LOCAL OIL MEN PLAN PICNIC-REUNION AND PARADE HERE JUNE 7

PAMPA — Topics of Our City — by O.E.H.

Twinkles

Now is the right season to pray for rain.

A hick town, says a contributor, is one "where public entertainment is spoiled by the antics of urchins on the front rows." Ouch!

One good thing about a warm dry spring is that our track lads have a chance to get hot, As they did at the Canyon meet, for instance.

Mrs. Jimmie Allred, traveling thru the Old South on the Pre-Centennial train, may not be the attraction that a woman governor would be, but she's more in keeping with the traditions of the Old South.

"U. S. Protests Japanese Oil Monopoly" shouts a headline. Yeah, while we're trying to set up an oil dictatorship over here, too.

Musing of the moment: The world moves ahead. Foolish indeed are the young folk, whether high school or college graduates, who think formal education assures their success. An "education" today does no more than to give a youngster an even start with millions of others. Only the mentally alert young folk who are willing to work hard are apt to meet today's demands.

Brevitorials

PAMPA'S RECEPTION to the Guymon, Okla., trippers was a classic. It was a "bust." The explanation appears to be in the fact that only a few citizens knew the boosters of the May 2 Pioneer day were coming to this city. No official body had been advised of the trip. No advance publicity had been received. Consequently, the colorful delegation had arrived and "captured" the Cuyler-Foster intersection before any official body was aware of the visit.

THE VISITORS, fresh from an ultra-elaborate reception at Amarillo, and believing that their trip had been generally known here, were keenly disappointed. We don't blame them. Pampa has a motorcycle officer. Pampa has a mayor. Pampa has two chambers of commerce. Pampa has many citizens who ought to know how to greet visitors. None was there.

TRAFFIC ADMITTEDLY was blocked. Traffic has been a problem here, and still is. A City spokesman was sent to determine whether some of the visitors could not be moved somewhat to permit traffic to circle the intersection. The visitors evidently were in no mood to move, or perhaps they misinterpreted the attitude of the spokesman. At any rate, the visitors took it to mean that they were not welcome. They left.

IT WAS BAD enough to have no reception for Guymon. It cannot be overlooked of course, that Guymon had failed to make advance contacts essential to the success of the trip. But that the only official greeting was a request to refrain from blocking traffic was lamentable, horrible, un-Pampa-like. Having been placed in an unfavorable light by the misunderstanding, Pampa could have at best done little more than to make the best amends possible and let the traffic stay blocked an hour if necessary. It was an error to ask the visitors to move an inch. Apologies now being extended are in order. And Pampa must send a big delegation to Guymon May 2.

THE GUYMON trippers did no more than Pampans do when they take such journeys. It is customary to "take over the town" visited. And it should be understood by every citizen every public employe, every person who meets a visitor that "a tripper is always right." Visiting boosters are not here long. They make snap judgments of our city. . . . But there is something more to be said. Every city has certain organizations and officials who must be consulted when arrangements for receptions are desired. Almost every week some group from out-of-town comes here to make some sort of request. Often the request is given only to a business man or some friend of the visitors. Then the visitors go home, expecting a city-wide response to their visit. Obviously, the visitors are in error in not going to the right person to place their request. The Board of City Development can be expected to direct visitors to the proper authorities. Pampans will do more than their share to be helpful when they know what is desired.

Anti-Lynching Bill Filibuster Begins

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—Southern democrats began a filibuster in the senate today against the Wagner-Costigan bill to make lynching a federal crime.

Senator Connally (D., Tex.) launched the southerners' attempt to bury the bill under an avalanche of talk after Senator Wagner (D., N. Y.), co-author with Senator Costigan (D., Colo.), had pleaded for its consideration with an assertion that "public opinion will never be satisfied until Judge Lynch is smothered under a heavy blanket of national resentment."

PLANS TO BE COMPLETED BY A COMMITTEE

CONTESTS, EXHIBITS WOULD BE PART OF SHOW

Oil men of the Pampa district last night threw their influence and cooperation into the Pre-Centennial plans and appointed a steering committee to outline their projects, which will include an oil men's parade on the afternoon of the second day, June 7.

The committee is composed of A. G. Post, Neal Gaut, Bill Lang, Jack Stern, Fred Cullum of the B. C. D., Max Mahaffey, Joe Berry, and R. G. Allen. This group will appoint a general chairman for its program.

The committee will meet tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the B. C. D. rooms in the city hall to draft a full program.

No group called together by the Jaycees was ever more enthusiastic. One idea suggested was that a virtual holiday be declared in the field in order that workers may attend the second day of the celebration. The parade would be impressive and extensive. Limited exhibits of petroleum products and supplies may be possible. Contests peculiar to oil field practices may be sponsored. One firm suggested that a derrick be run up by experts before an audience. The plans are not perfected but are taking form rapidly. Eventually, the oil men's event will likely replace the historical celebrations. A name for the gathering will be selected.

There was complete accord in last night's session, which included among those present the following: H. P. Lusby, V. L. Dickinson, Frank M. Perry, Howard Buckingham, Jack Dunn, C. V. Edwards Jr., Charlie Maisel, E. M. Dean, Walter E. Biery, Fred C. Cullum, C. E. McGrew, Gilmore N. Nunn, and Geo. Briggs. Mr. McGrew acted as temporary chairman, and Mr. Briggs as secretary.

'Furrin' Dust' Drops on City

Dust, carried by last night's wind from areas northwest of here, slowly settled on Pampa today, limiting visibility to about four blocks but doing no particular damage.

Meanwhile, Gray county farmers are listing some of their land to prevent soil erosion. About 5,000 acres has been or will be listed with government grants, under applications already received by the county agent. However, many farmers already had taken steps without federal aid.

Soil damage has not been large in this county, partly because of the nature of the soil and partly because terracing has been used for several years. However, farmers are recognizing the danger and studying the best ways to prevent erosion. On the whole they are reluctant to accept cutright grants.

Library Patrons Check Out 39,582 Books During Year

Pampa's public library checked out 39,582 books in the fiscal year ending March 31, it was reported to the board yesterday by Mrs. James Todd, Jr., librarian.

The monthly average of 3 298 is said to be one of the highest in the southwest for a city of this size. The staff mended 1,177 books, catalogued 575, discarded 44, received 283 through donations and 129 in lieu of fines, and lost 15.

The report for last month showed 2,912 checked out for a daily average of 112. Sixty books were catalogued, 7 received in lieu of fines, 3 were lost, 3 were replaced, 263 were mended, 13 were discarded, and 79 clippings were filed.

The 20th Century club's book shower netted the library 29 volumes.

MOODY MOURNS

NEW ORLEANS, April 25. (AP)—Dan Moody, former governor of Texas, today declared that the death of Associate Justice William A. Pierson of the Texas supreme court who was slain yesterday, was a great loss to the state.

Clyde Mathews of Amarillo is spending a few days with friends here.

LIONS MUSICAL SHOW TO BE PRODUCED ON MAY 10 AND 11

Crippled Children to Benefit From Proceeds; Ticket Sales to Start at Once.

May 10 and 11 will be the dates of the Pampa Lions 1935 musical show in the city auditorium. An intensive ticket-selling campaign in which school girls and graduate nurses will assist will precede the shows.

The main purpose of the annual production is to raise funds for work with crippled and underprivileged children. The club has a long waiting list of children who need glasses fitted, limbs straightened, tonsils removed, and other attention given. The yearly show means health to dozens of such children of this county.

Much of the work on the show has been done. The next rehearsal of the cast will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the red building on the school campus. Director John Sturgeon, now on a trip downstate, will return by that time and start a series of intensive practices.

Costumes have been ordered, most of the songs learned, the stage plans have been given to carpenters, and flowers for the elaborate spring setting reserved. It will be the most colorful setting used by the clubmen. Eighteen pretty local girls will be in the cast this year. Popular and old favorite tunes will be heard.

As usual, the show will be in two parts. The first part will include the musical overture, gags and antics of the black-face end men, and action carrying out the spring theme. The second part will include vaudeville and a skit illustrating the work of the club. A musical finale will be given.

Vicars Elected Head of Reserve Officers Group

Edwin S. Vicars has been elected president and R. G. Christopher secretary of the Pampa chapter Reserve Officers association of the United States. The organization is in conjunction with the reserve officers troop school, of which Edwin S. Vicars is instructor.

The local troop school is one of the most active in the state, having as many active members as the Amarillo school. Meetings are held each Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in the Dr. W. Purviance waiting room on the second floor of the Rose building.

Last night George Christopher gave an interesting lecture on infantry tactical problems.

Plans for giving a dinner in honor of the visit of Major Geo. A. Corbin, Infantry D. O. L., contact officer of the 90th division, who will be here on May 22 were discussed during last night meeting.

The Pampa troop has 15 active members, as follows: Second Lieut. Ralph Thomas, infantry; First Lieut. Ed Damon, chemical warfare service; Second Lieut. Edwin S. Vicars, field artillery; First Lieut. Roy Wallrabenstein, infantry; Second Lieut. Robert D. Polson, engineering corps; Second Lieut. Raymond Hartell, field artillery; Second Lieut. H. C. Berry, medical administration; First Lieut. E. E. Connor, medical corps; First Lieut. Alden E. Spees, field artillery; First Lieut. Joe Burrows, coast artillery, anti-aircraft; Second Lieut. J. L. "Dee" Graham, aviation; First Lieut. Robt. K. Eason, signal corps; First Lieut. A. J. Riddle, field artillery; Second Lieut. Homer Wallace, quarter master corps; First Lieut. R. G. Christopher, infantry.

Worth Salary

His annual salary of $206,250 is not too much to pay Walter S. Gifford, above, president of the A. T. & T., in the shouted opinion of shareholders at the annual meeting in New York, one enthusiast even declaring Gifford worth more than that, in a chorus of eulogy of his direction of the corporation.

Snow, Rain Fall But Not in Dust And Drought Area

KANSAS CITY, April 25. (AP)—Snow in the mountains and rain on the plains brightened crop prospects today in sections parched by last summer's drought.

Snow fell in the rocky mountains, closing highways with huge snow drifts. Rains, ranging from drizzles to downpours, were welcomed by farmers in Wyoming, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and northern Texas.

The southwest dust bowl, however, had nothing more promising than a few clouds. Instead mild dust storms continued to blow in southwest Kansas, southeast Colorado, and the Panhandle sections of Oklahoma and Texas.

TREASURY TO CONTINUE TO BUY SILVER

HARRISON BONUS BILL IS APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the treasury would continue to buy silver until it reached $1.29 an ounce, or until treasury stocks equaled one-third of the total gold.

The treasury head said that last night's action in boosting the federal price for domestic mined metal to 77.57 cents an ounce, as well as previous actions in elevating the price, was simply carrying out a mandate of congress.

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt will go on the air Sunday night in a resumption of his fireside radio talks to the nation to discuss the new works relief program.

He will speak, beginning at 10 p. m., EST, for half an hour.

Although the president's speech will be devoted principally to the program for making jobs, he is expected also to discuss generally his stewardship of office.

It will be the first time Mr. Roosevelt has talked to the people since last September 30.

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—The Harrison bonus compromise, liberalized to provide cash instead of bonds, was approved today by the senate finance committee after the two full cash payment proposals had been overwhelmingly rejected.

The compromise, for which administration support is claimed, was voted out by the committee without a record vote after an hour and a half executive session.

Previously the committee voted 12 to 8 to substitute the compromise plan for the Vinson cash payment bill, after the Vinson proposal had been substituted by a 13 to 4 vote for the inflationary Patman bill passed by the house.

The major change in the Harrison bill was an amendment by Senator Connolly (D., Texas) which was supported by Chairman Harrison, to permit veterans to exchange their adjusted service certificates for cash instead of negotiable bonds as originally proposed.

HISTORICAL EVENTS OF FETE TO BE STUDIED IN LOCAL SCHOOLS

Historical happenings covered or touched upon in the Pre-Centennial celebration and Pioneers Roundup to be held here June 6 and 7 will be studied by every class in the Pampa Independent school district immediately, according to Supt. R. B. Fisher. The board of education heartily endorsed the plan.

The board and Mr. Fisher said that the historical significance of the events to be commemorated in the celebration deserved study in the class room. The study will be extended not only to grammar school but to high school. Teachers and students will be asked to prepare lessons on the events and read the stories. At a recent Pre-Centennial meeting Mr. Fisher announced the project. He said the Centennial and the events it will commemorate deserved school study.

Historical events to be commemorated in the celebration follow:

Pageant — The development of plans for the Centennial, Austin's life in Mexico City prisons, treatment by Santa Anna and Mexicans causes of Texas revolution, Austin's arrival back in Texas and subsequent events, the first shot of Texas revolution at Gonzales, Concepcion; old Ben Milam and the capture of San Antonio, the boy soldiers of Texas, the part played by youth and other states besides Texas in the revolution; the origin of the Lone Star flag; the story of Bowie; the story of Houston; Billy the Kid at Tascosa; Indian attack on an army wagon train at Buffalo Wallow; origin of the square dance.

The parade—Bowie in Alamo, being removed on cot across line drawn by Travis; Fannin at Goliad, the massacre; Deaf Smith destroying Vince's Bridge; Re-capture of Cynthia Ann Parker; Sam Houston among the Indians; story of the Raven; story of Stephen F. Austin; origin of the name "Texas"; the Mier expedition, the drawing of the black beans; westward-wandering people; longhorn herd crossing Red River.

School Census Has Increase Of 470 Pupils

Pampa District Will Have $8,000 More Money Next Year Than This Session.

New evidence of Pampa's steady growth during the last year is contained in the school census report released yesterday by Supt. R. B. Fisher of the Pampa Independent school district.

Despite drought, dusters, and the constant struggle for dwelling houses, there was an increase of 470 pupils since the scholastics were enumerated last March. That gain, according to measuring sticks used by federal and other enumerators, represents an increase in population of between 1,200 and 1,500.

Although no comparative figures are available, it is believed that the new scholastic census report gives Pampans authority to continue to describe their city as one of the fastest growing cities in the U. S. The federal census ranked Pampa as the "third fastest growing city in the U. S." in 1930.

3,644 Scholastics

The 470-pupil increase in scholastics was larger by almost 200 than the gain last year over the previous year, 1933. During March, Mrs. Lillian Blythe, scholastic enumerator, working daily from dawn to dusk "took the census," a job she has done for several years.

Her report shows 3,644 scholastics living in the district during March. The 1934 figure was 3,174. The increase will bring the district approximately $8,000 more state money than was received this year. The state apportionment is around $16 per pupil.

There are just about as many boys as girls living in the district. Mrs. Blythe found 1,807 white girls and 1,813 white boys, nine negro boys and 14 negro girls of scholastic age. The 10-year old boys were most numerous. There were 175 in that age group. There were more 12-year old girls than those of any other age. The 12-year old girls numbered 170. Giving the 10-year old boys a race for their money were the six-year old youngsters who will attend school for the first time next year. There were 174 six-year old boys and 164 six-year old girls. Mrs. Blythe found many sets of twins—too numerous to mention, and found that an unusual per cent of "Johnsons" on the roll were girls. The "Smith" boys and girls were about even. There were no triplets.

Every House Visited

Although every house and residence in the district where people live was visited, it is possible that some scholastics were missed, though it is likely that the "some" would be few. Mrs. Blythe knows the district as few people could know an area in which live more than 20,000 people. However, in a month's time much changing and exchanging of residences and much moving could take place.

In brief, Supt. Fisher believed that if a state census investigator should come to Pampa this year to investigate the increase in the census, he would find more scholastics than the census shows because the population will have increased more by that time.

Also there is small likelihood that many families will move out this summer after school is out. Oil development shows promise of continuing steadily.

SCHOOL EDITORS TO MEET HERE THIS SATURDAY

100 Students From 16 Schools Are Expected

Entertainment plans are complete for the Panhandle High School Press association which will meet here Saturday.

More than one hundred students from sixteen or more schools are expected. Ten of these schools have entered contests for the best newspaper, and an expensive cup offered by the Pampa Daily NEWS; the best editorial and a cup offered by the Canyon News; and the best news story and a cup offered by the Amarillo Globe-News.

A full program of talks and discussions on school newspaper and yearbook problems has been arranged. Student editors, faculty advisers, and guest speakers will be heard. At noon there will be a luncheon for visitors and guests in the school cafeteria. Gilmore N. Nunn of The NEWS will be principal speaker on this occasion. Following the afternoon program, there will be a reception at the city hall clubrooms, where the prizes will be awarded. Delta Kappa Gamma is to sponsor the reception, at which Olin E. Hinkle of The NEWS staff and a representative of the Amarillo News will speak briefly.

Vena Mae Moon of Dalhart is president of the association. Miss Fannie May, faculty adviser, is assisting the local students in their duties as host to the meeting.

Rupp Is Named Vice-President Of Odd Fellows

E. C. Rupp was elected vice-president, and Guy C. Saunders was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Panhandle association of Odd Fellows at the annual convention which ended last night at Shamrock. V. M. Stone of Borger was named president.

Amarillo was successful in securing the 1936 convention. Pampa made a bid for the convention but was unsuccessful.

The crack Pampa degree teams also lost, the I. O. O. F. team being defeated by Shamrock in the finals.

More than 75 Pampa Odd Fellows and Rebekahs attended the convention, which convened Tuesday afternoon and ended last night. The Pampans reported the convention one of the best they had ever attended.

40 AND 8 TO MEET

An active summer is planned by the 40 and 8. Proposed activities will be discussed tonight at a meeting of the organization at 8 o'clock in the Legion hut. All members are requested to be present. One of the summer activities proposed is a "wreck," initiation ceremony for new members.

DENIES REHEARING

JEFFERSON CITY, April 25. (AP)—The supreme court, division No. 1, today denied a rehearing to Walter H. McGee, under sentence to be hanged in Kansas City May 10 for the kidnaping nearly two years ago of Miss Mary McElroy, daughter of the city manager of Kansas City.

'REVENGE' IS 'REASON' FOR GHASTLY DEED

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE OF HIGH COURT AND WIFE SLAIN

AUSTIN, April 25 (AP)—District Attorney James P. Hart said today he would prosecute young Howard Pierson, confessed slayer of his distinguished father and mother, "as hard as I can."

A few hours previously, the 20-year-old youth, unruffled in spirit, had admitted after prolonged questioning that he fatally shot Associate Justice William A. Pierson of the Texas supreme court and Mrs. Pierson on a lonely road near Austin.

With his wounded arm in a sling, young Pierson told officers he killed his parents for "revenge," officers said, but to newspaper men he stated he had "a reason."

He admitted he shot himself with the same revolver with which he snuffed out the lives of his father and mother and took the former's purse and watch to bear out his story that two highwaymen committed the slayings during a holdup. Under his guidance, officers recovered the gun and other articles he had hidden.

"We are going to prosecute him just as hard as we can," said District Attorney Hart. "But first we must see how we stand, talk to the sheriff's officers and other investigators and question witnesses, if any, as to a possible motive."

The youth admitted the slayings about 3 a. m. in the Travis county court house where he was taken after being charged with murder, and gave officers the details on the trip to recover the gun and other articles.

Officials Dazed.

Despite the long hours of questioning, he finally slept soundly about two hours, and on awakening rested quietly on his cot. He complained of being cold, and wrapped a sheet about his shoulders.

He received a telegram of condolence from Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Aulick of Oklahoma City and read it without changing expression. He soon called for Dr. Joe Wooten, physician friend of the Pierson family.

Meanwhile, official Austin, including Justice Pierson's colleagues on the supreme court bench, members of the legislature, now in session, and Governor James V. Allred, who had known the 64-year-old justice for many years, appeared dazed by the tragedy.

Because another son, William H. Pierson, student in the University of Chicago, could not arrive earlier, funeral services originally planned for Friday afternoon, were re-set for 10 a. m. Saturday. Governor Allred and virtually all state officials will attend.

In a calm voice, he told newspapermen, in the Travis county jail, that he shot his parents to death late yesterday on a country road about 15 miles from Austin where he had lured them on the pretext of viewing a scenic drive.

Insane, Says Doctor.

Justice of the Peace Tom E. Johnson indicated he probably would not hold the examining trial until next week unless Pierson demanded a hearing earlier. Pierson might waive examining trial altogether.

Soon after awakening, he asked for food, but, treating him as they would any other prisoner, jailers gave him a cup of coffee. They planned to take him to breakfast later.

Dr. Wooten paid him an early visit, and through the cell bars the pair could be seen sitting side by side on the cell bunk. Young Pierson appeared to be doing most of the talking.

After the conference, which lasted nearly an hour, Dr. Wooten expressed the opinion that young Pierson was suffering from dementia praecox, a form of insanity.

The physician said he would suggest that officials place the boy in the state hospital here for observation for 30 or 60 days.

Centennial Report Adopted By House

Senate Acceptance Would Send Bill to Governor for His Signature.

AUSTIN, April 25. (AP) — The Texas house of representatives today adopted, 76 to 63 the conference committee report on a bill to appropriate state funds for a Texas Centennial celebration.

Senate adoption of the report would send the bill to the governor for signature. It was believed likely the senate would approve it with little delay following the house action which came as a surprise to many.

The conference report was presented to the house by Representative George Butler of Bryan. On two previous occasions the house had all but killed the bill.

The vote was preceded by only slight, mild debate. A motion to reject the report was tabled 71 to 55. Another motion to postpone its consideration until Monday was defeated 90 to 42.

The bill would appropriate $1,000,000 for buildings at the main Centennial site at Dallas and an additional $200,000 for equipment; $250,000 for a memorial and observance at the Alamo at San Antonio and a like amount for similar purposes at San Jacinto battlefield; $225,000 for equipment for a world war museum sponsored by the American Legion on the University of Texas campus; $500,000 for publicity and advertising and $575,000 for observances and memorials at various places prominent in Texas history.

Opponents of the bill sought rejection of the report on the contention the committee had disregarded house instructions to hold out for a provision guaranteeing repayment of the state appropriation from a share of the gross receipts from the Dallas Centennial.

"The house committee did the best it could," Butler said. "It is impossible to get everyone's ideas and whims into the bill."

The motion to reject the report was made by Representative J. Bryan Bradbury of Abilene.

"It is simply a question of whether you want to approprite $3,000,000 to buy milk and bread for Texas' starving thousands and to care for its unfortunate wards or appropriate it for a show at Dallas," Bradbury commented in a brief talk.

In lieu of the proposed house instruction for a share in the gross receipts the conference bill would give the state 75 per cent of the net profits from the Dallas celebration.

CHANGE VENUE ASKED

AMARILLO, April 25. (AP)—District Attorney Grady Hazlewood announced today that the state would ask for a change of venue for the second trial of George S. Hamlin, who is charged with the hammer slaying of his bride here last January 4.

EDITORIAL

AMERICAN METHODS OF COMPETITORS

American go-getterism, although not now in as good repute as it was before 1929, has been studied with relish by Orientals at the same time that it was disdained by many Europeans.

American briskness got results in South America. English conservatism notably failed for a number of years. The Prince of Wales, in his travels, got impressions which led him to say that the English would have to use some of the Americans' trade promotion.

It is not the English, however, but the Japanese which have most enthusiastically adopted American methods. For a number of years, Japanese students have been appearing in American universities. We saw them at Missouri. They said little. They were on the average somewhat stolid and even backward, as might be expected. But they learned. By the time they were graduated they had gotten the information they sought.

These students have gone back to Japan and have been given places of responsibility. They have adopted American efficiency, American mechanics, American mass production, American price-cutting, and because of their cheap labor they are in a better position to seek world trade than is this country.

Seihin Ikeda of the Harvard class of 1905 heads one huge holding company—yes, they have those, too!—and Manzo Kushida, Pennsylvania '90 heads another. Half of the foreign trade of Japan is carried on by the 200 companies controlled by these two graduates of American universities. Mitsui's cotton textile industry has seized leadership in world trade.

American education must be pretty effective, after all.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—There were no sharp questions and no explosions when Gen. Hugh S. Johnson went before the Senate finance committee to urge Congress not to toss NRA down the drain-pipe.

Everybody, including the general himself, was surprised and disappointed at that.

But the explanation is simple: Even at the end of their investigation, senators were too ignorant or too poorly grounded as to the NRA and its operation to give the general a battle.

Earlier in the hearings some of NRA's enemies on the committee had launched attacks which clearly demonstrated their ignorance and the NRA boys had brought in facts or near facts which made them feel silly.

They were thoroughly cowed by the time Johnson took the stand. Later he asked Senator Bennett Clark: "Why didn't you question me and give me a good panning?"

Several folks inside NRA could have given the general a hot time. But any senator who hoped to question him intelligently and comprehensively would have had to spend weeks boning on NRA exclusively—and pressure on senators is too heavy to permit that.

Johnson's 30,000-word statement had been worked out with the NRA legal and research and planning sections, which supplied facts, charts, and exhibits for him and provided a rosy picture, with numerous admissions of error.

Such pages as the four which told how he had conceived the NRA idea way back in 1918 presumably were his own.

* * * *

There are those who accuse the general of fuzzy-mindedness and this impression was not entirely removed. He explained that when he had said "NRA is as dead as the dodo", he had meant the NRA administration. But at the time he made the remark, the chairman of the NRA board was S. Clay Williams, whom Johnson describes as "the best man who ever came to NRA."

He admitted that during his work on the statement with NRA officials he had found the NRA board had done much better than he supposed. But he still cannot imagine a successful NRA operated by a board.

His ideal of an NRA is one with Johnson again in one-man command—and Donald Richberg back practicing law in Chicago.

It was too bad the six eminent economists of the Brookings Institution who had made an independent study of NRA chose the same day to release their report—which found NRA retarded recovery.

None of the economists was there to question Johnson. One of them is Dr. Leon Marshall, member of the NRA board.

* * * *

Johnson, according to certain Oklahomans, would like to run for the Senate next year to replace Tom Gore.

But he won't announce for the Democratic nomination unless he is convinced he has a good chance to win. Thus far he isn't very hopeful.

Gore is a member of the finance committee. He had asked many question about NRA which were nasty and cockeyed at the same time. But he made no effort to take the general over the jumps.

Mrs. Roosevelt says that almost a million persons visited the White House last year, and 2,492 of them stayed to dine. But how did they manage to find her home?

That man who wrote the new book, "I Know 3,000 Lunatics," is revealed to have been a doctor in a state hospital, not a traffic officer.

Secretary Ickes says Huey Long has "halitosis of the intellect." From which you may infer he is not Huey's best friend.

After those dust storms, all we need now is another of those fads that frequently sweep the country.

Just 160 years ago the Americans feared the British were coming. Now we hope they'll come across.

One thousand convicts go on strike at Ohio penitentiary. Probably for more pay and shorter years.

The latest farm movement seems to be in an upward direction.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

Far off in the distance toward Galveston Bay, citizens of Guadalupe Victoria watched the sky grow blacker. As the strong wind blew against them, they realized that there must be a terrific gale on Galveston isle. Two days later they heard reports that the good ship Ellen Frankland had been wrecked just off the coast. A full freight load of cotton sank, but nearly all the passengers were saved. "The loss of the boat will be felt severely by the planters on the Trinity," the newspaper reported, "as but a small part of the cotton in that section has been sent to market. It is estimated that the cotton now ready for shipment on the banks of the Trinity exceeds 2,000 bales."

As the Republic of Texas progressed agriculturally, the navigation of rivers became more and more important. It was becoming necessary for farmers to get their cotton and other products to the market as rapidly as they could, and every navigable stream was used in preference to the long, slow trip by ox-wagon. Tragedies were frequent. Off the coast of Corpus Christi the boilers of the steamer Dayton exploded, and killed almost every passenger as well as the crew.

River travel was used for pleasure also. The price of a ride from Houston to Galveston was three dollars. 'Four years ago there were eight or ten boats on the rivers of Texas," one citizen said, "but now there are only one or two." Galveston was fast becoming the most important port of Texas. Its two greatest disadvantages were the poor drinking water and too many dogs about town! The water they have sells for 75 cents and $1 a barrel" and then it was hardly worth drinking, visitors said. The news editor sarcastically remarked that a person who was unable to take a newspaper or keep a cow really should not own more than five dogs!

Practically all news received currently came by boat. During the early part of February, 1845, when the civil revolution was taking place in Mexico, the schooner "Water Witch" from New Orleans brought word that Santa Anna had been defeated, and that he had lost his power as president. Imprisoned in the Castle of Perote, he was at the mercy of his captors. Texan exprisoners of that old castle smiled grimly when they heard the news. Perhaps he would now enjoy playing with the lizards and mice, as they had done!

There was little real hatred in the hearts of the Texans for all the things their enemy had done. They were more interested in building homes and living peaceful lives than they were interested in the affairs of fighting Mexico.

When Centennial celebrations are held in Texas in 1936 old hatreds will have been entirely forgotten, and all nations will be invited to participate with Texas in the glories that have been.

TEXAS IN WASHINGTON

BY DONALD YOUNG.

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Reports persist around the capital that President Roosevelt may visit Texas this summer en route to an international exposition at San Diego, Calif.

His son, Elliott Roosevelt, at his Fort Worth home, was the first to mention the trip, indicating the chief executive had made up his mind. The president told newspapermen at a press conference he was considering the idea.

Informed sources have it that the president privately and jokingly remarked that if Vice President Garner would not stay in Washington this summer—and the Texan never does—he would have to go down to Uvalde to see him.

Should this be the case the president might arrange his itinerary to the west to include stops at Fort Worth and Uvalde.

William McCraw, Texas' new attorney general, provided whatever humor there was at the recent senate hearings on the Thomas oil bill.

He expressed his opinions informally and on one occasion prefaced a remark with "why, bless your hearts." The senators smiled.

He advised the senate mines subcommittee not to take too seriously the flood of telegrams from Texas either protesting or approving the measure. As he concluded, Senator Frazier (R., N. D.) remarked that some messages he had received even suggested that Governor Allred, McCraw, and Chairman E. O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad commission ought to be back in Texas tending to affairs of the state.

"I don't know but what they're right," McCraw remarked with a wry smile. "Why, I'm about as uncomfortable and nervous here as a June bride."

"I wonder if we might have a window open; it's getting rather warm in here," Frazier replied weakly as the whole room laughed.

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes

If Kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions, is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.

Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

Mitchell To Take Track And Field Team To Canyon Meet

COLTEXO WILL PLAY IOWANS ON SATURDAY

TO FACE FIRST REAL COMPETITION OF SEASON

Coltexo of LeFors will meet the first real opposition of the 1935 baseball season on Saturday afternoon when the Sioux City Indians, Western league team, invades the town on the bank of the Red river.

Game time will be 3 o'clock, with admission 25 and 40 cents. Additional seats will be installed before game time. Still more seats will be made available for Sunday afternoon when the Pampa Road Runners go to LeFors for the opening game of the season. The Sunday game will be called at 3:30 o'clock with admission 25 and 40 cents.

Sioux City has been winning most of its games on the road trip home for the opening of the season early next month. The Indians boast a strong offensive club with good pitching. Sioux City yesterday defeated a rejuvenated Amarillo Shamrock team 11 to 2.

Manager Jack Bellah of Coltexo announced after yesterday's practice that he would send Brawley to the mound with Ledford, new portsider, being held in reserve. Brawley is playing his first season with Coltexo. He has appeared in two practice games and has shown much promise.

On Sunday, when the Road Runners invade LeFors, Pete Stegman, a former Road Runner, will take the mound against his old teammates. Two other former Pampa players will be in Coltexo uniform when Gordon Nell and Hack Wilson take positions in the outfield.

The Pampa hurler has not been definitely announced but it is believed that George Bulla will get the call. Coltexo won the opening game in LeFors last year. The Road Runners will be out to avenge that defeat, but may fans are doubtful. Coltexo has plenty of heavy artillery in the lineup and a good defense. If the Coltexo pitching stands up, the LeFors nine will be hard to beat.

SYMPATHY

CHICAGO—Roley Phelps, clerk in a drug store, was sympathetic when a nervous man entered. He suggested remedies for the stomach ache the nervous one said he had. "Maybe I'd better pick my own medicine," the "customer" said, whereupon he drew a pistol, scooped up $47 from the cash register and departed.

Many High Schools And Colleges to Send Athletes

Coach Odus Mitchell and the pick of his track and field men will go to Canyon Saturday to attend the reviving of the Great Plains Track and Field meet. Several years ago the meet was one of the outstanding track events of the year.

A charge of 25 cents will admit each person to all contests. Preliminaries begin at 10 o'clock and finals at 2 o'clock.

There will be two divisions, one for high schools and the other for colleges. The meet will be open to amateur track and field men, who may enter as individuals or through clubs.

One of the high lights of the meet is expected to be the showing of the Abilene Christian college Wildcats, one of the outstanding college teams.

Pampa high school athletes took first place in the Regional track and field meet in Canyon last Saturday. The Harvester thinclads will probably have to race against several boys who competed last week.

Harvester thinclads who will make the trip are Buster Hays, Bill Dunaway, Bill Haner and Raymond Elkins, members of the relay team, and J. R. Green, weight man. The local youths will probably enter several other events.

Coach Mitchell entered three other boys but they failed to report for practice yesterday afternoon and were taken off the list.

EIGHT WOMEN ARE LEFT IN GOLF TOURNEY

BABE DIDRIKSON WILL MEET WORTHY FOE AT HOUSTON

HOUSTON, April 25. (AP)—Eight consistently good players, each on keen tournament edge, faced quarter-finals today in the Women's Texas Golf association championship over the par 37-40—77 River Oaks country club course.

The matches had spectators bewildered as to which one to follow since all four promised interesting and low scoring golf. Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, medalist with 38-41—79 and a former state champion, opposed Mrs. O. R. Armstrong, southwestern champion from El Paso. Mrs. Armstrong enjoyed success yesterday when she eliminited Miss Ann Matteson, San Antonio's long hitter, 7 to 6, and then won the driving contest by combining three drives for 528 yards. Mrs. Chandler did not compete in the driving contest, preferring to rest after her 5 and 3 victory over Mrs. Jed Roe of San Antonio.

Miss Betty Jameson, 15-year-old southern and former Texas municipal champion, had Mrs. W. C. Johnson of Houston as an opponent. Betty turned in a sterling golf round yesterday to eliminate Mrs. Syd Hurst of Dallas, 8 and 7. The youthful Dallasite was seven-up through the front nine with a well-played 41. Mrs. Johnson beat Mrs. C. F. McAuliff of Dallas.

Mrs. R. E. Winger, Fort Worth's remaining championship contender and one of the state's best tournament shot-makers, opposed Miss Helen Warren of Dallas. Unheard of previous to this tournament, Miss Warren's fine all-around game yesterday eliminated Mrs. George Thompson Jr., of Fort Worth, 3 and 2. Mrs. Winger defeated Mrs. Hattie Collins of Fort Worth, 4 and 2, after going one-up at the ninth where Mrs. Collins three putted.

Miss Mildred Babe Didrikson of the Beaumont Country club, who has yet to leave the first tee without a big gallery trailing, faced a most worth challenger today in Mrs. F. C. Rochon of Wichita Falls. A former Texas municipal champion and easily one of the best in the tournament with short irons, Mrs. Rochon meets Miss Didrikson for the second time within a few monhts. They played in the recent Fort Worth Woman's Golf association invitation with Babe a 6 and 5 winner.

In yesterday's competition, Mrs. Rochon defeated Miss Hilda Urbantke of Austin, one up. Miss Didrikson, touring the front nine in 42 shots and turning five-up, defeated Mrs. Walter Woodul of Houston, 8 and 6. Babe competed in yesterday's driving contest and had the longest single ball of 250 yards, but hit the other two out-of-bounds. After the driving contest the gallery requested her to hit a few balls and she drove one 265 yards.

KIWANIS GAME WILL BENEFIT CHARITY WORK

SERIES TO BE PLAYED BETWEEN LEFORS AND PAMPA

Knowing full well that they will suffer stiff joints, creaking backs, and maybe sprained ankles or hands, members of the Pampa and LeFors Kiwanis clubs will meet in a baseball series for the purpose of raising money with which to carry on their charity work.

The first game will be played tomorrow afternoon at Shaw park, LeFors. Game time will be 4 o'clock. Admission will be 15 and 25 cents. Proceeds will go to the LeFors club's Boy Scout fund and the Pampa club's crippled children's fund. The return game will be played at Road Runner park at a later date, to be decided.

The games will be "for blood" and not for comedy. Both teams will present players who have been in fast company in their day. The players will be mostly young fellows, with a sprinkling of veterans.

Advance dope has the LeFors attack being led by Bill Bronson, former Nebraska Wildcat. The Pampa offense will be in the hands of W. B. "Red" Weatherred, former Hopkins star. LeFors veterans will include F. L. Mize, E. Berg, "Pockets" Flynn, and Ben Williams. The Pampa old timers will be Fred Cullum, Howard Buckinghom, E. W. Voss, Guy McTaggart and Pete Post.

Other members of the LeFors team will be Baldwin, Pechacek, Ward, Duncan, Page, Jones, Odgen, Breming and one or two dark horses. The balance of the Pampa team will include Selby, Carter, Goldston, Johnson, Lang, Thompson, Koiner, Fatheree, Collins, and also a couple of dark horses.

The public is asked to support the cause, which is a worthy one.

Watch for further announcements about the Original One Cent Sale.

AMATEURISM IS A PIECE OF SNOBBERY, SAYS PROFESSOR

PITTSBURGH, April 25 (AP)—A future in which America's collegiate football teams as a matter of course will be composed of "professional performances, college trained and sponsored" is the frank forecast of Dr. Francis D. Tyson, who classes amateurism as "a piece of snobbery."

Dr. Tyson, economics professor and member of the University of Pittsburgh Athletic council, told 1,000 physical education teachers last night that frank professionalism should be substituted for the existing athletic "hypocrisy" in the country's colleges.

"Amateurism in sport in the United States is really a piece of snobbery out of place in a democracy," Dr. Tyson said before the American Physical Education association. "We are dealing with a 'cultural lag' the persistence of outworn notions in a new world. Amateurism is a hangover from the British aristocratic tradition."

MISS BASTIN AND AARON STURGEON ARE MARRIED AT McLEAN

COUPLE LEAVE ON TRIP AFTER THE CEREMONY

BRIDE IS WELL KNOWN BUSINESS WOMAN HERE

The marriage of Miss Marie Bastin, and Aaron Sturgeon was Bastain, and Aaron Sturgeon was solemnized at McLean yesterday morning by E. C. McKenzie, minister of Francis Avenue Church of Christ here.

After the simple ceremony, the couple left for a trip to south and east Texas. They will spend some time in Paris, former home of Mr. Sturgeon.

Miss Bastin has lived here about five years, has served as deputy district clerk, and has recently been employed in the Sturgeon and Sturgeon law offices. She is a prominent member of the Business and Professional Women's clubs, in which she has held several offices. A former resident of Elk City, Okla., she was graduated from high school there.

Mr. Sturgeon came to Pampa last summer and has been associated with his brother, John Sturgeon, in the practice of law. He grew up in Paris, and after finishing school there attended the University of Texas and Cumberland university.

Marital Status Law Stirs Row In Washington

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Charges that young couples in the government service are leading immoral lives, because they fear marriage would imperil their jobs, stirred a row today.

At the heart of the controversy was a proposal to repeal the marital status law. This requires that, where husband and wife are employed by Uncle Sam, one of them shall be dismissed when forces are being cut.

E. Claude Babcock, president of the American Federation of Federal Employes, told the house civil service committee he knew of nine couples who were living together outside the bonds of matrimony on account of the law.

"Babcock should be removed from office for slandering the women employed in the federal service," retorted Rep. Cochran (D., Mo.), backer of the marital regulation.

"I hope the women will have the courage to resent his statement," Cochran added. "It was an insult to every single man and woman in the government service.

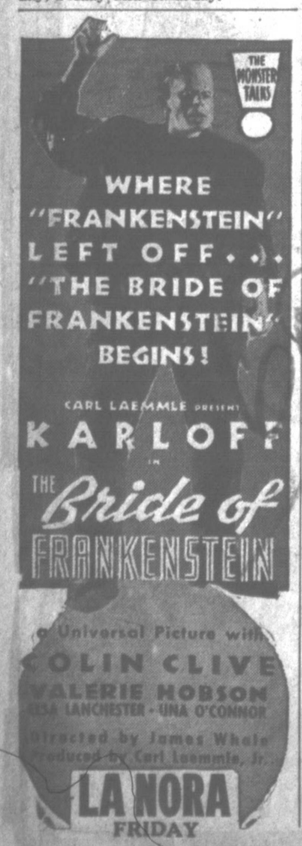

"I wonder if Mr. Babcock gave any thought to the mental anguish he has caused not only to the women but to their families back home?

"He pictured girls coming to Washington who, without the protection of the home, soon find themselves in love and, fearing dismissal, if married, agree to live together as husband and wife, simply overlooking marriage.

"Such a statement is, in my opinion, insidious camouflage. If couples are living together, it is not because of the law Babcock would repeal, for if the inclination was there all the laws that could be enacted would not prevent it, nor would the repeal of any law be the cure.

"Where one such case might be found, you will find thousands of women, young and old, in the government service, too honorable to even think of being a party to such a condition."

The flying bug has led Amelia Earhart across both oceans, and in setting other aviation marks for women. But when, as pictured here, she was helped into her plane for an attempt to fly nonstop from Los Angeles to Mexico City, she couldn't have guessed that a flying bug—a real bug that got in her eye—would force a landing 50 miles short of her goal.

Man Of 'Borah Caliber' Gives Long Pleasure

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Senator Long (D., La.) brought his third party threat further into the open today with a flat assertion that unless one of the major parties nominates a man of the "Borah caliber" they will be "split wide open.

His statement was taken as a new indication that the Louisiana senator will seek to have his say on a nation-wide scale when the lines begin forming for the 1936 battle.

Although he offered his support to Senator Borah (R., Idaho) or any one of a number of "liberals" whom he named, he voiced very little hope that any of them would be nominated by either of the old parties.

"I don't think the . . . scoundrels will do it," was the way Long put it.

And if they don't do it," he said, "well have a third party that will split them wide open."

Telling newspaper men last night that he didn't "give a damn about party labels," Long offered Borah as his first choice. Borah, he said, could have his support whether the Idaho republican independent ran "on the republican, democratic, socialist, progressive, or any other damn ticket."

"If the democrats or republicans nominate a man of that caliber there will be no third party," he said.

Among the others to whom he pledged his support if they were given the nomination were Senator Norris (R., Neb.), Nye (R., N. D.) Wheeler (D., Mont.), Frazier (R., N. D.), and Thomas (D., Okla.). He mentioned Senator McCarran (D., Nevada) also, but more tentatively.

"I'd include Pat McCarran if he'd stay consistent," he said. "Any of those men would carry out the idea of redistribution of wealth."

The Louisiana senator, whose most recent assaults on the Roosevelt administration have led to hints that administration men are going to give the "silent treatment," aimed another blow at Mr. Roosevelt and his predecessor.

"Now we don't want any Roosevelts or Hooyers running again after what we've seen," he said.

He was non-committal on the question whether he himself will head the third party movement if the old parties do not make choices acceptable to him.

Quartet to Sing For Revival at Central Baptist

A male quartet will sing this evening as the special feature of the revival service in Central Baptist church. The sermon subject announced by the Rev. John O. Scott is Sin.

Members of the quartet are H. E. Pierce, Emmitt Smith, C. O. Huber, and R. E. Gatlin.

Last evening the evangelist spoke on the subject, "Does It Matter?" He said that 31 billions of non-Christians die yearly, and continued:

"We become concerned greatly about the physical needs of humanity, but neglect the spiritual needs. Church members will never be able to convince God nor man of their fidelity to the cause of Christ until they become as interested in the spiritual needs of the unsaved as they are in the physical needs of themselves and their neighbors."

This morning the sermon was on the subject, Our Need—A Burdened Heart.

Mrs. Dick Walker of Pampa is chairman of Woman's day for the seventh district, as well as for this city. Last year the seventh district's contribution was the largest in the state.

Young People To Be Revival Guests Tonight

"The church has largely neglected the third ordinance," declared Evangelist Holmes in his sermon on "The Third Ordinance of the New Testament Church" in the evangelistic meeting at First Christian church Wednesday night. "It is not public like the first and second ordinances, nor is the church authorized to cut off those who refuse to observe it," the evangelist continued.

"The observance of the third ordinance depends on the loyalty and devotion of the individual Christian. God could have provided the money for the extension of His kingdom but He knew that Christian character would be developed only in so far as each Christian was made personally responsible for the financial support of the kingdom of God. Financial support of the church is not a necessary evil but a means of grace and blessing to each Christian.

"The third ordinance relates to the payment of the tithe (tenth) to the Lord through the church. Paul in the ninth chapter of First Corinthians calls to the minds of his readers the fact that the Jewish priesthood and Jewish religious expenses were paid by the tithe, then he says, 'Even so (in like manner) did the Lord ordain that they that proclaim the gospel should live of the gospel.' The only scripturally authorized way for financing the church is for the members to voluntarily pay the tithe.

"In Hebrews Christ is said to be a priest after the order of Melchisedek and as Melchisedek received tithes so Christ is to receive tithes from all who call Him their High Prist."

The crowd that was present enjoyed very much the drama presented by a group of local people—"Swift Feet." Mr. Walker sang "What Doth It Profit a Man?" There were three additions to the church.

Thursday night the young people are to be special guests and a social hour for them will be held following the service. Evangelist Holmes will preach on "The Divine Name." Services are held each night except Saturday at 7:45.

GREAT RICHES

by Mateel Howe Farnham

SYNOPSIS: James Stimson, III, and Jane Northrup are at the church, and in a few minutes they will be married. Both have had a difficult day, James because he cannot forget Leslie Harris, and his bride's managing parents; Jane because Mabel Webster is discovered among the handsomely dressed crowd.

Chapter 26

MAN AND WIFE

In a plain black and white street gown, open prayer book in hand, sat Mabel Webster, apparently studying the service and entirely oblivious of the gala clad crowd or the whispers and curious glances or the necks craning in her direction.

Bud and Nappy retired deeper into the shadows to laugh silently. "God, but Mabel's made history this day," Bud got out. "I hand it to her. I bet Jane. . . ."

Mrs. Northrup was now advancing majestically down the aisle on Tom Hundell's arm, her violet blue satin skirts trailing after her. Just a step behind her walked the twins, for once subdued and seemingly under perfect control.

James held his breath while Mrs. Northrup passed so close to Mabel Webster she all but touched her. Mabel did not look up. Mrs. Northrup, by the Grace of God, was talking to Tom and did not see Mabel.

But the twins . . . the twins . . . The twins had stopped in their tracks and were staring at Miss Webster, up and down down and up. A murmur, a ripple of suppressed excitement and laughter ran through the church.

Mabel Webster flushed, glared for a moment at the twins and dropped to her knees, hiding her hot face in her hands. The twins continued their unblinking stare. Mrs. Northrup, sensing the excitement, turned to see what was the matter, but the twins were already walking sedately down the aisle. She beckoned to them to hurry, herded them into the pew before her.

"Our cue for the sacrifice. Beat it, Nappy. Come on, Isaac," Bud commanded and James was pushed forward out of the safety and comfort of the darkness.

Here comes the bride! His bride . . . Jane. But where was the bride? Only girls, dozens of girls in yellow. They parted at last and made a flowery aisle. And there was Jane coming towards him in a glory of white satin and misty lace, her beautiful head half bowed, her lovely mouth a little tremulous, as if frightened, fearful, but coming steadily toward him, to give herself . . . give herself. . . .

All the miserable doubts and clogging uncertainty abruptly took flight. James felt exalted, lifted above himself, his heart wrung by tenderness for this exquisite fragile girl who was trusting him with her life . . . more than her life. Impulsively he made a step forward so anxious he was to reassure and comfort Jane, but Bud put a hand on his arm just in time.

The bishop's deep sonorous voice hung for a moment over the heads of the congregation, and then dropped gently into their hearts and consciousness.

James tightened his hold on Jane's hand. To think that this exquisite creature had promised not only to love and cherish but to obey him!

James was almost light-headed with happiness as he walked down the aisle with his new wife on his arm, with Mendelssohn's wedding march thundering behind and before and above them. It was relief and joy almost beyond telling to be rid of that horrible clogging depression and those hideous gnawing doubts. He looked up and saw Aunt Lou beaming down from the gallery and just managed not to shout at her.

The double doors at the back of the church were opened by unseen hands. There was Nappy, as dignified as a statute on a monument.

Two of New Concord's three policemen, Bill Sturges and Johnny Sullivan, were on the sidewalk keeping the crowd in check. Ed Hines had his carriage in place and was managing somehow to make his wearied hacks give an impression of pawing and prancing. Nappy flew ahead, opened the carriage door, and bowed.

"Congratulations and best wishes of the day," Nappy said gravely. "Good luck, Jim. Good luck, Mrs. Stimson," called out Bill. "Three cheers for the bride," cried Johnny, not to be outdone. The carriage drove off to the accompaniment of lusty cheers with Jane withdrawn in a corner and James hanging out of the window laughing and shouting his thanks.

"I wish," she said petulantly, "that you wouldn't be so familiar with common people. The idea of that policeman calling you Jim."

"Bill? Why, I've known Bill intimately since I was seven years old."

"You aren't seven years old now, but I must say you act like it."

There was a loud and uncomfortable silence for several minutes. Then James said stiffly, "We're married now, Jane. I hardly like to begin our married life . . . have our first words like . . . like this."

Jane was immediately put in the wrong and nothing so exasperated her. "I'm sorry," she said coldly, "but if you had gone through half what I have today, just one horrid disappointment after another on my wedding day . . . everything going wong, and you thinking it was funny. . . . And on top of it that horrid staring crowd calling you by your first name as if you'd been a shop-keeper!"

"New Concord is a little town, not a city. Most of that horrid staring crowd has known me since I was in short pants. You too. They were there to wish us well. In a way it's a tribute. If this were Europe and you a royal princess they couldn't have done more to honor you."

Presently James felt a little gloved hand fumbling for his. "James dear, you are sweet. And I'm a beast. Please, please, forgive me. I've been so upset. . . ."

"Of course you have. And I'm the beast. Do you realize, Mrs. Stimson, that you've been five minutes alone with your husband and haven't yet kissed him?"

Held close in James' strong young arms, Jane stammered out a confession. "Oh, James, I thought I didn't love you. I thought I didn't love you."

"Hush, belovedest. Not another word. Trust your old James to know all about it. We're going to be the two happiest . . ."

"But how do you know? Did you think you didn't love me. Didn't you want to be married?"

Confession is sweet. For a moment James was tempted to admit his doubt and reluctance of the previous night. But a saving caution closed his lips. "I?" He laughed and kissed Jane again. "Didn't you see Bud yanking me back when I started down the aisle after you? I never saw so many girls in my life. I thought for a moment they'd forgotten all about the bride and I was starting to plunge my way through and find you."

"Love me?" asked Jane.

Love her? Love her? "Oh, my darling!"

When the bridal carriage drew up under the porte cochere of the bride's old home, it was noticed by the crowd of onlookers—chiefly colored—that the bridegroom waved his hand condescendingly in greeting to the Tyler house across the way.

James was telling himself how silly he had been to feel such a hatred for a mere pile of bricks and mortar. Of course they would live there a year or two because he had agreed to. But, hadn't Jane of her own free will promised in the presence of at least three hundred people to obey him as long as they both should live?

He had been wise, very wise, to give in as he had in the beginning. . . . Women had to be handled tactfully but firmly. Just wait till he got his hand in a little and he'd settle once and forever the matter of where they should live.

James had not expected to enjoy his own wedding reception, but to his delighted surprise no one there had a better time than he. Everyone was so kind. All the visiting notables predicted to the bride so wonderful a future for the bridegroom that James could see Jane's pride in him growing before his very eyes; and he was thrilled by Jane's pride as few things had ever thrilled him.

At supper there were toasts, one by Judge Holcomb, one by the governor in the name of Kansas' greatest governor whose name the bridegroom bore.

This latter so moved James that when he got to his feet to reply he forgot his beautiful and carefully prepared reply and was only able to thank everyone for their kindness and good wishes and remark that he already found marriage so remarkably pleasant a state that he was bowed down with regret that he had wasted so many years as a bachelor.

Tomorrow, a small fly lands in the honeymoon rapture.

Mae West Would 'Concentrate' on Any Marriage

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 25. (AP)—There may be a forgotten man in Mae West's life, but Mae went right along denying it today.

"When I get married," said Mae, a little weary about the hubbub over a marriage she swears she never experienced, "I'll concentrate on it. And I'll be the first to announce it."

That was buxom "Diamond Lil's" latest answer to the supposition that she was the Mae West who married a song-and-dance man named Frank Wallace in Milwaukee 24 years ago.

Reports that the New York Frank Wallace—one of several Frank Wallaces to blossom out of the general Mae West question — was besieged with stage offers on his claim to being the missing "Mr. Mae eWst" brought another report from the blonde screen star.

"Well," welled Mae, "that makes it appear that he is getting precisely what he went after—work."

Mae added that she was glad the New York Frank Wallace "is getting a lift" out of the matter, but said she was sorry "he had to pick on me for it."

PIERSON

"He held an imaginary resentment against his parents which was based on his mistaken impression that they had discriminated against him," Dr. Wooten said. "He believed his parents favored his brother and sister.

"He brooded over and over this imaginary discrimination. He told me of things which his parents had done to him and which he considered unfair back to the time he was 11 years old.

"Then, too, he had an idea he could become a great scientist. He failed pretty much in school and somehow got the impression his parents were standing in the way of attainment of his goal.

"He wanted to obtain his father's insurance money so he could resume his studies. But that wasn't the main tribues. The primary cause was this imaginary discrimination.

"He told me he went out yesterday before noon and picked the spot at which he would kill his father and mother."

First he shot his mother, he said, then his father, then he sent a bullet through the head of each "to make sure they were dead."

Next he shot himself in the left arm, concealed his father's watch and purse, his own purse, the .38 caliber, five-chambered revolver and a pasteboard containing eight discharged cartridges in bushes several miles away, and returned to Austin with a story that two robbers had perpetrated the ghastly tragedy.

Subsequently, after nine hours of grilling, he led officers to the place where he had hidden the watch, purses, pistol and box, all of which were recovered. Officers found two other discharged cartridges in the pistol and three at the scene of the killing.

'Revenge' Is Motive.

In charging the youth formally with murder, Sheriff Lee Allen said: "We have found the motive." Pierson told newspaper men he had "a good reason," but officers quoted him as saying he did it for "revenge."

Deputy Sheriff Paul Blair quoted him as saying he purchased the revolver in Galveston last Saturday, driving 100 miles out of his way to obtain it.

Pierson made the confession after a wild night in which he twice was taken to the scene, once to direct officers to the bodies and again to recover the gun and other articles. He also was taken to the morgue to view the bodies during which his calm was not broken.

Brother 'Understands.'

Q. How did you get them out of the car?

A. I told them I wanted to show them an old Indian grindstone.

Q. What do you think your brother will think? (His brother is a graduate student in the University of Chicago.)

A. I suppose some one notified him. He understands my troubles.

Q. Did you hit your father? (Judge Pierson had marks on his head as thought he had been struck.)

Young Pierson's eyes flashed as he answered:

"I didn't do that. He must have fallen."

Q. Why did you shoot your mother first?

A. Because she was closest to me.

Young Pierson was in the University of Texas two years and a half. He once was a page in the house of representatives. He quit school last spring after being "asphyxiated" in his garage by carbon monoxide gas.

In the party that took Pierson to the country on the last trip were Deputy Sheriffs Sam Rogers, Paul Blair, and Jim McCon, and B. M. Gault, Texas ranger who helped in the extermination of the notorious Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker in Louisiana last summer.

Deputies Rogers and Blair said young Pierson told them that after he had shot Justice and Mrs. Pierson, he felt of their bodies and then fired a bullet into the head of each "to make sure they were dead."

"What did you kill them both for?" Rogers said he asked him.

"For revenge," he replied.

"Do you mean you killed your mother for revenge?" asked Rogers.

"Yes," Pierson said.

Allred Takes Hand.

The officers returned the youth to the county jail where he was placed in a single cell and a close watch was set over him.

Bleeding profusely, young Pierson brought the first news of the tragedy to Austin, making his way to a hospital in the Pierson automobile. After his wound was dressed, he accompanied officers to the place where the bodies were found.

County and city officers and Texas rangers, acting under orders of Governor James V. Allred, immediately started the investigation, combing the hilly country near the scene of the crime. The search for the "robbers" was dropped after Pierson's confession.

As reports of the killings swept the city, Governor Allred, Attorney General William McCraw, justices of the higher courts and other state officials hurried to the morgue where the bodies were taken.

A night session of the legislature was virtualy broken up while horror-stricken members gathered to discuss the slayings.

Justice Pierson was 61 years old and had been a member of the supreme court for 14 years. He had long been prominent in church, fraternal, educational and legal circles.

Young Pierson told officers immediately after the investigation began that the justice, Mrs. Pierson and himself were driving to Pecan Experiment Station about 15 miles from Austin.

They had turned off the Bull creek scenic highway, which runs through almost mountainous country, about six miles from the city and had proceeded about four miles along another road when two men suddenly jumped in front of their automobile.

'Robbery' Described.

Brandishing pistols, he said, the men halted the car, mounted the running boards and ordered them to drive down a lane nearby about 100 yards. There the car again was stopped.

"One of the men handed his gun to the other," he said, "and while one kept the two guns on us the other took our money and father's watch.

"Father got real angry, and said 'I'll see that you're punished for this.' One of the men replied 'Aw, go to hell!'"

"Then father grabbed the two guns and told me to light into the other man. I jumped on and started choking him. We fell to the ground. He pulled a pistol from his pocket and shot me through the arm. I heard the other man shooting."

Pierson said he knew he didn't have a choice," so he ran and hid in the brush for five or ten minutes. He heard more shooting, he said, but later there was silence. He crawled back to the automobile and found his parents dead.

He said he attempted to drag Justice and Mrs. Pierson into the automobile, but because of his wounded arm was unable to do so. Then he decided to drive to Austin and obtain assistance.

Officers found both bodies on their backs, the hands stretched behind them. An examination disclosed that both had been shot by a .38 caliber pistol bullets.

Justice Pierson had been shot in the left hand, the right shoulder, the right temple and the left thigh; Mrs. Pierson, in the right temple, the right side of the neck, and the left thigh.

F. O. Linden, an ambulance driver, said there was evidence of scuffle about the car, and it appeared the bodies had been dragged a short distance. Justice Pierson's hat was about 40 feet away, and Mrs. Pierson's glasses were at her feet.

Rancher Heard Shots.

Will Phillips, a rancher living about a quarter of a mile away, said he heard two shots, the scream of a woman and then two more shots, sounding as if they came "from up the road." Phillips' son apparently found the bodies first and reported to his father who notified the sheriff's department.

Young Pierson was questioned for hours by District Attorney James H. Hart, Sheriff Lee Allen, and other officers at the court house and accompanied them to the morgue.

Governor Allred had gone to the morgue from the executive mansion across the street and actively participated in organizing the case, ordering Adjutant Carl Nesbitt and the Texas rangers to render all possible assistance. He was in the room when young Pierson viewed the bodies.

Newsmen were barred from the room, but officers reported the young man patted his father's head and said "it's too bad." They said he touched his mother's head and made similar comment. He was calm as he left the mortuary with Sheriff Allen and went to the court house to give further details of the shooting. Survivors of Justice and Mrs. Pierson included two sons, Howard Pierson of Austin and William J. Pierson, student in the University of Chicago, and a daughter, Mrs. Harvey Thomas of Salina, Kans.

Surviving Justice Pierson also were a step-mother, Mrs. M. S. Pierson of Abilene, Texas; five brothers, M. Pierson of Austin; S. B. Pierson of Ropesville, Texas; Lee Pierson of San Diego, Calif.; A. C. Pierson of Haskell, and Cleveland Pierson of Big Spring; four sisters, Mrs. D. R. Couch of Lubbock, Mrs. G. W. Walrep of Abilene, Mrs. Oliver Cunningham of Abilene, and Miss Mary Pierson of Abilene.

Priest Launches Mammoth Attack On 'Plutocrats'

Starts Campaign to Drive Opponents Out of Office

DETROIT, April 25 (AP)—The National Union for Social Justice, turned into a political force at a mammoth rally directed by Fr. Charles E. Coughlin last night, faced the middle west and east today, promising to drive the "plutocrats" out of public office.

Chicago, New York, and Philadelphia are under tentative consideration by Father Coughlin and his associates as the next battle grounds in the organization of state units of the National Union.

Flanked by two senators and four representatives from Washington the Detroit priest pushed his National Union to the front as a definite political weapon last night. The Olympia stadium, filled to near capacity by 15,382 persons set up salvos of applause for him and his fellow speakers.

Money and its use, both as profits for manufacturers and bonuses for war veterans, formed the backdrop setting for the political birth of the National Union. Aiding the Detroit priest in his first of 12 state rallies were Senators Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota and Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, and Reps. William Connery of Massachusetts, Martin L. Sweeney of Ohio, Thomas O'Malley of Wisconsin, and William Lemke of North Dakota.

Thunderous cheers greeted caustic attacks on profit-makers and international bankers. Every disavowal of standpat partyism likewise was cheered.

Father Coughlin called the first of the state meetings as new phases in the activities of the National Union.

"In this phase," he said, "it is endeavoring to change minorities into majorities as it is determined to unite the disunited, to organize the disorganized, to amalgamate the broken parts of our social structure."

As to the purpose of the National Union in the field of American political affairs Father Coughlin said in his prepared text:

"It is not our desire to form a political party but it is our intention to drive out of public life the men who have promised us redress, who have preached to us the philosophy of social justice and, then, who having broken their promises, practice the philosophy of plutocracy.

"With these men we have no sympathy. They deserve to be driven from their congressional district, or from their senatorial state, or from the broad expanse of the presidential nation with our undivided, united strength."

Turning to Stone as Victim No. 29

Victim of calcinosis, strange malady which has attacked but 28 other persons, according to medical records, Miss Nona Cloyes, 19, above, of Tacoma, Wash., is undergoing treatment in an effort to stay the spread of the disease, in which the body turns to stone.

Jones Hopes for Electrification For Panhandle

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—Chairman Jones (D., Tex.) of the house agriculture committee expressed renewed hope today that a rural electrification program might be evolved for the Texas Panhandle.

"I am greatly pleased that President Roosevelt has made this one part of his program," Jones said in reference to the president's announcement yesterday of eight types of work which may be eligible for portions of his $4,880,000,000 relief fund.

Jones has advanced rural electrification for his district as a means of utilizing millions of cubic feet of natural gas wasted daily in the Panhandle natural gas field. Texas and Secretary Ickes also are working on a plan to pipe the surplus from the Panhandle to Detroit and St. Louis.

Jones recalled that a similar electrification project had been worked out in the Muscle Shoals area and that payments for equipment and transmission lines had been so great that the original cost was retired in six instead of the planned 12 years.

He recalled that in Alcorn county, Mississippi, savings to consumers through this type of project had reached 65 per cent.

Young Pierson Was Timid Say Kin at Abilene

ABILENE, April 25 (AP) — West Texas relatives of Justice William A. Pierson were gathering today in Abilene, home of his step-mother and three step-sisters, for departure during the afternoon for Austin to attend funeral rites for the associate justice of the Texas supreme court and his wife.

Relatives here were greatly shocked over deaths of Justice and Mrs. Pierson and the confession of their son, Howard. One relative said: "This is unbelievable and we are completely in the dark as to any possible motive Howard might have thought he had." It was added, however, that Howard had always seemed a little unusual, victim of a marked timidity; that "the boy would never mix and was given to long periods of silence. His parents were devoted to him, very ambitious for him, and did everything possible to overcome his timidity. When he began to fail in his subjects at the university he was withdrawn, his parents fearing he was near a nervous collapse."

GREENVILLE, April 25 (AP)—State Prosecutor Henry Pharr said today that S. P. Darden, 38-year-old World war veteran charged with the slaying of his wife at their Caddo Mills home Monday, declined to appear before the grand jury or make a statement.

TICKET SALES CAMPAIGN THAT WILL AID CRIPPLED CHILDREN IS LAUNCHED BY LIONS TODAY

Tickets were placed in the hands of Pampa Lions today as the sales campaign for the annual musical show of May 10 and 11 opened.

The tickets are priced at 50 cents each. Reserved seats will be placed on sale later. Nurses of the city will assist in the sales and will act as ushers at the performances. Their cooperation was offered because the proceeds will be used in the club's work for crippled children. High school pep squad girls also will help sell tickets.

The clubmen today heard speakers from the high school and one from Junior high school, all of whom have won Interscholastic League honors. John Edward McConnell gave a reading, "The Old Wash Place"; Ella Faye O'Keefe spoke on slum clearance; and J. G. McConnell, who will go to the Austin meet soon, spoke on "Hating War." Ben Guill, teacher of public speaking, introduced the students and explained how current problems were being made the basis of work. R. C. Wilson arranged the program. He praised highly the work of Mr. Guill and the pupils.

Visitors included Warren Moore of Tyler and Roy E. Carter of Fort Worth.

Processing Tax Is Denounced by Manufacturers

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 25 (AP)—A bitter denunciation of the cotton processing tax, coupled with a demand for the resignation of Secretary Wallace, was heard today at the opening of the American Cotton Manufacturers association convention.

W. D. Anderson, president of the organization, composed of southerners, charged in a prepared address that Wallace is "plainly lacking in business judgment, in knowledge of ordinary business faculties, and in common sense."

"Mr. Wallace ought to resign his post, take Professor Tugwell (undersecretary of agriculture) with him, and start a farm paper somewhere," Anderson said.

"This would enable him to preach to his heart's content and afford an opportunity for Professor Tugwell to exploit his dreams of applying Russian collectivism to this country."

The Macon, Ga., manufacturer declared the processing tax, levied against the mills and paid to farmers for reducing plantings, has seriously affected the cotton textile industry.

HOW ABOUT IT, BOYS?

PITTSBURGH — University of Pittsburgh men trying out as "chorus girls" for their cap and gown show asked McLelland Barclay, the illustrator, what it takes to be a male beauty show. Here is his reply:

"Skin as fair as a London fog and as tough as cowhide saddles.

"Dainty hands that pack a punch like a mule.

"Legs that do a quarter-mile in 50 seconds flat.

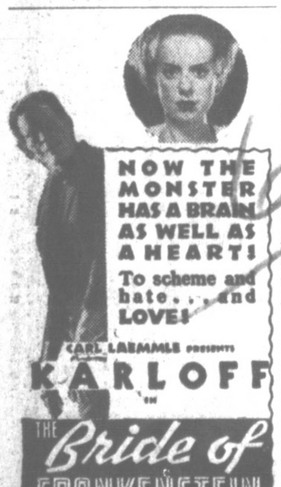

"Add to that a dash of well-emulated swish."

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 25. (AP)—Heavy selling to clear away accounts of the Rosenbaum corporation involved in bankruptcy proceedings led to lower grain prices most of the time today.

Trade estimates were that about 5,000,000 bushels of various grains were liquidated for the Rosenbaum concern, aside from selling resulting indirectly. Meanwhile weather and crop reports were generally construed as bearish and had considerable market influence at times.

Wheat closed unsettled, ½-1⅛ under yesterday's finish, May 98-98⅛, corn ⅛ off to ⅝ up, May 87¾-88, oats at ⅛ decline to ½ advance, and provisions varying from 7 cents setback to an equal gain.

BRITON STRIKES AT HITLER IN A FRANK ARTICLE

Hitler Has Destroyed Confidence, Says British Chief

LONDON, April 25. (AP) — Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, in one of the strongest indictments of Hitlerite Germany ever made by a member of the British government, accused that nation today of destroying European confidence in the outlook for continued peace.

The prime minister, in an article written for "News Letter," national labor organ, charged the reich with "besetting the road to peace with terrors."

The article said there are nazis in high authority who are not even giving lip service to the cause of European stability.

"Germany has acted in such a way as to destroy the feeling of mutual confidence in Europe," MacDonald wrote. "It asks other nations to accept a verbal pledge of pacific intention which it itself would not accept from its neighbors.

"Other nations cannot be pacified by such assurance and can show ample justification for their refusal."

The prime minister's outspoken arraignment of Reichsfuehrer Hitler's policies disclosed a definite change in the official British attitude which heretofore has occupied a middle ground, insisting that maintenance of peace demanded concessions by both France and Germany.

"Germany has not won the honor and sympathy which it sought," the article said.

"It has aroused the suspicion of practically every nation in Europe. I do not believe any German can honestly feel surprised that the conduct of his government has been dealt with with prejudice when the council of the League of Nations expressed apprehensiveness and misapprobation."

"Leaving the 'honor' argument out of the count for the moment," the prime minister wrote in another section of his attack, "how can it profess to be blind to the effect which its colossal armaments must have on the sense of security of other nations?

"The most secure nation in the whole of Europe until it aroused suspicions and fears against itself was Germany."

Oh! How Varied Is the Seson

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 25 (AP)—One man was seriously injured in a tornado near Billings, the Chikaskia river was overflowing its banks near Blackwell, visibility was limited by dust to a half mile in the arid Panhandle and some damage was caused to homes in Ponca City as wind, hail, rain, and dust storms swept Oklahoma overnight.

Natchez, Miss., is located on a bluff 200 feet above the Mississippi river and therefore has never experienced flood damage characteristic of many valley towns.

The board of park commissioners at Nashville, Tenn., has engaged relief workers to restore Fort Negley, famous stronghold in the war between the states.

Start 'em young with the proper feed, if you want chickens to grow into efficient layers of eggs, say poultry officials of West Virginia University's college of agriculture.

Raisins contain iron, good for the blood, says the consumer's guide of AAA, but weight for weight they contain less than fresh spinach and meat.

Historians say the thigh wound, which caused the death of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, Confederate commander, in the battle of Shiloh, would not have been fatal had he been able to find a doctor.

NEW ORLEANS, April 25 (AP)—The early gains were extended during the morning until active positions were up from 20 to 26 points.
