NEW YORK, March 3 — UP—The shooting of five congressmen in Washington on Monday was part of a plot to overthrow the United States government by the assassination of its leaders.

Private advices to the United Press from San Juan, Puerto Rico, said Wednesday that among those marked for death in the plot were President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover.

Labor Recruit Bill To Senate

WASHINGTON, March 3 — UP—Senate action is expected Wednesday or Thursday on a House-approved bill permitting this government to recruit labor from foreign hands at the border without Mexico's consent.

WASHINGTON, March 3 — UP—The government pressed for speedy grand-jury action against four Puerto Rican assassins Wednesday as the Justice Department considered slapping criminal charges on the leaders who may have spawned the terror attack in Congress Monday.

Informal sources revealed that department experts believe there is a chance the government can prosecute Puerto Rican Nationalist party chiefs under the Smith act which sent U. S. Communist leaders to jail.

Federal agencies have launched a sweeping investigation into the widely-held belief that Communists prompted the four Nationalist fanatics to launch their unprecedented assault. But even if this cannot be confirmed, informants said the Nationalist leaders might still be prosecuted because the Smith act makes it a crime for anyone to advocate or plot the violent overthrow of the government.

Zwicker Is Aided By President In McCarthy Feud

Seeks Cooperation Between Branches

WASHINGTON, March 3 — UP—President Eisenhower Wednesday defended Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker against criticism by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.). In a news conference statement the President deplored the humiliation of executive department representatives before congressional committees.

Officials in the executive branch of the government will have my unqualified support in insisting that employees in the executive branch who appear before any type of executive or congressional investigative body be treated fairly," he said.

The President said "real cooperation" between the executive and legislative branches of government would be possible "only in an atmosphere of mutual respect."

He did not call McCarthy by name but his references were obvious, particularly when he singled out Zwicker in paying tribute to the loyalty of the officers and men of the armed services.

"Respect Should Be Assured" Mr. Eisenhower said all executive officials and employees should respond "cheerfully and completely" to the requests of Congress and its committees, but that they should be assured of "respect and courtesy."

Asked what he thought of this, Mr. Eisenhower said firmly that assignment to duty of any administrative officer in any department is the responsibility of the department head and no one else.

Mr. Eisenhower, faced by more than 250 reporters, did not wait for questions about the dispute between McCarthy and Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens. The recent dispute arose from the case of a New York dentist, Dr. Irving Peress, who was honorably discharged as a major after he refused to answer Army loyalty questions, and Brig. Gen. Zwicker, commander of the camp where the discharge was issued.

Intelligence Questioned Because of Zwicker's testimony in the case of Peress, who was alleged to have a Communist background, McCarthy questioned Zwicker's intelligence and said he should be removed from any command.

China, Korea Reds Accept Geneva Bid

TOKYO, March 3 — UP—The Communist governments of China and North Korea have accepted invitations from Russia to attend the Geneva conference, their official radio stations announced Wednesday night.

South Korea has not yet declared officially whether she will attend the conference. However, high government officials said privately, President Syngman Rhee will, reluctantly, send a delegation.

Peiping Radio, the voice of Red China, announced China's acceptance shortly before 10 p.m. (7 a.m. est) in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo.

A few hours earlier, Radio Pyongyang said North Korea had accepted a Russian invitation to attend the parley. The broadcast, also monitored in Tokyo, said North Korea would send to Geneva a delegate with full powers to represent his government.

The broadcast emphasized the invitation to the April 26 conference on Korea came from Russia. However, the decision to invite North Korea actually was made at the recent Berlin meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers.

Radio Pyongyang is the official broadcasting outlet of the North Korean Communist command.

He Gains From Loss

Crime doesn't pay! At least one would-be thief in Pampa has found that out.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Butler, 800 E. Murphy, Monday night attended a Parent-Teachers Association program at Baker School.

Butler said he parked his car under a street light and did not lock it before entering the school.

Returning to the car following the program, they discovered that someone apparently had been in the car, since one of the car's doors was open.

He said that a quick examination showed that the only thing missing was a cheap flashlight that he had purchased several years ago.

Butler went to his job at The Pampa Daily News before day-light Tuesday and did not make a thorough examination of the car until noon. Then he found a screwdriver, worth two or three times more than the old flashlight. The screwdriver apparently had been used to remove the seal of the car by the thief.

Excise Tax Cuts Pending

WASHINGTON, March 3 — UP—The House Labor committee voted 14 to 13 Wednesday to strip the National Labor Relations Board of its power to handle "unfair labor practice" charges.

The committee was likely to go along with President Eisenhower's request that the present excise tax rates on liquor, beer, gasoline, cigarettes and automobiles be continued. Unless taxes on these items are extended, they will be cut automatically on April 1.

Mr. Eisenhower, however, did not request the cuts the committee is expected to make on some other items.

Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey said Tuesday night he did not think the government could stand the loss of revenue.

Humphrey recalled that the administration has promised to cut taxes when the budget is more nearly balanced. But he said the government is still apparently running in the red.

The proposed reductions are sponsored by committee chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) with the support and approval of House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr.

Some GOP leaders think excise tax cuts are the best way to combat a Democratic drive to hike the present $600 personal income tax exemption.

Truce Offer To Mau Maus Is Launched

NAIROBI, Kenya, March 3 — UP—Britain launched an effort Wednesday to negotiate a truce with the Mau Mau organization which has brought death and terror to thousands in its efforts to drive the white man out of Africa.

British authorities were aided in their efforts by "General China," captured No. 2 leader of the terrorists whose death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment for his co-operation.

British officials established contact with the terrorists through letters written by General China to his subordinates, an official statement said.

The statement said questioning of China, who was wounded when he was captured Jan. 15, indicated a widespread feeling among the Mau Mau that further fighting was useless.

China, a 22-year-old Negro whose real name is Waruhiu Itote, was taken into the forests under police guard to talk with Mau Mau leaders in their hideouts, the British reported.

Kickoff Today For Farm Price Support

WASHINGTON, March 3 — UP—The Senate was scheduled to kick off the big farm battle of 1954 Wednesday on a bill to fund for price support operations.

Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland planned to call up for debate an administration bill to increase by $1,750,000,000 the lending authority of the Commodity Credit Corp., the government's price supporting agency.

President Eisenhower requested the increase in his budget message to Congress. The corporation's present $6,750,000,000 lending authority is nearly exhausted and an emergency bill was rushed through Congress last month to keep the price support operations going on an interim basis.

Action Shifts to Senate The Senate Agriculture committee will hear the bill covering most of the administration's controversial proposals for overhaul of basic farm law.

The Vermont Republican introduced the long-awaited bill Tuesday and appealed to the sharply divided Senate for a "fair hearing" on its merits.

Aiken said he expects Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson of one of his assistant secretaries to be the lead-off witness in the hearings which will last into April.

May Suggest 'Additions' Aiken disclaimed an "administration bill" label for the measure but agreed "as far as it goes, its provisions do meet with administration approval." He said Benson may suggest some "additions" later.

Both the committee and the Senate appear sharply divided on the administration approach to the farm problem.

Benson received a setback Tuesday when the House Agriculture committee voted to veto his plan for a 90 per cent parity — to 75 per cent for the year beginning April 1. The House group favored a bill limiting the cut to 5 per cent in any one year.

Income Drops During January

WASHINGTON, March 3 — UP—Personal income of Americans dropped to an annual rate of $28,500,000,000 in January — $2 billion less than in December, the Commerce Department has reported.

But taxpayers had a little more left after paying taxes "because of the 10 per cent cut in income taxes starting Jan. 1."

Lower payments for wages and salaries in private industry accounted for about two-thirds of the drop in personal income. The other third resulted from the hike in Social Security contributions which went from 1.5 to 2 per cent on the first $3,600 of wages.

Democrats Urged To Reject Party Leadership Of Shivers

HOUSTON, March 3 — UP—Agriculture Commissioner John C. White called upon Texas Democrats Tuesday night to reject the party leadership of Gov. Allan Shivers and "re-establish political integrity in the affairs of our state."

White, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for governor himself, did not call Shivers by name. But he lambasted freely his direction of party affairs.

The agriculture commissioner accused party leaders of doing a "complete reversal" on election cross-filing in a speech before a joint meeting of Young Democrats of Harris county and the Harris County Democratic Women's Organization.

His pointed remarks left little doubt that it was Shivers about whom he spoke when he noted that last week in Mineral Wells, at a state convention of Young Democrats, "a so-called head of the Democratic party of Texas declared that no candidate for office who seeks cross-filing will be placed on the Democratic ticket this year."

White pointed out that he was the only state official in 1952 who refused to let Republicans cross-file his name on the GOP ballot.

The chance in policy, he said, was "an abrupt and complete reversal of the trend established in 1952 when this (Shivers) faction eagerly sought to obtain cross-filing for its candidates."

White called upon Texas Democrats Tuesday night to reject the party leadership of Gov. Allan Shivers and "re-establish political integrity in the affairs of our state."

Tag Deadline Is April 1

Contrary to reports, the deadline for automobile inspection in Texas is April 1, according to Highway Patrolman E. J. Robertson.

There have been reports to the effect that automobiles should be inspected by April 15, he said, but this is erroneous.

Highway patrolmen will begin issuing citations after April 15 to all drivers who do not have inspection stickers on their automobiles. Warnings will be issued between April 1 and 15, he said.

Cars should be taken to the several official inspection stations prior to the deadline for the annual inspection. Inspectors will check for 25 items in steering, brakes, lights, windshield wipers, etc.

The fee for inspection is one dollar. Any repairs needed to bring the car up to inspection standards, of course, would require an extra charge, Robertson added.

Borger Girls Are Treated For Exposure

BORGER, Tex., March 3 — UP—Two teen-age girls were responding to treatment at Borger hospital Wednesday after they were found lying half-frozen in the snow alongside the Santa Fe railroad tracks.

The two girls, Anne Jean Parker, 13, and Eva Nell Griffin, 12, were still in serious condition, however, from shock and exposure, attendants said. Anne Jean's condition was believed to be the worst.

She was the first found by train engineer W. V. Miller, Azadillo, lying half-buried in snow in a narrow ditch along side the railroad tracks, two miles south of the Borger Gulf Camp.

Miller halted the train and pulled the girl into the caboose where Conductor E. Elder, also of Amarillo, massaged her almost-frozen limbs and body until the train reached Borger and she was removed to a hospital.

Miller said the girl was so nearly frozen to death she couldn't talk, or tell officers where Eva Nell was.

The alarm was first sounded when the fathers of the two girls tightened the junior high where they attended school and learned they had been missing since about 1:30 p.m. The parents called about the girls failed to come home as usual after school.

Lefors Bond Vote Returns

LEFORS — A total of 35 persons had voted personally by 11:30 a.m. today in the Lefors public schools $300,000 bond issue election.

Including the 12 persons who voted absentee last week, that makes a total of 47 of an estimated 200 eligible voters who had cast their ballots by late this morning.

The polls were to be open till 7 p.m. today in the Lefors schools business office, located on the north side of the Corner Drug. Lefors.

Two issues were to be voted on. One was an increase of the tax rate from $1 to $1.50; the other, the authorization of a bond issue "up to $300,000" according to Lefors Schools Superintendent Archie Roberts.

The bond issue, if approved by the voters, would be for the construction of a new school building and the renovation of existing facilities. Roberts said. The new building would include a gym, band hall, cafeteria and vocational shop.

Demand Funds Audit Duval Citizens Band Together

SAN DIEGO, Tex., March 3 — UP—A newly formed citizens group, calling itself the Duval County Clean Government League, was on record Wednesday in favor of a "complete audit" of Duval county funds.

The group also urged that Auditor C. H. Cavness be subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury. The organization, headed by Lawrence H. Warburton Sr. of Freer, asked the Duval county grand jury to take "definite action" in connection with alleged irregularities in the handling of county funds.

The group also asked the grand jurors to have trustees of two school districts present depository agreements made with two banks controlled by political boss George Farr.

The league cited an audit report by Cavness listing numerous "irregularities" in handling of Duval finances.

The group was one of two formed in this South Texas county. The other, the "United Mothers of Du-

Pope Gains Slightly

VATICAN CITY, March 3 — UP—Vatican sources reported Wednesday at the beginning of Lent that Pope Pius XII's confinement is expected to extend through the 40-day season of fasting and prayer.

The pope, who has been ill for 37 days, was reported in satisfactory condition. He has shown slight improvement since suffering a setback Feb. 21.

Vatican sources said they did not believe the pope would recover sufficiently to resume public activity before Easter at the very earliest.

BEAUMONT, Tex., March 3 — UP—Criminal District Judge Owen Lord will hear a petition Monday charging a Beaumont couple with trying to sell their newborn child to the "highest bidder."

The child, a girl, was born last Sunday. Child Welfare Director Leslie Pos signed the petition.

The father, identified as Russell Wilkerson, has been in Beaumont five weeks, officers said. He was arrested and a misdemeanor charge was filed against him. Bond was set at $5,000. The mother and child were still hospitalized.

Income Tax Filing Time Draws Near

Less than two weeks remain to prepare federal income tax returns and pay it to the district director of internal revenue, according to Ellis Campbell Jr., director of the Dallas revenue district, and Walter C. Bowen, Pampa collector of internal revenue.

A necessary preliminary to preparing a complete return of an individual's or business' financial operation during 1953, they pointed out. The local office will be able to furnish information over the telephone where questions of tax returns do not involve complex problems. Also, Bowen will be in his office in the Post Office five days a week until the deadline March 15, to help with filing income tax returns.

The district director emphasized that taxes should be paid by check or money order and not by cash. The office to which payments should be sent by Pampans is 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas. If a refund is expected, the envelope should be marked "refund claim" for prompt handling.

Also due by March 15 is social security payment by self-employed individuals and partners in a business covered by social security. This is not a voluntary tax, but is required by law. The payment and report should be submitted with the income tax filing.

In order to insure that the net income is correctly credited to the wage record, it is important to show a correct social security number on the report. Those who have never had a social security number or who have lost it, should apply immediately for an original or duplicate card at the nearest social security office.

To aid Pampans and persons from the surrounding area, a representative from Amarillo Social Security office will be in the Texas Employment Commission Office here at 9:30 a.m. every Monday.

His young wife, 310 is expecting her first baby in two months, told him Tuesday afternoon that his condition had "improved" warrants the speedy action, said U.S. Attorney Leo A. Rover who is handling the prosecution.

If found guilty on all of the five assault counts against them, the four would face a maximum sentence of 75 years each. They would face murder charges and a death penalty if any one of their victims should die.

But there were no signs of concern as they lounged defiant and remorseless in the district jail—dark-eyed Miss Lolita Lebron, 34; tall, rath handsome Rafael Canell Mirancho, 29; steady-andra Fiqueroa Cordero, 29 and Irving Rodriguez-Rodriguez, 27, all of New York.

Wave of Apprehension

The apprehension through the capital, Police dispatched 38 men to bolster the guard in Congress. White House sentries were doubled at key points, permits to enter Senate and House grounds were rigidly controlled, and lawmakers made dozens of proposals for preventing future assaults — ranging from bullet-proof glass for the galleries to individual FBI protection.

Officials said they expect the grand jury to complete its secret inquiry before nightfall and to return indictments against the four assailants in a day or so. "The gravity of their crime warrants the speedy action," said U.S. Attorney Leo A. Rover who is handling the prosecution.

Lions Minstrel Is Now History

The stage of the Pampa Junior High School auditorium was empty today.

The 1954 Pampa Lions Club Minstrel Show was history.

Gone were the bright lights, the bluffs of the sell-out crowds, the black faces, the worries and the delights.

Only the cleaning-up was left. School Custodian T. E. Miller, the man who worked the lights for the show's two-night run, was in charge of that.

Today was the day for Minstrelers to think of the unsung partners of the show. They thought of Ham Luna who was in charge of the stage crew. They thought of the Lions who did the ushering. And they thought of the four women from Moore's Beauty Salon—Miss Lena Cree, Dorothy Whitsett, Euna Lee Moore, Hazel Lockhart—who made up the entire cast in blackface.

And, too, they thought of the members of the Top O' Texas chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. Barbershoppers only rated one line in the show's program, but they comprised a basic part of the Minstrel.

Ed Myatt and Bunny Shultz, two of the mainstays of the show, today praised the entire cast, pointing out that each and every one of them was an integral part of the end-product. Wrap-up of the affair for 1954 was an after-the-show party, held in the Pampa Elks Lodge hall.

What about the 1955 show? It'll be the biggest and best ever, Myatt and Shultz chorused.

Leather Industry Skins 'Everything' And Tans It

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, March 3 —UP—No hide-tanner is going to make a pair of mittens out of my little parakeet, Timmy.

The leather industry is busy tanning everything that will tan—bird hides are among them. There is an interesting exhibit of all sorts of leather goods going on now in the Commerce Department lobby, with the blessing of Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks.

There are samples of leathers made out of the hides of snakes, cattle, sheep, goats, hogs, ostriches, seals, alligators, and small birds.

From Toppers to Bottoms

The style for women runs a race between jackets to topcoats to underpants.

There also are baseball shoes. If the male young relative in your house hankers to be a big league ball player, he had better save his errand and paper money.

Big ball players wear only shoes made out of the skins of kangaroo—and young kangaroos, at that. They cost at least $30 a pair, and buy your own spikes, extra.

According to the 250 manufacturers, there is nothing that can't be made out of leather. There are shoes, upholders leather furniture, which is not quite new, leather wall—spealing and floors made of leather.

"How about scuffing of the leather floors?" I asked. "For instance, with iron heels?"

"You wax 'em and buff 'em," he said. "Like you would a saddle. Good leather las'—even on floor pants."

In another corner of the busy lobby is a spot where you can look at leather cuff links. I didn't spend much time there.

Atomic gloves; it developed, now are made of leather and are weightless.

Indians Protest Bill Which Strips Protective Cloak

WASHINGTON, March 3 —UP—The National Congress of American Indians urged Congress Sunday to reject legislation to lift federal protection over one-sixth of the Indian tribes still on reservations.

The organization, representing some 40 tribes, believes the Indians are not ready to go out on their own. It claims the government has failed to provide the necessary schools and health facilities at the reservation to prepare the Indians for another way of life.

Clarence Wesley, a grandson of the Apache war chief Geronimo, accused "some people" in Congress and the Interior Department of paving the way for the destruction of the American Indian.

He said they would destroy our people with laws which divide us, endanger our property and violate the provisions of our sacred treaties.

He referred to a series of 10 withdrawal bills now before the House and Senate interior subcommittee on Indian affairs. "The bills would withdraw federal wardship over reservations from Florida to California.

The Indian congress representing some 110,000 Indians, wound up a four-day meeting here Sunday.

Young Hopeful Hires Airplane As Press Agent

HOLLYWOOD, March 3 —UP—A hopeful young actor today hired an airplane to haul a sign with his name over Hollywood, thus claiming the wackiest publicity campaign in movieland history.

The sign dangling from the airplane, "Lank Rivers," was held by a banner.

All week the plans will circle over Paramount, MGM and other studios.

Most Hollywoodians, however, already know that name.

A year ago a huge billboard bearing only two words, "Lank Rivers," appeared to guide motorists on Sunset Blvd. At least once a week since then his name has been emblazoned in an ad in the movie trade papers, "Lank Rivers," the ads say, that's all.

If a producer wanted to hire Rivers he wouldn't know where to start. Lank isn't sure himself whether he advertises his name to crash the movies or just for fun.

"I never put my phone number in the ads because I don't want any little acting jobs," he explained. "I'm asking $100,000 a picture. If they don't give me stardom, I'm not interested."

"I had acted in TV and movies a bit under my real name. Then I decided to start from scratch and build up a name, just as an experiment. After all, products are sold by advertising. Why not actors?"

"Sometimes I don't care if I ever get any calls at all. I just get a kick out of seeing name in print. I have never had an agent, nor approached anyone about acting jobs. I figure this is a long-term deal, to advertise my name for a couple of years."

The hero of the billboards is a well-to-do young businessman from Phoenix, Ariz. He picked the name "Lank Rivers" as a fitting western-type star. He won't reveal his own name yet "because it might spell some of my business deals."

Lank said he recently discovered that a Judy Holiday movie that's soon to be released by Columbia, "It Should Happen to You," imitates his real-life case. The film, finished last year, concerns a well-known named Gladys Glover who wanted to see her name on a billboard, so she bought one.

This week Lank's ads in the movie trade papers read, "Lank Rivers Hates Gladys Glover."

"I'm sure the Columbia people are puzzled over my ads because they don't know who I am," he said. "Matter of fact, I'm puzzled myself."

API Schedules Membership Drive Dance

HOW TO MOVE AN ACCIDENT VICTIM — is demonstrated today by members of the first aid instructors' course, being sponsored by the Pampa Red Cross chapter. The above "victim" had a head injury, and after learning how to bandage such a wound, the class practiced moving him without causing complications or further injury. The 15-hour course is being taught by H. H. Gilliam, National Board first aid instructor. The class will meet each evening this week at 7 p.m. in City Hall. Shows above, lifting the "victim" from left to right, are C. Herbert Love of Pampa, Chester Oglesby of the Berger police department, and L. K. Fuller of McLean. The "victim" is Bob Roloff of Pampa. An estimated 250-300 couples are expected to be on hand at week's end for the annual membership drive dance for the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute.

Get-together is scheduled for 9 p.m. Friday in the Bonavista Cafeteria, located near Berger, according to J. W. Graham Jr., chapter chairman.

"One of the outstanding affairs for Panhandle oilmen," the dance is the traditional way that APIaters conclude their annual membership drive, Martin Ludeman, chapter secretary-treasurer, said late this morning.

The Panhandle chapter is one of the largest in the institute's Mid-Continent District, which includes Oklahoma, Illinois, Kansas and the Texas Panhandle, according to J. W. Graham Jr., chapter chairman.

On the bandstand will be Weldon Bright and his orchestra, Graham said, pointing out that as the cafeteria is the only place in the area large enough the "crowds usually flock." Advance reservations are not necessary, Ludeman said.

The forecast for Pampa and vicinity is for clear and warm weather this afternoon and Thursday.

A small amount of moisture was received from Tuesday's snowfall, but it wasn't enough to measure, according to reports from Radio Station KPDM's weather station.

Farmers of the area were hoping for more moisture in the form of snow from the cold wave, but they are satisfied with Tuesday's snowfall. The snow was of very little, or no, benefit to crop and pasture land, but as one farmer put it, it was better than nothing at all.

The mercury dropped to a low of 12 degrees before dawn this morning and had risen to 21 degrees at 10 a.m. Tuesday's high was 28 degrees.

Hopes For More Moisture Dimmed

The weatherman today held little hope for any more moisture for the Pampa area and Gray County "in the current cold spell."

Wyatt To Address TMTS Thursday

Pampa's Dr. Malcolm Wyatt, the featured speaker for the monthly meeting of the Texas Medical Technological Society, will discuss the nation's Number One killer—heart disease.

Get-together is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Johnson's Cafe, according to Emmett H. (Red) Mays, past society secretary.

Wyatt is president of the 26-county North Plains District of the Texas Heart Association, and commanding officer of the Pampa National Guard unit's new medical detachment, the latter organized Monday night by Maj. Ray O. Phillips, Austin.

Auto Insurance Coverage Adds Medical Clause

AUSTIN, March 3 —UP—The State Board of Insurance Commissioners has approved an optional clause for automobile liability policies covering medical payments for the insured if he is struck by an automobile while he is a pedestrian.

The board approved "automobile coverage" providing payment of medical, hospital and funeral expenses for the insured and his family if they are hit by an automobile while afoot.

Medical payments already available in automobile liability insurance policies provide for such payments to persons hit by the insured or his automobile but not for the insured if he or his family is the injured or killed.

The board said the coverage is optional, available at an additional premium.

Traffic Experts

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3 —UP—Men stopping autos to hand out survey cards as part of a program to speed up traffic succeeded in snarling miles of it Tuesday on Bayside Freeway south of here.

Chicago May Ban Jans

CHICAGO, March 3 —UP—The police department, which had previously set a 4 a.m. Jans Ban, appeared likely to ban it Wednesday after protests by the Roman Catholic church.

Ministers To Meet

Pampa's Ministerial Alliance was slated to hold a "fellowship meeting" at 12:30 p.m. today in Johnson's Cafe dining room, according to Rev. Robert Stroble, president. Special guests for the affair were to be the ministers' wives.

Only business on the agenda was a report on city-wide church census, sponsored by the group, and a report on Negro work, Rev. Stroble advised.

Airport Board Meets Thursday

That old "chestnut" — the proposed hangar — may well be a topic of discussion at this month's meeting of the Perry LeFors Field Board.

Get-together is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Thursday at the field, according to Ed Simmons, board secretary.

Talk for months has centered around the possibility of erecting such a hangar at the field. An out-of-state representative of a construction firm has met with board members at least twice on the subject. Estimated cost of it has been placed at $28,000.

But Simmons late this morning was not sure whether the hangar would come up on the board's agenda. It has been felt that such a hangar would make money for the county-owned airport in the long run.

"Routine business" was all that Simmons could be sure of in the matter of the meeting.

MATURE PARENT Mr. and Mrs. Howard Vineyard To Make Home In Denver, Colorado

By MRS. MURIAL LAWRENCE

American schools are trying to "raise" children, charges hard-hitting reporter Howard Whitman in a recent issue of Collier's magazine. They are, he says, taking over parents' job. Instead of teaching use of the basic tools, the three R's, he asserts they are trying to control children's moral thought. And he demands that we regain control of it.

"I'm going to be hard-hitting myself," Whitman's fine-sounding demand is romantic and unrealistic. Though many parents may wish to direct children's moral thought, a great many can't or don't want to be bothered with it.

Whitman himself pointed that out last summer when he attributed the nation-wide rise in juvenile delinquency and lawlessness to a shocking breakdown in parents' moral control.

So we miss the point when we attack schools for doing our job. I may want to do it. Out in Pasadena, Mrs. Brown may be more than competent to do it. But next door to me lives an alcoholic father who's bored by the moral responsibility for his child, and down the block from Mrs. Brown are a man and wife locked in such marital hate as to make any moral concern for their children impossible.

Demanding that schools teach the three R's to irresponsible people's children doesn't make that teaching possible. For frightened youngsters do not learn easily.

There are a lot of them, as our rules on divorce, desertion and alcoholism testify. To schools, these statistics are not abstractions, but represent children — thousands of them crowding classrooms with varying degrees of learning problem that can result from home tension and moral disorder.

If you're a teacher, you come up close to the effects of our rates on divorce, desertion and alcoholism. After a while, as your students' parents can't seem to do their job, you begin to despair of doing yours. You fall for the theory of teaching "the whole child" instead of trying to make sense with the part that's been assigned to you.

Though I don't like it any better than Whitman, I understand it. I can see how schools want to take over control of children's moral thought because to date nobody has ever defined the community's obligation to the morally neglected child. Now, he must commit a delinquent act to entitle us to take over his character training.

In the absence of any other community agency authorized to substitute as moral leader for his defaulting parents, the schools have appointed themselves.

So to me, the morally-neglected child is the real issue behind the raging educational controversy. Multiplied over and over in the classrooms across the land, he accounts for the fanaticism with which certain school authorities defend their right to teach by methods not required by your child or mine.

Manners Make Friends

Even though she protests that all the other girls do it, don't let your teen-age daughter make a practice of calling boys on the telephone. The boys may not mind. But it won't make a very good impression on their parents.

Sponge Cake Made For HD Clubs

Miss Helen Dunlap, home demonstration agent, made feather sponge cake before members of the Worthwhile HD clubs at their recent meeting in the home of Mrs. N. L. Welton, southeast of town. Miss Dunlap illustrated the importance of gradually folding flour into the batter and beating the eggs just enough for a successful sponge cake. It was Mrs. Welton's birthday and members presented her with a birthday cake and gifts.

During the business meeting Mrs. Noah Cude was elected treasurer for the remainder of the club year. Miss Dunlap announced a school of instruction in her home March 22.

Cake and ice cream were served to Meses. Roy Tinsley, Ray Robertson, J. L. Carlton, Marion Robertson, Bill Kinzer, R. F. McCalip, P. G. Turner, Dewey Johnson, M. L. Robinson, Miss Dunlap and three guests, Meses. Geneva Tidwell, J. O. Pierce and H. M. Stokes. Next meeting will be held at home of Mrs. Roy Tinsley, east of town, March 8, at 2 p.m.

Fitz will presumably tell about the problems of art students. The public is cordially invited to both meetings.

Smoke Screens

The bitterest pill an observer of the national scene in these times has to swallow is the constant outburst of clouds spewed forth to hide the main facts of major issues involving what has happened to the basic philosophy of our governmental process.

The case of Senator McCarthy and his dispute with Army Secretary Stevens is a classical example.

There has been raised in the minds of a great many people some serious questions in regard to the commission, the service, the promotion and the honorable discharge of one Irving Peress, a dentist who was drafted into the Army and became a major. Peress was charged with having communist affiliations and, when questioned on these matters by McCarthy, took refuge behind the Fifth Amendment. Thereupon he was given an honorable discharge from the Army.

What a good many of us want in this case is some explanation of Army policy in such matters and for good measure the complete story of Major Peress. This is, of course, what McCarthy was trying to get at in his questioning of Peress and later Gen. Ralph Zwicker who gave Peress his discharge. We think the citizens of the country are entitled to this story but it has become questionable whether they are ever going to get it now that the focus of attention has been switched from the Peress case to a feud developing out of the case between McCarthy and Stevens.

Probably Senator McCarthy is not the politest man in the world, or even close to it, and in his rather successful pursuit of subversive elements functioning in our government we are inclined to grant him some justification. But we cannot see why the emphasis should be transferred from Army policy to McCarthy's manners no matter how rough or brusque they are.

Stevens' original position that he was not going to let Zwicker or any other Army officers give testimony in these matters of national import to McCarthy or any other congressional committee was high-handed and we were glad to see his stand modified.

We cannot understand any attitude on the part of executive branch officials of our government which would seem to say that congressional inquiries are not a legitimate function to bring to the attention of the people matters of fact and policy on any and all subjects with the simple exception of those matters which are conclusively conceded to be matters of security. We don't believe this "security" label should be arbitrarily placed on testimony or papers just because some politician is afraid there will be injury to his cause, his position or the feelings of his friends.

Of course, we have no real difficulty in understanding why a fair-sized segment of the Eisenhower entourage would want to soft-pedal probes of governmental matters. These are the same men who were wielding public power in the days of Roosevelt and Truman and they can hardly afford to have their activities in those days too clearly exposed to public view.

We cannot in fairness to the nation itself permit ourselves to forgive and forget the exploits of the New Deal for fear that those sorry days will be continued or revived. There appear to be enough independent Congressmen in Washington to keep these matters alive but it is a pity that every time some inquiry is started, some policy is explored it becomes a signal for the Smoke Screen Gang to break out its flares and fumes to becloud the real issues.

The danger of governmental corruption and the threat of subversive infiltration into important places of government are not under control yet by a long shot.

More Of Us

With an increase of more than 2,700,000 people in 1953, the United States recorded the largest annual population gain in its history.

In the past eight years the population has increased by more than 20 millions; just prior to 1946 it took 17 years to produce an increase this size. This recent population gain, the statisticians observe, exceeds by one third the entire present population in Canada.

Every age group has contributed to the population growth, but preschool children show the largest gain. Since 1940, the number of children under five has increased by about two thirds, compared with a rise of one fifth in the total population. These youngsters now constitute 11 per cent of the population, compared with eight per cent in 1940.

The people at ages 65 and over have increased by nearly 50 per cent since 1940, and now total about 13 1/2 millions, or more than 8 per cent of the population.

MILESTONE IN HUMAN HISTORY

It would be wonderful if all the adults in the nation could take time to refresh themselves in the facts of American history. It isn't a dull subject. On the contrary the discovery of this new world and the formation of the United States of America were the most moving events since the days of Christ on earth. Every school child every college student and every adult should be intimately acquainted with these events and should be constantly reminded of them throughout life. Our nation would be far stronger in every way if this could be done.

The writing, adoption and ratification of the United States Constitution was, I think, mankind's greatest step forward in the field of government. This made possible for the first time, a structure of laws and governmental institutions establishing the sacredness of the individual and safeguarding human liberty.

CONSTITUTION NEEDED
With the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1776, the colonies had announced the philosophy of individual liberty. With ratification of the Articles of Confederation 18 months later they had joined themselves together as "The United States of America." But they still had no central form of government. The colonies weren't truly a nation, and they were beset with grave problems which threatened destruction of the very ideals they sought to achieve in their new land of the free.

Thus the primary purpose of the Constitutional Convention which assembled in Philadelphia, in May, 1787, was to form the framework for a national government which would "establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity." George Washington, who had led the American armies in the war to establish individual freedom and national independence, held the first meeting to discuss a constitution, at his Mount Vernon home. To it were invited outstanding citizens from all the colonies. For two years informal talks were carried on. Then the Constitutional Convention was called.

Upon reaching the convention, delegate James Wilson, noted lawyer, said: "For the first time in six thousand years of human history men have come together to deliberate and peacefully resolve what their government shall be."

Seventy-three delegates had been chosen. Only 55 came. They were truly great men, selected by their people for outstanding intellect, integrity, leadership. There were 25 college men, 24 lawyers, eight financiers or merchants, six planters, three doctors, and two ministers. Forty-two had been delegates to the Continental Congress, eight had signed the Declaration, six the Articles of Confederation; and seven were governors of states. They were moderate men. George Washington was unanimously made convention president, and he played a tremendous part in shaping the constitution. John Madison, of Virginia; James Wilson, and Benjamin Franklin, who was 81 at the time, also played vital roles. Franklin, one of the keenest minds of all, was crippled and had to be carried in and out of Continental Hall in his wheel chair.

"DEMOCRACY" NOT MENTIONED
The living spirit of the U.S. Constitution cannot be passed along in a single newspaper column. It can be found, however, in any good history of the Convention. The document itself has seven parts. The first establishes the legislative body, the second the executive branch, and the third the judiciary. The fourth section states that full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts and records and judicial proceedings of other states. The fifth provides a method of amending the Constitution. The sixth and seventh provide for payment of debts under the articles of Confederation, and make the Constitution the supreme law of the land. Later the Bill of Rights was attached.

The U.S. Constitution thus provided the framework and foundation for the government of laws under which we live. The form of our national government is a Constitutional Republic. The word "Democracy" doesn't appear in either the Declaration or the Constitution. It is an American citizen's primary responsibility to know the history of the Constitution and how it works "to secure the blessings of liberty" for each of us.

In the earlier days of Arizona when frontier justice was the rule, there was a judge who ruled his court with an iron hand and a pair of six-shooters. The only book in the whole town was an authentic first-edition of "Rears and Roebuck" catalogue. The judge sent it to the whole town and it came time to give a sentence he would consult its pages. One morning he opened the book at random, glanced at the open page and shook his finger at the prisoner. "I fine you $1.48." The prisoner started to protest. "But you've got to have a lawyer, you're the luckiest man in town, suppose he had turned to 'plaster'."

National Whirligig... US Taxpayers Pay For Ships Built By Conquered Countries

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — Although the United States spends about $2 billion annually of the taxpayers' money to support Germany, Japan and Italy, those three nations are building more merchant vessels than their conqueror. And administrative, like so many predecessors, has taken no step to solve a problem which almost proved fatal to the democracies in both world wars.

Congress, however, has been stirred by its belated discovery of this condition. Acting as chairman of a Senate Commerce subcommittee Sen. John Marshall Butler of Maryland has just completed a month's survey of foreign shipyards and shipping. He finds that while our naval auxiliary fleet is becoming obsolete, supposedly poverty-stricken countries are building up their maritime defenses.

In new 1953 construction, England ranked at the top. Next followed Germany, Japan and Italy. Madison, of Virginia; James Wilson, and Benjamin Franklin, who was 81 at the time, also played vital roles. Franklin, one of the keenest minds of all, was crippled and had to be carried in and out of Continental Hall in his wheel chair.

INCREDIBLE FIGURES — These unbelievable figures tell only part of our past and present neglect of maritime strength, in view of the recollection that previous indifference resulted in a frenzied, beautiful and costly construction of a "bridge of ships" in 1917-1919 and in 1939-1941. Churchill attributed Allied victory to the conquest of enemy submarines.

Experts report that 80 per cent of our active merchant marine will be obsolete within 10 years. Even today, a majority of our seagoing craft are slow, not designed for modern needs, and expensive to operate. And yet, according to Senator Butler, our shipbuilding industry had no orders for commercial vessels of more than 1,000 tons in 1953, with none on the books for 1954. He reports that there is an immediate deficiency of 214 vessels of the merchant type.

LOSING SKILLED WORKERS — Our current and postwar unpreparedness leads to another train of evils. Shipyards on the Atlantic, Gulf, and Pacific coasts are losing the skilled personnel and fine facilities required for this kind of construction. It must be remembered, too, that it takes three to four years to build a modern vessel. Shipping men, commercial interests, labor unions and politicians on all three coasts have complained bitterly but vainly until lately. It is significant that four members of the Butler Committee come from great maritime states — Butler himself, Sen. Frederick G. Payne of Maine, George A. Smathers of Florida, and Warren G. Magnuson of Washington. The fifth, Sen. Charles E. Potter of Michigan, is from the Great Lakes region.

TEN FALLACIES

Sunshine Magazine
Political economists have designated the following current concepts of life as the greatest fallacies of the Twentieth Century:

1. That international friendship can be secured through gifts rather than through genuine common principles and purposes.
2. That the moral character of a nation as a whole can be better than the moral character of its citizens as individuals.
3. That anybody's opinion as to how to run the country is as good as anybody else's.
4. That government can give things to the people without first taking them away from the people.
5. That if we keep experimenting long enough we will find a substitute for an honest day's work.
6. That shorter hours and less work will produce a higher standard of living.
7. That somewhere and somehow there simply must be a substitute for honest money.
8. That somewhere in the depths of "scientific socialism" there must be a substitute for the love of one's neighbor.
9. That stealing is not stealing when the majority of the voters vote in favor of it.
10. That personal economic security, guaranteed by the government, is possible without the loss of personal liberty.

Fair Enough... Choice Of Fascism, Freedom Faces People Of United States

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)
NEW YORK — Whether you like it or not, you have got to face the fact that the present type of labor unionism is done for in this country and is going to give way to something else. Probably a state Fascism. The present system of Fascism all right but semi-private and totally irresponsible Fascism jobbed out to the AF of L and the CIO under license or charter from the state. And it is doomed.
One of the worst faults of our press and politicians is that they are afraid to admit obvious realities because they don't like the looks of them. We have the damn Fascism for years and just can't bring ourselves to admit that Mussolini was 30-odd years ahead of us. I hate the name and the substance of Fascism. I have recognized Fascism in the New Deal's NRA, in the public-housing programs financed by excessive taxes which make it impossible for people to pay a fair rent for apartments, and in the government subsidies for farmers.

All this is Fascism. But the most flagrant phase of our Fascism is the union system. And it is the only phase of American Fascism which openly practices the bloody-handed tactics of Mussolini's Black Shirts and arrogantly maintains that it has a vested right to do so.
I am not going to labor the proof of the perfidy of the union system of Fascism. Only a few weeks ago, but only a few weeks ago, details had been accidentally exposed as a by-product of a cheap underworld murder in the Bronx, the AF of L piously intoned a resolution to denounce its sub-rackets the bloody-handed tactics of Mussolini's Black Shirts and arrogantly maintains that it has a vested right to do so.

It wouldn't go so far as to expose crooks in its own circle and send them to prison. It just said, "If you must take it, boys, take it easy."
The gristle-headed bums in command of the AF of L had known about this for years and years. The Teamsters' Union has been reeking rotten with this corruption for a long time. The press caught up, panting. It is still caught up, panting. It is still caught up and other-handed about the basic issue of What Next?

Well, I will tell you what is next. State Fascism is next. It is inevitable. It makes no difference whether it is the government of labor courts under the federal jurisdiction or under some pretense of co-determination, the Marxian fakery that the Eisenhower administration has been imposing on heavy industry. What matters is that through the agency of Dave Dubinsky's anti-Kremlin Communist, Irvin Brown, it all comes down to Fascism. This disguises and euphemisms do not impair the basic nature of the deal. That "co-determination" ruse, incidentally, is supposed to divide the executive authority on a hair-line right in the middle between the owners and the unions. The unions pretend to represent "labor," but "labor," in their meaning of term, is not an element of people who work but a political group run by the familiar type of manipulating politician. And the business is loaded on the union side, but actually, today, these heavy industries are managed by the unions. The only excuse for Eisenhower's patronage of the mysterious Irving Brown, an always vicariously combative in the gut-letting on the barricades, is that he doesn't know or can't persuade himself to believe that Brown is a Soviet Communist of old commitment, never revoked. As usual, I note that Brown's Communism is a rival of the Kremlin.

If we must have fascism, why should we content ourselves with the inefficient, brutalitarian Fascism which has been putting up with all these Roosevelt-Truman rears? The waste of billions in lost wages not only of strikers but of others, thrown out of work by shortage of materials and transportation caused by regular strikes, is a great loss to the whole nation. Should any modern nation put up with such damage in order to maintain a false pretense that "labor" is exercising a right to bargain collectively through freely chosen agents? Only last week, Black claimed "jurisdiction," meaning feudal power, over 600,000 workers now embraced in other unions. These people were not asked whether they wanted to be Beck's serfs, Yea, by the accepted understanding of union "authority under the jobbed-out or delegated Fascism of the unions, he has a vested right to the submission and the dues and fees of these American worker-citizens.

Am I advocating Fascism? No, I advocate absolute revocation of Taft-Hartley, the Railway Labor Act and all the rest of the delegated Fascism now existing. We got along with free unionism until Roosevelt and in the 150 years from the founding of this republic until 1935 we became the greatest free nation on earth if not in history. Are we afraid to go back to freedom? If we don't we will go forward to Fascism.

People still think of actors and actresses with renowned names and stature in the theater as earners of glittering fortunes. Let's look at a few: Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy, noted husband and wife, Miss Tandy the great Blanche of "A Streetcar Named Desire," her scrapbooks holding with critical notices that gleam like diamonds, they now are performing "Madam, Will You Walk?" in an East Side theater for $100 a week each, less taxes and other deductions. Why? Because they are professional people, they love theater, they give it allegiance and they are making an experiment in an off-Broadway theater at modest prices. The same goes for Joe Foweraker and the four plays he is doing at the City Center with the business names in American show business in his casts. One and all, Foweraker included, receive $80 a week each. For the same thing that motivates the Cronyns, the truly arrived people of the theater must do something to keep busy, to keep theater alive and to justify themselves as players of rank.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce at long last, admits to the habitual presence of smog in that area. It has approved the wording of a statement by the California Aeronautics Commission that goes this way: "We must learn to fly in restricted visibility if the airplane is to have maximum utility in Southern California." That's not quite as candid as exclaiming: "Boy, have we got smog!" but it is a step toward candor and, for the LACC, an amazingly frank statement. "Chemical word that sounds like an Aeronautics word," "Atmopluite." It sanitizes paper; the use of the word of colorless printing fluids which become legible in the presence of the chemical. Remember the fellow who earned fame by being the first to engrave the Lord's Prayer on the head of a pin? He retired forthwith when a Racine machine company genius put the 300-character prayer on the POINT of a pin. It was done in 1936 and the result is still on exhibition in the company's office. The characters are 0.0023 inches high and are engraved 140,000 of an inch deep, so shallow that if you rubbed your finger across them they would be obliterated.

Things I don't understand: why in 1953, eight years after the war, some states still describe "an acute steel shortage" as the reason for issuing auto-licenses (abs instead of full-sized plates). Get a little aluminum in your house? You can get more silk out of it if you do it with aureomycin and chloromycin, accompanied by amino acid. No one of the three alone will do it, but all three in combination make the little insect spin silk like mad. Death, but final, of an era: one of the largest oil companies has discontinued Eureka Homeless Oil and Mick Astle Grease. So long, Dobbin. Man invented a metal cup in which you heat liquids instantly and safely — but can't think up a name for it. He calls it Bolleraster. What's wrong with that?

Friend — What's that a painting?
Artist — A boy and a girl making love.

Coyotes Surprised Critics In Winning 5-AAAA Cage Title

By BOB HEIDEN
Wichita Falls Record News
WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Mar. 3 — Counted out at the start of the season as a contender in District 5-AAAA, the Wichita Falls Coyotes will face Pampa at 7:30 Friday night in the first round of the state tournament.

Pat King, a slender 5-11 marksman, is the top scorer of the crew that bounced back after an opening loss to take the best two series from San Antonio Jefferson last week.

King has tallied 552 points during the Pack's 24-5 campaign, for a 19.2 average. Abetting King in the starting lineup for Coach Perry Goolsby are Leroy Toon, 6-3; Tommy Atwell, 5-9; Emmett Rogers, 6-2; and Clifford Morris, 6-11.

Here's the season scoring for the five regulars — all seniors — and note a returning starter from last year, plus the totals of Eugene Brooking, 5-8 junior who sees plenty of work.

The Coyotes won 13 of their first 13 practice games, dropping a one-point decision to Graham, 70-69, in their fifth appearance. Mighty Bowie, considered the greatest team in Texas schoolboy history, had to break a 56-56 tie with the Coyotes in the return match, then clipped the Lions, 55-53, in a special one-game play-off to represent 4A-5 in the state playoffs.

Bowie's Jackrabbits defeated the Pack for a second time, 75-63, in the Bowie tournament final.

The bi-district playoff was another uphill struggle for Coach Goolsby's Coyotes. They lost the opener at San Antonio, 61-42, then roared back with 50-46 and 65-58 triumphs at Wichita Falls.

Wichita Falls' high-scoring Pat King has scored in only four games this season (the Coyotes lost three of those).

Pampa Due To Be Well Represented At State Schoolboy Tourney This Weekend

HARVESTER BASKETBALL fans are flocking to the state cage tournament at Austin today and the flow will likely continue tomorrow and early Friday morning.

Most of the fans leaving today, of course, will be taking in the entire tournament that starts tomorrow morning. The Harvesters don't play until Friday but the games leading up to the 4A class are worthwhile attending.

That was a nice gesture on the part of the school officials to give the kids a holiday Friday in order that they can go to Austin without cutting classes.

There were a lot of Pampa students and fans at last year's state tournament and their backing helped the Green and Golders a lot. More of the same this year will be appreciated by the careers themselves. Several of the boys remarked last year that the friendly atmosphere of hometown folk in Gregory Gym was a tremendous help to them.

Although the Harvesters are being favored from all corners of the state to advance into the finals again, their first round foe—Wichita Falls—is going to be a tough "cookie."

When we glanced at their season record and saw that Bowie, who will be seeking their fourth state Double title in the tournament this weekend, had to break a tie in the final 35 seconds of play, to beat Wichita Falls, we realize the Coyotes have something on the ball.

The tallest Coyote is only 6-3 and with Temple Tucker at 6-11 on Bowie's side, shortage of height isn't going to be too much of an obstacle for Wichita Falls to hurdle in the state tourney.

Class AA teams who come up with outstanding teams year in and year out but who don't have a boy starting guard close to matching Tucker's 6-11 stature, will be glad to know that the Bowie string-bean will be graduating this year.

BUNTING LESSON — While the Harvester basketballers are in Austin for the state tournament, another squad of athletes — the baseballers — continue preparations for the opening of the coming season here at home. In the above photo, coach Dean Franklin, left, taking over the head coaching reins for the Harvesters after several years of pro ball, is instructing several of his charges on bunting. Reed Sparks Tech In Win Over Buffs

LUBBOCK, March 3 —UP—Tech captured its first Border Conference basketball championship since 1936 by defeating West Texas State 84 to 71 Tuesday night in a bitterly-fought game in Tech Fieldhouse.

The win sent Tech into the NCAA playoffs as the Border Conference representative. Tech and Santa Clara coaches were expected to confer by telephone with NCAA officials Wednesday to determine the site of the playoff game between the two teams March 8 or 9.

West Texas needed to win to throw the Conference title race into a tie. Tech's victory gave the Red Raiders an 11 to 1 record in conference play and a 20 to 4 season record.

West Texas finished second with a 9 to 3 record and Arizona was third with an 8 to 4 mark.

West Texas' only conference loss was a double overtime defeat at the hands of West Texas, 80 to 72, at Canyon one month ago Tuesday night.

Jim Reed, Tech's potent sophomore, paced the winners with 27 points and turned in a masterful defensive job on Troy Burrus, the Buff's leading scorer. He held Burrus to 11 points in comparison to the Buff center's normal 23.4 points per game average.

West Texas staged a spirited fourth-quarter rally after trailing by as much as 25 points, but couldn't quite close the gap even against Red Raider reserves.

Red Raiders Gain NCAA Cage Spot

NEW YORK, March 3 —UP—Tech moved into the NCAA tournament Wednesday as the newly-crowned Border Conference basketball champion, but Rice and Tech wound up in a tie for the Southwest Conference title and faced a playoff to a tourney berth.

High-scoring Tech clinched its crown in its season finale Tuesday night with an 84 to 71 victory over second-place West Texas State, thus qualifying to meet Santa Clara in a first-round game March 8 or 9 at a site to be selected.

Rice and Texas each won its final game of the season Tuesday night. Rice leading almost all the way to beat SMU 90 to 64, and Texas doing the same thing to whip Texas Christian 66 to 59. The two teams each have a final league record of 9-3 and will meet in a best-two-of-three playoff to decide the NCAA representative.

Series Opens Friday
The first game in that playoff series will be on Rice's court at Houston Friday, the second on Texas' court at Austin Monday and the third, if necessary, on a neutral court at Waco Tuesday.

Texas Tech's lone league loss of the season was to West Texas State in a double-overtime game at the latter's court last month. West Texas threatened to do the same Tuesday night as it took a 15-13 first quarter lead, but then Tech came on to lead the rest of the way.

Sophomore Jim Reed was the hero, scoring 27 points and holding West Texas star Troy Burrus who had been averaging 23.4 points per game, to 11.

Gene Schwinger and Don Lance racked up 22 points each to pace Rice to its important victory as the Owls went ahead after two minutes of play, built up a 25-point margin during the third period and breezed home.

Rice, Texas In Playoff

By UNITED PRESS
Rice and Texas, co-champions of the Southwest Conference basketball empire, now must settle a dispute over which of them will represent the conference in the NCAA regional tournament.

They will open a best of three series Friday night at Houston, return to Austin Monday night and play a third contest at neutral Waco Tuesday night.

The winner will then move into the NCAA tournament at Stillwater, Okla., later next week and face the Missouri Valley Conference champion.

The regular conference chase wound up in a deadlock Tuesday night when both Texas and Rice downed their opposition in the last league games of the season. Texas beat Texas Christian in Austin 65 to 59, and Rice, not to be denied, beat Southern Methodist in Houston 90 to 64.

The Owls stole a page from SMU's script as they breezed by the Mustangs without ever extending themselves. For, until last night, the Mustangs had written new records in conference books with their high-scoring methods.

They were no match, however, for the super-charged Owls, with all-conference selections Gene Schwinger and Don Lance each pouring in 22 points. The Owls broke into the lead after two minutes of play and gradually built up their margin, hitting a peak of 25 points in the third period, and adding 24 in the final quarter.

Twice, late in the second quarter and early in the third, SMU failed in a bid for the lead, but came to within four points of tying up the game.

At Austin, Texas never trailed as it jumped into an early lead. The score was 22 to 15 Texas at the end of the first quarter, 41 to 28 at halftime, and 51 to 42 at the end of three quarters.

The first Rice Texas playoff game was played in Rice Fieldhouse starting at 8 p.m. Friday. Abb Curtis, assistant executive secretary of the conference, said the second game will be played in Austin Monday.

If a third game is necessary, it will be played in Waco on Tuesday.

cause and was rated an excellent play-maker and outside shooter. Murphy ranked close behind. Lance as a floor man, was equally adept in hitting the basket and provided the steady influence on the conference scoring record with a 79.5 average through the first 11 games.

Saunders, the tallest man on the team at 6-7, was the mainstay of the Texas offense, while Warren proved the steady influence on a defending champion FGU team that never hit the favorite's peak expected of it. Warren was the only junior on the team.

Flores Making Serious Bid For World Lightweight Title

By HAL WOOD
SAN FRANCISCO, March 3 —UP—You've heard about the hungry fighter being the best fighter? Jesse Flores was asking.

"Well, you are looking at a fighter who is strictly for the war," this is the Jesse Flores who just a couple of years ago was one of the outstanding challengers for the world lightweight crown, the same lad who got tangled up in some fast living that included narcotics, the boy who had just come out of a federal "rehabilitation" home in Texas — dismissed as "probably cured."

He was standing in front of his shower door, lathered with soap from head to foot just after gaining a narrow decision over a good battler named Tommy Manolis of Los Angeles.

Hungrier Ever
"From now on," he was saying, "I'm going to be the hungriest and the best boy you ever saw."

He was feeling good, because he had proved to himself again that he would be right after a two-year lay-off. It was good to know that it was good to be free again. It was good to start life all over.

"And that's what I'm doing," he said, as his little manager, Joe Herman, looked on and nodded approval. "I'm 27 years old, not too old to start all over again. I'm going to be the best boy that ever lived from here on in."

For this fight he got about $250. That was a far cry from the purses of $5,000 to $7,800, he was drawing again?

Up Hard Way
Flores came out the hard way and he had to learn about life the hard way. He was married when he was 15; and had a daughter when he was 16. While he was in the Texas hospital, he was digging ditches, doing road work. He turned over a new leaf then. Since getting out, he has been working in a shipyard.

"I realize the mistakes I've made," he said. "But it's not too late to start over. I need money. I'm a hungry fighter."

In his first outing in two years he went 10 rounds and was hardly breathing strongly at the finish. He took some of the punches to the jaw where he is supposed to have "glass" chin. He just shook them off and came in for more. That proved his conditioning.

The only problem ahead is this: Will he remember his lessons when he gets back in the chip?

A rookie outfielder, Larry Ghalo, has been acquired by the Pampa Oilers. Business manager Jimmy Hamilton announced today.

Ghala, a San Pedro, Calif., resident, was recommended to the Oilers by Eddie Hughes, a member of the 1953 Oilers mound corps. Hughes also resides in San Pedro and will report to the Oklahoma City Indians this season.

Ghala is a big fellow and hits a long ball, Hughes told Oilers manager Doug Lewis.

Hamilton also announced today that a telephone has been hooked up in the Oilers office. The phone number is 4-5521.

"Fans who had box seats last year may sell the office now and receive the same seats for this coming year," Hamilton said. Also season book orders are now being taken at the Oilers office located at the ball park.

Industrial Week Observance Planned By Chamber Group

Plans for the observance in Pampa of Texas Industrial Week, April 1-7 are now being formulated by a special planning committee, appointed by Chairman Gordon Lyons of Industrial Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. Tentative plans were drawn up for the week's program Tuesday noon at a luncheon meeting of the planning group in Owens Restaurant. Industrial Week speakers will appear that week at luncheons of various civic clubs, it was decided, and George Newberry was named to handle arrangements for these programs. Newberry also was appointed to arrange for a speaker for an assembly program at Pampa High School. Window cards and streamers will be distributed throughout downtown Pampa for display in various business houses. Jimmy McCune will be in charge of this phase of the program. Radio forums will again be held on both Pampa stations during the annual observance, with President Clinton Evans of the Chamber making arrangements for the forums. Highlight of the week's events will be the Industrial Week banquet, which probably will be held on the night of April 1 at the Pampa Country Club. E. O. Wedgworth, chamber manager, will make arrangements for speaker, and John Frick, Lyons, and Gene Green will make other necessary arrangements. It was decided that a huge banner will be placed across Cuyler street during that week. Wedgworth also will handle this detail. Those attending the meeting Tuesday were Planning Chairman Frick, Lyons, McCune, Newberry, Evans and Wedgworth.

Contract Let For Precinct Shop Building

Pampa Steel Building Company today had the contract for both the foundation and the building in the matter of County Commissioner W. E. Jarvis' proposed steel shop building in Recreation Park. The Gray County Commissioners' Court Monday awarded the contract for the foundation work to Pampa Steel with a bid of $1,177. The court Feb. 1 awarded the building contract to the same concern with a bid of $9,702.67.

Actually, the bid of C. H. Pryor Concrete Construction Company, Pampa, ($1,000) was the lowest of the seven submitted, but the court felt that it was to the best interests of the county to award the contract to Pampa Steel.

Commissioners, too, appointed a batch of judges to oversee the Nov. 2 general election in the county, but County Judge J. B. Maguire Jr. late this morning said that some of them would not be eligible as they had not paid their poll taxes or received exemption certificates.

There are 18 voting precincts in Gray County. Four judges, two from each of the two parties, appointed to 14 of the precincts (100 or more qualified voters) and two, one from each of the two parties, to the other four precincts (less than 100 voters).

Maguire said he would ask the county party chairman, Democrat William Jarrell Smith and Republican Don M. Conley, to help in the task of getting enough judges.

The court, in further action, directed its consultant engineer, Wayland Merriman, to take a look at proposed farm-to-market road through Hoover and report back to the estimated cost. Two Hooverites, Joe Lewis and Dick Walker, appeared before the court and presented a 6-page petition.

Commissioners read, discussed and entered in the minutes a letter from the Top of Texas Hereford Breeders Association, expressing thanks for the court's cooperation in Recreation Park facilities.

Regular meeting of the commissioners' court is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday, but Maguire late this morning said he thought the court would probably be recessed till 10 a.m. March 10 to enable County Auditor Ray Wilson to get the county's monthly financial matters squared away.

A garden gate entwined with roses, was mounted on the program booklet. Sylvia Smith played piano selections as the guests assembled. B. F. Risinger Jr. gave the invocation. Rev. James O. Todd, pastor, welcomed the guests and Johnny Hatwick, president of the Senior Class, gave the response.

Optimist Club Needs 12-15 More Members To Organize

It will be either do or die at the next meeting of the trying-to-be-organized chapter of the Optimist Club, it was decided at a noon meeting Tuesday in the Schneider Hotel. After three organizational meetings to equalize interested men with the purpose of the club — to sponsor boys' activities — membership forms will be passed out at the next gathering, scheduled for 6 p.m. Monday in the Pine Room of the Schneider Hotel, if 12 to 15 men sign the forms, the club will be established, according to Buck Francis, acting chairman. If not enough sign, the attempt may die.

If a Pampa chapter is established one of its first projects will be to organize "Little League" baseball, Francis stated.

Jeff Williams, widely-known attorney of Chickasha, Okla., was the after-dinner speaker. Dinner was served in the Methodist church basement.

Shamrock Boosters Hear Noted Speaker

SHAMROCK — (Special) — An outstanding program was presented at the Shamrock Boosters Club annual Ladies Night, Friday evening at 7:30.

Jeff Williams, widely-known attorney of Chickasha, Okla., was the after-dinner speaker. Dinner was served in the Methodist church basement.

The new officers were chosen at a meeting of the board of directors elected by the Rotarians at their Friday meeting. The board consists of Hill, Lewis, Williams, Norman Patrick, Gerald Mayfield, Roy Berten and John Woolly.

The new directors and officers will take over their duties July 1. They were elected early so that they may attend the District Rotary Conference to be held in Childress March 4-6. An assembly for presidents and secretaries will also be held before the July installation date for two days of intensive briefing on their new duties.

The new Rotary president came to Shamrock Oct. 10, 1912, and formed a law partnership with M. Reynolds. He was elected to the city council in April, 1914 and served as councilman-attorney for the city and city secretary, all for a salary of $10 per month. He is a Mason, member of the Scottish Rite, a Knight Templar, and Shriner. He served 16 years as Sunday School superintendent of the First Methodist Church. He was a member of the Texas Legislature for two terms.

Guy Hardin, county attorney of Wheeler County, was guest speaker at the luncheon meeting. He was introduced by Charles Stimmer. He spoke on "Juvenile Delinquency in Wheeler County as Compared to the State Average." He stated: "Wheeler County is in the upper 15 per cent in relation to counties of like population." He attributed this condition to four principal causes, namely, lack of parental guidance, broken homes, lack of recreational facilities and liquor.

Other new officers are Harold Williams, secretary succeeding Cabot Brannon; and Russell Barker, treasurer, succeeding Kenneth Laycock.

Donegal Club Issues Warning To Beardless Shamrock Men

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Perhaps the busiest of the busy Irishmen in Shamrock is Shirley Draper, general chairman of the St. Patrick's Day celebration. He recently returned from a trip to Phoenix, Ariz. The green high-top hat and trim donegal he wore on the trip advertised the celebration "all the way."

Clayton Sanders, chief tuzzer of the Donegal Club issued a warning this week that all males in Shamrock had better be wearing donegals, have a shaving permit (price $5) or have a green hat atop their head from now through March 17 — or else!

W. H. Dial, member of the entertainment committee, announced this week that Ted Weems and his orchestra has been booked to play for the St. Patrick's Day dance. The orchestra will feature Bonnie Ann Shaw, vocalist, whistler and dancer, Ray Sullenger, balladeer; and an added attraction, comic Red Ingie.

Under the sponsorship of the St. Patrick's Day Association, the dance will be held at the National Guard Armory March 27 from 1 until 1 a.m. seamen. Three organizations which have never participated in the big Irish Party have accepted invitations.

Acceptance was received this week from Knox City High School Band. This band will probably travel more miles to reach Shamrock than any other attending. Other groups to be here for the first time will be the Panhandle A & M College Band, Goodwell, Okla., and the 51-piece ROTC precision drill team from that college.

Others coming to help the Irish celebrate are Gruver High School Band, which is directed by Glenn A. Truax; from whose idea the St. Patrick's Day Celebration originated; Lefors High School Band; West Texas State College ROTC Drill Team; Erick, Okla., High School Band and Erik Grade School Band.

Between 20 and 25 musical organizations are expected to march and play in the gigantic street parade on March 17.
