EVE REVEALED — Mrs. Chris Sizemore and her son, Bobby, 16, at their home in Fairfax City, Va.; after Mrs. Sizemore revealed publicly that she is the woman portrayed in the 1957 movie, "The Three Faces of Eve." "I have no fear of them ever returning," she said of the 21 different personalities she has manifested at various times over 23 years of suffering from one of the rarest forms of mental illness.

Secret Is Out; Woman Is Eve

FAIRFAX CITY, Va. (AP) — The woman portrayed in the movie "The Three Faces of Eve" says she has recovered from her rare mental illness after manifesting 21 different personalities over 23 years.

"I am confident that I am well," Chris Sizemore said in a telephone interview Sunday night after revealing publicly that she is the woman portrayed in the 1957 movie.

Mrs. Sizemore, 48, the wife of a construction electrician, said she had kept secret from all but her family, doctors and one friend the fact that she suffered from multiple personality.

But it has been a year since her last three personalities "died," she said, and her doctor urged her to reveal her identity as part of her therapy.

"I think they had fulfilled their need — allowing me to face realities I couldn't face otherwise," Mrs. Sizemore said. I came to grips when my father passed away in March. Before, a traumatic experience like that usually brought on a change (of personality). When that didn't, my doctors thought I was cured."

Mrs. Sizemore's condition was diagnosed in 1952 after she had been under psychiatric treatment for a year by Dr. Corbett H. Thigpen, who was co-author of a best-selling book on the case. The movie, which won actress Joanne Woodward an Academy award, was based on the book.

It was Dr. Thigpen who advised her to keep her condition secret, Mrs. Sizemore said. "I think he thought he was doing the right thing for the patient but perhaps it was not right for me because I developed a guilt complex," she added. "My whole family was enclosed. We had no social life."

In the manifestation of her illness, Mrs. Sizemore was "taken over" at various times by 21 different personalities, each with a distinct character, habits, skills and physical mannerisms.

They came in sets of three, ranging from straight-laced housewife, to fun-loving party girl to seemingly well-adjusted, kindly mother.

NEW CHIEF NAMED — Harry Nagel (left), city manager, this morning recommended to the city council that Stanley Bogard (center), assistant chief, be elevated to the police chief's job Oct. 1. Vance Chisum, shown on the right, resigned as chief effective on that date to return to Uvalde as police chief.

Ezzell To Man Booth At Fair

State Rep. Mike Ezzell will man a booth for the next three days during the Howard County Fair.

He will make himself available to the public from 6 to 10 p.m., today, from 1 to 10 p.m. Tuesday and again from 1 to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

During his visitations with his constituents, he will be prepared to talk about the progress the State Legislature has made on the new State Constitution and about other matters pertinent to legislative business.

Stanley Bogard Is Named Chief

Stanley Bogard was named chief of police, effective Oct. 1, in a called meeting of the city council this morning at City Hall.

The meeting was held in closed session and opened after the discussion to make the announcement. Mayor Wade Choate expressed regret at losing Chief Vance Chisum.

Chief Chisum spoke briefly, and said, 'I want to thank City Manager Harry Nagel for all the help he has been to the police department and I also want to thank the mayor and the council.

"There is one thing bothering me about my tenure here. I would like to have completed the case on the abandoned baby. The department is still working on this case."

Stanley Bogard, who is currently assistant chief, thanked the council and said, "I will do my best."

Bogard, 48, joined the department in July 1953 and quit in June 1956 to serve as a security guard for six months, before returning in December 1956. He was made a sergeant in 1959, lieutenant in 1960, captain in 1963, major in 1971 and acting chief at that time.

In 1971, Bogard did not apply for the position of chief, and the council created the assistant chief position.

Nagel announced this morning that the assistant chief's position will be temporarily abolished and that Capt. Sherrill Farmer and Capt. Jack Jones will be in charge of their respective divisions of the department when the chief is out of town.

Some Regular Officers Being Forced To Quit

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time, the Army is forcing out of the service some regular officers who in joining indicated they were making the Army a career.

The 625 regular officers are among 2,138 officers who will be dropped from the service by the end of September as part of a cutback to bring the number of Army officers to an authorized strength of 98,125 by June 30, 1976.

The change to permit the dropping of regulars during reductions in force was approved by a law sought by the Army. Before the legislation, the Army could drop only reserve officers even though they were out performing regulars.

The new law permitted the Army to judge reserve and regular officers alike in identifying 2,700 officers for possible release from the service. A total of 2,138 were selected for release and were notified in June they would be dropped by the end of September.

All those selected for release were given a chance to appeal to the Army Active Duty Board, but the board says that as of early September it had received only 12 appeals.

The officers affected by this reduction in force were commissioned between 1967 and 1970, during the Vietnam buildup. The Army now says it has more officers than it needs because of that buildup.

The Army said that the typical officer selected to be released was 30.8 years old, with the youngest 25 and the oldest 44. It said that 50 per cent of the officers were 29, 30 or 31 years old.

The Army says it plans no further involuntary releases. It says that if more cutbacks are needed it hopes that normal attrition will meet its requirements to get down to the 98,125 level.

Gunman Cut Down By Cops

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A police marksman shot and killed a would-be airline hijacker early today after the gunman took four persons captive, including a doctor critically wounded.

The gunman, identified as Freddie Soloman, 24, was felled as he emerged from an empty Continental Airlines 727 passenger jet on a flood-lit runway at San Jose Municipal Airport.

Police Sgt. Michael Van Dyke said the gunman was shot after he pointed a handgun at one of the 25 police officers surrounding the airplane. He was hit by a single shot, allowing the hostage he was using as a shield to escape unharmed.

The gunman, who began his violent journey through the streets of San Jose after leaving the scene of a rape and stabbing, earlier had ordered two captive airline mechanics to start up the engines of the jet. But police shot out the tires and two of the four captives jumped from the aircraft to safety.

That left the doctor, radiologist Frank Wiefels, and one of the two mechanics, Alden Lindekugel, 42. When authorities refused to meet his demands for a loaded gun and a pilot for the plane, the gunman shot Wiefels, according to police.

The doctor fell to the ground below the aircraft and crawled to safety. He was reported in critical condition today after surgery for a gunshot wound of the abdomen.

Police said the chase began when Soloman fled the scene of the rape and commandeered an auto at a nearby food store. Initial police reports said the driver of the car also was taken captive, but officers said later that the first hostage was Wiefels, seized when the gunman forced his way into a hospital emergency room.

From there, the gunman drove to Reid-Hillview Airport, a small airfield. Unable to find an airplane, he took an airport security guard as his second hostage and switched to a Santa Clara County truck, police said.

The gunman and his two captives then drove some 20 miles to San Jose Airport. Police said he then took the airline mechanics hostage in the main terminal building and began his effort to escape by air.

City Gets Big Gift

The city, in compliance with the new Dora Roberts Foundation board policy, did not announce the gift it received from the foundation.

However, a taxing agency has to show a donation on the public records and there is a new $75,000 donation included in the records today.

The gift was apparently designated to certain areas of city need and a big portion of the donation has apparently been pinpointed for air conditioning and upgrading of a floor at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

It was indicated that some improvements to the city auditorium and addition of a concession stand at the softball complex were also among the items in the generous donation.

No formal announcement of the expenditure of the funds was made, but the budget will reflect the items as the year progresses.

Demonstration Is Looming

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — University of Texas student leaders say they are organizing a student-faculty strike this week to protest the appointment of Dr. Lorene Rogers as president of UT-Austin.

Spokesmen for a new organization calling itself Students Helping Academic Freedom at Texas (SHAFT) announced Sunday night there will be a demonstration on the UT main mall at noon Wednesday, followed by a scheduled general walkout of students and professors for the rest of the week.

UT student body president Carol Crabtree said the student senate will hold a special meeting Monday night to endorse the strike.

Guerrillas Hold Three Egyptians

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Palestinian guerrillas took the Egyptian ambassador and two aides hostage in the Egyptian Embassy today and threatened to blow up the building at midnight — 6 p.m. EDT — unless Egypt pulls out its Sinai negotiating team from Geneva and scraps its new disengagement accord with Israel.

One of the five guerrillas said explosives had been placed at the entrance and all the windows of the embassy — a 12-room apartment on the first floor of an eight-story building in the heart of Madrid's diplomatic quarter. Families in the building and surrounding homes were immediately evacuated.

The Egyptian government in Cairo said it has asked Palestinian leader Yasir Arafat to take steps to secure the release of the diplomats in Madrid, and would hold him and his Palestine Liberation Organization personally "responsible for the incident and all its consequences."

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat formed a special committee to deal with the embassy siege. The seized ambassador in Madrid, a horseman and golfer, is related to Sadat through marriage.

A United Nations spokesman in Geneva said there were no immediate plans to call off the next meeting of Egyptian and Israeli Sinai accord negotiators, now scheduled for Tuesday.

The embassy takeover was the first such action in Spain since the Spanish civil war that ended in 1939.

As the embassy siege began, about 40 Palestinian students from the University of Madrid occupied the Arab League office a quarter of a mile away in a rich Madrid residential district, but left two hours later, releasing the Egyptian director and secretary unharmed.

The students said their action had no connection with the embassy takeover, and was meant only to dramatize their identical demand to scrap the Sinai accord.

At the embassy, about five Palestinian gunmen held 55-year-old Egyptian Ambassador Mahmoud Abdul Ghaffar, his press attache and a consul hostage. They agreed to talk with the ambassadors of Algeria and Iraq, but the substance of the discussions was not known.

CIRCUS TODAY — Julie Ward is shown with Mary, Sue and Margie, circus elephants for the Shrine Circus which performs at 3:45 and 8 p.m. today on opening day of the Howard County Fair. Says Margie to Mary, "We came here last year and it was muddy. Are you sure this is West Texas?"

Circus, Barrow Show Usher In Fair Here

The Shrine Circus appears at 3:45 p.m. and 8 p.m. today in the rodeo arena on opening day of the Howard County Fair.

Official opening of the fairgrounds is at 6 o'clock this evening along with a band concert by the Big Spring High School band. The carnival is also being set up.

The barrow show is one of the top attractions at the show today and flower entries, women's food and handicraft entries were coming in fast this morning. The annual barrow sale will be on Tuesday along with a Forsan Band concert.

This morning, the circus troupe were eyeing the mud in the arena with horror and were in contact with the local Shrine Club to see what could be done about grading or sand in order to hold the two performances.

As the circus arrived from a Sunday performance in Midland, they were unloading and feeding the animals. Mary, Sue and Margie, the three elephants, appeared happy to get out of the truck and were shuffling around for a little West Texas greenery as they awaited their rations of hay.

Julie Ward, who works with the elephants in the circus, was watching the unloading.

"I've worked in the circus all my life," Julie stated. "My parents were circus people and one set of grandparents came out of Germany with a flying act.

"They were my mother's parents, so she was raised in the business. My father ran away from Dallas as a young boy and joined the circus.

"My husband also was raised in the circus and our little girl, Tonda, attains her schooling on the road as we travel from February to November.

"It's our way of life. We are circus people."

Quake Causes Area To Sink 6 Inches

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP) — The Oroville area, shaken last month by an earthquake that measured 6.1 on the Richter scale, has sunk about six inches in relation to the Sierras, a federal study discloses.

The U.S. Geological Survey adds that there is a "reasonable probability" of another earthquake in the range of 4.5 to 5 on the Richter scale.

The study was released over the weekend on the Aug. 1 quake and the smaller ones that followed at this Northern California community.

Meanwhile, a pair of state seismologists are warning of an even larger shock.

"People shouldn't be surprised" if another 6-magnitude earthquake occurs in the area, said Tousson Toppozada of the California Department of Conservation.

Other scientists have warned that such a quake might be expected anywhere along the Sierra foothills, which had been previously thought relatively earthquake-safe.

On the Richter scale, each full point represents a shock 10 times stronger than the preceding figure. The 1906 San Francisco earthquake measured 8.3.

Toppozada and seismologist Don Rodgers issued a memorandum linking the Oroville quakes to the nearby Oroville dam, at 770 feet high the nation's tallest earth-filled dam.

"The proximity of the earthquake to Lake Oroville suggests a relationship between the two," they said.

At the time of the Aug. 1 earthquake there was speculation that the weight of the water may have triggered a movement in the earth's crust.

Earthquakes of similar magnitude "have been triggered by man-made lakes in India, Rhodesia and Greece," they added.

The U.S. Geological Survey study said it is not clear whether the dam caused the quake, but the pattern of aftershocks should answer the question.

It said that if the dam was not involved, the aftershocks should die out within a year. If it was involved, shocks should continue for several years.

QUEEN WITH FIRST RUNNERUP — Miss Martha Gonzales (seated), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Deanda, was crowned queen of the Fiestas Del Diezy Seis held here over the weekend. First runnerup in the contest was Sonia Reyna (standing), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Reyna. Second runnerup was Lori DeLeon (not pictured), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie DeLeon. The two-day event, commemorating the date of Mexico's independence, was sponsored by the American GI Forum.

Eritreans Grab Four Americans

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Eritrean rebels threatened today to kill four Americans taken prisoner in northern Ethiopia unless the United States stops supplying arms to the Ethiopian government.

Two of the Americans were kidnaped Saturday along with six Ethiopians when raiders attacked the U.S. Kagnew communications facility near Asmara, the capital of Eritrea province. The Pentagon said the Americans were Navy Electronic Tech. 3.C. Thomas C. Bowidowicz of Jersey City, N.J., and Army Spec. 5 David Strickland of Orlando, Fla.

Two other Americans, Steve Campbell of San Leandro, Calif., and Jim Harrell of Milwaukee, Wis., were kidnaped from Kagnew in July. Both were civilian technicians and were reported seen by a Syrian photographer last month in the hands of the rebels.

A spokesman for the Eritrean Liberation Front in Beirut said the ELF transmitted four demands to Washington through "a U.S. embassy in the Middle East."

In addition to the arms ban the demands included:

—Dismantling the Kagnew base and an Ethiopian naval base under construction at Massawa, Ethiopia's chief port on the Eritrean coast.

—Compensation for areas of Eritrea that suffered heavy damage in attacks by the U.S.-equipped Ethiopian air force during fighting between the rebels and the Ethiopian government last February.

New 'Tower' Of Strength

Unless something drastic happens, President Ford appears assured of the 1976 GOP presidential nomination. Although there is some resistance to Vice President Nelson Rockefeller among conservative Republican circles, the President keeps lining up prominent conservative Republicans for his campaign camp.

Over the weekend the President scored another coup when Texas Sen. John Tower announced he would be heading the campaign for Ford's re-election in Texas next year. This is a blow to Texas Republicans who prefer conservatives such as former California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Sen. Tower is an influential man throughout the nation and highly respected by both Republicans and Democrats in Texas and the South. By adding his name to the Ford campaign, Tower could easily deliver the Texas' convention delegation to Ford.

While it is too early to tell whether Reagan will launch a campaign for the GOP nomination — or if it will be successful, the Ford machinery is doing everything possible to cut it off at the pass.

At this point, there is no indication the President will switch running mates during the next campaign. About the only thing that could stop Ford's nomination would be a political revolution within the Republican party. And with Ford's present popularity many Republicans feel they have a winner in 1976. If he continues to pick up supporters of the John Tower caliber, no visible opposition seems likely to arise. He'll probably get his choice of running mates as well.

Like It Like It Is

In Havana an international conference was held recently to support Puerto Rican independence, a cause that generates more support abroad than in Puerto Rico.

A 25-member Puerto Rican delegation was in Havana to participate in the conference sponsored by the World Peace Council. Independence leaders claim 200 delegates from 90 nations and 30 international organizations will attend the parley.

Cuba has been one of the chief supporters of Puerto Rican independence, which is backed by only a minority of voters in Puerto Rico. In the last general election of 1972, the pro-independence party received only 5.2 per cent of the vote.

Back in 1952 Puerto Rico voted to become a commonwealth of the United States. Its nearly three million residents are U.S. citizens, but they do not pay federal income taxes, a fringe benefit not to be regarded lightly.

Puerto Rico, of course, enjoys the guarantee of military security provided by the United States.

The vast majority of Puerto Ricans like the present arrangement.

My Answer

Billy Graham

From all the reports of your life, it seems evident that you've learned how to conquer temptation to do wrong. Would you comment on that, because although a Christian, I have so much trouble with temptation.' T. L.

Once while in France, at a little dinner party given by the American ambassador a man came to me with a curious comment. He was a famous French novelist, and he said, "Mr. Graham, you know I'm sure that you are the object of tremendous evil forces. They want to attack you, because you are a provocation to evil."

Well, he was right, and I have sensed that. However, my temptations are the same as anyone. The Bible says they lie in the area of the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eye and the pride of life — that is, our ego. I have to be very careful in the life I lead, keeping up my defenses by prayer and Bible study; and you can do the same.

Just remember it's not wrong to be tempted. The evil comes in yielding to it.

Start each day with the determination that you and Christ can handle anything the devil sends your way. Read 1 Corinthians 10:12, 13.

"Oh, but quite to the contrary . . . I'm not a dodo, sir . . . I am a phoenix!"

Dr. Burns, Micawber

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — In a backstage development of far-reaching economic consequences, the Ford administration's policymakers are turning an icy shoulder to pleas from central banker Arthur Burns to at least consider governmental intervention in wage-price decisions as an anti-inflation weapon.

PRESIDENT FORD himself leads the way in rejecting out of hand such intervention. But his key economic advisers privately concede failure to control federal spending, their preferred anti-inflation device. Rather, they fall back on cheery prophecies that inflation will not run wild, repeated so often that high officials begin to believe them.

This is in keeping with the economic Micawberism underlying seven years of faltering Republican economic policy in Washington. Dr. Burns, who as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board is not a part of the administration, confronts congenital optimism and improvident refusal to plan against future ills. The backstage economic debate here, therefore, pits Dr. Burns against Mr. Micawber.

AT AGE 71, elder statesman Burns is burdened with neither illusions nor false hopes. Apprehensive of ruinous inflation ahead, Burns has informed the administration that the Federal Reserve cannot fight it with tighter money. Furthermore, he was watched three Republican presidents flinch from the politically bitter fruits of draconian budget cutting. Nor would the Democratic Congress permit Mr. Ford to control the budget anyway.

ACCORDINGLY, in testimony before the Senate-House Economic Committee July 29, Burns declared, "We need to reopen our economic minds" about how this nation can achieve high employment without provoking new inflationary outbursts. Listing some ideas, he concluded by suggesting an "incomes policy" — government wage-price intervention short of outright controls. In somewhat convoluted prose, Burns said:

"Nor would I rule out the possibility that some form of incomes policy, going beyond the legislation governing the Council on Wage and Price Stability but continuing to rely mainly on voluntary compliance, may yet be of some benefit in moving our nation toward the goals of full employment and a stable price level."

THIS WAS hauntingly similar to his Pepperdine College lecture in Los Angeles Dec. 7, 1970, which helped push the Nixon administration toward wage-price controls in August 1971. But nearly five years later, Burns' words went unnoticed by the press, the financial community or the administration. He may well rephrase his proposal in less equivocal language, perhaps at a University of Georgia speech Sept. 19.

UNEQUIVOCAL OR NOT, talk about an incomes policy will encounter a closed mind in the Ford administration. "Over my dead body," Treasury Secretary William Simon told us, adding he would not stay long at the Treasury if an incomes policy were adopted. There is little danger of that. Shutting the door to any incomes policy are economic adviser Alan Greenspan, budget director James Lynn, and senior White House aides Donald Rumsfeld and William Seidman. Secretary of Labor James Dunlop leaves the door open only a tiny crack.

Greenspan, the most influential economic force in the administration today believes a nonmandatory incomes policy inevitably evolves into mandatory controls.

BURNS ACTUALLY feels it is too soon to resume controls (while not ruling them out forever). He may envision guidelines for higher prices and wages, with possible government power to postpone temporarily — but not abort permanently — such increases. Other Western industrial nations have rotated similar mechanisms with direct controls and no intervention at all. But while rejecting any intervention, the administration proposes no alternative. Instead, it confronts returning double-digit inflation with perpetual hope and a warm smile. But Treasury Secretary Simon, certainly no Micawber, joined Burns this year in unsuccessfully fighting for a tighter budget and now are both pessimistic about inflation over the long haul.

Far From Accurate

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Is inflation coming under control? Evidence that nobody knows is contained in the history of forecasts, which over the past decade have been lamentably inaccurate on this subject.

And the suggestion that one guess is as good as another is suggested by the amazingly wide range of opinions even among professionals who, like fortune tellers, earn good money for their alleged farsightedness.

Alan Greenspan, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, maintains the inflation rate will simmer down by next spring, and that the annual rate of inflation for 1976 would be about 7 per cent.

Even that rate, however, would hardly indicate that prices were under control, and Greenspan himself concedes it would be "by no means acceptable." No, not when we used to think that 3 per cent was too much.

The irrepresible Pierre Rinfret, whose opinions sometimes have been solicited by the White House and by political candidates, as well as by his regular big business clients, is a bit more cynical.

"Hope for the best, prepare for the worst. That's the strategy for 1976," Rinfret writes in his current "confidential" advisory.

"How do you protect yourself against inflation?" he asks rhetorically. "By raising your prices by more than the inflation rate," he answers, explaining that for a decade "the major mistake has been to believe inflation would disappear."

In the view of the National Association of Purchasing Management, the business recovery is under way but "an unwelcome return of price increases gives cause for concern."

But not all surveys of purchasing agents indicate a fear that inflation might undermine the recovery. The highly regarded magazine Purchasing World makes this unqualified declaration:

"Everybody is worried about prices — except buyers."

John O'Connor, editor, conducted two surveys and reached the conclusion that "the people who actually pay the bills for their companies' supplies of goods and materials don't buy the economic doomsday prediction."

O'Connor observes that many sellers are maintaining high list, or book, prices, but are quoting actual prices much lower. He suggests that the government indexes, which are based on list prices, are therby distorted.

Well, who do you believe? Searching for an answer one is eventually directed to the consumer, the final buyer, the final arbiter of prices, the ultimate decision maker. If the consumer is pessimistic he probably is so for good reason.

Phlebitis Can Be Rested

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does phlebitis ever really leave?

I was hospitalized last year for this. My feet and ankles still swell considerably and they feel achy with big red lumps.

I am 52 and overweight to the tune of 168 pounds at 5 feet, 3 inches tall. Does weight have to do with phlebitis? My doctor wants me to reduce. I am taking pills for water retention.

I just feel a mess. Hope you can enlighten me. R. K.

I trust you understand what phlebitis is, but for the sake of other readers I'll just say that it is an inflammation of a vein or veins. The lower limbs are common sites.

I suspect that yours involves deeper veings. Inflammation of superficial veins, those nearer the surface, is not quite as serious a problem because there are a sufficient number of these veins to "transfer" the circulation burdens locally.

In deep-vein phlebitis, there is the danger of a clot forming on the wall of the veins (thrombophlebitis). If this interferes with blood flow, then circulation is sharply reduced and fluid accumulation follows.

The anticoagulants you mention taking (in a part of your letter left I did not quote) is to reduce further clot formation.

Now to your question: the "itis" (inflammation) part of the problem can be arrested, but the thrombus (clot) portion cannot be undone.

You also mention elevating your feet at night when the swelling seems worse. You are wise to do this. The swelling late in the day is an indication vein obstruction. Support hose might help you, also.

You ask if weight is a factor. Yes, and it could have been a cause in the first place. It is imperative that you lose about 30 of those 168 pounds.

This is a problem to be watched carefully, and you should return to your physician. The anticoagulant therapy may have to be reinstituted later.

With careful management this is a problem that can be lived with. But if you get careless, you could be in for some serious consequences.

Checking It Out

One thing and another:

I believe that Cowboy Tom of athletic strife is, at heart, a soccer coach. He believes the foot belongs in the game, but not necessarily the run.

THE ECLAT that comes your way after having assimilated a quality education wouldn't be so bad if someone was not always asking you how to spell a word.

I'm checking this out, but the story is that Boom-Boom Baum got the attention of one of his children in another room the other night, yelling, "If you don't stop beating that drum, I'm going crazy." To which the child of obedient ben replied "Daddy, I quit an hour ago.'

I haven't seen the motion picture "Jaws" but I've been advised to take a harpoon along when I go.

Has it ever occurred to you that the credit card and the boomerang might have been invented by the same guy?

A surgeon rarely tells his patient it took a miracle to save him. Otherwise, more people might make their payments to houses of the Lord rather than to the sawbones.

THE THINKING husband never, never writes his wife off as a complete ninny, reasoning that she pulled the most brilliant coup of all, that of marrying him.

I wouldn't say he was utterly without tact but I walked up to one fellow who remarked "What's the matter? Did the undertaker do an incomplete job on you?"

I always took a negative attitude when I played golf. My priorites, in the proper order, were (1) not to get hit on the head, (2) try and let members of the foursome ahead know that one of them would get hit on the head if they didn't hasten their play and (3) keep someone from stealing my ball.

I'm convinced the reason so many people make use of carts in golf is that they want to get to the spots where their balls land before some member of the light-fingered gentry adds them to his collection.

Our Fault

William F. Buckley, Jr.

Everyone is agreed that, in respect of the Panama Canal, we are headed for Confrontation. It's our fault, mostly, though the anti-colonialist zeitgeist plays a role in it. It's our fault in the sense that nobody would be talking about the necessity of the United States abandoning the Panama Canal if the United States hadn't begun, as it did under Eisenhower, making concessions on the subject.

NOBODY, OUTSIDE THE deejays in Radio Havana, talks about the United States giving up its naval base in Guantanamo Cuba, and the reason is every bit as simple as that we have no intention of abandoning our naval base in Guantanamo Cuba. But treat yourself to one President, or even one Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, on "Meet the Press" or the "Today" show, beating his breast about our atavistic presence in Cuba, and the subject comes up for immediate negotiation. Then the entire Third World closes in on you, and you make silly defensive speeches in the United Nations, and pretty soon we have a ceremony, and John-John pulls down the American flag, and our last destroyer steams out into the sunset.

BUT WHAT THEN steams in, in all probability and given the dynamic flux of the world situation, is the Soviet Navy. And of course it is the Soviet Navy we are properly concerned about in Panama. Running Panama at the moment is a talkative left-wing despot who staged a coup in 1968 and has suspended democratic elections. He studied his economics from Allende, and openly praises Castro. He has talked publicly about the need for a guerrilla war of liberation if the United States does not give in to his demands. Behind him is all the United Nations, whose Security Council junketed down to Panama to thunder and shake over the vestigial act of western colonialism, ending its filibuster only when interrupted by a U.S. veto.

MEANWHILE, HENRY Kissinger has gone down there to mollify Torrijos, and Ambassador Bunker the kindliest and most intelligent of men whose footsteps, unfortunately, are dogged by historical scavengers, is down there trying to work something out. While the Executive was planning an orderly retreat from Panama, suddenly a Senate minority and a House majority acted in separate resolutions indicating quite clearly that they had no intention of backing away from Panama. The canal, for those who've forgotten it, is United States territory. As much so as Key West or Atlantic City. And the Constitution requires an acquiescence by both Houses in the abandonment of U.S. territory.

BUT DON'T YOU SEE, we won't abandon it, they reassure us. We'll merely modify the existing situation, which is unacceptable to Panamanian pride, and still maintain effective military control over the area.

No doubt the plans for retreat are more sophisticatedly drawn up than as intimated here. But we are in fact losing sight of the scaffolding of the American argument:

1) WE DON't "lease" the canal — we compensate Panama for the use of the railroad, not the canal, which is ours.

2) WE DON't make a profit from the canal, we plough all revenue back in toward its maintenance.

3) IF WE ARE going to straighten out historical pride, then we should begin not by enhancing Panama, but by eliminating it, and returning ti to Colombia whence it was wrested by international hanky-panky at the turn of the century.

4. IF FRANCE and England weren't able to maintain, according to the schedule agreed upon, their hold on Suez, how could we expect, having relinquished effective operational control, to contain the likes of Torrijos?

We Hold These Truths...
A Chronicle of America

September, 15, 1775:

The royal governor of South Carolina, Sir William Campbell, takes refuge aboard HMS Tamar — never to preside over the colony again. His flight follows his dissolving of the royal assembly. The night before, three companies commanded by Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, Bernard Elliott, and Francis Marion land on James Island in Charleston harbor and take possession of Fort Johnson. From his cramped quarters aboard the Tamar, Campbell writes — in October: "Let it not be entirely forgot that the king has dominions in this part of America. What defense can they make? Three regiments, a proper detachment of artillery, with a couple of good frigates, some small craft, and a bomb-ketch, would do the whole business here, and go a great way to reduce Georgia and North Carolina to a sense of their duty."

A Devotion For Today

"Whoever wants to be greatest of all must be the slave of all." (Mark 10:44, TLB)

PRAYER: We thank Thee, Father, that Thou hast made it possible for each of us to fulfill his or her ambition to be great. Help us that we may be true followers of Jesus Christ. Amen.

Use Of Disaster Grant Limited

"This disaster grant would only allow us to replace material washed out" on county roads, County Engineer Neel Barnaby told County Commissioners Court this morning.

Barnaby was referring to part of $699,000 in federal disaster relief Gov. Dolph Briscoe is seeking for Howard County losses in flooding Aug. 8-10.

In addition to funds for the county roads, aid is being sought for agricultural and private property losses.

Of the $149,000 asked for county roads, Barnaby explained: "They will not pay for general maintenance. They will not pay administrative salaries."

Rains last week damaged roads in the Knott and Vealmoor areas, and Barnaby said road crews will be repairing these roads again.

County Judge Bill Tune instructed Barnaby to report on the most recent rain damages to W. D. Berry, local Civil Defense coordinator. Berry has helped county officials in applying for federal funds for earlier flooding.

Some paved roads in northern Howard County may be closed after flood waters recede. With the ground saturated, traffic could damage the roads, Barnaby explained.

Commissioner Simon (Cy) Terrazas suggested the court consider accepting bids for larger dump trucks so more firms could bid on replacement of two 1969 models.

Barnaby agreed to obtain information but said larger dump trucks could not turn around on county roads.

Discussion on the matter will continue next week.

Susan Conley, Howard County librarian, was authorized to employ a Vocational Office Education student 20 hours weekly through December. The pay will be the minimum allowed by federal law.

The court granted permission for Mrs. Zirah L. Bednar, county tax assessor-collector, to apply for a Manpower Program trainee, to be paid by the federal government.

A local computer expert advised county officials last week that he did not believe a dehumidifier was needed for the computer to be leased from NCR, Judge Tune said.

The induction took place during the recent annual banquet of the organization. Over 500 persons were in attendance at the meeting, held in Montreal, Canada.

The college is a national association, the aim of which is to improve the standards of trial practice, the administration of justice and the ethics of the trial branch of the profession.

Membership, considered a post of honor, is by invitation of the board of regents.

Probation Could Be Revoked

A crying, 22-year-old Howard County woman testified in 118th District Court late this morning about being raped and committing oral sodomy because of fear for her life early in the morning of Aug. 28.

Jose Antonio Saracho, 28, 503½ NW 4th St., faces revocation of probation granted in June, 1972, for robbery.

An Oklahoma truck driver, who was the victim of another robbery in Odessa on Nov. 16, 1974, is to testify this afternoon, District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III said.

The married woman sat down by her husband after testifying. The courtroom was empty except for a reporter and officials.

Saracho was arrested Sept. 3 after he appeared at the police station in response to an unrelated hit-and-run accident.

The victim of the rape and sodomy had been waiting for a bus at the Continental Trailways Bus Station, 311 E. 3rd St., the night she was approached, police said earlier.

Two Firms Are Hit By Thugs

A burglary of Carroll Auto Parts and Hall Air Cooled Engines was discovered Sunday afternoon.

The two stores, which are located next door to each other, were broken into, with some $1,019.25 worth of items reported missing from the auto parts store. One cart was stolen at Hall Air Cooled Engines. Police were investigating the break-in this morning.

Art Work Will Be Repaired

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — The director of the Rijksmuseum says the damage that an apparently deranged man did to Rembrandt's "The Night Watch" can be repaired, but the restoration will take four months or longer.

"The canvas is badly damaged," said Dr. P. J. Van Thiel after a burly, 38-year-old man repeatedly slashed the priceless 17th century canvas, one of the most famous paintings in the world.

Officials said Wilhelmus de Rijk, a former teacher from a village 30 miles west of Amsterdam, entered the museum shortly after it opened Sunday afternoon, went directly to the spacious chamber where the "The Night Watch" hangs and began slashing at the lower center section of the huge painting with a serrated bread knife.

A guard grabbed his arm, but Rijk fought him off and moved across the painting to the right, slashing a center section about seven feet wide more than a dozen times. Knife marks were more than two feet long, and a piece of canvas about 12 inches by 2½ inches was ripped off.

Two bystanders and guards who rushed in from other rooms helped to overpower the man. According to a guard, Rijk said he had been sent by the Lord to attack the painting.

"I was ordered to do it," he was quoted as saying. "I had to do it."

Police said he had a history of mental illness and had taken the knife from an Amsterdam restaurant where he had lunch.

He was held on a charge of wilful destruction.

It was the second knife attack in this century on the painting. A jobless shoemaker protesting his inability to find work slashed the painting before World War I.

Year Wettest Since 1945

Moisture for the 24-hour periods ending at 8 a.m. Sunday and Monday measured .23 and .03 respectively, at the U.S Experiment Station, making this year the wettest since 1945 and the tenth wettest in 75 years with more than three months remaining in the year.

The totals brought the year's total rainfall up to 24.95 inches, just behind the 25.25 inches measured in 1926, the ninth wettest year since rainfall records were first kept here in 1900.

New Level Of Service For Mail Is Promised

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service says that starting next month it will give at least as good service for a 10-cent stamp as it now does for a 13-cent airmail stamp.

Under the program that takes effect Oct. 11, first-class mail will receive service "equal to or better than airmail," the Postal Service said Sunday.

"For the mailing public, the practical effect of the firstclass improvement program is that domestic first-class postage will purchase the level of service that previously only airmail could buy," a Postal Service announcement said.

A Postal Service spokesman said much of the first-class mail destined for distant addresses now is transported by air. After Oct. 11, the Postal Service will guarantee that it will go by air, he said.

This means that there no longer will be an advantage in paying the extra three cents for an airmail stamp.

The Postal Service has discussed upgrading first-class mail since February but postponed the change until after new postal rates were decided upon.

The Postal Service on Sunday obtained the legal authority to begin the process of increasing postal rates. The Postal Service is expected to do so this week, resulting in an increase in the first-class rate from 10 to 13 cents after Christmas.

"Due to the extensive use of air transportation, adjustments in collection services and the use of letter sorting machines, the Postal Service has the capability of providing service to first-class mail which, on a national basis, will regularly equal or exceed airmail service performance," the announcement said.

The Postal Service says that under the new program it will be able to program more than 90 per cent of all first-class mail for either next-day or second-day delivery. At present, that schedule applies only to airmail.

The service improvement program applies to domestic first-class mail weighing 13 ounces or less. A separate air parcel service, known as priority mail, and international airmail will remain unchanged.

After Sept. 22, airmail stamps, stamped cards and envelopes can be exchanged at full postage value for ordinary stamps, stamped cards and envelopes.

New Oil Price Plan Draws Industry Fire

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — The Australian government is introducing a sliding scale of oil prices to encourage more domestic exploration, but some major companies say it is unfairly distributed and inadequate.

Prime Minister Gough Whitlam announced the new system Sunday night after months of warnings from the oil industry that unless the government let prices rise, the industry would no longer be able to supply 70 per cent of Australia's needs from domestic production. Australia last year imported 96 million barrels of oil at a cost of $958 million.

The new pricing arrangement permits the price on oil from newly discovered fields to rise to the price paid for imported oil. Based on current import prices, the oil companies will be able to charge $9.17 per barrel on production from new fields, compared to the present price of $2.79. The government imposes an excise tax of $2.66 per barrel on top of the producer's charge.

However, the maximum that can be charged for production from an existing field is $6.98, on one field only, and then not until 1977. The price will rise to only $3.09 a barrel at the big Bass Strait Field, the country's biggest producer, which is run by Esso and Australia's BHP corporation.

"The increase . . . is a long way short of picking up the effects of inflation," said a BHP spokesman. An Esso spokesman added, "Inflation since the old prices were decided in 1968 has been about 80 per cent. The new prices give us a rise of only 11 per cent — and they are for three years to come."

The government will review the oil prices next in 1978.

The price hikes are expected to increase gasoline prices 1.3 cents, to about 80 cents per gallon.

Q.1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠J95 ♥Q87 ♦82 ♣A7632
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Dble.	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Bid three spades. This is a clear-cut action. Thus far, you have not promised any values. Since partner has shown a strong hand with at least a five-card spade suit by first doubling and then bidding his own suit, you must indicate that you would not be averse to playing in game.

Q.2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠1093 ♥A954 ♦AJ102 ♣AJ
Your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with one no trump. What action do you take?

A.—Pass. A double of a no trump opening bid is essentially for penalties and not for takeout, and shows a hand of 16-18 points. Therefore, you must pass and await developments.

Q.3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ73 ♥AJ96 ♦AJ65 ♣6
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
Pass	1 ♦	?

What action do you take?

A.—It is our experience that a pass will work out best in the long run. A double would be in order if you could be sure that your partner would respond in a major suit. Unfortunately, he is more likely to bid clubs, and a bid by you then would show a far better hand than you hold.

Q.4—East-West, vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J109 ♥83 ♦Q32 ♣AJ754
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
3 ♦	Pass	Pass	Dble.
Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. We realize that partner's double was primarily for takeout, and so we don't fault you if you elected to bid four clubs. However, your chances of making a game contract are slim, while your hand should produce at least two tricks in defense. Since partner should have reasonable values to double at the three-level, you might stand to collect a substantial penalty.

Q.5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AKQ32 ♥AJ ♦AQJ ♣KQJ
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
2 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. The jump raise of an opening forcing two-bid to game is a highly specialized bid. It shows good trump support, but denies any ace, king, void or singleton. If partner has his bid, you have a certain club loser and, at best, will need successful finesses in both red suits to make a slam.

Q.6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AK972 ♥AJ ♦KQ7 ♣AQ6
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
2 NT	Pass	4 NT	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Five spades. No, we are not responding to the Blackwood Convention—partner's bid was not ace-asking, but simply requested us to bid a slam if our holding was maximum. We have 23 points and a five-card suit, so we intend accepting. However, it costs nothing to show the spade suit enroute to six no trump in case partner prefers to play a suit contract.

Q.7—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q10762 ♥82 ♦K76 ♣853
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ♣	Dble.	1 ♠	Dble.
Pass	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
Pass	2 ♥	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. While it is quite possible that East was playing games when he bid one spade over partner's takeout double, there is no reason for you to bid your hand twice. Partner knows about your spade suit from your penalty double of one spade, but in spite of that he thinks hearts is your best spot. Believe him.

Q.8—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K92 ♥K87 ♦AJ103 ♣AJ3
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	2 ♥	2 ♠	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. Partner's bid is not forcing, and your hand is dead minimum. Indeed, your king of hearts probably is no longer an asset. Had partner aspired to game, he would either have jumped in spades or cue-bid the enemy suit.

PROCLAMATION SIGNED — Harriet Gerardo of the National Foundation for Sudden Infant Death, New Mexico chapter, and Gov. Jerry Apodaca check proclamation in Albuquerque signed by the governor proclaiming Sept. 21-28 a week of education on the so-called crib death syndrome.

Group Formed To Help Parents Bear Grief

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — When a baby dies of "crib death," Harriet Gerardo or someone like her goes to the child's parents to tell them, "It wasn't predictable, and it wasn't in any way preventable."

Mrs. Gerardo, herself a parent of a child lost to crib death, or Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS), usually finds the mother, father or babysitter shouldering the blame for the baby's death.

"You stress that this is a medical problem and not an accidental death," she said. "There's nothing they could have done."

SIDS is the No. 1 cause of death in infants after the first week of life, and 8,000-10,000 babies die of SIDS every year in the United States, said the National Foundation for Sudden Infant Death. This is two or three per 1,000 live births.

After Mrs. Gerardo, a nurse, and husband Jim, a physicist, lost 4-month-old Ryan to SIDS, a pediatrition asked Mrs. Gerardo to consider organizing a group to help other SIDS victim families.

"It took about eight months after Ryan died to decide I really wanted to do it," she said.

She and others in the 20member New Mexico Chapter of the National Foundation of Sudden Infant Death now visit SIDS families in Albuquerque as soon as they learn of a death through the state medical examiner.

A SIDS counselor usually makes contact with the family "in no more than 48 hours after the baby dies," she said. There have been cases in which a counselor was at the home the same day of the baby's death to help make funeral arrangements.

The SIDS counselor is rarely turned away.

The counselor meets in the family's home with the parents, brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles, grandparents and neighbors of a SIDS victim.

"We talk to anyone surrounding the family," she said. "These are people they are turning to for support."

If the family asks Mrs. Gerardo about her experience with SIDS, "I tell them," she said. "But right now, they've got enough of their own problems."

She does, however, tell them they can't play the game of "Ifs...If I had taken him to the doctor he might not have died...If I had not left him with a babysitter...

"All these things should be explored and put to rest," she said.

Mrs. Gerardo or another SIDS counselor also tries to help the family understand the normal feelings they will have after the funeral.

"Nobody ever told me that six months after my baby died that I would crack up in the grocery store at the baby food counter," she said.

Parents of babies who die of SIDS usually have one of two attitudes toward future children, she said. "Either you get the family who says, 'we must have a baby right away,' or you have the family who says, 'We'll never have another sleeping baby in this house.'"

The SIDS counselor encourages the family to call if they decide to have another baby. The SIDS Foundation provides counseling and literature on "the subsequent child" to help answer the question, "How will we feel about this next child?"

4 Games Rate Flip Of Coin

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference has built a 7-2 edge against non-conference football opponents but there are at least four games this weekend where you can flip a coin it's so close and sadly there's an apparent "gimmie" for the enemy at Fort Worth.

The Arkansas at Oklahoma State, Auburn at Baylor, Vanderbilt at Rice, and Texas A&M at Louisiana State battles should test the mettle of four unbeaten SWC clubs.

Rugged Arizona State travels to Fort Worth to play Texas Christian and will be heavy favorites over the hapless Horned Frogs who were slapped 24-7 by Texas-Arlington Saturday.

Undefeated Texas is at Washington and will be heavy picks over the Huskies while unbeaten Texas Tech will be favored over visiting New Mexico.

It was shades of '74 for the preseason favorite Texas Aggies Saturday in a 7-0 victory over Mississippi. The eighth-ranked Cadets, featuring one of the premier defenses in the land, dropped Ole Miss quarterbacks for losses 14 times yet had to struggle to victory.

Quarterback David Shipman's four-yard touchdown plunge in the first period was the only score.

A disappointed Texas A&M Coach Emory Bellard said his offense was "about 40 per cent below what I thought they would be. We need to start coming off the ball, play with some enthusiasm and get our motor hummin'."

Texas didn't have any trouble with its "hman motor," fullback Earl Campbell who dashed for 103 yards in a 46-0 victory over Colorado State. Coach Sark Arslanian of the Rams said "Campbell is a super running back. He's as good a running back as we will see this year. Texas plays good smashmouth football."

Arkansas unleashed three 100-yard plus gainers in quarterback Mike Kirkland, and running backs Ike Forte and Jerry Eckwood in a 35-0 victory over the Air Force. It was believed the first time that three Arkansas runners had gained over 100 yards in the same game.

Texas Tech Coach Steve Sloan's debut was a happy one as Rufus Myers and Larry Isaac shredded Florida State in a 31-20 victory. Myers scored twice and Isaac once.

"I was real proud of our running game ... we showed a lot of character and made the big play when we had to," said Sloan.

Rice stung favored Houston 24-7 after Owl Coach Al Conover had his quarterbacks cut cards to see who would start the game.

"We are a vastly improved team but this is just one of 11 battles," said Conover.

Houston Coach Bill Yeoman said "Rice certainly wanted it ... If you win, you usually deserve it."

COLLEGE ROUNDUP

Upsets Spread Around

By The Associated Press

Part of the problem in trying to recruit football talent to Wake Forest University is that it's located in Winston-Salem, N.C., and most flights require a change of planes somewhere along the way.

"We've never recruited a player who had to change planes to get here," Coach Chuck Mills observed following last year's dismal 1-10 record.

But a few more victories like Saturday's 30-22 upset of 15th-ranked North Carolina State and the airlines may schedule a few more direct flights. Jerry McManus ran 11 yards for one touchdown and passed eight and 29 yards to Bill Millner for two more scores as the Demon Deacons posted the biggest surprise in an early-season rash of upsets.

The first full-scale weekend of the season also included Memphis State's 31-20 shocker of seventh-ranked Auburn, South Carolina's 23-17 triumph over a Georgia Tech club that was rated the South's best independent, Tulane's 17-13 victory over Clemson in the losers' "Death Valley" backyard, Northwestern's 31-25 upset of Purdue, Rice's 24-7 decision over Houston and Texas-Arlington's 24-7 surprise of Texas Christian.

Most of the top teams came through unscathed. Oklahoma's defending national champions, No. 1 again in The Associated Press ratings, swamped Oregon 62-7, runner-up Michigan throttled Wisconsin 23-7, third-ranked Ohio State stifled No. 11 Michigan State 21-0 and No. 4 Southern California rolled over Duke 35-7.

Missouri, rated fifth following last week's 20-7 battering of then second-ranked Alabama, was idle while No. 6 Nebraska edged Louisiana State 10-7, No. 8 Texas A&M shaded Mississippi 7-0 and No. 10 Penn State trimmed Stanford 34-14. Ninth-ranked Notre Dame meets Boston College tonight at Foxboro, Mass., in a nationally televised contest (ABC-TV, 9 p.m., EDT).

In the Second Ten, No. 12 Texas walloped Colorado State 46-0, No. 20 Tennessee downed No. 14 Maryland 26-8, No. 16 UCLA crushed Iowa State 37-21 and No. 19 Florida mauled Southern Methodist 40-14. Alabama, Arizona and Pitt, ranked 13th, 17th and 18th, respectively, were not scheduled.

Wake Forest and N.C. State were tied 14-all at halftime but McManus' first touchdown pass to Millner put the Deacons on top for good in the third period. In the fourth quarter, Bob Hely kicked a 32-yard field goal and McManus again hit Millner for a score.

BURROUGHS SCORES — Texas Ranger right fielder, Jeff Burroughs, crosses home plate to tie the game with the Chicago White Sox for the second time. The action occurred as Texas Ranger Tom Grieve, singled to center field in the 13th inning of play. Chicago White Sox catcher, Bryan Downing, waits for the late throw at Arlington Stadium, Sunday night. The Texas Rangers went on to win the contest 9-8 in 13 innings.

RANGERS VICTORIOUS

Pressure Still On Boston

By The Associated Press

Are the Boston Red Sox lacking confidence or just playing a confidence game?

The Red Sox have a four-game lead over the Baltimore Orioles in the American League East but don't sound like they think they're the team to beat.

"I expect Baltimore to win every game they play. If they get beat, it's a bonus for us," said Boston Manager Darrell Johnson, whose Red Sox rallied from a 5-1 deficit to beat the Milwaukee Brewers 8-6 Sunday.

Does that mean the Red Sox expect to lose their important two-game series against the Orioles beginning Tuesday night? Or are they merely luring Baltimore into a trap at Fenway Park?

And on the other side of the field are the pursuing Orioles, who sound like they're in the driver's seat as they ready for their collision in Boston.

"We just have to go in there and play like we've been playing," said Don Baylor, who knocked in three runs in the Orioles' 9-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers. "The pressure is not on us. If we had a four-game lead it would be wrapped up right now."

Elsewhere in the AL, the New York Yankees slapped the Cleveland Indians 6-2; the Minnesota Twins outslugged the Oakland A's 10-8; the Kansas City Royals pounded the California Angels 0-4, and the Texas Rangers nipped the Chicago White Sox 9-8 in 13 innings.

Veteran Carl Yastrzemski, the team captain, led by example for Boston with a two-run tie-breaking single in a three-run seventh inning.

Rangers 9, White Sox 8

Roy Howell's tie-breaking single capped a three-run comeback in the bottom of the 13th and gave Texas the victory over the White Sox.

Deron Johnson's two-run single put Chicago on top 8-6 in the top of the 13th, but in the bottom of the inning, Toby Harrah singled, Jeff Burroughs doubled for one run, then Tom Grieve singled to tie it. Grieve took second on the throw home and scored on Howell's single to center.

Royals 10, Angels 4

Harmon Killebrew and Frank White slugged home runs in Kansas City's victory. Killebrew's two-run blast, his 13th of the season and 572nd of his career, capped a four-run first inning. White hit an inside-the-park homer an inning later.

Twins 10, A's 8

Danny Thompson's three-run homer capped a six-run outburst that carried Minnesota past Oakland. The Twins outhit the A's 15-12.

JACK NICKLAUS

'Year Of My Best Golf'

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — A very satisfied Jack Nicklaus considered the question carefully. "This is the year of my best golf," said the man who, at age 35, has achieved a record unmatched in this ancient game's history.

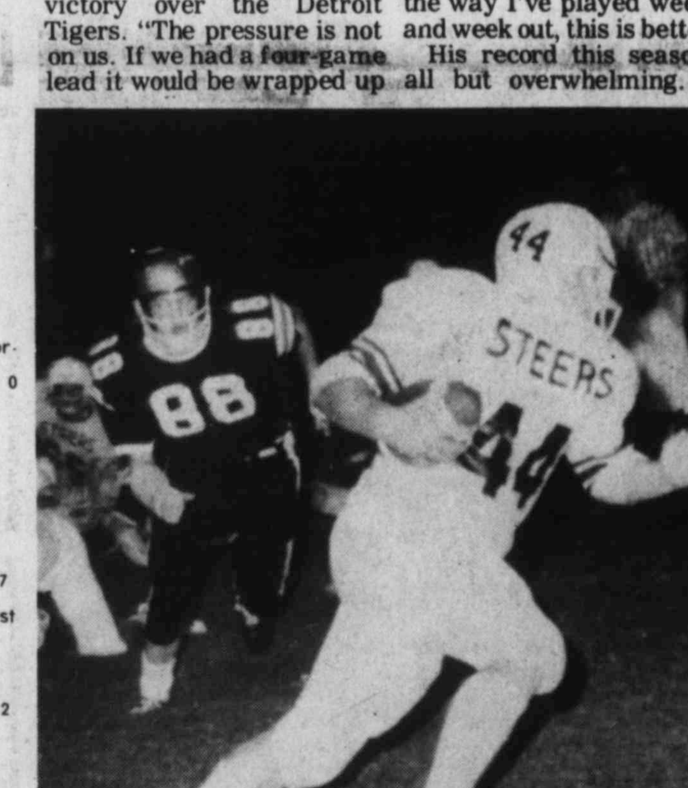

"This would have to rank with '72 among my best years," he said. "I won more tournaments in '72 (a total of seven), but from a standpoint of consistency, from the way I've played week in and week out, this is better."

His record this season is all but overwhelming. His Sunday playoff victory over Billy Casper for the World Open title gave him five wins — including the Masters and PGA — for the season that isn't yet complete. No one else has won more than three.

The $40,000 first prize pushed his money winnings for the year to $291,000 — a figure that has been surpassed only twice — and all but clinched a record seventh money-winning title.

His winning score of 280, four under par on the 7,007 yards of piny woods and sand hills that make up the No. 2 course at the Pinehurst Country Club, left Nicklaus with a leading stroke average of 69.9 for the year.

GROUNDS UP YARDAGE — Playing probably his best game ever in a Big Spring High uniform, fullback Jesse Doss, (44), breaks away from Hobbs' Kelly Wieser. Doss chalked up 105 yards on the ground and scored two of his team's four touchdowns. The Steers shocked the Eagles last Friday night at Hobbs by scoring a 27-8 upset victory.

VATAHA SPEAKS

Calls On Other Clubs To Strike

By The Associated Press

Sympathy abounds among National Football League players for the New England Patriots' lonely strike stance. Whether it can be turned into real support in the next 48 hours will likely determine the outcome of the players' latest rebellion.

The Patriots, in a show of solidarity, voted to strike and forced the cancellation of their Sunday exhibition against the New York Jets in the belief that others would follow their demand that NFL owners and the players' union reach agreement on a new labor contract.

The followers did not materialize over the weekend and now the Patriots face a lockout by management if they attempt to resume practice Tuesday for this weekend's NFL opener against Houston.

Team after team announced Sunday they supported the Patriots. The St. Louis Cardinals even voted 30-16 to strike, but decided that vote was not strong enough and went ahead with their exhibition game against Denver.

"We do not enjoy this task which we have taken upon ourselves," said Randy Vataha, player representative for the Patriots, who voted 39-2 to strike. Vataha, holding a news conference in a restaurant parking lot in Foxboro, Mass., Sunday, called on the other 25 NFL clubs to join the Patriots on the strike line.

But with one week remaining before the NFL season opens — when the players begin drawing regular checks — there were no immediate takers. Player representatives for four teams — Buffalo, Denver, Cincinnati and Dallas — said their teams would not vote to strike, and others said they had no immediate intentions of taking strike votes.

Hovering over the Patriots and any other team which strikes is this management statement: any team which strikes will not be paid and may not practice or play a game until a contract is signed or until the players union delivers a no-strike pledge.

Hobbs Film Scheduled At QB Club

The third meeting of the season for the Big Spring Quarterback Club will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m., at the high school cafeteria.

Steer Head Coach Bob Burris and his staff will show a film of 27-8 victory over Hobbs last Friday plus a scouting report on Snyder, next opponent here Friday night at 8 at Memorial Stadium.

Undefeated Big Spring has scored 41 points while yielding only 14 in two games.

Snyder, 0-2, lost 7-3 to Midland Lee last Friday.

Pirates Stay 5½ In Front

By The Associated Press

Mike Vail is a streak hitter ... and the streaks never seem to stop.

New York's rookie sensation, leading the International League in batting, was plucked from the Mets' Tidewater farm club about a month ago, interrupting his 19-game hitting streak.

The move was designed to help the Mets in their charge toward the top of the National League East, a charge that never materialized.

But while the Mets have slowed down, Vail has picked up even more speed. He's hit in 23 of his 25 games in the majors, including the last 22 in a row to match the longest streak in the big league's this year by Boston's Denny Doyle.

In Sunday's other NL games, Pittsburgh remained 5½ games ahead of Philadelphia. The Pirates beat Montreal 4-3, the Phils routed Chicago 13-7, San Francisco split with Cincinnati, winning 4-2 and losing 8-3, Houston topped San Diego 4-2 and Los Angeles downed Atlanta 4-3.

"I was pretty happy about that," Vail said of his fourth-inning single. "I think my hitting's been seeing the ball better in major league parks.

Phillies 13, Cubs 7

Mike Schmidt, the major league home-run leader, belted his 35th and 36th of the year to pace the Phils. Schmidt drove in four runs and Dick Allen had three RBI on a homer and a single.

Giants 4-2, Reds 2-8

Successive seventh-inning homers by Dave Rader and Steve Ontiveros on consecutive Gary Nolan pitches boosted the Giants to their first-game victory. Terry Crowley's three-run homer and two-run hits by Dan Driessen and Darrel Chaney brought the Reds back in the nightcap.

Astros 4, Padres 2

Enos Cabell's two RBI and the combined nine-hit pitching of J.R. Richard and Joe Niekro carried Houston past the Padres. John Grubb had a two-run double for San Diego.

Dodgers 3 Braves 2

Ron Cey's 24th homer, a tworun shot in the sixth inning lifted Los Angeles past the Braves and gave Doug Rau his fifth straight victory.

Lake Levels Up Slightly

Lake Thomas has gained 1.2 feet from the weekend rains, according to Owen Ivie, manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

This amount of rain turns into 3,600 acre-feet increase in the lake, which is more than Moss Creek holds when full.

Lake Spence had received .2 of a foot by Sunday morning, with another .2 anticipated. This is 2,400 acre-feet increase in that lake.

Rebs May Hold Four Americans

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Eritrean rebels are believed holding a total of four Americans following a weekend raid on a U.S. base in northern Ethiopia.

Two of the Americans were taken Saturday along with six Ethiopians when raiders attacked the Kagnew communications facility near Asmara, the capital of Eritrea province. The Pentagon said the Americans were Navy Electronic Tech. 3.C. Thomas C. Bowidowicz of Jersey City, N.J., and Army Spec. 5 David Strickland of Orlando, Fla.

Two other Americans, Steve Campbell of San Leandro, Calif., and Jim Harrell of Milwaukee. Wis., were kidnaped from Kagnew in July. Both were civilian technicians and were reported seen by a Syrian photographer last month in the hands of secessionist rebels.

The Ethiopian government said nine "civilians" were killed and 23 were injured in the raid Saturday. The information ministry statement did not elaborate but informed sources said the term civilians could be taken to include rebels.

The United States is pulling out of the Kagnew base, which was built in the 1950s at a cost of more than $60 million and was once manned by 4,500 Americans. Most of the facilities have been turned over to the Ethiopian government and earlier this year only 29 Americans were reported still there.

The base has been used to track spacecraft, monitor broadcasts throughout Africa and the Middle East, and relay messages as part of the Washington-Moscow hotline.

Brig. Gen. Teferi Bante, chairman of the provisional military government in Addis Ababa, told newsmen that security forces were trying to locate the missing men. He said the situation required "utmost caution" and that U.S. officials were being kept informed.

Public Reaction Good In Times Of Trouble

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Buildings topple. Looters ransack houses. Crowds stampede in panic. It sounds like a new movie but it's really the basis of a new graduate program at the University of Southern California

The USC Institute of Disaster Preparedness begins this semester what it calls a first-of-its-kind program to train city officials to deal with emergencies in their communities. Effective coordination of police and fire departments, public utilities, hospitals and city administrators is required, says program director Robert Stallings.

Students have to unlearn many myths about disasters, Stallings says. There isn't as much panic, looting or breakdown in law and order as commonly believed.

"Studies haven't turned up mass panic," Stallings said. "It just doesn't exist. A breakdown of law and order just doesn't occur. There's more fear of looting in disasters than actual looting."

Stallings said many people are not too ruffled by the danger of disasters, particularly in areas subject to recurring disasters like floods, earthquakes, hurricanes and tornadoes.

"Hurricanes are so common in the gulf states that it's almost a festive occasion. People stay inside and have hurricane parties," he said. "During Hurricane Camille, 37 people were killed in Biloxi, Miss., while sitting around drinking at a hurricane party at a beach motel."

"And there are all kinds of jokes and predictions about what is going to happen when a big earthquake hits California, but nobody's running away."

The situation gets bad if a city is used to a disaster of a certain degree and is hit with an usually big emergency.

Stallings told of a 1965 New Orleans hurricane that caused flooding from nearby Lake Ponchartrain.

"People were ready for a regular hurricane," Stallings said. "They figured they'd keep their heads down until it blew over. But the city was almost paralyzed by the flooding. They just weren't geared up for the flood danger."

USC also has an eight-day intensive program for full-time public officials, and Stallings said he hopes to take that program "on the road" to Washington, D.C., next summer and offer it to people in federal agencies.

Stallings said his study of disasters has made him a little more nervous than most people. He recently lived in the Midwest and says, "My wife and kids thought I was a nut. Whenever there was a threat of tornadoes, I'd be prancing around looking for flashlights and supplies to take to the basement."

Fat And Sassy Gators Are Posing Problems

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — "They tell us we can't touch our alligators even though in some areas they are so thick they are eating each other," said John Crain of Cameron Parish.

Crain, bitter about a federal government decision that could prevent a gator hunt this year, complained that muskrat, nutria and other fur bearing animals are being wiped out in some areas.

An estimated 250,000 hungry alligators roam the swamps and bayous along the state's mushy coastline. Most of them are in Cameron, Vermilion and Calcasieu parishes.

They've grown fat and sassy under the Endangered Species Act passed by Congress in 1973. And after lengthy talks with state officials, the U.S. Wild Life Service agreed to remove them from the endangered list.

But the service announced Friday that last-minute protests by the Audubon Society will delay for at least nine days publication of new rules changing the gators' protective status.

That could ruin Louisiana's plan to conduct a limited killoff in the three parishes starting Sept. 20, said Jerry Jones of the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission.

"The only objections are the same ones the Audubon Society has given for the past three years," said Jones. "There's nothing new but they (federal officials) still say they need more time."

Wildlife officials fear that if the hunt is postponed the gators will bed down in the mud and hibernate for the winter, making it almost impossible to find them.

Dear Abby

Raunchy Romeo Husband Crushes Relationship

DEAR ABBY: I should be so lucky as the woman who for 30 years has been sleeping back to back with her husband like a pair of fireplace logs.

We've been married for 32 years, and my 220-pound Romeo holds me in his arms every night until my ribs ache. One night with him and I feel like I've been run over by a semi.

He smokes cigars and loves salami, pickles and garlic, so you know what his breath is like. I've smelled better cesspools.

His toenails are 2 in. long and sharp as razor blades, and he wraps his legs around mine like he's climbing a rope.

He sleeps in his shorts, and his chest is covered with bristly hair. It's like sleeping with a raccoon all summer. On top of this, he thinks he's the world's greatest lover, which he isn't.

Please help me. I'm about to cave in.

WATERLOO WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I assume you're on speaking terms with your Romeo, so start talking. Insist that he wear pajama tops, trim his toenails, use a mouthwash and loosen his grip. But don't tell him he's not the world's greatest lover because he'll wonder how you found out.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 31-year-old, single career woman. I live alone and recently decided to take up jogging to keep myself physically fit.

The first time I went out jogging, I was stopped by a cop. He said he had noticed me running for two blocks and wanted to know what the trouble was. I told him there wasn't any trouble and that I was just jogging.

I have tried to find others who would jog with me, but no luck. The people I know are just too lazy.

So, Dear Abby, where can a person jog in peace, without appearing that she had just robbed somebody and is making a getaway?

WANTS TO JOG

DEAR WANTS: First, get yourself a sweatshirt and have printed on the back, "JUST JOGGING!" Then, drive your car to a park or playground where other joggers jog and join them.

DEAR ABBY: I have received some expensive gifts (jewelry) from a gentleman with whom I have been keeping steady company for quite some time.

Shouldn't he pay for insuring these gifts? He surely must know that I don't have that kind of money, but so far he hasn't mentioned it.

GIFTED

DEAR GIFTED: So YOU mention it.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20 cents) envelope.

Higher Oil Prices May Be Used As Boomerang

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is growing sentiment among congressional Democrats to end oil-price controls just long enough to give Americans a taste of higher fuel prices.

Then, the Democrats' theory goes, consumers would set up a clamor, controls would be restored despite President Ford's objections, and Ford would have suffered a stinging defeat.

It is doubtful the battle between Ford and Congress over energy policy will end that way, but chances for such a turn will be improved this week unless House and Senate Democrats resolve their differences over terms of a brief extension of controls.

Both houses of Congress will devote virtually all their efforts this week to energy legislation. Because of the Yom Kippur holiday, the House planned no action today or Tuesday. The Senate scheduled a meeting for today but schduled no votes.

The House has cleared its calendar for the last three days of the week to resume work on a broad energy-conservation bill that also includes new oil-pricing provisions objected to by the White House.

Leaders of both houses will be involved in behind-the-scene negotiations trying to work out an extension of 60 days or so in the oil-price controls that expired Aug. 31.

Ford wants to end price controls in the hope that higher prices for gasoline and other fuels will force conservation, give the oil industry more money to find more energy and reduce U.S. reliance on foreign oil.

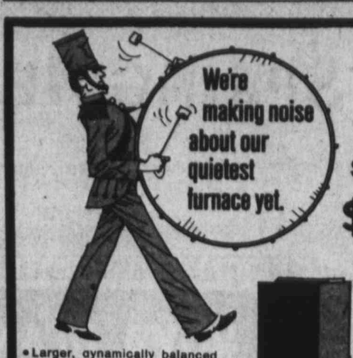

His Democratic opponents fear the effects higher fuel prices would have on unemployment and recession. They say the Ford plan would raise gasoline prices by 10 to 12 cents a gallon, compared with the White House estimate of 3 cents.

The President vetoed the Democratic plan to extend controls for six months to allow Congress time to develop its own energy plan. The House then passed a 60-day extension of the controls law.

But a snag developed when Senate Democrats insisted on limiting Ford's authority to send Congress a "take-it-or-leave it" plan for phasing out price controls during the extension period. Such a plan would become law unless rejected by the House or Senate within five days.

Senate Republicans objected strenuously to that restriction. And Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House energy and power subcommittee, said the Senate move was inviting a veto.

"Let him (Ford) veto it," one top Senate aide told a reporter. "He originally wanted an immediate end to price controls and by his veto of the six-month extension.

Centenarian Not Truthful

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)— Silas Bettis says giving up alcohol and tobacco helped him live to 105.

His daughter Katie Roberson says he's not telling all the truth, adding, "He didn't give up smoking until he was 95 years old, and he still chews tobacco."

Bettis was celebrating his 105th birthday today.

"I'm going to say a few prayers first, to thank the Lord," he said in an interview on the eve of his birthday. "Then I'll have a little dinner and some pound cake."

Pound cake, he said, is his favorite.

His sight and hearing are still sharp, and so is his memory.

Born at Terrell, Tex., in 1870, he moved to Shreveport about 1880 and remembers the steamboats that used to ply the Red River.

He was a field worker in his youth, earning 75 cents a day hoeing cotton. His major complaint about today's world is the decreasing value of money.

Tropical Storm Moving To West

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The National Weather Service issued this advisory bulletin on a tropical depression in the Atlantic today:

Depression moving into Virgin Islands; will pass Puerto Rico today.

The tropical depression was close to the Virgin Islands this morning and is expected to pass near Puerto Rico — slightly to the north — during the day.

At 6 a.m. AST, the broad center of the depression was near latitude 18.5 north longitude 63.5 west, or about 80 miles east of St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, moving on a course slightly north of due west at 14 miles per hour. it is a little better organized and conditions are favorable for gradual strenthening.

Heavy rains and thundershowers over the Leeward Islands are spreading into the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico. Flash floods are likely. Heavy thundershowers moving into the Puerto Rico-Virgin Islands area will produce locally gusty winds of 35 to 45 m.p.h.

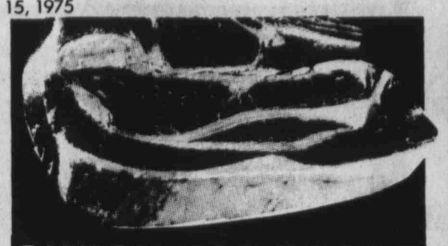

People in the Leeward and Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico should continue precautions today and tonight against the danger of flash floods and strong gusty winds. Small craft should remain in port.

Reconnaissance aircraft are investigating the depression
