Coolidge May Poll Greatest Majority in History

LATE RETURNS ROLL GREATER TOTAL FOR GOP

President Is Assured Of 100 Electoral Votes To Spare

DAVIS UNCHANGED

LaFollette Makes Small Gain In Two Western States

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The full measure of the republican victory at the polls could not yet be taken tonight but the returns continued to show that President Coolidge would have at least a hundred votes to spare in the electoral college, and the largest popular plurality in history.

The showing made by John W. Davis, remained unchanged throughout today and although Senator LaFollette began to creep up a little in one or two western states, there was no certainty tonight that he would receive the electoral vote of any state except that of Wisconsin.

Have Paper Majority

On the face of today's congressional returns the republicans made certain of a paper majority, at least, in both senate and house, but doubt remained whether the margin would be great enough to give the administration the whip hand over the combined opposition of the democrats and the LaFollette bloc.

As the presidential figures stood tonight with only a handful of electoral votes still in doubt the indicated strength of the three candidates in the electoral college was as follows:

Election News

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 5.—Virginia again will be represented in congress by an entire democratic delegation, according to unofficial returns tabulated here tonight.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—Returns from yesterday's general election continued tonight to drift in slowly. Five hundred and eighty six precincts out of the state's 1,310 tabulated in the presidential race gave Davis 52,846; Coolidge 16,529; LaFollette 3,458.

FARGO, N. D., Nov. 5.—Arthur G. Sorlie, of Grand Forks, a non-partisan leaguer was chosen governor of North Dakota, in yesterday's election, returns available tonight showed.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 5.—The re-election of Governor George W. P. Hunt, democratic candidate by a majority "that is expected to exceed 1,000" was claimed tonight by the Arizona Gazette, which supported his candidacy.

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 5.—That Arthur T. Hannett had been elected governor by approximately 4,000 plurality and the rest of the democratic state ticket, including Sam G. Bratton for United States senator and John Morrow for congressman had gone over by from 5,000 to 6,000, was the claim made by Democratic State Chairman E. B. Swope on the basis of incomplete returns from all of the 31 counties.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 5.—Governor G. W. P. Hunt, democrat, was leading Swight B. Heard, republican in the gubernatorial race when 330 precincts out of 484 in the state had reported tonight giving Heard 32,408 and Hunt 32,549.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5. — The republicans gained their second congressional victory over a democrat incumbent late today when J. Earl Major, democrat, incumbent, from the twenty-first district conceded the election of Loren E. Wheeler, republican, by about 600 votes.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 5.—With a tabulation of 3,587 of the state's 4,069 precincts, President Coolidge was leading John W. Davis by 69,975. The vote: Coolidge 568,255; Davis 498,280; LaFollette 62,481.

With only 415 precincts missing, Sam A. Baker, republican candidate for governor, had a plurality of 12,274 votes over his democratic opponent, Dr. Arthur W. Nelson. The count: Baker 575,715; Nelson 563,441.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 5.—Victory for President Coolidge in South Dakota was conceded tonight by Alan Bogue of Parker, state manager of the LaFollette campaign. Mr. Bogue had refused all day to admit the Wisconsin senator's defeat until late returns from rural districts showed him definitely out of the running. He told the Associated Press that Coolidge's victory was apparent with the president leading by 25,000 and more than three-fourths of the state reported.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 5.—Straggling returns tonight maintained the lead established early in the tabulation by John W. Davis in Oklahoma. With 2,256 precincts reported out of 3,184 in the state the count stood: Davis 181,913; Coolidge 159,251; LaFollette 22,122.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 5. — Governor Charles R. Mabey tonight conceded the election of George H. Dern, his democratic opponent, with the returns of Salt Lake and three other counties still untabulated.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—Calvin Coolidge's plurality in California had risen tonight to 253,721 votes over Senator LaFollette when 6,153 precincts of the state's total of 7,463 had been tabulated by the Associated Press. The vote stood: Coolidge 606,065; LaFollette 353,344; Davis 88,622.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 5.—Colorado's congressmen apparently on the face of returns at 7 o'clock tonight, were assured of returning to Washington.

Representative William N. Valle, republican of the first district, with but 11 precincts missing had a total of 43,750 compared to 33,299 for James Edgeworth, his democratic opponent.

It became apparent that President Coolidge would carry the state by a vote nearly double the combined strength of his two opponents.

Senator Lawrence C. Phipps, republican, is leading Senator Alva B. Adams, democrat, in the race for the long term in the United States senate, with a vote of 110,580 to 101,681, according to tabulations from 1,094 precincts.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 5.—With only about half of the state's returns of yesterday's general election counted tonight the popular vote for president, according to tabulations of the Salt Lake Tribune stands: Coolidge 45,000; Davis 30,000; LaFollette 13,500.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 5.—Tabulation tonight of scattering returns from 75 Arkansas counties, accounting for approximately 82,000 votes, gave John W. Davis 53,124; Coolidge 13,864; LaFollette 4,994.

Arkansas voters also elected the democratic congressional candidates by majorities ranging from two to four to one.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 5.—With returns from approximately half of the state's 1,833 precincts, President Coolidge and Senator Thomas J. Walsh, democrat, appeared assured of substantial majorities in Tuesday's balloting. J. E. Erickson, democrat, was piling up an overwhelming lead over Joseph M. Dixon, republican incumbent, in the gubernatorial race.

The returns from 767 complete and 12 incomplete precincts in 53 of the 56 counties give Coolidge 50,633; LaFollette 45,374; Davis 24,470; Walsh 59,114; Linderman, republican, 45,940; Erickson 58,539; Dixon 45,181.

RENO, Nev., Nov. 5.—With approximately 250 votes uncounted, Nevada gave Coolidge 10,476; Davis 5,943; LaFollette 9,400.

For congress: Arentz, republican, 10,347; Richards, democrat, 12,166.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—New Mexico, one of the doubtful states, began taking a trend toward the Coolidge column in the late returns tonight. With half the state reported, President Coolidge virtually had tied his vote with Mr. Davis, having gained 7,000 in the day's counting while his democratic opponent was gaining approximately 5,000.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 5.—Eugene J. Sullivan, republican candidate for governor, tonight conceded the election to Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, his democratic opponent.

Announcement of Mr. Sullivan's action came in the form of a telegram to the widow of the late Governor William B. Ross, extending his congratulations.

BANDITS GET $3,500.

They Loot Illinois Bank of $3,500 In Daylight Robbery.

BUNKERHILL, Ills., Nov. 5.—Six heavily armed bandits held up the First National bank here this afternoon, forced the bank employes and six patrons to elevate their hands and escaped with $3,500 while groups of citizens were standing on the street near the bank.

STILL DOUBT AS TO MAKE-UP OF NEXT CONGRESS

Republicans Have Best Of Late Returns But Need More

218 G. O. P., 170 DEMO

LaFollette Insurgents Are Included In Present G.O.P. Totals

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Belated returns gave the republicans the best of it today in the upsets in both the house and senate. But it appeared that final reports from all districts would be necessary before there could be a determination whether President Coolidge could expect a real working majority in the next congress.

Returns from 390 of the 435 congressional districts gave the republicans an actual majority—218—but in this total are included nearly a score of the LaFollette insurgents.

Demos Have 170.

The democrats, meantime, had made certain of 170 seats and the farmer-labor party two.

On the basis of these returns the republicans had made a net gain of 16 over the democrats, recapturing 20 seats as against 4 now held by republicans which were moved over into the democratic column.

At adjournment last June the house lineup was: Republicans 225, democrats 207 and three scattered.

In the senatorial contests the most surprising result was in Iowa where Smith W. Brookhart, republican, who publicly repudiated his own national ticket, had conceded his defeat at the hands of Daniel F. Steck, a democratic lawyer of Ottumwa. Mr. Steck was generally credited with receiving support from many regular republicans.

The republicans, however, apparently had gained three senatorial seats on the basis of returns received early tonight. These were in Massachusetts, Kentucky and Oklahoma.

Eleven Senators.

The democrats had elected eleven senators, while seventeen republicans had been chosen or had such leads as to make their election practically certain. In the six remaining contests, all in western states where returns still were coming in slowly, the results were uncertain.

In Minnesota, Representative Thomas D. Schall, republican, had what his supporters regarded as a commanding lead over Senator Magnus Johnson, farmer-labor. Johnson still insisted, however, that missing rural precincts would return him a winner.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh, democratic prosecutor in the Teapot Dome investigation, was leading the field in Montana with a sufficient margin as to make him appear reasonably certain of re-election.

Results In Doubt.

The result in both New Mexico and Wyoming was surrounded with much of the slowness in gathering of returns. In Colorado, where two senate seats were at stake, Alva B. Adams, democrat, was leading Senator Phipps, republican, and Rice W. Means, republican, was ahead of Morrison Shafroth, democrat.

In gaining a seat in Massachusetts the republicans elected Frederick H. Gillett speaker of the house over David I. Walsh, the democratic incumbent. In Kentucky, Fred M. Sackett, republican, won over Senator A. Owsley Stanley, democrat, while in Oklahoma it appears that W. B. Pine, republican, had defeated J. C. Walton, the democratic candidate, who ran on an anti-ku klux klan platform.

EXPECT SLEMP TO RESIGN POST.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Several changes are expected in the administration personnel when President Coolidge takes the oath of office next March 4.

There have been definite indications that certain officers high in the government desire for various reasons to retire to private life, including some cabinet members.

About the first break expected in the official family is the resignation of C. Bascom Slemp, secretary to the president. Mr. Slemp has played an important part in the campaign as well as handling the duties of his office, and he is said to want a rest. It is understood that he is planning a vacation which will keep him in the south for the winter.

Mr. Coolidge naturally will be free to select his own cabinet for his full term. Those members who desire to leave are expected to communicate their wishes formally to him before next March.

HERRICK GETS 1 CENT.

Jury Awards Him That Sum as Damage Against Stenographer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Manuel Herrick, former representative from Oklahoma, was awarded damages of one cent by a jury in circuit court today in his suit for $50,000 damages against Miss Ethelyn Chrane, his former stenographer, for alleged breach of promise to marry him.

A jury in the same court yesterday awarded Miss Chrane $7,500 damages against Herrick for alleged libelous statements concerning her in a paper filed in court in support of his breach of promise case.

Mrs. Ferguson, 4,041, Is Trailing Butte, 4,165, by 124 Votes As All But 3 County Boxes Complete Count

(The detailed vote in Wichita County boxes will be found on page 10)

Cutting slowly into the lead which her republican opponent had built up on early returns, Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, democratic nominee for governor, had at midnight Wednesday come to within striking distance of George C. Butte on the face of nearly complete returns from Wichita county. At that time, with only three boxes incomplete, Butte held a lead of 124 votes. The totals were Butte 4,165, Ferguson 4,041.

3 Incomplete

Last night saw returns finished from all but three of this county's precincts. These, No.'s 3, 4 and 5, Barwise school, court house and Junior high, respectively, will probably be completed today. All the other boxes were cleared away during the day or night. The city hall box, No. 1, reported its totals at 8 o'clock last night and the Buchanan street fire station, No. 8, came in two hours later.

The county missed attaining its 10,000 vote goal by a paultry 237 votes, final figures revealed yesterday. The total vote reached 9,763 which, despite the fact that it was short of the 10,000 mark, was easily the largest ever polled here.

Davis Far In Lead.

Late returns continued to give John W. Davis a long lead over Calvin Coolidge, the figures as they now stand being, Davis 5,529, Coolidge 1,842.

George Butte has apparently carried only nine of the 23 boxes in Wichita county, but an analysis of the vote shows that he has run Mrs. Ferguson closely in all of the others. Heavy majorities in boxes 15, 16 and 22, all outside of Wichita Falls, have given him his lead. Mrs. Ferguson, it will be noted, is leading in two of the three incomplete boxes and there is a possibility that with the final tabulation made she will yet forge ahead.

Coolidge Cool As Landslide Vote Mounts Higher

President Issues Statement Of "Simple Thanks" For His Support

HAS A BUSY DAY

Spends Much Time In Acknowledging His Congratulations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—President Coolidge calmly received assurance today of his election as president by an overwhelming vote, issued a statement of "simple thanks" and turned again to his desk and the work which has constantly occupied his attention since entering office a little more than a year ago.

"I have no appeal except to the common sense of all the people," Mr. Coolidge said in expressing his appreciation in the statement which he read to a group of newspapers men in his office. "I have no pledge except to serve them. I have no object except to promote their welfare."

He's Up Early.

Up early after retiring late last night, the president went to the executive office after a walk about the White House grounds and read returns which had accumulated during the night and gave assurance of his election. During the morning a telegram of congratulations was received from John W. Davis, the democratic presidential nominee to which Mr. Coolidge replied expressing this thanks.

Intimate friends called through the morning and afternoon to extend congratulations, among them being several members of the cabinet. Meanwhile messenger boys brought telegrams of congratulations from all parts of the world.

Proposal to Bar Parochial Schools Beaten in Washington.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 5.—An initiative measure, designed to compel parents to send their children to public schools instead of private or parochial institutions sponsored by the Good Government league, affiliated with the ku klux klan apparently was defeated in yesterday's election. Returns from 895 of the state's 2,437 precincts gave 53,117 for the bill and 86,107 against it.

Infant Chokes At Quanah From Kerosene Drink

Year Old Boy Victim Of Peculiar Death At Home Tuesday

QUANAH, Nov. 5.—A year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Aiguir of this city is dead at the family home here as a result of choking on a small amount of kerosene which it accidentally swallowed yesterday.

A cup of coal oil was sitting on a kitchen table and the youngster, playing about on the floor, pulled it over from the edge. The fluid spilled over the baby's face and a part dropped into its mouth. Physicians hurriedly summoned were unable to control the choking and coughing and the baby died within a short time.

About two years ago the Aiguir's only daughter, two years of age, fell head foremost into a hole dug for a large pole being set in the street and smothered to death before she was found.

LA FOLLETTE GAINING.

He Trims Lead of Coolidge in Dakota; Davis Third.

FARGO, N. D., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Senator Robert M. LaFollette continued to cut down the plurality of President Coolidge in North Dakota this afternoon and early tonight when returns from his strongholds in the western part of the state found their way to unofficial tabulation headquarters.

In the last 107 precincts to report the Wisconsin senator trimmed his lead 1,540 votes while in the other reports that preceded these, Coolidge appeared to have reached his great vote momentum and the question to be determined was whether LaFollette could erase the president's lead of 16,281 which prevailed at 6 p. m. today.

DIDN'T SAY IT—BUTTE.

Is Only After Fair and Honest Count, He Declares.

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 5.—Dr. George C. Butte tonight declared he has not stated there will be no contest of the election and that what he said was to make plain he has not announced a contest, because any statement on the subject at this time would be premature.

"What I am after now is a fair and honest count of the votes by which the people of Texas registered their will," he declared.

Heard, republican of Phoenix. The figures were: Hunt 30,379; Heard 35,813.

Governor Hunt opposed ratification by Arizona of the Colorado river compact in his campaign. The compact was supported with reservations by Mr. Heard.

Count Challenged in State Boxes; Butte Still Claims Chance

Republican Leader Believes Later Returns Will Give Him Necessary Margin; Election Bureau Discontinues Tabulation of Votes; Mrs. Ferguson Holds to Lead Of Over 33,000

FINAL RESULTS NOT AVAILABLE UNTIL MONDAY

Commissioners Courts to Meet Next Week and Canvass Returns; Counting Dropped When Mrs. Ferguson's Lead Assumes Apparently Insurmountable Proportions

DALLAS, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Counting of the ballots of yesterday's gubernatorial race in Texas, in which Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, democrat, apparently was elected on the basis of returns thus far tabulated is being investigated at several places, state republican headquarters here announced today. At the same time, Dr. George C. Butte, the republican candidate, who declined to concede his defeat, denied that he contemplated any election contest.

In a statement at Austin, Dr. Butte said that "an honest election and an honest count is all I ask and I will abide by the result."

Mentions Counties.

El Paso, Galveston, Mexia, Bexar, Harris and Eastland counties were mentioned by W. E. Talbot, campaign manager for Dr. Butte as places where investigations were under way. Mr. Talbot previously had announced that arrangements were being planned to have these counted "so that the will of the voters will be respected." He also said that "we have not conceded anything."

Both agencies which tabulated the Texas vote yesterday, the Texas Election Bureau and the Western Union Telegraph Co., said today that they did not plan to continue or resume tabulation, stating that they considered Mrs. Ferguson elected. The latest incomplete count made early today gave Mrs. Ferguson 167,825 votes and Dr. Butte 124,908.

Dr. Butte, in a statement issued at Austin this morning, said that on the basis of incomplete returns "with only one-third of the vote counted, I most emphatically refuse to concede defeat.

"I am confident that Mrs. Ferguson will not have a lead over me if all ballots legally cast are counted."

Davis Leads.

John W. Davis received a vote of about 4 to 1 over both President Coolidge and Senator LaFollette in Texas for president and sweeping majorities were given the democratic state candidates outside the race for governor.

The complete vote of the state on the governor's race will be tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau as soon as the figures are available, it was announced today. The commissioners' courts will meet in the various counties next Monday to canvass the returns and instructions were sent to correspondents today to send in the complete vote of each county as soon as available.

Ma's Majority 33,414.

The bureau discontinued tabulating reports from towns and cities last night, when Mrs. Ferguson had a majority of 33,414. Incomplete returns from 49 counties tabulated last night gave her a majority of 14,610. Incomplete returns from 17 additional counties came in today and returns from 66 counties show her majority on the county basis to be 21,700. No more incomplete county reports will be tabulated, the bureau announced, but complete county reports will be tabulated as fast as received.

"Ma" Urges Quick Counting of All Ballots in State

She Takes Rap at Claims Of Misconduct Made By Republicans

THANKS HER FRIENDS

Says Butte's Contentions Groundless and Will Be Disapproved

TEMPLE, Texas, Nov. 5. — Because, she said, her republican opponent for governor, Dr. George C. Butte of Austin, refuses to concede her election and "is now making all sorts of pretended claims against the regularity of the election," Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson today issued a statement to "the people of Texas" requesting them promptly to ascertain the vote for governor in their counties and "see that the full report is forwarded to the secretary of state."

"You, the people of Texas," she said, "have won this election and we must see that the vote is counted." Her statement follows:

Victory Is Won

"The victory was won yesterday for constitutional government and religious liberty. Notwithstanding the vote of the people was overwhelmingly in my favor, my opponent, Dr. Butte, refuses to concede the election and is now making all sorts of pretended claims against the regularity of the election.

"The Texas election bureau which has heretofore been in charge of the publication of the result of the election, has decided not to give out any more reports for the reason that there should be no contest or contention as the result of the victory on the fourth. To avoid the further expense, the bureau has not deemed it necessary to function further.

Complete The Vote.

"But in view of the fact that Dr. Butte is now making groundless contentions, I will appreciate it very much if my friends everywhere in Texas will promptly ascertain what the vote for governor was in their respective counties and see that the full report of the election is forwarded to the secretary of state at Austin in accordance with the law made and provided, you the people of Texas, have won this election and we must now see that the vote is counted.

"Thanking you, our friends, for their support and asking their further cooperation in this matter, I am with renewed gratitude

"MIRIAM A. FERGUSON."

ITS DUCK STORIES NOW

Quanah Barber Bags One in His Shop

QUANAH, Nov. 5.—A Duck story rivaling the wildest fish stories is vouched for as really true by several representative Quanahites.

A local barber who likes to hunt came down to his shop a few days ago and upon closing the door found a young teal behind the screen. When he unlocked the door the duck flew inside the shop. The barber filled the bathtub with water and the duck enjoyed himself the balance of the day, being viewed by many people.

OFFICER DIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Brigadier General Anson Mills, retired, died here today.

In a statement at Austin, Dr. Butte said that "an honest election and an honest count is all I ask and I will abide by the result."

Mentions Counties.

El Paso, Galveston, Mexia, Bexar, Harris and Eastland counties were mentioned by W. E. Talbot, campaign manager for Dr. Butte as places where investigations were under way. Mr. Talbot previously had announced that arrangements were being planned to have these counted "so that the will of the voters will be respected." He also said that "we have not conceded anything."

Both agencies which tabulated the Texas vote yesterday, the Texas Election Bureau and the Western Union Telegraph Co., said today that they did not plan to continue or resume tabulation, stating that they considered Mrs. Ferguson elected. The latest incomplete count made early today gave Mrs. Ferguson 167,825 votes and Dr. Butte 124,908.

Dr. Butte, in a statement issued at Austin this morning, said that on the basis of incomplete returns "with only one-third of the vote counted, I most emphatically refuse to concede defeat.

"I am confident that Mrs. Ferguson will not have a lead over me if all ballots legally cast are counted."

Davis Leads.

John W. Davis received a vote of about 4 to 1 over both President Coolidge and Senator LaFollette in Texas for president and sweeping majorities were given the democratic state candidates outside the race for governor.

The complete vote of the state on the governor's race will be tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau as soon as the figures are available, it was announced today. The commissioners' courts will meet in the various counties next Monday to canvass the returns and instructions were sent to correspondents today to send in the complete vote of each county as soon as available.

Ma's Majority 33,414.

The bureau discontinued tabulating reports from towns and cities last night, when Mrs. Ferguson had a majority of 33,414. Incomplete returns from 49 counties tabulated last night gave her a majority of 14,610. Incomplete returns from 17 additional counties came in today and returns from 66 counties show her majority on the county basis to be 21,700. No more incomplete county reports will be tabulated, the bureau announced, but complete county reports will be tabulated as fast as received.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Coolidge Issues Proclamation Naming Thanksgiving Nov. 27.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—(AP)—President Coolidge issued a proclamation today formally proclaiming Thursday, November 27, as Thanksgiving Day.

The proclamation urged that thanks be given because the year had been marked by a continuation of peace whereby "our country had entered into a relationship of better understanding with all the other nations of the earth," and because at home "we have continually had an improving state of health" with industrial production large and harvests bountiful.

"America owed this homage to the author of the Dawes plan."

Musical Day Is Lions Treat At Weekly Meeting

Mrs. Joe Grouch, Paul Rutledge, Mrs. R. E. Strange, R. D. Ford and Others

PATRICIAN 4 PLAYS

Club Takes Up Lungmotor Question for Diversion Dam and Lake

A musical day was the feature at the Lion's club Wednesday noon when a group of local entertainers filled the program of the weekly luncheon hour at the Kemp hotel.

Mrs. Joe Crouch and Paul Rutledge, violinists of marked ability and talent played Dancla's "Concerto No. 4" in duet form with Mrs. R. E. Strange at the piano. The three artists worked in absolute co-ordination and interpreted the number beautifully to the delight of the Lions. The enthusiastic applause which followed was answered with a dainty number, "Alps Maid's Dream" by Labitzky.

Ford Sings.

R. D. Ford, gave two enjoyable bass solos with Mrs. Ford accompanying. He sang the famous "Woman is Fickle" from Rigolette, and responded to an encore with a rollicking old English ballad, "Leezie Lindsay."

The Patrician quartette, composed of Misses Glenor and Josephine Fisk, Miss Beulah Ross and her sister, Mrs. Wesley Waller, played a medley of popular songs, the Fisk sisters sang and played guitars, and Miss Ross and her sister playing violins.

Responding to an encore, Miss Glenore Fisk sang "My Sweetheart" with the two violins accompanying and her sister at the piano. For a second encore, the Fisk sisters sang with guitars, accompanied by the two violins, "La Paloma" in the Spanish language, by request.

In the absence of the president, Dr. A. D. Patillo presided and at the motion of L. D. Parnell, appointed a standing committee to keep in active touch with the work being done at Lake Wichita with the lung motor purchased by the Lion's club which is now announced ready for use.

GINGHAMS ARE LOWER.

Prices Drop in New York to Meet Those of Southern Mills.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—New prices on Amoskeag ginghams announced today to meet the lower prices by southern mills were two cents a yard lower on staples and three cents a yard lower than the opening prices on one of the leading 32 inch cloths. Gray cloth prices were somewhat firmer and the active inquiry of Monday was continued. Burlaps were steady. Wool goods were firmer due to advances in wool. Silks were in fair demand in novelty lines.

GRAINS UNRESPONSIVE.

Commodity Markets Not Affected by Election Results.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Commodity markets were not particularly responsive to the election. Rye and other grains had big advances but the improvement was attributed mostly to an active export business.

Coffee advanced 4 to 10 points. Sugar was off 8 to 10 points and cotton gained 12 to 65 points for the day, the latter reflecting persistent mill buying. In most of the commodity groups the Coolidge victory was discounted several days ago.

What is an index number?

An index is a series of figures showing changes from time to time in prices of other economic movements usually expressed in terms of some base or normal period. The purpose is to portray simply and clearly changes in price levels and other movements of economic importance.

One of the best known indexes is that of the Cost of Living published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. department of labor. This is derived by taking prices of goods which are purchased for family consumption. These prices are given the importance to which they are entitled and then combined into one figure representing the cost of living compared with the base period, 1913.

Women to Get Seats at "Pie Counter" Ma Tells Friends

TEMPLE, Texas, Nov. 5—Women will "have seats at the pie counter" in Texas when Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson becomes governor, her headquarters here announced late today.

Mrs. Ferguson authorized the statement, it was announced, that proper recognition will be given women in executive patronage, "particularly where they are peculiarly fit for public office and are perhaps in a better position to administer the duties of the office than men."

Headquarters of Mrs. Ferguson have been crowded with job-seekers since the first democratic primary but no positions were promised, pending the general election and no consideration has been given applicants since yesterday's balloting.

Mrs. Ferguson today was the recipient of hundreds of messages of congratulations from all sections of the country. Her reception hall resembled the display room of a metropolitan florist, friends throughout the state having sent her bouquets of almost every variety.

She was feeling a little tired but happy, Mrs. Ferguson said, and was relieved "that the campaign is over."

Jones and Home Demonstration Agent Ethel Louise Webb have been moved from the basement of the court house to the chamber of commerce rooms on the second floor of the Kahn building. Mr. Jones and Miss Webb have established their desks and other equipment in the new quarters and are now working out of there.

The change has been made, inasmuch as the two offices are a part of the chamber of commerce as well as the county and the work supervised by the two officials is in line with the fostering of the agricultural and civic development of the county, which the chamber undertakes.

Stock Market In Furious Session After Election

Buying Orders Flood In With Victory of G.O.P. Assured

NEW HIGH PRICES

Score of Issues Reach Peak Of Trade for Past Two Years

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Wall street registered its approval today of the results of Tuesday's election by pouring an avalanche of buying orders into the stock market, which carried nearly two score issues to new peak prices for the year on net gains that ran from 1 to 3½ points. Total sales which approximated nearly 1,750,000 shares were the largest of any single session in about two years.

While the market was without definite information as to the complete makeup of the next congress, indications that President Coolidge would probably have a working majority in both the senate and house stimulated the buying of all classes of stocks. Rails were particularly strong on the speculative theory that the failure of the radicals to obtain a dominating position assured the safety of the transportation act of 1920, facilitated the consummation of several large railroad mergers now pending, and improved the possibility of increased dividend payments on some of the high grade issues, notably New York Central and Atchison, current earnings of which are well above present dividend requirements.

London's financial community also reacted favorably to the Coalidge victory, buying orders for sterling exchange from that center being of sufficient proportions to carry the rate on demand bills up more than three cents to the year's high level at $4.57.

BOB IS "NOT DISMAYED."

Just an Incident in Progressive Cause, He Says.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Senator Robert M. LaFollette, defeated independent candidate for the presidency, in his first public statement today commenting upon the election said:

"The loss of this one battle in the age-long struggle is but an incident.

"So far as I am personally concerned I am enlisted for life in the struggle.

"The progressives will not be dismayed by this result. We have just begun to fight. There can be no compromise on the fundamental issues for which we stand."

LA FOLLETTE STILL SOLID.

Is Assured of Standing With People In Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Senator Robert M. LaFollette was assured of his standing with the people of his home state who gave him a lead of nearly 50,000 over President Coolidge in Wisconsin when approximately half of the returns had been tabulated. The figures showed 1,243 precincts out of 2,679: Coolidge 136,067, LaFolette 174,081, Davis, 26,039.

Governor John J. Blaine, who is seeking re-election on the republican ticket, was leading his democratic opponent, Martin J. Lurek, by 33,177 votes with 1,049 precincts out of 2,679 reported.

W. B. Pine, republican, Oklahoma, the successful candidate against Walton, reported receipts of $8,000 from the republican senatorial committee of which he gave $5,000 to the republican state committee and $1,500 to the Pine for Senatorship club of Okmulgee, Okla.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(AP)—John W. PINE SECOND REPUBLICAN

He Goes to Senate From Normally Democratic State.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 5.—(AP)—W. B. Pine of Okmulgee, apparently elected United States senator from Oklahoma, who declared when he announced for the republican nomination that he was a business man, not a politician, is the second republican to be elected to the senate from Oklahoma.

Although always a republican and a party worker, Pine has but once before held political office. He served as commissioner of Okmulgee county.

In entering the race Pine announced he would apply to government the ability which has enabled him to accumulate a fortune of several million before he was 45 years old. He now is 46.

OHIO FOR COOLIDGE

He Rolls Up Poll Rivaling That of Harding in Past Election.

COLUMBUS, Ohio., Nov. 5.—President Coolidge carried Ohio with a plurality that is expected to exceed that of President Harding four years ago and which possibly may reach the half million mark. But his popularity apparently failed to bring about the election of a republican governor.

While the president with slightly more than five eighths of the state's precincts heard from had passed 346,000 in his plurality, Governor A. V. Donahey, democrat, held a majority of 57,000 with more than half of the vote unofficially counted.

Bob's Support Is Foundation For A New Party--Claim

Head of Locomotive Union Attributes G.O.P. Win To Slush Funds

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5. — D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineermen, today issued the following statement on yesterday's election:

"What now appears to be a victory for the republican national candidates is attributable to (1) unprecedented political 'slush funds', (2) intimidating statements regarding 'Coolidge or chaos in industry', broadcasted or mailed into practically every American home, (3) state laws designed to perpetuate the two old political parties in power, which denied the people the privilege of voting the progressive ticket in some states and prohibited watchers in other states to see that the progressive votes were counted.

"However, the popular vote given to LaFollette and Wheeler in the race in which they were so seriously handicapped has laid the foundation for a new political party alignment in this country. The progressives have gained ground in congress which will also lend encouragement to the independent progressive movement, the hope of the workers."

Irrigation

By A. M. McPHERSON

WATER

Some of the Causes of Water Logging of Irrigated Land

We stated yesterday that every irrigation project sooner or later water logged to a greater or less extent and that this project gave no indication of being an exception.

There is nothing particularly mysterious about the cause of water logging although it may appear so at the time. It is always caused by more water accumulating in the soil than can be carried away by the natural under ground channels.

Our rainfall here is about 30 inches per annum on the average. Our climate is classed as semi-humid. Now suppose the rainfall should suddenly be doubled and we would have 60 inches per year. Then our rainfall would be equal to the highest average in the United States with the exception of the Pacific northwest. We would then be classed as having a humid climate. Our creeks and rivers would flow the year around and in a few years many acres that are now being farmed would become swamps.

This is exactly what happens on an irrigation project. In effect the rainfall is increased. In many instances it is multiplied several times. The soil and the country is not prepared to take care of this excessive supply of water and as a consequence it fills up with water and becomes a bog where nothing profitable will grow.

It is not reasonable to expect that this valley will stand irrigation any better than other irrigated countries where the rainfall is about the same. Excess water must be disposed of or it will fill up and ruin the soil.

It must be evident to every one that if it is excess water that causes waterlogging and ruins irrigated lands then the lass water that is applied the longer it will be before damage will result.

Tomorrow we will discuss some of the effects of water logging.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the sprits. 15c and 30c.

THOSE HOPEFUL SPANIARDS

Spain's proposed new constitution, suggested by its military dictator, Primo de Rivera, is expected (by its author) to make everything nice and comfortable in that politically distracted country. New constitutions always raise such hopes, and this particular one is deemed especially hopeful (by its author) because it provides for the elimination of the politicians.

This desirable result is to be brought about by a scheme of suffrage whereby representatives will be elected to the national assembly, not by the people, but by groups—the professions, trades, guilds and other units. A neat system of blocs is thus apparently aimed at, with every class looking out for itself. Not a novel arrangement, we believe; indeed the tendency of classes to look out for themselves has been rather marked in all countries and in all ages.

But just how this plan will eliminate the politicians is not explained, and there will be suspicion that it won't. The general observation has been, we believe, that where the bloc system has been the most completely developed, there the politicians have flourished the most. Whatever makes for the industry of those who thrive on it, and nothing has seemed to make for more such business than the arraying of class against class and the struggles in which each seeks to trample down the others.

It seems to be Spain's ill luck that it is embarking on a new era at a time when experiments are the chief delight of the politicians everywhere. Naturally Spain wants the latest thing going, and so is caught by the window displays set out by the very politicians who are to be eliminated. The political bloc is their own leading line. They are merchandising it everywhere. Too bad Spain should be out shopping at the very moment.

Countries older in constitutionalism than Spain are less hopeful of getting rid of the politicians. At least they are aware this class cannot be eliminated by mere constitutional devices. Where constitutionalism works at all it works by the active and intelligent participation of the people; where the people take the greatest part the politicians flourish least, and where the people are least concerned the politicians flourish most.

MONDEL OF WYOMING

Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming served in the lower house of congress 24 years. Then he aspired to a seat in the senate and the democrats and progressives of Wyoming preferred John B. Kendrick, a former Texan and a democrat. Frank W. Mondell has been one of the managers of the Coolidge and Dawes campaign. Theodore Roosevelt, the great and the dead Roosevelt had small time for Mondell. This is what he said of the Wyoming republican in one of his books:

"He is a congressman who took the lead in every measure to prevent conservation of our national resources and the preservation of the national domain for the use of home seekers, and consistently fought for the local and private interests against the interests of the people as a whole."

Theodore the great is dead. Frank W. Mondell isn't. He is high in the councils of the republican party.

What Today Means to You

SCORPIO.

Today's planetary aspects are excellent, stimulating and full of inspiration. The doubts and uncertainties of yesterday will have disappeared, and self-confidence and certain courage will assert themselves. Today offers a favorable opportunity for decided action and resolution in matters where only doubt and misgiving have hereto prevailed, and the signs counsel forceful energy and active initiative. It is also a very auspicious occasion for marriage, or for "popping" the fateful question.

A child born today will be subject to the ordinary vicissitudes in infancy, but, with proper nutrition and care, will survive all these troubles, and attain a strong and healthy maturity. Its character will be rather self-willed, its disposition, assertive, its mentality, quick and retentive. This child must, at no time, be indulged, and it must be taught, at all cost, proper respect and consideration for the feelings of others. It must not be given the opportunity to have its own way, at the expense of other people's comfort and convenience. It will achieve material as well as social success.

If today is your birthday, nature has endowed you with an exceptional degree of charm as well as an intellect that could, if you would allow it, achieve an unexampled measure of success in almost any walk of life. By your charm you make friends easily, and are considered popular. By your intellect, you absorb quickly and learn very readily.

The one thing however, that stands between you and the material success you covet, is your laziness and the absence of all continuous and sustained effort. You do not feed your brain with either the right alimentary products, nor with regularity. It is, now therefore, far from being in a healthy condition.

You are an intellectual hare. You take too many resting or recreative spells. As a result, the clumsy tortoise overtakes you, and beats you in the race of life. You flit from one occupation to another, and become a "jack of all trades, rather than a master of one." In this age of keen competition and rivalry, specializing is becoming more necessary every day, and whereas the dabbler used in the bygone days, to have a chance to make his or her mark, the requirements of today are different, and recognition is only secured by "stick-ativeness," and courageous perseverance.

Successful people born on this date are: Hiram Corson, educator; Charles H. Morgan, soldier, a Union brigadier-general in the civil war; Francis E. Abbot, unitarian clergyman and author; Ellen Olney Kirk, ("Henry Hayes") a prolific writer of romance, essays, reviews, etc.; John P. Sousa, bandmaster and composer; N. W. Aldrich, U. S. senator.

EXIT ROMANCE

Gondolas in Venetian waters are soon all to be driven by gasoline motors.

No more the dark-eyed gondolier
Lifts up his voice in song,
As in the moonlight, soft and clear
He gently floats along.
No more his fares their voices raise,
Until the echoing shore
Returns good Saint Lucia's praise,
What time he plies the oar.

For the gondola goes dashing
Through the swishing, hissing tide,
With the foam that follows flashing,
And the throttle opened wide.
Every sound the singers utter—
If they sing at all—is lost
In the putter! putter! putter!
Of the gas exhaust!

The boatman no more stands apart
And strokes his noble brow;
To make the doggone motor start
Is his big trouble now.
His hair is singed by many a spark,
There's grease upon his clothes,
And as he toils he fills the dark
With great Italian oaths.

All the romance is departed
That made Venice so sublime;
Even when the motor's started
It may quit at any time.
Hearts no more with young love flutter
And the old time thrill is lost
In the putter! putter! putter!
Of the gas exhaust!

A FACE EVERYONE KNOWS

W. L. Douglas is dead.

He is a man with the most familiar face in the world.

He made the W. L. Douglas three-dollar shoe which is advertised very extensively. He recently died at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital of Boston and thus brought to a close one of the most extraordinary romances of American industry. He was a shoemaker, but probably the greatest shoemaker on earth, for while other corporations may have surpassed his production in figures, he was virtually his own corporation and his Brockton factory was the largest ever built.

He turned out, every year, five million pairs of shoes, every one of which bore his likeness branded on the sole. He amassed many millions of dollars, served as mayor of Brockton, governor of Massachusetts, and champion of labor arbitration.

At seven years of age he was a fatherless starving pegging shoes for an uncle, working twelve hours a day and standing on a box to reach the bench.

Working eight years on this salary, which was less than ten dollars a month, he supported his mother. He broke his leg, but went on working, bobbling on a crutch to the bench.

He walked four miles a day to school for three months every year.

Then he worked in a cotton mill for thirty-three cents a day, went out west and opened a little store in Golden City, Colorado, with Alfred Sindley, and prospered very largely because he instituted the proper advertising campaign.

He returned to Massachusetts in 1870, worked as a shoe shop foreman and opened his own factory and branded his shoes with his own features. Rivals laughed at him, but he opened retail store after retail store and continued offering himself and his shoes to the public through the country until the tide of fortune turned and vindicated him as the pioneer of direct salesmanship.

He was a consistent democrat in politics and was twice offered the chairmanship of the national committee.

He died fighting, as he had lived, holding his wife's hand. He was in his eightieth year.

Mr. Douglas was a typical American and should be an inspiration to all American youths.

NEGLECTED MOTHERS.

I feel very sad today because a dear little old lady of whom I am very fond has just passed on. She had been sick for a long time, and every morning as I passed her quaint little house she would wave to me from a wheel chair where she sat by the window.

Occasionally I would take her flowers from my garden, or delicacies from a nearby store — but nothing seemed to make her happy—she was slowly dying from a broken heart.

She had only one son. He went away years ago in a huff, because his father had made him angry. She had never heard from him, and although I tried very hard to locate him after his mother died, I was unable to do so.

I suppose there are a lot of other cases just as sad as this in the world, but I cannot keep from thinking what terrible remorse this boy will feel when he finds out the truth.

Everyone finds his mother within himself. Remorse is inevitable. The image of a mother is so engraven on the human heart that it can never be erased.

About the most wonderful present a person can give himself is the satisfaction that "his mother was happy—that his mother was well taken care of and that his mother was repaid for all her sacrifices and deprivation."

Thank Goodness the Nightmare Wasn't As Bad As We Thought

The Man With The Broken Nose
Or
The Strange Adventure of a Rolls-Royce

By MICHAEL ARLEN.

We followed him like lambs. Tarlyon's knowledge as to where the Manets were took the form of trying every gallery in which the Manets were not. We repassed Gainsborough's three-legged lady, Tarylon commenting. The dark stranger walked silently but firmly. He was a tall young man of slight but powerful build, his nose, which was of the Patrician sort, would have been shapely had it not once been broken in such a way that forever after it must noticeably incline to one side; and, though his appearance was that of a gentleman, he carried himself with an air of determination and assurance which would. I thought, make any conversation with him rather a business. There was any amount of back-chat in his dark eyes. His hat, which was soft and had the elegance of the well-worn, he wore cavalierly. Shoes by Lobb.

At last a picture rose before our eyes, a large picture, very blue. Now who shall describe that picture which was so blue, blue even to the grass under the soldiers' feet, the complexion of the soldiers' feet, the complexion of the soldiers' faces and the rifles in the soldiers' hands? Over against a blue tree stood a man, and miserably blue was his face, while the soldiers stood very stiffly with their backs to us, holding their rifles in a position which gave one no room to doubt but that they were about to shoot the solitary man for some misdemeanor. He was the loneliest looking man I have ever seen.

"Manet," said Tarlyon.

The dark younk stranger was absorbed; he pulled his hat a little lower over his left eye, so that the light should not obtrude on his vision * * *

"Come on," I whispered to Tarlyon, for we seemed to be intruding—so that I was quite startled when the stranger suddenly turned from the picture to me. *

"You see sir," he said gravely, "I know all about killing. I have killed many men * * *"

"Army service corps?" inquired Tarlyon.

"No sir," snapped the stranger. "I know nothing of your corps. I am a Zeytounli."

"Please have patience with me," I begged the stranger. "What is a Zeytounli?"

He regarded me with those smouldering dark eyes; and I realized vividly that his nose had been broken in some argument which had cost the other man more than a broken nose.

"Zeytoun," he said, "is a fortress in Armenia. For five hundred years Zeytoun has not laid down her arms, but now she is burnt stones on the ground. The Zeytounlis, sir, are the hill-men of Armenia. I am an Armenian."

"Oh, I'm so sorry," Tarlyon murmured.

"Why?" snarled the Armenian.

"Well, you've been treated pretty badly, haven't you? said Tarlyon. "All these massacres and things * * *"

The stranger glared at him, and then he laughed at him, I shall remember that laugh. So will Tarlyon. Then the stranger raised a finger and, very gently, he tapped Tarlyon's shoulder.

"Listen," said he. "Your manner of speaking bores me. Turks have slain many Armenians. Wherefore Armenians have slain many Turks. You may take it from me that, by sticking to it year in and year out for five hundred years, Armenians have in a tactful slain Armenians. That is why I am proud of being Armenian. And you would oblige me, gentlemen, by informing your countrymen that we have no use for their discarded trousers, which are anyway not so good in quality as they were, but would be grateful for some guns. And you would still further oblige me by trying, in future, not to talk nonsense about Armenians. Adieu, gentlemen. You will probably hear of me again. I am in England on public business."

He left us.

"I didn't know," I murmured, "that Armenians were like that. * * * I have been misled about Armenians. And he speaks English very well * * *"

"Hum, said Tarlyon thoughtfully. "But no one would say he was Armenian if he wasn't would he?"

"Also," said I, "he is the most aggressive young man I have ever met. Manet indeed!"

"So would you be aggressive, if you had been massacred and made an atrocity of ever since you were a slip of a boy, and had spent your holidays being chased round Lake Van by roaring Turks and hairy Kurds with scimitars dripping with the blood of Circassian children.

"Oh, not Circassian!" I pleaded, for I have always been very sentimental about Circassian women; but Tarlyon insisted that they generally died young and [redacted] were a fat race * * *

That is what actually happened, towards midnight of that very day, within a stone's throw of Claridge's hotel, in Brook street, Mayfair. George Tarlyon and I had been of the same company for dinner and then bridge at a house in Brook street. Towards midnight a gap in the bridge allowed us to slip away, which we did. Tarlyon had parked his car outside Claridge's and thither we walked.

Now Brook street at that hour is undecided between a state of coma and one of glittering abandon; which means that the deathly silence is every now and then shattered by rich automobiles hurling themselves and lovely ladies all covered in pearls and chrysaprase into the bosom of Grosvenor Square. Claridge's, of course, has music, so that youth may dance. But of pedestrians along Brook street there are less than a few—and of young men in gents' evening wear running furiously after limousines there is a noticeable scarcity. He simply tore past us, that young man, in the middle of the road, a few yards behind a swiftly going car. That car stopped towards Grosvenor Square, and somehow the young man seemed to disappear. We were more than 50 yards away, and could not determine whether it was a man or a woman who emerged from the car and entered the house, but it looked like a fat little man. Then the car slid away. The pursuing young man had disappeared.

"He can't have been doing it for fun," said Tarlyon.

"Perhaps he's gone to have a bath," I suggested. For it was a very warm night, and running after motor cars must have been a wet business.

HOW IT STARTED

"GETTING THE DICKENS."

Some time, somewhere, from somebody we all get the "Dickens." And those of us who become prominent get it more than the others.

Among those of us ordinary mortals who occasionally find relief in letting off steam in the form of something more expressive than slang, there seems to be a common misconception that "getting the Dickens" is a modification or abbreviation of (Heaven help us!) "getting the devil." It is not. It is a harmless, legitimate and respectable expression that may be used with impunity in the best of company. It is simply an allusion to our old friend, Charles Dickens.

Though immortal as a novelist, Dickens was well known in his own time as a newspaper man. So vitriolic is he said to have been in his attacks on faulty public officials or other prominent men that gradually it came to be said, when any one was criticized by him, that he got "the Dickens."

Tomorrow: "The Lock and the Key."

Dorothy Dix

Three Remedies for the Nagging Wife. Can a Cultured Girl Find Happiness With a Man Who Lacks Polish?—Shall He Marry for a Good Business Opportunity?

Dear Dorothy Dix—Several years ago I married an old maid. We are well mated as to tastes in books, amusements, etc., and she is an excellent housekeeper and cook. We have most of the luxuries of life and should be happy.

But my wife has a very peculiar disposition. She daily finds fault with her neighbors, her friends and her enemies, and is constantly reminding me of my shortcomings and of my past mistakes. It is most harassing, and when I try to reason her out of this habit she gets furious, and I have to take my curtain lecture in silence.

The worst feature of this nagging is that it grows on her as she grows older, and I am at my wits' end to know how to break the spell and change her disposition. I have dignity and cannot stand these petty family squabbles, and I shall be deeply grateful to you for any suggestions about how to handle the situation.

HENPECKED HUSBAND.

Answer:

I fear that it is only in story books that people change their dispositions and the selfish become unselfish, the mean become kind, gentle and tender, and high-tempered turn meek and patient. In real life that miracle is seldom, if ever, wrought, because most of us are so self-conceited that we will never admit to a fault, so we have no chance of improving ourselves.

Of course, the perpetual fault-finder is suffering from a case of exaggerated ego, and it is an affliction that is common to both sexes. There are many men who knock everything their wives do, and probably just as many women who live with their little hammers in their hands. At the bottom of their trouble is the fixed conviction that they are the wisest people in the world and absolutely infallible, and that they know how to do everything better than anybody else.

The only cure for this is to reduce the swelling in their heads, and this is a well-nigh impossible thing to do.

Still, if I were a man who had drawn one of these naggers in the matrimonial lottery, I should try three remedies on her. First, I would make a little memorandum of every time she found fault with me and put down the exact terms of criticism she used. Then I would wait for the psychological moment in which she was calm and at peace with me, and I would present my little document to her.

The chances are that she would be surprised and horrified, for the nagger seldom realizes what she says. And I would follow up this by telling her how unhappy she made me, how she wounded me, and how she was killing my love for her. I would appeal to her affection for me and to her sense of fair play, and remind her that she also had weaknesses and flaws that I was too much of a gentleman to be continually throwing in her face. Furthermore, I would impress on her that the only way that two imperfect, faltering creatures can get along together is by mutual forbearance.

If this failed, I should try ridicule. I should enlist the aid of some of my friends and get them started to making fun of her for the way she bossed me.

Few women can stand being laughed at, and none of them wish to figure in the unattractive role of the henpecked woman who is such a virago that her husband is afraid of her.

If that plan also went blah, I would deliver an ultimatum to the lady, and tell her that unless she could treat you with the same civility that she does a stranger, I would become a stranger to her and that I had listened to my last curtain lecture. Believe me, brother, few women desire to give up a good husband and a good home, and the fear of losing them will silence the most eloquent tongue. Also the domestic bullies, like every other bully, are cowards and you can always call their bluff.

The "Taming of the Shrew" is still good reading for henpecked husbands and furnishes much food for thought.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—Can a girl who is cultured and refined be happy with a good man who lacks polish? I care a great deal for a young man who is anxious for me to marry him, but I am hesitating because of that question.

He is good and kind and honest, but would his sometimes incorrect speech and his occasional social blunders get on my nerves if we were married? Of course, I cannot correct his mistakes now, but do you think he would resent it if I corrected them after marriage? Please tell me my chance for happiness in such a case? M. L. F.

Answer:

I should say it depended altogether on how broadminded you are, M. L. F., whether such a marriage would be a success of a failure.

Undoubtedly every woman is supersensitive about the appearance that her husband makes in public. Also every woman yearns to be married to a man of the world who knows how to wear his clothes and say just the right thing, and who can overawe head waiters and hand a woman into a taxi without chucking her in as if she were a sack of potatoes. And every woman writhes when her husband mispronounces words and is short on grammar and steps on other women's feet and doesn't know which spoon to use.

But, after all, these are not the important things. Kind hearts are more than fine manners and many a man who makes love like a matinee hero neglects and starves a woman after he has got her.

So, if you love a man who has not had advantaves of education and association, marry him only if you have enough visiow to see his good points instead of his failings, and if you have philosophy enough to laugh over them, instead of blushing over them.

But if you marry him, don't try to teach him table etiquette or correct his grammar. Take him "as is," as the shipping manifests say. No man marries to get a critic on the hearth, or desires a schoolma'am for a file. If your husband has it in him to learn, he will pick things up by himself.

And remember that some of the most polished men in the world were once rough diamonds.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I want to ask your advice about what to do under shellfire. I am a single man of thirty-one and have met a woman who is about forty-one, but who has never married. She is always talking to me about how much money she could make if she had an active young fellow like me for a partner. But she says we would have to get married, as that is the only way she would be sure I would be honest with her. This woman is always bragging about what a great and wonderful family she comes from until she bores me to death. I do not want to marry her, but it looks like a good business opening for me. What do you think? E. J. S.

Answer:

Fly, son, fly, while the flying is good. The highest board a man ever pays is when he marries for a home. If you marry this woman, you will be nothing but an errand boy who will have to work for his board and clothes for an employer, who bosses his every move inside and outside of working hours.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

Are We Going to the Dogs?

We believe that many moralists and some clergymen are unduly troubled about what they call the tendencies of the times.

It is true that youth is careless, irreverent of age, and unheeding of the future.

It is true that girls dress in a way which would have scandalized their grandmothers, and talk in a way which would lead one to believe that they have never had any lessons in what is called breeding.

But youth was always careless, and girls of a hundred or of a thousand years ago, as history informs us, did many things which were not considered proper by the grandmothers of their time.

It looks to us, from such survey of the past as we have made, as if the trend of the times is still steadily upward, as it has been since our ancestors came out of their caves, and began to form friendships instead of continuing the old enmities.

And we think we can see in the people of today, and in their ideas and their ideals the reason for this, and the reason why it will continue.

For there is something in the common run which makes them want to do better and to be better, which makes them hate wrong and honor virtue, and esteem those who practice it above those who prefer to be base and evil.

Robert Louis Stevenson, looking at the world through a window in Edinborough, which, inasmuch as Stevenson was the man who looked through it gave a view of almost the whole world, found:

"Everywhere some virtue cherished or affected, everywhere some decency of thought and courage, everywhere the ensign of man's ineffectual goodness. I could show you these men the world over in every stage of history," he wrote, "under every abuse of error, under every circumstance of failure, without hope, without help, without thanks, still obscurely fighting the lost fight of virtue, still clinging to some rag of honor, the poor jewel of their souls."

The fight is not so hopeless now as it was even in Stevenson's comparatively recent day.

There is more incentive to honesty, more reason to believe that the right will win in the long run, even if a few more battles must be lost meanwhile.

Something in the worst of men makes them understand that meanness is the wrong method of securing happiness, and that fair dealing is a surer way to bring success than thieving and lying.

Above and below, in all stations of life there seems to be an increasing purpose to live clean and straight, to know more of the world, and to do more for its crippled and its helpless and its morally and mentally deficient.

A little heedlessness on the part of youth, a little paint on the lips of a flapper, a little slang in the mouths of children, are but small things, to set beside the great and constant upward progress of the race, in order to draw the conclusion that the world is going to the dogs.

It never was as near Heaven as it is today, and its progress is still in the same upward direction that it has been since Cain was driven for his sins from the Garden of Eden.

UNITY JUNIOR STUDIES PLAYWRIGHTS.

Modern American playwrights were studied by the Unity Junior club Wednesday afternoon when the club met with the president, Miss Florence Sammons. Mrs. Fred Elbert was leader, and she told something of the success and the introduction of the plays studied, "Rain," "Ice Bound," and "Mary the Third."

Mrs. Alfred Miller read a paper on Sadie Thompson; Mrs. Skeen Staley gave a character study of Ben Jordan, and Mrs. Leslie Stringer discussed social conditions in "Mary the Third." Round table discussions followed the papers.

Those present included Mrs. J. H. Barnard, Miss Edith Berney, Mrs. Stayton Bonner, L. H. Cullum, Fred Elbert, Elizabeth Erwin, J. L. Jackson, Jr., Miss Thelma Kahn, Miss Sibyl Kell, Mrs. W. U. McCutchen, Mrs. Alfred Miller, Mrs. Raymond Myers, Miss Sammons, Mrs. Jack Speegle, Mrs. Skeen Staley, Mrs. Leslie Stringer, Mrs. Harry White, Mrs. W. N. Graves, Jr., of St. Louis, Mrs. McDavitt of Hope, Ark., and Mrs. R. N. Millington of El Dorado, Ark.

MRS. GOSE TELLS OF WESTERN TRIP.

"California was a hotbed of politics during the summer," Mrs. S. M. Gose, Sr., said yesterday, following her return from the western coast where she has spent the past three months. "To hear the presidential speakers was one of the most interesting features of the summer. Among the other speakers that I admired was Burton K. Wheeler. He is a real orator."

Mrs. Gose was in many of the cities along the California coast, including Long Beach, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, San Monica and others. In speaking of the customs of the Californians, Mrs. Gose said that it was astonishing to find the number of persons who go to church. "I visited churches of all denominations in various cities there and at every service, Sunday morning and Sunday evening, the churches were packed. Our churches are filled on occasions, but they do not show the great crowds that attended the churches there."

"It seemed to me that the class of shows given there was better than the average. The picture shows were uplifting, and were not degrading. One reason for this, I believe, is the censors," she stated.

"The very best men and women of the cities are included as censors, and if there is a show that does not uplift the school boy or girl, that show is kept from the screen. I saw some few shows that were not up to standard," Mrs. Gose said, "but for the most part the shows there are uplifting."

WOMAN AILING FOR A YEAR

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Happy Results

Newcastle, Pa.—"I was all run-down and everybody thought I was going into a decline. I had been ailing for a year with pains in my right side so that I could hardly stand on my feet. When I walked I felt as if something was falling. I was not able to do any work and had a nurse most of the time. She spoke to me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I gave it a fair trial. Some women think one bottle should cure them, but I did not stop at that. I took more and got better and am able ever since to do my own housework. There was a time, when I would complain of not feeling well, that my husband would say, 'Go to the doctor.' But now he will tell me to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's, and it has always helped me. I have had druggists tell me that they had something better, but they don't tell me that now, for I take no other. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound now for five years. Any woman who cares to call or write, I will be glad to tell her how it helped me."—Mrs. MABEL LIST SHERBAHN, 515 Newell Ave., Newcastle, Pa.

—to regain Strength

—brings joy to you and your friends.

EVERY man, woman and child wants to have strength and correct weight. It means the joy of living. To be minus strength and underweight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. aids Nature in building them by the million! There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today. It will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Insure Your Car For Long Service Life

Most motorists take out fire, theft and accident insurance on their cars; but many neglect one of the most important forms of insurance—lubrication insurance—that is, the use of a high-grade motor oil; so as to insure freedom from motor troubles and repair bills, and a long service life for the motor.

And the fine point about "service insurance" is that it does not cost anything "extra." For you can get Humble Motor Oil at the same price which you pay for a blended oil—and Humble Motor Oil is "straight run" from low-cold-test crudes. It is easily recognized by its clear, brilliant amber color. The range between its light and heavy fractions is very short. Humble Motor Oil has just the right "body" for the proper and safe lubrication of all motor bearing surfaces, under the most severe conditions of temperature and load; and yet is light enough to leave but the minimum of carbon behind when burned.

Have your crank case flushed and filled with Humble Motor Oil—and let your service insurance begin to-day. Any Humble Oil Dealer will be pleased to serve you. Look for the Humble Signs.

PSYCHOLOGY WILL BE GREATEST FACTOR IN BAYLOR-TEXAS GAME ON VARSITY GRIDIRON SATURDAY

Bears, Although Aggie Conquerors, Due to Find Opposition Bitter and Going Rough

There is no pumpkin in the Southwest football patch at large, unless it be the Longhorn-Farmer annual tilt, as the one which will be put on exhibition in the varsity stadium Saturday, but it won't be pie for Texas nor Baylor. Rivalry between Texas and Baylor is at white heat, and the varsity trampled on last week by Rice will be no bed of roses for the Bears this week-end. Doc Stewart and psychology of the underdog will attend to that.

The Longhorns are not in such a bad plight as far as injuries have taken their toll. Doubtless the Bears are worse off. And the same mental attitude which carried Texas into the Florida contest two weeks ago to a 7-7 tie will be evident in the affair with Baylor. Texas believed itself a three-touchdown better team than Rice, and thereby hinges to an extent a sad, sad tale. Every conference fan knows just how the Owls exploded that theory, a mental attitude manufactured after the Florida tilt.

Now the bears, conquerors of Dana's Aggies by a 13-7 count, possibly will develop this same streak of self-assured superiority, and there Bridges' athletes will place themselves in a fair way to fall prey to the desperate Orange and White eleven backed up on its own gridiron battling furiously to atone for two defeats already besmirching the varsity escutcheon this season

* * * * * * * * *

Truly psychology will play the winning hand in this great conference struggle.

* * * * * * * * *

Centre's Old Attitude.

Psychology plays a great part in the winning and losing of any sort of contest.

The proper mental attitude is everything, but no one can say offhand just what that proper mental attitude is.

Too much confidence, like too little, is injurious. Yet some will thrive on confidence, an overabundance of it, while others must always prepare for the worst to appear at their best. And that last state of feeling is the doctrine of Doleful Doc Stewart, Longhorn mentor.

One man's meat is another man's poison, runs an old say, and truer words were never spoken.

Where you must continually drive one to have him at his best, you must let another follow his own inclinations to a great extent.

They say the old Centre college elevens which spilled the nation's football dope for several season's running had an ideal attitude regarding pigskin battles in which big time elevens were scheduled to perform.

* * * * * * * * *

"Let's get them down and see if they really are champions," was the dominant thought. Just big, husky, healthy men, a number of them Texans, with that curious idea Centre certainly shattered a lot of high hopes.

How's This for Real Nerve?

Joe Laird scored the touchdown that gave Penn a victory over Lafayette Saturday afternoon and also the distinction and honor of being the only Eastern college football team which has so far been undefeated and untied.

And Joe Laird played through virtually the whole game with a broken bone in his chest.

Early in the second quarter a Maroon player's cleated boot struck Laird during a particularly fierce scrimmage, and in between the halves the plucky Red and Blue star was attended by Dr. J. A. Carnett, a bone specialist and himself a former Penn grid star.

Then in that third quarter Laird, broken bone and all, featured the play that brought victory to the Red and Blue standards, catching Field's long pass and running 15 yards for the lone touchdown of the game.

No easy feat in itself that catch and run, but with the pain and weakening effect of a broken bone it must have taxed Laird, trained to the minute though he was, to the utmost.

It is no easy thing to put aside the crying nerves and torn tissues of an injury such as the Red and Blue quarterback sustained, yet never once did he falter, and after the play that terminated in the touchdown he continued to give his best until the end of the game.

* * * * * * * * *

Penn's scroll of gridiron heroes was lengthened considerably, but of all the additions, the name of Laird shines the brightest.

McVey Could Never Jab.

Sam Langford, known as far as boxing is, is reminiscing these days.

In one of his recent moments of confidence he uncovered truth which explains much to many boxers.

It was in regard to McVey. When Langford fought him first the bout went 20 rounds. Yet not once did McVey jab Langford.

This struck the latter as peculiar, so at the conclusion of the bout he sauntered over to McVey's dressing room and asked the reason why.

For answer, McVey thrust out both arms. They were shaped like a pair of bowed legs. McVey just couldn't straighten them.

Every time he jabbed or tried to jab a hook resulted. It was impossible for him to do anything else.

* * * * * * * * *

"Which fact I remembered," commented Langford.

Longhorns In Fair Condition For Bear Tilt

Dayvault, Line Captain, Not Expected to Enter Contest

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—The Longhorn team is in fairly good shape following the Rice game with the exception of line captain "Cotton" Frank Dayvault who injured his shoulder during the contest and in all probability will be unable to enter the contest Saturday. The Rice team was unable to make any substantial gains through the Texas line Saturday and the absence of one linesman will not greatly hamper the team Saturday. Rice scored her touchdowns on forward passes, the department that Texas in the past has been unable to defend herself.

Backfield Question.

Just who will start in the backfield is a matter of guess work. Beyond a doubt Captain Jim Marley will be at fullback as he is without a peer in the Southwestern conference when it comes to a line plunge. Bertie Foster probably will be at quarter as he has been displaying a good brand of football, but at halves it is a matter of guesst work again. Stewart has Stuart Wright and Schuhardt who many contend are as good as Marley. Still others contend that these two are not in the same class with the sensational Blue Smith and Freddy Thompson, the brilliant young halfback who has been developing rapidly this fall. Clint, Slover, Sailor Shearer and Homer Toland are also possible.

Different Spirit.

It will be a different Longhorn team that plays Saturday than that team that was overwhelmingly defeated by Rice last Saturday. Up to the start of the game with the Owls the Longhorns were still playing over in their minds the great game with the Florida eleven. They went into the Rice contest picked to win by three touchdowns and lost. Saturday they will go into the contest with Baylor, leading the conference, as the underdogs.

The old men on the Longhorn team have not forgotten the tie game at Baylor last year and are determined to fight hard.

Victories—Nebraska 4, Notre Dame 4. Tie game 1.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 5.—The Hibernian peril, is looming large and ominous across Nebraska's football horizon just now. Can the Cornhuskers of 1924, the greenest, lightest gridiron aggregation wearing Nebraska moleskins in 20 years or more, defeat the thrilling upsets of Knute Rookne's Fighting Irish in the past two campaigns in the pigskin sport? Can these same Cornhuskers, who persistently balked Red Grange Illinois flash, in the season's inaugural and later permitted themselves to be tripped up by the Oklahoma Sooners, again accomplish the unexpected, threatening a foe which turned back both Army and Princeton in the eastern region of the footballing realm?

Large Assignment.

These are pressing questions which Nebraska adherents are asking today. The logical answer is the Cornhuskers, have bitten off a bit more than they can masticate—the dope reads that Nebraska more than likely is unequal to the assignment and that the Huskers of '24 will take a defeat in the conflict dated for Saturday, November 15, on South Bend soil.

The only factor in Nebraska's favor is that Coach Fred Dawson's Cornhuskers will be enjoying a vacation from gridiron toil this week, giving them two full weeks to prepare for the Hibernians, while the Rockne clan must go into battle with the Wisconsin Badgers at Madison. A stiff combat with the Badgers, which appears to be probable, may bruise and batter the Irish warriors—a phase of the situation which at least slightly boosts Nebraska stock.

Huskers Confident.

Despite the almost unanimous prediction that Nebraska's unexperienced gridsters are headed for defeat in the fray on Hoosier sod, interest in the conflict is keen in the Cornhusker camp. Excursion trains will convey several hundred Nebraska supporters from Lincoln and Omaha—a manifestation that Huskar adherents intend to stay back of their team. Similar enthusiasm is reported from South Bend, where every seat for the Cornhusker-Irish encounter was sold six weeks ago.

AGGIE INTRAMURAL SPORTS UNDERWAY

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 5.—The gigantic intramural athletic program which has been carefully and thoroughly worked out by the new department of physical education to extend the benefits of organized play and regular physical exercise to the entire student body of the A. & M. college of Texas was well started this week with the beginning of the interbattalion basketball leagues.

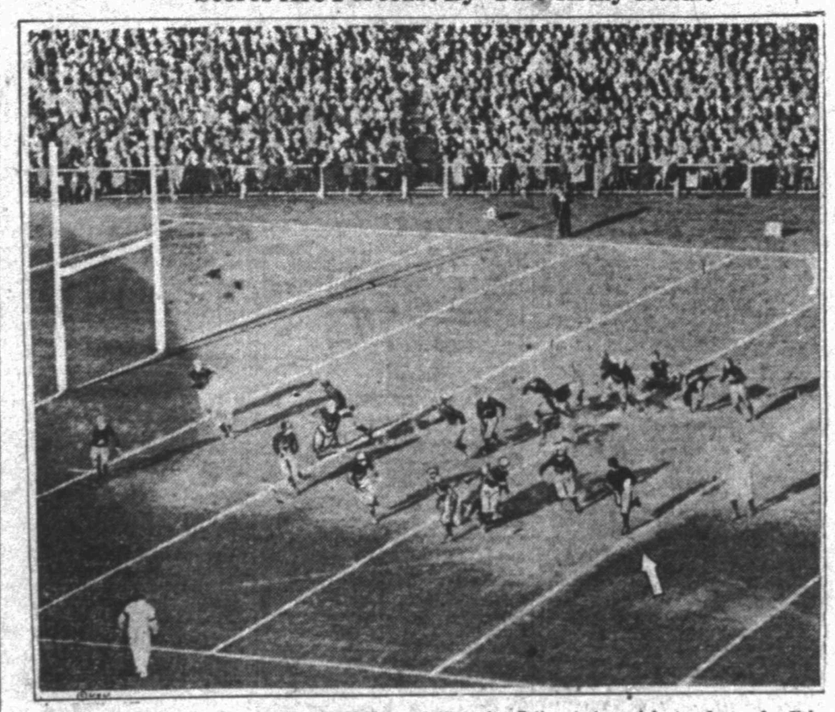

Here's one for Wichita Falls golfers to digest. Did you know that followers of the Ancient and Royal in Scotland very often during the month of June are enabled to play right up to nearly 11 o'clock at night before old Sol sinks too far below the horizon for there to be enough light on the subject?

Illinois Seen As Big Ten Champs After Iowa Victory

Illinois is now considered certain to cop the "Big Ten" grid title as a result of its impressive 36 to 0 victory over Iowa. "Red" Grange, Illini star, did not make any marathon runs for touchdown, but did score two markers and gained almost at will. His forward-passes were responsible for other points. He is shown in a dash in the third quarter just before he was downed by Speed of Iowa. A little later it took three tackles to bring him down, as seen in the insert.

Scores Are Forecast By Yale-Army Result

View of Army-Yale game. Arrow points to Failing, substitute for Cotter, trying vainly to advance for Yale. Four yards lost on the play.

Yale will beat Princeton by one touchdown when they meet Nov. 15.

The Army will have the edge on the Navy by one touchdown when they clash in Baltimore, Nov. 29.

That is, if comparative scores mean anything.

The Yale-Army game, which resulted in a 7 to 7 tie after two hours of battling before a crowd of 80,000 in the Yale bowl the other day, furnishes an interesting basis on which to figure the chances of the forthcoming games mentioned—with the deductions noted.

Notre Dame whipped the Army 13 to 7.

Yale and the Army fought a 7 to 7 tie.

Which would give Notre Dame a 6 to 0 edge on Yale.

But Notre Dame trounced Princeton 12 to 0.

Which would give Yale a lead of one touchdown on Princeton.

So that game's settled.

As for the Army-Navy tilt.

Notre Dame's 12 to 0 victory over Princeton and—

Notre Dame's 13 to 7 victory over the Army

Indicate that the Army would be a 7 to 0 victor over Princeton.

Princeton nosed out a 17 to 14 victory over the Navy—proved itself three points stronger.

Which makes Army a 10 to 0 victor over the Annapolis team.

The score of the Bulldog-Mule tilt does not indicate clearly the comparative strength of the two teams, however. Yale's lone touchdown was due to a 48-yard run by Ducky Pond in the first quarter. Army outplayed the Blue through most of the game. The West Pointers tied the score by conducting a steady, driving attack against the Yale line.

Yale, however, showed a deceptive attack which will fool the Princeton team unless it plays a more wide awake game than it has shown to date. Yale's weakness was in its line.

BREAKS OF THE GAME

By BILL BRUCE

Think how lucky Philadelphia fans are. The St. Louis bugs are all excited for fear Rogers Hornsby won't sign up. His three years' contract ran out with the late-lamented 1924 season, and the impression is around that Rogers wants a half-interest in the Cardinals for his next three years' recompense.

There is one Detroit citizen who is glad the Tygers didn't win the pennant. He's a billiard parlor Proprietor who last summer had a job which kept him in Washington most of the time. Name of Nemo Leibold.

Fred Ford, after a careful analysis, says that the two best football teams in the country this year are Notre Dame and Notre Dame's second varsity.

"The greatest lefthand pitcher I ever saw," is what Jack Dunn, Baltimore mogul, says of Lefty Grove. This means something, for among the lefthanded pitchers Dunnie has sold to the majors was Babe Ruth, Class of 1914.

Groves will be right at home with the A's. He got his baseball start at Martinsburg, where the Blue Ridge league is bluest and the latchstring is always out for a Mackian recruit.

Early McNeely, Sacramento boy, also a big-leaguer freshman, got some more world series spoils when the home folks lit into him. Watch, watch chain, penknife, automobile and a membership in an exclusive country club. Earle will be remembered as the boy whose hot grounder hopped over Freddie's head in the last seconds of the 1924 classic.

Will Walt Step Out?

Will Walter Johnson step out of the big show as long as Clark Griffith continues to offer him the salary he now draws and Walt himself faces the chance of equalling Cy Young's greeat record of pitching 22 years in the big show?

There are two temptations that are hard to resist.

ABOUT MAYWOOD.

Since his dismal showing with Duke Trammel two months back in which he fouled the Fort Worth boy, Ray Maywood has been going pretty good in rings of other cities In Oklahoma City Maywood has gone over well, especially. There he won two bouts by knockouts, and completely outboxed another battler in a third. But that foul blow to Trammel still rankles in the minds of many Wichita Falls fans, and that is the reason the American legion hopes to substitute Dago Ryan for Maywood in the bout with Jimmy Guest tonight.

Walter Johnson has picked an all-star major league baseball team covering the years he has been in the game. The outfield is the onyl modern division. Johnson's choice is as follows: Outfielders, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and Babe Ruth; first base, Hal Chase; second base, Napoleon Lajoie; third base, Jimmy Collins; shortstop, Tucker Turner; catcher, Charley Street; pitcher, Rube Waddell. Do you remember all these old-timers?

"The strategy of John McGraw must be recognized as that of the best, we all must admit, but the breaks of the recent world series prove that a team composed mostly of young blood and full of pep and after something that seemed almost unbelievable and something that was never before realized by a team representing Washington since its debut into the American league, was more than "Mugsy" could figure out. I believe the Senators just could not be beaten by the Giants or any other team under the same conditions," declares W. F. Thompson, Wichita Falls baseball expert.

Red Raley Hooks Up Earl Griffin In Four-Round Scrap

Wichita Falls fight fans have long called for new blood on the weekly legion fight cards, so they're going to get it tonight when Johnny Simpson of San Antonio steps with Roughouse Smith of McAlester in the 12-round main event. Both boys are rugged scrappers, and each has been going good. Smith's best introduction to local fans is the fact that he defeated Hamp Brown not so long ago.

Another Bat Nelson?

Simpson has won his last eight bouts by knockouts, and is heralded by his enthusiastic followers as another Battling Nelson. The San Antonio battler cleaned up everything in the Alamo City with such gusto that it became hard for him to obtain opponents, it is said, so now he's looking for new fields in which to display his wares. He is touted as a clean but willing scrapper who will always make a good fight of it. This boy has squared off with a number of the best, always giving a good account of himself. He lists among his past opponents the following: Frankie Mason, Phil Cox, Kid Thomson, Chuck Snyder, Sam Riley, Pete Knoble, Rabbit Palmer, Jack Tolar, George Hudson, Church Burns, Lightning Chinke, Johnny Adamson, Donald Greer, Jack Dillon, Battling Ludeck, Sam Rico, Billy Sweet, Jackie Moore, Tex Jones and Mickey Cromwell.

Wichita Slim on Card.

Promotor Wofford declared yesterday evening that he hopes to substitute Dago Ryan of Waco for Ray Maywood in the ten-round semi-final with Jimmy Guest of Houston. Ryan is an old favorite with Wichita Falls fistic followers, and his return to the local ring after an absence of several months doubtless is pleasant news for those fans.

Battling Jennings of Henrietta is matched with Kid Snyder of Burkburnett for an eight-rounder. Red Raley is to meet Earl Griffin in a four-round bout. Wichita Slim and Black Boy Smith are billed for a four-round opener.

VARSITY STUDENTS RALLY TO SUPPORT OF FOOTBALL TEAM

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—Approximately 3,000 students assembled at Clark field, the historical University of Texas athletic grounds, Monday night and after holding a farewell ceremony on the field moved in a body to the mammoth Texas Memorial stadium and took formal possession. Smarting under the recent defeat at the hands of the Rice Owls the student body at the university has raillied to the support of the team and the spirit being shown is greater than has ever been displayed on the campus.

Tags with "Open that Stadium Right—Beat Baylor" are being printed to the extent of 5,000 and every student in the university will wear one of them for the remainder of the week.

MAYWOOD BOXES TUCKER.

Wichita Falls Battler Substitutes For Hamp Brown.

Ray Maywood, Wichita Falls scrapper who was to have battled Jimmy Guest here tonight, will fight in Amarillo instead, with Frankie Tucker of Shreveport. Hamp Brown had been matched to meet Tucker, but will not be on hand for the bout, so the local boxer intends to substitute.

Junior Coyotes Invade Burk This Afternoon

Three, Possibly Four, Stars Will Not Enter Game

Wichita Falls' junior high school eleven will invade Burkburnett this afternoon minus three of its stars. R. Taylor, guard, will be out of the game because of an injury to a foot. Tabby Levine, end and quarterback, and Dale Bollen, end, have been suspended from the squad by Coach Montgomery for failure to show up regularly at practice sessions. G. Taylor, center, is suffering with a number of broken ribs, but expects to enter the contest regardless. The rest of the squad seems to be in fairly good condition.

Both teams have been eliminated from the state class B race, but the Burk eleven is ruled a favorite to down the Pups.

The probably starting lineup for the Wichita Falls team is left end, H. Herndon; left tackle, Tollet; left guard, Parker; center, Miller; right guard, Ferris; right tackle, Martin; right end, Strange; quarterback, Hicks; left half, Walker; right half, Horten; fullback, Francis.

Caskey Out Of Go With Tigers Here Saturday

Mosley Has Trouble With Both of His Halfback Positions

The Junior college Indians without the services of Mike Caskey at one of the halfback positions Saturday in the game with Electra high school here will be sorely handicapped. Caskey, one of the outstanding moleskinners of the squad has been kept from practice in the past two days because of an infected shin, and doubtless will be in no condition to don football togs by the week-end. This lad has been a power especially on defense, and has looked good on offense in previous contests, and his services certainly will be missed. It is doubtful if Coach Mosley can find a player to fill Caskey's shoes anything like as strong as Caskey himself.

Keevil, Caskey's running mate at the other half, may be handicapped to an extent. Keevil injured his left hand in practice Wednesday. He probably will be in the starting lineup, nevertheless, but the hurt may pull down his playing average a bit.

The juniors are expecting a hard battle with the Tigers and the absence of a single regular will be melt very much. The game is scheduled to begin at 3 o'clock.

How should the driving swing be finished after the ball is hit

Answered by
BILL STRACHAN
Wichita Falls Country Club Golf Professional

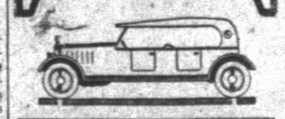

The most important part of the driving swing is just before the ball is hit. At this point, confidence is essential. After the ball has been hit, however, "swing through" at arm's length, in direction of line of flight taken by the ball—after that, nothing matters. Posing at the end of a swing is fine for pictures, but it doesn't help to hit the ball.

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

Both Stubby and Button were caught by the motion picture people in the last story.

"You old scamp, you, take that for giving us all this trouble," said the director as he gave Button a slap on each ear. "Take them and lock them up in my office until we are ready for them, but be sure no windows are open for them to crawl through. And then lock the door and bring the key to me," he commanded.

When they were locked in the office, they sat and looked at each other for a few minutes without saying a word. Then Stubby said, "well, I guess wer are in for it now, and will have to go through the performance. But I'll give you my word right now that if that pale-faced, sissy looking man abuses me in the play I will bite him so he will never abuse a dog again, either in a play or out of it."

"I shall follow your example, and when that painted actress holds me up to kiss my nose, I shall strike out with all fours and with one paw I shall pull off her wig while I scratch a long red mark down the middle of her face at the same time I claw her neck with my hind paws."

"Oh, have mercy, Button," exclaimed Stubby. "One scratch and pulling off her wig will be enough."

"No, it isn't for having to be kissed by that homely old thing. She is fifty if she is a day. And here she is passing for a young miss of eighteen. Ugh! I can't stand it. Isn't there some way we can get out of this room?".

"I'm afraid not as all the windows are closed and the door is locked."

Presently they heard some one coming along the hall and as they listened they distinguished the footsteps of Snub and Nick, and heard Snub say:

"Now, you nigger, be careful and don't let either of them slip by you when you open the door, for if you do, you will be a dead nigger in ten minutes, for if I don't kill you, Mr. Dates will. He ain't in any humor to put up with any nonsense from you or from those animals either."

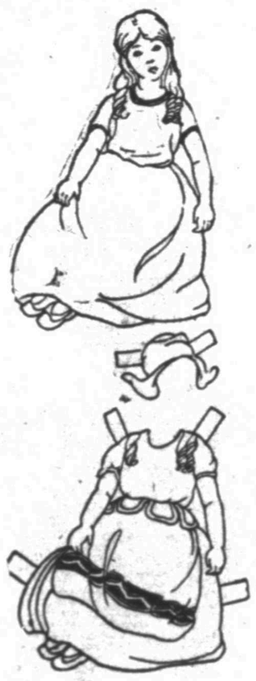

Look out there, Snubb. You are spilling that milk for the cat. Never mind trying to squint through the keyhole to see where they are, for they be so mighty quick even if they was t'other side of the room they could get out afore you could shut the door. I'll stand close to you so as to ketch airy one what tries to jump out."

"Now is our chance!" whispered Button. "The minute the door is open wide enough for you to squeeze through, make a jump and trust to luck to getting through.

"So, ho! you two thought you was so almighty smart you would get out, didn't you? Well, your smart days are over an' your workin' days hev come. Hear that? Now be a sensible cat and eat the good dinner I bring you and then I'll slick your fur up with scented hair oil and make you all shiny like my heel afore I tie this har red ribbon round your neck that the missus told me to tie in a big sticky-up bow like the little gals year on their hair.

(Wouldn't you like to see Stubby and Button when they were all dressed up for their part in the picture?)

Color Cut-Outs

Here's a little doll from Holland;
Betty Cut-out dressed her thus;
Such a simple little costume,
Not a bit of fluff and fuss.

Like the little doll from Sweden,
Golden curls adorn her head;
Make her eyes as blue as gentians,
Lips and cheeks a rosy red,

In blue (and choose a shade that's dainty),
Dolly should be neatly dressed;
Leave all white her cap and apron;
Cut her out to join the rest.

Betty Cut-out's room at school is giving a show of dolls of different countries, dressed just exactly as they would look if they were alive and lived in the countries represented. Betty's class is doing this to help them with their geography. Tomorrow the doll will be from Spain.

One Mother Says:

We keep all the large glasses in which we buy peanut butter, and when there is a left-over cereal such as farina, graham mush, or rice, we fill them with the cereal when it is still warm. When cold it can be sliced and browned in a skillet. In very cold weather it is nice to add to the cereal bits of left-over roast pork or bacon chopped fine.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—The cotton market after ruling easier during the morning on generally good weather in the belt and fears that the forthcoming government reports would prove bearish particularly as to ginnings, firmed up sharply in the afternoon. All the early loss was recovered and the final results showed a slight net gain for the day.

At the start the market was disposed to be firm on the result of the presidential election yesterday and first trades showed gains of 18 to 20 points with December and January at 23.18 and March at 23.45. These prices proved to be the high points of the day. Prices soon weakened on fair hedge selling, good weather and bearish views as to the crop and the total ginnings to November first and before the decline was checked December traded as low as 22.48, January at 22.49 and March at 22.77, or 50 to 52 points down from the initial highs. The market rallied well in the afternoon on continued strength of the stock and grain markets, rather more moderate estimates by private authorities both on the crop and ginnings, and covering by shorts due to the strength of stocks and grain. Prices rallied at most to the early highs and the close showed net gains for the day of 5 to 8 points.

The apparent early indifference of the cotton market to the results of the election was due mainly to fears as to what the government reports due Saturday would show. Many traders entertain crop views of about 13,000,000 bales and look for total ginning to the end of October to be 10,000,000 bales.

COTTON LETTER
New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—Cotton lost 52 points in the early trading on selling induced largely by large crop estimates and forecasts of heavy ginning, but recovered all of it and a little more in the afternoon when early sellers tried to cover. Closing sales showed a few points net gain. Several private estimates were issued during the day ranging from 12,100,000 to 13,000,000, with most of them predicting from 12.6 to 12.8.

Ginnings of 9,750,000 was also predicted by one of the bureaus compared with 7,600,000 on October 18.

All of the estimates issued with the exception of ours appear to be based on the government's statement of acreage planted without allowing for the 1,900,000 acres which it admits was abandoned during the year. We deducted the abandoned acreage from the government acreage figures in making our estimate of 12,110,000. It is due to this fact alone that it is 500,000 to 600,000 bales under the other.

Direct estimates from our correspondents made without the use of the government's formula or condition indicates their belief in a crop of 11,935,000.

Spot news was good, there was very little hedging and the buoyancy of the stock market tended to stimulate buying. Professional sentiment is mostly bearish but the firmness of spot holders is a sustaining factor.—Fenner and Beane to Flowerree and Co.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Declines from an opening advance were checked by an increased trade demand around the 23c level for March contracts in the cotton market today and prices rallied in consequence, March selling up from 22.95 to 23.58 and closing at 23.55. The general market closed steady at net advances of 12 to 22 points on the more active positions, while October was 65 points higher.

The market opened firm at an advance of seven to 14 points on all months except November and August which were 35 to 38 points higher on steady Liverpool cables, trade buying and covering. The early demand was soon supplied by hedge selling which seemed to have accumulated over election day and the market eased off under this pressure combined with liquidation and local selling. The latter may have been promoted by the failure of demand to broaden immediately after the elections and by private ginning and crop figures.

As prices eased off trade buying became a little more active, however, and after selling down to 22.55 for December and 22.63 for January, or about 40 to 52 points net lower, the market turned stronger on covering.

December sold up to 23.15 and January to 23.32 and the market closed within 4 or 5 points of the best.

A private report estimated ginning to November 1 at 9,740 bales, and placed the crop indication at 12,580,000 bales. Three others reports carried conflicting crop indications one of them being as low as 11,935,000 bales while another placed the probable yield between 12,900,000 and 13,000,000 bales.

Exports today 6,121, making 2,173,728 so far this season. Port receipts 43,228. U. S. port stocks 1,153,103.

Grain

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Post election bulges in prices for all grain developed quietly today. On some transactions, wheat showed an advance of as much as five cents a bushel. Improved export demand both for wheat and rye was apparent. Wheat closed firm 2⅜ to 4½c higher, December 1.43⅝ to 1.43¾ and May 1.50 to 1.50¼, with corn 1⅝ to 2c up, and oats at 1¼ to 1½c gain, but provisions unchanged to 30c lower. Prospects of wet cold weather likely to delay huskings was of some effect in lifting corn and oats.

Packers selling of lard weighed down the provision market.

GRAIN LETTER

CHICAGO, Nov. 5—Wheat: Maintained a strong undertone throughout today's session and closed within half a cent of the top. Around midday it was reported that Winnipeg had worked two million bushels wheat for export over the holiday and that there was a good demand for spring wheat for export from our own northwest. Seaboard also reported fifty thousand barrels flour worked. This news of export business stimulated buying and prices advanced rapidly, meeting little resistance aside from that which came from profit taking. Shipping sales 65,000 bushels. Canadian weather unfaborable. Liverpool and Winnipeg futures sharply higher.

Corn—Considerable realizing on upturn, but responded to the strength in wheat and further advance in spot premiums. Cash basis ¾ cent up relative to futures. Weather favorable, forecast unsettled.

Oats—Advanced late with other grains. There was no important pressure and shorts scurried to cover in the last hour. Cash ¾c up.—Jackson Bros. to Flowerree and Co.

Financial

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—One of the most impressive buying demonstrations of recent years, which carried nearly two score stocks to new peak prices for the year on a turnover of nearly one and three-quarter million shares was Wall Street's response today to the sweeping republican victory in yesterday's presidential election.

Net gains in many active issues ranged from one to three and a half points despite the unusually heavy volume of profit taking which the market was called upon to absorb.

Buying orders poured into the market from all sections of the country throughout the day. They were well distributed throughout the general list, but when it became apparent that the republicans probably would have a working majority in both branches of congress, an outburst of buying took place in the rails which assumed the leadership of the advance. Accumulation of the carriers was based on a belief that the safety of the transportation act of 1920 was assured and that the consummation of pending railroad mergers would be hastened with added stimulus derived from the fact that freight car loadings for the week ended October 25 again had set a new high record for all time.

Fifteen rails attained new 1924 peak prices, including New York Central, Atchison, Atlantic Coast line, Missouri Pacific common and preferred. "Katy" common and preferred, Rock Island seven per cent preferred, Wabash "A" and Seaboard Air Line. "Big Four" soared ten points to 142.

Nickel Plate and Jersey Central each showed net gains of 5½ points and many others closed one to three and a half points higher on the day.

Industrial shares appeared to have gone farther in discounting President Coolidge's election than the rails, the advance in that group being a more orderly one.

U. S. steel common unchanged at 109⅝ after having sold as high as 113¼. Baldwin, which touched 123 around the middle of the season later fell back to 121⅝ for a net gain of ⅛. American Can established the highest price in its history at 141⅝ and then eased to 140, up 2⅝.

Textile shares showed a tendency to heaviness on the announcement of a cut in prices by the Amoskeag Co.

Call money renewed at 1½ per cent and then advanced to three. The time money market was slightly firmer with business quiet. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

The feature of the foreign exchange market was the sharp rise of 3c in sterling which established a new high for the year at $4.56⅝. France yielded slightly and other European showed mixed changes.

Baptist Young Peoples' Union Meets Tuesday

Reports at Session Show Good Growth of All Organizations

Seventy-five young people of the First Baptist Young People's unions, including the officers and executives, met at the church Tuesday night in a monthly business session. It was reported that there are now eleven unions in the church, four juniors, four intermediates, and three seniors, growing from four unions organized at this time in 1923.

It was planned in the business session to conduct a study course to be held early in December. The county B. Y. P. U. convention will be held at this church November 30, and plans were discussed on entertaining the guests who are here for that occasion.

Luncheon was served to the young people by members of the T. E. L. class with Mrs. A. F. Kimmell in charge. A program consisting of music and readings was given by Misses Margaret Brown, Edna Rundell and Lois Baber.

Delegates will be sent to the state B. Y. P. U. convention to be held at Fort Worth November 27, 28 and 29, according to plans made Tuesday night.

Eighteen sponsors and leaders are working with this group of young people who have an enrollment of nearly two hundred.

Following the reports, a brief business session will be held and the departmental conferences held.

Gulf Pipeline Co. Will Lay 4-Inch Line to New Central Archer Co. Pool

The Gulf Pipeline company will begin the construction at once of a 6-mile four-inch pipeline to the Lincoln-Strong et al well on the Oil Investment company fee, John Richards survey, northwest of Archer City. The four-inch line will be an extension of the Gulf's main Wilmot pool line, north of Geraldine.

The line will handle the oil from the new well and also be able to take care of prospective production of the Gulf Production company, preparing to offset the discovery well to the east.

Wells-Guiberson, Wharton

Wells and Guiberson started up drilling deeper yesterday on their No. 1, Wharton, southeast corner of section 99, H&TCRR survey, block 14, but the sand caved so badly that little progress was made. Prior to placing the bit in the hole the depth was measured again, the results showing that since the semi-completion last September, the well had drilled itself in two more feet and that the bottom of the hole is now 2,016 feet.

In the last two weeks the interval between heads had increased somewhat, and while no accurate guage has been obtained of production, due to congested condition of the tanks, it is believed that this has increased.

Following the agitation in the well yesterday the well made a head of about 25 minutes duration altogether, showing a flow somewhere around a 100 barrels an hour before quieting down for the regular interval.

No. 2, a location west, is drilling at about 800 feet.

Schmocher, Waggoner

Ernest Schmocher will start immediately to move on a standard rig and clean out the old Pyramid Royal well in the north half of section 52, H&TCRR, block 2, about a mile and a half west of the old Sigler group, Wilbarger county. It is believed that a small well can be made from the 2,000-foot level in this well, although abandoned as a hopeless job some time ago. Casing is still in the hole, and it is believed that 10 days will suffice for the job, such as it is.

The well is located in the center of a string of three marked dry on the map, one of the groups that surround the Sigler efforts.

Schmocher has also obtained a lease on the 80 acres on which these wells are located, the north half of the northwest ¼ of section 52, and is obligated to start at once on a cable tools test here.

Lincoln, Strong et al, O. I. Co.

Lincoln and Strong et al well on the Oil Investment company land, John Richards survey, is reported to have been swabbed for several hours yesterday at rate of around 300 barrels a day, sand 1,104-1,106 feet. Much interest is being manifested in this well, due to the large expanse of untested acreage around it, and its showing for a nice producer at a shallow depth.

Humble, Waggoner

Humble Oil and Refining company has taken a drilling contract and 320 acres from R. I. More, Waggoner estate, Vernon, and will start at once on a cable tools test to be located on a half section formed out of 80-acre tracts in the corners of sections 51, 52, 53, and 54, block 2, several miles east of the South Vernon production.

Waite Phillips

Waite Phillips No. 2, Wilson, William Horrits survey, abstract 646, south of the discovery well in northwest Archer county, pumped 125 barrels for the initial 24 hours' guage after being placed on the pump, sand at around 1,537-39 feet.

No. 3, Wilson, across the survey line to the north and east is shut down at 1,900 feet and will be abandoned there.

F. F. Hardesty, Hausler

F. F. Hardesty has spudded and is drilling at about 200 feet on No. 1, Hausler, southeast corner of the furtherest west of the Hausler tracts in the J. Standerford survey, abstract 394, west of the Panhandle-Knight-Hines pool, south Archer county.

Egger-Krog, Hausler

Egger and Krog had around 500 feet of fluid in the hole in their No. 1, Hausler, located between the Panhandle-Knight-Hines pool and the Carey group yesterday. Thomas McCoy survey, block 17, and were reported to be drilling a little deeper in the sand, exact depth not given out.

Humble Tanks

The Humble Oil and Refining company was moving material to their South Vernon lease yesterday afternoon for the immediate erection of their two 55,000-barrel steel storage tanks to go up there, southwest quarter of section 83.

Still No Trace Of Bank Thieves, Officers Report

Fifth Day of Search Brings No Trace of Men Who Looted Dundee Bank

DENY CAR IS FOUND

County Officials Still Busy In Search of Men Who Got $2,000

With the search swinging into the fifth day, county officers engaged in the hunt for the bandits who last Saturday looted the First State bank of Dundee of approximately $2,000 declared yesterday that they were still unable to unearth clues which would give promise of apprehending the culprits in the immediate future. While they reiterated that they were still busy in prosecuting the search, they stated that the bandits were still at large.

Not withstanding the fact that apparently reliable word had reached here that the touring car owned by D. M. Harmon of this city and in which the robbers are thought to have made their escape after looting the bank had been located, knowledge of this is disclaimed in official circles.

APPRAISAL STARTS MONDAY.

Considerable Wichita Falls Aid To Be Employed.

Appraisal of Wichita Falls property for tax assessment will begin Monday, according to J. B. Stoner of Manufacturers Appraisal company, to which the city has awarded the contract.

Considerable Wichita Falls aid will be employed, said Stoner, in addition to three assistants which will be brought from the company offices at San Antonio. The work at first will consist of checking the city tax books and other available data. Before the month is out the workers are to take the field visiting all property in the city.

40-Carat Diamond Located.

It has been learned that near Murfreesboro, Arkansas, a 40-carat blue white diamond was unearthed in the Pike county mine of a diamond mining corporation there. The heaviest diamond previously found in those mines weighed 20 carats and was sold for $2,500. The weight of the new diamond is 6.48 ounces.

This Horse Took Offensive.

In most cases of accidents between automobiles and horse-drawn vehicles, the power vehicle gets blamed for the offensive, but at Glasgow, Ky., Sidney Holman was seriously hurt when a frightened horse plunged into an automobile in which he was riding, careened into the seat and out the back end, crushing Holman in the process.

Hungry Fish Ring Bell.

At Port Logan, in Galloway, England, is a rock pool where fish are kept and trained so that they will poke their heads out of the water to take from human hands such delicacies as are offered. The haddock and cod are especially amenable to this training. Minnows in the English private pools have been taught to ring a bell when they are in want of food.

"Love Tap" Brings a Fine

Arthur Gibson of Iron Mountain, Mich., was fined $10 in a justice court for having slapped the face of his sweetheart. He argued to the court that the slap was meant as a sign of affection but neither the girl nor the court believed him.

The Old Home Town

Harry G. Jones of Dallas is a business visitor in the city.

Ray Knauer of the Nash Hardware Co., of Fort Worth, was in Wichita Falls on business Wednesday.

Judge R. O. Kenley has gone to New York and Chicago and other eastern cities for a two weeks business trip.

Judge Orus O. Ross, who was stricken with serious illness four weeks ago, continues to improve slowly, according to latest reports, but is allowed no visitors.

Peter Ames Vincent, regisseur of the Wichita Falls Little Theatre Players leaves today for Galveston to be gone thirty days, after which he will return to direct and present "The Ship," the cast for which has been selected.

Lights on the great white way of Wichita Falls have refused to burn the past three or four nights. The reason, according to the Electric company last night, is because of a short circuit. Work to remove the short is going on, and it is expected that the circuit will be all right by noon today.

Sea Survey Planned.

Several allied institutions, co-operating with the United States government are projecting the most complete survey ever made of the oceans of the earth. One or more ships fitted with latest scientific equipment will not only map the bottom of the ocean but will study the composition of the water, its density, temperature and map out currents which affect the distribution of marine plant and animal life. Five-sevenths of the earth's surface is covered with water and this water area can produce more food than all the land can ever be made to yield, it is said.

Dead Language Still Popular.

Latin still is far in the lead among the languages studied at the secondary schools, although the last few years have seen a persistent movement against the teaching of Latin and Greek in the schools and colleges of the United States. The American Classical league has recently announced there are 940,000 students in the secondary schools studying Latin and 11,000 studying Greek. The Latin students comprise 25.5 per cent of the enrollment. About 80 per cent of the 20,500 secondary schools offer one or more foreign languages.

X-Rays Reveal Steel Flaws.

At the International Steel exposition held in Boston in September, the X-ray as a medium to determine flaws in steel was demonstrated in connection with the casting of the mammoth guns of war that form the nation's bulwarks of defense. By the use of the X-ray flaws that have heretofore caused tragic gunnery accidents will be detected, it is asserted. Dr. H. H. Lester of the Watertown arsenal did the research work. Steel scientists from all over the world were in attendance at the exposition.

To Save Wild Water Fowl.

According to Dr. W. E. Nelso, chief of the bureau of biological survey of the United States government, the number of wild water fowl is gradually decreasing, but there are still more wild waterfowl today than there are feeding grounds for them. Ducks get about 93 per cent of their food from vegetation and wild geese get 97 per cent. A move is on to establish feeding grounds for them. Owners of such tracts are urged to sow wild rice, pondweed, red head grasses, wild celery, spatterdock and muskgrass for the benefit of these fowl.

$20,000 Book Steadies Table.

An Antwerp art collector, with an observing eye, spotted a book under a table leg in a shack where he had climbed the stairs hunting for rare antiques. The woman in whose house the volume was sighted offered him a chair while he recovered his breath from the climb and on examining the book he found it to be bound in human skin. He obtained the work from the woman who could neither read nor write and sold it for $20,000, half of which he then gave to the woman, it is said.

Electricity From Mineral Veins.

F. R. Woodward, for the last 38 years active in mine development in Colorado, has worked out a method of extracting electrical energy from the mineral veins of the earth, he says. By his system inexhaustible supplies of the energy, enough for the billions of people of the civilized world, will be available through storage batteris of gigantic proportions which his plan encompasses. His plan also involves long distance transmission of the power by wireless. His discovery was accidental through finding electrical energy in gold and silver ore. His theory is that it comes from the sun.

Churches to Aid Voting.

A campaign to get all persons over 21 years of age to vote at local and national elections has been inaugurated by the Federal Council of Churches of America. The plan will be made effective through a commission on social service that will endeavor to get all churches to stir up their congregations to vote 100 per cent strong. Every pastor who is affiliated with the council will be called upon to preach at least one sermon on the subject.

Small Town Men Succeed Best.

At the President Day luncheon of an eastern Rotary club recently, the program was given over to stories of success after 40. There were 120 men who testified that at 40 they were failures, whereas at the time of the luncheon they were considered successes, the aggregate number of their employes being 50,000. Their formulas differed widely and among them were: "constant industry," "never work too hard," and "don't do anything that can be put off." It was revealed that four men born in small towns succeed to one in the bigger cities.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified cresote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu.
