Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Tommy Hart of the Big Spring Herald is suspicious of those government people who keep on telling Americans how well they are doing.

"The government economic experts keep insisting we're not in a recession," Hart noted. "Perhaps not, in which case this has to be the worst boom within the memory of man. Of course, the people who are mollifying us with such statements are usually being paid a minimum of $35,000 per annum and drawing $100 a day for expenses."

Kim Pease of the Rotan Advance and Roby Star Record commented on television commercials in a recent column. One of his favorites, he says, is "the one by Del Monte where crazy Bill Cosby talks the kid into looking under the table at the donkeys. The most censored commercial in our house is the one starring Joey Heatherton for a mattress company. Most nightgowns cover more of the body than that dress she struts around in. I usually send the kids on a wild goose chase when this one comes on the screen," Pease confided.

The Colorado City Record noted that "For the first time in 15 years, Colorado City has a girls' team (basketball) this year. The last time Colorado City had girls in basketball was 1959 and that year, the local girls won district. A member of that team was Carol Sue Dakan. Now she is the coach of the local girls," the Record reported.

The present-day program got off to a rocky start, however, as the first game matched the C-City freshmen and Westbrook's junior varsity, with the Westbrook JV winning a 67-21 decision. The next night, the C-City girls varsity lost to Merkel, 36-13 and the JV lost to Merkel JV, 51-17.

"First night jitters hit the girls," said Coach Dakan.

And, according to the Farmland News, the first story-teller really doesn't have a chance:

"Two Texas farmers were always trying to outdo each other. So one told his son to 'go to Ezra and borrow his cross-cut for me to cut a watermelon.'

"Returning, the boy said, 'Ezra says he can't let you have his saw until this afternoon. He's only halfway through a cucumber.'" They had to be from Texas, of course.—WACIL McNAIR.

THREATEN TO EXECUTE HOSTAGES

Arab Hijackers Demand Release Of 13 Comrades

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Three Arab guerrillas holding 47 persons on a hijacked British jetliner in Tunis threatened to execute one passenger every two hours today unless 13 comrades jailed in Khartoum and Rome are freed, two newsmen allowed aboard reported.

But a Palestinian splinter group in Beirut identifying itself as the hijackers' command said its men sought the release of two comrades jailed in Holland, and unless it got them every Dutch, Belgian and Luxembourg hostage aboard the plane would be killed.

There was no immediate explanation for the difference between the demands.

In Rome, officials said there were no Palestinian terrorists held in Italian jails. But five guerrillas charged with plotting to blow up an Israeli jetliner in Rome in September 1973 were later freed from Italian jails and flown to Cairo.

Eight other guerrillas convicted in Khartoum, Sudan, of killing two U.S. diplomats and a Belgian envoy last year, were also later flown to Cairo. Reports conflict on whether the eight from Khartoum and the five from Rome are in prison, or merely under house arrest awaiting transfer to another Arab country.

The hijacking was attacked by the main Palestinian group, the Palestine Liberation Organization, which called it "a desperate attempt to defame the struggle of the Palestinian people and their armed revolution."

Three Palestinians seized the plane in the Persian Gulf sheikdom of Dubai late Thursday, then forced it to fly to Tripoli, Libya where it refueled. From Tripoli they diverted the flight to Tunis.

A stewardess and a porter were wounded when the hijacking began in Dubai, and there were reports two other persons were wounded during the flight from Tripoli to Tunis.

The hijackers' command, in Beirut, Lebanon, said, "We want our comrades Adnan Ahmad Nuri and Houssin Tamimah freed at once by the Dutch government. Otherwise we shall kill every Dutch, Belgian and Luxembourg hostage on the hijacked plane."

The command did not say how many such hostages were aboard the plane, which Dubai officials said carried 27 passengers, 10 crew members, seven cleaning men and three airport caterers.

"Our heroes must be released at once. They are to be flown to the Tunis airport. Otherwise the Dutch government will bear the responsibility for what will happen to the European hostages," the command added.

Service For Mrs. Ellington

Mrs. Lillie Bell Ellington, 84, of 1708 Twenty-eighth St. died at 12:45 a.m. today in Cogdell Memorial Hospital. She was born Aug. 21, 1890, in Coryell County and had been a resident of Scurry County since 1936. She was a member of the Church of Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Services are set for 4 p.m. Saturday in Bell-Seale Chapel with Lee Brooks in charge. Burial will be in Snyder Cemetery, under the direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

She married William Joseph Ellington on March 20, 1907, in Wild Cat, Okla. He preceded her in death Aug. 29, 1949.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Sallie Jane Weager of Stockton, Calif. and Mrs. Estelle Pitts of Marana, Ariz.; five sons, Joe Ellington, B. C. Ellington and W. D. Ellington all of Snyder, Henry Ellington of Redding, Calif., and Rex Ellington of Fresno, Calif.; a brother, Roy Hughes of Mangum, Okla.; 14 grandchildren, 21 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Tigers Get Send-Off

"Football fever" gripped has held Snyder in its grip all week as the high school varsity Tigers prepared for their big bi-district playoff game with the Brownwood Lions at 8 o'clock tonight in Shotwell Stadium in Abilene.

Many of the downtown businesses and both local banks were to close about 4 o'clock today so their employes could get any early start to the game.

A big pep rally attended by Tiger Booster Club members and part of the general public was held at 1:05 p.m. today in the SHS gym, and parents of the team members saw the boys off at the field house at 2 p.m.

The Tigers were to eat a light (pancakes) pre-game meal at 4 p.m. at the Saddle and Sirloin Restaurant in Abilene. The after game meal was scheduled at the same place.

Over 2,000 tickets had been sold this morning here. These included 1,316 adult tickets and 720 student tickets. The tickets at $3 for adults and $1 for students were to remain on sale at the school administration building until 3 p.m. They will be $3.50 and $1.50 at the gate.

Military Bases Cut, Reshuffled

(See another story on Page 6)

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today announced a coast-to-coast reshuffling and reduction of military bases and headquarters that will eliminate about 11,600 civilian jobs and transfer 11,500 Army and Air Force personnel over the next 2½ years.

The moves are aimed chiefly at shifting about $300 million a year from support functions to increased combat capability. The uniformed personnel will be switched to combat and combat-related assignments.

The 111 "base realignment actions," as the Pentagon called them, will affect dozens of installations.

But only two major bases were ordered closed — the Army's Frankford Arsenal in Philadelphia and Ellington Air Force Base, Houston, Tex.

One congressional source said about half of the civilian employes offered transfers could be expected to quit their defense jobs rather than relocate.

Many Army, Air Force and Defense Supply Agency depots, laboratories and offices will lose manpower and womanpower, but some will gain.

Net losses will range from about 2,000 civilian jobs at the Frankford Arsenal to as few as a dozen in some small offices, officials said.

Beside the Frankford Arsenal, the biggest losers will be Ellington, Pueblo Army Depot, Colo.; Blue Grass Army Depot, Lexington, Ky.; Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome, N.Y.; and Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base near Kansas City, Mo. Officials said civilian jobs will be reduced by a net of at least 1,000 at each base.

The Navy is unaffected in this first significant round of base reductions since April 1973.

Advance word of the base cuts already has brought worried delegations to Washington. There always is opposition to base reductions, but concern appears sharper this time because of the nation's economic troubles.

To alleviate the problem, the Pentagon pledged that "every effort will be made to assist displaced civilian employes in obtaining other acceptable employment" in the federal government or private industry. Many career employes will be eligible for up to a year of severance pay.

In any event, many of the installations will not start to feel the effects until next summer and some of the actions will not be completed until mid-1977.

Ford Aide To Meet Churchmen

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — President Ford saw the biggest crowds of his life today and, pressed by critics at home, agreed to have an aide meet spokesmen for dissident factions who oppose the repressive rule of South Korea's President Chung Hee Park.

Press secretary Ron Nessen appeared in the hotel press center shortly before midnight to say that five clergymen representing Protestant and Roman Catholic groups would meet with Richard Smyser, whom he described as a senior member of the National Security Council staff, to hear the clerics' complaints.

Nessen said Smyser would stay over in Korea after Ford's departure to meet with the churchmen. The press secretary promised that whatever the clergymen told Smyser would be passed on to Ford.

The U.S. chief executive flew into Seoul this morning to an elaborate welcoming ceremony and a huge crowd lining the 10-mile motorcade route into the downtown section of the capital.

SETS SERIES OF MEETINGS

Gov. Briscoe Endorses Weighted Pupil Approach

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe today endorsed his staff's "weighted pupil" approach to state public school aid and announced a series of 60 meetings throughout the state to explain it.

Briscoe's special assistant for educational research and planning, Dr. Richard Hooker, devised the proposal and will take part in some of the meetings.

Three meetings will be held in each of the 20 educational service center regions.

"The weighted pupil approach is, in my judgment, the most flexible and realistic method we can adopt to guarantee quality education to our young people—regardless of their educational needs; regardless of the wealth of their communities. It will be a dramatic step forward in public education," Briscoe said in a statement.

Minimum Foundation School Fund allocations are made chiefly on a flat basis of so many dollars per classroom teacher unit. Under the weighted pupil approach, funds would be provided according to the amount of pupil time spent in various kinds of classes, with heavier weights given to certain expensive forms of instruction.

Hooker also has proposed the use of appraised values of taxable real estate as the standard measure of each district's ability to pay for its basic school needs. State aid would make up the difference.

Briscoe made no mention of that proposal in his statement, but Hooker has said the governor recognizes the necessity of using true market value as the basis for determining state aid.

In each of the service center regions, one meeting will be held for the general public, with the other two for school superintendents, school board members, legislators and members of the State Board of Education.

Briscoe said the response will enable his staff to put in final form the school finance recommendations that he will use as part of his program for the 1975 legislature.

Three separate sessions to discuss the proposal have been scheduled Dec. 9 and 10 for the Region 14, Education Service Center, which serves Snyder and other Scurry County Schools.

Dr. Ben Dowd, a state member of the Governor's Special Committee, will lead the discussions. The first, set for 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. on Dec. 9, is designed for PTA members and the general public. On Dec. 10, a session from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. will be a work session for school superintendents, and a third session, from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. is planned for local school board members. These meetings will be held in the Region 14 Service Center's main meeting room at 3001 North Third Street in Abilene, said Dr. Thomas Lawrence, the region's executive director.

Extortion Plot Is Foiled

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — An extortion plot went awry today when the victim slugged his captor at the First National Bank, leaped a teller's counter and crashed through a glass door to safety.

The man's wife and daughter were rescued by police at a southside residence minutes later.

Police said John Raymond Morrow, 29, told them a pair of men forced their way into his home earlier today and "slapped me around a little."

One of the men forced Morrow to accompany him to the bank while the second extortionist took Morrow's wife, Dorothy, 28, and daughter, Tania, 8, as hostages to a nearby residence.

Police said Morrow and the man entered the bank where Morrow was instructed to write a check payable to Morrow's captor. While Morrow was making out the check he whirled, slugged the abductor on the chin, leaped a teller's counter and crashed through a glass door, cutting himself.

Police said the hijacker also fled.

Candidate for "heel of the year"

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to nominate my ex-husband for "Heel of the Year." I divorced him 15 years ago, so he could marry another woman. At the time we had a five-year-old son and a three-year-old daughter.

After the first year he forgot all about child support. I had a good job, so I never [illegible]ded him.

Last year, our son enlisted in the Air Force. Five months later he was killed in a training accident.

Abby, that boy saw his father maybe a dozen times in the last 15 years. His father never remembered his son on his birthday or Christmas either.

Guess who showed up at our son's funeral? His father! Now for the unbelievable part: my ex-husband told me at the funeral that he was "entitled" to half our son's G.I. insurance. (The insurance was made out to me.) I told him where to go, and he said he plans to sue me. And he probably will.

Have you ever heard anything to equal that?

SHOCKED IN CHICAGO

DEAR SHOCKED: No. But if any of my readers have, they'll probably let me know. Does anyone else care to nominate a candidate for "Heel of the Year?"

DEAR ABBY: My brother and his wife are secretly married. My husband and I stood up for them. Brother is 31, and Ellen (made up name) is 27.

Brother and Ellen do not live together. She lives with her parents and he has his own apartment.

Ellen has not yet told her parents that she is married, and she has given my brother orders not to give away the secret. I think she's ashamed of him, which really upsets me because he is a super guy.

They finally told my parents. Abby, they've been married a year. Last week my parents had a little anniversary celebration party for them. Her folks weren't invited because they still haven't been told about the marriage. It was all so one-sided and weird.

I cannot understand why Ellen won't tell her folks. Neither she nor brother has been married before, there is no racial or religious conflict and my brother doesn't have two heads. In fact, he is very handsome. What do you make of this?

"B" IN SAN MATEO

DEAR "B": I don't know Ellen's reason for keeping her marriage a secret, but whatever it is, it's not your problem. It's hers and your brother's.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because although I am on good terms with my doctor and have known him for years, I am ashamed to ask him this question.

Ten years ago my husband died. Last year I fell in love again, and the gentlemen is five years younger than I am. I am 53.

For the last 30 years I have had no menstruation, having had my menopause completed at age 53. Can you please tell me if there is any possibility of my becoming pregnant now? I am in good health and do not look anywhere near my age. (I'm told I look about 60.) Do not use my name or location please.

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: No danger.

DEAR ABBY: What can you do for a guy whose new wife suddenly gets hung up on country and western music to the point where she won't listen to any other kind? She knows I hate it. Every radio in the house is tuned to those hillbilly singers. I've been going down to the corner tavern to hear some decent music on the jukebox.

LASSOED

DEAR LASSOED: Get yourself a pair of pick-toed boots, jeans, a yoked shirt, a roll-brim hat, and do-si-do and away you go!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Wemken Rites Set Saturday

Funeral service has been set for 10 a.m. Saturday at the Church of Christ in Dunn for Johnnie Wemken, 49, who died Wednesday in Fort Worth. Mike Ezzell will officiate, and burial will be in the Dunn Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A former resident of Dunn, Mr. Wemken was a native of Scurry County and had lived in Fort Worth since 1968. He was a veteran of World War II, having served in the U. S. Navy.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Sherrill Wemken of Fort Worth; four sons, Dorman Wemken of Snyder, W. D. and Forest Wemken, both of Fort Worth, and J. W. Wemken III serving in the U. S. Navy; his father, J. W. Wemken Sr. of Hermleigh; a sister, Mrs. Frances Herrley of Snyder; and one grandchild.

Seaman Vows To Stay In US

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Former Russian seaman Anatoli Sverdlin, now sailing with Israeli papers, vowed he would remain in the United States after his ship sails today.

It would be the second time Sverdlin jumped ship in four months moving from one country to another.

He was aboard a Soviet vessel off Belgium when he first jumped ship. He asked to be sent to Israel.

Sverdlin, 42, appeared at Beaumont police headquarters Wednesday seeking politici asylum. Immigration Service investigators returned him to the Israeli-flag ship Har Sinai, however.

James J. O'Keefe, deputy district director of immigration in Houston, said regulations state political asylum may be granted only to immigrants who would face persecution in the country to which they are returned.

"This is not the case of Sverdlin," O'Keefe said.

Sverdlin nevertheless vowed to remain behind when the Har Sinai sailed at noon today.

If the vessel leaves without him, the only alternative is for a hearing before an immigration board, O'Keefe said.

The Har Siani's master said he could not stop Sverdlin from leaving the ship but the Israeli government would not approve.

Sverdlin said his mother is Russian and his father Jewish. When he left Soviet jurisdiction, he lost his citizenship.

In the four months he has lived in Israel, he has not become a citizen, although he obtained traveling papers for shipping purposes.

A fellow seaman said Sverdlin, despite having Israeli papers, really has no place to go.

Sverdlin told newsmen Thursday that he talked by telephone to his wife and she had not received any letters he mailed to her in the Soviet Union containing money.

He said the Red Cross was unable to assist because of his classification as a defector.

STILL CLIMBING—Consumer prices increased nine-tenths of a per cent in October, compared with a 1.2 per cent hike in September, the Labor Department reported Thursday. The Consumer Price Index in October stood at 153.2. That means consumer goods costing $100 in 1967 now cost, on the average, $153.20. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Privacy Bills By Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has approved bills designed to crack down on the government's use of computerized information to snoop on Americans.

The Senate, by 74 to 9, and the House, by 351 to 1, approved similar measures Thursday.

Under the Senate version, federal agencies would be required to disclose their use of personal data, set minimum standards for handling such information and create a Privacy Protection Commission to investigate violations.

The House, with only Rep. Earl Landgrebe, R-Ind., in dissent, approved essentially the same legislation but omitted the commission provision.

The bills will be sent to a conference committee for reconciliation of the differing provisions.

Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., and his son, Rep. Barry M. Goldwater Jr., R-Calif., won approval of their amendments to curb the growing use of Social Security numbers as part of a universal identification system.

The Goldwater amendments would prohibit any federal, state or local government agencies from denying any benefit or right to a citizen because of his refusal to disclose his Social Security number.

Panel May Conduct Bell Probe

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The chairman of a state Senate subcommittee said today his panel might conduct its own probe of allegations made in a San Antonio suit against Southwestern Bell.

Sen. Ron Clower, D-Garland, said he intended to talk to Pat Maloney, attorney for the plaintiffs, this afternoon about making witnesses and material evidence available to the committee.

He also aid there was the possibility the committee would subpoena, or ask the attorney general to obtain through a letter of visitation, evidence that remains in the hands of the Bell system.

Clower's Senate subcommittee on Consumer Affairs is making a study of whether the 1975 legislature should enact a law putting telephone companies and possibly electric utilities under state regulation.

Clower also told reporters that "more shoes are about to drop" on utilities besides the telephone company.

"Similar to this Bell suit?" he was asked.

"I think so," he said, adding that any developments that might occur would be brought out "in the next couple of weeks."

The suit, filed by the family of the late T.O. Gravitt, manager of the Bell system for Texas, alleges he was hounded into committing suicide because he refused to go along with deceitful rate-setting practices and political entanglements. Also a plaintiff in the suit is James Ashley, a dismissed company executive.

Material evidence that has been alleged to exist include two sets of company books—one for use in seeking rate adjustments from local governments and one for internal use—and tape recordings of conversations about political slush funds.

"What I am interested in is that all these things that Maloney requested remain intact and not be destroyed," Clower said when asked about the possible subpoena or letter of visitation.

Drug Official Criticizes Judge

DALLAS (AP) — A federal drug official has criticized U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice of Tyler for giving what the drug official says are lenient sentences to drug offenders.

Arthur Fluhr, deputy regional director of the Drug Enforcement Agency in Dallas, said Thursday the judge's sentences have frustrated law enforcement officers.

"Why am I putting agents on the street, where they put their lives on the line, only to have a judge let off a convicted heroin dealer with a sentence to urinate 520 times in a bottle?" Fluhr asked.

Fluhr said he received word this week that Judge Justice had given Dwayne Shane Thomas, 20, a five-year probated sentence for sale and possession of heroin. A condition of the probation was that Thomas give a urine sample to a medical official twice a week for the next five years. The urine test can detect heroin use.

"This is just an advertisement for other drug dealers that they're going to get a free ride in the courts for their first offenses," Fluhr complained.

He said that when Thomas was arrested in Sherman Dec. 19, 1973, he struck a female drug agent on the head with a gun and fired shots at two other agents.

"I can understand the need for compassion in handling the many problems brought before the court," Fluhr said, "but we believe the courts should provide punishment appropriate to the offense. We cannot have a revolving door and accomplish anything."

Fluhr said low bonds and light sentences handed out by judges and magistrates have been "demoralizing" the law enforcement officers "who have to keep catching the same offenders over and over again."

The drug official added: "I'm not bloodthirsty. But I can't help but get exasperated when I see ridiculous sentences like this."

Tremor Shakes South Carolina

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — An earthquake shook sections of eastern South Carolina early today, awakening scores of residents. There were no immediate reports of injuries or major damage.

The National Earthquake Information Service of the U.S. Geological Survey said the magnitude of the quake about 12:26 a.m. EST was computed at 4.5 on the Richter scale.

Some residents reported pictures were shaken from walls and bottles and other items shook from the earth vibrations.

A reading of 6 on the Richter scale can represent a severe tremor and a reading of 7 is a major quake, capable of widespread heavy damage. Every increase of one number in the Richter scale, which measures ground motion as recorded on seismographs, represents a tenfold increase in magnitude.

ON THE HOME SCENE

By Dorothy Ann Humphrey

UNDER COVER STUFF

You spend one third of your life in bed. By the time you reach the three score and ten the bible allots, that comes to 204,400 hours not counting extras like having colds or babies. If you want to spend that large a chunk of time in comfort you need the right kind of blanket.

One that's big enough to keep you under cover no matter how much you twist and turn, warm enough to be cozy; light-weight enough not to cramp your toes; soft enough to be cuddly and durable enough to last.

About size: the rule of thumb is to allow for a 10 inch tuck-in at the foot of the bed and a 12 inch to 14 inch overhang at each side. How many blankets depends on climate and individual preference. Usually two winter weight and two summer weight blankets per bed are enough but with an automatic blanket one per bed is sufficient even for zero weather.

Blankets come in a wide range of fibers from wool and cotton to a variety of manmade fibers and range in weight from light and medium to heavy winter weight.

Wool is very warm, takes a high nap, is long wearing and flame resistant. Special finishes prevent shrinkage and moth damage.

Cotton wears well, is moth resistant, doesn't have a high nap, requires a special finish to prevent shrinkage in laundry.

Blankets made of 100 per cent polyester, acrylic or modacrylic provide warmth without weight, are machine-washable and dryable, won't shrink, are non-allergenic, moth, mildew and flame-resistant, and usually treated with a finish to reduce shedding, matting and pilling.

Blankets of 100 per cent rayon are relatively inexpensive, lightweight, moth resistant but will shrink or stretch unless given special laundering care and are flammable.

Today the tendency is away from 100 per cent rayon blankets. Blends, usually of a synthetic fiber such as polyester, acrylic or nylon with rayon, are more serviceable.

When you're shopping for a blanket look for one with a firm, even underweave and firmly attched nap. The underweave can be checked by holding the blanket to the light. Thick and thin spots indicate poor quality. Nap should be of good depth and density.

Thermal blankets are made with or without nap. The weave, which resembles a loose crochet stitch, traps air in the fabric and forms an insulation that keeps body heat in.

Automatic blankets are of two kinds: one with a thermostat that stays at a given temperature regardless of temperature changes in the room. Solid state control, on the other hand, regulates the heat flow and automtically adjusts to room temperature as you sleep. Solid state blankets should be machine-washed and dried or line-dried, not dry cleaned.

Satin, taffeta or velvet bindings made of nylon or polyester wear well. Bindings attached with a zigzag stitch are more durable than chainstitched bindings which tend to catch and ravel.

Brush or shake and air blankets frequently. Alternate blanket ends to distribute wear and prolong life. Don't tug at blankets, loosen and lift them. Blankets used daily should be laundered and aired at least once a year.

Cotton blankets, like any cotton, can be washed in hot water; practically all other blankets need special care. Avoid excessive washing action, strong soaps or detergents and water that's too hot which can shrink wools, stretch rayons and damage napped surfaces.

Launder only one blanket at a time. Depending on amount of soil, soak 15 to 20 minutes. Do not use bleach but add a fabric softener—there's a good one you use in the wash cycle—to reduce static electricity and keep your blankets soft and fluffy.

Dear Dorothy,

I have an asphalt floor that's gotten to be all pitted and rough. Can anything be done to make it look better?

Mrs. Mary Hanley
Shreveport, La.

Dear Mrs. Hanley:

Asphalt tile can be damaged, as you described, if harsh cleaners, strong soaps, scouring powder or solvents are used on it. These can cause it to become rough and pitted, and lose color, too. If the damage is not too severe you may be able to restore the floor's appearance by first smoothing out the roughened surface with steel wool (grades 1 or 2). Care should be taken so as not to remove the surface pattern. Then wash with a mild cleaning solution, rinse and apply a self-polishing floor finish like Klear or Future. If the pitting is quite severe, additional coats (applied after the previous one is thoroughly dry) may help fill in the valleys, level the pitted surface and enhance the color. Hope these ideas will work for you!

Wine Ups Body's Lead Content

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — That bottle of wine may make the perfect dinner. But it also might mean a tenfold increase in your body's lead content, a University of Idaho chemistry professor says.

Dr. Chien Wai said a research project which began in 1971 shows that wine bottles capped by a metal seal often contain one to two parts per million of lead in the liquid.

He said consumption of four or five bottles of wine sealed with metal caps over their corks can give the average person the equivalent of one year's accumulation of lead.

Wai said the bottles' soft metal seal contains 95 per cent lead. When wine is properly stored, with the liquid touching the cork, the alcohol can attack the lead, causing corrosion and diffusuion of lead back through the cork into the wine.

Wai said lead poisoning could occur in countries where the yearly per capita consumption of wine is as high as 30 to 50 gallons.

Father Tells Story Of Brain-Damaged Son

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It seemed almost like a miracle, recalls Rabbi Hyman Agress of his brain-damaged son Michael's Bar Mitzvah.

"Here was a child who at the age of 6 still couldn't speak, who seven years later got up and chanted in Hebrew in front of 200 people," he said with obvious pride.

The pride with which he now views his son is, he admits, vastly different from his feelings of shame, guilt and despair when Michael was pronounced brain-damaged at the age of 3.

"I went through a number of stages," said the spiritual leader of Temple N'nai Israel in Aurora, Ill., during an interview here. "First, total disbelief, a feeling of unreality, a sense that it was a nightmare and I'd wake up and realize Michael was fine.

"At last reality sank in and I suffered depression, a feeling of isolation, a feeling that my world had come to an end. But there were moments of a Pollyanna attitude when I thought a doctor would come along and say that some drug or operation would restore Michael."

Most of all, Rabbi Agress remembers, he kept asking himself the question, "Why me?" And "Why Me?" is the title of the book he has written on the battle he and his wife Frances fought to give their handicapped son as normal a life as possible.

A major problem was finding a school. Schools for the retarded refused to accept the hyperactive youngster and psychiatric institutes had long waiting lists. His parents had reached the point of desperation when they found the Grove School for Exceptional Children in Lake Forest, Ill.

"The wonderful director, Virginia Matson, took Michael that first day. She said she knew what a rabbi gets paid and that whatever I could pay would be fine. I cried after that."

To get Michael there Rabbi Agress or his wife had to drive an hour each way, but at the school he got what his father says are the two most important needs of such children — love and discipline. "You've got to keep reinforcing their love since they find it hard to accept affection. And permissiveness is very destructive. They need a sense of order in a chaotic world." Michael, who at 15 still has auditory and perceptual problems — he sees and hears but the messages get scrambled in his brain — is now in a learning developmental class in junior high school.

"He can't conceptualize and his math is poor," his father says. "He can't make change or tell time. But he is up to his age level in reading, though he still has difficulty with speech. He finds it hard to relate to other children and doesn't socialize. He knows that he's different."

It was to give him a sense of normalcy that his parents decided that Michael should have a Bar Mitzvah ceremony, for which he prepared by listening over and over to tapes.

"If he hadn't assumed his religious obligations at age 13 like every other Jewish boy it would have been another point of his difference," Rabbi Agress explains. "We also felt he should have a sense of religion. We don't hide from him that he's different but we let him know he's valuable to us, that he's precious to us like any other child."

The family, which Rabbi Agress says has been drawn closer by its experiences, includes Alexandra, 8, and Steve, 13, "who feels very protective and loving toward his brother."

Having long ago conquered his own feelings of shame, Rabbi Agress is active in helping those in similar circumstances, working with special education groups and speaking.

"I am trying to get the message over to others, which is one of the reasons I wrote the book," the soft-spoken author points out. "It's very important for parents not to feel alone. As you talk about it to other people you realize that shame is not a unique feeling and you don't have to be ashamed of your shame. The worst thing is to not talk about it, to pretend that the problem doesn't exist."

Rabbi Agress is convinced that children like Michael, given the right kind of help, can develop into useful citizens, take menial jobs and live happy, productive lives. "Our goal is to make Michael semi-self-sufficient, able to earn at least part of his livelihood," he adds.

And has the rabbi found the answer to the question, "Why Me?"

"Not completely," he concedes. "It didn't destroy my faith but it did create an enormous crisis in my religious life. There is no one and only answer, but as Michael developed and I saw how much he could do I realized God is there and gave me the courage and strength to withstand these trials. It has made a better person of me."

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

The United States has no national flower despite efforts by various groups to have one designated. It's up to Congress, but you have an opportunity to vote, unofficially.

"Every state in the union boasts of its own state flower, but the U.S. has no national bloom," says Bill Meachem, horticulturist. So he has launched a project to get the people — gardeners and otherwise — to suggest that Congress name a national flower "as a 200th birthday to our country by 1976" — the Bicentennial.

"It seems impossible to believe that this great country of ours can put men on the moon, but has not designated a national flower as so many other nations have done," said Meachem (Johnson Wax consultant).

Already there are bills before Congress proposing the rose as the national flower. The rose is already the national flower of England and Iran. But there is precedent for more than one country having the same national flower. Russia and Peru have the sunflower, which also is the state flower of Kansas. Egypt and India have the lotus.

In some countries, edibles substitute for flowers. Examples are the pomegranate in Spain and the leek in Wales.

Other national flowers are: kapoc, Argentina; golden wattle, Australia; poppy, Belgium; bellflower, Chile; narcissus, China; forget-me-not, Denmark; yucca, El Salvador; fleur-de-lis, France; cornflower, Germany; violet, Greece; twinflower, Sweden; shamrock, Ireland; chrysanthemum, Japan; tulip, Netherlands, and thistle, Scotland.

Some past suggestions in the U.S. were the marigold, violet, geranium, petunia, chrysanthemum, phlox, corn tassel, hollyhock, zinnia and azalea.

Your suggestions could be a tree or shrub or wildflower.

Want to cast a ballot? Write to Meachem at P.O. Box 3788, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017, and he'll pass the word to congressmen.

Leaves Useful

Leaves, after their splendid autumn show, become a matted mass which if not removed may smother grass and other small plants. You can put the leaves to work — improving the soil and protecting plants.

A few leaves may be raked with no difficulty or chopped up with your lawn mower. But thick layers of leaves on the lawn bar light and oxygen from the grass. If left there until spring they weaken or kill grass.

Leaves generally serve best as compost. As a mulch they blow away, lessening their protection. Oak leaves are good for a mulch since they decompose more slowly and being sturdier do not pack so tightly. They make a fine mulch around big plants with shallow, fine root systems, such as azaleas and rhododendrons.

Softer leaves, including maple, ash and poplar, mat more readily and block air movement to roots.

Because the plant withdraws starches, sugars and plant nutrients from the area before leaves fall, the leaves break down slowly when put into the compost pile. Fallen leaves are largely cellulose and it is this substance that makes them good soil conditioners when composted.

The leaves should be layered with soil and nitrogen should be added, about 12 ounces or ¾ of a cup of ammonium nitrate per bushel of leaves. Garden fertilizer 12-12-12 also is recommended.

If you have no space for a compost pile, layer leaves, fertilizer and soil in a plastic bag.

Show To Cover Carpet Care

"Dirt can cut the pile and increase wear and tear on carpets," according to television hostess Cindy Kidwell of the "You Can Do It!" series.

Lessons in this week's half-hour program will cover carpet care when "What's Afoot in Carpet Care" airs Saturday at 4:30 p.m. on KLBK, Channel 13 (SCAT 13).

Sponsored locally by the Scurry County Family Living Committee and KLBK-TV, the 13-part educational television series was created and produced by home economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, through a United States Department of Agriculture grant, according to Miss Ruby Butts, county Extension agent.

Bulletins on any of the projects taught during "You Can Do It!" are available at no charge through the County Extension Office, at 573-3282, or 120 East Highway, Snyder, Texas., 79549. If you "sign up", they'll be sent to you automatically each month.

Next week's program will teach care and maintenance of kitchen ranges, the agent said.

Big Business Is Not Comfortable Today

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Except perhaps in terms of profits, these aren't very comfortable days for big business.

The utilities are under attack from customers, ecologists, politicians and others. The automotive companies are criticized for their pricing policies and polluting ways. The biggest railroad, the Penn Central, is being operated in bankruptcy. Some airlines are in a regulatory bind.

Health insurers know all about the troubles that bigness can bring. They are in a fight, as they view it, for their very existence, a fight that if lost might reduce them to mere clerks in a national health insurance program.

Nothing crystalizes the fight that big business is in more than the government's antitrust action against American Telephone & Telegraph, a company that serves 80 per cent of Americans and which is financially more powerful than most nations of the earth.

AT&T is the symbol. It is huge almost beyond comprehension. It employs more than one million workers. Its assets exceed $67 billion. It has raised its net income every year but one since 1947, earning $2.95 billion last year.

Whether the attacks against big business today are based strictly in the legalities—in an effort, that is, to preserve the pre-eminence of law over individuals or corporations—will continue to be argued.

Most of the attacks, from wherever they originate — consumer, ecologist, elected representative — eventually take a legal form. But this doesn't disguise completely the likelihood that political motivation might lay at the base.

To attack big business today seems to be good politics. A good portion of the public feels it hasn't performed as effectively as it should in holding down prices or in serving the public. It is too noncompetitive, too burdened with its own bureaucracy, too self-serving, the critics says.

While many companies consider themselves marvels of managerial and technological efficiency, the public often has a different attitude, viewing them as dinosaurs possessed of ravenous, ruinous appetites and selfish disdain.

With prices rising throughout the world, many people wonder whatever became of the "economies of volume" they had read about in Economics 1. The utilities grow larger and so do their prices. The carmakers, giants of industry, raise their prices almost as often as sugar processors.

The giants have difficulty explaining that if they must pay billions of dollars for ecologically desirable improvements, or improve their employe fringe benefits, or pay higher raw material prices they must pass some of the cost on to customers.

Jets Can Fly Without Boom

CHICAGO (AP) — Computer demonstrations have shown that supersonic flights can be made without creating a sonic boom that would be heard or felt on ground, United Air Lines says.

United said in a statement Wednesday the demonstrations show that when jets fly at slightly above the speed of sound, the annoying and sometimes damaging sound waves can be avoided.

Routes, speed and altitude were adjusted to weather conditions during the simulated flights so as to reflect the sonic boom back into the atmosphere.

United did the tests for the Kaman Aerospace Corp., prime contractor for the Federal Aviation Agency's supersonic flight studies.

The state flower of Colorado is the Rocky Mountain Columbine.

Transit Solutions Are Varied

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A bus propelled by passengers pumping on a set of pedals.

Put commuters into capsules and shoot them onto passing trains. Cushions on top of the trains would soften the landings.

A string of electromagnets to propel vehicles.

How do these ideas grab you as solutions to the mass transit problem?

They are among more than 12,000 responses to a nationwide advertising campaign by Atlantic Richfield Co. of Los Angeles, asking for ideas on public transportation.

Some are fantastic suggestions from children and others are seriously thought out proposals by business and professional people.

"There is some junk," said George V. Kriste, an Arco attorney who heads the team handling the mail. "But the percentage who take it seriously is very high—70 per cent to 80 per cent or more. The ideas may be obsolete, or far-fetched, but most are serious."

Arco says it will publicize some ideas and pass others on to appropriate government agencies.

A team of readers throws out ideas which are obviously impractical or already in use. Ideas that seem to have a glimmer of hope are forwarded to a second review board composed of graduate students in transportation and urban planning.

The ideas that survive the second screening go on to a panel of professors of urban planning, architecture and transportation.

Not all of the ideas are new. Robert E. Spaulding, a retired architect of Mount Prospect, Ill., sent in a drawing he did in 1930 when he was fresh out of college with no job. The drawing shows rail cars traveling high above city streets, suspended from guideways attached to building facades.

One man suggested that commuters use single-seat, wedge-shaped cars that could be rolled onto railroad flatcars from alternate sides and carried downtown.

A woman suggested that buses be built so the seats were quickly removable, turning the bus into a cargo delivery vehicle when rush hour was over.

Some letter writers are mainly interested in financing rapid transit. One suggestion was to use state lotteries to raise cash, while another was for the government to issue federal transit loans.

A number of letters contained no suggestions at all. They were from government officials in California, Oregon, Arizona, New York and Washington, D.C., asking to see the ideas the public has come up with.

Junior Editors' Quiz on LOCO-WEED

QUESTION: What is loco-weed?

* * *

ANSWER: Loco-weed is the common name for several herbs of the pea family. They have feathery leaves and small sweet-pea like flowers in clusters. They are native to the semi-arid and arid regions of the west. These deep-rooted perennials contain the narcotic locaine, poisonous to horses, cattle and sheep. The name loco is the Spanish word for crazy, and animals show many strange reactions after eating this plant.

Animals, especially horses, become addicted to the loco-weed. It depresses and debilitates the animals and distorts their vision. There is poor coordination of the muscles, a staggering gait and crazy actions such as leaping high over pebbles. Weakness and starvation ensue, followed by death.

Loco-weeds can be destroyed on the prairies by clipping the plants close to the ground, but they are persistent and require constant attention.

Tigers Whip Bobcats

The Snyder High School varsity basketball team, minus the services of six lads who still are competing in football, whipped the San Angelo Bobcats, 71-64, here last night in their first tilt of the season.

It was close most of the first quarter The Tigers held a two point margin with 1:34 remaining in the period, but a quick spurt gave them a 20-14 lead as the period ended.

Snyder, using a mixed zone and man-to-man defense, began to dominate the game in the second period and pulled out into a 37-26 halftime lead. They led by as much as 17 points in the third quarter and ended the frame with a 56-40 advantage. The Bobcats rallied in the fourth quarter and made the game close with a full court press.

Snyder led in rebounds, 40 to 18 with Charles Cobb collecting 11 and Randy Gressett 10.

The Tigers shot 53 per cent from the floor in the first half, hitting 15 of 28, and 52 per cent in the second half, putting in 13 of 25. The Bobcats hit 12 of 30 from the floor in the first half for 40 per cent and 18 of 29 in the second half for 62 per cent.

At the line, the Tigers put in 7 of 9 for 77 per cent in the first half and 8 of 16 for 50 per cent in the second half. San Angelo made 2 of 9 for 22 per cent at the line in the first half and 2 of 2 in the second half for 100 per cent.

Snyder actually won the game at the line, since the Bobcats led in field goals 30-28, but the local lads had a 15-4 edge in free throws.

Randy Gressett roped 22 points, and Chester Cobb, who made some fantastic shots, pitched in 21 points to spark the Tiger attack. Larry Johns also was in double figures with 17 points. The Bobcats had four men in double figures–Speer with 19, McDowell with 16, Glaspie with 12, and Fields with 11.

Fields was outstanding in the Bobcats' previous game, scoring 30 points, but Sid Perry did a great job defensing him and held him to only 11.

Coach Bob Moore said he was pleased the Tigers "hung in there" throughout the game. He said he liked their hustle and hopes they continue to play well.

Missing the game were football boys Dane Witherspoon, Welton Cobb, Roy Lee Carter, Kenny Thompson, Danny Brumley and Greg Gary.

San Angelo rallied in the junior varsity game to take a 55-52 decision after Snyder had led 14-10 after 1 quarter, 29-17 at halftime and 34-32 after three quarters. Roy Gill and Joey Arnold each pitched in 14 points, and Van Johnson roped 11 to pace Snyder while M. Brown, tallied 16 points, Pennington and L.Franklin each scored 12, and G. Brown posted 10 for the Bobcat JV.

The Tigers will be at Odessa High Saturday night for an 8 p.m. engagement following a 4:30 p.m. sophomore tilt and a 6:15 p.m. junior varsity clash.

Moore said he probably will start the same five with Johns and Gressett at post, Chester Cobb and Perry at wing, and Alderete at guard. Ragland and Eicke will be the first substitutes.

Ken Plumlee is coaching both the JV and soph squads until the football season is over. Probable starters for the jv Saturday are Joey Arnold, Roy Gill, Earnest Brandon, Joel McCommon and Van Johnson.

TIGER GUARDS—Two of the reasons the Snyder Tigers are in a bi-district football game tonight against the Brownwood Lions in Abilene are Roger Williams (62) and Jerry Derrick (63). Roger is a 165-pound senior guard, and Jerry is a 175-pound senior guard. Kickoff is on tap for 8 o'clock.

Dusters Win 3rd Straight, 85-29

The Western Texas College Dusters thrashed McMurry College's varsity, 85-29, in the WTC gym last night for their third straight victory.

The Dusters took a 10-0 lead on Baskets by Bobbie Jones, Melisa Taylor, Theresa Beal and Marilyn Payton and were ahead 40-19 at halftime. Coach Sid Simpson substituted freely throughout the game as the Dusters dominated it. They led in rebounds, 39 to 17, and hit 39 of 69 from the floor for 57 per cent and 7 of 10 at the line.

"McMurry was surprisingly weak," said Simpson, "Their girls never gave up though and were battling tooth and nail when they were 60 points behind. All of the Dusters played well."

June Sterling, play-making guard from Coahoma, injured her knee in the first quarter and had to be taken out of the game. She was to be taken to a surgeon in San Angelo today.

"The victory was costly," said Simpson "I'm concerned about losing the playmaking guard, but Rhonda Teel gives every evidence that she can step in and fill the void."

Simpson said the Dusters played much better offensively than in previous games, but that they still need to work on defense.

Rhonda Teel roped 18 points to lead the Dusters, and many of her shots were from a great distance. Sandra Jimenez and Bobbie Jones also hit in twin figures with 14 and 12 points, respectively. Lynn Condren led McMurry with 10 points.

"We'll really get tested Saturday," said Simpson.

His girls meet a strong Temple Junior College team at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Alpine.

Temple was ranked third in the nation in women's junior college teams at the end of last season, and they have eight returning lettermen off that team.

"They're averaging over 80 points per game," Simpson said. Their victims this year have been Texas Women's University and Weatherford Junior College.

Coach Simpson said he probably will go with the same starting alighment that has resulted in three straight victories this season with Bobbie Jones and Theresa Beal at post, Marilyn Payton and Melisa Taylor at forward, and June Sterling at guard.

Bobbie is a 5-11 freshman from Clint, Theresa is a 5-10 freshman from Coahoma, Marilyn is a 5-11 freshman from Lubbock, Melisa is a 5-7 freshman from Gail, and June is a 5-4 soph from Coahoma.

Other girls ready for action are Sandra Jimeniz of Victoria, Debbie Sharp of Wylie, Judy Simmons of Ackerly, Darilynn Stewart of Tarzan, Deanna Michulka of Crosbyton, Dale Mitchel of Coahoma, and Cindy Klepper of Roscoe.

Battle Of Cats To Settle Bi-District

Two state-ranked football teams will enter the Class AAA state playoffs at 8 o'clock tonight in Shotwell Stadium in Abilene when Snyder's Tigers and Brownwood's Lions collide in a Bi-District contest that most observers feel will be close and exciting.

Snyder is champion of District 3-AAA. Brownwood is champion of District 4-AAA. Both teams have 9-1 records. The Lions are ranked third in the state by the Associated Press while the Tigers are ranked sixth. The Harris Poll rates Brownwood a six point favorite in tonight's game.

This contest could answer the question of which is the stronger: a good passing team or a good running team.

The Tigers are the best running team, having chalked up 2,771 yards overland in 10 regular season games for a respectable 5.7 yard average. The leading rusher for the Tigers is tailback Welton Cobb, a 195-pound senior, who has netted 907 yards on 128 carries for a 7.1 yard average. Cobb is just now returning to top form after experiencing a knee injury earlier in the season.

Also ready to help out with the tailback chores is Tim Flynn, 160-pound senior, who has collected 391 yards in 64 carries. Cobb and Flynn give the Tigers the best strength at this position in the state.

Another hard-runner who will be in the Black and Gold backfield tonight is Ricky Howell, 160-pound senior, who has the impact of a man much larger in size. He's gained 690 yards on 149 carries.

At halfback will be Bernie Weems, 160-pound senior, who has netted 61 yards on 15 carries.

Weems is an outstanding blocker and will be filling in at this position for David Mayes, 180-pound senior, who will devote his duties to cornerback for this game. That is, if he gets to play. He's been bothered by an arm injury. If he is unable to start, then Pat Dryden, 140-pound junior, will be the cornerback on defense.

At the throttle of the Tiger attack will be Win Bunch, 160-pound senior quarterback, who has completed 21 of 60 passes for 482 yards and gained 383 yards on 57 carries. He's especially dangerous on bootleg plays.

Brownwood also can counter with an experienced backfield. They have one of the best passers in the state in quarterback Sammy Harrell, 156-pound senior, who has completed 55 of 109 passes for 14 touchdowns.

Other starters in the Lion backfield are fullback Scottye Ratliff, 157-pound senior; tailback Pete Hicks, 169-pound senior; and, wingback Ricky Holmes, 145-pound senior. Ratliff is the leading rusher with 583 yards on 121 carries.

The Lions like to sweep the end, run trap plays and pass. Snyder has had good success with the belly series, trap plays, counters and power sweeps. Both teams employ similar Winged-T attacks. Defensively, Brownwood uses a "43" type alignment while the Tigers use the Oklahoma 5.

Leading the Tiger defense are linebackers Cobb and Roy Lee Carter, a 175-pound senior, middle guard George Willis, a 170-pound senior, and tackle Tim Sonnier, a 210-pound senior. The Lion defense is led by 3-year letterman senior Tony Jones, a 195-pounder.

Snyder has never won a bi-district contest under the present lineup of UIL teams. However; the 1935 Tigers won regional, but that's as far as the playoffs went in those days.

Coach Maurice (Mo) Hodges has coached teams that have met Gordon Wood-coached teams four times in the past.

Concerning tonight's contest, Hodges said: "We're going to Abilene to win a football game, and the kids feel the same way. Anything other than that would be very disappointing."

Hodges said the Tigers have had good workouts this week. Wednesday's drill was held in Shotwell Stadium.

"We wanted to check out the turf," said Hodges, "And found it to be in good condition. The footing should be firm."

The temperature today should be in the 70's, ideal for game conditions.

Horn Hopes Could End

The Texas Longhorns' record string of Cotton Bowl appearances could come to an end Saturday and Coach Darrell Royal's crew isn't playing a down.

The defending Southwest Conference champion Longhorns have been to six consecutive Cotton Bowls but the Baylor Bears can end it all with a victory Saturday over Southern Methodist in Dallas.

Baylor is 4-1 going into the fray just a half game behind the idle Texas Aggies (5-1) who meet Texas (4-2) on the day after Thanksgiving.

A Baylor victory over SMU would put pressure on the front-running Aggies going into their big game before the national television cameras in Memorial Stadium.

Texas A&M can clinch a berth to the Cotton Bowl by defeating Texas—a feat the Aggies haven't performed in Austin since the 1950s.

If Texas A&M loses, Baylor just needs a victory over SMU or Rice on Nov. 30 to make its first trip to the Cotton Bowl. Texas could go to the Cotton Bowl only by beating A&M and watching Baylor lose twice.

Hermleigh In Playoff

The Hermleigh Cardinals and the Highland Hornets will collide at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in Roscoe in a Six-man Bi-District football game. Hermleigh is champion of District 3-B. Highland is champion of District 4-B. The Cardinals are 6-11 for the season while the Hornets arte 9-1.

Coach Clarence Spieker of Hermleigh said his team employs a basic "I" formation on offense and 4-2 and 2-3-1 defensive alignments. Highland runs the Winged-T on offense and also uses the 2-3-1 and 4-2 defenses.

Coach Spieker listed probable starters, as follows:

Defense–Kruger and Peterson will be down linemen, Mason and Roemisch will be either ends or linebackers, depending on the defense; and, Luna will be at safety. Holdridge will be either a linebacker or a safety.

Starters on offense for Coach Tommy Hyde's Hornets are Ricky Gilbreath, 180, senior, at end; Alan Wright, 185, senior, or Jim Giesler, 160, junior, at center; Tommy Lecroy, 175, senior, at end; Scott Fullwood, 150, junior, at tailback; Cody Rogers, 130, senior, at wingback; and, Billy Miles, 130, senior, or Ivan Krejci, 140, freshman, at quarterback.

"Our strong points have been a consistent defense and three seniors in the starting offensive backfield," said Spieker.

The Hornets have good overall experience with seven seniors on the team, and they have good speed.

"It should be a close contest," said Spieker. "We scrimmaged them before the season started and lost by about 2-3, but they've changed their offense since then."

Rehab And FOI Vetoes Overridden

WASHINGTON (AP) — Overturning President Ford's vetoes, Congress has continued aid to the handicapped and curbed the government's power to keep secrets.

The Senate overrode the two vetoes Thursday, voting 65-27 to reject Ford's objections to the Freedom of Information Act amendments and 90-1 on the vocational rehabilitation measure.

The House overrode the same two vetoes Wednesday by votes of 371-31 and 398-7, respectively. A two-thirds vote is required in each chamber.

Ford now has been overridden on three of his 13 vetoes since he became President Aug. 9. The other was on a railroad retirement bill.

The Senate vote on the information bill enacted it into law.

Ford had his strongest support in the Senate on this one because of objections to the measure from defense, intelligence and law enforcement agencies.

However, Senate sponsors insisted there was an overriding need to end government secrecy which they said had contributed to Watergate and the war in Vietnam.

The legislation would authorize federal judges upon request to examine documents to decide whether they should be made public and fix a 10-day limit for agency decisions on whether to supply information.

The bill also would set a 30-day limit for the government to reply to freedom of information lawsuits; narrow the power of agencies to withhold law enforcement investigatory files, and require the keeping of an index of documents available to the public.

The vocational rehabilitation bill would change the way the Department of Health, Education and Welfare administers the 54-year-old program of job training for handicapped persons.

The measure would put the program in a new separate office directly under the HEW secretary, and Ford had objected to this as creating "new, unnecessary bureaucracies."

Hunt Suit Set For Monday

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge William Taylor will hear arguments Monday in a lawsuit which contends Nelson Bunker Hunt and W. Herbert Hunt are trying to buy control of a major sugar company.

The suit, transferred here from New York, alleges the two sons of oil billionaire H.L. Hunt are making a public tender offer to buy 910,000 shares of common stock in Great Western United Corp. at $27.50 a share.

Great Western United's subsidiary, Great Western Sugar Co., is one of the nation's largest sugar beet producing companies.

Great Western United of New York claims the tender offer would put the Hunts in control of the company with 51 per cent of the common stock. The suit says the Hunts already have bought 25 per cent.

The company's board explained recently that the Hunt offer is inadequate because soaring sugar prices could push up profits from last year's $1.95 to $32 per share.

Company officials contend the Hunts are using a syndicate to take over the firm and are not following Securities and Exchange Commission regulations.

They are asking Judge Taylor to stop the tender offer until a full trial can be held. The company also is asking that all stock purchases made so far under the offer be rescinded.

Singapore, member of the Commonwealth, was founded in 1819 by Sir Stamford Raffles.

Transit Subsidy Bill Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has culminated a two-year effort to provide federal operating subsidies for urban mass transit systems by sending a subsidy bill to President Ford, whose signature is assured.

The House passed the $11.8 billion mass transit package Thursday by a 288-109 vote after a telegram from Ford urging passage was read in the chamber. The President called the measure "a responsible step in our efforts to reduce energy consumption and control inflation."

The Senate passed the bill earlier this week.

Eligible communities could use up to $3.9 billion of the funds provided in the bill to subsidize mass transit operating costs. The rest of the money would continue for six years the federal aid to communities buying equipment.

Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley, president of the National League of Cities, called the action "a singular victory for the nation's cities."

Population and density will determine the eligibility of cities for funds. Local funds would have to match federal funds on a 50-50 basis for the operating subsidies. For the capital grants, the federal government would pay 80 per cent, the localities 20 per cent.

Panel OKs Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has approved a bill to phase out the oil depletion allowance and reduce individual income taxes by about $2 billion per year.

If the bill clears the Rules Committee, it would be brought to the House on Dec. 4. If the House passes it, the measure would still face a lengthy, and perhaps fatal fight in the Senate during the waning days of this congressional session.

The Ways and Means Committee vote was 16-6, with oil-state representatives on the committee leading the dissent.

Some congressional sources said the legislators will not finish work on the bill before the end of this session. That would mean the 94th Congress arriving in January will be forced to start all over again.

The bill also would impose a "windfall profits tax" on the oil producers but would allow oil companies to escape the tax by reinvesting profits into the search for new energy sources.

The legislation would cut individual taxes by increasing the standard deduction from 15 to 16 per cent and the maximum that can be deducted this way from $2,000 to $2,300.

Bishops Urge Aid, Fasting

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roman Catholic bishops have called for major increases in United States aid to poor nations and for two days of fasting a week by this country's 48.5 million Catholics.

"We also urge resistence to advertising and other forms of social pressure which promote affluent and wasteful eating habits," the bishops declared Thursday in a pastoral plan to help meet the world food crisis.

Fasting generally means eating only one full meal a day.

"We urge the whole Catholic community — priests, religious and laity — to join with us in observing at least two days a week as days of fast," the bishops said.

The plan, drawn up by a committee headed by Terence Cardinal Cooke of New York, asked the United States to act immediately to boost allocations of food to hungry areas without regard to political or strategic motives.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops also urged trade preferences for poor nations and changes in the free market system whenever it "stands in the way of justice."

In other action, the bishops for the first time took a national stand against the death penalty.

Their action came in the midst of efforts in a number of states to restore the death penalty.

After wrestling with the question for three days, the bishops adopted a one-sentence statement putting them on record in opposition to capital punishment.

Catholicism traditionally has held that the state has a right to execute criminals to protect society. Numerous bishops said they were not challenging that principle but only its application in modern circumstances.

Honors Set For Wilson

SWEETWATER—Dr. Grady Wilson, long-time evangelist and associate to Dr. Billy Graham, will be honored Sunday in special activities at West Texas Ranch for Christ, located 23 miles south of Sweetwater off the San Angelo highway.

The program will feature such well-known personalities as soloist George Beverly Shea and Miss Ethel Waters. During the special service, Dr. Wilson will be named an Honorary Texas by a representative of Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Music will feature a 300-voice choir from Hardin-Simmons University.

The Grady Wilson Day program is expected to come as a surprise to Wilson, who is coming to Texas on what he thinks is a deer hunting trip. Dr. Wilson's ministry has been linked inseparably with that of the Billy Graham team, and for many years he has read the Scriptures on the Graham weekly radio program. Persons from the West Texas Area are encouraged to attend the service and bring their lawn chairs and sit under the big tent at the West Texas Ranch for Christ.

Higher clothing costs are due more to labor cost increases than to increased costs for energy and petroleum.

Drive Planned To Boost Bible

NEW YORK (AP) — President Ford and a cross-country lineup of congressmen, governors, mayors, businessmen and religious leaders are heading a drive to boost the Bible as a basic source of integrity and idealism.

"This year we need the good book in a very bad way," says the theme for the campaign, the annual interfaith observance of National Bible Week from this Sunday, Nov. 24, through Dec. 1.

In the eight-day period, specific passages are recommended for reading each day. Also, a blitz of public service advertisements and broadcast spots have gone out for use during the week.

As honorary chairman of the effort, Ford issued a message commending it and declaring his own "special regard for Scriptures as a unifying source of wisdom and inspiration."

He said "greater knowledge, use and understanding" of the Bible can be a "strong force for good in our daily lives," and added: "Bible reading has been a tradition in my family for as long as I can remember."

The President, an Episcopalian, cited his favorite verses, Proverbs 3: 5-6: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths."

He said he has made that passage "my daily prayer." It also was the passage on which he took his oath of office.

Special proclamations for the Bible-reading observance are being issued by more than 400 mayors and 35 governors, most of whom already have done so.

The week is sponsored by the Laymen's National Bible Committee, a New York-based organization of Protestant, Roman Catholic, Eastern Orthodox and Jewish laity.

Cooperating are agencies of the U.S. Catholic Conference, the National Council of Churches, the Greek Orthodox archdiocese, a Jewish committee, and for the first time, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon).

Since The Pilgrims

All they wanted was a place where they could live, with liberty to worship God as they pleased. No country would grant their wish.

They refused to give up. So they set sail for a New Life in a New Land.

After a long, rough trip, they arrived but it was too late to plant and grow a crop. Shelter was scarce. Sickness and starvation took their toll. But these Pilgrims were of great faith and strong hearts. When the ground began to thaw, they started to clear their land and plant their crops.

By the winter 1621, they knew they had succeeded. By then food was plentiful and homes were secure. God had turned a winter of defeat into a spring of victory. They even set aside a day of Thanksgiving.

Since The Pilgrims, our nation has continued to grow, our faith increase and our prosperity mount. Please, Americans, stop long enough to count your blessings Since The Pilgrims.
