Of Life In Trinidad

Couple Relates Experiences

MISSIONARIES FROM TRINIDAD visited in Olton with Mrs. Biggs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Harrod during the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. George Biggs and family have been in Trinidad for the past 4 years. She is the former Marjorie Harrod. Pictured left to right are Joye Harrod, Dan, Marjorie, George, Carol and John Biggs.

Temporary Judge Appointed, Trash Ordinance Discussed

Gas bids were opened Tuesday night as councilmen gathered for a regular meeting.

Turner Oil made the low bid. Council agreed to accept the bid.

The audit for the year ending Sept. 1971 was presented for inspection by councilmen and upon studying it, they approved it and adopted the new budget for 1972.

Due to the illness of City

Judge Bernie Bowden, Mayor Parley Myers had been serving as judge for the past month. He asked the council to appoint a temporary judge, giving Judge Bowden a temporary leave of absence until his health is restored. Robert Dennis, former city judge, was appointed as the temporary judge.

J. W. Goodman made application to have his license renewed to operate a junkyard. Permission was granted and he was praised for his efforts in keeping his yard neat.

Fire Chief Tom Smith appeared before the council with requests from three volunteer firemen to be retired from the fire department. Marshall Stone, David Maxey and Lloyd Blackwell requested that they be retired after having served for 20 years on the department. They were given all rights and privileges as provided by the city, which includes free water and trash hauling.

Fire Chief Smith also stated that he would like permission to make a contact with the county in order that the fire trucks would have insurance in the event that they were called out of town. They are "covered" in Hale County and he was instructed to contact Lamb County officials to see that this insurance could be made available.

Tom Seawright made an appeal to the council on behalf of he and seven other resident owners who are seeking to be tied onto the sewer line of the city.

He was told that a survey had been made and that it was possible to put a sewer line down so that he could tie on, but councilmen asked that he give the city secretary the names of those who would be tied on to the line so that she could check their credit references.

It was brought to the attention of the council that a number of city residents still have only barrels in which to empty their trash. Water Superintendent Orian Hackler said that he had instructed the trash collectors to simply drive right by the barrels, since the ordinance has gone into effect that only trash put into containers of 30 gallons or less would be picked up.

There is no ordinance against having a barrel, but barrels should be used only to burn perishable trash. All cans, bottles and other items that will not burn should be put into 30 gallon or less containers with lids wired on, in order to be in compliance with the ordinance.

The problem of dogs was also brought to the attention of the council again. Mayor Parley Myers stated that the pen to hold the stray dogs was in the process of being built and that they were seeking a dog catcher at this time. Persons interested in the position as dog catcher may apply to Police Chief Ped Hunt. Three dollars per dog will be paid.

Raises for all city employees was the next topic up for discussion, but any action was tabled until the next meeting night.

Area Stops Mapped Out By Bookmobile

Area stops have been planned by High Plains Bookmobile, according to Lorene Sooter, librarian.

The traveling library will be in Olton Saturday, Jan. 22 from 9:45 to 11:45 a. m. A stop at Spade the day before, Jan. 21, will be made from 12 noon until 1:30 p. m. It will then stop at Hart Camp from 1:45 to 2:30 p. m. and move on to Fieldton from 2:45 to 3:30 p. m.

Self-Service Station Open

The newest business in Olton is the Pay & Save Self-Service Gas Station.

Owned by Pay & Save Grocery, the station, located just west of Pay & Save Grocery sells Gulf gasoline.

Both regular and ethyl gasoline is available. A speaker at the pumps is provided for the customer to tell personnel inside the store which he prefers and the pump is turned on. The customer then fills his own gas tank, and at the same times saves money.

Enthusiastically describing their home for the past four years - and, hopefully, their home again in a few months - George and Marjorie Biggs might well be representatives of the local Chamber of Commerce for Port of Spain, Trinidad.

They're not. Officially, that is. However, a brief visit with the ardent couple makes one yearn for packed bags and a plane ticket to the West Indian island.

George and Marjorie Biggs and their children Dan, 14; Carol, nine and John, six are missionaries for the Church of the Nazarene Bible School in Trinidad. The school serves Trinidad and Tabago, Barbados and Guyana. Its graduates become pastors and leaders among their own people.

The Biggs family returned to the States in July on furlough and are awaiting word on re-assignment back in Trinidad. If they are returned to their work there, they will leave in July. Their year in the U. S. has been spent in sharing their experiences and the work of their school with congregations in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Visiting during the holidays with Mrs. Biggs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Harrod, the couple spoke Sunday, Dec. 26, in the local church. Biggs showed slides at the evening worship hour and conducted a question and answer period.

Biggs explained that the missionaries still assigned in Trinidad would be gathered together to celebrate Christmas and to feast on a dinner centered about turkey furnished by his own family.

It is a tradition, he said, that the family leaving on furlough buys the turkey for his fellow missionaries Christmas dinner.

There were pictures of the pink Poul (poo-ee) and yellow Poul trees. The yellow Poul blooms three times a year and "you can almost set your clock by it."

Trinidad produces lots of coffee, cocoa and coconuts.

Showing a slide of native scaling a majestically tall coconut palm, Biggs said that the worker had confided he could climb and "harvest" 15 coconut palms in an hour. An average coconut palm yields approximately 225 fruits per year.

Most coconuts are gathered when green, ends are cut off and the fruit sold for its water. Coconuts sold at this stage bring about twice the amount they would harvested later. The coconut water is sweet, very delicious and the only pure water found in Trinidad. All other water must be boiled.

Cacao trees grow approximately 15 to 20 feet high and their pods produce about 50 cocoa beans.

Trinidad's largest industry is oil. Texaco has its largest refinery outside the U. S. there and refines 850,000 barrels of crude oil per day.

Sugar cane is the island's second leading industry. Sugar cane is planted once every four or five years and is harvested in cycles. One grower harvests in January, another in February and thus until the rainy season begins in June.

In harvesting the cane, the field is set afire and burned until all that remains is a field of stalks. Women cut the stalks and men load and haul the cane to the refinery.

Harvesting the sugar cane must be a fast process, Biggs says, for unless it reaches the refinery within 48 hours after the blades are burned, the can will spoil.

Refined in Trinidad, the sugar is grey and coarse. Imported in the U. S., the sugar is refined two more times.

"And none of that 29 or 39 cent-a-pound turkey, either," he added. Ordered from the U. S. before they came home this summer, the turkey cost about 70 cents per pound. Turkey wings, alone, sell for 25 to 30 cents a pound.

Traditionally, too, the missionaries and their families spend the day after Christmas in an outing at the beach.

Picturing the happenings back in Trinidad, Biggs said "Perhaps they'll gather conch shells". Mussels from the giant conch shells are delicious when fried.

Showing a conch shell, he explained that Hindu priests blow into the shell to "wake up their Gods". They also ring a brass bell in the effort to summon their dead Gods' spirits. "Thank God," Biggs proclaimed, "Christians worship a God who is alive, a God who does not have to be called with a conch shell."

December, January and February are the best months for a visit to the islands. The rainy season has not yet begun and everything is beautiful. Poinsettias bloom prolifically in Trinidad during these months. Biggs' slides transported his listeners to the island of approximately 1800 square miles, or about the size of Delaware. The "church pew traveler" was taken about the tropical paradise seeing sunsets of breath-taking beauty, picturesque mountains and glimpses of native flowers and trees.

Tourism is the third largest industry.

Rice is the staple diet in Trinidad. From the time each sprig is set in the ground all the work is done entirely by hand. The ripened grains are beat out on wood, winnowed and dried on boards on the ground. After drying, the rice is carried to the mill, de-husked and taken back home and stored and then becomes a part of the daily diet.

Trinidad's low lands are the site of Pitch Lake, 95 acres of pure asphalt. The asphalt is picked out, melted and exported. The asphalt lake has gone down about 150 feet in the past 60 years but there's still about six to seven hundred feet left, Biggs said.

The island boasts a very large shrimp fleet, approximately 150 boats. Much of the shrimp is supplied to the United States. Tropical waters offer good fishing.

By School Board

New Drug Policy Adopted

The board of trustees of the Olton Independent school district met in regular session Monday night and accepted the resignation of one teacher; employed another, heard reports from the superintendent on attendance and the lunchroom, amended the budget, reviewed contracts and adopted a new drug policy.

Mrs. Jenny Manuel, biology teacher, offered her resignation which the board accepted and employed Mrs. Robin White to replace Mrs. Manuel.

Superintendent Joe Turner reported that due to the migrant workers moving at this time of year, enrollment was down 43 students. He speculated, however, that it would be up again next month as this is usually the pattern.

In reporting on the lunchroom, Turner stated that federal funds would be coming in that had been held back because of the price freeze. An additional 10¢ per lunch will be granted for the free lunches and an additional 1¢ for all other lunches, making a total of 6¢ per lunch that is paid by the federal government.

The amendment to the budget was made in order to include new entitlements to increase ESEA Title I, ESEA

Title II, NDEA Title II and Special Grants from the government. An additional $5,819 was added to the present funds. Fred Gordon, C.H. McClure and Alvis Fuquay, principals, were all granted a new 2 year contract as was athletic director, Ray Kinnison.

The new drug policy adopted by the board differed very little from the old policy. The old policy read that if a student was found guilty of using drugs that he or she would be expelled for the balance of the SEMESTER and no credits given. The new policy states that the student shall be expelled for the balance of the YEAR, with no credits.

Rural Electrification Program Receives Funds

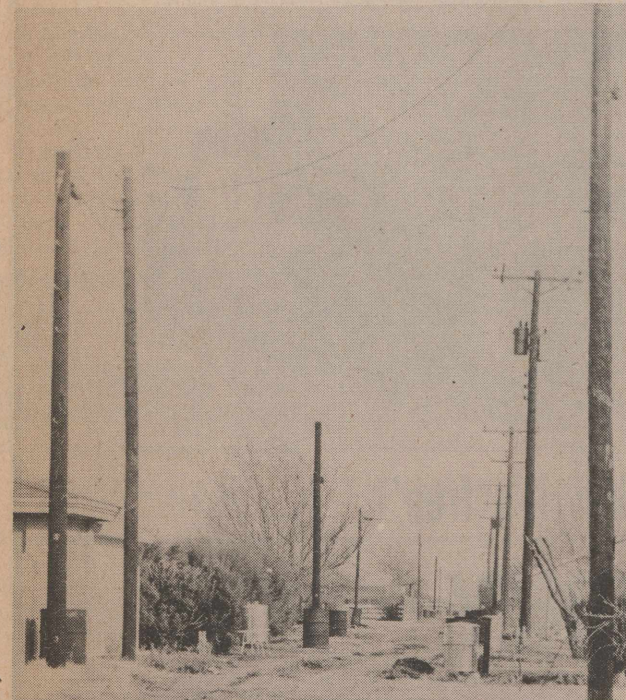

Congressman Bob Price has received word of a White House decision to release an additional $109 million for the electric loan program of the Rural Electrification Administration.

The $109 million is an addition to the budget figure of $329 million which REA has been operating under since the present fiscal year began July 1. Immediate release of the $109 million brings the total for the Rural Electrification Program to $438 million for this fiscal year. Congressman Price in commenting on this announcement said, "I am pleased that the president was able to release these funds which are of great importance to rural residents throughout northwest Texas. I have strongly supported this program in the congress and have continued to urge that the President make these funds available so that progress in the Rural Electrification program will not be delayed."

SETS SCHOOL SCORING RECORD - - Steve Stockdale now has a total of 1020 points, a record for the school. He also is the school's leading rebounder with a total of 712. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stockdale.

TRASH ORDINANCE requiring covered containers of not more than 30 gallons is helping to clean up the alleys in Olton. Although the containers must be used for trash to be picked up, barrels may still be used to burn perishable trash. Cans, bottles and other items which will not burn should be put into the smaller containers. Barrels will not be picked up by the city anymore, in compliance with a city ordinance passed recently.

Sherman Receives Medal For Exceptional Services

The Army Commendation Medal for exceptional service with Ft. Wolters' 328th U. S. Army Band has been given Sergeant Gary B. Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Sherman, Brigadier General Leo E. Soucek, Ft. Wolters commanding general, presented the medal to Sherman, who has since completed his active Army service and now lives with his wife Jack and daughter Lisa in Lubbock.

Sherman, who received his bachelor's degree in music education from Texas Technological University, entered the Army in June, 1969. His wife's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rowe, Arlington Heights, Ill.

The award presented to Sherman read as follows:

"Sergeant Sherman distinguished himself while serving consecutively as Percussionist, Percussion Section Leader, Assistant Band Librarian and Acting Enlisted Bandleader with the 328th Army Band, Fort Wolters, Tex.

"Throughout his tour of duty, Sergeant Sherman willingly accepted duties and responsibilities normally assigned to a bandsman of a higher grade. These duties were accomplished with little supervision. Sergeant Sherman attained a level of performance and competence in his military occupational specialty second to none.

"This fact is attested to by his having earned the highest evaluation score in his MOS for the entire U. S. Army for the 1971 testing cycle. While serving in the position of Acting Enlisted Bandleader, Sergeant Sherman excelled, handling problems and making decisions with all the skill and efficiency of a senior enlisted man. The manner in which he commanded the attention and respect of his fellow bandsmen, allowed musical attainment and performances to be conducted in a most commendable manner.

ARMY COMMENDATION MEDAL for exceptional service with Ft. Wolters' 328th U. S. Army Band is presented to Sergeant Gary B. "Rusty" Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Sherman. Presenting the medal is Brigadier General Leo E. Soucek, Ft. Wolters commanding general. Rusty is now out of the service and is band director at Shallowater.

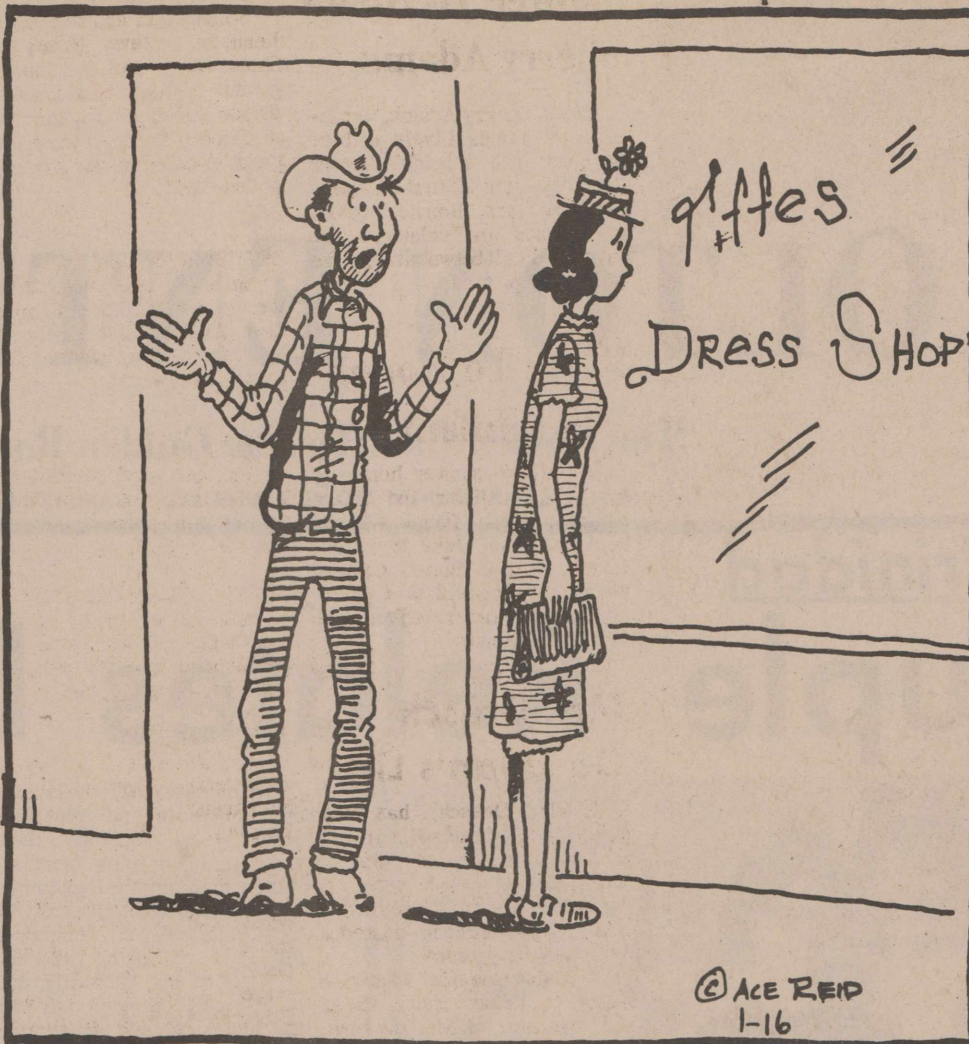

"Sergeant Sherman's attention to detail coupled with his pleasing personality have made him an invaluable asset to his unit. His drive and devotion to duty are highly commendable and represent qualities rarely found in soldiers of equal grade. Sergeant Sherman's performance of duty and professional competence reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Army."

Following his discharge from the service, Sherman accepted a position as Band Director at Shallowater School beginning his duties on Jan. 3. He is a 1964 graduate of Olton High School.

USDA's 'Good Life' Publication Available

Real estate brokers, home builders and materials suppliers interested in developing the rural market will find USDA's new Yearbook -- A GOOD LIFE FOR MORE PEOPLE -- a comprehensive and up-to-date source of practical information.

The annual publication was presented to the public, Members of Congress and the press Dec. 7 by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz. The event was co-sponsored by National Lumber and Building Material Dealers Association; The American Plywood Association; National Forest Products Association; and the National Association of Home Builders.

The Washington Evening Star said the 416 page book was "almost a textbook in rural sociology, concentrating on housing, education and community services, with feature articles on people who have taken advantage of various programs overseen by the U. S. Department of Agriculture."

Of special interest to firms and organizations doing business in rural areas are chapters dealing with rural population trends, area planning, growth potential, plus numerous chapters devoted specifically to the various housing and community service programs offered by USDA and which can be used to good advantage by private enterprise.

Considerable space in the Yearbook is devoted to the Farmers Home Administration's rural housing loan programs which have created a rapidly expanding rural housing market in the past three years.

The Yearbook reveals these special highlights on the housing loan program: -- FHA's housing program has tripled in size since 1969. In fiscal year 1972, the agency will finance more than 115,000 rural housing units with loans of $1.6 billion.

The agency can now make loans to rural communities up to 10,000 population. Previous to January 1971, loans were confined to towns of less than 5,500 population.

Conditional commitments can be made with home builders to build homes with reasonable assurance that they can be refinanced with FHA loans to eligible individual borrowers.

Farmers Home offers a "packaging concept" program under which responsible organizations and associations can help in processing housing loans.

Interest credit loans are now available to low income rural families. A broadened rental housing program has been inaugurated and is proving extremely popular in smaller towns.

Grants up to 90 per cent of the project's total cost are available for construction of housing for farm laborers.

Short-term homesite and subdivision development loans are available to non-profit organizations to encourage development of good building sites in rural areas with modern water and sewer facilities and pleasant environment.

Comprehensive area planning grants are available for the orderly and efficient development of community facilities.

Farmers Home Administration offers the services of trained construction specialists, architects and engineers and, along with other USDA agencies, has developed housing designs suitable for various parts of the country.

Housing and community loans are now financed through the sale of insured notes to investors rather than by appropriated funds. Investors include labor unions, retirement pension funds and other trust funds, and private lenders institutions.

The Yearbook contains chapters telling how Farmers Home Administration works not only with small home builders but also with large industrial firms to build in new rural towns so that their employees have decent, modern housing.

Farmers Home Administration's big surge as a dominant force in rural housing in recent years is the result of putting the program on an insured loan basis, rather than depending on direct appropriations each year from Congress. The agency sells its insured note paper to local banks and investors but a large share is sold through the big national underwriters in big blocks.

The Yearbook -- A GOOD LIFE FOR MORE PEOPLE -- published December 8, 1971, can be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington D. C. 20402, for $3.50 per copy.

MRS. BILL GARY

Cook Of The Week

Our Cook of the Week, Mrs. Bill Gary, found time from an already busy life as housewife, mother and teacher to complete her college education and earn her degree in elementary education.

Oneta and Bill Gary met at Hagerman, N. M. where Oneta grew up. Bill had lived there two years when they were married. They continued to live at Hagerman until moving to Hart Camp nine years ago. Six years ago the Garys moved to Halfway where Bill is manager of a gin.

The third grade teacher at H. P. Webb Elementary School did her first college work at Eastern New Mexico University. She commuted to Wayland to complete the requirements for her degree.

The Garys have five children and one little grandson. Two daughters are married. Gayle, Mrs. Lloyd Batror, met her husband while both were attending Bethany Nazarene College. Right now they are at home in Plainview but both plan to continue their college educations.

Kathi is Mrs. Lynn Gullett and the mother of young master Coy Gullett, 11 months old.

Billy, an OHS track star who went to State in high jump competition, is a freshman at Bethany. Leslie is a seventh grader and loves all sports. He plays with the Halfway teams in the summer baseball program. Twyla, the youngest, is a first grader.

Oneta's favorite pastime is reading. She is especially partial to books written by Catherine Marshall. Math was a favorite subject when she herself was a student. She also loves music.

Cheese Popcorn Good Snack

Nutrition experts report cheese popcorn makes a crackin' good cold weather snack. To prepare, place two quarts of freshly popped unsalted popcorn in an ovenproof bowl. Dot with one-fourth cup of butter, then sprinkle with one cup grated parmesan or Cheddar cheese and one teaspoon salt. Heat in a slow oven, 300 degrees, for 15 minutes. Toss well. Serves four to six persons.

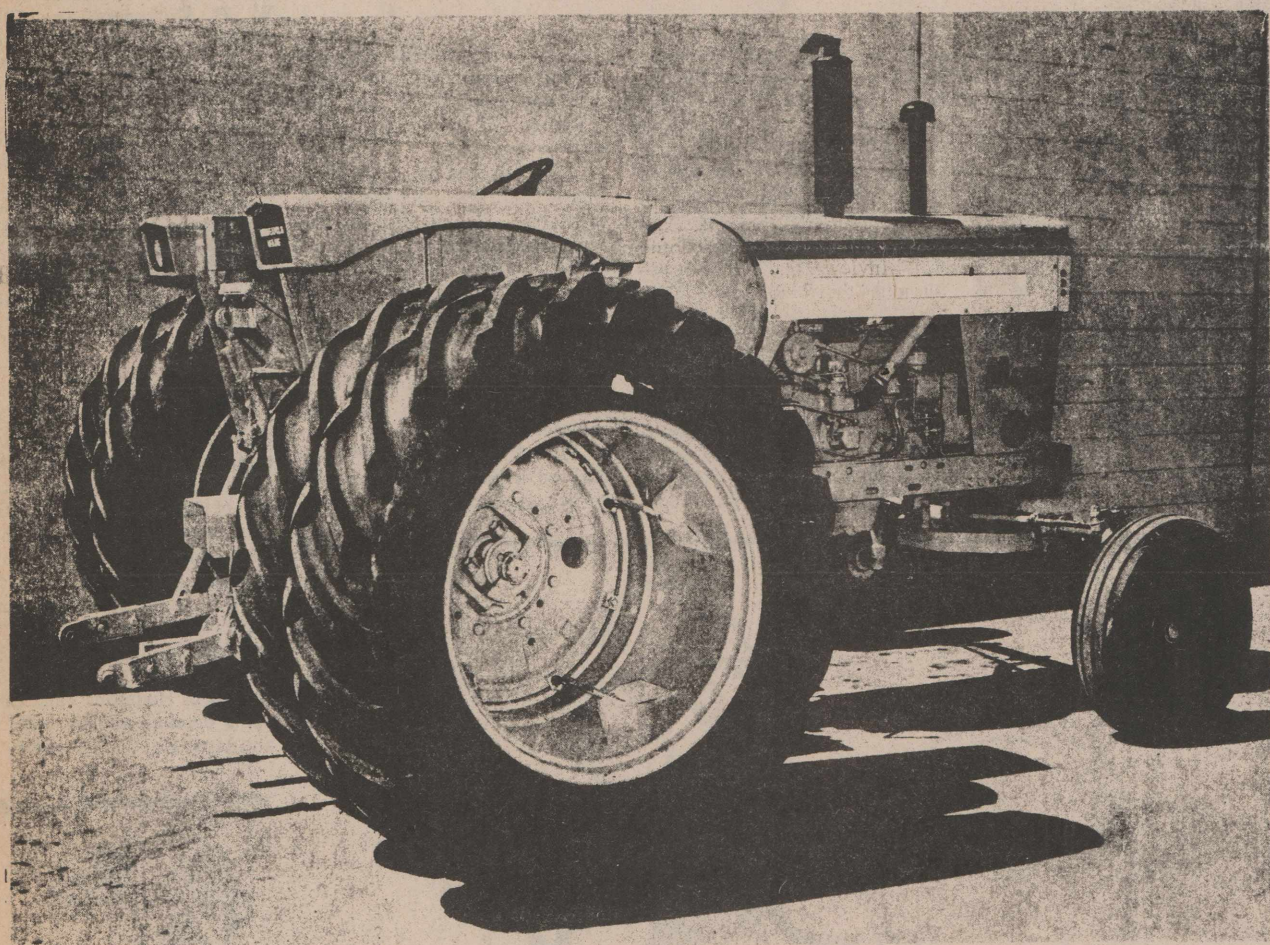

SKIM MILK

Skim milk has the same food value as whole milk, with one exception -- the cream is removed. In removing the cream about one-half of the calories are lost. Vitamin A is also lost, so be certain to purchase skim milk which has Vitamin A and D added.

"Take Five" to millions of military veterans means to take time off to rest.

To us, "take five" means detailed work and planning for the next five years.

We'll be investing more than $144 million in power plant capacity and the lines and equipment needed to get an adequate supply of electricity to you. Electricity that will be needed for sewage and water treatment, disposal of wastes and for other environmental "clean-ups". Electricity, the cleanest of all energies at the point of consumption, is being depended upon as the means for effectively and efficiently cleaning up our environment.

And, adequate electricity will be needed just for the normal growth of people, their industries, their jobs, their resources — nothing frivolous, mind you — just normal, everyday solid growth.

Yes, through 1976, we'll be taking five — doing the worrying — so you won't have to... so when you want electric power it'll be there at the flick of a switch.

Everyone ready for a little laughter?

Teenager to father hidden behind the newspaper, "I know you're listening - your knuckles are white."

Tennis - It's not my racket. Swimming - No tanks. Bridge - I pass.

Wrestling - It gets me down.

Woman talking to her husband from a phone booth, "Okay dear, I'll meet you there at 6 sharp, and try not to be there on time, will ya?"

Teenager to mother, "Gee whiz, Mom! Wanting to make the world a better place to live in and cleaning one's room are two different things!"

One boy to another - "Let's play football. I'll be spokesmen for the players and you represent the team."

Did you hear about the new daytime television series in which all the characters are hippies - it's a sort of no-soap operas.

That wraps it up. Be back again next week. Till then have fun.

New Year's Resolution

Off on a TANGENT - you soft soaping God? DUZ you DREFT along with the TIDE. VEL, now is the time to CHEER UP! If you want JOY, the TREND is to BREEZE to church on Sunday mornings, but too many WOODBURY their heads in a pillow and remain in bed, or work to make their homes SPARKLE or take their SWEETHEART for a drive to the SURF, all day forgetting the Lord's day was made for LESTOIL. But where the Lord is given first consideration, a DOVE will never have to send out an S.O.S. ALL who put God last, trusting his LUX and who intend to miss church again this Sunday, maybe we ought to DIAL you and remind you of the IVORY palaces up yonder. This not silly BABO; worship is intended to add ZEST to your LIFEBOUY, so why not WISK yourself out of bed Sunday, dress SPIC and SPAN and DASH like a COMET to God's house? Then as you sing praise to God, you'll get a wonder CLEANSER for your soil.
