Young Plans 7th Trip

UNITED NATIONS (AP)-Nearing the 100,000-mile mark as a diplomat, Andrew Young is off to Rome and Stockholm this weekend for his seventh foreign trip in nine months as the chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations.

But unless a new emergency mission to Africa is required, the peripatetic American envoy may be ready after his return to put away his passport for a while, aides say.

Young next week is making a twice-postponed visit to Sweden, whose people he described last May as "terrible racists."

That remark, made during one of his impromptu airborne news conferences, caused a brief international flap and a standing invitation for him to get acquainted with the Swedes at home.

Israelis, Arabs Duel

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)-Israeli and Arab gunners dueled across the Lebanese border today in the worst fighting since a Sept. 26 cease-fire. One person was killed in Israel and many casualties were reported in Lebanon.

Israel launched an artillery bombardment of Palestinian guerrilla positions across southern Lebanon after several rockets landed on the outskirts of Nahariya, an Israeli Mediterranean resort about eight miles from the border.

TAC For Suspension

AUSTIN (AP)-A Texas Aernonautics Commission executive has recommended that Chapparal Airlines, Inc., be permitted to suspend its Abilene-Lubbock flights for two years.

The commission itself will make the final decision, and interested parties have until Nov. 22 to oppose the recommendation made by Joan Whitworth, administrator of the carrier regulation division.

Chapparal requested the suspension on the ground that its Abilene-Lubbock service has been unprofitable because it hasn't had enough passengers and freight.

Veterans Day will be observed for the second time this year on Friday of this week. The observance this week is on the traditional date of Nov. 11, which originally was on the calendar as Armistice Day, marking the official ending of World War I in 1918. Following World War II it was changed to Veterans Day to pay tribute to veterans of all wars. Then, Congress, in its wisdom, moved the date so that it always would fall on a Monday toward the end of October. This year, the Federal holiday for Veterans Day fell on Oct. 24.

However, despite the fact that the perpetual Monday date would result in a three-day weekend every year for those who are fortunate enough to be employed by agencies or businesses that observed this particular holiday, veterans themselves did not go for it. The veterans organizations here, including the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled Veterans, etc., continued to celebrate on Nov. 11. Texas went back to Nov. 11 as a holiday, along with several other states, and beginning next year, Uncle Sam will do the same.

Some county personnel suggested that their Veterans Day holiday be switched this year to Nov. 25, which would be the day after Thanksgiving and would mean four days off that weekend. But county commissioners, who already had set up Nov. 11 for the observance, didn't go for this suggestion.

Since Nov. 11 falls on Friday this year, it means a three-day weekend, anyway, to be followed up in a couple of weeks by Thanksgiving.

Management of the Smorgasbord House here made it a point to praise the Lubbock Dunbar football squad for its behavior following last Friday night's game with the resident Tigers -- which the Dunbar team lost. The Dunbar squad ate their post-game meal at the Smorgasbord, and the personnel there said it was one of the best-behaved groups of young people they had ever served. They began by saying grace over their meal and continued as a congenial and very thoughtful group.

WAITING FOR VOTERS--These three assistants at Precinct 17 (northwest Snyder) were on hand bright and early to issue ballots, but voters were scarce this morning as a $4 million hospital bond issue and seven state constitutional amendments were up for a decision. Few Voters Are Going To Polls

Two ballots were offered Scurry County voters on this general election day, but there were few takers this morning.

A light turnout was reported at polls here as a $4 million hospital bond issue and seven amendments to the state constitution were presented.

Even so, Scurry County was expected to send more voters to the polls than most other counties in the state, since it was one of the few with a local issue in addition to the amendments.

The hospital bonds have been proposed to finance construction of a major addition to Cogdell Memorial Hospital. It appeared that if a substantial number of those who signed the petition requesting the bond election get to the polls, it would get easy approval.

The polls will close at 7 p.m.

Elsewhere in the state, bad weather and apathy were credited with keeping voters away from the polls. Rains were falling in much of South and East Texas.

Houston, the largest city in the South, was choosing a new mayor but only small numbers of voters braved the morning rain.

In Dallas, where voters were deciding on $215 million bond proposal, rain also kept the turnout down.

Thunderstorms were reported in Colorado, Austin, Fort Bend and Wharton counties in Southeast Texas. Rains also hit most of North Central Texas. Flashflood watches were in effect for South Central portions of the state and a tornado warning was issued for Harris County near Houston.

Bad weather reports came from other sections of the state. In the Rio Grande Valley, election judge Lucille Kendrick of San Benito said about 12 people had voted by mid-morning.

"Usually, in an election where we are voting people, we would have 200 by now," she said.

The Texas Electric Bureau, which gathers unofficial returns for Texas newspapers and radio-TV stations, estimated a 20 per cent turnout.

Tapes' Release Argued In Court

WASHINGTON (AP)-Public release of 30 White House tape recordings about the Watergate scandal would expose Richard M. Nixon to embarrassments "far more offensive" than the former president already has suffered, the Supreme Court was told today.

Nixon lawyer William H. Jeffress Jr. told the nation's highest court that the 22 hours of tapes played at the 1974 Watergate cover-up trial of Nixon's top advisers should not go public.

Jeffress said release of the tapes, "having served their purpose as evidence in that trial," would only serve to further embarrass Nixon.

"Tapes are susceptible to uses that are far more offensive" than trial transcripts, he said.

Transcripts of the tapes were widely published during the 1974 trial of former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and ex-White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

Jeffress said Nixon and others would suffer "mental anguish" if the tapes were released to "every disc jockey, every television entertainer...to be played relentlessly."

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington ruled in October 1976 that the tapes could be released for broadcast on television and radio and copied for sale as records and tape cassettes.

Weather In Area Turns Cool, Damp

A weather front from the west brought cool, damp weather to the Snyder area and colder weather is in store for tonight, forecasts indicated this morning.

The official gauge at the city water plant measured .30 inch of rain overnight. It fell mostly in a drizzle that began shortly after nightfall and continued into the night.

Meanwhile, westerly winds dropped temperatures into the low forties and a further drop into the thirties is expected tonight.

The front carried heavy rains with it as it moved to the south and east and portions of South and Central Texas were under a flash flood warning this morning.

The front was clearing out the skies as it moved into East Texas, however. Afternoon high readings were not expected to get out of the fifties.

It was the first moisture to fall here this month.

Prisoner Swap Plans Formulated

SAN ANTONIO (AP)-Detailed plans for the return of more than 200 Americans in Mexican prisons were being formulated here today at a closed meeting of federal officials from Washington and several southwestern states.

Michael Abbell, a Justice Department lawyer who is coordinating the return program, chaired the session.

He said about 240 of the 585 Americans currently jailed in Mexico are expected to be returned to this country next month.

Abbell said two chartered planes will bring Americans from Mexico City on Dec. 8 or Dec. 9. Then, around Dec. 14, chartered planes will return Americans from Hermosillo, Monterrey, Matamoras and Juarez.

Abbell said all the prisoners would be taken to San Diego, Calif., and processed at the federal Metropolitan Correctional Center there.

Americans held in Tijuana will be bused back to the United States.

Abbell said earlier that the Justice Department expects 50 to 60 of the returning Americans will be free as soon as they arrive back in the United States.

Others will be held for a short time and probably be granted parole in January. Some will be transferred to federal prisons nearest their homes.

The return will occur under a treaty and enabling legislation that President Carter recently signed allowing the United States to exchange prisoners with Mexico and Canada.

Abbell said initial interviews with the Americans jailed in Mexico indicated about 240 of them will probably seek return to the United States under the program.

The remainder, he said, either have not been tried or have appeals pending in Mexico; were convicted of immigration law violations or political crimes; or prefer for various reasons to remain in Mexico.

Abbell said about two-thirds of those returning were residents of Southwest border states, nearly half from California.

Abbell said about two-thirds of those returning have prior arrest records in the United States and about one-fourth of them have prior convictions in this country.

Briscoe Opens Campaign With Familiar Promises

By JOETTE MOFFETT
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP)-A firm committment to improved state education and "no new taxes" will form the backbone of Gov. Dolph Briscoe's bid for a third term as Texas' highest official, which would give him an unprecedented 10 years in that office.

In a campaign-opening fund-raiser Monday night, Briscoe pledged his support to the state government's current devotion of 47 per cent of its income to education.

But he reiterated his firm stand against additional state taxes, saying, "There have been no added state taxes in Texas since 1971, the year before I took office. And as long as I'm governor, there won't be any."

The fund-raiser, which attracted about 7,000 people and added about $175,000 to the Briscoe campaign coffers, was highlighted by a multi-media show that presented scenes from the Uvalde native's years as governor.

Briscoe's wife Janey greeted the well-wishers with opening remarks. Among prominent Texans introduced were Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown, the three railroad commissioners and new State Treasurer Warren G. Harding.

The governor took the opportunity to blast the Carter administration's energy policy, and blamed the president's support of natural gas price regulations on "misguided philosophy."

Briscoe said Carter's policies are geared for bureaucrats.

TESCO Not Appealing PUC Rates

Texas Electric Service Co. is appealing only the rates approved by the city council here in new documents filed with the Texas Public Utility Commission.

Henry Clark, local TESCO manager, said that the appeal was filed shortly after the PUC granted the company a rate increase of approximately 13.2 per cent. The City of Snyder, along with several other cities served by TESCO had granted an increase of 8.33 per cent. A story in the Snyder Daily News stated that TESCO was appealing the rate approved by the PUC, but this is not the case, Clark said. The company is merely asking that the 13.2 per cent increase be applied in cities that had granted the 8.33 hike.

Widely scattered light snow showers should fall in the northern panhandle tonight. Expect much colder weather in the north with a freeze in the panhandle, south plains and the extreme west. Fair and cooler over the area Wednesday. Lows tonight should dip to near 20 in the northwestern panhandle to the upper 30s in the Big Bend. Hours Before Burst

Dam Solid As Rock

TOCCCOA, Ga. (AP)-Some college students inspected the Kelly Barnes dam two hours before it broke early Sunday and reported it appeared "as solid as a rock," an aide to Gov. George Busbee said today. Flooding from the collapsed dam took at least 38 lives.

Tom Perdue told a news conference that David Fledderjohann and several other students inspected the dam because of the torrential rains and they reported there seemed to be no danger.

The earthen dam burst about 1:30 a.m. Sunday, sending an avalanche of muddy water, boulders and trees to the low-lying campus area of Toccoa Falls Bible College. The greatest destruction occurred at two trailer parks on the banks of Toccoa Creek, a shallow stream that flowed from an 80-acre lake the dam held back.

According to Perdue, Fledderjohann, a volunteer fireman and student at the college, was responsible for checking the dam. He died when the dam burst while trying to warn residents in the trailer park of the possibilty of danger.

Perdue did not specify to whom Fledderjohann reported after the inspection. He said the men continued to watch the creek below Toccoa Falls after they returned to the campus area. He said earlier that there was no emphasis in looking for fault. Responsibility for maintaining the dam has not been clearly determined.

"Last year," Perdue said, "the college received $39,500 from the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration for repairs along the creek bank, some roads and some buildings because of flash flooding which occurred Memorial Day last year.

"The FDAA did not include any money for the dam, because it had not been damaged. Part of the money was used to repair the approach road to the dam and F.R. Hanson, vice president of the college, made a visual inspection of the dam Nov. 2 to look at road repairs made as a result of that money.

Board To Name Textbook Panel

Snyder School Trustees are scheduled to appoint a textbook committee and take final action on a revision of policy on internal board operation at their regular meeting tonight.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the administration building.

The local textbook committee appointed tonight will select books from the state list for use beginning in the 1978-79 school year.

Subjects for which textbooks are up for adoption this year include junior high literature, Texas history, high school English composition, high school drama, high school biology, high school free enterprise, high school business math and high school general business and office procedures.

Also on the agenda for discussion again is a proposal for the school district and county to establish a joint tax assessing office.

The board also is due to devote some time to studying enrollment figures, school zone boundaries and staffing patterns as a prelude to making plans for 1978-79 staffing.

Several reports on school operations and projects also will be presented to the board.

washington quackery

It may be just a coincidence that while national attention has been concentrated on big problems, such as energy, taxes, and peace in the Middle East, events that will have far more immediate effect on the life style of the average American have been taking place.

Millions of people who don't offhand know the meaning of HEW when used to identify a Federal agency will pretty soon find out. Better informed persons, of course, know these letters used in combination usually refer to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Its jurisdiction just about covers the full range of human activity.

Air, water, environment, occupation and noise all have a bearing on health. Most everybody above the age of three and below 90 is affected by educational activities. Any missed in these categories will be more than made up for in numbers by welfare. Everybody has health of one kind or another. The food we eat, the water we drink, the air we breathe, the kind of life we live in are under the jurisdiction of this public agency.

And, like all public agencies, HEW is managed by people who believe in using authority conferred upon them by law. Fresh in memory is the announcement of a set of guide lines issued by HEW that will reduce health service, decrease its availability and increase its overall cost to persons so unfortunate as to live outside the immediate vicinity of a large city.

Congress didn't have any such thing in mind when passing legislation on the subject. Quite the contrary. But bureaucrats empowered to draw up guide lines fixed the rules to suit their ideas of how health care should be given.

Another evidence of the concern HEW has for the well being of the people a "suggestion" has been offered to reduce the number of unnecessary operations. HEW has decided there are too many surgeons. That means unnecessary surgery in millions of cases, so HEW guardians of the public interest have decided.

To save individuals from unneeded surgery and reduce Medicare and Medicaid costs it recommended that patients be allowed to call in a second surgeon to help decide whether an operation is necessary. HEW will pay the extra cost. This is only a suggestion now. But first thing anybody knows it will be a regulation.

Health care in this country could stand a considerable amount of improvement. Professions involved have been negligent in weeding out abuses or in holding costs to sensible levels. But Government supervision as presently directed will only make a bad situation worse.

political cardinal sin

If there is a cardinal sin in politics, it is not having a prostitute on your office payroll.

A federal grand jury has accused a Korean-born cosmetics manufacturer of conspiring to defraud the United States.

The Justice Department has turned over to congressional investigators the names of thirty senators--about one-third of the entire Senate--and the names of 60 or more congressmen and other government officials who allegedly accepted money or favors from South Koreans.

"Intent" is difficult to prove, however obvious.

The obvious is that representatives --official or otherwise--of the government of South Korea sought to bribe members of the U.S. Congress to vote more of your money for South Korea.

You can imagine the sweating that's going on in the world's most exclusive club as the individuals involved contemplate inevitable exposure.

The Korean Connection, businessman Tongsun Park, has fled the United States in an effort to escape having to testify against his friends on The Hill. The government of South Korea so far has refused to extradite him to the United States.

Those on Capitol Hill who are guilty are hoping some other national preoccupation will come along soon.

If there is an unpardonable sin in politics, it is not having a prostitute on your office payroll.

If there is an unforgivable sin in politics, it is not accepting a free ride on a corporate airplace.

If there is an indefensible misuse of political power, it is not junketing around the world at taxpayers' expense.

If there is one crime for which a politician should be prosecuted, punished and disgraced, it is not the bugging or burglary of rival political headquarters.

No, the ugliest crime of which any elected or appointed public official can be guilty is putting interests of another country ahead of the interests of our own.

That includes taking money--or anything else--as a bribe to vote more money for South Korea.

Leon Jaworski says he now has proof that the South Korean government--he does not say "some individual"--tried to buy off American congressmen and that "its agents claimed great success in that effort."

He says he will be ready to name the congressmen and former congressmen at the appropriate time.

And some of those to be named, during the agony of Watergate, were most sanctimonious in their public proclamations about ethics and integrity and propriety and honesty.

brilliant timing

There's a small school of thought that believes most governments don't know what they're doing and when they do something, it's the wrong thing at the worst time.

One can find some support for this gloomy theory in a recent action by the House of Representatives. It whopped through, 386 to 11, a bill to let American travelers abroad bring home more goods duty-free.

At present a returning traveler can bring in $100 in foreign purchases without paying any duty. The bill, which now goes to the Senate, would raise the allowance to $250 per person.

Now all this comes at a time when U.S. foreign trade is a record $30 billion out of balance. As a result the nation's international payments are deep in the red and the dollar is slumping on foreign exchange markets.

What a brilliant time to encourage Americans to travel abroad and buy more foreign goods. Bravo Congress, you'll get the value of the dollar down to 10 cents yet.

SALEM, Ore.-(NEA)-Hanging on the wall of Ted de Looze's office here is a gold-plated Coke bottle - an unusual memento of his long struggle to convince the world's largest soft drink producer to adopt a new format when accounting for its profits.

Coca-Cola isn't the only company to succumb to the legal pressure brought by Theodore W. de Looze, a leader in the campaign to convince fellow state tax officials throughout the country to switch to the "unitary method" of computing corporate profits and losses.

De Looze, chief tax counsel for Oregon's Department of Justice, notes that his state has permanently stationed auditors in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago and New York to gain ready access to the financial records of hundreds of the nation's largest business firms.

California has a far larger out-of-state auditing staff for the same purpose. Alaska is an equally ardent supporter of the "unitary method" and at least 24 other states utilize it in some form.

But those states now may be heading for a clash with the Carter administration, which reportedly plans to seek legislation that would ban the "unitary method" in favor of what is known as the "arm's length" standard.

Both formulas are used in determining corporate profits for the purpose of assessing state franchise or business taxes. Both are based on the property, sales and payroll of the business firms.

The crucial difference is that the "arm's-length" method is limited to the operations of the company that does business in a specific state. In many instances, that firm is only a subsidiary or affiliate of a large conglomerate or multimational corporation.

Those sprawling business entities can, either intentionally or inadvertently, utilize accounting methods that produce a highly distorted picture of profits within a state or country, through application of techniques known as "transfer pricing" or "downstreaming."

An example: A multinational oil company's production subsidiary, based in the Middle East, and its shipping affiliate, technically a Liberian corporation, both can overcharge the United States affiliate that buys the crude oil for refining and sale in this country.

The result is artificially increased profits for the foreign subsidiaries - out of reach of this country's taxing authorities - and artificially reduce profits for the United States affiliate.

To offset the impact of those intra-company transfers, the "unitary method" is based on examination of the parent corporation's consolidated worldwide financial records, with the state tax based on the percentage of the corporation's total activity conducted in that state.

De Looze estimates that Oregon collects an additional $5 million or more annually through use of the "unitary method." Estimates of the amount of revenues lost by all states because of inherent defects in the "arm's-length" approach run as high as $1 billion a year.

"State tax avoidance by many multinational corporations has been at scandalous proportions, with hundreds of millions of dollars lost each year to state and local governments," says Byron L. Dogran, North Dakota's state tax commissioner. "Tax cheating by some of the largest corporations is a sophisticated game."

The Denver-based Multistate Tax Commission notes that although state tax officials traditionally have conducted thorough audits of one-state companies, only the "unitary method" gives their limited staffs the ability to deal effectively with larger corporations.

But the Carter administration, notwithstanding its commitment to broad-scale tax reform, wants to force abandonment of that technique, thus opening a new, wide and unjustified tax avoidance loophole for the conglomerates and multinationals.

time use analyzed

NEW YORK (AP)-Many of us tenaciously believe the road to greater happiness is paved with leisure time, but a man who claims to know says the view is full of potholes.

John Robinson measured to the minute how people use their 24 hours. He convinced 1,244 urban and suburban individuals to keep diaries, and then he dissected and analyzed and cor-related the results and asked for more.

The pattern is unmistakable: "Too much free time is a greater burden than to little free time." Robinson found that people least satisfied with life were those with the most time to exercise options or choices.

Further conclusions may be drawn from the evidence, but one that particularly intrigues Robinson, whose research was financed by National Science Foundation grants, is that free time might be an idolatrous god.

No, the work ethic isn't dead, but for many the goal of work is leisure-on evenings, weekends, vacations, retirement. It is the target of unions. Sociologists sometimes advocate it, advertising almost always. Leisure may in fact be the national ambition.

Robinson, a Ph. D., communications professor and director of communications research at Cleveland State University, maintains we ought to reflect more about what we do with our time. Perhaps keep a 24 hour diary.

His cross-section of Americans did that and then turned the sheets over to him. After years of computer analysis he recently produced "How Americans Use Time" Praeger Publishers, New York.

While the individual respondents might have been surprised at their own revelations, Robinson probably wasn't any less so. Maybe you won't be either.

-The dominant difference in the way time-usage breaks down is along lines of sex. Only minimal differences result from age, income, region, education and the like. But 80 per cent of time given to housework-child rearing is by women.

The men simply do not contribute what seems to be a fair share around the house. Even when the woman works outside the home, the man is unlikely to make a major contribution. And many women say they don't want his help.

With more women entering the labor force, there could be immediate consequences of this division of labor. If, for instance, women have less time for child rearing, and the men don't help, how will children be brought up?

-Americans are more likely than Europeans to spend time visiting, in sports activities and in watching television. About 2½ hours a day are spent before the TV set-strike that and make it read: With the TV set on. there is a reason for the choice of phrasing. Robinson is an inquisitive and wary person who once attached cameras to home television sets. Monitoring them, he often found the set on and the room empty.

People also divide their TV time, as they do other activities, with knitting, eating and, contradictory though it seems to be, reading newspapers, books or magazines. Their eyeballs, he says, are not always aimed where you think they are.

One-half hour of that TV time, fact, is secondary viewing. Only the French measure higher in this category, and that's because TV has become part of the French dinner hour, or two or three.

American men spend 40 minutes with newspapers, which makes them more avid newspaper readers than men in other nations, Robinson finds. But 14 of those minutes are secondary. For housewives the numbers are 21 and 10.

There is no limit to John Robinson's computer facts. This is only a fragment. But an observation rising out of the statistical mass is that most of everyone's day is structured-by work, sleep and travel.

There is much discussion over automobile insurance today. But despite all the heated arguments, there are many questions left unanswered. The law requires that drivers carry liability insurance or be able to make payment for any damages incurred in case of an accident. The average driver usually carries collision and comprehensive insurance to protect himself, since the liability insurance just covers the other person involved in an accident (if you are in the wrong). All of this insurance is certainly expensive and requires some budgeting to rake up the premium when it comes due.

It seems that in every wreck, that at least one of the involved drivers doesn't have insurance or driver's license and invariably it is the driver who is in the wrong that is not covered. Most of these un-insured drivers claim they cannot afford to carry the insurance. I could never understand how a person who couldn't afford the insurance could expect to handle the costs of the damages if he is involved in a wreck. How can you collect when a person doesn't have anything to "collect from"?

I have often wondered why there isn't a law requiring a person to have insurance and driver's license before he could purchase a license plate for his car.

Maybe it's due to the influence that the insurance industry has in Austin and Washington. They manage to get bills passed to their liking each year.

There was much interest in no-fault insurance. The no-fault system puts auto insurance in the same mold as health insurance. A driver who has an accident collects damages from his insurance company, no matter who caused the crash. Whether this is the answer, I don't know. There was no action taken on this legislation. The insurance industry shunned this proposal, and trial lawyers were opposed to it, and both contend that there was no public interest in the bill. Some states claim that insurance rates increased under the no-fault system.

It is a known fact that insurance firms have control of more money than any other industry. It is no wonder ... since they can pick their customers.

I have heard of incidents recently where insurance companies have canceled out drivers because they filed a claim after an accident. I have also heard of insurance companies canceling out a person because he hasn't filed a claim, their reasoning being that the law of averages will catch up with you and you are long "over due".

How many other businesses can pick their customers? Even restaurants who used to have the right to refuse service to anyone are forced to serve everyone now.

Maybe we need non-cancelable auto insurance like some health and life insurance policies. Maybe we need stricter laws or to enforce the ones we have better. Evidently most people feel there needs to be some changes made.

To The Daily News:

This letter is in response to the article published Wed., Nov. 2, "In Washington" by Martha Angle and Robert Walters.

They were concerned that the International Women's Year Conference in Houston will be chaotic because many conservative women "who had never shown any interest in women's issues" have begun to show up and voice their opinions.

Thank goodness many of us have awakened and are now more aware of the situation. $5-million was appropriated to state IWY Conferences by the federal government so that existing barriers concerning women and their right could be discussed. President Jimmy Carter appointed an IWY Commission of 42 women. However, 41 of these women are anti-family, pro-ERA, pro-homosexual rights, for drafting women and many other socially destructive ideas.

The "average" American woman is the majority. We do not reject and do accept many of the new rights women have gained recently, but we do not endorse homosexuality, being drafted into the armed forces and many other ideas these extremists are proposing and trying to push into law.

We want to be equally represented and to show that the family unit is still strong in the United States of America.

Texas Tech Squeezes Back Into Associated Press Poll...

Yep...'Horns Still Number One

By Herschel Nissenson
AP Sports Writer

Led by No. 1-ranked Texas, the nation's nine top college football teams retained their positions today in The Associated Press ratings while defending champion Pittsburgh reappeared in the Top Ten and unbeaten Colgate cracked the rankings for the first time ever.

Texas defeated Houston 35-21 to remain No. 1 for the third week in a row. The Longhorns, 8-0-0 and the nation's only perfect-record team besides No. 20 Colgate, received 61 first-place votes and 1,308 of a possible 1,320 points from a nationwide panel of 66 sports writers and broadcasters.

However, a week ago, with 59 panelists voting, Texas received all but two first-place votes, the others going to runnerup Alabama and seventh-ranked Kentucky. This time, Alabama and No. 5 Notre Dame received two votes apiece with one for Kentucky.

Alabama, a 24-3 winner over Louisiana State, totaled 1,072 points to 1,020 for No. 3 Oklahoma, which thrashed Oklahoma State 61-28. Fourth-ranked Ohio State trounced Illinois 35-0 and received 908 points while Notre Dame crushed Georgia Tech 69-14 and earned 798.

Next came Michigan with 688 points off a 63-20 whipping of Northwestern, followed by Kentucky with 568 after a 28-6 triumph over Vanderbilt. Eighth-ranked Arkansas, a 35-9 victor over Baylor, received 536 points while No. 9 Penn State beat North Carolina State 21-17 and received 464 points.

Pitt, No. 12 last week, walloped West Virginia 44-3 and received 339 points to supplant idle Texas A&M as the No. 10 team. Following Texas A&M in the Second Ten were Nebraska, Brigham Young, Southern California, Clemson, Florida State, Arizona State, Texas Tech, North Carolina and Colgate, whose 9-0 record is the nation's best.

Last week's Second Ten was Nebraska, Pitt, Clemson, BYU, Florida State, Southern Cal, California and Louisiana State with Arizona State and Iowa State tied for 19th.

However, California lost to Washington 50-31, LSU bowed to Alabama and Iowa State was knocked off by Colorado 12-7.

Texas Tech, which had been in the Top Twenty until losing to Texas a week ago, climbed back in by belting Texas Christian 49-17. North Carolina made it for the first time this season by holding Clemson to a 13-13 tie and Colgate flattened Bucknell 49-17.

Raiders 'N' Hogs To Be Televised

DALLAS (AP)-The Arkansas-Texas Tech game scheduled for Nov. 26 has been switched to Thanksgiving Day so it can be nationally televised by ABC-TV, it was learned Monday.

Also, it was learned that the Texas-Baylor Southwest Conference game Nov. 19 will be televised nationally as the second game of a doubleheader with Michigan and Ohio State.

Yet another nationally televised game, Texas A&M and Houston at College Station Dec. 3, has already been announced.

Landry Signs Pact

DALLAS (AP)-Tom Landry, the only coach the Dallas Cowboys have ever known, will keep that status and then some, at least through 1981, according to the Dallas Times Herald.

The newspaper reported in its Tuesday editions that Landry, now 53, has signed a new five-year pact with the club. The formal announcement is expected to be made today prior to Landry's weekly news conference.

Bowl Reps Looking

COLLEGE STATION (AP)-Representatives from eight bowls will witness the Southwest Conference football game Saturday between Arkansas and Texas A&M at Kyle Field.

On hand will be viewers from the Orange, Sugar, Liberty, Sun, Fiesta, Gator, Bluebonnet and Cotton bowls.

Odell Leads Penick

AUSTIN (AP)-Centenary's Jimmy Odell carries a one-stroke cushion into today's second round of the Harvey Penick Intercollegiate golf tournament. Trailing with 70s to Odell's three-under-par 69 are Oklahoma State's Lindy Miller and Bob Tway and Bret Weaver of Louisiana State.

OSU holds the team lead with a 358. Two strokes back are host Texas, LSU and Oral Roberts.

Texas Stat Leader

DALLAS (AP)-Southwest Conference football statistics reflect the reason why Texas is the No. 1 ranked team in the nation.

Texas leads the SWC in total offense with an average of 413.5 yards per game.

The Longhorns are second defensively to Arkansas overall as the Razorbacks have permitted 223.4 steps to 224.2 for the Texans.

Texas is tops in rushing defense, allowing only 100.4 yards per contest.

Earl Campbell, of course, leads the SWC rushing with 1,188 yards for the Longhorns for an average of 6.3 yards per contest.

Mike Ford, SMU's freshman quarterback, still leads in passing with 198 yards per contest, including 14.2 completions each game.

'TD' More Confident

DALLAS (AP)-Million-dollar rookie Tony Dorsett says he's just now beginning to run with the abandon he displayed as a Heisman Trophy winner at Pitt. But he says now that he can grasp the complex Cowboy offense, he's gaining confidence.

"In the early games, I would be in my stance trying to concentrate on the count just hoping that Roger Staubach wouldn't audible," Dorsett says. "I remember coming out of class one night thinking 'Wow, this is just like calculus.'"

Baltimore Leading AFC East...

Colts Hitting Peak On Time

BALTIMORE (AP)-It was another Monday night victory, not as impressive as a year ago, perhaps, but right on schedule as far as the Baltimore Colts were concerned.

The Colts slogged through the mud in Memorial Stadium to score a 10-3 decision over the Washington Redskins, with a 12-yard pass from Bert Jones to a diving Freddie Scott providing the winning points early in the final quarter.

While it pushed Baltimore's record to 7-1 and kept it alone atop the AFC East, the hard-earned triumph in the defense-dominated clash of neighborhood rivals was in sharp contrast to the last Monday night game here, one year ago against Houston.

The Colts hosted the Oilers, also in the season's eighth week, and thundered to a 38-14 victory. It proved to be their best effort of the year as they dropped two of their final five games before being easily eliminated in the first round of the playoffs.

But although the margin of victory over the Redskins was much smaller, the Colts felt their latest nationally televised win would show up more decivsively in the long run.

"We're hitting our peak at the right time this season," said defensive end Fred Cook. "Last year, I think, we reached our peak too soon. The Houston game was our best, seven weeks before we really needed it. This time we're more confident."

Cook, a four-year veteran, and the rest of the Colts' "Sack Pack" front four put intense pressure on Redskins quarterback Joe Theismann, sacking him five times and helping to create a pair of interceptions by linebacker Stan White.

The Baltimore offense, meanwhile, was controlling the ball, with Jones & Company running off 80 plays to Washington's 54 and using up 12½ more minutes of playing time.

Williams Elected Women's Captain

Karen Williams, freshman student at Western Texas College from Post, has been elected captain of the women's basketball team, the Dusters.

Miss Williams, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Williams, was a three-year standout on the Post High School basketball team. She is the first freshman to be elected captain of the Dusters since the year the team was organized. All the players were freshman that year.

Since she is a freshman, Miss Williams will serve as captain of the Dusters for two years.

"It is quite an honor for a freshman to be chosen team captain," Dr. Sid Simpson, coach, said. "I think Karen's hustle is what impressed her teammates and led them to elect her.

"She is a joy to coach because of her great attitude and hustle," Simpson added.

The Dusters will meet the Texas Tech women's team at 7 p.m. on Nov. 12 in the Slaton High School gym. The Dusters' first home game is at 7 p.m. on Nov. 28 when they will entertain Clarendon College in the WTC gym.

WTC Plans Cage Clinic

Basketball players and coaches from area schools have been invited to attend the fourth annual Women's Basketball Clinic at Western Texas College on Nov. 19.

Registration will get underway at 8:30 a.m., and a series of programs emphasizing the new five-player game will follow. Eola and Meadow teams will meet in the game of the day starting at 3 p.m. The game will be played in the WTC gym and it is open to the public. Tickets at the door will be $1 each. The registration fees for students and coaches attending the clinic will include admission to the game.

3-B District Game Slated

POST-The District 3-B 11-man title fight between west zone champion Borden County and east zone winner Jayton will be staged here Friday night at 7:30.

The winner will face the Fort Davis-Dell City victor, which will be decided Saturday in Pecos, beginning at 3 p.m.

Jayton, 8-2 for the year and 4-1 (lost to Roby) in zone play, could be hampered with the loss of its starting quarterback and fullback.

Meanwhile, Borden County lists a number of bruises, but no major injury problems. They are 6-4 for the year and 5-0 in zone play.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is a hand from a match between Spain and Germany. The German bidding as shown in the box was straight forward enough provided you know that South's three-spade bid showed a solid suit.

Declarer looked over dummy, remarked that he guessed he had underbid and wished he was in seven. He let the club come around to his king, cashed two high spades, burst into happy laughter when East showed out, played out the trumps and made only six on account of the horrendous trump break.

The Spaniards started with an artificial club and somehow or other South became declarer at six notrump after North bid all around the mulberry bush. A heart was opened. He won the trick, came to his hand with the king of clubs, led the ace of spades, noted the spade nine, then worked out the play to make six notrump.

It wasn't a tough one. He simply cashed the other three top spades while discarding one heart and three clubs and then led the 10 of diamonds for a finesse.

Ask the Jacobys

An Oregon reader wants to know the correct opening bid with:

♠ A K x x x ♥ K x ♦ x ♣ A K x x x

Either one club or one spade is acceptable. We prefer to open one club and then bid and rebid spades.

Lady Hooper, home economist for Texas Electric Service Company, is trained and experienced in the efficient use of electric appliances.

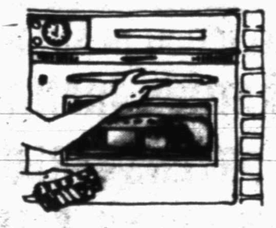
"For every way to use electricity in the kitchen, there's a way to use it more efficiently."

"Since you use a lot of electricity in your kitchen it's important to use it wisely and efficiently. Here's some ideas that will help.

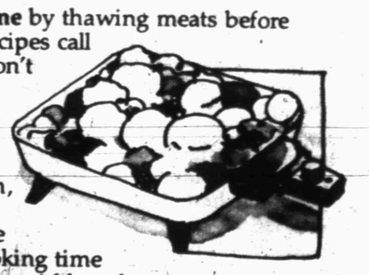
When cooking foods in liquid— whether in an electric skillet, crock pot, Dutch oven or on your range— use the lowest heat setting that will maintain cooking.

Don't open the oven door unnecessarily. Opening the oven door when the oven is hot can cause heat loss and extended cooking time.

For toasting bread, use a toaster or portable toaster-oven instead of your range oven. The smaller appliances are more efficient for this job.



Reduce cooking time by thawing meats before cooking them. When recipes call for a preheated oven, don't turn it on too far in advance— usually 10 to 15 minutes will do.



Use flat-bottomed pans. The flatter the pan, the better the contact, with the electric unit. Be sure the pans have tight-fitting lids to reduce cooking time and moisture loss. Match pan size to unit size to avoid heat loss.

Plan one-dish meals that can be cooked in a portable electric appliance such as a skillet, deep fat fryer, Dutch oven or crock pot. Get our free booklet, 'Tips to help you use electricity more efficiently throughout your home.' Copies are available in our office, or you can request one on the comment portion of your electric service bill."

AWARD WINNER--The National Society of Professional Engineers has named Texas Electric Service Co.'s Monticello power plant one of the nation's top 10 engineering achievements of 1976. The lignite-fired plant, located near Mount Pleasant, is part of TESCO's switch to cheaper generating fuels.

Engineering Award Won By New TESCO Plant

Texas Electric Service Co.'s Monticello power plant was formally recognized today as one of the nation's top 10 engineering achievements of 1976.

The National Society of Professional Engineers presented the award at a luncheon in Mount Pleasant at which Gov. Dolph Briscoe was featured speaker.

Monticello was recognized by the NSPE for "the significant contribution made to fuel cost savings."

The plant is one of three lignite-fired power plants owned jointly by Texas Electric, Texas Power & Light and Dallas Power & Light.

"The lignite plants are part of our program to switch from expensive natural gas to cheaper and more abundant generating fuels like coal and nuclear," said Henry Clark, local manager.

"Even though the construction cost for a lignite plant is higher than for a gas plant, the electricity they produce is cheaper. Lignite is simply much cheaper than current gas supplies," said Clark.

The electricity generated in the company's lignite-fired plants last year would have cost customers $58 million more if it had been generated with market-priced natural gas, Clark said.

The Monticello plant includes two 575,000-kilowatt generating units. A 750,000-kilowatt unit now under construction will begin commercial operation next summer.

Units 1 and 2 together burn about one ton of lignite every four seconds. The third unit will burn about one ton every six seconds.

The lignite is surface-mined a few miles from the plant. Since the generating units operate 24 hours a day, mining must continue around the clock to supply enough fuel.

"You can lower your heating bill 24% this winter by lowering the temperature in your home from 74° to 68."

Lucy Dubuis
TESCO Information Dept.

"A setting of 68° during the winter is the one Texas Electric recommends for both comfort and energy efficiency.

For each degree above 68° the energy used for heating your house is increased by approximately 4% per degree.

As shown by the chart the difference between the recommended thermostat setting and 74° is 24%. At 78° the increase in energy usage is 40% or more.

Clearly, the lower you set your thermostat the lower your heating bill is going to be. And after last winter, one of the coldest on record, we think a lot of people are going to be trying their best to use less energy.

Remember to change the filter in your heating system regularly, too. A dirty filter causes your heating system to work longer and that costs you more. Check the filter at least once each month.

All forms of energy are costing more these days. If you're serious about saving energy and money, request a copy of our energy efficiency tips booklet on the comment portion of your electric service bill."

Why Shouldn't Girl Ask Men for a Date?

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: You told a 16-year-old girl who wanted to invite a certain boy to a sorority dance to ask someone who had already asked her out. Why? That's the first step in giving control of the relationship over to the man. He calls her if he feels like it, while she's sitting home waiting to be called.

If a girl thinks a man has an interest in her, what's wrong with calling him?

I'm single, 29, and have been dating since I was 16. If I meet a man who appeals to me and I think it's mutual, I'll call him and invite him over. He might think I'm pushy, and he may even reject me, but that's the chance I take. And it beats sitting home alone waiting to be called.

Also, I never give my phone number to a man who won't give me his. If he refuses, or gives me his office number, I know he's probably married or living with someone.

Times have changed, Abby. Women no longer must wait to be chosen. They can do some choosing on their own. This doesn't mean chasing after someone who has no interest in them. My motto is: "It never hurts to ask."

BONNIE IN ALLENTOWN

DEAR BONNIE: Your attitude makes sense, and will probably find more winners among women than men. Men have been risking rejection for years. If a woman takes the initiative and is rejected, it's not the end of the world. Let's declare 1978 the year of the open season on all eligibles—regardless of sex.

DEAR ABBY: A niece of mine was married recently. I wasn't able to attend the wedding and didn't know what to get her for a wedding gift, so I sent her a check for $100. (It's not easy for me to shop as I am somewhat handicapped.)

I just received a thank-you note from the bride which both annoyed and shocked me. She wrote, "Your generous gift has already been put to good use in buying gifts for the girls in my wedding party."

I was under the impression that a cash wedding gift should be used to buy something for the newlyweds.

Am I wrong to feel perturbed? It was my intention to give her a "gift," not to help with the wedding expenses.

DISAPPOINTED

DEAR DIS: Your niece probably put the money where it would do the most good. Overlook it. At least she was honest.

CONFIDENTIAL TO F.J.R.: Instead of yearning for some kind of immortality, remember the words of Benjamin Franklin:
"If you would not be forgotten,
As soon as you are dead and rotten,
Either write things worth reading
Or do things worth the writing."

If you feel left out and lonely, or wish you know how to get people to like you, my new booklet, "How Too Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old," is for you. Send $1 along with a long, self-addressed, stamped (24 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

PLACES SECOND--Larry Genuchi, member of the Snyder Jaycees board of directors, placed second in a speech on "Economic Justice" at the regional Jaycee convention in Abilene.

OUTSTANDING CHAPTER--Snyder Jaycee-ettes were awarded the outstanding chapter plaque in Area C at their recent regional convention in Abilene. Billie Smith, left, displays the chapter award, and Jo Ann Urban, local president, received a first place award for her extemporaneous speech in competition with a number of others in the area.

Snyder Jaycees Win Awards At Convention

Snyder Jaycees won a number of awards at a regional Jaycee Convention held recently in Abilene.

The local club entered three project books and received two first places and one second place award.

The Kiddie Park and the chapter's newsletter project books both received first place awards. The muscular dystrophy project book placed second.

Other awards included the Early Bird, which is awarded to the chapter which has the greatest number of members attending the convention breakfast.

Lynn Smith, Snyder Jaycees President, received first place in the Armbruster Award judging. This competition is developed for Jaycee members over two years and involves submitting a written resume and answering questions orally on individual Jaycee goals.

Larry Genuchi received a second place plaque for his speech on "Economic Justice Can Best Be Won by Free Men through Free Enterprise." The Snyder chapter also received the travel trophy which is awarded to the chapter travelling the greatest distance with the most members.

District Director Robert Pinkston of Snyder conducted the noon luncheon, while Tommy LaRoux of Snyder, regional director, was the master of ceremonies for the evening banquet.

Snyder Jaycee-ettes also fared well at the convention. Nancy LaRoux, chairman of the Texas Jaycee-ettes Presidents' Cabinet; Cindy Ferguson, cabinet member; Jo Ann Urban, Snyder Jaycee-ette president; Billie Smith, local historian, and Shirley Keely, local member, attended from Snyder. A first place award was received by Jo Ann Urban for her extemporaneous speech on "How Jaycee-ettes Changed My Life."

The Snyder Chapter was awarded a plaque as outstanding chapter in Area C.

Looking at gall stones

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB – Will all gall stones show up on X rays? I had my gall bladder removed a year ago. A year has passed since then and I have lots of pain in the area where the gall bladder was. I have had X rays and no stones show up.

I have heard if one has stones that aren't removed they can cause cancer. Is there any other way except by X ray that they can locate gall stones?

DEAR READER – In general, there are two types of gall stones but there can be mixtures of materials that form stones. The stones formed chiefly from cholesterol are not opaque on X rays. That is why a person takes gall bladder dye before a gall bladder examination.

The dye is opaque and concentrates inside the gall bladder. The transparent cholesterol stones then stand out from the solid appearing dye and can be seen.

The stones made from bile pigment are small, hard stones that are visible on X rays without dye and some stones contain other minerals that make them visible.

The opaque stones can be seen by X ray even if they are in the bile system after the gall bladder has been removed, and if you inject opaque material the others can be seen as well. There are techniques to visualize by X ray the entire bilary tree.

Discomfort from abnormal drainage of the bile may still be present after an operation. Then there is that frequent problem that the pain the patient was bothered with may not have been caused by the gall stones at all, even if stones were present. The main offender here is pain in the colon, in the upper right abdomen over the liver area. A spastic colon often causes pain in this area whether or not the person has gall stones. When the gall stones are seen on X ray, it is then assumed that they are the cause of the pain –which may not be the case at all.

In such a case, after the gall stones are removed the spastic colon persists and the pain in the upper right abdomen persists too. The patient may think it is because the gall bladder disease has not been cured, but the truth may be the gall bladder never had anything to do with the pain.

That doesn't mean the gall bladder should not have removed. The weight of evidence is in favor of removing a diseased gall bladder if you have a good surgeon available and are otherwise in good health and unlikely to have complications from surgery. I might add that all the surgeons I know tell me they are very good, but some of them seem to have better results than others.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-9, Gall Stones and Gall Bladder Disease, to give you more information. Others who want information on this subject can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for this issue to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

If you have colon complaints, you may need to go on a program to improve your colon function, including increasing the cereal bulk in your diet.

There is an increased incidence of cancer of gall bladders with stones. Since yours has been removed, I think you don't need to worry about that.

STOCKING THE SHELVES—Agnes Bowen and Betty Shelburne are checking the shelves at the Snyder Book Store, making sure they have in stock a supply of the latest religious best sellers.

Snyder Book Store Has Spacious Facilities In Its New Location

Although not a new store, the Snyder Book Store has a new location with spacious facilities.

Formerly located at 3904 College Ave., the Snyder Book Store has now moved next door, to 3902 College Ave. The store is open from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Saturday.

In its remodeled facilities, the Snyder Book Store has more room than before and consequently, more books.

The Snyder Book Store has a large supply of Christian materials ranging from pocket Bible testaments to beautifully bound family Bibles, said store owner Betty Shelburne.

The store also has self-study Bible aids for persons wishing to pursue an independent study of the Bible. For youngsters, the Snyder Book Store has Bible coloring books and flannelgraphs.

In the religious materials line, the Snyder Book Store has Christian jewelry and albums of hymns.

But the store offers its readers more than just religious materials. The store also has a variety of other books.

The Snyder Book Store has "Little House on the Prairie" stories "Nancy Drew" books, and "Hardy Boy" stories, and illustrated junior classics.

And, with Christmas coming up, Mrs. Shelburne pointed out, a book would make an excellent gift.

The store has books on infants and infant care, dictionaries, concordances, religious commentaries, as well as Cliff and Monarch study guides and posters.

Nor are wedding forgotten at the Snyder Book Store. The store, Mrs. Shelburne said, has a variety of wedding supplies, cake ornaments, photograph albums, wedding invitations, candles, and plumed pens.

Whether its a Bible, a book for self improvement, a Christmas gift, or wedding supplies, the Snyder Book Store has what you need.

The Vikings failed in attempts to invade Britain near its white cliffs of Dover in the 10th and 11th centuries, but the Normans were successful in 1066.
