UPI Editor Blasts Critics Who Would Suppress News

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Roger Tatarian, editor of United Press International, said today the press would jeopardize its own credibility if it yielded to critics who would suppress publication of unpleasant news.

In a speech before the California Press Association, Tatarian said there was particular danger in suggestions that "if it were not for press coverage, the racial strife of recent years would not have taken place ..."

The UPI editor said that "those who are tempted to favor blackouts of riot news would be well advised to remember that there is something far more dangerous than even unpleasant truths—and that is the false rumor.

"And when you impede the free flow of news you make room for rumor.

"You also undermine public confidence ..."

As an example he cited a rumor during last summer's Newark riots that a Negro cab driver had been beaten to death by police.

The rumor, he said, "added fuel to the already blazing fire."

He added:

"The advocates of news suppression should remember ... and how they are received.

"If there has to be a choice between too much and too little coverage," he declared, "the greater danger lies in too little."

Tatarian declared that the racial story is one "that needs attention every day and not as a seasonal story, like the grape or cotton harvest."

"If nothing else is clear," he said, "it is that white America still does not have a complete understanding of the problem, and there is much for the press ...

... the police are not always as totally blameless as the white community thinks— but not nearly as culpable as ... believe. The press must be fearless in this area to expose brutality where it exists but also to make sure that honest, dedicated law enforcement officers are defended against loose accusations."

The UPI editor listed press critics in three main groups:

"One is the legal profession ... the press, which long has

DEAR ABBY: Every Thanksgiving my husband's boss who lives out of state sends us a huge bouquet of roses. The box they come in bears the name of a local florist and their truck delivers them, so it's not as though these flowers have been shipped any great distance. Well, I have never seen sorrier flowers in all my life! It's getting to be an annual joke around here. They aren't even worth putting into a vase. I just open the box and carry it right out to the trash.

Then I sit down and write a "thank you" note for the "beautiful flowers." I told my husband this year I think we should tell his boss what kind of flowers he has been paying for. My husband says we should be quiet. What do you say?

MRS. M.J.L.

DEAR MRS. L.: I say a rose by any other name would smell. And so would the deal you've been getting from your florist. By all means let the sender know the kind of flowers you have been receiving. He would appreciate it.

DEAR ABBY: Mine is a problem I can't discuss with anyone. Teddy, our 12-year-old son, wants to take ballet. He is slim, graceful, a very beautiful boy and not very masculine.

He's been taking ballroom and tap since he was nine, but I never dreamed he'd become interested in ballet. His father will die. He's a rugged sportsman and has a five handicap in golf. Teddy has always been a rather delicate child and never cared much for sports so I thought dancing would be good exercise for him.

I am worried because you do not see many real he-men in ballet and I do so want our Teddy to be a real he-man, marry some nice girl and have children. I would so love to have a little granddaughter. Teddy is our only child and I was so disappointed when he was not a girl, I wept for a week.

Should I discourage his taking ballet, or do you think it's too late?

TEDDY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: First you ought to find a psychiatrist with two couches. One for you and one for Teddy. The doctor can tell you if it's "too late," and if so, why. Environment plays a very important role in shaping a child's destiny. Many a mother's "dream" of having a "little girl" has created a nightmare for the unlucky boy she bore instead.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that when young married couples want to go some place, they just shove their kids off on their parents? They never seem to care if we have plans of our own. We wouldn't mind in case of emergency, but usually it's just to get rid of their kids for a while.

Abby, we love our grandchildren. We are getting up in years now and can't run after them all the time, however. And the noise of their fighting gets on our nerves.

Our parents told us, "We raised ours, now you raise yours." Why do the children of today take advantage of their parents?

"NEVER SAY NO GRANNY"

DEAR GRANNY: If you never say no, maybe they don't know they're imposing. Some parents still say, "We raised ours, now you raise yours." So why don't you? It's just that simple. No one can take advantage of you without your cooperation.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MARK: Money isn't everything. Sometimes it's not even enough.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

SKIRTS ARE CROPPED shorter than ever; some boots will halt just below the kneecaps and textured knee socks have grown up to glamor. In winter, dry indoor heat and brisk winds reduce the moisture in your skin, causing exposed knees to chap. To combat this, place two teaspoons of petroleum jelly in a plastic cup, then put the cup in a larger bowl of very hot water. Cover your knees with a thin film of the warm emollient. Leave the PJ on for half an hour. Sit with your knees wrapped in warm towels then tissue off excess petroleum jelly.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This can be a very tense and unpleasant day and evening with many persons harassed and obliged to break promises or to make changes they don't like owing to the different set of conditions now manifesting themselves. The one good aspect now is to erase trouble by being charming, cordial, appearing happy.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't give into temptation to make radical changes but keep loyal to associates and all works out just fine for all concerned. Don't incite allies to anger in any way. Avoid trouble in any sphere.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be sure that you get all of your bills paid to the best of your ability, together with meeting all other responsibilities wisely. Get surroundings improved, also. Listen to what a good pal has to suggest for self-improvement.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A charming smile with others can certainly turn away wrath now. Get busy with some special talent you possess so that you impress male more successfully. Avoid any trouble in that area, also.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Getting your home more harmonious, clean and charming is wise during day. Later be careful not to get into any arguments with others in the outside world. Show that you are a wise diplomatic person.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Utilizing this day to do important errands and getting your self looking more charming is good. However, do not be extravagant. Spend more than you can really afford. Be wary, especially if your income is small.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't be forceful with others in trying to increase income since diplomacy can bring far better results. Take the time to improve your home, etc. Get that paint brush working. Add bric-a-brac.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Think more of your own personal aims and affairs instead of going out of your way for others at this time. Get busy with that fine talent you possess. This can bring pleasure as well as profits.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Once you have done the work that is expected of you by higher-ups, quiet intelligent meditation at some ideal spot soothes your soul. Listen to what an expert has to say. Fine ideas are expounded.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have a calm and sweet friend who can help you in relieving tensions that are bothering you now. Get away from kin for a while. Business matters could also be very disappointing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Getting into civic or business matters in the outside world are your best bets for today. Show one who assists you to advance that you are most appreciative. Make this a most productive day, evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You get a wonderful idea that can pull you right out of that dull routine that has you frustrated. Get the data you want from a charming person who is in a good mood. Literally make hay while the sun shines.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Avoid trouble by doing something very thoughtful for loved one. Follow your intuition. Then this becomes a happy day instead of a day fraught with danger, some accident that could cost a pretty penny.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he, or she, will be one of those persons who will have a natural knack for solving problems, both personal and those of others, but the nature is inclined to be an impatient one. So teach early to calm down, be more objective, smile more, and then there is great success in psychology, banking, medicine and the like.

$10 Christmas Program Sunday

Mrs. Naomie Sautter of the Papage Indian Reservation in Quigitao Village, Arizona, will be the speaker for the second annual Christmas program of the Southwest Indian Organization.

The meeting will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday in Lovett Memorial Library.

Chiefs Marlan Hayes and George E. Hause of the local organization said the program was organized to provide gifts and needed items for the Papago Indians in Arizona.

They suggested flashlights, clothing, socks, handkerchiefs and shaving lotions for men, and hair curlers, blouses, skirts, aprons for women. Other needed items, the chiefs said, were hand towels, wash cloths and material for clothing and toys for children.

The chiefs urged all persons who want to give to leave their names and addresses with their gifts and if wrapped, to indicate whether the gift is suitable for a man, woman or child. The chiefs also said that canned foods made desirable gifts.

Those desiring to leave gifts may deposit them at the Kookie Krumblers Nursery, 208 W. Browning.

"The third is what I would loosely lump together as the dissenters—the pleaders of special causes, who are convinced that they are the only vessels of truth and who are unable to distinguish between the world as they would like it and the world as it really is."

Wheeler Pair, Hippie Charged In Dope Case

WHEELER (Spl) — A Wheeler man and his wife and a New York hippie have been charged with unlawful possession of marijuana.

W. R. Lasater and his wife Christine, both of Wheeler, and William Haggerty, 27, of Rochester, N. Y., were charged late Tuesday before Wheeler County Judge Cecil Amerson after officers allegedly found the marijuana in their car.

Bond for both Lasater and his wife was set at $5,000, which they both posted. Bond for Haggerty was set at $7,500. He remained in jail Thursday in lieu of the bond.

The trio were arrested by Wheeler County sheriffs deputies and Highway Patrolman near Shamrock after receiving "some information that some hippie-type was bringing the stuff in on the bus and Haggerty was the only one that looked like it," an official said.

Officers said two boxes of marijuana and some seeds were found in the car.

The official described Haggerty as having "long hair and looking like a hippie."

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Encourage Oil Discovery

As our civilization has increased in its complexity and in its capacity to produce a high standard of living for the average person, energy requirements have multiplied many-fold. It is estimated that U.S. oil demand will rise to about 11 billion barrels annually by the year 2000, or roughly three times the current figure. An official of one of the nation's leading oil companies has estimated that between 1965 and 1980, U.S. oil companies will have to spend about $115 billion to meet the rising demand for oil, and it will be necessary to locate 78 billion barrels of new oil reserves in the U.S.

This job can be done, but it is not an easy one. Only three exploratory wells out of each hundred drilled, at an average cost of better than $50,000, make discoveries big enough to be commercially successful. It is thought that there are some two trillion barrels of petroleum to be extracted and transformed into usable products, and getting oil from these sources economically requires the development of whole new technologies.

As the oil industry spokesman put it, "the real potential of America's petroleum resources derives from their presence in a country that follows policies to encourage their discovery, development, and beneficial use." The advancement of the United States and the quality of life which future generations of Americans are able to enjoy will depend to an ever-increasing degree upon the continuation of these policies.

Typical Investor-Owned Development

Early in World War II, the Defense Department decided that an aluminum plant should be located in Arkansas where raw materials were available. the catch was that the electric company serving the area, already pinched to meet wartime demands, could not supply the large amount of electricity required, and neither could any other single company in the vicinity. To meet the situation, 12 electric companies of the Southwest formed the Southwest Power Pool. By cooperating, they supplied the aluminum plant and much of the south central part of the United States throughout the war without any power rationing.

Today, this power pool has vastly expanded. Eleven of the member companies have joined the South Central Electric Companies group and now exchange 1,500,000 kilowatts of power with the federally-owned and operated Tennessee Valley Authority. The companion organization, the Southwest Power Pool, coordinates the operation of interconnected electric systems throughout the states of Oklahoma, Arkansas; Missouri, Kansas; Nebraska, Mississippi, Louiiana and Texas.

It is the purpose of every power supplier in the area to see to it that everything humanly and technically possible is done to provide electric service to every one of its customers as economically as possible with maximum attention to bringing the perfection of total reliability in electric service ever closer. This is typical of developments in the investor owned, taxpaying utility industry throughout the United States. This vast reservoir of technical know-how and experience in the operation of electric systems is the sound basis on which the remaining problems of power pooling will be solved.

Don't Belittle Profit Incentive

Some new figures have come to light about wildcat drilling for oil in the United States that make significant reading. It is common knowledge that 90 per cent of wildcat wells drilled in areas where no oil or gas has previously been found result in dry holes. But, this is only part of the story. When a new oil field is discovered, there is no guarantee of financial success.

According to Oil Facts, "Every year, hundreds of newly discovered fields turn out to be too small or too unproductive to be profitable." In 1966, oilmen drilled 6,158 new-field wildcat wells in the United States. These thousands of wells actually resulted in 635 newly discovered fields of gas and oil. But, of the 635, it is estimated that only 171 will prove to be of sufficient size to return a profit on the investment. Thus, only 2.8 per cent of the new-field wildcat wells drilled in 1966 will become commercially successful.

It takes courage and money in nearly incalculable amounts to maintain the river of oil that sustains our civilization. And what many of us do not seem to realize is that incentive, stemming from that widely belittled element "profit", is all that keeps oil rivers from drying up.

A Nation Without Ships

During the past few years, much has been written and said on the revolutionary impact of the Nuclear Age. Among other things, push-button warfare was, for some time, visualized as obliterating any need for manned aircraft. By the same token, in the realm of national security, many so-called experts considered naval and merchant fleets obsolete.

Events are proving them wrong. As a result, the maritime picture is taking on a new look. Not long ago, Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd proposed a number of steps to substantially strengthen the U. S. Merchant Marine. One of his proposals would permit the construction of some U. S. merchant ships abroad. In addition, he would provide for building approximately 30 merchant ships a year in domestic shipyards — doubling the current annual number, thus strengthening the capability of U.S. yards.

The Committee of American Steamship Lines, an organization representing the lines that operate under government contract over specified worldwide routes, supports Secretary Boyd's proposals These U.S.-liner operators have borne the brunt of the responsibilities for maintaining the backbone of the modern U. S. merchant fleet. Theirs has been an uphill task.

In commenting on the Secretary of Transportation's proposals for a stronger merchant marine, Ralph K. James, executive director of the Committee, says: "The next five years are the truly critical years in the future of our merchant fleet. Based on the need to replace a merchant ship after 25 years of life, a careful review of the present elements of our merchant fleet segments indicates that in the bulk carrier fleet and the nonsubsidized freighter fleet, there will be a shocking reduction in the number of ships under 25 years of age between now and 1972, while a serious reduction will occur in the tanker fleet and the subsidized liner fleet. . . . Unless action is taken now to cure our deficiencies in modern ships, our nation will be in peril by the early 1970's." A strong U. S. Merchant Marine is essential. It is one of the primary tools preserving a free-world civilization

WHAT ARE THEY TAUGHT?

There was a time when children were schooled at home and the parent had the say as to what his child would be taught. The parent was free to include as much or as little music, athletics, religion, three R's, sex education, nature study, or homemaking, as he chose.

Today, with government schools and compulsory attendance, all this has changed. How much do you, as parents, know about what your child is being taught? Are we unconsciously relinquishing our duties? In the final analysis, who must shoulder the responsibility for the child's actions? Perhaps it is time to take a look at what is going on in your child's school and be sure that it is not violating the true role of the parent.

A ruckus has been going on in our neighboring town about a course in "Family Life." One taxpayer threatened to lodge a formal protest over some questions on deviant sexual behavior that his seventeen-year-old granddaughter was asked to answer. The newspaper editor did not dare to report the full story because of its salacious character. Is it possible that children are being taught what an editor, with all our freedom of the press, dares not print?

Dr. Morris Chafetz, a Harvard psychiatrist, has even suggested that group instruction in social drinking should be taught in the elementary school and continue through college. Could this, by any stretch of the imagination, be called a function of the school?

It must be remembered that not all parents will object to the same material you do; in fact, many may approve it. Parents have different goals and it is impossible in a monopolistic school system to please everyone. So what can you do? Complaints are resented. Fighting for your plan is usually futile because "force in any form tends to generate a counter-force."

Is there an alternative?

Why not think about schooling as you would about meeting your grocery needs? Suppose your only source of groceries was a monopoly store, operated by political majority power. What foods and what brands would be carried, and at what prices? How would these decisions be made? Would the store carry olives or not? Pastrami? Potatoes? Competition tends to satisfy all individual demands, whereas monopoly gives few choices, whether for groceries or for schooling.

Regardless of where your child goes to school, whether to a government or a private one, remember that a wise parent will continue to teach the fundamentals of living, religion, responsible liberty, and respect for property.

YOUTH AND BUSINESS

It may well be that much of what the older generation "knows" about young Americans today simply isn't so. American youth is studied and analyzed as never before, but there are grounds for believing that the findings placed before the public are more fiction than fact.

For example, there is the theory that U. S. college students are, in large majority, dead set against careers in business. Results of a recent five-month study by the Research Institutute of America raise serious doubts as to the validity of this theory. The survey covered some 5,000 students at a dozen colleges.

Students were asked, among other questions, what kind of career they thought would provide the most promising opportunities for them in terms of personal fulfillment. Business came in first with 24 per cent; arts and literature second with 18 per cent; science and outer space 9 per cent, and philosophy and religion 8 per cent; tied for fourth place was government and politics.

To all of us who believe firmly in the soundness of the American business concept of personal enterprise, the results of this survey must be encouraging. Our young people are sounder than our sometimes sensation-seeking communications media have led us to believe. The hippies and New Left demonstrations do not represent the majority of American youth.

Those who have encouraged the YOUTH FREEDOM SPEAKERS and other constructive youth movements are well aware that youth can accomplish. Concerned adults will do well to give their best efforts to saving freedom for our youngsters and feel sure that youth will do their part.

If We Hadn't Stopped Them In Vietnam

The Doctor Says

Loss of Sense of Taste Really Loss of Smell

Q—I am 67. All my food seems to taste the same. My sense of smell is impaired too. What is the cause and what is the treatment for this?

A—Most people who complain of a loss of taste are suffering from a loss of smell as it is this sense that gives them their ability to distinguish flavors. They are still able to recognize the four true tastes — salt, sour, bitter and sweet. Loss of the sense of smell is usually caused by chronic nasal congestion, nasal obstruction due to polyps, or chronic allergic rhinitis. It is made worse by heavy smoking and frequent use of nasal decongestants.

Relief depends on discovering and removing the cause. The treatment may take the form of desensitization, antibiotics, drugs of the cortisone group or an operation. Prerequisites to any successful treatment program are to quit smoking and to make sure there is enough humidity in the air you breathe.

Q—What would cause a metallic or a bitter taste in my mouth? What can be done for it?

A—A metallic taste may be caused by excessive smoking, the action of an acid saliva on metallic dental fillings, sleeping with your mouth open or taking certain drugs that contain a metal iron. A bitter taste may be caused by excessive belching, neglected teeth, certain drugs, a hiatus hernia or ruptured diaphragm, or a chronic infection in the mouth, nose or throat. The treatment requires the elimination of all possible sources of the abnormal taste.

Q—For two years I've had an unbearable taste in my mouth and odor in my nose. Is there any way to get rid of them?

A—These symptoms are a great source of worry to elderly persons. They may be caused by a chronic infection in the nose, throat, gums or lungs; heavy smoking, or the excessive use of mouthwashes. Frequently, worried preoccupation with the possibility of having bad breath aggravates the condition or at least its effect on your equanimity.

Q—I am just getting over an attack of myathenia. Is this a dangerous disease?

A—Myasthenia gravis, a disease characterized by general weakness, is one of many diseases for which there is no cure but which can be controlled with proper treatment. Neostigmine, which requires a doctor's prescription, or a related drug is usually effective.

Is A Gun Dangerous? Depends On Who's Using It!

Much noise has been made of late about the pros and cons of "gun registration laws", both state and Federal. Proponents of such legislation believe that, if private ownership of firearms were strictly controlled, crime would decrease. If Lee Harvey Oswald had been unable to purchase a mail-order gun, the argument goes, President Kennedy would still be alive today.

There are already two Federal laws restricting the use of firearms. One is the 1935 National Firearms Act, which was intended to keep weapons out of the hands of gangsters. Under this law, sawed-off shotguns, machine guns, silencers, and other favorite toys of the mob were to be registered. In 1938, the Federal Firarms Act was passed, making it unlawful for persons who had been convicted of crimes of violence to transport firearms across state lines.

Although these laws have been on the books for many years, the gangsters and the criminals still manage to obtain and use firarms. Because the criminals do not pay any attention to the law, whether it be a firearms law or a prohibition against murder.

Currently pending in the United States Senate is a bill introduced by Senator Thomas Dodd of Connecticut. The Dodd bill would limit the sale of firearms to everybody, not only the criminal, but the law-abiding citizen as well.

Addressing this subject on a recent Manion Forum radio program, was John M. Schooley, a Denver lawyer who spent more than 25 years as a law enforcement officer with various departments of the Federal Government. He is past president of the National Rifle Association.

Schooley pointed out that the proposed Dodd bill is not a gun registration law. But, he said this bill would be "so restrictive that it would discourage the private ownership of firearms. A few years from now people would just get to the point where they couldn't be burdened; it would result in the disarming of the majority of the American people."

While the Dodd bill would not require a national registration of all firarms, there are those who believe that such a law should be enacted. Said Schooley:

"The recommendations of the President's Crime Commission were published in a report called 'Challenge of Crime in a Free Society'. In Chapter 10, it is recommended that every state in the Union should pass a Sullivan Law requiring the registration of every firearm, and that if they do not do this, then the Federal Government, within five years, should enact a Sullivan Law that would require registration of all firearms, nationwide.

"If people comply with the laws of their country—and the only people that honor the law are the law-abiding—they would abide by a gun registration law. But the criminal wouldn't. We would just disarm the law-abiding citizen and he stands helpless before the armed aggressor.

"The registration of firearms is generally equated with the registration of automobiles. Some people say 'Well, you do not object to registering your automobile, so why do you object to registering your firearms? No one has to get permission to purchase an automobile, nor will you stop crime by requiring police permission to purchase a firearm. The criminal would steal the auto, commit the crime with it, and then abandon it. The same as he steals a firearm, commits a crime with it, and then throws it away."

And while crime increases, there is this talk about restricting the right of law-abiding persons to own firearms! "I don't think", said Schooley, "that the law-abiding citizen should be required by restrictive legislation to stand naked in front of a mob."

But that's the way Big Brother is. Stop crime? Sure, but not by attacking the criminals. Restrict the rest of us instead.

WASHINGTON:

VC Reverts To 'Classical' Style of War

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) —Bits and pieces of evidence make it almost certain the Viet Cong and Hanoi early this year decided to gradually return to classical guerrilla warfare in South Vietnam.

This agonizing reappraisal apparently involved a "palace revolution" in Hanoi, in which Defense Minister Giap — the victor at Dien Bien Phu —overthrew his chief rivals in the close, tight ring around Ho Chi Minh.

For more than a year, Viet Cong leaders had been quarreling with Ho's decisions to stress semiconventional big-unit battles with U. S. and South Vietnam forces. The same quarrel had been going on in Ho's inner circle in Hanoi. Finally indications are, Ho was sold on the necessity of returning to protracted subversive insurgency and abandoning attempts for a quick victory.

The decision should mean radical changes in the war.

—The Viet Cong may now put heavy emphasis on creating "Detroit"- and "Watts"-type explosions on an ever broadening scale in South Vietnam's major cities and towns.

The Communists have been relatively weak in the big cities to date, their own documents emphasize. Their new organizing-recruiting drives may aim at slum dwellers, disoriented refugee groups and unsettled youth who have crowded into the cities, attracted by the bright lights and jobs.

—A sharp increase is probable in political assassination in both the cities and countryside. VC terrorism could be directed against the newly elected village councilmen and hamlet chiefs. Increased terrorists pressures may be put on policemen, teachers, fishing and agricultural co-operative officials, youth leaders and GIs.

—A major increase in economic sabotage is planned. Details are not yet clear.

—A major drive apparently is under way to improve the quality and increase the number of Viet Cong underground political, psychological war fare and economic cadres. The aim here is to accomplish a major reorganization and restructuring of the Communist underground base for long-term subversive insurgency.

To accomplish this, the Communists are shifting some of their ablest men from mainline military forces and may send down men now being trained in North Vietnam.

Many of the ablest of the VC political-economic-psychological warfare cadres were yanked out of the provinces in 1965 and 1966 to beef up the military "drive to victory."

Under the new program, the North Vietnam military forces and the Viet Cong mainline armies would continue to be employed as diversionary forces to "tie down" American and South Vietnamese armies.

This would give VC agents the freedom they need to revamp and build their organization in rural hamlets, city slums and refugee camps for the long haul they see ahead.

Straight Talk

By TOM ANDERSON
FRENCH ROOKING

Paris

The time to go to Europe, I thought, was "out of season," after school had started and the deluge of tourists has subsided. Rome's Sistine Chapel was so crowded when we were there a few days ago, that once you removed your eyes from the ceiling, you had to be careful lest your chin come down on some tourist's nose. The last time I had viewed Michaelangelo's masterpiece in the Vatican, only a handful of people were there. Most of Europe is, even now, over-run with tourists. More from America than anywhere else.

The American tourist pays prices especially marked-up for Americans, hands the money he doesn't know how to count to a crook who short-changes him, then over-tips, is insulted, and leaves happily for the next gyp. Naturally, the worst offenders are the depraved, immoral, decadent, cowardly, ungrateful French.

Twice within one generation, American men and boys fought, bled and died on French battlefields to save a nation not worth saving. After saving a decadent France, many of those men were unwilling to fight for their country, we helped rebuild her. Now she is one of our best enemies. It is said that the Frenchman hates Americans more than any other people — except other Frenchmen.

Our Secretary of the Treasury, Boldfinger, has reduced our gold holdings in the past dozen years from $23 billion to 13 billion. And we owe most of that to our friend, De Gaulle, the conservative pro-Communist. So, we now have no gold we can call our own except in our jewelry and teeth. In this same twelve years, our world friends almost doubled their non man-teeth gold holdings. De Gaulle makes periodic raids on our gold. Anybody who holds our gold certificates and notes, can get our gold except Americans. In addition to owing us hundreds of millions for WW 1 and WW II, France has kept borrowing from us and kept getting outright gifts. Some day, some American hothead is going to suggest that we sever diplomatic relations with France, charge off all her claims on our gold against the fabulous sums she owes us and tell Charles De Gaulle and his depraved subjects to go to hell. Then they might take the Statue of Liberty back. But she is an incongruous sight in the same harbor as the U. N., anyhow.

De Gaulle has kicked NATO out of France and it is costing us hundreds of millions of dollars to move out French installations, men and equipment and all American troops are now out of France — except the 100,000 who are buried there. I'm for moving them — they deserve better.

Some folks say we have to keep on being nice to De Gaulle and the French, to keep them on our side. Please! Now that Mac the Knife has disarmed us, we can't afford to have France on our side anymore.

Recently, high school students at an American school in Europe, children of United States Air Force personnel, were given a social studies quiz in which one of the questions was: "What is a word which means to give help to one's enemies"

The expected answer was, of course: Treason.

However, 23 American children answered: Foreign Aid.

Dr. Smith — I'm not too sure, but if you were a building, you would be condemned.

Television In Review

By RICK DUBROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — It wasn't so many years ago that an outside production company just didn't have a chance to get a documentary on the nation's major television networks.

The chief breakthrough was made by David L. Wolper. And the extent of this achievement is indicated by the virtual flood of programs his firm will have on the three networks in the coming months.

And not only documentaries either. The Wolper Company, just about the youngest and hottest shop in Hollywood, has turned to entertainment programming as well.

In addition, on another front indicating the young new energy being felt around town, Wolper has tarted up a movie division, with Bill Holden starring in the first film, "The Devil's Brigade."

At any rate, here is a sampling of the company's programs that will deluge the networks in the near future:

—On Dec. 11, the broadcast is "Winged World," a look at birds around the globe. This is another of the Wolper-National Geographic specials, a highly successful series whose last program was the excellent "Grizzly!" The outlet is CBS-TV.

—Also on Dec. 11, Wolper's entertainment division offers an hour musical special starring Nancy Sinatra, and featuring Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Sammy Davis. The outlet is NBC-TV.

—On Jan. 8, the first of about a dozen Wolper specials on the undersea world of oceanographer Jacques Yves Cousteau will be presented, with the focus on sharks in the initial hour. The outlet is ABC-TV.

—On Jan. 11, once again on NBC-TV, the project is the first of a series of occasional hours entitled "Great Explorations," in which former astronaut John Glenn retraces the routes of other famous adventurers. The opening program concerns journalist Henry M. Stanley's African search for David Livingstone.

Farmers Get Help in 30-Page Booklet From Ag Group

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department has brought forth a 30-page booklet outlining possible programs to keep small farmers from leaving the land.

Now if there is anything that is likely to drive a small farmer off the land, it is a 30-page government booklet. Nevertheless, I can readily understand why the department is springing into action.

At the present rate of attrition—the farm population has been declining by about 800,000 a year—it won't be long before there are more agriculture department employes than there are farmers.

Down To One

That is what is known as the point of diminishing returns.

Indeed, according to my calculations, by the year 1982 there will be only one small farmer left. Let's call him Hiram McHarrow.

Q. M. McHarrow, how does it feel to be the last of the small farmers?

A. Wa'al, my rheumatiz has been acting up a bit lately. Otherwise, I can't complain.

Q. How did you happen to remain on the farm after the other small farmers had departed?

A. I did it for laughs.

CAST BELLS

LONDON (UPI) — A $1.8 million project to cast 2,400 reproductions of the American Liberty Bell will begin next year at the British foundry where the original was cast, it was announced Wednesday. The bells will help commemmorate the American bi-centenary in 1976.

Read The News Classified Ads

Q. Would you mind explaining that?

A. Waal, if it weren't for me there wouldn't be any more jokes about the traveling salesman and the farmer's daughter.

I have thrown in this colloquy republic, Americans have spent with the mythical McHarrow to illustrate the point that this is more than merely an agricultural problem.

Political Ramifications

Its ramifications extend to virtually all levels of society, particularly the political level.

Ever since the founding of the election nights waiting for the farm vote to come in.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bache & Co. says that although glamor stocks are continuing to hold the spotlight, it sees broadening interest in other areas of the list. The company adds that enough good values are available so that investors need not concentrate on temporarily overly inflated issues.

Religion in America

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Faced with huge problems, America's theological seminaries are testing Aesop's maxim that "Union gives strength."

Seminaries are the schools that educate tomorrow's ministers, priests and rabbis. Their health is of incalculable importance to the future religious life of this country.

Today seminaries of all faiths are in trouble.

Money, as usual, is part of the problem. The cost of theological education has quadrupled since 1940, and there has been no commensurate increase in seminary income.

Seminaires are not eligible for government aid which is distributed to other institutions of higher education. And they try to keep their tuition charges very low, so there is a minimum financial barrier in the way of young men who want to prepare for the ministry.

Thus seminaries are increasingly dependent on support from parent denominations and concerned individuals—and this has not been forthcoming in anywhere near adequate amounts.

Faculty Problem

Because their faculty salaries often are below par, seminaries are vulnerable to raiding by publicly supported colleges and universities which are building up departments of religion.

Thirty years ago, only 10 per cent of the nation's public institutions of higher education offered undergraduate courses in religion. Today, 90 per cent do.

A third serious problem is enrollments. They have been in a downtrend for the past 10 years. There are doubtless many reasons, but one of the big ones, apparently, is the fact that seminaries are widely regarded as cloistered institutions, apart from the world, serving the interests of one denomination. This image is very unappealing to college students who want to be involved with the secular city and who have little patience with denominationalism.

Obviously, there are no simple and easy solutions to these problems. But many religious leaders believe that all three of them can be relieved by pooling resources in fewer but better seminaries.

The typical seminary of the past was a relatively small institution, with 100 to 200 students, sponsored by a single denomination, and often located in a small town or rural environment.

An outstanding example of this new kind of seminary is the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley, Calif. Located just a block from the University of California campus, it provides advanced courses for Protestant, Catholic and Jewish students from 12 different seminaries in the San Francisco Bay area.

In Rochester, N.Y., Baptist, Episcopalian and Roman Catholic seminaries are working out plans for a joint operation in association with the University of Rochester.

Consolidations across denominational lines do not mean that candidates for the Catholic priesthood and the Protestant ministry will henceforth receive exactly the same education. Affiliating seminaries retain their separate identities, and each continues to see to the basic theological training of its own students.

Share Facilities

But they can achieve considerable savings, and at the same time offer a richer curriculum, by sharing library and classroom facilities, and by conducting joint classes in some studies (such as Hebrew, Greek, homiletics and pastoral counseling) in which there are no real denominational differences.

Seminary mergers could give a powerful impetus to the overall ecumenical movement. Clergymen of different faiths who have studied together in seminary are likely to have a much higher degree of mutual understanding and sympathy than those who have no contact before ordination.

The rationale for locating seminaries near major universities is similar. Under the usual working agreements, seminary students are free to take graduate courses at the university, attend its lectures and seminars, and use its library facilities (just as university students are welcome to enroll in seminary classes).

Instead of feeling isolated, seminary students are where the intellectual action is. They are exposed daily to the stimulus of contact with graduate students in law, medicine, business and science. And if the university is in or near a big city, seminarians can do their fieldwork as apprentice pastors in the kind of urban environment to which most of them can expect to minister after ordination.

At Texas Tech she is a member of the choir and the music theater and is currently playing in Tech's production of "Little Abner." While at Pampa High School, she was winner of a superior rating for four years in the Interscholastic League solo and ensemble contests. This past summer, Miss Benton served as interim Youth Choir director at First Methodist Church here.

Miss Craig, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Craig of Pampa, will sing the mezzo-soprano part. She is a sophomore music education major at Texas Tech, where she is a member of the choir and madrigal singers. She serves as director of primary children's choirs at the First Christian Church in Lubbock. While at Pampa High she was winner of a superior rating for three years in the Interscholastic League solo and ensemble contests.

Tenor Pablo Padraza, the son of Methodist minister Dr. and Mrs. Roberto Padraza of Lubbock, is a junior voice major at Texas Tech. He is a member of the Tech choir and music theater. He also serves as director of music at La Trinidad Methodist Church in Lubbock and in 1966 was the winner of the sophomore division of the National Association of Teachers of Singing contest.

The contralto will be Miss Gailyn Seljos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Seljos of Denver City, Texas. She is a senior voice major and a member of the Tech choir, music theater, and the Madrigal Singers.

The presentation of the Saint-Saens' Christmas Oratorio is the first of several special programs to be presented by the First Methodist Church during the Christmas season. Other programs will be presented on Dec. 17 and Dec. 24.

FLOODS CONTINUE

KUALA LUMPUR (UPI)—Floods caused by monsoon rains killed two persons and drove at least 8,000 from their homes in northern and central Malaysia, authorities reported today.

Who determines what your life shall be? What determines the real nature and destiny of man? If it be God, then there is more to prayer than mankind dreams, and every trial in our lives is an opportunity to discover man "in His image." World of Religion

By DAVID POLING
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a day of mass entertainment, mass communication and massive manipulation by government, it is time to go against the stream. Of course, some people feel comfortable with the herd. But I believe that our need for adventure is as great as our need for security — so the willingness to challenge the tastemasters, the news manipulators, the dressmakers and hair stylists.

There are certain rules of maxims to consider.

—Be wary of crowds:

If the wolf pack is screaming for a vacation in Europe and everyone is going to Florida this winter, head for Mexico. Crowds are untidy, noisy and push up prices. Save your nerves and money in Monterey.

—If everyone continues to talk about last night's television program or last Sunday's game start buying some good books. Television so far seems to be draped between the corral posts of Bonanza and the goal posts of Green Bay. Just like last year. Let the tube people be like last year. You have nothing to lose but the commercials and a half-time headache. (Can you stand one more season of massed bands from Massillon)

—Scrutinize the cultural, commercial scene. Is everyone looking at a new house, trading for a new car or thinking of a new wife? Fool them. Fix up the old house, get a set of tires for the old wagon and slip away for a weekend with your wife. Remember, a family that plays together, pays together or something.

—Think politics. You might, for example, challenge the consensus of President Johnson if it no longer speaks for you. Let him know that he has lost your vote over a federal budget that may go $30 billion in the red. Tell him you gasp at the casualty figures from Vietnam as well as in Detroit. Write him weekly. The masses couldn't care less but you do. Tell him how it is in a nice, personal, handwritten letter. Let other people send their post cards to Ben Cartwright; you're corresponding with the President.

—Be suspicious of mass circulation magazines. They aim at an average reader, so watch out. If they have more than 10 million readers, panic. Sharpen your mind and stir your conscience with some of the powerful little magazines. Like Here and Now, a monthly published at 111 W. Monument Ave., Dayton, Ohio. It deals with current religious problems, issues and opportunities without funny words or pulpit tones. So does Renewal, 19 S. LaSalle St., Chicago, or Fellowship, Box 271, Nyack, N. Y. These are great journals with small circulation, but you get them all.

THANK GOD FOR NOTHING

Today we live in an age which surpasses any other. Just push a button or turn a dial and the objective is accomplished. But with all the modern conveniences, there is still an err of unthankfulness. People in America seem to be allowing themselves to be laud into a false security. Many individuals with decent incomes and the necessities of life cannot see their need to participate in civic or religious affairs.

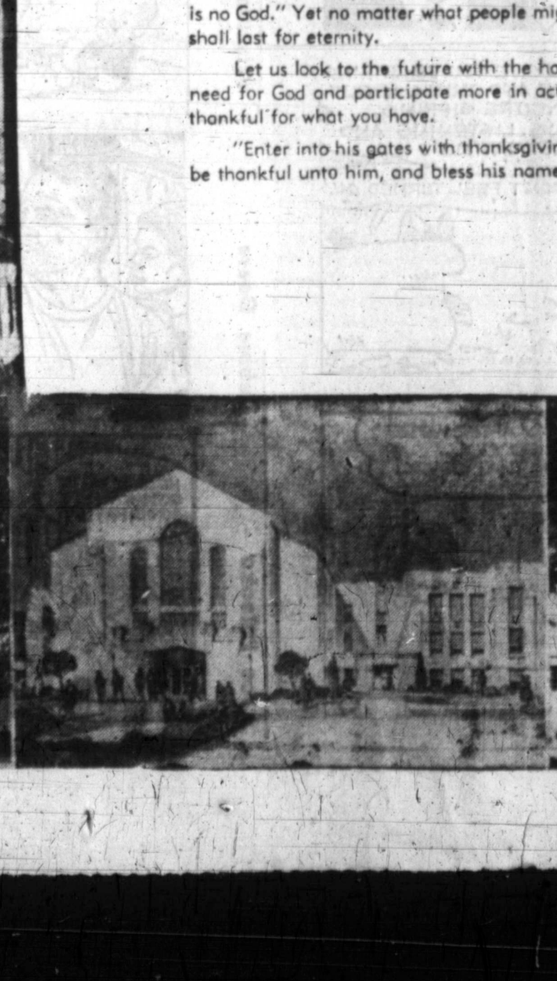

Time is an element which effects all people. With more leisure time today than ever before it seems to be harder for individuals to thank God for the many things they have. This is a generation which relies upon themselves and can see no need of God. It is true, there are more people attending church today than ever before. Yet percentage wise it is less than ever before.

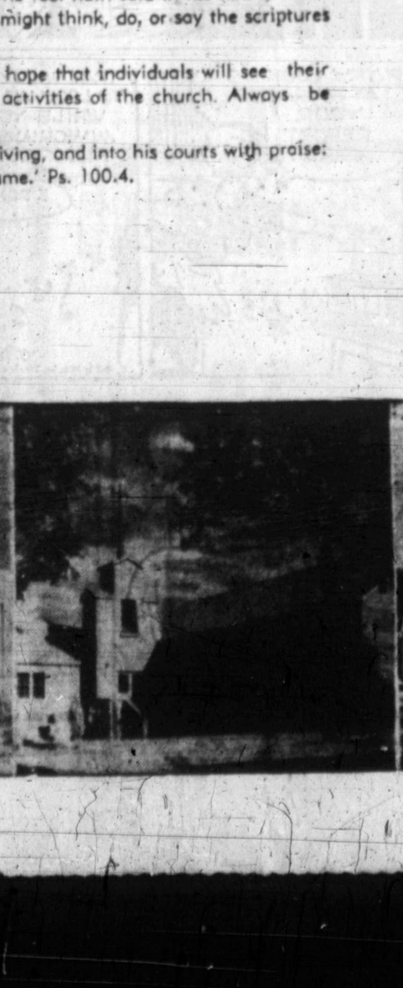

The modern thing today is to conform to the popular thinking at that moment. For in modern thinking people say, "What can God do for me," instead of "What can I do for God." There are those who disbelieve in God.

"The Bible says in Psalms 53:1 "The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God." Yet no matter what people might think, do, or say the scriptures shall last for eternity.

Let us look to the future with the hope that individuals will see their need for God and participate more in activities of the church. Always be thankful for what you have.

"Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name." Ps. 100.4.

Bailey Points (37) PHS to Canyon

By RON CROSS

Pampa forward George Bailey put on another fine show for the home folk and visitors Thursday night as he and the Harvesters and Elk City, Okla., Canyon and Borger advanced to the semifinals of the 10th annual Top O' Texas Invitational basketball tournament.

Bailey tallied, on the official scorebook, 37 points, breaking the old record of 30, set by Houston football All-American Ken Hebert against Wichita Falls in 1965.

In scoring his 37 Bailey throttled Pampa past Burkburnett 78-49 and into the semis against Canyon, a 63-51 winner over Woodward, Okla.

Elk City, playing their first game of the year appeared ready to defend their Class A state championship by shooting down Childress, 63-46 and Borger came from behind to whip Dumas, 62-54.

Childress and Dumas played a losers bracket game at 3 p.m. today while Woodward and Burkburnett played one at 4:30 p.m.

Elk City and Dumas get tonight's action underway at 7 p.m. while Pampa and Canyon play at 8:30 p.m.

Pampa Coach Terry Culley probably could have seen his Harvesters break the ToT tournament scoring record of 88 but he began substituting freely in the second quarter and continued to do so the rest of the game.

Burkburnett had foul trouble, keeping from doing it, and all five of the Bulldogs starters fouled off. The 'Dogs finished the game with only four players on the court.

Burkburnett was whistled down 30 times for fouls and the Harvesters were charged with 19.

Pampa made the most of it at the charity stripe hitting 38 of 47 while the Bulldogs hit 15 of 24. Pampa connected on 20 of 51 field goal tries and Burkburnett hit but 17 of 53 as Pampa's man-to-man defense kept the Bulldogs bottled up.

Bailey, who set a Pampa scoring mark last week with 42 points, calmly hit 10 of 18 field goal tries and was even better at the charity stripe with 17 of 18 popping the net.

The 6'1 senior had 25 points at halftime, 13 of them on free throws. His only miss came in the third quarter.

Bailey really got the Harvesters winging in the second quarter, after a slim 19-15 first period lead, as he connected four times on three point plays, to give Pampa a 36-19 lead midway through the period.

Pampa's lead had increased to 52-27 at halftime and 66-42 after three quarters.

Senior Bo Lang was the only other Harvester to hit in double figures. Lang, coming off a bout with the flu, hit three of seven field goal attempts, and six of nine from the charity stripe for 12 points.

Another senior, 6'7 Beau Bond had another good night on defense as he kept the Bulldogs' 6'5 postman, Jerry Brown to only two points and blocked shot after shot.

Senior Ken Curl paced the Burkburnett scoring with 12 and John Edwards hit 11 for the losers who are now 1-2 for the season.

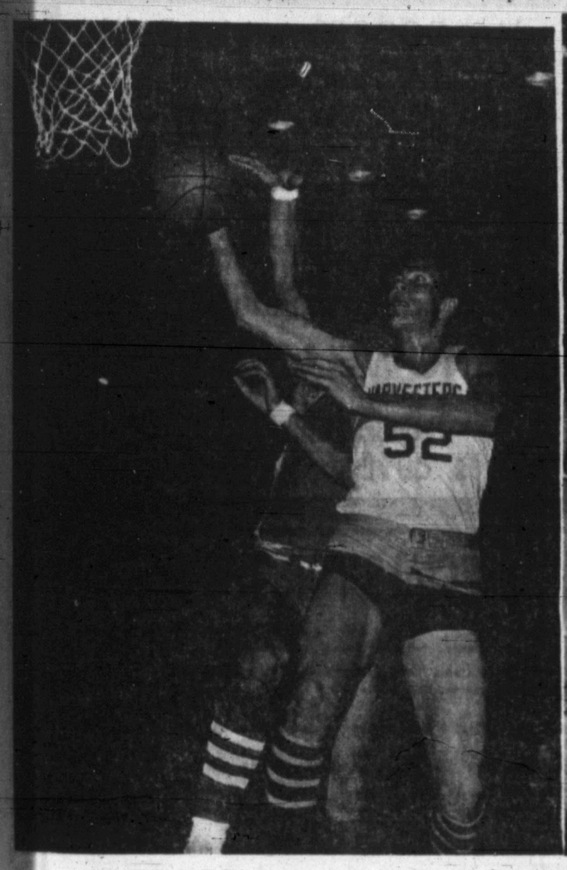

The victory gives Pampa a 4-1 record and a three game winning streak to work on.

BALLHAWK TOO — George Bailey (32) fights for the ball Thursday night during Pampa's 78-49 victory over Burkburnett in the first round of the Top O' Texas cage tournament. Bailey scored 37 points to set a new tournament record. No. 22 for Pampa is Jim Cornutt and 11 for Burkburnett is John Elwards and 41 is Jerry Brown.

TCU Shoots for Second Place

Texas Christian shoots for a second place tie and Baylor tries to climb out of the cellar Saturday in the final Southwest Conference football games of the season.

The championship has long since been settled with the Texas Aggies marking time as titleholders pending their New Year's day date with Alabama in the Cotton Bowl. Texas Tech has clinched at least a share of the runnerup spot at 4-2 behind the Aggies' 6-1.

TCU has now won four in a row after five losses and can match Tech's 5-2 mark by living up to its two-point favorite's tag over Southern Methodist in Dallas.

Baylor, 0-5-1 in league play, can edge its way out of the cellar and push Rice (16) into it finale at Houston. The home-if the Bears can salvage the town Owls, however, are one-touchdown favorites.

Crowds of around 30,000 were anticipated at both locations.

TCU will be attempting to renew its jinx that SMU snapped last year with a 21-0 victory en route to the championship. It was the first SMU victory over TCU since 1958 and only the third since 1946.

SMU, the only team to defeat the champion Aggies, snapped a seven-game losing streak last week in beating Baylor 16-10, while TCU rang up a 14-10 margin over Rice.

The game will probably be a duel between TCU's revitalized running attack built around fullback Ross Montgomery against the whirlwind passing game generated by SMU's Mike Livingston and Jerry Levias.

College Cagers to Open

By United Press International

The chase—probably a futile one—to catch Lew and his crew begins tonight.

The 1967-6 8collegiate basketball season opens with just three—Louisville, Princeton and Tennessee—of the top ten rated teams in action.

It won't be until Saturday that the majority of teams will kick off their seasons and Lew you-know-who displays that his supporting cast is better than ever this season.

Alcindor and the UCLA basketball team—strengthened by the addition of Edgar Lacey and Mike Lynn—is top- ranked and favored to win a second straight NCAA title and the fourth in the last five years for the school. The Bruins also could stretch their winning streak—now at 34 straight—to 64 straight games to break the all-time mark of 60 straight set by the Bill Russell-K.C. Jones-Mike Farmer gang at San Francisco a decade ago.

Scramble For Second

While UCLA, which opens at Purdue where Boiler maker sophomore Rick Mount will make his long-awaited debut, is the overwhelming choice for No. 1, there'll be a lively scramble for the No. 2 spot—and this season will also be enlivened by the arrival of heralded sophomores like Mount and Niagara's baton - twirling, jump - shooting Calvin Murphy.

Louisville, ranked third and expected to be one of UCLA's top contenders, opens its season tonight at home against Georgetown, Ky. College. Louisville has a new coach—John Dromo who replaced veteran Peck Hickman—but most of the same cast with Wes Unseld, Butch Beard and Fred Holden returning.

The other clubs in the top 10 in action are eighth-ranked Princeton, which entertains Army, and Tennessee, which hosts Richmond.

Tennessee is tied for ninth with Vanderbilt. Princeton makes its debut under Coach Peter Carril, who took over when Bill Vanbredakolff went to the Lakers.

Other Contests Slated

Although the majority of the teams will wait for Saturday, there are several other contests set tonight.

Loyola of Chicago, ranked in a tie for the 15th spot, hosts Augustana S.D. while Duke, in a tie for 19th with Niagara, meets Virginia Tech at Greensboro, N.C.

In other games, Rutgers, an MIT semi-finalist last year, hosts Pittsburgh, Stanford is at Portland, NIT champion Southern Illinois makes its debut as a major by hosting Sam Houston State.

Miami of Florida is in Seattle to meet Washington tonight with a second game set for Saturday night between the two schools. Michigan State has an easy opener at home against Fullerton State while Ohio State has probably an easy home inaugural against the Davis branch of the University of California.

Oklahoma State bids for the 732nd victory for Coach Hank Iba when it hosts a school named Samford, New Mexico is at Oregon, Jacksonville at Florida, Temple at Creighton, Mississippi at Texas, Centenary at Oklahoma, Southern California at Idaho and Texas Tech at Colorado in other games.

CAPTAINS NAMED

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—A sophmore, linebacker Bob Olson, has been named along with offensive tackle George Kunz to serve as co-captains of the Notre Dame football team next year.

Buffs, Californians to Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — San Fernando Valley State and West Texas State, a pair of small college football powers with high-powered offenses, collide Saturday in the "new look" Junior Rose Bowl.

The unior Rose Bowl has matched junior colleges since its inception of 1946 but was forced to change its format this year after California's junior colleges were banned from taking part in bowl games.

Saturday's contest figures to be a high-scoring one with Valley State quarterback Bruce Lemmerman and West Texas state halfback Eugene (Mercury) Morris providing the fireworks.

Lemmerman, a senior, led the Matadors of Northridge, Calif., to a 6-3 record this season. He passed for 1,760 yards and 27 touchdowns.

Morris accounted for 1,274 yards and 11 TDs rushing as the Buffaloes from Canyon, Tex., posted a 7-3 mark.

Valley State coach Sam Winningham forecasts an explosive game.

"After looking at the movies of West Texas State, I'm really frightened," he said. "They really have outstanding speed. It scares me."

Winnington declared, "That Morris looks like he really can run and will be tough to defense."

But, he continued, "We've met some schools with fine defenses this year and we've been able to get some points."

The Matador coach praised his own quarterback as "both a fine runner and passer."

Lemmerman and Morris are far from the whole show though. Valley State's other top personnel are fullback Mike Vogel, split end Dick Billingsley and flanker Gerry Sellers while West Texas State also relies heavily on quarterback Roy Winters, fullback Alfie Owens and end Dave Szymakowski.
