Allies Closing In Behind Nazi Lunge

Jap Mindoro Foray Ends Disastrously

Three Warships Lost, Two More Hit, Then Flee

(By The Associated Press)

A JAPANESE naval force shelled American positions on recently-invaded Mindoro island in the Philippines Tuesday but was repulsed, and a Nipponese air attack coordinated with the surface operation did little damage, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

American planes and P-T boats sank three destroyers and scored hits on a battleship and a heavy cruiser, MacArthur said. The battleship, the cruiser and three remaining destroyers withdrew after "inaccurate and fruitless" shelling of the Mindoro coast area.

Promised "Reaction"

This presumably was the "violent reaction" which has been expected from Japan ever since Navy-borne U. S. Army forces landed on the island, 155 miles from Manila, on December 15 after a daring crossing of the Philippine archipelago from Leyte island.

It also was the first time the Japanese Navy had stuck out its neck to any appreciable length since the great battles of the Philippine area October 22-27, in which 14 of their major warships were sunk and more than a score damaged.

Air power met the attacking force offshore and spoiled the aim of its gunners.

The mop-up of isolated Japanese pockets on Leyte continued with another 827 enemy dead being counted.

Clark Field Battered

In other manifestations of U. S. aerial strength at Japan's front door, Liberators again bombed Clark Field, Manila, bringing down 13 Japanese interceptors, and a medium force of possibly 40 B-29's from Saipan yesterday attacked Tokyo for the fifth time in five weeks. They set afire the Musashima aircraft plant and hit other targets. One Superfort was lost.

Amid the increasing evidence that U. S. air power is steadily cutting the arteries of Japan's synthetic East Asia empire, the Nipponese war minister, Field Marshal Gen Sugiyama, told his people yesterday that their chances

Terrific Allied Losses To Nazis Disrupt Time-Table

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Terrific losses suffered by American armies on the Western front have completely disrupted the Allied time-table for the war in Europe.

Authorities here have lost none of their confidence in the ultimate victory over Germany but, as a result of the German advance, they now estimate that victory may be won only by three to six months more of hard fighting than they had believed necessary only two or three weeks ago.

Even incomplete reports from the battle lines have made it evident to strategists here that General Eisenhower has suffered very heavy losses in material—guns, tanks, shells, food and thousands of other items—and also has taken a beating in manpower—killed, captured and wounded.

This means that many weeks which might have been spent in shoving the advance into Germany must now be spent instead in reorganizing and outfitting units battered by the German assault.

It means, in the last analysis, that barring a hoped-for but unlikely break for the Allied side that the fighting in Europe will go on far into 1945.

The great break hoped for is that the Nazi high command will expand its full reserve power on the present offensive and then suffer a complete defeat at the hands of General Eisenhower's reorganized forces.

However, there is no disposition in high Washington quarters to gamble even personal hopes for victory on such a possibility.

Moreover, it is admitted that military intelligence was thrown off guard by the time and place of the enemy assault which also had much to do with its success.

Bad Guessing Blamed For Nazi Success

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Paris, Dec. 27.—An outright underestimation of German striking power coupled with either a failure to learn of, or to appreciate, von Rudstedt's mobile reserve movements behind the lines, appeared more than ever today to be the major factors behind this first serious Allied setback since the successful invasion of Europe.

That would seem to place the responsibility for the Nazi breakthrough high up in the Allied staff and to suggest that any important shakeup in the command—none has materialized as yet—would amount to finding a scapegoat.

No Scapegoat Sought

However, the forthright Allied battle boss, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, has shown no inclination to hunt for scapegoats, either here, or previously during his command of the Mediterranean theater. In this respect it can be recalled that the Allied commander displayed square-fisted directness in supporting his generals right down the line from Field Marshal Montgomery on back in the days when slow progress around Caen brought some public criticism of his British colleague.

Obviously, as a result of the Nazi counterattack, certain Allied troop-shifts have been made. When the enemy broke through his forces were running wild against almost no opposition. Now they are meeting a real opponent.

Forces Of Blow Surprising

It is clear, however, that the Allied command was caught napping more by the force of von Rundstedt's blow than by the fact one was delivered. All of which makes it seem quite certain that someone somewhere made the grievous military mistake of underestimating the enemy.

Headquarters correspondents were told before the breakthrough occurred that sometime during the winter the Germans might be expected to try a counteroffensive.

Allied Surmises

(Associated Press correspondent Wes Gallagher with the U. S. forces in Belgium, reported in a delayed dispatch today that American officials, who believed the morale of Nazi troops was extremely low, thought von Rundtsedt had practically no strategic reserves left for a major attack and that the German plan was to fight a defensive action before the Ruhr valley. He said officials also claimed the luftwaffe was virtually non-existent and that the enemy's gasoline shortage and lack of war material precluded any large-scale offensive.

(Gallagher pointed out this was not the first time U. S. officers had failed to judge correctly the power of the wehrmacht. A faulty estimate was made of Field Marshal Erwin Rommell's forces in Tunisia in February, 1942, just before the Germans came out of Kaid pass, he cabled, adding that the enemy potential also was underestimated along the Rapido river and at the Anzio bridgehead in Italy.)

WESTERN FRONT PICTURE BRIGHTENS—Two, and maybe three, German armies which have powered their way through thinly-manned First Army positions on the Western front, now face the possibility of being bottled up as Allied armies start a squeeze across the base of the German advance. This escape neck, centering around Bastogne, which is again under Allied control, has been narrowed to less than 20 miles.

Mighty Blows Narrow Base Of Smash Into Belgium To Less Than 20 Miles

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Thursday, Dec. 28—German broadcasts acknowledged tremendous Allied counter attacks on both flanks of the Nazi offensive into Belgium last night. The Luxembourg radio asserted the enemy salient had been narrowed to 20 miles and supreme Allied headquarters announced relief troops had reached the heroic American garrison at Bastogne.

The information, coming from assorted sources, could be pieced into a picture cheering to the Allies.

The beleaguered doughboys at Bastogne, who had been encircled since Dec. 20 and gallantly smashing back every German attempt to wipe out their position since then, were reached by a hard-hitting column of American armor which drove up from the south.

Details Not Revealed

The official announcement telling of the garrison's relief gave no details, not even the exact time, but field dispatches reporting events more than 24 hours old said the American forces were within five miles of the besieged Belgian town yesterday.

Dispatches from Associated Press correspondents at the front described this trust as "heavy American forces" and said they had "punched a deep salient into the German southern flank," and made gains of two to four miles.

The forces hammering at Field Marshal von Rundstdt's armies from the south were not officially identified, but German broadcasts last night declared that "Practically the whole Third American Army" was battering at the southern sector.

Some Nazis Withdraw

Berlin said some German forces in the frontier region of Luxembourg had withdrawn into pillboxes at the approaches to the Westwall (Siegfried line) and also told of powerful counter attacks being thrown against Field Marshal von Runstedt from the north.

The German account said one of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L.

Germans Setting Fire To Vehicles In Celles Sector

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN BELGIUM, Dec. 27 (AP)—Returning fliers reported today that German Panzers were setting fire to their vehicles in the Celles area at the point of the Nazis' deepest penetration toward the Meuse river.

American armor in heavy clashes with Nazi tank columns in the vicinity of Celles knocked out numerous enemy tanks and took more than 450 prisoners in cleaning up Celles alone.

As American fighter bombers swept over German columns for the fourth straight day, harassed Panzers on the Marche-Manhay line—north shoulder of the German salient—dropped their offensive action and began to dig in defensively.

This put them in a most unfavorable role, since armor never has been able to "dig in" successfully against determined infantry attack.

Churchill Is Fired At By ELAS Sniper

By STEPHEN BARBER
Associated Press Staff Wrjter

ATHENS, Thursday, Dec. 28.—Prime Minister Churchill, who came here to help solve the armed strife which has rent this country, was fired upon by an ELAS sniper yesterday morning as he stood outside the British embassy.

The bullet whistled by him and struck a young woman 300 yards away.

This was but one incident in a tense, dramatic day in which the opposing Greek factions agreed unanimously upon a regency as a principal step toward ending the civil warfare here and Churchill told a press conference that he, Premier Stalin and President Roosevelt would take up the Greek question at a meeting to be held in the near future.

King Cool To Regency

In view of the agreement of the all-party conference upon a regency, the next step appeared up to King George, now in London. He was reported to be cool to the regency proposal when it was first broached by Greek leaders.

Churchill told newsmen that when the leaders of the three great powers get together soon, the Greek question would be "one of the most important items on the agenda."

"We feel our course has been absolutely right," he asserted. "In August, in consultation with President Roosevelt, we agreed to bring in food and relief and help until things settled down. Premier Stalin was consulted and gave his consent to this course.

"At Caserta, Britain was invited by the all-party government, including the Communists and the EAM (national liberation party) to come to Greece."

Date Is Major Difference

The only difference of opinion in the conference concerned the date which the regency should be established, it was said by an authoritative source, with the majority urging that the plan be effected immediately.

After the regency decision had been reached, Archbishop Damaskinos, the presiding officer, adjourned the conference.

(The British Broadcasting company said in London it had received a dispatch from an Athens correspondent quoting Prime Minister Churchill as telling a press conference in that city that he, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin would review the Greek situation in a meeting soon. He added that if the Greeks did not soon solve their differences an "international trust might be necessary to rule the country.")

During the day peace proposals offered by the left-wing ELAS were declared unacceptable by members of the Greek Populist party. However, other conference delegates agreed to consider the ELAS terms. The Populists are a royalist, conservative group.

Churchill, whose words to newsmen at the embassy frequently were drowned out by the sound of gunfire, said determined-

Nazi Forces In Budapest Split

LONDON, Thursday, Dec. 28.—Russian troops, in a bold crossing of the eastern branch of the Danube north of Budapest, spit the German-Hungarian forces defending the city and are fighting house-to-house on its western edges, Moscow announced last night.

The crossing of the river, which resulted in the Soviet capture of Szentendrei island, was accompanied by the killing of more than 3,000 German and Hungarians and destruction and capture of many tanks and self-propelled guns, the Russians reported.

Nazi Losses Heavy

German losses in Budapest and its suburbs also were heavy as "Soviet soldiers carried house after house and quarter after quarter by storm," they added.

Part of the divided enemy garrison has been driven into the mountainous and wooded area in the Danube bend north of Budapest, while the remainder is tightly clenched inside the capital.

The Russian forces on Szentendrei island established contact with their comrades who had moved up to the river's west bank.

Other Red Army troops stormed into Budapest from the south, west and east, the communique reporting numerous new penerations of the city limits, including capture of the Kelenfold district in the southwest.

Others Slash Northwest

In a strong, fresh thrust northwest of Budapest toward the Austrian border, Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukin's Soviet forces forged up the Budapest-Vienna railroad and captured Felsogalla, 24 miles west of the Hungarian capital, and took Stulo and Nyergesufalu, both on the Danube.

Thus, the armies of Tolbuhkin and Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky both had reached points approximately 96 miles from Vienna and 65 from Bratislava, Tolbuhkin from the south and Malinovsky from the east.

Freeing Of Bastogne Troops And Fierce Yank Push Menaces Whole Nazi Salient

STAVELOT SECTOR, Belgium, Dec. 27 (AP)—American tank and infantry forces, driving hard from the south, dealt Field Marshal von Rundstedt the greatest blow to date today when they relieved the besieged garrison at Bastogne and punched a deep salient into the German southern flank.

The American troops at Bastogne had been encircled for more than a week and were supplied by air. Today they reported destroying 32 German tanks in repulsing two attacks. Earlier in the week they destroyed 55, making a total of 87 destroyed by this garrison alone.

Absorbed Heavy Fire

Up to the time of being relieved, the Bastogne units were the last important force fighting behind German lines. At times the garrison fought in a perimeter of less than 2,000 yards diameter, absorbing the concentrated fire of German guns and hurling back tanks.

Von Rundstedt's entire southern flank appeared to be sagging unred the American onslaught as gains of two to four miles were registered. Unless he can quickly halt the American advance, particularly in the Bastogne sector, the German marshal's Belgium bulge will be in a critical condition.

Nazi losses continued to mount during the day, with partial reports recording destruction of more than 250 tanks by American ground forces while von Rundstedt was suffering his first serious setback on one sector of the front since the offensive began.

The besieged troops received hundreds of tons of supplies, principally ammunition, today. It was dropped from trains of C-47 transport planes which flew from both Britain and France with their cargoes.

The first transport slipped over the German lines at dawn and dropped a unit of paratroopers to guide the other C-47's to the scene.

Half an hour afterward they radioed back that they had landed

Bombers Batter Traffic Centers

LONDON, Dec. 27 (AP)—At least 2,500 Allied warplanes roaring over western Germany from bases in Britain and on the continent today showered explosives on eleven big freight yards clogged with traffic bound for Field Marshal von Rundstedt's offensive in Belgium.

Flying through clear skies, more than 600 Liberators and Fortresses of the American Eighth Air force, screened by 400 Mustangs and Thunderbolts, pounded Gerolstein, Euskirchen, Andernach and Homburg in the Bonn-Coblenz area, Kaiserlautern west of Mannheim and Fulda, 60 miles south of Kassel.

Nine U. S. Planes Lost

Five bombers and four fighters of the Eighth Air force were missing, but two of the fighters were believed to have landed safely in friendly territory.

A communique said the bombers encountered no aerial opposition and only meager to moderate flak over the targets.

One group of probably 45 Mustangs tangled with formations of 300 Messerschmitts and Fockwulfs prowling over the Bonn area and shot down 29. Two other groups did ground strafing, destroying locomotives, freight cars and trucks near Trier and east of Bonn.

Clear weather over most of Belgium gave a free hand to fighter bombers of the Ninth Air force based on the continent and they

The Forecast For 1945—By Roger Babson

Slight Business Decline Is Seen

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Just prior to each New Year, The Morning Avalanche and several hundred other leading American newspapers present as a special feature the business and financial forecast of the twelvemonth ahead by the celebrated economist, Roger Babson. Herewith, Mr. Babson's view of what 1945 will bring to the United States in the way of business changes—and why.)

Thumbnail Outlook For 1945

LOOK for these developments: Farmers' cash income will approximate that of 1944, which was $20 billions. Both bituminous and anthracite mining will run 5% below a year ago. Petroleum output will be upped 5%. Iron and steel will decline 10%. A similar drop is in prospect for chemical manufactures. Lumber output will increase 5%. The paper and shoe industries will run along on the same levels as during 1944. Industrial employment will be 7% less and factory pay rolls will decline 10%. Greatest single expansion will come in the construction and building group, which will show an increase of 25% from the low levels of 1944's first six months. Look for a sharp drop in retail trade, especially in luxury items. Electric power output will be reduced 5% as war contracts are cut back. For basically the same reason railroad freight ton mileage will fall 15%.

General Business

1. A year ago the United States Babsonchart Index of the Physical Volume of Business registered 148.6; today it registers 138, justifying my forecast of a year ago. The Canadian Babsonchart Index of the Physical Volume of Business registered 206.9 a year ago; today it registers 197. 1945 will show a reduction of more than 10% both in United States and Canadian business. Furthermore, most of the following comments apply to both countries.

BABSON

2. War production is already being cut back and this reduction will rapidly continue through 1945. Even those railroads and industries which expect to benefit from a long war with Japan will be disappointed.

3. The re-conversion of industry from war to peace business will increase during every month of 1945. Furthermore, time required for re-conversion will not be as great as most people believe.

4. Inventories quoted at their price values, rather than volumes, will continue, as a whole, during 1945 about as during 1944. Raw material piles will be larger, but manufactured goods will be smaller.

5. Population increases in the United States during 1945 will be about 700,000, but the birth of new babies will fall off somewhat.

Retail Commodity Prices

6. Rationing will continue through the most of 1945. During the early part of the year, I expect to see further restrictions especially in connection with meats, canned goods, etc.

7. The retail prices of most necessities and some luxuries will be higher during 1945 than at present. The prices of some of the luxuries, such as furs, have already collapsed.

8. Steel prices of goods needed for peacetime manufacture should be a little higher, but prices of the heavy war goods will decline. This applies also to the heavy chemicals.

9. The wholesale prices of raw materials in general may decline during 1945, but most consumer goods will hold firm or sell at higher prices. For both gasoline and bituminous coal, there may be price concessions.

10. The great question mark of 1945 will be how, to whom and at what price the government will dispose of its billions of dollars worth of unneeded supplies.

Farm Outlook

11. The weather will be the greatest factor in farm production and prices during 1945. The weather has been exceptionally good on the whole for the past few years; but sooner or later we will have a severe drouth or an early freeze.

12. Pending a weather upset, more bushels of corn and wheat and more bales of cotton will be raised in 1945 than ever before in our history. Although some prices may slide off, the total farm income for the first half of 1945 should hold up.

13. There should be a 15% decline in hog slaughter and a 5% increase in cattle slaughter.

14. Dairy products will continue to increase both in volume and in price. I am forecasting at least a 3% rise in volume.

15. Farmers will start in 1945 to work again for legislation on their parity program, due to fear of a collapse in all farm prices after the war.

Taxes

16. Taxes will not be increased during 1945 and some will be reduced; in fact, some nuisance taxes will be eliminated altogether.

17. The federal debt will continue to increase during 1945.

18. Whatever is done about taxes, the cost of living will continue to rise during 1945.

19. Providing jobs for returning soldiers will be the big political football of 1945. I am not now prepared to forecast what will happen in this connection.

20. Through a coalition of Republicans and Conservative Demo-

Loss Of U. S. LSM Off Leyte Announced

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP) — The Navy announced today the loss off Leyte of the medium landing ship LSM 20 as a result of enemy action.

At the same time the Navy identified as the 2,200-ton destroyer Cooper the vessel recently lost in the same Philippine waters as a result of night action against the enemy.

The loss of the destroyer, not identified by name at the time, was announced by General MacArthur in a Dec. 5 communique.

Commanding officers of both vessels survived, the Navy said.

No estimate was given of the number of casualties.

The normal complement of the Cooper was estimated at 275 and of the LSM 20, four officers and 48 enlisted men.

Lt. John R. Bradley, of Oak Creek, Colo., was in command of the LSM 20, and Comdr. Mell A. Peterson of Algona, Iowa, commanded the Cooper.

Aging General March Deplores Failure Of Allies To Hit Advancing Nazis 'On Nose'

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27 — Gen. Peyton C. March, on his 80th birthday, today deplored what he termed the Allied failure to hit the advancing German armies "on the nose."

The World war One chief of staff, also:

1. Declared a complete breakdown in Allied military intelligence preceded the Nazi counter-offensive.

2. Intimated that talk of "unconditional surrender" had hampered military operations.

3. Expressed doubt that Russia would join in the war against Japan.

Clad in brown mufti and a gay Christmas necktie, the retired general gave his views to reporters in his Washington apartment.

One year ago he said the Germans wouldn't be beaten in 1944.

And the way von Rundstedt is pushing the Allies back, March won't even predict victory for the Allies in 1945. He'll only go so far as to say the Germans are going to lose, some time.

The Japanese are even tougher, he said.

Waiting for his birthday cake, baked big enough to hold 80 candles, March said that one reason the Allied military intelligence "broke down completely" is Hitler himself.

"In the other countries, we depended a lot on the underground for invaluable information. Hitler got rid of all such elements in Germany itself. He has a homogeneous nation."

March won't accept the theory that the weather interferes in such operations.

He says it's high time we stop blaming the weather and the terrain . . .

"I never saw it snow on one side and not on the other . . ."

General Eisenhower's statement that the war in Europe could be won by Christmas "if everyone does his part" was "too iffy" and never should have been made, March added. It just wasn't "in the cards."

He said it was very important now to see how long it will take Eisenhower to blunt the German offensive.

"We're hitting them on the side, everywhere it seems but on the

THE WAY HOME

"I WONDER how long it will take me to get adjusted to civilian life?" mused a boy in service in a letter to his mother the other day. "Do you suppose they'll offer courses the way they train rookies so we may get on to the ropes and not pull too many boners?"

He was joking, of course, but he posed a question that has already become significant since many servicemen are being discharged daily, due to physical disabilities or other reasons. Sometimes soldiers find it a harder task to be demobilized than it was to adjust to the rigors of military life.

RECENTLY we heard of a young man who returned to his former job after serving for a time in the air corps. He was unhappy because the salary, while the same which he had received before the war, did not approach the pay he had been receiving from Uncle Sam.

Coronet magazine in its January issue has published a special supplement, titled "The Way Home." Writers are Harrison Salisbury, Eric Johnston, Margaret Culkin Banning and Maj. Gen. Walter Weible. Because many of the problems they discuss have already presented themselves in Lubbock to Red Cross workers and others who have dealings with discharged men we are quoting from them today.

In his "Preface to a Homecoming," Mr. Salisbury has portrayed the mind of the average GI returning to the era of blue serge suits and colored ties. He voiced his thoughts, shows him that he is no different from any other veteran who has to come back early to civilian life. His attitude, Mr. Salisbury counsels, should be much the same as it was when he entered the service in the first place. For, figuratively speaking, he's going into the Army again—the civilian Army. If he does that, the veteran will find that things begin to make sense again . . . that he's back in place doing the things he was meant to do.

Eric Johnston, head of the United States Chamber of Commerce, discusses the problem of employment after discharge in his "Getting Back to Business." Incidentally, he asks service men to address any business questions they may have to him at his office in the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Washington, D. C. He discourages veterans from falling in with the all-too-prevalent civilian theory that he is a frail thing and cannot do anything for himself. He warns against the feeling that business will be a dull existence after the excitement of the battlefield, that they are rusty and will have a hard time getting back into the swing of business, that the Army has changed their ability to use or accept authority. All of these things can be conquered, says Johnston, and he stands ready to help any discharged soldiers who ask for help.

MRS. BANNING passes on "A Word to GI Wives", when she tells them not to expect too much of the returned husband. Realizing that there may be a definite let-down after the first ecstasy of return has passed, she makes helpful suggestions for both the veteran and his wife. She counsels the wife NOT to maintain the independence she has had while her husband was away. (Here we might interrupt to say that suggestion will be carried out by many wives of our acquaintance. A young woman said the other day she is afraid her husband will expect her to keep the car in running order since during his absence she has learned how to keep it overhauled and going; something of which she was totally ignorant only a few months ago. "I want him to reassume the responsibilities he had before he left," she added. We believe many other wives will feel exactly that way.)

Mrs. Banning says the wife should encourage her returned soldier husband to seek and enjoy the company of other men occasionally. After all, that's what he is used to and it is a normal reaction. Beyond everything though he needs love, not the movie kind but the love that expresses itself in understanding, sympathy and thoughtfulness, she says.

In his essay on "Living in Peace," Maj. Gen. Weible says veterans who think "home isn't what it used to be" are approaching the problem from the wrong direction. The veteran is the one who has changed. He should not isolate himself from the people about him. He should get back into the community life as quickly as possible. The veteran should not hesitate to talk things over Gen. Weible suggests. He should assume his personal responsibilities, live in the present and not in the future and realize that mental adjustment takes time. All the human mind and body require to adapt themselves to different circumstances are proper direction and the time to complete the job.

Returned servicemen have done their part toward winning the peace. Now their job is to pitch in and use the same energy toward helping to win a permanent peace.

Mrs. George Bradford, sister of the bridegroom and matron of honor, wore a brown suit and gardenia corsage. Sam Sanders was best man. Ida Kay Bradford was flower girl and Tom Bradford was ring bearer.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will be at home near Idalou.

A reception was held following the ceremony. The serving table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a three tiered wedding cake.

Dempsey Inauguration Ceremonies Planned

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 27. (AP)—Ceremonies marking the inauguration of Gov. John J. Dempsey of New Mexico were being planned today by the Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce for Jan. 1.

The official oath taking will be held in the Hall of Representatives at noon, followed by a public reception in the afternoon. At Governor Dempsey's request there will be no inaugural ball.

The Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce named Dr. Reginal Fisher, assistant director of museums of the state, as general chairman of the ceremonies. The chamber undertakes the planning of the ceremonies when the incoming governor is succeeding himself. In other instances, the outgoing governor appoints a chairman.

In the meantime, Governor Dempsey has hinted that he will recommend a type of civil service for school teachers when the state legislature convenes Jan. 9. It also was believed that he would recommend expansion of the state health department and seek a constitutional amendment to permit absentee voting for state and county as well as federal candidates.

Grandma Switches Millions of Mothers To Her Idea of Mutton Suet and Medication

"Old Reliable" For Relieving Chest Colds' Muscle Tightness—Coughing, Neuralgic and Rheumatic Pain, Chapped Lips and Nostrils, Simple Bruises and Sprains and Many Other Home Uses.

Grandma was a great one for "rubbing" the miseries of chest colds and many other simple pains and aches of her family. The rub she used was medicated in her own way but she insisted that it contain mutton suet. She liked the way mutton suet disappeared as it helped carry medication to nerve ends in the skin to relieve pain.

Today science has modernized Grandma's old-time pain relief principle to bring you Penetro, the salve with a base that contains old fashioned mutton suet plus 5 active ingredients. Now mothers everywhere are praising this newer relief and thanking Grandma for her idea that is switching habits of long standing. During this season of colds, Penetro is so helpful in easing chest muscle tightness, soothing chest rawness, loosening phlegm and relieving coughs. Rubbed on chest, throat, back it melts instantly, quickly vanishes to act 3 ways—(1) To relieve pain at nerve ends in skin. (2) To ease chest muscle tightness by counter-irritation. (3) To soothe irritated breath passages through inhaled aromatic vapors.

Many households call Penetro a real friend in so many other ways, too—as it eases neuralgic and rheumatic pain, takes sting from chapped lips and nostrils, acts as soothing dressing for bruises, minor cuts. No wonder mothers today are praising Penetro and druggists everywhere are recommending it. So clean, so white, so easy-to-use and such a comfort-bringer for so many simple every day home needs. Do as millions are doing—today get your jar of economical Penetro.

For Joyful Cough Relief, Try This Home Mixture

Real Relief. Big Saving. So Easy. No Cooking.

This splendid recipe is used by millions every year, because it makes such a dependable, effective medicine for coughs due to colds. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its soothing effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of very effective and quick-acting cough medicine, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of coughs, giving you delightful relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

Beseiged American Outfit Stands Fast In Bastogne; Many Wounded

By COLLIE SMALL
United Press War Correspondent

WITH AMERICAN FORCES On The Western Front, Dec. 26.—A famous American outfit, surrounded and under constant attack for the past week, is standing fast in the Belgian highway center of Bastogne tonight while this relief column advances steadily through the Nazi ring within a few miles of the beseiged town.

From the surrounding hills, vanguards of the relieving force can see the glow of fire in Bastogne and radio messages from the trapped Americans say the roar of our approaching guns can be heard clearly over the German cannonading.

May Take Some Time

It may take some time to break the siege, but ammunition, food and medical supplies are being flown into Bastogne and there is every confidence that this column will get through.

The Americans in Bastogne were overrun in the German advance, but held their ground and prevented the enemy from free use of the roads running north to Leige and northwest to Namur.

The Germans are trying desperately to reopen the roads through Bastogne because day by day American fighter bombers are bringing more and more of their supply roads under fire, imperilling their advanced spearheads farther west.

Bottleneck Still Corked

But the Bastogne bottleneck is still corked tightly and the encircled garrison in winning new fame the bloody way, taking its own losses and piling up Nazi dead.

For a week the Germans have been shelling the town and throwing armor and infantry against the American perimeter. Each time they have been driven back with heavy losses until the roads entering Bastogne were littered with their dead.

Many Americans Wounded

The last radio contact with the garrison revealed, however, that there are many wounded Americans inside the town and it is doubtful that there are enough medical supplies.

Nevertheless, they radioed that the men were in good spirits and in complete control of the situation, well-equipped with food and ammunition, and killing plenty of Germans.

Earlier today, I watched an immense convoy of hundreds of C-47 cargo planes skim over the snowy Ardennes hilltops to drop supplies to the garrison.

Drop Their Cargoes

The unarmed transports flew so low through a winding valley that they were level with our hilltop positions south of Bastogne.

As they cross the battle lines, puffs of smoke from exploding flak burst out in the formation, but they flew steadily on and dropped their cargoes out of sight over the rolling hills.

High above the twisting stream of transports, twin-tailed lightning fighters danced across the flak-studded sky above them and there appeared to be German fighters trying to get at the convoy, but they were to high to be seen.

Doughboys moving forward with the relief column watched in amazement as the long line of planes shuttled overhead. Then they went back to their job, which is to breach the German siege line and win firm control of Bastogne.

Transfers Cripple LAAF Cage Squad

With one of the toughest service teams in the Southwest, the Falcons of Frederick, Oklahoma, coming to LAAF Friday night, the Fliers were hit hard early this week by personnel transfers, losing one of their two coaches and two regulars from the team.

Capt. Antohny Ferri, for many months Director of Physical Training at LAAF and co-coach of the Flier's basketball team, James W. Brown, big center, and Billy McCloud, crack guard, all left the field early this week to take up assignments at new stations.

The "Falcons" have won 11 and lost one this season, beating the Norman Zoomers, Southern Methodist, and several strong AAF aggregations. The Navy Skyjackets handed them their one defeat, holding the Falcons to 44 points, their lowest of the season. The Fliers have also lost only one game, but have twice been held to less than 44 points.

Lt. Maurice E. Johns, player-coach for the Fliers, will probably start at forward with Bruce Prior, shifting Gerald McCarty, the other regular forward, to the center position left vacant by the transfer of Brown.

The Falcons are expected to start Ronald Allen, of Kentucky and John Bukovich, a former Milwaukee semi-pro at the forward spots, with Roy Pugh, six foot, six inch, 200-pound center from S. M. U. at the pivot position, and Lee Woodward of Whittier College, and John Cramb of Youngstown College as guards.

The two teams are playing entirely different circuits and do not meet any of the same competition. Both will be trying to keep their respective top spots. The game will be played in the LAAF gym, starting at 8 o'clock.

Both Brown and McCloud, playing their first competition here have been powerful cogs in the smoothly operating LAAF machine. Both will be sorely missed by the Fliers.

Captain Ferri came here December 5, 1942. An all-around athlete himself, he has been largely responsible for the comprehensive and sucessful program of both competitive and recreational sports at LAAF.

Tulsa Bowl Veterans Set To Seek Revenge

MIAMI, Dec. 27 (U.P.) — Tulsa's football players today settled down to the serious business of revenge against Georgia Tech in the Orange Bowl game, after being feted and frolicked about facetiously by promoters of the New Year's day extravaganza.

The revenge motif by Tulsa was intensified because it was in a bowl game at New Orleans last year that Georgia Tech eked out a 20 to 18 victory and the rematch of the teams for this classic has stimulated interest.

Six of the Tulsa players will be appearing in their third straight bowl game, although not all of them as members of the Golden Hurricane eleven.

Fullback Camp Wilson, who spearheads the Tulsa ground gaining attack, played for Hardin-Simmons in the 1943 Sun Bowl and was with Tulsa last year against Tech. End Clyde Goodnight, tackle Glen Durgeis and the one-armed guard, Ellis Jones, share with Coach Henry Frnka an especially strong desire to win this bowl game since they were with him on losing ventures in the 1943 and 1944 Sugar Bowl games.

The other bowl veterans are halfbacks Maurice Wade and Ed Shedlosky, who oddly enough opposed each other in the 1942 Sugar Bowl game, Wade as a Missouri player and Shedlosky as a member of the winning Fordham squad. Both players were with Tulsa last season.

Jimmy Kitts Shifted To New Navy Duties

OTTUMWA, Ia., Dec. 27. (AP) — Lt. James R. (Jimmy) Kitts, coach of the Ottumwa naval air station football team, and Bob Steuber, former Missouri grid great, have been transferred from the base to duty elsewhere, it was announced today.

Lt. Kitts, former Rice and Virginia Polytechnical Institute grid mentor, was detached for duty in the Pacific after more than two years at the air station.

Boudreau Again Tops AL Players

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—American leaguers last season tumbled four major league fielding records and tied another, while Manager Lou Boudreau of Cleveland brilliantly added top defensive shortstop honors to his league batting championship, official figures disclosed today.

Cat-like Boudreau's hitting mark of .327 was the league's lowest winning average in 36 years, but his fielding record of .978 broke the league standard at short and paced the Indians to a tie with New York for team fielding laurels at .974.

The Tribe pilot shattered the major league record for participating in double plays at short with 134, toppling the mark of 128 set by Horace Ford of Cincinnati in 1928.

Two other major league records fell when Frankie Hayes of Philadelphia matched the National loop performance of Cincinnati's Ray Mueller by catching 155 consecutive games. This bettered the 1909 record of 133 straight games caught by George Gibson of Pittsburgh and 151 appearances by Ray Schalk of the White Sox in 1920.

Although George McQuinn of St. Louis led the first basemen in fielding with .994, Rudy York of Detroit cracked the major league record for participating in double plays at the initial sack with 163. The former mark was 157 shared by the late Lou Gehrig of New York and McQuinn. Shortstop John Sulivan of Washington tied a major league record when he had a hand in five twin killings in a single game Aug. 13.

Rounding out the league's all-star defensive infield were George Stirnweiss of New York at second base (.982) and Mark Christman of the Browns at third base (.972).

Best fielding outfielder was Chicago's Thurman Tucker who handled 430 chances with only four errors for .991. Johnny Lindell of the Yankees (.986) accepted the

Schoolboy Finals To Be Filmed This Year

DALLAS, Dec. 27. (AP)—In addition to the earned privilege of battling for the schoolboy football championship of Texas when they meet in the Memorial stadium at Austin Saturday, the Highland Park Highlanders and the Port Arthur Yellowjackets are going to break into the movies.

The Texas Interscholastic League, in cooperation with the Texas High School Football Coaches association, has made plans to film the entire show. The completed movie will include pictures of the arrival of the contesting elevens in the state capital, their final workouts Friday afternoon, numerous crowd scenes, close-ups of the rival coaches and their players, the entire game and presentation of the championship trophy to the winners.

Several copies of the film are to be produced and kept on file in the league library, from which they may be obtained for brief periods by any high schools in the organization.

Highland Park and Port Arthur also have arranged to have extra copies made in order that each may have one of its own.

Coach Rusty Russell put his Scots through their first outdoor workout for the game today on a muddy field. The Scots devoted particular attention to the ground game both on offense and defense.

Russell reported his squad in good condition and it showed a lot of pep in today's rehearsal. A longer and harder workout tomorrow will complete preparations at home and the squad will leave in private cars Friday morning for Austin, arriving in time for an afternoon workout.

Midget Star Leads Sooner Five To Win Over Raiders

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 27 (AP)—Harold (Scooter) Hines, the University of Oklahoma's 5-foot, 5-inch forward, hooped 27 points to lead the Sooners to a 61-31 victory over Texas Tech in the All-College basketball tournament here tonight.

Completely outclassing Baylor, the Oklahoma Aggies eased to a 63-16 triumph here tonight in the night opener.

In the afternoon session, Rice Institute scattered a plucky West Texas State Teachers 60-44 and the University of Arkansas put down an enterprising but desperately undersized University of Denver five 50-36.

The Aggie-Baylor game wasn't even close and the only cheer from the 3,000 fans came when W. W. Baker hit the Texans' only goal in the first half just as the gun sounded ending the period. The score stood 30-3 at refreshment time.

Coach Hank Iba of the Aggies used all 16 players on his bench. Weldon Kern of the Aggies led the scoring with 18 points and Dan Herod of Baylor toppled his team with seven.

Marlin Hicks, Baylor's 6-foot, 6-inch center, played a fine defensive game, holding the Aggies' 7-foot Bob Kurland to eight points. Kurland, however, did a creditable job directing floor play.

Before the spectators could get comfortable for the second contest, the West Texas Teachers crew had jumped into a 21-16 lead with an amazing exhibition of shots from all angles.

Then Rice poured it on and less than five minutes later they went ahead 22-21. The score at the half was 26-24.

In the second half, West Texas Teachers stayed with the Owls the first few minutes but then Bill Henry, Rice's 6-foot, 8-inch center, found his shooting eye and they fell far behind.

Henry rocked the basket with 28 points to lead the scoring. Clark Johnson, West Texas Teachers' shifty center, topped 21 shots to keep his team in the tilt the first half.

Next Monday the Eskimo Open goes on as usual.

It's an 18-hole medal affair with the entry fees going into prize money.

Port Arthur Drills In Rain For Battle

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 27 (AP)—The Port Arthur Yellow Jackets sloshed through a downpour of rain in a final scrimmage session here this afternoon in preparation for their state title game with the Highland Park Scotties at Austin Saturday.

Coach Tom Dennis, announced that he would leave for the capital city tomorrow morning with a squad of 24 men with other members of the squad following Friday and Saturday morning.

Bert Reeder, husky first line guard, will definitely be out of the line up but Charles Gay, 161 or Charles Mingle, 180 pound All District guard, who has been out with injuries since the Goose Creek game, will replace Reeder, Dennis said.

Grid Field Covered For Saturday Game

AUSTIN, Dec. 27 (AP)—A gradual clearing of dropping, drizzling clouds with sunshine by Saturday for the Port Arthur-Highland Park (Dallas) High school football championship game here is promised by the weather bureau.

The Memorial stadium gridiron, locale of the title game, has been under cover during rains of the past few days.

CANADA TO KEEP RACES

OTTAWA, Dec. 27. (U.P.) — Canada is not likely to follow the lead of the United States in closing up race tracks for the duration because the sport still flourishes in England and other nations of the United Kingdom and because the revenue from it is needed, inquiry in official government circles revealed today.

Frogs Lose Star End For Jan. 1

FORT WORTH, Dec. 27. (AP) — Coach Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian today announced the loss of Zeke Chronister, regular end, for the Cotton Bowl game with Oklahoma A. and M. but refused to retreat from his optimistic statements that "it will be a battle and there may be some surprises."

Meyer had received a letter from Chronister, who played 275 minutes of the regular season, that he would stay with his job with a chemical company in Chicago. Chronister had left upon close of the campaign with the statement that he did not know whether he would be able to return.

"Of course, the loss of Chronister hurts since we didn't have much reserve strength anyway," Meyer said. "However, I still can't see how they get this 19½-point stuff (that's what some of the wagering fraternity are handicapping the Horned Frogs). Besides," and the coach smiled, "I've seen lots of things in coaching football for 22 years, but I've never seen a team score a half point."

Meyer was even optimistic about the weather. It has been raining in Dallas all this week but Dutch opined, "that's a good sign. That means it will be beautiful in a day or two and we'll have perfect weather for the game."

Harry Mullins, a field-goal specialist, will replace Chronister in the starting line-up against the Aggies. That would reduce the weight of the line somewhat except that Meyer revealed that some of his boys had gained poundage and that he's having a heavier team in the Cotton Bowl than played the regular season. Now the Aggie line will boast only a 12-pounds-to-the-man margin. In the backfield the Sooners are three pounds heavier.

"We naturally are underdogs," Meyer said, "But believe me, if they beat us by any 19 points I'll have to have a strong pill."

In fact, Dutch gave the impression that if Oklahoma A. and M. beat him at all he'd have to have a pill or two or three.

National And Individual Incomes Break All Records And Level Off

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—The national income broke all records again in 1944, stepping up to approximately $159,000,000,000, the Commerce department announced today.

But it added that the nation now has passed the peak of its wartime economic activity.

Business hit the top early in the year and levelled off.

Commerce department experts don't think 1945 will be as active.

Here are the official estimates for 1944—all new records:

1. "National product": 197 billion dollars. This is the total value of goods and services produced. In 1943 it was 186.5 billion and in 1929 only 88.6 billion.

National Income

2. "National income": 159 billion dollars. This is defined as all income earned by individuals through participation in production (wages, salaries, dividends, interest). Last year it was 147.9 billion. In 1939 it was 70.8 billion.

3. "Income payments to individuals": 155 billion dollars. In some ways this is a better economic yardstick than "national income" because it consists of money actually received by individuals. It doesn't include the retained earnings of corporations. It does include social security benefits and payments to dependents of servicemen, which aren't a part of "national income."

Income payments last year were 142.3 billion. In 1939 they happened to be the same as national income, 80.8 billion.

A Commerce department economist broke down the 1944 figure of 197 billion dollars in "national product" this way:

War purchases — 85 billion; Consumer spending—96.6 billion (a new record, announced last week); governmental non-war spending — 13 billion; "Private capital formation" — 2.6 billion; (total—197.2 billion.)

"Private capital formation" is a technical term for such items as private construction, private purchases of machinery and other producers' goods, and changes in business inventories and foreign trade balance.

The Commerce department said that net income of farm operators and other unincorporated business showed only small gains over 1943.

Retention Of Rayburn As Speaker Planned

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP) — Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House appropriations committee said the Democratic majority plans to retain Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) as Speaker of the 79th Congress.

He said the Democrats, who will caucus next Tuesday, plan no change in the House organization.

I discovered an amazing way to New STRENGTH.. better LOOKS!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

Getting value out of the food you eat is your No. 1 health problem whether you eat 500 or 2,000 pounds yearly.

To do this, scientists say, you must have an adequate supply of natural stomach digestive juices and rich, red-blood must be present.

Improper diet, overwork, undue worries, colds, the flu or other illness often impairs the stomach's digestive functions and reduces the red-blood strength.

A person who is operating on only a 70 to 75% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped.

Undigested food sours, causes gas . . . bloating . . . fails to supply the necessary body energy . . tissue repair . . . often resulting in nervousness and loss of energy.

So with ample stomach digestive juices PLUS RICH, RED-BLOOD you should enjoy that sense of well-being which denotes physical fitness . . . mental alertness!

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need as it is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient.

These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat . . . to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality . . . pep . . . become animated . . . more attractive!

Build Sturdy Health and Help America Win

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic builds sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 20 oz. sizes. S.S.S. Co.

of victory depend upon the ramming attacks of their suicide fliers.

Almost at the same time Sugiyama was addressing the national Diet, Superfortresses were bombing Tokyo and the Japanese claimed that two of the huge planes were brought down by defending fighters which deliberately crashed into them. The Japanese said 50 planes participated; that nine were shot down, five others probably, and 27 damaged. The Japanese admitted damage to industrial plants.

Iwo Is Bombarded

U. S. planes and warships again bombarded Iwo Jima, the small Japanese island half way between Tokyo and Saipan, hitting airstrips and coast defenses. Iwo Jima is one of the bases Japanese planes use in raiding the B-29 base at Saipan.

Destruction of a large Japanese aircraft carrier, six warships and 20 other vessels by American submarines was reported by the U. S. Navy in a communique on undersea operations in the Pacific. This brought to 1,090 the number of Japanese ships sunk, probably sunk or damaged since Pearl Harbor.

Toll of Subs Heavy

Navy Secretary Forrestal said U. S. submarines alone had accounted for 3,500,000 tons of Japanese shipping. He added it was "with true regret that we are unable to tell" the full story of undersea activities because of the necessity of keeping information from the enemy.

Another significant blow against Japan was a raid Tuesday by U. S. Mustang fighters of the 14th Air force on Tsinan, Japanese-occupied Shantung province in North China, giving rise to speculation that some agreement had been reached with the Communists of North China to permit operations from their territory.

nose," he said wryly.

"All this talk of unconditional surrender and what we're going to do to them hasn't been very helpful to us," he declared.

In doubting that Russia ever will get into the war against Japan, he said:

"I suppose this government is trying to get Siberian bases and this was the year when we were in the best position to demand them. But don't forget that Stalin once told a Japanese 'I am an Asiatic too.'"

Asked if he could pin down reasonably the probable length of the war, he said:

"Well, I no longer count by anything but decades. So come back on my 90th birthday and I'll tell you."

Democratization By Court Hailed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (U.P.) — Charles H. Houston, attorney for two negro railway labor groups, today hailed the recent Supreme court ruling on railway unions as the beginning of a "democratization" in working conditions on the nation's railroads.

The court's decision held that under the Railway Labor Act a union which has won collective bargaining rights must represent all members craft, including all minority groups even though they may not belong to the union.

Major Victory For Houston

The ruling represented a major victory for Houston, who acted on behalf of two locomotive firemen on Southern railroads. The firemen claimed that under a 1941 labor contract between the Brotherhood and 21 Southeastern railroads the union refused to bargain on their behalf and had placed economic restrictions on their promotion and employment. By tradition, negroes are not permitted to beloing to the brotherhood.

Houston charged that the 1941 agreement had been pushed through with the help of the National Mediation board "which has always been anti-negro."

To File Suits

"Now," he said, "we expect to file suits against every single railroad which was a party to the Southeastern agreement and have it set aside."

Houston, who is general counsel for the Association of Colored Railway Trainmen and Locomotive Firemen and the International Association of Railroad Employes, said "we also are going to insist that the majority union give the negro members of the craft labor representation."

He said there now were approximately 4,000 negro firemen working on the nation's railroads, representing a drop of nearly 50 per cent since the 1941 agreement.

Western Front

Montgomery's crack British divisions along with "still another American division withdrawn from the Aachen" were making "particularly grim counterattacks" in the north.

At the same time these reports of Allied attempts to choke the neck of the German offensive were coming from enemy sources, the Allied-controlled Luxembourg radio said "von Rundstedt's supply funnel through Belgium has been narrowed to less than 20 miles in width tonight." This mileage coincides with the distance from Bastongne northward to last reported Allied positions near Lierneux.

Belgiums Reassured

Premier Hubert Pierlot told the Belgian parliament he had word from "the highest Allied authority that the situation at the front is well in hand," the Brussels radio said.

All along the northern flank of the 35-mile-wide salient there were indications that the Nazis were on the defense for the moment, said Associated Press correspondent Wes Gallagher. With hundreds of American and British planes searching the roads, he said von Rundstedt could not use his tanks on a big scale without risking a massacre.

News that Gen. Eisenhower had struck his first serious counterblow at the Germans after backtracking 50 miles across Belgium came on top of the two-day-old information that the spearhead of the enemy drive had been blunted short of its Meuse river goal.

Drive Grinds To Halt

American forces met the two-pronged Nazi drive toward the Meuse in the areas of Ciney and Celles two days ago and brought it to a halt, knocking out some enemy armor and compelling von Rundstedt's forward tank units to withdraw from the farthest westward points attained in their 12-day-old push.

"Von Rundstedt has lost the initiative in his great all-out gamble to smash through the American front," Associated Press correspondent Roger Greene declared in a front dispatch.

After touring the rim of the German's salient, Kenneth Dixon of the AP reported, "the Allied position seems the most cheerful since von Rundstedt uncorked his counter-stab."

For the fifth straight day swarms of American and British planes lashed at German troops and armor in clear, cold weather, piling roads and snow-covered fields with the smoking derelicts of Nazi tanks and supply vehicles.

Nazis Short Of Fuel

There was strong indication that von Rundtedts extended forces were short of fuel. Of 37 enemy tanks and self-propelled guns which the Americans found abandoned when the pushes to Ciney and Celles were folded back, at least a dozen had dry gasoline tanks.

A field dispatch declared the Germans already had thrown in a vast majority of their reserves and had more than 20 divisions, including 10 Panzer Grenadier divisions, committed to the battle. It said the situation "now may be regarded a spast the crisis stage."

Babson Forecasts Slight Business Decline In '45

crats, we should have a "do nothing" Congress during 1945.

Retail Sales

21. The volume retail sales will show a decline during 1945. Prices of ladies' apparel and general luxuries will suffer, while grocery sales should be higher.

22. The total dollar retail sales should be about equal to 1944 with an increased demand for woolen and cotton textiles for civilian use.

23. The best cities for 1945 business should be:

Altoona, Pa.	Davenport, Iowa
New York, N. Y.	San Jose, Calif.
Cleveland, Ohio	Wichita, Kansas

24. There will be a great stampede in 1945 to get rid of the makeshift ersatz goods which have been made to take the place of good merchandise. Thus, 1945 will witness many "mark-down sales" of unrationed merchandise.

25. Wise will be those manufacturers, merchants and consumers who realize that postwar competition will be terrific and, therefore, withhold purchases until 1946.

Foreign Trade

26. The United States will own over 50% of the world's ships in 1945.

27. There will be an increase in free exports with the "Freed Countries", but Lend-Lease exports will decline.

28. We will make England and Russia large postwar loans provided they spend the money in the United States.

29. Both the British empire and Russia will go into the competitive foreign trade market during 1945; many cartels and government monopolies will be in operation. I, therefore, forecast higher prices for coffee, cocoa, sugar and many other articles for which we are absolutely dependent upon foreign countries.

30. No central bank will be organized nor will the stabilization of foreign currencies be attempted in 1945.

Labor

31. The Little Steel Formula will be amended during 1945.

32. Industrial employment during 1945 will be off 7% in hours and off 10% in pay rolls.

33. The building of a few new autos and new houses will be resumed during 1945.

34. Many industries, now operating on a 48-hour week, will return to a 40-hour week during 1945.

35. Wage rates will not decline, but "take-home" income will be less.

War Outlook

36. The greater part of Germany's army will collapse before the German planting season opens in the spring of 1945. Before surrendering, Germany will try poison gas.

37. Japan will not hold out as long as most people think. Japan will collapse within six or 12 months after Germany collapses.

38. If Stalin's health continues, he will be the world's most powerful man in 1945 and may dictate the peace terms, especially for the Pacific.

39. Sometime after April, 1945, Russia will join (or threaten to) the Allies against Japan but only after the promise of territory privileges and a huge loan.

40. The markets may witness a "Communistic scare" during 1945; but they shoould soon recover thereafter.

Stock Market

41. The rails will show the greatest decline during 1945, because the airplane and shipbuilding stocks are already pretty much deflated.

42. The heavy chemicals, steels and motors may hold their own during 1945; but consumer goods will do much better.

43. The safest stocks to buy—considering value, income and safety—will be the merchandizing stocks, especially the chain store stocks.

44. 1944 saw a large increase in the demand for peace stocks with a decline in war stocks; but 1945 will witness them both moving more or less together. Switching has been over-done in most cases.

45. 1945 will continue to witness creeping inflation, although the big movement toward inflation will not take place until the next business depression which will follow the postwar prosperity.

Bonds

46. Though bank loan rates should continue to have an upward tendency, interest rates in general will remain low through 1945, since the money supply is now 20% above normal and government controls will continue.

47. Anticipating the expected decline in federal taxes, 1945 should surely see a falling off in the price of most municipal and probably other tax-exempt bonds.

48. The highest grade corporation bonds will decline during 1945.

49. Investors will give much more attention to diversification and staggered bond maturities during 1945.

50. More public utilities will be taken over by municipalities and "authorities" during 1945.

Real Estate

51. Suburban real estate will be in much greater demand with higher prices during 1945.

52. City real estate should hold its own, excepting in the congested war areas where declines may set in.

53. Small productive farms will continue to increase in price; but large farms may sell for less in 1945 than in 1944.

54. Building will show a considerable increase. Contracts will be up 25%, but prices may be a little lower due to increases in lumber and cement production.

55. There will be no changes in residential rents during 1945.

56. Real estate will be helped by Congress ceasing to induct any more men into the armed services after June 30, 1945.

Politics And Postwar Peace

57. The uncertain political factor of 1945 will be Mr. Roosevelt. People will soon fear that he may resign before the next Congressional Elections either on account of ill health or to become head of a Peace commission or new World organization.

58. Our foreign headaches will become worse and more frequent during 1945. What we are going through to reorganize Italy, will be repeated in many other countries.

59. The Latin American honeymoon has passed its peak. The attitude of Argentina will extend to other countries and our South American troubles will increase during 1945.

60. 1945 will see more religious interest, including more churchgoing, than did 1944. People gradually are realizing that without a Spiritual Awakening no peace or other plans will be much good. Nations cannot be depended upon to cooperate and stick to their agreements unless they recognize God as their real Ruler and Guide.

Greek Troubles

ly that the British armed intervention would not stop until the differences between the Greek government and the leftist ELAS had been settled, "either by free negotiation or by increasing the use of military force."

The British, Churchill was quoted as saying, will not leave until they received "guarantees in which we can believe that a fair and decent government would be set up which would not pay off old scores on either side."

The prime minister said that he was convinced that if the British had not intervened, there would have been a "serious massacre in Athens."

The number of persons under charges in connection with theft of more than $70 in currency and checks totaling between $700 and $800 from Roy McNeeley, employe of a Monroe gin, rose to four Wednesday, according to Grady Harrist, chief deputy sheriff. Charged with theft from the person were James Ross, Ernest McNeil and Johnnie Dyer, all negroes. Another negro had been charged with the same offense and had made bond, Harrist said. The three negroes charged Wednesday pleaded innocent when arraigned before Justice of Peace J. T. Inmon, who set bond of $1,000 each. Harrist said last night that they had not posted bond.

Lubbock law enforcement agencies were asked Wednesday night to be on the lookout for three Italians who escaped yesterday from the prisoner of war camp at Hereford. The fugitives were described as averaging 5 feet 6 inches in height and 145 pounds in weight. All are believed to be wearing mustaches.

Fire Chief W. E. Twitty said minor smoke damage resulted Wednesday afternoon at St. Mary's hospital from a light bulb left burning in a heating conduit. Twitty said the smoke was caused by heat to the lining of the conduit.

Following up this American blow at secondary supply centers behind the Nazi drive, an estimated 500 RAF Lancasters and a screening force of Spitfires from continental bases attacked rail yards at the Ruhr city of Rheydt, 15 miles west of Dusseldorf.

No Fighter Escort

The C-47 mission was carried out without any fighter escort.

More than 200 of the big transports, unarmed and unarmored, took part in the supply operation and headquarters of the troop carrier forces reported losses were "far lower than might have been expected."

One observer who made the flight said he saw American columns pushing near Bastogne and that "now it appeared our men were resuming the offensive. This as an entirely different ground situation than on our first mission Saturday. Then it seemed a situation of impending disaster."

Rain And Sleet Fall Over Plains Area

A light rain mixed with sleet began falling over the South Plains area about midnight Wednesday, after low-hanging clouds had threatened all day.

Sleet was reported at Slaton by the Santa Fe dispatcher, and other reports indicated that a gentle rain was falling in the Snyder, Midland and Sweetwater regions.

Relief from the freezing temperatures which prevailed Wednesday was forecast for today, as well as partly clearing skies.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

A Lesson To Remember!

WORD from Washington tells us that although the nation's high military authorities naturally are disappointed over the recent reshaping of events on Europe's Western Front, they are neither blue, nor dismayed. Instead, they are doing what the good GIs are doing in the snow and the mud—they are "digging in," getting ready to launch a new offensive which sooner or later will bring about Germany's overwhelming defeat and unconditional surrender.

From New York, too, comes word that American business, blasted out of its sweet dream of early reconversion to peace production by the Nazi smash, is likewise taking a tuck in its own belt. The managers, the engineers and even some of the more enlightened of labor's leaders have come to the realization that the war isn't over yet—and won't be over until the last shot is fired, so they're prepared to get back into the saddle of war production, there to remain—we all hope—until the gods of war no longer demand the services of their every hour.

It took a near disaster—and the loss of many lives and much equipment—to bring our nation back to grim reality, but we may thank heaven that the price we have to pay is no higher than it is. As bad as the European setback is, it could have been worse.

But now that we have had our harsh lesson, let us not forget it.

Let the government, let management, let labor—let us all—quit "horsing around," as we West Texans would put it, with the business of winning the war, finally, once and for all.

Let us take no more chances—especially with the lives and the life-blood of fighting men, and with the future welfare of all civilization, as well as of that of our own country.

Let us remember the hare, which stopped to nibble at a carrot, or something, and thus lost his race with the determined tortoise—and learn from his foolishness.

Another year is soon to dawn. In it will be 365 days which, if properly employed, may bring us complete victory and then plenty of time to rest on our laurels.

We were fooled in our command stations on the Western Front and the Germans profited thereby.

But we weren't one bit more fooled on the front than we were right here at home.

We cannot—we must not—take anything for granted until the Stars and Stripes fly not only over Berlin, but over Tokyo, as well.

Let's get along with the job—the big job, the ONE job!

The Project That Failed

AT times in the history of America, Congress has fallen all over itself—figuratively, of course—in its eagerness to put new public land into the hands of war veterans. That policy contributed greatly to the development of the country. But Congress is quite cynical about such things these days, as is evidenced by its treatment of President Roosevelt's plan to lay open Alaska to veterans.

It was Mr. Roosevelt's first promise of the 1944 campaign, uttered at Bremerton, Washington, on Aug. 12. He said he was going to set up a study of Alaska and the Aleutian Islands with a view to sending veterans with "pioneering instinct" there. He was convinced both places offered many opportunities and proposed the creation of an Alaskan Development Advisory commission to survey Alaska and the Aleutians as to soil classification, mining, transportation and industries.

The President asked Congress for $5,000,000 for this purpose and the House Appropriations committee turned him down. Chairman Cannon, Missouri Democrat, said: "You propose to spend, merely for investigation, more than half the amount we paid for the territory when we bought it."

So the President is whistling for the money to start his pioneer project.

"Women will eventually own and operate the world," says a sociologist who evidently doesn't believe that the earth will be inherited by the meek.

It seems that the states wish to keep their birthrights and still receive their messes of pottage from the federal government.

Telling us that every cloud has a silver lining is of no consolation to us when we're in a fog.

Overheard: "Pardon me; I'll be back in a few minutes. I've just remembered something I've been trying to forget."

In these days a penny saved is rarely a penny earned, unless some way can be figured out to hide it from the tax collector.

Many a sorehead got that way from being henpecked.

The One Minute Sermon

XXX

That's how the change came about. If anyone had ever told me the day would come when I'd be prepared to give up the material advantages I'd struggled for, I'd have thought he was nuts. And if he'd added that this would come about because of a girl, I'd have been certain he was ripe for a straitjacket. All of which goes to show to what extent a fellow can reverse his slant on life.

And so the following afternoon I drove over to Boggio's new penthouse. It was my first visit there and he was still in the process of getting settled down. I wondered if that was the reason for his haggard look. This having been another one of his sudden unexplained moves.

Boggio wasn't in a talkative mood as he showed me around, so I didn't ask any questions. We wound up in the library with sets of the classics bound in rich Morocco leather.

I didn't have the guts, right then, to tell him he was soon going to have more use for the Criminal Code than for the novels of Jane Austen.

He was about to ease himself into an armchair when he remmbered something.

"How about a drink?"

"Okay. Scotch and soda."

He went into the living room, fumbled around, and came back with a tray. For himself he had brought a glass of milk.

"Stomach still bothering you, Virgil?" I inquired.

"What's it to you?"

It wasn't a thing but it didn't cost anything to ask. I shrugged, downed my drink, and poured myself another. For a few moments neither of us spoke. I wasn't exactly afraid, but I didn't know how to start. When someone has owned you for about 10 years, it's hard to tell him you've torn up the claim check. I made some more small talk.

"How come you're all alone?"

"Ginger's shopping. The kid's driving her."

The way he answered I knew something was wrong. Boggio wasn't talkative. But on the other hand he didn't generally use words as if he had to pay a tax on them. It dawned on me that Ginger was still a good-looking girl and that Don was out of knee pants. Maybe his reluctance to quit Boggio's employ wasn't based entirely on financial considerations. But I didn't get a chance to dwell on that idea. Boggio, who had been cleaning his nails with a silver paper knife, looked up at me.

"Well, what is it? You didn't come here to ask about my health."

It was nice of him to make it easy for me. I took a deep breath.

"I'm quitting you, Virgil. I don't want to have anything more to do with rackets."

He gave out with an ugly, humorless laugh.

"Another of your moral periods," he said. "Each time they hit you, you want more dough."

For a moment he continued fiddling with his nails, then tossed the knife aside and crashed his fist on the bleached mahogany desk. "Enough is enough, Leo! Don't start provoking me. You signed a contract, didn't you?"

"You've got me wrong, Virgil, I don't want any more of your dough—ever. And what you've already given me I'll return. I've kept my accounts straight and I'll manage somehow."

Now that he saw I was on the level he became livid. He slowly got out of his chair and walked over to me. The noise his hand made as it struck my face was like the crack of a whip. I didn't move and he struck me again and again. Then, panting, he returned to his chair.

I stroked my cheeks. "You shouldn't hav done that, Virgil," I said.

He stood up again and began pacing up and down, nervously clutching his hands behind his back. I waited for the inevitable speech and it didn't take long in coming.

The amazing thing about it was the way he switched from an aggressive tone to a whining one. It was a hodge-podge of threats, promises, and appeals. If I knew what was healthy for me I'd think twice before taking a runout powder. And if I was smart enough to come to my senses before it was too late, I wouldn't regret it. He wasn't going to live forever, and some day someone would take over his enterprises. Up to now I'd been the logical heir. But he was getting sick and tired of the trouble he was having with me. If it continued he'd start looking for someone else . . .

He went on and on, and it was only when he paused to drink some milk that I was able to put in my two cents worth.

"Virgil," I said, "this isn't getting us anywhere. The sooner you realize I'm going to stick by what I said, the better it'll be for both of us."

I might as well have saved my breath. Either he had suddenly become hard of hearing or he was too engrossed in his own oratory to listen.

When a man gets really worked up, he's liable to say much more than he wants to, I learned some interesting facts. Ginger was fed up with him and he knew it. This moving into the penthouse was a desperate attempt to win her back. But it looked as if it wasn't doing much good. And then he had another big headache. Rugg was demanding a regular rake-off and Boggio almost regretted the triumphant acquittal I'd obtained.

It was no use trying to argue when Boggio was in this kind of a mood. I stuck it for as long as I could. Then, when he went into the pantry to get some more milk, I edged toward the door. He was still gabbing, good and loud, when I softly slipped out.

Two Eclipses Of Sun And Two Of Moon Slated Next Year

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 27. (AP)—Don't look now, but next year, Star-gazers will see two eclipses of the Sun and two of the Moon in 1945, twice as many as occurred last year, Oliver J. Lee, director of Dearborn observatory at Northwestern university, said today.

However, only two of the eclipses, one of the Sun and one of the Moon, will be visible through the United States, Lee said. He explained that persons throughout the country would see an eclipse of the sun on July 9, and on Dec. 18, they would see the moon turn blood red or copper color when a lunar eclipse began.

Lee added that at 7:08 a. m. (ewt) July 9, persons in northern Illinois would see the moon begin to pass between the Earth and Sun—if the sky is clear and if they get up that early.

The United States will be cheated out of seeing a partial eclipse of the Moon June 25 and an annular eclipse Jan. 14. Lee remarked that no large comets are expected although it is always possible for one to appear.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

A NEW YORK, woman has sued her husband for separation and $100 a week temporary alimony.

She alleged that he rushed into the hospital where she had just given birth to a baby girl and abused and struck her because he had wanted a boy.

I have never been able to understand why men are so anxious to have sons instead of daughters.

I asked a new father the other day. His wife had presented him with a little daughter just a few hours before and he looked very dejected.

"What's the matter?" I asked, "Aren't you proud of being a father?"

"I would have been if it had been a boy," he answered.

"Why?"

He looked at me with astonishment.

"Why? Because I want someone to perpetuate my name."

"What's there so wonderful about the name Smith?" I said. "Aren't there enough Smiths in the world right now?"

"Yes, but not Burl Everett Smith. You won't find another Burl Everett Smith in any phone book. My heart was all set on calling him Burl Everett Smith II, and look at him—he turned out to be a she."

And that's about the long and the short of it.

Vanity, that's about all.

Oh, if you have a very prosperous business and you want a boy to carry it on after you, there's an excuse for wanting a son and heir.

And even then—there may be a perfectly good son-in-law to take over when you are ready to quit.

"What's in a name?" said Shakespeare and, by the way, I am sure that even if Shakespeare had had a son, it would still be the old man whose name has been perpetuated. Maybe he had a son—maybe he had five. What's the difference? It's William Shakespeare, jr., or William Shakespeare II.

Had Thomas Edison any sons? Or Thomas Jefferson? Or Andrew Carnegie?

I don't know, and I don't care. And neither do you.

THE only worth-while way to perpetuate your name is by your own contribution to the world not by the gender of your offspring.

I think there is something awfully nice and sweet and cuddly about little girls. They behave better and don't get themselves into nearly as many messes as boys.

And when you get old you can just be sure that your daughters will be much more considerate and look after you much better than sons. At least that's the way I have found it in almost every case I know.

It's that way in my own family. I hate to admit it, but it's a fact. I ran away from home and shifted for myself. My sister stayed home and looked after Mother.

It's the same with my wife. One of her brothers is in California, another in Missouri. But it's she who is looking after her old mother. It's she who doesn't give just money but love and affection and attention.

Don't worry if your hoped-for John turns out to be a Joan. You may be glad some day.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE rebellion of radical New Dealers in the Senate against the "turn to the right" trend in the reorganized State department, although finally squelched, points to a clash that may split the creaking Democratic party wide open in 1948.

It was the first direct bid which the Wallace-Hillman-Pepper faction has made to reap the harvest of the CIO's emergence as a political organization in its own right. Even more important, it forecasts the leftists' determination to assume full control of the party machinery and nominate their own kind of ticket four years hence.

Motives animating the mutineers were mixed, of course. Sen. Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania, who faces a hard re-election battle in 1946, had not the slightest interest in ideology or philosophy. Only in politics.

He was driven to oppose the White House by Hillman influence, by pressure from John L. Lewis and by pinkish publishers. He will need all their support next time, for FDR carried the Keystone State by the narrow margin of 100,000, which those elements provided.

PURGE: Sen. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky has always been a twister of the British lion's tail, and his dislike for England was intensified by his recent investigation abroad. His questions "Who won the election?" and "What are we fighting for?" indicate his trend of thought on both domestic and foreign affairs.

Moreover, Mine Boss Lewis, who hates everything pro-British and, therefore, detests the "Stettinius team," has 80,000 union members in the Bluegrass country. They did not follow the Welshman against FDR, but they may be far ahead of him on the international issue.

But the background of the Pepper-Wallace opposition was the scheme to take over the party leadership, if possible, keep it far left of center and resist postwar, post-Roosevelt moves to purge all radicals who had climbed on the bandwagon in the last 12 years.

WALLACE: The outbound Vice President took no active part in the three-day revolt. He still places trust in President Roosevelt's idealism and good intentions.

He believes that FDR will not condone a resumption of "power politics," nor let the United States become merely a tail to the Anglo-Russian kite.

His friends note, however, that the new men of the diplomatic crowd are hardly the kind who can be expected to usher in Mr. Wallace's "century of the common man." Henry distrusts such names as Stettinius, Rockefeller, Grew (House of Morgan) and Clayton, the world's greatest and wealthiest cotton broker. When Henry was Secretary of Agriculture, he had many run-ins with Clayton.

Furthermore, the new appointees were the choice of Harry Hopkins. Besides being an almost abject admirer of Prime Minister Churchill, Harry has always sided with Jesse Jones and Leo Crowley against the Iowan.

HILLMAN: The Pepper-Wallace faction also believes that President Roosevelt's influence at home will have disappeared four years hence, and its members see themselves as his legitimate heirs. They hope for his support of their grandiose schemes.

Their analysis does not imply any disloyalty on their part toward the head man. Reading current and past history, they have reason to doubt whether any individual can dominate a major party for 16 years or more. They expect FDR to command some power, however, and they hope that he will throw his weight on their side.

The Hillman cohorts, especially the Bridges-Browder Communist extremists, suspect that the Stettinius group will be pro-British rather than pro-Russian. Their preference for Secretary of State was Mr. Wallace, who has frequently professed admiration for the Soviet program and warned that we must get over our fears and suspicions of Stalin's unknown and unannounced plans. But FDR told Mr. Wallace and the Hillmanites that they were barking up the wrong tree in demanding that the Iowan succeed Cordell Hull.

The 1948 Warwicks, however, did not put on an heroic show in their first appearance on the big-time. When a cloakroom habitue suggested that they had "marched up the hill and marched right down again," a Senate wit exploded:

"Marched right down again? Hell! They marched up the hill and then fell flat on their faces!"

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE tragedy of our generation is that on Christmas week when our thoughts should be of "peace on earth," we must worry about the worst battle of the war and of the boys who are fighting in it.

Stepped-up war production is urgently needed. Let no one deceive himself; the new tempo will result in strains on manpower and in fresh shortages of civilian goods. The home front will soon find out what the resurgence of Nazi strength means to it.

Luckily we have a head start in our preparation for a longer and tougher conflict. It was providential that thousands of leading industrialists gathered in New York earlier this month at the National Association of Manufacturers convention.

Generals and businessmen back from the front jolted them out of their almost universal optimism about early reconversion. Delegates are now reaching their home factories thoroughly alive to the national peril and determined to break all production records.

As both prime and subcontractors attended the meeting, preliminary plans which might otherwise have been delayed by correspondence back and forth were settled on the spot.

PLEADED: War manufacturers are aware of the crisis. But many retailers and jobbers have not grasped the situation and still think in terms of normal self-interest.

New York dry goods authorities cite this example: Some firms cannot obtain civilian goods from factories that had always supplied them and are now on Army-Navy contracts. In retaliation the disappointed customers threaten to trade with competitors, who are not yet working for Uncle Sam, and never to go back to the old producers.

General Somervell urgently pleaded at the recent national conventions of the AFL and CIO for increased output. Delegates returned to their home unions resolved to speed up the making of guns and planes. Unfortunately the mood of the leaders is not yet shared by all members.

Late last week, when the safety of our First Army hung in the balance, the record for absenteeism climbed in many of our most critical Victory plants. New York industrialists disclose that in some bomber factories more people stayed away from the job to go Christmas shopping than have played truant in months.

In an attempt to bring home the lesson of personal responsibility, one large company dedicates a new plane to each former employe whose name appears on the latest casualty list. Mass meeting speakers urge workers to hurry its completion in the memory of their dead friend.

"Things could be much warse," an optimist told us today. We agreed with him. But after he left us we spent ten minutes wondering how.

Things never work out right. There's plenty of parking space in cities in the gas-rationed area, but few motorists have enough gas to drive to them.

Famed Texas Artist To Be Honored By His Admirers

By DOROTHEA LYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

BELOVED Frank Reaugh, who American and European juries call the greatest painter of Longhorn cattle, will celebrate his 84th birthday in his vine-covered studio house "El Sibil" (The Vault) in Dallas tomorrow.

Members of the Reaugh Art club of Dallas will be there just as they are each year to cheer the bearded, white-haired artist and to receive his friends. The birthday party is the annual tribute of his former students.

Only a few of the several hundred Longhorn cattle scenes the artists has painted in half a century remain in The Vault's nearly bare studio. The skylight is boarded. There are no brushes or working evidence of his perfected pastels which do not fade or dust off.

Artist Now Retired

Reaugh is now a feeble, kindly little man who no longer paints but who has taught his pupils the recipe for his pastels.

His most widely known longhorn series — 24 hours with the herd—he has donated to the University of Texas. The seven pastels depicting driving, watering, bedding and guarding the herd, stampede in the canyon, milling cattle and the herd moving on are part of several hundred oils and pastels he has given the school. The collection is valued at $100,000.

SURROUNDED by high stone walls, the mild-mannered bachelor likes to sit on his porch in the sun. He enjoys watching the score of cats that roam over the house and the yard. They belong to his companion-caretaker, but the artist likes them. "Better than dogs because they are quieter."

He painted "The Roundup" of 5,000 cattle in 1894. It is his favorite longhorn picture of those now hanging in the studio. "I did not stop to count each cow when I painted it," he admits.

"Cicada" the model-T Ford that took Reaugh and his students on their first sketching trip to the canyons near Amarillo—and other trips west each year — has not been used in many years.

Lived On Ranch

The embryo artist first became acquainted with the Texas longhorn at the age of 15 when his family moved to Texas from Illinois. They settled on a ranch in Kaufman county.

His mother encouraged his painting. At Sunday school he heard a graphic recital of the story of David and Goliath. The next Sunday he remained at home and while his mother and father attended church he painted his first picture of David slaying Goliah. Even then the strength which is the appealing keynote of his works was present.

REAUGH studied his subject as he rode the range in the 1880's. The ranch on which he lived was the only fenced ground in its neighborhood. "Many big, active longhorn steers brought up from the stock ranches of South Texas to fatten had never seen a man on foot before," he recalls. "People working were sometimes treed by them. This would have happened more often if there had been more trees."

At 23, Reaugh received his first academic training at the School of Fine Arts, St. Louis. Three years later he studied at the Julian school in Paris and the studio of Anton Mauve in Holland.

His paintings are part of the growth of the Southwestern art. His longhorn pictures were found in Texas State fair exhibitions invariably from its beginning in 1886. He encouraged a society of western artists to send their works to the fair and started its first professional show. Later he was director of the state fair art department.

Won Many Honors

Reaugh gave one of his own paintings to start the Dallas art gallery. He exhibited annually in the Chicago art institute, Carnegie galleries and national academies and between 1890 and 1905 won places in art shows at the Chicago and St. Louis world fairs.

Reaugh's studies reveal the longhorn, long-limbed yet graceful slender hoofed, many colored, grazing, stampeding, tended by the cowboy, or as in the case of the remarkable canvas, "The Maverick," a lone steer, seeming to sense the passing of his kind, proud and strong.

A NEGRO woman told Galveston police that she had taken good care of her husband after she cut him up with a knife.

She said she went up to the attic of their home and got some cobwebs to treat the wounds.

She used the cure on her damaged spouse and everything seemed to be going all right.

But the next morning he waked up screaming with pain and she was forced to call an ambulance.

He Helps Himself

"Lucky," the cat, has no use for mice. It's bread he wants and he's going to get it!

When his owner, Mrs. May Pfleiderer, of Amarillo, fails to leave his midnight snack for him, he climbs up to the breadbox, jerks the handle with his paw, and rolls a piece of the staff of life onto the floor.

Polygamy is a form of marriage in which one husband lives in a household with several wives and forms a family with them and their children.

Texas Farm Production Increases Two Per Cent During Past Year

AUSTIN, Dec. 27. (AP)—Despite labor problems and difficulties in planting and harvesting Texas farmers this year harvested 29,179,000 acres of principal crops, two per cent more than last year and eight per cent above the 1933-42 average.

In its annual crop summary the U. S. Department of Agriculture, describing the year as one of extremes, reflected bumper yields of wheat, rice and sorghum grain and good hay and peanut production.

Cotton and corn fared rather poorly.

Weather Hinders Harvest

What made the harvested acreage unusual, said the department, were difficulties brought about by heavy rains, floods, extremely high temperatures and a period of drouthy conditions.

The department reported these thumbnail crop pictures:

Combined hay and roughage production was 6,609,000 tons, 12 per cent above 1943.

The major feed grains, corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums, were up 17 per cent from a year ago while oil crops, cottonseed, peanuts and flax, were below 1943 production by three per cent, due to a smaller cotton crop.

Cotton Production Down

Excessive rainfall prevented normal corn planting and final production was 69,622,000 bushels compared with 88,416,000 bushels a year ago.

Cotton production is estimated at 2,640,000 bales (500 lb.) compared with 2,823,000 last year and 3,273,000 for the 1944-42 average.

Wheat production at 74,746,000 bushels was an all time high. It more than doubled the 1943 production.

Sorghum grain production broke all previous Texas records at 96,724,000 bushels. Last year's yield of 71,817,00 bushels was the previous high.

Peanut Production Up

Although heavy late rains prevented growers from planting acreage previously intended for peanuts the final estimate of production was 348,750,000 pounds, an increase of 17 per cent over 1943.

Rice production established a new record at 19,208,000 bushels, compared with 16,681,000 a year ago.

Irish potato production was 21 per cent less than a year ago. Sweetpotato production was 11 per cent under last year.

More Grapefruit

The grapefruit crop for the 1944 crop season is now estimated at 20,150,000 boxes compared with 17,710,000 boxes produced last season. Orange production is estimated at 3,850,000 boxes compared over last year.

The Texas pecan crop at 45,000,000 pounds is 73 per cent higher than last year's yield of 26,000,000 pounds and 84 per cent above the 10-year average of 24,480,000 pounds.

Parents To Be Guests At The Corral Tonight

For the first time since official opening of the Corral, parents will be guests of teen-agers at parties to be held there tonight and tomorrow night, Julia Wilbanks, director, announced.

Junior High school students will be hosts for the party to be held from 7 to 10:30 tonight. Teenagers and their parents will meet at the same time Friday evening.

Other games will be played and music for dancing will be furnished by records. Refreshments will be served at the Snack bar.

During Christmas holidays the Corral is open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily, Miss Wilbanks said.

News Briefs

Funeral services for Mrs. Chas. E. Maedgen, sr., of 1811 Broadway, were held at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the First Methodist church with Dr. H. I. Robinson officiating assisted by Rev. John A. Winslow of St. Paul's Episcopal. Burial was in Lubbock cemetery. Mrs. Maedgen, wife of the president of Lubbock National bank, died Tuesday in a local hospital after an illness of only three days.

S 2/c Clarence Dwin Blackston, USNR, husband of Mrs. Opal F. Blackstone, Lamesa, has been wounded in action according to an official Navy department casualty list.

Mrs. Othor Johnson of Ruidoso, N. M., who broke her left leg a week ago and was brought by ambulance Tuesday to Lubbock General hospital, is now allowed to receive visitors, her mother, Mrs. P. B. Penney, said Wednesday. Mrs. Johnson is the former Opal Penney of Lubbock.

First Lt. Woodrow G. Howell, brother of Miss Mary L. Howell of 406 Ave. X, and Pvt. John D. Figueroa, son of Mrs. Consuelo D. Figueroa of 112 Ave. M, have been reported by the War department as wounded in action in the European theater.

After learning of the death of two aunts, Mrs. Mary L. Poole of Ft. Madison, Ia., and Mrs. Claude Thomas of Oklahoma City in an automobile wreck late Tuesday, Mrs. H. G. Gantz, accompanied by Rev. Gantz, left for Oklahoma City Wednesday afternoon. The accident occured when the car in which the women were riding crashed into an Army truck. Mr. Thomas is in a Woodward hospital with injuries.

After spending the Christmas holidays in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ross of 2110 Ave. M, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ross and children, Robert Keith and Tommy, Mrs. Juanita Scott, Miss Elaine Scott and Miss Velma Ross have returned to their homes in Dallas.

Regular fifth Sunday Singing convention will be held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday and 1 p. m. Sunday at the Foursquare Gospel church, H. M. McEachern, president, announced.

Reaction of a Lubbock man whose automobile was rammed Tuesday night was much different from that of some other persons police have met up with, officials said. He jumped out of his car when the other machine overturned and ran down the street, examined the four adults and one child in the overturned car, gave first-aid to two of them, Christine Gossett, 20, and Dannie Daniel, 4—then drove the victims to Levelland in his own car. The victim's machine, which had been driven by B. G. Gossett of Levelland, was not in immediate operating condition. He was Dr. Olan Key of 2303 Eighteenth. Dr. Key was not injured.

Mrs. Edith D. Murphy of 2314 Seventeenth was informed Tuesday by the War Department that her son, Pvt. Delbert K. Murphy, had been slightly wounded in action in Germany, Dec. 4. He was wounded July 20 while serving in France.

AS TIME GOES BY—

Material things age and outlive their usefulness. Only spiritual things go on forever. Faith, Hope, and Love come with each new year. This new year brings renewed faith in God, renewed hope that we are on His side, and that if it be His will peace will come again, and a renewed love for our fellowman.

It is our wish that as the old year passes and the new year begins that you shall be blessed with the greater goods of life.
