Chinese Strife Not Discussed With Russians

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16—Up until Wednesday the United States government had not discussed with Russia the civil strife in China.

Secretary Byrnes told newsmen this two days ago, and this fact stands out as events move toward an apparent climax in northern China.

WHITE

For Americans, this situation will be pointed up by the fact that Marine Maj.-Gen. DeWitt Peck happened to be on a train which was fired upon by someone—possibly a Chinese Communist—near the North China town of Lwanhsien. Peck is not the first Marine who has been fired upon.

Called Meddling

The Chinese Communists accuse us of meddling in China's internal affairs as we provide men and material to the Central government to disarm Japanese forces and reassert its authority over these areas.

The Communists actively challenge this reassertion of authority by blocking the overland advance of Central government troops.

One thing emerges as certain from this confusing situation. American aid, whether of a meddlesome nature or not, has not been decisive, as yet, in effecting the return of Central troops and in disarming the Japanese.

Things Move Rapidly

In the meantime things are happening. The Russians, occupying Manchuria, are withdrawing, and in two cases are said to have withdrawn in such a way that Chinese Communist forces have beaten Central government troops to the occupational punch.

The Communists now are alleged in Chungking to have gained almost complete control over Suiyuan, Chahar and Jehol which are contiguous either with outer Mongolia or Manchuria. Their aim seems to be two-fold: To establish a base adjacent to Soviet-controlled territory, and, if unable now to gain Manchuria itself by beating Chungking to it, then to gain parts of it now as the Russians withdraw and then get the rest of it later.

Chungking troops apparently face the prospect of having to fight their way in through Chinese Communist barriers set up near the Great Wall.

Hurley's Accusation

The U. S. Ambassador to China, General Hurley, who played a prominent role in negotiations which got Chungking and Communist leaders together to talk over a peaceful settlement, now has accused the Communists of seeking "to set up a separate government in China or destroy the

Hull 'Whitewash' In Jap Sneak Charged

Navy-Prepared Summary Of Story Of Pearl Harbor Assailed By Brewster

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. — Senator Brewster (R-Me) declared tonight a Navy-prepared summary giving the Japanese story of the Pearl Harbor attack was designed to show that former Secretary of State Hull "was not responsible for the war."

Brewster made this statement at a news conference held by the four Republican members after a Senate-House investgating committee completed its second day of testimony on the Pearl Harbor disaster.

No Supporting Proof

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) and Reps. Gearhart (R-Calif) and Keefe (R-Wis) joined Brewster in complanning that the summary—to be presented to the committee tomorrow by Admiral T. B. Inglis—offered Navy conclusions without any supporting proof.

Confidential copies of the summary have been in the hand of the committee members since yesterday afternoon.

Brewster told reporters that just as the Republicans demanded at today's hearing the production of U. S. ships' logs and the calling of one-the-scene witnesses, they would insist that the Navy' ummary be supported by first hand evidence of captured Japanese documents.

Logs Of Ships Asked

Gearhart and Keefe asked, respectively, for the logs of the Cruiser Boise and the Carrier Enterprise. Their requests were made to Rear Admiral T. B. Inglis who had assured the committee earlier that the Navy would supply any information it had.

Keefe brought out in questioning of Inglis that the Enterprise had launched 18 fully armed scout bombers at 6 a. m. 200 miles west of Pearl Harbor on the morning of the attack which came about 7:50 a. m.

"Do you deduce," he asked, "that the commander of the task force had any knowledge at 6 o'clock that there was likely to be an attack on Pearl Harbor at 7:50?"

Inglis said he though the flight represented routine operations of the task force under Admiral William F. Halsey, jr.

Jap Force Sighted

Gearhart, after intimating as much in questioning to Inglis, told a reporter during a recess that he had information the Boise, on convoy duty, had sighted at sea the Japanese force which made the attack. However, on further questioning by newsmen, he said it might have been another group of Japanese ships, not the one which struck Pearl Harbor.

"My information is that there was a fight aboard the Boise over whether they should break orders for radio silence and report it and the captain decided they should not," he said.

The Californian added that witnesses he believed would bear out his report would be summoned later.

Ship Convoy Ordered

The first mention of the Boise came from Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) after he had developed from Rear Admiral T. B. Inglis that the Navy on Nov. 25, 1941—12 days before Pearl Harbor — ordered merchant ships in the Pacific convoyed.

Under Ferguson's questioning, Inglis read an order which he said was issued on that date by Admiral Harold E. Stark, then chief of naval operations, directing that trans-Pacific shipping follow a southern route and that the Navy "provide necessary escort."

Inglis, a naval intelligence officer, had taken the stand yesterday at the hearing's opening to present a "factual statement" of what happened at Pearl Harbor, as shown by naval records.

Inglis said he believed there were two convoys in the Pacific at the time of Pearl Harbor. The Cruiser Pensacola was convoying eight ships west bound, he said, adding that he did not know the make-up of the other convoy.

Ferguson, indicating he had heard the Boise also was on convoy duty, asked that Inglis supply later information on the Boise's whereabouts at the time.

Service Unity Said A 'Must'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared today that "the era of atomic weapons" makes unification of the armed forces a must.

Not only is "unity of concept, indoctrination and training more necessary than ever," he told the Senate Military committee, but "only through a single department can coordinated development of new weapons be assured."

Bulldog And Tomcat

Unless unification is achieved, and quickly, the general foresaw separate Army, Navy and Air forces going their separate ways.

"They will no more fit together than a bulldog and a tomcat on a team," he added.

Acting Chairman Johnson (D-Colo) announced that Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, who flew here from his Pacific command, would testify tomorrow forenoon in an unusual Saturday session. Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal supplied names of more than twenty admirals and civilian Navy leaders to testify against the unification proposal.

Draws On Experiences

Eisenhower drew frequently from his experiences in directing 5,000,000 fighters assembled from several nations and all arms to crush Nazism in Europe to argue for two hours for unified command.

His first example was the capture of the tiny island of Pantelleria, in the jumpoff from Africa to Italy. The ground forces regarded this "as suicide," the general said, while the Air and Navy knew it could be done.

Moved On Decision

Instead of referring these questions back to some joint staff in London or Washington, the general had the air forces drop 6,000 tons of bombs and the "actual operation was a good one."

Similarly he credited teamwork under a single command for success in the cross-channel operation into Normandy, the breakthrough at St. Lo and the pursuit of the enemy into the heart of Germany.

"Perfected teamwork," he said, "results as much from friendly association over a period of years as it does from the more obvious reasons of combined tactical training and doctrine."

Italy Said Plagued By Disease, Death

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP) — Congress heard today that Italy has 3,500,000 persons suffering with malaria and "many thousands more" with tuberculosis.

The statement came from UNRRA's Director General, Herbert H. Lehman, in testimony before the House Foreign affairs committee.

Lehman said the figures are typical of the need for an additional $1,350,000,000 for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration. The committee is considering a bill to provide the funds.

"Europe and the Far East face a grim winter, perhaps the worst in modern history," Lehman added.

Vets At Tech Also Fail To Get G.I. Education Checks

Veterans enrolled at Texas Tech under the provisions of the G.I. Bill of Rights Friday night added their voice to complaints of other discharged soldier students downstate that they were not receiving government subsistence checks, a fact which is causing inconvenience and interfering in their efforts to continue college work.

Complaints directed toward the delay of subsistence checks to veterans in various state schools and at Texas Tech had been heard the past few days but the matter broke into public print only Friday when a group of 35 veterans enrolled in a technical school under the G.I. Bill of Rights at Fort Worth claimed that they have received no checks and said that repeated queries on the matter to veterans administration officials brought only the answer that the officials "didn't know."

Troy Davidson, commander of the Tech War Veterans association, said that there were 223 veterans at Tech who qualified under the G.I. Bill.

The matter was discussed at a meeting of the Tech War Veterans association last week but action was postponed when some of the men received their checks over the week-end.

However, Davidson said last night Tech veterans would discuss the problem at a meeting at the college next Tuesday in an effort to try to reach some sort of solution.

Need Checks Now

Davidson and some faculty members showed considerable concern over reports that at least one veteran had withdrawn from the college and that others might be forced to leave unless they receive their subsistence checks soon.

A majority of the men enrolled under the bill have not received either of their checks for this semester, it was said. The veterans receive their checks normally right after the first of each month.

One veteran attending Tech, who hasn't received a subsistence check since enrolling at the college in September, was reported to be without money to buy food. This report was given Davidson and some faculty members Friday but efforts to locate the individual or find out his name were not successful last night. Davidson said the rumor would be checked today.

Several Get Payments

"Although I knew the majority of veterans hadn't received a government payment since coming to Tech, I was unaware the situation was so bad," Davidson explained. The association, at its last meet-

FBI Names Two In Bank Robbery

The Federal Bureau of Investigation field office in Dallas informed The Morning Avalanche Friday afternoon identity of the other two men sought in connection with the Sept. 5 armed robbery of the First State bank at Morton.

The announcement was by Percy Wyly II, agent in charge, in a telephone call.

The two men identified, but not yet arrested, are: Matthew Kimes, alias Matt Kimes, 38, Oklahoma murderer who was serving two life sentences in the Oklahoma State penitentiary at McAlester, Okla., and Olaf Alvin (Chick) Rogers, 39, of Oklahoma City.

Complaints Are Filed

Complaints charging the two men with participation in the $17,892.45 robbery were filed at Fort Worth on Nov. 1, it was revealed today by Wyly.

Ollie Oliver Melton, 38, and Fred Pair, 58, had previously been charged in the robbery and are under arrest.

Kimes, five feet, seven inches tall and weighing 175 pounds, was reported by Wyly, to be "on leave" from the Oklahoma penitentiary, when the robbery occurred. He is stout, has chestnut hair, gray eyes and a ruddy complexion and was serving the life sentences for the killing of two Oklahoma police officers.

Rogers is also five feet, seven inches; weighs 120 pounds, of medium build and has black hair and blue eyes. He was reported to be a laborer and barber by trade with his last residence as Oklahoma.

Although no data was available on the criminal records of the two men, Kimes is the famed Oklahoma bank bandit who terrorized the Southwest a decade or more ago. He was the object of numerous manhunts on the part of officers over this area.

Bandy-legged Kimes had been

Advisory Commission Approves Basic Policies Used In Japan

Firing By Chinese On Marine Train Brings Threat Of Punitive Air Blow

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The Far Eastern Advisory commission today informally approved the basic American political policies now being followed by General Douglas MacArthur in the control of Japan. Formal approval probably will be voted next Friday, commission officials indicated.

A committee under Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt of Australia reported to the 10-nation commission today on the basic political policies thus far carried out in directives sent to General MacArthur and in orders given by him to the Japanese government.

Only Minor Changes

The commission went over the report, and made only minor changes, according to information made available by a spokesman when the session ended.

The question of a trip to Tokyo by the FEAC was raised today and probably will be voted upon next Friday. Russia is not represented on the commission at this time.

CHINESE REDS FIRE ON U. S. MARINE TRAIN

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16. (AP)—Shots fired from a Communist-held village upon a train bearing a U. S. Marine general brought a stern Marine threat of punitive air attack today as Chinese Communists and government forces maneuvered for possession of Manchuria and the rich northern provinces.

U. S. China theater headquarters announced that the shots were fired yesterday at the train of Maj. Gen. DeWitt Peck, commander of the First Marine division, from a village near Lwanhsien, on the line between Tangshan and the port of Chinwangtao on the Gulf of Chihli.

Mines Destroy Roads

Three hundred yards of track and roadbed were destroyed by land mines which caused several casualties among Chinese workers. No American injuries were reported.

U. S. headquarters declined to confirm reports that the Marines had returned the gunfire, but Maj. Gen. Keller Rockey, commander of the Third Amphibious corps, said he had directed an emissary to inform the Communists that "if firing continues I will order an air strafing mission against the village."

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of U. S. Army forces in China, took a more cautious tone, directing Rocky to give "considerable" warning to the village, including air-borne leaflets, and only then to take "appropriate military action."

Informing Both Sides

Wedemeyer said he was informing both Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and Communist leader Chou En-Lai of the whole incident; which is the latest of several in recent weeks.

A spokesman at Chiang's field headquarters in Peiping said meanwhile that Nationalist troops "quite soon' would begin a mass movement into Manchuria aboard planes obtained from the Americans.

Principal destination of these forces will be Changchun, Manchurian capital, which is said in unconfirmed reports to have fallen into Communist hands after withdrawal of the Russians who took it from the Japanese.

The Communists themselves announced without confirmation that they had "liberated" all of the big northern provinces of Jehol and Chahar except for one town which they were attacking.

Coupled with the acknowledgement by a government source that the Communists held 80 per cent of Suiyuan province, this would mean that virtually all of Inner Mongolia was in Communist hands and would imply that if Nationalist armies wanted to get to Manchuria by land they would have to fight their way.

Price Ceilings Off Fresh Citrus Fruit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—The OPA and Agriculture department have signed an order removing all fresh citrus fruits from price ceilings, Rep. Peterson (D-Fla) said today.

The Floridian said the order would become effective as soon as it appeared in the federal register, probably tomorrow. Peterson said the order follows a previous OPA order which removed canned citrus fruits from ceilings.

Fort Worth Man Dies In Hunting Accident

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 16 (AP)—W. E. McCoy, 36, Fort Worth, met death in a hunting accident which occured Friday in the Loyal valley in Mason county.

McCoy's body was found by his father, J. L. McCoy, who was in the same hunting party, after he had become concerned over his son failing to return to lunch.

Earlier in the day the hunting party had left McCoy near a tree. Evidently he was shot in the left hip by his own gun as he attempted to climb the tree.

Several hunters who were in the vicinity at the time of the accident recalled hearing cries of help but were unable to trace them down.

ACTRESS TO MARRY

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 16 (AP)—Film Star Esther Williams will be married Sunday, her studio announced today, to Sgt. Ben Gage, formerly an announcer on Bob Hope's radio program.

Chiang's Men Crash Wall

CHINWANGTAO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Chinese Nationalist troops punched through the Great Wall of China into Manchuria today, Nationalist Army headquarters announced.

Headquarters said this first ground penetration of Manchuria by the Nationalists followed withdrawal of the Communist Eighth Route Army forces from the city of Shanhaikwan, coastal terminus of the wall.

The entry was reported achieved with only light skirmishing.

No Heavy Fighting

The report added there had been no heavy fighting at any time. (Earlier there had been reports the Communists were massed in strength at Shanhaikwan and were prepared to wage a large scale battle.)

The announcement came from Gen. Tu Li-Ming, commander of Nationalist forces for Manchuria.

City Said Captured

The abrupt end of the armed stalemate along the Great Wall came three days after it had been reported in Chungking that Shanhaikwan had fallen to the Nationalists. Actually at that time, the Communists had pushed down from the gate city and had reached within seven miles of Nationalist headquarters at Chinwangtao, the Nationalist commander said.

Tu explained that his forces recovered their former positions after one division was sent on a wide enveloping movement, passing through the wall at the virtually undefended town of Chiumen, six miles west of Shanhaikwan, and then sliced down to threaten the rear of the Communists.

"We have driven 10,000 Communist bandits out of Shanhaikwan and have taken the city," said General Tu, beaming in obviously good spirits.

General Gets Good Laugh

Suddenly the short, young general broke into laughter and added that apparently the Communists thought American combat planes flying over the area were going to make strafing runs "so they withdrew from their positions". American planes have been in the area for several weeks but none has been used in support of the Nationalist operation.

Tu said a narrow escape lane was left open conveniently to the Communists and they used it on finding they virtually were surrounded.

The Nationalists began the entry this morning. By noon, most of the city was under control, the general added.

Later he acknowledged that he and his party went only as far as the suburbs because "things are very confused" in the center but he emphasized that there was no heavy fighting at any time and casualties on both sides were very light.

Two Boys Trapped In Auto Burn To Death

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)—Two young boys were burned to death in the closed rumble seat of an abandoned automobile yesterday despite rescue efforts of the twin sister of one of them.

Police said the boys, Roy Rudy, 7, D. James Spicer, 11, apparently had pulled the top of the rumble seat down over them so they could play with some matches or a cigarette lighter undetected. The boys evidently were unable to lift the cover when flames spread to the seat cushion.

DeGaulle Plan Stirs France

By WILLIAM FRYE
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Nov. 16 (AP)—A political crisis stirred France tonight after Gen. de Gaulle's office announced he had decided to resign as interim president due to a deadlock with the powerful Communist party over his new cabinet.

Sources close to the French leader, however, said his letter of resignation, as yet not made public, indicated a willingness to continue efforts to form a government. There was an immediate flurry of political conferences through the day.

Demand Political Post

The Communist party, which won the most seats in the constitutional assembly in the last election, had demanded "political posts," including one of the three top ministers—foreign affairs, war, or interior—as its price for participating in a coalition government.

De Gaulle's letter was delivered tonight to Felix Gouin, president of the constituent assembly, which elected de Gaulle Tuesday to serve as president during creation of the Fourth Republic.

The decision whether to accept or reject the resignation rests in the hands of the assembly, which will convene again on Monday.

Text Is Withheld

One source, who said he heard the letter read, reported de Gaulle said in it that he was unable to form a government, and had requested a full-dress assembly debate on the Communist demands, with the assembly then to decide whether de Gaulle or someone else should try to form a government.

An announcement by the ministry of information said: "Negotiations are under way between the president of the provisional government of the French republic and the president of the constitutent assembly."

Intimates of de Gaulle said he had failed to agree with the Communists on organization of a cabinet, but added that he stated in the letter that if the assembly wishes him to try further, he is ready to undertake the task.

Shortly after the letter was delivered it became apparent that France's three major parties, the Communists, Socialists and Popular Republican Movement (MRP), would take action to meet the situation created by de Gaulle's move.

Political quarters predicted that an agreement in which the Communist position could be reconciled was probable.

Army Modifies Discharge Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—The soldier with a big family will be eligible to get out of the Army after December 1, regardless of his point score.

The War department announced today a series of modifications to the present discharge system, including a reduction of point scores, which it said would add 783,000 men and women to the number eligible for release.

Point Plan Dropped

Men with three or more dependent children under 18 years of age will be eligible for release. Length of service doesn't matter. Previously 12 points were allowed for each such child up to a maximum of three.

The new point score for enlisted men will be 55, instead of the present 60.

In addition, a soldier with four years of honorable service can ask for discharge regardless of his age. Retained are the present provisions under which a soldier with two years' service and who is 35 to 37 years old can be discharged, or, if he is 38, regardless of length of service.

Kramer And 29 Aides Convicted

LUENEBURG, Germany, Nov. 16. (AP)—A British military court today convicted Joseph Kramer, the "Beast of Belsen," and 29 of his specialists in human misery of committing atrocities at the Belsen and Oswiecim concentration camps, but acquitted 14 defendants, including five women.

Sixteen of the convicted were women.

Tonight the 30 sullently awaited sentences of death by hanging or shooting, or of imprisonment and fines, to be announced tomorrow afternoon after defense lawyers finish pleas.

Blonde "Queen" In Group

Major defendant convicted with the brute-faced, 29-year-old Kramer were Irma Grese, 22, the blonde "queen" of the Belsen gang, and Dr. Fritz Klein, gray-haired physician who, witnesses said, picked victims for the Oswiecim gas chamber.

Each of the 30 showed no emotion as their verdicts were translated into German.

But later two of the women, Hilde Lobauer, 27, and shapely Stanislawa Staroska, 28, burst into tears.

Acquittal of such a large number as 14 was the only surprise. The court said that, after making an impartial survey of the evidence, it was obliged to rule in their favor.

Rise Individually

The convicted, charged with conducting a camp where starvation was rampant and rivers of fat ran from human funeral pyres, arose individually in the prisoners' doc' as the president of the court, Maj. Gen. H. P. M. Berneyficklin, read the findings in a loud, husky voice.

The innocent were removed and the defending attorneys then began the pleas of mitigation which will not be concluded until sometime tomorrow.

Specifically, the charges were committing mass murder and ill treatment of Allied nationals at the two camps. Thirteen were tried on charges of committing crimes at both Oswiecim and Belsen.

Biennial Report of the Chief of Staff of the U. S. Army 1943 to 1945, to the Secretary of War

Published by NEA Service, Inc., in co-operation with the War Department

This is the fifth of 42 installments of material selected from General Marshall's report on the winning of World War II.)

THE STRATEGIC CONCEPT

THE Period covered by my first two Biennial Reports was a time of great danger for the United States. The element on which the security of this nation most depended was time — time to organize our tremendous resources and time to deploy them overseas in a world-wide war. We were given this time through the heroic refusal of the Soviet and British people to collapse under the smashing blows of the Axis forces. They bought this time for us with the currency of blood and courage. Two years ago our margin of safety was still precarious but the moment was rapidly approaching when we would be prepared to deal with our enemies on the only terms they understood—overwhelming power.

MARSHALL

In no other period of American history have the colors of the United States been carried victoriously on so many battlefields. It is with profound satisfaction and great pride in the troops and their leaders that this report is submitted on the campaigns which crushed Italy, Germany and Japan.

It is necessary to an understanding of the Army's participation in these campaigns that reference be made to the decisions which launched them. The forces of the United States and Great Britain were deployed under a single strategic control exercised by the group known as the Com-

Resolution On HST Not Snap Judgment

Criticism Defended

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 16. (AP)—The Rev. L. L. Roloff of the Park Avenue Baptist church returned from the Baptist General convention at Fort Worth today and said his resolution which took note of President Truman's reported attitude toward gambling and drinking was not snap judgment.

The Rev. Roloff said he had long considered offering the resolution and had explained it to his congregation, one of the largest in Corpus Christi, before leaving for the convention.

"The motion was not intended primarily as a criticism of the President, neither Baylor nor its trustees, but simply as a precaution," the pastor said in a written statement.

At Waco Dr. John T. Harrington, chairman of Baylor trustees, said Baylor had never formally offered President Truman an honorary degree.

"We had hoped that if he attended the Masonic Grand Lodge convention that we could in some measure honor ourselves by honoring one who is the President of the United States.

"The board does not sit in judgment of a man's character but only of his service to mankind, so the board felt secure in choosing to honor a man who had served as United States senator, vice-president of the United States and who is now serving as President."

Sale Of Property In City Is Announced

It was revealed Friday that the half-block of land on Texas Avenue between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets, now occupied by Furr Food Stores, No. 5, had been purchased for $125,000.

Purchasers were Dr. A. H. Rodgers, local dentist, and O. A. Webb, owner of the Arcadia News Stand. The land was purchased from J. O. Garlington of Littlefield, former Lubbock grocer, and E. McElroy, Lubbock pioneer.

The half block covers 260 feet on Texas avenue and 140 feet on the side streets. The Furr store occupies approximately half of the site at present and the remainder is used for parking space.

Development Planned

The new owners plan development of the property and plan to negotiate with an insurance company for erection of a combination office and Cotton Exchange building with mercantile establishments on the ground floor, Dr. Rodgers said today.

Present lease of Furr Food will not expire until March, 1947, he said, and development of the site will be planned after that date.

Dr. Rodgers owner of a site in the 3600-block on Nineteenth street just east of the proposed new Lubbock Memorial hospital, said he planned erection of a suburban apartment hotel in that area as soon as the new hospital is built. The building, besides housing the hostelry, would provide for small retail shops, he said.

Reader On Russia Is Taken Off State List

AUSTIN, Nov. 16. (AP) — The Austin American said today that a seventh grade reader titled "Our Good Neighbors in Soviet Russia" had been withdrawn by its publishers from consideration as a public school textbook because an adviser to Maco Stewart, member of the state board of education, objected to its contents.

Stewart said that he had not read the book, but that his secretary and advisor, Lewis Valentine Ulrey, had advised against its consideration.

The American quoted J. Kendrick Noble, president of the New York firm of Noble and Noble, publishers, as saying Ulrey had written him that he objected to the book and would work against its adoption.

Lt. Clovis Ketron Is Said Killed In Crash

Mrs. Fay Ketron of 1914 Seventh has been informed that her husband, Lt. Clovis Ketron, who was reported missing in the China-Burma-India theater about two weeks ago, was killed in India in a airplane crash. He was 26 years old.

Lt. Ketron was a test pilot and had been in the CBI sector 18 months.

Besides his wife, survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ketron of 708 Ave. L; two sisters, Mrs. Orville Wray, Austin, Nancy, Lubbock; two brothers, Bobby and Gary, Lubbock.

Three Men Leap To Safety From Train

HOUSTON, Nov. 16. (U.P.)—Three men leaped from a speeding Southern Pacific locomotive yesterday to escape unharmed when it crashed into the rear of a freight train.

The engine jumped the tracks after charging into the freight's caboose and careened along the roadbed, finally turning over on its side.

Hauling sulphur from New Gulf to Galveston, the engine and two cars were smashed and sulphur was scattered over the wreckage. Wheels were torn from two other cars.

Mrs. C. W. Tatum, Mrs. Fred Youree and Mrs. Raymond Waters were hostesses at a weiner roast given for members of the Dupre Dogies touch football squad at the Waters' home, 2124 Twenty-fourth, Thursday night. The event also honored the Dogies' recently-elected "sweetheart," Miss Maurine Youree, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Youree, 2411 Twentieth. The Dogies won the city grade school championship for the second consecutive year Thursday, going through the two years undefeated and untied. Mrs. Julia Cain coached the team.

Mrs. T. I. Brown, 2311 Thirteenth, received calls from their two sons Friday, both having arrived in the States after serving in the Pacific. Lt. T. I. Brown, jr., who was a fighter pilot and had been in Tokyo after the war closed, phoned from San Francisco and Ben Brown, aviation radioman, first class, who served in the Okinawa area, telephoned from San Diego. Both expect to be home for 30 days sometime next week. Ben Brown had the experience of being in the recent terrific typhoon which struck Okinawa, he told his mother.

Bond of $1,000 was posted Friday afternoon by Marin Bitela, 30, a Mexican charged with murder in connection with the Monday slaying here of Arturo DeLeon, 28, a Lubbock Mexican, the sheriff's department said.

Joe Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Davidson, 2011 Tenth, arrived back in Lubbock Friday morning after receiving his discharge from the Army Air forces where he has served nearly four years. He returned to the States last week after serving 18 months overseas in the European theater. He formerly was stationed at Lubbock Army Air field.

Two New Elements Are Said Discovered

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP) — Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg announced today the discovery of two new elements, so far unnamed and designated elements 95 and 96.

The University of California chemistry professor made the announcement in a paper prepared for the 50th anniversary technical conference of the Chicago section, American Chemical society.

Dr. Seaborg, co-discoverer of element 94 of plutonium, which was used in atomic bomb manufacture, also discovered that plutonium, discovered in the laboratory, has been found to exist in minute amounts in a natural state —the first instance in which a man-made element was necessary to prove its existence in nature.

He also said he and a co-worker, Arthur C. Wahl, had discovered neptunium 237, a new isotope or twin of element 93, naptunium.

Australia has a section like the U. S. District of Columbia—the federal government area of Canberra.

British Take Charge Of Huge Krupp Works

LUENEBURG, Ger., Nov. 16. (AP) The British military government took over possession and control today of all property owned by the German armaments and steel producing firm of Friedrich Krupp of Essen, its subsidiary and affiliated undertakings.

The present management will be dissolved. Persons holding managerial positions will be required to place themselves at the disposal of the controller and carry on their duties until further notice.

Only yesterday, the provincial government of Saxony in the Russian occupation zone announced the expropriations of the properties in Saxony of the German industrial magnate, Friedrick Flick.

Two Sailors May Get Navy Decorations

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 16 (U.P.) Two sailors, among the five who survived the worst crash in the history of Naval air operations here, are being recommended for decorations for saving the lives of two officers who survived the same collision of two Navy planes over Corpus Christi Bay Nov. 8.

They are Lawrence R. Blankenship, aviation radioman 3/C, of Longwood, Fla., least injured of the survivors of the crash which took 22 lives, and Frederick Simonsen, jr., aviation ordnanceman 3/C, of New Orleans, La.

Blankenship is credited with saving the life of Lt. (JG) Joseph Trizza of Dallas, co-pilot of the plane returning from Cuba, while Simonsen assisted a Navy doctor from his home town, Lt. (JG) Joseph V. Gregoratti, who was aboard as a passenger.

Dwain S. Brock, aviation radioman 3/C, of Baldwin, Ga., the other survivor and most critically injured of the five, was reported in "good condition" at the U. S. Navy hospital here.

Recommendations for Blankenship and Simonsen were made by Rear Admiral J. J. Clark, commander of the Corpus Christi Naval Air station.

Two Sheriffs Here In Check Case Quiz

Sheriff Buck Bennett of Lamesa and Sheriff Sam Floyd of Tahoka were in Lubbock Friday afternoon in connection with further investigation into alleged passing of forged checks by Tommy Mason, alias Sid Payne, who already had admitted in signed statements such activities in Lubbock, Anton and Tahoka.

Under questioning of Burton S. Burks, district attorney, for the 106th judicial district attorney and the visiting officers, Mason, who had been charged here as Payne, made a statement of admission into check activities in Dawson county. He was identified by a Dawson county witness, in addition, officers said.

Officials said there would be further investigation to determine whether other checks had been distributed by the man.

Dinner Set Tonight For Real Estate Men

A joint dinner meeting will be held here tonight in the Hilton hotel at 7:30 o'clock of representatives and their wives of real estate boards at Abilene, San Angelo, Plainview, Amarillo and Lubbock.

The affair will be to promote "fellowship" and give opportunity for discussion of mutual problems, according to J. M. McKelvy, president of the Lubbock board.

W. T. Strange, local architect, will be the principal speaker; and there will be a program of musical entertainment.

All members of the local board and all Lubbock real estate men and their wives are invited to the event.

Arrangements are in charge of L. D. Casey.

Texas Backward In Social Laws

Texas is called the "backward state of the 48" in social laws because we haven't worked together for the same things, Mrs. George H. Abbott of Dallas, president of the Texas Social Welfare association told 78 representatives from 23 South Plains counties when they met Friday at Texas Tech for regional conference.

Stressing the fact that the welfare association is bending its efforts to help local communities with their problems, Mrs. Abbott promised this new district would have a field representative who will work here and assist with community planning.

Must Work Together

She explained that Texas was a rural state, with only 14 towns large enough to support a community chest, and said she felt the other 240 communities are in great need of learning to work together and with the state. "Isolationism is dead," Mrs. Abbott declared.

Decision to name this the Lubbock Regional Welfare association was made in business and resolution session. Resolutions passed were:

A portion of the proposed $5,894,000 bond issue go to buildings devoted to child welfare service such as dependent and foster homes, nurseries, and health clinics; favoring establishment of a local social work school; favoring reform of social acts to include agriculture workers, domestic, self employed business men, government employees and others; favoring reforms for delinquency, correction, prison and probations.

Survey On Needs

Needs for an organized group to take responsibility for surveying needs for, and keeping watch on, the human services in a community was stressed by Dr. Luther E. Woodward, consultant on community rehabilitation problems, sponsored by the national committee on mental hygiene and the Hogg foundation of the University of Texas, in concluding discussions Friday night.

Dr. Woodward's main topic was how communities affect planning for social and welfare service and he discussed four essentials for a community program: The program must be based on the actual and varied needs of the people; planning and carrying plans into action should be done through a co-ordinator and a planning committee composed of representatives of all organizations in the community; a truly qualified staff should be employed for the various services; and interest of the community must be sustained and the residents must be kept informed of the services offered.

Other Speakers

Other speakers Friday were A. C. Hamilton, director of the city recreation department; Mrs. L. L. Miller, president of the Lubbock Parent-Teachers council, Judge Tom Garrard of Lynn county, Judge G. V. Pardue of Lubbock, George Sessums, veterans administration contact representative; Jason O. Gordon, county agent; Mrs. Mabel Chapman of the United States Employment service; W. C. Mitchell, district counselor, vocational rehabilitation division, state board for vocational education; Ruth Skemp, orthopedic nurse of the crippled children's division, state department of education; Mrs. Nancy Green, Lubbock juvenile officer; and John Wilson, probation officer of Lubbock county.

Rev. John A. Winslow, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church, was elected chairman of Region 18; and vice chairmen elected were Dr. Archie J. Bahm, associate professor of philosophy and sociology at Tech, Rev. H. G. Gantz, pastor of the First Christian church, George T. Kuykendall, Mrs. R. J. Allen, Judge Ernest Tibbets, Plainview; Judge I. B. Holt, Littlefield, and W. C. Mitchell, Lubbock.

Other officers elected were Dr. D. D. Jackson, professor of education at Tech, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. R. Dorsey, recording secretary; D. T. Gilliam, treasurer; and Rev. Winslow was named delegate to the Texas Social Welfare state conference to be held Nov. 30 in Austin.

Masons From Area Hear Grand Master

Importance of looking after Masons in the armed services was stressed, and recommendation of a new million dollar grand headquarters building at Waco was made by Grand Master Bascom Giles of Austin, Texas land commissioner, when he addressed approximately 320 representatives of Masonic lodges in the hall of Yellowhouse lodge 841, AF&AM, last night.

He discusseed aid to the 14,000 Master Masons serving in the armed forces from Texas alone. In talking about general conditions in Masonry he said the grand jurisdiction now has 145,000 members, largest in all history, the result of an all-time record increase by 15,000 last year.

The new building, he said, is for present needs of the increased membership and will serve as state headquarters for the grand lodge, officers of the grand secretary and other officers, and house a valuable and rare Masonic library of more than 16,000 volumes.

Giles recommended the building as a memorial to Masonic veterans of the two world wars, and that a hall be included to house the military and Masonic records of the 25,000 Master Masons who fought in both conflicts.

C. C. Sherrod, worshipful master, persided at the meeting. Giles was introduced by District Deputy Grand Master D. A. Edwards of Crosbyton.

Five district deputies, five representatives of grand jurisdictions, and representatives from 53 lodges, including one from Manila, P. I., were present. Also included were 46 past masters of lodges.

ing, voted to write the Waco office for an explanation as to why they haven't been paid as promised.

Davidson said following the meeting a few boys received payments, so it was decided they would await further results. E. F. Fuller of Waco, veterans administration representative who visits the Tech campus weekly, was questioned as to why veterans haven't been paid.

Just Takes Time

His answer was "there are so many veterans attending schools that government workers haven't had time to compile the records and mail checks to the entire group," Davidson said.

Davidson said the 220 veterans at Tech, who qualify under the G.I. Bill, were "pretty resentful" that they weren't receiving the check they expected.

The group will meet next Tuesday to discuss the problem and do something about it. They plan to make arrangements to help veterans who are out of funds and organize a loan fund whereby they may borrow money until the check comes rolling in.

Single students enrolled under the bill receive an outlay of $50 a month as subsistence under present provisions of the bill and married students studying under the bill receive $75. Several reports of hardships of married couples who were renting homes in Lubbock and depending on the checks for subsistence were reported.

Hundreds Of Airmen Still Are Missing

TOKYO, Nov. 16 (AP) — More than 1500 American airmen still are listed as missing after combat missions over Japan, it was disclosed today, and Army investigators have begun a vigorous search for information regarding their fate.

The fate of an unannounced number of Navy pilots and crewmen also is unknown.

Dachau's Horrors Are Recounted

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

DACHAU, Germany, Nov. 16.—An inmate who survived Dachau concentration camp, today accused guards and officials of tortures and murders, of bleaching human heads for souvenirs, and skinning human bodies to make handbags for their women.

The witness, Dr. Franz Blaha, identified 17 of the 40 Dachau war crimes defendants in six hours of testimony which frequently evoked gasps from the packed courtroom.

15,000 Die Of Typhus

The slight Czechoslovakian physician, first former Dachau inmate to testify, charged that:

Fifteen thousand persons died of typhus, but prison doctors were forbidden to report an epidemic because officials "didn't want a quarantine."

Naked prisoners were made to stand in line in front of the hospital for hours in all kinds of weather, while doctors examined them to see if they were able to work. This lineup was called the "slave market."

Given Only Salt Water

Scores of inmates were given nothing but salt water for five days to see what effect it would have on them.

Prisoners and priests were injected with chemicals in painful experiments which caused many deaths and amputations.

The heads of inmates killed in malarial experiments were chopped off, boiled and bleached as trophies for the SS guards.

Human skin was obtained for the most part from gas chamber victims. Blaha and other inmates were forced to flay bodies, treat the skin with chemicals and cut it into patterns provided by the SS. Handbags, gloves, saddles and slippers were made from the human hide, and "tattoes were most popular."

Immersed In Ice Water

Prisoners were immersed in ice water for as long as 38 hours, while blood was drawn periodically from their necks for examination. "Very many died," but some victims were taken out alive and warmed up by being put in bed between two women prisoners.

Eight thousand Russian prisoners of war were executed in the spring of 1942.

new order. If they are married, regardless of when, and enlisted before May 12 of this year they can apply for discharge. This applies to both WAC officers and enlisted personney. The point score for WAC enlisted women will be reduced from 34 to 32, but remain unchanged at 37 for officers.

Male officers, except those in the medical department, will be able to ask for release if they have four years and three months' service. Their point score will be cut from 75 to 73. The Army said it would have an announcement before the middle of next month regarding discharge requirements for both men and women medical officers.

Thompson Gets Life In Childress Trial

CHILDRESS, Nov. 16 (AP)—A criminal district court jury here today convicted Miron E. Thompson on charges of murder in the fatal shooting of Lem Savage, Amarillo city detective, and agreed on a penalty of life imprisonment.

The verdict was returned at 4 p. m. today after the jury had reported earlier it was hung at seven to five against assessing the death penalty.

Vast Krupp Dynasty Crushed By British

LUENEBURG, Germany, Nov. 16 (AP) — The huge, once-powerful Krupp munitions dynasty was seized by the British today, and an official declared this kingpin of German armed might would "cease to exist."

"There will be an end for all time to the traditions and influences so long associated with it," the military government officer said.

The British took possession and control of all property owned by the firm of Friedrich Krupp of Essen, its subsidiaries and affiliated undertakings, and appointed a controller with headquarters in the main Krupp bffice at Essen. The Krupp plants are in the British occupation zone.

Last month the Allies confiscated the entire holdings in Germany of the I. G. Farbenindustrie, the great chemical and industrial trust. Expropriation of properties of the German industrial tycoon, Friedrich Flick, was announced yesterday by the provincial government of Saxony in the Russian zone.

Bank Raid Charges

granted a six-months leave two months ago from the Oklahoma penitentiary, where he was serving terms for murder committed during bank robberies. He was serving one sentence for the slaying of Sheriff Perry Chuculate of Sequoyan county, Okla., in a robbery at Covington, Okla., and another for the murder of Police Chief W. J. McAnally in a triple bank holdup at Beggs, Okla., said D. A. Bryde, sead of the Oklahoma City FBI office, to the Associated Press. Both slayings were in 1927, Bryce said.

Simultaneously with the announcement of the two suspects' identities, the office of Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma announced revocation of Kimes' leave of absence, the United Press reported from Oklahoma City.

Led Notorious Gang

In the late 1920's, Kimes was known as the "kid", leader of a notorious bank holdup gang.

Melton, of Asher, Okla., was arrested at Shawnee, Okla., Oct. 23, under a charge of robbery of the Morton bank, and Pair, former deputy sheriff of Dickens county, who lives near Bledsoe, was charged as a participant in the robbery.

Melton pleaded innocent at the arraignment before the U. S. commissioner of Oklahoma City. Upon failure to post $50,000 bond, he was bound over to custody of the U. S. marshal until the next session of federal court in Lubbock. Pair's bond was set at $25,000, and he has not attempted to post it. He is in Lubbock county jail.

Three men in a stolen Lubbock automobile robbed the bank. Two entered and herded customers and employes into a vault while the third remained at the wheel of the car, parked in front of the bank.

After taking the money, the trio fled in the automobile. Pair admitted that they returned to his residence, where they had spent the previous night and where they had left another automobile, hid the stolen car in his garage, buried money in his yard, gave him $997 for his assistance and, at nigthfall, left in the two cars. The stolen car was abandoned near his ranch and was recovered late the day of the robbery.

Officers subsequently dug up the $997 where Pair said it would be found. He said Melton and some of the others had threatened his life if he gave information in the case.

Yesterday the United States, with Britain, offered all the United Nations, including Russia, a share in atomic bomb secrets in return for a freer flow information.

But until the day before, this government had not discussed with Russia the civil strife in China, where atomic and other bombs eventually could go off.

Plainview Man Gets Purple Heart Here

Thomas W. Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Patterson of 210 E. 2nd St., Plainview, was presented the Purple Heart yesterday afternoon at Lubbock Army Air field by Col. Howell M. Estes, Jr., commanding officer.

While serving as a radio operator-gunner on a B-24 over continental Europe, Patterson was wounded and further injured in the parachute jump which followed. He was taken prisoner by the Germans in February 1944, and released on April 29, 1945, from Stalag 78 at Moosberg, Germany.

Patterson has three brothers still in service, one of them still overseas: Chief AMM R. W. Patterson, Jr., of the Navy, Pfc. Robert K. Patterson of the Marines, and Marine Private Glenn Patterson, stationed on Guam.

Tech Meets Undefeated Ags In Stillwater Tussle Today

(By The Associated Press)

STILLWATER, Okla., Nov. 16.—The Oklahoma Aggies, battered from their hard-won 12-6 victory over Tulsa, face Texas Tech here tomorrow in search of their seventh consecutive triumph of the season.

A big crowd is in prospect for the game with the heralded battle between the Aggies' Bob Fennimore and Texas Tech's Walt Schlinkman, two of the nation's greatest backs this season, clashing in a duel that will go far toward helping decide which is the standout.

Several key Cowboy players are on the injury list. Bill Long, outstanding freshman end, has his left wrist in a cast because of a fracture. Bill Grimes, wingback, suffered a bruised knee in scrimmake but should be ready for action.

Backs Bob Fenimore, Nate Wilson and Jim Parker and others who took a beating in the Tulsa game have been withheld from rough work this week. Texas Tech defeated Texas Christian last week 12-0 and the Red Raiders are underdogs to the unbeaten Cowboys by only a slim margin.

Probable starting line-ups (kick-off 2:30 p. m.):

TECH	Pos.	AGGIES
Moyers	LE	Armstrong
Winkler	LT	Monroe
Lawhorn	LG	Colheuer
Turner	C	Schellstede
Birdwell	RG	Gay
McSwane	RT	Cole
Kelley	RE	Long
Hardey	QB	Watson
Tidwell	LH	Fenimore
Norris	RH	Hankins
Schlinkman	FB	Reynolds

Tech Works Out In Edmond For Aggies

(Special To The Avalanche)

EDMOND, Okla., Nov. 16.—Texas Tech's Red Raiders rolled into this Oklahoma College town shortly before five o'clock this afternoon and went directly to the grid field of Central State College where the team took a final warmup session before tangling with the vaunted Oklahoma Aggies Saturday afternoon in Stillwater.

After the workout here, the team pushed on to Stillwater, scheduled to arrive there about 10 o'clock Friday night.

Set For Fenimore

The Red Raiders ran through plays that will be launched against the Cowboys Saturday afternoon, and refreshed themselves on the defenses set to slow down the Aggies' All-American standout, Bob Fenimore, the nation's top ground gainer this season.

The attack of flu that had slowed the Red Raiders down all week caused Coach Dell Morgan to leave three men behind in Lubbock, weakening the reserve material available to the club. Dick Wiggins and A. W. Montague, two backfield reserves, and Harold Kiger, big tackle, were unable to make the trip.

McSwane, Hardy Doubtful

Doug McSwane, the big tackle from San Angelo's state champion eleven, was with the club, and listed among the probable starts, but along with Gene Hardey, quarterback, may give way to someone else at the last minute.

Should McSwane and Hardey be unable to start, Pat Farris, a Lubbock boy will likely step in for McSwane and Jack "Spider" Dillon will be the likely started in Hardey's place.

The weather in Oklahoma proved to be clear and unseasonably warm upon arrival of the Red Raiders.

Slaton Defeats Spur In 13 To 12 Thriller

SPUR, Nov. 16. (Special)—Slaton High won a thrilling 13 to 12 decision over Spur's Bulldogs here tonight in a non-conference game which saw the local lads threaten numerous times in a late fourth quarter rally that netted one touchdown.

Slaton scored the first time it got its hand on the ball, marching 70 yards with Halfback Thurman Reynolds plunging for the score. The try for point was no good. Both teams seesawed up and down the field the rest of the first half and Slaton held a 6 to 0 lead at the intermission.

On the kickoff to start the third quarter, Spur received on its own 40 and after a momen,t Halfback Dewey Watson galloped 60 yards for the first Spur tally. The attempted conversion failed and the score was tied. Spur then kicked to Slaton and the visitors drove to the Bulldog 45. A pass, Reynolds to End Grady Elder then moved the visitors to the Spur 10 from where Fred Schmidt went over. The conversion attempt was partially blocked but a Slaton man picked up the ball and ran it over.

Early in the fourth, Spur took over and started rolling. Fullback David McAteer passed to End Glen Williams 35 yards to the Slaton 10 from where Tailback Joe Barcley went off tackle to score. The try for point failed. For the winners Donald Finley, a guard, and Elder and Reynolds starred, while Barcley, Watson, Williams, an end, Guard Billy Dyess and Tackle Billy Calvert were tops for the losers.

Dunbar High Defeats San Angelo, 20 To 0

Between penalties that took one out of every three plays for various rules infractions, the Lubbock Dunbar High school negro eleven gained enough yardage last night in Tech stadium to chalk up a 20 to 0 victory over the San Angelo negro high school eleven, gaining sweet revenge for a 20 to 7 setback handed the locals earlier this year by the Concho team.

Lubbock scored one in the first, second and third quarters, adding extra points to the first and last scores to run up their tally. San Angelo threatened once, in the third period, moving down to the Dunbar 10 before they lost the ball on downs. This was their lone bid for a score.

Score In First

Lubbock's first tally came when poor quarterbacking by the visitors gave the ball to Dunbar, on downs, on the invaders' 20. The locals made a first down on the five and then L. V. Clever slipped over the goal. He also ran over the conversion.

The only pass completion of the night gave the locals their second tally—this on an interception of a San Angelo pass by Leandree Johnson who scooped it in on the 50 and raced down the east sideline to score untouched.

Long Runs Pay Off

Wyatt Ward, rangy Dunbar end, blocked a punt of the visitors in the third period to set up the final tally. Taking over on the 30 after the blocked kick Dunbar's Edgar Gamble raced to the 13 and then Gene Lawson swept across the goal. Gamble ran over the conversion for the final score.

A fourth-quarter drive by Dunbar failed when Ward dropped a pass from Lawson in the end zone.

Long runs by fast stepping O. T. Love and heavy power-runs by Buster Deo highlighted the tricky Dunbar offensive. They ran from double and single wing formations.

900 See Game

Up in the locals' forward wall it was Ward, Walter Johnson at the other end, Joe Snell at a guard slot and Edgar Jones at the other guard that led the way for the Lubbock victory.

Harry Haywood and Henry Allen headed the losers' offense. In their line P. Kelly, a guard, and the two ends, Charles Langham and Carlton Bradly, were the defensive standouts.

About 900 persons witnessed the Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored clash. A second game has been scheduled for the Dunbar team here next Thursday against Abilene.

The first flight made by the Wright brothers lasted only 12 seconds.

Army And Penn In Top Game

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—With only two more weeks to go, we plunge once more into the football forecast, still clinging to an average of .771 on 219 correct predictions and 65 misses:

Army vs. Pennsylvania—it's the same old story. Red Blaik's boys have the stuff to whip Penn.

Alabama vs. Vanderbilt—Nothing for 'Bama to worry about here.

St. Mary's vs. U. C. L. A.—The Galloping Gaels can wind up a perfect season and qualify for any bowl game except the Pasadena party.

Louisiana State vs. Georgia Tech—The Tigers are pretty sore about that Mississippi State defeat. Georgia Tech has won and lost on alternate Saturdays all season and this is the off-week. L. S. U.

Wisconsin vs. Navy—After what the rejuvinated Middies did to Michigan, this should be as easy as falling off a goalpost. Navy.

Michigan Over Purdue

Purdue vs. Michigan—One of the toughest games of the day to forecast. The flip of the coin says . . . Michigan.

Temple vs. Holy Cross—The unbeaten Crusaders are crusading for a bowl bid. This should clinch it. Holy Cross.

Notre Dame vs. Northwestern—Close, with the Irish on the rebound. Notre Dame.

Texas A. and M. vs. Rice—Both teams are still in the running for the Southwest conference title. Narrowly . . . Texas A. and M.

Illinois vs. Ohio State—The Illini could knock the Buckeyes out of the running for the Big Ten title, but probably won't. Ohio State.

Texas Tech vs. Oklahoma A. and M.—To prevent an upset, the Aggies should remember Tech beat T. C. U. and tied Baylor. Oklahoma A. and M.

Texas Over Frogs

Indiana vs. Pittsburgh—Just a warmup for the Hoosiers before they tie into Purdue for the Big Ten crown.

Oklahoma vs. Missouri—A sentimental guess . . . Oklahoma.

Texas Christian vs. Texas—Looks like the Longhorns and the Aggies to fight it out in the Southwest after tomorrow. Texas.

Washington State vs. Oregon State—Washington State won their first meeting 33-0. So . . . Washington State.

Arkansas vs. Southern Methodist—A busy day for the Razorbacks. Southern Methodist.

Hurrying over the rest of the day's major games—Tulane over Clemson, Florida over Presbyterian, Mississippi State over Louisiana Normal, Cornell over Dartmouth, Colgate over Syracuse, Brown over Harvard, Rutgers over NYU, Washington over Idaho, California over Oregon, Tulsa over Baylor, Colorado College over West Texas State Teachers College, Arizona over San Diego State, Nebraska over South Dakota, Minnesota over Iowa, Penn State over Michigan State, Iowa State over Drake, Kansas over Kansas State.

St. Mary's Favored To Win Over UCLA

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 16 (AP)—The tricky, teen-age Gaels from St. Mary's college, bound for a New Year's bowl, tackle the UCLA Bruins tomorrow in their last and biggest hurdle of the regular grid season.

A crowd of over 90,000, the season's largest anywhere, is expected to jam the coliseum.

A victory will make the whiskerless Gaels the first undefeated, untied team in St. Mary's history. In razzle-dazzling seven straight victims, the Gaels have run up 262 points to 19.

Led by their great Hawaiian halfback, Herman Wedemeyer, the Gaels stampeded the Southern California Trojans, 26-0, here two weeks ago and rule strong 13-point favorites over the Bruins.

Whiteface Rolls Over Pettit Squad, 46 To 0

PETTIT, Nov. 16. (Special) — The home team fell today before the undefeated and untied Whiteface six-man grid aggregation that has allowed only 14 points by opponents this season, with Pettit losing the game 46 to 0.

Dale Thoms led the Whiteface scoring parade with 10 points but Truman Swinney, second with eight tallies, was the star of the game hurling passes that accounted for four scores. Ray McCoy tallied seven points, Sterling Smith, Harold Sides and James Swanner got six each and George Keith got one.

The victors got seven points in the first period and 16 in the second to lead 23-0 at half-time.

Eight more points were annexed in the third period by Whiteface and then 15 final tallies were racked up in the closing stanza.

Whiteface defends that perfect record next Wednesday against Whitharral, a team they whipped 12-0 in the first encounter, and if they win the game will be district champs, slated to meet Union in the Bi-district clash soon.

Lockney Wins 19-0 Tilt Over Matador

LOCKNEY, Nov. 16. (Special)—Lockney High's gridders counted once in the second, third and fourth periods here this afternoon to take a 19 to 0 game over Matador in a District 4-A contest that had no bearing on the final outcome of the title race.

District 4-A Leaders Still Unbeaten

Floydada Rolls Over Crosbyton, 37 To 0

FLOYDADA, Nov. 16. (Special)—Floydada High's undefeated and untied Whirlwind scored in every quarter here tonight to chalk up an impressive 37 to 0 District 4-A decision over a previously unbeaten Crosbyton squad and clinch at least a tie for district honors.

A crowd of 2,000 fans were on hand for the crucial conference contest to watch Floydada explode a much more powerful offense than anyone had forseen.

Play Spur Thursday

As a result of the victory, Floydada and Spur will tangle here next Thursday afternoon in a Turkey Day clash that will help decide the District 4-A winner. Should Floydada win the game against the Bulldogs it would give Floydade the title. A victory by the Spur team would toss the race into a two-way tie between Floydada and Crosbyton.

The local lads counted in the first few minutes of play here tonight when Right Halfback Glen Carmack rambled 15 yards to pay dirt to climax an 80-yard downfield march. The try for point was good but a penalty nullified the attempt and a second conversion attempt went awry. The quarter ended 6 to 0.

Score Two In Second

Early in the second period, Kelley Haygood, left half, raced 30 yards on a brilliant run to set up the second Floydada tally. On the next play, Quarterback Melvin Robertson passed 30 yards to Left End Bill Womack for the touchdown. Right Guard John Ray Tribble then dropped back and kicked the extra point. Late in the same quarter, Carmack picked up 20 yards for the third Floydada counter after a long drive. The try for point failed and the halftime score stood 19 to 0.

Floydada's powerful offensive exploded again in the third for two more counters. Midway in the period Robertson plunged 10 yards for a touchdown after Carmack and Haygood had advanced the ball with some good running. Again the try for point failed. Late in the same period, Haygood got away for 40 yards to the Crosbyton three where Fullback Don Jone. bulled his way over to paydirt, to make the count 31 to 0.

Count Late In Fourth

With three minutes to play in the fourth frame, Carmack again scored, this time on a 10-yard gallop to make the count 37 to 0, the try for point again going awry.

The winners held the advantage all the way and the Chiefs never threatened, although chalking up two 20-yard line penetrations. Floydada amassed 22 first downs to six for the visitors. For the winners, Carmack and Haygood were the standouts with Fullback L. Simmons, 185-pound passer and running back, shining for the losers.

Littlefield Cops 38-0 Win Over Lubbock 'B'

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 16. (Special)—Littlefield's high scoring Wildcats chalked up another impressive triumph here tonight with a 38 to 0 win over Lubbock High's "B" team, made up principally of the Cowhands Black.

The Wildcats counted in the first five minutes of play when Quarterback Billy Lyman galloped 30 yards around right end for the opening touchdown. The try for point failed. A few minutes later, Fullback Eugene Carter went over the double stripes on a short plunge for the second tally and Lyman ran the point over to make it 13 to 0 as the second period got under way.

Early in the second quarter, Halfback Oscar Arend blasted his way through the Lubbock line for 20 yards and the third Wildcat tally. The attempted conversion was blocked. The half ended 19 to 0.

Late in the third quarter, after the Lubbock lads had threatened to start clicking but bogged down in Wildcat territory, Littlefield again opened up with Fullback Walter Sewell exploding through the middle of the visitor's line for 5 yards and the fourth Wildcat touchdown. The extra point failed and the fourth quarter started with the Wildcats holding a 25 to 0 lead.

It was the same story in the final period with Sewell again rambling 50 yards on a wide end sweep early in the fourth quarter to make it 31 to 0. The final Littlefield tally came when Lyman passed 40 yards to Halfback Junior Graham in the end zone. Lyman ran the point over to make it 38 to 0.

Five of Littlefield's first string team was out of the lineup, Bewell at center, Hendrickson at tackle, McCanlies at end, Owens at end, and Charles Pharris at tackle.

Mulshoe Edges Past Morton Squad, 7-0

MULESHOE, Nov. 16. (Special)—Muleshoe edged out a fighting Morton team, 7 to 0, here this afternoon, scoring in the second quarter for the winning touchdown.

Midway the second period, Fullback Bill St. Clair plunged three yards for the six points after his mates had marched downfield. Halfback Wilcy Moore plunged over for the extra point.

In addition to St. Clair and Moore, Quarterback Arlo Farrell, Tackle Bill Bickell and Center Jess Winn were outstanding for the winners.

Abernathy Wins 26-0 Over Plainview 'B'

ABERNATHY, Nov. 16 (Special)—Abernathy's powerful Antelopes closed out their football season here this afternoon by rolling over Plainview's "B" team, 36 to 0.

BYRD LEADS AT MOBILE

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 16. (AP)—Sammy Byrd, the former New York Yankee outfielder, paced the field of early finishers in the second round of the $10,000 Azalea open golf tournament today with a sub-par 139.

Lamesa To Play Odessa Tonight

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Nov. 16.—The Golden Tornadoes meet the unbeaten Odessa Bronchos here Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the last home game of the season for the Lamesa lads.

The Bronchos look like a cinch to win the District 3-AA crown since they nosed by Sweetwater 13 to 12, and have to beat only Lamesa and Midland to cop the title. An upset win by the underdog Tornadoes would be earthshaking.

Lost To Abilene

Lamesa hit the bottom rung last week as Abilene rolled to a 45 to 6 triumph, and the Tornadoes will be trying to improve their play against Odessa and the Bronchos high-scoring fullback, J. W. Thompson.

Odess has been consigned 1,100 tickets for the fray, and Broncho followers are making such an all-out trek to the game that they may out-number the home fans. Upwards of 8 busses and a host of individual automobiles will bring the visitors to the contest.

Both Teams In Shape

It has been rumored recently that Odessa would like to see Lamesa back into Class A football or shift over into District 1-AA again because Tornado teams are too easily beaten and Lamesa grid crowds are usually small.

Both teams will be in fairly good shape for the battle. Odessa is still minus the services of stellar Guard Jack Marcel, and Lamesa's regular Tackle Bill Madlock is expected to be on the sidelines for most of the fray.

Some critics who follow comparative scores religiously feel that Lamesa stands a chance to beat the Bronchos because the Tornadoes looked strong in losing 14 to 9 to Sweetwater.

Cowhands Gold Stop Idalou Squad, 20-0

IDALOU, Nov. 16. (Special)—Lubbock High's Cowhands Gold closed out their grid season against Idalou with an impressive 20 to 0 decision here this afternoon.

The triumph gave Coach Marlin "Short" Hayhurst's lads a season's record of six won, three lost and one tied.

The Cowhands scored late in the first when Fullback Joe Bumpass plunged over. Early in the second, quarterback Dwight Moore plunged three yards to score.

The third was scoreless. In the fourth, Lubbock drove deep into Idalou territory, then Moore fumbled and Idalou recovered. Idalou then attempting to pass on the first down was trapped behind the goal by David Watkins who tackled the Idalou man for a safety. A few minutes later, Moore passed 20 yards to Left End James Craig for the third Cowhand tally.

Andrews Takes 38-0 Contest Over Tahoka

ANDREWS, Nov. 16 (Special)—Andrews rolled over Tahoka's Bulldogs here this afternoon, 38 to 0, in a District 6-A grid contest which had no direct bearing on the final outcome of the title playoff.

Andrews exploded for three touchdowns in the first quarter. Fullback Carroll Stewart ran 20 yards for the opening tally early in the game with Sub Guard Junior Barnes kicking the extra point. A few minutes later, Tailback Jack Young galloped 35 yards around end for the second Andrews tally but the try for point failed.

Late in the stanza, Left Half Cecil Hudgeons plunged for the third touchdown to climax a 60-yard drive. Again the kick failed and Andrews was ahead 19 to 0 as the second quarter started.

The first team took a rest during the second period for Andrews and Tahoka's fighting team held the local lads' substitutes scoreless.

In the third, the first team came back into the fray and promptly chalked up two more tallies. Right half Earl Suthpen rambled 12 yards for the fourth Andrews tally and tackle Ferrell Nixon kicked the extra point. A few minutes later Stewart ran 10 yards to score but the try for point failed. Late in the fourth, Fullback Stewart passed 40 yards to Right End Jimmy Mitchell for the sixth Andrews touchdown, again missing the extra point.

Petersburg Edges Out Ralls Squad, 13 To 7

RALLS, Nov. 16. (Special)—Petersburg counted in the first and third quarters then stopped a late Ralls rally here this afternoon to chalk up a 13 to 7 decision.

Halfback Ralph White plunged five yards to climax a 50-yard drive for Petersburg in the opening period for the first tally. In the third quarter, Fullback Leroy Kelly raced 40 yards to score.

In the fourth, Left End Richard Arthur grabbed a Petersburg fumble in the air and rambled 55 yards to score. Fullback B. L. Anderson carried it over for the point.

TCU Tangles With Texas In Crucial SWC Contest Today

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 16.—Two leading contenders for the 1945 Southwest conference football title meet head-on here tomorrow when the University of Texas Longhorns and the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs renew their rivalry at Memorial stadium.

It is that rivalry angle that has the Longhorn fans worried. They feel that the Steers hit their peak of the season thus far last week in batting down a tough young Baylor team that was hard to beat. They remember that Texas Christian has won ten of the 16 games the teams have played since 1929. The Frogs have won three of the last four.

TCU Passes Threat

Texas goes into the game with an increasingly better ground offense. To date the Longhorns have piled up a yardage total of 2,219 in eight games—well ahead of their nearest rivals in the conference statistic books. Bobby Layne's return plus fine end play, adds a passing threat.

Texas Christian brings the conference's leading passer to Memorial stadium. He is freshman Leon Joslin, who completed 48 of his 94 tries for a total net gain of 683 yards, lots of it where yards brought points.

Sellout Crowd Seen

On the basis of comparative performances against a top mutual rival—Baylor—the Longhorns have a slight edge The Frogs raked out a one-point victory over the Bears earlier in the season while Texas beat the Bears by one touchdown last Saturday.

It is Texas' last home game of the season, and a crowd of 25,000 was expected, more if the weather holds good. It promised to be warm and windy.

Record Throng Seen For Rice-Aggie Tilt

HOUSTON, Nov. 16. (AP) — A jinx that has persisted over Rice football teams for nine years will be rolled out again tomorrow as the Owls try to break the Texas A. and M. stranglehold in one of the top games of the Southwest conference race.

Victory for the Owls would mean an excellent chance of Coach Jess Neely winning his first championship since coming to the Rice campus in 1941. A win for A. and M. would mean the Aggies could sew up at least a share of the conference title by beating arch-enemy Texas on Nov. 29.

A capacity crowd of 30,000 is due to watch the rejuvenated Owls, able to drive back into the thick of the race after losing their opener o Southern Methodist following three nonconference defeats, attempt to tame the rugged Aggies.

It has been nine long years since Rice was able to beat A. and M. in that period there have been a couple of ties but never a victory. Last year the Aggies smashed the Owl title hopes with a 19-6 decision.

Both teams will be in good condition for the struggle. Even Red Anderson, hard-running back, hurt two weeks ago, may be able to play for the Owls. A. and M. won't have Bob Butchofsky, star blocking back, but he also missed last week's game with Southern Methodist.

Tulsa Favored Over Baylor In Grid Test

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 16. (AP)—Baylor's unpredictable Bears, sorely crippled but highly respected by Tulsa's Golden Hurricanes, will be seeking their first victory in five seasons over the Oklahomans here tomorrow.

High Score Seen For SMU-Porker Tussle

DALLAS, Nov. 16. (AP)—Southern Methodist's Mustangs, fighting to keep alive a faint hope of perhaps sharing the Southwest conference football championship, meet Arkansas here tomorrow in a game the fans expect to turn into a touchdown-making orgy.

Arkansas already is out of the title race but the Porkers although losing several games by wide margins, always have been able to score. With nothing on the line tomorrow they can be expected to try everything for points. Southern Methodist, the passing-est team in the conference, doesn't hold back in any game.

S. M. U. must win to keep its flickering hopes of a spot in the conference title parade.

Challenging The Future

Proposed Bond Issue Does That

TAXPAYERS of Lubbock will trek to the polls, probably on Dec. 11, to vote on an over-all bond issue for a five-year expansion program for the City of Lubbock. The issue, if approved, is expected to provide for various needs of the city for more than the life of the 25-year bonds.

It is imperative that each and every voter study the program and consider its various phases before casting his or her vote. Facts on the various projects will be presented from time to time through columns of this newspaper.

Although the $5,894,000 total included in the proposed issue may seem a staggering load for taxpayers to repay, it is well to consider the program in its various phases, along with growth of the city in the past five years and expected growth in the next ten or fifteen years.

Lubbock literally is "busting out at its seams" in all its development. In the past two months alone, the Avalanche-Journal has carried news stories detailing several million dollars worth of contemplated commercial expansion. Several hundred thousand dollars more of additional construction already planned by various firms and individuals has yet to be announced. Certainly, the city should try to keep pace with this commercial development so that it can provide for the needs of the people and not let municipal backwardness retard normal growth.

Take the matter of street lights alone. For the past ten years, Lubbock has been deficient in street lighting. Of course, the past five years improvement has been impossible and during these five years and several before that residential areas have extended beyond the city's bounds on numerous occasions. Development has been so rapidly that it has outgrow its lighting system in every direction, both in business and residential areas. Under the five-year plan, a total of 51½ miles of street lights would be provided, assuring Lubbock of ample lighting for practically every section of the city.

The waterworks supply and expansion program, one of the most vital projects, is badly needed for the city has been on the border-line several times in the past five years in the matter of a water supply. So much water has been consumed on peak days that pressure has dropped to almost zero in many sections of the municipality.

Coupled with the waterworks program is the proposed construction of a water softening plant for Lubbock. Its installation would result in a saving of hundreds of thousand dollars annually to Lubbock housewives in soap alone. In addition, commercial firms as well as home owners would realize thousands of dollars in annual savings in boiler repairs.

The proposed municipal auditorium- coliseum may be questioned by some as being too gigantic a project, yet who can deny that if Lubbock is to be the leading city in economic growth in this area it will be sadly deficient in provisions for entertainment of its people if the auditorium-coliseum is not constructed?

Other projects in the program, such as additional fire stations, police station expansion, storm and sanitary sewer extensions, street improvements, parks expansion and the airport improvement are also vital to needs of our expanding city.

Voters will be given the opportunity to vote for or against ten different groupings in the expansion program. They will be listed on the ballot. But before you start sharpening your pencils to "mark out" any of the proposed developments, remember that your negative vote will be casting stumblig blocks in the pathway of progress.

Your anxiety to save a few tax dollars may prove to be more costly in the future.

Let's all pull together and give Lubbock the impetus it needs to continue as the metropolis of West Texas!

Nice Work, Hollywood!

IN passing out accolades for grand jobs done during the war, the glamor boys and girls in Hollywood and the entire motion picture industry should not be overlooked. It may not be possible to name any other industry which gave away its only product to the GIs fighting overseas.

Since the first 80 prints were shipped overseas a few weeks after Pearl Harbor, a total of 43,306 prints of features and 33,236 of short subjects have been delivered without charge to Overseas Motion Picture service.

All the films made in Hollywood were placed at the disposal of the government; were screened by Army and Navy officers, who each week selected the pictures most desirable for showing overseas to personnel of the two services.

Between Pearl Harbor and V-J day, Hollywood actors made 53,056 free patriotic appearances. Outstanding in the list of 7,336 events to which Hollywood performers contributed were 119 overseas tours on which 174 players gave 12,762 days. Entertainers traveled by dog sled, outrigger canoe, jeep, plane, landing craft and water buffalo in playing everywhere that Americans trained, worked and fought.

In this country, scores of artists went on camp, hospital and bond tours. In addition, Hollywood personalities made special service men's broadcasts and transcriptions and gave countless personal appearances in behalf of various charitable and wartime agencies.

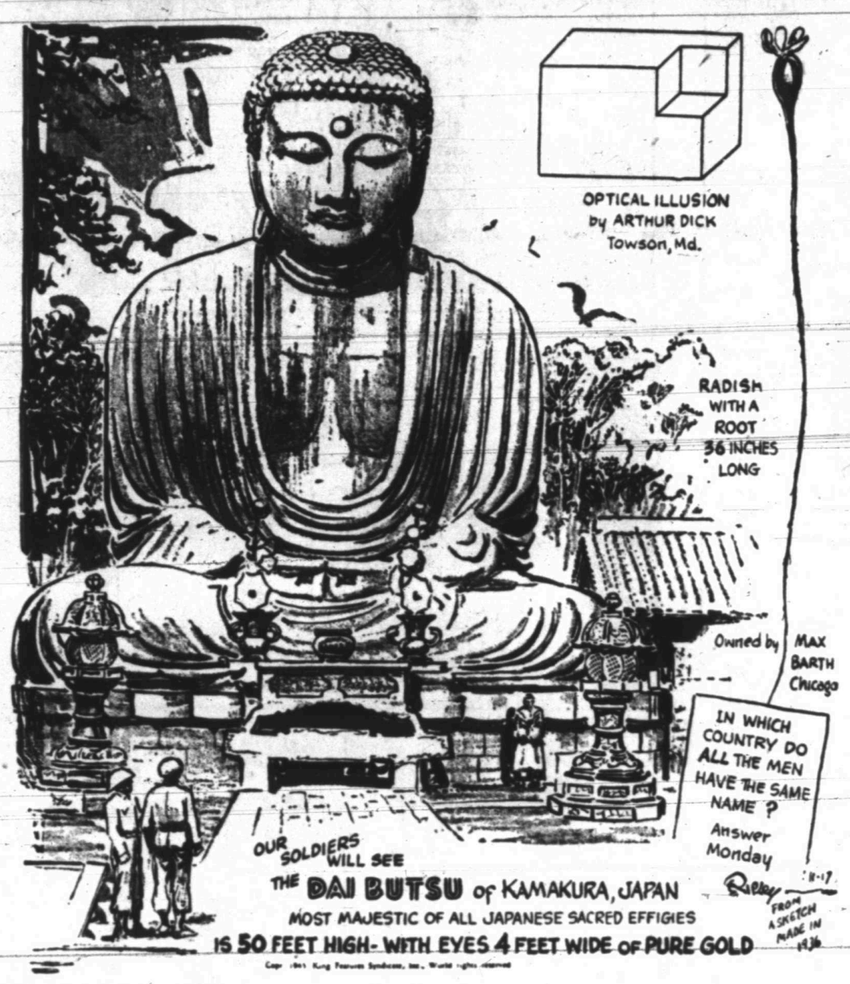

Personal tours of Hollywood "names" and free movies undoubtedly contribute a great deal to the morale of the men overseas. What was uppermost in their minds always was the thought of home, and it was the movies which brought a measure of it to them on the far-flung battlefronts. Hollywood has every reason to feel proud.

I FALL AGAIN

XXX

If vandeville was on the wane in Europe, it was definitely a fade-out in the United States. Everybody excused the muddled rehearsals and various drawbacks by saying that variety had been destroyed by the movies and that I should have been here when the Palace was open. This, of course, was probably true, but it did not do me any good. All important houses had four to five shows a day, which undermined my strength considerably, and although I had a personal success and was becoming known, I had made up my mind to play the parks and fairs through the summer — one or two good circus dates, then return to Paris.

After my Russian assistant got through the bulk of Shrine circuses by the grace of God, he wound up his service to me by losing all my luggage while returning from a date in Philadelphia. It took me several days to retrieve it; then I had to start all over again to find another man, rehearse, and break him into my routine.

Finally I set out on a series of fair dates (a brand-new experience for me) with a veteran of the Spanish-American War called Bill. He was willing, if a bit shaky, and had an incorrigible habit of addressing me as "Honey" on all occasions. He meant well, though, and during the first days of my tour I watched with an eagle eye to find out if he drank. I had bought a car, the most practical method of transporting my heavy outdoor steel rigging to the different points on my route, and some of his erratic maneuvers in traffic gave me food for reflection. However, he convinced me that in this respect he was trustworthy, and always at the close of a date he would tell me he was going out for a few drinks now that his responsibility was temporarily ended. Never once did he drink on the job.

I worked in fairs till late in the fall, when the evening spectacles became difficult with the heavy dew soaking my ropes, causing them to tighten up and become dangerous. My act had been very well received and written up. I seemed to have made a good impression in open-air work, and nearly all the fairs requested repeat bookings for the following year.

At the Metropolitan Theater in Boston, over Christmas and New Year's, my rigging had to be hung directly over the heads of Little Jack Little's band playing on the stage. Although the musicians and management did everything possible to make things easy for us, Bill had a lot of nervous tension to support while controlling my high swings over the band and the crowded first six ranks of stalls. I think this must have got him, and it wasn't until I returned to New York that he told me that he'd once suffered from shell-shock and that at certain times this had a very bad effect on his sangfroid. The tension is great for any aerialist's assistant, who from the ground carries a heavy responsibility—not only for the artist, but for the safety of the audience as well.

Some agents were anxious that I enlarge my appartus for the Madison Square and Boston Gardens, always played by the Ringling Circus with whom they were negotiating for my act. Any alterations in the length of my ropes meant that the timing had to be changed, and this required careful reheatsals. At once I started making these changes, using the rather inadequately sized gym on 47th Street, where the iron girders disturbed my high swings and leaps.

One morning the agents dropped in to see the progress of my work, and their presence had an unnerving effect on Bill, who was still very uncertain of himself, with the result that in a particularly high swing that preceded my ankle leap, he lost his head when he saw mine nearing the girders and threw his entire weight on the rope attached to my trapeze. The impetus of my swing was broken with such violence that the ropes snapped like a bow-string under my weight, literally throwing me up and off the cross-bar. I fell with a terrible force, and only the fact that my feet were caught in the rope loops saved my life, but my body swung sidewise crashing into the wall, and then to the ground.

I tried to rise to my feet but couldn't, and remembered nothing more till I found myself in the emergency ward of the Polyclinic Hospital, with a broken hip and dislocated vertebra.

Four and a half miserable months were spent in getting over this fall, until I was able to walk again, and the despair of Bill over what had occurred was very sincere. In a sense it was not his fault, for he had simply acted on a reflex through pure nerves, so I promised to give him another chance if ever I got well enough to climb a rigging again.

Many acts I worked with saw the announcement of my accident in Billboard, that colorful journal for the theatrical world, and came to sit with me. The effect produced by their conversation on my starched and socially minded nurses was very interesting. On returning from the hospital, I was still unable to move out of the brace on my back, or stand as yet, so there was nothing to be done but manage with a night and day nurse—which like everything else about my accident was both trying and expensive.

Man Gets Bad Breaks On Trip To Hospital

HOUSTON, Nov. 16. (U.P.)—Only a few hours after leaving Houston on a trip to Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., for treatment of an old leg injury, O. O. Grounds, 49, broke the same leg in two places in a car accident.

The leg was broken both above and below the knee when his car collided with another on the highway.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

ACCORDING to the papers, former Empress Zita of Austria has ended her visit in the United States and has gone to Canada for the time being.

She was accompanied by her mother, the Duchess of Parma, her sister, Countess Isabella, and Countess Kersenbrock, "her lady-in-waiting."

I am sorry I missed the former Empress' departure. I would have liked to have interviewed, not her ex-Majestry, but the "Lady-in-waiting."

"What are you waiting for?" I would have asked her. "Are you waiting for her Majesty's return to the throne of the Hapsburgs?

"Don't you know that that throne has long been split into kindling wood to keep a few of your country people over in Austria from freezing to death?"

BRANDEIS

And maybe I would have said a few words to the ex-Empress herself.

"Your ex-Majesty," I would have said, "why don't you get on to yourself? Why don't you get yourself a job and go to work? Why don't you live in reality rather than in that shabby phony dream-world of past glories and a future that can never come through?

"What has happened to your alarm clock? Why doesn't it ring and wake you up? Why do you go through life chumming with Rip Van Winkle and Snow White, when there is so much that is awake to see and to enjoy?"

A couple of years ago I had occasion to talk to Arehduke Otto, pretender to the throne of Austria. He was an amiable sort of chap—dignified yet simple, with a cute little mustache and rosy cheeks. Somehow I thought of that lovely operetta "The Chocolate Soldier" when I was with this royal personage.

The archduke wasn't bad, but with him was a chamberlain or equerry or whatever he called himself. You should have seen him. All he needed were a sword and spurs and a Victor Herbert uniform. He saluted me stiffly. He wanted to know what I wanted to see "His Highness" about and whether I had an appointment and a calling card.

All I replied was: "Get off that high horse, mister. This is America, and it isn't your America at that."

Just then the archduke approached and the equerry, with a royal, dirty look, disappeared into the background.

A COUPLE of days ago I had to call on the wife of an English Lord. She lived in a pretty shabby apartment, but you should have seen the airs she put on. On the wall hung her picture in the gown in which she was presented at the British court and also a large drawing of her husband's coat-of-arms. All her baggage—pardon me "luggage"—bore the inscription "Lady——," and the lordly crest.

She spoke in a very British accent and told me all about her aristocratic connections.

"You were born in Brooklyn, weren't you?" I asked her when I had a chance to get a word in edgewise.

Whereupon her ladyship almost swooned.

"Yes," she admitted, "but we are one of Brooklyn's very oldest families."

Marshall Kudos Held Up

Pearl Harbor Testimony Sought

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

CONGRESSIONAL promotion and special honors for Gen. George C. Marshall have been blocked by House Republicans pending his testimony before the joint committee investigating the Pearl Harbor disaster.

Opponents do not believe that the Chief of Staff was completely frank in the version he gave to the Army Pearl Harbor board.

It is the enforced delay on the bills honoring Marshall that has postponed his retirement and the appointment of "Ike" Eisenhower as his immediate successor.

Under the House proposals, the Chief of Staff would quit the service as a permanent five-star general, whereas he holds that rank now only because it attaches to his present post. The difference in retirement pay would be $15,000 as against only $6,000.

TUCKER

Another measure authorizes the striking off of a special medal to commemorate the military leader's services during the conflict. Both suggestions have the approval of the War department and the White House.

His friends want the bills passed without a single objection and they have canvassed the lower chamber to discover if they can obtain unanimous approval. Even only one individual can block immediate passage and force the proposition to an aye-or-nay ballot.

It is this test which the general's admirers wish to avoid lest it prove embarrassing to him.

The principal objectors to unanimous-consent passage of the two bills are Congressmen Bertrand W. Gearheart of California and Frank B. Keese of Wisconsin, Republican members of the Congressional Pearl Harbor committee. They have the backing of the minority leadership, and so far have proved obdurate to pleas that they withdraw their opposition.

AGREEMENT: The subject on which they want to question General Marshall further is labeled "top secret" in the military files and can only be hinted at here.

It involves the senatorial agreement negotiated with certain other Pacific powers as early as April of 1941 on their course in the event Japan attacked certain areas.

If Tokyo had known of it at the time or soon thereafter — and there is no assurance that she did not — it would have been regarded by our subsequent enemy as ground for the same sort of assault delivered against Pearl Harbor eight months later.

ADMISSION: In his appearance before the Army board, General Marshall said that he expected military officers to participate in the negotiations for the United States under orders from the Secretary of War. The Republican members wanted to force an admission from him that the over-all decrees for American membership in the anti-Japanese alliance originated in the White House.

Privately, the Republicans believe that former Secretary Stimson and General Marshall would not have dared to have any part in the April deal without authority and approval from the late President Roosevelt and Secretary Cordell Hull, but they want the admission to fall from General Marshall's own lips; otherwise, he may not receive his permanent promotion or medal without a floor vote.

SOFTEN: General Marshall will be subjected to such sharp cross-examination by Congressmen Gearhart and Keese that it is understood he will be represented by legal counsel. The prospective lawyer on his behalf is Maj. Henry C. Clausen, an old friend who served as assistant recorder on the Pearl Harbor board.

It is Major Clausen who, under orders from former Secretary Stimson, made a 55,000-mile trip, lasting twelve months, to various corners of the globe to reconstruct the story of Pearl Harbor from witnesses, participants and even earlier actors in that drama. Some committee members charge that he sought to persuade many key figures to soften their original testimony, especially as it applied to General Marshall.

INQUIRY: The authority given to Major Clausen by Secretary Stimson for his inquiry puzzled minority members. Mr. Stimson ordered everyone in the Army to turn over to Clausen reports, documents, records and all information in their possession "whether of secret or top secret nature."

Republican members of the committee demanded the same power for themselves to prosecute the inquiries as agents of Congress; they were voted down by the Democratic majority. Republicans also wondered why the Clausen investigation was necessary more than three years after the event itself and after the Army board had submitted a supposedly exhaustive report.

RED CROSS STILL SERVES

By Herman R. Allen

THREE of the veteran's fingers and half his hand had been blown off. They told him when he was discharged from Walter Reed hospital that the other finger might have to be amputated and a mechanican hand fitted.

He got a job but couldn't hold it with his bunged-up hand. He got another, had to quit — another, and had to quit that too. He was getting $23 a month disability pension, was apparently entitled to more but had to wait while wheels turned at the Veterans administration. His case was delayed at the Unemployment Compensation office.

Broke, hungry, homeless, he heard about Red Cross Home service. Home service fixed him up with meals and a room and a little cash until things started breaking his way.

ANOTHER man, badly disfigured by combat injuries, refused the pleas of his family to return home. The family got in touch with Home service, which sent a case worker to look him up.

An interview disclosed that it was not the man's disfigurement that stopped him from going home. It was the fear that he wouldn't be able to find a job he could handle. He had been trained as an architect, but the depression had prevented him from working at it very much before he went into military service.

The Red Cross case worker took the unusual step of requesting a Washington architect to place the man in a branch office in his home town. Usually Home service sends a man to see a veterans representative at the U. S. Employment Office.

HOME SERVICE was originally set up to help a service man handle problems that arose at home while he was away. A mother had to go to the hospital, and Home service arranged for the care of her children. A wife was without money when her husband's allotment check was late, and Home service loaned her enough to get by.

A soldier was notified a serious illness at home. He applied for a furlough, and his commanding officer asked Home service to make the necessary check-up so that the furlough could be granted.

MORE and more, however, Home service is swinging into the job of helping veterans make a smooth return to civilian life. It figures that if it takes a year to make a civilian into a soldier, it must take at least that long to make him into a civilian again.

The local Washington office of Home service has been handling about 7,000 cases a month during the war. In July, 784 of these involved veterans' problems. Now such cases are running about 1,000 a month.

One of Home services most touching problems is that of the young man who has never held a job or moved in the adult civilian world. Some of these young men have lived for four or even five years in an atmosphere of danger and excitement. Their lives have been governed in general by regulations and in particular by commands.

U. S. Faces Long, Tough Job In Germany

Allied Occupation Is Headache

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON,—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower while he is here probably will have much to say in the proper quarters about inadequacies in the joint Allied control system in Germany and the problems peculiar to the American zone.

STOKES

A basic difficulty was stressed by Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery, British zone commander, when he said in a recent interview that cooperation among the four control powers "has not proved sufficient up to this date to make the government of Germany as a whole by the control council effective."

This is, likewise, the observation of recently returned official investigators who also agree with General Montgomery in blaming the French for blocking efficient joint control.

There are peculiar problems in the American zone which, fundamentally, go to the very nature of a control system under military auspices, with its necessary rigidity and lack of flexibility to adjust to changing conditions.

Point System Takes Men

Reports to the administration stress two difficulties inherent in military control and accompanying circumstances:

Operation of the point system which is constantly draining our men away from Germany so that it is hard to get a fixed organization that can function smoothly and efficiently.

Lack of civilian personnel expert in the manifold problems that confront the control administration, including agriculture, education, transportation, among others.

The American control administration is working under a plan drawn up last April by the joint chiefs of staff. Apparently there is little inclination here to take another look, to survey the over-all problem in the light of developing and changing conditions, and from that to draw up a plan. It's like working with an outdated map.

WHILE it is the impression of recent observers that perhaps as good a job has been done as is possible under the circumstances, it is felt that some changes are necessary. This is the first American experience of this sort. It involves innumerable difficulties, some of which could not be foreseen, and it had to be done under military occupation.

An example of the difficulties may be found, for example, in agriculture, which is so essential because of the dire food problem in Germany. The Germans had a very detailed plan of agricultural control during the war. Utilization of this is handicapped primarily because the system was set up on a national basis. Attempts to use it in the American zone are hampered further by the insufficiency of trained personnel. Contributing to this is the constant withdrawal of military personnel who have been trained.

Nazis Infilterate Schools

Another problem is in the schools. Former school teachers had to be eliminated because of Nazi leanings. It is quite a job to fill their places. Prospective teachers are carefully investigated and are required to fill our elaborate questionnaires. If they are caught in lies, they are jailed. But, beyond the teachers, there is the problem of school books. They are filled with Nazi propaganda, even to arithmetics. A search was necessary for old, pre-Nazi text books Thus far the education reform has got only as far as elementary schools.

So it goes through all stages of German life and economy, with similar difficulties in business and in re-establishing local government.

THE JOB has got to be done. It is the view of observers that it needs more of the trained civilian approach to provide adaptability. It has been suggested that trained personnel from government departments and agencies here, familiar with problems of agriculture, transportation, education and the like, be sent to Germany. Some of these people who are being let out of government jobs here might be used in Germany. All categories of help are needed.

It is a big and necessary task, and a long one, and we will have to learn as we go along.

Cargo Hauling Over Hump Officially Ends

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16. (AP)—Cargo hauling over the Hump, the most congested air route in the world, ended officially yesterday but the Army Transport Command (ATC) will continue to fly the rugged Himalayas with daily passenger service between India and China.

The flying of 776,532 tons of war materials to China since Dec. 1, 1942, was costly in men and aircraft, particularly at the outset, but proved the value of mass transport by air in an emergency.

Twenty-four hour all weather ATC cargo flights were made over six Hump routes ranging from 12,000 to 20,000 feet altitude. Some were through fearsome gorges where at one time an actual trail of crashed planes was visible.

The overall Hump activity cost the lives of 910 crewmen and 130 passengers. Five hundred ninety-four planes were lost.

Over the Hump went the heaviest sustained aid traffic in the world and cargo never before considered feasible for air transport.

Marshall Tells Strategy Plans

bined Chief of Staff. As described in a previous report, this structure of Allied control was conceived at the conference of December 1941, when Prime Minister Churchill, accompanied by the chiefs of the British Navy, Army, and Air Forces, came to Washington and met with the President and the American Chiefs of Staff.

It was the most complete unification of military effort ever achieved by two Allied nations. Strategic direction of all the forces of both nations, the allocation of manpower and munitions, the coordination of communications, the control of military intelligence, and the administration of captured areas all were accepted as joint responsibilities.

The President and the Prime Minister, with the advice of the Combined Chiefs of Staff, made the decision at this first conference that our resources would be concentrated first to defeat Germany, the greater and closer enemy, and then Japan.

First Plans For Invasion

In April 1942, President Roosevelt directed me to proceed to London, accompanied by Mr. Harry Hopkins, for a conference with the Prime Minister, the War Cabinet, and the British Chiefs of Staff, regarding the tentative plan for the invasion of the continent in a cross-Channel operation. There a general agreement was reached that the final blow must be delivered across the English Channel and eastward through the plains of western Europe. At that time the Red Army was slowly falling back under the full fury of the German assault, and it was accepted at the London Conference that everything practicable must be done to reduce the pressure on the Soviet lest she collapse and the door be opened wide for a complete conquest of Europe and a probable juncture with the Japanese in the Indian Ocean.

In the discussions at this conference, a tentative target date for the cross-Channel operations, designated by the code name ROUNDUP, was set for the summer of 1943. However, the immediate necessity for an emergency plan was recognized. It was given the code name SLEDGEHAMMER and was to provide for a diversionary assault on the French coast at a much earlier date if such a desperate measure became necessary.

In June, the Prime Minister and General Sir Alan F. Brooke, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, returned to Washington for a further discussion of SLEDGEHAMMER and ROUNDUP, and a possible operation in the Mediterranean. During these discussions, the Allied situation in North Africa took a more serious turn, culminating in the loss of Tobruk. The discussions thereafter were devoted almost exclusively to the measures to be taken to meet the threat facing Cairo, Rommel's forces having been checked with difficulty on the El Alamein line. Further advances by his Afrika Korps, with its Italian reinforcements, and German successes along the southeastern portion of the Soviet front threatened a complete collapse in the Middle East, the loss of the Suez Canal and the vital oil supply in the vicinity of Abadan. It was a very black hour.

In July, Admiral King and I went to London for further meetings with the British Chiefs of Staff, to determine if there were not something that could be done immediately to lessen the pressure on the Soviet, whose armies were facing a crisis. Poverty of equipment, especially in landing craft, and the short period remaining when the weather would permit cross-Channel movement of small craft, ruled out the diversionary operation SLEDGEHAMMER for 1942.

African Landings Decided On

After prolonged discussions, it became evident that the only operation that could be undertaken with a fair prospect of success that year was TORCH, the assault on North Africa. Landings there would be a long way from Germany but should serve to divert at least some German pressure from the Red Army, and would materially improve the critical situation in the Middle East. It was therefore decided, with the approval of the President and the Prime Minister, to mount the North Africa assault at the earliest possible moment, accepting the fact that this would mean not only the abandonment of the possibility for any operation in Western Europe that year, but that the necessary build-up for the cross-Channel assault could not be completed in 1943.

General Eisenhower, who was then established with his headquarters in London, directing the planning and assembling of American resources, was, with the generous acceptance of the British Government, appointed Commander in Chief of the British and American Forces which were to carry out the landings in North Africa. On 13 August he received the formal directive to proceed with the operation. The target date was fixed for early November.

We have since learned that the German plan at that time was to attempt the defeat of Britain by aerial bombardment and by destruction of her army and resources in the Middle East. Colonel General Jodl, Chief of the German Armed Forces Operations Staff, has disclosed that it was Hitler's plan to break through Stalingrad and Egypt, and join these two salients in the Middle East.

The heroic defense of Stalingrad and General Montgomery's crushing defeat of Rommel at El Alamein disclosed these gigantic pincers. The further development of the operations in North Africa from the east and the west, and the Soviet offensive from the Volga proved to be the turning points at which the Axis was forced on the strategic defensive. STOCKS HIT NEW HIGH

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP)—Stocks went through the 1937 bull market high by a nose today and touched a peak since 1931 as buyers pushed up leader sin virtually all department 1 to more than 4 points.

Dealings were lively from the start although the pace slowed after midday and extreme gains were reduced in many cases at the close. Demand alternated betwen rails, stels, gold mines, utilities, motors and coppers. Transfers of 2,340,000 shares compared with 2,010,000 Thursday and were among the largest for the year.

Southern Pacific's boosted disbursement again aided carriers. Standard Gas preferreds jumped 3½ to 7 points on word the company would seek to alter its amended reorganization plan. Motors were spurred by the OPA grant of an "interim" price increase for Ford trucks and an unexpectedly pleasing Chrysler earnings compilation.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .3 of a point at 75.4, a top since April 14, 1931. Both rails and industrials were at highs for nearly nine years. Of 1,012 issues appearing, 589 advanced and 239 declined.

Among wider gainers were Santa Fe, up 3½; American Telephone 2, American Can 1¾, Anaconda 1⅝, Kennecott 1⅛, Hudson Motors 1¼, General Motors 1⅛, Willys-Overland 1, U. S. Steel 1, Goodrich 1⅝, Dow Chemical 3, Union Carbide 2, Schenley 1½ and Glenn Martin 3⅝.

On the offside were N. Y. Central, Douglas Aircraft, Texas Co., Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck and Owens-Illinois.

Bonds did better.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP) — Recurrent flurries of hedge selling, reflecting the heavy movement of the new cotton crop, checkd rallying tendencies in the cotton market today. Prices were 15 cents a bale higher to 60 lower at the close.

Largest losses were registered in the distant months where commission house liquidation was encouraged by poorer prospects of parity raising legislation and probably of larger cotton planting next season due to current high prices for the staple.

Futures closed 15 cents a bale higher to 60 lower.

The PIE DUCKLING

. . . . he saves the juice 1.00

PIES, WHEN BAKING, have a tendency to spill precious juices all over the oven. This is caused by the effort of trapped steam to escape. Patton, Noise And All, Is OK'd By Majority, Gallup Poll Finds PRINCETON, N. J.—More controversy has raged around the head of Gen. George S. Patton, jr., than around almost any other military leader in this war.

The colorful leader of the 15th Army who is temporarily in command of United States forces in the European Theatre has during World War II found himself alternately loudly acclaimed and fiercely condemned.

Be all reports about General Patton as they may, one thing is certain; the majority of Americans think he is a "mighty good" general and because of this are willing to overlook what some claim to be his faults.

Some among his admirers say they think he is a far better military general than diplomat or peacetime administrator. These people express their admiration of the general in careful phrases:

"He's a great leader, but he talks too much . . . The best general of the war, but he can't keep out of trouble. . . He's a winner, but he ought to eliminate just a little of the flourish . . . If he had as much tact as military brilliance, he'd be perfect; but then who is?"

A Los Angeles truck driver stated the same sentiment colorfully: "A blowhard, but a mighty good general."

Only four out of every one hundred questioned in the survey came out bluntly and said, "I don't like him." Eighteen per cent were either unfamiliar with General Patton's record or had no opinion.

Other typical comments:

"A crackerjack general . . . Very good general, but a slow thinker on other subjects . . . A man who likes to go out and get things done . . . He may not be a great thinker but he's a great fighter. Certainly high-handed . . . Best field general we have.

"Darned good soldier with a darned big mouth . . . One of the world's greatest generals . . . Too hot-headed . . . Swell soldier; lousy politician —that's why I like him. He says what he thinks . . . We need more like him."

A statistical picture of American sentiment toward General Patton:

Banker Assails Labor Groups, Politicians

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 16 (AP)—Declaring "a monster of selfishness is threatening to destroy the foundation of the nation," M. C. Ulmer, president of the Texas Bankers' association, today assailed power politicians and labor groups as the cause of the country's ailments.

Ulmer, who heads the First National Bank of Midland, presided at the opening session of a two-day convention of the association's trust section.

"I have a contempt for anyone who enters the avenues of business with a selfishness in terms of dollars and cents, rather than in a spirit of helping build up his community," Ulmer told the delegates."

"What we need is more statesmen in office," he declared, adding "we must hear the voice of the rank and file of the people."

Survivors Of A-Bomb Blast Sunburned And Trees Turned Brown

LOS ALAMOS, N. M., Nov. 16 (U.P.)—People who survived the atomic bomb explosions in Hiroshima and Nagasaki were sunburned by the blast and autumn hit the hills around Nagasaki in the wake of the explosions, one of America's atomic scientists said today.

Back at the Los Alamos atomic bomb laboratories after six weeks spent in examining the damage in Nagasaki and Hiroshima, Dr. Robert Serber—who was in charge of design of the Hiroshima bomb—said in a report:

"No one that has not actually seen the completeness and utterness of the destruction . . . can have any idea of what a terrible thing atomic warfare is."

Dr. Serber was director of physical measurements with the atomic bomb mission in Japan. He said he saw people on the streets of both atom-bombed cities who looked as though they had bad sunburns. The burns frequently were on one side of the face—the side turned toward the blast—and sharp shadows of a nose or an ear were photographed in reverse on many faces by the blast.

Trees on the hills around Nagasaki, he said, turned yellow and brown after the blast.

Rep. Lyle Honored By VFW Presentation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16 (AP)—In recognition of his front-line services during the Italian campaign, Rep. Lyle (D-Tex) today was awarded a Veterans of Foreign Wars cap by officers of the national organization.

The presentation was made by Omar Ketchum, Washington representative of the VFW, and his assistant, Junior J. Surrier, Congressional Medal of Honor holder, at the request of the John N. Timon VFW post in Corpus Christi, Tex., Lyle's home town.

With the Congressman when he received the cap was Lieut. Col. W. P. Scholl of Charlotte, N. C., his commanding officer in Italy. Lyle was a captain and still overseas when elected to Congress last year. Holder of the Purple Heart, he was promoted to the rank of major before returning home to take his seat in the House.

New Clashes Causing Trouble In Honolulu

HONOLULU, Nov. 16. (U.P.)—New clashes between servicemen and civilian hoodlums were investigated today as Gov. Ingram Stainback warned that "necessary steps" would be taken to restore order.

Police continued questioning of eight youths arrested after at least 11 servicemen and two civilians were beaten in fresh outbreaks yesterday.

Several Navy men were beaten so severely they required hospitalization when three large groups of barefooted rowdies attacked small groups of sailors in downtown streets.

The governor said the territory was cooperating with the Navy to maintain order and promised that "if the police can not handle the situation, we will go further."

"We are not going to permit Honolulu to become a sore point with fights between military personnel and civilians, not all of whom necessarily are hoodlums."

Stainback has sent a perliminary report on the incidents to the Department in Washington.

Missouri College To Give Degree To HST

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 16 (AP)—William Jewell College, which is affiliated with both the northern and southern branches of the Baptist church, will confer an honorary degree upon President Truman "as soon as he can come to Liberty, Mo.," Maurice H. Winger, vice president of the college board of trustees, said last night.

He asserted the Texas convention's resolution instructing trustees of all Texas Baptist colleges and universities not to confer an honorary degree on persons holding what it asserted was attitude "toward gambling and drinking" was in no way binding on William Jewell.
