WOMAN KILLED, FOUR HURT IN ALVORD CRASH

Ardmore Murder Testimony Closes As Ex-Deputy Makes Self Defense Plea

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Girls of the Junior Forum are continuing their canvass for the sale of Miss Jonnie Morgan's history of Wichita Falls. It is true they have not sold as many copies as had been hoped but their zeal in a work of loyalty ought to be an inspiration to the rest of the people of Wichita Falls.

More than $7,000 of a $10,950 quota for Wichita Falls has been subscribed here for Christian ministers' pension fund. There is little doubt but that the full quota will be subscribed. Raising such a fund in normal times would be no small undertaking. To obtain it now is a big task but it is not greater than the zeal of the Christian churches of Wichita Falls.

R. T. (Tom) Pickett drove up from King county Wednesday and brought this Talker the skin of a six-foot diamond rattlesnake. Mr. Pickett killed the rattler on the Burnett ranch a few weeks ago. He estimates the snake to have been 40 years old. Furthermore and however, Talker will not let this gift from an old time friend start him off on any snake story such as has been inflicted upon readers by another Wichita Falls columnist.

Mr. Pickett has accepted the invitation of the American Legion to participate in the Fourth of July parade here. He asked Talker if he thought he ought to wear both his six shooters and carry his Winchester. Talker told him he thought it was in order.

The Old Timers section of the Fourth of July parade promises to be one of its most interesting features and ought to be worth coming miles to see. It will be a forerunner of what we can expect to see when Wichita Falls celebrates its 50th anniversary two years from now.

And this Fourth of July celebration ought to start us thinking and planning about that 50th anniversary which Wichita Falls should make the biggest celebration in its history.

There is plenty of money and credit in the land, we are told, and is quite evidently great need for it. The trouble is that we cannot establish a basis for credit that borrowers are able to meet and the money is unemployed. Maybe we can originate some other method of exchange. Farmers and those who use what the farmers produce are doing this to some extent. Chickens and eggs and produce are being swapped for goods and for services of many kinds to an extent not practiced in years. The volume of business that is being carried on in this manner, no doubt, would be surprising if there was any way by which it could be measured.

A number of counties and cities have failed to meet their bond payments this year, we are told. The city of Wichita Falls and Wichita

Hollis Son Follows Father in Death

Special to The Record News.

HOLLIS, Okla., June 25.—Dale Cass, 28, farmer residing eight miles north of here died at his home early this afternoon. Dr. G. H. Husband, Hollis physician who attended the man, said that death was caused from arsenic poisoning. He had been in ill health for an extended period.

Cass' death occurred on the same farm where his father, D. M. Cass, met a similar violent death 10 months ago. A verdict of death by self-inflicted gunshot wounds was returned in the case of the elder Cass.

Effects of the poison were first noted on Cass Wednesday. He lived about 24 hours.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the First Christian church of Hollis. Survivors include the widow, two small children, a brother, two half sisters, and four half brothers.

"NOT ENOUGH CHICKENS"

That sounds like a complaint voiced by Florenz Ziegfeld when he is trying to accumulate a chorus.

Yet, the truth is, that these sad words are those of Mr. Walter Parmer, of 2120 Bridwell street, who advertised a number of chickens for sale in the Classified Want Ad Section of the Daily Times-Record News.

In two days after the Classified Ad appeared, four people came to purchase this poultry so it is no wonder Mr. Parmer said: "Not enough chickens—I could have sold four times as many."

HIS CLASSIFIED AD READS AS FOLLOWS:

CASE TO REST WITH JURORS LATE TODAY

Guess Claims He Killed Mexican Youth After Seeing Gun

FEARED 'HIJACKERS'

Dual Slaying Followed 'Moves' by Students Says Officer

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT

COURTHOUSE, ARDMORE, Okla., June 25. (AP)—William E. (Bill) Guess, who as a southern Oklahoma peace officer fired the gun that killed two youthful Mexicans and stirred international feelings, told the jury trying him for murder today he shot "because I thought I was going to get killed myself."

The sight of pistols in the hands of Emilio Cortes Rubio, kinsman of the Mexican president and Manuel Gomez, his college companion on the trip that ended tragically here June 7, made Guess believe, he said, "that we had run into some kind of hijackers."

Both state and defense rested late today and Judge John B. Ogden will deliver his instructions at 9 a. m. Friday.

Crosby Testifies

The big, drawling defendant, 36 years old and well over 6 feet, climaxed a rapid fire defense in which he was preceded to the stand by his companion on the fatal night, Cecil Crosby, former deputy also charged with murder but not now on trial.

Crosby did no shooting and said today his knowledge of the actual firing was limited to hearing three quick shots and seeing the flashes from the other side of the parked Mexican motor car.

Guess went into action, he testified, when he saw Crosby take one gun from Emilio, at the wheel of the boys' car. Crosby had alighted from the officers' car to reprimand Salvador Cortes Rubio, standing in front of his ill-fated comrades' machine.

Saw Gun

"I saw Mr. Crosby come out with his gun," said Guess.

He went to join Crosby at the Mexican machine. Gomez, a blanket about his shoulders, had alighted. Guess saw an automatic pistol "sticking out from under the blanket," he said.

"I said, 'stick 'em up'," said Guess. "The gun raised up. I shot him twice.

"Then I heard a noise in the car. I shot my light in. The third man

Rumanian Queen, Wife Of Carol, Takes Dose Of Poison By Mistake

LONDON, June 26. (Friday)—(AP)—Dispatches from Vienna to the Daily Express today said Queen Helen, wife of Carol of Rumania, was suffering from an overdose of poison. The report was attributed to private advices from Bucharest.

Officials of the queen's household, the dispatches said, confirmed reports of the queen's illness and said it was caused by her having taken a dose of what she thought to be medicine from one of the several bottles on her dressing table.

Court officials refused to make any statement.

The marital difficulties of King Carol and Queen Helen are a matter of common knowledge.

Recently they had been reported reconciled, then parted again, and there were rumors the queen was to quit Rumania for good to live in exile as soon as the king made provision for her financial welfare.

RUMOR SAYS PLOT AIMED AT MME. LUPESCU

VIENNA, June 25. (US)—Rumors prevailed today concerning an alleged terrorization plot in Rumania to separate King Carol and Mme. Magda Lupescu.

One report which escaped the Bucharest censors was that Mme. Lupescu had attempted suicide by taking an overdose of a sleeping potion, while another denied this and stated that Queen Helen had taken poison.

Neither of the reports gained credence here, although it is known that the affairs of the royal family are not running smoothly.

WHAT ABOUT IT?

Women's Beach Costume Proposal Stumps Chicago Fathers

CHICAGO, June 25. (US)—This was the embarrassing problem which was put up to Louis Nettlehorst, secretary of the Lincoln park board, in a flood of letters today when the mercury was boiling in the 90's.

May women appear on the beach wearing only trunks and brassiere? Nettlehorst passed the problem on to Capt. James Sammis of the Lincoln park police. Sammis stammered:

"Well, ah-decency must prevail. I can't say offhand about this ensemble that is suggested. I'd have to see one to determine, and thus far none has appeared before these old eyes."

COX FILES FOR CITY MANAGER

Attorney's Application Is Fourth Received Here

P. B. Cox, attorney in this city for the past 20 years, filed his application for the post of city manager with Mayor Walter Nelson Jr. Thursday, bringing the total number of applicants to four, of whom three are local citizens.

While Mr. Cox has never held political office here or elsewhere, according to information given The Record News, he was prominent in the political activities to which this city gave attention during the first four months of this year. As an opponent of the proposed water bond issue which was defeated in an election held in March, and as a candidate for election as an alderman in the regular city election in April, Mr. Cox was a frequent speaker before the local citizenship.

The latest announced candidate for the office to be vacated by George D. Fairtrace on July 1 divided his time for many years between his law practice and active participation in the oil business here. Much of his legal practice has been connected closely with business enterprises also, Mr. Cox said.

For a short time prior to coming to Wichita Falls in 1911, Mr. Cox lived in Dalhart. Before that his residence was in Jacksboro.

Walter S. Curlee, realtor; J. Will Gray, secretary of the J. A. Kemp estate, and Lee H. Powell, city manager at Tyler, are the other applicants thus far reported by Mayor Nelson. Mr. Fairtrace expects to assume his duties as city manager at Fort Worth soon after July 1, and efforts of the city council here will be devoted next Monday night to expediting the early selection of a successor.

Cowboy Reunion Draws Thousands To Three-Day Stamford Festival

STAMFORD, Texas, June 25.—The first day of Stamford's three-day cowboy reunion came to a close with a record day beyond all question for attendance and interest.

The parade was due to start at 1 p. m. this afternoon and though there perhaps were 1,000 persons connected with the parade, yet it started only 10 minutes late. There were so many entrants that the procession stretched a mile and a half. The Stamford band and the Haskell band took part in the parade, while an orchestra of home talent also played during the march. There were military companies, civic and lodge units; the city officials were in evidence in large numbers; the entire line headed by traffic cops from many cities adjacent.

There were some excellent floats in the parade, adding color. There were several prizes offered in that line and the competition was sharp.

The rodeo started at 3 p. m. and was continued at night with a large crowd.

The count at the gates this afternoon showed that more than 5,000 people attended the rodeo. It is estimated between 10,000 and 15,000 people saw the parade. Tomorrow some of the best features will be presented.

WORLD FLIERS QUIT MOSCOW FOR SIBERIA

Post and Gatty Complete One-Third of Route Around Globe

2,600-MILE HOP

Oklahomans Are Conceded Good Chance to Beat Record Set by Graf

MOSCOW, June 26. (Friday)—(AP)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, American round-the-world fliers, hopped off at 5 a. m. today (10 p. m. eastern standard time Thursday) for Irkutsk, Siberia.

They expect to stop en route at Novasibirsk, about halfway to Irkutsk, for fuel.

The distance from Moscow to Irkutsk is 2,600 miles.

By CHARMION VON WIEGAND

MOSCOW, June 25. (US)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, America's whirlwind round-the-world fliers, zoomed down out of cloudy skies here this afternoon to poise their plane for the fifth hop of their 16,000-mile voyage.

Their silver and red plane, The Winnie Mae, landed here at 5:50 p. m. (11:50 a. m. eastern daylight time), after a nine-hour-and-twenty-minute flight from Templehof airport, Berlin, where they took off at 7:30 a. m. (2:30 a. m. eastern daylight time).

Third of Trip Completed

With almost one-third their ambitious trip completed, the fliers' first concern was whether arrangements had been made for refueling their plane. At their present pace it looks as though the airmen will better the 10-day mark they have set for circumnavigating the globe, and make Jules Verne's "Eighty Days Around the World" hero and the Graf Zepeplin with its 21-day record look like a couple of amateurs. Post's first words were:

"When can we leave?"

He then added that he and Gatty hope to climb into the Winnie Mae for the fifth stage to Irkutsk, Siberia, 2,600 miles away, at 1 a. m. tomorrow (7 p. m. Thursday, eastern daylight time). There is a possibility, however, that they will not get away until later in the morning.

The Winnie Mae's crew climbed from their place dressed in ordinary sack suits and felt hats, much to the astonishment of the Russian ground crew. Pressed by government officials to attend a banquet tonight, they answered:

"We must fly on, we're working."

Russian Welcome

The insistent hospitality of the officials soon won the Americans over, however, and they accepted the invitation to the banquet, with the provision that they be allowed to depart in time to get away for Irkutsk by 1 a. m.

Without washing or eating, the fliers insisted on personally supervising the refueling before motoring to the city.

Almost 1,000 persons were at the airport here when the Winnie Mae appeared out of the west from Berlin, 925 miles away. In the crowd was Dmitri Egrov, representing the Soviet commissariat for air, and a scattering of Americans.

The airmen showed no signs of fatigue as they crawled out of their plane. They seemed completely refreshed by the seven hours sleep gotten at Tempelhof after the terrific grind of their 3,000-mile race across the Atlantic from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, via Sealand airdrome, England, Gatty said:

"The flight here was just a warming up exercise after our crossing of the pond. Flying conditions were not so good so we just took it easy. About midway in our trip we ran into a heavy rainstorm."

Speed Reduced

The 100 miles an hour averaged by the Winnie Mae from Berlin to Moscow, served to cut down its phenomenal speed of more than 136 miles an hour for the transocean flight to Berlin yesterday.

Mechanics who looked over the Winnie Mae said that the plane seems to be in perfect condition despite the terrific beating it has taken in the past three days.

The flight to Irkutsk, the next stage of their round-the-world voyage, is the second longest hop the airmen have planned. Yesterday's was the longest. Gatty and Post plan to remain overnight at Irkutsk before proceeding to Kharborovsk, on the Sea of Okhotsk.

AUSTIN, June 25. (AP)—Cone Johnson of Tyler, state highway commissioner, was one of three persons whose hotel rooms were raided by thieves last night. Twenty-five dollars and a wrist watch belonging to Mrs. Johnson were taken.

Loot in the three thefts in two hotels was about $300.

Exhausted Atlantic Fliers Forced Down For Rest In Germany

BREMEN, Germany, June 25. (US)—The first American immigrants to return to their homelands by air, Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriis landed their plane, The Liberty, here at 10 p. m. (5 p. m. eastern daylight time) tonight.

Flesh and sinew had failed where nerve would have carried on. Exhausted by their more than 35 hours in the air since they left Harbor Grace with only a brief stopover at Krefeld, Germany, the two men who had conquered the Atlantic were turned back by the North sea.

At 8:40 p. m. (3:40 p. m. eastern daylight time) The Liberty had flown over Bremen toward Copenhagen, scarcely 150 miles away. Just when the plane was thought near its goal, it reappeared and landed, Hillig told newspaper men:

Too Much Water

"After passing Bremen we saw the North sea ahead. We had seen enough water for one day and we didn't want to risk covering more in our tired condition, especially at night, so we returned.

"After we get some sleep we will continue on to Copenhagen in the morning. Hoiriis is probably asleep now, so don't keep me long. I am so tired I can hardly talk, much less hear.

"I don't know how Hoiriis managed to bring the machine to a safe landing; I was on the verge of collapse."

For a moment the 54-year-old German-born photographer from Liberty, N. Y., considered finding a substitute pilot for Hoiriis and pressing on to Copenhagen. This idea he abandoned.

Fears Calmed

The airmen flew here from Krefeld, Germany, where they brought their transatlantic flight to a close at 5:30 p. m. (12:30 p. m. eastern daylight time). They landed at Krefeld from Harbor Grace, New Foundland, just as the world had begun to fear they were lost in the wastes of the north Atlantic. The Liberty had been 32 hours and 6 minutes in the air, and had but five gallons of gas in its tanks.

Although exhausted for want of sleep the two men determined to press on to Copenhagen, after an hour and 15 minutes' delay for refueling and food. When they landed here they had spent a total of 35 hours and 21 minutes in the air since they took off from Harbor Grace early yesterday.

Fliers 'Starved'

Both men reeled and slumped to the ground after they had clambored from The Liberty, so fatigued were they after their day and a half aloft. Hillig said:

"We just simply couldn't keep on to Copenhagen, although we hated to disappoint the folks who had waited for us.

"We're starved to death. All we had to eat on the Atlantic crossing was a bag of oranges and some chocolates.

"When we hit Europe we got lost and must have flown as far south as Spain before we landed at Krefeld.

"I guess we were lucky enough to conquer the jinx of being the 13th party to cross the North Atlantic in a non-stop flight. We couldn't ask for too much."

Woman Magistrate Ousted for Unfairness to Female Offenders

NEW YORK, June 25. (US)—Magistrate Jean Norris was removed from the bench today. The appellate division of the supreme court unanimously sustained five of the six charges brought by Referee Seabury against her. While dismissing one charge as merely an error of judgment, the court offset this by asserting that she committed an additional act of misconduct on which she would have been found guilty if it had been included in the charges.

Mrs. Norris, the first woman to be appointed a magistrate in this city, is the first magistrate to be removed as a result of the Seabury investigation which began nine months ago.

In convicting Magistrate Norris, the court declared she altered records and prejudiced Mary De Sena whom she convicted on chages of immorality; that she misconducted herself similarly in the Landry case; that she was guilty of unjudicial activity in owning stock in a bonding company and accepting money for exploiting herself in yeast advertisements; that she convicted the Bodmer girl, an art student, illegally.

Mrs. Norris went white and trembled as she heard the decision read. She left court through a side exit with Martin Conboy, her counsel, refusing to make any comment. Crowds surged around the court at Madison avenue and Twenty-fifth street and Referee Seabury was cheered vociferously for minutes when he appeared.

Seabury delivered a searing summary of the case against Magistrate Norris before the trial ended. The women's court was established, he said, to give justice to women but Mrs. Norris had made it an instrument to perpetrate injustice on them.

HEAT BUCKLES WICHITA ROAD

State Posts Warnings On Iowa Park Highway

Buckling of concrete in the highway between Wichita Falls and Iowa Park was caused by heat expansion Thursday, according to D. M. Puckett, state highway engineer.

In several places the extreme heat expanded the concrete until ridges several inches higher than the highway level appeared. Mr. Puckett declared that an occurrence of the kind has been unknown in this section, although it is quite common in more torrid sections of the country.

Buckling appeared in weak spots of the concrete, the expansion causing the ridges. An explosion as the concrete bends upwards and cracks causes the cement to crumble, Mr. Puckett said. Crumbled holes in the several places along the road cover several feet, it was said.

Mr. Puckett declared that the spots are not particularly dangerous, providing they are passed with caution. During the afternoon signs and red flags were placed at the scene of each buckle, and during the night hours torch flares were used to give warning.

The highway department will begin work of repairing the highway Friday morning, Mr. Puckett said, indicating that the work will be completed during the day.

One cause of the buckling of the Iowa Park highway, Mr. Puckett declared, is the age of the road, which was constructed in 1922.

South Carolina Tourists Thrown From Car In Smashup

Special to The Record News

ALVORD, Texas, June 25.—A woman was instantly killed and four other persons were injured, one seriously, when an automobile and a heavy truck collided on a bridge near here today.

Mrs. Bessie Perryman, 29, was killed outright by the crash. Her husband, Bob Perryman, 31, received a fracture of the thigh bone, three fractures of the hip and internal injuries that may prove fatal. Their companions in the light automobile, Ruth Perryman, 14, sister of Mr. Perryman, and Alex Richardson, 24, were less seriously injured. The four were all of McCormick, S. C., and were en route to Adrain, Texas.

The driver of the truck, K. B. Haines of Overton, Texas, was only slightly injured.

Perryman was taken to a hospital at Decatur, where his condition is deemed critical by attending physicians. The girl and Richardson were in an Alvord hotel Thursday night. The girl's injuries consisted of cuts and bruises about the head and arms, while Richardson had received a broken leg and an injury to the back.

Mrs. Perryman's body was taken in charge by a Bowie mortuary, but later was returned to Alvord.

The fatal crash occurred on a one-way bridge two and a half miles north of here on the Fort Worth pike. The automobile, going northward, was about across the bridge, according to witnesses, when it met the heavy oil field truck, coming southward. The truck was on its way to the Gladewater oil fields with a load of heavy pipe. The automobile was demolished.

Funeral arrangements for the woman had not been made Thursday night.

WICHITAN INJURED WHEN CAR TURNS OVER

E. L. Beer, 31, was knocked unconscious when the automobile in which he was riding overturned on the road near Lake Wichita early Thursday night. Two companions in the automobile suffered minor bruises and cuts.

Beer was attended at the Wichita General hospital. The other two received attention from a private physician.

The accident occurred, according to a report of witnesses to officers, when the three occupants of the car looked back after the automobile had run over a chicken on the road. The machine then plunged into a ditch, overturning about three times, Pat Allen, deputy sheriff, and Howard Peters, city motorcycle officers, were told.

Beer, who resides at 2604 Wenonah, was taken to the hospital in a Merkle ambulance.

WOMEN BEST CREDIT RISKS

And Single Persons Pay Better Than Married

AUSTIN, June 25.—Men are less to be depended upon for payment of their credit accounts than women, and married persons are less dependable than single ones, if a recent survey made of 54 retail credit firms in Austin is typical of the universal credit situation. Arthur H. Hert, of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research has examined 1,768 accounts in Austin firms which were charged off to profit and loss in 1930. The results of this survey Mr. Hert incorporated in an address which he delivered before the annual convention of the National Credit association at St. Louis, Mo., recently.

However, the fact that 66.4 per cent of the accounts were those of men and 33.6 per cent were accounts of women, and that 62.1 per cent belonged to married persons and 37.9 per cent to single persons, indicates a close relationship between the marital status and the sex of the persons whose accounts were uncollectable, Mr. Hert declared.

Accounts Analyzed

"It has been estimated by many more executives that women do as much as 75 per cent of the shopping for the family, yet the husband is responsible for his debts as well as those of his wife and family when they are necessaries for herself and children," he said. "Consequently, the majority of accounts were in the husband's name even though they were used most of the time by the wife."

A total of 40.4 per cent of the accounts charged off by Austin merchants were those of "dead beats," that is, of persons who could be located but who could give no sound explanation of failure to pay. Another 20.5 per cent of the accounts were charged off because they belonged to "skips," or persons who could not be located. Only 9.6 per cent were charged off because the buyer was unemployed, and 9 per cent were charged off because the person to whom the account belonged was in temporary financial difficulties. Crop failures were the cause of only 1.2 per cent of the failures to pay, and only 1 per cent of the accounts were charged off because of deaths. Other minor causes listed were sickness, disputed accounts, domestic difficulties, fraudulent buying, bankruptcy, etc.

"We find that the ratio of 1930 charge-offs to 1930 credit sales in Austin department stores to be only eight-tenths of one per cent, while the charge-offs for the entire state of Texas is 1.2 per cent," Mr. Hert explained. "The amount charged off to profit and loss for the entire 1,768 accounts included in this analysis was $46,687, or an average of $26.40 per account. This average is low, however, when compared with $42, the general average of the United States.

"The average income of each occupation for the accounts charged off to profit and loss is $112.25 per month, and the average number of open and installment accounts each customer enjoyed is four.

"A total of 43.8 per cent of the accounts charged off were incurred in 1930, 35.8 per cent were incurred in 1929, while the remaining 20.4 per cent were incurred from 1921 to 1928. This 20.4 per cent of the accounts incurred from 1921 to 1928 is distinctly a reflection upon credit management as no account should be retained on the books if a payment to apply has not been made within six months of the fiscal closing year.

40 Per Cent "Dead Beats

"The reason why the 1,768 accounts were charged off to profit and loss are quite important as well as interesting. The most surprising result of this analysis is the fact that 40.4 per cent of the accounts that were charged off were dead beats—people who could actually be located and who were employed—but who simply refused to pay their debts for no good reason other than the lack of desire to do so. Paying debts can become an obsession. It is habit-forming and a person is just as liable to develop the habit of paying debts as he is to form the habit of neglecting debts, and the worst thing that might happen to a customer is to learn that an account may actually be neglected with impunity. It would seem that the merchants throughout the country would grasp the psychology of this circumstance and either permit or instruct their credit managers to operate credit departments strictly adhering to the enforcement of terms, regardless of what those terms may be. The merchant should awaken to the realization that both paying and neglecting to pay bills is a matter of habit and that the habit will be formed in one direction or the other, according to the influence that the merchant or credit manager bears on his customers. It also appears from this analysis, which reflects a loss of 20.5 per cent on skips, that a concerted action should be taken on the part of the National Retail Credit association to influence its locals into fostering the moving van laws which would eliminate the possibility of the great majority of skips which are a source of distress to credit departments in general.

"The answer to the question of how to refuse credit losses, as I see it, is in cooperation. Cooperation, first, between the merchants and the credit bureau, and second, cooperation between the merchants themselves. This type of cooperation is the basis of the community credit policy. This policy is a system of coordinated effort established by all merchants for the purpose of maintaining interlocking credit control of customer credit in a community. In other words, it means a scientific control of credit extension based upon strict adherence to a prescribed procedure agreed upon by merchants and credit men in a community. The failure to cooperate in the establishment of a community credit policy is due to a great extent to the fact that it is difficult to enforce a set of cooperative rules of any kind unless they are carried out by all the cooperating stores. If one store becomes lax in enforcing them, then the others must do the same or lose business. The eagerness of the stores to serve the customers makes it necessary for each store to give the same privileges that are available in other stores."

There was then not a foot of paving in the residential districts of the city nor a foot of paved highway in the county. We can observe with satisfaction the many miles of paving in the city and county and reflect with further satisfaction that considerable progress has been made toward paying off the bonds for these improvements.

JURY TO GET ARDMORE CASE

Testimony Closes After Guess Takes Stand

was coming out of the pocket of this brown sweater thing he had on with a gun.

"It looked bigger than it does now. I shot him.

"I saw a man with a drawn pistol and I thought I was in danger. The other man was coming out with a pistol and it looked to me like I was in danger.

"I shot from the hip."

Asked on cross-examination why he had not driven his car up to the Rubio machine instead of letting Crosby go up alone to question Salvador, Guess said "two or three officers had been killed around here by driving up in front of a car."

He left his car, he said, "just as quick as I could get out of it" when he saw Crosby take the first gun from Emilio.

To Jury Today

It appeared early tonight the trial would reach a jury some time Friday, after arguments by members of sizable opposing legal staffs.

A distinguished visitor to the trial late today was T. P. Gore, blind senator-elect. He said the case was "deplorable" but that the jury must decide it.

Salvador and his sister, Lucia, 18, were absent from the courtroom. They are going to Atchison, Kan. where the Mexican youths attended St. Benedict's college. Lucia and her brother both plan to enter schools there in the fall.

On cross-examination Guess said that if Emilio "hadn't made a move, he'd be alive today."

Girl Witness

W. H. Brown, the governor's prosecutor, asked Guess why he didn't allow disinterested parties to search Emilio. Guess said "there were at least 15 or 20 people standing around the car."

"How many times did you go through that boy's pocket?" asked Brown.

"Only one time," said Guess.

The state's brief rebuttal testimony included a statement taken by Miss Ferrell Parker, stenographer for the county attorney, quoting Guess as saying Emilo's gun was "laying in the seat right behind him." Miss Ferrell told defense attorneys she might possibly have been in error and that the word could have been "beside" instead of "behind."

The prosecutor requested Judge Ogden to instruct the jury that a plea of self-defense be not available, contending the testimony shows that a difficulty was unlawfully provoked when a pistol was taken forcibly from Emilio Cortes Rubio.

The defense asked that the jury be instructed that it was not necessary for a man to be in imminent peril of his life before acting in self-defense, but it was sufficient justification for self-defense if there was, "reasonable belief" his life was in danger.

Andy Mellon Entrusted With Task Of Converting France to Debt Plan

PARIS, June 25. (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, whose visit to England was an important factor in announcement of President Hoover's moratorium plan, reached Paris today and plunged immediately into the task of harmonizing the French and American attitudes on the president's proposal.

He went direct from the railroad station to the American embassy where for two hours he was in conference with Ambassador Edge. Then he called on Minister of Finance Flandin and three hours later registered at his hotel.

The French reply to Mr. Hoover's proposal, the main lines of which are generally known now, tonight appeared to be a basis for negotiations to work out a formula by which the president's proposal may be translated into action.

Tomorrow Mr. Mellon will have luncheon with Premier Laval. Soon thereafter the premier must go into the chamber of deputies prepared to answer nine interpellations regarding the war debt plan and the French reply to Washington.

Government and parliamentary circles generally were optimistic tonight on the strength of dispatches from Washington which indicated the United States was ready to talk over the situation.

At first the French were upset over what they regarded as the abrupt way in which Mr. Hoover's proposal was communicated to the world, but in the chamber lobbies tonight some groups which were hostile to any moratorium on the unconditional reparations annuities appeared less emphatic in their opposition and there was some ground for a belief that some of the left groups which always have voted against the government may vote with it tomorrow.

'Trigger Man' Named In Houston Murder

HOUSTON, June 25. (AP)—An old murder mystery was revived this afternoon with the announcement that John Belois, one of those sought more than a year for the "ride murder" of W. L. Edwards, was in county jail and had named Sam Peretta, indicted with him, as the "trigger man."

Belos, who submitted arrest, officers revealed, on June 10, made a statement, District Attorney O'Brien Stevens said, in which he identified Peretta, still at large, as the killer and gave other information of such nature that murder charges will be filed against additional persons.

Edwards, a former airport manager, was slain with a sawed-off shotgun, fired at close range, on the night of May 18, 1930. His body was tossed under a crepe myrtle bush on a residential street. Just a short while before he was murdered, Edwards had told friends gunmen had been hired to assassinate him.

Belois is not considered by investigators, in their present theory, as having intended to do Edwards harm.

MURRAY SUES FOR OIL LANDS

State Claims Property On Charter Charges

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 25. (UP)—Through his attorneys Gov. William H. Murray today filed four suits in district court seeking to confiscate oil properties of two railroads and a cotton company.

Land valued variously from $2,000,000 to $12,000,000 was involved in the suits which asked a receiver to operate oil wells on the land of the railroads and the cotton company.

Action was brought under a provision of the constitution, written 24 years ago by the governor, which prohibits corporations from operating other enterprises than that designated in their charter.

Under the state statutes, according to the petition, the state can seize the land and force the revenue from the oil into the treasury for the common school fund.

A. C. Hunt, former state supreme court justice, was named temporary receiver and final hearing was set for July 6.

The companies sued were: Traders Compress company and Watchhorn Oil company; Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad and Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company; Traders Compress and Phillips Petroleum company, and the Frisco railroad.

Mid-West Clamor May Force Farm Board to Be Definite on Wheat

WASHINGTON, June 25. (AP)—Midwestern clamor may lead the farm board to talk over its wheat sales policy again.

Chairman Stone will return from Iowa Friday, and it was considered likely in administration circles that he might discuss the situation with President Hoover.

The board's recent affirmation of its March 23 policy of handling stabilization wheat supplies "in such a way as to impose the minimum burden on domestic and world prices" has prompted more criticism from growers and traders.

The White House and the board have been told the policy is not definite enough. Some continue to seek a pledge the wheat will not be sold for a year.

There have been persistent reports that Mr. Hoover would take a hand in the situation. In view of the demands for a pledge or a more definite statement, he may want to hear the full facts from Chairman Stone.

"Your wire acknowledged and you are advised that the grain stabilization corporation is not dumping wheat but is complying strictly with its promise of March 23 to handle its stock in such way as to impose a minimum burden upon domestic and world prices."

Constitutionality Under Question

AUSTIN, June 25. Senator Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth, opponent of the truck bills, was preparing to argue before the court of cirminal appeals the effective date of house bill 336, limiting the length, width and height and load limit of comercial vehicle. Rawlings indicated the constitutionality of the law also would be attacked in suits now in preparation. Prison System to Offer Farmers Improved Cotton Seed at Low Cost

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, June 25.—Way in which Texas farmers this fall can get improved variety cottonseed from the Texas prison system at the cost of inferior seed has been outlined by Lee Simmons, prison manager.

A plan to let farmers buy the better grade prison cottonseed at the same price oil mills would pay for their common cottonseed was approved by the legislature recently, as sponsored by Representative Eugene V. Giles, Austin.

Manager Simmons said the prison system cannot store and hold the seed when its cotton is ginned, so that farmers of any county or locality wanting the seed will have to make arrangements during the ginning season and form pools to order the seed in carload units. Unless other orders await the seed, the prison system must sell its surplus immediately to oil mills, Mr. Simmons said.

It was suggested that orders can be grouped into carload quantities through work of various county agents, or by some individual in a community acting for his neighbors. The farmers buying the seed will have to store and hold them until planting time.

Under Mr. Giles' plan, farmers of an entire county would be able to sell off seed from average varieties of cotton, and then buy the improved seed from the prison system at the same price. They can thus make counties practically uniform as to a single grade and staple of cotton.

The prison system uniformly gets a premium above that paid other cotton growers because of the long staple and fine grade of its lint.

Mrs. W. R. Potter Entertains In All Day Party At Bowie

A group of friends from Wichita Falls, Fort Worth and Cisco were guests for a "spend the day" party Wednesday at the home of Mrs. W. R. Potter at her spacious colonial home in Bowie. Snapdragon, roses and gladioli were used in profusion in the living room, dining room and sun parlor, and at noon a delicious buffet luncheon was served. Place cards in a pretty summer motif were used on the small tables that were dainty in their linen covers and centers of blossoms.

Mrs. R. E. Buchanan of Fort Worth, known as "Mother of the First District," was toastmistress during the luncheon and those who responded to her clever greetings were Mesdames Bob Barker, Fort Worth, Ben G. Oneal, Wichita Falls, R. Q. Lee, Cisco, Julian Oppenheimer and George Clayton, Fort Worth.

After luncheon an entertaining program was given by Bowie and Wichita Falls artists. Mrs. Melvin Crisp gave lovely piano numbers; Mrs. Wilbur Morgan read Riley's "Knee Deep in June"; a clever one-act play was presented by Mesdames David Warren and Cecil Allen and Mrs. J. Truman Stevens read beautifully a group of her original poems.

After a pleasant social afternoon, guests were summoned to the dining room where a handsome cut glass punch bowl in a bed of colorful flowers stood in the center of the lace covered table and an enormous cake, honoring the birthday of each guest irrespective of dates, was the decorative feature drawing all eyes. Mrs. Buchanan cut the first slice and each honoree was asked to cut for herself.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

A man talking to me Wednesday said, "I was born in the country—nearly every one around my age seems to have been born in the country." And it flashed in my mind, almost as a surprise, that I was born in the country.

I do not remember my life in the country, for it ceased at the age of two and one-half years. However, I startled my mother and my maiden aunts when I asked at the age of 7 where it was that some one held me up to gather flowers from a sweet smelling tree.

I was later shown the tree. Some poet has said a person's first memory is the birth of the soul. It has always been humiliating to me to remember that my aunt held me to pick blossoms from a plum tree that grew in the corner of a pig pen. One would naturally choose other than a pig pen for the birthplace of her soul.

Though I was born in the country, I did not live there long enough to have it pall upon me. (Though those who spent their boyhood and girlhood in happy country homes dream of it as they grow old—or middle-aged.) But the most joyful days of my early teens were those spent on vacations in the country.

I can remember fried country ham with red gravy; great puffy hot biscuits and quince preserves. Who knows of delectable quince preserves today? And I can remember platters heaped with fried chicken, for they never fried a chicken where I visited—it was chickens.

I can remember a tin basin on the porch where bare feet were washed at night before we went to bed; what happiness, for one could not go barefoot in town. I do not remember feeling the heat as I slept in great puffy feather beds—they had no others.

In the country, I watched them milk and wished I knew the art. I churned with a vim, and when there wasn't a little darky handy, I turned the windlass that drew cold water from a deep, deep well. Not an old oaken bucket, but a long metal affair, galvanized tin I suppose, that often emptied white sand in the cedar water bucket. How sweet the water tasted from the gourds hanging over the water bench.

I rode the horses to the pond where they drank and I waded in the pond. I hunted wild plums and got chiggers and rubbed the beastly itching places with salt meat. One of my cousins told me a chigger went clear through a person, and I worried over intestinal damage.

I climbed the Tennessee rail fences and found fairy magic in dusty hay lofts. I helped cut peaches into minute sections to dry for winter use and drank innumerable glasses of sweet apple cider. I ate corn lightbread, baked in a little dutch oven, with a thick layer of fresh butter.

I can sit in the twilight now and in memory hear them calling the hogs in the evening; no cow needed calling. I can hear the tree frogs and the crickets and the sleepy twitter of birds. I can remember the faint nostalgia that came with twilight and the lighting of dim lamps; the low of a cow in the barnyard; the stillness descended on the earth; the even tenor of quiet farm life.

To have been born on a farm some 40 years ago, or to have spent much time there is the formative period of youth, leaves priceless memories. That life is passing. Farms of today when a car may whirl its owner to town in a few short minutes, are not like those quiet, lonely, but independent spots where men and women reared a family that knew nature.

The table was beautiful with bowls of Shasta daisies and pink roses and a delightful summer menu was served. It was announced that Mrs. L. H. Estes would be assistant hostess at the next meeting.

Negro Prisoner's Code 'Easy' When Officers Hold Key

Code letters are not so baffling when one's keepers have the key to the code before them with the letter, as one negro prisoner at the Wichita county jail learned Thursday.

The alleged writer of the missive in question is held in connection with the recent death of a Wichita Falls negro in whose viscera poison was found. He wrote to a friend imploring aid, declaring himself "framed," and warning still a third negro to "blow town until September or October." The letter was handed to a negro visitor to the jail Thursday afternoon, but got no farther than the office, where it fell into the hands of Jailer Frank Watkins.

It was carefully and consistently penciled in code. Its presentation in the district attorney's office immediately aroused memories of a paper found in the servants house in which the dead man lived. The document was drawn from the files and within a few moments a complete transcript of the letter was typed from this key.

Upon being faced with the coded letter a few minutes later in the district attorney's office, the prisoner knew nothing whatever about it. But when the signature was deciphered quickly as his own, he thought otherwise, and signed a statement relative to the letter.

Wichitan Asks $12,500 For Alleged False Arrest

"Mugged, Finger-Printed and Questioned," He Declares

Suit for $12,500 was brought by I. H. Hulsey in district court here Thursday against the American Refining Properties as a result of the plaintiff's alleged arrest about two months ago on a reported charge of theft, the petition alleging that an official of the defendant company was responsible for the plaintiff's apprehension.

According to the petition filed, Hulsey has for several years been a laborer with the defendant company at its local refinery, and on the afternoon of April 3 was sent by his "gang-pusher" to look for the handle for a certain tool. Three different buildings on the refinery yard were named as possible locations of the handle, it is set out.

During the late afternoon, according to the plaintiff's pleading, officials at the refinery were notified that an employe's purse containing $1.35 had been taken from his clothing at the bathhouse, and that the rifled purse, discarded, had been picked up in a second building. Both buildings in question were among the three in which the tool-handle was sought by the plaintiff, the petition recites. It further alleges that an official reported to the city police that he had seen the plaintiff coming during the afternoon from the building in which the empty purse allegedly was found and that the official asked city officers to take Hulsey to the police station for questioning.

At the police station, the plaintiff alleges, he was "mugged," finger-printed, registered, and cross-questioned before being taken to the Wichita county jail where he was incarcerated without being given opportunity to make bond. Bond was completed the next morning, the petition states, and on April 7 a complaint was filed by County Attorney L. V. Abernathy charging theft, the complaint being signed by a deputy sheriff and a city officer.

According to the plaintiff, the case was called for trial in justice court on April 8, and was dismissed at the request of the county attorney who allegedly reported that investigation of the case and questioning of witnesses, showed that the charge was without foundation.

The plaintiff charges that he has been unemployed, and unable to secure regular employment, since April 3, and that a serious blemish has been cast upon his reputation. He asks $7,500 actual and $5,000 exemplary damages.

FINANCE COMPANY SUED FOR MAN'S ARREST

Suit for damages totaling $10,035 was brought in district court here Thursday against the Rumore Finance company of Electra by B. F. Mercer.

According to the plaintiff's petition, he purchased a car from a dealer in this county several months ago, paid for it, and was shown that he had a clear title to the vehicle without encumbrances. Several weeks ago, he alleges, he drove the car on a business trip to Palestine, Ill., intending to return to this county.

The plaintiff charges that while in Illinois he was arrested on the allegation of the defendant company that the automobile was either stolen or mortgaged, and was held in custody three days by officers there. He is represented by J. W. Friberg, local attorney.

TWO HELD IN ROBBERY CASE

Charges Filed Here Against Electra Men

Complaints charging Earl Cook and Weldon Harding of Electra with hijacking "Buck" Aubrey on a highway near Electra several months ago were filed Thursday by Assistant District Attorney Mike Anglin, according to information given The Record News.

About $65 was taken from Aubrey by two men who stopped him on a highway one night in January of this year, according to Mr. Anglin. The two defendants, apprehended Thursday, are in the Wichita county jail.

A complaint charging forgery of the signature of W. L. Hodges of Iowa Park to a $15 check was filed also by Mr. Anglin against Walter Rose, he said. The check was presented at a local store.

RAILS ANSWER RATE QUERY

'No Exceptions' on Freight Increase

WASHINGTON, June 25. (AP)—The nation's railroads replied to the Interstate Commerce commission's request for added information on the proposed 15 per cent freight rate increase today with a resolution stating that the carriers were prepared to make effective increases on all existing freight rates.

The commission had asked whether the railroads proposed to make specific exceptions to the general rate increase or sought to raise the entire list.

The reply to the I. C. C. query was adopted at a meeting of railway executives in Chicago yesterday and was filed with the commission today, signed by J. J. Pelley, chairman of the special committee of presidents representing the eastern group; H. A. Scandrett, chairman of the special committee of presidents representing the western and mountain-Pacific groups; and W. R. Cole, chairman of the special committee of presidents representing the southern group.

The resolution informed the commission that "all steam railroads in the United States are prepared, if the authority sought in the application is granted, to make effective increases of all existing freight rates and charges . . . with such adjustments in the case of coal, coke and certain other commodities as will preserve existing differentials.

"It is not proposed to make any specific exceptions on any commodities," read the resolution, "and the carriers are prepared to make increases of the measure proposed in all existing rates on grain and grain products, cotton, other agricultural and horticultural products, including livestock, non-ferrous metals, iron and steel products, petroleum and its products, lumber and automobiles, and in all existing class rates."

In reply to specific questions of the commission, the carriers stated that it was proposed to increase by 15 per cent all international rates and charges and that the application for the increase was tendered "with the concurrence of the water lines participating in rail and water rates."

Catholics Lose Fight to Check Anti-Priest Law

VERA CRUZ, Mex., June 25. (AP)—Judge Manuel Bartlett of the second district court rejected a petition filed by Catholic priests for permanent injunction against the recently enacted law limiting to 11 the number of priests allowed to officiate in the state of Vera Cruz.

The decision was rendered on the grounds that there had been no attempt to eject the excess number of priests from their churches, presumably leaving the way open for filing of new petitions when such steps have been taken.

Thousands of Catholics had wired and written to the judge appealing to him to grant the injunction and while he was considering the petition the churches of Vera Cruz were crowded with worshippers, praying for divine influence to decide the case in their favor.

The state attorney general rebutted the plaintiffs' allegation that the law violated constitutional guarantees, arguing that no effort had been made to eject the priests.

The church authorities have given instructions to all priests in the state to remain in their churches.

Catholics, meanwhile, have wired to President Ortiz Rubio asking his intervention in the matter and asserting that serious trouble is likely to occur unless some conciliatory step is taken.

Passengers Escape Death In Motor Craft Blasts

CHICAGO, June 25. (UP)—Three men and a woman narrowly escaped death and four other men were in hospitals today as the result of two spectacular explosions and fires on Lake Michigan motor craft.

The four men were aboard the yacht Kenkora when a violent explosion rocked it and caused damage variously estimated at from $50,000 to $100,000.

Three men and a woman were aboard a speedboat when it caught fire less than a quarter mile off shore from the Edgewater Beach hotel, where several thousand persons were dancing on the board walk.

A party went out from the board walk, rescued the four persons floating about in the lake.

'Juans' of Mexico Fresh After Annual Bath Ceremonies

MEXICO CITY, June 25. (AP)—The Juans of Mexico rose birght and clean today.

The annual bath day was celebrated at public bath houses and swimming pools yesterday and all men named John took to the water, in many cases to the accompaniment of orchestras.

It is a rigid custom in Mexico for Juans to apply soap and water to their bodies on St. John's day and even those who ordinarily shun such practice participate in the annual festivity.

Farm Census Results Show $6,604,906 Gain

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., June 25.—Tenant farmers in Jackson county increased 630 during the period of 10 years between 1920 and 1930, while the value of land and buildings in the county increased by $6,604,906 during the past five years, according to figures compiled by the director of census, giving some of the results of the 1930 farm census for Jackson county. The figures are given with comparative data for 1925 and 1930 for several items.

One thousand one hundred and six farms were operated by owners of land in 1930 against 1,110 operated by owners 10 years ago. Seven land owners merely managed the farms in 1930 while there were eight occupied in such work the figures of 10 eats prior reveal. One thousand seven hundred thirty-six tenant farmers were in the county in 1930 against 1,326 in 1920.

Land owners operated 201,130 acres in 1930 against 203,568 10 years ago, managers cared for 1,729 acres against 3,865 10 years ago, and tenants operated 252,188 acres in 1930 and 211,827 acres in 1920.

The value of land and buildings in 1930 was set at $26,6428,018. It was valued at $19,823,122 in 1925 and at $20,539,872 10 years ago.

These figures reveal that there were 2,849 farms in operation in Jackson county in 1930.

OIL MAN FREED BY KIDNAPERS

Chicago Executive Denies He Paid Ransom

CHICAGO, June 25. (UP)—Uninjured, but temporarily dazed by being blind-folded for 100 hours Samuel Levin, former vice president of the Consumers Gas and Oil company, was released today by kidnapers who had held him prisoner since last Saturday night.

Levin and his attorney, William J. Robinson, denied after his release that any ransom had been paid, although they admitted demands for $5,000 had been made.

Steps were taken immediately after the release to secure the release of Max Glasser, whom police were holding in connection with the kidnaping.

Glasser, Levin said, had been an unwilling go-between for Attorney Robinson and the kidnapers. Upon being informed that his friend had been released and that he, too, would be freed, Glasser pleaded to be allowed to remain in a cell, explaining that the kidnapers had threatened to kill him if he did not see to it that Levin's relatives paid ransom.

Because of his condition, Levin refused to talk much about his experience, but did reveal that Glasser was one of 15 friends whom he named when the kidnapers demanded that he name someone who could act as go-between.

Levin sold his interest in the gas and oil company last Friday for $7,000. Saturday night he was kidnaped while driving toward his home.

EXPERTS SHOW WAY TO KILL GERMS OF "ATHLETE'S FOOT"

Do your toes ever bother you with a general itching condition? Is the skin between them blistered? Or has it become moist and thickened, turning either red or white, or even developing a scaly dryness?

If you have any of these symptoms, you are probably a victim of "Athlete's Foot"—an insidious form of ringworm which has attacked more than 10 million people in the United States today.

So don't gamble with this strange disease—apply ABSORBINE JR. to the infected parts twice a day. It not only helps to curb serious complications, but actually kills the germs wherever it penetrates.

For after thorough tests, bacteriologists of a famous New York laboratory showed that this mild, soothing, yet powerful, antiseptic is especially deadly to the tinea trichophyton germs which cause "Athlete's Foot."

It is wise to use ABSORBINE JR. after every exposure to wet surfaces—in public places—even in your bathroom. For these tiny parasites breed and lurk simply everywhere, and are always ready to attack. At all drug stores, $1.25. W. F. Young, Inc., Springfield, Mass.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas spent $47,331,977 on improving its highways in 1930, with almost $33,000,000 of it going into new construction. Contracts let for the first six months of 1931 indicate this year's total will go considerably ahead of last year's. Texas has more than 18,000 miles of designated state highways, of which at the end of 1930 only 5,915.32 miles were classified as "unimproved."

HELPING BUILD TEXAS ... ...

Texas may soon join New York and Detroit in the distinction of having under-river tunnels for highway traffic . . . The first tunnel for the state is proposed as a solution of a highway problem that has bothered Orange and Jefferson county citizens for these many years. Opposition from navigation interests to a drawbridge, together with the difficulty and expense of building a bridge with sufficient clearace not to interfere with the passage of ships for years has prevented satisfactory solution of the problem of crossing the Neches river on the Hug-the-Coast highway. Now it is proposed to tunnel under the river bed instead. Preliminary estimates are that the cost will be less than any satisfactory over-water crossing. Division over bridge plans has defeated more than one road bond issue in Jefferson county and created some antagonism between the two principal cities of the county, Beaumont and Port Arthur.

Iowa Park to Join July 4 Festivals

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, June 25.—Plans were made at a meeting of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce trade extension committee held Wednesday evening to participate in the July 4 celebrations both at Wichita Falls and Electra.

A delegation will leave Iowa Park Friday, July 3, at 12:30 p. m., for Electra, where they will participate in the street parade at 1:30. The Triangle band will lead the procession in a decorated float, and it is expected many citizens will accompany it.

R. J. Wiley, Karl Goetze and Jimmie Searl were named as a special committee to arrange details and every one present was appointed a committee as a whole to sponsor and encourage attendance.

It is the annual custom for all Iowa Park stores to close July 4 and a large crowd will visit Wichita Falls on that day.

Retail Merchants Meet at Electra

ELECTRA, Texas, June 25.—The Retail Merchants association held its weekly meeting Wednesday evening at the Armilda hotel. W. R. Skinner, president of the association, presided over the meeting. W. R. Martin, secretary, gave his report, and Mr. Skinner and W. T. Oliver discussed the unsatisfactory checks and hot checks that had been charged off the accounts of their firms in 1930 because of nonpayment. The merchants voted to close the office July 4 and also to hold evening meetings at intervals during the summer.

Depression Psychology

ECONOMIC measuring sticks serve to tell the expert how deeply the business depression has bitten into things. For the ordinary man, however, a glance at the human misery that the depression causes is necessary.

Fred C. Croxton, acting chairman of the president's emergency committee for employment, told an audience at Minneapolis the other day that fully 20,000,000 Americans have been made to suffer by the depression.

This includes all those who have been out of work or on part-time jobs during the last 19 months, and their dependents. As Mr. Croxton points out, these 20,000,000 have learned that industrial slumps mean "personal distress, hunger, loss of morale, and a change of life-plans."

The man who has lost his job, even though he may be able to get along without calling on the charitable organization, is bound to suffer a lowering of his standard of living.

He may lose the equity in his home. He may be forced to move into a less desirable neighborhood, or live in crowded quarters. He may have to let his insurance lapse. He will undoubtedly get saddled with a huge load of debt. Plans to give his children college educations may have to be given up.

Worst of all, he undergoes a loss of self-confidence and self-reliance. He has lost, forever, that feeling of security that is essential to a contented life. In the future, even though times are good, he will never be quite free from the spectre of fear—fear that some day there may be another depression that will, through no fault of his own, plunge him into the depths of despondency again.

A great deal has been printed about various aspects of the depression in the past year or so. Many of us have grown tired of reading about it. But it is extremely important that we get indelibly printed on our minds a picture of the human misery that a depression causes.

If we do not, we shall be able to forget about the depression when prosperity returns—as it will, one of these days. And if we forget about it, and fail to insist that our business and political leaders do something to prevent a recurrence, there will be another depression in a few years, and all of this misery will be repeated.

The "business cycle" that we hear so much about is a frightfully expensive thing—expensive not only in dollars, but in suffering for millions of human beings.

When Prosecutors "Bargain"

THE Wickersham commission's survey of the administration of criminal justice in the United States points out that a great source of evils is the custom which most prosecuting attorneys have established of "bargaining" with criminals for pleas of guilty.

That works out like this: a man is indicted for burglary, but the prosecutor is not quite sure he can get a conviction. The accused man, on the other hand, is afraid that maybe he will be convicted; so he talks things over and agrees to plead guilty to simple larceny—thereby getting a lighter sentence.

Such bargains are every-day affairs. In the long run they save a good deal of trouble and expense. Yet, as the commission points out, they open a great field for the "fixer." Furthermore, in a surprisingly large number of cases men indicted for serious crimes are allowed to plead guilty to minor offenses and thus escape the punishment they should get.

A certain amount of such bargaining is inevitable in any prosecutor's office. The commission does a public service, however, in pointing out the dangers inherent in the process.

Vindicating the Weather Man

POKING fun at the official weather forecaster seems to be one of the free-born American's inalienable rights. When father, unfolding the evening paper, remarks that "I see the weather man says it's going to rain tomorrow," the rest of the family is more or less expected to reply that the weather man is seldom known to be right and that his forecasts are little better than inspired guesses.

Now, however, the weather man gets his vindication. The United States weather bureau, having checked up on its accounts for the past year, reveals that its forecasts were 89.6 per cent accurate throughout the year.

In other words, when the weather man says it is going to rain tomorrow, the chances are nine to one that he is right.

Most of us, probably, will go on doubting his word—but we might as well realize that the odds are all in his favor.

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: George M. Cohan and George Jessel want you for Friars' frolic Sunday eve at the Amsterdam . . . A letter came from Pittsburgh addressed to "The Brother of the Cherry Sisters," and the postman brought it right to your desk . . . May I have Tuesday off? I'll come in all day Saturday. Gotta get my hair done and things and stuff, really! . . . The Long Branch Record demands an apology because you said they called regarding a rumor about that town's new lady police comm . . . They argue the statement is unfounded . . . They want an apology in a letter or in the col'm . . . All I know is that a voice said he represented that newspaper, and said what I said he said . . . Oh, foooff! . . . A new magazine is coming out soon and probably will be called the Metropolitan Home Journal . . . It will sell for 3 cents and compete with Delineator . . . Man was in and wanted to see you about doing articles . . . Told him your fee, which he said was too much . . . So he asked me would I do some pieces . . . I could make $50, maybe . . . I said I'd love to, if you had no objection, and even if you had! . . . The barber upstairs will wait for you until 7:30 . . . Tell him he cut your sideburns too short last time . . . May I borrow $2?

Paramount put one over on Dreiser when they privately previewed "American Tragedy" last Monday . . . There is a hair-grower in town who guarantees new hair on bald plates . . . It's a good idea they have, anyhow . . . The customer deposits $500 with a guaranty company. If the hair is produced the outfit get the coin . . . If not, the customer gets it. Not bad, wot? . . . Jack Curley wishes you would mention the milk fund show he's putting on for Mrs. Hearst. It is at the Yankee stadium, June 29 . . . Colonel and Mrs. Frederick Dale said they had to rush out the invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Audray, to Casey Robinson because you mentioned it too soon, but they aren't angry . . A Miss Rothman called to ask if you had heard about the actress who was married so many times she has "rice marks."

F. Darius Benham, representative of Bernt Balchen, is pleased, he says, because of your interest in Balchen, but that the flier's citizenship papers will make him an American on June 26 . . . He wants to know if you would like flying on a trip with Balchen . . . I told him you would adore it—but I didn't tell him positively . . . It will amaze you, though, to know what held up Balchen's papers . . . The two years he flew with Byrd in Little America kept him from realizing his ambition, because the law says you have to stay in America five continuous years . . . So some 14th assistant something-or-other down in Washington decided that Balchen's presence at the south pole broke this rule, and the red tape had to be all unraveled . . . They've just finally decided, however, inasmuch as Balchen was continuously under the American flag he might have his citizenship papers . . . Darn nice of them, wasn't it?

Remember Neal O'Hara? . . . You used to remark what a clever wit he was when he colyumed . . . Well, it seems when the World came to an end he lost his job and it was tough landing again . . . So he went in for 3-dotted gossip and bingo!—he connected . . . Just finished going through "Frescott's Preview of the Planets and Character Delineations," a book of horoscopes, the best yet . . . Fits me to a T . . . And, aaah, what I know about you, now! . . . A Mr. Meltzer says that so many contributors seem to slay you with their funny gags and jokes, he wants me to tell him what you use for reincarnation . . . A wiseguy, huh? . . . You used up all your over-matter, so you'd better get busy—there isn't a paragraph left in the composing room, and Mr. Hodgins says that's the first time in three days you've been that low with stuff . . . I told him you get a bigger kick doing the col'm when you're stuck . . . What's this I hear about you going back on the air in September? . . . I thought you were going to take it easy.

Incidentally, that mag has a new "find"—named Tono Salazar, a caricaturist, said to be as good as Covarrubias . . . There isn't any truth to the report that the Times Bldg. hasn't a 13th floor . . . The personnel dep't and the hospital are on that floor . . . Pat O'Brien rebelled against Monta Bell's no make-up for males ruling and slaps on grease paint for his "Personal Maid" scenes . . . Did you ever use the one about the persistent movie magnate cabling Eugene O'Neill to cable back a 20-word answer if he would write a movie? . . . Well, O'Neill cabled "No!" 20 times . . . Heywood Broun, for the first time since he wore long pants, had a haircut the other day! . . . So that the actors he intends putting to work won't get in his hair? . . . Gina Malo (Janet Flynn to you!) is learning to talk Russian . . . Here is a line: The naughty magazines are vanishing from the news stands . . . The public, it appears, is going for occult, psychic and supernatural yarns in a huge way.

For a "Hard to Believe" dep't you could mention about a boy friend of mine, who walked out of a Forty-fifth street soandso and forgot to pay his check . . . And no one tried to stop him! . . . Next day, shivering with fright he mailed his check with his apologies, for fear they wouldn't let him in again! . . . Did you know that Kummel is made of caraway seed and apricot stones? . . . Sho'nuff! . . . Mind me, now—some day you're gonna hear a lot about a Rochester, N. Y., beauty named Georgia McTaggart . . . She'd be thrilled no end if you mentioned her, because you appear in a Rochesterag . . . Tell the girls the new style for fall will be: Sheer black hose, bright skirts, slim hips, curved waist, slightly padded shoulders, extreme sleeves, lots of Hudson seal fur, and tiny hats perched rakishly down over one eye, with semi-long hair swept back from the face . . . Did you find a lipstick in the office last night? . . . It was in a tiny purse . . . Keep my money, but please mister, gimme back my sex appeal!—R. C.

Mrs. W. phoned just now and said Walda is all right, no temperature. Not to worry . . . Soon as she heard she might go to the movies, she got full of pep, again . . . By all means, see "A Free Soul" at the Astor with Norma Shearer . . . It is a swiftly-paced melodrama and so well acted . . .

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE LION IN DOGE'S PALACE—For 500 years Venice was an aristocratic republic with a Doge as its nominal head. The real power in the state however was exercised by the council of ten, a formidable body of men whose acts were as arbitrary and rapidly executed as they were secret. The lion I sketched was located in the corner of the Doge's palace. Into its maw would be deposited the secret denunciations by the state's spies and secret agents. As the denunciations reached the council of ten by an underground passage, the accused were invariably seized and removed after a secret trial. The victims never learned the sentence meted out to them by this secret tribunal. The number of condemned victims is estimated at 100,000. As a rule they were never heard from again. This "man-eater," in the eyes of the Venitians, was more formidable and voracious than any beast in history.

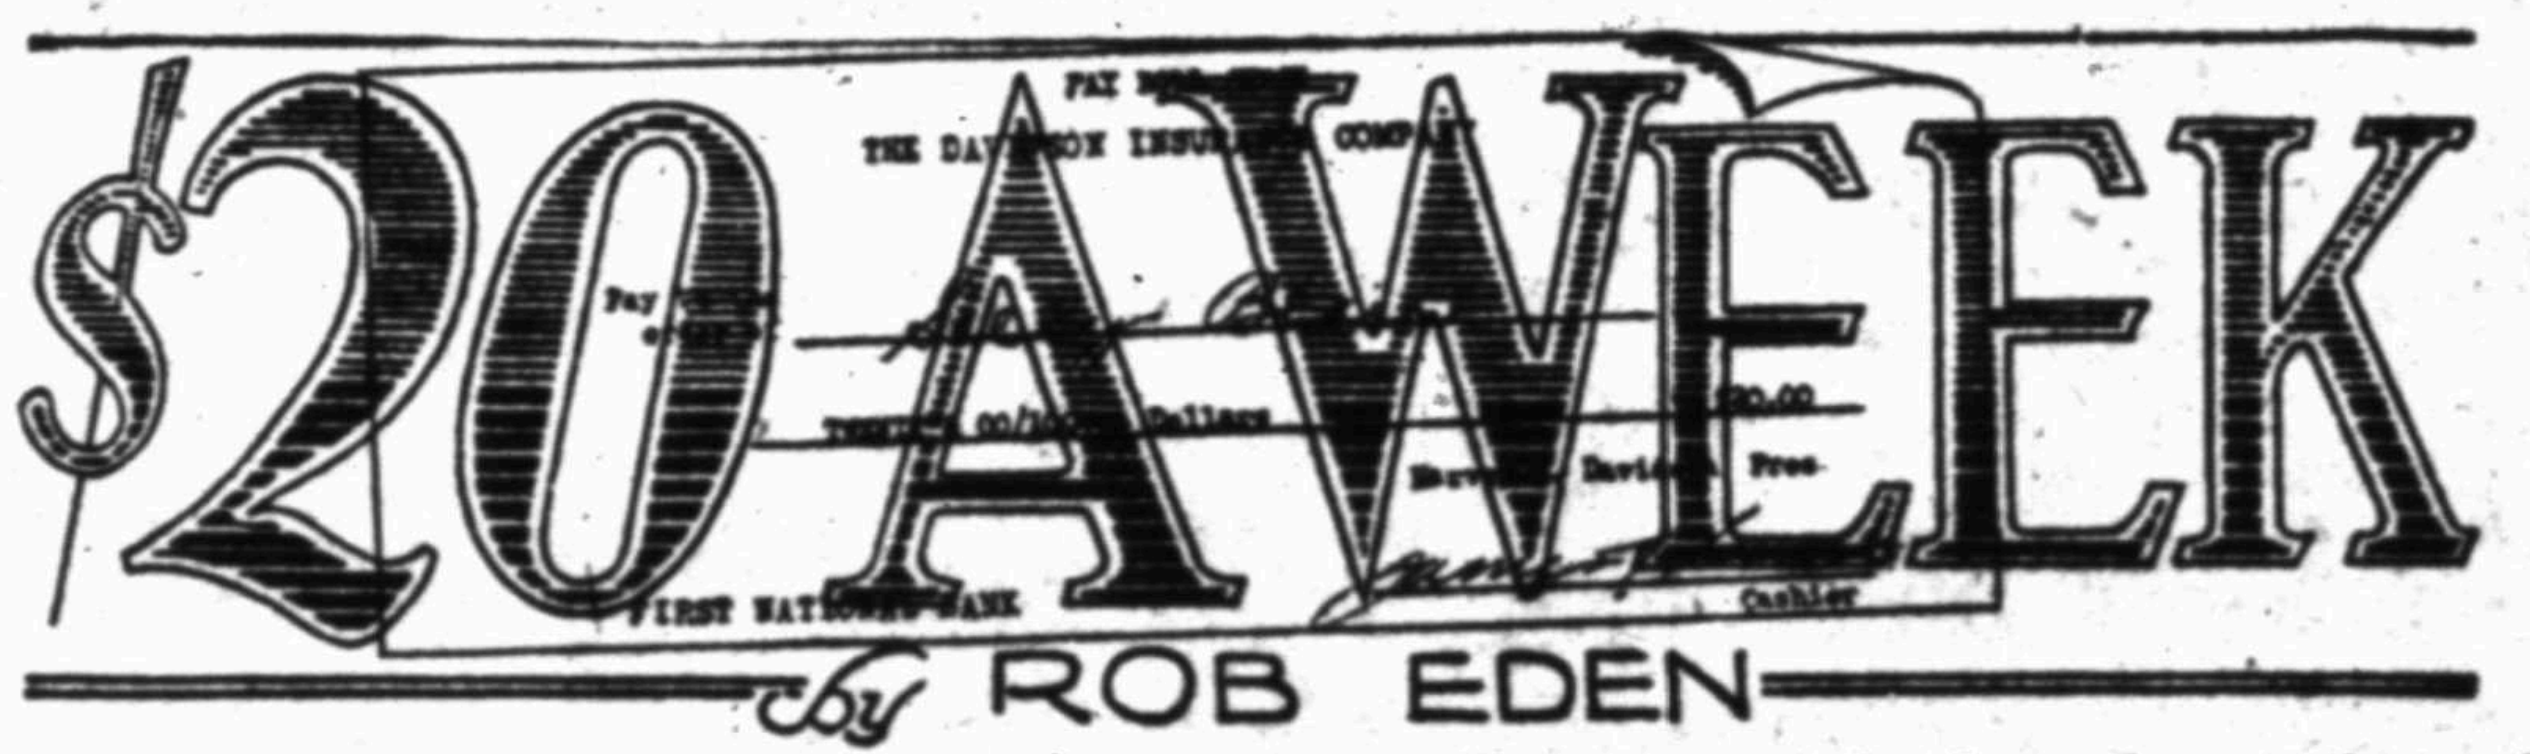
$20 A WEEK



by ROB EDEN

THE STORY SO FAR:

Sally Blair rose to the position of private secretary to Harvey Davidson, while her friend, Ann Seymour kept her $20 a week job in order to marry Mac Tierney. To hold her job, Ann lies to Mac and goes out with her boss, John Warner. Mac discovers the truth and sends Ann away. She comes to Sally. Sally pleads with Mac but he will not take Ann back. On the way home she meets Peter Douglas' mother who tells her that the announcement of the engagement of her son and Linda Davidson is soon to be made known. Sally is in love with Peter.

CHAPTER XXXII

Ann grew thinner, paler with each day that passed, as no word came from Mac. He had moved from the apartment and left no forwarding address. Lackadaisically she tried to find a job, and finally did, but she was not interested in it. Every day when she got home she ran for the mail, and when she saw no letter from her husband, fell into a moody silence. Even the letters she got from her mother went for days unopened, until Sally forced her to read them.

At the end of the month, when Mac had expected to be taken back by his old company, she called the office only to find that although his job had been held open, he hadn't come to claim it.

Sally saw her fade, and could do nothing. The pale face turned into a white mask, the circles under the once blue eyes deepened.

September turned into October, and Ann spoke less and less about Mac, but she thought of him constantly. She didn't cry as much as she used to, her tears seemed to be dried up. Sally knew that every evening she went over to the old apartment house, and asked about Tierney, but Ann never said anything about her visits there.

"Why don't you go home—to Nebraska?" Sally had asked once, planning to pay her fare there.

"Why should I go there? Mac isn't there. He's here—"

There had been talk at the beginning about him, an eager return every evening from work. That was gone, and although Ann still went to the mail box first thing at night, she was slower about it than she had been.

Sally Is Unhappy Too

Sally, too, when she should have been happy, because she was so successful, wasn't. She read the society columns every evening, as carefully as Ann looked into the mail box. Nothing there about Peter, except parties Linda gave where he was a guest.

He wasn't in the office any more. He had been transferred to Jersey City in charge of the branch there. She herself had taken down the letter from Harvey Davidson which gave him his promotion, taken it down with quivering, shaking fingers. That was a month ago. Years ago.

Peter had only been with the company since the first part of June and already he was a branch manager. She thought of writing him a short note congratulating him, then decided against it.

Mrs. Douglas had inferred on that chance meeting on the subway that Linda was announcing her engagement to Peter soon. Well, she hadn't so far. Did that mean they were engaged—yet?

Sally didn't know what to believe.

Mr. Davidson was more pleasant than he had been. He said "good morning" to her now when she entered his office at his call, and often stopped at her desk to say "good night." Not much, but something. When she took his letters, and his memos, he was the same distant employer that she was rather afraid of.

October fourth she was to remember for a long time. The first significance it had for her was the ring around the date on the calendar on Davidson's desk. She noticed it when she laid some papers on his desk before he came in. Unusual for him to ring a date. It hadn't been that way yesterday morning when she had looked at the same sheet. In fact she had only known him to do it once before, last month on his daughter's birthday.

A Gift for Mrs. Cross

The morning passed uneventfully, but early in the afternoon, Davidson called her in. On the polished surface of the desk were three velvet boxes, oblong in shape. Jewels, Sally told herself immediately, and wondered what was in the boxes, for the lids were snapped down.

"Sit down, Miss Blair, I've a favor to ask of you."

Sally obediently sat down, and watched her employer open first one box and then another, until three necklaces were before her on the desk, each reposing in a bed of cream-crushed velvet. Riffany's seal was almost inconspicuous underneath each lid.

One necklace was of rubies, another, very simple, very chaste, of small pearls, and the last was a single pear shaped diamond on a thin platinum chain.

"I want some advice, and I think you can give it to me. I'm making a birthday gift to a friend of mine—a lady—a surprise, so I can't ask the help of the lady in question. I stopped into Riffany's this noon, and brought these back with me, hoping you'd be able to make the decision. The pearls would be my choice, because I have simple tastes, and don't like a woman decked out like a savage, but I don't think this—lady would especially approve of the pearls. What would you suggest?" Quite the longest speech Mr. Davidson had ever made to Sally, and she looked at him in amazement, but he was gazing at the open boxes, fingering the pearls.

"It depends on the lady, Mr. Davidson . . ."

"Mrs. Cross is the lady. I think you saw her on the yacht, and she's been in the office several times." He was frowning slightly.

Sally Chooses the Rubies

Sally nodded, and picked up the string of rubies, blood red, like the lipstick Cynthia Cross affected. Sally could almost see her ordering nail polish to match the string of rubies if she didn't have it already.

"I'm sure Mrs. Cross would like the rubies best. They suit her—"

"You're sure?"

"Of course, I don't know her, but I think she'll like the rubies."

"Fine, and thanks very much. That's what the clerk at the store thought, too, but I wouldn't believe him. The Riffany man will be around for these at two. Will you give him the pearls, and the diamond, and I'll keep these. Tell the messenger to have the rubies put on my account."

Sally picked up the two boxes, and carried them gingerly into her private office. She wasn't used to handling jewels—real ones.

So he was giving Mrs. Cross a gift. A birthday gift. And she had had to make the choice. She smiled as she put the boxes in the top drawer of her desk. When the man from Riffany's called she permitted herself to be curious after she had given him Davidson's orders.

"What is the price of the rubies?"

"A mere thirty grand," the messenger laughed.

Thirty thousand dollars for a string of rubies!

"The pearls are fifteen thousand and the diamond seven thousand," the man continued, as he picked up the boxes and saw that their contents were intact.

Well, she hadn't done badly for Mrs. Cross then. Chosen the most expensive of the jewelry Davidson had brought over from Riffany's. If she had known the prices she wouldn't have been so willing to oblige Mrs. Cross.

Just as she was closing her desk at 6 o'clock—she had worked later than usual, and Mr. Davidson had been gone for hours, the phone rang. It was Davidson.

"Miss Blair? Glad you're there. Hoped somebody would be. I'm home and I've left that case of rubies in my desk, the top right hand drawer. Could you bring it out to me? Careless, but I completely forgot it. Right away if you can. Take a cab. You know the address. Thanks." And the receiver clicked. Sally hadn't had a chance to say a word. She looked in the drawer, found the case, gazed again at the sparkling rubies and called a cab.

Certainly she knew the address of the Davidson apartment on Park avenue, but she had never been there before. She was a little excited when the cab put her down in front of the elaborate entrance, and she passed under the striped marquee that led her into a huge luxuriously furnished lobby. The Davidson's had a private elevator and it was some minutes before she discovered this.

Then the mammoth hall she found herself in when she reached the 29th floor. It might have belonged to some baronial mansion. A great high ceiling with crude hand-hewn rafters far above her head. One whole side of the wall a great stained window. A broad staircase leading to a balcony.

This wasn't New York. This was like the pictures she had seen of homes in England . . .

The Davidsons had four floors in the apartment house, especially designed for their occupancy.

A butler took the case while Sally was gazing bewildered at the gigantic fireplace with the two griffins carved of granite guarding its mouth, a mouth she could have walked through, her arms stretched full length above her head. A log fire was burning in it now, the logs almost trees. They were sparking and spitting blood red flames onto the hearth of flagstones.

"Oh, Miss Blair." She turned to find Linda standing beside her.

"I came on an errand for your father," Sally explained quickly.

"We're all dashing around like mad tonight. I've got to go and dress in a minute. Having a big dinner party to announce my engagement to Peter. I've just been in the dining room and it looks marvelous. I always see to the last minute stuff myself—." Linda was talking very fast. In one arm she held a mass of flowers, full bloomed zinnias in autumn hues of yellow and orange, in the other a crystal decanter, empty.

"Come and see the table, won't you? I've lighted the candles to see how they look and I have to blow them out now—." So Linda hurried on through the door next to the fireplace, and Sally, not quite knowing what to do, followed her numbly.

Linda was announcing her engagement to Peter—at last.

It had to come . . .

Ann listened to her heart and had it broken. Sally refused to listen to hers and the same fate awaits hers. What is the solution for each?

IS YOUR HOME A TESTING GROUND for UNTRIED PRODUCTS?

THE ANSWER TO SUBSTITUTION
IS ALWAYS . . .

"NO"

WHAT CAN anyone gain by buying unknown products.

And why should anyone buy them, when it is always safer to ask for brands of recognized quality.

The lure of unknown products is often a "bargain price." The clerk may say they are "just as good" as the popular advertised brands.

But isn't the approval of millions of people worth more than the word of one?

No amount of advertising will create character for a product. But constant advertising does place established character on trial.

The advertised product has a reputation at stake.

It must make good to hold your confidence. One false claim would be fatal.

The substitute product is an unknown brand, with nothing to lose.

In appearance, it may imitate a brand you know.

Over the counter, any claim may be made for it.

Only by sad experience can you prove that claim untrue!

Think of this the next time anyone tries to sell you something "just as good."

Such "just as good" products are urged upon you for only one reason. There is more profit in selling them.

The merchant who permits and encourages such substitution is looking only at today's sales slips. Not at tomorrow's loyal customers.

These facts are published by this newspaper to protect its readers.

Whenever you shop, ask for standard advertised products. Insist on getting them. Be warned by the words "just as good" that there is something better.

When you are guided by names you know you can be sure of constant quality. Of definite purity. Of honest weight. Of full value in return for the money you spent.

RECIPES

Grape Cocktail

To two tablespoonfuls of grape juice, add one cup of sweet cider and one-half cup of carbonated water. Serve in tall thin glasses with chopped ice. Put an olive in each glass.

Paprika Chicken

Choose a tender young chicken weighing not over three pounds. Stuff with the following: Two cupfuls of rather coarse crumbs from a 2-days-old loaf, moistened with one-half a cup of hot veal or chicken stock, and seasoned with two tablespoonsful of butter or bacon fat, one-half a teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth a teaspoonful of pepper, a pinch of ground mace, and a rounded tablespoonful each of fine-chopped green pepper, raw onion and parsley. All these should be worked evenly into the bread, and the whole used to stuff the chicken. Place in the bottom of a casserole enough thin-sliced onion and chopped parsley to make a bed for the chicken—about three-fourths of a cup of the mixture should be right. On this place the stuffed chicken, and pin with wooden toothpicks over its breast three or four neat slices of bacon. Pour over all a cup of the stock, cover the casserole, and let the whole simmer for an hour.

Then lift out the chicken to a hot platter, remove the bacon strips, strain the gravy, add to it a dessert-spoonful of paprika, cup of hot cream, and the beaten yolk of one egg. If the sauce has cooled off in the process of straining, heat it again as hot as may be without boiling and pour it over the chicken. This dish came from Hungary.

Asparagus With Mousseline Sauce

Prepare and cook asparagus as usual. When tender drain and serve on a slice of toast, pouring the sauce over the asparagus. Surround with fanciful shaped bits of bread, sauteed in butter. For the the sauce beat two tablespoonsful of butter to a cream; add the yolks of four eggs, one at a time; then add two tablespoonsful of lemon juice, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and a dash of paprika. Cook over hot water until the sauce thickens, then add two tablespoonsful of butter in three parts, incorporating each part before another is added. Lastly beat in one-fourth cup of thick cream. Serve when thoroughly heated. The sauce should be thick and frothy.

Cucumber Salad With Dressing

Pare with a fluted knife, and slice, a cucumber; arrange the slices on a plate to form a ring, and sprinkle with toasted almonds chopped fine. (Cucumbers may be pared with an ordinary knife and then decorated by running the tines of a fork from one end to the other.) Serve with sour cream dressing made as follows: To five tablespoonfuls of sour, heavy cream add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one-fourth a teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth a teaspoonful of paprika. One-third a teaspoonful of chives, chopped fine, may be added to the dressing.

Blackberry Pie (Individual)

For six small pies wash and cook one quart of blackberries with from one-half to three-quarters of a cupful of sugar and set aside to cool. Line small, rather deep pie tins with the berries and arrange strips of pastry crisscross over the tops, bake in a hot oven—450 degrees F.—cool, and garnish around the edge with little rosettes of cream cheese which has been well softened and put through thepastry tube.

Cream Cheese Savoury Salad

One-half pound Philadelphia cream cheese.
Two-thirds cupful thin cream.
One minced pimento (more may be added).
One-half cupful chopped nuts.
One-half teaspoonful salt.
Dash of cayenne.

Mash the cream cheese, add the cream and stir until perfectly smooth. Chill by setting in pan of cracked ice. Add the remaining ingredients and turn in a freezer until frozen, using eight parts ice to one part salt. Remove dasher and let stand for at least half an hour to ripen. Transfer by means of an ice cream scoop to plates garnished with lettuce. This salad may be frozen in a mechanical refrigerator.

Salmon Salad Loaf

Flake two cupfuls of canned salmon in large pieces, removing bone and skin, mix with one cupful of heavy boiled dressing, adding one green pepper finely shredded, four small sour pickles chopped with salt, pepper and parika to taste. Soften one tablespoonful of gelatin in a quarter of a cupful of cold water, with a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Cool and fold in one cupful of stiffly whipped cream or two well-beaten egg whites. Turn into a moistened mold and chill, turn out on an attractive bed of shredded lettuce leaves and garnish with olives.

Home-Made French Pastry

Did you ever go into a restaurant or hotel dining room and gaze longingly at a tray of French pastry and tarts displayed there—dainty tidbits with their lucious fillings and bright frostings—and wish that you could make them in your kitchen? This is possible as there is nothing difficult or mysterious about the preparation of French pastry.

These pastries are not cheap nor quickly made so they should be undertaken only when one has plenty of time. They are delightful surprises when served at teas and Sunday night suppers.

Many small cakes, tarts, cream puffs, and turnovers are classed as French pastry.

Too many kinds of French pastry should not be undertaken at one time but with a basic puff paste recipe and perhaps some cake batter and nuts, marschino cherries, cocoanut, and whipped cream, great variety may be attained by combining the ingredients in different ways. The home-made jellies and jams which every housewife has on the pantry shelves make excellent fillings for many French pastries. Fancy cutters and patty shells are necessary for many attractive varieties.

Melt the sugar and butter; add the juice and grated rind, and when hot stir gradually into the yolks, beaten thick; stir and cook until the mixture thickens; use hot or cold.

Water frosting is made as follows:

About four tablespoonfuls of fruit juice.
One and one-half cupfuls of confestioner's sugar.
Flavoring as needed.
Color paste for tinting if desired.

Heat the liquid; stir the liquid into the sifted sugar, adding more, a few drops at a time, as needed. A little lemon juice added to the other fruit juices accentuates the flavor of the latter. The icing is of proper consistency when it coats the spoon and conceals its color. Water, milk or cream may be used instead of the fruit juice.

One cupful of raisins.
One-fourth pound of citron.
One egg.
One cupful sugar.
The juice and grated rind of one lemon.
One cracker, if desired.

Banbury Tarts

Stone the raisins, if they have not been seeded, and chop with the citron very fine; add the grated rind and juice of the lemon, also the sugar, slightly beaten egg and finely rolled cracker crumbs.

Roll puff paste one-eighth of an inch thick and cut in rounds between three and four inches in diameter. Put a little of the mixture on each piece; moisten one-half the edge with cold water and fold over the pastry, pressing the dry edge upon the half that is moistened very closely. Bake about 25 minutes in a slow oven. A cracker, pounded or rolled fine, and the juice of a second lemon may be added but it gives a less rich mixture.

Cocoanut Tea Cakes

Roll puff or plain paste to one-fourth inch in thickness. Shape with a lady-finger cutter and bake on a tin sheet in a hot oven. When nearly done remove from the oven, cool slightly, brush over with beaten white of egg, sprinkle with shredded cocoanut, and return to oven to finish the cooking.

Florentine Meringue

Roll puff paste one-eighth inch thick; cut a piece 10 inches long by seven inches wide; place on a sheet, wet edges, and put on a half-inch rim. Prick with a fork six times, and bake in hot oven. Cool, and spread with jam, cover with meringue, and almonds blanched and shredded; sprinkle with powdered sugar and bake. The meringue is made as follows:

Whites of three eggs.
Seven and one-half teaspoonfuls powdered sugar.
One-half teaspoonful lemon extract or one-third teaspoonful vanilla.

Beat whites until stiff, and four tablespoonfuls sugar gradually, and beat vigorously; fold in remaining sugar, and add flavoring.

Napoleon Slices

Roll puff paste out thin and cut into strips about three inches wide and the length of a baking sheet. Prick them with a fork and bake. After it is baked, spread over with vanilla or lemon cream and place a strip on top. Ice the top strip with vanilla icing and cut into slices. Three layers of pastry may be used instead of two and cream filling used instead of vanilla cream. Confestioner's frosting may be used instead of vanilla icing. Sprinkle some with chopped nuts; crease in pieces about two and one-half by three inches, and cut with sharp knife.

Chill on the ice all the utensils to be used in making the paste. Then sift together two cupfuls of pastry flour and one-half teaspoonful of salt, and place on the ice. Measure one cupful of butter and put it in a bowl of cold water, but not ice water. Work the butter with a wooden spoon until smooth. Then remove butter from the water and work it till every drop of water has been removed. Keep back two tablespoonfuls of butter; shape the rest into a flat cake and place on the ice. Work the two tablespoonfuls of butter into the pastry flour with the tips of the fingers. Then moisten to a dough with ice water, turn on a slightly floured board and knead for about five minutes until it is smooth. Chill on ice for five minutes; then pat and roll the dough to one-fourth inch thickness in a square shape. Spread one-fourth of the cake of butter on the center of the lower half of the paste. Cover the butter by folding the upper half of the paste over it. Press the edges firmly to retain all the air possible. Turn the side edges of the paste, one under and one over the enclosed butter; press edges together; chill for five minutes. Roll. Repeat this rolling and spreading process three times, until all the butter is used, chilling the paste each time. After the fourth rolling, fold the paste from the ends to the center and double, making four layers. Then wrap the paste in a clean cloth, and chill for an hour or all night if possible. It is better if kept on ice for 24 hours. The secret of making good pastry is to have the pastry very cold and the oven hot. After the pastries are cut they should be put in a pan lined with heavy brown paper, and baked in a quick oven—between 400 degrees F. and 450 degrees F. Puff pastry is more complicated than plain pastry but it is a de luxe product which may be made by a novice if directions are followed and which offers all sorts of delightful possibilities and add very much to a housewife's prestige as a cook.

FRENCH PASTRY RECIPE GIVEN

Mrs. Dawson Tells How To Make Confections

Cut out thinly rolled puff paste the shape of a heart. Cover with chopped nuts. Place over this another layer of pastry, also cut heart shaped. Brush with beaten egg and bake the whole. When cooled, cover with whirls of whipped and sweetened cream and place a cherry in the center.

Cream Horns

Roll puff paste in a long rectangular piece, one-eighth inch thick. Cut in strips three-fourths inch wide. Roll paste over wooden forms bought for the purpose, having edges overlap. Bake in a hot oven until well puffed and slightly beaten, diluted with one teaspoonful water, then sprinkle with sugar. Return to oven and finish cooking, and remove from forms. When cold, fill with cream filling or whipped cream sweetened and flavored.

Vienna Whipped Cream Roll

Roll puff paste into strips four inches wide. Butter tin or hardwood cylinders about one inch in diameter and four inches long. Cut the strips of paste into pieces to fit cylinders. Brush over one side of each piece of paste with white of egg or water, and press this side upon the first upon the cylinder, so that when baked and removed from the tin hollow cylinders of paste will be formed. Bake on a tin sheet in a slow oven. When cold cover the outside with chocolate frosting (confectioner's, boiled or fondant) and when ready to serve fill the centers with sweetened and flavored cream, beaten stiff.

Orange Croutons

Cut small rounds from puff paste, chill and bake; spread orange curd between each two, sandwich fashion; sprinkle the top with powdered sugar or cover with confectioner's or water frosting. The orange curd is made as follows:

One-fourth cupful butter.
Juice and grated rind of one orange.
Two ounces of candied orange peel, if desired the yolks of three eggs.
One-fourth cupful sugar.

Smoke a fresh cigarette

HARSH tobaccos require harsh measures, like parching, to make them tolerable to the throat.

But the choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended are naturally mild and gentle. Parching would only ruin their exquisite flavor and aroma.

No matter where you buy Camels you will find them always in factory-fresh condition. Their rare flavor together with their natural moisture is air-sealed-in by moisture-proof Cellophane. We call it the Humidor-Pack.

This protective wrapping is dust-proof, germ-proof and weather-proof. A great boon to the smoker.

No stinging particles of peppery dust to irritate the throat; no brackish smoke from stale tobacco; no burnt tongue from the hot smoke of dried-out cigarettes.

Just the cool, mild fragrance of choice tobaccos expertly blended and properly conditioned.

If you are not a Camel smoker, switch over for just one day. Then leave them—if you can.

Leaving the moisture-proof Cellophane on my Camel package when I open it protects the cigarettes against the odors of powder and perfume

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Rapid Heart

Question—H. M. writes: "Am a woman of 48, have high blood pressure, hot flashes and a too rapid heart. Please tell me what my normal pressure should be and how many heart beats should I have to the minute? Do you think the fast heart has anything to do with the high blood pressure and could the hot flashes be causing both? Is a rapid heart dangerous if otherwise all right?"

Answer—Your blood pressure should be about 130 and your heart beats about 72 per minute when you are not exercising. A fast heart has no particular connection with high blood pressure but may be due to some other condition, such as emotional disturbances or excessive thyroid secretion. The hot flashes are only a symptom and not the cause of the other troubles. A rapid heart is a dangerous sign, but not necessarily fatal if the heart is organically sound.

Orange Juice Diet

Question—E. D. writes: "Some time ago you sent me instructions for an orange juice diet and I got wonderful results from it. I would like to know if it would be harmful to stay on the orange juice till dinner, then eat the regular meal."

Answer—I would not advise this unless you are trying to reduce. Orange juice does not assist the elimination process very much unless it is taken in the form of an exclusive fast, using nothing but orange juice for several days, and when taken in this way becomes a very valuable method for overcoming disease. The average person should eat a good breakfast.

Pork

Question—U. B. writes: "I have been told that pork causes cancer. Would you please certify this?"

Answer—"There is no evidence that the use of pork has any relation to cancer.

CARLETON'S SIX-HIT HURLING SETS SPUDDERS BACK, 8 TO 2

BUFF TWIRLER WHIFFS EIGHT

But Bo Euller Connects For Three Safeties

By FRED THOMPSON

Bo Euller was the only Spudder able to face the smoke of Tex Carleton's fast one Thursday afternoon, and the Houston Buffs won the series opener, 8 to 2, stopping the Spudders' winning streak at five straight.

The Buffs have high hopes of sweeping the three-game series here, and then venturing into other fields in quest of the first half championship. They stepped firmly toward that goal yesterday behind Carleton's six-hit pitching, in the course of which the lanky right-hander fanned eight batters.

Three for Three

Euller accounted for half of the grand total of Spudder hits, rapping a double and two singles and drawing a pass in four journeys to the plate. Fuss, Scharein and Stanton poled the other three, all of which were singles. Carleton whiffed Allday three times, Hungling and Gullic twice each, and Garms once.

Meanwhile the Bisons, whose aggregate of base hits in their recent series at Shreveport and Dallas was not such a startling figure, unloosed an attack on Forest Pressnell that netted seven blows, and pounced on Howard Taylor in the ninth for five more. Neither pitcher, however, was as ineffective as the record might indicate. Pressnell was the victim of two costly errors by Buck Stanton in the early innings, and three of the five runs scored off the knuckleballer were unearned. Pressnell went out for a pinch hitter in the fifth, and Taylor carried on the relief job in noble fashion, allowing not a single hit the sixth, seventh and eighth, weakening in the ninth when the Buff barrage drove in three more runs.

Hustling Contest

The Buffs scored in an orthodox manner in the first on Hock's single, Rollings' sacrifice and another single by Selph, but the two runs in the second followed a wild heave by Stanton who was trying for a play at second. Stanton's boot contributed to the Buffs' counter in the fourth. There was no alibi for the run Peel scored in the fifth, however, for the alert left fielder socked the ball over the left field fence for the only home run of the day.

Both teams hustled on the defense, and provided a great exhibition of baseball for the crowd of some 1,000 which turned out. The "crooshical" series will continue today, with Payne or Fowler the probable starter for the Buffs, while Carl Williams has Cooney to send against the more veteran Houston mound staff.

Thursday's loss was Pressnell's first in five starts.

Buffs Score Early

The Buffs were full of hustle, and took an early lead in the first. Hock led off with a single to right. Rollings sacrificed him along to second, and Selph singled to left center to drive Hock in. Peel fouled out to Garms and Medwick fouled out to Euller to prevent further damage to the Spudder cause. Carleton had plenty of stuff when the Spuds came to bat, and the first three bit the dust, Garms grounding out, second to first, Allday fanning and Stanton hoisting to left.

A base on balls and an error by Stanton got the Spudders into hot water in the second, and before it was over the Buffs had tallied twice more. Pressnell walked Sturdy. Sanders bunted towards first, and Stanton, trying for Sturdy at second, threw past Scharein, Sturdy going to third and Sanders to second. Sprinz fanned, but Carleton walked, loading the bases. Hock flied to Garms, and on a close play at the plate Sturdy was ruled safe, Sanders and Carleton holding their bases. Sanders stole third and scored when Rollings singled off Pressnell's leg, Carelton taking second. Pressnell hit Selph, loading the bases again, but Peel forced Rolling at third, Euller unassisted, to retire the side.

Too Much Smoke

In the last of the second, after Gullic had fanned and Hungling had flied to center, Fuss lined a hit through the box, but Scharein flied out to center.

Medwick grounded out, Allday to Stanton, to open the third. Pressnell knocked down Sturdy's drive to the box and it was fielded by Scharein. Sanders grounded out, Allday to Stanton, to set 'em down in order.

Euller opened the home half with a sock to left center that went for a double, but he never passed third. Pressnell grounded out, pitcher to first. Garms grounded out to first unassisted, Euller taking third, and Allday went out swinging, his second strikeout in as many times up.

Stanton's second error of the day was directly desponsible for another Buff tally in the fourth, and a bit of cooperation between Debs Garms and Bud Hungling prevented the scoring of one or more runs. Stanton let Sprinz' bounder to first get through his legs. Carleton sacrificed Sprinz to second, pitcher to first. Hock flied out to Gullic. Gullic slipped down just as he stopped Rollings' line drive to center, and Rollings' line drive to centers, and Selph singled to left, but Rollings was out at the plate, Garms to Hungling, retiring the side.

Carleton breezed through the last of the frame, Stanton fouling out to third, Gullic whiffing for the second time and Fuss grounding out, second to first after Hungling had walked.

Peel opened the fifth by blasting a home run over the left field fence. That was all the damage. Medwick struck out, and Sturdy popped to Euller. Sanders doubled to left, but Sprinz flied to Fuss. In the home half the Spuds finally scored. Scharein led off with a hot single past third. Euller followed with his second hit of the day, a single to left center, Scharein taking third. Bradbury batted for Pressnell and flied out to left, Scharein scoring after the catch. Garms struck out. Allday was safe when Hock booted his grounder to third, Euller taking second. Stanton grounded out, pitcher to first, to close the frame.

Howard Taylor took the mound for the Spudders in the sixth and retired three Bisons in a row, Carleton grounding out, pitcher to first, Hock, Allday to Stanton, and Rollings flying to Garms. Gullic walked to open the home half, but Hungling fanned, Fuss forced Gullic at second, pitcher to short, and Scharein flied to right.

Taylor set three more Buffs down in the seventh. Selph grounded out, Euller to Stanton. Peel walked. Euller came up with Medwick's hard hit ball to start a double killing, Euller to Allday to Stanton. Euller opened the home half with his third bingle of the afternoon, a single past first, and paved the way for another Spudder run. Taylor was out on his slow roller to second, Euller advancing. Garms walked. Allday fanned. Stanton bounced a single to right, Euller scoring and Garms taking third. Gullic forced Stanton at second, short to second.

Taylor pitched his third hitless inning in the eighth, and hurled out of a hole occasioned by two walks. Sturdy strolled and was sacrificed along by Sanders. Sprinz flied to Gullic. Carleton walked, but Hock popped to Scharein. The Spuds were impotent. Hungling fanned, Fuss grounded out, second to first, and Scharein fouled out to the catcher.

They Get to Him

When the Buffs finally did get to Taylor, in the ninth, they hit everything he had. Rollings singled to right and was sacrificed to second by Selph. Peel beat out an infield hit to third, Rolling taking third. Medwick doubled to left, scoring Rollings and advancing Peel to third. Sturdy's single to center scored Peel and Medwick. Sanders doubled to center, Sturdy taking third. Sprinz popped up to Allday and Gullic made a fine catch of Carelton's high fly near the center field fence to retire the side after the Buffs had scored three runs.

Carleton walked Euller in the last of the ninth. Koch hit for Taylor and forced Euller at second, third to second. Garms fouled out to the second baseman. Allday flied out to right and the game was over.

Petrolle Kayos Suarez in Ninth

NEW YORK, June 25. (US)—In a bout full of thrills, Billy Petrolle, the Fargo express, crashed into the championship circle, by knocking out Justo Suarez, Argentinian butcher boy. The fatal blows fell on the game South American after one minute and 51 seconds of the ninth round.

As predicted the bout started as a slam-bang affair, with Petrolle getting the lead early in the first. The Westerner staggered Suarez and sent him down on his hands and knees twice, but the South American refused to take a count.

Petrolle discovered the butcher boy's weakness in the second and kept whaling away. Suares proved to be a game fighter, however, keeping his feet when nine out of 10 men would have been down and out long ago. The Argentinian's stomach could not stand the belting of the Westerner and he was gamely keeping his feet by holding on to the ropes.

In the ninth, Petrolle dashed out and cuffed Suarez about the ears, then following with a hard left to the stomach that had the Argentinian staggering. A right under the heart and a driving right to the jaw sent Suarez helpless into the ropes and then down for the count.

Sub Breathing Bags

LONDON.—A safety dress, containing a breathing bag, is a new method devised by an English scientist for escaping from trapped submarines. The bag is equipped with a small cylinder of oxygen and a cartridge of soda lime to absorb the poisonous carbonic acid gas of the exhaled breath. Should a submarine sink, the hull of the craft would be flooded to equalize the water pressure inside and out, and the crew would use the safety dresses to escape.

MRS. ROCHON IN GOLF FINALS

Wichitan Plays Mrs. English For Title Today

DALLAS, June 25. (AP)—Mrs. F. C. Rochon of Wichita Falls and Mrs. J. R. English of Dallas will compete tomorrow in a 36-hole golf match for the 1931 Texas Woman's Municipal Golf association state championship over the Tenison park course here.

Mrs. Rochon defeated Mrs. George Huckaby, one up in the semifinals today. She sunk a 40 foot putt on the 17th green.

Mrs. J. R. English, current Dallas municipal champion, eliminated Mrs. J. D. Owens of Dallas 6 and 5.

In their championship struggle tomorrow, Mrs. Rochon is favored because of her sound all-round game, but the gallery critics expect to see Mrs. English carry the match to the final green or into an extra hole or two. In other matches today, Mrs. Pauline Alker beat Miss Florence Lipman 6 and 4 for the second flight championship. Both are Dallasites.

Mrs. Roy Hobson of Dallas won the third flight championship by defeating Mrs. Charles Mills of Dallas one up, 19 holes.

Mrs. Pauline Erb won the second flight consolations, defeating Mrs. Tom Sockwell, one up. Both are Dallas players.

Finals in the championship flight, championship consolations first flight and first flight consolations will be played tomorrow.

Watkins Steals Home in Seventh To Give Cards 1-0 Win Over Robins

BROOKLYN, June 25. (AP)—George Watkins, St. Louis outfielder who hit three home runs in one game at Philadelphia yesterday, turned his versatile talents in another direction today and deprived Dazzy Vance of a victory in a three-hit game. Paul Derringer shut out the Robins with six hits and Cardinals won, 1 to 0.

After Vance had retired the first 20 men in order, Watkins bunted safely in the seventh for the first hit. Jim Bottomley followed with a single, Watkins reaching third. The young outfielder took advantage of the Dazzler's slow throw to first to hold Bottomley on the bag and stole home for the only run of the game. Score:

Profit-Taking After Spurt Sends Stock Market Prices Down

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 25. (US)—Stock market finished net lower today, following the same procedure as witnessed Monday-Tuesday when the sharp advances featuring the start of the week attracted heavy profit taking the following day. Wednesday's substantial price appreciation furnished too attractive a base for additional realizing and selling, together perhaps with renewed liquidation and certainly some new bear pressure, proved too great a weight for the market.

Momentum of the previous day's advance, however, had carried into the entire morning, pushing most stocks up to new highs for the current recovery. Subsequent setback was the sharpest witnessed in a week, especially when contrasted with morning peaks. Volume shrunk almost a million but still exceeded 4,000,000 shares.

In its revived enthusiasm, stimulated by Wednesday's brisk upturn, the market was almost inclined, in its early stages at least, to ignore the quite obvious probablity of considerable delay in the debt-moratorium program. Temper of the French public and its government was quite plainly reflected in cable dispatches relating the French insistence upon some modifications in the Hoover program of complete suspension of inter-governmental debts for one year. Disclosure that Secretary of Treasury Mellon will extend his visit to Paris beyond the original period emphasized that additional negotiations will be necessary if the French are to accede to the full proposition.

This factor of delay had greater influence on market sentiment when prices had reached the limit of their enthusiasm the latter phase of which reflected the activities of pools and manipulative operations rather than the type of buying of late last week. The full effect of increased doubts concerning immediate acceptance of the debt-holiday was alleviated somewhat by continued cheer from domestic developments.

Price of copper was again marked up ¼-cent a pound and coinciding with maintenance of its dividend by the Anaconda Copper Mining company the result was general firmness among copper shares. They exhibited the greatest strength of any particular group, Anaconda running up 1⅝ points net, while Calumet and Arizona advanced 2¾. Talk was heard of 9-cent copper, a concrete sign of the changed sentiment, but it was pointed out in more conservative quarters that even at that level little or no profit would accrue to most producers.

Oil shares were only slightly changed in price and it was becoming more evident that their recovery was mainly a technical rebound. The public utility shares were brought forward, when the industrials showed inclination to ease in price, but they, too, averaged lower at the close.

Throughout the market there was evidence of greatly increased activity by pools. Case Threshing was rushed up sharply against the large bear interest but failed to hold most of its gain although closing two points net higher. It was reported that the leading speculative bull factor in the stock was liquidating, and considerable selling from the same source was rumored in American Can. Westinghouse, which had enjoyed a sharp rise on the dividend news, was in greater supply.

A block of 38,300 shares of McKesson & Robbins changed hands at the opening. United Aircraft was lower despite activities of a highly aggressive pool. It as reported that a new group has been formed in United Biscuit. Radio had to withstand considerable profit-taking. American and Foreign Power was rushed up vigorously in the early dealings but was unable to hold its rally.

Most of the pool activity currently is in stocks of low grade.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, June 25. (AP)—Finer grade western wools are moving very freely at prices that are showing a strengthening tendency. Original bag 64's and finer territory wools of bulk French combing staple, sell at 55 to 57 cents scoured basis with prices inclined near the higher side of this range than last week. A similar trend is noted in prices of the short French combing and clothing wool at 53 to 55c. Strictly combing Texas wools are stiffening in the range of 58 to 60 cents scoured basis and the French combing Texas wools frequently being 56 to 57 cents although sales are still being closed on this type at 55 cents scoured basis.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, June 25. (AP)—Cotton goods markets continued strong in the unfinished cloth divisions today and further advances were named on print cloths, broadcloths, and some sheetings. Finished goods markets became a little more active. The rise in silver exchange has stiffened China silk markets and advances are greater than mills will pay. Women's wear was more active for fall. Yarn markets were firmer and advancing. Rayon mills were averaging 85 per cent capcity output. Burlaps were firmer.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 25. (AP)—Dominated by increasing movement of the 1931 crop out of the harvest fields in the big producting states, wheat prices underwent material setbacks today. Receipts of new wheat at all markets totaled 657 cars, including 25 cars at Chicago. Despite fresh upturns of securities, speculative buyers backed away from wheat offerings, and laid persistent stress on continued lack of any definite assurance that government sponsored old crop domestic wheat holdings would be kept off the market.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅝@1⅝c lower, corn ⅛c off to ⅛c up, oats unchanged to ⅛@¼c advance, and provisions 15 to 30 cents down.

Northward sweep of the wheat harvest was emphasized by announcement that cutting had commenced in Nebraska, and by Missouri advices that field operations had been hastened five days by hot weather. Kansas, the banner wheat state, reported harvest conditions ideal, and predictions were current that the next government crop report would record much higher estimated yields than the June 1 forecast. Greatly augumented arrivals of newly harvested wheat next week were expected.

Slackness of North American wheat export business continued, notwithstanding that pessimistic Canadian crop reports were unabated and that estimates of Argentine wheat acreage showed a drastic reduction of 30 per cent. Meanwhile, there were advices that Germany's 1931 wheat crop was expected to show 20 per cent increase, and that Russia's wheat seedings now totaled 61,500,000 acres, 5 per cent more than last year's final. Spread traders in which sales of wheat were balanced against equal purchases of corn served further to undermine wheat values.

Corn and oats displayed relative strength and at one time December corn was 5⅛c above the last week's low. Belief was expressed that in some sections the prevailing high temperatures and dearth of rain had lowered the condition of the new corn crop.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, June 25. (25)—With combines starting operations in the Southwest under perfect weather conditions, receipts at terminal markets should increase sharply next week in consequence. The market is now facing the real test of its ability to absorb hedging pressure in substantial volume.

European crops are expected to be about average this season. While complaints of drouth have been received from Spain recently, weather over the continent in general has been favorable for crops.

Financial assistance along the lines of the reported short term aid to be given Germany by the federal reserve bank might easily become a strengthening factor in the international wheat market, pit observors declare.

Broomhall says reserves in all importing countries are very low but tariff restrictions will probably check imports during the early part of the season. French crops are making good progress and first offers of new wheat have appeared from Southern France and Tunis. Morocco is offering freely.

With insufficient export outlet and the new wheat movement gradually increasing, speculators will have to continually come to the rescue, which weakens the situation. Corn from now on will probably be almost wholly a weather market.

NEW AIR LINE OPENS JULY 15

Century Company Tells C-C of Plans Here

Operations of the Century Air Lines, with fast and frequent schedules between Dallas and Chicago by way of Wichita Falls, will be started about July 15, or as soon thereafter as planes for the new line can be delivered from the factory, according to word received Thursday by the chamber of commerce from W. F. Bliss, general manager of Century.

No less than three planes each way will be operated daily on the route, Mr. Bliss' letter advised. Fares at less than railway rates will prevail.

Tentative plans for the service, as outlined by Mr. Bliss when he opened negotiations with officials here last month, included a schedule of seven planes daily each way. However, chamber of commerce officials and others interest appeared elated at the prospect of securing a three-plane schedule, which is considered by far the finest air service ever offered this section.

Mr. Bliss advised that he would be in Wichita Falls Friday or Saturday with a fleet of planes being taken to California, where the Century interests are inaugurating a new air service there. In the event that weather conditions are unfavorable for a stop here at that time, Mr. Bliss indicated that he would be in Wichita Falls on the return trip from California, in about three weeks.

Members of the aviation committee and other officials of the chamber of commerce will meet Mr. Bliss on his arrival at the airport here, and will confer with him relative to the inauguration of the Dallas-Chicago line through here.

Ships to be used on the line will be Stinson 12-place-and-pilot tri-motored planes, the same types that are used on the Century's other routes. Inability to secure delivery of this model of ship from the factory has delayed the inauguration of the Dallas-Chicago line, Mr. Bliss said.

The Century line is considered one of the most successful of passenger carriers and is a pioneer in the use of low-fare rates. Experiments made by the company, it was learned here, have revealed that persons will patronize air travel where the tariff compares favorably with rail fares. Lines now operated by Century are between Cleveland and Chicago, St. Louis and Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit, Chicago and Milwaukee, and St. Louis and Kansas City. The Chicago-Cleveland line operates seven planes daily each way.

Business Men Invited to Join Key Farmers in Tour of Valley July 9-10

Business men of the city are urged to attend the second tour of the Wichita valley July 9-10, and especially to get acquainted with the key farmers of this section, in whose honor the tour is being staged, it was announced Thursday by Frank Wolf, chairman of the Junior chamber of commerce agricultural committee, which has charge of the tour.

Key farmers of about 20 surrounding counties are expected to make the trip. Although a similar tour was conducted recently for business men of Wichita Falls, they are also invited to go on the second trip.

Leaving the courthouse here at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon July 9, the party will spend the night at the Boy Scout camp at Diversion lake. Swimming and fishing will be available to the tourists while at the lake, Mr. Wolf said, and those making the trip are requested to be prepared with bathing suits and fishing tackle. Friday morning the tour will continue to numerous points of interest, including the state experiment station near Iowa Park, where luncheon, the final meal, will be served.

A charge of $1.20 to cover the cost of meals will be made to those making the trip, with the exception of key farmers and county farm agents, who will be honor guests and whose expenses will be paid.

WHAT'S THE USE?

Citizens Oppose Income Tax Only With Grumbling

WASHINGTON, June 25. (AP)—The opposition of the average American to the amount of income tax levied by the government is confined almost entirely to a few growls.

The internal revenue bureau collects $24 out of $25 of income taxes without a contest—other than grumbling.

Mother Is Denied Custody of Child

Care of a 5-year-old girl from Burkburnett again was given to the Children's Aid society of West Texas Thursday by Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court pending a final hearing scheduled for July 8 when permanent disposition of the child will be ordered.

The little girl was brought to Wichita Falls with her grandmother recently when members of the sheriff's department raided a house in Burkburnett, confiscated a small quantity of beer and arrested the woman. The child since that day has been in the care of the aid society here.

The girl's mother, who was given a suspended sentence by a jury before Judge Martin several months ago on a charge of theft, secured a writ of habeas corpus Thursday in an effort to regain custody of the child. In opposing the process, County Attorney L. V. Abernathy introduced a letter allegedly written by the young mother to the grandmother, asking the latter to adopt the little girl.

The mother collapsed and became hysterical when the court's action returned the child to the aid society.

CLUB TOLD OF MARKET NEED

Rotary Urged to Support Produce Sales

Plans which have been advanced by the I. O. Boosters club for the establishment of a retail public market for farm produce here were discussed before members of the Rotary club Thursday noon by R. S. Fidler, Rotarian, and president of the I. O. Boosters organization.

Development of an extensive retail market here for the farmers of this community should be the serious objective of every local organization, the speaker said, and declared that the cooperation of all such organizations will be required to bring the fullest success to the project.

City control, with the market in charge of a city market master, should be established within a few months, Mr. Fidler said.

"If it is true that Wichita Falls is surrounded by a remarkable valley well suited to agriculture, then it is high time that our city aid in providing a market for the farmers' products," he concluded.

Paul G. Putty's election to the Rotary club was announced. R. E. Shepherd conducted a singsong, with Mrs. Shepherd at the piano.

REFINERY AT ANSON TESTED

First Plant Ready to Make First Runs

ANSON, Texas, June 25.—Jones county's first refinery, located nine miles southeast of Anson and two miles this side of Hawley on highway 30, owned by the E. W. Moutray Oil company of Abilene, will be ready in a short time for full operation.

The plant has already made its initial run and has been running some since in order to adjust the equipment, according to J. P. Bohannon, sales and plant manager.

The plant consists of several buildings for housing the various forms of equipment and an office that fronts the highway of the west, and represents an investment of about $25,000. The equipment consists of three pipe stills, three latest type bubble cap towers, all the working parts being new and of the latest design. The plant is being prepared for making the best and high test gasoline.

1,000-Barrel Capacity

The plant has a capacity of 1,000 barrels daily, and will depend on local marekts to be handled largely by independents and farm trade. The company will operate a filling station on the highway at the plant. The refinery is equipped for producing highest test and regular gasoline, special farm tractor fuel, kerosene, distillate, gas oils and fuel oil, and will not make lubricating oils and greases, but will wholesale them from their plant, Mr. Bohannon states.

Five to eight men will be employed in the operation of the plant, with C. R. Davis as chief operator.

Abilene Operator

E. W. Moutray, independent oil operator, resides in Abilene. He has wide oil interests, and was prompted to erect his refinery after having found good production on the Jane Hoytt fee immediately east of the King plantation.

The Moutray refinery will use the Hawley oil, and will pay the posted price, which is the same that prevails in Stephens, Callahan and other counties in this section, and which is taken from the Hawley field by the Humble Oil and Refining company pipe line, which also has a pumping station near and north of Hawley. The gravity of the Hawley oil is 38 to 38.9, and the present posted price is 37 cents a barrel.

TEXAS VETERAN ADMITS HOLDUP

Pampa Man Charged With Bank Robbery

WICHITA, Kan., June 25. (AP)—Police said they have obtained a confession from Wade E. Commins, 43, a world war veteran, that he and two other men robbed the First National bank of Augusta, Kan., of approximately $6,000 May 26.

The alleged confession, Joe Maness, city detective, said last night, was made in the presence of Sheriff Newt Purcell of Butler county. Maness quoted Commins as admitting the holdup was plotted while the three men were fishing and that afterward they went fishing in Santa Fe lake while posses searched for them.

Commins, whose home is in Pampa, Texas, said he was in Wichita at the time of the robbery awaiting payment by the government on his war compensation certificate. Mrs. Commins and their two children, he said, are at their home in Texas.
