Memorial Day Is Observed Over Nation

Solemn Services Are Held At Graves Of War Dead; Gettysburg Has Service

(By The Associated Press)

The nation muted the clatter of business and industry today to reverence the memory of the men who fell in its battles.

In traditional fashion, Americans devoted much of the seventieth observance of Memorial day to solemn services at the graves of war dead and to parades commemorating deeds of United States armies, navies and auxiliary services.

In cities, towns and villages flags rippled, small arms cracked salutes, prayers were said and the notes of taps sounded a requiem.

President Roosevelt passed a relaxing day at his Hyde Park, N. Y. home, receiving but one scheduled visitor and making two short motor trips. He will return to Washington tonight.

Vandenberg To Speak

At historic Gettysburg, Pa., site of crucial battle of the war between the states Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (Mich-Rep) was the ceremonial speaker.

School children placed roses at the headstones stippling the Gettysburg cemetery. Veterans of all wars took part in the services at the national shrine.

Overseas—in England, France and Belgium—Americans gathered for observances of the day in an atmosphere charged with uncertainty. Speakers warned that fears and hatreds of the old world threatened a common civilization so hardly achieved.

Flags Decorate Graves In City

Flags floated this morning over 94 graves in Lubbock cemetery of the men who have served in the armed forces of their country while Lubbock engaged in a quiet observance of Memorial day.

Graves were those of Confederate and Union veterans of the Civil war, and of the Spanish-American and the World wars. Members of the decorations committee were Mrs. A. I. Glassman, Mrs. W. H. Waln, Mrs. Fred C. Wendt, Mrs. Terrell St. Clair and Mrs. Everett Lenning.

No elaborate program for the day had been arranged. However, the climaxing event of the activities was scheduled to begin in the auditorium at Allen Bros. post of the American Legion at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon when Memorial services are to be held.

To Place Flowers

From there, members of the audience and others will go to the cemetery for services and to place flowers upon the graves of the former service men buried there.

Sponsoring the program at the hall and the cemetery will be posts and auxiliaries of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. Other patriotic organizations of the city are to assist and invitations to every interested citizen to participate were extended by A. C. Jackson and Terrell St. Clair, commanders respectively of the Legion and VFW.

More Flowers Needed

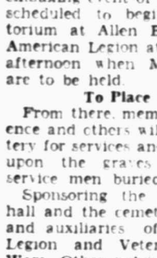

While the response to an appeal for flowers with which to decorate the graves was generous, Jackson and St. Clair joined in the request

New Defeat In China Faces Jap Forces

Beleaguered Division Trapped By Chinese; Madrid Again Bombed; Czech Area Quiet

(By The Associated Press)

The entrapment of a famous Japanese army division today threatened Nippon's legions with another face-losing defeat in their invasion of central China — the standout development in the world's armed and unarmed conflicts.

Reinforcements were blocked from reaching the beleaguered 14th division, under Lieut.-Gen. Kenji Doihara, by Chinese troops which had engulfed that advance element of the westward drive along the Lunghai railway. It was trapped northwest of Lanfeng.

Is Outstanding Leader

Doihara, known as the "Lawrence of Manchuria" for his politico-military activities before and after the creation of Japanese-protected Manchoukuo, is an outstanding army leader.

Defeat for Doihara would be a loss of face akin to that suffered by Japanese forces early last month at Taierhchwang.

In Spain insurgent gunners shelled Madrid for two hours. At least three persons were killed.

March Down Highway

Insurgent troops marched down the Teruel highway toward Valencia, flanking the government's mountain stronghold, Mora de Rubielos, about 55 miles northwest of the former provisional capital.

Europe looked to peace parleys this week between the Czechoslovak government and Nazi leaders of its dissident Germanic minority

PLANES ARE REPORTED

TOKYO, May 31 (Tuesday)—(AP)—Two airplanes believed to be Chinese last night cruised along the entire length of the western coast of Kyushu and caused declaration of a state of alarm for western Japan which was not ended until 1:45 this morning (10:45 a. m., Monday, C. S. T.).

All available reports agreed the planes dropped no bombs, and apparently they ended their reconnaissance of the Kyushu coast without molestation and turned homeward. It was the second bloodless "air raid" on Japan proper in ten days.

Film Extras Are Rescued After Trying To Swim Way To Jobs

HOLLYWOOD, May 30 (AP)—Nearly 200 film extras, including one-time Olympic hero Jim Thorpe, were rescued by lifeguards while trying to swim their way to jobs in a new picture.

M-G-M, planning to sink a gambling barge at sea for a picture in Clark Gable's "Too Hot To Handle," put on a rigorous test for prospective players yesterday at Hermosa beach.

About 600 extras, all of whom said they could swim, were told to paddle a half-mile course around the pier. Many became chilled in the 60-degree water, others in street clothes were exhausted, and 30 lifeguards had a busy time pulling them out.

Thorpe said a leg cramp forced him to quit. Three hundred qualified successfully. They will portray the passengers on a liner destroyed by fire, an incident similar to the Morro Castle disaster.

New Experimental Airliner To Be Wheeled Out For First Test

SANTA MONICA, Calif., May 30 (AP)—The DC-4, a $1,700,000 experimental airliner designed to carry 42 passengers and five crewmen, is ready to be wheeled out on Clover field today for fueling for its first test flight.

Initial fueling of the plane is a tedious process, requiring more than a day. Every gallon sucked upward into the tank intakes on the underside of the 98-foot wing must first be weighed, then drained out and weighed again.

FARMER FACES CHARGE

McKINNEY, May 30 (AP)—Charges of murder were filed here today against K. Hays, east Collin county farmer, in connection with the fatal shooting last night of H. H. Johnson, Altoga farmer.

Nebraska Offers Tax-Cutting Tip: Keep An Eye On County Expenses; One Man Has Job

(By Associated Press Feature Service)

NEW YORK, May 30 — A heavy-set, ruddy-faced Nebraskan with a flair for figures hands you two papers that look like blank checks.

"See much difference between them?" asks the man, whose name is Frank G. Arnold.

You tell him not much.

"Well, let's see what it cost to print them," he says. "These are warrants issued by two Nebraska counties. One county paid $552.40 for 10,000 of them. Another county got the same number for $45."

Arnold is president of the Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers Leagues. He was brought here by the New York Chamber of Commerce to give a series of lectures.

Makes It His Business

Because of his position, he makes it his business to know why one county pays 12 times as much as another for a batch of warrants.

He drives home his point with a thousand and one comparisons of expenditures. It's the same story, he tells you, whether you consider warrants, primary ballots, paper clips or cedar piling.

Wanted To Know

"Arnold became interested in county government—he calls it the "greatest unexplored continent of American politics"" — when a taxpayers' association was started in 1930 in his home town of Fullerton, a farming community of 1,600.

"As a plain, hard-headed farmer and business man, who had always been a heavy taxpayer, I wanted to know what became of the money the tax collector extracted from my exchequer," he says.

But he wasn't the first Nebraskan who had that idea. A taxpayers' association had been formed in the state as early as 1927. Arnold came to the fore, other leaders in the movement say, because he knew better than anyone else how to dramatize the tax-cutting pro-

Adjournment Within Two Weeks Is Seen

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—Members of congress want to go home by June 11, and Senate Leader Barkley (D-Ky) expressed confidence today that they will get their wish.

"We should pass the relief bill in the senate by the middle of the week," Barkley told reporters. "Then all we will have left are a compromise on the wage-hour bill, a deficiency appropriation measure, and a few odds and ends that can be sandwiched in at any time."

Administration leaders, it was learned, have decided definitely to abandon the government reorganization bill for this session. There had been frequent rumors that the measure, shelved in the house after the senate passage, would be revived before adjournment.

Several informed congressmen predicted, however, that President Roosevelt would renew his request for the legislation next year.

Both chambers were in recess for Memorial day. When the senate reconvenes tomorrow, it will start voting on amendments to the $3,000,000 relief and public works bill.

O'Connell Proposes Mass Visit To Jersey; Texan States View

WASHINGTON, May 30. (AP)—A mass visit of 25 house "liberals" to Jersey City was proposed yesterday by Representative O'Connell, (D-Mont.), who has sought unsuccessfully to speak in that city on civil liberties.

O'Connell said he would ask the others Tuesday to join him in the visit. The representatives are members of a Tuesday luncheon group.

Representative Maverick (D-Tex), one of the group, said he would not join "any busting into windmills in this part of the country," adding:

"I'll do any riding I do in Texas where we have plenty of windmills of our own."

Eight Reported Drowned Today In Cloudburst In Kentucky

MANCHESTER, Ky., May 30 (AP)—Eight members of the Bob Thompson family were reported drowned early today when a cloudburst washed their cabin down a creek in this mountain area.

Thompson, a miner, and his eldest son were reported to have escaped.

Six bodies were recovered, according to meager information given Tom Smith, railroad station agent here. He said the tragedy was reported by miners.

The victims were said to be Thompson's wife and seven children.

As Duster Struck City Today

Here's How Dark It Got

A black dust storm cast a mantle of starless-midnight over Lubbock for a five and one-half minute period about 2 p. m. today.

Rolling in from the west on the wings of a stiff breeze, it moved over the city like a gigantic blanket. The entire city watched its approach in gigantic billows.

At 2 p. m., the mast of black began darkening the city and lights were flashed on. Within two minutes darkness had reached its maximum intensity, lasting about five and one-half minutes. Then, as it swept toward the east, the dust cloud began to thin and two minutes later, had passed on, leaving a heavy haze of red dust in the air.

It was easily one of the most remarkable phenomena of weather in Lubbock history.

Strangely, the city escaped choking dust, such was the height above the city of the ebon cloud.

Californian Establishes New Record

Winner Drives Entire Route Without Relief; Wilbur Shaw Comes In Second

(By The Associated Press)

SPEEDWAY, Indianapolis, May 30.—Floyd Roberts, Van Nuys, California, roared to record breaking victory in the 500-mile automobile race today. It was his first major triumph in 22 years of racing.

Roberts, driving the entire distance without relief and making only one 30-second stop, received a tumultuous acclaim of the huge crowd as he piloted his brick-red colored car across the finish line.

Shaw Five Miles Back

The winner finished about five miles ahead of Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis, winner of the 1937 classic.

Roberts covered the 500 miles in 4:15:58.40 to establish the average of 117.200 miles an hour, smashing the record of 113.580 hung up by Shaw last year.

A flying wheel from a careening racer killed Everett Spence, Terre Haute, Ind., a spectator.

At 400 miles sixteen of the original 33 starters still were in the competition.

Six Deaths Reported In Texas Accidents

(By The Associated Press)

Texas contributed six week-end deaths to the nation's toll of 139 on the eve of Memorial day.

Four persons died in traffic accidents, two others drowned.

Nine-year-old Raymond Lyle of Lordsburg, N. M., was burned to death when an automobile in which he was riding overturned, and burned near Pecos, Tex. His mother, Mrs. F. A. Lyle, and five others were injured.

Weldon R. McKinney, 28, Houston, was killed when the automobile in which he was riding crashed into a culvert near Houston. Two Austin men, Eric Swenson, 55, and Grover H. Griffith, 45, were killed in collisions.

Two drownings were reported yesterday as Texans sought relief from 90-degree temperatures. Mrs. J. P. Renegar, 22, of Amarillo, drowned in Buffalo lake near Umbarger, Tex. Near Colorado, 14-year-old Katherine Neff drowned in a lake.

Vernest O. Thompson Is Tenth To File For Governor's Post

AUSTIN, May 30. (AP)—Vernest O. Thompson of Dallas county today became the 10th announced candidate for governor in the Democratic primaries to pay the required $100 filing fee to the state executive committee.

Ernest O. Thompson, a member of the railroad commission also is seeking the gubernatorial nomination.

Mercury Hits New High For May Sunday

Maxima Of 108, 104 And 102 Are Reported During Day; Breeze Brings Relief

A brisk southwest breeze brought a measure of relief here this morning from the searing heat of Sunday which broke all high temperature for May in the history of Lubbock.

The maxima temperatures for Sunday as reported here at various places where recording thermometers are kept were:

Main line station of West Texas Gas company, south of the city, 108 degrees steadily from 3 to 4 p. m.

Experimental sub-station three miles east of Lubbock, 104 degrees at mid-afternoon.

Municipal airport north of the city, 102 degrees at about 3:30 p. m.

Readings at the experiment station were said to be, ordinarily, closest to those actually prevailing within the city.

Closest Was In 1916

Closest approach to Sunday's temperature during any month of May since records have been kept at the experiment station was on May 31, 1916, when the mercury climbed to the 102-degree mark.

Sunday's heat was intensified by the almost entire absence of air movement, contrasting with the 22-mile southwest breeze prevailing at noon today.

Thousands At Park

The high Sabbath temperature caused a general exodus from the city in search of relief.

At Mackenzie park, according to Supt. Kelso D. Vernor, an aggregate of several thousand visitors enjoyed advantages offered on the picnic grounds, the "combination" house, the City swimming pool and various other facilities.

Those who took advantage of the city's offer of free use of the swimming pool, which was officially opened during the day, numbered between 800 and 1,000, most of them youngsters. It was a day of free swimming because the new bathhouse now under construction was not completed.

Building Ready Soon

The building officials were advised, should be finished and ready for official opening by next week-end. The pool, however, will be open each afternoon and evening and temporary facilities will be provided there for changing of clothing. The charges usual in other years will be made. They are 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults for use of the pool, 20 cents for bathing suit rental and five cents for towel rental.

The limited open-hours schedule for City pool will be in effect this week, it was explained, so that CCC enrollees can work without interruption to hasten the completion of the bathhouse.

Another record breaking throng visited Buffalo lakes southeast of the city, E. C. Wallace, resident manager there, said that the crowd was the largest on any Sunday in the history of Buffalo park.

Three Young Men Are Held In Slaying Of Oklahoma Man

IDABEL, Okla., May 30 (AP)—Three young men were held today after Night Marshal Frank Stafford said they beat to death a 45-year-old hotel clerk with a pint whisky bottle because he refused them liquor.

Stafford said the hotel clerk, Edward Fooshee, lived two hours before he died as the result of several blows on his left temple.

The three young men entered the hotel, Stafford said, awoke Fooshee who was sleeping on a couch and demanded whisky. The marshal said Fooshee protested he had none and refused to obtain liquor for the three.

A fight started when Fooshee walked toward a telephone to call police, Stafford said.

Fifty Families Are Without Shelter After Sooner Storm

MIAMI, Okla., May 30 (AP)—Fifty families were without shelter today in the wake of a small twister, hail and rain of near cloudburst proportions in the tri-state area of Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri.

The storm also was reported to have extended a short distance into Kansas.

A small twister, accompanied by heavy rain and hail struck Quapaw, in the extreme northeastern corner of Oklahoma, early yesterday. Fifty families at Hockerville, Okla., were housed in the Baptist church there after the hailstones shattered the roofs of many homes.

VERSAILLES, France, May 30 (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor bade farewell to Versailles today by unveiling a plaque naming one of the city's streets "Rue de Windsor." They will leave tonight for their new home at Antibes on the French Riviera.

Head, Hands And Feet Had Been Cut From Body

By JOHN A. MOROSO
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 30.—One hundred local police and G-men searched nearby shores today for remnants of the body of kidnaped 12-year-old Peter Levine, whose wire-trussed, headless torso was yielded up last night by the waters of Long Island sound after three tragic months.

Scores of irate residents joined the search. Dozens of small volunteer boats patrolled the coast, seeking evidence that might point somehow to the killer.

Detective Lieutenant George Reifenberger expressed belief that the boy, cruelly cut by the wire that bound the body, had been tossed into the sound—whether alive or dead—from a boat, perhaps in the vicinity of Rye or Mamaroneck, seven miles above New Rochelle.

Police and federal agents, headed by J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, and Reed Vetterli, veteran head of his New York staff, spent the night studying charts of wind and tide movements, trying thus to locate the approximate scene of death.

First Development In Weeks

Discovery of the body, identified by clothing, was the first development in the case in several weeks and confirmed the growing dread in his family that he would never be returned alive.

Ransom notes had been found and answered; Murray Levine, the father, had publicly offered to pay $30,000.

There was no conclusive answer from the abductors, and the whole case of missing Peter Levine had been all but forgotten until, just after dusk last night, a woman telephoned the police:

"There's a body out here!"

Head, Hands, Feet Gone

They found, then, what was left of Peter Levine—a wire-bound torso only, the head gone, the hands and feet gone, and only a patched-sleeved sweater, a red windbreaker and a shirt, with the name "Peter Levine" stitched in it, to make the identification certain. The body had come ashore on an estate bordering the sound not far from the boy's home.

Dr. Amos O. Squire, Westchester county medical examiner, said it would be almost impossible to tell just what had caused Peter's death—knife, blow or drowning—but added that his preliminary examination indicated the boy had been slain and his body tossed into the sound.

Every Possibility Considered

Dr. Squire and his assistants took every possibility into account. Dr. Robert Lateiner, assistant city physician of New Rochelle, said one of the first medical tests ordered

Blacks Accuse Each Other

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 30 — Calm and stoical, two manacled negroes stood yesterday in the bedroom where Mrs. Florence Johnson, 34, wife of a city fireman, was bludgeoned to death with a brick, and accused each other of the actual slaying.

They were Robert Nixon and Earl Hicks, both 19, who Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle said admitted breaking into the Johnson home last Friday morning to burglarize the place.

Confesses One Slaying

Boyle said Nixon had confessed the brick slaying of Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle, a night club hostess in her hotel room two years ago, and would be questioned again about the slaying of Miss Anna Kuchta, a student nurse, who was raped and then bludgeoned to death in her room in the Chicago hospital last August.

James Scott, 18-year-old negro who said he hitchhiked to Chicago from California with Nixon last fall told authorities here that Nixon had confided to him he also had "killed a couple of women in Los Angeles."

"Tell us what happened?" Boyle asked as the two men stood in Mrs. Johnson's room.

"We looked around," Nixon said

Panhandle Representative To Leave For Capital Thursday

DALHART, May 30 (AP) — John Wray, the Texas Panhandle's representative to Washington in behalf of a $5,000,000 emergency listing and cover crop program for the high plains of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas, plans to leave for the capital Thursday.

Tomorrow Wray will confer at Amarillo with Roy I. Kimmel, coordinator of government work in the five-state area.

Wray and other farm leaders estimate that 10,000,000 acres in the five states need to be listed and planted as quickly as possible and believe that from 50 to 75 per cent of it will be uncared for if a listing and cover crop program is not granted.

Wheat Farmers May Receive Good Bounty On Crop In '39

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP) — Wheat farmers may receive a bounty of 20 to 25 cents a bushel on their 1939 grain, officials said today if they cooperate with the Agricultural Adjustment administration in drastically reducing next year's crop.

Because of prospects for the largest wheat surplus on record, the AAA is preparing under the new farm law to reduce plantings from 80,000,000 acres for this year's crop to 50,000,000 acres or less for 1939.

Trouble Looms In Akron Labor Row

AKRON, O., May 30. (AP)—Akron's mayor and labor leaders defied each other as they prepared today for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company's attempt to resume operations tomorrow in the face of a United Rubber Workers' strike.

"Not even guns and cannon will stop us next time," said Frank Grillo, international secretary of the C. I. O. union, in addressing a meeting of workers.

Mayor Lee D. Schroy replied with a ban on mass picketing and stated "My answer is that the mayor of Akron takes orders from no one. If it is necessary, the entire police force will be there."

The Goodyear company, which employs some 8,000 production workers, announced that work would resume Tuesday morning. The United Rubber Workers went on a spontaneous strike Thursday night over "accumulated grievances" and 80 persons were injured when a crowd clashed with a cordon of about 100 police.

The payments went to Mrs. Kathleen Nagle, Mrs. Annie Smith, Mrs. Isabel MacLean and Mrs. Alice Timleck, each of whom gave birth to nine children in the 10-year period after Millar's death on Oct. 31, 1936.

All Dormitory Space Taken

Want a dormitory room at Texas Technological college in the fall of 1939? Better make reservation now.

Every room in both dormitories has been reserved for the fall session opening in September of this year and 60 applications are on the waiting lists of both dormitories, President Bradford Knapp said this morning. Each dormitory houses 320 students.

The only reason there aren't more applications on the waiting lists is that the college would accept no more.

Applications Already Made

Parents of high school students graduating in the spring of next year have asked for rooms for the fall semester of 1939-40.

"If we could get two more dormitories, enrollment would increase by 600 in less than two years," Dr. Knapp said. "We estimate that there were 250 girls who came here with their parents last fall and who did not register because they could not get dormitory space."

Situation Has Reversed

The first year it was almost necessary to compel students to live in the dormitories. Now, the situation is exactly opposite.

Every cent due, both on the principal and interest, has been paid on the present dormitories and $25,000 in bonds are purchased in advance of time due so that "we may keep ourselves always in a safe financial position concerning the dormitories," said the president.

A letter from PWA officials in Washington has complimented the careful business management of the dormitories.

The dormitories were constructed in 1934 under a loan and grant from the PWA.

Indexing Of New Building Code Starts Without Delay Today

Indexing of Lubbock's new building code which was published in the Sunday Avalanche-Journal, will be started without delay, according to information given at city hall this morning.

The code, which is the longest ever to be adopted in Lubbock, occupied 18 full sized newspaper pages in two sections and appeared as an official legal notice.

An additional 1,000 copies were printed for the city and will be kept on file at city hall until it is published in book form. The compilation of the book, however, will not start until sufficient time has elapsed to ascertain whether any revisions of the voluminous ordinance will be necessary. When published, the book probably will be priced at $1.

Meanwhile, officials suggested that those interested retain the sections taken from The Sunday Avalanche-Journal (price five cents along with all the rest of the paper).

The indexing officials added, will be made available as soon as that work, which is a time taking task, can be completed.

Bund Is Booed In California

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30 — Hundreds of uniformed sympathizers of Adolf Hitler, meeting here for a two-day convention of the Pacific coast German-American bund, were jeered and hooted by 2,000 marching anti-Nazi demonstrators.

The demonstration last night twice threatened to get out of the hands of 65 police led by Police Chief William Quinn. Four men were arrested on peace disturbance charges. Two fist fights were halted.

Crowd Mills Outside

As a turbulent crowd milled outside California hall, the bund's opening session was called to order by Henry Lage, San Francisco bund president. A band played German music. The Nazi salute became almost unanimous. Swastikas and American flags on the platform vied for honors.

Herman Schwinn of Los Angeles, Pacific coast bund organizer and principal speaker, said the convention was called to "give you an idea of the greatness of our movement."

Praises German Element

"The German element is worth more to the United States than all the gold that has been found in California," said Schwinn. "Germans helped elect Lincoln and fought in the Civil war. And it was the 30 per cent of German blood in the United States army, sad to say, that finally defeated Germany in the World war.

"No decent, full-blooded man can criticize us for showing respect to our fatherland, our fight is against communism in this country. Germany does not want to give the blessings of national socialism to this or any other country."

Placards Are Carried

While the sound of German song and speech echoed through the hall and costumed Hitler sympathizers participated in the program, the 2,000 demonstrators kept up a continuous serpentine in the streets outside.

They carried placards denouncing fascism and hundreds of them roared: "Down with the Nazis."

Eric Rix, secretary of the German-American League for Culture, which participated in the picketing with various labor, fraternal and patriotic groups, finally ordered dispersal of the pickets.

Color scheme note: Try tinting your ice cubes with vegetable dyes. A spring salad, for instance, is delightful to look at and unusually crisp if it is set in a bowl of green ice cubes. Desserts may be worked out in the same way.

Changes Made In Schedule

Radical changes in the time of arrival and departure of Santa Fe trains between California and the Gulf become effective June 12 when a new schedule goes into effect, it was announced today by M. C. Burton, Amarillo, general passenger agent. Changes were made when a new Chicago-Los Angeles fast train was announced.

The Gulf-California train No. 92 will arrive at 1:15 p. m. from Houston, leaving at 1:25 p. m. Present time is 1:40 and 1:55 p. m.

To Leave Earlier

Motor train No. 96 will leave at 1:30 p. m. instead of 1:50 as at present, arriving in Amarillo at 4:45 p. m., to connect with the Grand Canyon limited eastbound.

Southbound California-Gulf No. 92 will arrive from Clovis, N. M. at 3:55 p. m. instead of 4 o'clock as at present and will leave at 4 instead of 4:15 o'clock as at present.

No Change In Morning

No change is made in No. 94, the morning train, which will continue to leave at 8:30, connecting with the Grand Canyon limited westbound, at noon in Amarillo. No. 95 will continue to leave Amarillo at 7:25 p. m., arriving here at 10:10 and arriving in Fort Worth at 7 a. m.

A dining car which at present operates from Brownwood to Belen on No. 92 will be turned back here, returning to Brownwood on No. 91.

The Grand Canyon limited will have observation, dining, lounge and chair cars as well as standard and tourist equipment. It will replace the Navajo, Nos. 9 and 10 and will be Nos. 23-24. The new Panhandle train leaves Chicago at 10 a. m. each day, reaching Grand Canyon, Ariz. the second morning, saving a full night enroute.

Eastbound the train will leave Los Angeles at 8:15 a. m. arriving at Grand Canyon next morning before 8 o'clock.

Italian Man In Street, Loyal To Duce, Cocks Wary Eye At Axis

Heart Wasn't In 'Big Show'

By CHARLES H. GUPTILL
Associated Press Feature Writer

ROME, May 30.—At the close of a fascist demonstration at which he had cheered Mussolini until his ears were pink, Cesare Romano stopped by a wine shop to cool his tortured vocal cords and pass on to his blackshirt companions the latest political quip.

"Have you heard this one?" he chortled. "As a result of the Rome-Berlin axis, Italy has acquired the 'passo Romano' (Italian version of the German goosestep) and lost the 'passo del Brennero' (Italy's strategic position on the Austrian border.)"

Cesare wasn't being subversive. A good and loyal fascist, he merely was exercising his Latin skepticism, at the same time shooting a little arrow at the political accord between Fascism and Nazism.

Makes $80 a Month

Cesare Romano is a fictitious name. But the person it denotes is typical of the white collar class of Italian "men in the street." He has a wife and three children whom he supports on a salary of 1,500 lire (about $80) a month. He pays about $23 a month for his apartment and employs a house servant for about $6 a month.

He likes to go to the movies, which he can do for the equivalent of 12 or 15 cents. He prefers Hollywood films, which makes him the despair of the Italian movie industry.

Despite the state visit of Hitler and its accompanying demonstrations, Cesare doesn't warm up to Germans. Called out to cheer the German dictator, he doesn't hesitate to say his heart wasn't in it.

French Preferred

Cesare prefers the French, although political relations between Italy and France are more often sour than sweet. He regards the British as somewhat hypocritical, but he respects the resourcefulness of British diplomacy and the material strength of the empire. He prefers to see Great Britain a friend of Italy.

In this respect he differs from the younger fascists who have been persuaded that Great Britain is decadent and no match for Italy in war.

Cesare is pretty thoroughly convinced that war eventually will come, although not necessarily with England. He has heard Mussolini declare too many times that Fascist Italy rejects the possibility of perpetual peace. Cesare doesn't want war and in this too, he represents the views of most Italians.

At the same time, this typical fascist is pleased with the dramatic qualities of Italian foreign policy under Mussolini. He is old enough to recall the condescension with which other European powers treated Italy immediately after the World war and he is not without national pride.

Results Bring Change

This pride has been warmed by the wars in Ethiopia and Spain. At first Cesare was skeptical of both.

When victory reports began to appear his opinion changed. He was happy to see Mussolini's enthusiasm for the prowess of fascist arms justified. But Cesare has no illusions about the inexhaustibility of Italy's material resources and he wonders how long Italian economy could resist a drawn-out major war.

The country's tax burden is heavy, but it weighs more on the business man and property owner than on him. For his part he is called upon to pay an income tax totaling about nine and one-half per cent and a tax on his apartment which in his case amounts to $13 a year. Taxes on gas and electricity as well as multiple indirect levies take another slice from his pay.

Fascism has brought Cesare advantages in the way of sickness, unemployment and old age insurance, regulated pay and indemities if he is discharged. He likes them, although occasionally he is baffled by the bureaucratic complexities they entail.

Cesare cheers Mussolini and takes his fascist discipline casually.

U.S. Seeks To Broaden Unity

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 30 — Students, soldiers and ship captains are joining the official envoys of diplomacy in the administration's broad program for making close friends of "good neighbors" in Latin America.

State department experts said today that officials in a dozen government agencies are striving to knit the Pan American nations into a strong and sympathetic unity.

To Positive Efforts

Together, they said, these officials will carry the "good neighbor" policy beyond the mere avoidance of actions that might injure other American countries to positive efforts for economic and cultural progress.

Some of the steps approved in the last few weeks include:

Telegrams from President Roosevelt are in the hands of chief executives in Bolivia and Paraguay, urging them in the "strongest and most friendly manner" to accept the terms presented by the peace conference at Buenos Aires for putting an end to their Gran Chaco war.

The maritime commission is working toward opening of a new fast steamship service with Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina about September 1. Three large liners, formerly plying between New York and California, will make the run.

Eight army officers will leave soon for Argentina to act as instructors for the Argentine air service.

A committee of eminent American educators under the chairmanship of Secretary of State Hull is perfecting a program for exchanging professors and students between United States and Latin American universities.

To Be Guiding Force

Another committee of ten government officials under Undersecretary Welles has just been created to coordinate all branches of the government which will be affected by cooperation with Latin American republics into more intimate relations with the United States.

At the same time state department officials are laying the groundwork for the Pan American conference at Lima, Peru, in December. High officials of the department, perhaps Secretary Hull himself, will attend.

The state department has provided in its budget for 1939 for five additional foreign service officers in Latin American capitals.

The longest continuous rainfall on record in England lasted more than 58 hours, and fell at Camden Square, London, in June, 1903.

Brush Up The War Clubs

By Collier Parris

COUNTRY CLUB course is all yours this week—if you're playing in the West Texas Golf association tournament. Entries may practice without charge today, Tuesday and Wednesday, and it would behoove some of us to get in a little practice.

Indications are that registration figures will go over the top. Local players have come through nicely in the purchase of tournament tickets, but the mark is still far short of the 75 per cent asked. So if you're a member, get out there and sign up, qualify and join the swim.

They're giving some mighty nice prizes to winners, runners up and consolation winners. Wrist watches, valued at $50 each, have been purchased for winners in all flights below the championship, and the awards for second places and consolations are in proportion. That should be enough to encourage us duffers to get out and try for one of the lower flight prizes.

But let's not have any of this "sloughing off" by you first and second flight shooters. Stay out of our third, fourth and fifth flights so us century shooters will have a chance. Keep it clean.

THAT TOURNAMENT TICKET you buy, don't forget, lets you in at the stag dinner preceding the Calcutta Thursday night, and to the "night club" Friday night. Both events are to be held at Lubbock Hotel ballrooms. They are moving in a Fort Worth swing band and all its help from a Cowtown hotspot, and they promise to put on quite a show. They should, considering the price they're charging.

Country Club is paying out, in advance, for this tournament, hoping to make it a not-soon-to-be-forgotten one. Prizes and entertainment costs are running high. But whattheheck? The West Texas comes around just about once in a decade, and that's reason to celebrate.

A letter from Dr. Aiden Coffey of Fort Worth, to Jo Dick Slaughter asserts that the Coffey delegation, featuring young Billy Bob, will head for Lubbock on the afternoon of May 31, as soon as Billy Bob gets through trying to qualify for the National Open.

Slaughter also reports that our tournament is being recognized by the Texas Golf association. In fact, directors of the state body have indicated they would come to Lubbock and compete, if they could wangle invitations. This is somewhat out of order, but some kind of special arrangement may be made whereby some of them may compete.

Regardless of whether they compete or not, it is nice to have the big body recognize the West Texas. It's the first time they have done so. To be eligible to compete in the West Texas, a player must be a member of a club that is a member of the West Texas Golf association. The eastern boundary, we presume, is Fort Worth. River Crest of that city is a member of the association.

BIG SPRING, MIDLAND VISIT BALL PARK

With us today and Tuesday are the Big Spring Barons, back for a two-game series at the ball yard just off College avenue.

Last time they were here, which was just a week ago, the Barons won themselves a 11-6 game, mistreating a new Lubbock pitcher named Jones so terribly that Jones hasn't been around since then. Lubbock won the series, however, having copped a double header the day before.

The teams are improving in this league. Look what Clovis has been doing! Big Spring can always be expected to put up a battle, and the Hubbers have to win to stay ahead in this circuit.

Midland's Cardinals move in Wednesday for two days, and they tell us that club is on the upgrade, too.

So come on out to the park for the next three afternoons, or write Harry Faulkner a letter explaining that you might be there if they played at night.

We haven't had a report from the cushion man yet, but it is presumed he did a right pert business yesterday. Five hours is quite a spell for one session of baseball, but we didn't notice the fans getting up and leaving in very large numbers until the contests were over.

And that first one was a contest. It'll be played and replayed for days to come, with all the experts getting in their hits that would have won the game at any time up to the ninth inning.

This corner has always been fairly easy on officials of athletic contests, except maybe now and then when it comes to wrestling referees. But the business of ball and strike calling yesterday was a trifle hard to stomach. Lefty Blanchard nearly always has trouble finding the platter, especially with his curve ball, but it is uncommon, even for a young lefthander, to issue 16 passes in one game, even a 13-inning game.

There must be something about Blanchard's pitching that gets the umpires off balance, or something. Unless he fires 'em down the middle of the plate, at exactly belt high, it's "ba-awwl four." From our perch atop the grandstand, in direct line with the plate, the pitcher's slab and second base, and practically on top of the dish, we can see that ball until it's in the catcher's mitt, and we know for a fact that Blanchard gets a lot of "corner" with a lot of pitches that are called balls.

But the boys in blue get enough bricks without this dept. horning in. Probably they call 'em as well as the boys play ball, at that. We would suggest, however, that they borrow somebody's copy of last week's Collier's mag and read the umpire story contained therein.

BLANCHARD is still tops with us when it comes to pitching in this league. His earned run average, his strike-out list, will help bear us out. He would do better with more careful and less rugged treatment by his catcher. Miller calls for entirely too many curve balls, and the hitters in this league like curve balls from left handers. Let Blanchard go with his fast one, mixing in a curve now and then, instead of vice versa, and that base-on-balls figure will drop considerably.

Manager Miller is a bit too hard on his pitchers, we think, and this is not making him any more popular with the paying guests. He could do with a little less growling at all his hands on the field, yet keep their spirits up by more encouraging chatter. After all, none of them, even Hack himself, is what you'd call a "veteran" in this professional baseball business.

Right now, however, is a good time for all of them to brush up on the meaning of the term "hustle."

Doubleheader Is Divided By Clubs Sunday

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Journal Sports Editor

For 20 innings and five and a half hours the Lubbock Hubbers and Wink Spudders played baseball yesterday, sometimes weirdly, sometimes flashily—and wound up just where they started, a half game separating the league leading Lubbocks and the second place Winks.

HOME 4 MORE DAYS

The Hubbers are home for four more days this week, opening a two-game series with the Big Spring Barons at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, and staying to play Midland two games here Wednesday and Thursday.

The games will start at 3:30 each afternoon. Tuesday will be "ladies day," with women and children admitted free as guests of the Hubber management.

They split a double header, the Hubbers taking a 9-8 verdict in the 13-inning opener behind Lefty Jerry Blanchard's pitching, and Wink helping two pitchers to an 8-6 win in the 7-inning nightcap.

Attendance Around 1,700

Second largest crowd of the season, as cash customers go, filled all available seats and stood or sat on the ground along the foul lines through the entire proceedings. Unofficial estimate placed attendance at around 1,700.

It was a perfect baseball day—hot, fair and still—and for the most part the players acted accordingly, even if the umpires failed to please either club or any fan. From a Lubbock standpoint particularly, to those in a position to "look 'em over the plate," the ball and strike calling was quite rough.

Blanchard Has Trouble

Jerry Blanchard had as much trouble pleasing Umpire Johnny Roweland as he did trying to please Manager Hack Miller. Between the catcher and the umps, Lefty had a tough 13 innings. Fundamentally, he was wild again, but some of the 16 walks he gave up, although he struck out 16 batsmen, were charged by the fans to a sleepy umpire and a manager who called for too many curves. Poor coaching at third base for Lubbock also proved costly.

The Spudders didn't collect but nine hits off Blanchard in the three-hour main event, and never more than two in the same inning. But he walked five men in the second and three of them scored. Another walk that meant a run came in the fifth and another in the seventh. At the same time, he struck out men in eleven innings, three in the fifth, three in the eleventh.

Score Tied Three Times

The score was tied three times before Lubbock could get ahead to stay. Bob Mosel's home run—the Hubber first sacker showed the way with the willow in both games yesterday—tied the count at 4-all in the third. Wink went two up in the fifth, Al Carr homered with nobody on in the sixth for Lubbock, but Wink protected its two-run margin with a tally in the seventh. Singles by Miller and Watkins drove in tying runs in the ninth, after whicl came three goose egg frames. In the 13th, Wink went ahead with one run, but Lubbock came up in its end of the 13th and Joe Gedzius was mad. He clouted a homer that carried over the scoreboard, 325 feet away and better than 20 feet high. Mosel came to the rescue again with a double, made it to third on a ground ball, and scored when Malcolm Stevens hit a long fly to shortstop. He barely made it home with the winning run.

Game And Half Ahead

So for a few minutes Lubbock was a game and a half ahead of its nearest rival in the West Texas-New Mexico league race.

But the Spudders, a hustling ball club, pecked away at Marvin Gramly in the second game, while Lefty Reeves and Perguson held the Hubber batsmen, all but Mosel, in check, to cut the lead back to half a game.

The nightcap was a bit faster, with Gramly working hard. He got a one-run lead in the first when Mosel clouted his second homer of the day. But Shortstop Adkins, recently acquired from Clovis, put Wink ahead with a home run finding two mates aboard in the second. A single, a sacrifice, a walk and a long outfield fly brought in another Wink run in the third. Lubbock counted twice in that frame, Gedzius getting a double to score Gramly and scoring on Taylor's long fly to center.

The hustling Winks added three more in the fifth on a walk, a pilfered bag, two singles and a triple, Barney Barnhill, Wink second sacker, getting the triple.

Lubbock did the same. Mosel getting a triple with two aboard and scoring on Stevens' single. But Ferguson relieved Reeves then and held Lubbock scoreless for the last two innings, while Catcher Bates homered in the sixth for Wink's extra tally.

Mosel Hits 'Em

The lusty clouding of slim Bob Mosel, the league's leading first sacker, was something to behold. It was unusual for Mosel to hit like that. He rapped a homer, two doubles and a pair of singles in seven trips to the plate in the first game, a homer, a triple and a single in four trips during the nightcap. He batted in five runs, scored five times himself.

Watty Watkins and Stevens otherwise looked good at bat in the first, Watkins bagging three singles, Stevens two doubles and driving in the winner. He had another double and one single in the second game.

Shortstop Johnny Quick was the only Wink player getting more than one hit off Blanchard, and only two extra base hits, doubles, were made. Third Baseman Happy Spangler collected two in the second as Gramly pitched 8-hit ball.

Big Red Hay, a righthander with a fast sinker, started for Wink in the opener and worried the Hubber batters quite somewhat. He was removed in the ninth after Miller's infield hit in favor of Roberts, who was charged with the loss.

The Exporters, winners by scores of 5-4 and 6-3, pulled within a game and a half of first place. The first game went 11 innings.

BIG SPRING, May 30—(Special)—Manager Josh Billings' rejuvenated Clovis Pioneers made it two straight over Big Spring and their fourth straight win yesterday, 12 to 4.

Trouble Ahead For Cleveland In The East

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

You can look for trouble around the Cleveland Indians' wigwam almost any day now.

The tribe has benefitted by good luck as well as good baseball in its march to the top of the American league standing. Barring a couple of headaches when Rollicking Rollie Hemsley strayed off the reservation, Manager Oscar Vitt has escaped the injuries and other difficulties that have beset his rivals. But now it looks as if hard luck finally has reached Cleveland's doorstep.

Hemsley suffered a broken finger on his right hand yesterday at St. Louis and will be out of action ten days or more. Bob Feller, to whom Rollie has been a great help this season, has been troubled by a strained back for more than a week. And the question seems to be "who or what next?"

The schedule shows one "next" to be a two-weeks tour of the East, where the next three teams in the standing are lurking, after today's holiday doubleheader against Chicago's hard-luck champs, the White Sox. A healthy Feller-Hemsley battery would come in very handy on that jaunt.

The Indians lost yesterday's game to the Browns and Buck Newsom, 8-6. Boston lost 5-3 to Washington's fast-climbing Senators.

Washington moved into third place as Wes Ferrell pitched expertly to gain his seventh victory of the year. The New York Yankees dropped an 11-9 slugfest to the Philadelphia Athletics.

Boots Poffenberger gave Detroit its third straight over Chicago, 2-1.

The New York Giants beat out the Phillies, 7-6, to gain their fifth straight triumph.

The Cubs lost, 2-1, to Pittsburgh's Pirates as Arky Vaughan's homer and double accounted for both Buccaneer tallies in an elbowing argument between Red Lucas and Larry French.

Fred Fitzsimmons outpitched Lou Fette to give Brooklyn a 13-inning 1 to 0 triumph over the Boston Bees.

The St. Louis Cardinals whipped Cincinnati, 3-0.

Longview Cannibals Hold Lead Of Game In East Texas Race

(By The Associated Press)

The Longview Cannibals, with four straight victories, today held a one-game margin over Texarkana for the leadership of the East Texas league.

Last night, while Harry Boyles was pitching and batting the Cannibals to a 10-2 win over the Palestine Pals, Texarkana was losing to Kilgore 9-8 in a 13-inning struggle.

Tyler overcame Jacksonville 4-3 as Tyler's new lefthander, John Owen, made his debut.

A ninth-inning blow by Leo Wells, with the bases loaded, brought Marshall a 5-4 victory over Henderson.

Two Walker Cuppers From U. S. Display Return To Old Form

ST. ANDREWS, May 30 (AP) — Marvin (Bud) Ward and Ray Billows, both of whom have been off form since landing over here, strengthened United States' hopes in the Walker Cup golf matches today with par-shattering performances over the old St. Andrews course.

Playing with Reynolds Smith and Charles Kocsis, both of whom scored 74's, Ward shot a 69r Billows carded a 70. Par from the championship tees on the old course is 73.

Charlie Yates, new British amateur champion, showed he still was on his game despite the long championship grind by carding a 72, one lower than the total of Johnny Goodman. All the British played well. Hector Thomson duplicating Ward's 69.

TEXAN'S HORSE DIES

INGLEWOOD, Calif., May 30 (AP) —A $3,800 racehorse owned by W. C. Stroube, Corsicana, Tex., died here of pneumonia yesterday. The horse was Husky Boy, a 3-year-old, recently purchased by Stroube. The animal became ill en route to the new Hollywood park race track.

Gasoline Is Minor Ingredient In Fuel For Racing Cars

SPEEDWAY, INDIANAPOLIS, May 30 (AP)—Gasoline will be a very minor ingredient in fuel powering the 33 cars in the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway today. Less than 10 per cent will be used.

All fuel restrictions were dropped from this year's event. Any fuel and any amount may be used.

As a result, the cars will run on special blends containing varying combinations of benzol, grain or wood alcohol—substances the average motorist has not suspected would power automotive engines.

Alcohol is used because of its cooling effect and also because it permits a heavier charge of fuel to enter the cylinders which assist super chargers into developing high power needed in racing engines.

Fighters Ready For Title Bout Again

NEW YORK, May 30 (AP)—Barney Ross and Henry Armstrong might be forgiven for wanting to give it all up if the weather should again interfere with their date to fight for Barney's welterweight title at the Madison Square Garden bowl tomorrow night, but the present dope is something entirely different.

They wound up their heavy training activities for the second time yesterday after going back to work over the week-end when the bout, originally scheduled last Thursday, was put over to Tuesday because of rain. Another delay would just about ruin the whole thing.

The talk around Stillman's gym, where Ross boxed three rounds with Herbie Solomon and Augie Gonzales and gave them a tough time with his sharp rights, was that Barney's next move might be a return to the lightweight class. If he retains the crown, he's slated to defend it against Lou Ambers, the lightweight ruler, the week of July 26. But there's not much other opposition in sight, and Barney insists he has no intention of quitting the ring.

He's probably the same judge who tells a pedestrian that he has the right-of-way.

ONCE upon a time, so the story goes, a certain man in a certain small town died. He was reputed to be—and not without considerable foundation—the meanest man in the whole state. He was so mean, indeed, that he left no friends and his own relatives wouldn't own up to him.

The minister who was engaged to conduct the funeral services went all over town making inquiries, trying to find out something good to say about the deceased. But he didn't have a bit of luck.

At the funeral, he got up and said:

"Brethern and sisters, from all that I have been able to find out, the deceased brother whose body lies before us was very mean. There is no doubt that he was the meanest man in town. Some say he was the meanest man in our whole state.

"But regardless of that, brethern and sisters, let us not forget our Christian charity. Let us say that there is no doubt that he was meaner at some times than he was at others!"

WITH the good, old summer time on us and Old Sol already bearing down with a vengeance, it is high time for the men of this wide open country to strike—and strike hard.

They should organize against the wearing of coats between June 1 and September 1—day or night.

And they should stick by their guns!

Of course, very few South Plainsmen wear coats at work.

A few of our more erudite brethern do, but they are in the minority. Most of us stick to shirtsleeves and if there are those who don't like it, we don't give a hoot.

But what this country needs is a solidarity of males—a popular front, if you like—which will sound a resounding "no" to wearing coats to church, to bridge or lawn parties, or anywhere else during the hot months.

What do you say, boys?

Who'll start the ball rolling?

Many, many thanks to John I. Green of Lubbock and Dr. Roy Loveless, of Slaton for copies of "When You Were a Tadpole and I Was a Fish," and to Dr. J. W. Rolio and others who called offering other copies.

The Plainsman has enjoyed reading and re-reading the poem which one of these days, when space will permit, will bob up in this column.

Thanks a lot.

THEY all come back—they all come back to the Plains, especially the South Plains—if they can.

Outstanding example of the "comeback urge" is B. H. Meskimen, who 'way back in the dark ages was assistant secretary of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Meskimen is back in Lubbock—and tickled to death to be—after about 15 years of living in other parts of the state. Mr. Meskimen is in charge of the offices of a big investment company just opening here to serve Lubbock and 25 adjoining counties.

Here when Lubbock had only 4,051 citizens and when our first paving project, consisting of nine blocks round the square and on adjacent streets, was contracted, Mr. Meskimen confesses that he sees considerable of a change in the old home town of today.

He points with pride to the fact that he collaborated in the design and slogan of "Lubbock, the Hub of the Plains" and that he was a charter member and first adjutant of Allen Brothers legion post here.

ALONG with all other citizens who are interested in making their home town as liveable as possible, The Plainsman is delighted at revival of interest in city planning here.

If ever a city needed to look to city planning—and especially to zoning for industries, business and residences—it is Lubbock. Already too much of the city is a mess.

Before we get started on zoning, however, and upon planning our city in every detail, it seems to this column that there should be some way of prohibiting citizens — especially those who live on corners—from raising shrubbery and other barriers which blind the motorist as he enters the intersection.

There are no less than a dozen absolutely "blind corners" in Lubbock at the present writing—corners made to order for accidents because motorists can't see through jungles of trees and hedges erected by property owners as beautifiers, but which are nothing less than extreme traffic hazards.

If the individual citizen erecting such blinds will only stop to think of the danger to which he is contributing, he likely will trim the hedges and transplant the trees causing the trouble.

But if he doesn't, there should be some way by which the city can force him to do so.

Just the other day two cars smacked together at a blind intersection and two persons were painfully injured.

That they were not seriously hurt is a miracle—and not to the credit of the property owner who erected the barriers through which no motorist can properly see.

THE other day The Plainsman received a letter from a reader—a letter which is self-explanatory. We reproduce it here:

"This is about the season of the year when such cities as Lubbock may expect recurrences of dog poisoning epidemics. For reasons wholly beyond my understanding, someone who hates dogs begins tossing out chunks of poisoned meat, occasionally going to such extremes, as you will recall, as seeking out family pets kept in close confinement within the owner's premises.

"It is in the hope of giving pause to some such individual that this incident is related.

"The incident concerns a man nearing 70 who, because of tragedies which sometimes occur within families, is pretty much alone. His most constant companion was a dog. Evidence of her attachment was supplied recently, after her owner went to the hospital, when she would not permit those she did not know intimately to approach the room he had occupied.

"A stroke of paralysis put him in the hospital and kept him there about three months. Amazingly, he recovered. The one thing to which he had looked forward was a reunion with the dog. For obvious reasons, she had not been allowed to enter the hospital.

"Eventually he was discharged and he and relatives started hunting for the dog. They found her—dead. She had been poisoned. His disappointment was such that he was kept under medical observation the next 24 hours in the fear of a relapse—a relapse from which there would have been only the remotest possibility of recovery. Thus it could very easily have been that the chunk of meat could have killed the owner as well as the dog, and I doubt whether the bitterest enemy of dogs would have desired that."

In the name of fair play, in the name of common decency, if there is a dog in your neighborhood which is causing you trouble, or discomfort, don't be so low as to stoop to poisoning.

Go to the owner of the dog and lodge a complaint. Then, if your rights are still ignored, take the matter up with the proper authorities at City hall. They are empowered to act.

THE STORY SO FAR: Unscrupulous Marina Lorne, whose husband's postoffice mural has aroused Quanomet, is murdered by a left handed blow from her sister's knife. Pam Frye appeals to Asey Mayo, Cape Cod detective, telling him she found $50,000 worth of ambergris which Marina tried to claim, and hid it after discovering the murder. Pam disappears from Asey's house because an unknown person, who smokes Turkish tobacco, is trailing her to learn the whereabouts of the ambergris. Asey discovers that agreeable Tim Carr, a boarder at the Frye's Octagon House, is left handed, smokes Turkish tobacco, and hated Marina in New York; wealthy Roddy Strutt smashed a new plane in the square; and gabby Nettie Hobbs is swearing Pam is the murderer.

Chapter 14

Asey in Disguise

Asey walked back to the kitchen door and yelled for Jennie. "Where's Syl's truck?"

"That old thing? Down in the back garden. He was gettin' loam."

"He won't need it today if he's quohoggin'," Asey said. "I'm goin' to take it. An' where's my old paintin' overalls an' coat?"

"Asey Mayor," Jennie said in desperation, "you can't wear them in public! They're all torn, so torn I didn't even mend 'em."

"Jennie," Asey said, "you roust out my paintin' overalls, an' my coat. An' that cap."

"Not the cap!" Oh, Asey, you can't go out wearin' that cap! It makes you look like Uncle Corny!"

Asey shouted. Uncle Corny, one of the family's blackest sheep, had died in the drunkards' home.

"Go 'long, Jennie," he said. "I'm supposedly not workin' on this case—an' don't you dare tell a soul I am, hear me? Less you want Pam Frye in jail! An' if I go in my car, with my ev'ryday clothes, they'll bother the life out of me."

"You're goin' to disguise yourself!" Jennie said. "Oh, I see. I didn't understand."

"I'm going disguised as Uncle Corny," Asey told her with a grin, "an' if you don't hustle, I'll get real props, like a bottle of gin for my hip pocket, I sort of think that people won't pay much attention to me, in that outfit, an' with Syl's truck."

When he reappeared in 10 minutes, Jennie freely admitted that she had never seen the like in all her born days, never.

"Look here, woman," Asey picked up a cap from the table, "this ain't the one I mean. This is my nice clean new one. I want the old dirty one that says in red letters 'I USE PILNY'S PAINT—DO YOU?'"

"Asey, please!"

Asey roared in his quarterdeck bellow until Jennie, to stop the noise, reluctantly produced it.

"It'll make you look just like a convict, with that funny visor. You use Pilny's Paint—you know right well that you do no such thing!"

Asey laughed. "Then that makes it more of a disguise than meets the eye, don't it? Anyone that knows me knows I don't use Pilny's Paint, an'—oh, let it pass," he added hurriedly, noticing her expression of bewilderment. "Let it pass."

Jennie eyed the colt he inserted in a shoulder holster under his painting coat. "If you was settin' out to see anyone but Nettie Hobbs," she remarked, "I'd say for you to leave that thing behind. But she deserves a gun poked at her! What're you waiting for, whyn't you get started?"

"Sore About the Mural'

"Glasses," Asey said. "Isn't there an old pair with gold rims around somewhere? They belonged to someone or other. You find 'em while I get me the rest of my trappin's—"

"Not a gin bottle!" Jennie said anxiously.

"Nope, just some paint an' brushes. What would you say was the predominatin' color in Quanomet, white an' green?"

"An' yellow. Lots of yellow."

"I forgot 'em," Asey said, "entirely. Well, if they need paintin', it'll have to be with the punkin I got left over from the kitchen floor. I ain't got any yellow—"

Jennie protested later when he put on the old glasses she had found in the sewing machine drawer.

"Now," she said, "you look like a deacon. An' if you try to drive Syl's truck with 'em on, Asey, you'll kill yourself. They was Aunt Phrone's, an' she got 'em from a mail order house with a test-your-own-eyes card, an' the only time she wore 'em, she walked plumb into the cistern!"

After a brief interlude in Syl's potato patch, during which the truck barely escaped overturning, Asey came to the conclusion that perhaps Jennie was right about the glasses. Regretfully, he put them in his pocket for future use.

He sailed by his friend the state policeman, on duty at the Quanomet four corners, without even getting a second glance. Quanomet's Main street ignored him, except for two slick haired and sunburned salesmen, who made loud inquiries about the price of hay.

At the entrance to Depot square stood a local traffic cop, whose relationship to Asey was about the same as that of Pam Frye to Nettie Hobbs.

As Syl's truck approached, he put up his hand and blew his whistle importantly; Asey did his best to obey, but the brakes of Syl's truck were unaccustomed to quick stops, and Asey coasted on, up to the rope barriers that were keeping the throng of people off what was left of Roddy's plane.

The cop marched up to him. "Where's your inspection tag? What's the matter with your brakes? Gimme your license and registration—"

"I haven't any registration," Asey said honestly. "An' my license is in my other coat. The trouble is, Jerry, I ain't used to these brakes of Syl's. They work all right, but they're sotr of fractious, like. Now—"

Jerry's face grew red. In a loud, penetrating voice, he expressed his opinion of Asey. Asey's car, Asey's brakes, Asey's general character and ancestry."

"Go on," Asey said. "An' I was drivin' on the wrong side, too. I guess, Jerry, if you didn't recognize me without the car an' the Stetson, no one will. Can I park this crate an' slink off about my business, or do you jail me?"

"Asey, have you got into this mess at last? Thank God. We're all goin' crazy. That state cop Hanson is off his nut. I heard that the selectman were intendin' to ask you over. It's not Pam that killed her sister, it's someone here that was sore about the faces in the mural—"

"Jerry," Asey said, "I come to Quanomet to bring a load of loam an' to do some paintin'. That's all. An' you'd better yell at me some more—"

Jerry winked elaborately and raised his voice.

Heated Voices

They spent the next quarter hour putting on an act that charmed the tourist trade. Finally, after promising never to ignore another stop signal, Asey took his paint cans and brushes out of the rear of the truck, and joined the crowd that swarmed the streets.

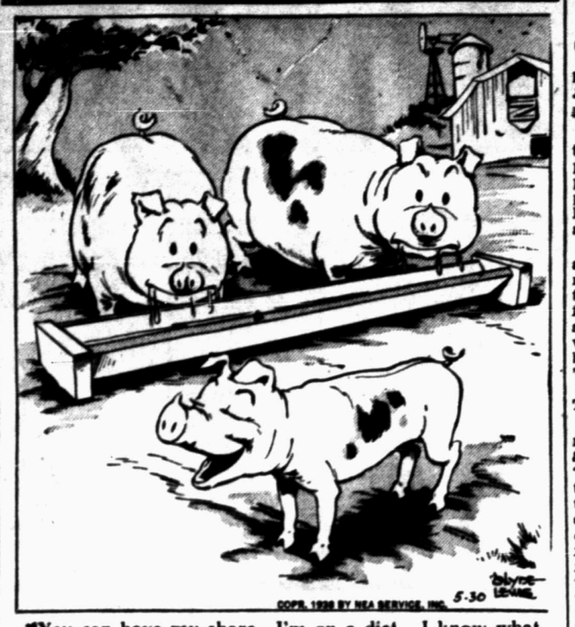

The space in front of Nettie Hobbs's store was teeming with people. Obviously the Woman's Exchange was doing a land office business. Asey edged his way to the windows and stared.

There were fancy calico pan holders, crocheted lettuce bags, aprons of every style and color—all apparently designed for the oversize figure, Asey thought. Any one of them

EXTENDING THE CITY LIMITS

Proposal that city limits be extended to embrace a small area adjoining present western bounds directly south of Nineteenth street should remind Lubbock citizens of a matter to which they will want to give consideration before the 1940 federal census is begun. It will be the desire of most citizens that the census credit Lubbock with those of the population who actually are a part of the city, although they may reside outside present boundary lines.

To extend city limits, however, certain time-taking procedure is necessary. When all other preliminaries are satisfied, elections are called simultaneously both in the city and in the area proposed for inclusion within the limits. A majority favorable vote in both areas is required to ratify the extension.

At this time and certainly before the end of next year, there will be several areas adjoining verious portions of the city boundaries which would like to have benefit of such utilities as water and sewage available only to those within the city limits. Each separate proportion will necessitate an election all its own which can be held either at different times or all at the same time. If the latter plan should be adopted, the citizen on one visit to the polling place might vote in favor of one extension and against another.

It is obvious that the holding of several elections would involve unnecessary expense when a brief survey to ascertain what extensions might be feasible would clear the way to disposition of all such kindred propositions at the same time.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 29. — Short takes: Intending to exploit the new pictures, "Holiday," Columbia has plastered the town with billboard posters bearing only this query, in huge type: "Is it true what they say about Hepburn?"

On the first day these appeared, a couple of prominent rival moviemakers stood and stared at one of the posters, trying to figure what it was about. Finally one of them said, "I don't get it. But I'll tell you what let's do—let's hire adjoining billboards all over the city and cover 'em with just one word—'YES!'"

Test Film

Nothing in years has attracted more interest and approval than Samuel Goldwyn's decision to film "The Exiles," a story that will seem to be based on the Austrian situation. It will be a test of whether expensive pictures can be made exclusively for the American market, for it probably can be shown only in this country. It will be a test, too, of the professional courage of the cast, for the players and all their future pictures probably will be threatened with permanent exclusion from Germany. Jascha Heifetz, set for one of the principal roles, already is ostracized, so he isn't worrying.

Meanwhile Goldwyn is filming the mythical "Graustark." A rival producer said, "I know Graustark is a little country, but I hope Sam doesn't offend it. Things are so bad already that we can't hardly sell a picture in southern Europe."

Bar-Ber, Ha-Ha

A local barber shop has hyphenated its bar-ber sign and is serving drinks to customers while they're having their hair cut. . . . Draw poker is believed legal in California, so some of the beach resorts are renting pcker tables at 30 cents an hour. . . . The new gambling ship, Rex, anchored off Santa Monica and protected by an injunction, is getting a big play from the movie crowd—but only as a novelty because the stakes are small and the dealers very hard to beat.

It's Irving Hoffman's story about a couple of Hollywoodsmen who were wondering how a certain writer ever got a job in movies. "It's a strange tale," said one who knew him. "He used to be an insurance salesman. One day he sold a policy to Winfield Sheehan and Sheehan thought it was a script. He produced it, and it turned out to be a smash hit!"

Tough Taylor

Robert Taylor is being toughened up for a succession of he-man pictures. After "Give and Take," in which he's a prize-fighter, he'll do some pioneering in "Northwest Passage." Then, perhaps, he'll be a professional hockey star in "Hands Across the Border." And he definitely will don six-guns and chaps for a remake of "Billy the Kid." Johnny Mack Brown and Wallace Beery played in that one in the early days of talkies.

Tyrone Power probably will defy movie tradition by losing his gal, or perhaps two loves (Loretta Young and Annabella) in "Suez." Two endings will be filmed and preview audiences around Los Angeles will make the choice.

The grandmother of George Gershwin never has been told of his death, but believes the composer is piling up fresh triumphs abroad. Likewise the mother of Russ Colombo, the singer who was fatally shot in 1934, is still unaware of the tragedy. Bedridden and partly blind, she talks with members of the family and visiting friends of the long foreign tour that Ross is supposed to be making.

Doug Jr. Slipping?

Danielle Darrieux told friends that she very much enjoyed working with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in "The Rage of Paris." But, she confided, Mr. Fairbanks doesn't know how to kiss. . . . Barbara Stanwyck will play in "The Mad Miss Manton," which had been intended for Katharine Hepburn. The comedy should provide a good change of pace for Miss Stanwyck, but the story is being rewritten to eliminate some of the slapstick.

A plan likely to be adopted at many studios is RKO's idea of making directors the producers of their pictures, and thus solely respbnsible for them. Executive costs thus are reduced, because the new director-producer will work on modest salaries and percentages of the profits. The arrangement should result in better pictures, too, because mots of the colony's ablest directors long have complained that they have been handicapped by the control of executives who are businessmen and not showmen.

Uncle Sam's New "Trust-Buster" Likely To Show Plenty Of Action, Dutcher Declares

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 30. — Thurman Arnold, new assistant attorney general in charge of anti-trust cases, will provide plenty of action.

Evidence of monopoly law violations will no longer be buried in Justice department files, under Arnold's new policy. It will be tossed before grand juries and courts for whatever it is worth.

Rodney Dutcher

And instead of dropping anti-trust criminal prosecutions when defendants promise to cease the violations with which they're charged, Arnold and Attorney General Cummings will insist on further "clean-ups" by accused corporations, designed to promote public interest and free competition, before they recommend nolle prosse of indictments. No one can tell how this will work out, but the policy contains large possibilities in the field of supervision of industrial-financial practices.

Complaints Aplenty

In its current action against the Ford, Chrysler and General Motors companies, the government is concerned with complaints that the automobile companies have discriminated against independent finance companies, that dealers have been coerced into doing retail financing only with finance companies affiliated with manufactures, that dealers were making secret profits on time sales as a result of excessive charges required by finance companies and that in one case bad practices were aggravated by an automobile company's complete ownership of its associated finance company.

Just what else Arnold would expect the companies to stop doing—or start doing—is his own secret.

Chairman Jesse Jones of RFC, who leaped in with a bill which gave him $1,500,000,000 for industrial loans instead of making the money available under some set-up other than his, now rues the day he took over the credit woes of the small business man. He grabbed himself a hot potato.

Thousands of applications for loans have been pouring in. RFC won't tell how many. But very few applications are successful. Most of the appeals come from poor risks and RFC collateral requirements under Jones are as stiff as any banker's. The result is widespread cussing for Jones—of the type that does a would-be presidential candidate no good at all.

Backslaps For Vargas

No one can prove charges of German newspapers that the U. S. government induced President Vargas of Brazil to take the stern measures against Fascist and Nazis which preceded the recent attempt coup d'etat at Rio de Janeiro.

But Roosevelt and Secretary Hull secretly have been patting Vargas on the back.

Last summer the Integrelistas, with Nazi connections, were making headway in Brazil. Vargas invited them to put on a parade, promising to review it. The President had his men out with mechanical counters which proved the Integrelista marchers numbered but a third as many as their leaders said they had mustered. Vargas then revised the government and left Integrelistas out, broke up German "cultural" societies, deported or pailed many German Nazi organizers and pretty well ruined the Integrelistas.

The State department has seen no evidence to prove the claim of Vargas that the amateurish attempted revolt was inspired from Berlin. Vargas is thought to be making the claim for home consumption. But Vargas is a pet hero in Washington, just the same.

The A. F. of L., seeking to create a new national miners' union in opposition to the United Mine Workers under John L. Lewis, will try to invade Pennsylvania anthracite regions in the belief that it's a weak spot in the Lewis line. Many miners working on short weeks are reported to resent check-off dues and assessments and the vote in anthracite counties for Lieut.-Gov. Tom Kennedy in the recent primary was disappointing to C. I. O. leaders.

would have made a fine pup tent. There were huge quantities of luncheon sets, embroidered dish towels, beribboned cushions bristling with pins, and lines of doll-like door stops made from milk bottles. There were pies, cakes, rolls, dishes of home-made fudge. There was a jar—it was almost a tank—of pickle limes. And the tourist trade was buying just left and right.

"Now I wonder," Asey murmured, "I wonder if maybe the ladies ain't pullin' a fast one."

It was the wife of the minister with the wart, who darted out to talk to a woman standing near Asey, who confirmed his suspicions that the ladies were augmenting Nettie's stock with church fair material.

"Jane, you've got to help! The Baptists have more aprons—go get 'em from Minnie. And a quilt from the Methodist chapel. And tell Sally to hurry up those quohog ash trays she's decorating—we're getting 50 cents apiece for them. I've got all the children at the shore getting shells — they're paying 10 cents apiece just for undecorated ones! And for mercy's sakes, ask Harry where you get pickle limes! We're selling those in there for a quarter each. We—what? Oh, Nettie can't remember where she got these. She's had 'em for years, she says. Jane, you hurry up—we can rebuild every church in town and repave Main street—if only we can find things to sell!"

"Where's Nettie?" the other woman asked. "What's she got to say about this selling?"

"I don't know, and I don't care," the minister's wife returned. "All she's thinking of is the money she's getting for articles and statements. She doesn't give a fig for the churches! She's out back now, talking to someone—more reporters, I shouldn't wonder!"

Asey edged his way out of the crowd and along the sidewalk to the narrow alley that separated the Exchange from Red Men's hall. Swinging his paint cans, he marched up the alley and through the gate into the yard at the rear.

Voices — heated voices — issued from the open window in the ell.

"The whole thing's absurd, and you know it's absurd, and you know you're lying like a bloody trooper!" The woman who was speaking accented her words with a good hearty thump on something that resounded emphatically.

"What!" It was Nettie Hobbs whose voice rose to a shrill scream. "What do you mean? I saw Pam Frye kill her, I tell you, I saw it with my own eyes."

Who is talking to Nettie Hobbs? Read tomorrow's chapter.

The chief difference between a crocodile and an alligator is in the shape of the head, and the manner in which the teeth are placed in the lower jaw.

19—Livestock For Sale

We sold about 1500 head of cattle at our auction sales this week.
All classes of cattle were substantially higher than a week ago, and it is reasonable to anticipate that the market will remain firm.
Demand for good butcher cattle is materially larger than our available supply. You need not be afraid of bringing too many cattle, and we can assure you of top prices at all times. We want you to remember that no shipment is too large, neither is one too small.
Good grass and excellent crop prospects in this area, due to recent rains, have materially enlarged the demand for stockers and feeders. If you have stockers and feeders that you want to sell, at the very best market price, it will pay you to get in touch with us at once.
Get your cattle in early. Remember the sale starts promptly at 10:00 o'clock every Tuesday and Friday.
If you need trucks to get your cattle in to the sale, phone or wire us. We will send you trucks, at a reasonable price.

for assurance against the possibility Adolf Hitler might march into Czechoslovakia to "protect" the Sudeten Germans.

Yesterday's communal elections in Czechoslovakia, the second of three sessions of voting, showed, as previously, that 80 to 95 per cent of the vote in German communities was solidly behind Konrad Henlein, the Sudeten "Fuehrer."

Vienna whispered of mystery surrounding the whereabouts of Kurt Schuschnigg, chancellor deposed before the March 13 absorption of Austria into Germany, and since then a prisoner in Belvedere castle.

He was whisked away from the castle Saturday night and taken "somewhere north" by the Gestapo (secret police). One unofficial opinion was that he had been taken to Leipzig to face trial.

Tupelo Police Facing Possible $400,000 Fines And 400 Years

TUPELO, Miss., May 30 (AP)—Tupelo police who are rejoicing over the success of their campaign to get rid of the city's noisy Martins learned with dismay today there's a possible penalty of $400,000 in fines and 400 years in jail.

In three days of shooting they killed 800 birds and brought nocturnal peace to tired citizens.

Then up spoke C. G. Smith, head of the federal game project. He informed the officers the supreme court had upheld a law forbidding the killing of migratory birds. Smith added that Martins migrate.

He said the act provided a maximum penalty of $500 fine or six months in jail for each offense.

Nebraska's Tax Plan

FRANK G. ARNOLD
He Hounds Tax Collectors

gram.

When elected president of the state federation in 1932, he spread the county-comparison method all over Nebraska. With the help of auditors, statisticians and economists he was able to show taxpayers throughout the state how a lot of money could be saved on small items.

In Real Estate Business

Arnold, who is in his early fifties, gray-haired and prosperous-looking, is in the real estate business at Fullerton but says he hasn't been able to devote much time to it lately.

Although he draws no salary as president of the taxpayers' federation, he says "it looks as if this is becoming a full-time job."

The federation figures it has saved Nebraska taxpayers $138,000,000 since 1927.

The state constitution prohibits Nebraska from issuing bonds. Individual counties, in the decade 1927-'37 reduced their total bond issues from $113,000,000 to $75,000,000, federation leaders report.

The federation boasts that the property levy of all political subdivisions in Nebraska has been cut 33 per cent since 1927 without any new forms of taxation except an increase of one cent a gallon on the gasoline tax, and the beer and liquor tax. Another major gain claimed by the organization for the same period is a drop of about 35 per cent in the assessed valuation of farm lands; of about 25 per cent in city and village property.

Should Have New Forms

New forms of taxation should not be introduced, Arnold believes until the taxpayers are certain that the tax money already collected is being expended efficiently. Nebraska operates on a balanced budget, he points out, without any income tax, sales tax, luxury tax, cigarette or service tax.

The taxpayers federation has no trouble steering clear of partisan politics, he says, because it has the backing of both major parties.

"When a county official is doing a good job, we try to make his name known all over the state. On the other hand, when we find cases of bad government, we name the county but not the official. We aren't out to get anybody's hide."

Lubbock To Put On 30-Minute Program At Clovis On Friday

Invitation to present a 30-minute program from 11:30 a. m. until noon Friday at the fourth annual Pioneer Days' celebration at Clovis, N. M., has been accepted on behalf of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, according to announcement this morning.

The celebration will start with a dance Wednesday night and will end Friday night. Although no Lubbock delegation will attend in a body, a large representation from here is indicated, chamber officials said.

Another Lubbock contribution to the program will be an air circus from 12:30 until 1 p. m. each day to be arranged by Clent Breedlove, manager of Lubbock Municipal airport. At least five Lubbock pilots will participate, Breedlove said. Planes also will be kept there through the celebration for commercial hop purposes, he added.

Search Is On For Killers

was to see whether poison might have been a factor in death.

Toxic traces, he pointed out, might last in a body indefinitely.

"This," said District Attorney Walter Ferris, "is a clear case of murder."

High-ranking agents of the federal bureau of investigation went to work immediately, with Hoover, its chief, who was in New York, taking charge of the investigation.

Scarcely Able To Talk

Levine, Peter's father, a New York lawyer who had put aside everything in his vain search for the boy and had appealed in every manner to the abductors to "make contact," was so utterly crushed by the news that he scarcely was able to talk.

In the boy's trouser pocket were found a jack-knife and a toy airplane.

The medical examiners were unable to tell without further examination whether Peter's head was cut off by the abductors or a boat striking the body had caused the mutilation.

One of Hoover's first acts was to direct a search of the waterfront in an effort to trace the movements of the kidnapers with the body.

Copper Wire Is Clue

The most substantial clue to the whole crime, inconclusive as it was, was the sinister coil of copper wire with which Peter's body had been wrapped. Federal agents immediately set about trying to trace it—where it was bought, by whom, and when.

The boy disappeared last February 24, on his way home from school, and the dread, familiar kidnap checking routine set in immediately.

The first ransom note—which like all others, appeared to have been written on a cheap toy typewriter—demanded $60,000 and Levine, a slight, earnest, typically middle-class lawyer of no great wealth, set about sadly to try to raise the money.

On Feb. 28, the father received a note, scrawled in a school-boyish hand, on a scrap of newspaper, signed "Peter," and begging "Dad" to pay what had been asked.

Four days later, while the Levines waited in their two-story stucco home with blinds drawn and intermittently appealing to the police and public to keep "hands off," Levine disclosed that $30,000, demanded in another ransom communication, was ready.

Ten days went by with no significant development and on March 14 the federal bureau of investigation openly entered the case by dispatching circulars all over the country. They described the missing boy in detail—a little, black-haired, quick-smiling, quick-minded and imaginative boy who had stood high in his classes.

By March 19, the first of several persons accused of extortion—by attempting to "chisel in" on the tragedy—had been arrested. In their accustomed shadowy fashion, intermediaries moved in and out of the case, vainly trying to help the distraught parents.

On April 20, Levine had become so sadly certain that his son was dead that he offered a new reward—$25,000 for the boy's recovery but, more significantly, $5,000 for information disclosing his body.

I saw him strike her several times with both hands. He was holding the brick in his right hand, and I saw him strike her with that hand at least twice."

Hundred Boys At Post Camp

Approximately 100 Boy Scouts, including representatives from each of the 10 districts comprising South Plains council, were enrolled for the first summer troop encampment which closes Saturday at Camp Post, according to report this morning by Earl M. McClure, executive, following his return from the camp.

More than 200 scouts are enrolled for the second of the series of four troop camps, which will start next Saturday. Capacity of the mess hall is 165 boys.

Cub Outing Ends

The first troop encampment began immediately after cubs had brought a two-day outing to an end with a picnic attended by approximately 75 parents Sunday night.

High spot of daily activities at the camp, McClure said, will be swimming in Green lake on property owned by Giles Connell.

Scout activities this month, McClure announced, will center about preparations for the trip to Yellowstone national park June 25 to July 17. The trip will be in motor caravan, including a motorized kitchen on which meals will be prepared.

In that connection, he added, the first of several district meetings is scheduled for southern district in Lamesa courthouse at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday. W. K. Crawley of Lamesa is district chairman.

Arguments Will Be Heard On Tuesday

Arguments of counsel will be presented at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon before Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court in habeas corpus writ hearing of Homer Harrison, who had been fined $15 in corporation court for failing to deposit a nickel in a parking meter.

Wm. H. Evans, counsel for Harrison, who lives at Tahoka, had applied for the writ Thursday afternoon after judgment had been pronounced by Walter Wharton, city recorder. Some evidence was presented after Judge Pitts had set the hearing for 15 minutes after the application had been made.

Further testimony may be offered Tuesday, said Judge Pitts, who had left the matter open to counsel as to whether more evidence might be presented.

Evans' action in seeking action of the district court jurist was taken to mean remedy might eventually be sought in the highest court of Texas should Judge Pitts rule with the city of Lubbock and remand the defendant to custody of the police department.

Should he rule otherwise his judgment would coincide with a recent pronouncement of Judge J. J. Dillard of county court who adjudged the parking meter ordinance unconstitutional.

Suspect Returned To Face Charge

Ernest Reed, indicted jointly with C. W. (Chick) Hatfield for forgery and passing, was returned in custody of Tom Abel, sheriff, and John Keller, member of the state highway patrol, Sunday to Lubbock county jail from El Paso.

A bench warrant issued by Judge Daniel A. Blair procured Reed, about 23, from the El Paso sheriff's department.

Sheriff Abel informed Burton S. Burks, district attorney, Bakersfield, Calif., authorities held Hatfield and would transfer him to El Paso.

He further said he had made an arrangement whereby officers of El Paso or Lubbock would transfer Hatfield and Reed to the others' city, depending on which of the men were first tried.

The men were indicted here for alleged passage of a check for $38.50 on Reed and Sons Truck line of Brownwood, not in existence in several years, and signed G. C. Reed.

Other than that the building is to be faced with brick and that the partitions are to be removable, details of plans for the building are yet to be approved.

The Merchant's building will be approximately double in size than the ramshankle frame structure it is to replace. Approximate estimated cost of the building and caretaker's home is $15,000, including materials salvaged from the structures to be razed.

Court Vacation Starts Tuesday

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The Supreme court will adjourn for the summer Tuesday after an eight-month term that produced a series of opinions sustaining Roosevelt administration laws and activities.

Only a few cases await action before the justices leave on vacations, including a test of whether the National Labor Relations board can withdraw litigation from federal circuit courts to adopt new procedure along supreme court views.

Two New Jurists Named

During the year two new jurists were appointed. Senator Hugo L. Black of Alabama succeeded Willis Van Devanter of Wyoming and Solicitor General Stanley Reed of Kentucky took the seat of George Sutherland of Utah.

New Deal victories the last eight months included decisions upholding government interpretation of the national labor relations act.

The tribunal:

1. Held that men who strike during negotiations over wages and working conditions are protected by the labor act against discrimination by the employer in determining who shall continue work.

Board Order Upheld

2. Upheld a labor board order directing the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, inc., and the Pacific Greyhound Lines, inc., to withdraw recognition for collective bargaining purposes from labor organizations they were alleged to have formed and dominated.

3. Decided a federal district court could not enjoin the labor board from conducting a hearing to determine whether a company had engaged in unfair labor practices.

4. Ruled a company which ships less than 40 per cent of its product in interstate commerce is subject to the labor relations act.

In important tax decisions, the tribunal ruled:

1. The federal government could impose an income tax on the salary of employes of the New York Port authority.

2. The federal government could collect an admission tax on tickets to athletic events at state universities.

3. A state could impose a gross income tax on money received by contractors for building locks and dams for the federal government.

RIVERS SEEKS RE-ELECTION

Denver Zoo Bears Get Into Trouble And Firemen Called; Can't Follow The Leader

DENVER, May 30 (AP)—This is a story of three black bear cubs in a game of follow-the-leader.

Rascally Rustle, the leader, enticed his city park zoo brothers, Hustle and Bustle, into such a desperate situation Zoo Superintendent Clyde Hill had to call firemen to rescue them.

Ingenious Rustle yesterday discovered a way to get by metal guards Hill recently placed on trees on the cubs' island home to halt their climbing exploits. He bounced up and down on a branch until he could catch hold above the guard.

Hustle and Bustle followed.

Rustle came back down.

Hustle and Bustle dared not pass the metal guard. Marooned in the tree, they cried piteously.

Cocky Rustle went back up and back down again and again, but his brothers would not follow.

Finally Hill summoned firemen with ladders. Firemen tacked a gunny sack over the guard.

Then Hustle and Bustle came down, and rushed to the safety of their den.

Navarro Foundation Is Set Up By Corsicana Philanthropist

CORSICANA, May 30 (AP)—Frank Neal Drane, capitalist and philanthropist, announced the establishment of the Navarro Community foundation with assets of approximately $800,000.

Drane gave the board of the charitable institution a deed of conveyance on his entire separate estate with some $360,000 reserved until his death. The estate consists of real estate in Navarro county and in Dallas, and oil leases, stocks and bonds.

The purpose of the foundation is to promote religion and education, alleviate human suffering, provide public buildings, assist the poor and aid in scientific endeavors.

The home of the foundation is to be at Corsicana.

Charles Lee Jester was named chairman of the board, with Arthur G. Elliott, vice chairman, and Eugene W. Robinson, executive secretary.

Baylor's Graduates Hear Houston Man

WACO, May 30 (AP)—Degrees went to 316 Baylor university graduates today at the ninety-third annual commencement exercise.

Clarence R. Wharton, Houston attorney told the class that although one-third of the human race is enslaved by dictators as absolute as Genghis Khan; another third, the Chinese, are locked in a death struggle with "crafty, cunning and cruel Japan," and although integrity of character lags far behind ingenuity of intellect, the world situation is far from hopeless.

Two Honor Guests

Karl Hoblitzelle of Dallas and Dr. J. T. Harrington of Waco were presented as guests of honor.

Each year since he became president six years ago President Pat M. Neff has invited two citizens of the state to be honor guests, in recognition of their services to society.

"Great things seem just ahead of us," Wharton observed in his speech: "We can vaguely see them, but like the mirage they move away and we see, instead, a world of confusion and wretchedness; wars and rumors of wars; loud, vulgar swashbuckling dictators standing astride a war weary world shouting dirty defiance to all decency; our own land sweltering in disorder; time-serving demagogues throwing money to the multitude to appease its wrath; men, women and children dying of want in lands of plenty. The muttering thunder of mass revolt threatens the very foundations of human society. . . .

"Human intelligence has far outrun human integrity. The mind of man has developed faster than his character. Mentally the race is solvent; morally it seems almost bankrupt."

President Pat M. Neff presented diplomas and honor awards.
