New Revenue Source Vital, Says Connally

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally said today the 1967 legislature may have to find ways of raising more than $100 million in new revenue.

At the same time the governor told a news conference he hoped the new revenue would not have to include an increase in the present 2 per cent state sales tax.

"When I make my address to the legislature I will have specific recommendations for new taxes, and also for some new spending not in my budget," Connally said.

The governor stressed that his estimate of more than $100 million new revenue included the $65 million gap between his 1968-69 budget submitted to legislators last week and the expected income for the next two fiscal years.

Connally also said William F. Carter, public information officer for the Texas Department of Public Safety since 1959, would become his press secretary on Jan. 1. Carter will succeed George Christian who left Connally's staff to become a White House aide and will become press secretary to President Johnson Feb. 1.

Connally refused to say what other state spending he would ask outside his recommended budget which calls for expenditures totaling $911 million from the general revenue fund, in the face of only $847 million estimated income.

The governor did say the emergency appropriations he will ask on the opening day, Jan. 10, probably would be less than $10 million. There has been speculation he would ask approval at once of appropriations for state participation in the 1968 HemisFair at San Antonio, for Texas water development, for the Texas College Coordinating Board, and to help increase nursing training facilities.

Connally said he had not yet made up his mind if he would ask an increase in state college tuition, as recommended by the coordinating board.

He also said he had not decided if he would make a specific recommendation concerning public school teacher salaries.

He said he was meeting with a delegation of Texas mayors again today and would make some specific recommendations to the legislature designed to ease city financial problems. Connally said he had not changed his stand against the state allowing cities to levy their own sales tax although he was still studying the problem.

Connally said he would ask again for four-year terms for the Texas governor—"whether it applies to the incumbent or not."

He said he would support an increase in pay for state legislators if his request for annual sessions is approved.

The governor said he would receive sometime today a report from the special committee he named to look into food price increases in Texas and hopes to be able to tell some of the recommendations at a scheduled Wednesday afternoon news conference.

Goodfellow Donations

Today is the last day for making application to receive aid from the Snyder Goodfellows, according to an announcement by I. E. Martin, chairman.

"We have over 200 applications," he said, "and we wouldn't have time to process any more. However, if there was a special case, we probably could handle it."

The Goodfellows still need contributions of cash, toys and clothing during the final few days. Latest contributions boosted money received to near the $2,000 mark.

Jet Fuel Overturns At Carswell AFB

FORT WORTH (AP) — Two railroad tank cars filled with volatile jet aviation fuel overturned today after a derailment near Carswell Air Force Base.

A faulty valve on one of the overturned cars caused a steady stream of fuel to pour onto the railroad spur track just south of Carswell on the west side of Fort Worth.

There were no reported injuries.

Johnson Tackles 2 Big Budgets

By FRANK CORMIER

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson wrestles with the big space and agriculture budgets today as he swings into a full schedule of official conferences at his Texas ranch.

Summoned to the President's home near Johnson City, 65 miles west of here, were Budget Director Charles L. Schultze, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Director James E. Webb of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

For the current year, Johnson proposed budgets of nearly $7 billion for agriculture and $5.1 billion for NASA.

The budget the President now is working on, for presentation to Congress next month, covers the 12 months starting July 1.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will be at the ranch Tuesday, presumably to help nail down some of the final details of the new defense budget, expected to total nearly $70 billion.

The total budget will likely run around $135 billion.

The budget, however, is just one of two major documents Johnson is preparing for Congress. The other is his State of the Union message — a broad outline of his goals and plans for the country's future.

Johnson also faces in the next few weeks a decision on whether to increase taxes. Some economists believe a tax hike is needed now to bring federal income and spending into closer balance and to dampen inflationary pressures.

Others, however, feel an increase in taxes now, when some economic indicators are turning mushy, would only promote a recession.

Other problems facing the President include the future of his "Great Society" programs, including social welfare and other domestic efforts; the question of the military draft and future defense projects.

Seating Bids Are Opened

Scurry County Commissioners late this morning were preparing to open bids on permanent seating equipment for the county coliseum, which is now under construction.

Permanent seating will be installed in the building around the arena on risers which are now being constructed.

Representatives of several firms which have submitted bids on seating equipment were here for the bid opening.

Hanoi Area Revisited By U. S. Air Raiders

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. warplanes returned to the Hanoi area with clearing weather over the Red River Valley today and attacked the Ha Gia fuel storage area 14.5 miles north of the North Vietnamese capital, a U.S. spokesman reported.

It was the first air strike around Hanoi since heavy strikes in the area last Tuesday and Wednesday. The U.S. Command said foul weather had forced U.S. air raiders to concentrate on North Vietnam's southern panhandle.

In the South, the United States continued beefing up its troop strength with the arrival of a guerrilla-trained brigade of the 9th Infantry Division — the old outfit of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in South Vietnam. He was on hand to greet them.

Ground fighting tapered off to small-scale skirmishes.

In the new raids in the Hanoi area, a U.S. spokesman in Saigon said, initial pilot reports indicated all the ordnance from the U.S. planes hit in the target area.

The pilots reported sighting Communist MIG jets in the area of the fuel dump, but preliminary reports disclosed no exchange of fire.

The raids last week set off a series of Communist charges that homes were bombed in Hanoi, killing women and children.

The United States denied that any bombs fell on the Communist capital. U.S. officials speculated that the Communist ground fire — missles and antiaircraft shells — may have fallen on the city. Also there was a possibility U.S. bombs and rockets fell accidentally on nonmilitary targets, as frequently happens in aerial warfare.

The raids last week were five and six miles from the center of Hanoi, spokesmen in Saigon said. The targets were railroad and truck depots, though Communist broadcasts insist the Communist Chinese Embassy and the Romanian Embassy in Hanoi were damaged.

The spokesman said seven flights of U.S. Air Force planes participated today in the Ha Gia fuel storage raid. A flight normally consists of three to five aircraft.

U.S. planes flew 92 strike missions Sunday in southern portions of North Vietnam.

U.S. headquarters in Saigon reported American plane losses over North Vietnam had reached 450. This included four planes not previously announced. A U.S. spokesman said these had gone down out of sight of the enemy, indicating they had crashed in the Gulf of Tonkin or in Laos.

The spokesman also announced that 144 American planes have been lost in action over South Vietnam.

Vietnamese military headquarters reported the Viet Cong mounted eight small-scale ground assaults and mortar attacks up and down the country. One mortar attack on a Vietnamese infantry camp 23 miles northeast of Saigon killed three children, a spokesman said.

Other action reported:

— B52 bombers struck twice today at North Vietnamese staging areas and supply points just south of the demilitarized zone in Quang Tri Province. The raids were the third and fourth in the area within two days and apparently were aimed at wrecking a new buildup by infiltrating North Vietnamese troops.

— Seven miles north of the demilitarized zone, the destroyer Maddox intercepted 20 cargo junks, destroyed three and damaged four with five-inch gunfire. The attack was part of the Navy's new Operation Traffic Cop against supplies moving by sea from North to South Vietnam.

— Four U.S. Navy "Swift" boats fought a short, close-range gun duel with an estimated company of Viet Cong ashore in the Mekong Delta Sunday.

IN TEXAS CODE

Attorneys To Ask Change

DALLAS (AP)—The District and County Attorneys' Association of Texas will recommend 11 sweeping changes in criminal procedure laws to the 60th Legislature, the Dallas Times Herald reported today.

Five recommendations, which were announced in September, would deal with the new Texas Code of Criminal Procedure.

The other six are to be in regard to the Texas Penal Code.

The Code of Criminal Procedure, enacted by the last legislature, has come under varying degrees of fire from a number of prosecutors and police officers, especially in its restrictions on confessions.

The recommendations include:

An amendment which would allow the admission of oral confessions in criminal trials.

A provision whereby the trial judge—in all cases except those where the death penalty is sought—would assess punishment and determine the sentence. (Current provisions allow the defendant to choose weather the judge or jury will assess punishment.)

A change in parole regulations whereby any person convicted of a felony would be required to serve one-third of the maximum sentence imposed or 20 calendar years, whichever is less. (The present code allows parole after serving one-fourth the maximum sentence or 15 years.)

A provision to strengthen current laws under which two or more persons charged with the same offense may be tried together.

The addition of a new statute which would allow police officers to detain for two hours any person whom he reasonably suspects is committing, has committed, or is about to commit a felony or breach of the peace. (At present, suspects must be taken before a magistrate immediately.)

Reds Approve New Budget

MOSCOW (AP) — The Supreme Soviet gave unanimous approval today to the state budget and economic plan for 1967. It called for the highest level of Soviet military spending in more than a decade.

The Soviet Union increased its defense budget by some .8 per cent this year to a total of 14.5 billion rubles.

A ruble equals $1.11 at the official exchange rate.

The total Soviet budget for 1967, slightly revised since it was presented Thursday, calls for a total revenue next year of 110,245,925,000 rubles and expenditures of 110,015,201,000 rubles. Both are records.

The Supreme Soviet ended the session, that opened Dec. 15, without acting on any major changes in the Soviet hierarchy.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, the Soviet defense minister long rumored ill, did not attend any of the parliamentary sessions. Unconfirmed reports before the session said the Supreme Soviet would approve Malinovsky's retirement, but he apparently kept his post.

He went to California briefly in 1917 during World War I, but returned to settle down in Scurry County on a farm near "Wheat" which had a post office about two miles northeast of Hermleigh.

Mr. Caffey was a member of the Church of Christ and the Masonic Lodge.

Invasion Of Fun Due In Vietnam

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The GIs in Vietnam are getting ready for a Christmas invasion, and some of it should be fun.

Bob Hope commands the largest task force of invaders, but the bare legs and jokes of his troupe will share the spotlight with Billy Graham, Francis Cardinal Spellman and several congressmen.

Evangelist Graham and the Roman Catholic archbishop of New York both have scheduled trips to military installations and will conduct some religious services.

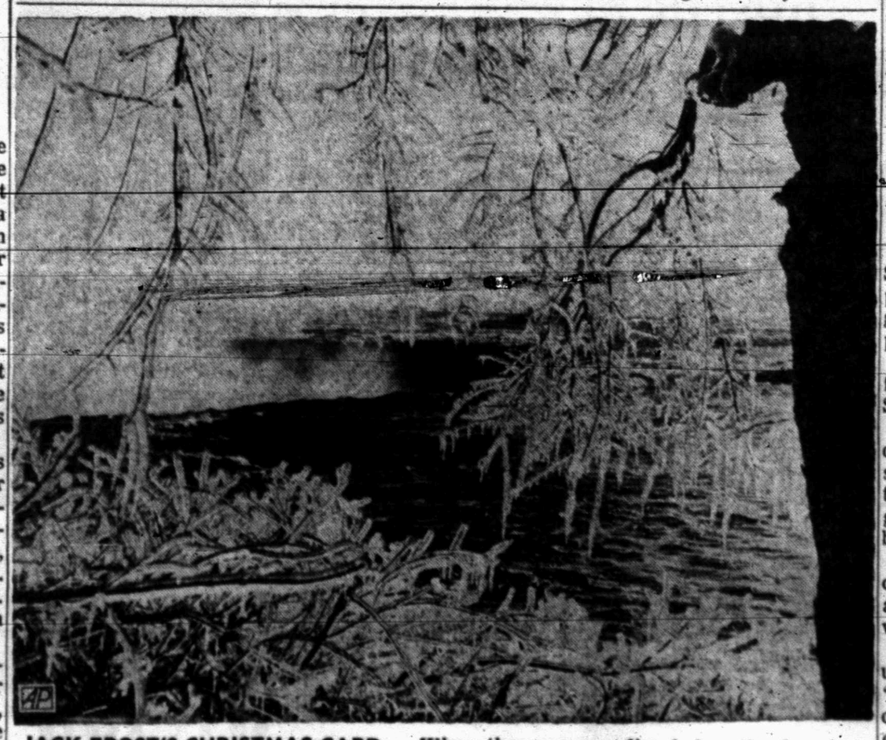

Hope left Los Angeles Friday with his 69-member fun company for his 15th annual Christmas tour and his 25th journey to entertain American servicemen.

Hope's troupe also includes Phyllis Diller, Joey Heatherton, Anita Bryant, Les Brown and his band, and the Korean Kittens. They will perform in Vietnam, Guam, Thailand and the Philippines.

Gen. Earle Johnson, U.S. Army chief of staff, also will be in Vietnam this week. But the average soldier will be a lot more interested in Chris Noel, a 26-year-old disc jockey who is in Saigon to attract attention for her program. Her 36-24-36 dimensions, mini-skirt eight inches above the knee, green eyes and blonde hair attracted considerable attention on the street Sunday. She will be on the armed forces radio all this week.

Author John Steinbeck also is visiting with troops and four members of Congress are expected to remain for the holidays — Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Reps. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., George W. Grider, D-Tenn., and Lera Thomas, D-Tex.

Although both sides have proclaimed 48-hour cease- fires for Christmas and New Year's, some of the GIs will miss the visiting VIP's because they will be on watch-posts with eyes peeled for an unwanted Viet Cong visitor.

Lad Learns Hard Way

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Stealing Christmas trees doesn't pay—especially when you try a getaway in a police cruiser with policemen as chauffeurs.

A 16-year-old Dearborn youth found this out—the hard way—Sunday night.

With pals parked in the rear of a store in a white car, police said the youth sneaked around to the front of a supermarket, grabbed a tree and scampered back.

But a white Dearborn police cruiser had pulled up in the rear and the sneak-thief's pals had vamoosed.

Panting, the 16-year-old ran up in the darkness and said, 'Let's get out of here before the cops come.' The cops, it turned out, were in the front seat.

The tree went back, youth-delivered. The youth was police-delivered into custody of his parents.

Jesus Was A Carpenter Of Nazareth

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

IN A STEADY RHYTHM, the axe rose and fell, biting into the base of the tall sycamore Every two strokes, one swing ing sideways and the next slicing downward, sent a fat chip flying. He rarely missed.

It was an instinctive skill, born, shaped and seasoned into Him by upbringing and years of toil. He was a "naggar," as His native Aramaic termed it, joiner, builder and worker of wood.

Breathing hard, Jesus stepped aside as the tree swayed with that slow, cracking groan, as if in a final desperate protest against the gash tearing at its heart, and then it fell with a roar and lay silent.

The sun rode low, past the eighth hour. He trimmed off the limbs and lifted one end of the log, levering it on His bare back until He got it balanced across His shoulders behind His head, and then He started home.

It was good timber, cut after the autumn's last growth when the sap was down. A craftsman respected his materials. That was far more than the oppressors of Israel did for its people, even when they were pliantly submissive.

"If they do this when the wood is green," He would later observe, "what will happen when it is dry?" When revolt did come, Caesar would crash it with massive destruction. Already many had died, and thousands of Jews, including children, had been shipped to Rome as slaves.

Tradition says that for about 20 years, from the time Jesus became a "son of the Torah" at 13, until He was 33, He had worked at His trade, handed down from the old woodworker, Joseph, who had died shortly after the young man's bar mitzvah, his coming of age.

He evidently had taken over support of the family, including His mother Mary, and it was hard but worthy labor. They were of "low estate," as she once described it, poor but devoutly responsible.

Under pressures of making ends meet, He watched against waste. In later days, Scripture notes that He twice had His men gather up scraps of food "that nothing may be lost."

He was a saver, in the deepest sense.

He was familiar with patched clothes, pointing out that the patch ought to be shrunk like the garment or it would rip loose.

He also understood the necessity of having to borrow bread from a friend's house to feed an unexpected hungry guest, even thought the hour was late and it troubled the friend to have to dress and come down to unbar the gate.

Nevertheless, "Ask, and it will be given you," Jesus advised. "Seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened unto you."

From the valley, sinking now in shadows, it was a long, hard climb up the mountainside to Nazareth. He struggled along under the weight of the tree trunk, its bark digging pits across His sinewy back, gnats swarming about His face.

Sometimes, probably, he snaked the logs up the mountain by burro, or hired cutters for it. In subsequent remarks, H showed keen familiarity with an employer's duty to laborers, and of the forethought essential t construction contracts.

"For which of you, desiring to build a tower, does not first sit down and count the cost. . .? Otherwise, when he has laid the foundation and is unable to finish, all who see it begin to mock him, saying, "This man began to build and was not able to finish."

He also maintained, in a parable regarded as depicting His own great-hearted ultimate role, that a householder had a right to pay his men more than they earned, to fill needs of the scantily employed as much as the full-time jobholders.

"Do you begrudge My generosity?. . . the last will be first, and the first last."

The woodworking shop in Nazareth must have included the usual tools of that region and period — wedges, knives, awls, drillbits worked with a bow string, measuring rods, plummets, set-squares, bronze nails and the multipurposed adze.

Here the raw timber was split, planed into boards and made into tables, threshing floors and cabinets, or carved into wheels, yokes and ploughs - farm items for which Jesus was especially noted, according to ancient legend.

It was strenuous labor of the deft hand and accurate eye, of sweat, straining muscles and aching fatigue, of callused palms, throbbing bruises and the sweet sleep which only heavy exertions can bring.

Jesus turned out dependable workmanship; He was highly regarded, increasing in "favor with God and man," as Scripture puts it Such a reputation among fellow townsmen indicates he was a fair dealer, reliable in filling orders, considerate in His charges, prompt in paying for supplies.

On business in the market - place, the identifying mark of His trade was a woodchip stuck behind an ear; dyers wore a colored cloth, weavers a large bone needle thrust in front of their tunics. Scribes carried a pen.

Besides handcrafting items, woodworkers also built houses, erecting frames, securing limestone and basalt from quarriers for walls, laying rooftrees to hold up the reed wattling packed with clay to form flat rooftops.

Out of practiced experience, Jesus could speak later of the fool hardiness of building a houses on sand, where it would collapse from flood and winds, instead of on rock, where it would withstand the elements.

Although generaly esteemed, He had a singularly independent turn of mind, calling Him beyond His own clan livelihood. It was a mission which He asserted He could not do "on My own authority," regardless of how wise or able.

". . . I seek not My own will but the will of Him who sent me."

Distractions tugged at Him, coaxing Him to use His capacities for personal aggrandizement. He was tempted, Scripture says, an affectionate, proficient, vital man, fond of children and home life, tempted to push his own interests, yet foregoing it to give Himself to others.

"This is My beloved Son in whom I am well pleased," came the divine confirmation to Jesus at the age of 33, to the carpenter who carried the heavy trees up the mountainside and who said, "My yoke is easy, and My burden is light."

To ease that burden for others, at the anguished pith of existence, was the dominant chord within him; to bring rest to "all who labor and are heavy-laden" - even though it would mean shouldering a rougher tree - the cross

Yet the woodworker always oved wood, the smell of it, the touch, the scaffolding it gave to the human habitat. Heaven itself, as He once described it, was like a tree nourished in the good earth, like a tiny seed springing up until it became a great sheltering monarch, a homing place for all the creatures of the air - one that would never fall to a man's axe.

And at the last, the crack carpenter of Nazareth, the man of the hard arms, the quick hands and sure eye, said He still had a construction project to work on. "I go to prepare a place for you." It would be "house of many rooms," firmly anchored, well - proportioned, built by a professional.

Book Dispute May Not Go To Court

By GEORGE ESPER

NEW YORK (AP) — Spokesmen for two publishers involved in the dispute with the Kennedy family over publication of the book, "The Death of a President," disclosed today that efforts are being made to settle the matter out of court.

The disclosure followed a statement by William Manchester, author of the book, denying that he had broken faith with Mrs. John F. Kennedy or that he had taken advantage of her confidence in him. The book is about the assassination of President Kennedy

"There are continuing efforts to patch things up," said a spokesman for Harper & Row, Publishers Inc., which plans to bring out the 300,000-word hardcover book in April.

"Every effort will be made to work things out," the spokesman said. "There are always the author's rights and her rights."

Asked if the aim might be to reach some understanding on the separation of deeply personal matter, which Mrs. Kennedy seeks to keep out of the book, from what is considered history, the spokesman replied: "I think that is pretty accurate."

A spokesman for Look magazine, which plans a four-part, 80,000 word serialization of the book starting with the Jan. 10 issue, said:

"Discussions between the lawyers representing the two sides in the dispute are continuing.

The New York Times reported that in Washington, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., brother of the late president, charged that Manchester "now intends to go ahead in violation of the word of his agreement, the spirit of his arrangements and despite the pain he knows it will give Mrs. Kennedy."

Oldtime Dessert Makes Holiday Festive

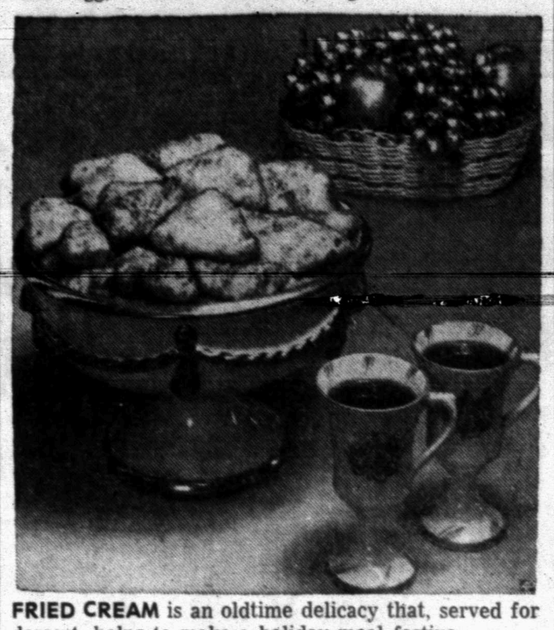

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A FASCINATING dessert called Fried Cream has delighted eaters in a number of countries over the years. In our own country it is particularly popular in southern states.

FRIED CREAM

1-3 cup sugar
4 tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
4 egg yolks, slightly beaten
¾ teaspoon almond extract
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 egg, beaten
1½ cups soft breadcrumbs
About 1 quart corn oil for frying

In double boiler top thoroughly stir together the sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in milk, keeping smooth. Cook and stir constantly over boiling water until well thickened. Cover and cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally; increase cooking time to 15 minutes if glass double boiler is used. Slowly stir hot mixture into egg yolks, then return to double boiler top. Cook and stir constantly until rethickened - about 2 minutes or 3 minutes for glass double boiler. Remove from boiling water. Gently mix in almond extract, vanilla and butter. Pour into 8 by 8 by 2 inch baking pan. Cool 5 minutes. Gently cover surface with plastic film-do not press down hard. Refrigerate until firm, at least 4 hours or overnight. Invert pan on lightly floured board to remove cream mixture. Cut into 16 two-inch squares, then if desired, cut each square into 2 triangles. Dip each piece into beaten egg, then breadcrumbs. Pour corn oil into sturdy, flat-bottom kettle or deep fryer, filling utensil 1-3 full. Heat over medium heat to 375 degrees. Fry cream until golden brown - -1½ to 2 minutes. Drain on brown paper or paper toweling. Serve warm. Makes 8 servings.

FRIED CREAM is an oldtime delicacy that, served for dessert, helps to make a holiday meal festive.

Better Than Usual Suspense

SPANISH DUET. By Francis Clifford.

What a wide range we find among novels that fall into the category of "suspense." Most of them are concerned with detectives, spies, warfare and desperate adventure. This book is different.

Here are two short novels that the publisher puts into the suspense classification, no doubt on the ground that both of them have a nerve-tingling element that requires resolution. But they are quite diverse from the usual formulas.

The first novel is "Time Is an Ambush." The setting is a samll Spanish village, where an English novelist named Tyler is just starting an affair with the wife of a German tourist. Suddenly her husband is found dead in a flood; but he had not been drowned; he had been shot. Tyler, because of his interest in the wife, becomes the natural suspect.

So Tyler, agonized to find that the dead husband is a greater love rival than when he was alive, has to seek out the German's real identity in order to clear himself. That leads him to a bitter story of the Spanish Civil War, and the question of whether he can betray his dead rival to the widow.

The second novel, "The Trembling Earth," is about an earthquake in a small Spanish village. There is little damage except that the bell in the church tower is shaken loose, and is about to crash earthward.

To meet this emergency only three people are available - an inept, nervous priest, an aged, frightened sacristan and a very young factory clerk - a faltering believer - who is caught into the dilemma because he loves a girl of the village. There is a clock-ticking fight to prevent the bell's disastrous fall. In the telling, there are overtones of primitive belief and disbelief.

Clifford is a good novelist who should not be lumped in with the usual suspense writers. He is better than that. In these two contrasting stories he gives the reader a pair of well-written tales.

Oatmeal Icebox Cookies

1¼ cups sifted regular flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
1-3 cup butter or margarine, soft
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 cup quick - cooking rolled oats

Into a mixing bowl, sift together the flour, salt and baking soda. Add the soft butter, sugar, egg and vanilla. Beat until smooth — about 2 minutes. Stir in chocolate pieces and oats. Divide dough into 2 parts. Shape each part to form a 9-inch roll. Wrap rolls in plastic wrap and chill several hours or overnight. With a sharp knife, cut in ⅛-inch slices Place several inches apart on ungreased cookie sheets — cookies will spread. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 3 dozen.

Mrs. Burrow Speaks At Ira P-TA

The Ira P-TA met in regular session Thursday at 3:40 p. m. in the school study hall with 25 members present. President, Mrs. Pete Sterling opened the meeting by leading the group in the pledge to the flag.

Christmas tree chairman, Mrs. Robert Erwin, reported that seven trees were purchased for the school rooms. Mrs. Sterling reminded all members to send in their nominations for district officers by Jan 15.

Mrs. Manley Burrow, third grade teacher, presented a program on "The Individual Learner Comes First." She told of several plans that were being tried in different parts of the country and some of the problems teachers and school administrators were seeking to solve, in order that each child could be taught according to his rate of learning. Mrs. Burrow also told how she was attempting to help the "Individual Learner" in her own third grade. In her reading class, she has reading groups on different levels, but once each day she has each child read to her from a library book on his level, so that he can read for enjoyment, and at the same time be gaining knowledge. In her spelling class, each Friday, students are given "surprise" words and they learn to look for them in their daily reading. In conclusion, she said that we in a small school have an advantage in that the teachers are able to give each "Learner" attention, and therefore help him to gain his full potential.

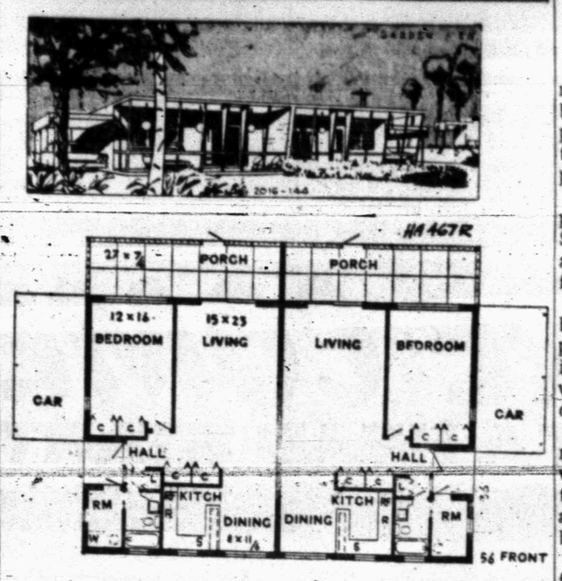

Delegates to P-TA State Convention in Austin, Mrs. Pete Hester, Mrs. J. D. Hooker, Mrs. Johnnie Wier, and Mrs. Jesse Grizzle, gave a very interesting and informative report on their trip. Each delegate thanked the unit for providing them the opportunity to attend, and urged all members to make a special effort to attend state conventions in the future when they have a chance, in order that they might be "informed and inspired to work with all P-TA members for the welfare of our youth." These delegates brought back much inspiration and enthusiasm to the unit.

The program was concluded with the unit singing a song from the convention, led by Mrs. Grizzle.

Good Mince Pie

2 cups prepared mincemeat
1 cup coarsely shredded peeled tart apple, not packed down
Finely shredded rind of ½ medium or large orange
Flaky pastry for 2-crust 8 inch pie

Lightly mix together the mincemeat, apple and orange rind. Line 8-inch pieplate with pastry; add mincemeat filling; top with pastry strips in lattice fashion. (Use directions in any comprehensive cookbook for rolling out and adjusting pastry for a lattice-top pie.) Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven for 30 minutes or until pastry is brown. (If pastry edges tend to get too brown in your oven, place a strip of foil around edge of pie when it goes in the oven, removing foil toward end of baking time.) Serve hot or reheat.

Greater Boston Homocides Lists Gangland Slayings

By BERNARD GAVZER

BOSTON (AP) — Supt. of Police Herbert Mulloney shook his head. He had been around a long time, come up from the ranks, seen everything. But the handdrawn chart on the office wall reminded him there was always something new.

"Greater Boston Homicides' was printed at the top of the chart.

A rub-out list. It gave the name, place, time, background and manner of execution of men who had been killed in classical gangland style assassinations which were in vogue during the Capone heydey in Chicago.

"They are popping guys off like ping pong balls," says Mulloney.

The 40th name was entered on this chart of runaway gangland warfare the other day. The first entry was dated March 15, 1964. This amounts to one gangstyle slaying about every three weeks, a rate that challenges the record of Chicago or any other American city since World War II. Chicago had 15 in 1961, 14 in 1962, and a few others each year since.

Only a handful of the Boston murders have been solved, as is typical of gangland slayings.

Is Boston the new murder town, U.S.A.? Are the hoodlums involved in a grim roulette in which anyone's number may suddenly come up, or is there a Mr. Big, a Capone-come-lately, calling the shots? What's behind this epidemic of beatings, shootings, stabbings, torture?

The comparison to Chicago rankles many proper Bostonians. They have visions of Prohibition era days that seem right out of grade B movies: The streets turned into shooting galleries as speeding black limousines pass a target, guns blazing; strutting gunmen so impudent they'd calmly kill a marked man on a busy public street; assassins skilled in bizarre murders, such as dumping a man into a lake with his feet embedded in concrete

But what happened to Samuel Lindenbaum and Stephen Hughes at 1:45 p.m., Sept. 9, 1966, in adjacent Middleton, was not from a movie scenario. They were driving along Route 114 when, according to witnesses, "a long black Cadillac or Lincoln" blasted away with five shots, and a second black car pumped in a few more armor-piercing rounds, killing both men.

Lindenbaum was listed in police files as a jewel robber and a loan shark, and Steve Hughes as a rackets strong arm man. Four months earlier, Steve Hughes was shot five times when he and his brother, Cornelius, were ambushed in Revere. Connie Hughes was killed.

The cool, cold-blooded gunman who isn't afraid to put away a victim in broad daylight was at work at 7:57 a.m., Oct. 21, 1965, when he confronted Edward (Punchy) McLaughlin at a bus stop in West Roxbury. Punchy, who was on his way to the murder trial of his brother, George, was holding a brown paper bag with his one good hand. Most of the other hand had been shot away in one of two attempts to kill him during the prior year. The gunman at the bus stop calmly fired five shots at Punchy, scoring with each one. Punchy's bag contained a gun.

Wilfred T. Delaney, a tailgater — elsewhere, the term is hijacker — and Harold Hannon, a tailgater and armed robber, were fished from Boston harbor Aug. 20, 1964. Delaney had been beaten and dumped into the harbor, where he drowned. Hannon was strangled, trussed and thrown into the water. They were rubbed out, reportedly, for robbing bookie and burglarizing their homes. Another of the charted victims, Francis Benjamin, an armed robber, was decapitated May 4, 1964. William J. Treannie, a burglar and strongarm man, was found dismembered in a vacant lot Nov. 13, 1964.

"No one is arguing that these are not gangland slayings," says a man high in Boston official life, "but it's not fair to say these are Boston slayings. After all, most of them were slain or were found in towns outside the city." A technicality. If the first man to reach the moon was from West Roxbury, he'd be the pride of Boston, rather than disowned as was Punchy McLaughlin.

The touchiness is understandable. Before the wholesale gang murders started, Boston experienced a terror period during which the Boston strangler killed 13 women. A man now in an institution for the criminally insane has described himself as the strangler. The last strangulation was Jan. 4, 1964.

While the strangler was loose, many women felt vulnerable. The atmosphere is different in regard to the gang slayings. The feeling appears to be that so long as innocent citizens are not being shot, it's all good riddance. This despite the fact that one innocent bystander to a gang killing was shot and killed Nov. 15, 1965.

With the guns blasting away with such regularity, it would seem that the hoodlums must be after something.

The Boston area has that something in the form of bookmaking, loan sharking, rackets, tailgating. The flow of money attracts ambitious hoods.

Jack Ruby Remains In Serious Condition

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, the cancer-stricken killer of Lee Harvey Oswald, remained in serious condition today.

Officials of Parkland Hospital said Ruby suffered some discomfort Sunday when tubes were moved in his chest to drain off more fluid. Ruby was hospitalized Dec. 9 and what was first thought to be pneumonia was diagnosed as cancer of an advanced variety.

Ruby once sentenced to death for killing the man the Warren Commission named as the assassin of President Kennedy, has "been eating well and is getting out of bed at intervals," the hospital said. Ruby faces a new trial if he recovers.

Valley Trial Set Today

ROMA, Tex. (AP) — Eugene Nelson, organizer of a Starr County farm workers strike for a $1.25 minimum wage and the architect of a similar movement in California, is among 12 men who go on trial today on charges of blocking an international bridge.

Nelson, Bill Chandler and Antonio Orendain, all officials of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, are among a dozen men charged with obstructing a public bridge. The charges, misdemeanors, stem from an Oct. 24 incident at the bridge linking this Texas border city with Mexico.

Nelson said the bridge blocking was to protest the use of Mexican nationals to work in the fields of Starr County.

The five-hour demonstration saw the demonstrators block Mexican farm workers for four hours, then stop all traffic the last hour.

Bengals Grab 2nd Place At Brownwood

BROWNWOOD — The fighting Snyder Tiger basketball team lost a 61-55 thriller here Saturday night in the finals of the annual Brownwood Basketball Tournament.

Earlier Saturday, the Bengals qualified for the finals with a lop-sided 75-51 decision over San Saba in the second round.

The hosts pulled the game out in the last minute of play. It was close all the way as Snyder led 13-5 and 29-20 in the first two periods respectively. The Lions went ahead, 40-38, in the third period, and the final stanza was about as close as they come.

Tommy Bullard made the All-Tournament team for Snyder. He led local scorers with 23 points. David Davis, all-tournament for Brownwood, pitched in 23 points for the Lions, and Tony Mauldin registered 18. Rollin Hunter also was named to the mythical team for the Lions.

The closeness of the struggle is reflected in the figures. Brownwood outrebounded the Tigers, 40-33, but Snyder had fewer turnover--7 to 10-- than the Lions. Better shooting accounted in part for the Lion victory. The hosts connected on 26 of 45 for 55 per cent, and Snyder hit 24 of 62 for 40 per cent.

Eldon Woodward led Snyder rebounders with 11. He also led in this department in the first game with 8.

Leading only 14-13 after one quarter against San Saba, the Bengals began to find the range in the second quarter and took a 41-26 cushion into the dressing room. It was smooth sailing from there on as the Tigers hit 29 of 74 for 40 per cent, compared with 17 of 58 for 29 per cent by San Saba.

Snyder also led in rebounds, 43 to 25. San Saba was guilty of 10 turnovers while the Tigers lost the ball on turnovers only seven times.

M. C. Powell was leading scorer for the Black and Gold in the Saturday morning game with 16 points. Tommy Bullard pitched in 14 points. San Saba's Radon Keeney was high point man in the game with 17 points, and his teammate, Bob Millikan, posted 15 points.

The charges of Coach Ned Underwood host Odessa Ector in Tiger Gym Tuesday night. The program will begin with a "B" game at 6:15 p.m. Ector has an impressive record, having lost only twice in 12 outings.

Coach Underwood listed probable Tiger varsity starters as Gus Tovar, Tommy Bullard, Bobby Clardy, Langston Powell and Eldon Woodward.

Comanche won the Consolation trophy at Brownwood, and Breckenridge copped third place.

Robinson Has Gehrig Award

BALTIMORE (AP) — Brooks Robinson, third baseman for the Baltimore Orioles is the winner of the 12th annual Lou Gehrig Memorial Award, the chairman of the selection committee has announced.

Announcement of the winner was made Sunday by Chads O. Skinner, committee chairman.

"Brooks Robinson is not only a great infielder and a dangerous hitter," said Skinner, but he also "possesses a superb competitive spirit, exceptional physical durability, and personal qualities that make him an excepitonal credit to his team and to the game of baseball."

Phi Delta Theta, a national college fraternity that Gehrig joined while a university student, established the award.

Robinson was chosen the most valuable player in the American League in 1964. This year he was beaten only by teammate Frank Robinson in the MVP balloting.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale's Don Schollander, winner of four gold medals in the 1964 Olympics, wasted little time in celebrating his election to this year's AAU ALL-America swimming team.

Named to the team during the weekend, Schollander went out and set a Yale record in winning the 1,000-yard free style in 10:34.9 and also taking the 500-yard event in 4:50.4 in leading the Elis to a 71-33 victory over North Carolina State Saturday.

WINCHESTER, Mass. (AP) —The 11th annual U.S. Men's National Curling Championships will be held March 6-11 at the Winchester Country Club.

Irate Fans Throw Bottles At Officials

By DICK COUCH

Vince Lombardi hopes his football season lasts another month. So does Tom Landry. But Gerard Bergman may have just about enough for one year.

While Lombardi's Green Bay Packers and Landry's Dallas Cowboys looked forward today to their National Football League championship date Jan. 1 and a berth in the Super Bowl two weeks later, Bergman looked back on the most harrowing five minutes of his NFL officiating career.

San Francisco fans, angered by a wave of penalties in the 49ers' 30-14 loss to Baltimore Sunday, took it out on the officials — with Head Linesman Bergman the primary target — in the closing minutes.

First, a woman fan dashed from the stands, lifted the linesman's penalty handkerchief from his back pocket and raced away. Then after the officials ended the game 30 seconds early while fans pulled down one of the goal posts and swarmed over the field, Bergman was pelted with whisky bottles and knocked dizzy as he made his way to the dressing rooms.

Two Baltimore players and another official finally helped Bergman reach his quarters after he had been struck on the head twice by bottles.

There were 12 penalties called against the 49ers and nine against the Colts — for a total of 192 yards — in the fiercely played game for second place in the Western Conference. Four touchdown passes by Johnny Unitas won it for the Colts, who'll meet Philadelphia in the NFL Playoff Bowl at Miami Jan. 8.

Meanwhile, the Cowboys who clinched the Eastern Conference title Saturday when Cleveland eliminated St. Louis 38-10 struggled to a 17-7 victory over New York and the Packers, who nailed the Western crown a week ago, held off Los Angeles 27-23.

The Eagles earned the Eastern Conference berth in the Playoff Bowl by outscoring Washington 3-28 to finish in a second-place tie with Cleveland. They'll go to Miami because the Browns were there more recently — in January, 1964.

Elsewhere, Gale Sayers returned the opening kickoff 90 yards for a touchdown and then shredded Minnesota's defense for 197 rushing yards as Chicago drubbed the Vikings 41-28 and Bill Nelsen passed for 344 yards and two touchdowns in Pittsburgh's 57-33 romp over Atlanta.

In the American Football League, Buffalo won the Eastern Division title by thrashing Denver 38-21; Kansas City's Western Division champs topped San Diego 27-17 and Miami nipped Houston 29-28. New York whipped Boston 38-28 in a Saturday AFL game.

Broncos, Bobcats Take Grid Crowns

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The south, after being shut out for a year, returned to winners circle in Texas schoolboy football this season.

Bridge City and Sweeny won state championship to give the south half the titles and shunt east Texas to the sidelines after it had taken two championships in 1965.

The west rolled along with a repeat performance of two championships as San Angelo captured Class AAAA and Sonora blasted its way to the Class A crown.

San Angelo whipped fighting Spring Branch 21-14 for the top prize and it was a most opportune time. Because San Angelo was composed predominatly of seniors and Coach Emory Bellard will have quite a rebuilding job next season.

Only three starters will return at San Angelo. Spring Branch loses heavily but has better prospects of going back to the finals than San Angelo.

Bridge City also won at the right time. It beat McKinney 30-6 for the Class AAA championship with 22 seniors who had played together since the eighth grade. The big man was Steve Worster, who ran for almost 250 yards, scored three touchdowns and set up a field goal. It was mighty Steve's last game as a schoolboy.

McKinney also had a senior team and 10 offensive and nine defensive starters will be lost.

Sweeny beat Granbury 29-7 for the Class AA title but Granbury has the best prospects of making it to the finals again next year. Sweeny won't be entirely bereft of stars but it won't have as many good men as Granbury, which loses only six players from its 36-man squad.

Sonora climaxed an undefeated, untied season with a 40-14 victory over Schulenburg for the state Class A championship, with Laney Cook, its left-handed passing quarterback, as the big man. Cook departs but don't shed too many tears for Sonora. Laney's brother, J. V., was the backup quarterback and Coach Jerry Hopkins figures he'll step in very well come next fall.

If J. V. needs help there's still another Cook on the team. He's Jess, who played freshman football the past season.

BOSTON (AP) — Unbeaten Coryell, football coach at San ECAC Christmas Hockey Tournament.

The Big Red won the title Saturday night by edging Michigan State's defending NCAA champions 3-2 on Mike Doran's goal after 59 seconds of overtime. Bostn College took third place by blanking Northeastern 6-0.

Fullback Bob Apisa started only three games for Michigan State's 1965 football team but he gained 666 yards - most ever gained by a Spartan sophomore.

Buffalo Slips Into AFL Throne Room

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
By MURRAY CHASS

Hanging on a wall in the Buffalo Bills' dressing room is a facsimile of a check for $25,000.

Measuring about two feet by four feet and made out to John Q. Buffalo Bill, the check refers to the extra money each player on the American Football League champion could earn for the AFL title game and the Super Bowl with the National League champion.

The Bills can make the check negotiable. The Boston Patriots can't.

Buffalo and New York created that situation, the Bills beating Denver 38-21 Sunday after the Jets upset Boston 38-28 the day before.

The Bills' victory gave them their third straight Eastern Division title, one made possible when Boston lost. If the Patriots had won or tied, the crown would have been theirs.

Now the Bills will host Kansas City in the AFL championship game Jan. 1, with the winner expected to get about $6,000 a man. That winner then will advance to the Super Bowl in Los Angeles Jan. 15, and a victory there will be worth at least $15,000 a man.

The two-game total of $21,000 is slightly less than the check on the Bills' dressing room wall, but the check was written early in the season — after Buffalo had lost its first two games.

"I had it made up to dramatize the situation," Bills' quarterback Jack Kemp said. "A friend of mine suggested it, and I had my babysitters make it up."

Now the Bills can't wait to endorse it.

In other final regular season games Sunday, Kansas City defeated San Diego 27-17 and Miami edged Houston 29-28.

In the National League, Dallas downed New York 17-7, Philadelphia stopped Washington 37-38, Green Bay trimmed Los Angeles 27-23, Baltimore whipped San Francisco 30-14, Pittsburgh crushed Atlanta 57-33 and Chicago whipped Minnesota 41-28. Cleveland walloped St. Louis 38-10 Saturday.

Snyder 'B' Wins First At Fluvanna

FLUVANNA — Snyder B-team won first place in the Fluvanna Basketball Tournament with a perfect 4-0 record, and two Tabbies made the All-Tournament team: Mitch Rambin and Jerry Junarary.

Bobby Hall of Fluvanna also was named to the All-Tournament team along with two Buffaloes who tied for the honor: Joe Belew and Henry Contreras. The only other boy on the team was Tom Chorn of Hermleigh.

Hermleigh's girls won the championship of the girls division with a perfect 4-0 mark. Results of other teams in the girls division: Ira 3-1, O'Donnell 2-2, Fluvanna 1-3, and Flower Grove 0-4.

Making the All-Tournament team for the girls were forwards Rinda Bruner of Fluvanna, Jane Wall and Virginia Finch of Hermleigh and Connie Sterling of Ira; and, guards Nanette Bruner of Fluvanna, Mary Hudgins of Hermleigh, and Linda Vestal of O'Donnell.

Saturday results not previously reported in the boys division: Snyder 65, Ira 28; Hermleigh 70, Flower Grove 45; and Fluvanna 66, Ira 35. Other results in the girls division: Fluvanna 54, Flower Grove 22; Ira 41, O'Donnell 32; Hermleigh 52, Flower Grove 29; and Ira 45, Fluvanna 25.

Jodi Williamson pitched in 18 points to pace the Snyder boys. Jerry January contributed 13 points to the cause, and Benny Ward found the range for 12 points. Aaron Crawford was high point man for Ira with 11 points.

Bobby Hall turned in another impressive performance for Fluvanna with a 35-point production in the Ira game. Douglas White meshed eight points to lead the Bulldogs.

Neither Snyder nor Fluvanna had much trouble with the Bulldogs. Both teams leaped into first quarter leads and stayed ahead.

The Hermleigh-Flower Grove affair was a different story. The score was even, 15-15, after one period. Then Hermleigh took a 32-25 bulge at halftime and poured it on the Dragons in the second half.

All five Cardinals were in double figures: Tom Chorn 17, Ted Winter 16, David Creswell 14, Mike Peterson 13, and Danny Peterson 10. Don McMorris rang the hoops for nine points for Flower Grove.

In their last game, the Hermleigh girls built a 16-6 advantage in the first period over Flower Grove and steadily increased the margin. Jane Wall, Virginia Finch and Sharon Pieper led the Cardinal attack with 23, 18 and 11 points respectively. Pam Cave tossed in 19 points for Flower Grove.

Ira's girls overcame a 20-14 Fluvanna lead at halftime to ro ahead, 29-25, in the third period. The Bulldog girls proceeded to tally 16 points in the final stanza while the hosts went scoreless.

Connie Sterling and Pam Sallee pitched in 20 and 16 points respectively to pace the Ira girls while Sandra Stansell claimed high point honors for the Buffalo gals with 16 points.

Connie and Pam also sparked Ira over O'Donnell. Pam tossed in 19 points, and Connie tipped in 18. Linda James garnered 18 for O'Donnell. It was a close game in the first period as Ira went ahead, 10-9. Second half scoring also was even, but Ira won by outscoring the Eagles, 17-8, in the second frame.

Fluvanna outscored Flower Grove's girls in every period as Rinda Bruner rang the hoops for 25 points and Sandra Stansell meshed 20. Pam Cave collected high point honors for Flower Grove with 15 points.

Will Term's Final 2 Years Bring Back Dynamic LBJ?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — What kind of President Johnson will there be in the White House in these final two years of his first full term?

He seems different from the Johnson of most of the first two years.

For months now this extremely vigorous and aggressive man, an arm-twister and master politician, has been operating within a kind of half-light. He has been seen, he has been heard, but only occasionally.

This in itself is extraordinary. It is a switch from his earlier White House days when he would take to the airwaves two or three times within a week at the drop of a bomb in the Dominican Republic.

Within the past few months a change seemed to set in.

Instead of devoting every possible minute to campaigning for Democrats who needed all the help they could get in the November elections, he went off to Manila and toured East Asia for a couple of weeks.

It was a trip which, it seems reasonable to believe, could have been made earlier or postponed even until 1967.

Last week Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa told newsmen that Democratic state executives attending the National Governors Conference at White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., were almost unanimous in blaming Johnson's unpopularity and his administration's programs for the party's poor showing last November.

This isn't the only rebuff for Johnson. He has seen the public opinion polls show his popularity going down. Yet he seems to be doing no more to help himself, in a public relations way, than he did to help his party.

This doesn't add up. He is being criticized — although why this has started at this time is not at all clear — for the "credibility gap" in what is said by himself and his administration.

Johnson, an extremely sensitive man who in the past has hungered for public approval, smarts under this kind of criticism. But he isn't taking any action, at least publicly, to meet this, either.

Instead, he almost seems withdrawn. This could be explained, of course, on several grounds: after the elections he had some minor surgery, then he went to Texas to recuperate, then he had to get busy there on his whole program for 1967. He will hand Congress most of it when it returns in January.

But the explanation, sound as it is, seems a little unreal when Johnson's boundless energy rush for the microphone, dash to the television screen in other days are remembered. He always fought back. He doesn't seem to be fighting back now.

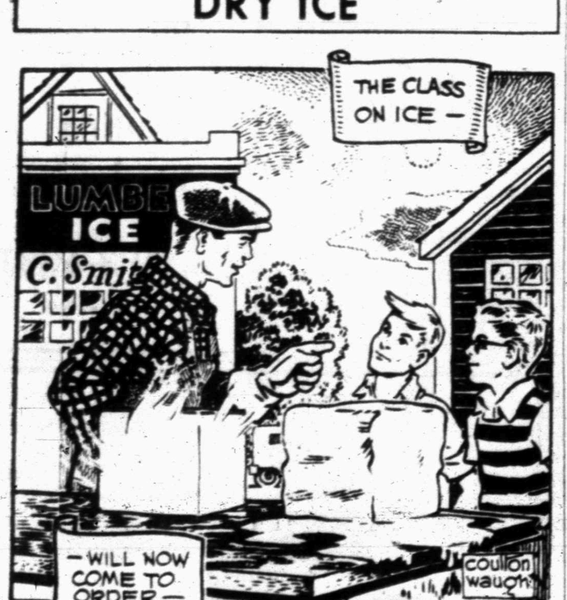

The question is: Will he fight back in 1967? He will have to if he intends to run again in 1968.

But he has a terrible monkey on his back, the war in Vietnam, which by the very nature of its unsolved, dragged-out condition is bound to cost him some popularity and confidence, no matter what else good he does.

And the cost of the war is bound to force him to cut down on domestic programs which, without the war, could be expanded. He has rough going all the way. But other presidents have had rough problems, too.

When all the handicaps of his problems are added together, they still don't explain why this dynamic man let his Democrats fend for themselves at election time, when he is the leader, why he has become almost silent, or why he is publicly doing so little to help himself.

Junior Editors Quiz on DRY ICE

QUESTION: Why is dry ice different from ordinary ice?

• • •

ANSWER: In our picture, a friendly worker at an ice plant has unwrapped a piece of dry ice and placed it alongside an ordinary piece. "Ordinary ice," he is saying, "is water in its solid state. When warmed, ice turns into water, and when this is heated enough, it turns into the gaseous state of steam. Molecules of water are also continually escaping into the air by evaporation. But dry ice is a different thing. Instead of being a combination of hydrogen and oxygen, such as water, dry ice is carbon dioxide in its solid state. It is so cold that if you tried to suck some, it could kill you. When warmed, dry ice does not change into a liquid, like ordinary ice, but turns directly into a gas. This means it is fine to use when shipping perishable foods; it keeps them cool without melting and without damaging wrappers. It is made by compressing and cooling carbon dioxide gas into a liquid; when some of this evaporates, we have a kind of snow. When this is compressed by machinery, the result is dry ice in solid form. Dry ice is often used for shipping frozen fish, since it doesn't thaw on the long journeys frequent in the industry."

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: The gas carbon dioxide is formed by burning materials containing carbon. Find out more about carbon, a vital and basic element. 12-19

Quotable notables: "Great wisdom consists in not demanding too much of human nature, and yet not altogether spoiling it by indulgence." — Lin Yutang.

The African female elephant is the most child-pampering of earth's mothers. She doesn't fully wean her infant until it is nearly 5 years old.

Bottle up that impulse to take too many drinks during the Christmas season. Nearly one out of every two fatal accidents at this time involves someone who has been imbibing.

Are you getting a regular payment from your Uncle Samuel? Some 34 million Americans are.

Folklore: If you find a handkerchief, don't pick it up for if you do the result will be tears of your own to wipe away. Bird feathers in a sickroom will delay the arrival of death. To cure rheumatism, wear an eel skin around your waist. To cure a sore throat, tie a piece of salt pork around your neck.

If actor Robert Preston is your dinner guest, be sure to wind up the meal with New Orleans pecan pie. That's his favorite dessert.

Worth remembering: "Trouble is only opportunity in work clothes."

In remote parts of the South Pacific it is reported that a wife can still be bought for the equivalent of $3 in cash. While this seems like a bargain, few of these wives have much of a trade-in value.

It was Mark Twain who observed, "In all my travels the thing that has impressed me the most is the universal brotherhood of man — what there is of it."

In winter an improperly dressed person will feel about as much pain at plus 40 degrees as at 40 degrees below zero. The nerves that register loss-of-heat pain are like fire-alarm bells that ring just as loudly for a small blaze as a large one

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Now that Christmas is nearly here, I want to air something that has irritated me for a long time.

It's people who don't send Christmas gifts anymore. Instead they send you a tacky card informing you that "a gift in you name" has been sent to THEIR favorite charity. That way they don't have to bother shopping for Christmas gifts, and all their "gifts" are listed as a deductible expense on their tax return. Pretty cute, if you ask me.

"WISE" IN NEW HAVEN

DEAR WISE: Sorry, but I disagree. I think one of the more civilized practices of recent years is donating to charity instead of sending extravagant gifts to people who already have more than they need.

Knowing that a contribution to a worthy cause had been made in my name would be "gift" enough for me. He who takes but never gives may last for years, but never lives.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Seven years ago I did a terrible thing. I had an affair with a man. His wife sued him for divorce, but they went back together again, thank God.

My wonderful husband forgave me, and we moved out of town. I have found God now and am leading a good life.

I am a teacher's aid at school. When school started last fall I found out that the wife of the man I had the affair with is our student counselor. She can ruin my whole life by telling the other teachers about my past.

Should we move again? The dear Lord knows I have suffered enough for my sins. I am getting very nervous over this. Please answer soon.

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: Hands off the panic button. Stay where you are for the present. In all probability she will not disclose your past because of her husband's role in it. Forget it and continue to lead the good life.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We have some friends whose teen-aged son was killed recently. Wanting to be of some help, I fried three chickens, wrapped them in aluminum foil and sent them to their home in a large cardboard box. I though that poor mother had enough on her mind without worrying about returning a fancy platter or tray.

A friend told me that I shouldn't have sent the chicken over that way--that it looked like I didn't "trust" the family to return my platter. Was I wrong?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: In my book you were extremely considerate to have sent the chicken in a disposable container. (Others could learn from you.) But I am wondering what kind of "friend" would be so unkind as to plant such a preposterous notice in your mind?

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO PAMELA P. — wherever you are. Please contact your mother to let her know that you are well. She is sick with worry. No questions will be asked.

Jury Clears Two Cubans

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two anti-Castro Cuban exile leaders have been cleared by a federal jury of charges that they tried to extort money from fellow exiles.

The 12-man panel returned its verdict Sunday night eight hours after beginning deliberations.

Dr. Orlando Bosch, 40, and his aide, Marcelino Garcia, 58, both denied writing or telephone threats to four wealthy Cuban refugees in attempts to obtain $20,000 for an anti-Castro war chest.

Bosch, is head of the Insurrectional Revolutionary Recovery Movement.

The group has arranged numerous air and ocean raids against Cuba, and its officials have been charged several times with violations of U.S. neutrality laws by arming in this country to make war on Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Bosch, a physician and once a lieutenant of Castro, went into exile over the Communism issue.

18 Die In Bogata Air Crash

By DANIEL HARKER

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — As "people started to scream and call for their children," a Colombian airliner crashed short of the runway while landing at Bogota in heavy fog Sunday, killing 18 persons and injuring 10.

Aerocondor Air Lines said the crash took the lives of nine Americans from Florida, five Colombians living in the United States and four other Colombians.

The airline said in Miami, Fla., where the flight began, that the Super-Constellation carried 54 passengers and 6 crew.

One survivor, Kay Tuttle, 23, of Crestline, Ohio, said passengers were told as they neared Eldorado Airport that the plane would land despite thickening fog.

She said the plane struck what she believed was dirt and swayed wildly from side to side.

"People started to scream and call for their children and the plane went into total darkness," Miss Tuttle said. The aircraft "seemed to break in two and many people were able to escape. I jumped out through an emergency exit."

She broke a leg.

'If the plane had caught fire we all would have been killed," she said.

Lynda Considering Acapulco Visit

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson is considering a pre-Christmas visit to the Mexican resort city of Acacpulco, it was learned today.

The 22-year-old daughter of the President and Mrs. Johnson, if she decides to make the trip, would spend a couple of days in Acapulco later this week.

Lynda spent a brief holiday in Acapulco a year ago with her frequent escort, actor George Hamilton.

Police Probe Jewel Theft

DALLAS (AP) — Police today investigated two jewel thefts at fashionable Dallas homes that bore some—but not all—of the earmarks of this city's famed thief known as the "King of Diamonds."

Police said a $9,700 burglary was discovered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Jaffe of northwest Dallas. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rolnick, next-door neighbors of the Jaffe's, took a look at their own jewels after they heard of the other theft. The Rolnicks found "several thousand dollars" worth of gems missing.

Officers said they were not ruling out the "King"—who has stolen thousands of dollars worth of jewels—but noted that he generally takes items left on dressing tables. The jewels at both households entered this weekend were from jewel chests.

Lockhart Man Killed

LOCKHART, Tex. (AP) — A semi-trailer truck overturned nine miles south of here on U.S. 183 early today, killing Bobby Joe Davis, 31, of Lockhart. Police said Davis was alone in the vehicle.

Advances Double Efficiency Rate

HOUSTON (AP) — Technological progress is improving the efficiency of oil recovery.

The domestic industry received a report last week indicating it now possesses the capability of producing 41.38 per cent of the oil it is discovering. This about doubles the efficiency rate of 35 years ago.

Paul D. Torrey, a Texas petroleum engineer and geologist, made the report before the Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

Torrey broke the current efficiency rates into two categories — for all the oil discovered since 1859 and for all the oil discovered since 1942.

Efficiency rates vary from field to field. Plush, uncontrolled production of the early days left pockets of unrecoverable oil in most reservoirs. The geologic characteristic of the various reservoirs also limited the amount of oil that could be produced.

Pumps have kept many wells alive but engineers for 40 years or more have sought other remedies based on scientific knowledge of the individual reservoirs.

Oilmen began forcing such fluids as water and gas into the reservoirs to help move the oil toward the wells. Years of study and experimentation have yielded tremendous results.

In 1960 a total of 5,734 fluid injection projects produced 733 million barrels of oil. In 1965 there were 8,421 projects in fields that produced 980 million barrels.

Now the industry is developing similar processes that will stimulate production from reservoirs unsuitable for fluid injection.

Torrey says the most promising process in this country are thermal methods in which heat is applied to oil reservoirs. Early results of thermal projects prompted him to forecast that a 59 per cent recovery efficiency rate may be nearer than the industry has anticipated.

Torrey estimates the industry since its birth at Titusville, Pa., in 1859, has discovered 404 billion barrels of oil, has produced 78 billion barrels and currently has proved recoverable reserves in excess of 49.4 billion barrels.

The combined production and recoverable reserves total 127.4 billion barrels, indicating a current oil efficiency recovery rate of 31.5 per cent.

Torrey said this rate, although factually correct, does not indicate the great advances in efficiency which have accomplished the production of oil under state control, particularly since World War II

"It is well known that much of the early production did not benefit from conservation practices, such as now regulate the production of oil in most of the states," he said.

"During these early years oil was produced wastefully and with no regard to future supplies."

This was the reasoning behind Torrey's study that placed the current recovery efficiency rate at 41.83 per cent.

He estimated that 224 billion barrels have been discovered since 1942, and the industry has produced 52 billion barrels and currently has 49.4 billion barrels in proved recoverable reserves.

The 101.4 billion-barrel total for production and proved reserves is equivalent to 41.83 per cent of the oil discovered since 1942.

Torrey said the eventual addition of potential reserves resulting from new fliud injection and thermal projects could boost this post-1942 recovery efficiency rate to 59.73 per cent.

He then said another study made earlier this year indicated an ultimate crude oil recovery factor of 65 per cent.

"It would seem to be reasonably certain that further improvement can be expected in future years," he said. "Therefore, an ultimate recovery of 65 per cent can be accepted as a plausible anticipation."

Jonsson Pushes City Sales Taxes

DALLAS (AP)—Mayor Erik Jonsson says a local sales tax is the "most equitable" means of raising new revenue and predicted that cities will seek permissive legislation despite opposition from Gov. John Connally.

"The Texas Municipal League is going to go right ahead and try to change the governor's mind," Jonsson said.

Connally told the League he has serious doubts about recommending the city sales tax plan to the legislature.

"I think the governor's position is based on the strong needs of the state," the Dallas mayor said. "But our own need is beginning to get urgent, too."

Cubans Warned To Keep Lines Orderly

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Christmas toys went on sale in Cuba today and Havana radio warned shoppers not to fudge in waiting lines, expected to be long.

Broadcasts monitored in Miami announced Commerce Ministry instructions on lining up in orderly fashion.

"Those elements which have been acquiring (preferred) turns in line will (find) these without value," the ministry warned.

Each child under 14 is entitled to three toys, the broadcasts announced — one costing more than $3 and two costing less. In addition, toys costing less than 30 cents will be sold without rationing.

SANTA AND THE GIANT FIGHTER

By Lucrece Beale

Synopsis: Billy makes friends with the dragon. He says if the dragon helps him to free the moon he can live in Santa Land forever. Together they stumble on the right words to open the MOON BOX.

CHAPTER THIRTEEN
GOKO IN A RAGE

"It's the magic word!" shouted the dragon. "Your own name has opened the box!"

Billy watched joyfully as the box opened wide and the big yellow moon bulged into the cave.

"How will we get it out!" he wailed. "We are three miles beneath the ground and it would never fit into the Go-Bucket."

"We'll go the way the giant brought me down here," wheezed the dragon.

He was wheezing because the moon almost filled the cave and there was very little room to breathe. He pointed to a wide staircase leading out of the cave. "Push it up there," he gasped.

Billy clambered into a corner and pushed and shoved the moon through the opening to the stairs. It was like trying to get a ballon through the eye of a needle. No matter how he pinched and twisted and tilted, edges of the moon kept bulging and swelling back into the cave.

Then the dragon put all his weight behind Billy and wham! the moon plopped into the staircase. Billy and the dragon squeezed onto the steps behind the moon. The dragon stepped on a button and the staircase started moving. They shot up faster than the Go-Bucket had come down and before Billy could catch his breath they reached the surface.

The moon burst out of the hole and sailed off into the sky

The dragon thumped his tail up and down. "Now do you think I can live in Santa Land?" he asked.

"I am sure of it," said Billy. "But you must make your way there alone for I am off to slay the wicked giant."

He put on the slippers the Harp Witch had given to Santa, waved goodbye to the happy dragon and strode away.

Meanwhile at the giant's castle all was pandemonium. Goko had awakened just in time to see the moon setting beyond the sea. He howled the castle awake. He tramped through the halls bellowing and squalling and smashing furniture.

When the other giants heard him coming they hid under their beds. They locked themselves in closets. They climbed up the chimneys. They covered under the piano.

It made no difference. Goko found them. He thrashed them with his club and bashed their heads together and threw them down the stairs.

They begged him to tell them what caused his displeasure.

"Idiots! Bunglers!" he roared. "You have let the moon go free. Now my life is in danger for the Fairy Queen said I would be slain by the light of the moon."

"But, master," quavered a quivering mouse of a giant. "We can catch the moon when it sets again tomorrow!"

"And what of tonight?" screamed Goko. "The moon will shine the whole night long!"

"But, sire," sputtered a second trembling giant. "The Fairy Queen said a boy will slay you and there is no boy here!"

"You are all boys!" shouted Goko. "You are pigeon-hearted, milk-livered pygmies, everyone!"

"Yes, your majesty," whimpered a twitching giant. "But the Queen said it would be a real live human boy and there's never been such a one in this land."

"True," snarled Goko, "and it will be your job to see there never is. Set guards at every door and window. You will get no food and no sleep until this day and night are over."

The giants nodded dumbly and stumbled away to guard the castle.

Soldier Gets High Award For Heroism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Lt. Walter J. Marm Jr., whose family had wondered what kind of soldier he would make, receives the nation's highest award for heroism today.

Sixteen relatives and members of Marm's family were to be present today when Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor presents him the Medal of Honor for courage during the battle of Ia Drang in November 1965.

Marm, 25, of Washington, Pa., is credited with killing 18 North Vietnamese soldiers firing on his piatoon at the foot of Chu Pong Mountain. He was wounded in the battle.

"To tell you the truth, I didn't know what kind of soldier Joey would be," Marm's father, Walter J. Marm Sr., said when President Johnson signed the citation last Nov. 16.

"He'd never been in a fight in his life," said the retired Pennsylvania state policeman. "I never knew him to be mad at anybody.

The day of the battle, Marm's platoon had joined a battalion assault into an elephant grass-cluttered gield near the Ia Drang River. As they advanced to their position, they came onto a clearing and suddenly were blasted by mortar shells.

One machine gun was firing from the side of a big anthill 50 yards in front of the platoon.

"The first thing I did," Marm recalled last month, "was fire a rocket launcher at the bunker. Then I took two grenades and an M16 rifle and went straight up.

"The enemy kept firing back and I told my men to hold their fire and kept advancing until I got close to the bunker.

"I pulled the pin of a grenade and just lobbed it over. After it went off I went around to the left, saw some movements and fired. I fired six times, but didn't know then how many there were. They told me there were 18, but I didn't know."

Marm, wounded by a bullet that shattered his jaw, spent the next three months at a Valley Forge, Pa., hospital. He now is an instructor at the Ranger department of the Ft. Benning, Ga., Infantry School.

Vietnam Under Inflation Threat

By KENNETH L. WHITING

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) —The threat of renewed inflation will hang over Vietnam's economy like storm clouds in 1967.

U.S. and Vietnamese officials expect prices to rise but hope to keep the increases within bounds.

Inflation is tied directly to the massive buildup of U.S. troops which began in April 1965. Wholesale prices have more than doubled since then.

One official estimate is that each new American soldier adds about $1,000 a year to South Vietnam's economy. This money goes into Vietnamese pockets and is soon exchanged for goods and services.

More than 365,000 U.S. troops are here now and more are expected. The final decision on the number of troops must meet battlefield needs while people on the Vietnamese home front clamor for stable prices.

One antiinflation tactic is to flood the domestic market with imported consumer goods to absorb excess purchasing power.

This effort has been hampered by snarled conditions in Saigon's sprawling river port. Warehouses have been jammed with goods, imports slowed by inept stevedoring, inadequate bookkeeping, and pilferage.

U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara visited the port in October. Since then the U.S. Army's 125th Terminal Command has moved in to supervise cargo handling.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky warns that those who interfere with port operations face the firing squad.

Importeres are being encouraged to take their goods directly "off the hook" at shipside. Warehouse fees are up. Goods in storage more than 30 days may be confiscated.

Some improvement in port efficiency is noted but much remains to be accomplished.

A crackdown on black-marketeering is accompanying a tightening of U.S. Agency for International Development bookkeeping.

Massive quantities of American goods had been diverted from intended channels into the black market and into Viet Cong hands.

Police confiscated and burned American goods in closing down the most notorious black market — "PX Alley" — just around the corner from the U.S. Embassy.

Drastic economic reforms in 1966, to curb inflation, included a 50 per cent devaluation of Vietnamese money last June. Steep new taxes were slappd on luxury goods. Prices jumped some 20 per cent after devaluation and then steadied.

Economists regard devaluation as a time-buying move. They hold that if prices remain relatively stable for eight or nine months it will have been well worthwhile.

Nine Around Dinner Table Means Happiness To Lohs

EDTOR'S NOTE — A family with seven children is large, but not unusually large. What is unusual about this family is that it is presided over by a benevolent dictator articulate enough to describe the joys, the problems, and the very special cohesion of one large American family.

By JULES LOH

NORTHVALE, N.J. (AP) — We hear it time and again: "Great Scott, seven! How does a family get by these days with seven children?"

Our wonder is how a family can get by with any less.

There may be some argument — although the vote would be seven to two, against — that we could somehow manage without the English setter, or Mitch the canary, or any of the various untamed creatures that find occasional lodging at our place, but certainly not without the seven. All seven.

Little people bustling about the premises, shoveling the snow, setting the table, changing the baby, sweeping the kitchen, making the beds — these are truly inspiring sights to a parent.

But doing the chores is not the only contribution a large brood makes to family life .That's the least of it.

Population experts can cite the cold statistics about large families; only a member of one knows about the warmth.

Nine around the dinner table really doesn't seem to any of us a great number. That was evident the other evening when one was missing, spending the night with a friend. One of the four girls, Maureen, I believe, who is 7, climbed up to the table, noticed the empty chair, and said, "Where is everybody?"

In numbers there is, if not security, at least comfort. Everybody likes everybody to be there.

In numbers there are also, of coufse, some adjustments to make.

This weekend, for example, we will not "put up" the Christmas tree. We will hang it. From the ceiling. So that it barely touches the floor. With seven kids, ranging in age from 13 to diapers, lurching around the living room on Christmas morning, we know better than to entrust an eight-foot tree to a three-legged stand.

In a large family life is a constant compromise but the results usually are salutary.

On Christmas morning a number of the gift tags will say "To the Loh kids." No first names. Each has a one-seventh share. Admittedly the Loh kids have fewer individual possessions than many of their small-family playmates but no Loh kid, as far as their parents can tell, has felt deprived or envious. And all Loh kids, I solemnly believe, gain something more lasting.

With seven children, six beds, three bathrooms — one out of order, two TV sets, one father, one mother, such qualities as patience, forbearance, generosity, are not thought of as idealistic virtues but elements of survival.

AF Sets New Record

SAIGON (AP)—The Air Force said today it set a record recently when it moved 4,000 paratroopers and 2,400 tons of equipment in 49 hours.

Brig. Gen. William G. Moore Jr., of Waco, Tex., commander of the 834th Air Division which set the record, piloted the first C130 Hercules to start the operation which moved the 101st Airborne Division's first brigade from Tuy Hoa to Kontum.

Moore's men flew 215 sorties during the 49 hours for an average of 4.4 sorties per hour. They used 12 aircraft.

"Before I had a chance to shut down the engines, loading crews had the first pallets aboard," Moore said.

"Loading plans called for four aircraft per hour at Tuy Hoa, but at times that figure was nearly doubled thanks to the splendid cooperation between the Air Force and Army men working on this airlift," he said, "the operation went off like clockwork."

Suspect Held In Slaying

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Police arrested a suspect today in the mutilation stabbing of a 77-year-old San Antonio woman, found dead in her public housing unit apartment Sunday.

Officers said charges would be filed today in the slaying of Mrs. Violette O. Rowland, who died from 37 stab wounds.

Homicide detectives said a man was arrested and admitted the slaying. Officers said the suspect had been advised of his rights, booked and held for murder charges.

Mrs. Rowland's body was found about 10 a.m. Sunday by her grandson, Jack Elliott, 27, of San Antonio.

Elliott said he came to her apartment to return her car, which he had borrowed. Mrs. Rowland lived alone, police said, and always kept her doors locked. Officers found no signs of forced entry.

Elliott said he saw Mrs. Rowland alive at 10 p.m. Saturday when he borrowed her automobile.

Police said the room in which the body was found showed no signs of a struggle, except for two overturned drinking glasses.

Bell Names Foreman Here

Kelley Farrell Bowers, a teletypeman for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in Lubbock, has been named plant foreman for the company here.

Bowers, who began his telephone career as a cable splicer's helper, started in 1950. He was later named lineman at Lubbock and has also served there as a cable splicer, switchman and PBX repairman. He is married and has two sons.

Oilmen Hold Tulsa Meet

TULSA (AP) — Representatives of 12 unions with contracts with every major oil company met in Tulsa over the weekend to formulate a group to coordinate contract negotiations with the oil companies.

The chairman of the group, William Brandt of Bakersfield, Calif., said an interim committee will meet Jan. 14-15 in Dallas and prepare a tentative agenda for another general meeting in April at Kansas City.

Brandt said the 11 committee members represent all but one of the unions, which he said encompass about 100,000 petroleum industry workers.

Brandt said petroleum industry workers have lagged behind other industries in wages and other benefits, and that the industry has "successfully kept unions fragmented." However, Brandt said there is no plan to push for a "blanket contract" covering all workers in the industry.
