary-treasurer, Tom W. Deen; directors, Geo. L. Fawver, Glad Snodgrass of Floydada and Robin Baker of Lockney; memorial committee, Mrs. R. H. Willis, Mrs. Glad Snodgrass, Mrs. G. V. Smith of Floydada, Mrs. A. P. Barker, Mrs. Carl McAdams of Lockney; registration committee, Mrs. Maud Burrus, Mrs. J. D. Starks, Mrs. C. Surginer, Mrs. R. C. Scott, Mrs. E. P. Nelson, Mrs. Glad Snodgrass.

Hall Club Boys Cut Down Cotton Acreage

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, May 11.—Exactly one-half the number 4-H club boys previously interested in cotton raising are planning to grow cotton this year, according to County Agent E. W. Thomas. Eighty boys are enrolled in 4-H club work at the present time, Mr. Thomas reports. He expects an enrollment of 100 boys before June 1. Clubs are functioning at Eli, Leslie, Salisbury, Baylor and Weatherly.

Club members are taking courses in feed crops, pig raising and various other phases of farm life. The percentage of the club membership taking cotton raising this year is 18 per cent as compared with 36 per cent last year. The boys seem more interested in feed crops, pig and poultry raising than in cotton.

Barber Waives Hearing On Wife Murder Charge

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 11 (UP)—Norman J. Smith, Oklahoma City barber, waived preliminary hearing in justice court today on a murder charge in the death of his wife.

His action was taken after the state had introduced four witnesses one of which, Dr. A. C. Hirshfield, testified Mrs. Neola Smith died April 21 from blows as well as bullet wounds.

COTTON CO-OP REPORT GIVEN

Williams Defends Federal Farm Board

DALLAS, May 11. (AP)—Harry Williams, general manager of the Texas Cotton Co-Operative association, made his annual report to the membership meeting of the association today, defending the federal farm board, outlining activities of the reorganized Texas co-operative and predicting that marketing costs would be reduced this year.

Directors nominated were elected today and will meet tomorrow to elect new officers.

Lynn Stokes of Ballinger, president, confined his brief report to an appeal to the membership not to let their "morale be destroyed" by attacks on the farm board and the co-operative plan. He predicted brighter conditions for the "new cycle" about to be entered by the association.

Williams said cotton growers everywhere had received from $7.50 to $10 more a bale as a result of the cotton market stabilization which he said it was generally agreed farm board activities had succeeded in accomplishing.

Standardization of seed among farmers in a community so the staple might be of uniform length and quality was advocated by speakers.

Jury Indicts 22 In Rum Smuggling Ring

PENSACOLA, Fla., May 11. (AP)—Twenty-two persons were indicted here today by a federal grand jury on charges connecting them with a reputed liquor smuggling ring operating between New Orleans and Miami.

Federal agents said the indictments grew out of the seizure of the motorboat Coca-Cola Kid, near here a year ago, with a cargo of liquor aboard valued at $150,000.

George Earl Hoffman, United States assistant attorney, said the men involved in the case were members of a syndicate operating in New Orleans April 11 when a radio station was seized.

Eight men have been arrested, Hoffman said.

Two Immigrants Plan Flight To Former Homes

LIBERTY, N. Y., May 11. (AP)—An European-born American who found good fortune in the United States and his Danish pilot are making final preparations here for the grand adventure of their lives—a trip by air from their adopted land, across the Atlantic ocean to the countries of their birth.

For Otto Hillig, wealthy Liberty photographer, it is a long stretch of years back to Steinbrucken, Germany, where he was born. Hellig, now 55, left the German city 40 years ago. He never has been back.

Holgar Hoiriis, his Danish pilot on the contemplated transatlantic hop, left Denmark seven years ago. He is now 27. He has been a pilot for six years.

The Hillig-Hoiriis argosy commences on May 17 when the two in their Bellanca airplane sail away from Roosevelt field for Harbor Grace, Newfoundland. When the weather is right they will take the air at Harbor Grace with Copenhagen, 3,100 miles away, their destination. They expect to see the Danish capital 28 hours after leaving Newfoundland. No transatlantic flier has ever reached Scandinavia. The two men met last year.

A total of 2,553,481,000 eggs, 4,766,831,000 fry and 2,553,481,999 fingerlings, were produced by U. S. government fish hatcheries during 1930.

Best Relief For Athlete's Foot

This condition of the feet, cracked skin between and around the toes; inflammation and severe itching; water blisters and burning, is now known to be caused by a germ, or fungus growth.

The only way to get relief is to kill these fungus germs, which you can do, in from 24 to 72 hours, with a pleasant-odored, delightful-to-use ointment, known as "Tetterine," prepared by Shuptrine Co., Savannah, Ga.

Tetterine is almost infallible in bringing prompt and comforting relief in these distressing conditions of the feet, and it may be had at any drug store for 60c, with a guarantee of perfect relief or money refunded.—Adv.

Death for the Moderns
Noise Is Great Ally
The Welsh Come Forward
Arms and Prosperity

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Death is always pictured as an old man with a scythe who comes stealthily upon you, mostly from behind. But death in the modern age and in the big cities, comes with the loudest of drums, and assaults you from all sides.

Noise, if it is continuous, spells certain death. Noise is maiming our brains, muscles, ears, nerves and digestion. Dr. Ludwig Loeb of the Jewish hospital in Philadelphia declares that, according to the results derived from experiments, "sounds of a more or less intermittent character cause irregularity of the heart rhythm, increase brain pressure, make our muscles more tense for action and our movements more energetic. As a consequence, there is greater wear and tear on the system, resulting in rapid fatigue and nervous exhaustion. Even the digestion does not escape the harmful effects of disturbing causes."

Scientists, writers, inventors, thinkers of every description, "the creative minority," as Dr. Fosdick refers to them, are the greatest sufferers from this menace. They are the people in whom the hope of the world lies, and who ought to be soonest preserved. Unnecessary noise should be penalized as severely as a knife thrust. The callous driver who sounds his siren needlessly should have, for punishment, a horn tooted in his ear for 24 hours. This might teach him something.

We observe there are three claimants for the honor of discovering America: the Scandinavians through Leif Ericsson; the Spaniards and Italians through Columbus, the Greeks through Ptolemy, Eratosthenes and Strabo. Now the Welsh come forward and claim the honor in the name of Prince Madoc.

According to Miss Megan Lloyd George, daughter of the former premier of England, Prince Madoc, compelled by civil strife to leave his native land, sailed westward in 1170 and reached "a new land whose products and inhabitants were unlike those of Europe." This land is believed to have been America.

The Russians, Bulgarians, Montenegrins, Eygptians have yet to put in their claims. When all the claims are in, it will probably be found that America was not discovered at all.

A new way to keep warm indoors has been devised by Westinghouse scientists of Pittsburgh. The walls and ceilings of rooms will soon be equipped with "skins," electrically charged, through the pores of which heat will flow, regulated to the temperature desired, or to the normal heat of the human body.

If the innovation proves practical, it will replace all heating appliances now in use. The rattle of steam pipes and the local heat from gas or electric burners will no longer trouble or irritate. The prevalence of colds, also, from drafts, opening of windows, will be reduced.

Credit for all this goes to L. W. Schad, who set up the tests. His invention may afect the whole art of interior decoration. Porous walls with peach-bloom skins, crenallated ceilings exhaling perfumed heat, are probably in the offing. Important if true.

Civilization takes a step forward in modern depression. President Hoover says disarmament is vital to business revival. This is a new argument in economics for those who made their fortunes in war profiteering, buying stocks when steel went up to build more battleships and when huge orders were placed for guns and ammunition. Gentlemen who went to South America to start revolutions for American arms factories when business was dull will think the world is certainly going to pieces.

Science of Parenthood

PARENTHOOD, says Helen Hayes, attractive and talented actress ought to be a separate profession, attempted only after thorough and compulsory training.

Miss Hayes, who in private life is the wife of Charles MacArthur, has a child of her own—a 14-month-old daughter. She says:

"I would not think of caring for her myself without specialized study. All her life she has been under the care of a competent nurse. I know many mothers will criticize me, arguing that only a mother can care for a child properly. That may be true for primitive women, but we have become so civilized that Mother Nature simply can't get to us."

Miss Hayes' statement probably will provoke a good deal of discussion—and, as she says, a good deal of criticism—but after all she is only bringing to a focus a feeling that has been widely current for a long time; a feeling that a great many children would actually be better off if they got less of the fumbling and inexpert maternal care of a mother and more of the trained and intelligent care of an intelligent nurse.

It is quite possible that she is right. Watching the way in which some mothers lug tiny babies to movies, amusement resorts and tea rooms, one can only conclude that motherhood, by itself, does not always bring with it the good sense and helpful care that the job really requires.

Yet, for the ordinary mortal, such an argument is purely academic. The overwhelming majority of women will continue to do as their mothers and grandmothers have done all the way back to Eve; they will bear children and rear them, whether they are especially qualified for the job or not, and in most cases the job will turn out better than the expert would dare predict.

For the human race seems to have an enormous capacity for muddling through. Very few of its actions are distinguished by any very careful planning. There have always been currents in human life to make the judicious wonder what the world might be coming to, and there probably always will be. And yet—well, children have always been borne and reared by parents who had no training at all for the task, and they have grown to manhood and womanhood in fairly good style, and life has gone on, somehow, getting just a shade better and more intelligent with each century.

And that, probably, is the way it will continue to be. A few extra-lucky babies will get the expert care that Miss Hayes mentions. The vast majority of youngsters will grow up just as youngsters have always grown up; and, in one way and another, the results will average a lot better than anyone would expect.

Small-Town Baseball

IT IS hard to keep from feeling rather melancholy and aged, when one reads in a small town, eastern newspaper that Blankville is not going to have a baseball team this year. The Blankville paper announces it; and it adds:

"Lack of support on the part of fans, due to the inroads made by motor traffic, golf and other things, seems to have made it next to impossible to maintain a ball team of good caliber these days."

This little item, to be sure, isn't unusual. Many a small town newspaper has printed something similar in the last few years. But reading such an announcement is like discovering that the world has moved on and left one standing still. It is a whole generation since the baseball team was the small town's greatest pride and joy?

So it would seem. Baseball is still the national game. The big leagues are as prosperous and active as ever, if not more so. Ball players like Ruth and Grove and Hornsby are still the average youngster's idols. But there has been a change.

The small town baseball team isn't what it used to be—not in most places, anyway. Two decades ago the ball team was to the small town what a standing army was to a pre-war European monarchy; the citizen's pride and joy, the inspiration of all hands, the upholder of local pride and honor. The athletes who went out to represent Blankville carried all of Blankville's fondest hopes and civic enthusiasm, and usually most of Blankville's spare cash, into action with them. When they won, the town went into ecstasies; when they lost, an insufferable gloom prevaded the place for days.

For the small town used to take its baseball seriously—almost religiously. Sometimes the fervor of the fan became too much for him, and if the home team lost a close game the visiting players were more apt than not to be mobbed by an indignant citizenry on their way to the train. And the umpires! Where, one wonders, did they ever find men heroic and callus enough to risk giving an unfavorable decision before a small town baseball crowd?

Now that sort of thing is passing. It isn't entirely gone yet, thank heaven, and probably it never will be; but things aren't what they used to be. Blankville plays golf, nowadays, and drives off to the cities in its autos, and finds a dozen other ways to fill in the long summer afternoons; and it is possible to find small towns now in which the baseball field has actually gone out of existence. There is no help for it, and we might as well make up our minds to it. But it does seem too bad.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

They were telling me that if I visited the same towns I hoofed in ten years ago I wouldn't recognize them . . . The streets have been paved, it seems . . . The traffic now is as great a problem as it is here . . . Beautiful temples of amusement have replaced the honky-tonks . . . The only thing the same is the typical Greek restaurant . . . I preferred the one-arm lunch saloons. . . Where, if the guy behind the counter knew you were playing "at the Orpheum," he punched your ticket for 40 cents, even if you ate a dollar's worth of vittles . . . Then you tipped him 15 cents . . . All the rackets are not in the Big Cities . . . The letters that interest me most are those that come from these heart-bruised adolescents . . . That one from M. J., frixample . . . Would I please, please, please not fail her? . . . And publish her verse? . . . "I know it isn't any good," she wrote, "but he is sure to see it! He always reads you!" . . . He would know then, she said, how miserable she was, and perhaps, he would give in . . . "I can't get up the nerve," she added, "to phone or write him. It would make me cry before I could get the words out . . ." . . . Poor thing . . . She is 18, she said. . . Reminds me of that grand line in that well-written torch song . . . Something about pride being love's greatest enemy.

I do hope Lew Leslie has already used the pruning stiletto on his new and often enjoyable revusical, "Rhapsody in Black" . . . There is so much in it that is tip-top that the unimportant items make it seem only so-so . . . But it isn't so-so, at all . . . He has tried to be different on Broadway, and while most of the spectators appreciated his ambitious effort, there were a goodly number there who found it depressing . . . I was amused by an "actor" in the audience, too . . . That starched-up chap about 12 rows back, who objected to the Hebrew hymn, "Elli Elli," being vocalized by the sepia vocalists . . . He hissed angrily, even after the applause faded . . . He amused me because the last time he went to a synagogue was when he was confirmed . . . Some of our most talented opera warblers, Gentiles, too, were acclaimed for including the hymn in their specialties . . . It is a beautiful thing, and the choir in Leslie's show do it with skill . . . Maybe the tormenting fellow was weary of hearing it, for it has been done a lot in the vaude places . . . As Izzy Elinson remarked: "Don't mind being hissed on Broadway—it's an old pannish custom" . . . When Leslie produced his "Blackbirds" every critic threw scallions at it . . . But it ran over a year.

The first speakeasy after prohibition must have been a wild spot. . . It was spellbinding stuff hearing about it the other night . . . On 45th Street it was . . . Between Broadway and 6th . . . "What do you think?" asked the owner of it at the time, "you think we had locked doors like they have now—with peep-holes to see who wants to come in?" . . . The place, he said, had swinging doors typical of the old-time saloon . . . The bar was a long one and there never was elbow-room . . . They never risked a pinch by having the hooch in view, however . . . They were too clever for the revenuers . . . Near the bar was a long coat rack, and dangling from the hooks were two dozen coats . . . In each coat pocket were plenty of miniature-sized bottles containing the best firewater . . . If you asked for gin, the bartender dug his paw into a black raincoat for it. . . Rye? . . . He dug into a brown overcoat . . . Vermouth? . . . Scotch? . . . Into the gray coat, or the blue one, or the yellow one, etc. . . . What an idea! . . . Once federal agents stormed in, and everybody swallowed their hooch hurriedly . . . And then hastened out . . . An investigation revealed no evidence . . . "Your customers," said an agent as he left in disgust, "were in such a hurry, they forgot to take their overcoats, eh?" . . . "Yeah," said Larry Fay, the owner.

I like Frisco's serious (for a change) observation on Chaplin—that England wants to make Cholly a Knight, but that America made him a millionaire . . . Nick the Greek was plenty annoyed the other yawning . . . Because one of the rags asserted that he often tossed the aggravating cubes in the dice houses with Rothstein and "Legs" Diamond . . . The Greek said that Diamond never played in a dice game with him; and to make matters worse, the sheet ran an alleged photo of him . . . "What's the matter?" asked Nick. "Ain't you fellers got any good pictures of me?" . . . He said he was going to call up the editor and tell him how wrong the story was, but that he just couldn't make trouble for anybody . . . "It might lose a job for some guy. I wouldn't like that," he said . . . Then the subject switched to nicknames . . . Capt. Hawks is called "the human bullet," so one lad suggested that so long as "Legs" Diamond wouldn't go out of focus after all those slugs, he ought to be named "the human sieve" . . . My favorite is "On His Last Legs" Diamond.

The more I think about it the more I believe that a guy can lose a quarter of a million dollars by merely standing up against a bar . . . That chap did it who, they say, was one of the town's wealthiest bookmakers at the local tracks before the advent of prohibition . . . He spent $25 a day buying those two-for-a-quarter drinks in the better places—but when prohibition arrived, and the same laughing soup was peddled at six-bits a convulsion, he kept buying the stuff for himself and the mob . . . Just a good guy, it seems . . . And now he is as "rich" as a Wall Street broker . . . They point him out to you these midnights in the 46th Street spots . . . Always grinning and affable . . . He never asks his friends to buy him a shot . . . He hasn't come to that . . . But there he is—waiting until someone comes in who Knew Him When . . . His favorite expression is: "It is a painful thing to admit that so many good people are uninteresting and so many interesting people are no good." . . . But look at it . . . Who was it said: "A good face is a letter of recommendation?"

Some people can get on the front pages in the sensational manner and live to see picture postcards of the home in which they were born! . . . That's the way they honor one native at Tarentum, Pa., according to a tiny postcard that arrived this morning . . . The souvenir card contains a photo of a shack there, and the caption reads: "Birth Place of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw!"

Marrakech—April, 1931.

I offer you Marrakech the Red! This city of the Sherifs, moulded from the red earth of North Africa, is worth your while all the while.

And if you think Africa is a barren waste of sand, listen when I tell you that I rode all day long down here from Casablanca on a road that stretched straight as a ribbon through green fields and beautiful wild flowers. This part of Africa most resembles California—except that the roads are better here.

But picture Marrakech the Red—lying in a verdant valley and backed by the mighty snow-covered Atlas Mountains. Snow? Yessir, snow. As I once stated in a Believe It or Not cartoon, "A caravan of 20 people froze to death near the equator in Africa beneath the blazing tropical sun." One look at the white heads of these gigantic mountains would convince all those who doubted me.

But Marrakech the Red! The Koutoubia over all. It is the minaret of a ruined mosque standing sentinel-like over the city. The ground on which this fragrant tower stands is the oldest "entailed estate" in the world. It has remained in the same hands for 1300 years.

The flag at the top indicates that it is the hour for prayer. As the sun goes down you will hear the muezzin cry from the four corners:

"ALLAH AKBAR, ALLAH AKBAR, LA ALLAH IL ALLAH LA ALLAH IL ALLAH, U MOHAMMED RASSUL ALLAH" which means: "God is Great, There is no God but God, and Mohammed is the Prophet of God."

This call, which is heard by more people than any cry on earth, sounds weirdly fascinating as the setting sun bathes the hoary heads of the Atlas in gold. Then it sinks from sight, and Marrakech is no longer red—but black.

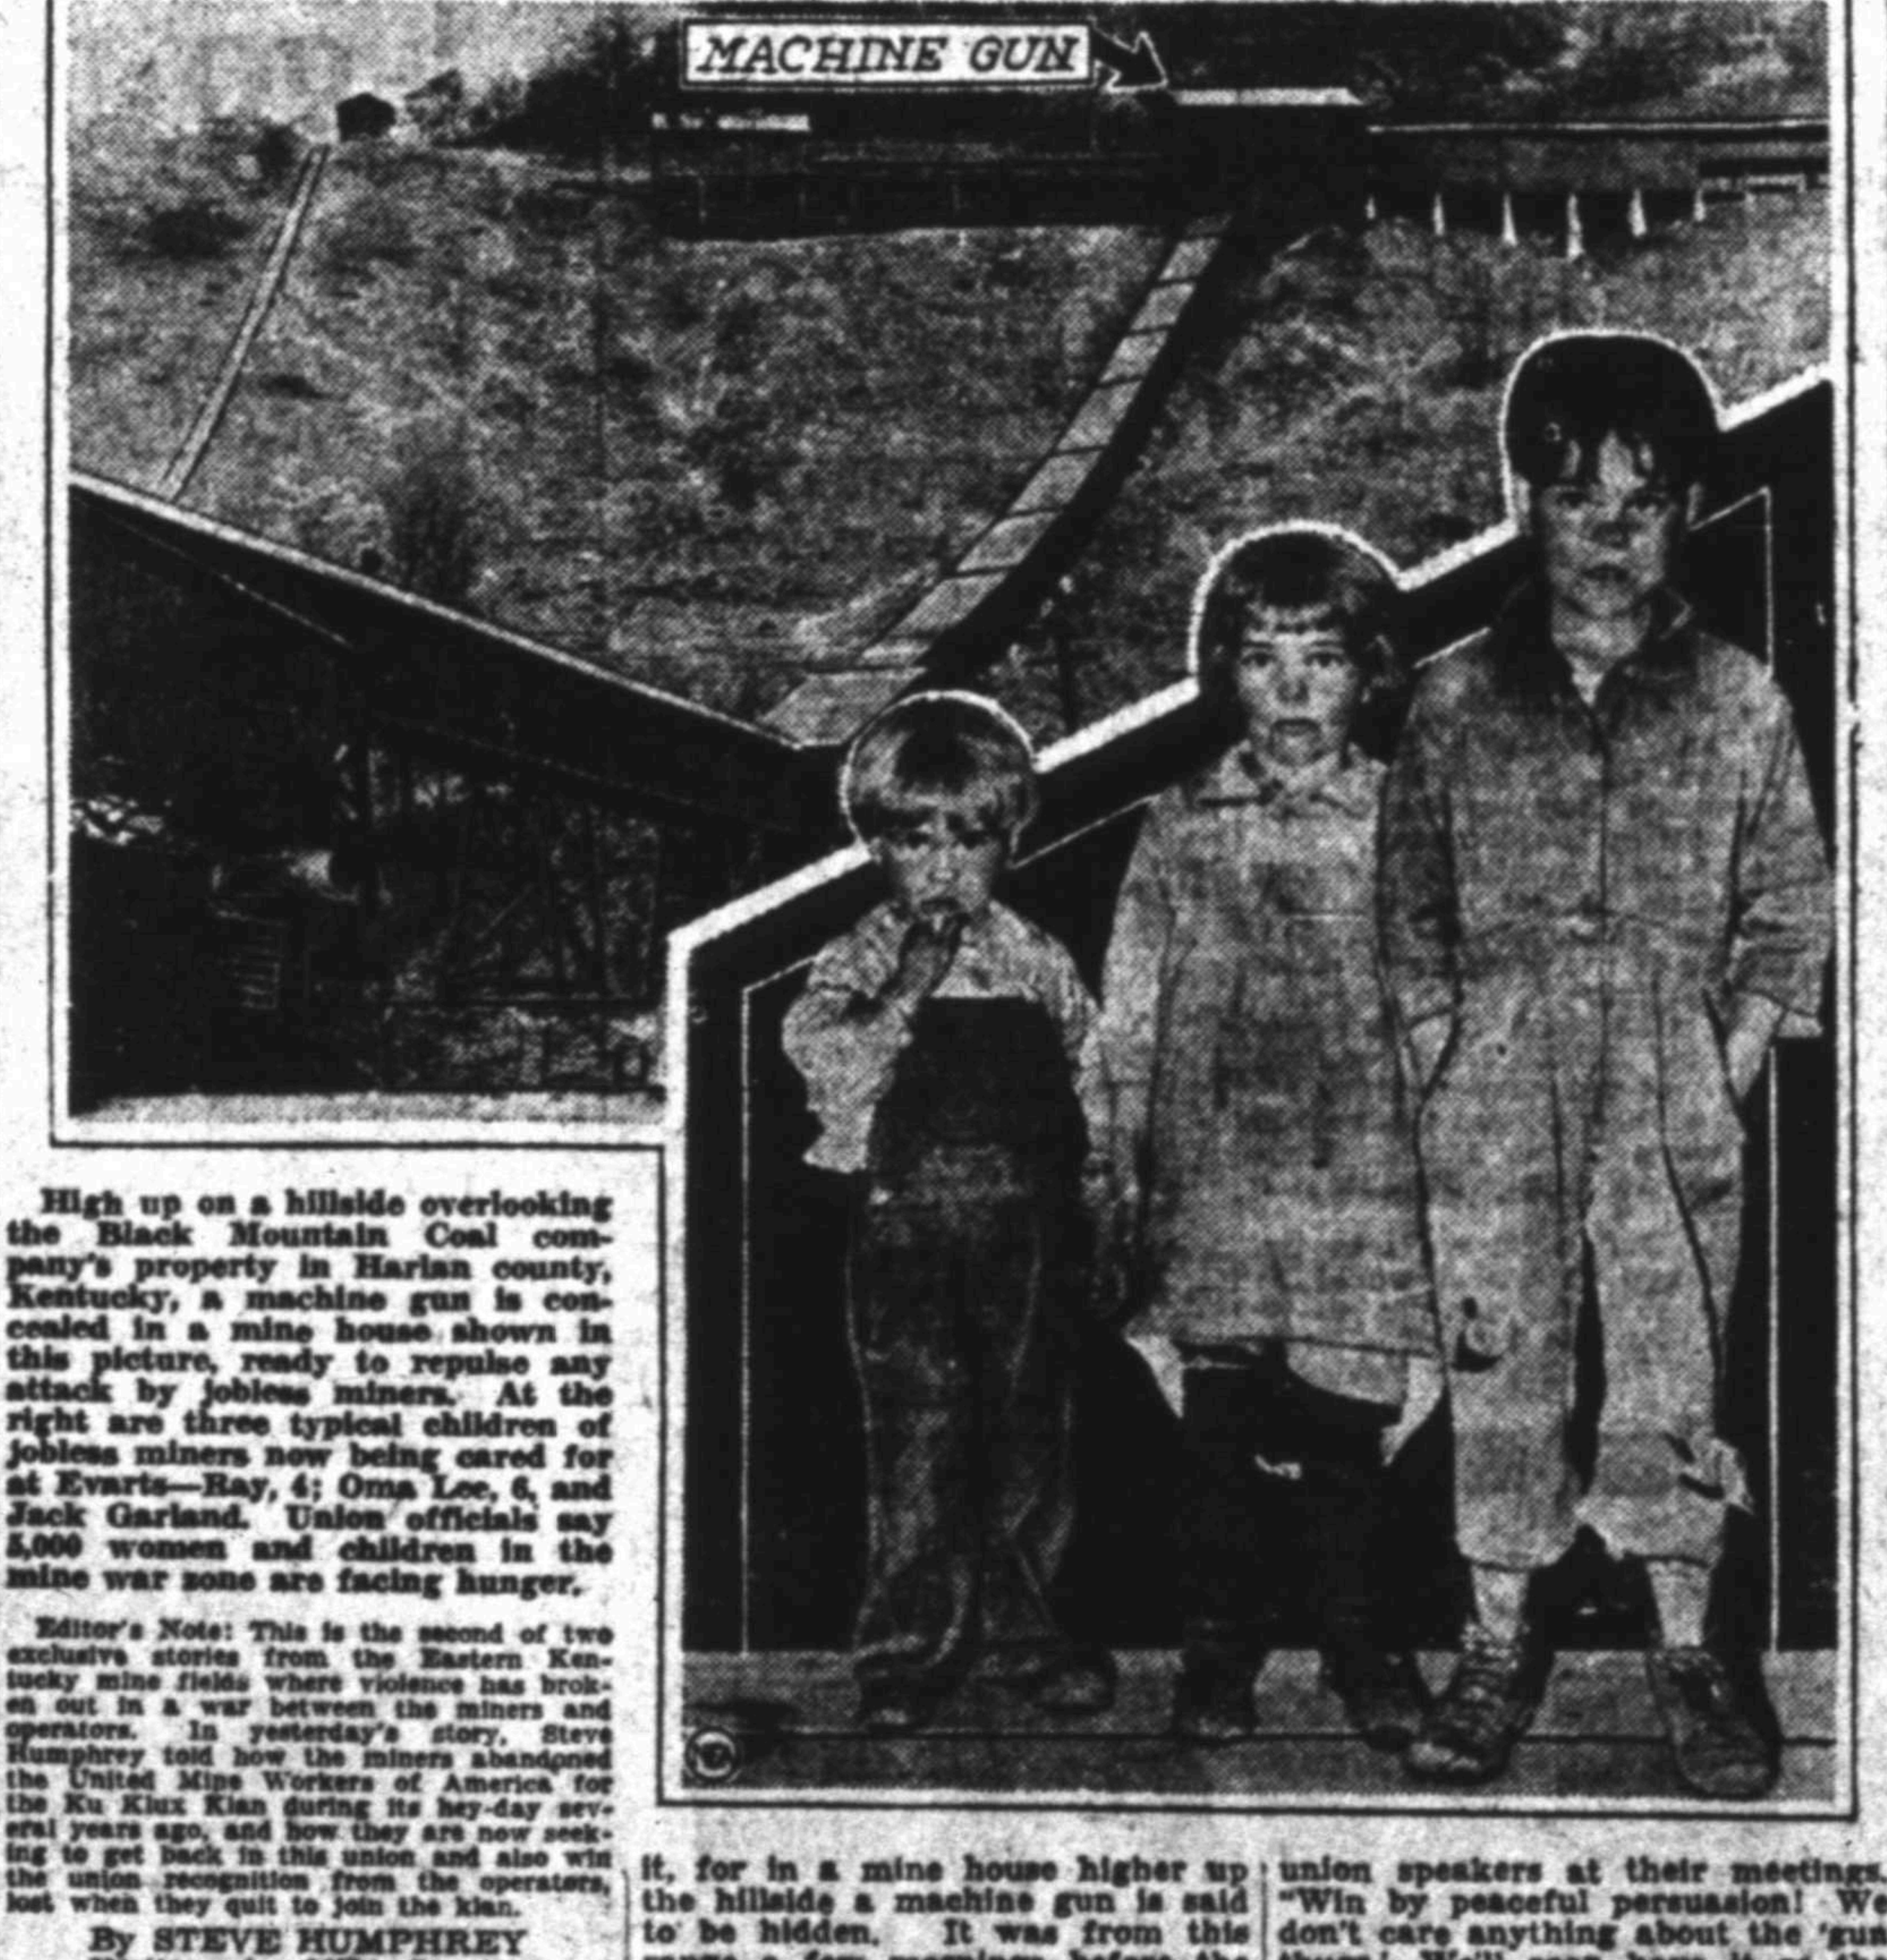
EVARTS, HAVEN FOR UNEMPLOYED MINERS, WHERE LABOR WAR RAGES



High up on a hillside overlooking the Black Mountain Coal company's property in Harlan county, Kentucky, a machine gun is concealed in a mine house shown in this picture, ready to repulse any attack by jobless miners. At the right are three typical children of jobless miners now being cared for at Evarts—Ray, 4; Orna Lee, 6; and Jack Garland. Union officials say 5,000 women and children in the mine war zone are facing hunger.

Editor's Note: This is the second of two exclusive stories from the Eastern Kentucky mine fields where violence has broken out in a war between the miners and operators. In yesterday's story, Steve Humphrey told how the miners abandoned the United Mine Workers of America for the Ku Klux Klan during its hey-day several years ago, and how they are now seeking to get back in this union and also win the union recognition from the operators, lost when they quit to join the klan.

EVARTS, Ky., May 11.—"I want this place guarded! Give me men with rifles at each corner and guard this house to hell, regardless. For God's sake men, don't let anybody get under this building; those 'gun thugs' say they are going to blow up this place tonight!"

War is on between Harlan county's thousands of jobless miners and the mine owners—real war with machine guns and tear gas bombs on one side pitted against the squirrel rifles on the other—and a stocky union organizer opens with this fervent appeal as he rises to address a meeting of 300 men in a ramshackle Evarts garage.

Four overall-clad miners—tall, cold-eyed mountaineers—sling rifles to their shoulders and mount guard. Genuine or fancied, the threat of attack has keyed the audience and roused its fighting blood.

They are meeting in Evarts, because Evarts stands on about the only land in the county that is not owned by the local coal companies. It is what the miners call a "free town," meaning that it has stores owned and operated by merchants instead of commissaries owned by the coal companies. It was just out of Evarts that miners clashed with Sheriff Blair's deputies and mine guards the other day, four men being killed and two wounded in the battle.

Two miles down the road from the union town is the other side of the picture. Guards of the Black Mountain Coal corporation, guns bristling significantly, are posted around the company's property.

"If anybody tries to rob our commissary it will be just too bad," says E. B. Childress, company superintendent. He doubtless means it, for in a mine house higher up the hillside a machine gun is said to be hidden. It was from this range a few mornings before the battle that killed four that an automatic rifle barked back at snipers who had opened fire on miners from Porter Knob.

Haven for Union Man

To Evarts come the miners who are fired because they join the union—a local union not yet recognized by the United Mine Workers of America, but hoping to be taken back into the fold that it voluntarily left when times were good and money was plentiful a few years ago. In Evarts, they find merchants who are sympathetic because these merchants want to wrest their trade from the company commissaries. Here, the miners bring their hungry wives and children. Here, Abe Applebaum—a merchant who has distributed a carload of flour among the miners—feeds 50 school children with a sandwich and a bottle of milk each noon.

While stores of the East Harlan Coal company have been looted, the stores at Evarts have suffered most—Evarts, where the merchants are for the union. Union men declare the robbing is the work of "gun thugs" hired by the companies staged to create the impression that the miners are violent and help get a federal court injunction against them.

Streets Are Guarded

The storekeepers who have been robbed deny the union men did it. Moreover, they are accepting the services of armed miners who now patrol the streets nightly to guard against further robberies. Both point out that when the East Harlan company's store was robbed allegedly by "hungry miners" various merchandise was taken but hundreds of dollars worth of groceries on the shelves were untouched.

"Stay within the law!" about the union speakers at their meetings. "Win by peaceful persuasion! We don't care anything about the 'gun thugs.' We'll soon have it so the 'gun thugs' can't stay in Harlan county."

Childress, however, says they haven't stayed within the law. He declares the miners not only fired on his men but they marched through his property, two automobiles with guns sticking out and at least 100 armed marchers.

The unionists deny this.

"There was only one gun in the parade," says W. B. Jones, foremost organizer. "And these flags led the way," he added with a sweep of his arm toward a corner of his office where the Stars and Stripes leaned against the wall in company with Winchesters and shotguns.

Wages Not Only Issue

Childress says he could give 400 men employment and that they could earn $6 a day, despite the recent wage cut.

Miners who have worked for him retort: "You'll do well to make $1.50 to $2 a day. They say they have an eight-hour day at his mine, but they give you 16 hours to do it in."

But the matter of wages is not the only issue. The men say they want better working conditions and they want to be free to trade with independent merchants who, they say, charge less.

Above all, they want their union recognized as it once was in the days before they waxed so prosperous that they quit the United Mine Workers of America. And the operators, above all, insist that this is something they will never grant.

"We'll never leave the union agein" is the slogan of every meeting of the jobless miners as they assembled under the guard of pa-

Q.—Who wrote the Hallelujah Chorus?—K. K.

A.—It was written in the original score of the "Messiah" by Handel.

Q.—What are the special properties of an incubator in caring for babies?—A. F. K.

A.—The public health service says that an incubator is simply a machine which keeps a baby very warm and protects it from drafts and cold. Incubators are used in the care of children born prematurely.

Q.—What color are colored garments when put into a dark room?—J. F. D.

A.—The presence of light is necessary to produce color, therefore when objects are taken into a dark room where there is absolutely no light, they will have no color.

Q.—When and where did the custom of kissing originate?—M. E. W.

A.—Kissing is of such ancient origin that its beginning is not known. Lillian Eichler says that as a form of greeting and affection the kiss did not come in until comparatively late. The Scandinavian people have a tradition that kissing was an exotic introduced into England by Rowena, the beautiful daughter of Hengist. At a banquet given by the British monarch in honor of his allies, the princess, after pressing the brimming beaker to her lips, saluted the astonished and delighted Vertigern with a little kiss after the manner of her own people.

Q.—I hear that in Alaska some of the schools have a bathroom. If so, why?—G. C.

A.—To the schools equipped with bathtubs, children come once a week to take a bath. Their teachers instruct the children in bathing, and care for the younger pupils.

Q.—Please give some information about Chinese rugs.—J. C.

A.—The rugs of China proper are easily recognized by their characteristic Chinese ornament. They are of coarse texture and are woven with the Sehna knot on a cotton warp; the pile is thick with a very smooth surface. A peculiar feature is the clipping of the pile so as to form a furrow at the contours of the pattern. The prevailing color is yellow, sometimes intentional but often resulting from the fading shades of red and orange. Blue and white are also freely used, but there is little true red, brown, or green. Pillar carpets are peculiar to China. They are designed so that when wrapped around a pillar the edges will fit together and give a continuous pattern, which usually is a coiling dragon. Many small mats, seat-covers, and the like are found. The dating of Chinese rugs is an almost impossible task, as patterns have varied very little with time, and internal evidence is almost non-existent.

Q.—How high do waves become with an 80-mile gale?—D. L. S.

A.—H. A. Marmer, assistant chief, division of tides and currents of the coast and geodetic survey, says that with a wind of 60 miles an hour, waves of about 30 feet in height may be expected in the open sea. With a wind of 80 miles an hour, the resulting waves would be somewhat less than 40 feet. From the observations of the heights of waves made in the open sea by various observers and by different methods, it appears that waves exceeding 40 feet occur only in severe storms and that 50 feet may be taken as the extreme height of waves of the sea due to wind. When two great waves intersect, a peak may be thrust to a height of 60 feet or more. Similarly, when a large wave breaks against an object, part of the water may shoot considerably above the height of the crest.

Q.—Is G. P. Wells, who collaborated with H. G. Wells in writing The Science of Life, the author's son?—C. S.

A.—George Philip Wells is the son of the author. Professor Julian S. Huxley also collaborated in the work.

Q.—How many patents are there pending in the patent office?—H. G.

A.—At the close of business for the week ending March 21, there were 98,844 patent applications which had not been acted upon.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Weight Control

No sensible person throws coal on the fire when the house is too hot, or crowds 20 people into a seven-passenger car, or turns on more water when the bath tub is full, or wears No. 11 shoes when No. 7 fit the feet. Yet by reason of ignorance or gluttony, people, otherwise sensible, do things quite as absurd as these in the matter of food. Dietitians agree that most people eat too much, and this is true of many who are underweight as well as of those who become grossly fat.

No more important question enters into the daily life of the individual than that of diet. Therefore, it behooves everyone to have accurate information on every phase of the subject, and this will be found in the booklet, Weight Control. A copy will be sent to any address upon receipt of 10 cents in coin or stamps to cover cost, handling and postage. Use this coupon.

CHARGE FILED IN GIRL MURDER

M. E. Garrison Accused Of Park Slaying

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 11. (AP)—Police investigation into recent slayings of four women and a girl, and the disappearance of another young woman, late today resulted in the filing of murder charges against M. E. Garrison, 37, and the discovery of Louise Kesler, 17, who said she had been kidnaped and attacked.

Garrison, 37, a railroad commissary clerk, was charged with the murder, a week ago, of Miss Hazel Bradshaw, pretty 23-year-old telephone operator. Her knife torn body was found May 3 in a lonely park.

The murder charge was filed after a coroner's jury this afternoon, found the young woman "met death at the hands of a person or persons unknown," and that "evidence in the case points strongly to M. E. Garrison."

At the inquest Edith Bradshaw, 15, sister of the victim, testified Hazel had told her "I am afraid to quit going with Garrison. He is the type of man who might kill me." U. S. Wilson, a sailor, once engaged to Miss Bradshaw, said Garrison had threatened to kill them both upon learning of their friendship.

Miss Kesler, missing since Friday, told police she had been abducted by two men, taken to a nearby house, and attacked. She said she was released this morning and walked to San Diego.

Police announced they were checking her story and that there appeared to be several discrepancies.

During the morning police also turned their attention to the first of the four recent murders—the slaying of 10-year-old Virginia Brooks. They visited the home of Richard Ward, 56, escaped convict and admitted slayer of two persons. Ward was arrested yesterday as a suspect.

Two weeks ago the unclothed body of Louise Teuber, 17, was found, hanged to a tree. A few days later Mrs. Dolly Bibbens, a widow, about 35 years old, was found dead in her home.

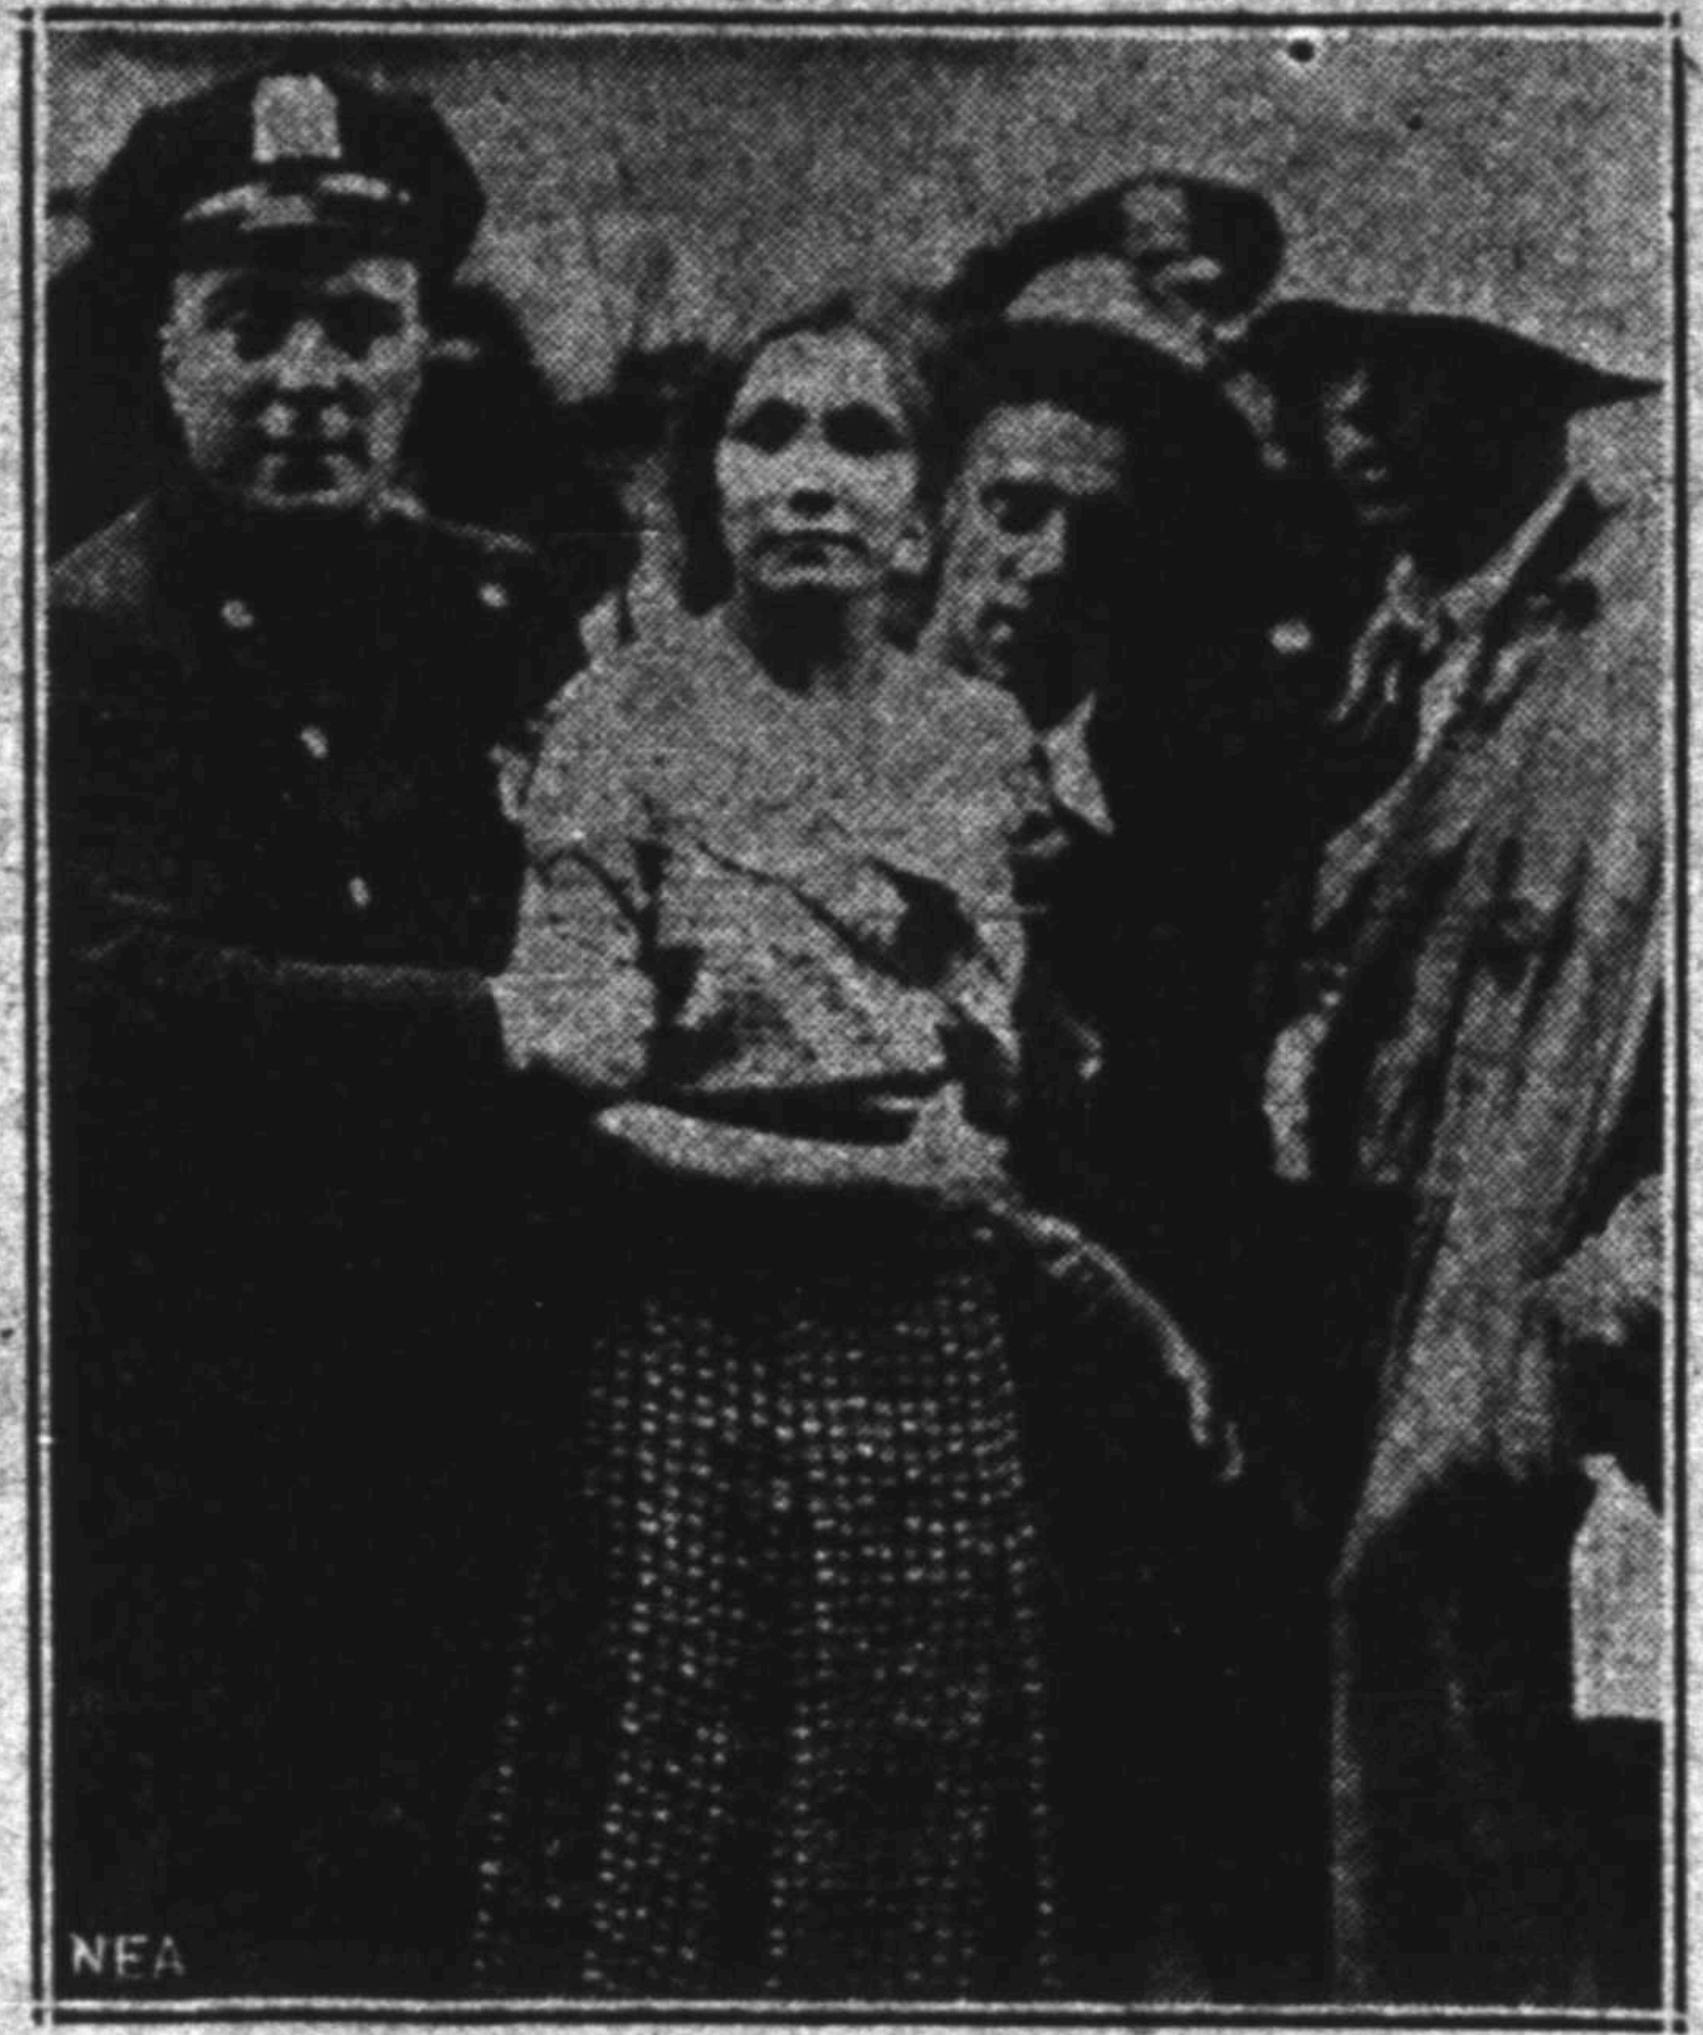
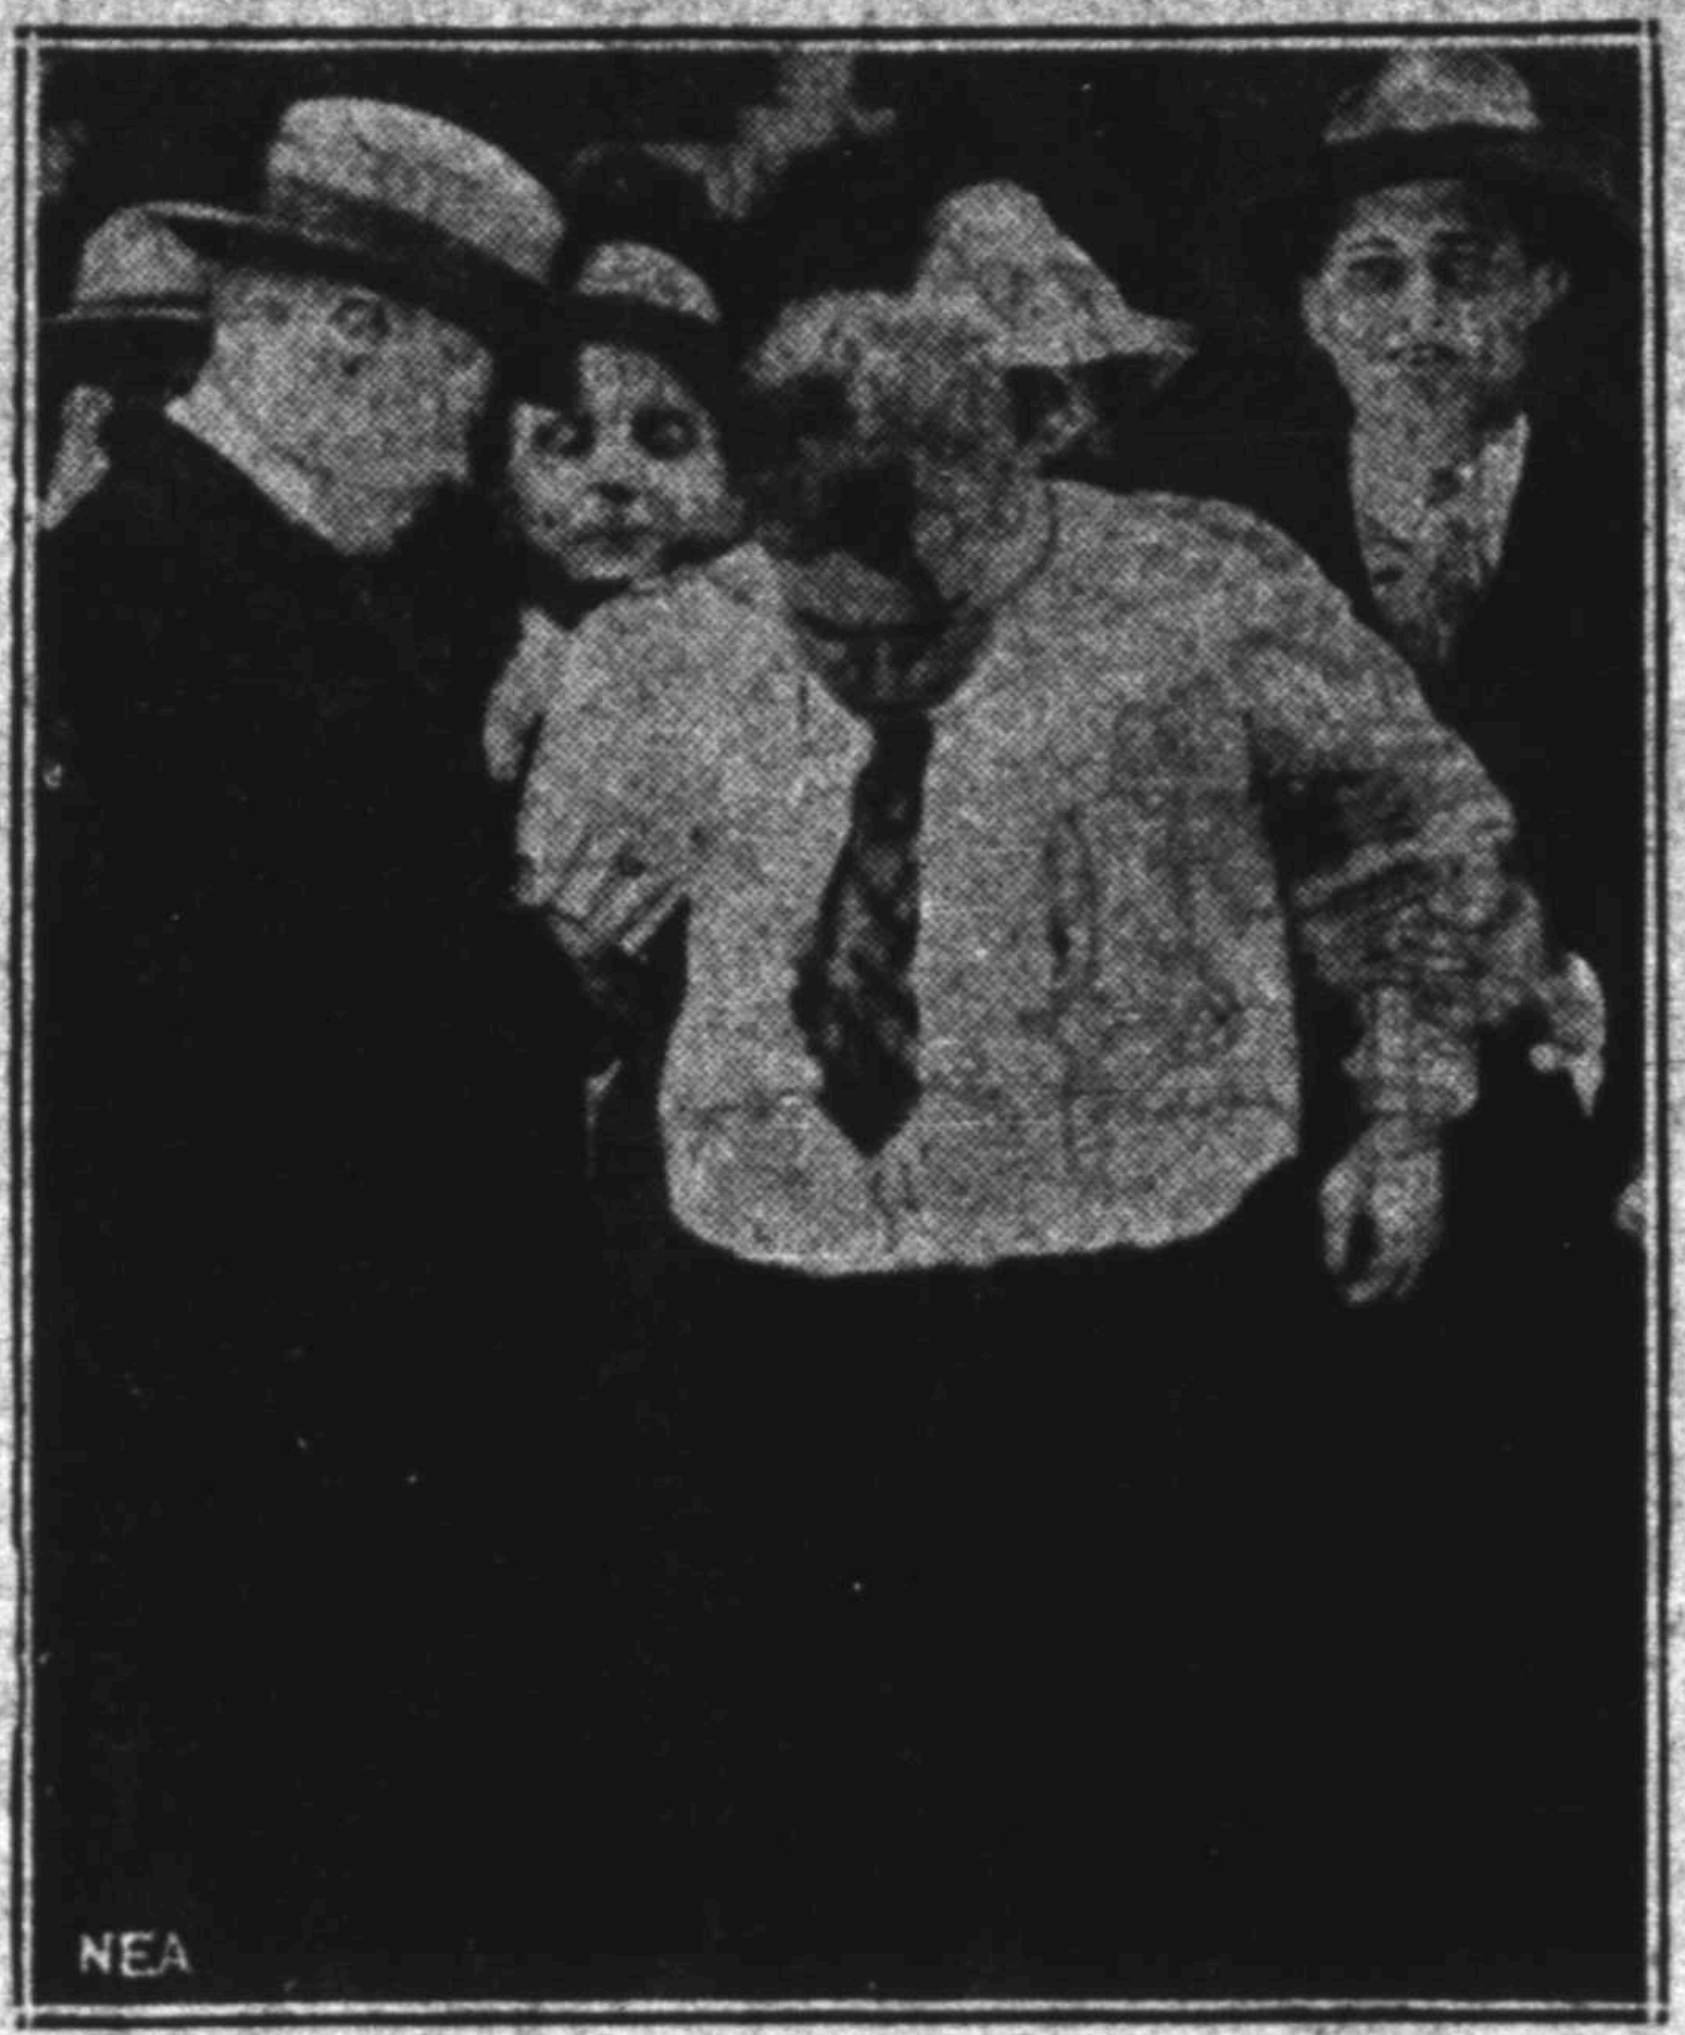
IN THE 'BATTLE OF NEW YORK'

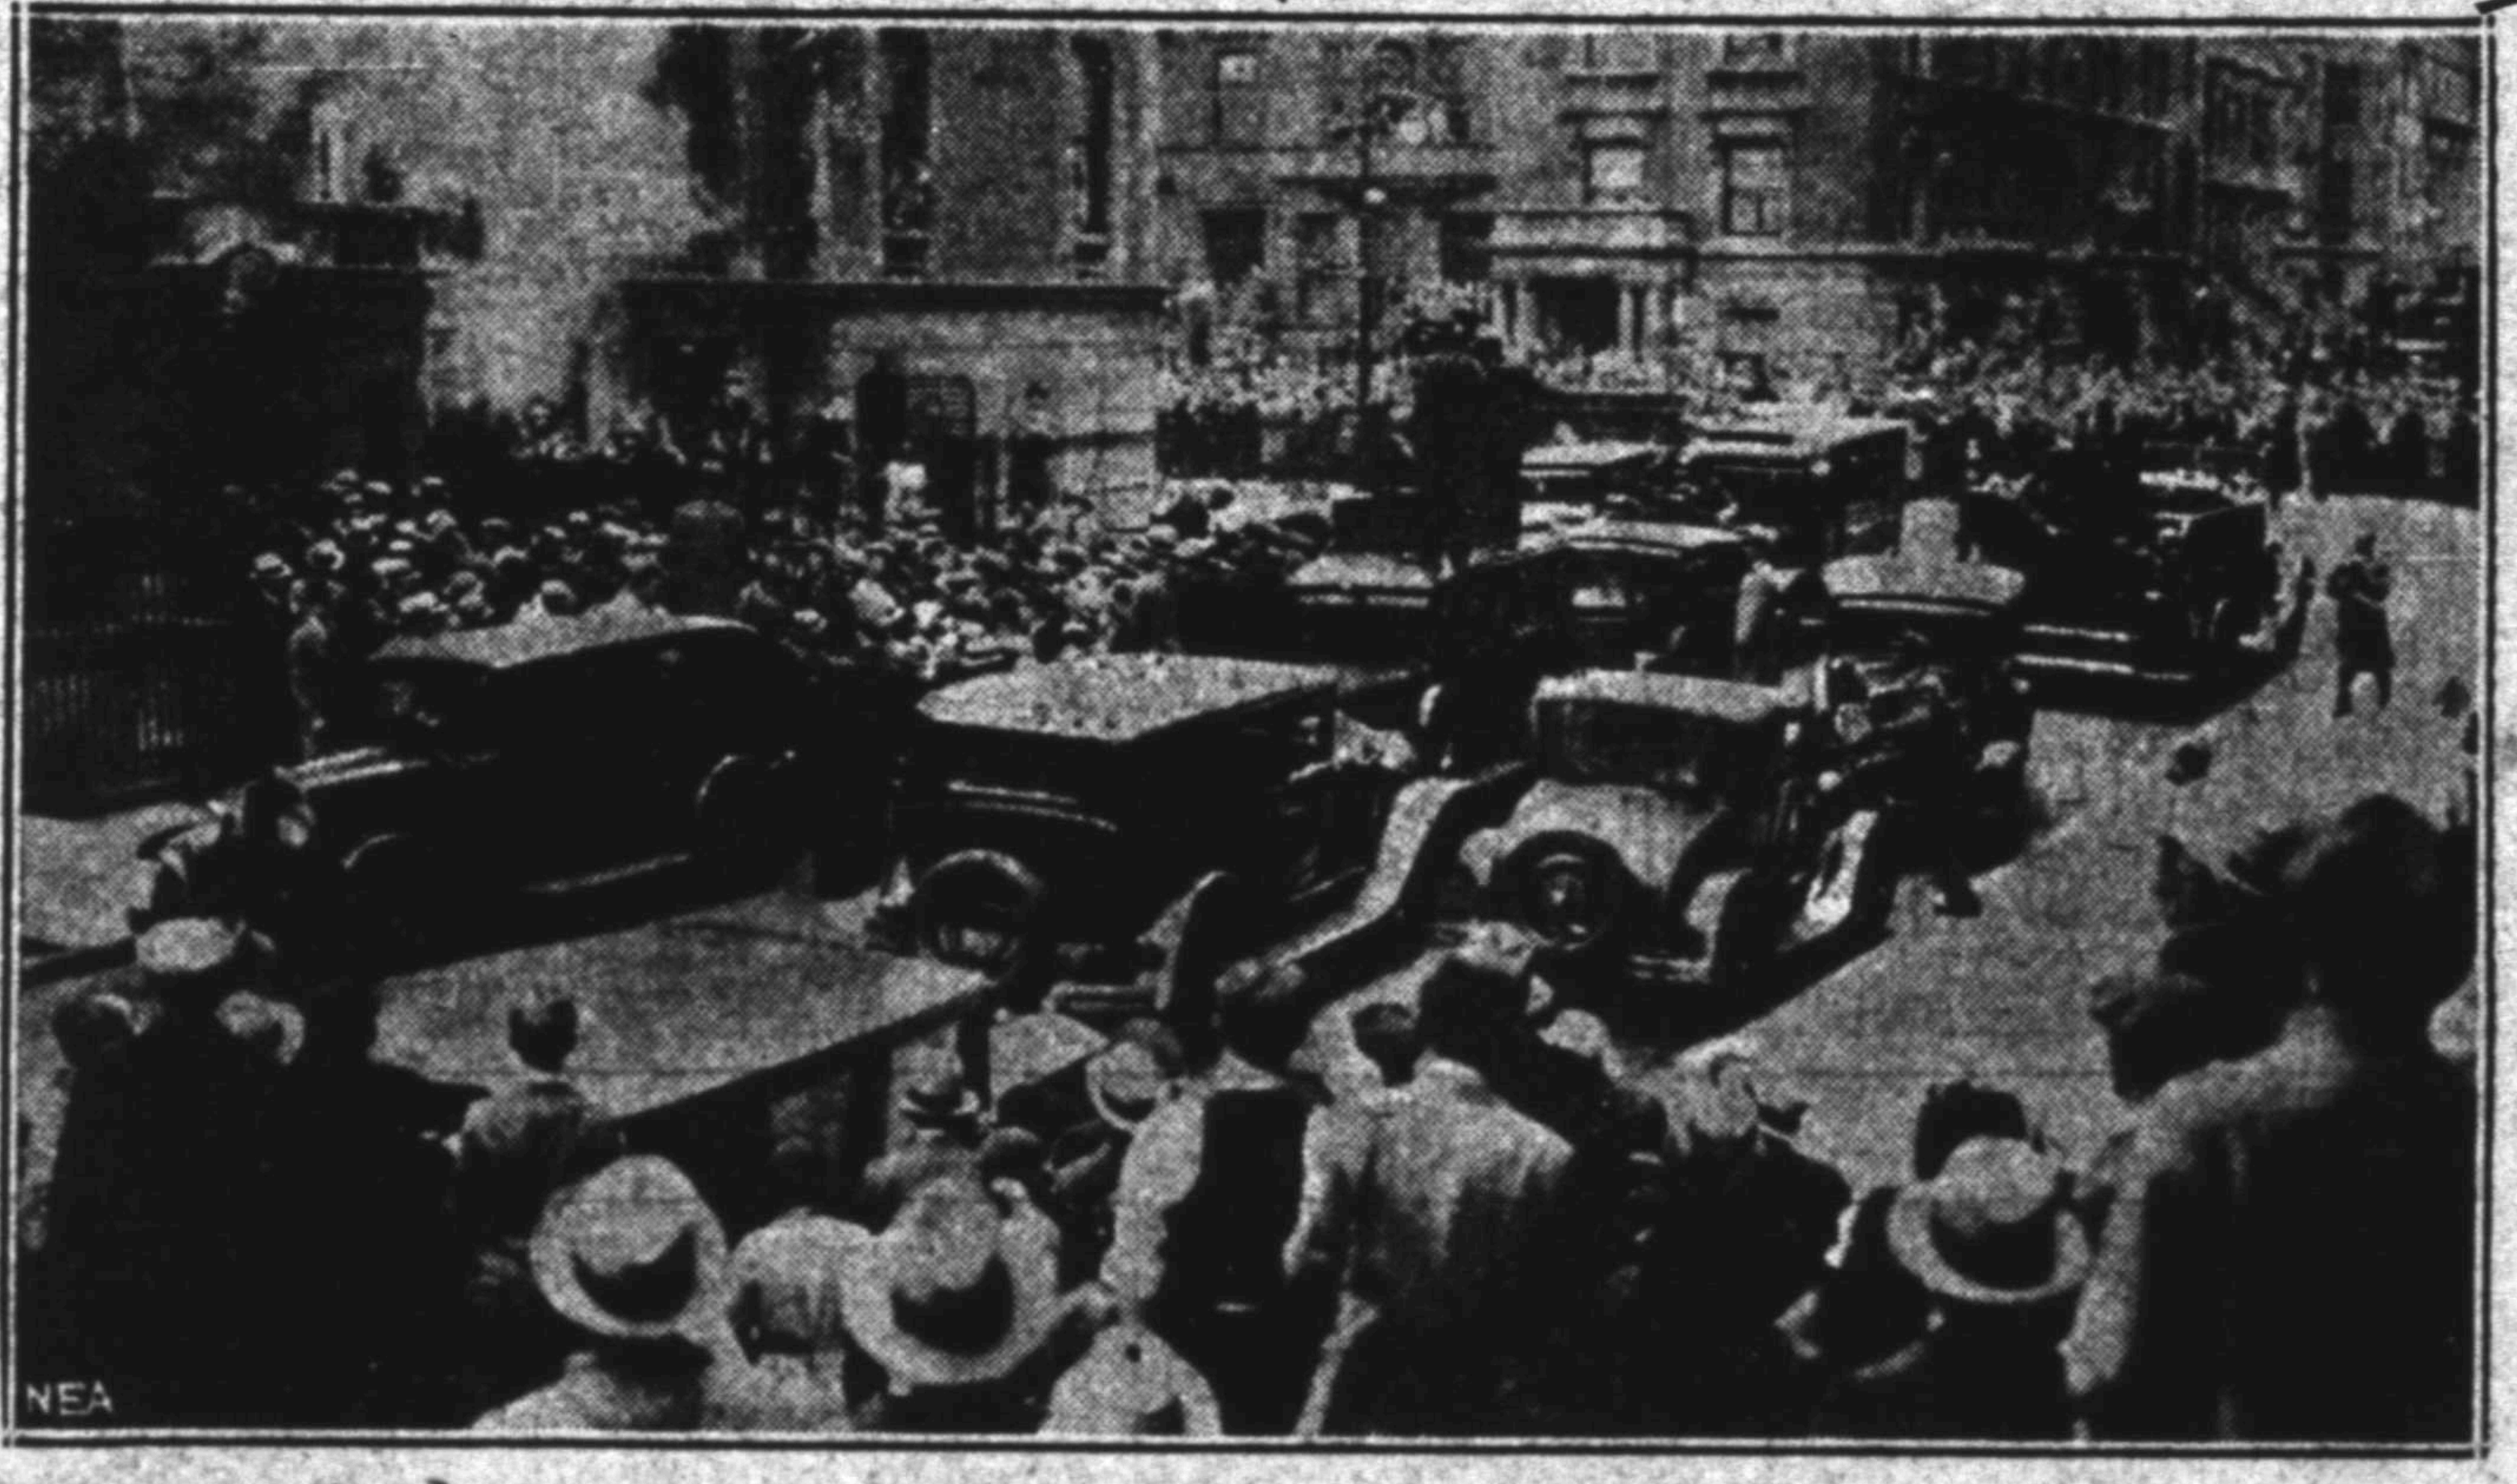
Here Are Scenes as "Two-Gun" Man and Pals Were Trapped After Shooting It Out With Army of 300 Policemen



This picture shows police removing Helen Walsh, 16-year-old girl companion of Francis "Two-Gun" Crowley, from the New York apartment house in which the youthful gunman was captured after an hour's siege. She was reported to have been with Crowley when he previously shot and killed a patrolman in a petter's lane near North Merrick, Long Island, precipitating one of the most sensational manhunts in New York police history. Ten thousand persons, jamming nearby streets, watched Crowley return the fire of 300 policemen who surrounded his hideaway apartment with machine guns, pistols, tear bombs and axes.



The sensational capture of Francis "Two-Gun" Crowley, youthful desperado, in an uptown New York apartment house, also netted Rudolph Duringer, a 200-pound truckman, who is reported to have confessed the recent murder of Virginia Brannen, a dance hall entertainer. Here Duringer, in shirt sleeves, is shown being led by police from the flat in which he was trapped with Crowley and a girl companion after shooting it out with 300 policemen for more than an hour.



Ignoring the peril of flying bullets, thousands of New Yorkers thronged the scene of the thrilling gun battle between 20-year-old Francis Crowley and the army of policemen who surrounded him in an uptown apartment. The crowds, attracted to the neighborhood by the steady firing of machine guns and revolvers, surged against police lines and at times broke through into the dangerous "No Man's Land." This picture shows throngs gathered before the entrance of the apartment building as the wounded Crowley and his two companions, 16-year-old Helen Walsh and Rudolph Duringer, finally surrendered to the attacking blue-coats.

DAVIDSON ASKS ROUTE CHANGE

City Asks Change in State Highway Plan

Special to The Record News.

DAVIDSON, Okla., May 11.—The good roads committee of the Davidson Chamber of Commerce, composed of Thelford Burks, Fred Hood, Albert Waller and Louis Campbell will go before the state highway commission to seek a change in the proposed routing of state highway No. 14, now being planned parallel to the Frisco railway across Tillman county through Davidson.

The route through Davidson, as surveyed by state engineers will pass through north and south and it is the desire of the citizenry that it travel east and west on Grand avenue.

The committee met recently with the board of county commissioners with the request that the highway leave the Frisco a half mile north and come through Grand avenue and south on present road to the Davidson bridge.

County Engineer D. E. Powell is preparing a plat of such a plan, and when this is completed, the map will be taken by the committee to the state highway commission with the request that the proposed change be made.

FLOYDADA, Texas, May 11.—With the arrival of Miss Dorothy A. Wentland, public health nurse, and B. C. Ruthven, sanitarian, the public health campaign for Floyd county will get under way this week. Preliminary plans have already been made and committees for the various districts over the county have been formed.

The two health workers will have four counties in West Texas to supervise, including Childress, Hall, Floyd and Crosby. Headquarters for the workers will be maintained in Floydada.

The service has been made possible through an appropriation of congress that is being administered through the U. S. public health service, directly under the supervision of the state health department of Texas. The work will be carried on over a period of eight months or more.

Sam B. Hall Buried From Mangum Church

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., May 11.—One of the earliest settlers of Mangum and Greer county died Saturday when Sam B. Hall, 81, succumbed to an extended illness.

A native of Loami, Ill., Mr. Hall came to West Texas in 1873 on a buffalo hunt. Forty-three years ago he and Mrs. Hall came to Greer county where they reared 11 children, 10 of whom survive. They are six sons and five daughters, Will, Joe, Lee, George, Jim, John, Leona, Emma, Sibyl, Mary and Leah.

Funeral services were held at the First Methodist church Sunday afternoon in charge of Rev. J. S. Emmert, pastor of the Nazarene church.

DEATH NEAR FOR AGED MAN

Condition of Pat Connelly Critical

Patrick Connelly, 72, remained in a critical condition Monday night at the Wichita General hospital, where he was taken Saturday after he had been found in a clump of trees near the Denver railroad yards, after four days of exposure.

Connelly has been only semi-conscious since Saturday night, attendants at the hospital said. His feet were badly burned Monday night when he crawled into the sandhouse in the Denver yards. While he slept steam pipes used to heat the sand literally baked his feet. He told police that on awakening he crawled 100 yards east of the railroad yards to a lot where he lay without food until Saturday morning.

Amputation of Connelly's leg may be necessary, physicians at the hospital said. However, it was explained, his serious condition will not permit an operation at present.

Texas Oil Man Asks False Arrest Damages

AMARILLO, Texas, May 11. (AP)—H. S. Dunaway, oil man of Panhandle said here today that he had filed suit in district court at Plainview against Sheriff Nathan B. Burkett of Hale county and other officers, charging that he was illegally arrested last Feb. 12.

He asks for the refund of a $13 fine which he paid for vagrancy, $25 for the day he lost while in jail, and $25,000 damages. Constable A. E. Blakemore, Justice J. P. Siler and Kelley Hooper, a deputy sheriff, were named with Burkett as defendants.

COUNCIL POSTPONES MEET

Because less than a quorum of its members was in the city Monday night, the city council did not hold its usual weekly meeting at the Memorial auditorium, according to W. E. McBroom, city clerk.

Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., is in Miami, Fla., a delegate from the local Kiwanis club to the annual convention of the organization. Councilman R. O. Harvey and J. M. Spoonts also were absent.

According to a Russian scientist, the human eye moves involuntarily about 100 times a minute.

R. R. Penn Calls East Texas Field History's Greatest Economic Tragedy

DALLAS, May 11. (AP)—"Leaks" that permit the circularization of confidential information gathered at great expense came in for much comment at today's session of the national association of oil scouts convention here. Letters sent clients by oil information reporting agencies at small expense, had been checked and found to contain the confidential information obtained by scouts, it was asserted.

Robert R. Penn of Dallas called the rapid development in East Texas as "the greatest economic tragedy in history" and said that as a result of the flood of crude from that area the oil industry was losing a million dollars a day, with losses of billions of dollars in prospect.

Future Production

Penn estimated potential production of East Texas at a billion and a half barrels, which he said would take 10 years to produce if the field were running at a daily rate of 400,000 barrels.

He estimated that as a result of East Texas oil developments, the oil industry now faced a loss of $960,000 daily or $350,000,000 during 1931, basing his statement on cuts in prices of crude oil which followed the beginning of production in the new area.

Penn said the only economic calamity comparable to the East Texas oil development was the Chicago fire, in which the total was approximately $190,000,000.

The oil operator and proration chief attached no blame to citizens of East Texas, pointing out that any other new field in any other section of the country would have had the same effect on the industry as a whole and probably would have been opened in the same way under similar circumstances.

Control Urged

"At this rate," he said, "I doubt if the average barrel of oil will be brought to the surface and marketed for enough to pay the cost of production. The only hope is to control East Texas production to prevent it from destroying itself and the entire oil industry along with it."

J. V. Adams of San Antonio, president of the association, declared the oil industry was facing the greatest crisis in its history.

John H. Langston of Dallas, now first vice president, was being discussed as the most likely candidate for president of the annual election of officers tomorrow.

Penn declared it would be a "mistake to point to East Texas and say it is the cause of the oil industry's ills."

"The actual cause is more fundamental," he said. "It is to be found in the laws of our states and nation and in the industry itself. Oil men are the best fellows I know at disagreeing and if they could agree, the laws wouldn't let them. It's a certainty that no one man can solve our problem by himself."

A tool handle with a vacuum grip has been put on the market.

Piles All Gone

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles go quickly and don't come back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemmorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and cutting fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in 960 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. Allison's Drug Store says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.—Adv.

How to Straighten the Shoulders

Modern occupations often require a position for the body which brings the shoulders forward. Bending over a desk, ditch digging, ploughing, carpentry, all call for too much leaning forward. Probably the one person who suffers more from round shoulders than any other is the housewife. All her work pulls her forward. While every one can benefit from straightening the shoulders, the housewife, the office worker, and the student probably need it the most.

When round shoulders exist the front muscles are really stronger than the back muscles and pull the shoulders forward; to straighten the shoulders it is necessary to strengthen the back muscles until these pull the shoulders back into position. Little good is accomplished by trying to correct round shoulders by throwing the shoulders back while standing, as such exercise is too easy and does not contract the back muscles vigorously enough. Instead, it will be much more helpful to take those exercises where the arms and legs are raised backwards while lying face downward on the floor. In a few weeks you will be pleasantly surprised to find the shoulders staying back in good position when the muscles have regained the necessary strength.

It is also a good plan to use deep breathing exercises several times daily as this will help deepen the chest. The lower ribs should be expanded and contracted to the utmost while breathing. If the back exercises and the breathing exercises are taken persistently then I am sure that you will get good results in correcting curved shoulders and bringing them back to normal.

For developing the shoulders and preparing them to look well during the summer bathing season, begin right now. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Walking in Tuberculosis

Question—M. G. P. writes: "Your advice has been the first to aid me in combatting pulmonary tuberculosis, and now after having been in bed two years I am about to begin my walks in my cure. What is the best time, mornings or afternoons, and how far should I walk to start with?"

Answer—I am pleased to know that you have had such splendid results from following my instructions in tuberculosis. If you have been in bed for two years I would advise you to start the walking exercise very gradually and increase the distance a little each day. You should not walk far enough to tire yourself at any time. The best time to take the walks is in the middle of the forenoon and in the middle of the afternoon, if you have no temperature at these times.

Zucchini

Question—Mrs. B. T. asks: "Will you please tell me what 'zucchini' is and how it should be prepared?"

Answer—Zucchini is a small Italian squash similar to the ordinary summer squash and may be used freely as a non-starchy vegetable if cooked by boiling or baking. As this vegetable is difficult to obtain in certain parts of the country, the ordinary summer squash may always be substituted for the zucchini.

Disinfectants

Question—R. E. W. asks: "Do you recommend disinfectants? If so, which are the best, that is, concerning their predominant ingredient?"

Answer—There are many occasions where disinfectants are necessary, but cleanliness is still more essential. Your question requires too long an answer to be given in this column.

Farm Loans in Floyd County Total $36,380

Special to The Record News.

FLOYDADA, Texas, May 11.—A total of 230 loans from the agricultural rehabilitation fund made available by congress in February, had been made to Floyd county farmers when the date for applications closed on April 30. A total of $36,380 has been placed in the hands of farmers to make this year's crops. The average amount of each loan was $167.21.

Recent rains throughout the county have made farmers jubilant over the crop prospects for this year and many declare that prospects are the best here since 1926.

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

In last Friday's corner the Rambler gave a very learned decision on a question involving a play at Sunset, and ever since he has been dodging brickbats.

The play in question was sent in by R. O. Peevey, secretary of the Brazos Valley league's club at Sunset. A man was on third. The pitcher threw the ball to the third baseman. The runner was not caught out. Then the third baseman made a motion to throw the ball back to the pitcher, but instead of doing so hid the ball under his arm. The base runner, thinking all was safe, played off the bag. Then the third baseman rushed up and tagged him out.

The question was, is it permissible to conceal the ball when it is in play. The umpire at Sunset ruled it was not permissible, and held that the runner was safe.

The Rambler was asked to give his opinion, and I held that the umpire was right.

Well, I try to be conscientious in these matters, and every time a question like that comes in I dig into the rule books. Sometimes, however, you know a whole lot less after reading the rules. This case was a perfect example. By the time I got through reading about 20 pages of rules I knew less about baseball than Ziggy Sears.

I hunted through every paragraph trying to find a rule that would cover a hidden ball, but there wasn't any. Then I came upon the balk rule, a part of which says that if a pitcher takes his legal position without the ball in his possession, it is a balk, and the runners on base, if any, are entitled to advance.

Well, I figured that the runner on third in this case wouldn't have been fooled if the pitcher had not taken his legal position and made out like he was about to pitch.

But there is where I over-stepped matters. In the letter Mr. Peevey wrote, there was nothing said about where the pitcher was, or what he was doing while the hidden ball play was being executed.

I held that the base runner was safe, but I was basing my decision on no evidence that there was a balk.

Well, the next day every sport fan in Wichita Falls demanded my resignation for being so stupid as to fail to recognize a simple hidden-ball play, which, according to them, is pulled everywhere, even in the big show. Percy Cobb, dean of Wichita Falls' baseball fans, swore he'd never speak to me again, but I bought him a cup of java and that fixed things between us.

And now I want to make my peace with Mr. Peevey, and the Sunset club. I was wrong. If the pitcher complied with the balk rule that runner on third was out, whether he was tagged by a hidden ball, an exposed ball, a ball of fire, or a square ball, or a ball and chain—just so long as the ball was the one in play.

Chillicothe's Growling Cub writes in to correct a statement by a Tipton, Okla., fan. The latter, in a recent letter stated the Tipton team had "always beaten the Cubs." The Growling Cub takes exception, even sending in a box score of a game played between the two teams, July 20, 1927. The score shows Chillicothe won, 8 to 4, that the Cubs got 15 hits to seven for Tipton, and that the Cubs made two errors to Tipton's one. The opposing pitchers, Hale and Nicholson, struck out 11 each, Hale walking two and Nicholson one. Even the gate receipts are included, a total of $14.40.

The Growling Cub has a mind for statistics.

The Bailey-Moline Hardware nine is anxious to tackle the Chillicothe team, according to a letter from John O'Neal, which follows:

"Dear Rambler:

"I read your corner in the newspaper every day. Have noticed lately there has been quite a lot of talk about the ball club of Chillicothe, Texas. They have advertised for games with other teams within the radius of 100 miles. Account of living in Wichita Falls and their advertisement being in the Wichita Falls newspaper, I think some team of the Wichita Falls clubs should take them up on their challenge; however, there is nothing but amateur teams in the city of Wichita Falls and they might not come up to the qualifications of their team as semi-pro.

"The Bailey-Moline Hardware company's team takes this opportunity of accepting their challenge. We only have June 7 date open that we could possibly fill. Amateur baseball is free here on Sundays, so we would have to play there.

"Please communicate with John O'Neal, care H. O. Wooten Grocery company, Wichita Falls, Texas."

In the next 15 years the gold supply of South Africa, which has furnished over half the world output, is expected to become exhausted.

BIG CHIEF ORR ON WARPATH

Spudders Give Release To E. K. Martin

Chubby Orr and company, meaning the San Antonio Indians, will heave into sight today as the Spudders open the first long home stay of the season.

Chubby, the bench-warming utility outfielder for the Spudders last season, has been making things hot for opposing pitchers this year, with the result that he has been purchased by the New York Giants. He will remain with the Tribe the remainder of this season, however.

The big Chief's bat, which was for the most part futile last season, has been very much in evidence in Texas league games thus far. For the next three days he will be given the opportunity to take the warpath against his former mates, and on the playing field which he formerly called his own.

Uncle Robby Robertson, catcher for the Spuds the latter part of last season, and now manager of the Indians, will also be among the Braves. And there will be other Spudder cast-offs in their midst—Tom Estell, the spit-baller, and Cyrus Smith, the big right-hander who was sold to San Antonio early last season.

The San Antonio series over, the Spudders will be host to the remaining South Texas clubs, Galveston, Beaumont and Houston, in the order named, and finally Shreveport, making it a home stay of 13 games. The opening of the home stand finds the Spuds still in sixth place, after a disastrous road trip on which the club dropped seven games and won four.

The team returned from Galveston shortly after noon Monday.

The Spudder offices late Monday announced that since the club had been unable to find a place for E. K. Martin it had been forced to give him his unconditional release. Martin, the southpaw first-sacker, was one of the most promising rookies in the Spudder spring training camp.

SHIPPERS SWEEP SERIES

BEAUMONT, Texas, May 11. (AP)—The Exporters closed their home stay with a 17-hit attack on Shreveport, winning the final game of the series, 13 to 5 today for a clean sweep. Heinie Schuble led the attack on Estrada and Wood with four hits in five times up, including a home run. Fritz and Holley also hit for the circuit. Manager Del Baker used three pitchers before he found one to his liking but Green, once he entered the game, hurled fine ball and received credit for the victory. Score:

CATS 4, TRIBE 1

SAN ANTONIO, May 11. (AP)—Dick Whitworth won a well earned pitchers' battle when the Fort Worth Panthers defeated the San Antonio Indians, 4 to 1, in the final game of the series here Monday afternoon by assembling their hits off Harold (Hobo) Carson.

Fowler and Cox got in a couple of three baggers to figure in the Cat scoring. Score:

Managers of Commercial League to Meet Tonight

A meeting of all managers of the Commercial league will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the Malones Beauty Shop, according to an announcement made Monday afternoon by Paul Whatley, secretary of the league. The eligibility of several players will be questioned at the meeting and all managers are requested to be present, it was said.

Delayed Opening Games of Wichita Amateur League Played Monday

Four teams in the newly organized Wichita Amateur league swung into action in league battles for the first time Monday afternoon. All opening games were scheduled to have been played last Friday, but bad weather permitted only one game to go off as scheduled, that between the Rookies and the Wichita Posters, and that contest ended in a 9-all deadlock.

In the league openers Monday, the Seymour Roadsters defeated Rookies, 10 to 3; the McCarty Coffee company defeated the Empire Paper company team, 7 to 6; and the Smooch store nine whipped the Wichita Posters, 15 to 7.

Oran Janeway went the route for the Seymour Roadsters, and his hurling was backed up by sufficient batting punch to make the Roadsters' victory over the Rookies a decisive one.

Steady pitching by Harvey and Bennett was largely responsible for the coffee company's victory over the Paper nine. Bennett, in addition to his mound work, delivered two of his team's three hits. The paper company got six hits, but they were scattered.

West, of the Smooch store nine, hit a homer with two on to feature his team's overwhelming victory over the Poster nine. The score by innings of this game follows:

Phils Cut Cards' Winning Streak Of Eight Games With 2-1 Victory

PHILADELPHIA, May 11. (AP)—After winning eight straight games the league leading Cardinals were beaten by the Phils here this afternoon, 2 to 1.

Phil Collins was the master of the visitors throughout. The Phillies won the game in the sixth inning when Klein's sixth homer wiped out a 1 to 0 lead and Mallon's double to left with Arlett on second pushed across the winning tally. Score:

Triple Play Features Cubs' Win Over Thalia

Special to The Record News.

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, May 11.—The Chillicothe Cubs squared matters with the Thalia team Sunday, winning, 7 to 1. On April 26 the Thalia team blanked the Cubs, 4 to 0.

C. Stewart toed the rubber for the Cubs and went the route, allowing only five hits, while striking out five and walking only one. Mints, who started for Thalia, also whiffed five. He and Hopkins were touched for nine hits. Each side committed two bungles.

The game was featured by a fast Cub triple play in the ninth. Webb of Thalia was safe on Sills' error and Hopkins was hit by a pitched ball. Mason then popped up to F. Morrison at third to start the triple killing, F. Morrison to M. Stewart to L. Morrison.

Molines Win 11-Inning Contest at Graham

A double by Monty Griffin and a single by Heinie Buss Sunday afternoon at Graham gave the Bailey-Moline Hardware company baseball team a 7 to 6 victory over South Bend in a torrid 11-inning battle. Ben McLarry hit a home run for the Wichitans while Lupher went the route on the hill.

M'ALLEN 3, SAN BENITO 2

M'ALLEN, Texas, May 11. (AP)—Willis' hit in the last of the 11th inning today won for McAllen over San Benito, 3 to 2. Hill of San Benito was scored by Clements in the seventh to tie the score. Hardy had 13 strikeouts for McAllen.

BRAZOS VALLEY RACE NARROWS

Knox City and Munday Left On Top

The race in the Brazos Valley league narrowed somewhat after Sunday's games when Goree was ousted from the first place tie, leaving Knox City and Munday as the only teams with perfect records after the first two weeks of warfare.

Goree, playing on its home grounds, bowed to Knox City, 8 to 3, while Munday kept its record clear with a 5 to 3 victory over Weinert at Weinert. In the third game Sunday, Rhineland registered its first victory of the season, whipping Sunset, 6 to 4, at Rhineland. Weinert and Sunset remain the only teams without a victory.

The league plays its scheduled games each Sunday.

Knox City 8, Goree 3

Holding Goree to nine hits while his mates slugged out 14, and profited by eight Goree errors, R. Edwards led the Knox City team to its 8 to 3 victory at Goree. Edwards struck out eight batsmen to four by Thurman, Goree twirler. Score:

Five Colleges Desert T. I. A. A.

FORT WORTH, May 11. (AP)—Five state teachers' colleges have withdrawn from the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association and have formed a body of their own to be known as the Lone Star conference. Announcement of the new organization was made here this afternoon by L. I. Smith, business manager of the East Texas State Teachers college of Commerce, who has been elected president.

The other members of the new athletic body along with the East Texas teachers are North Texas State Teachers college of Denton, Stephen F. Austin of Nacogdoches, Sam Houston State Teachers of Huntsville and Southwest State teachers of San Marcos.

The withdrawal of the five schools leaves the T. I. A. A. with a membership of six, West Texas State Teachers college of Canyon, Arts and Industries of Kingsville, Daniel Baker of Brownwood, Abilene Christian college and McMurry college of Abilene and Sul Ross of Alpine.

The Lone Star conference will not be confined to athletics but will include every phase of college work. The rules will be based on the Southwest conference requirements. The body also will uphold the regulations and standards of both the Texas Association of Colleges and Southern Association of Colleges.

All of the schools are members of both bodies.

In addition to the five schools already enrolled others are expected to join. However, it is planned to keep the membership small enough to allow the playing of a round-robin schedule in all athletics. There is a possibility that the schools remaining in the T. I. A. A. will form another organization.

The Lone Star conference schools will retain membership in the T. I. A. A. until the meeting in December.

Electrics Score Three in Seventh To Defeat Presbyterians, 3 to 2

Sandlot Slants

By MACK TURNER

Begging the pardon of Skipper Keyes of the Noble-Little nine, we will state that he didn't look so hot as third baseman recently. Keyes seemed to realize this fact and in shaking up his lineup he moved himself back behind plate, where we will hand it to the youthful manager. He has looked like one of the best maskmen in the loop. It seems Keyes at last has found his position.

John "Babe" Horsley, field manager of the First Presbyterians, seems to have hit a stride this year which will bring him distinction. Babe is busting the ball hard and seems to fit anywhere in the line-up. As a rule, if Horsley's hits don't fall safe, they back up the outfield.

Horsley has played third, short, caught and pitched this year in the first few games of the season, and on top of this, he has looked like he was just made for these positions. It seems that Horsley is sure to star in the field. His acceptance of eight chances at third base in a six-inning game must be close to a Commercial league record. Eight chances for a third baseman in a nine-inning game would be a heavy day's work.

In detective dime thrillers, it is often said, "Find the woman in the case and you are on the trail." We have often wondered if this would not fit perfectly into the success of the Dixon Sign company team. No team in the Commercial league seems to have the backing of the gentle sex like Sign Painter Dixon's scrappy youngsters. The same might be said of Sullivan's Grocery in the City league.

If the pitching in the Commercial league holds up much longer at the pace it has set in the first few weeks, the big batting records set last year by Everett Blue, Glenn Coolidge, Babe Horsley, and a few others of that hard hitting clan, will fall sadly short of those four and five hundred per cent hitters they were in 1930. Coolidge and Horsley are looking almost as good as they did last year, but Big Everett Blue is sadly off his 1930 form at the present time.

The recent decision of the City league board of arbitration concerning the protest filed by the Modern Woodmen against the Sullivan's grocery team, has attracted much attention, some of it apparently unfavorable.

It will be remembered that umpire's decisions in the last two innings of a recent Woodman-Sullivan game were the grounds for the protest. The board of arbitration ruled in favor of the Woodmen, stating that the game should be played over from the time the erroneous decisions were made. In other words, the last two innings, said the board, shall be played over, with Modern Woodmen entering into the play-off with a 4 to 2 lead.

It seems the concensus of Sullivan fans that the game should be played over from beginning to end, instead of playing the last two innings only, with the Woodmen holding the lead.

Without entering into the argument one way or the other, the Sandlotter presents the case of the Sullivan rooters, as stated in two letters received recently. One of them even came in from Longview. These City league teams are attracting attention!

The Sullivan fan in Longview, Texas, writes as follows:

"Dear Sandlotter:

"A few weeks back I noticed in your column where, on account of a disputed play which led to a protest, Sullican's grocery and Modern Woodmen were to play a game of two innings, with Modern Woodmen two runs to the good.

"Now I don't think that would be giving the Sullivan bunch a fair break. I don't believe, Mr. Sandlotter, there is anyone who ever heard of a baseball game being played in two innings.

"I can't see why that such men as the board of arbitration is composed of should rule that such a game be played in two innings. It just isn't being done.

"Well, Mr. Sandlotter, here is hoping that Sullivan's wins the pennant, for if they do it can be said that it was done without the help of any one of the old Panhandle bunch.

"P. S. You have my permission to publish this letter in either your column or the Rambler's."

Well, the Rambler is too busy these days trying to alibi for that hidden-ball decision he made for the Sunset team, and so we'll take the liberty of publishing the Sullivan letter in our column whether the Rambler likes it or not.

The other letter comes from a Sullivan fan in this city. It follows:

"Dear Mr. Sandlotter:

"I notice in your recent column that Sullivan's Grocery are slated to play two innings of a protested game with the M. W. A. Cats on their next meeting date, and also that the M. W. A. team is to have a four to two lead over Sullivan's.

"I think as well as many others that this would be giving the Woodmen an unfair advantage over Sullivan's.

"Of course Mr. Sandlotter, I realize that you can do nothing about this but if this is published in your column maybe the board of arbitration will give them a hand.

"I suggest that on their next meeting date they play at least five innings, if not seven, of the protested game, and be given an even break.

"Here's hoping that Sullivan's win the pennant and that Stanley Anderson beats Smokey Lupher in their next engagement."

Larry Robertson of the Presbyterians and Big Everett Blue of the Texas Electric hooked up Monday afternoon on Debus field in a thrilling pitchers' battle with Blue coming out with a lucky 3 to 2 win. Robertson blanked the Frigidaires until the last half of the seventh when two costly errors and two timely hits shoved over the needed three runs. Blue held the Churchmen to four singles in registering his fourth victory of the season against no defeats and hurled winning ball all the way. Sensational catches in the field by Shepherd and Barrett featured the game for the Frigidaires. Incidently both their catches robbed Shortstop Howell of sure hits. Howell came through with a safe one his next trip up.

Sid Stanfield, peppery little Frigidaire maskman, led the attack for the winners with two hits in three trips up. Larry Robertson continued to pile up his hefty average by poling two singles in three trips to the plate. Robertson has piled up 13 hits in 22 times at the bat this year for a grand average of .591. MALONES WHIP NOBLE-LITTLE

The Malones Beauty shop registered another win in the Commercial league Monday afternoon on Harrison field when a big sixth inning rally gave them an 8 to 7 victory over the Noble-Little Hardware company team. The Hardware boys made a brave effort to save the game in the late innings, getting to Geyer for six runs in the last two frames, but fell one short of a tie. Norris led the attack for the losers with two hits. Sisk and Geyer collected two hits each for the winners. Geyer struck out nine men. Score:

First Round Starts In Southport Meet

SOUTHPORT, England, May 11. (AP)—The longest trail of golfers that ever wound over British fairways today played the first qualifying round in the big Southport tournament. The four Americans among the 300 seemed safe.

Joe Turnesa, of Elmsford, N. Y., led the American contingent, and for a time led the field, with his 73, until 46-year-old Harry Ball, of Lancaster, turned in his record score of 70 at Southport and Ainsdale. Horton Smith and Joe Kirkwood, of New York, carded 78s today and Tony Manero, also of Elmsford, a 79. The performances of the last three were not particularly sparkling but seemed good enough to get them under 160 which probably will be the limit for the 36 holes qualifying play.

Smith and Turnesa are members of the American Ryder cup team which will meet the British at Columbus, Ohio, in June and their play was watched closely.

A. J. Lacey turned in a nice 71 at Hesketh and Abe Mitchell and Aubrey Boomer had 74s. George Gadd carded a 75.

The outstanding play of today's round was provided by the Argentine team. Marco Churio and Hector Freccero had rounds of 76, while Tomasco Centa, Argentina open champion had a 77. Jose Jurado, captain, made the poorest showing of the three, getting a 79.

COLLEGE TRACK MEET OPENS

Two Records Set as T. I. A. A. Stars Compete

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DENTON, Texas, May 11.—Sprinting on a fast, dry track but hampered by a cold wind, track and field athletes in the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association's 20th annual meet, staged their preliminaries here today. Two new records were established.

In the 220-yard dash, Snodgrass, running with a powerful wind to his back, raced over the cinders for a new time of 21.5. The new speed king of the 220-yard event is a Daniel Baker product and weighs 200 pounds. He erased the old record of 21.8 made in 1916 by Mitchell of Texas A. & M. which is no longer a member of the T. I. A. A.

Gray Sets Mark

The second record to take a fall was the 440-yard dash. Gray, Abilene Christian college, running in the second heat, circled the oval in 50.5. Gray started slow, but taking the turn and breasting the wind, he swept in front and stayed there to beat the old record of 50.8 made in 1916 by A. Moses of Texas A. & M.

Slow time of 10.4 was recorded in the 100-yard dash which was scheduled to be the feature event of the preliminaries with Snodgrass, Daniel Baker, and Coe, Sam Houston, furnishing the pace. These two boys won their respective heats, but the wind held them back.

The North Texas State Teachers college, Denton, led in qualifying men for tomorrow's finals with 12 places. The North Texas had their best luck in the 220-yard low hurdles where they placed four men.

Finals Today

Finals in all events will be held Tuesday afternoon. By qualifying 12 men in track events today, the North Texas State Teachers stepped in front of Abilene Christian college as championship favorites. However, Abilene's strength is in the field events of which on preliminaries were held today. Abilene has taken three consecutive T. I. A. A. championships.

Conference officials announced today that regardless of their time in the finals tomorrow, the records made in today's preliminaries by Snodgrass and Gray will stand.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP)—An early decline in cotton under realizing and scattered selling inspired by relatively easy cables was followed by partial recoveries today. July closed at 10.00 with the general market closing steady at net declines of 9@12 points.

Trading in May was very quiet, only a few sales being reported. Selling tapered off as if influenced by reports of rallies in the stock market and the forecast for light frosts in some sections of the western belt.

The standard cloth statistics for April indicated that sales for the month had been 61 per cent of production with an increase of 3 per cent in stocks on hand and a decrease of 21.3 per cent in unfilled orders. These figures did not appear to be much out of line with expectations but were mentioned in connection with the early decline, which appeared to be chiefly influenced by the better eastern belt weather and easier cables.

Liverpool cables reported local and foreign liquidation in that market.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 11.—Cotton was decidedly sluggish in today's trading. Prices developed a downward tendency owing to much lower Liverpool cables than due and decidedly bearish textile statistics for April. That month's sales totaled only 61 per cent of production and unfilled orders decreased 21.3 per cent.

The market closed steady showing net declines for the day of 7-9 points.

Liverpool came in 3 to 4 penny points worse than due and private cables stated that there was local and foreign liquidation and some hedge selling. Manchester cabled that there were moderate cloth sales to the home trade and South America.

Port receipts 4,333, for week 8,936, for season 8,074,186, last season 8,381,825; exports 11,006, for week 20,600; for season 5,981,877, last season 6,216,702. Call Money Renewal Rate Hits 1908 Level in Erratic Session

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 11. (US)—Stock prices continued to fluctuate within a narrow range today, with volume falling a million shares below Friday's total and amounting to only a half a million shares above the trading total of Saturday's two-hour session.

Price changes were highly irregular, with perhaps a slight advantage on the upside among industrial and public utility shares, while a small fractional average decline was recorded among railroad stocks. The most important declines, and these, too, were generally of modest proportions, occurred in the same issues which have been under pressure for a long time.

Many new lows were established, but the market as a whole seemed to reflect only light pressure. Outstanding development of the day was a renewal rate of 1 per cent for call money, the cheapest borrowing charge for this type credit since September of 1908. Other money rates likewise reached new low levels.

Stocks favored by aggressive sponsorship enjoyed leadership on the constructive side. Woolworth achieved a price within a fraction of its best levels since the panic, and closed a full point net higher despite extensive profit-taking and renewed professional short-selling. The stock is said to be harboring a very sizeable short interest.

Wrigley is understood to have attracted the attention of important interests aligned on the constructive side of the market. The stock has been very impressive of late and buying is attributed to hopes for an extra dividend. For 1930 the company reported earnings in excess of $6 a share, of which $4 was distributed in regular dividends. The earnings established a record high last year.

Thus far in 1931 the income has been running close to the peak levels of last year, the first quarter resulting in net of $1.18 a share, against $1.32 the same period a year ago.

Gillette Safety Razor was the star performer of the day, gaining three points to a new high for many months, but its action was attributed largely to the activities of a speculative pool, although earlier in the year the buying was for long-pull account. Radio reached a new high for its present recovery on aggressive sponsorship by its most devoted friends.

Weak situations were uncovered by the bears in Union Carbide, which sold down more than two points, in Johns-Manville, which reached a new low since its introduction to the public, in Fox Film and in General Electric.

The Fox weakness was due to nervousness over the delay in issuance of the company's report, and obviously to the virtual certainty of the dividend being lowered or omitted.

General Electric was heavily sold by a bear clique which is depending on a poor second quarter report to permit leisurely covering of short commitments. American Can was again a laggard and its failure to rally with other leaders was a matter of greater comment. As so frequently pointed out here, Can seems to meet only light investment demand. Its sizeable and frequent recoveries are attributed mainly to an overcrowded short position. Steel Common closed up almost a point. Utilities as a group were firm. Auburn jumped 14 points.

Although the market quite obviously is performing in non-spectacular fashion, its very relative firmness is encouraging more aggressive group work in various stocks. Such activity is the principal reason for the strength in such issues as Gillette, Radio, Woolworth, Kroger and the few others which of late have been able to make progress on the upside, but the success of their sponsors may lead to more widespread constructive activity.

It is known that the bear ranks have suffered the desertion temporarily of certain prominent leaders, as recorded here over the past fortnight, but their attitude is one chiefly of temporary bullishness. They believe the market could enjoy a moderate rally without disturbing the trend. In the meantime, the stocks still "out of line" with the main list are being corrected daily. It is a highly selective market on both sides.

The most startling devolpment among the rails was the decline in Northern Pacific to a record low price of 40¾. The weakness comes just one market day later than 30 years following the stock's fantastic rise in the "corner" created on May 9, 1901, when Northern Pacific rose to $1,000 a share. Shorts, trapped in the Morgan-Hill-Harriman-Kuhn Loeb contest for this highly valuable property, finally were allowed to settle at $150 a share. Now, 30 years later, the $5 dividend is questioned and the stock is available at one-twentyfifth the price then recorded.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 11. (AP)—Despite a sharp decrease of the United States wheat visible supply all grains went downward today. Auspicious reports concerning domestic winter wheat prospects gave bears an advantage. In addition, better moisture conditions for spring wheat south of the Canadian boundary tended to offset need of a general soaking north of the international line.

Wheat closed irregular ⅜c lower to ⅛c advance, corn unchanged to 1c down, oats unchanged to ⅛@¼c off, and provisions showing 2 to 5c decline.

Much of the selling that accompanied price downturns in wheat was apparently based on dispatches from Chicago observers that the Kansas crop outlook seemed almost perfect. Nebraska advices were also received that the stand of wheat was exceptionally heavy.

Germany's stock of wheat were estimated at 21,000,000 bushels, against 17,600,000 a year ago. Poor quality of remaining French stock was cited as likely to make a better outlet for hard winter wheat from the United States.

Corn and oats prices weakened with wheat. Recent buyers of corn sold to realize profits.

Provisions sagged owing to lack of demand.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, July, 62¼@62⅝c; 63¼@63⅝c; Sept. 61⅞@62c, 63¼c; Dec. 65⅝c, 66½c. Corn, July, 60½c, 61⅞@62c; Sept. 59¼c, 60⅝@60¼c; Dec. 51¼c, 52¼@52⅝c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, May 11. (US)—The difference in attitude toward the market on the part of the wheat trade was readily discernible today. The news, except for the lack of moisture in Canada, leaned strongly to the bearish side, but instead of inducing active selling served principally to restrain buying.

Importance of the reports of rather substantial delay in Russian spring wheat seeding does not lie so much in possibilities that the wheat will not be seeded. Its bullish aspect is that it reveals convincingly that such a season as that country experienced in 1930 cannot be repeated this year.

Best informed Russian authorities were agreed that the bumper production of wheat in that country in 1930 was due not so much to increased area as to exceptionally early seeding, a long period of good weather for the work, and unusually favorable weather in the fall for harvesting.

May corn continued to act relatively firm. There is still pronounced bearishness in some quaters toward the new crop deliveries, but the nearby positions are being treated with respect.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP)—Cotton goods were steadier and a little more active in the print cloth divisions today. Some other unfinished cloths also showed some quickening in the demand. Raw silk went to a new low price and was quiet here. Silk goods were selling moderately. Rayon was in fair demand for weaving; wool goods were selling moderately.

Texas Produce

SAN ANTONIO, May 11. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—The onion market at Laredo was slightly weaker Saturday at 70@75c sack U. S. commercial yellows and $1.10@1.15 on wax f. o. b. cash track. Lower valley points reported potatoes weak at $1.50@1.75 cwt. on wire orders. Snap beans dull unchanged. The tomato market was slightly weaker at $2.50 per lug f. o. b. cash track. Strawberries at Hammond, La., were steady, averaging $1.80 per crate.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, May 11. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Lightweight steers and yearlings developed strength at some points around the market circuit, but heavy weight offerings ruled lower, with declines up to 25c reported. Total arrivals were rather light at 56,300, comparing around 14,000 less than last Monday. Limited offerings failed to stimulate demand, however, the dressed beef market continuing to move in a sluggish vein.

There was an improved tone in the market for sheep and lambs. Receipts were 87,400, as compared with 84,197 a week ago.

Activity was the rule in the markets for hogs and sales ranged steady to 25c above last week's closing levels. Sharply decreased offerings was the main factor in the better tone. Combined receipts were 88,400, as against 128,357 a week ago.

NEWS of the FIELD

FISHING SEASON

Fain & McGaha No. 1 A. J. Ikard, located in the southeast corner of the A. J. Ikard land, Jos. Levins survey, abstract 260, in south Archer county, is enjoying a fishing job at a depth of 1738 feet.

ARCHER CITY AREA

W. H. Frazier and others No. 2 Wm. Coleman is erecting derrick on the location for a 2500-foot test to be drilled 150 feet from north, 150 feet from east lines of south 84 acres of lot 1, section 81, A. T. N. C. L. survey, and midway between the towns of Archer City and Scotland in northeast Archer county.

WILBARGER COUNTY TEST

George W. Shaner and associates No. 1 W. T. Waggoner, located in block 4, section 52, H. & T. C. R. R. survey in the eastern portion of Wilbarger county, and south of Harrold, is having trouble at a depth of 1850 feet due to a pipe collapse, and is shut down.

CLAY COUNTY GASSER

Ray Dawson and others completed their No. 1 W. C. Kelly test, located in block 85, Parker county school lands in Clay county, as a gasser estimated at 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. The sand was topped at 1567 feet.

TEXAS COMPANY LOCATION

The Texas company No. B-6 Jeffrey, located in the southwest part of section 42, T. E. & L. survey south of Orth in Young county, has spudded in. The well is an offset to the east of the Wayne Hammon producer in the same survey.

COOKE COUNTY LOCATION

The Faith Oil corporation and others staked out location for their No. 2 J. F. Bugg test to be drilled 600 feet from north and 1650 feet from west line of Harriett Nall survey, abstract 790, in Cooke county.

JACK COUNTY TEST

The Ascot Oil company No. A-1 Maxey, located in S. P. R. R. survey, abstract 568, section 1, in west 60 acres of the south half of northwest quarter of survey in Jack county, is drilling at 1150 feet.

WEST OF ODELL

Bowman Drilling company No. 1 L. Johnson, located in the southeast quarter of section 11, block 10, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, one mile west of Odell in north Wilbarger county, is shut down at a depth of 1750 feet.

NEW REFINERY BUILDING

Within a period of about 30 days, Young county will add another refining plant to its number now in operation. The plant which is being built by Olney operators is known as the Norgold Refining company and when completed will have a daily capacity of 800 barrels. The main offices of the new concern will be located in Olney. Crude will be supplied to the plant from the various wells on the nearby producing leases.

Six Trucks Destroyed In Packing House Fire

SAN ANTONIO, May 11. (AP)—Damage estimated at almost $10,000 was done by a fire, believed to have originated in a short circuit, which almost completely destroyed six trucks and a shed at the plant of the J. E. Decker Packing company here yesterday.

WAR RAGES IN MINING CENTER

Jobless Workers and Operators of Mines Use Guns

trols of their members shouldering rifles and shotguns.

The national organization has not yet recognized the locals of the Harlan field. Apparently it is waiting until the members can show an indisputably organized body of workers before it will consent to take them back. The organization, in fact, denies that it is taking any part in the present agitation here.

A Fighting Lot

But these men of the Kentucky mountains are confident they can take care of themselves, regardless of outside aid. They are hospitable and friendly to the extreme once you have won their good graces, but they are a fighting lot when crossed.

Last year there were 34 murders in Harlan county. The March grand jury returned 11 indictments for murder, while eight killings were in "simultaneous pairs." These were cases in which two men fought to the death.

One of the pairs were brothers—Jim and John Bailey. Jim got a job as a guard at a mine. John "cussed him out" for it at the courthouse. John got drunk that night and shot Jim. Dying, Jim got his pistol and killed John.

Such is the background of the war between capital and labor in Harlan county, where union leaders say 5,000 wives and children of jobless miners now face hunger.

The industrial mines, such as those controlled by U. S. Steel and Andrew Mellon's mines at Coxton, are operating without trouble. The operators who are feeling the pinch are those who must go into the open market to sell. The point to the decrease in "lake orders" (shipments to the iron fields of Wisconsin and Michigan) and to the tremendous encroachment that the development of hydro-electric power in the Carolinas has made on their coal market. They look, too, with a fearful eye toward Muscle Shoals.

The operators say they have been forced into a position where they have to fight to survive.

The miners say that, too, of their own case.

And in Harlan county, fighting means fighting.

Bateman Pool Widened Again

Special to The Record News

HENDERSON, Texas, May 11.—Turner, Self, et al., No. 1 S. E. Sanders is reported to be good for 18,000 barrels extending production one and three-quarters miles east of the Devonian Oil company No. 1 R. A. Motely and brings production in the Bateman area another mile nearer the Joiner area.

Nineteen feet of saturated sand was cored in the new producer, which was completed at a total depth of 3753 feet. The new producer is located in the northwest corner of a 55-acre tract in the T. J. Martin survey and is a little south of the Overton-Pitner junction highway.

GUS WILEY DIES

DALLAS, May 11. (AP)—R. A. (Gus) Wiley, former street commissioner of Dallas, paving contractor and construction engineer, died suddenly of a heart attack shortly after noon today as he was in an elevator en route to a doctor's office.

The peach is an ancient fruit, and it seems singular that no mention is made of it in the Bible, for it is known to have been introduced into Italy as early as the time of Claudius, 50 A. D.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

Lesson No. 35

BIDDING IN CONTRACT BRIDGE

In Contract Bridge, it is usually advisable to bid hands to the limit unless it is apparent that a game-going bid can't be reached. The very high bonus for a rubber makes it advisable to reach a game-going bid, but it is not profitable to go higher unless a slam bid can be made. Bids should be based on trick valuations, and as few conventions as possible should be used.

Physicians Address Lions at Electra

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, May 11.—Drs. R. R. Ramey and P. E. Fish were the principal speakers at the last Lions club luncheon. They are assisting the Thompson Ward Parent-Teacher association in holding a free clinic and are examining the school children. They based their remarks on the importance of examining the school children and the care of their diet.

F. M. Baker, chairman of the nominating committee, read a list of those nominated for election as officers and directors of the club. W. L. Horn and Sam Hill who were in charge of the program presented Miss Lucille Hodge in toe and acrobatic dance numbers, and Misses Cobb and Dorothy Landrum in vocal numbers, accompanied by Miss Letrice Wofford. Dr. C. C. Klingman, pastor of the First Christian church, read a humorous poem. Visitors were Mr. Backus of Wichita Falls and Mrs. F. P. Hodge of Electra.

AROUND THE RADIO CLOCK

(Time Is Central Standard Throughout)

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP)—Increased power and an improved pick-up system are being planned by W2XCR, New York television station now operated in conjunction with WGBS, broadcast transmitter.

The new pickup system is to consist of a direct television camera in which flood lighting is used rather than a so-called flying spot of light in a darkened studio. The flood lighting differs from the other system in that it is handled somewhat as is the lighting of a stage. In fact a small stage may be used, the illumination being done either by spot or flood lights.

With the "flying spot" the entertainer stands in a square of light which is produced by the television camera.

Otherwise your dials may be set for:

11:30 p. m.—Farm and home hour, WJZ network, May meeting of the Progressive Garden club.

3:00—Mrs. Wrenn Du Pont discussing "Summertime Complexions" on WEAF and stations.

7:00—Two guest artists in musical magazine, WEAF hookup, Velma Sutton, soprano, and Fred Hufsmith, tenor.

7:30—Modernistic compositions by the Barlow Symphony orchestra, WABC and others.

8:00—Lucille Clemons, popular pianiste, guest of the works of great composers, WJZ circuit.

8:30—Talk by Ernest Lubitsch, film director, in radio playhouse, which also is to include Morton Downey, tenor, WABC setup.

9:30—New WJZ chain pipe organ series to be known as dream pictures, played by Archer Gibson.

GOOD WILL MOVE

GALVESTON, Texas, May 11. (AP)—Members of the Texas good will tour of 1927, attending a reunion here, voted today in favor of forming a permanent organization for the purpose of making other tours to advertise the state. The present officers, John D. Middleton of Greenville, president, and Paul Wakefield, secretary, will be retained.

LAWTON MAN HEADS T. P. A.

State Traveler's Group Ends Convention

Special to The Record News

LAWTON, Okla., May 11.—The 20th annual T. P. A. state convention closed its sessions here Saturday night with a banquet and program and, with 100 traveling men and their wives in attendance.

At the closing business session Saturday a Lawton man, Claud Ellegood, was elected state president, C. E. Plott, of Chickasha, vice president; C. T. Walker, Oklahoma City, second vice president; J. A. Glenn, Lawton, third vice president; J. E. Sell, Oklahoma City, secretary.

The board of directors for the ensuing year are the following: A. H. Jacoby, J. B. Jeffers, R. E. Norris, all of Oklahoma City; Floyd Harris, Lawton, and C. B. Hanna, Oklahoma City.

Standing committees are: C. D. Breeding, Oklahoma City, railroad; C. T. Walker, Oklahoma City, publicity; H. B. Cook, Lawton, hotel; Ed Ringer, Chickasha, legislative; Nick Byrne, Lawton, employment; Grover Weaver, Lawton, good roads; F. W. Frey, Chickasha, membership; Rev. J. R. Abernathy, Chickasha, chaplain.

Claude Ellegood, Lawton, and A. H. Jacoby, Oklahoma City, were selected to represent Oklahoma division as delegates to the national convention to be held in San Francisco June 7, 8, 9, and 10.

Resolutions were adopted by the convention expressing appreciation to Lawton and to the local post and auxiliary for hospitality extended.

The convention was voted one of the most successful ever held by the Oklahoma division.

Three Generations Baptized Together In Stamford Church

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, May 11.—Special Mother's day services were conducted at local churches Sunday. Rev. W. G. Fletcher, pastor of St. John's Methodist church led a service dedicated to the mothers at the 11 o'clock hour, with a sermon subject of both personal and universal interest. Rev. Percy Jones, pastor of St. Luke's Episcopal church, held appropriate services to mark this special day.

The service at the First Baptist church was of particular interest. The baptising service was held following the morning message. A unique feature about the baptising service was the immersion of three generations, Jim Vaden, his son and daughter and his mother were baptised.

In the evening Rev. Sam Morris preached "The Man in Overalls." He invited all men to come dressed in overalls and wore a pair himself.

Seniors at Electra Take Final Exams

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, May 11.—Final examinations for the seniors of the local high school began Monday morning and will last through Tuesday afternoon.

Rehearsals are being held each afternoon for the senior play, "Here Comes Patricia" which is said to be one of the funniest plays to be staged in Electra in several years. Mrs. Jodie D. Smith is coaching the play, and the characters include Marjorie Beasley in the title role, Lillian Rippy, Thelma Moss, Marguerite Hughes, Ruby McGlaughan, Aubrey Smith, Cloyd Smith, T. C. McCorkle, Roger Golden, and Horace Birdsong.

TWO GIVEN PRISON TERMS

Two Others Given Suspended Sentences

Prison terms totaling three years and suspended prison sentences totaling five years were imposed upon four defendants in the 89th district court Monday morning before Judge P. A. Martin following their pleas of guilty to felony charges.

Thomas Abbot, indicted on charges of swindling over $50, was sentenced to serve two years in the state penitentiary. Sam Williams, charged with possession of whisky, received a sentence of one year. R. P. Allen was given a three-year suspended sentence and Clay Tyra a two-year suspended sentence on charges of burglary.

Trial of Mrs. David Black, charged with theft over $50, was started Monday afternoon. Several witnesses were sworn in for the case, and court officials predicted that it would not be completed before Tuesday noon. The defendant is represented by Earl Kuntz. George W. Anderson and Mike Anglin, assistant district attorneys, are prosecuting criminal cases in the present term.

AND HE HEARD ABOUT ECRU FROM HIM

Earl Kuntz, attorney, was defending a Wichita Falls woman accused of shoplifting. The witness was Marvin Smith, manager of W. B. McClurkan company.

"Describe the dress, please," said Kuntz.

"Well, it was a black dress, with panels on the sides of the skirt and the arms and yoke were trimmed in ecru lace and—"

"Oh, so it had lace on the collar. And what was the color of the lace?"

"I said it was—" Laughter, especially from women spectators, drowned the rest of Smith's reply.

College Clubs Give Minstrel Show Tonight

Members of the Junior college senate, Outdoor club and Tennis club are promising an hour and a half of rollicking and wholesome fun Tuesday night at the college auditorium at 8:15 when they present jointly their annual vaudeville. This year the entertainment will take the form of a blackface minstrel show in two parts.

Fred Sehman, Bill Donnell, and Patrick Henry, three of the most popular entertainers in the high school, will lead off the program with a blackface comedy act. For part two of the show the members of the three college clubs are to present "Coontown Justice," a blackface comedy of many years presentation, according to A. F. Edwards, sponsor of the three clubs.

A charge of 25 cents will be made at the door, the proceeds to defray expenses of the club pages in the college annual. This will be the final entertainment feature of the college and the high school except the high school senior play during commencement week.

Kiwanis Club Hears Musical Program

Members of the Kiwanis club were entertained Monday noon at their weekly luncheon meeting with vocal solos by Laurence A. Lambert of Hollywood, Calif., and R. E. Shepherd of this city, with Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr. and Mrs. Shepherd as accompanists. The program was arranged and directed by William E. Young.

Announcement of the appearance here next Monday night of the Russian Royal chorus under the auspices of the Kiwanis club was made during the hour.

MAJESTIC: "Iron Man" with Lew Ayres, Jean Harlow and Robert Armstrong. Comedy, musical novelty and sound news. Vaudeville.

STRAND: Harry Carey and Edwina Booth in "Trader Horn." Mickey Mouse comedy and sound news.

GEM: "The Sea Wolf" with Milton Sills, Raymond Hackett and Jane Keith. Comedy.

Those who are enthusiastic enough to go back to see "Trader Horn" a second time will find it interesting to compare the habits of the cannibals with everyday customs of 1931. There is, for instance, a definite resemblance between the screaming crowd that waits to see the crucifixion and those hundreds that fill up athletic stadiums for football games.

When the three victims who are to be executed are dragged in, the black cannibals stand up and howl just like Texas university howls when the Longhorns run onto the field.

The young French boy—or is he Spanish?—calls attention to the fact that Africans show signs of being cousins to those who claim to be civilized. A baby swung onto his mother's back, papoose style, grins and sticks his thumb in his mouth like any little pickaninny, and all the young girls giggle in true adolescent style at the sight of the foreigner. Yet behind those girls is the cross on which their victims are tortured and put to death.

"There's Africa for you son—kill or be killed, and nobody the better for it" says old Trader Horn, but his description hardly sets Africa apart from the United States when the shadow of the electric chair makes as horrible mark on this country as the crude cross does in Africa.

Classes to Feast At Floydada May 16

Special to The Record News

FLOYDADA, Texas, May 11.—Approximately 150 plates will be served at the annual banquet of the junior-senior classes of the Floydada high school, which will be held Saturday, May 16, at the Andrews ward gymnasium. The entertainment is a traditional affair in the school, having been inaugurated some 10 years ago. It is given each year by members of the junior class, complimentary to the graduates.

This years entertainment will be the largest in the history of the school. Marion Heald is president of the junior class and O. B. Olson is president of the senior class. The junior class is composed of 80 members and the senior class has 70 members. Food for the banquet will be prepared and served by the home economics department of the high school, under the supervision of Mrs. Odus Stephen and Mrs. Richard Stovall, home economics teachers.

Police Nab Pair After Chase Along Creek

Two men were lodged in the city jail Monday afternoon while police conducted an investigation to trace the source of a carton of canned tobacco the two attempted to sell a storekeeper.

Called to a store in the south of the city, Fred Fountain and Chris Jensen, detectives, gave chase to the pair and succeeded in taking them into custody only after running them several miles through the bottoms of Holliday creek. Two shots fired into the ground by Jensen failed to stop one of the men, it was said, but instead lent speed to his steps.

Action of the two caused police to express the belief that the tobacco had been stolen.

Eleven Italian Towns Rocked by Earthquakes

ROME, May 11. (INS)—Rocked by severe shocks in a series of earthquakes, 11 towns in the province of Avellino, Italy, suffered slight damage. There were no casualties reported.

The earthquakes started at 11:55 a. m. yesterday continued intermittently until 5 o'clock this morning. A second shock was recorded at 4:55 p. m. yesterday. The inhabitants were at first driven from their homes in a panic, but returned as damaging effects appeared slight.

Many women fainted from fright when the first shock cracked the Menfi cathedral, where they were attending mass. Although the walls trembled they remained erect, developing only slight seams.

Final Junior C-C Dance And Bridge Saturday

The junior chamber of commerce monthly dance, the last of the season, will be held at the Wichita club Saturday night in conjunction with a unique "Amos 'n' Andy" bridge tournament, it was announced Monday.

E. F. Noe is in charge of arrangements for the bridge tourney. Only six tables will be available for contested play, it was announced, and for this reason early reservations were asked. Other tables will be placed out for play, but will not be entered in the tournament, which will close at 10:30 p. m.

Gordon Shay's orchestra will play for the dance, it was said.

Court Hears Testimony In $25,000 Damage Suit

Introduction of testimony for the plaintiff was completed Monday afternoon before Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court in the suit of Mrs. H. E. Carson and her husband against the Texas Pipe Line company for $25,000 damages.

The plaintiff's action is based upon injuries said to have been received when she allegedly was struck by an automobile driven by an employe of the defendant company. The accident was said to have occurred on the Seymour highway near Holliday on Oct. 30, 1930.

The case is expected to reach the jury by noon Tuesday, it was said.

COUNTY CLOSES SUPPLY BIDS

Auditor Urges Economy In Expenditures

Contracts for numerous supplies for the county in its four precincts were awarded by the commissioners court Monday afternoon after more than 20 bids had been examined.

Supplies to be supplied on contracts awarded Monday will be as follows:

Falls Refining company, 25,000 gallons gasoline for precinct No. 1, at a price of 1.87 cents per gallon above tank car price.

LaSalle Petroleum company, 20,000 gallons gasoline for precinct No. 2, at two cents per gallon above tank car price.

Beasley & Cain and Morgan Oil company, 15,000 gallons gasoline each for precinct No. 3, at two cents under tank wagon price.

Gasoline bids in precinct No. 4, and all oil bids, were rejected.

Wichita County Lumber company and J. C. Woolridge Lumber company, Iowa Park, each to furnish one-half of lumber supplies for precinct 3.

C. D. Shamburger Lumber company, Burkburnett, six kegs nail, 400 feet of posts, 100 pounds galvanized wire, for precinct 2.

Foxworth - Galbraith company, lumber for precinct 1.

Cicero Smith Lumber company, Burkburnett, lumber for precinct 2.

Ambulance Service

Cicero Smith Lumber company, Electra, 100 barrels cement at $2.08 for precinct 4; C. D. Shamburger Lumber company, Electra, nails at $3.50 per 100 pounds and No. 1 lumber at $35 and $45 per M, for precinct 4.

Bailey-Moline Hardware company, 40 kegs of nails, 30 spools wire, for precinct 1.

C. D. Shamburger Lumber company, Wichita Falls, five kegs staples, 1,000 cedar fence posts, for precinct 1.

Southwestern Glass and Paint company, paint and linseed oil as needed, for precinct 1.

Bids for cement in precinct one were rejected.

O. W. Hines' offer to provide ambulance service for the county and to bury bodies of paupers until a new contract for this service can be executed, was accepted by the commissioners. The vacancy occurred when the resignation of Albert's Funeral home from that position was accepted. County Auditor Paul Barnett was authorized to advertise for bids for such county undertaking and ambulance service, bids to be received on June 8, and to cover the period from that date to Dec. 31, 1932.

In connection with the filing of the county auditor's financial report for the year of Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1930, Mr. Barnett again submitted extensive recommendations urging upon the commissioners the need for more drastic economy in the conduct of the county's business. Either more stringent economy must be practiced in the ensuing year, he declared, or means of increasing the county's income must be devised.

Budget Plan Urged

The same measure of economy "submitted to the court by this office" earlier in the year again were recommended in Mr. Barnett's statement. Since "the general fund maximum tax levy is now in force," the only remedy left is a choice of reduced expenditures for expenses or an increase in taxable valuatinos, according to Mr. Barnett.

All interest and sinking funds balances are adequate to meet immediate demands, the report continues, but an increased revenue will be required to maintain that condition, the auditor pointed out.

Adoption of a budget system by the county was recommended, and the suggestion made that preparation be made at once for operating in the coming year on a budget plan.

The commissioners court will reconvene at 10 a. m. Wednesday, it was announced.

Wichita Delegates to West Texas C-C Uninstructed on Next Convention City

The Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce will take no active part in the fight between Dallas, Sweetwater, Mineral Wells and Amarillo for the 1932 convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, John Boswell, manager of the chamber here, said Monday.

The official delegation to the convention to be held at Lubbock May 14-16 will not be instructed with reference to casting votes to decide next year's convention city, it was announced, although opinion tends to favor Sweetwater. Wichita Falls will have a vote for each of its approximate 200 memberships in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

W. B. Hamilton, W. D. Cline and A. E. Kelly, official delegates, will be allowed to cast one vote each in the election of officers, it was explained.

Mr. Kelly announced Monday that reservations for the special train to carry the Wichita Falls delegation to Lubbock continued to increase. The day closed with 110 reservations made, including the 30-piece band that will accompany the Wichita Falls group.

I. O. Boosters Invite Truck Growers To Aid Establishment of Market

Preparations for the establishment of a retail public market here for all kinds of farm produce again occupied the attention of members of the I. O. Boosters club in its weekly meeting at the Holt hotel Monday.

Efforts are being made, according to discussion Monday, to obtain the support of local agricultural leaders and truck growers with a view to getting the market into operation within the near future. Methods used by similar enterprises in other cities are being studied by members of the club, and are expected to serve as the basis for a working plan here.

A letter from W. G. Gibbons, secretary-manager of the Muskogee, Okla., public market was read Monday, and it was announced that E. F. Riley, a member of the local club, will spend several days in Muskogee next week in order to make a detailed study of its operation. It was said that Mr. Riley would make his report to the club on May 25.

Frank Schram and F. W. Work were named by R. S. Fidler, president, to arrange the program for next Monday's meeting. Mr. Work was elected secretary of the club to succeed W. R. Gay, resigned.

RITES SAID FOR MRS. C. C. LEWIS

Second Service at Dallas Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Carl C. Lewis, 29, who died at a hospital here Sunday, were held Monday afternoon from the chapel of the Merkle Undertaking company. Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated.

The body was forwarded to Dallas, her former home, where a second service will be held from the residence of her mother, Mrs. A. E. Nabors, 4810 Gaston avenue, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Lewis' death was preceded by prolonged ill health. During her residence here she operated a millinery business at her home, 1100 Bluff.

Surviving are the husband, who is pressroom foreman for the Times Publishing company; the mother; three sisters, Mrs. H. H. Lewis and Miss Kate Nabors of Dallas, and Mrs. C. J. Wright of Sulphur Springs, Texas; and two brothers, John and Jim Nabors, both of Dallas.

O. U. Geology Students Study Formations Here

Thirty senior geology students from Oklahoma university, including Frank Bundy of this city, left Wichita Falls early Monday for Cisco after having spent Sunday night here.

Traveling in a large bus, the student-geologists are on tour of Southern Oklahoma and Northern Texas in a brief survey of geological formations in these sections. Samples of rock and other surface formations are being taken every few miles, it was said. The group was in charge of Prof. F. A. Melton and planned visiting Dallas on their way from Cisco back to Norman.

Mr. Bundy, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bundy of this city, spent Sunday night at the home of his parents.

Automobile owners pay gasoline taxes of $500,000,000 a year in the United States, in addition to $350,000,000 for registration and license fees.

PAINTING POINTERS
Walls and Ceilings are the Most Important Factors in Decoration
They are the largest surfaces, and because of that they must be subdued and soft-toned.
To keep walls simple, PAINT them with a "flat" wall paint such as VELUMINA FLAT WALL PAINT which gives walls a soft, delicate mist of color. It shows no laps or brush marks — lends spaciousness to rooms and easy washing takes the place of redecorating.
Color in the Home is essential to the spirit of modern decoration. Today, as never before, wonderful colors are available to the home decorator with WATERSPAR Varnish and Enamels. And best of all, the fuss and muss of refinishing is gone because of quick drying.
The Cheap Paint Humbug is the cheap-price-per-gallon paint so short in covering capacity that it saves only three or four dollars on the first cost of painting the average house, and in five years costs $288 more than if quality paint such as PATTON'S SUN-PROOF had been used in the first place. Ask to see the paint-cost chart.
Paint Floors with Modernized Colors!
Don't think of painted floors as painted with the crude, harsh floor colors you used to know. FLORHIDE ENAMEL brings modernized color to floors and gives you durable easy-to-clean, tile-like floors. For wood or concrete floors.
Make This Store YOUR Store for paint, varnish, enamels and brushes. We handle the famous Pittsburgh Proof Products line, for 75 years identified only with highest quality manufacture. Buy here with confidence and at reasonable prices.
Don't Think of the Good Painter as Just a Paint Slinger.
Nothing could be further from the fact. No two painting jobs are exactly alike and the experience, judgment and responsibility of the good painter more than justify his higher bid.
For Your Own Work,
use a good brush. That's indispensable to good results even in expert hands. HORSESHOE Brand brushes better your work.
