WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN.

Wm. J. Bryan Will Speak Here Apr. 27

Loved and hated, admired and despised, feared and defied, fought and followed, as perhaps no other man in America, William Jennings Bryan persists as the great unsolved and unsolvable riddle in the minds of the seers. Stronger in defeat than in victory; breaking every rule of the political game he still remains the one great man for which elimination the foes of democracy and decency most ardently pray. While he lives and holds his power no vested interest, no exploiter of the people, no arch enemy of righteousness will rest in peace. For the people of the United States will listen to this private citizen, more readily than to almost any other public man. Despite cursings, despite well-laid plans to silence him, despite organized efforts to ignore him, whenever he speaks the American public turns a listening ear.

One cannot help but speculate on what history will say of this wonderful man, for his worst enemies will be the first to accord him that title. Will he be given to oblivion as one of the many who strove and struggled in vain, to defeat? Or will he be inscribed on the Scroll of Fame as "The Great Commoner," "The Prophet," who sounded his messages too soon to bring ought but persecution on himself; the valiant fighter for the rights of the common people," or "The Great Apostle of Peace." We none of us can be sure, but of one thing there seems little doubt, he must be written down as a fine type of Christian gentleman. And is it not there that his power lies? If there could be found in his personal character one vulnerable point, how easily he would have been cast out long ago. But when everything has been said and done to injure him, he still stands in the dignity of his manhood, superior to scandal, sure of himself, and undaunted in his great faith in his own destiny, and closer than ever to the hearts of millions of his countrymen. Here is food for thought for the ambitious.

The Committee having charge of our Chautauqua are to be congratulated on bringing Mr. Bryan to our city as an extra attraction, in advance of the regular program. Regardless of political faith or prejudice our citizens should be glad to have him here as their guest, and with true Southern hospitality should give him a hearty welcome. It is characteristic of the Redpath-Horner people to add to their already excellent program a number so attractive. Nothing more should be needed to insure a successful Chautauqua for 1916, than the announcement that all season ticket holders will be admitted free of charge. The low charge of fifty cents will be made to others who attend. Be wise and get your season tickets early.

THE MUSIC RECITAL

SNYDER CHILDREN ENTERTAINED AUDIENCE OF HOME-PEOPLE

The musical recital given at the Methodist church last Monday night by little Misses Dorothy Chambless and Eva Strayhorn, pupils of Mrs. Edwin Bruce Barnes, was attended by a fairly large audience of men and women who appreciate music and mental culture.

The little ladies performed nicely and with marked ease and self-composure. These girls manifest a splendid degree of musical talent and they have in Mrs. Barnes, the advantage of accurate and comprehensive training. Mrs. Barnes has sent out a number of finished musicians in Snyder and her pupils always take a high rank in the musical world. With the on file in the office of the Superintendent at all times for inspection and that the school records may be kept intact. It will be noted that we have no record of the 1905 class. I am sure there are several of them living in Snyder and I shall be glad to have them give me the names of all the members of the class.

Respectfully,

E. A. WATSON, Supt.

The following notice of parties within the city limits of Snyder, was read and approved, as published in the Snyder Signal under date of March 31, 1916.

Notice is hereby given to all property owners whose premises are situated within the limits of the provisions of the following ordinance, that on and after the first day of July, A. D. 1916, all sewer connections that have not been properly made on the new Faught and Spring street Extension, also, on the line running in a southeasterly direction from the Center of Snyder or any other locality, place or premises shall be amenable to the terms of this ordinance and failure to comply with same shall render them liable to the provisions hereof. The ordinance was published in the columns of the Snyder Signal officially a week or so ago.

Upon motion the bill of the Wilkinson Lumber Company, for material for culvert in front of said Wilkinson Lbr. Co. to the amount of $59.80 was declined and refused payment by Aldermen Towle, Monroe, Fickas and Higginbotham, Alderman Cox not voting.

Upon motion the City Council elected E. J. Anderson to handle the water and sewer departments business until July 1st, 1916.

The water and sewer committee was instructed to co-operate with E. F. Renken in the purchase of necessary engine repairs for the pump house, in order that pump-house engines might be in operating shape in case of necessity.

The treasurer was instructed to report at each regular meeting night of the condition and amount of money on hand in the general fund, said report to be made a part of the regular minutes of each meeting.

This being the final session of the old council, the Honorable Mayor addressed the body in this language: "Gentlemen, on this night and the eve of my retirement as your chief executive, I feel constrained to express as nearly as possible in words, the thoughts that emanate from a knowledge that this body has done its duty in so far as we have been able.

"It is now three years since I assumed the duties of this office and in all that time, while there may have been some unpleasant instances to arise, still I believe we can truthfully say that tonight we part as friends on ever issue, and that every instance of contest has been for the welfare of our City as we individually best saw fit; that as we grasp a parting hand it is with a keen feeling of patriotism for our little City.

I am proud to know that as one representative of our citizenship, that I have had the good fortune to be connected with a City Council whose record and acts are written in permanent improvements. We have to ANYTHING that is under a Texaco roof is protected. It makes no difference whether the roofing was applied ten days or ten years ago. It is made to wear and it does.

is always water-proof because it is heat-proof and cold-proof. It is not affected by smoke or acid fumes. Furthermore it is as nearly fire-resisting as it can be made. It is a good form of fire insurance.

Why KNOWING Motorists Demand the BUICK

You buy an Automobile to get you where you want to go. Finish, style, "lines," models—all these are secondary to the motor—the POWER plant that makes your automobile go. MOTOR is the most important item in a motor car. POWER is the most essential thing in a motor. And the BUICK Valve-in-Head motor is the most important motor in modern automobile engineering, because the Buick Valve-in-Head motor develops 15 to 20 per cent more Power than the same sized motor of other types. The Reason is simple: In the Buick Valve-in-Head motor there is 15 to 20 per cent less waste of HEAT. And it is HEAT, you know, the explosion of gasoline vapor under HEAT—that makes your motor go. The more of this heat there is applied direct to the piston-head of your motor and the less of this heat there is absorbed by the water that surrounds the "valve-pockets" where the gas explodes, the greater the Power and the Efficiency of your motor. Read that again. Buick Valve-in-Head principle of construction eliminates 15 to 20 per cent of this waste of heat in "valve-pockets"—used in motors of faulty design—because the Buick method of putting the valve in the head of the motor eliminates "valve-pockets." There you have briefly the REASON for the greater power developed by Buick Valve-in-Head motors over other types of motors of the same size and fuel consumption. There you have the big reason why KNOWING Motorists demand the Buick. In a personal demonstration we can explain this great Valve-in-Head principle in detail. Let us demonstrate.

Familiar Features Well Known to Hundreds of Snyder Citizens.

A familiar burden in many homes. The burden of a "bad back." A lame, a weak or an aching back often tells you of kidney ills.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Here is Snyder testimony.

Mrs. N. A. Fowler, Snyder, Texas, says: "About a year ago I was troubled by my kidneys. My back was weak and lame and ached constantly. I felt tired and languid and the kidney secretions were irregular in passage. Black spots also floated before my eyes and caused dizziness. Two others of the family had used Doan's Kidney Pills with such good results that I got a box. They helped me so, I got more and was cured. I haven't had any trouble since."

A POSITIVE STATEMENT BY A BIG BUSINESS MAN

"Neglect of Apparently Unimportant Conditions Wrecks Many a Healthy Growing Business"

a prominent druggist of Atlanta, Ga. is authority for the above positive statement. In explaining this statement he asked two questions and offered one suggestion.

If a growing healthy business turns and begins to run down hill, what is the condition of the owner's health? Almost always, unusually bad.

What was the first cause of his poor health? Constipation.

This constipation could have been avoided by taking Rexall Orderlies occasionally. They are a pleasant candy tablet laxative which can be used by men, women or children with the best results.

We have the exclusive selling rights for this great laxative.

Select Articles of Interest to Farmers

(Compiled by O. P. T.)

Extract from speech of Hon. W. P. G. Harding, member of the Federal Reserve Board, discussing the present cotton situation in part as follows:

Some private letters that I have received state that there were perhaps 2,000,000 bales of cotton held on March 1 by southern farmers and local merchants. If all this cotton, or any large part of it, should be thrown upon the market at once, there would undoubtedly be a break in prices. But five months, or about 21 weeks, will elapse before any new cotton can come on the market. With the demand for export and from American spinners which seems assured, there is no reason to doubt the ability of the market to absorb much more than 100,000 bales per week. I refrain, however, as I have always done, from giving advice in particular cases. I believe that the policy of gradual and orderly marketing of the crop has been proved to be the correct one: by the course of the market this season, and, while there are no doubt many holders of cotton who will regret that they did not sell when prices were higher, it is no doubt true that the higher prices last fall were obtainable by reason of the fact that there was no unseemly rush of cotton to the market; and, without regard to ownership, it is safe to assume that the cotton held back has contributed its part to the prices realized for cotton that has been sold. I wish that each individual farmer would remember, when the time comes for him to determine how much of his land he will put in cotton this spring, that we are living in unusual times and that it is impossible for any man or any group of men to forecast with certainty what the consumption of a staple like cotton will be. I believe in the gradual and orderly marketing of crops, but I believe just as firmly in the diversification of crops. . . . I am told that there are farmers in Alabama, and perhaps in all Southern States, who have never grown a stalk of corn. Let the farmers realize, and I urge upon merchants and bankers the importance of persuading them, that an increased acreage in cotton will be looked upon as an argument in favor of lower prices for the remainder of the crop now being held, although it is by no means certain that a large acreage would yield a larger crop than a smaller and better cultivated area. Let us suppose things turn out this year as some optimists predict. Suppose peace should be restored and there springs up a greatly increased demand for cotton. Under such conditions a large crop would, of course, sell for a great deal of money, but with the experience of 1910 and 1911 before us, is there any reason to doubt that a moderate crop would sell for still more? On the other hand, suppose the war continues; suppose, unhappily, this country should become involved—and remember that in times of stress, when it comes to a choice between something to eat and something to wear, food must be provided at any cost, while new clothes can wait. Then I ask, would we not be far better off with a moderate supply of cotton and an abundance of food supplies? Why plant a larger area than can be cultivated thoroughly? Why scatter high-priced fertilizer over a large field when it would be more effective concentrated on a smaller? These matters must be determined now. A month hence will be too late. Let the farmers, the merchants, and the bankers of the South take counsel together; and let the newspapers, and those published at the county seats particularly, advocate in every issue for the next six weeks, and with all their force and power, the doctrine of diversification, and let them point out the dangers of the one-crop system.

Remember, my friends, that if the war continues for six months longer, in all probability the purchasing power of Europe will be seriously impaired. The cost of munitions and supplies is enormous and food prices in the warring countries are soaring. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor, food, taken as a whole in the United States, costs 3 per cent more today than it did a year ago. Prices in Great Britain have increased about 44 per cent and in France about 23 per cent. In other belligerent countries the advance has been 100 per cent. Remember that the cotton exchanges are not eleemosynary institutions, and that operators on cotton exchanges have no sentiment except a desire for gain. Market opinions vary as conditions change, and operators are not consistent bulls or bears, but shift their position without notice as new conditions arise. The fact is realized in all the cotton markets of the world that the course of prices depends primarily upon the supply, and for the next three months at least estimates of supply will be based upon the new crop acreage. What this acreage will be in America depends upon the farmers of the South. Should they decide during the next few weeks to produce their foodstuffs at home and to plant cotton as a money crop their position will be secure, but if, disregarding all the warnings and portents of the times, they decide upon a policy of all cotton, they will be taking a tremendous risk which no prudent business man would care to assume.

As a factor in the cotton market the Southern farmer is most powerful at planting time.

Men at some time are masters of their fates; The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, But in ourselves, that we are underlings.

Thrift Campaign Takes Definite Shape.

The slogan, "A Million New Savers in 1916," adopted by the American Bankers Association, has already spurred many onward towards the desired goal in the Centennial Thrift Campaign. Individual banks and the Chapters of the American Institute of Banking are doing splendid work in the promotion of thrift. But vastly greater results will accrue if the effort throughout the entire country is concentrated for a season on definite, concrete plans which are designed to reach every individual in the school, the home and the factory.

The prosperity of the nation is the sum of the prosperity of its individuals. The Centennial Thrift Campaign has been developed with the idea of going to the individual, where ever he may be found, with the message of the rewards of thrift. In order to imbue lasting ideals of thrift, the theme must be presented in its most attractive phases. People must be made to want to be thrifty. They must be encouraged, not only to make a start, but to keep right on until the act of saving money becomes automatic—a habit. The message must be taken to the individual, therefore the campaign employs the media by which the masses, and the classes as well, may be reached.

The Avenues of Approach:

Large numbers will be reached through the newspapers. The pupils in the school rooms will be supplied with lessons in thrift rarely found in the school curriculum. The parents in the home will be reached through the school children and through other avenues. The street cars, the great gathering place of thousands, many of whom do not read newspapers, will offer an important place of contact in reaching the people. The moving-picture houses, now the meeting place of countless thousands will also be utilized.

The factory, the store, the office are utilized to the fullest extent as places from which to distribute the vital message of the centennial year. The churches, the civic and other organizations are to be asked to do definite things and help bring this campaign to a successful and memorable conclusion.

The plan does not commit the error of inviting public co-operation and stopping there. It tells just how various agencies can co-operate, and puts in their hands material with which to work. The entire plan has this one object in view—to make thrift a habit with every individual in the community.

The American Bankers Association will furnish the plan to any community upon request. The literature, advertising copy, etc., will be supplied at cost. The cost of the campaign will depend largely on the size of the community in which it is operated, the number of factories and persons employed, the school population, etc. Newspaper rates, street car space rates and moving picture house charges will also enter into consideration. A form of budget will be furnished on which the committee can readily list the necessary supplies and costs, thus arriving quickly at the total expense of the campaign.

The plan is the result of long investigation, experience and discussion upon the part of persons particularly qualified for this work.

It is hoped that the Centennial Thrift Campaign will be inaugurated on a nation-wide scale. Then the slogan, "A Million more already savers in some degree, will be inspired to increase their savings steadily. The grand result of the campaign will be a more prosperous people, a better citizenship and a vastly larger per capita of savings.

THE LOYALTY OF MR. BRYAN'S NEIGHBORS

Did you ever run for office? Did you ever find out by this means who were your friends and who could not be counted on in their friendship? Do you realize what a strain running for such an office as President must be on a man and also on his family? Those who have been close to the family of a Presidential candidate are sure that no man should ask his family to undergo the strain and exaction of such a period more than once.

During the three campaigns, which Wm. Jennings Bryan waged for the Presidency, he incurred the enmity of the most vicious fighters in politics. No stone was left unturned to keep him back and defeat him. Not content with the straight political fighting against his politics, his enemies strove to undermine the personal reputation of himself and his family. The story is current, of the days of the last campaign when a demurely dressed woman knocked at the back door of many of the homes in the vicinity of Fairview, Mr. Bryan's home near Lincoln, Nebraska, and asked not for the lady of the house, but for the maid and after some inconsequential talk, finally said, "Well, of course, you are acquainted with the Bryans and do you know the servants in their home? What kind of people are they? Are there any little things up there the people do not generally know and understand? I have understood that things were not all as they should be?" It is to the everlasting credit of even the servants in the homes of that neighborhood and an honor to Mr. Bryan and his family, that in every case, this interviewer was unceremoniously shown the door and asked not to return.

During these campaigns, Associated Press correspondents and reporters for all the large National Dailies were located at Fairview. Every little occurrence was made note of, the spot light of the Nation was turned on the life of the family as well as the candidate, and it is one of the striking things in the history of this man that although these reporters were frequently of a different political belief, their loyalty to him when the campaign was over was beyond question.

The morning after the election and his third defeat, one of the reporters of a New York paper which has stood solidly against Mr. Bryan through all the days, sat on the step of his front porch and with tears streaming down his face said, "If the people only knew him, this never would have occurred."

It should be a source of great satisfaction to the Chautauqua committee of this City that they are able to offer, even though several weeks in advance, an attraction on their program so great as an address by Mr. Bryan. The whole community will turn out to hear him and to do him honor.

Mexican Paper Makes Discovery

El Democrita, a Mexican newspaper published in Chihuahua City got out an extra last Sunday saying that a new war move was on the boards in which Texas, Colorado, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and California are to declare independence of the United States and join the republic of Mexico. Of course the paper doesn't expect to be disturbed for it knows the States mentioned are loyal to their government. The story was sent out to further excite the Mexican people. They are apt to believe the stuff.

Mexico may as well understand now that Texas will rally thousands of strong men to maintain the honor of the United States and such statement as the Mexican paper carried is too absurd to be considered serious.

Nolan county's new court house bonds are in demand at a substantial premium.

The 35th legislature will know to a certainty that we want an agricultural and Mechanical College in West Texas and why we want it.

C. H. Morris is using his friendship for the Robinson Insurance law to draw voters to him for Governor. Ferguson is known to favor the Gibson bill on that subject.

The Los Angeles Courier says the public has a right to know what is being done in public affairs. It says many a thing is done that would not be if the public knew about it.

People over in the crowded east ought to come to Scurry county and see for themselves. Just as long as their prejudice holds them it is useless to tell them. Seeing is believing.

The most patriotic Republican statesmen have found the Wilson administration so sane and true that they have given it their support in many cases. Of course some are too narrow to know a good thing when they see it.

WHETHER VILLA IS DEAD OR NOT

If Villa is really dead, it is up to our troops to come out of Mexico. They have done what they started out to do. If the Mexican people can find a dead bandit and prove that it is Villa, then the American troops should come back home. If Villa should afterwards come alive, we can't help it, however it would be wise to hold a strong force along the border, for as sure as we live those Mexican people have no love for us.

Furthermore, if Villa is still admittedly alive, and our government should, after conference with Carranza decide to call off our manhunters, the United States ought to mobilize a big army along the border and give the Mexican government just 30 days to deliver Villa under penalty of a sure enough invasion, without the formality of consent.

The Austin Statesman has a bundle of proof to show that the Carranza soldiers have not tried to assist in the capture of Villa. Such double dealing deserves positive rebuke.

MEXICO AND JAPAN

The Carranza government has sent an envoy to Japan on a secret mission. In so doing Carranza is violating a Pan-American agreement and Central and South America will almost certainly resent any step to draw Japan into the matter. Villa is credited with having said last January that he would invade the United States and force this country into war and that Germany and Japan would come to the aid of Mexico. That was probably a longer stretch of vision than any of us suspected, and since we are getting proofs of Mexican double dealing, the country is apt to suspect now that it was a preconcerted plan and that even Carranza's hands may not be clean.

It doesn't look just right for Americans who have business interests in Mexico to be trying to urge this country to make a hostile invasion of Mexican territory. We don't want a square foot of Mexico. We don't want to meddle in Mexico's affairs, but we do want those benighted people to settle down to social and industrial sanity and let us enjoy peaceable interchange of commerce. That is the American attitude toward Mexico, but in their frenzy and prejudice the Mexican people refuse to see it so.

WITH OUR EXCHANGES

Ever start come from the office of a real dark night and be gliding along, with your mind on just what you will do tomorrow, when ker-bang you go into a yard gate, left open by carelessness and standing out just right for you to bark your shins or other portions of the anatomy upon.

—Richardson Echo.

Well, you quit thinking about what you are going to do tomorrow.

It has been believed all along, particularly since the Roof dinner and the Bacon luncheon, that if Roosevelt is to receive the nomination it will be only after he has pledged himself to the interests to do their bidding, or at least to in no way interfere with their incursions on the country, the people and the government in their mad desire for the accumulation of wealth.—Austin Statesman.

If that is all it is dead easy.

The Richardson Echo said 50,000 people in Dallas went to church in one day. The Echo does not know how it effected popular conduct during the following week.

If Dr. Barton has been called of God to preach the religion of Jesus Christ he has the grandest call on earth. If he can get the people to embrace that religion all the evils of the world will adjust themselves. But he is prostituting that high calling when he accepts the presidency of a political corporation and puts in his time trying to direct the political fortunes of men, and the governmental policies of his state.—Lott Tribune.

That solemn expression of regard for the sacredness of the ministry has been worn threadbare since the call of the old Roman at Waco thirty years ago to scourge back all preachers who fought for prohibition.

They are now teaching in the new school building, only five more weeks of school but we feel sure the pupils will take more interest. They are usually losing interest this time of the year and anxious for vacation.—Borden (Gail.) Citizen.

Ever a new school building does not look as good as a fishing hole to a boy in the spring time.

It seems very fitting that the state Revolver Club should hold its contests in Dallas. There is so much to be learned in Dallas about shooting. —Coleman Democrat-Voice.

They can learn all about it from the police force except who did it.

It will be hard for Samuel Gompers to convince the thousands of his followers, the men who work for a wage, that the cost of living has not increased in the United States 15 per cent during the past ten years, yet that is what he is reported to have stated before a congressional committee. Everytime a wage earner goes to a meat market or a grocery he will think Mr. Gompers is certainly mistaken. Mr. Gompers was eminently correct, though, when he said "in the last twelve years, wages, hours of employment and conditions of labor have improved in the United States beyond any other period of any people in the history of the world."—Austin American.

Still the Walking Delegates are not satisfied.

Houston negroes are waiting to see the biggest bar'l. They have endorsed both Roosevelt and Root for president. Negro politicians know how to play safe.

Evidently Carranza knows what his country needs and is trying to get the United States to administer it.—Star-Telegram.

But for danger of losing his whiskers he would probably want to help us give Villa what he needs.

District Judge Thomas, Attorney Stinson and Court Reporter Welch have returned from Clairemont, where district court closed Wednesday. Court convened there Monday morning. The grand jury was discharged Tuesday afternoon, after returning five felony indictments.—Anson Enterprise.

S. J. Redman, who established the Enterprise at Hermleigh a year ago has sold the paper to B. L. Blackburn and will go hence. Redman has been putting out a good newsy local paper. Mr. Blackburn has had business interests in Hermleigh for quite awhile and knows conditions there. We trust he will find his new line pleasant and profitable.

TRAINING OR CITIZENSHIP

Farm & Ranch.

It is said that the government will encourage the colleges and the universities to offer courses designed especially to help immigrants who come to us, with a view of teaching them patriotism and other duties of citizenship. The European war has tested many of foreign birth and it is regrettable to note that a few have been found who would aid the mother country to the injury of this country, which has given them a home free from military duty and the enormous expense of war.

But there are already courses in citizenship, economics, sociology, ethics, logic, etc., opened to immigrants, whether citizens of this country or not. Our problem is to reach the men and women of foreign birth who are not ready for college training. How are we to reach those who sincerely desire to learn more about our government and citizenship in this country?

There is no better way than through social center meetings at the schoolhouses, where men, women and children may meet, exchange ideas, discuss social, industrial and economic problems and where the American point of view may be had. Truly there is a great opportunity in these social center meetings. The extension lecturers may reach many through them and the people themselves may work out their own problems.

If properly conducted such meetings will do much for industry, frugality, sobriety and citizenship.

There is money in ol' clos'. One hundred and three carloads of rags have been shipped from Waco to New York in three days. A Waco correspondent says dealers are offering fabulous prices for all kinds of cotton rags. Solicitors are making a house to house canvass. They also are visiting farm houses and all small villages. Housewives are getting rid of years of accumulation of old clothes of all kinds and are filling their purses. There is a demand for woolen rags and old magazines. A paper shortage is here. Manufacturers are in the market and a house cleaning of old clothes everywhere is a certainty. There is money in it.—Fort Worth Record.

The first sentence doesn't apply to us. There is no loose nickels even in our ol' clos'. We've looked in all the pockets three times.

ENFORCEMENT OF THE OIL DECREE

Washington, April, 15.—Officials of the department of justice announced this afternoon that they are considering bringing criminal action against John D. Rockefeller, John D. Archbold and other Standard Oil officials and directors.

It was stated that the supreme court dissolution decree in the Standard Oil "trust" suit never was carried into effect.

It was pointed out that the action was entirely a civil one and because it was not obeyed, the department feels that it is justified in bringing criminal action against the Standard officials under the Sherman anti-trust law.

It was announced that criminal indictments are expected to follow an investigation now being conducted by the department of justice into the sensational raise in the price of gasoline and other oil products.

THAT PARRAL SKIRMISH.

The attack of Mexicans on the Americans at Parral last week was unprovoked. The Americans rode into the little town to purchase provisions. The Mexicans opened fire on them. The Americans retreated, because they were unarmed. A rescue force hurried from Maj Thompkins' camp and returned the fire. Forty Mexicans and two Americans were killed. This little flurry excited the natives and then came a demand from Carranza for the American expedition to be withdrawn. Carranza saw that his frenzied people could not be controlled.

"President's Re-nomination Assured" as a headline is not very startling, since it but chronicles something that has been fairly obvious for a long time. But it happens that this particular headline appears in the Commoner, whose editor is the author of the single term plank of the Baltimore platform, and that circumstance makes remarkable what would otherwise be trite. What adds to the notableness of it is that Mr. Bryan writes this prophecy, not exactly in a dithyrambic strain, but in what may be called one of serene reconciliation with the inevitable. Mr. Bryan says no other name will be presented to the convention. As to the platform, it "will indorse his administration and the record made by the Democratic Congress."—Dallas News.

Senator Underwood of Alabama is making a determined fight to get his brother senators to adopt his bill for the creation of a $15,000,000 nitrate plant for the manufacture of powder in war times and fertilizer in times of peace. Four years ago Senator Underwood was denounced by radical reformers as reactionary and "a tool of the money power." Now some of his defamers of four years ago are fighting the passage of the proposed measure which would bring about government ownership of nitrate and powder plants. A reformer is a queer bird.—Fort Worth Record.

Dr. Barton is scared because he thinks the liquor interests are going to try to control the San Antonio convention. This moves the Austin Statesman to say: "Barton can find more different kinds of supposed troubles and less excuses for the making of the discovery than any other man in Texas."

Senator Culberson doesn't want to be a delegate to the National Convention and some others would like to be but can't be.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Graham of near Hermleigh, together with Albert, Frederick and Bessie Ernestine, were in Snyder Saturday and joined the big Signal family. Prof. Graham teaches at German School and Mrs. Graham has the Old Pyron school. They report good attendance at both places and everything moving along nicely.

Chautauqua

Will Begin May 22nd.

This date is sufficiently near that the prudent man and the happy one will begin to make his plans NOW.

A little more joy---a little more happiness ---perhaps a bit of relief from worry's perplexity and doubt altogether will make the whole year more worth while.

There is plenty of joy and cheerfulness in the Chautauqua this year. There is nothing but what is decidedly worth while.

OUR WAY OUT.

Some people wonder why it is that the weekly newspapers all over the country are raising the price of the subscription. It is simply because materials used in the publication of newspapers have advanced in the past six months, to figures that are from forty to sixty per cent higher in most every instance and some times more than that. The daily papers have been forced to withdraw all special positions and raise the price of the papers sold on the streets. It is no wonder then that the weekly newspaper is forced to charge more for their paper.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Advices received this week announce another stiff advance in the price of all kinds of inks and all other printing materials, and even at the advanced prices, wholesale houses state that they cannot guarantee to fill orders, and may have to hold for filling. This is a most convincing reason why all newspapers and printing houses are compelled to advance prices, or go out of business.—Post City Post.

A number of weekly papers have raised their subscription price in order to meet the increased cost of material. The Signal has had the matter under consideration and has viewed it from every standpoint. It is hoped that the high prices will soon pass and that the market will settle back to normal. The people have become accustomed to paying a dollar a year for the paper and we dislike to establish a higher price. In order to avoid doing so, we are insisting that all subscribers keep paid up in advance. Your paid up date is printed each week on the margin of the paper and if the time is up, you will please come in and renew.

By this course we are hoping to be able to tide over the crisis, but no publisher can buy paper at present high prices and send it out to subscribers on a credit. In former years subscribers were permitted to get two or three years behind and we now have some of those old accounts on our books, ranging from 50c to $4.00.

Ordinarily the Signal has been disposed to divide time with subscribers, letting subscription be paid at some time during the current year, but if we are to meet our paper bills it is important that subscribers be paid in advance. The Signal has a large list, many are a few weeks or months in arrears and a dollar from each of these will help wonderfully. Positively the paper will not be sent to any who are a full year in arrears.

Two big bargains improved land. $10.00 and $13.00 per acre. Splendidly located. Let us loan you the money to buy them.

Villa Doubles Back.

Presidio, Texas, April 12.—Reports that Villa had doubled back from the region south of Parral and is on his way northeast toward Ojinaga were circulated along this portion of the border today, but were not given much credence. The reports were based on information said to have been received by Colonel Rojas, commander of the Ojinaga garrison, from sources he considered reliable.

Villa's object in working into Northern Chihuahua again was said to be an attempt to stir up disaffection in the Carranza garrisons, whose commanders have been frequently reported as opposed to further progress of the American expedition into Mexico.

ABOUT PEOPLE YOUKNOW.

From Post City Post.

Mrs. J. W. Stimson of Snyder is a patient at the Post Sanitarium. She will remain here for several days.

W. B. Stanfield was here from Snyder this week looking after his ranching business in the county and visiting his son and daughter in Post City.

Gilbert Elkins, who is at Marlin, Texas, taking the hot baths, is expected home next week.

E. K. Smith, one of Scurry county's pioneers, was a visitor in Post City this week.

Bob Warren went to Amarillo this week to confer with the committee at that place with reference to the matter of securing an Agricultural and Mechanical College in West Texas.—Post City Post.

Snyder loaned Bab Warren to Post City a few years ago and the people there have put him at the head of their Chamber of Commerce and he is always on the job. He is putting that town on the map, and sometimes we feel tempted to call him back home.

EVERYBODY HOPES SO.

Villa may not be dead. In fact there are very few people who will believe that he is until some reliable American sees the body and confirms the report, but we are bound to say if he is not, those Mexican officials and the newspaper correspondents over there are pastmasters in the art of fabricating a plausible story.

If the matter of proving that the bandit leader is dead is left to Mexicans it will be easy to prove it, and then the United States troops would come out, but this country will want reliable Americans to certify to the fact before our soldiers are withdrawn.

There are plenty of Americans who have known Villa intimately and the American government will want an expression from some of them. The bandit who first led to the discovery of Villa's grave did it to save himself from execution, so that his story cannot have much weight.

The American people hope the report is true, because they want to see the end of the trouble and the Mexican people hope it is true because they are all afraid of Villa.

A Letter to the People.

To the Voters of Scurry County: Gentlemen:

First and foremost, I want to tell you how thankful I feel for the splendid encouragement and the many expressions of confidence extended to me since I entered the race for Tax Assessor of Scurry county.

It is my intention to make a thorough canvass of the county and see all of you before the primaries, but you all know I am a farmer and have to make a crop. The planting time is now here and farmers must hit the ball at the proper time. When crops are planted I expect to put in awhile going about among the people. Don't forget that I want to be your Tax Assessor and although I am in my field operating my planter I am running for Assessor just as hard as I know how.

I am trusting you to hold yourselves ready to vote for me and will see you personally as soon as I can and tell you about it.

Cattle, Hogs and Horses

The people of Scurry County have begun to realize on the magnitude of the hog industry and this adds volume to the importance of the live stock interests.

Scurry county farmers have their smokehouses at home this year. Probably every farmer put up pork enough to run him for at least part of the year and the live stock shipped out from Snyder have brought lots of money in this section.

The Roscoe, Snyder & Pacific has hauled 98 cars of livestock from Snyder since January 1, 1916.

Of these shipments there have been 64 cars of cattle, 24 cars of hogs and 10 cars of horses and mules.

These figures do not include shipments from Fluvanna and Hiermleigh.

He expects to carry the matter into his campaign for re-election. He may not feel worried now, but he will find that the power of the old soldiers is something to be reckoned with. THE PAN-AMERICAN TREATY.

President Wilson in his speech at Mobile, October 26, 1913, enunciated what has since been known in Latin America as the Wilson doctrine a Pan-American entente acknowledging the mutual interests of the twenty-nine American republics in the development and preservation of "true constitutional liberty," with a specific pledge that "the United States will never seek one additional foot of territory on the continent by conquest." The A. B. C. mediation in the Mexican muddle was the first sequence. The isolation of America by the European War emphasized the interdependence of the American Republics. Later came the submission to fifteen of these nations of a draft of a general treaty prepared at Washington, the text of which has just been made public.

Article I. pledges a mutual guarantee of territorial integrity under republican forms of government. Article II promises adjustment of arbitration of boundary disputes. Article III stipulates that questions not settled by diplomacy shall, before hostilities begin, be submitted to a permanent international commission for investigation for one year and, if that fails, be left to arbitration, excepting only those issues which affect the honor, independence or vital interests of either country or a third. Article IV promises mutual protection against military or naval expeditions or shipment of arms or munitions to persons in insurrection or revolt against the other governments.

The smaller republics have welcomed the guarantee of protection, but in some of the others there has been hesitation through fear that changing administrations in the United States might interpret the treaty differently or that the clause referring to Republican forms of government might be construed as giving the others a right to pass on one nation's form of government. Evidently the old Latin suspicion of the United States is hard to eradicate. Then the A. B. C. association has aroused jealousies. Peru and Bolivia, fear some sort of domination of South America by the big three, although rumors that Argentina herself is disposed to doubt the wisdom of her concert with Brazil and Chili offsets that. Generally speaking the proposed treaty is not being opposed as a whole, but it is felt there should be changes in the phraseology more acceptable to Latin ears. This, it is understood, Secretary Lansing will concede.

But even if approved by Latin America there will remain to be obtained the approval of this country. So little has been said about the proposed treaty that there has been no detailed discussion of it. It will be asked, for instance, what will be expected from us in the way of guaranteeing the territorial integrity of our southern neighbors, whether we shall be expected to uphold it by force against outsiders or against each other? The clauses regarding arbitration and filibustering may pass, but light is needed on the tentative alliance, both as to what we are to give and to gain.—Beaumont Enterprise.

BRYAN'S FIRST VISIT TO ENGLAND

When W. J. Bryan made his first trip to Europe, he was not so sure of the kind of reception he would receive. He thought that perhaps his fame as the opponent of the Gold Standard would precede him and that European public sentiment might not be willing to accord him as high a place as he had gained at home. But he soon found that he was known as an American leader and a wonderfully gifted speaker.

His own attitude toward European was sometimes a matter of doubt. His patience was sorely tried at one time while attending a big banquet in London. As the guest of honor, he was asked to lead the way to the dining room with a well known Duchess on his arm. This elderly lady, wishing to make conversation said, "Mr. Bryan, do you not find English ladies far more attractive than American ladies?" Mr. Bryan knew that her eldest son had found it necessary to go to America to find a bride that suited his taste and a hot retort was on his lips, but with his usual kindness, he overlooked the bad taste of his dinner partner and replied, that he had always found the women everywhere, good enough for the men.

Having heard of the density of the English minds regarding American jokes, he decided to try one on his first audience. He said that a question was once asked by a public speaker if anyone had ever heard of a perfect person. After a long pause, a demure little woman arose and answered that she had never heard of any, save her husband's first wife.

Mr. Bryan is authority for the statement that the joke is appreciated wherever the marriage relationship exists.

Although his lectures are always inspired by some great central motive that is far from the humorous, Mr. Bryan always manages to weave in enough of the humorous side to keep his hearers interested and in good humor. He does this, without appearing to drag it in, as so many public speakers do and it is only an indication of his real Americanism that the sense of humor seems always to be on tap in his own mind and therefore finds instant response with his audiences.

In his lecture which is to be given here under the auspices of the Chautauqua committee, his subject, "The War and the Lessons It Teaches Us" will surely not indicate a light or frivolous vein, but no one who has heard Mr. Bryan will fail to realize that wherever a situation arises that has the humorous element in it, he will not fail to give it expression.

Holders of Chautauqua season tickets are sure of a real treat on Thursday, April 27.

Miss Lizzie L. Watkins

In Private Life.

The men who are willing to take their humble places in the ranks of the army, meet danger, suffer deprivation and sacrifice their business is just as honorable, just as necessary, just as deserving of great respect as the army commanders and the minor army officers. The man who is willing to follow those better qualified to lead than himself is magnanimous and deserves respect. He is willing to do his duty and does not envy his fellow-man who may receive greater honor than himself.

We need more people willing to follow. Too many who are not competent wish to lead and refuse to serve in any other capacity. All of us cannot hold office and receive commissions from the state or nation to do certain work. But we can take an interest in country life; we can render our assistance to the teachers of the school; we can support the country church; we can visit the sick and help out unfortunate neighbors.

As a citizen we need not make so great a sacrifice as run for office or seek political appointment, but we can take an interest in political, economic and social questions. We can render our taxes honorably and pay willingly. We can vote for men of honor and integrity; stand for clean citizenship, co-operate with our country and state officials and be proud of a Christian nation that fosters peace and good will.

Truly the citizen in private life has much to do and his influence is far-reaching. He may do more for his country, state and nation than many in public life.—Farm and Ranch.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from "his place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

WASHINGTON'S FINAL NOTE

Wilson Charges Germany In Sixty-Five Counts of Violated Pledges.

Washington, April 15.—President Wilson Saturday completed a preliminary draft of the new note to Germany. It was immediately sent to Secretary Lansing, who will put it in formal shape and submit it to the president Sunday morning. While writing the tentative text, President Wilson had before him all the evidence in the submarine cases.

It was said the president has discussed with Mr. Lansing his desire to throw upon Germany the responsibility for any untoward result of the note, should there be any, such as severing diplomatic relations and that the main difficulty in writing the note lay in the choice of words to accomplish this end.

The note is intended to be America's last work in the submarine controversy.

After Mr. Lansing has incorporated into it all the legal points and evidence that the president did not emphasize in his tentative draft, Mr. Wilson will revise it finally and then read it to his cabinet and to the chairman of the house and senate foreign committees. It is likely the note will be on its way not later than Monday.

Germany will be accused in sixty-five counts of violating the laws of humanity and pledges to the United States in the submarine war on commerce ships.

Wage and Date Making

The public can not strike yet in the pending controversy between all the American railways and their train service employees, the American public, the real first party in interest has no direct voice. There are immensities of Federal and state laws and regulations, controlling railroad rates for service; but none to regulate operating cost, wages included.

The following editorial from the New York Mail is to the point: "It seems to us that the railroad wage controversy is another example of government inefficiency and overbalance in one direction and that the controversy is one-sided. When the railroads seek to increase their return for service in order to meet the higher cost of wages and materials, the Interstate Commerce Commission sits for months taking testimony, most of which is from shippers and against increase. The decision of the Commission is made after careful calculation and digestion of many angled evidence, concerning the ability of the economic consequences of taxing the man who pays the freight a little more in order that the transportation industry may thrive and the millions who live by it directly or indirectly, obtain steady work and fair wages.

"Why should not this sort of investigation obtain when wages are in dispute? There ought to be some scientific effort made in the one instance as in the other to arrive at a fair conclusion and one not based on political exigencies or the inevitable dissolution of a well defined program into a feeble and temporizing compromise."

The Staked Plains of Texas and New Mexico without railroads would still today be in grass, at best supporting fifty head of cattle to the square mile. Real development is just getting fairly under way. Every man, woman and child is directly interested in the welfare of the means of transportation and its influence on development. Shall this be hampered by higher rates or curtailed service? The public has a right to be heard.

LOONEY-ELLIS

BUILDING BURNS

Shortly after 12 o'clock last night the Looney-Ellis building on the south side of the square caught fire and was totally destroyed.

The building was occupied by the Griffith barber shop and the Snyder Fruit Company, P. F. Davenport, proprietor.

The origin of the fire is unknown. It was estimated that the total loss was from three to five thousand dollars with only partial insurance. The exact figures could not be obtained last night.

Caton-Dodson Dry Goods company suffered considerable smoke damage, while the Manhattan hotel was also affected.

A large crowd witnessed the burning while the firemen did excellent and efficient work. The local fire department deserves much credit for conquering the flames, considering the equipment at hand.

SNYDER CONCERT BAND INITIATE NEW STAND

The Snyder Concert Band initiated the new band stand last night with an excellent program, and the music was greatly appreciated by a fair audience.

On account of the big crowd in town during the day and the damp night the attendance was not as good as is expected later as the regular concert is given in the future.

The new band stand has created considerable favorable comment and is very pretty. It is understood however that it cost $40 more than the amount raised, and the performers are expecting a move to be made to supply uniforms, then they will make a good showing.

CREDIT UNIONS IN TEXAS

F. C. Weinert
Texas State Warehouse Manager

The Texas Warehouse and Marketing Law is the outgrowth of the investigation of the American Commission which recently studied rural credits in Europe, as viewed by able Texans who were members of that commission and who, in conjunction with the Farmers' Union of Texas, were instrumental in having this law put on our statute books. Section 21 of the law covers every feature of the rural credit union system, which section reads as follows:

"Corporations chartered hereunder shall have the right to loan money upon chattel mortgages, to their members only, for the purpose of enabling them to make and mature their crops."

The warehouse and marketing bulletin No. 22, of the department, dealing with the marketing and rural credits phases of the law, puts the ultimate intentions of the law in the following concrete and concise language:

"Yet the greatest feature of the law is the marketing system, and when once in operation it is conservatively estimated that the savings to the producers of this state will be many times greater than all other features of the law combined."

"In the provisions of this law there is the germ of the rural credit system. We wish to call the attention of all warehouses and of the people generally to the fact that the charter of every permanent warehouse makes of it not only a warehouse, but also a co-operative marketing system and a rural credit association. Every such warehouse has full power to conduct a co-operative selling agency in marketing any and all products. It also has power, if its members so desire, to extend credit to the producers on such terms as it finds practicable. The charter provisions of every such warehouse are broad enough that, with an adequate capital, each warehouse company can operate its own selling agency and can finance all produce stored with it, and make loans to its customers. And under the same charter developed in its broader usefulness each warehouse company may, and when provided with sufficient capital probably will, eventually be the connecting link between the farmer and the Federal Reserve banks in financing the cotton crops. With experience the usefulness of the warehouse companies, not only for warehousing, but also as marketing agencies and as genuine and practicable credit associations for aiding the producers, will be constantly widening. We do not yet realize the scope, the usefulness and greatness of the warehouse and marketing law."

"The farmer asks nothing but a square deal, and he is willing to deal fairly with others, and the world is getting to understand that he is determined to offer only a standard product. To this end, and at his demand, we have already provided for an honest bale of cotton, which shall be what it appears to be and what the market takes it to be. From this will grow year by year through warehousing, marketing, and co-operative efforts, an ever widening field of usefulness."

Lending money to the producers at a favorable and low rate of interest is the vital principle of the rural credit system, and the rural credit system is based on the true theory that helping the farmer helps the world. This can be accomplished by the organization of rural co-operative credit unions which can be organized and maintained under Section 21 of the Warehouse and Marketing Law.

The organization of these unions will be beneficial to the banker and merchant as well as to the farmer. For example: Suppose 10 men organize into a union with a given amount for a capital stock. This union goes to its local banker and borrows the money to carry its members through the year. The security is gilt-edged and the bank can afford to let them have it at a low rate of interest. The merchant gets cash for his goods through the year and in the fall he has no bad debts; the farmer pays cash for his supplies and does not have to pay a price to cover the bad debts of the merchant who sells on time.

The union borrows the money from the bank at a low rate of interest, getting it in large sums with ample security; in turn they let it out to the farmer at a correspondingly low rate. The borrower has to look to his fellow members and they in turn can co-operate with him and will know if he is properly working his crops. The drones will be weeded out and the calamity howler who knocks the banker and merchant will be out of a job, for his immediate neighbors will have the control of the money which he is using. The banker will have his money out on gilt-edged security; the merchant will not be harassed to death with bad debts, and the farmer can pay cash for his supplies and save from 40 to 60 per cent. Suppose the farmer has to pay 10 per cent (he can get money for less under this system) for money to make his crop; he will be better able to do it than to pay the present rate which is on a sliding scale from 12 per cent upwards—and mostly upwards. This system will be one of the best methods the local merchants can adopt to fight the mail-order houses. When the farmer pays cash for his supplies and the home merchant has no bad debts to charge up to his prompt-paying patrons, the long-wished-for era will be a reality. The fact that these unions are formed with 60 per cent of their membership of the producing class, and 40 per cent among other vocations, is proof that the principle of this law is sound.

In the New England States according to facts milk has gone up to the consumer from 5 and 6 cents a quart to 9 and 10 cents, and the price of milk has gone down to the farmer from 14 cents in 1910 to 2 1/2 cents the present year. There either exists a milk trust in New England or the middleman operates there the same, as he does in Texas.

AN ENJOYABLE DAY

AT PLEASANT HILL

Last Sunday was a great day at Pleasant Hill, seven miles east of Snyder, in one of the most refined and progressive communities in Scurry county.

The County Singing Convention was in session there and it is estimated that there were a thousand people there. There were seventy automobiles and 120 other vehicles.

Snyder was there in great force. Hermligh, Ira, Dunn, Plainview, Crowder, Bethel, Dermott, Pyron, Camp Springs and every other place and community were represented.

Pleasant Hill is noted for its many good singers and Camp Springs and Mt. Zion are there with the goods and Ira is above par in that line.

The several class leaders present took turns with the baton and the precinct resounded with song and hearts were lifted above the sordid things of life and the spirits of the people responded to the volumes of melody.

At the noon hour the people of the community spread a sumptuous dinner and called the immense crowd to partake and everybody was filled.

Pleasant Hill is one of the best communities in the country. Intelligent, refined, progressive people, with such citizens as the Werners, the Williams, the Berrys, the Teagues, the Daugherty's and others just as true.

The people there have recently built one of the most comfortable, substantial and well planned school houses to be seen in any community and Prof. and Mrs. Howell are just about to finish up a highly successful school term.

Among other features of the school Prof. Howell has been teaching a class of seven girls and one boy in scientific agriculture and he is gratified over the results. Let us hope that every rural community in the County may strive to the highest mark in intellectual development and moral culture and civic betterment.

VALUE OF STREET LIGHTING

(Communicated.)

To the Signal:

Permit me to occupy just a little of your valuable space to call attention to one of Snyder's most crying needs. It would be impossible to enumerate all those things which are needed to make Snyder the city it is destined to be, but there is one thing which should concern us most gravely. I refer to the matter of street lighting. Don't you think we could improve a little along this line? This thought is dropped here, not for the purpose of inducing more thought, for surely this matter has been given the thought of our best men. We have had thought a plenty and the hope which now inspires this letter is that some of our best thinkers will be stirred to action.

A story is told of a Confederate general who when about to make an attack on the enemy, gave instructions to a subordinate to charge with his force at a certain time and place. When the battle had begun to roar and this particular time had passed, the general noticed that there had been no response from the guns of the subordinate's troops. He immediately dispatched a courier to ascertain the trouble and when asked why he hadn't attacked the subordinate replied: "I was just thinking that it ought to be done." When this news reached the general he became indignant and sent the courier back with instructions to deliver this message. "We can never dislodge the enemy with thoughts, what we need is action. Please charge as soon as you have finished thinking."

We have been thinking of this and other important matters in Snyder for a long time, now let us make the charge. Let's improve and thoroughly modernize what town we have before we go in for more town. True, we are all interested in growth and development but it should not be abnormal. Man would be in a pretty plight if he should grow to full size within a year after birth and then try to develop the mental faculties later. The mind of the child must be trained and educated according to the growth of its body. So it is with cities. Let us see to it that we improve as we expand. One of the saddest sights in this world is a great big overgrown town with none of those things which make for the pleasure and comfort of its people.

Nothing could add more to the appearance of any town than well lighted streets, besides they are a great and lasting convenience.

Snyder is all right so far as her public square is concerned, but outside of this the town is almost in darkness. It would be safe to say that half the population of Snyder attends a public gathering of some kind at least one night in every week, and a large per cent of the people every night, yet they are compelled to return to their homes over uneven streets and sidewalks and some times through mud and water with no light to guide them.

Sometime ago this writer visited in the town of Colorado and through the courtesy of a friend and the friends automobile, I was treated to a ride over the entire town.

I had been in Colorado many times but it was my first tour of inspection of the residence portion. We covered all the ground four ways from the business district and as we went my friend called upon me to witness the fact that every street crossing in the city limits was supplied with an electric light. I looked and behold, it was so. My friend said to me: "You people of Snyder may have the advantage of us in some respects but we certainly excel in the matter of lights." He said: "We have named this the city of light, for with a light at every crossing it is never dark in Colorado." I do not know that these conditions exist there at this writing, but I do know that they existed then and in spite of Snyder's boasted progressiveness I was compelled to admit that we were far behind Colorado in this one respect.

People, let's wake up. Surely we are not going to allow our sister city to outstrip us in any way. I would not expect the city to do things beyond its ability, and I would not place upon it burdens which it would be unable to carry.

Perhaps we could not light the whole town at once on account of the large area covered by the incorporation, but we might at least light some of the principal streets. One of our trains from the east reaches Snyder late in the night and when the nights are dark it is very inconvenient if not absolutely dangerous for pedestrians as well as vehicles on Clairmont street. It will be argued that we could not light one or more streets to the exclusion of all others without showing partiality. This is

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill. I wish every suffering woman would give a trial. I still use Cardui when I feel a little bad, and it always does me good."

Headache, backache, side ache, nervousness, tired, worn-out feelings, etc., are sure signs of womanly trouble. Signs that you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. You cannot make a mistake in trying Cardui for your trouble. It has been helping weak, ailing women for more than fifty years.

Get a Bottle Today!

the pessimistic view. If we cannot do the whole thing at once we must do it by piecemeal, and in order to do this there must be a place to begin. In every initiative move, in every act of legislation, the first consideration should be to do the greatest good for the greatest number of people. With this thought in mind I wish to say that a few well lighted streets would be worth more to Snyder now than a grain elevator or flour mill, or both. We seek to increase our population and I want to say to Chamber of Commerce members generally and to the City Council in particular, that a manifestation of willingness on your part to do something for the convenience and comfort of the people at home is the best thing you can do to induce others to come to Snyder.

This should not be taken as a letter of criticism for it is not. Snyder has perhaps done as much as angels could have done, and as a result hundreds of travelling men and tourists have placed upon her the stamp of excellence. This is written with the hope of keeping alive our spirit of civic pride and that that pride continue to be coupled with determination and action.

Yours truly,

J. SAMUELS.

Republican Statesmen are using Colquitt charges to belittle the Wilson policies.

No democrat who has made persistent fight on a democratic administration ought to ask favors of the party.

W. J. Bryan was defeated for the position of delegate from Nebraska to the Democratic National Convention and his brother failed to get the democratic nomination for governor of that State.

The American foreign policy, taken all the way through, is for the highest standards of humanity and justice and as a spirit of Christian virtue may exist in other nations, the American principle will prevail.

The Gorman newspapers have an idea that President Wilson is not supported by Congress in his contention with Germany and they refer to the "Wilson Note" instead of the "American Note." They refuse to note the fact that the Republicans and Democrats are with Mr. Wilson by a large majority.

TEACHING AMERICANISM TO FOREIGNERS.

The Signal reprints a good article from Farm and Ranch suggesting the importance of establishing community centers where foreigners coming here may be taught American customs, patriotism and duties of citizenship. Such a school would be a good proposition for our own people. We need such tuition ourselves. There is a fearful lack of real patriotism among our own folks and the indifference to the duties of citizenship is simply astounding. Our own men and women would profit by taking a thorough course of lectures along this line. It would be of interest to enlist the new coming foreigners in this plan, but let it be borne in mind that many of these foreigners will be ready talkers. They will show a fairly clear knowledge of these very points as they exist in their old home countries and will compare these facts with the worst features and practices here and it may dawn on our home students that they know more about our own affairs than we do—for the simple reason that we have neglected to study our own conditions, and before we know it the ready talkers will be about to convince our own people that customs and governments in those foreign countries are better than ours. When we start in to teach these foreigners we should be sure that we know them and that we are ready to stand firm and solid for the perpetuity and advancement of American laws, customs and institutions.

Where else in all Texas will you find true material for a paragraph like that?

The Roby Banner says the Odd Fellows and the Woodmen of that town have all arrangements complete for the erection of a new lodge building.

Of course from some quarters, comes a lot of explaining but it will take a lot of explaining to make the common herd in the South understand why it is that everything they have to sell is cheap on account of the war and everything they have to buy is high for the same reason.—Sanger Courier.

Don't you know that no matter which way your lot fronts, it will be the wrong way when you go to sell it.

Here comes a franked speech from Cyclone Davis, of Texas. It makes us mad to think that the government collects internal revenue from us to make good the postal deficit caused by transmitting such rubbish as this.—Palo Pinto Star.

Don't fret too much over it. Cyclone will not have another opportunity soon.

Some years ago a Georgia Court sent a ten year old boy to the reformatory for stealing 2 cents worth of marbles and again the "goober state" has come to the front by sending another youth 9 years old to the reformatory for stealing a five cent bottle of soda pop.—Palo Pinto Star.

That might be termed peanut justice of the old time sort.

IN THE NAME OF HUMANITY.

The Parisian Petite, a leading news paper of Paris, France in commenting on President Wilson's address to Congress on German relations says:

"When the responsible and almost sovereign head of 100,000,000 free citizens mounts the rostrum in Congress to declare 'we are the spokesmen of the rights of humanity' he has performed an act of immense moral importance. This statesman, having behind him the country on which the whole world depends, declares before the world, 'We will not tolerate injustice.'" In those words his whole message is summed up. It is a historical event, which is deserving of our admiration as one of the noblest acts in the memory of mankind."

The Carranza government would limit the number of American soldiers in Mexico to a thousand men. That number would be a nice early morning exercise for the combined forces of Carranza and Villa. Therefore Uncle Sam answers by putting more men into line.

oOo

The United States authorities will return Von Igel's papers, but a photographic copy should be retained. This country should hold possession of all such evidence of treachery as are believed to be hidden away in those papers.

South American states are reported to be standing pat for President Wilson in his Mexico policies.

WE ALL HAVE OUR TROUBLES.

We all have our troubles. The ordinary business man, the honest hod carrier, the daily toiler, in all lines, imagine sometimes that their lots are hardest, but the men of millions are not immune to trouble. The common folks are apt to think that rich railroad magnates have nothing to do but sit in their cozy offices and look with indifference on the men who run the trains and keep the track in order, but don't you forget that they are figuring late at night how they are going to meet their obligations. For several months the conductors, engineers and trainmen on more than 40 railroads have been demanding increased pay. They want the same wage for fewer hours and time and a half for overtime. The railroad owners find that this would increase their payroll to a figure far in excess of the income of the roads and that the roads would go broke. The orders demanding the increase threaten a general stike unless their demands are met. Such a strike would tie up all the railroads of the west and northwest and paralyze business. Now, the railroads contend that the only thing that will make it possible to meet the increased expense and live is to increase freight rates. At this point we all come in for a share in the trouble.

The desire of a railroad man in Chicago for a little more pay for his day's labor comes on along the line and the humble farmer in Scurry county has to dig down in his pocket for it.

oOo

The United States has tried in every possible way to occupy an attitude of impartiality as between the belligerent nations in Europe. Now, if it shall be necessary to dissolve friendly relations with Germany, it stands to reason that Germany would lose her standing of an equal American consideration with the allies and could not expect anything more than that if American money and munitions are to go to any it would be to the allies. Germany ought to be able to see that point and at least concede to our contention for justice and humanity.

oOo

The Palo Pinto Star asserts that the public printer in Washington City has said that hundreds of thousands of government frank envelopes are issued to government employees who turn supply them to companies and individuals in which to send out free of postage all sorts of dope that are of no concern to the government. If this charge is true every member of congress ought to find out about it and stop it.

oOo

Gens. Scott and Obregon are conferring over the situation in Mexico and it is believed that they can reach an agreement when both have fully explained. If Gen. Obregon is reasonable he can be made to see that the United States has no designs on Mexico, except border protection.

oOo

Evidences are accumulating to prove that in our efforts to pacify Mexico we are having to meet the clandestine influences of Germany.

GERMANY DON'T KNOW.

The American Government has gone full length to keep out of trouble, but Germany has goaded just about to the limit of decency. Germany has felt that this nation would take any sort of mistreatment rather than go to war.

The Berlin Post in a braggadocio deliverance says:

"We have heard enough of silly reproaches levelled at us by America's sea-going citizens. If Washington gentlemen believe we have nothing more important to do than to investigate whether any cattle driver had a lock of his precious hair ruffled while crossing the ocean to Europe, then the people in the White House are terribly mistaken.

The eZitung of Berlin in no less a bombastic outburst declares:

"Germany never will yield to America because of Wilson's bluff. The attitude of the American press is in comical contrast to the really effective power of that country. The best methods of advertisement, of which Wilson is a master, wear thin in time.

"When the sword of Damocles remains too long suspended we can see it is only a wooden one."

The expressions prove that Germany has never yet understood the attitude of the American people. The administration is fully sustained by Congress and the public in its desire for peace and friendly relations, but if it comes to the worst the people will rally just as strong in war. The long suspended sword will prove to be burnished steel.

Attempted French Leave.

O. F. Page was tried in the county court last week on a charge of running a lottery. The charge was based on some sort of a "goodluck" wheel that was operated at a street carnival here last year. The jury adjudged the defendant guilty and assessed his fine at $100 and costs.

After the verdict was rendered and while the officers were figuring up the costs, the man quietly left the room and it looked for awhile like the court had drawn a "blank," but Sheriff Merrill found a hot trail and overtook Page at Dermott and brought him back to square the account and make the books balance.

W. A. Chapman came in the other day from his showing tour. He made several towns in Central Texas and got back to Fort Worth and the railroad people refused to check his menagerie through to Sweetwater. They wanted him to express his stuff over and he took another view of the matter. The result so far is that Uncle Bill is at home enjoying private life and the railroad folks have a Texas grown menagerie on their hands.

Judge Hagins May Enter.

Judge A. J. Hagins states that he will probably enter the campaign for representative from this district, composed of the counties of Kent, Scurry, Stonewall, King and Dickens. Judge Hagins was elected to this office in 1912 and filled the place for one term. The only candidate now announced for the office is Judge Fritz R. Smith of Snyder. Judge Hagins has been solicited by number of citizens of this section of the district to enter the campaign. He stated to the writer Monday that it was very probable that he would soon announce his candidacy.—Girard Reporter.

GLYCERINE AND BARK PREVENT APPENDICITIS

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka, astonishes Snyder people. Because Adler-i-ka acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel. ONE SPOONFUL relieves most any case constipation, sour stomach or gas. It removes such surprising foul matter that a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. The INSTANT, easy action of Adler-i-ka is astonishing. The Grayum Drug Co.

SNYDER MAKES

GOOD SHOWING

The Snyder Athletic and Debating teams and declaimers were represented in the Sweetwater District Meet of the University Interscholastic League and made a creditable showing there. In declamation Garner Hutcheson won second honors in the Senior Boy's Contest and Ruth Buchanan third place in the Junior Girl's Contest.

The debating and tennis teams did not get into the finals but showed that they had worked hard in preparing for the meet. The star runner Ivey Biggs was ill on the day of the track events, but managed to get second place in the half mile by a display of grit and gameness.

The Girls Basket Ball team whose participation in the district meet was made possible by the generosity of the good citizens of Snyder acquitted themselves and lived up to the reputation which they have gained during the entire year. Four teams were represented in the finals at Sweetwater: Odessa, Big Spring, Tuscola and Snyder. In the drawing for preliminaries Snyder defeated Big Spring and Odessa easily subdued Tuscola. The finals were played in the afternoon and the Snyder girls were matched against a comparatively fresh team, Odessa having had no opposition to speak of in the morning game with Tuscola, they played well and hard, showing a gameness and never say die spirit which always characterizes the Snyder teams. The odds were too great however and they were defeated 16 to 9 and thus failed to win the District Championship. Competent observers, however, assured me that they were of the opinion that the Snyder team was much the better team and that if they had not been tired the score doubtless would have been different.

The greatest victory however, did not come in the success in the various events, but in the fact that the Snyder boys and girls acted as gentlemen and ladies wherever they were and in that way won more laurels for themselves than any victories on the field or stage. Such conduct cannot be too highly commended.
—J. L. Glanville.

Brother Crutchfield used to be long in the Northwest Texas Conference, but has been superannuated for several years. He travels most of his time and finds occasion to do religious work everywhere he goes.
He was in Snyder two or three years ago and has many friends here. He is an author of considerable note and has written several volumes of poetry.

SUSPICIOUS MANEUVERS IN MEXICO.

The Signal is not disposed to assume an attitude of alarmist in regard to the Mexico situation but the reports brought to us through the press last Wednesday indicate that conditions were growing worse. There was no further proof of the death of Villa and the impression had deepened that the bandit is still alive and in control of his faction. The war department believe that Maj. Thompson was deliberately deceived at Parral by a show of friendliness on the part of the Carranza garrison. The American people are growing more fully convinced that Mexico is a hot bed of treachery, and that all the factions are planning to join forces in making war on the United States. Carranza soldiers are growing more bold in their attitude of enmity toward Americans. It has been made plain that they have failed to co-operate with our men for the capture of Villa.

We should not forget that as far back as last January Villa declared his purpose to invade American territory and for the United States to intervene and said then that he expected Japan and Germany to come to the assistance of Mexico.

Now comes the proof that Carranza may possibly have been in line with the Villa scheme. Just at the time when the Carranza soldiers are reported to be defecting to the Villa cause, the de facto president sends an envoy to Japan on a secret mission. We are about to suspect that this mission is to solicit the support of Japan against the United States. It is further believed from recent developments in Chihuahua that the German Consul in Mexico has been active in inciting the Mexicans to oppose the American forces.

This conduct developing just at the moment when friendly relations between the United States and Germany may be at the breaking point, add a more ominous aspect to the situation and gives color to the suspicion that Villa's scheme may all the time have had at least tacit endorsement by Carranza and his advisers. The fact that the president has recently felt emboldened to move the seat of government back to Mexico City indicates that he may have been assured of safety.

MRS. FARMER ANNOUNCES FOR COUNTY CLERK

To the Voters of Scurry County: Having been solicited by many of my friends, I take this method of announcing myself as a candidate for the office of County Clerk of Scurry County, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, July 22.

I have lived in this county continuously since December 27th, 1890. For three years, beginning in 1902 I taught in the Snyder School. During the latter part of 1905 and first of 1906, I took a business course from the Metropolitan Business College of Dallas and in 1906, I began office work in Snyder and have been in that work continuously since that time, so I feel sure that the experience that I have, fits me for attending thoroughly to the duties of this office to which I aspire.

For the benefit of those who have not given the subject any special thought, and before deciding to announce as a candidate for this office, I consulted one of the strongest law firms of West Texas as to whether or not a married woman could hold an office and I hold in my possession, their opinion which says that this is unquestionably legal.

There are several reasons why I desire to be elected by your vote to the office of County Clerk. One, of course is the financial part. And another is the pleasure of being the first woman to have been elected to an office in this County, which has held the center of my interest for the past 25 years.

Should you see fit to elect me, I shall appreciate it very much and shall show my appreciation by attending to the duties of the office to the very best of my ability.

Yours very truly,

Mrs. Willie (Strayhorn) Farmer

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Crashes into sour bile, making you sick and you lose a day's work

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50c bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it. No 13

Judge Buchanan can preside over a Court, can handle the varied phases of the school law, can give a succinct opinion on almost any part of the Terrell election law, and is prepared to successfully conduct a campaign for a State Senatorship, but when he turned cowboy the other day and pulled off a roping stunt with a yearling as his subject, he came out second best.

How Many Miles are there in a gallon of Gasoline.

That depends on the type of motor in your car.

When you buy a BUICK six-cylinder Valve-in-Head motor car, you not only get the last word in comfort, style, power and speed, but we guarantee that you get an automobile which will give the highest gasoline mileage.

It is an admitted fact that the Valve-in-Head motor does give 5 per cent more power than any other type of gasoline motor, which means 15 per cent more mileage per gallon of gasoline.

This is not a theory, but a fixed principle resulting from the perfecting of the Buick Valve-in-Head motor.

Thousands of users of Buick Valve-in-Head six-cylinder cars give evidence daily that they are getting 20 miles or more per gallon of gasoline.

Remember---the cost of operation is part of the cost of your car.

With the price of gasoline going up, the proven economy of the Buick Valve in Head car should make it your preference.

CHAUTAUQUA ENTERS NEW PHASE

Permanence of Parent Institution of Chautauqua Movement Now Definitely Established.

Over Quarter Million Dollars Being Spent on Plant at Chautauqua, N. Y., This Year, Making Largest Single Year's Development in History of the Movement Since 1874—New Entrances, Public Buildings, and Residences, All of Permanent Construction. City of Tents No Longer the Type to Represent the Chautauqua Idea.

NEW developments which are going on at Chautauqua, N. Y., in buildings, approaches and transportation facilities differ greatly from the prevailing notion of a chautauqua as a transitory thing. Brick paved highways, double track interurban car lines, entrances of brick and concrete in good architectural design, landscape treatment on a broad scale, educational buildings in comprehensive groups, hotel rooms with steam heat and other like conveniences, private residences costing a fortune to build do not grow up around an enterprise of fleeting character, yet all these things are taking shape this spring at Chautauqua. The fact is that the parent institution of the Chautauqua movement, on Chautauqua Lake, has within a decade passed into a wholly new phase, the "city of tents" giving way very fast to a city that "has foundations." Electric light and power plants, gas mains, water supply and sewage systems, paved sidewalks, involves also the double tracking of the trolley line, the laying of needed switches and the construction of a new and complete station. The plans for the station building are by Freeburg & Fidler, architects, of Jamestown, N. Y. There will be a double track in front and a switch to the rear for freight, baggage and express. The building will be 56 by 225, built of red brick, stone and concrete. The design will harmonize with the present permanent Institution buildings, with red tile roof and wide, projecting eaves. The outside passenger platform will be 28 by 72, so arranged that outgoing and incoming traffic may be separated. On the inside will be the Institution ticket office with incoming and outgoing passes, the exchange office, news and candy stands and the rest room for ladies. Toilet rooms, inside and outside, will be provided for both sexes. Adjoining the traction ticket office will be the baggage department with checking and transfer offices, the freight department and the express department, all to have ample platform space for park, and the natural beauty of a stream and ravine at that point will be enhanced by planting trees and shrubs. A plaza near the station has also been reserved for park use. The planning of this addition has been done by George Y. Skinner, a specialist connected with the New York firm of Samuel Parsons & Co., landscape architects.

The Chautauqua High School, the Institution Garage and car parking place, the excellent Chautauqua golf links and the industrial center comprising repair shops of various kinds are located west of the Chautauqua enclosure on the highway and trolley line.

Chautauqua's New Water Gate.

Second in importance to the improvements of the land gate at Chautauqua, now under way, is the construction of the new pier building, on the site of the old wooden structure, which was torn down last fall. The Miller Memorial Bell Tower, erected in memory of the late Lewis Miller of Akron, O., co-founder with Bishop John H. Vintry and serve as a place for study on broad lines at a small expense.

New Music Studio at Chautauqua.

The interest in orchestral and choral music at Chautauqua which has made the Chautauqua Music Week one of the annual music events of America affects also the Chautauqua Summer School of Music. Each year sees some improvement in the facilities for music study at Chautauqua, and this year a new practice studio will supply a greatly demanded addition to the plant of the music department.

The new building will occupy a position on the slope south of the Sherwood Memorial building, which all visitors remember, and will conform in style to the architecture of the College Hill group.

The Packard Estate at Chautauqua.

The first really pretentious country estate to be built on Chautauqua Lake has been laid out by Mr. William D. Packard of Warren, O., a member of the Packard Car Company, on a large tract adjoining the Institution grounds on the north. Landscape work has been under way all winter. Mr. Packard is the son of the late Warren D. Packard, one of the pioneer summer residents of Chautauqua Lake and one of those influential in the development of Lakewood several years ago.

The property which Mr. Packard has bought lies between the Chautauqua Traction Company's line and the lake and along the north boundary of the Chautauqua Institution enclosure. From this particular point there is an unexcelled view from Mayville on the north to Long Point on the south, and it is undoubtedly one of the most desirable residence sites of the entire lake region.

The house is to be three stories high, of brick, stone and steel construction, red tile roof, absolutely fireproof. It is set in a grove of elms, which surround it on all sides but one, that facing the lake.

Directly to the south of the residence gardens are planned, terminating in a wild growth of shrubbery, threaded with trails leading to the docks and boathouse, to an artificial waterfall, a lily pond, tennis courts and vegetable gardens.

A cottage for the gatekeeper and tenants is now under construction, and other buildings will adjoin this cottage.

The landscape work has been done under the direction of Mr. H. L. Avery of Cleveland. Eighty-four full grown trees, mostly elms, have been transplanted by Mr. Herbert L. Hyatt of Cleveland, forester, who has transformed an uninteresting, bare hillside into a well wooded slope. A great quantity of small planting is also being done.

The Packard residence when completed will probably represent an expenditure close to $175,000.

Larger Hotel Accommodations at Chautauqua.

Among the many excellent boarding houses at Chautauqua, that erected this winter by Mrs. A. J. Lewis and known as the St. Elmo will command attention. It is a handsome and commodious new structure and by its artistic blending into the general architectural scheme of the central plaza is a real ornament to the place. It will contain many steam heated rooms with private baths. Mrs. Lewis has shown very positive faith in the future of Chautauqua.

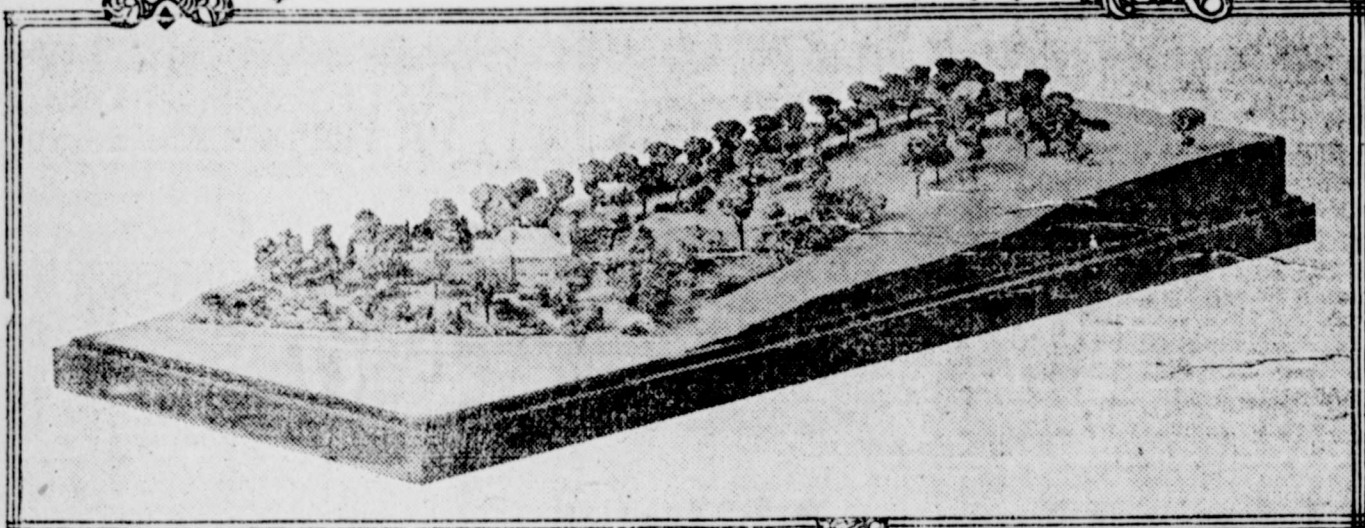

Hotel Athenaeum is building an addition to its service equipment. Several boarding houses and private cottages are being built or enlarged.

Fenton Home For Methodist Deaconesses.

In addition to projects already well under way at Chautauqua, N. Y., such as a new pier building, new traction station, new school buildings and boarding houses, there are expectations concerning a home for Methodist Deaconesses provided for in the will of the late James Fenton of Buffalo, N. Y. This his executor hopes to build this spring at an approximate cost of $25,000 to $30,000. The construction will be of brick and stone and will be a most desirable addition to the new Chautauqua buildings of permanent type. The year 1916 is clearly to go down as extraordinary for physical growth at Chautauqua.

ARCHITECT'S SKETCH OF SUMMER SCHOOLS BUILDINGS OF CHAUTAUQUA INSTITUTION, CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., AS THEY WILL APPEAR WHEN COMPLETED. ABOUT HALF OF THE GROUP WILL BE USED IN 1916 BY THE 3,000 STUDENTS OF THE SUMMER SCHOOLS AT CHAUTAUQUA.

year-round office buildings of fire proof or slow burning construction are among the things that one by one have supplanted the earlier makeshifts. Over a quarter of a million dollars is just now being expended to present the assembly to 1916 visitors in its new character as a permanent institution, definitely come to stay.

The Chautauqua assembly at Chautauqua, N. Y., will this summer offer to the visitor's view two important and striking improvements in two approaches—the water gate or pier, where will enter the visitor coming by steamboat from other points on Lake Chautauqua, and the land gate, where will enter the visitor coming by trolley from any direction or by motorcar over the excellent highway which connects with the great east and west thoroughfare at Westfield, N. Y.

Chautauqua's New Land Gate.

The general highway improvement is the most extensive enterprise now under way at Chautauqua, N. Y. This has been secured by generous co-operation with Chautauqua Institution on the part of the State of New York, the county of Chautauqua and the Chautauqua Traction Company operating the electric railroad from Jamestown to Westfield. It comprises a modern passenger station, double tracking of the trolley line, a new brick paved highway and important changes in the boundaries of the Assembly enclosure.

Plans were made in 1913 by the State for the improvement of the highway. A magnificent new state road is now open through Mayville to Westfield, connecting with the great roadway east and west, known to all automobilists. The line of the highway at Chautauqua was changed and straightened and paved with brick. This change has made possible the addition of a considerable acreage to the lot and park space of the institution. It in-loading and unloading. Work has already been begun so as to assure completion before the season opens. The cost of the structure will be some $30,000 and incidental improvements by the Traction Company perhaps $10,000 additional.

The Institution has expended for land and buildings and for the improvements made over $40,000. The special piece of brick highway has cost the state and county $17,000, while the Traction Company expenditures, as just indicated, will aggregate at least $40,000.

For a quarter of a century the water gate was the principal and almost the only entrance to Chautauqua, and it will be remembered for its natural picturesque beauty by every one who has visited the assembly during the past forty-two years. More recently, since the development of the electric railway and since the automobile has become so important a factor, the roadgate has received the larger share of visitors, yet it has had nothing to suggest the real character of Chautauqua. It has been like the railroad approach to many a town, a back door entrance, crowded and comfortless, without character or convenience.

The change in the highway and trolley line has made available to the Institution a tract about 4,000 feet long, varying in width from 10 to 300 feet, or nearly thirteen acres, and brings the total area within the enclosure up to about 200 acres. The new section is laid out into eighty-eight lots and into parking. The lots thus made available for lease are somewhat larger than the older Chautauqua lots. Two of the new streets formed are named Harper and Massey avenues, to commemorate services to Chautauqua by Dr. William R. Harper of the University of Chicago and the Massey family of Toronto. In this extension about two acres have been added to the present playground cent of Chautauqua Assembly, is an impressive enhancement of the natural charm of "the point." The new pier building, which will cost about $10,000, will be another added ornament.

The new pier building will be a two story structure of 40 by 100 feet, with concrete columns and red tile roofing. The first floor will contain the Institution ticket office, steamboat ticket office, waiting rooms, check room, baggage room and refreshment booth. The second floor will be entirely devoted to a covered promenade. A most attractive building is promised by Green & Weeks of Buffalo, the Institution architects.

For the past two years there has been a marked improvement in this entire section of Chautauqua, in ground, park and cottage betterments, to which the new boat landing and water entrance will give final emphasis.

Summer Schools Growing.

The growth of summer schools throughout the country is being largely shared by the pioneer summer schools at Chautauqua, N. Y. This year's addition to the Chautauqua Summer Schools on College Hill will be in the form of two sixty foot ends added to the sides of the rectangle already well defined. When completed all the classes, comprising 3,000 students, will be provided for in this building, with the open end of the quadrangle toward the lake and "the old chestnut tree" a venerable Chautauqua landmark in the center.

It is to be hoped that friends of popular education will come forward to make possible in the immediate future the completion of this unique group of buildings which will serve as classrooms, laboratories and dormitories.

The Chautauqua Summer Schools themselves are unique in having always been self supporting. They are the oldest summer schools in the coun-

CHAUTAUQUA A GREAT POPULAR EDUCATOR

Impartial Discussion of Vital Subjects in World Crisis.

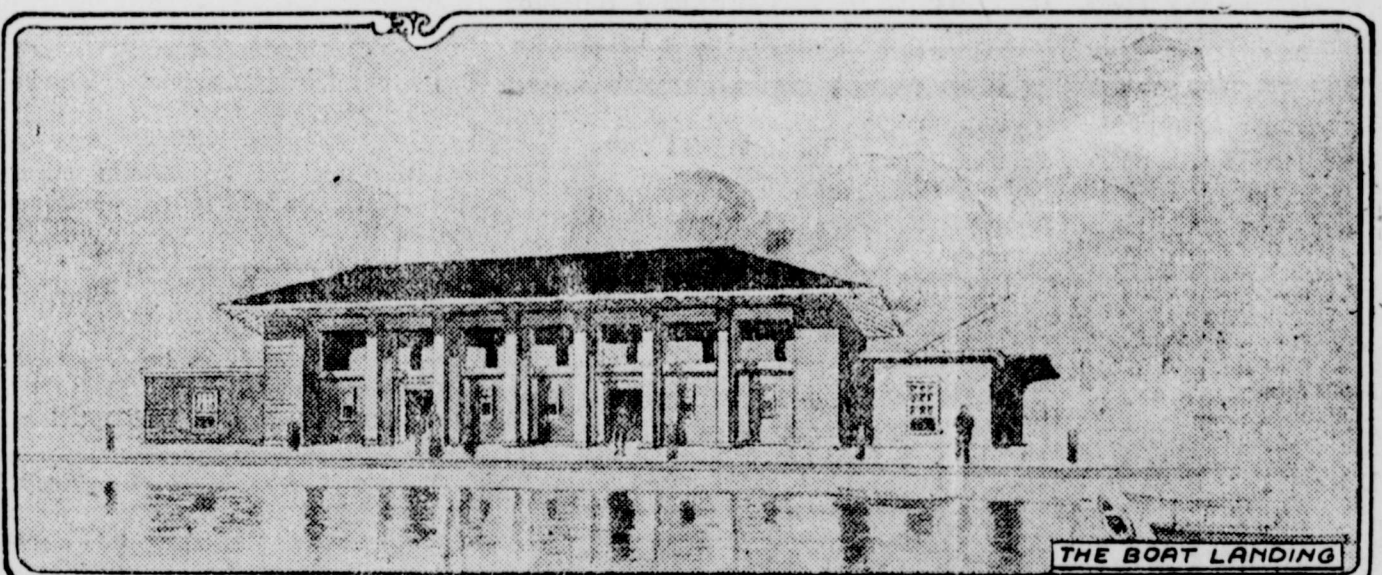

Chautauqua Institution, the pioneer in summer assemblies, summer schools and home reading courses, maintains its leadership in popular education by a rare combination of intellectual training, stimulating platform events and healthful recreation. Its public program again offers at a time of world crisis impartial discussion of vital subjects by authoritative leaders of public opinion.

More significant even than the individual addresses by notable men are the series of one week each on current political, social, economic and religious problems. Topics for such discussion are the defense of the nation, the Americanization of our foreign inhabitants, the church in its task of remaking a war cursed world, the elevation of American business to a profession, with professional breadth of training and professional loftiness of ethics; the messages of art and antiquity to modern practical life and taxation in the light of wisdom and justice. Each of the eight weeks from June 29 to Aug. 27 is devoted to some one major interest, that of Aug. 7-12 being music, with the well known Russian Symphony Orchestra engaged to supplement the regular musical resources of the Institution. The names of many educators and public men of the first rank appear in announcements just issued. Eight preachers of national reputation will give the eight Sunday morning sermons, and there are many other religious exercises.

The Chautauqua Summer Schools offer something over 200 courses in their catalog, just issued, and list over a hundred instructors, many of them prominently connected with great universities during the college months.

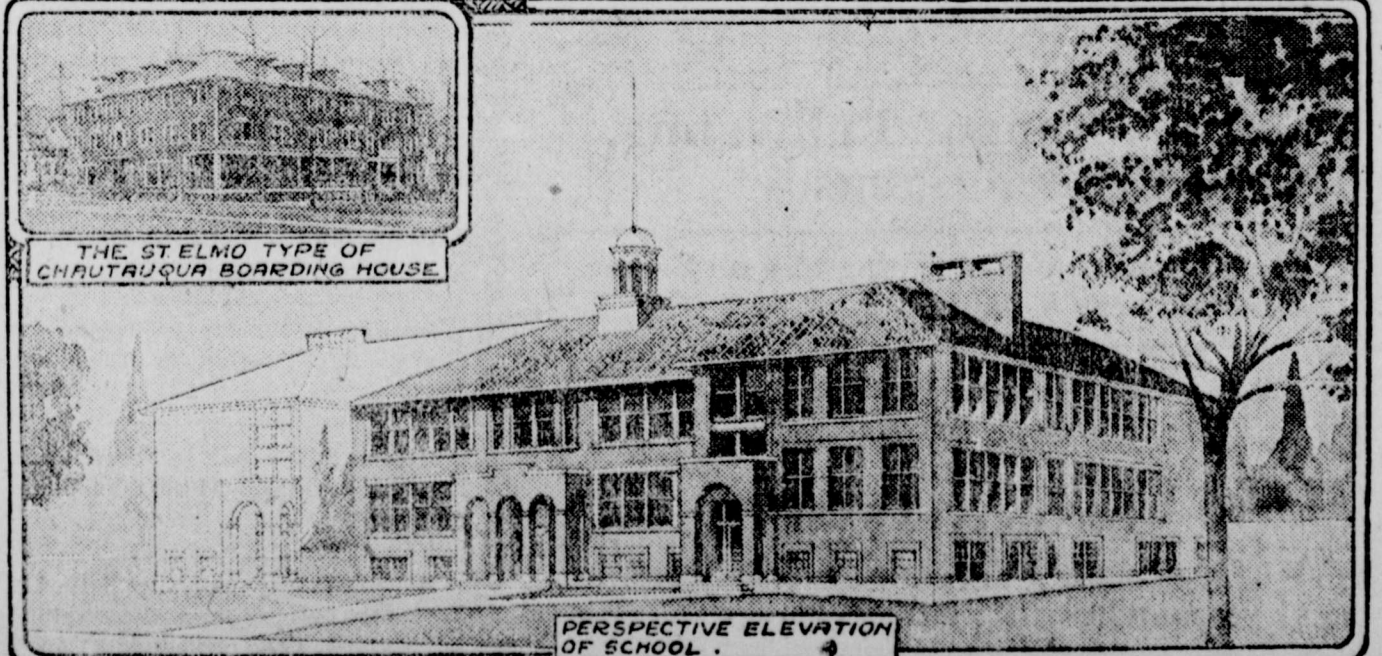

With its altitude of 1,400 feet, its twenty mile lake and the climate for which the region is famous, there has always been at Chautauqua the greatest variety of outdoor sports and recreations. The list now includes golf, motoring, tennis, rowing, bowling, gymnastics, track athletics, sailing, rowing and fishing. Somewhat amusing to note, the prospectus for the year, just issued, indicates the pitching of horseshoes as one of the pastimes that arouse most enthusiasm among substantial business men and dignified members of the professions. It is only a step back to boyhood after all. Under almost ideal conditions for health, convenience and enjoyment, at a place like Chautauqua every member of the family finds a satisfying home for the summer.

BOTH SIDES OF QUESTION BETWEEN RAILROAD EMPLOYEES AND COMPANIES.

During the past several weeks there has been a great deal of talking and writing, together with conferences relative to the proposed "Eight Hour Day" movement. March 29th the matter was presented to numerous railroad companies throughout the United States. Following is the letter conveying the proposition of the railroad employees and following that is the answer of the Railroad companies (Santa Fe System.)

Dear Sirs—This is to advise that employees employed on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, have instructed the authorized committees of the Order of Railway Conductors; Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen to present to you the attached proposition (No. 35) as a revision of the schedules now in force and effective on our line governing employees in the classes of services indicated therein.

In accordance with the terms of our present agreements, kindly accept this as an official notice of our desire to revise the extent named, our present schedules or agreements.

This proposition is being presented to other roads in the territory upon the same date this request is made upon our line and it is desired that answer to our proposal be made in writing to the undersigned committee on or before April 29th, 1916.

In submitting this proposition we desire that it be understood that all rates, rules and conditions in our agreements, not specifically effected by these proposed amendments shall remain unchanged, subject to change in the future by negotiating with the proper officials and committees as has been the case in the past.

It is our request that all lines or divisions of railway operated or controlled by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad shall be included in these negotiations and that any agreement reached shall apply alike to all such lines of railway. It is to be understood that any settlement of these questions that may be agreed upon by this co-operative movement will not become effective on roads where agreements or arbitration awards exist until the expiration of the period named therein.

Any rates of pay, including excess mileage or arbitrary differentials that are higher, or any rule or conditions of employment contained in individual schedules in effect January 1, 1916, that are more favorable to the employer shall not be modified nor affected by any settlement reached in connection with these proposals. The General Committee representing the employees on each railroad will determine which is preferable and advise the officers of their company. Nothing in the settlement that may be reached on the above submitted articles is to be construed to deprive the employees of any railroad from retaining their present rules and accepting any rates that may be agreed upon or retaining their present rates and accepting any rules that may be agreed upon.

Gentlemen: Your communication of March 29th, giving notice of your desire to revise present wage schedules and agreements according to certain proposals made a part of that notice, has this day been received.

Your proposition applies to the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Company and leased lines, Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway Company and Rio Grande, El Paso & Santa Fe Railroad Company.

The present standard of rates and working conditions have been very largely fixed by mediation and arbitration and these companies feel that they are adequate and even liberal to the employees. These companies have no desire to change either the existing rates of pay or the working rules, nor reduce the earning possibilities of the employees under their existing rules, but in as much as your proposals contemplate fundamental changes in operating methods and practices on which the schedules have been built up, these companies hereby give notice in conformity with the schedules now in effect that in connection with and as a part of the consideration and disposition of your proposal there shall be open for consideration and disposition those provisions in the schedules or practices thereunder governing compensation in the classes of service affected by your proposals or those in conflict with the following principles as they apply in such classes:

(a) No double compensation for the same time of service.

(b) The same classification for the purpose of compensation to be applied to all members of a train and engine crew.

(c) Two or more differently paid classes or service performed in the same day or trip to be paid proportionate rates according to the class of service with not less than a minimum day for the combined service.

As our present contracts do not relate to rates, rules and regulations governing the employment of hostlers your proposition cannot be considered by these Companies as applicable to that class of service.

As to joining other railway companies in the United States and entering into a collective movement as requested in the third paragraph of your lettered wish to advise that this feature of your proposition will be taken under consideration and advice given later.

Yours truly,
THE ATCHISON, TOPEKA & SANTA FE RAILWAY COMPANY.

Our Crop Outlook

Scurry County couldn't want a better crop outlook than now confronts us. The dry winter gave opportunity to farmers to plow their land and put it in tip top condition.

Then the rain came three weeks ago and it all soaked in. Since then crop planting has been pushed and now the good rain of this week gives a first class season.

Crops will come up and as the weather warms up we may expect rapid growth.

Wheat is looking especially good now and a good yield is almost assured.

To the Voters of Scurry County Gentlemen:

First I want to thank you for the splendid encouragement and the many expressions of confidence extended to me since I entered the race for Tax Collector of Scurry County.

You remember when I announced in these columns, I told you that I was a farmer and as planting time is here I have to devote my time to planting my crop instead of canvassing, but when the planting is finished I expect to devote most of my time seeing the people and telling them how bad I want to be your next Tax Collector.

Thanking you in advance for any favors shown me, I promise to see you personally as soon as possible.
