Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Laredo is famous for its onions, Austin for its spinach, Jacksonville its tomatoes and now comes Wichita Falls with its claim to fame for its turnips. The turnip is a lowly vegetable and grows over most of the temperate zone, the encyclopedia tells us, but it grows with rare symmetry and beauty of form, size and succulence in the country around Wichita Falls.

Wichita county turnips sweep the markets wherever they are shipped and they have brought more money into the Wichita Falls section than any other garden vegetable. And the appetite for turnips appears even wider than the area in which turnips can be grown. There is a demand for fancy turnips in every market.

In recognition of the importance of turnips as an item of food and our pre-eminence in turnip growing, Wichita Falls is to hold a turnip show here this week in connection with the Wichita Valley Poultry show, and in this show Wichita Falls will show the world the best there is in turnip growing.

Dr. Charles G. Obermeyer, the second speaker in Wichita Falls' Open Forum schedule, made some challenging statements Sunday afternoon in his talk on Culture and Happiness. Doubtless there were many in his audience who disagreed with some of the things he said, but those who disagreed with him were stirred to thought to refute his arguments and defend their own beliefs. Altogether his talk was thought provoking to everybody.

There will doubtless be several speakers on these forum programs who will advance thought with which many will disagree, but if we were to have only speakers with whom everyone would agree the forum would lose much of its appeal and its usefulness.

But speaking of agreement Talker liked particularly this statment of Dr. Obermeyer's: "The older generation now can trust the younger generation far more than the younger can trust the older. . . . Those who are alive and those who are willing to grapple with 20th century thought are our hope."

And "culture is understanding, grasping the meaning of life, sensing of life, vibrating to suffering and confusion among our fellows. Happiness will come from facing the facts, trusting other men to be as good as we are. The secret lies fundamentally in the human heart."

Where could our hope lie but in the younger generation? We have but to look about us to see the failures of the older. And if we dodge and cover and shun and deny the facts of life they must be faced in the end so why not face them as bravely and hopefully as we can in this generation?

Whether the idea of companionate marrige is acceptable or repugnant to us there are few who will approve Judge Ben Lindsey's action in a New York cathedral Sunday in attempting to answer a bishop who had attacked him and his doctrine while the bishop was at prayer following his attack upon Judge Lindsey.

There is a time and place for all things perhaps, but certainly a time of prayer is no time for such a demonstration as Judge Lindsey gave. Our belief grows that while Judge Lindsey is sincere he is lacking in a sense of propriety, and besides he should have been more appreciative of the advertisement the bishop had just given him. As it now is public attention is now centered on Judge Lindsey's disorderly conduct and not his beliefs.

The United States bureau of mines has produced a one-reel film entitled "Carbon Monoxide: the Unseen Danger" which Talker would like to have shown in as many picture show houses in this section as possible. Every winter this newspaper finds it its duty to report deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning. Such deaths are mostly due to ignorance. The bureau of mines film has been prepared in cooperation with an automobile manufacturing company, for the express purpose of helping reduce the death toll from this cause.

The early scenes of the film depict the extreme danger of running an automobile engine in a closed garage. As a man is starting the family car within the garage, the doors blow to and, while the engine is being warmed up, the carbon monoxide fumes in the exhaust gases overcome the unsuspecting driver. The family, waiting for the car, become uneasy over the delay, and the son, a Boy Scout, is sent to investigate. The boy, finding his father prostrate, applies his Boy Scout training by dragging his father to the open air and immediately starting artificial respiration. A doctor is summoned and the local fire department rushes to the scene with an oxygen inhalator. By the application of these prompt measures, the man's life is saved. Other instances of exposure to carbon monoxide fumes in closed garages in which the victim is not so fortunate are, however, shown. "Never run the engine in a closed garage," and "Keep the doors open,"

DEFENSE NEAR END OF FIGHT IN 'RING' CASE

Attorney's Helper Claims U. S. Agents Fought Grand Jury

'FRAME-UP' CHARGED

Testimony Says Defendant Sought Federal Probe

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 8. (AP)—P. V. Ruch, Tillman county attorney, one of seven men on trial in federal district court here for conspiracy to violate prohibition laws, will testify tomorrow as the defense closes a case in which it claims Ruch has been active in enforcement.

Seventeen of the original 29 defendants in the case, including Sheriff C. A. Wages and Robert S. Rogers, a constable, have pleaded guilty.

Witnesses, including Bud Walls, former deputy sheriff, have involved Ruch, testifying protection money was paid.

Allegations that federal prohibition officers had objected to calling a Tillman county grand jury to investigate the alleged ring, brought a request from Judge Edgar S. Vaught for further information.

Sought Investigation

"Federal officers should no more interfere with operation of justice in state courts than state officers in federal courts," the judge said.

W. A. McInnis, assistant Tillman county attorney had testified that prohibition officers had talked with Ruch regarding calling of the grand jury while the conspiracy case was pending. They alleged, McInnis said, that Ruch had the grand jury called to shield himself.

Ruch was active in prosecution of bootleggers and in bringing to justice violators of the prohibition laws, McInnis testified. The county attorney, he said, had called on the federal government for assistance in investigations, among them that of Bud Walls, against many of those who had taken the stand against Ruch. He had told a deputy sheriff, he said, that unless Ruch stopped "going to bootleggers places" on raids he would be framed.

Walls Listed

After federal men came to Frederick upon Ruch's application, Ruch handed them a list of names including Walls and agreed to assist in inquiries, McInnis said.

When a still was captured on Holmes Tidwell's farm, Ruch and

Convicted of Poisoning Stepchild

Here are the first pictures taken at the trial of Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin, wife of a Denver city detective, convicted Monday night of murdering her 10-year-old stepdaughter, Leona. The conviction automatically carries a sentence of life imprisonment. Above Mrs. O'Loughlin is shown in the court room, conferring with her attorneys, John W. Shireman, left, and John M. Keating. Below are pictures of the father of the slain child and Mrs. W. W. Williams, of Carmi, Ill., Leona's aunt.

Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin Sentenced To Life Term for Slaying Child

Stepmother Found Guilty by Denver Jury of Murder By Placing Glass in Stepchild's Food

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 8. (UP)—Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin was found guilty of the murder of her 10-year-old stepdaughter, Leona, by a jury in the west side district court here tonight.

The jury deliberated four hours and 22 minutes.

The verdict carries a penalty of life imprisonment, a life term in prison.

John M. Keating, young chief defense counsel, announced he would appeal to the state supreme court.

Mrs. O'Loughlin, tall, red-haired and attractive, slumped to her chair when the verdict was read. She was literally carried from the courtroom.

The courtroom was jammed to capacity, mostly with girls and women. Several women in the audience cried. A death-like stillness pervaded the courtroom when the verdict was announced.

Statements by the prosecution declared Mrs. O'Loughlin plotted the death of her husband, Leo O'Loughlin, the child, and Dennis O'Loughlin, Leo's father, in an effort to inherit the elder man s $35,000 estate.

Glass in Food

She was alleged to have placed glass particles in a sugar bowl at Dennis O'Loughlin's home in Fort Collins, Colo., and to have put glass in food she served her immediate family. Witnesses said Leona's viscera contained glass. The child's body was found in a city park lake. The woman's husband, a Denver city detective, was in a hospital at the time, reputedly recovering from effects of pulverized glass.

The prosecution presented its closing argument this afternoon.

"We believe we have proved Pearl O'Loughlin guilty of slaying her stepdaughter," Ralph Cummings, deputy district attorney, said. "The crime is hers. We have nothing more to say at this time."

"Nothing Proven'

"The district attorney," said John M. Keating, defense counsel, "did his best and he did a good job. That's his duty. But the state hasn't proved a thing. In the pell-mell rush to get evidence, the hue and cry turned on Pearl O'Loughlin: 'Get the stepmother. She did it'."

Frank O'Loughlin, brother-in-law of the defendant, also is accused of murder in connection with the child's death. He was a roomer at the O'Loughlin home.

LUFKIN, Texas, Dec. 8. (AP)—Fire swept a business block here tonight.

LAMBDA CHI AT T-U SUSPENDED

Fraternity Dropped After Death of Woman

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (AP)—Lambda Chi Alpha, University of Texas fraternity, was suspended until Sept. 1, 1932, by the faculty committee on the administration of students affairs today following completion of the investigation into a party at the chapter house Thanksgiving night at which Mrs. Mildred Woodruff, 24, San Antonio, died of acute alcoholic poisoning.

V. I. Moore, dean of student life, said the fraternity had been found guilty of improper administration of its affairs and was suspended immediately. The order required closing the fraternity house and virtual disbandment until the start of the 1932 school year. The chapter was prohibited holding any meetings, other than those necessary to closing the house, and was barred from rushing activities or making pledges.

Dean Moore said the committee was determined to maintain the principle of group responsibility in the administration of affairs of fraternities and that fraternity officers would be held responsible for any violations of the university rules.

Two students, both members of the fraternity, were expelled from school several days ago by the faculty discipline committee after an investigation. One of them was Jake Burns, the committee declining to name the other student.

Mrs. Woodruff died early the morning of Nov. 28. Burns testified at a coroner's inquest that Mrs. Woodruff had been drinking and had lain down on a bed. Attempts to arouse her failed and she was rushed to a hospital. She was dead when examined by a physician.

Santa Claus—Hour Sales—Wednesday

Make your plans to be down town Wednesday afternoon to see Santa Claus and if you live out of town, come and spend the day in Wichita Falls. It will be the gala event of the year. Santa Claus and all his folks with several bands will parade the streets of Wichita Falls and there isn't a child within the city or within a reasonable traveling distance that is not entitled to see him. Bring them—come one, come all!

HOUR SALES

Throughout Wednesday many merchants will conduct hour sales, besides the specials being offered.

Read over the advertisements for the items that will be on sale during the various hours of the day.

JUNIOR C.-C. TO END YEAR'S WORK TONIGHT

Election of New Directors Scheduled at Annual Banquet Here

ONLY ONE SPEAKER

Entertainment Bill Replaces Speeches for Meeting At Forum

With the election of five new directors and an elaborate program of entertainment, the Wichita Falls Junior chamber of commerce will close its year's work Tuesday night at the Woman's Forum where the annual membership banquet will be held.

About 150 out-of-town chamber of commerce members have accepted bids to the banquet and a large number of members of the senior chamber of commerce here and prominent citizens will attend. Of the membership of between 450 and 500 a large number will be present. Including guests from practically all towns in Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma and from several of the larger cities of the state, officials of the organization expect every available seat to be taken.

Elaborate Entertainment

The banquet will be unique, it was said, in the fact that only one speaker has been included on the program. Dr. Max Strang, noted Dallas speaker, will deliver an address on "The Call of the Kine," which he has delivered more than 300 times over an area of a number of states. Other entertainment features include Ruthe Laird and her Texas Rockets, popular revue which was formerly on the Publix circuit and later in a unit show in New York. The Rockets are composed of Dallas girls who made their stage debut at the Majestic theater in Dallas in May, 1929, commencing a very successful entertainment career. The Rockets compose a dancing chorus which holds several members of individual talent, with specialty dance numbers and songs. The chorus is under the direction of Miss Ruthe Laird who developed the organization from members of her dancing school in Dallas after she had established her studio following her appearance in a number of New

TICKET SALE

Tickets for the Junior chamber of commerce banquet will be on sale all during the day Tuesday, according to Wilburn Page, secretary, who requests that members who have not secured tickets either to make reservations by calling the chamber of commerce offices at 4131 or by purchasing tickets at Renfro Drug store No. 1.

It is further requested that all desiring to attend the banquet make reservations as early as possible during the day in order that seating arrangements can be provided.

Gus Wortham Claim To River Bed Argued

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (UP)—A mandamus sought by Gus Wortham, of Houston, to complete transfer of title to a strip of land on the Texas-Oklahoma border, awarded to Texas by the U. S. supreme court recently, was argued in commission A of the state supreme court today.

Wortham's claim is based on an application made by his father, John Wortham, in 1910, who asked that the land be sold to him as public free school land subject to sale. Later the strip was awarded to Oklahoma and no action was taken until after the recent U. S. court ruling, allotting the land to Texas. Then Wortham's son renewed the suit when the land office refused to act.

U. S. Red River Survey To Be Completed in June

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—General Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, said today preliminary examination of the Red river in Texas would not be completed until about June 1, 1931.

Following a conference with Representative Rayburn of Texas, General Brown said army engineers were making an investigation at the Red river for the purpose of determining its influence on floods of the Mississippi river. That investigation, he said, would be ready for congress sometime after June 1, 1931.

Rising Streams Hamper Traffic in Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 8. — Rising streams in Southwestern Oklahoma have hampered traffic on state highways, A. R. Losh, state highway engineer, said today.

Motors cars were being pulled through detours on U. S. No. 62 west of Altus, and on state 32 and U. S. 277, in Cotton county.

Army Physicians Testify That Mercury Dose Killed Wife Of Accused Officer

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Dec. 8. (UP)—Bit by bit, the story surrounding the mysterious death of Mrs. Zenana McCoskey Shepard was pieced together in federal court here today as the government presented witnesses at the trial of her husband, charged with murder.

Maj. Charles A. Shepard, 59-year-old army physician, sat with bowed head as he heard officers who attended his wife during her fatal illness at Fort Riley, Kan., testify the woman died from mercuric poisoning. S. M. Brewster, United States district attorney, has asked the jury to assess Major Shepard the death penalty, charging he murdered his wife with bichloride of mercury poisoning so that he might marry Miss Grace Brandon, 24, San Antonio, Texas, stenographer.

Blonde Miss Brandon, here to testify for the government, appeared in court today for the first time. Although she sat within arm's reach of Major Shepard, there was no exchange of words between them; not even a sign of recognition.

Officers Testify

Two army officers, Maj. Martin du Frenne and Maj. Paul R. Hawley, who attended Mrs. Shepard before she died in April, 1929, testified. The testimony of Major Hawley, now stationed in Nicaragua, furnished the only dramatic incident of the day.

After he had testified Mrs. Shepard died from causes other than alcoholism, as contended by the defense, he denied vehemently there was any friction between himself and Major Shepard. Defense attorneys have intimated bad feeling between the defendant and fellow

Hijackers Hold Up Oil Station Here

Two men hijacked the Magnolia filling station, 815 Wichita street, late Monday night, taking $20 in cash and a handful of service coupons.

The pair had their automobile serviced, asked for a road map and when the attendant entered the office, one of the bandits followed, drawing a gun. The attendant was ordered into the wash room.

Closing the wash room door, the gunman looted the till and the two escaped, police were told.

BURGLARS GET $150 AT ELECTRA

ELECTRA, Texas, Dec. 8. (AP)—Burglars entered the W. M. Austin department store while it was closed over Sunday and escaped with about $150 in merchandise. Efforts to open the safe failed, but officers found a dynamite cap in the hole from which the knob had been knocked. Implements used by the robbers were scattered on the floor. Clothing was included in the loot.

$150,000,000 Asked By Hoover for Farm Board

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (US)—President Hoover today sent a letter to the house recommending that $150,000,000 be appropriated immediately for operations of the federal farm board.

Congress appropriated $150,000,000 for the board on June 18, 1929, and an additional $100,000,000 last March, a total of $250,000,000.

Under the act of June 15, 1929, creating the board, a total of $500,000,000 was "authorized," so that $250,000,000 is still subject to appropriation.

Bootlegger Says Officers 'Robbed' Him of Load

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 8. (AP)—Three policemen were suspended here today on a complaint by Raymond Bell, self-styled "amateur bootlegger" that he was hijacked by the officers and robbed of liquor valued at $206.

Bell complained to police and federal prohibition authorities. The government has started an investigation.

Bell said his cargo of liquor purchased in Kansas had included 10 quarts of whisky, 12 quarts of gin and three gallons of alcohol.

Convict Flees Prison On Eve of Release

M'ALESTER, Okla., Dec. 8. (AP)—With only one day remaining to be served on his state prison term, W. F. Bishop, Oklahoma county convict, fled the penitentiary.

Bishop and L. R. Norman, Osage county 50-year-term man, came into the city on a trusty mission, rented an automobile and drove away, the records showed today.

DOAK CONFIRMED

But Battle Promised On Appointment Of Brossard

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—The senate today gave quick approval to President Hoover's choice for secretary of labor—William N. Doak, of Virginia—but notice given of a contest on one of his tariff commission nominees—Edgar B. Brossard, of Utah.

Doak was confirmed without debate on motion of Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama.

At the same time, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, said off the floor there would be "strenuous opposition" to Brossard when the six tariff nominations reach the senate.

FARM MEETING AT QUANAH

Bankers, County Agents And Others to Attend

Plans to organize county councils in an attempt to adjust the problems of farmers will be discussed at a meeting of bankers, county agents, home demonstration agents and chamber of commerce secretaries of the district called by W. C. Dickey, district key banker of the Northwest District of Texas, at Quanah, on Dec. 12, according to a letter received by John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce here.

The intention of the meet, it was said, is to work out a plan whereby a representative of the commissioner's court, the county agent, the home demonstration agent, the key banker and the chamber of commerce secretary of each county can organize a council with several leading farmers and home demonstration club women, the organization as a whole to use its influence to adjust and solve the problems of farmers.

Dudley B. Foy, assistant manager of the chamber here, will attend the meeting with several other representatives from Wichita Falls, it was said.

Anti-Gambling Crusader Hurt in Juarez Assault

EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 8. (UP)—Demanding that he be given police protection both in El Paso and Juarez, L. A. Sherman, anti-gambling crusader, was recovering tonight from injuries received when he was attacked in a Juarez saloon.

Sherman, former state road contractor, suffered cuts and bruises. He said he was attacked from behind as he started out of the saloon door. His face was badly disfigured and he said he was kicked after being knocked into the street.

Hoover's Program For Relief Is Denounced

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—The senate listened today to a denunciation of President Hoover's plans for unemployment and drouth relief and with the house made ready for early action on the chief executive's proposals.

By tomorrow night, congressional leaders expect two of Mr. Hoover's projects to be in course of debate—his request for a drouth loan fund in the senate and his proposed emergency construction fund in the house.

Sculptor's Son Takes Power Company Job

DRIVER HAS TROUBLE

Conductor of Bus Attempts To Take Liquor From Unruly Fare

CANYON, Texas, Dec. 8. (AP)—A man identified as Brunson McCarver, of New York, carrying a New York police permit to have a gun and bearing letters from the treasury department at Washington, was shot to death in a gun battle with officers here today.

The man was slain by officers who lay in wait for the Pickwick bus, on which he was conducting a siege, threatening the lives of passengers and the driver.

Bound for New Mexico

McCarver was a passenger on the bus, bound for points in New Mexico. Trouble started between McCarver and the driver, Roy Barnett, 31, soon after the bus left Amarillo. Barnett attempted to take a bottle of liquor from McCarver and the latter drew a pistol, passengers said.

Word was relayed to Canyon for officers to meet the bus as McCarver had begun to threaten the lives of the driver and passengers. The bus stopped about four miles from here to allow officers, who lay in wait, to arrest McCarver.

McCarver opened fire from inside the bus and Chief of Police Frank Hicks and Deputy Sheriff Bob Barnett both returned the fire. McCarver stepped from the bus and slumped to the ground. He died instantly.

Officer Wounded

Hicks received a slight flesh wound on the forearm in the battle.

McCarver was armed with an automatic pistol. He was said to have been en route from St. Louis to Los Angeles. The body was held at a funeral home here tonight pending identification by relatives.

On the body was found a card

Santa Claus Tells How Christmas Tree Originated From Ancient Rites

ON BOARD SANTA'S SLEIGH-Train—Mr. dear folks of Wichita Falls:

We are speeding along towards Wichita Falls and will be as glad to see you as you will be to see us. While we are drifting along I will tell you an interesting story about Christmas trees.

Origin of the Christmas Tree

There are a lot of interesting things about Christmas trees and this year you will want to get up early Christmas morning and go to the living room to find out what kind of a Christmas tree has been delivered during the night.

Long before I was born and before we had Christmas in the world people were without churches and temples and so they did the next best thing and worshiped in the woods and groves.

Santa Explains "Forest Worship"

A long, long time passed and finally people grew to love the trees in these groves where they held church, and so they called them "Sacred Groves."

Perhaps the oldest of all Christmas customs is that of decorating

SANTA FE LEADS BITTER FIGHT ON PROPOSED T. & P. N. LINE

NEED FOR NEW ROAD ASSAILED

Established Companies Resent 'Intruder

LUBBOCK, Texas, Dec. 8. (AP)—The first skirmish of what promised to be a bitter battle occurred today with the Santa Fe leading the forces opposed to the Texas and Pacific's application to build a railroad in the caprock country of West Texas.

The intensity of the campaign the Santa Fe and its allies, the Rock Island and the Fort Worth and Denver, began to wage on the "intruder" was indicated by the fact that J. L. Lancaster of Dallas, president of the Texas & Pacific, was kept on the stand four and a half hours and only a small part of that time was spent in direct testimony.

The hearing was before Haskell C. Davis, interstate commerce commission examiner. The Texas & Pacific, through its subsidiary, the Texas & Pacific Northern, is seeking to build from Big Spring north to Vega in the upper part of the Panhandle, with branches to both Lubbock and Amarillo. The road and branches would be 333 miles long and would represent an investment of nearly $15,000,000.

Area Productive

The Santa Fe pioneered in the South Plains country, and has a main line or branches into several of the towns through which the T. & P. N. would run. The Rock Island and the Fort Worth & Denver would be thrown into competition with the new road to a lesser degree.

Lancaster said he believed the territory, once thought fit only for grazing live stock, was productive enough to support the T. & P. N. as well as the existing lines. Further, the new road will cause such development that in the not distant future the roads will be hauling more freight than at present, the witness said.

H. C. Pipkin of Amarillo was the Santa Fe attorney who divided time with Lancaster. He sought to bring out that the road would not pay and that it would do considerable harm to lines already operating.

Pipkin mentioned truck competition, which has been particularly bothersome to railroads the past few years.

Trucks Not Feared

"The T. & P. N. won't be worried over truck competition in this territory if the commission grants us the power to come in," Lancaster said. "The way for the railroads to fight the trucks is to give the public everything the trucks give, people then will prefer rail transportation.

Pipkin asked the witness if he knew of any roads dependent on agriculture production alone which were paying and Lancaster replied the T. & P. had several such roads.

Lancaster said 90 per cent of the territory to be served by the new road was arable but only one-third was being cultivated. The lack of sufficient transportation facilities was claimed to have retarded agricultural development.

Attorneys for the other roads wanted to know how close a community had to be to a railroad to be served by the road. They pointed out that trucks could be used to transport wares for several miles to a station.

"More railroads won't improve the fertility of the soil, will they?" W. F. Peter of Chicago, counsel for the Rock Island, asked Lancaster.

"No, but they will improve the service of the railroads," the T. & P. official replied.

Labor Questioned

Peter confined most of his questions to Oldham and Deaf Smith counties, contending that in those counties, with a new line already authorized from Vega to Forest, N. M., another road was not needed. The proposed T. & P. N. would run within two miles of the new Rock Island for 15 miles south of Vega, Peter said.

Pipkin tried to get an admission that Mexican labor would be used in constructing the road but Lancaster said native rural labor would be used wherever available. Some of the farmers in the territory were hit hard by the drouth and need employment.

A representative of Olton, county seat of Lamb county, began his fight to have the commission put that town on the T. & P. N. route. Olton, which does not have a railroad would be missed about 10 miles by the proposed line.

E. F. Mitchell of Dallas, chief engineer for the T. & P. followed Lancaster to the stand. He described the grade of the proposed road and gave the population of Lamesa, Brownfield, Littlefield, Dimmit, Hereford and Vega, which would be served by the line.

Aged Recluse Spirited to Jail After His Gun Claims Another Victim

PAWNEE, Okla., Dec. 8. (AP)—Two deaths charged by officers to his "meanness," Jess Powell, 65-year-old widower-farmer, was held tonight in an unnamed jail.

The recluse, who last night killed a youthful trespasser, wounded his companion and then fired a fatal shot from ambush at Deputy Sheriff Hartwick, who went to his farm to arrest him, was captured early today at Ralston, near here.

But before he was taken to jail Powell whipped an automatic pistol from his clothing, severely wounding Posseman Louis Raba.

Pawnee county's anger flared today as citizens thought of Hartwick's wife and seven children, including twin five-year-old boys, so the admitted killer was spirited to a point undisclosed by officers.

Sheriff Allen Jones, who ascribed Powell's orgy of gunfire to "just meanness" said he anticipated no mob trouble, however. Two murder charges were scheduled for filing tonight.

Asked why he fired from his house, killing Floyd Bell, 18, and wounding Marion Kendall, 20, when they went to his barn to return a chain they had borrowed without permission, Powell said:

"They were bothering me."

He said he fired later from ambush, killing Deputy Hartwick, because he thought Hartwick, Sheriff Jones and Undersheriff Lancaster "were a mob."

"I wanted to fight it out," was the way Powell explained the wounding of Posseman Raba, who was preparing to take the farmer into custody from Ralston officers to whom he had surrendered after fleeing his lonely home, six miles away.

Raba and young Kendall probably will recover, it was believed.

Soviet Repents of Death Sentences Against Five Arch-Conspirators

MOSCOW, Dec. 8. (AP)—Five prominent engineers, who at midnight heard a verdict of four supreme court judges they must die for plotting intervention in Soviet Russia, were made joyous today by a commutation of their sentences to 10 years' imprisonment.

Three others, condemned to 10 years' imprisonment by the verdict after a great public trial that lasted since Nov. 25, were given commutation to eight years' imprisonment. All are deprived of citizenship rights for five years and their property will be confiscated.

The men whose lives were saved were Leonid Ramsin, leader of the conspirators; Alexander Fedotov, oldest of the group, who had begged piteously for mercy throughout the hearing; Victor Larichev, first assistant to Ramsin; Nicolai Charnovsky and Ivan Kalinkov.

Those whose imprisonment was reduced from 10 years to eight were Valdimir Ochkin, 30 years old and youngest of the band; Sergei Kuprianov and Xenophon Stinin.

The commutation was decided by the central executive committee of the union of Socialist Soviet republics, which declared that since the defendants had confessed and repented, the Soviet power could not be guided by a mere desire for revenge.

Thus was concluded a judicial investigation which was somewhat in the nature of a great public show for two weeks. It was held in the old ballroom of the house of columns, where aristocratic ladies and gentlemen of the czarist regime paraded in rich raiment, and every seat was packed with proletarian masses of the new Russia.

All the defendants confessed fully. They took the view that they deserved no mercy because of their crimes, but would like a chance to undo their evil deeds nevertheless.

OFFICERS KILL BUS SIEGER

Armed Man Shot Down Near Canyon

issued to Brunson McCarver as a United States investigator and a letter of introduction from William J. Bacon, a police officer at Memphis, Tenn. The man appeared to be about 42 years old, was 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighed 140 pounds.

He boarded a bus of the Pickwick lines at St. Louis on Dec. 6, and as the bus started to leave Amarillo this afternoon began to give trouble to the driver, as if he were intoxicated.

The driver attempted to drive away from the station without the man, but the latter swung aboard the rear end of the bus as it left.

Telephones Officers

The driver reported that the man's attitude became increasingly troublesome, and between Amarillo and Canyon the former stopped at a lunch stand and telephoned officers at Canyon to meet the bus. Meanwhile, the passengers, of whom there were 14, crowded to the rear of the vehicle, while the man argued with the driver.

Sheriff John Fry of Randal county; Chief of Police Frank Hicks of Canyon, and Deputy Sheriff Bob Barnett of Canyon responded to the call and met the bus north of the city.

At sight of the officers in an automobile, the man began firing through closed windows of the bus, shattering the glass. The officers returned the fire, and, after exchange of a number of shots, the man dropped dead, killed by a bullet from the gun of the deputy.

The passengers cowered in the rear of the bus, and none were injured.

SLAIN MAN'S SISTER LIVES IN MEMPHIS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 8. (AP)—Mrs. Dave Puryear, of Memphis, sister of Brunson McCarver, said tonight he has been attached to the federal narcotics bureau, working out of New York and Washington.

A post card mailed at Kansas City, Mo., and received by Mrs. Puryear today, said he was en route to Los Angeles, Calif. It did not say how he was traveling.

Mrs. Puryear said he visited her two weeks ago, and went from here to St. Louis.

William J. Bacon is sheriff of Shelby county, which includes Memphis. Amarillo dispatches said a letter of introduction from Bacon, and a card bearing McCarver's name, were found on a man shot to death near there.

JUNIOR C.-C. DINNER TONIGHT

150 Guests Expected For Annual Meet

York musical successes. Several skits and items of entertainment will be presented by members of the organization also.

Name New Directors

The election of five new directors for three-year terms is the principal item on the business program. Balloting will take place to select the five directors, who will take their places the following night with five directors elected last year and five elected the year before to compose the entire directorate of 15 members. Announcement has been made that nominations in addition to 15 names submitted by the nominating committee may be made by members from the floor.

Nominations submitted by the nominating committee consist of Wilson N. Reedy, Henry Penix, Frank Wolf, T. J. Waggoner Jr., Russell Kolp, J. H. Durnal, Floyd Randel, Pat Hardage, J. Paul Montgomery, Fred Greer, G. E. Deaton, M. K. Cushing, Darrold A. Kahn, Joe A. Richker, A. M. Gaunt, Thomas R. Vague, William B. Swint and Alvah Conner.

The evening following the annual banquet the directors of the Junior chamber of commerce will meet to select officers for the ensuing years. Present officers are Jerry Vinson, president; Frank Haley, first vice president; J. L. Randel, second vice president; Shadie F. Hale, third vice president; Robert K. French, treasurer; and Wilburn Page, secretary.

Retiring directors are Walter Nelson Jr., Dr. Bailey R. Collins, P. R. Freeman, J. L. Randel, Irvin J. Vogel and Shadie F. Hale.

Hostesses Named

A number of Wichita Falls young women have been secured to act as hostesses on the occasion, and are named as follows: Misses Ethel Moran, Laura Lee Hampshire, Audrey Ferguson, Elizabeth Carrigan, Jeanette Moore, Margaret Hines, Camille Avis, Lucille Roundtree, Lillian Randle, Retta Barnard, Mary Ferguson, Madeline McCarty, Katherine Weeks, Corinne Tucker, Mary Alice Johnson, Marjorie Bright, Helen Knotts, Frances Ann Saunders, Ina Merle Robinson, Willette Jarrel, Dorothy Campbell, Lucille Smith, Roberta Shaw, Dell Hatchitt, Margaret Blum and Mary Tancred.

The dinner to be served will consist of wild game, including venison, duck and turkey. Gerald and Paul Pond contributed the venison to the success of the banquet while Paul Hines and Neal Powers furnished the ducks.

The banquet is open to all men of the city who wish to attend, according to Jerry Vinson, president, who stated that he wished to correct the prevalent idea that the banquet was being held for members only.

"We invite and would like very much to have men of the city to attend our annual banquet and meeting in order that they may obtain some idea as to the purpose of our organization and the accomplishments we have made in the past and what we propose to do in the coming year. The banquet, it was explained, is a strictly "stag" affair.

HOME-TOWN TALK

By B. D. D.

are the warnings thrown upon the screen.

The hazards from carbon monoxide likely to be encountered in repair shops and service stations are depicted in other scenes. A heedless mechanic, starting to get beneath a car while the engine is running, is jerked back to safety with the admonition "Never get under the car while the engine runs!" Headaches and half-sick conditions are often due to the presence of carbon monoxide in garages and service stations, the film points out. Methods of proper ventilation of such places are shown.

The dangers to which mother and the children in the home may be subjected by leakages of carbon monoxide are next visualized. A short series of views shows how the children playing with their toys are suddenly affected by fumes escaping from a defective gas heater and how the mother and the children at luncheon are attacked by carbon monoxide when, in the kitchen beyond, the coffee pot boils over, extinguishing the gas and thus liberating the carbon monoxide fumes present in the flow of unburned gas from the stove. "Never sleep in a room with a gas appliance burning!" is another warning flashed.

This educational motion picture film is now available for showing by schools, churches, clubs, civic and business organizations, miners' local unions and other bodies. Copies may be obtained from the Pittsburgh Experiment station of the United States bureau of mines, Pittsburgh, Penn. No charge is made for the use of the film, but the exhibitor is requested to pay transportation charges.

Woman Sues Grocery For $2,915 Damages

Charging that she was subjected to rough treatment and abusive language in a place of business and humiliated by being arrested and taken to the city jail, Mrs. Hattie Coulter, joined by her husband, A. C. Coulter, brought suit for $2,915.40 damages in district court here Monday against Clarence Saunders Stores Inc., et al.

According to the plaintiff's pleading, she entered the defendant's place of business at 1502 Holliday street several weeks ago to make a small purchase. After selecting the desired articles, it sets out, she approached the cashier's stand and tendered payment for them, also waiting for them to be sacked. While that was being done, she alleges, she returned to the back to of the store to purchase an additional item in the meat department, and upon returning for her first purchase and her change, was told that she had no merchandise there, nor any change coming.

The petition sets out that in the ensuing argument, the plaintiff was denied the right to leave with the items she claimed to have selected and paid for, was roughly treated and detained by the management until city officers arrived. It is further set out that an explanation of the affair to the police by her husband two hours later obtained her release.

Two thousand dollars damages for anguish and humiliation, $500 actual damages, $15 for doctor's bills, and $400 exemplary damages are asked by the plaintiffs.

RUCH TO TAKE STAND TODAY

Former Official to Tell Of Enforcement

Wages were in Wichita Falls, he continued. He was told to file charges against all found on the place. Charges were filed, he said, against Tidwell, Jake Bock and two negroes.

Mrs. Tidwell, interviewed by Ruch, said she knew nothing of the still except that Walls was at the place, the witness continued. He said he heard her say she had been advised officers were getting $100 a month protection money.

A truck was confiscated from the Tidwell farm, he said. When Lee Slade, Chickasha, presented a mortgage and asked for the vehicle, Ruch wrote the United States district attorney asking him to take the case, McInnis said. The district attorney, asserting an innocent holder of the mortgage might obtain the property, turned the case back to the state. The truck was given Slade, who is among those charged with the conspiracy.

Denies Charge

An extortion case was filed against Walls in August, 1930, after a federal charge had been issued; a case charging assault with a dangerous weapon and two liquor violation cases, McInnis related.

On cross-examination he denied Ruch had required the sister of Johnny Burns, charged with stealing motor car parts, to pay $30. The case was settled, he said when the money was paid the plaintiff for the missing parts.

L. E. Crawford, Lawton game ranger, said Justice of the Peace Spivey, Waurika, father-in-law of Walls had told him he saw Walls go to Ruch's home and hand him some money while standing in a doorway. The money, he said, was obtained by Walls at a filling station.

Bee Demonbrum, deputy prohibition administrator for Oklahoma testified Ruch had written several letters asking an investigator be sent to Tillman county.

FIRE DAMAGES AUTO

Slight damage was done to an automobile belonging to R. L. Thomas, 1503 Britain street, Monday morning when a fire started from a short circuit in the ignition system. The fire was extinguished before fire equipment arrived.

200 Members Of C.-C. Visit Office During One Day

More than 200 members of the chamber of commerce were in the chamber offices during Monday, according to John Boswell, manager, who stated that various committee meetings had been held throughout the entire day.

The large number of members, it was explained, had been called to confer on the preparations for the 1931 program of work of the organization.

The regular session of the business council will be held Friday noon at the Kemp hotel, it was announced, and the meeting will be turned over entirely to the furtherance of plans for the drafting of the 1931 program. No set program for the council meeting will be arranged, it was said, but the session will be turned over to general discussion of work to be undertaken during the coming year.

The final report of the various groups planning the 1931 program of work will be made at the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce which will be held at the Memorial auditorium on Jan. 9. The annual meeting will be open to the public, it was announced.

The average automobile in Tennessee consumed 537 gallons of gasoline in 1929.

First Baptist W. M. S. Has Scripture Study Meetings

Members of the First Baptist Woman's Missionary society met in separate circles Monday afternoon for Bible study and to make plans for the Christmas season. Members of circle one met with Mrs. F. S. Roop on the Iowa Park road for Bible study. Mrs. W. L. Robertson gave the opening prayer and Mrs. R. M. Jones had charge of the lesson.

Miss Lucy Huggins dismissed the meeting with a prayer. Refreshments were served to Mesdames R. M. Jones, J. S. Nelson, R. C. Smith, G. T. Perley, Ewing Ezelle, J. T. Brooks, W. L. Robertson, Charles Borland, C. Weber and Miss Lucy Huggins.

Circle Two

Members of circle two met with Mrs. R. H. McNeil and made plans for the Christmas holidays. Mrs. W. H. Davis gave the opening prayer and Mrs. A. B. McIver taught the Bible lesson. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. B. F. King.

Those present were Mesdames L. A. Farris, W. M. G. Mackechny, I. B. McIver, B. F. King, Ray Manning, Edwin Harris, W. H. Davis, W. P. Griffis, L. C. Cole, Miss Lois Partin and the hostess.

Circle Three

Mrs. S. W. Trout was hostess to members of circle three and the opening prayer was given by Mrs. J. H. Stanfill with Mrs. M. Dodson teaching the Bible lesson. The meeting was closed with sentence prayers.

Members present were Mesdames M. B. Smith, A. T. Adams, J. W. Parker, J. D. McMann, W. N. Brown, Ray Noland, C. B. Powell, J. H. Stanfill, George B. Dunn, Willie Scott, W. B. Davis, J. B. Cissell, H. E. Bradley, M. Dodson, J. A. Haley, W. A. Bachman, Charles Parker, L. H. Franks and the hostess.

Circle Four

Mrs. W. F. Parrish was hostess to members of circle four at her home on Alma and the devotional was led by Mrs. W. E. Floyd. A very interesting Bible study was led by Mrs. Ralph Hines and Mrs. Floyd gave the prayer closing the meeting.

Members present were Mesdames Bert King, W. A. Freear, Ralph Hines, W. E. Floyd, Monte Staniforth, Daisy Dean and the hostess, Mrs. Parrish.

Circle Five

Mrs. J. H. Goolsby was hostess to members of circle five at her home on Ninth street when Mrs. F. L. Mytinger presided and the meeting was opened with the Lord's prayer in unison.

In the business meeting a shower of clothing and toys was planned for the day nursery with Mesdames Alvah Conner and J. M. Van Houtten as a committee in charge.

Following the business meeting, Mrs. H. W. Pounds conducted the Bible study and Mrs. H. A. Covington dismissed with prayer. Those present were Mesdames C. W. Roundtree, Alvah Conner, F. L. Mytinger, Frank Cripliver, Leslie Humphrey, H. W. Pound, H. A. Covington, Parker Simison, Fred Stingle, B. C. Hess and J. H. Goolsby.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We have before us as we write, a picture, yellowed and faint, of a tiny gracefully posed little 8-year-old boy. With the story accompanying, it was cut from a Commercial Appeal of some 20 years ago. It is a photograph of Ben Lindsey and the story was printed in the height of Lindsey's glory as judge of the Denver juvenile court.

Ben Lindsey was a native of our own home town. We remember well the old ante-bellum home, ruins now—with sloping lawn in front and a wheat field in the rear where his ancestors had lived for many a year.

Poor as "Job's turkey," as the old Negro expression went. Poor but proud. The boy went to night school and worked his way to a bachelor's degree in state university. Tennessee claimed him as her own in great pride when he did his wonderful work with juvenile wards. It was at that time we interviewed his old aunt and were given the picture of the little boy.

We wonder if national prominence went to Ben Lindsey's head and when his court became an everyday affair if he really believed all he said or took his "companionate marriage" theme to blazon his name again on the horizon. We can fancy his forebears turning in their graves—all of them straightlaced old folk with circumscribed ideas.

Now Ben Lindsey is on front pages of newspapers again with his escapade in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. It seems to us he wished to turn the house of God into a debating ground. Whether or not he received justice, he chose the wrong place to defend his views.

We hold with Gilbert Chesterton that there can be no such thing as "free love." Companionate marriage, which is free license, is destructive to ideals, a stain on virginity and a blow at marital fidelity and the preservation of the home.

Love can never be free, though licentiousness may. Love always ties and holds and restricts.

We talked the theory over with a rather brilliant friend Monday morning. His idea was that more attention was paid to Lindsey's views now because, apparently (and this was stressed), the good ship matrimony was in rather a leaky condition. And this is because, he said, the leaks were the things that drew public attention.

The problems of married life are over regarded by theorists; they need to be left more to marriers. They must develop patience in the early days of marriage; they should be trained for wedlock.

For even in this year of our Lord, people still go blindfolded into marriage. The marriage of love so ensnares them they feel it will always be a fairyland of love. It is a strange thing about love that when it is hurt, it strikes out to hurt the one it loves best.

Wedlock though, is a sea that cannot be charted. Each person must find for himself the rocks and shoals and learn to patch up his little boat when it has been bruised.

And though love binds and restricts, hurts and gives hurt, if one can love and still be a friend—if he can preserve through everything a sense of humor, the little boat glides finally into a broad serene sea, that "last of life, for which the first was made."

Time Baby's Bath

Baby's bath should be given as nearly possible at the same hour each day and timed to be finished when the next feeding is due. At first, the duration of the bath should be only about 3 minutes. Later it may be 5 minutes, and as the child grows older and stronger he may be allowed to play in the water for about 15 minutes, as the skin absorbs some of the water, which is beneficial to the system. Besides this, the water relaxes the muscles and aids in overcoming many wrong conditions.

After the bath dry baby by gentle patting, not rubbing, with a soft towel. Then treat a good baby powder in the creases and folds of the skin and around the buttocks. This absorbs any excessive moisture, prevents friction, chafing, "urine-burns" and redness. Probably the best powder for the purpose is McKesson's Baby Powder. It contains a premium grade talc, consisting of very fine, soft flakes rather than pointed particles, with other ingredients, soothing and refreshing to baby's tender skin. In addition, it has a deodorizing effect that preserves that "fresh baby smell" which Mother loves so much and does not want to vulcanize with a palpable perfume. It is a real medicinal powder—entirely different from any other. Daily bathing of baby with daily use of McKesson's Baby Powder will keep baby's skin smooth, white and comfortable, which, probably will do more than anything else to keep him a happy and contented baby. All McKesson Service druggists and other independent drug stores sell and guarantee McKesson's Baby Powder. Get a can today and see how baby will gurgle his thanks. ILLEGAL ENTRY REPORT ASKED

Hayden Says 1,000,000 Aliens in U. S. Irregularly

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (INS)—Declaring 1,000,000 aliens were illegally in the United States, Senator Hayden, Democrat of Arizona, this afternoon secured senate adoption of a resolution calling on the labor department for a report.

The department was requested to estimate the number of aliens illegally here, how many of them can be deported and what additional appropriation would be necessary to deport them, and whether additional legislation is necessary.

Hayden said he had heard that 300,000 aliens entered the country illegally since 1924.

"If we deport these aliens we'll help unemployment," he said, "if the deported alien has a job then an unemployed citizen will get that job. If the alien has no job he's merely living on American charity; In either case he should be deported."

Senator Walsh, Democrat of Massachusetts, criticized the labor department for not having deported all aliens here illegally. He protested the department had not done its duty.

Senator Davis, Republican of Pennsylvania, former secretary of labor, was out of the chamber during the discussion.

U. S. Experts to Aid Lawton Water Plan

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., Dec. 8.—Lawton citizens are hoping for an early and final settlement of the controversy in connection with the waterworks improvement system. Word was received from the war department Saturday that requests of the military committee of the chamber of commerce that a government engineer be sent to check the proposed plans, was granted, and that Major W. A. Danielson had been ordered here to confer with the commanding general at Fort Sill and Lawton authorities to render such assistance as may be possible.

Twice has the city council unanimously approved the plans submitted by the consulting firm of engineers, but following such unanimous action, have proposed other plans and much agitation has resulted as strong hopes were entertained here for a substantial appropriation for construction work by the present congress.

Major Danielson is now on duty at Governor's Island, N. Y., but is expected to arrive here early in the week.

Leaders of both sides of the controversy as to desirable plans are said to have expressed confidence of a near settlement of the problem, following the army engineer's investigation. Advertisements for bids under plans of the consulting engineers are now being run.

Sunset P.-T. A. Calls Special Meeting Friday

Special to The Record News.

SUNSET, Texas, Dec. 8.—A welcome invitation has been extended to the people of this entire vicinity to attend a special meeting of the Sunset P.-T. A. at the school building Friday evening, Dec. 12. Exercises of the program will begin at 6:30 p. m.

Addresses will be made by J. W. Thompson, Rev. N. E. Berryhill and others. W. H. Johnson and Jamiel Dieb will arrange and conduct the music and singing.

Mrs. Sanford Owens, president of the Sunset P.-T. A. will have charge of the business session of the meeting.

Food Concern Plans Bigger 'Ad' Campaign

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 8. (UP)—Confident that business generally soon will show signs of gradual improvement, the W. K. Kellogg company, cereal food manufacturers, will spend more for advertising in 1931 than in any year of the company's history. Announcement of the 1931 advertising expenditures was made today by W. K. Kellogg, chairman of the board of the company.

At the start of 1930 the Kellogg company, for many years a consistent user of newspaper and magazine space, decided on an ambitious program of manufacturing, advertising and sales, Kellogg said. The result was the largest volume of business in the company's history. To meet demand it was necessary to build a $1,000,000 addition to the home plant in Battle Creek.

Senator Thomas Urges Reserve Board Accounting

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (INS)—A resolution asking the federal reserve board to report "what steps have been taken or are about to be taken to meet the existing conditions or depression, unemployment and low prices" was introduced in the senate this afternoon by Senator Thomas, Democrat, of Oklahoma. He said he would ask action on it tomorrow.

Montague County Farmers Organize For Market and Soil Development

By W. J. STEPHENS

SUNSET, Texas, Dec. 8.—An agricultural meeting of considerable importance was held in Bowie recently, and was attended by quite a number of leading farmers, agricultural teachers and business men who are interested in the upbuilding of all the agricultural interests in this county.

Many communities of the county were represented by leading farmers who desire advice and tested methods by which agricultural enterprises may be improved and placed on a basis of permanent progress and profitableness. These attending farmers, each, represented a number of farmers who desire to get entirely away from the old system of farming, practiced for many years in this country, and find a system by which they may be able to improve their land and make their work more attractive and profitable during the coming years.

Depleted soil is one of the principal causes underlying the desire to get away from the former one-crop system of farming. Such crops as cotton are no longer dependable in most of the communities of this county. The cotton growing substance seems to be gone from a great deal of the land here, and a cotton crop in the county, generally, is a very unprofitable crop. The success of several farmers who are already giving their time and attention to diversified and truck farming, is another cause which has prompted the desire to change the program of Montague county farmers. This is also a leading cause which gives the farmers hope of better progress and prosperity in coming years.

Variety Assured

A number of these successful producers attended the meeting and assured those present that a large variety of products can be produced here in large quantities, and assured them also that it would be done, if a market were established sufficient to profitably handle the larger production. And in response were promised the cooperative support of local dealers, chamber of commerce and Fort Worth and Denver and Rock Island railroads. Representatives of the railroads and business organizations promised to find a market for the larger quantities of products.

The meeting resulted in an organization, composed of farmers and business men, who will lead the way in soil improvements, truck farming developments and the establishment of greater markets.

The organization is represented in several communities, already, by Lon Chandler, Taylor; Melvin Tucker, Leona; Jim Fenoglio, Montague; H. C. Gadberry, Lone Star; Sam Steen, Forestburg; J. R. Hays, Fruitland; C. C. Williams, Sunset; C. E. Blackmon, Bowie. Representatives from other communities will likely join the organization from time to time.

Leaders Speak

Quite a number of interesting talks were made during the meeting, by R. R. Reppert of College Station; Mr. Cates, secretary of Decatur Chamber of Commerce; L. B. Bruner, truck grower of Wichita Falls; Mr. Cook, commission merchant of Wichita, Kan., and many others.

The meeting was conducted by M. B. Oats, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad. Mr. Oats is doing his best to help toward the development of the agricultural resources of this country. He has already been successful to a great extent, but this new agricultural organization promises more rapid progress toward a greater measure of success.

FALLEES OF 1930

Everything Falls but the Arches in Jersey Wedding

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J., Dec. 8. (AP)—Several things happened before, during and after the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. William Koch. They were approximately as follows:

The bridegroom's father fell ill and could not attend.

The flower girl fell from a piano stool and broke her arm.

The bride's mother fell down a flight of steps, receiving severe bruises.

A party of friends drove ahead of the bridal automobile and stopped quickly. There was a collision.

A passing motorist stopped to inquire if his aid was needed and another car hit and knocked him down.

Mr. and Mrs. Koch had planned to go to Niagara Falls. They changed their plans and headed for Wilmington, Del.

Jury Disagrees On Oil Theft Charge

Duplicating the judgment of a jury on a companion case tried two weeks ago, a jury in the county court at law was discharged at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon by Judge Irvin J. Vogel, unable to agree upon a verdict in the case of Herman Vehmeyer, charged with theft of oil and gasoline from a Wichita county tractor near the highway in the vicinity of Iowa Park.

The jury took the Vehmeyer case under consideration at 1:30 p. m. Monday after County Attorney Wayne Somerville had prosecuted the county's charges against the youth. As in the case of Jim Carter, tried about two weeks ago, evidence produced was largely circumstantial, according to Judge Vogel. The defendant was represented by Earl Kuntz.

Pie Supper Tonight To Aid Mangum Band

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Dec. 8.—An old-fashioned pie supper, combined with a merchants' sale, will be staged at the city auditorium Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Mangum band. Formerly the band was supported by the chamber of commerce, but now it is self-sustaining, and is at the service of the entire county.

The Rotary, Kiwanis and Business and Professional Women's clubs are sponsoring the pie supper. Fred G. Dierstein is director of the band.

SOONER ROAD HEARING SET

Cities Seek to Dissolve Injunction

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., Dec. 8.—Hearing on an injunction suit filed against the state highway commission to restrain the building of highway No. 36 between Lawton and Faxon, will be held before Judge E. L. Richardson of the district court Wednesday, Dec. 10. A temporary restraining order had been granted.

The new route which the highway department has designated saves three and three-quarter miles construction and makes possible easier crossing of several creeks, the highway department contends. Petition for injunction was filed by property owners along another route which they contend was the route scheduled when county bonds were voted in 1925.

Following the granting of the temporary restraining order, delegations from Faxon, Chattanooga and Lawton have sought to have the injunction withdrawn in order that construction may not be delayed.

Two Men Held in Jail On Narcotic Charges

Two men charged with possession and sale of morphine were being held in the Wichita county jail Monday with their bonds set at $5,000 and $3,000, respectively, by M. E. Peters, United States commissioner.

The two men were arrested Friday and Saturday by City Officers Summers and Stubblefield and two United States narcotic agents. A small quantity of morphine was seized at the time each arrest was made.

10,000 Letters Carry City's Christmas Seals

A full-sized truck backed up to the entrance of the City National bank late Monday evening, was loaded with several large boxes, and drove to the postoffice, where the boxes were opened and their contents exposed.

The truck had been loaded with letters—10,000 of them, and each filled with Christmas seals, sent out by the Wichita County Tuberculosis association. Wichita Falls used 2,500,000 seals this year.

The seals are being sent to practically every home in Wichita county, along with return envelopes for the money. An urgent appeal for prompt return of the money was issued by A. A. Spencer, executive secretary. "More will be needed this year than ever before," he said. "Wichita county must have $7,500 to take care of its own cases and to keep on stamping out tuberculosis."

Bread and Revolutions
Germany's Remedy
Racketeering Monkeys
Helping Burglars

By EMILE GAUREAU

Out of the contradictory news from Russia, one item should interest you. It reflects improvement. Unemployment there is said to be almost negligible, and a seven-hour day is in operation. In Italy the joblessery for food and the head of Mussolini. The wonder-working Il Duce, who has done much for his people, stands helpless. In some sections of Italy people face conditions of famine.

Efforts are being made to stem the tide of trouble. What would Mussolini do in the face of revolution? A whiff of grapeshot, probably—Napoleon's remedy. But bread is the only thing that can help. America has awakened to it. The rich have turned charitable. The hoarders have become spenders. Here we have much to be thankful for.

Germany takes care of her poor intelligently. Germany gives them more than bread. She gives them decent homes, free music, free entertainment, free hospitals. This is not charity nor philanthropy. It is enlightened government.

Chicago burglars get $12,000 in loot by training a monkey to squeeze through apertures too small for a boy to get through and unlocking doors. That is how jewelry and furs have been filched from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Storrs. This is evening up the score with the monkeys of the fable who got the cats to fetch the chestnuts out of the fire. Man sets the example with his hirelings, pawns, underlings, go-betweens and triggermen.

New York reads with some emotions about the closing down of Lorber's restaurant on Broadway, opposite the Metropolitan opera house. A landmark of the horse-cab and gaslight era passes out because of prohibition and recalls the career of Adolph Lorber, himself the proprietor of the famous lobster palace. When he came to the United States he had 50 cents in his pocket. He got himself a job as a bus-boy at $2 a week, saved money and opened a cake and coffee shop off the Bowery.

With the profits of this venture he opened a restaurant on Grand street, and his place became so well known that patrons from Delmonico's and Sherry's went there for excellent food at reasonable prices. Lorber then moved to Broadway and opened a champagne palace which was the last word in elegance. It survived 37 years, but prohibition stepped in as Lorber was growing old. Now he retires with honor and plenty of money. The elegance, warm lights, laughter and champagne of Lorber's are gone. Instead, we have 50,000 speakeasies, poisoned liquor and racketeering.

In Maryland, Mary ("Mother") Jones, brave crusader for the rights of the laboring man, dies at the age of 100. For 60 years she had championed the cause of the worker with an indomitable spirit. Militia or governors or arrests could never quell this heroine. She made her voice felt after she had seen machine guns turned on the wives and children of striking miners. Wise John D. Rockefeller listened. The American Federation of Labor owes her a debt of gratitude.

Mr. Stanley High, editor of the Christian Herald, announces after an interview with Mr. Hoover, that the president is firm for prohibition and that there is "no likelihood whatever that he will change his position," save perhaps, to make a new statement of it. The president seems to be firm for everything that goes against him.

This is the season when hunting dogs start out with a new leash on life.

"I have nothing to say about anything,' 'Simeon D. Fess is quoted as saying. And that's saying a mouthful.

The New Paradox of Prohibition

IT CANNOT be denied that in the last election, opponents of national prohibition made gains of importance. Of course, this does not mean there is a chance to repeal or modify the dry law in the new congress, but now that the bitterness and vituperation of the campaign has been almost forgotten, some significant facts can be referred to with accusations of radical dry or radical wet prejudices.

During the campaign a candidate who opposed national prohibition was called a wet, and in the minds of many people that classified him simply as a man who wanted the liquor business revived.

But, paradoxical as it may seem, many of the outstanding men who oppose national prohibition are striving for the same goal as the ardent prohibitionists.

Both want real control of liquor. One group believes it can be obtained by one method; the other by another.

The standpat drys, although willing to concede present enforcement conditions are unsatisfactory, still insist real liquor control can be obtained through the 18th amendment; that the Volstead law can be enforced and racketeering evils eliminated.

The views of the new leaders of the forces opposed to national prohibition might be summarized as follows:

More effective control can be obtained through repeal of the amendment and its enforcement act. These men do not want the old saloon with its intolerable abuses which brought on national prohibition. In the words of Dwight Morrow, they believe "prohibition has merely substituted for the saloon a lawless, unregulated liquor traffic." They refer to the great criminal gangs throughout the country which grew so powerful because of the great wealth obtainable through bootlegging.

This group argues that the liquor question is still with us, in quite as menacing a form as before. The old liquor trade of the saloon days corrupted politics and put festering sores in metropolitan neighborhoods; and in many places the modern one has done the same.

The alternative offered is a return of liquor control to the states. Advocates of such a step say Al Capone and his fellow gangsters now control liquor in this country, instead of responsible officials. They point to President Hoover's recent statement that the local, rather than the federal government, should break up bootlegging gangs and enforce other criminal laws. Under their plan, each state could be as dry or as moist as desired, and the state laws, because they would reflect public sentiment, should be more easily enforceable. In the metropolitan centers, where there seems to be a demand for a modified dry law, such action, it is contended, would tend to break up the gangs, because, for example, if light wines and beer were obtainable legally the demand for bootlegging products would decrease. Capone, it is recalled, has opposed the plans of the California grape growers to sell a grape concentrate which will turn into wine, if you let it alone, and which has been approved by the federal government.

In short, this group believes it will be impossible to make the country bone dry and that it would be better to turn the problem of controling liquor over to the states in the hope that the gang menace and other corrupting influences of national prohibition may be eliminated.

The sincerity of such leaders of this group as Mr. Morrow and Senator-elect Bulkley of Ohio can hardly be questioned, just as Mr. Morrow has stated he does not question the sincerity of those who believe national prohibition is the solution. Their views as well as those of the drys deserve the careful consideration of all thinking American citizens.

No real citizen wants anything but the strictest control of liquor by governmental agencies. Conditions now are not what the drys hoped for before the days of national prohibition.

The question is, how can real effective control be obtained?

And the Cost of Bread

COURTEOUS but marked exception has been taken by members of the Texas Bakers association to an editorial which appeared recently in the Record News, based largely upon an article published not long ago by Capper's Magazine.

The editorial in question implied a measure of agreement with the magazine discussion, which questioned the economic propriety of bread prices remaining aloft while the price of wheat has reverted to the figure at which that commodity sold in the days of 5-cent loaves of bread.

Bakers insist that the price of wheat is not the governing factor in the pricing of bread, according to representatives of the Texas association. They point out that even should the baker obtain his barrel of flour absolutely free of charge, he would realize a profit of but 65 cents on each 100 loaves of bread if the retail price were 7 cents. Production and sales costs are the factors which account for the apparent discrepancy in relative prices, they say, rather than the price of wheat. Their analysis of the matter reveals that with the selling price of approximately 8½ cents per loaf provides a 10 per cent profit for the baker and a 20 per cent profit for the retailer.

Nickel bread cannot be produced today, even if flour were free to the wholesale baker, with prevalent operating and distribution costs, according to their expressions on the matter.

How the British Do It

THE British believe in being thorough, even in small matters. It is not surprising, therefore, to read that they have clamped down on the menace of the intoxicated automobile driver in a way to indicate that they mean business.

Their new traffic regulations do away with all of the old tests for drunkenness; indeed, it is not even necessary to prove that the driver is drunk. All the police have to do is prove that he was driving with enough liquor in him to make him "incapable of having the proper control of his car." Under a strict judge, a very slight deviation from normal would be enough to convict.

This is highly sensible. The man who undertakes to drive a motor car along a public highway has no business in having even one drink under his belt. The British seem to have devised a sensible law to deal with the abuse.

Truism

Now there is time for sweet and quiet things,
Dear books I love—an old discarded pipe;
I sit and muse, and through the hazy rings
A vanished spring drifts back—when love was ripe.

I recall the rain's incessant hiss
Against your pane as we sat in alone,
And mocked its anger with a laughing kiss—
Two children on a flimsy, golden throne.

All that is done—and I am strangely old,
We meet and nod—a pair of casual friends;
Are you the laughing girl whom I once told
That love lives on—that rapture never ends?

Oh, well—the years bring wisdom in their wake,
And hearts, my dear, were only meant to ache.
—DON WAHN.

The weather man for the Waterbury Republican is no chump. Take his prediction of the weather in that rag of Nov. 26, viz.: "Increasing cloudiness, probable snow, rain and colder."

What! No sleet?

Pun My Soul!

Lee T. can make up sentences containing the words "conjugate" and "halcyon" like this: "Conjugate along with your wife, anymore?" and "Halcyon around some time."

But Ben Rosen is just as good at this sort of thing. Ben makes up a sentence with the word "Romance" in this manner: "Friends, Romance and Countrymen . . ."

The Pun Terrible

And Mickey McGuire of the Chicago News has to butt in with his offering. He writes: "With James Converse marrying Ruth Morgan of "Smiles," and having once been married to Thelma Morgan, would you say that this is getting to be a habit, or Morgan a habit?"

And they hang pictures!

Of Course!

Charles Otto, the manager of the Erlanger theater at Buffalo, and George M. Cohan were driving from the station to that playhouse the other day at a furious pace, so that Cohan, who was late, could be on time for the performance. Two motorcycle cops cleared the way and the sirens shrieked in the deafening manner.

"Now I know," sighed Mr. Cohan, "why Jimmie Walker likes being mayor of New York."

Warning

Some of the American tourists visiting Canada have wised up considerably to avoiding detection of the liquor they bring back by the customs officials. The best system, up to the middle of the past summer, was to carry a load of bottles in the middle of a packsack or big canvas bag, with clothes all around it. The customs men, going through the bag in the baggage car, runs his hands around the outside but rarely down the center, and the stuff gets through.

But the wise lads who work in baggage cars now carry stethoscopes, and when all is quiet, they shake all the sacks or give the trunks a shove, spot the presence of liquor instantly with the stethoscope, and your chances of getting through with your liquor are not so hot. The fine is plenty.

Add Sillies

They were telling the one about the show-off who was plenty saturated with laughing soup, again last night. He was boring a group with his exaggerated patter about an alleged hunting trip in the African jungles.

"Well sir," he was saying, "I only go after big game, see? Tigers, leopards and lions!"

"Did you have any luck?" he was asked.

"Great luck!" he ejaculated, "didn't come across one!"

Imagine!

Take it from George N. Burns of the Friars club, a gunman held up an apple peddler at 46th St. and Broadway yesterday, and after finding nothing on the peddler the bandit groaned: "You think things are tough for you? Well, look at this!"

And so saying, he showed him an empty gun.

And—

A similar tale concerns the sitch-ee-ay-shun out in Chicago, where a gangster stuck up an actor.

The actor told the bad man how bad things were breaking for him. "I haven't had a booking in six months, and my rent is due tomorrow."

The gangster felt so sorry for the guy, he gave the actor his old set of scenery!

Sounds Like Her

The other night Dorothy Parker was introduced to Lord Cavendish, one of the British nobility, if you please. Fred and Adele Astaire introduced Dorothy to Cavvy.

In acknowledging the introduction Dot cracked: "So what shall I do. Back out?"

Then, as she was leaving, Dorothy, invited the party to her shack. "You must come over to my place, sometime, Adele, and bring the king!"

Observation

"Nottin'," chirped the other. "I merely tutt you looked like Hal!"

LITTLE MISS NOBODY

By VIDA HURST

Dolores Graham, 36 years old, and unusually attractive to men, and Dr. Fenton, are found shot to death in each other's arms in the latter's office. Celeste, 19, and equally beautiful, is the daughter of Dolores. Because of the scandal attached to her mother's death Celeste is forced to quit her job and break her engagement to Norman Jackson.

Celeste had never been kissed until her engagement and she had held the respect of all the young people in her "crowd." After the tragedy, Harry Martin, one of Celeste's former friends, takes her for a ride. He insults her with his advances and she jumps from the car, intent upon walking home.

Dale Hamilton offers to give her a lift home in his roadster. Dale is the son of a millionaire department store owner. Thinking that knowledge of her family scandal would make Dale never see her again, Celeste decides to tell him nothing of herself. Later they go to a fashionable beach and grow rather fond of each other. To Dale, Celeste is known as "Miss Nobody."

Celeste gets another job through her former teacher at the Elite Department store. There she meets Blondie McManus, a girl the same age as Celeste in years, but much her senior in experience and sophistication. They grow rather fond of each other.

Blondie leaves the two at the table with the excuse that she has to return to the store early. Scott tries to make a date with Celeste and she refuses. Days go by and she hears nothing from Dale Hamilton. Dale happens into the office just as Scott is renewing his attempt to make a date with Celeste.

Wallace Scott, assistant credit manager at the Elite, tries to make a date with Celeste. She refuses, gets in bad with him and gets a notice that she is fired.

Russell Graham, Celeste's father, also quits his job because of the scandal. Dolores had saved some money for a rainy day. Celeste returns home to find that her father had found the money and had spent it to see a ball game.

Celeste has another date with Dale and he tells her that he has a job for her in the offices of Richard Randolph Clayton at $5 more a week than she earned at the Elite.

"Friends," she repeated dreamily smiling into the square mirror she was polishing.

CHAPTER XII

At that moment it seemed to Celeste the old misery and unhappiness cracked and dropped from her like the chrysalis of a butterfly. She fluttered above it on shining, shimmering wings . . . .

"None half so sweet as you are," Dale Hamilton had whispered.

Here was the adoration to which she was accustomed before her mother's death being offered by one whom she would never have considered it possible to even meet. Much less to claim as her friend.

In the bottom of her heart she suspected no friendship with a boy in Dale's circle could endure. But at the moment it was enough to know that he liked her well enough to fight her battles. She would work for the same employer and see him every day. Heaven could offer no greater bounty than his joyous suggestion that she become Richard Randolph Clayton's stenographer.

Suddenly she remembered that he had not telephoned about his car. Her father might return at any time and find him there. Uncertain of his mood, she was afraid he might choose to be insulting.

"You haven't telephoned yet," she reminded Dale, gently.

"About what?"

"Your flat tire."

He laughed delightedly.

"Don't tell me you believed that story."

The suspicion that the girls of his "set" would not have been so credulous hurt. Her downcast eyelashes swept her cheek.

"I was afraid you wouldn't let me in if I didn't have some sort of an excuse."

She rose from her father's chair, which she was so seldom permitted to occupy.

"Don't go!"

"I think you'd better go before my father comes home."

"You're always sending me away from you," he complained. "Even though I know your name, you continue to be as much of a mystery as when you were just Nobody."

"Perhaps that's just as well," Celeste said.

Intuition told her that her hold on him would be to remain perpetually a mystery. Dale Hamilton would not care to go on solving a puzzle which once he had been able to put together.

He followed her across the room to the window which overlooked a noisy parking station.

"You aren't angry with me, are you, for presuming that you'd like to see more of me?"

"Angry," she repeated, innocently.

He put his hand beneath her chin and tilted her face up to his.

"You're so sweet!"

He shouldn't be saying such things if their friendship was to remain impersonal. But Celeste, heart throbbing like that of a captured bird, felt herself caught in his eager hands.

"Don't!" she whispered, but so faintly that the word was like a sigh. "Oh, Dale, you mustn't!"

It was too late. His lips met hers eagerly and just as eagerly she was returning his kiss.

"You darling! You adorable, beautiful Celeste!"

But although she had wanted that kiss as much as she had, she faced him distressed.

"That spoils everything."

"Why does it?"

"Oh, don't you see? I can't accept your help and then let you make love to me."

"I wasn't making love to you. What does one innocent little kiss have to do with it?"

"Everything," she said, sadly. "So long as we were nothing but friends I could accept your assistance as I would have Mr. Tormie's. But if it's in return for my kisses—"

His blue eyes clouded.

"So that's what you think? That I'm trying to buy your kisses as Walter Scott would have liked to do?"

"Not like that exactly."

"I beg your pardon, but it is exactly like that. If that's what you think, I'll prove that I can let you absolutely alone."

Oh, dear; now what had she done?

He drew a bit of parchment from his pocket engraved with Richard Randolph Clayton's name and address.

"This is the place. Report for work Monday. And please don't let the fact that I shall be in and out of the office distress you."

He would have gone, but Celeste was dragging at his arm.

"Don't act like that, Dale, please."

"If I thought for one minute that you kissed me because you were grateful I'd wring your beautiful neck."

He was relenting. Oh, thank goodness he wasn't going to stay "mad" at her.

"You know I didn't. It's because I am so anxious to stay friends that I don't want to spoil it."

He ignored the latter part of her speech.

"You wanted to kiss me just as much as I did you?"

Celeste nodded.

"And you'll promise on your word of honor you'll never think anything I do for you is with the hope of anything in return?"

"Of course not!"

"And that you'll never kiss me for any other reason but because you want to as desperately as I do this minute—"

"Oh, Dale! But you mustn't. We mustn't. If only you hadn't had me fired I'd go back to the Elite."

"Don't worry, Celeste! Come to work Monday and we'll start all over again on a new basis."

Celeste was trembling.

"We won't get involved in any sort of sentimental relationship, will we?" she faltered.

"Absolutely not! We'll be sensible. Dance, swim and play together occasionally, but both of us will understand it's never to go any further."

For one moment she had a fleet-

Q.—Did Monroe receive the full vote of the electoral college when he was elected president?—J. A.

A.—Monroe received all but one vote of the electoral college.

Q.—What are a ship's "articles?" —G. H. J.

A.—A ship's articles are the terms and conditions which seamen sign and agree to be bound by when taking their places on board the ship. The articles, binding both master and seamen, specify the amount of wages to be paid, the food to be given, the sailors' position on board, the length of time for which they are shipped, and the stipulated conditions which they agree to abide by during their engagement.

Q.—What is the distance by steamer from San Francisco to Liverpool?—M. G.

A.—The steamship distance from San Francisco to Liverpool is 9,024 statute miles.

Q.—How many daily newspapers are there in France?—D. E. R.

A.—The latest figures available give France 202 daily newspapers.

Q.—How did fairs originate?—M. S.

A.—Fairs were originally meetings held for the purpose of exhibiting or selling goods. In Europe they appear to have originated in the church festivals. One of the most noted of the English fairs was that at Smithfield, London, founded at the beginning of the 12th century. The greatest fairs in Germany are those of Leipsig, Frankfort, and Brunswick. In the United States, the term is applied to a variety of exhibitions. The most common kind are the agricultural fairs, originated by Elkanah Watson, a merchant of Albany, N. Y. Mainly through his influence the New York legislature appropriated in 1819, $10,000 a year for six years, for premiums on agricultural products and family manufactures. Since then annual state fairs have become quite general.

Q.—Is it correct to say "Henry and myself were there"?—L. M.

A.—Substituting a reflexive pronoun for the simple personal pronoun is regarded as objectionable. Myself may be used where there is a true reflexive construction or, for emphasis, with the pronoun, I or me, to which it refers. Thus it is correct to say "Henry and I will be there" and "I, myself, will be there."

Q.—How did William Penn acquire the territory that became the present state of Pennsylvania?—V. B.

A.—William Penn inherited from Admiral Penn, his father, a claim against the Crown of 16,000 pounds King Charles II gave him the land in settlement of the claim.

Q.—What is the frequency of a sound which can be heard most distinctly at the greatest distance?—R. D. W.

A.—The bureau of standards says the distance at which a sound can be heard depends principally upon the sensitiveness of the ear to sounds of different pitches. Ordinarily the human ear is most sensitive to sounds of a frequency of from 1,000 to 2,000 cycles a second. The soprano high C is approximately at the lower of these two frequencies.

Q.—Please give the particulars of the Nobel foundation.—P. L. N.

A.—The Nobel foundation (Nobelstiftelsen) was established in pursuance of the provisions of the will of Alfred Nobel, who was born in Stockholm in 1833 and died at San Remo in 1896. By this will, dated Nov. 27, 1895, Alfred Nobel bequeathed the whole of his fortune (more than 30 million kroner) to a fund, the interest of which shall be annually paid out to those who during the immediately preceding years "have conferred the greatest benefit on mankind." The interest is divided into five equal parts to be allotted as follows: "One part to the person who shall have made the most important discovery or invention in the domain of physics; one part to the person who shall have made the most important chemical discovery or improvement; one part to the person who shall have made the most important discovery in the domain of physiology or medicine; one part to the person who shall have produced in the field of literature the most distinguished work of an idealistic tendency; and one part to the person who shall have done most to promote the fraternity of nations, the abolition or diminution of standing armies, and the formation and propagation of peace congresses."

Children Told of Origin Of Christmas Tree

in our houses, churches and streets with evergreens. At the very beginning of history began the worship of trees, or forest worship, and the groves were made man's first temples. All our instincts our love for nature, are forest memories, because forest worship was once universal.

In later times, to each god some tree was dedicated: Apollo had the laurel, Jupiter, the oak, the Greeks for ages had their sacred grover.

The forest worshippers could not worship without giving, because to worship is to give, and these boughs and garlands were the oldest gifts of man. Before man had learned to carve, and form offerings of his own rude skill he would bring to the sacred trees and hang upon them the first flowers and greenery of spring and the perfect fruits of autumn.

STORES OPEN UNTIL 7 P. M. AFTER SANTA PARADE

All stores belonging to the Retail Merchants association will remain open until 7 o'clock Wednesday evening following the Santa Claus parade Wednesday afternoon, it was announced Monday by John W. Thomas, manager.

The parade is scheduled to begin at 2:30 and will probably end about 4 o'clock. The route of the parade and order of march will be published Wednesday morning.

These gifts, remember, were never, as with us, decorations; but were sacrifices.

The Romans, with a fine eye for beauty, used to garland their temples and homes and gathering places and even the big Coliseum with boughs of green and ropes of flowers. This peculiar custom was received by the Christians with a special sort of approval, recalling as it did, the fact that our Lord entered Jerusalem amid the strewn branches of the multitude.

Mistletoe was for ages regarded as sacred by the old British pagans —the Druids—and was surrounded by great mystery and sentiment, little understood by us.

It was supposed to posses healing powers and that it could ward off evil spirits. Once a year the Druid high priest cut the mistletoe with a golden sickle, blessed it and distributed the sprays among the people.

Where Trees Come From

From the customs, originate our Christmas trees of today. They came from the northland forests. They are either white pine, Scotch pine, balsam, cedar, hemlock or Norway spruce. What would Christmas be without a "Tree of Light?" Christmas trees blossom at night and the flowers are jewels of red, blue, green and gold light. A Christmas tree has magical power to bring peace and goodwill to all who look upon it.

Evergreen trees have an interesting message for us all at all seasons of the year. They are green in summer when other trees are green, and in winter, when many of their companions are bare of foliage, they wear green garments that bring cheer to man and comfort to birds and other wild creatures of the forest.

There is not time to tell you more today, children, about Christmas trees and tomorrow I will tell you about Jack Frost and the work he has done to make things bright for Christmas season.

With love to all,

Santa Claus

'Model City' to Rise For Boulder Dam Workers

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Dec. 8. (US)—Uncle Sam's model city that will house 5,000 workmen during the construction of Boulder dam will begin to rise within the next two months.

More than half of the roadbed and tracks for the railroad-spur that will carry materials for the model city and then for the dam itself has been completed and it is anticipated that work trains will be able to pass over this line before Jan. 31.

These facts were disclosed here today by R. L. Adamson, chief engineer for the Union Pacific railroad, which is constructing the spur.

Phone Company Holds Pay Roll Up to Standard

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8. (US)—Announcing a policy of "keeping faith" with its more than 10,000 employes, officials of the Southern California Telephone company today revealed that they contemplated no reduction in the normal staff of the organization and no pay cuts.

Coincident with this announcement, the company heads made known that a $14,000,000 construction program for 1931 is scheduled to go ahead as planned and that expenditures during the next year will compare favorably with the average annual expenditures since 1924.

ing picture of her dream boat sailing on sunlit seas, but she banished the memory by putting a resolute hand into his.

"Friends?"

"Friends," she repeated.

A moment later he was gone.

Celeste undressed and slipped into bed. She pretended to be asleep when her father unlocked the door and tip-toed furtively through the dining room. She decided not to tell him anything about her new position until after she had worked a few days. Perhaps he would try harder to get one for himself.

How she swept and scrubbed and dusted the following day, knowing that her future was for the time being at least secure! Not since her mother's death had she felt so happy.

She recalled Dale's promises of the night before and wondered why she should be so lucky as to have a man like that interested in her. She remembered their kiss and caught her breath.

But they wouldn't do that any more. He had promised not to "make love" to her.

"Friends!" she repeated, dreamily, smiling into the square of bathroom mirror she was polishing.

She scarcely noticed that her father was morose and sullen. As soon as she had cleaned the bedroom he went inside and closed the door, coming out only for the meal Celeste prepared at noon. She used the remainder of the ground meat for meat loaf, scalloped potatoes with milk, made "cold slaw" from a recipe of her mother's, and as a final touch served apple fritters, which she knew her father liked.

He ate them silently without a word of appreciation, but Celeste didn't mind. She decided to put a fresh organdie collar on the old black silk and press it nicely. Thank goodness, the heels on her shoes had been renewed.

In the afternoon, after her father had again disappeared within the privacy of his bedroom, Celeste washed her hair, letting it dry in shimmering waves about her shoulders. She sat at a window which faced the setting sun and was sure she must be the most fortunate girl in the world. Yesterday she had nothing. Today she had a position which paid $5 a week more than the one she had lost and the knowledge that every day would bring her the sight of a man the very thought of whom sent the blood surging into her cheeks.

At 6:30 her father came out from his retreat and locked the bedroom door behind him. Celeste wondered what deep, dark secret he thought he was concealing.

"Don't you want some supper, daddy?"

"I'll get me a bite when I come back."

"Don't worry," she comforted him as Dolores would have done. Everything's going to be all right."

"I hope so," he answered heavily.

Celeste could not imagine why he had locked the door, but she was becoming accustomed to his childish ideas. She wrapped herself in her crimson coolie coat and was stretched on the davenport looking over the Sunday paper when she heard a rush of footsteps in the hall and an impatient rattling of the doorknob.

MANGUM DROPS STREET TAX

City Eliminates Yearly $4 Levy

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Dec. 8.—Male residents of Mangum will not be assessed the customary annual street tax for the ensuing year. The action was taken by the city commissioners to lighten the burden on the citizens during the winter. In previous years the poll or street tax has been levied upon all male residents from the age of 21 to 65, the assessment being $4 per person.

In addition to dropping the street tax, the commission has granted a 10 per cent reduction on all gas and light bills if paid before the 10th of each month.

The four commissioners are A. J. Hart, I. W. Cunningham, John Nelson and C. B. Pickard, besides City Manager H. T. Lawrence.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

MAXIMUM FEE APPEAL FILED

Hutchinson County Case Carried On

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (AP)—Intervening on behalf of the state, Assistant Attorney General William S. Wade today filed in the supreme court a motion for rehearing in a case involving the maximum fee law as applied to counties of less than 25,000.

By refusing a writ of error in the case, appealed from Hutchinson county, the court in effect held that the maximum fee bill as applied to counties of less than 25,000 was invalid.

In this case the county judge was limited to compensation of $2,250 yearly. Trial courts held that since another statute provided that county officials in these counties need not keep a record of fees collected, the maximum fee bill could not apply to them.

In his motion for rehearing, Wade relied upon still another statute which debarred commissioners court from allowing ex-officio compensation to any officers beyond the maximum fixed in the maximum fee bill, which in this case was $2,350.

Wade declared that if the court should deny the petition for rehearing, the effect would be to nullify the maximum fee bill as applied to those counties, and make it possibel, theoretically, for the smallest county in the state to pay officials salaries and fees in excess of the amounts paid in the largest county.

Rubio Supports Acts Of Finance Secretary

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 8. (AP)—In a brief statement published in today's papers President Ortiz Rubio came to the support of his finance secretary, Luis Montes de Oca. The secretary has been under fire in the senate and chamber of deputies for his economic policies in general and in particular his agreement on liquidation of Mexico's foreign debt with a committee of American bankers headed by Thomas L. Lamont.

The president in his statement made it plain that he would not permit members of his cabinet to be made the victims of political maneuvers and answered the criticism of De Oca's enemies by publicly approving his efforts to find a solution of the country's economic ills.

'Cheeks' Luciano Killed By Two Young Men

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—Nicholas (Cheeks) Luciano, 28, who turned state's evidence in 1923 and helped send the Diamond brothers and another man to the chair for the murder of two bank messengers during a $43,600 holdup, was killed by two youths today. The assailants escaped.

TREASURY OFFERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (UP)—The treasury today offered at par and accrued interest two series of treasury certificates totaling $400,000,000 at the lowest interest rate since the war and perhaps the lowest on record. One series, to run for six months, will bear interest at 1¼ per cent and the other, a 12 months' issue at 1½ pe rcent.

Texas Pays $38,884,000 in Federal Taxes During Past Fiscal Year

Special to The Record News

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Final figures for internal revenue collections for the year ending June 30, announced today, show that Texas contributed $38,884,521 of the $3,040,145,733 collected. Of the Texas collections $36,963,243 was derived from income taxes and $1,821,277 came from miscellaneous taxes.

These figures also reveal that while the population of Texas represents 4.73 per cent of the total population of the nation the taxes paid by her citizens last year were but 1.28 per cent of the total.

New York state paid 30.55 per cent of the total tax and North Carolina was next with 9.02 per cent. North Dakota was at the bottom of the list with two-tenth of 1 per cent while Idaho, New Mexico, South Dakota and Wyoming each contributed but three-tenths of 1 per cent to federal government revenues.

Among the miscellaneous taxes those levied on inheritances yielded $64,769,625 representing a gain of $2,872,483. New York led in contributions from this source with $19,622,876 and the four other high states, in their order, were Pennsylvania, California, New Jersey, and Illinois.

ENDURING FATIGUE IN MID-AFTERNOON IS NOT ADVISABLE

Fagged System Invites Sickness, Inefficiency — Renew Vigor by Eating a Sweet

Medical investigations show that daily fatigue not only makes the system susceptible to illness and organic troubles, but also lessens one's efficiency. Tired people, especially those engaged in offices and stores, have difficulty in concentrating or "keeping awake" on the job.

Most business people find that four o'clock is their zero hour as far as vitality is concerned. To renew vigor at this time, many men and women take a moment to eat or drink something sweet. The results are surprising—almost instantly fatigue is overcome.

Medical men and food scientists who have experimented along these lines say that the renewed vigor is caused by the refined sugar in the food or beverage. Sugar nourishes the body very quickly and when this occurs fatigue disappears.

Americans, it is said, are more subject to business fatigue than any other nationality. However, American workers can quickly get candy, ice cream, cakes and beverages everywhere. A glass of water sweetened with sugar—the "athlete's cocktail" — is reviving. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with refined sugar. The Sugar Institute.

CO-OP HANDLES 8,000 BALES

Wichita Receipts Expected To Climb in '31

A record of 8,000 bales of cotton through the Wichita Falls office of the Texas Cooperative Cotton association has been established for the present season, according to Glenn Rash, manager.

"We did not enter Wichita Falls until late but we have been busy since the office opened," continued Manager Rash. "Next spring we will get our local organization perfected and incorporated. Many farmers are being secured as members and I am firm in my belief that Wichita Falls next season will be numbered as one of the biggest receiving offices for the association in Texas.

"We are also doing all within our power to persuade cotton growers to plant better quality seed next year. The irrigated cotton this season has been good but there is plenty of room for improving the quality of staple.

"We have received cotton from quite a distance and at this time have three or four large lists that we expect to secure before closing the office."

Manager Rash believes with a favorable year next season that the Wichita Falls office will receive better than 50,000 bales and may even exceed that number.

Toys for Needy Kids Admission Price For Theater Matinee

Buddy Rogers will be presented at the State theater next Saturday morning in "Young Eagles," and money will not be accepted for admission!

Admission will be by toys alone. Any sort of toy, ranging from last Christmas leftovers to new purchases, will serve the purpose. The toys will be collected following the matinee and will be used at the gigantic community Christmas tree at the Memorial auditorium on Christmas eve.

The "toy matinee" was worked out by Manager D. L. Johnson in cooperation with Victor B. Lowrey, B. D. Donnell and Darrold Kahn, who constitute the "toy committee" for the Christmas celebration.

'Hurry-Up' Tension of Modern Age Reducing Life Expectancy, Club Told

Periodical Medical Examinations Would Have Extended Lives of 4,000 Wichitans 20 Years, Says Leach

Careful medical examination in youth would have added from 20 to 45 years to the life expectancy of 4,000 ailing residents of Wichita Falls, according to statements made by Dr. Austin F. Leach, president of the Wichita County Medical society, before members of the Kiwanis club at the Kemp hotel Monday noon.

Using statistics on local conditions to point the value of preventive measures with reference to health and longevity of life, Dr. Leach detailed the number of persons, among the 4,000 declared to be sick in this city today, afflicted with each of several diseases.

"It is entirely human for you to feel that you are all right if you are able to perform average duties that fall to you," he said. "It takes a terrific headache or some other painful disturbance to send you to a doctor. Statistics show that man's average lifetime is 58 years, but those figures are deceptive to those of us who are now between 20 and 60 years of age. We have less opportunity to reach the age of 58 than did our grandfathers, because of the hurry-up age in which we live, and the high nervous tension under which we work.

"High blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, a wornout nervous system, kidney disturbances, and consequent premature death are the fruits of our present pace."

The scheme adopted by all local physicians, which offers the first complete examination for $10 and annual examinations thereafter for $5 each, was mentioned by the speaker with the statement that "it's a small price to pay for added longevity."

Vocational guidance in our educational system was discussed by William S. Rosamond, vocational director in the public schools here. Such courses of training, he said, will serve in an educational system as a round-about canal would serve in passing Niagara Falls—it would prevent many catastrophes." Courses now being prepared here, he continued, will aid in eliminating the square-peg-in-the-round-hole problem.

Mr. Rosamond is here through a cooperative scheme devised by the United States department of labor, the state department of education, and the local board of education.

City Council Adopts State Code for Police

Passing on its first reading an ordinance which incorporates the laws of the state prescribing the duties of municipal police chiefs and all members of police forces constituted the principal business of the city council in its weekly meeting Monday night.

Prepared by Thelbert Martin, city attorney, at the request of City Manager George D. Fairtrace, the ordinance was described as effecting no alterations or amendments of power now vested in the police officers, but is designed to provide within the city's own recorded legislation the state's regulation of such agencies.

E. L. Smith's application for a license to operate a domino parlor at 707 Scott avenue was granted by the council.

Sundry items of routine business were referred to the city manager with authority to make disposition of them.

Children's Aid Society Stays Within Budget

A discussion of the general cases and the financial report featured the meeting of the executive board of the Children's Aid society which was held in the office of the executive secretary, Mrs. Harley Snyder, recently.

It was reported that the society is staying well within the budget set aside for the organization this year. Those present at the meeting included Rev. W. D. Bratton, Roscoe Staton, Howard Renfro and Mrs. J. A. Heyman. Club representatives included A. B. Maples, Lions; Dr. G. T. Singleton, Optimist; J. W. Culbertson, Rotary; V. N. Armstrong, Advertising and Rev. Mr. Bratton, Kiwanis.

THREE GIVEN PRISON TERMS

Forgery Suspect Pleads Own Case—Four Years

Defendants who acted as their own counsel in criminal cases completed before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Monday probably concluded at the day's end that their lucky stars had passed beneath the horizon in early dawn.

Four convictions were obtained by the state during the day, with one suspended sentence in the four sentences imposed. Those who conducted their own defense after pleading not guilty to stated indictments were Sam Parks and W. S. Kelly, both charged with forgery.

Parks was before the court for a second trial on the same indictment, the first trial, held in November, having resulted in a hung jury. In that instance, the defendant also acted as his own attorney, and subjected each juror to a prolonged questioning on various issues. Monday's jury delayed only a short time following the conclusion of the case to return a verdict of guilty, accompanied by a sentence of seven years in the penitentiary. It was set out by the prosecution that the alleged act on which the indictment was based constituted a repetition of the same offense.

Two Forgery Cases

W. S. Kelly, charged with forgery and with passing a forged instrument, was brought to trial Monday afternoon. A number of Electra business men, where the alleged spurious check was said to have been passed, testified for the state. An official of the company upon which the check in question was purported to have been drawn testified that the document was not on the paper regularly used by the concern for printing checks.

Presentation by the state of I. W. Karrenbrock, assistant cashier of the Wichita State Bank and Trust company, as an expert witness in identification of signatures precipitated the climax of the defendant's introduction of evidence. Obtaining the removal of the jury and the witness, Kelly sought to impeach Karrenbrock's qualifications as an expert by obtaining eight given signatures, written in the presence of Sheriff W. G. Bralley by various men in the room. The jury and witness being recalled by the court, the signatures were submitted to Mr. Karrenbrock for his detection of any evidence of the same hand having written more than one of the eight specimens. The witness, after careful examination, expressed the opinion that each had been written by a different person. Called to the stand by the defendant, Sheriff Bralley testified that three of the signatures had been written by one man. Cross-examination by the state to the extent of one question, the sheriff stated that Kelly's hand had written three of the names.

Four Year Term

Following about 30 minutes of deliberation, the jury returned a verdict of guilty, and assessed a four-year penitentiary term upon the defendant.

Alfred Jennings was found guilty on a charge of automobile theft and was given a suspended sentence of five years.

Three File Suit For $2,759 in Auto Crash

Three suits for damages were filed in district court here Monday as the result of a three-sided automobile accident on the Burkburnett highway near the Panhandle refinery on Sunday evening, Nov. 2.

E. E. Baugh, owner of a car which was en route to Grandfield, Okla., at the time of the crash; J. L. Armstrong, and M. V. Emerson, the latter two men passengers with Mr. Baugh, are plaintiffs in the three petitions filed Monday. A. L. Scott, said to be a resident of Burkburnett, W. F. Robertson of this city, and a bonding insurance company are named as defendants in the action.

Each of the three plaintiffs ask $2,750 for alleged personal injuries claimed to reduce their earning capacity to that extent, the petition of Mr. Baugh asking also $200 for alleged damages to his car.

The accident in question was reported by city police immediately after it happened as having been caused by the northbound Scott car swerving to the left side of the pavement, causing the southbound Robertson sedan to swing leftward from its course, where it encountered the Baugh car.

Credit Grantors To Draft New Ratings

The members of the Wichita Falls Retail Credit Grantors association, at the request of the Retail Merchants association, will meet Wednesday to perfect plans to work out new ratings for the credit bureau. The new ratings are to be released about Jan. 1, according to officers of the Retail Merchants association.

At the request of some of the merchants, persons owning accounts long past due will be given a week's time to get in touch with the merchant to whom they are indebted and to make plans for payment. The credit executives stated they were doing all possible to give individuals a good rating.

Skaggs Improving At Wichita Falls Hospital

The condition of L. B. Skaggs, Iowa Park oil field worker who was critically injured in an automobile crash near Holliday Saturday night, was reported by attendants at the Hargrave-Walker hospital to be slightly improved Monday.

Skaggs had both legs broken and suffered from other injuries. J. T. West of Iowa Park and W. D. Backus of Wichita Falls who were also injured in the accident were released from hospitals here Sunday morning after injuries of a less serious nature had been attended. W. D. Finnell of Holliday, a fourth person in the accident, received attention at his home.

STALEY FIELD LANDINGS

Four landings were reported at Staley field Sunday and Monday. They include a Stinson Jr. owned by Dr. George Hamilton of Olney and piloted by Joe Benson who flew from Frederick to Olney; a Stearman, owned and piloted by Lieutenant Shankle who made a return trip from Fort Sill; a Travelair owned by the U. S. department of commerce and flown by R. W. DeLaney from Amarillo to Dallas and a Curtis Robbin owned by the Curtis Flying service and piloted by Mrs. Charlie Cox who flew from Tyler, Texas, to Electra.

School Board to Ask Legislature For Special Tax to Support College

In order to pave the way for a $300,000 bond election and an increase in the school taxes for the building and maintenance of a junior college, members of the Wichita Falls board of education voted to ask special permission from the legislature to increase the school tax from $1 to $1.15 at the regular meeting of the school officials Monday evening.

The petition of the local board of education will be presented to the legislature at its regular meeting in January by a representative of this district, according to information given by Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of the city schools.

Doctor Cantwell explained that it had at first been contemplated that a new junior college would be created under the new state law, which would give the college board the power of levying a tax of 20 cents. Later, he said, it was thought more advantageous to continue the present organization of the college, provided the board is given the power to increase the tax rate 15 cents to support the college.

Total enrollment at the various schools, excluding the 6-year olds and the junior college students exceeded that of last year by 167, according to an announcement made at the meeting by Doctor Cantwell.

In accordance with the announcement made at the beginning of the school term, Christmas holidays throughout the Wichita Falls district will begin Friday, Dec. 19, and continue through the following week, ending on Monday, Dec. 29.

Doctor Cantwell gave an interesting report of the state teachers convention at Houston Nov. 28 and 29, reviewing several addresses made during the convention.

County Auditor And Treasurer File Reports

The October report of Paul Barnett, county auditor, was received by the commissioners court in regular session Monday and showed a balance of $259,969.36 for Wichita county on Oct. 31.

The November report of County Treasurer T. W. McHam revealed that on Nov. 30 the following balances were shown: General fund, $1,106.14; precinct 1, $327.29; precinct 2, $9,175.50; precinct 3, $4,232.50; precinct 4, $119.58.

A report for the last three months was received from J. D. Shannon, justice of the peace at Iowa Park.

Headlight testing stations were approved for the following locations: Logan Electric company, Burkburnett; Texas Electric company, 1024 Indiana avenue; Downs Headlight Testing station, 2302 Tilden street, and Richards Battery station, Iowa Park.

A. F. Laukhuf was awarded a contract for supplying grade A milk, of 4 per cent butterfat test or better, to the county farm during the ensuing one year at a price of 30 cents per gallon. Not less than 10 nor more than 15 gallons will be delivered daily under the contract, it was specified.

Wichita Police Hold Two in Reagan Theft

Two men who are believed to have burglarized a garage in Reagan, Falls county, last Thursday were arrested and placed in jail here Monday afternoon, according to Frank Burns, chief of police.

Nine automobile casings and nine tubes were recovered after the arrest of the two men and it is believed that most of the articles taken from the Reagan garage have been recovered. A small amount of silverware and a silver sugar container also were in the possession of the two men. The sheriff of Falls county was notified Monday night that the two men are being held here.

Justice Holmes Marks 28th Year on Bench

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the supreme court, who next March will be 90 years old, today celebrated the 28th anniversary of taking his place on the highest court by being one of two members to hand down opinions.

Merchants Hold Annual Banquet And Dance Dec. 11

The annual banquet and dance of the Retail Merchants and the Wichita Falls Retail Credit Grantors association will be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening, Dec. 11, with Maurice Cheek, the principal speaker and with Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., toastmaster, according to the entertainment committee of the Reail Merchants association.

Gordon Shay and his orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion. Other entertaining features are in store for those who attend. Plate reservations are said to be larger this year than for any previous banquet-dance of the organization. The committee in charge of the arrangements stated reservations would be taken until noon Thursday.

This year the banquet-dance will be open to the merchants and friends of the organization who are non-members.

The Illinois League of Women Voters has endorsed a proposal for a state income tax.

Lindsey-Manning Battle Rests Until Friday But Continuance Irks Copper

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—Former Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver will tell a court next Friday that he felt he had just provocation for interrupting Bishop William T. Manning during the ascription prayer at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, yesterday.

Arraigned today on a summons charging disorderly conduct, the companionate marriage crusader pleaded not guilty.

Policeman Impatient

Policeman William F. Hays, one of the plain clothes men who rescued Lindsey from a crowd of angry parishioners which struck and kicked him and threw him out of the cathedral when he attempted to speak at the Sunday morning service, appeared as the complaining witness. He was unable to understand why Magistrate August Dreyer granted a continuance.

"Every one saw him jump and shout at the bishop," the officer objected. "It's plain what he did and I don't see why the case can't go on."

Subpoena Bishop

Arthur Garfield Hays, attorney for the former judge, said he would raise the question that a man with sufficient provocation has the right to speak out in church and would subpoena Bishop Manning to show there was sufficient provocation in the bishop's attack on Lindsey's character, contained in the sermon.

Lindsey admitted the possibility of a slander suit against Bishop Manning and said if such a course was decided on he would retain Attorney Samuel Untermyer.

Untermeyer issued a statement upholding the right of Bishop Manning to criticize Lindsey's book on companionate marriage. But he added:

"If, however, as I understand, the true story of the Colorado persecution of Judge Lindsey had been communicated to Bishop Manning, he had no right to broadcast from his pulpit a personal attack and then to deny Judge Lindsey the right to answer it then and there."

KATHLEEN NORRIS FLAYS LINDSEY

PALO ALTO, Cal., Dec. 8. (AP)—Kathleen Norris, novelist, today strongly criticized Ben B. Lindsey, companionate marriage advocate, in a talk before a Parent-Teacher congress and characterized the former Denver judge as "not fit to be allowed to speak in any American city."

Lindsey, she said, would make marriage a matter of sex alone, "instead of the tried and trusted and temperate thing that lasts on until middle life."

The former jurist, she added, with one hand would give to girls "perfect freedom in their sexual relations," and with the other would give them "the more dangerous gift of knowledge of birth control."

She said Lindsey had become so warped in his viewpoint by his contact with delinquency that he offered "this ridiculous solution of the problem that doesn't exist."

More than 50,000,000 miles were traveled last year in about 15,000,000 hours by automobiles carrying United States mail.

Turkey Markets Open in Bowie

Special to The Record News.

BOWIE, Texas, Dec. 8.—A flourishing Christmas turkey market opened in Bowie today, both individual growers and pool members making sales contracts. Approximately 2,000 head were sold outright in the Bowie markets at a price of around 21 cents and better during the day.

At the same time the executive committee of the Producers Cooperative association, handling the turkey pool, agreed to the delivery of between 1,000 and 1,200 head on Wednesday. The Bowie Poultry and Egg company was the purchaser. M. F. Leonard, head of the cooperative association, negotiated the sale.

The county is full of turkeys and dealers believe between 8,000 and 10,000 will be sold during the next three weeks at prices advanced over the Thanksgiving market figure.

Greer County Turkeys Bring Higher Prices

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Dec. 8.—Mangum's Christmas turkey market opened with gobblers bringing two cents more than they did at the opening of the Thanksgiving market. The choice birds are netting the turkey-raisers 19 cents a pound for young toms, while the hens are bringing 17 cents. Old toms are bringing 14 cents and No. 2 turkeys 10 cents. The market will close the last of this week.

Oesterreich Murder Charges Dismissed

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8. (INS)—The law today gave up trying to exact a penalty for the murder more than eight years ago of Fred Oesterreich, wealthy Milwaukee, Wis., and Los Angeles garment manufacturer.

Murder charges against Walburga Oesterreich, the widow, were dismissed when the case came on for retrial after a jury had disagreed last summer.

Arrest Gives Clue To Missing Girl Mystery

FORT MORGAN, Colo., Dec. 8. (UP)—A speedy solution to the strange disappearance of Enid Marriott, 32, Wiggins, Colo., grade school teacher, was expected tonight by Sheriff Rufus Johnston of Morgan county.

MAJ. SHEPARD TRIAL OPENED

Army Officers Blame Death On Mercury Dose

officers might have led to filing of charges.

Alcoholism Denied

Major Du Frenne said he ordered blood transfusions for Mrs. Shepard and signed her death certificate, diagnosing her death as from "gastro-enteritis, severe, cause unknown." Major Du Frenne said he signed the certificate before toxicologists examined the woman's viscera at Omaha, Neb., and reported death was caused by mercuric poisoning.

Refuting the defense's contention, Mrs. Shepard died from acute alcoholism, Major Hawley said the woman on her deathbed denied bad liquor had caused her illness. Major Shepard said before the trial that his wife drank quantities of bootleg whisky.

Autopsy Questioned

Through cross-examination, Attorney Kagey attempted to discredit the autopsy as one performed hastily.

Maj. John C. Dye, Fort Warren, Wyo., eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, was placed on the stand by the government in an attempt to prove Mrs. Shepard died from poisoning. Major Dye was stationed at Fort Riley, at the time of Mrs. Shepard's death and treated her.

He said she almost had lost her vision because of dilated pupils of her eyes, believed by him to have been caused by poison.

On cross-examination, Major Dye admitted he had prescribed calomel for Mrs. Shepard. Calomel contains mercury, he said.

Court adjourned following testimony of Major Mann.

Iowa Park Starts Improvement Program to Meet Job Problem

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, Dec. 8.—Iowa Park Community Chest leaders who are putting efforts to relieve unemployment on a practical basis, Monday launched the street graveling project which is to be the principal means of providing work instead of charity to the jobless. Several wagons were put to work during the day to gravel the three blocks between the W. F. George High school and Cash street.

During the afternoon the officers of the chest met to complete plans for handling the work. At that time 56 applications for jobs had been received by J. G. O'Donohue, chairman of the employment committee. He announced that the applications would be carefully investigated and jobs awarded in the order of dependence and need. Only local men will be employed. Instead of cash payments, the workers will receive $1.50 per day in credit for provisions and clothing in local stores. Men considered not in need of the whole amount will receive lesser credit from day to day in order to build up a future credit.

Meanwhile the chest has organized a committee to visit property owners in an effort to get the graveling work extended to other streets. They propose to gravel 50 feet to a width of 20 feet and a depth of six inches at a cost of $12.50 per to the property owner, the other expense to be borne by the chest. An installment payment plan has been worked out to enable the owners to stretch out the period of payment. Members of the committee to help investigate applications include G. C. Burgess, James A. Griffin and Gale Park.

Fire Wrecks Drug Store at Bowie

Special to The Record News.

BOWIE, Texas, Dec. 8.—Flames Sunday afternoon destroyed the Monta Drug company store here, wrecking stock and fixtures. Loss was estimated at approximately $10,000. The Bradley Jewelry store and the Young & Burgess Furniture store, adjoining on either side, were damaged by smoke and water.

The fire broke out shortly after 1 o'clock, about 30 minutes after the store had been closed for a part of the afternoon. Fred Brock, principal owner and manager, was out of town and employes in the store could give no explanation of the origin of the flames. Quick work by the Bowie fire department prevented the spread of the fire through the business section.

Court Hears $11,000 Suit for Damages

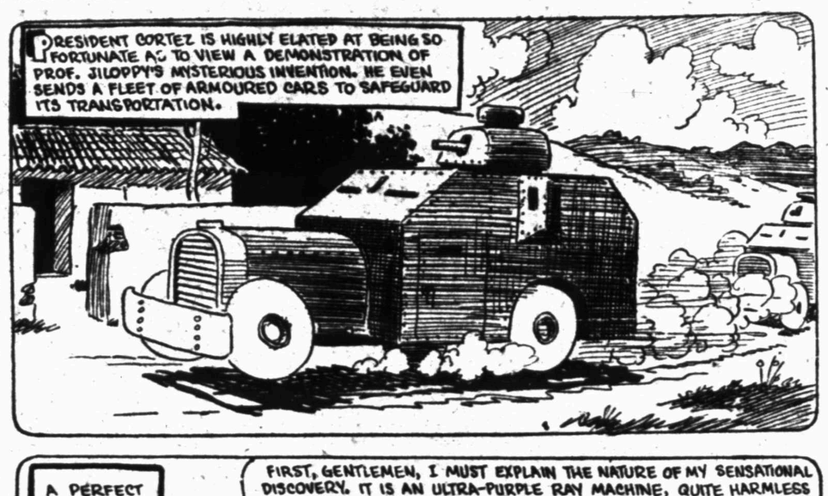

Trial of C. Y. Elliott's damage suit against the Wichita Falls Traction company was begun before Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court Monday afternoon, the examination of two witnesses for the plaintiff consuming all of Monday afternoon.

Elliott's petition alleges that injuries received by him while riding on a street car near the Kemp public library on July 4 resulted in permanent incapacity for pursuance of his trade. The pleading sets out that a trolley line broke, and in falling, struck the plaintiff's elbow which was exposed in an open window. Approximately $11,000 is sought in the suit.

It was predicted that the case would be ready for the jury by noon Tuesday.

More than 200 subjects, through correspondence, are offered by 150 U. S. colleges and universities to 150,000 persons.

La Grippe

La grippe is another alias for our unpleasant acquaintance, influenza. Scarcely a year passes by without this disease appearing in epidemic form in some part of the world. About three or four times per century this disease becomes almost a world-wide pandemic. The disease may appear at any time of the year, but most people seem to be more susceptible during the winter months.

It is quite likely that either you or some of your friends may be laid up for two weeks or more with the "flu" this winter, and I know that you are going to need information for preventing or curing la grippe, either in your family or among your friends, so I am giving you the information early in the season. I would suggest that you read today's and tomorrow's articles and keep them on hand so you will know what to do if a wave of flu occurs near you.

It is very important that one knows how to properly care for a case of influenza. Very few other common diseases have such crippling after effects, and if these are to be avoided, it is very necessary that the right treatment be used. One of the most dangerous complications of flu is a form of pneumonia, which is more often fatal than ordinary pneumonia. Flu also causes many crippled and disabled hearts, the heart being injured by the toxins which are present in the blood during the disease. Flu may also give rise to sinus and ear infections, and is frequently followed by great weakness and nervous prostration which lasts over a long time. Occasionally, the disease also causes a loss of smell, neuralgia, and muscular weakness.

Shakespeare and Cromwell are two of the great men who are said to have been cut down by influenza. Many other famous men have been handicapped by the after effects of this disease, among them Swift, Carlyle and Chopin. A British authority, Sir William Haner, says that influenza is especially severe on men of genius, and that many of the world's greatest thinkers have been killed by it.

Influenza often starts like a cold in the head. Guard against the disease if you feel any of the following symptoms. Severe chill followed by fever; splitting headache; great pain in the back and head; profound weakness; mental depression along with running of the nose; coughing up a yellowing material, with the cough worse at night; soreness in the upper chest; inflamed throat and a general aching or soreness which seems to lodge in the bones. Typical cases sometimes come on suddenly, the worker having to drop everything on account of sudden weakness. There seems to be three main types of flu, one attacking the intestines, one the lungs and the other the nervous system.

To assure yourself against influenza it is wise to avoid overcrowded and overheated conditions. It is important to see that you obtain plenty of sleep so that you do not become tired out. If the flu is all about you, the best plan is to start at once to clean out your body so that you will not be as likely to develop this ailment which has taken its toll of so many lives. Start by taking a fruit fast for two or three days, using any one kind of fruit from this list for your meals: Oranges, grapefruit, apples or tomatoes. Take only one kind of fruit on one day. At the same time, you must not neglect to keep your bowels open and should use one or two enemas per day.

Tomorrow: "Treating Iufluenza."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Shortness of Breath

Question—Mrs. H. G. writes: "I suffer from shortness of breath, and have for 10 years. Our family doctor says it is caused from nervous indigestion. Have taken much medicine, but still suffer. Have pains around my heart and gas on my stomach.

Answer—Get rid of the gas pressure by living on the proper diet, and then take diaphragmatic breathing exercises. Any physical culture instructor will be able to show you these exercises, or I will be glad to send you some articles I have written on this subject if you will forward a large self-addressed stamped envelope with your request.

Ginseng Root

Question—P. K. asks: "Will you please tell me something about the medicinal value of the ginseng root? I have heard that the Chinese value it highly, and was informed that by taking the tea for about 18 months my hearing could be made normal. I am a little hard of hearing."

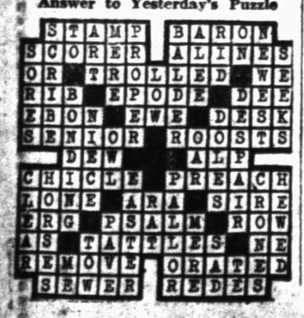

Answer—Ginseng is the root of an herb known as the panax ginseng in Asia, but a similar plant is produced in North America known as the panax quinduofolia, which has a mucilaginous substance supposed to be slightly healing when applied to abrasions. It is also supposed to be somewhat of a stimulant to the nerves and sexual centers, but I doubt very much if it has any value for the restoration of hearing.

Prolapsus

Question—A. D. asks: "Can a dropped stomach be cured and how?"

Answer—A prolapsed stomach can always be raised to its proper position through taking the "setting-up" exercises. If any adhesions exist which are holding the stomach down, these must be broken loose first by manipulative treatment.

Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle

SLATON EXPECTED TO ENTER CLASS A GRID RANKS IN 193[illegible]

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

If the Rambler may be so bold, he would like to advise Coach Albert Acker of the Olney Cubs to give his kickers plenty drill this week in the art of place and drop-kicking.

So far as I can see the Cubs have only one fault, and that is nobody on the team can consistently spin the oval through the posts after touchdowns have been scored. So far this season the fault has attracted little notice. Olney hasn't needed any extra points. Indeed, it could have forfeited all the extra points they made or failed to make this season, giving them to their opponents, and still Olney's scores would have been tremendous.

But suppose Slaton turns out to be a whale of a club, able to hold the Cubs to one touchdown, and able to score one itself. Then the extra points will make a big difference. Slaton may not be so powerful. But it's a good idea to think of them that way.

Against Nocona it was Duckworth, I believe, who tried six placements, and was successful in only one of them. That's bad. The other two extra points were made by passes.

Duckworth does not need lessons in anything else. That gallant leper made the most sensational run of the day in the Nocona game and I'm sorry it was not given more of a play in the news story. It was a 90-yard sprint from scrimmage for a touchdown. You who read the play-by-play account of the game are sure to have noticed it. He took the ball on his 10-yard line and galloped through the first and second lines of defense without a bit of interference, sidestepped through all of them, and headed for the goal with only one man pursuing him. This one Nocona player could have tackled Duckworth along about Nocona's 30-yard line, had he left the ground and made one of those good old-fashioned flying tackles—but the football fathers have ruled that leap out. Just as Duckworth was crossing the goal line, however, the pursuing Noconan made a flying leap anyway—but he missed. He did it in final desperation.

But Duckworth, though master of his running, could well take lessons in kicking from a lad on the Nocona team named Zachary, the Indians' brilliant fullback. Zachary place-kicked both extra points for Nocona last Friday, and handled the kicking-off job excellently.

In kicking off, Duckworth is as good as Zachary. Duckworth time and again sailed the ball over the goal line, forcing Nocona to take it on their 20-yard line. But Duckworth cannot compare to Zachary in the art of place-kicking.

Credit to Jenkins

Too much credit cannot be given Coach T. H. Jenkins for turning out one of the best football teams Nocona has ever produced. He produced a team that not only took victory with a calm demeanor, but showed nobility of character in defeat. So much cannot be said about many of our football teams. I have it on the word of Kuehn, Olney right guard; Rankin Goode, the Cub quarterback, and several other players, to say nothing of Coach Acker himself, that the Nocona outfit is one of the cleanest teams ever to engage in class B competition in Northwest Texas. After the Nocona-Olney battle, there was no word heard of enmities or hostilities between players of the opposing elevens.

In previous games, and one notably, visiting teams at Nocona have left the field defeated and bitter and in a mood to pick fist fights with the Nocona players. According to reports of those post-game battles, the Nocona men gave the grouchy losers what they were looking for, and a little more besides.

Kuehn said he had never played against a cleaner line than the Nocona forward wall. Did you ever hear of some teams who took great delight in gouging their opponents eyes, or spitting in their eyes just as the ball was snapped. Alas, it is hard to hear such tactics talked of, but they happen just the same. There was nothing of that kind in the Nocona-Olney game. The Cubs never used such tactics and never will. Neither has Nocona, and they never will.

The All-Stars

The Rambler is going to make an effort to select an all-region team. He will do it in the same manner the all-district class A team was selected, namely, by counting the ballots of the coaches. To eliminate confusion, only the votes of coaches whose teams went into bi-district rounds will be considered in selecting the material. In other words, coaches of Nocona, Olney, Slaton and Dalhart will be asked to contribute their selections, and the first and second all-region teams will be selected from material they choose.

Nocona will be represented on the all-region team pretty heavily, or I miss my guess. It will not be so heavily represented as Olney, but there are some players in Nocona who would be hard to keep off. Zachary, I think, merits mention. So does Cunningham and Evans. Fenoglio is a dashing back and will land on the second team, probably, but it would be difficult for him to crowd out Olney candidates, or his own mates.

Granted that Slaton doesn't turn out some backfield wizards, the race for fullback on the mythical team will be between Zachary and Graves. Graves is a terror with the ball. He lowers his head and dives, and runs hard. He is a most consistent gainer. But is he as fast as Zachary? The Rambler frankly will not say. Zachary is some fast. Also, Zachary is more outstanding in the kicking department, Graves gives way to Goode most of the time when punting is to be done.

Zachary and Fenoglio were speed demons against Graham, but neither was as sensational against Olney. Zachary alone came through with some of the brilliance he exhibited in the Graham game. His closest rival was Cunningham, who made a pretty 60-yard run for a touchdown, but Cunningham was stopped far more often than Zachary.

Goode Stands Out

I believe Goode is a better quarterback than Evans, and Duckworth a more valuable half than Fenoglio. In the two times I have seen Olney I did not get a chance to watch Goldsmith closely. The play by play reports, however, speak for themselves, and prove the lad to be a fast stepper.

Being a scribe, when I cover a football game I'm primarily interested in knowing immediately who has the ball and how far he gets—and I haven't mastered this job sufficiently to be able to see what the linemen are doing at the same time. To say that the Olney line as a whole is superior to the Nocona line is easy. And to pick out a few of the outstanding stars on the winning team's line doesn't take much effort. But it's hard to name the outstanding linemen on the losers' team. For on almost every play that the winning team gains, there is some star lineman of the losing side who throttles his man. Every time Olney bucked through for 20 to 30 yards, there were other parts of the Nocona line that held.

I'm certain of this much, that you can't find a better pair of ends in all the land hereabouts better than W. and B. Gilmore of Olney. The job of picking the rest of the star linemen on either Olney's or Nocona's team I will leave to the coaches.

Speaking of those Gilmore brothers, their father, George W. Gilmore Sr., was at Nocona and I met him. Mr. Gilmore is proud of his boys and his pride is well founded.

Grit, Not Tears

But back to Nocona. It's boys and girls, and their great sportsmanship. The Rambler, on the morn of the great tussle, had some words to say about tear-shedding. He recalled that the Weatherford girls, when they saw their team trampled by the Indians, wept bitterly and evoked pity. We decided to lend all comfort possible to whichever group of girls came from the scrap with flooded cheeks.

But lo, the courageous girls of Nocona had banded together and had agreed solemnly that in event their team was defeated there would be no tears shed, knowing that the gallant Indians would never lose to anybody but players better than themselves. And so long as the Indians fought to the bitter end, why should the girls cry. Why not commend the gridsters for their fight? Thus reasoned the girls, and after that memorable battle there was not a tear in all Nocona.

On the contrary, Nocona girls greeted Olney girls that night with "Goodbye, you are all good sports!" and some of them came down to wave farewell to the Olney players.

TIGERS HIGH IN 'B' RANKS

Champs Get Ready for Olney Game Friday

By L. A. WILSON
Record News Correspondent

SLATON, Texas, Dec. 8.—Commenting today on action of the executive committee of class A, district 1, interscholastic league, in voting to admit Slaton High school to class A athletics, Supt. L. T. Green, said no definite action had been taken by Slaton officials, but that it is believed the offer will be accepted. A similar offer last year was made by the committee, but Slaton declined to accept it.

Champs Four Times

During the past six years, Slaton has won four class B district grid championships, twice winning bi-district titles. This consistent record, plus the town's growth and development as one of the larger cities of Northwest Texas, influenced the executive committee in voting to admit Slaton, and probably will cause the acceptance of the offer.

The committee, meeting in Amarillo, decided to divide the district for the next two years. Slaton, Lubbock, Pampa, Plainview and Amarillo would be in one section, while Vernon, Wichita Falls, Childress, Quanah and Electra would be in the other. A round robin series would be played in each section, winners to meet on Thanksgiving day to settle the district championship.

Caravan to Olney

A motor caravan is being organized here to carry the Slaton High school band, girls' pep squad and many fans to Olney next Friday to see the regional grid battle between the Slaton High Tigers and the Olney High team, each eleven having won bi-district honors last week.

The Slaton team has had a very rigid schedule during the past month, defeating Tahoka, Lamesa, Brownfield, Spur, Ralls, Littlefield and Dalhart within that time. The Tigers downed Dalhart, 7 to 6, at Lubbock last Friday for the title of districts 1 and 2, class B.

Except for injuries of several team members, the Tigers are in good condition, and it is hoped these injuries will be healed sufficiently by Friday so as to make the team members ready for regular duty against Olney.

World Broadcast For Army Game Planned

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—A round-the-world broadcast of the Army-Navy football game will be undertaken Saturday by the Navy.

A running account of the game in high frequency code will be sent out by naval communications and transmitted to the far Pacific by the naval radio station at San Francisco.

TEAM ENTERS SEMI-FINALS

Victors Play Austin Eleven Next Saturday

By GAYLE TALBOT JR
Associated Press Sports Writer

TYLER, Texas, Dec. 8.—Outclassing their opponents in every department of play, the Tyler High school Lions swept to a 27 to 6 victory over the Greenville Lions in their bi-district football tussle here today. The triumph established the Tyler eleven champion of districts five and six and paired it against the Austin Maroons in a semi-final battle Saturday at Austin.

Johnson Leads Way

Harry Johnson, shifty quarterback, was the spearhead of a Tyler attack that scored two touchdowns on the heavier Greenville team in the first 10 minutes of play and then gathered itself to put across two more in the closing period. Greenville scored its lone touchdown late in the final quarter on a 60-yard pass to Byrd.

Tyler's margin of superiority was pronounced, the East Texans piling up 27 first downs to eight for the invaders. Their passing attack accounted for several sizable gains, but it was their running offense that did the principal damage. Johnson, Hill and Gregory alternated in tearing up the Greenville defenses, with a fast charging line to clear the way.

Johnson romped 10 yards across the Greenville line for the initial touchdown after a 40-yard march, the second followed almost immediately, with Gregory going over to climax a 50-yard drive.

Hill Goes Over

Late in the third the local eleven paraded 65 yards down the field and to the one-yard line before it was stopped. Greenville kicked out safely as the final session began, but Tyler came right back to push across a touchdown, Hill going over after a 25-yard drive. A 20-yard pass, Johnson to Morris, accounted for the victors' fourth score a few minutes later, Morris kicking three out of the four extra points.

Presbyterians Victors In Basket Ball Battles

The East Side Presbyterian church basket ball five defeated Highland Heights Christian's team in a hard-fought match, 23 to 21, and the First Presbyterians made away with the Highland Heights Baptists aggregation, 45 to 23, Monday night as the weekly schedule in the City Church league got under way on the courts of the Floral Heights Presbyterian church. Ray Community Presbyterians forfeited to the Floral Heights Christians, and the First Presbyterians engaged the former in a practice game to round out the card. The First Presbyterians were victorious 27 to 6. The Sunday School league games will be played on the same court tonight with First Christian meeting the First Presbyterians, Grant Street Methodists taking on the Jewish Temple, and First Methodists meeting the First Baptists.

Bowling Matches Produce No Change in Standing

Standings in the City Bowling league remained unchanged after Monday night's matches at the Spudder Bowling alleys, in which each victor could manage to win but two out of three contests.

The league-leading Building and Loan Association team won two from Parfet & Martlew, but dropped the third. Wolff Brothers won two from Montgomery company. First National bank won a pair from Staleys, and City National bank won two from Texas Electric Service company, each dropping the third tilt.

First National was high game with 825 pins. Davis of City National was high three games with 585 and Robison of Montgomery company was high single game with 221.

Tyler Whips Greenville, 27 To 6, In Bi-District Clash

As Schwartz Paved Way for Notre Dame's Victory

Here's a flashy bit of action from Saturday's great game at Los Angeles when Notre Dame completely upset the dope by defeating University of Southern California 27 to 0 in the intersectional contest. Schwartz, Notre Dame halfback, is shown plunging over left tackle for one of the gains which led to Notre Dame's first touchdown in the opening quarter when he passed the ball to Carideo, who went over. Schwartz is indicated by the arrow.

Pop Warner, Noted Coach, Rates Notre Dame as Best of All Time

By WILLIAM LEISER

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8. (US)—"Notre Dame of 1930, the squad that crushed the Trojans, 27 to 0, Saturday, deserves to be listed as the greatest football squad of all time."

The statement was made by a veteran who has coached powerful teams through a third of a century, by one who seldom uses superlatives in discussing squads or players, by one who himself has built elevens long rated with the best in history, in other words, by Glenn S. Warner, who at Carlysle, Pittsburgh, and Stanford developed gridiron organizations which in their day more than once amazed the football public.

If there are those, and undoubtedly there are, who still ask what happened to the heretofore splendid Southern California Trojan offensive Saturday, "Pop" gives them the answer. The Trojans were up against the greatest there is in the game.

Pop Gives His View

Several hours after Lukats' final touchdown was written in the records, I found Pop.

"Have you seen many better teams than Notre Dame today?" we asked.

"No," said Pop.

"Have you seen any team that was better?"

"No, I haven't."

"Do you have a definite idea now as to just how strong this Notre Dame squad is?"

"Well," said Pop, in his slow, deliberate fashion, "after the schedule Notre Dame has played, and after coming out here to beat an outstanding team in such decisive fashion, I think Notre Dame deserves to be classed as the greatest team of all times. I have had a few teams some of the experts thought were great, such as the Pitt 1916 team, but I doubt if I ever had one to compare with this. I believe, in all respects, Knute Rockne has just about the greatest squad ever developed. Yes, I believe that's true."

Notre Dame took such calm, cool deliberate command of the contest Saturday that, actually, there was no battle.

Stars Were Many

Stars were many. Leaders were: Frank Carideo, rated by all coaches we have talked to as the finest team director seen in the West in years, who had the ball game in his pocket after the first five plays.

Bert Metzger, a vicious little guard listed as weighing but 155 pounds, who knew more methods and tricks for feinting in one, two, or three ways and going through a line in still another, than 10 ordinary linemen.

Paul O'Conner, who is by leaps and bounds certainly the best fourth string fullback on any football team in the world.

Marchy Schwartz, whose great power Carideo used to gain heavy yardage as well as to "set up" long gains for O'Conner.

Marty Brill, a great blocking halfback.

The list must be ended, before it includes the whole Notre Dame squad down to and including one Jaskwhich, sent into the game as a fourth or fifth string quarter, who on his third play unloosed a punt that made him look like the brilliant Harlow Rothert of Stanford.

That's the first impression of Notre Dame of 1930. The fullback, Savoldi, was lost. The second fullback, Mullins, was supposedly hurt. The third fullback, Dan Hanley, for reasons of strategy was benched and in comes O'Conner, a fourth stringer, and look what he was.

Fast and Furious

We thought Duffield and Mehler were runners. Well, Notre Dame's fourth string fullback, or third string right half, or whatever O'Conner was, is just as good and in many ways better. No man ever ran down a sideline, through deadly tacklers who had him trapped, for 80 yards and a touchdown in any more decisive and spectacular fashion than O'Conner did Saturday.

That's what we mean by saying no squad has had so many football players who know so much. No matter how far down the list Rockne goes, he brings up a star, a player with more at his command than many of our finished stars.

The leading feature of the battle, to us, always will be the command taken by Carideo. He was in the position of a man playing chess against an opponent who knew half as much.

DRAFT PARLEY IS ORDERED

Question to Be Thrashed Out Wednesday

By HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The well-known draft controversy came to the rescue of harassed baseball reporters covering the mid-winter meetings of the National and American leagues today and gave them something to write about.

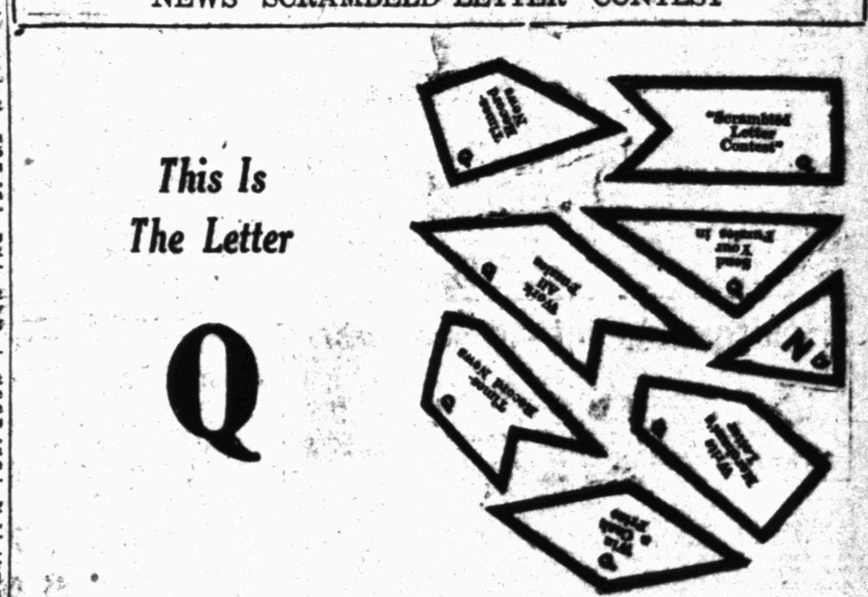

While major league club owners and managers indulged in spirited but fruitless conversations in the lobby of the Hotel Commodore, the committee of nine from the three class AA leagues, International, Pacific Coast and American association, went into a huddle on the 20th floor and finally came forth with the announcement that a conference with the majors on the draft problem would be held in the Hotel Roosevelt at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

This announcement came after a series of incidents that sent the "war correspondents" scurrying up and down the hotel elevators in a spectacular chase after the "low down" on the draft situation.

Just who was to represent the major leagues at the draft conference was problematical tonight. It was said neither major league president, John Arnold Heydler or Ernest Barnard, would join the conferees, leaving the meeting in the hands of the club owners themselves.

In 1928-29 Florida had 45,291 high school girls taking home economics courses under 209 teachers.

THIS IS THE TWENTY-SIXTH PUZZLE IN TIMES-RECORD NEWS "SCRAMBELD LETTER" CONTEST

The Times-Record News is conducting one of the most absorbing contests ever designed for the entertainment of its readers. To stimulate interest in it, and to make it a profitable as well as an enjoyable pastime we have offered a grand total of 39 prizes aggregating $100 for the winning solutions.

Every other day there will be printed a letter of the alphabet in scrambled form, similar to the "Q" above. These scrambled sections, when cut apart and properly assembled, will form the accompanying letter indicated. Each letter will be printed once in The Times and Record News.

This new game is extremely fascinating. It requires a high degree of skill to arrange these apparently simple sections in such forms as to make a perfect capital letter. "Scrambled Letters" has swept the country like a storm. Big business executives have taken it up as a genuine test of their ingenuity. Parties are formed in hundreds of communities to work out the puzzle in interested groups.

Each letter will appear in both papers. Full details about entering the contest are published herewith. Remember, 39 prizes make it well worth your time in matching your wits against this brand new intelligence test.

PRIZES ARE AS FOLLOWS

First prize	$25.00
Second prize	15.00
Third prize	10.00
Fourth prize	5.00
Ten prizes at $2 each	20.00
Twenty-five prizes at $1 each	25.00
Grand total	$100.00

The Times-Record News Nu-Way alphabet puzzles include the 26 letters of the alphabet. The publication of the various letters of the alphabet has covered several weeks. The contest is nearing its end and will soon be over. These letters appearing in the paper are cut into pieces of varying shapes, the object being to place these parts together so they will form the respective letters as illustrated in outline accompanying the pieces.

A letter and its entire parts will be published in the Times and Record News every other day until the contest ends, a different letter being presented daily.

Anyone who is a resident of Wichita Falls or this section may participate in this profitable fun, except employes of the Times and Record News or their families. You pay nothing to enter. Each letter, as it appears in the Times and Record News may be traced or copied free of charge from the files at the office of this newspaper.

The Times and Record News will pay $100 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved complete set of puzzles in accordance with the rules. This does not necessarily mean that you have to solve all the puzzles to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank the highest. Neatness, accuracy and simplicity are the prime requisites. Accurate cutting and correct assembling of the pieces to form each respective letter. Entries that are elaborate will receive no more consideration than the simplest ones. Young and old thus have an equal chance to win.

Take the page of the Times or Record News wherein the puzzles are published. Cut the pieces along the outside of the black border and paste the pieces neatly on cardboard or a piece of paper to form the letter indicated. Repeat this operation every week with the new letters in the Nu-Way alphabet puzzles published in the Times and Record News until you complete the full alphabet. Letters previously worked by pasting on the large letters we formerly published may be submitted in that way.

Puzzle solutions are to be submitted only in complete sets five days after all letters of the alphabet have been published in the Times and Record News. Do not send in each puzzle separately. When you have the complete set of 26 puzzles, or parts thereof, mail first class, postage prepaid, or bring them to the Times and Record News alphabet puzzle department. All entries must be in by midnight five days after the last puzzle has been published in the Times and Record News. The winners will be announced as soon thereafter as possible. Be sure that mailed entries have name and address of sender and sufficient postage is used.

In addition to your entry, you must send an advertisement of one of the advertisers shown on any of the letters clipped from the Times or Record News during this contest period, and a letter not exceeding 50 words in length telling why you can profitably deal with this concern.

No letters, however, may be submitted about the Times-Record News. Your letter positively must be about some one merchant in the contest. The Times and Record News will appoint judges, and their decision will be final. In the event of a tie for any of the prizes offered, the full amount of the prize tied for will be awarded each tying contestant.

The Contest Is Over

Read the directions very carefully and then send the 26 puzzles and a letter not exceeding 50 words about some merchant in the contest to

The Scrambled Letter Contest Is Over!

BUT IT'S NOT TOO LATE TO ENTER

The letter "Q" in today's Times-Record News is the 26th and last letter in the puzzle contest. Get all your letters together, paste them neatly on a sheet of paper and send them in. Accompany the puzzles with a letter not exceeding 50 words in length telling why you like to deal with some one merchant in the series. Do not submit any letters about The Times-Record News. Your letter positively must be about a merchant or firm in the contest. Then send the puzzles and your letter in to the Times Publishing Company—not forgetting to clip and attach to your letter an advertisement of your favorite merchant.

Those desiring letters that have previously appeared can have them for 5c by calling at The Times office or by mailing 7c in stamps. All letters that have been printed up to Dec. 4 are now available on one sheet. Our supply of back issues have long since been exhausted by the thousands of contestants. The contest closes at 6:00 o'clock Saturday night, Dec. 13. Be sure your complete answers with the essay in accordance with the rules reach The Times and Record News office before that time.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under liquidation or reselling by recent buyers which appeared to be promoted in the first instance by relatively easy Liverpool cables and later by the failure of a slight reduction in the official crop estimate to bring in general or aggressive buying.

Some rather quick and irregular fluctuations were noted immediately after the publication of the crop report, but the market soon weakened under renewed liquidation combined with some southern selling. March, after selling off to 10.61 immediately after publication of the report, rallied to 10.82 but later broke to 10.55 and closed at 10.57. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 14 to 18 points.

The government crop report placing the estimated crop at 14,243,000 bales, was only slightly under the average of recent private reports, but its publication removed an uncertainty which had exercised a restricting effect on business and led to considerable evening up last week. The ginnings of 12,834,970 bales were about in line with expectations.

Exports today 1,740, making 3,438,600 so far this season. Port receipts 62,392. U. S. port stocks 4,167,026.

Futures closed barely steady 12 to 18 points lower. Spot quiet; middling 10.30.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8. (AP)—Cotton today was dominated by the government's final estimate of the crop which was placed at 14,243,000 bales. Despite the fact that figure was about 200,000 bales below expectations, prices which had advanced 2 to 6 points before the report was issued declined 1 to 4 points after the estimate was known but soon rallied 9 to 15 points on trade buying only to slump sharply 28 to 29 points near noon on heavy hedge and Wall street selling.

Trading was quieter in the afternoon and prices rallied a few points but the improvement did not hold despite a report that President Hoover had recommended to congress another emergency appropriation for the farm loan board. The close was barely steady and at or near the lows showing net declines of 13 to 17 points.

Liverpool was 2 to 3 penny points lower than due and first trades here showed losses of 4 to 7 points with January at 10.38. Prices soon rallied however on shorts covering and before the market recessed to receive the government report January traded at 10.50 and March to 10.73 or 2 to 6 points above Saturday's close.

When trading was resumed the first response to the estimate was a dip of 1 to 4 points with January at 10.49 and March at 10.69. Prices rallied 9 to 13 points to 10.58 for January and 10.82 for March but later declined sharply on hedge and other selling to 10.30 for January and 10.53 for March down 28 to 29 points from the highs. There was a slight rally of about 5 points in the late trading but it did not hold and the general market closed barely steady at net declines for the day of 13 to 17 points. December made a new low right at the end at 10.32 and closed at that figure or just 10 points above the lowest of the season.

Port receipts 62,317; for week 90,813, for season 6,341,912, last season 6,093,381. Exports 1,746, for week 25,372, for season 3,338,488, last season 3,510,704. Port stocks 4,245,884, last year 2,601,887. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 146,084, last year 146,099. Spot sales at southern markets 14,601, last year 28,732.

Futures closed barely steady 13 to 17 points down.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 8. (INS)—Spots cotton was quiet at the opening today with prices easy, sales amounted to 3,000 bales and receipts totaled 400 bales.

At midday, middling fair sold at 6.82d, strictly good middling at 6.37d, good middling at 6.02d, strictly middling at 5.82d, middling at 5.67d, strictly low middling at 5.47d, low middling at 5.12d, strictly good ordinary at 4.57d, and good ordinary at 4.17d.

Futures were quiet with December at 5.50d, January at 5.51d, March at 5.61d, May at 5.73d, July at 5.83d, and October at 5.94d.

TEXAS TURKEYS

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 8. (AP)—(USDA)—It is expected growers of turkeys will start selling actively today with higher prices being offered; mostly 20@21c for No. 1 hens and young toms delivered dressing plants, with old toms 5c less and No. 2's 10c less. Receipts light over the weekend. No sales of dressed stock was reported account dealers holding supplies until they see what market is going to do.

Entire Stock Market List Reacts To Continued Weakness in Rails

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (US)—Continued weakness in the Railroad list affected the entire stock market today. Losses were not particularly severe except among the Rails and a few other issues seemingly responding to special situations.

Nevertheless, the persistent offerings of the Railroad shares, affecting, gilt-edged and speculative issues alike, dominated sentiment. Speculators maintained pressure against the entire market, encouraged by the Railroad shares' further decline to new lows since September, 1925 for the best-grade issues as a group, and the lowest for longer periods in individual issues.

Volume expanded above the totals of last week, approaching the 2,000,000-share level. The market was unable to respond to a somewhat cheering Stell tonnage report because of the gloom cast by exaggerated rumors of new "situations" which have arisen underneath the surface. Experience proves that in more than 95 per cent of such instances, the rumors prove unfounded.

With New York Central, Atchison and the other Railroad shares breaking to new lows, it was difficult naturally to stimulate any bullish sentiment, yet considerable short covering took place throughout the market under cover of the Rails' weakness. Continued weakness of Railroad bonds served only to emphasize the fright of holders of Railroad securities. Extent to which Railroad stocks have been depressed is best evident from the fact that at today's closing prices, the average yield on 20 leading dividend-payers exceeded 7¼ per cent based on their current distributions.

New York Central, for example, at its low of the day, representing a loss of over four points, yields over 6.60 per cent.

Some of the frightened selling followed circulation of rumors that the Central dividend was in danger, notwithstanding estimates that the $8 payment will be covered by earnings this year. Then, too, it is recognized that Central has huge backlog of earnings in subsidiaries' surplus which can be drawn upon if necessary. It is recognized that various dividends will be reduced or omitted, but the discriminating investor is seeking out Rail issues with reasonably assured maintenance of dividends until general business improves.

Steel common lost ground on the day despite the reassuring estimate of possible 100,000-ton gain in its unfilled orders, to be reported Wednesday. The stock sold within three points of its low for the year. Pressure seemingly was lifted from American Telephone and Telegraph after it sold off a few points.

A. T. & T.'s recent weakness was associated with a particular situation which had developed but which no longer exists as a market factor. It is evident, however, that investment demand on a scale down awaits a yield of 5 per cent, available at 180.

As pressure lifted on Telephone, however, heavy selling developed again in Drug, Inc., which likewise was involved in the particular situation referred to above. Drug established a new low, but the selling was attributed almost entirely to forced liquidation.

Group activity was resumed in Standard Brands, which closed off ⅛ on the day. This stock has suddenly revived a sa market leader, but it was reported that the activity is covering considerable liquidation, with one block of 100,000 shares mentioned in this connection. The new lows established were too numerous to list, spreading into every section of the market.

With the Railroad averages at the lowest level in five years, the speculator and the timid investor obviously are awaiting a "test" of prices should the Utility and Industrial stocks approach the lows of November 10. Both groups are within striking distance of the former low levels.

The speculative groups which still maintain a long-term bearish stand obviously are busy hammering the market in the hope of breaking these lows, while the day-to-day speculator on the short side is content to cover his commitment at relatively small profit. Thus, the short interest in the market, except for a few special stocks, may not be as large as generally believed to be the case. However, investment demand is constantly increasing, with the buyers content to overlook immediate possibilities in the hope for future profits.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8. (AP)—Trade on the cash grain market today showed a fair demand for corn and sorghums but other grains remained slow. Estimated receipts for the two-day period; wheat, 8 cars; corn, 11; oats, 3; barley, 4; and grain sorghums, 12.

Dealers reported corn moving back to South Texas, whence that commodity was shipped in the season, due to heavy feeding of livestock in that section.

No. 1 hard wheat of any protein was probably worth 82½@83½c, delivered Texas common points.

Bids and offers on other grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn, nominally, No. 2 mixed 86@87c; No. 2 white 89@90c; No. 2 yellow 89@90c.

Oats—No. 2 red 47½@48½c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $1.35@1.37; No. 2 kaffir $1.30@1.32.

Dealers also quoted as follows, delivered freight paid to Texas group one points: Corn—No. 2 mixed 84@85c; No. 2 white 87@88c; No. 2 yellow 85½@86½c. No. 3 white oats 46@46½c, to which add one cent for delivery group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Dec. 8. (AP)—Surprise that the corn visible supply should exhibit but 11,000 bushels increase for the week led to a brisk late upturn today. The smallness of increase was in sharp contrast with the fact recent receipts here and at other primary markets had been much enlarged. Aggressive buying also was promoted by knowledge that the Farmers National Grain corporation, a government sponsored agency, had purchased corn future deliveries.

Corn closed firm at nearly the day's top level, ½@1c a bushel higher than Saturday. Wheat closed irregular ⅛c off to ⅜c up, oats at ¼c decline to ½c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

In the rush of speculative buying just before the close corn jumped about 2c a bushel. Heretofore, farm board allies were regarded as confining their operations to wheat, and there was no evidence the grain stabilization corporation had been doing otherwise.

Buying orders for old crop deliveries of wheat came from farm board allies whenever needed to keep the wheat market tied to apose. There were advices also of unfavorable harvest conditions in Australia and Argentina. July delivery of wheat here, representing the 1931 domestic crop, was at times depressed, however, by lack of buying support and temporarily touched a new low-price record for the season. Oats were chiefly responsive to corn.

Provisions followed an advance of the hog market.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—March, offers, 79⅛c; May 80⅞@81⅛c; July 72⅝@72⅝c, 74⅝c. Corn—Dec. 72⅛⅛, 74⅜c; March 75¼c, 78c; May 77⅝c, 79⅞@80c; July 79⅝c, 81⅝.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Dec. 8. (US)—Sentiment in foreign wheat markets continues bearish, owing to the ease with which requirements are filled. This is reflected in a bearish situation at Winnipeg as there is no eagerness to fill requirements ahead and export business is consequently extremely slow.

A private cable from Rotterdam said Russian offerings would probably continue through to next spring, and that about 16,000,000 bushels of their wheat remains unsold in continental markets. This is not as bearish as it sounds at first hearing, inasmuch as many of the leading import countries have banned purchases of Russian wheat.

World figures were somewhat more cheerful. Shipments of 16,720,000 bushels caused no accumulation in ocean stocks, which in fact declined 2,392,000 bushels, making foreign takings for the week around 19,000,000 bushels.

The corn market had the appearance in the late trade of being oversold. While marketings have increased greatly they are apparently moving into consumptive channels rapidly as attested by the small increase in visible supplies, the total this week being only 11,000 bushels more than the previous week.

NEW PRORATION SCHEDULE OUT

Umpire Hull Notifies Of New Figures

Production of oil in the North Texas district will be held to 52,395 barrels daily under the new proration schedule worked by the operators' advisory committee and L. V. Hull, proration umpire for Archer, Cooke, Baylor, Clay, Foard, Montague, Wichita, Wilbarger and north Young counties.

Mr. Hull mailed notices of the new schedule to all producers in the district Monday. The program calls for a 42 per cent curtailment of the potential production of the area.

The rules will not apply to leases on which 58 per cent of the production brings the per well average below four barrels per day, Mr. Hull informed the operators.

The schedules were mailed to pipe line companies and takings of oil from every individual lease will be governed by the statewide order.

Full cooperation of both producers and purchasers was asked by Mr. Hull, reminding them of the powers of proration held by the Texas Railroad commission.

The new schedule goes into effect at 7 a. m. Dec. 8.

R. R. Penn to Talk To Oil Men Here

One of the largest gathering of oil operators and others interested in the petroleum industry in North Texas is expected to hear R. R. Penn of Dallas, vice president of the American Petroleum Institute, production department, and chairman of the state proration committee, who will speak at the Wichita club Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. Penn's address will deal with the problem of oil proration, the question of the greatest importance to the independent producer. He will also discuss other matters of vital importance that confronts the industry.

With the close of Mr. Penn's address there will be a meeting of the operators interested in the north half of Young county to organize an operators' committee to serve that area. This sub-district was changed Saturday from the West Central to the North Texas district by the railroad commission and will be under the supervision of the umpire and operators' proration committee of the North Texas district. For this reason all operators from that territory are asked to be present in order that the operators' committee here may advise with them.

Invitations have been extended not only to the local oil men but to producers in the West Central, and throughout the Panhandle field, and all operators in the north portion of the state.

VICIOUS MULE BITES OFF NEBRASKA FARMER'S FINGER

GORDON, Neb., Dec. 8. (AP)—Lyle Hull, a rancher, found the front end of a mule more dangerous than the rear. While he was trying to bridle one the animal bit off one of his fingers.

FEDERALSTRAP TWO GANGMEN

Terry Druggan and Capone Aide Under Bond

CHICAGO, Dec. 8. (INS)—Another brace of Chicago gangsters today ran into black clouds of trouble created by the federal government.

After surrendering earlier in the day, Terry Druggan, beer baron and a foe of Al Capone, was taken before U. S. Judge James H. Wilkerson, who continued until Jan. 12 the trial of Druggan on a charge of evading income tax payments.

Previously, Druggan faced Municipal Judge John H. Lyle on a vagrancy charge. He posted bond and the case was continued until later in the day.

The other gangster in trouble with the government today was Tony "Mops" Volpe, Capone henchman, who was arraigned on a charge of vagrancy and found an immigration officer waiting to quiz him. Volpe is not an American citizen and possibly will be deported.

"Dago Lawrence" Mangano, another "public enemy," was arrested for questioning today while driving his automobile. He is out on bond on a vagrancy charge.

I. O. BOOSTERS DELAY HUNT

Club Seeks Biggest Hog In Wichita Section

Postponement of the benefit rabbit hunt planned to have been held Monday morning by members of the I.-O. Boosters club and others was announced at the weekly meeting of the organization Monday noon at the Y. W. C. A., the charity meat drive having been deferred because of excessive surface moisture on the land, where the hunt was to have been held.

Incorporating in its program additional provisions of meat with which the Salvation Army may minister to the needs of local families, the organization Monday took over the "heaviest hog" plan formulated last Friday by Short's Pig stand on Arkansas street. Agreeing to supplement the $35 already accumulated by Mr. Short and his patrons, the boosters will purchase this week the largest meat hog available in this section, have it butchered, and delivered to the Salvation Army, according to plans adopted Monday.

Two calves already have been provided for the Salvation Army's use by members of the club. Employes of the Riverside Boiler & Welding works bought and dressed a calf last Wednesday for that purpose, and on Thursday of last week E. F. Riley donated a heifer calf to the same cause. The day for the rabbit hunt will be announced within the next two days, it was said.

Members of the club voted Monday that each member present next Monday at the weekly luncheon will bring one guest from the portion of the city which the organization represents. It was announced that musical numbers by A. and L. Breeden will be included in the program for that day.

Those present Monday were O. V. Milstead, Frank Schram, Col. W. S. Langford, Ira Milks, David Erickson, W. G. Collins, Ralph Fulkerson, Sam R. Hord, F. W. Work, E. F. Riley, J. L. Nikkel, W. R. Gay, W. G. Smith, Al Flack and Dr. Fred Gross.

Prizes Offered for Christmas Lighting of Homes

Two hundred letters are being mailed to home owners of Wichita Falls asking their cooperation in the Christmas spirit contest, states Irvin J. Vogel, chairman of the committee appointed by the Junior chamber of commerce to conduct the contest.

"We expect to secure a large number of entries during the week," said Chairman Vogel. "In The Record News and Daily Times is being published a coupon, which we hope contestants will clip, sign and mail at once.

"We have moved up the entrance date from Dec. 15 to Dec. 20. Those who want to have special outside illumination of their homes for the Yuletide can start their installation now and sign the coupon and mail it in before that date.

"Electric illumination of homes during the Christmas season is growing very popular in the major cities of the nations, and has been a means of drawing many visitors into the cities to see the beautiful illuminating effects obtained by artists in this line of work. It is also interesting for the home owners, if they will give study and thought to the plan of outside lighting of their homes.

"A string of colored electric lights woven through the branches of a tree or shrub, hung about the porch railing or over a door or window arch gives a glow of the true Christmas spirit.

"The committee is in hopes that Wichita Falls will become as well known as Highland Park in Dallas as regards Christmas lighting. That town has become nationally known for its home lighting and some of its citizens have been honored by winning the national prize."

MAJESTIC: Richard Barthlemess in "The Dawn Patrol." Mickey Mouse cartoon and sound news.
STRAND: "Morocco" with Marlene Dietrich and Gary Cooper. Andy Clyde comedy. Talkartoon and sound news.
STATE: Lupe Velez, William Boyd and Paul Cavanagh in "The Storm." Talking comedy and sound news.
GEM: "Alibi" with Chester Morris. Comedy.

Here's hoping Paramount doesn't discover that its newest find—the lovely Marlene Dietrich—was credited to United Artists in this column. Miss Dietrich would boost the stock in any movie company.

If predictions are worth anything here is one that isn't so much of a risk: Marlene Dietrich will rank with Ruth Chatterton, Ann Harding, Greta Garbo and Marie Dressler as the most luminous of the feminine stars in the Hollywood firmament. Others will flare up momentarily and burn out, or will glow with a tiny light for several years, but those five will burn more brightly in every production.

"The Dawn Patrol," showing for the last time today at the Majestic, shows some gorgeous air shots and treats the war problem from a new angle—from the birdseye-viewpoint. There is not, however, a great difference between "The Dawn Patrol" and "All Quiet on the Western Front." Richard Barthelmess curses as newer and younger recruits are sent to the front, just as did Lew Ayres in the previous picture.

Encouraged by the success of the "food matinee" held at the Majestic theater not long ago, L. D. Johnson, manager of the State theater, will present Buddy Rogers in "Young Eagles" at his theater next Saturday morning in a "toy matinee." Each child who brings a toy will be admitted. The toys will be given to poor children at the community Christmas tree.

The "Toy committee" appointed by General Chairman C. W. Snider recently has been working on the idea of sponsoring such matinees and other projects in order to secure toys for the Christmas tree. Toys which have been discarded by one child might be the joy of life to another.

One of the most promising events looming on the horizon is the presentation of Wallace Beery and Marie Dressler in their first picture together, "Min and Bill." The picture is said to combine the artistry displayed by Beery in "The Big House" and the perfection of Marie Dressler in "Anna Christie."

SKELETONS IDENTIFIED

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa., Dec. 8. (AP)—The skeletons of 17 persons found in a pit on a farm near Folsom were identified today by O. J. Pruitt, archaeologist, as those of Arickaree Indians. He said they probably were victims of a plague.
