Daniel Forces In Effort To Revive Regime's Plan

AUSTIN (AP) — Administration forces, rallying around Austin Sen. Charles Herring, hoped today to serve natural gas and business with a larger wedge of the tax pie than recommended by a Senate committee.

A tight vote is likely when Herring makes his move to put the tax bill more in line with the measure passed by the House.

The substitute for the House bill recommended by the Senate State Affairs Committee yesterday is loaded with selective sales taxes. Only 29 per cent of the 151 million dollar bill for 1960-61 would be picked up by gas and corporation interests.

The measure advocated by Gov. Price Daniel splits the record size revenue-raiser equally.

Since the committee revision makes no mention of a general sales tax or income tax, some capitol observers believe there will be a strong move in the House to accept the Senate product without a joint conference.

The 66 million dollar deficit is as unsolved today as when the Legislature convened in January. The House apparently killed one of the three deficit erasing measures yesterday while all three are buried in a Senate subcommittee.

The House voted 63-60 against passage of a bill giving the state use of dormant bank accounts. The Senate State Affairs Committee rejected a similar bill by shipping it to an uninstructed subcommittee.

The proposal is designed to eliminate about 25 million dollars of the deficit.

The governor expressed hope the legislature will add a tax on interstate gas pipeline companies. He complimented the State Affairs body for avoiding a general sales tax but said he is disappointed that "a more equal balance was not recommended" between selective sales tax and business taxes.

Herring said yesterday he will try to get the Senate to take the House provision leveling a "severance beneficiary" tax on gas leaving the state. He said he will try to cut the committee-recommended cigarette tax boost of three cents a package to two cents.

Herring also wants to substitute the House provision on franchise and gross receipts taxes for the committee version.

Three Texans Die In Crash

STROUD, Okla. (AP)—Three members of a Texas family were killed and a fourth was injured early today when their car crashed into a bridge on the Turner Turnpike near here.

Killed were Harold Applen, 54, his father, Walter Applen, 82, and Harold Applen's daughter, Shirley, 14, all of Tuscola, Tex. Injured was Gilbert Davis, 23, of Tuscola, Tex., Harold Applen's son-in-law.

The Highway Patrol said the Applen had been visiting relatives. Troopers said the family apparently had been traveling all night and the driver dozed while driving. Toll road attendants said the group stopped at one of the turnpike gates and asked if it would be all right to stop on the toll road shoulder and sleep.

Somoza Calls On Rebels To Surrender

By JACK RUTLEDGE

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Nicaragua's commander in chief today called on rebels against his family's government to surrender and claimed they had been knocked out in the rebellion's first major battle.

Gen. Anastasio Somoza, brother of President Luis Somoza, said the insurgents apparently ran out of ammunition in a bloody battle Monday which, he claimed, marked a decisive turn in neighboring Honduras reported, however that civil resistance to the Somoza regime was increasing.

Agustin Torres Lazo, first secretary of the Nicaraguan Embassy in Washington, resigned Monday and aligned himself with the anti-Somoza faction led from Costa Rica by Dr. Enrique Lacayo Farfan.

Gen. Somoza gave no figures on casualties—either for the rebels or the National Guard—in the two-hour battle on a rain-drenched hill known as Cerro de la Guna about 120 miles northeast of Managua.

But he said, "I consider militarily these people (the rebels) are liquidated." He reported the rebel force, which came by plane from neighboring Costa Rica, now numbered about 75 men. Many were believed to be sons of prominent Nicaraguan families.

Scattered Showers Due

By The Associated Press

A thunderstorm rattled over Childress in Northwest Texas and fog banked thickly over East Texas Tuesday. Otherwise, skies were clear to partly cloudy with scattered showers in prospect.

The Childress thunderstorm, designated as an isolated disturbance, failed to produce any rain in the early hours.

Fog was reported by Longview and Lufkin.

The forecast for showers through Wednesday over all sections of the state pretty well matched Monday's weather scene when hit-and-run thundershower dotted wide areas of East, Central, North and West Texas.

Tyler's .46 inch was the heaviest rainfall reported. Beaumont had the only other measureable amount, .08 inch.

Missile-Firing Nuclear Sub Is Launched

GROTON, Conn. (AP)—The nation's first missile-firing, nuclear powered submarine slips down the ways today with the admiralty billing of a "vital deterrent" against enemy aggression.

A crowd of 10,000 was expected to watch the launching of the 380-foot, 5,400-ton George Washington, first in a new class designed to fire the Polaris missile from either underwater or surface.

President Eisenhower, in a message for reading at the ceremonies, hailed the new vessel as one which "will add greatly to our ability to preserve the peace."

"It is my prayerful hope that this ship will be always ready but never used," Eisenhower's message said.

After the launching at the Electric Boat Division of the General Dynamics Corp., several months of fitting out will be required for the George Washington before builder's trials.

Participating in the launching ceremonies were Asst. Defense Secretary Wilfred J. McNeil, Secretary of the Navy William B. Franke, and the chief of the Navy's Special Projects Office for the Fleet Ballistic Missile System, Rear Adm. William F. Raborn Jr.

Mrs. Robert B. Anderson, wife of the secretary of the treasury, is sponsor of the shark-shaped submarine.

The Electric Boat Division said the George Washington is capable of remaining submerged indefinitely while carrying large numbers of intermediate range ballistic missiles.

General Dynamics' board chairman Frank Pace Jr., a former secretary of the army, said in his prepared remarks that the George Washington, together with sister ships under construction, "will have a combined striking power capable of destroying the military and industrial power of our enemy in less time than we will spend here today."

Integration Election Due

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston School Board voted 4-1 early today to call an election soon to let voters decide whether they want public schools here desegregated.

The action was taken at the request of board attorney Joe Reynolds because of the recent petition for another hearing by Houston petitioners in a desegregation suit.

Reynolds said in a letter to the board that action should be taken because of Texas laws which require that before any district desegregates it must hold an election affirming desegregation by the people of the district or lose state aid.

Business Manager H. L. Mills said failure to act on the article would "seriously cripple" the district, which would stand to lose about 5 million dollars in state aid.

West Claims Soviets Seek Built-In Veto

GENEVA (AP) — The Western powers maintained today that the Soviet Union still demands a built-in veto over the policing of any nuclear test ban.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth and British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore raised this point at an hour and 45-minute session of the Big Three nuclear conference.

WEATHER

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Monday, 89 degrees; low, 61 degrees; reading at 7:30 a.m. today, 66 degrees.

Forecast For All Texas: Partly cloudy through Wednesday with isolated afternoon and evening thunderstorms. No important temperature changes.

West Texas: Southerly winds 10 to 20 m.p.h. and partly cloudy with scattered showers through Wednesday.

Blame Krush For Problem

GENEVA (AP) — Western foreign ministers were reported deeply concerned today over the possibility that their conference with the Soviet Union may collapse in failure soon without agreement either on Berlin problems or a summit conference.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville rate the danger of a breakdown greater than does Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain, highly placed authorities said.

All three still hope that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will get instructions from Moscow in a few days enabling him to make last-minute concessions.

But Herter particularly is now much less hopeful in this respect in view of statements made by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in an interview published in Hungary last weekend.

The Western ministers are about ready to toughen their conference tactics in dealing with Gromyko. They returned to another secret session at Herter's villa. They discussed the desirability of cutting the session short if the arguments developed the same positions that have been debated repetitiously for more than a week.

The prospect of a breakdown—which apparently all sides still hope to avoid—is blamed by Western ministers on the Budapest interview. In this Khrushchev said that if the Geneva conference now fails to reach agreement, agreement would be made at a summit conference, and if the Western governments refused a summit because of a foreign minister's failure, "then world opinion will see who is responsible for the collapse of the summit conference."

This was interpreted as a maneuver by Khrushchev to begin to pin the blame on the West for whatever failures grow out of the deadlock over Berlin.

Khrushchev gave answers on the Berlin dispute itself which went beyond anything Gromyko had been able to say here. Again these answers, in the Western view, pointed toward a potential breakdown.

Khrushchev ridiculed the demand of the Western powers that the Soviet Union pledge itself to recognition of their rights in Berlin and to a policy of noninterference with access between West Germany and West Berlin.

"The Soviet Union," Khrushchev said, "will not under any kind of pressure make an agreement which would perpetuate the occupation regime in West Berlin."

Gromyko has made the interview a part of the official conference record.

In a secret session Monday, Gromyko gave the impression he was interested in working out a new accord on Berlin but lacked final instructions. He made no concessions, but neither did he slam the door on further talks.

President Eisenhower said last week he would not go to a summit meeting under threat of a Soviet squeeze on West Berlin. The conflicting positions taken by the President and the Soviet Premier have left the range of maneuver for the foreign ministers very narrow.

American officials are convinced there would be serious trouble if the Soviets turned over control of the West Berlin access routes to the East Germans and then tried to stop Western traffic.

Khrushchev now is conferring in Moscow with top East German officials. Western diplomats believe it may be several days before Gromyko gets his orders from the Kremlin.

Western diplomats had expected him to receive orders from the Kremlin before this. Now they believe it may be several days, since Khrushchev is conferring in Moscow with top East German officials.

Western diplomats assume that the Moscow conference deals with the Geneva talks. Red sources here also have hinted that Khrushchev, Walter Ulbricht, East German party chief, and Premier Otto Grotewohl may be polishing up a Soviet-East German peace treaty for signing at some future date.

Soviet spokesman Mikhail Kharlamov told newsmen the conference, now in its fifth week, is nearing conclusion.

Western leaders are still convinced Khrushchev wants a summit conference and will be willing to modify his Berlin demands to get it. Khrushchev has said flatly he will concede nothing.

In an effort to prod Gromyko into taking a final stand, U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and France's Maurice Couve de Murville presented him with what officials called the rock bottom Western terms for a stop-gap agreement on Berlin.

They called for the Soviet Union to affirm the right of the Western powers to supply their troops in Berlin and to protect the economic life of West Berlin against Communist pressures.

Herter said the Soviet government must abandon its threat to West Berlin or the West won't join in a summit conference.

Gromyko countered that the Soviet government is prepared to guarantee Western supply routes to Berlin provided the West agrees to give up its occupation status in West Berlin.

French Decision On Bombs Causes Stir

LONDON (AP) — France's reported decision to bar U.S. stockpiles of atomic bombs from French soil created a storm today in the Atlantic Congress, approaching the climax of its six-day London meeting.

Reaction inside delegations to the congress was split.

The Atlantic Congress is an unofficial assembly of some 650 leading citizens from the North Atlantic Alliance countries.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), a member of the 130-member U.S. delegation, said the French decision called for delicate negotiations with the British and the French.

TORCH-SLAYING TRIAL OPENS—Mrs. Edythe Klumpp, 41-year-old part time economics teacher and operator of a day boarding school for children, sits with her attorney William F. Hopkins at the opening of her trial in Cincinnati. Mrs. Klumpp is charged with first degree murder in the torch slaying of Mrs. Louise Bergen, 32. The state claims Mrs. Bergen was killed because she refused to divorce her husband, William, so he and Mrs. Klumpp could marry. Mrs. Bergen's badly burned body was found on the shore of a nearby lake last Nov. 1. (AP Wirephoto)

Ike Seeks To Quell Dispute Over Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower summoned the top men in the Pentagon to a meeting today in an effort to iron out interservice disputes over missiles.

The White House said that other than the bare announcement of the meeting, it would have nothing to say before or after the session on the nature of the discussions.

All presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty would offer in explanation was that the conference "will deal with the air defense question of the United States."

In reply to a question, Hagerty said he couldn't say for sure whether Eisenhower would be receiving a report on the missile problem which Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy has been preparing.

McElroy and Acting Secretary of State C. Douglas Dillon topped the list of men called to the White House meeting.

In addition, all the chiefs of the armed services were summoned, as well as presidential advisers on science and defense.

Asked whether there was any world emergency or crisis which required the meeting, Hagerty replied emphatically: "No sir, there is not."

Eisenhower was questioned at a news conference last Wednesday about an interservice dispute over the Army's Nike-Hercules missile and the Air Force Bomarc. He was asked whether the point had been reached where he had to step in and make a decision as commander in chief.

Eisenhower replied that he didn't think the matter had reached him for specific decision at that point. He said McElroy was making a study of the missile field.

RED CROSS PREPARING TO AID STORM VICTIMS

Last week's violent weather, which caused severe damage in parts of Snyder and left at least five families homeless, has brought representatives of another benevolent agency here.

The Scurry County chapter of the American National Red Cross today opened its disaster assistance office here. The office is at the Friendly Flower Shop, 507 East Highway.

A Red Cross official said today that any person or family having a need as a direct result of the storm last Wednesday which they cannot meet from their own resources should apply for assistance at the Red Cross office.

"Any assistance given by the Red Cross is a gift of the American people, and no repayment is expected," a field representative of the agency said.

The Red Cross man added that donations to the Red Cross for disaster victims may be made at the disaster office.

The five families suffering the most damage from the storm have temporary places to live. Their homes were completely destroyed, two of them trailers and three of them houses.

Many other residents, especially in the Bootheland and Bootheland West areas of north Snyder, suffered serious losses and damages to property in the storm, believed by many to have been a tornado.

Numerous insurance adjusters are still in Snyder checking out claims of damage caused by wind and hail in the storm.

The Jaycees last week raised $165 as a special fund for aid to storm victims who suffered extreme personal losses in the storm, above aid given by the Red Cross and Salvation Army.

No disposition of the special fund has yet been made, according to Ernest Sears, Jaycee president.

Soviet, Polish Girl Flee Iron Curtain

BORGHOLM, Sweden (AP) — A Soviet officer and his Polish girl friend arrived here together Monday night and asked for political asylum, police reported today.

A Soviet sailor took them across the Baltic Sea from Poland to Sweden. Police said it is not clear whether the sailor ferried the refugees over voluntarily or at pistol point, but he seemed to want to go back to Poland.

'Fluctuating' Gas Tax Asked

AUSTIN (AP) — The House Revenue and Taxation Committee heard today a proposal aimed at increasing the state's income 47 million dollars annually.

The bill would place a fluctuating tax on natural gas held in dedicated reserves. Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston said his measure primarily will hit pipeline companies.

"This will hit the cheap gas," Eckhardt said. "It will tend to increase the price of gas, especially in the Panhandle, to help thousands and thousands of producers and royalty owners."

He said large industries using great quantity of high-priced gas will be exempt.

Under the bill, gas selling for 4 cents will pay 2.5 cents tax. Gas selling for 12 cents with pay 8-10ths of a cent tax.

The measure went to a subcommittee.

Also sent to subcommittees for further study were measures:

To create the 27-member Texas Tax Recommendation Board to offer solutions to the state's financial problems and study allocation of special funds.

To clarify and broaden the 2 2 per cent tax on radios and television sets. High fidelity equipment, all parts and equipment also will be taxed to raise about 2½ million annually.

No one appeared against Eckhardt's measure.

"In all sincerity, ask the committee to approve this bill or a similar one at a lower rate," he said. "This will give us an opportunity to test in the courts the prospect of taxes on dedicated gas reserves.

"I think it is a crime and shame gas is leaving Texas at 4 cents a 1,000 cubic feet and below. This will put a reasonable price on gas."

Eckhardt said 68 per cent of the tax will be collected from gas sold under the average 10 cents price.

"Industrial gas used to maintain great chemical plants, great refineries and—aluminum plants sell at relatively high prices," he said. "There are the companies which create jobs and payrolls and use gas to help Texas. I want to go as light as possible on these industries. This bill will do it."

Diving Jet's Pilot Draws $1,000 Fine

NEW YORK (AP)—The pilot of the jet airplane that took a 30,000 foot dive toward the Atlantic last February has been fined $1,000 by the Federal Aviation Agency for being out of the cockpit at the time.

Pan American World Airways, the owner of the plane, was also fined $1,000 for failing to keep a flight-recording device in operation on the new 707 Boeing jet.

The copilot, who was at the controls when the plane suddenly dived from 35,000 feet, was notified of the government plans to suspend his captain's rating for six months. The reason for the suspension apparently was his failure to stop the dive immediately.

The jet, with 114 passengers, was flying from London to Gander, Nfld., Feb. 3, when it suddenly nosed down. The pilot, Capt. W. Waldo Lynch, was in the passenger compartment. Because of the tremendous speed and angle of dive he had to fight his way back to the cockpit.

He and the copilot, Capt. S. T. Peters, leveled the plane with difficulty a mile in distance but only a few seconds in time from almost certain death in the ocean.

Five Persons Questioned In Slaying Of Coal Mine Owner

LAKE CITY, Tenn. (AP) — A sniper's bullet killed a coal mine owner Monday as he worked his machines on a federal flood control project here in defiance of threats of sabotage or death.

Five persons were questioned at length in the slaying of Jess Fesler, 53, of Sunbright, Tenn., shot in the back as he stood beside his bulldozer on the project near the Lake City High School.

Anderson County Sheriff Glad Woodward questioned two of the men in Clinton, south of here, and Campbell County Sheriff Rose Kitts held three men for questioning in Jacksboro, north of here.

Lake City is located on the Anderson-Campbell county line about 30 miles northwest of Knoxville. It is in the coalfield area extending through southeast Kentucky and northern Tennessee.

The area has seen numerous cases of violence since the United Mine Workers began a drive to bring all mines under union contract. Three persons have been killed in Kentucky.

Sheriff Woodward said, however, "We are positive this shooting is in no way concerned with union troubles."

The UMW's welfare fund sued Fesler in 1957 for $34,113 it claimed he owed for back contributions to the fund. He filed a crossbill contending he had signed the union contract under duress.

However, Woodward said he is probing mainly in other directions for possible motives. Among other things, the sheriff said, Fesler:

1. Was the complaining witness in an armed robbery case against Franklin D. Smith, which was to have been heard by the Campbell County grand jury next week.

2. Had been seen frequently with women other than his wife.

Dr. Sam Jones of Wartburg, a personal friend of Fesler, also discounted any connection between the slaying and coalfield strike violence.

He said Fesler had told him the death had come from a man who had sought a job on the flood control project.

Jones quoted Fesler as telling the caller that his former employees would get first preference. The job applicant then said if Fesler brought his equipment here from Sunbright it would be destroyed and Fesler might be killed.

Fesler held his subcontract on the flood control project from John Deal of Habersham, Tenn., himself a subcontractor for Gilchrist & Son of Jellico, Tenn.

Both Deal and Gilchrist are non-union mine operators who have been involved in previous incidents of violence.

TODAY'S MARKETS

STOCK AVERAGES

Month Ago	477.1	99.5	227.4
Year Ago	434.6	80.7	179.0

NEW YORK (AP)—A flutter of recovery from Monday's severe stock market shakeout faded into irregularity early this afternoon. Trading was comparatively slow.

Gains and losses of fractions to a point prevailed among most key stocks. The market at the opening continued Monday's decline, the sharpest in six months, then steadied and made a modest recovery.

Reynolds Metals was up more than 2 on news it is boosting its primary aluminum output to 100 per cent of rated capacity.

Zenith wiped out an early 4 point rebound from Monday's 8½ point loss. Texas Instrument held a gain of 2 points plus. Radio Corp. eased.

Ford dropped about a point, while Chrysler eased.

American Tobacco down more than 2 at the opening reduced this loss to a fraction. Liggett & Myers was more than a point ahead.

Small gains were made by Santa Fe, New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad and Chesapeake & Ohio. U.S. Gypsum was down more than 2.

U.S. government bonds rose small fractions.

Normal Life For Spacemen

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Should space pilots be kept in sterile isolation during training or should they be allowed to live normal lives?

In short, as a flight surgeon with a sense of humor put it at a session of the American Rocket Society: "Should our space pilot sleep with his ultra-violet lamp or with his wife?"

Dr. Toby Freedman of North American Aviation Inc. said the answer is simple.

"If space flight were a one-shot affair," he said Monday, "no precaution would be spared to keep the crew germ free. But once we realize that space flight is not a one-shot affair and that the fliers will be trained, not for a single stab into the darkness but for continuing space exploration, then it is obvious that isolation is neither possible or desirable."

Dr. Freedman proposed normal life for space candidates as a guiding principle for flight surgeons who will be faced with making decisions that will affect the survival of tomorrow's rocketmen.

Suit Verdict To Plantiff

Findings of a jury and judgment of the court were in favor of the plaintiffs here yesterday in the civil suit of West Texas State Bank vs. J. B. Davidson and others.

The suit involved a promissary note of $17,000 at the bank. Defendents with Davidson were W. M. Davidson, James Davidson and Lester Moore, cosigners on the note. All were held liable for the note.

The bank was represented in the case by Gene Dulaney. Pat Beene represented James Davidson and W. W. Park represented Moore. J. B. Davidson and W. M. Davidson were not represented in the case.

Jurors were W. G. Teaff, H. A. Randall, Mrs. Frank Wilson, George Lee, Joe Bohannan, Mrs. Ross Carroll, Mrs. W. W. Greif, Mrs. Carl Keller, Mrs. Leroy Brown, Buford Browning, Mrs. Bernard Longbotham, Jr., and Merce Hernandez.

Another civil case began in court this morning, that of A. F. Graham vs. Texas Employers Insurance Association for compensation. Graham is represented by the firm of Huff & Splawn of Lubbock. Texas Employers by Marvin Sprain of Abilene.

Cattle Ban Lifted

NUEVO LAREDO (AP) — A partial closing of the Texas-Mexican border due to an outbreak of "stomatitis" among cattle was lifted yesterday. Veterinary officials said the outbreak was isolated.

Air-To-Ground Missile Tested

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The Air Force gave another test version of its highly secret Bold Orion air-to-ground missile Monday.

A B47 jet bomber swept over the Cape and blasted the rocket at a target several hundred miles in the Atlantic.

The Air Force prefers to keep test flights of this ballistic missile secret. No report was issued.

An informed source, however, reported the test was another in a series designed to provide the Air Force with a missle capable of being launched effectively from a bomber. Such a missile could extend the life of the B47 and B52 strategic bombers. The planes could fire the missile from beyond the range of enemy radar.

Killed In Collision

LORENZO (AP)—An auto-truck collision yesterday killed Claudio C. Lopez, 21, who lived near this South Plains community. James Stewart, 25, of Lubbock, the truck driver, was injured.

Riverfront Blaze Out

EAST St. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—A riverfront disaster on the southern fringe of this city was averted Monday night as firemen repelled flames before they reached two liquefied gas tanks and four gasoline trucks.

Firemen from East St. Louis and four nearby communities brought the flames under control 2½ hours after the fire started in a wrecking company yard.

The flames reached the MacArthur Bridge, 80 feet above the yard, filled with old timber and plumbing fixtures. Underpinning of the bridge was damaged and the bridge was closed.

"If those tanks and gasoline trucks had blown it would have torn up a chunk of ground a mile wide," said East St. Louis Asst. Fire Chief William Eckles.

Snyderite's Mother Dies In Florida

The mother of Mrs. Cecil Jordan, 3307 Fortieth Street, died at her home in Panama City, Fla., yesterday.

She was Mrs. Carl D. Evans, 810 College Avenue, Panama City.

Funeral services are pending, but will be held in Panama City.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordan and their family are en route to Panama City to attend the funeral.

Mrs. Evans' survivors include her husband, Carl D. Evans, Panama City; four daughters, Mrs. Jordan of Snyder, Mrs. Troy Williamson, of Abilene, Miss Oveta Evans and Mrs. Betty Boykin of Panama City; one son, John Evans of Panama City, and six grandchildren.

Our Hair Styles Go To Russia

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

RUSSIAN GIRLS will see American hairdos this summer at the American Exhibition in Moscow. And they have some surprises in store, says Miss Renee, one of two experts being sent to the fair by Coiffeurs Americana.

"Hair styling as we know it here in America is unknown in Russia," says Renee, a permanent wave authority.

"Hair styling in Russia means you wear it either up or down. There is no such thing as the highly individualized styling we have developed in this country. We intend to show them all the latest techniques, artistry and skill that make the American woman so perfectly coiffed. We will demonstrate how we create a hairdo to accentuate an individual personality."

Miss Renee and Carl Pace, hair stylist, will preside in a beauty kiosk on the exhibition grounds—open on all sides so that the public can see what's going on. They will give permanents, shampoos, cuts settings and stylings to fashion models.

An exhibit of wigs will be shown, ranging from those of real hair, priced at $250, to the popularly-priced synthetic wigs. Colors will be both natural and in pastels to harmonize with a costume.

"We are taking over the latest in cold waves by personal formula, a method by which every woman gets a highly personalized custom wave suited to her own type and hair condition.

The featured hairdo at the American exhibit will be a short and versatile style achieved by delicate razor-shaping. Says Renee:

"This cut makes possible a convertible hair style, so that a girl can have a number of different styles — casual or formal, smooth or curly — all from the same basic cut."

Various Ways To Refinish A Floor

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — If the linoleum around your house is looking a bit ragged, you might consider painting it rather than replacing it, a University of Kentucky home furnishing specialist says.

Miss Beth Burr says you can get some professional effects with some rather unprofessional techniques. Among them are:

SPLATTERING: Tap a paint brush against a stick held a short distance above the floor. The result is a pattern of dots and small splashes in various sizes. You can even use several colors with this method.

STRIPPING: After cutting down the bristles of an old paint brush to make them stiff, tap on the floor in an up-and-down motion for an original effect. Several colors also may be used with this method.

SCRUMBLING: Rolling a cylindrical piece of chamois or paper across a newly painted floor removes part of the paint in an uneven, and interesting, design.

SPONGING: Dab paint onto the linoleum with a wad of paper or a sponge in an uneven design. Blots of paint also may be dabbed in an oval shape to simulate a throw rug.

STENCIL: Apply paint to an area left open by a design cut in a large piece of paper or cardboard.

Whatever method is used, Miss Burr notes, at least two coats of colorless varnish should be used after the application and should be followed by plenty of wax. A couple of coats of enamel should precede the artistry.

Miss Burr also suggests you might try the effect of your artistry on a large piece of paper to see what the effect will be before working on your floors.

Fresh Tongue

First, soak the fresh tongue in a water and vinegar mixture using 1 tablespoon of vinegar to a quart of water. After 2 hours of soaking, rinse the tongue and cook it in fresh water over the simmer burner on the range for 3 hours. When the boiling point is reached, add a large onion, 3 cloves, a bay leaf, 1½ teaspoons salt, 6 peppercorns and a pinch of thyme. When the tongue is tender, remove it from the water and skin it. Serve with horseradish sauce, fresh spinach, poppy seed noodles and a rose wine. Use the left-overs for chef's salad sandwiches.

City Dumps

According to a report on the National Conference on Air Pollution, city dumps will probably be outlawed in most states in the not too distant future. Many communities are solving the refuse problem by using modern smokeless, odorless gas incinerators. This means very little ash remains, and the new incinerators are designed to consume the smoke and odor, too.

If you want your popovers to have a glazed surface, bake them in heat resistant glass custard cups. Iron popover pans with individual wells do not give this surface.

Strain Rites At Fairview

CUTHBERT (Spl.) — Mrs. J.M. Strain died early Saturday morning in Root Memorial Hospital, Colorado City.

She had been a resident of the Fairview Community since 1907, and was 83 years old at the time of her death. She had been ill for some time.

Funeral services were held at Fairview Baptist Church Sunday with burial in Teeville Cemetery. Her husband, J. M. Strain, preceeded her in death in 1928.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Mildred Thorp of El Cajon, Calif., Mrs. Velma Hines, Abilene, Mrs. Jewel Cawthorn, Cuthbert; two sons, James Strain and Billy Strain, both of Cuthbert; three step-sons, E. T. Strain, Colorado City, Lee Strain of Cuthbert, and J. R. Strain of Tahoka; 18 grandchildren and 28 great grandchildren.

Oven Window

There's a new built-in oven with a window of a type that makes a lot of sense. It is installed vertically, permitting a better view of foods baking on different levels in the oven. The oven features twelve different rack levels to please the most fastidious cook. It is also equipped with a rotisserie that turns at a constant speed and automatically bastes meats in their own delicious juices.

DESK & DERRICK SPEAKER — Wallace A. Robinson, above, will be special guest speaker for the Snyder Desk & Derrick Club Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock at Martha Ann Woman's Club. Members of the Big Spring Desk & Derrick Club will also be dinner guests of the Snyder club.

Sun Engineer To Be Guest Speaker For D&D Thursday

Wallace A. Robinson, Beaumont, a senior engineer for Sun Pipeline Co., will be guest speaker for the meeting at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night of the Snyder Desk & Derrick Club in Martha Ann Woman's Club here.

Robinson began his career with Sun Pipe Line Co. as a field engineer July 25, 1949, and was immediately assigned to the general construction of Mid-Valley Pipeline Co., with headquarters in Longview. He worked there one year before being transferred to Beaumont in 1950, where he was classified as field engineer until June 1, 1955, at which time he was promoted to the position of mechanical engineer at the same location.

Then on March 1, 1956, he was granted a leave of absence for special duty with the Joint Construction Agency, Department of the Army, in France.

His work there consisted of being a consultant on pipe line construction.

He returned from his leave of absence on Sept. 1, 1956, and has remained in the Beaumont office until a recent promotion to the classification of senior engineer.

He has spent considerable time in Maracaibo, Venezuela, assisting in the design and installaion of Interstate Sun Oil Company's various facilities, of which the major part of his address here will be concerned.

A native of El Paso, Robinson is a graduate of the University of Texas in mechanical engineering. He was discharged from the Navy as a lieutenant junior grade after three years service. He and Mrs. Robinson have two sons, Edwin and Randolph, and one daughter, Sandra.

British Critics Have Weak Stomachs, Liberace Asserts

LONDON (AP) — Liberace, American pianist, complained in court today that there seems to be an unusual number of weak stomachs among British show critics.

Testifying for the second day in his libel action against a British newspaper accused of describing him as homosexual, Liberace declared: "They, sure have a lot of people who want to throw up here, that's all I can say."

His remarks came after counsel for the defendants, Daily Mirror and its columnist William Neil Connor, read a number of London newspaper criticisms of Liberace.

An Evening News critic was quoted as saying a movie in which Liberace appeared "delighted his fans and sickened the critics."

A Daily Herald reviewer asserted that Liberace's "leers and dimples make me heave."

Another Evening News article said the pianist's smile "had a mildly emetic effect on me."

Connor, in one of the articles in 1956 which led to the libel suit, said Liberace was "the biggest sentimental vomit of all time."

"This exotic language is new to me," said Liberace. "No American critic has ever referred to me in such words."

In response to a direct question from his lawyer Monday, Liberace denied that he was a homosexual. The newspaper and Connor contend that the columnist's criticism of the American entertainer contained no such suggestion.

Once again the pianist drew a packed house, mostly women, to the court. Dozens of standees lined the walls and scores milled around in the hall.

Spotting a matron in the front stalls with a pair of opera glasses trained on him, Liberace leaned forward and asked, "How do I look, dear?"

"Lovely," she sighed.

ABC Seeks Deep Christian Beliefs

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) —The Rev. Dr. Edwin H. Tuller subscribes to the belief that baptist church members with deep Christian beliefs is more important than striving for increased church membership.

He is the newly elected general secretary of the American Baptist Convention, now meeting in Des Moines.

Dr. Tuller says he also favors action to end friction with the Southern Baptist Convention by "joining together in common projects to emphasize cooperation and help minimize the differences between us."

A soft-spoken man with dark hair, piercing eyes and inquiring mind, he leaves no doubt that he has a positive program for the church which has around 3,500,000 members in 6,800 local congregations.

But he doesn't regard increased membership as a pressing need.

"One of our basic beliefs is in believer's baptism," he explains. "The way to be big is to stop that—to demand nothing of our members. We seek a deeper commitment before baptism."

Dr. Tuller lists his immediate goals for the denomination:

1. Completion next year of the Christian Higher Education Challenge, a drive to raise $75 million for church colleges.

2. Moving church headquarters into a new building at Valley Forge, Pa., "where we can all be under one roof."

3. Hammering out long range objectives for the convention and assigning priorities to them, then implementing them in the order of priority.

Dr. Tuller brings to his job a solid background in church administration. He was executive secretary of the Massachusetts Baptist Convention from 1955-57, general secretary of the Connecticut Council of Churches, 1950-54, and assistant executive secretary of the Connecticut Baptist Convention, 1944-50.

A graduate of Brown University, he received his bachelor of divinity degree in 1938 from Colgate Rochester Divinity School, Rochester, N.Y. He took graduate work at La Faculte Libre de Theologie Protestante in Paris.

He is married and the father of four children—Edwin Jr., 17; Joan Elizabeth, 14; James Gordon, 12; and Katherine Crawford, 9.

Critics Laud Dallas Event

DALLAS (AP) —Critics lauded today "The Pajama Game," the opening event of the summer State Fair Musicals which had its debut last night before 1,635 patrons.

John Rosenfield, critic for the Dallas News, said: "The show on the whole was even brighter than when we viewed it born in New York and here in a road show production."

The star is Frankie Lane, and Rosenfield said of him, "Granted that is was no dreamboat of a hero, he showed few acting inadequacies. As for his songs, he delivered all but one superbly and in key with the production."

Playing opposite him is Kathy Barr. "She has an instinct for center stage and all your attention. A warm personality, good figure and a pleasantly throaty voice did the rest," Rosenfield said.

"The Pajama Game" will run until June 21. It will be followed by "Wish You Were Here."

Daily Crude Flow Drops

TULSA (AP) — Daily average production of crude and condensate fell 137,170 barrels to 7,042,540 barrels last week as the result of lower allowables in Oklahoma and Texas, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Texas, where allowables were cut to 10 days in June compared with 12 last month, dropped 152,935 barrels to 2,708,350. Oklahoma was down 13,400 barrels to 542,700.

New Mexico was down 3,400 barrels to 294,300.

Increases were reported for Louisiana, 750 to 973,575, and Arkansas, 1,450 to 80,800.

Chicago Man Finds Apartment Stripped

CHICAGO (AP)—Charles Pegues came home from work late Monday night to an empty apartment. Thieves had stripped his 3½-room apartment of everything except a living room sofa.

A neighbor told police she saw two men carrying furniture from Pegues' apartment but thought he was moving.

"They didn't really take everything," he said, as he stretched out on the couch. "They left three pairs of shoes."

Special Session

PLCOS (AP) — A special session of the Reeves County Grand Jury was ordered yesterday to check all offices in the county.

Dist. Judge J. H. Starley said he had been told discrepancies were found in some county offices by an outside audit.

Airman Recovering From Stab Wounds

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — Sgt. Robert Forney, 28, of Sheppard AFB was recovering today from stab wounds received from a hitchhiker Sunday.

Forney was stabbed in the back, arms and hand and suffered loss of blood.

He was en route from Wichita Falls, Tex., to Red Lodge, Mont., in leave, he told officers, when he picked up a hitchhiker near Rawlins.

Forney said the hitchhiker robbed him while he was taking pictures along the highway north of Jackson.

Baptist Plan Record Budget For Missions

DALLAS (AP)—A record $12,880,000 budget for operation of the cooperative program missions headed the agenda today for the meeting of the executive committee of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The convention finance committee already has approved the budget, which calls for a $1,280,000 increase over last year's spending.

Child care institutions will share in the funds along with 11 schools, eight hospitals and foreign missions.

An offer by Mrs. Virginia Anderson Oberg of Pharr to give $100,000 and 75 acres of land for a nursing aged in Hidalgo County also will be considered.

Oscar Levant Takes A Rest From Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Oscar Levant, the baggy-eyed piano player and wit, is taking a leave of absence from his twice-weekly local television program.

"I'm just tired," Levant said during his show Monday night. "I don't feel good and I want to rest."

Levant, who mixes piano solos, caustic comments and complaints on his show, said he has no plans when he will return.

Driver Blinded By Sun Hits School Bus

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Sun apparently blinded a young housewife whose small foreign sedan rammed the side of a school bus Monday, killing four persons.

Dead were the young woman, her two children, and her mother-in-law.

Highway Patrolman Leon Walters said the absence of skid marks indicated that Thelma Pauline Shirley, 22, didn't see the bus crossing an intersection near her home at San Martin, 20 miles south of here.

Other victims were her children, Ronald, 2 months, and Leona, 4, and Millie Shirley, 71, of Tranquilityn.

Another of Mrs. Shirley's children, Cathy, 2, suffered slight injuries. Three youngsters in the school bus were treated for minor cuts and bruises.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS

A LAMESA FAN pens a letter our way but he or she didn't have the nerve to sign it. For that reason we can't honor it by passing it along to you.

There's one paragraph in the letter, though, that clearly demonstrates that this fan didn't know whereof he spoke. The paragraph read thusly:

"Let me say that we are so happy that poor little Snyder finally won a district baseball championship."

Well, it might be a schock to this fan but the Tigers, no less, have been district baseball champions the past four years.

There are other things in the letter that the fan didn't know whereof he spoke but since the letter wasn't signed we just filed it in the nearest waste basket.

From Hero To Bum

The old saying goes "when a coach employs strategy and it works he is a hero but when it fails he is a bum."

We mentioned in this corner a few days ago that Pressly used his ace pitcher sparingly, James Ingram, removing him from the mound when his team held a "comfortable" lead.

Ingram was pulled in the middle game of the bi-district series with El Paso Bowie with the Broncs leading 4-0 after three innings with the idea of having Ingram ready for the third game. The strategy worked on this occasion as the Broncs went on to down Bowie in the second game, 6-2, and Ingram went the route in the third game and won, 3-2, giving the bi-district title to the Broncs.

Pressly employed the same strategy against Beaumont in the first round of the state tournament last week but this time it backfired.

Although it wasn't entirely Blakely's fault, Beaumont scored three times in the bottom of the sixth to tie the score at 3-3. Ingram came back to the hill and finished up the sixth inning and the game went into extra innings with Beaumont finally winning in the 8th on a homerun blast.

sports add buckin the line wylma

This time Pressly was criticized for the same sort of strategy that had made him a hero only a few days hence.

Has Good Points And Bad Points

Pressly's theory here may be good or bad. Our opinion is that his theory isn't good. It would seem that the other pitchers would be prone to get an inferiority complex. And, too, the other players might lose a little confidence in the other hurlers when they're on the mound.

Odessa had played errorless ball in the Beaumont game during Ingram's tenure. But the Broncs committed three errors in the sixth inning with Blakely on the hill.

Pressly is a sound baseball man and he plays all the angles. But, as is the case with all coaches, when you're winning you are a hero and when you lose you're a bum.

John Pickering was the only local golfer to "beat the champ" in the "National Golf Day" festivities last weekend.

Pickering fired a one over par 71 and had a five-stroke handicap for a 66 to beat the champ by a stroke.

The champ in this case, was Dow Finsterwald, the PGA champion, who shot a 67 in beating Tommy Bolt, the National Open champ, in a special match last Saturday.

Pickering will receive an "I Beat The Champ" medal upon his victory.

Bobby Due To Recover From Leg Injury

ABILENE (AP) — Everything appears all right and Bobbe Morrow should be able to continue his campaign to return to the olympic games.

Morrow, Olympic sprint champion, suffered a muscle spasm at Houston Saturday night and it was feared he might have to miss the National AAU at Boulder, Colo., next week.

Yesterday his leg felt much better, though still sore and he was able to jog a couple of times. He will work out twice a day and expects to do some hard running by Friday.

White Sox, Braves Win LL Decisions

A pitching duel and a slugfest highlighted play in Little League last night.

In one of the tightest mound duels in history of the local Little Leagues, the Trinity Methodist White Sox edged the Von Roeder Indians, 3-0, in the American League. Each team got only one hit in the game.

Over in the National League, the Kiwanis Braves unleashed a 13-hit attack to turn back the Quarterback Giants, 14-5.

Robert Foree of the White Sox and Blake Roberts of the Indians were the principals in that American League pitching battle. Foree, the winner, had his no-hit bid shattered when Shorty Bennett singled in the fourth.

Roberts, who retired the first 11 White Sox to face him, nine of them by strikeouts, also had his no-hit bid spoiled in the fourth. Brit Paty singled with two away in the fourth for the lone White Sox safety.

The Braves banged out 13 hits to smother the Giants. Mike Williamson led the attack with four hits including two doubles. Randal Hales contributed three hits to the Braves' cause.

The Giants led 3-0 after two innings and it was tied up at 5-5 after three but the Braves bats began to boom in the fourth when they scored five more runs to grab the lead that was never threatened.

J. N. Wall pitched a 4-hitter for the Braves with no Giant getting more than one hit.

Detroit Tigers Continue Torrid Pace Under Dykes

By The Associated Press

Okay, so the Detroit Tigers have been hot since Jimmy Dykes took over as manager a little more than five weeks ago. That you know. But how hot is hot?

Call it torrid. Call it scorching. Better yet, call it tops. For if you compute American League standings on performance since May 3, the day Dykes took charge, the Tigers would be leading the league by a whomping six games.

When Dykes relieved Bill Norman the Tigers were last, 10½ games behind Cleveland. They had a 2-15 record.

Now they are only 2½ games shy of first place, have a 24-10 record (.706) under Dykes, have taken command of fourth place, are over .500 for the first time this season and have won 12 of their last 15 games after winning their fourth in a row 6-3 Monday night at Boston.

It was the only game scheduled in the AL and broke a fourth-place deadlock with Kansas City while moving the Tigers within a game of Cleveland's third-place Indians.

In the National League, Milwaukee regained a three-game bulge with a 9-5 afternoon victory over the Chicago Cubs while Pittsburgh defeated second-place San Francisco 12-9 in an 11-inning night game.

The Tigers, after a brief 6-2 home stand, opened a 16-game eastern trip behind the six-hit pitching of Jim Bunning and Al Kaline's three runs batted in.

Bunning (6-4), who has picked up all of his victories in seven decisions since Dykes took over, blew a three-run lead when the last place Red Sox paired half their hits with their only walk for all their runs in the fifth inning. A two-run double by Don Buddin broke Bunning's shutout with two out, and Pete Runnel's single scored Buddin.

The Tigers, who opened a 3-0 lead on Kaline's two-run single in the top of the fifth, broke the tie in the sixth against losing reliever Bill Monbouquette (1-2) as Bunning grounded into a doubleplay. Eddie Yost singled home another run in the eighth and Kaline, who was 3-for-4, hit his 11th homer in the ninth.

It was the third victory in three decisions this season against Boston for Bunning.

Going back to the Tigers "would-be" six-game lead in the AL, nobody has led by more than 3½ this season. Cleveland twice had that big an edge, but both times held it for only one day. The Chicago White Sox now lead by a single game over Baltimore.

The New York Yankees have the next best record to the Tigers' in the span of Dykes' stay in Detroit. The champs, who replaced Detroit in the cellar, have a 17-15 record, six games off the Tigers' pace under the chubby Cigar Orio c; also are six games behind with 18-16 records.

Cleveland? The Indians are 14-19, 9½ games behind the Tigers' record.

Cellarites Win In Pony, GPL

The Von Roeder Red Sox in the Pony League and the Snyder Savings Braves in the Graduate Pony League, who occupied the cellar spots in their respective leagues after two weeks of play, registered victories last night.

The Red Sox, in fact, won their first game of the season in four starts with a 13-6 conquest of the A.B.C. Phillies. The Braves, although held to one hit, romped to an 8-2 victory over the Optimist Cats in the GPL tilt.

Last night's wins pulled both teams out of the league dungeons. The Red Sox took over third place with the Phillies dropping into the cellar with a 1-4 record.

Snyder Savings tightened the GPL race up with last night's win. The Braves pulled into a three-way tie for second place with the Cats and Furr Yankees, all with 2-2 records. Walter Hales Lumber leads the GPL race with a 2-1 mark.

In last night's Pony game, the Phillies erupted for four runs in the third to take a 4-3 lead but the Red Sox broke the game wide-open with a 6-run flurry in the fourth to take the lead they never relinquished.

Jim Wilson and Danny Colwell led a 13-hit attack of the Red Sox. Both had perfect night's at the plate. Wilson getting four-for-four and Colwell three-for-three.

Albert Rainwater went the distance for the Red Sox, giving up four hits, striking out seven and walking six.

The GPL game turned into a weird contest with the winning Braves getting only one hit but taking advantage of nine Cat errors to win going away.

Bubba Fleming, who pitched the Braves to victory, got the lone hit for the winners. Fleming lined a single off the glove of first baseman in the first inning.

Joshua John, who opened on the mound for the Cats, was charged with the loss. He gave way to Mike Moffett with one away in the third. Moffett hurled hitless ball after going in but Cat errors contributed to his downfall.

Fleming, who was pitching with only one days rest, set the Cats down on two hits. Moffett singled in the fourth and Mike Morris doubled in the seventh for the only Cat safeties.

Fleming struckout eight and walked three but he hit five batsmen, including Reg Scarborough three times.

Title Fight Pact Delayed

NEW YORK (AP)—The formal signing of the contract for the world heavyweight title fight between Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson of Sweden was halted today by order of Gen. Melvin L. Krulewitch, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Krulewitch said Federal Judge Irving Kaufman would give his decision in the Eddie Machen-Johansson suit at 1 p.m., EST, today and that the contract would be signed shortly after that time if the decision is favorable to the June 25 bout in Yankee Stadium.

Sedition Law Rulings Clarified

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has clarified its controversial rulings on state sedition laws and congressional investigations, saying earlier decisions in these fields were misunderstood.

Splitting 5-4 in both cases, the court Monday said state sedition laws may be invoked to protect the state, and upheld the right of congressional committees to question educators as well as others about alleged Communist activity.

In making these rulings, the court affirmed contempt convictions against Dr. Willard Uphaus, director of the New Hampshire World Federation Center, and Lloyd Barenblatt, a former teacher at Vassar College and the University of Michigan.

Uphaus had been convicted under New Hampshire's sedition law for refusing to provide a membership list of the center to the state attorney general. Barenblatt had refused to tell the House Committee on Un American Activities whether he had been a Communist party member.

Earlier decisions in the same fields had drawn severe criticism from some congressmen and from groups as the state attorneys general and the American Bar Assn. Moves were started in Congress to try curtailing the court's power.

But in its latest decisions the court said that part of the earlier rulings had been misinterpreted.

Justices Clark, Frankfurter, Harlan, Whittaker and Stewart made up the majority in both decisions. Dissenting were Chief Justice Warren and Justices Douglas, Black and Brennan.

In the Uphaus case, Clark, speaking for the majority, said that its Nelson case did not "strip the states of the right to protect themselves." In that case the court had thrown out the conviction of Communist leader Steve Nelson under the Pennsylvania sedition act.

Uphaus, of New Haven, Conn., had refused to give information about the New Hampshire World Fellowship Center to Atty. Gen. Louis Wyman, who requested it under a legislative resolution giving him power to investigate subversive activities.

Clark said that the court, in the Nelson case, had ruled that the Smith Act superseded the Pennsylvania law because they prohibited the same thing: "Knowing advocacy of the overthrow of the government of the United States by force and violence."

"All the opinion proscribed," Clark continued, "was a race between federal and state prosecutors to the court house door.

"The opinion made clear that a state could proceed with prosecutions for sedition against the state itself."

In a dissent, Brennan said the freedoms of speech and assembly were involved in the case and the state had not shown that its interest in getting the information from Uphaus was sufficient to outweigh these freedoms.

In the Barenblatt case, the court said that the House committee acted within the scope of its authority when it questioned Barenblatt about membership in the Communist party.

Barenblatt had refused to answer the committee's questions. He said the resolution setting up the committee was too vague and that the committee had no right under the First Amendment to investigate his activities or associations.

When the court threw out the contempt conviction of John T. Watkins for refusing to answer questions before the committee, its decision had been interpreted widely as holding that the resolution stting up the committee was too vague.

But Justice Harlan said Monday the court had reversed the Watkins conviction because Watkins "had not been adequately apprised of the subject matter of the subcommittee's investigation or the pertinency thereto of the questions he refused to answer."

On the contention that Barenblatt's rights under the First Amendment had been violated, Harlan said: "We conclude that the balance between individual and government interests here at stake must be struck in favor of the latter, and therefore the provisions of the First Amendment have not been offended."

In a dissent, Justice Black said the decision "marks another major step in the progressively increasing retreat from the safeguards of the First Amendment."

Goodrich Strike Is Settled

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The United Rubber Workers and the B. F. Goodrich Co. today reached agreement to end a 55-day-old strike of 14,000 Goodrich workers in eight cities.

The agreement, subject to ratification by local unions, followed an all-night negotiating session here.

No details of the settlement were available immediately.

The agreement is expectd to hasten an end to the URW strike against Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. The Firestone strike of 18,000 workers in eight cities began simultaneously with the Goodrich walkout at midnight April 15. The union and Firestone are negotiating in Cleveland.

Involved in the Goodrich agreement, and also in the Firestone negotiations, are the union's master contract provisions on everything except wages and a separate welfare pact covering pensions and life and health insurance.

Wages will be bargained later this summer under a reopening of the master contracts. The URW Policey Committee meets in Chicago to shape demands for increases in straight hourly average pay rates that range from $2.48 to $2.71 in the industry's Big Four. Goodyear and U.S. Rubber, other half of the Big Four, signed with the URW weeks ago.

Nearly half of the 32,000 Goodrich and Firestone strikers work in Akron plants of the two companies and upward of 3,000 more work in Los Angeles where both firms have plants.

Other plants are scattered in 12 cities. Goodrich plants are located in Oaks, Pa.; Marion, Ohio; Clarksville, Tenn.; Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Miami, Okla. and Riverside, N. J. Firestone's other plants are in Pottstown, Pa.; New Castle and Noblesville, Ind.; Fall River, Mass.; Memphis and Des Moines.

Oil Gathering Tax Unconstitutional

BATON ROUGE (AP)—A judge, agreeing with the contention of three oil companies, ruled yesterday that the state oil gathering tax is unconstitutional.

Judge Coleman Lindsay ruled the tax was in addition to authorized severance taxes.

The Legislature redefined the natural gas levy in 1954 and the oil companies attacked it in three suits.

The firms were Southern Natural Gas Co., Bel Oil Corp. and Calcasieu Paper Co. and Humble Oil and Refining Co.

The key constitutional provision in the case said "no further or additional tax or license shall be levied or imposed upon oil, gas or sulphur leases," other than authorized severance taxes.

Beatniks Win In License Battle

By MARK SHEEHAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The police department says Greenwich Village poets can go on spouting their stuff in coffee houses, even though they lack poetic license.

Police had been handing out summonses to the coffee houses which dot the Village, a Bohemian section of lower Manhattan.

The police worked on the theory that the poetry was entertainment, and since the coffee houses didn't have cabaret licenses they couldn't legally offer entertainment.

The poets, good and bad, beat and nonbeat, bearded and nonbearded, have been packing the coffee houses. The readings have been a big attraction both for tourists and Village natives.

One coffee house poet, Dick Woods from Shreveport, La., summed up the poetic sentiment this way: "These summonses are strictly a bum rap."

Monday the police department, which usually doesn't dig poets, in effect agreed. The summonses already handed out would be prosecuted, but there would be no more, said Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm.

Stooping to the occasion, he phrased his statement on the "bum rap" in bum verse.

"Technically an entertainer spouting poetry is an entertainer under law," he spouted.

"But though in violation to the cops he's just a bore. To some New Yorkers, believe it or not, this rhymes."

"He can talk throughout the night if he doesn't incite to riot."

"We hope he keeps on talking 'til his audience yells for quiet."

To some of the more sensitive poets, such versifying is worse than a summons. To most, though, co-existence was the answer all along.

Sure, man, why not offer that deputy commissioner a chance to air his verse at some coffee house?

Excise Tax Rates Kept

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted again for continuing corporate and excise tax rates that were set during the Korean War as a temporary measure.

The one-year extension, passed by voice vote Monday, now goes to the Senate which is expected to pass it with little controversy.

It was the sixth time the House has voted for an extension since 1951, when the regular tax rates were increased.

Unless the bill is passed, corporate income tax rates automatically will drop from 52 per cent to 47 per cent on July 1 and excise tax rates will be reduced on cigarettes, whisky, beer, wine and new cars and parts.

The lower rates would yield about three billion dollars less a year.

Trial Near For Florida Rape Suspects

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Four young white men are to go on trial for their lives here Wednesday. They are charged in the rape of a Negro college girl.

A veteran judge, W. May Walker, a native of this north Florida area, will preside in Circuit Court.

The court has summoned 156 prospective jurors—all men. A few are Negroes.

In the county jail, awaiting trial, are William Collinsworth, 23, a telephone lineman; Patrick G. Scarborough, 20, an Air Force enlisted man; David Beagles, 18, a high school senior; and Ollie Stoutamire, 16.

Only Collinsworth has been able to hire a lawyer. The others have court-appointed lawyers.

His attorney, S. Gunter Toney, has been preparing to enter a plea that Collinsworth was insane at the time of the alleged rape. A private psychiatrist who examined Collinsworth described him as a moron with the mind of a 9-year-old.

The four are charged with taking the Florida A&M University coed from her escort at gun point May 2 and raping her. Florida law prohibits publication of rape victims' names.

Rape is a capital crime in Florida. No white man ever has been electrocuted on this state for raping a Negro. A convicting jury can recommend mercy.

Negro Nabbed After Deputy Is Shot Down

SANFORD, N.C. (AP) — "Kill me. Kill me. Please kill me. I don't want to go to the gas chamber."

That was the plea of a Negro man who was hunted down and shot by a posse after the slaying Monday of Lee County Deputy Sheriff J. L. Powers, 50.

Powers was slain while he and other officers searched an area five miles southeast of here for a man reported living in the woods and stealing food from homes in the area.

The man also was wanted for questioning about the wounding last Wednesday of Vernon Elkins, 32, a farmer. Elkins was shot from ambush while driving his tractor. He was not seriously hurt.

Sheriff D. F. Holder said the man identified himself as James Jones of Richmond, Va. His wounds were treated first at a hospital here. He was later taken to the hospital at Central Prison in Raleigh.

Three officers were walking across a field Monday when Jones suddenly appeared and fired a shotgun blast. The charge hit Powers in the heart, killing him instantly.

A posse of police and volunteers numbering about 500 converged on the area. Twice members of the posse exchanged shots with Jones, but each time he eluded them.

About three hours after the slaying, five members of the posse spotted him and opened fire. He slumped to the ground.

Sheriff Holder said authorities planned to question Jones about the rape of a white woman near Burlington, about 45 miles north of here.

Rev. McBirnie Quits Post

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Dr. W. S. McBirnie, Baptist minister who admitted and accepted full blame for "improper involvement" with a woman in his congregation, has resigned as pastor of Trinity Baptist Church.

Dr. McBirnie, 39, confirmed the affair last Wednesday before a standing-room-only special meeting of the church congregation. The situation became known when Dr. McBirnie sought out Paul Thompson, San Antonio News columnist, and told him of the involvement.

At the time, Dr. McBirnie asked the congregation to replace him, but said he didn't intend to resign. Monday, sources close to the board of deacons said Dr. McBirnie resigned Sunday night.

Dr. McBirnie was not available for comment.

Married and the father of a teenage son, Dr. McBirnie said he became involved with the woman —whose name was not disclosed —while attempting to reconcile the woman and her estranged husband.

Six Persons Die In Crash

DUNCANSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Six members of a family were killed and another was injured Monday night when their car and two trucks collided on Route 22 near this western Pennsylvania community.

The dead were Wilmer E. Hinish, 34, of Williamsburg, Pa., his wife, Dorothy, 34; a daughter, Sonja Joan, 12; and three sons: Robert Zane, 9; Randall Clark, 6; and William Dale, 10 months.

The only surviving member of the family, Roderick Kent, 4, was reported in satisfactory condition at a hospital.

Deputy Coroner William Crawford said a pickup truck rammed the Hinish car from behind and shoved it into the path of a truck loaded with bags of cement.

Neither the driver of the cement truck, Lester Hall of Claysburg, Pa., nor the other driver, Theodore McMasters, 35, of Duncansville R.D. 1, was injured.

State police charged McMasters with drunken driving after he was pronounced intoxicated by Dr. R. M. McNeal, a Hollidaysburg, Pa., physician.

Truck Touches Off Fireworks Blast

ADAMS CITY, Colo. (AP) — A dynamite-like explosion was set off Monday when a heavy truck-trailer crushed a carton of fireworks on U.S. Highway 6 in this Denver suburb.

The box of 1,440 cherry bombs tumbled from a panel truck and rolled under the rear wheels of a following truck. The explosion smashed windows in a nearby home, ripped off rear tires from the truck and blasted the semi-trailer unit four feet off the road bed.

Historic Event Re-Enacted

A historic event, which many of the younger generation may be surprised to learn occurred only 50 years ago, is being re-enacted this month by the Ford Motor Co.

It was on June 1, 1909 that five automobiles set out on what was officially called an "Ocean-To-Ocean Automobile Endurance Contest." The run was from the city hall in New York City to Seattle, Wash.

The records indicate that plenty of skeptics were on hand, just as there were when other events denoting mechanical and technological progress commenced. In that day, many believed that the automobile would not last and that it would never replace the horse. A transcontinental journey via gas buggy was a natural for ridicule and derision.

Well, it took some time, but those early-day automobiles did cross the continent. About three weeks following the heralded start in New York City, the first car ever to cross the country rolled into Seattle. The actual finish of the winning entry was logged at 12:55 p.m. June 23.

Nowadays, such a journey via automobile is "routine."

The Ford folks are staging the re-enactment, because it was a Model-T Ford that won the 1909 "Endurance Test." Also, of the five entries, Ford is the only one still producing automobiles under its original name. The lineup in 1909 consisted of two Model-T Fords, one Shawmut, one Acme and one Italo. The Shawmut came in second, while Ford No. 2 was the winner.

The automobile industry has come a long way in 50 years.

Retired Generals In Brisk Demand

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—How does a general—when he retires—get a fat job with a big corporation selling millions of dollars worth of military equipment to the government?

It could happen in a lot of ways. It could—and did—happen this way: On the day a general retires he gets a cryptic telephone call from an old friend, telling him to call a man at a certain number in California.

He does. It turns out well. He becomes president of a company making bombers and gets a salary of $75,000 a year, plus a $25,000 bonus.

A congressional subcommittee will soon start looking into the question of how high-ranking military men, after retirement, get big-paying jobs with big companies dealing with the government.

The subcommittee—headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La.)—will also root around among the military equipment makers to check on how they compete to get Uncle Sam to buy their stuff.

But this kind of investigation doesn't have unanimous approval in Congress. For instance, Sen. London B. Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democrats, doesn't think a munitions lobby as such exists or needs investigating.

Neither does Sen. Stuart Symington, Missouri Democrat and former secretary of the Air Force in the Truman administration. Symington himself was one a big help to a retiring general through a simple telephone call.

Hebert's group learned about this three years ago when it was examining the aircraft industry. His subcommittee now would like to know how son other generals and admirals got their jobs and what they do to earn their pay.

In its 1956 inquiry Hebert's group called—among top men in the aircraft industry—J.T. McNarney, former Air Force general who retired in 1952 and quickly became president of the Convair Corporation.

This firm made the B52 bombers for the government and McNarney testified that in the late 1940s, when the value of this particular plane was in dispute, he backed development of the B52.

Hebert asked him how he got his job with Convair and McNarney told this story: "On the morning of my retirement (Jan. 31, 1952) I did receive a cryptic telephone call and the question asked of me was: 'Have you signed up with anybody to go to work?' I said 'I have not.'"

McNarney said he told the caller he was going to San Diego to live—because he had married a San Diego girl—and the voice on the phone said: "Well, when you get to San Diego, would you call this number?"

McNarney indicated that from the telephone exchange the caller gave him—it was in Indio, Calif.—that he guessed the one who answered that phone would be Floyd B. Odlum, chairman of the Convair board of directors.

When he got to San Diego, McNarney said, he called the number. And it was Odlum. The financier offered the retired general the presidency of Convair.

For five years as president, he would receive $75,000 a year, plus a $25,000 bonus yearly. For the following 10 years—while he served as a consultant—he would receive $30,000 a year.

Hebert asked McNarney who made the cryptic call urging him to get in touch with Odlum.

The general said it was Symington, with whom he had worked at the Pentagon when Symington was secretary of air. At the time of the call Symington was no longer secretary and had not yet been elected senator.

McNarney said there was no connection between his championship of the B52—while he was still in service—and the fact that the company later hired him as president.

Fear Main Theme In East Germany

Editor's note: Associated Press Correspondent Michael Goldsmith went with a group of 10 Western newsmen on a two-day trip from Geneva to East Germany at the invitation of the Communist government. Here are some things Goldsmith observed on the trip.

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

The Communist teacher in the huge super-modern school pinned the little girl's effort on the classroom wall along with similar student products.

The central theme of drawings made by children of the model school at Stalinstadt, East Germany's "first Socialist city," was fear—fear of the capitalist warmongers piling up nuclear weapons to destroy the "Socialist camp of peace-loving nations."

Stalinstadt is the pride of the East German regime. Its vast iron smelting combine on the Oder-Neisse border with Poland grew from a sandy waste in less than a year. Now it turns out more than a million tons of pig iron a year for East Germany's growing industries.

The foundry's 6,000 workers live in the new state-built, state-owned and state-operated city of 24,000 inhabitants. Three and four story buildings are clean, bright and well designed. The accent is heavy on social services. Nurseries, hospitals, schools and recreation centers are all free, or nearly so.

Basic food in the state-owned stores is cheap and plentiful. The average worker pays less than one tenth of his wages for a three-room apartment. All material conditions are there for comforts above the average enjoyed by industrial workers in Western Europe.

But the streets are without life and without laughter. The people have a glazed, unreal look like sleepwalkers. It is a familiar atmosphere in East German cities.

Only two buildings in Stalinstadt are not state-owned. The makeshift Protestant and Roman Catholic churches have been built with church funds. Church attendance is discouraged by authorities. The state religion is "socialism."

In schools, nurseries, hostels and old age homes throughout East Germany there are shrines to socialism and peace. Fashioned from scarlet drapes, flowers and slogans, they feature photographs of Red party secretary Walter Ulbricht and other leaders.

The state religion has ceremonies corresponding to christening, confirmation, marriage and funeral services. Children leaving school go to "youth consecration" where they swear to help build socialism.

Communist burial services are less common. "The old people haven't had time to get adjusted," one Communist official said.

The aged are well cared for in East Germany. Any Western city would be proud of a beautiful, air-conditioned old folks' home on the outskirts of Berlin. But one aged inmate caught a Western newsman alone and whispered, "It's good to be here—but the young ones outside, just think of them."

A Czechoslovak army officer on a visit to East Berlin stood looking at a photograph of goosestepping soldiers of the new East German army.

The goosestep has been a symbol of German military aggression in Europe for three generations. The officer walked off shaking his head.

When a Western newsman tried to talk to the officer, he froze and turned away.

Green-uniformed police are as much in evidence as Hitler's storm troopers once were. The color of the uniform is different, but they still patrol in pairs, never alone.

Reporter Takes Look In Mirror

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wipe that scowl off your face, willya?

I've seen you scrunch past a million times, with your lips clamped tight and your eyes like oncoming thunder.

You don't walk. You grind the pavements beneath your feet.

You don't see people. You see potential pickpockets.

You don't live. You hate yourself into gritty dust.

Yes, it's you I'm talking about—the you who can't bear the reflection of yourself in a store window.

I've seen you in a hundred cities, clutching your little worries, stroking your petty grievances into disasters.

Wise up, willya? Life's too short for hatred. Ponder a minute on that old wheeze. Even if you live out your three score and ten—which you won't, at the rate you're using up your vital juices—there isn't time for hatred.

I'm watching you go past on the street as I sit here at a typewriter.

You don't look good. You're gray, even when young—although you probably were born old.

You rush all the time, to destination nowhere. What's the hurry? The grave will claim you soon enough, and the grass will grow unhurried to cover you.

Try strolling. Start earlier and take longer. Risk a smile now and then—even a secret inward smile. Work up, or outward, to a smile at some total stranger. Even me. We won't misunderstand. We'll stop being saddened by the sight of you.

Try joy, young man, with the clutched attache case. Try glory, too-soon-old gray lady with the hoarded purse. Honest, happiness is not a dirty word. The post office lets it go through the mails almost every day.

Joy, glory, happiness are your rightful legacy—from God or your healthy heartbeat, if you still have one. Unfrown. Unsnarl. Unzip your resentments. Love. The early Christians knew the meaning of that. Whatever became of them, or of the Word?

Okay, it's raining. Don't hunch your shoulders like a brooding hen. Walk in the rain. Strut in it. You're waterproof. The worst that can happen to you is a head cold and a dry-cleaning job. You'll recover from both.

Slow down. Straighten up. This is your world. Enjoy it, don't look down your nose at strangers, they'll only look back at you.

10 Correspondents Report Capital Scene For Texans

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten Texas reporters report to Texas readers from the Washington scene for Texas newspapers.

They concentrate on recordings of the doings of Texans in Washington and things of particular interest to Texas.

For example, Red Omar Burlington sends for Texas readers word of Anson is trying to get a $25,000 increase in the $30,000 Budget Bureau recommendation for a flood control survey of the Clear Fork of the Brazos at Abilene.

And, of statewide interests, is the drive led by Rep. John Young of Corpus Christi for establishment of a national seaside park on Padre Island. The move is similar to that which led to creation of Big Bend National Park in West Texas.

Dean of Texas correspondents here is Bascom N. Timmons, who came from Amarillo in 1912 and now heads a news service serving six Texas daily newspapers. Over the years he has been a close friend and confidant of men in high places in Washington, such as former Vice President John Nance Garner and the late Jesse H. Jones of Houston.

Most recent arrival on the Washington scene and youngest of the Texas scribes is a member of Timmons' staff. He is John Harris, a graduate of the University of Houston and a Houston Chronicle reporter before coming here a few months ago.

Trailing far behind Timmons but second in seniority of service among those specializing in Texas news is your correspondent, born and reared in Fort Worth but now a legal resident of Waco. He worked on the Dallas Times Herald before joining The Associated Press in 1937 and becoming AP's special Service correspondent for Texas.

Actually second on the scene among the Texas reporters, but now devoting most of his time to subjects of national interest is Marshall McNeil of the Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance. He came here in 1930 after work on newspapers in Houston, San Antonio and Beaumont. His son, Neil McNeil, who was born in Houston, now reports Texas news here for Scripps-Howard newspapers in the state. He formerly worked in El Paso.

The Dallas News is represented here by its veteran and ace reporter, Walter C. Hornaday, a native Texan. Long a correspondent for the News at Austin when the state legislature was in session, he came to Washington in 1944 to chronicle Texas developments in the nation's capital. He recently was presented a distinguished achievement in journalism award by the University of Wisconsin, from which he was graduated in 1913. His Texas newspaper career started the next year and has been interrupted only by combat service in World War I.

Assisting Hornaday is Robert E. Baskin. He came from Dallas early last year. Before joining the News he worked on newspapers in Fort Worth and Wichita Falls.

Jim Mathis is the Houston Post's chief Washington correspondent. He came from Houston about a year ago.

Sarah McClendon, who has drawn attention because of President Eisenhower's angry retorts to some of her questions, reports for eight newspapers over Texas. She hails from Tyler and worked on East Texas newspapers before coming to Washington as a WAC officer in World War II. She was married in the early 1940s to J. T. O'Brien, now dead and has a pretty blonde teen-age daughter.

Probably the most prominent newspaper couple in Washington are Les and Liz Carpenter, who came from Austin. They have their own news service for a number of newspapers in Texas and the Southwest.

A Beaumont woman is leaving Washington with her newsman husband to make their home in Juneau, Alaska.

She is the former Bernice Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Griffith of Beaumont. Her husband is Frank W. Vaille, who has been Associated Press correspondent for the Pacific Northwest for several years. Vaille is leaving Washington to join the staff of Alaska's Gov. William A. Egan to handle press and public relations.

The Vailles met in 1949 when he was covering the Washington legislature for the AP in Olympia and she was there visiting a sister. They were married the same year.

Junior Editors Quiz on FOOD

QUESTION: What is the difference between wild rice and brown rice?

• • •

ANSWER: Wild rice is a distant cousin of the regular rice we buy in supermarkets. The wild rice grains are long, thin and black and, when tasted, have a distinctly smoky flavor.

Wild rice plant is a tall grass that grows chiefly in the swampy regions around the Great Lakes in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Manitoba. It has never been cultivated in field or paddies like ordinary rice.

Wild rice costs considerably more than common rice when you buy it in a store. This is because it is difficult to harvest. The seeds ripen constantly and must be harvested daily lest they drop off and become lost in the mud of the swamp.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Ordinary rice is called brown rice and it is brown in color when it is harvested. Yet, when we buy it in a store, it is white. See if you can find out what happens to brown rice between the time it is harvested and the time it is sold. Why does it become white?

• • •

(Ida M. Fay of Teaneck, N. J., wins $10 for this question. Send your question on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. If duplicate questions are received, Mrs. Higgins will select the winner.)

Ike, Wayne Kept Busy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and screen actor John Wayne were kept so busy giving autographs Monday night they scarcely had time to eat.

Eisenhower was the principal speaker at a $100-a-plate Republican dinner and Wayne was the master of ceremonies. They sat together at the head table.

Both men still were on the first course when dozens of diners and some waitresses came from all parts of a big banquet hall to get the signatures of the President and Wayne. Mrs. Eisenhower, seated at Wayne's left, also signed her name many times.

The President, the First Lady and the Hollywood star smilingly stayed at it for about a half hour. Then Wayne stepped to a microphone and announced: "Ladies and gentlemen, we are going to have to ask you to stop asking for autographs here. I'm sorry."

That ended it.

River Called Biggest Mess In Capital

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many congressmen agree the most obvious "mess in Washington" is the Potomac River.

Rep. James C. Wright (D-Tex) said it was a disgrace.

Rep. Charles S. Gubser (R-Calif) said "the very stream which waters the roots of American history" is polluted.

House debate on a water pollution bill spotlighted the problem last week.

Gubser told the House that down by the Lincoln Memorial "We would inhale the air made putrid from raw human sewage flowing down our beautiful Potomac from our federal city of Washington."

Once the Potomac was a clear, sparkling stream for 287 miles—past Virginia and Maryland farms, past Washington, past Mount Vernon — to Chesapeake Bay.

Now you don't swim in it around Washington unless you fall in, Wright told a reporter.

"The most polluted river west of the Nile" is Sen. John F. Kennedy's term for the Potomac.

Rep. Richard E. Lankford (D-Md) called it "one of the most polluted, one of the most neglected and one of the least developed."

Lankford, with other congressmen from the Washington area, has introduced a bill authorizing a 75-million-dollar appropriation to build sewer lines and filtration plants.

Rep. John R. Foley (D-Md) said Congress must do something. He noted that the U.S. Public Health Service has threatened to take legal action under the Water Pollution Control Act.

He added: In a city of monuments to heroes of American history, there's a monument to man's shortsightedness—the most polluted interstate river in America."

Shipments Of Vegetables To Taper Sharply

MCALLEN, Tex. (AP) — Shipments of Lower Rio Grande Valley spring vegetables are expected to taper off sharply late this week.

The shipments have reached peak proportions.

Only honeydew melons are expected to move to markets for the next several weeks, and general rains could hasten the end.

Hot weather has affected tomato sizes, but demand for valley tomatoes continued strong last week with rising prices.

Shippers expected a good market for the remainder of the season as the Florida movement was winding up.

East Texas often begins shipping green wraps late in May, but this season reports from the Jacksonville area said the crop is very late because of heavy rains in early May. Shipments will not start in fair volume until the week of June 15.

Valley shippers were quoting $3.35 to $3.50 for a 30-pound lug of 6X6s and larger tomatoes and $5.50 to $6 for a 60-pound wirebound crate.

The cantaloupe crop is small. With Arizona and California moving cantaloupes in heavy volume through last week, prices for Valley melons dropped steadily. At weekend shippers were receiving $4 to mostly $4.50 for a jumbo crate of 36s, $3.50 to $3.75 for the 27s and generally $3 for the 23s.

Supplies of peppers became short but demand stayed up. Prices held firm at $4 to $4.50 a bushel.

BIRTH OF QUADS BRINGS NEWS OF TWO WIVES—Ciro Bravata smiled and held cigars in front of incubators where his newborn quadruplets lay in an East Orange, N. J. hospital. Birth of the quads—three boys and a girl—also brought news that Bravata has "two-wife" trouble. Mother of the quads is Mrs. Louise Bravata who lives with Bravata in East Orange. The other wife of the 39-year-old railroad employe was revealed as Mrs. Grace Bravata who resides in New York's borough of Queens with their two children. (AP Wirephoto)

Sound Dollar To Be GOP's Theme

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sound dollar—with plenty of them available for GOP campaigners—is the prescription of President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon for a 1960 Republican victory.

In a turnout that astonished its Senate and House sponsors, Republicans overflowed two large banquet halls at a $100-a-plate dinner Monday night to honor party members of Congress who survived last November's GOP debacle, and many who didn't.

What seemed of more practical importance than anything said by either Eisenhower or Nixon—or a long series of other GOP speakers, was the solid fact that the dinner racked up more than $300,000 net for party purposes.

The two congressional campaign committees will split the amount, 60 per cent to the House group and 40 per cent to the Senate unit.

Eisenhower told the applauding Republicans that he is not fighting to balance the budget just to claim that as an accomplishment. This, he said, is no effort to pinch pennies.

"At this moment," the President continued, "We are engaged in a highly important battle for a sound dollar. This is a fight to promote an expanding economy and domestic prosperity. This is a fight to make sure that a dollar earned today will tomorrow buy for the housewife an equal amount of groceries."

To carry on this fight, he said, "we will need money." But he said money alone will not do the job. He contended that for Republicans "sound, stable, progressive government for this country is the greatest cause that we could possibly have today."

Flexing their muscles for the first time in the kind of a dinner the Democrats have made traditional, Republicans showed they have lost none of their enthusiasm for Eisenhower and can generate some of the same kind for Nixon.

The President and his wife were swamped with autographic seekers who delayed the start of the dinner program for 30 minutes. Nixon out-scored every Republican but Eisenhower in applause, including Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the darling of the conservative GOP members who made up most of the audience.

Nixon was introduced by Rep. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House GOP campaign committee, as "he who will succeed President Eisenhower" in the White House.

The vice president told the diners that to be frank about the whole thing, the Republicans can't win "without the sinews of war which money will provide." He said the Republicans must fight for "sound dollars, and plenty of them."

Station Operator Thwarts Bandit

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A holdup man told service station operator Roy Sewell Monday night to "put 'em up." Sewell's hands shot into the air.

So did a roll of bills he was holding.

The bandit and a companion looked for the wad of bills. They couldn't find it and fled.

Sewell, 31, had no better luck. He called police who found the money had dropped through a small crevice in the concrete block wall.

Sewell said he will have to spend $150 to tear into the wall to get the money. But he'll do it. There was $750 in the roll.

Snyder Sailor Serves On Destroyer Taussig

Navy Radioman Seaman Jerry P. Shaw of Snyder is now serving aboard the Pacific Fleet destroyer USS Taussig.

Shaw is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland C. Shaw, Lemons Camp. He reported to the Taussig in May from the U.S. Naval Station on Midway Island.

Prior to entering the Navy in August, 1956, Shaw graduated from Snyder High School.

Guard Unit Plans For Annual Camp

Sixty-nine enlisted men and four officers of the Snyder National Guard unit are making plans to go to Fort Hood late this month for the annual National Guard summer encampment.

Things will be changed for the local guardsmen this year. Trained for 11 years since their reactivation after World War III as an armored reconnaisance company, the local unit now is a part of the 36th Infantry Division.

That means more emphasis on infantry training for some time for the local men to bring them up to standard as an infantry unit.

Lt. Johnny Greenfield, executive officer of the Snyder-Stamford company, which is Co. A, Second Battle Group, 142nd Infantry, said the two weeks of training at Fort Hood this year will be basic combat training and advanced individual training for the men. Lt. Joe Ford of Stamford is commander of the company.

The local unit will leave here June 28 by bus and will meet the Stamford portion of the company at Fort Hood. An advance party, including three Snyder men, will leave three days earlier to help set up the camp.

Going to Fort Hood with the local unit will be Capt. John T. Lynch, Jr., of Snyder, a battle group officer. Lynch, former commander of the local unit, will be in charge of tank training at the camp. A battle group has one to two tanks.

Four other National Guard officers who live here will go to the camp with a reconnaisance unit of the Midland area. Former battalion officers for the local unit's battalion, they are now a part of a separate unit. They are Maj. William J. Schiebel, Capt. Weldon Kincaid, Capt. Lee Stone and Lt. Lyle Alexander.

Officers of the local unit, other than Greenfield, are Lts. Billy Joe Brown and George Richardson, platoon leaders, and CWO L. B. McCravey, administrative officer.

Fatal Crash Under Probe

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — More than a half-dozen agencies and organizations today continued their investigations into a fiery crash of a makeshift bus in which 16 Mexican farm workers were killed.

Three of the 32 laborers injured in Monday's accident remained in critical condition.

The victims were cremated when the heavily loaded vehicle smashed into a tree and exploded in flames. Most were asleep on the floor or trapped near the front of the bus—a converted truck with canvas sides and top, and no windows.

The driver, Natividad Manuel Gloria Jr., 20, told the highway patrol he dozed at the wheel. He was booked for investigation of manslaughter.

Barber Shop Is Damaged

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A barber said yesterday his shop windows were smashed and 27 other shops were damaged when he and other owners refused to raise their prices.

Jimmie Colebank said five men threatened to "destroy the shop and harm me" unless he brought his prices into line with the minimum set by the San Antonio Barbers Assn.

Colebank said the men apparently used a pipe to break 15 windows, a neon sign and a door. He estimated damage at about $100.

Colebank cuts hair only by appointment, charging $1.50 per haircut. His employes charge 75 cents for regular cuts.

The San Antonio scale is $1.50 for regular cuts and 1.75 for flattops.

The Associated Master Barbers and Beauticians of Texas, meeting here, approved a resolution calling for an increase throughout the state to $2 per haircut.

Woman, 72, Gets College Degree

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — She had to travel 66 miles a day to attend classes, but Jane E. Larson, 72, didn't mind. She won her bachelors degree in political science Monday at University of Utah's commencement.

"Going back to school is my hobby—a way to keep young," said the mother of four from Ogden, Utah—33 miles north of here.

Mrs. Larson's children have all grown up and left home. She lives with her husband Gus, a retired railroad engineer.

...THE KIND OF LUBRICATION THAT MAKES YOUR CAR RUN BETTER...LONGER

From long experience and from Standard's school training, Chevron and Standard men know just where and when your car needs RPM lubrication that really saves wear and repairs. . . They recommend oil changes only at the intervals your manufacturer specifies for the kind of driving you do:

For City Driving & Short Runs		For Highway Touring	For Dusty Roads
Every 500 Miles In Winter	Every 1000 Miles In Summer	Every 2000 Miles	Every 500 Miles

If you're in doubt about when to change oil, ask them to show you their complete manual of all car makers' specifications—and their new demonstration of oil contaminants... It shows why even famous RPM Supreme motor oil can't protect too long against tiny metal particles and 5 other contaminants that are so harmful to today's high-precision engines.

One look and you'll see that you do need regular lubrication, and oil changes with RPM Supreme, to add months or years to your car's prime of life. And you get the most experienced lubrication care at the Sign of the Chevron.
