Kermit Roosevelt, Son Of Teddy, May Lead Group To Aid Finland's Defenders

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Major Kermit Roosevelt, son of the "Roughrider," probably will lead an international brigade being organized in England to help the Finns, it was announced today by the Finnish aid bureau which is doing the recruiting.

The first 500 of these 2,500 volunteers already is on the way, and the former American explorer and shipping president is waiting for the war office to open tomorrow to resign his commission in the actionless British army and lead the internationals to Finland.

This was disclosed as official quarters were reported to have under serious consideration the sending of a large allied expedition to Finland to replace the unofficial form of volunteer aid.

Roosevelt is the 50-year old son of the late President Theodore Roosevelt of the United States. He is a major in the British army which he joined shortly after the outbreak of the war with Germany.

He served with both the British and American forces in the World war. Early last November he began training as a machine-gun officer with the British Middlesex regiment, having resigned a captain's commission in the United States army reserve to do so.

Roosevelt said then he was fighting against Germany for a second time as a matter of "moral principle" without regard to his citizenship.

Field Marshal Carl Gustaf Mannerheim, supreme commander of the Finnish forces, was reported to have considered Roosevelt as commander of the volunteer brigade made up of British, Scandinavians, Americans and other nationals resident in England. British officers would be in charge of the British contingent.

The Finnish aid bureau said Roosevelt had been selected to lead the brigade, and authoritative sources expected Roosevelt's request to resign would be granted.

Soviet Pressure On Finns' Defense Continues As Reds Show Gains In North Area

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI, Feb. 28 — The Red army's relentless pressure against Finnish defenses along the fabled-locked Karelian isthmus continued today to the accompaniment of successful Russian attacks on the Finnish northern front near Petsamo.

The Finnish high command communique made scant mention of the Petsamo fighting, saying only that

CAPTURE REPORTED

MOSCOW, Feb. 29 (Thursday) (AP)—Soviet Russia reported today the capture of Tiasomme, four miles south of Viipuri, objective of their terrific Karelian drive, and declared the Finns still were retreating.

The red army reported other advances all along the Karelian front in heavy fighting yesterday in which Finnish counter attacks were thrown back with "heavy losses."

Soviet troops penetrated and captured Finnish positions on the north bank of the Salmenkaita river west of the Yoshki lakes, occupied the town of Ylamari on the western bank of Yoshki lake, and the villages of Malinen, Rummarnijabvi and Seikurila, north of Lake Jurapan, and Kamara station on the Viipuri-Leningrad railway, the communique declared.

"enemy suffered heavily" and Finnish forces fought defensive actions with "lively" artillery fire on both sides.

Civilians Withdraw

Soviet forces attacked across the ice of Viipuri bay, apparently attempting to envelope the city of Viipuri, civilians were withdrawn from many villages along the bay's western shore since they had come within range of advancing Russian artillery.

The Russians seemed determined to thrust the spearhead of their attack westward along the gulf of Finland coast at all costs.

There were signs this might prove costly since the Finns have strong defenses along the coast, though Finnish coastal fortifications farther north, centering around Koivisto, already have fallen into Russian hands.

In addition the Finns are standing firm at Taipale, the eastern end of the Isthmus defense line where repeated soviet assaults have failed.

Cardenas' Plan To Pay For Oil Seizure Aired

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 28—President Cardenas today proposed a comprehensive 14-point reorganization of the government petroleum industry to place it on a "sane, intelligent, economic" basis and "permit the payment of the indemnification" for the expropriated foreign oil properties.

The chief executive disclosed his program at a closed meeting in the national palace with 100 representatives of the petroleum workers union and all principal executives of Petroleos Mexicanos, government oil administration.

Unions Protest

Asserting the workers had on occasion maintained an attitude toward Pemex "similar to the struggle they carried on against the private companies," Cardenas declared their cooperation was now essential to prevent a collapse of the industry.

After the day-long meeting leaders of the militant petroleum workers union privately expressed dissatisfaction with the program which they said would cause the "unnecessary" dismissal of at least 2,592 of the 16,442 persons now employed in the industry. They indicated

Today Is The Day When Girls May Have Ax Over Males

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. (AP)—Tomorrow is the day the gals can dish out their matrimonial offers and the fellas can take 'em or leave 'em.

This was, however, when leap year was a law with some teeth in it. Back in 1288 when Margaret of Norway was queen of Scotland, they had a law that made the poor male pay the girl or be mulcted up to a pound, the fine depending on the victim's ability to pay.

There was one "out" for the victim. If he could show he was already betrothed to another at the time the leap year offer was made, the law said, "he then shall be free."

Allies Act To Stop Drive Through Belgium

Nazis May Try Again To Cross Flanders Plain

Britain And France Move For Strong Defense On North To Halt Possible German Push

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 28. —Britain's new army, nearly a million men in France and at home, is arraying its forces in northern France to meet any German blow that might come along the route through Belgium followed by the Kaiser's legions in 1914.

British plans, coordinated with those of the French, are interpreted by military experts as intended, among other things, to guard against such a blow, which, wheeling south as a quarter century ago, would strike across the Flanders plain at Paris.

May Be Flanders

Neutral military men in Paris and London, sources close to the British general staff, and Italian officers in Rome have expressed belief that Germany may seek a decision on the Flanders plain once more. Most of them assign late March or early April as the likely time for the nazi spring offensive should there be one.

Such a drive may be delayed, the observers agree, but most say that Germany, which they think could have some 300 divisions (about 4,500,000 men) under arms by spring, is waiting only for better weather conditions to seek a decision in battle.

Little Too Emphatic

"The smoke screen of the near eastern 'adventure' is just a little too emphatic," said a neutral officer. "What's really been happening is a steady strengthening of British and French battle positions in France, especially in the last few weeks, when the weather relented and allowed concrete in fortifications to settle."

The general opinion here is that the British troops in the Near East are there for training and little else.

The plan which many military men in London believe the Germans will follow was drawn by the noted German strategist General Count von Schlieffen, in 1908 and followed in modified form by von Kluck in 1914.

Exhaustion Expected

Modern instruments of war may have compelled some modifications, but the body of the plan remains: a wheeling movement of 1,500,000 men through Belgium with its axis on the Ardennes forest and its outer flank enfilading Paris.

Today's commentators expect the

Republicans Claim Ohio's Voting Is Indicator For November's National Vote

(By The Associated Press)

REPUBLICANS viewed the Ohio elections returns with obvious jubilation yesterday and many predicted that the defeat suffered there by Democratic candidates for the House was just a forerunner of what would happen to the Democrats on a national scale in November.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said that the victory of Republican J. Harry McGregor in Ohio's 17th congressional district showed a "continuation of the decisive trend toward Republican success in 1940." The district has been Democratic since 1930.

Rep. Martin, of Massachusetts, the House Republican leader, and John Hamilton, Republican national committeeman, echoed Taft's sentiment.

The Republican congressional campaign committee said the Ohio returns were proof that "practically all" of the 43 congressional districts in which contests were close two years ago would elect Republicans to the House in the fall.

On the Democratic side, Senator Barkley of Kentucky commented that the Ohio results were not necessarily significant of a national trend because "local factors have to be considered."

McGregor Over Ashbrook

McGregor won from Byron B. Ashbrook, nephew of the late Representative William A. Ashbrook, Democrat, whose seat was being contested. In the other Ohio congressional contest, Mrs. Chester C. Bolton, Cleveland Republican, was elected to succeed her late husband. She defeated Anthony A. Fleger in a traditionally Republican district.

In eight elections since 1938 to fill vacancies in the House, Republicans have captured five seats and the Democrats three.

The McGregor victory of Tuesday, however, represented the only instance in which a Republican had replaced a Democrat.

Four other House seats are vacant as the result of deaths, and two special elections within the next six weeks are expected to provide further tests of New Deal and anti-

Mercury Climbs To New Highs

(By The Associated Press)

The heat was on in Texas yesterday as the temperature soared to all-time records for February in at least three localities, while other sections of the state reported abnormally high readings.

Hottest place in the state was Harlingen, in the Rio Grande valley, where the temperature shot up to 99 degrees. Just one degree cooler at 98 was Weslaco where the previous record of 97 was set in 1916.

The Harlingen weather bureau has records dating only from 1920.

Other Highs Quoted

In San Antonio a maximum of 94 degrees was recorded the hottest February day by three degrees since 1917.

Another record was established at Houston with a reading of 89.7 degrees at the weather bureau station. Street thermometers showed 90. A heavy fog accompanied the heat on the Gulf coast, eight ships due at Houston Wednesday being forced to anchor off Galveston bar.

At the downtown weather bureau station in Dallas the mercury rose to 78 degrees, but at the Love field airport it was 82. This was far short of the record 93 set in 1918, however.

Summer weather held sway in other sections of the state. Wichita Falls, near the Oklahoma border, reported a maximum of 81, while San Angelo, in West Texas had 82 degrees.

Salvation Army To Add New Room To Its Citadel Here

Advisory board of the Salvation Army decided Wednesday afternoon to build an additional room to the Army home at 1112 Seventeenth street.

The new room will be used for social activities, it was explained. Chapel of the building has been over-used in feeding school children and in social functions, a spokesman added.

Approximately $1,000 will be required from some source to complete the addition.

Paul Hardwick was chairman at the meeting in absence of Morris Levine, president. Others attending were R. F. Bayless, Mrs. W. H. McDonald and Dr. Jack M. Lewis, with Levine, Dr. W. B. Irvin and Rex Blackburn voting by proxy.

Secretary Hull Discloses United States Is Seeking To Influence End-Of-War Treaties

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The United States is actively seeking the support of all nations for its view that the end of the war should also bring the end of economic autarchy, regimentation and totalitarianism, Secretary Hull revealed today.

To that end, Hull said, his previous statement on the economic order and disarmament that should follow the war has been sent to American representatives abroad with instructions to bring it to the attention of foreign governments.

Asked at his press conference whether this action was limited to the neutral countries, he said it was sent to all countries. He added that his preliminary impression was that the reactions thus far received were favorable.

Discussing in broad general terms what his government seeks to do, Hull stressed the need for organizing the nations along the lines of liberal economy in advance of the end of the war.

He said that if the forces of peace and general stability,

Negro Explains He's Watchman On New WPA Building Project

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. (AP)—The WPA piled lumber and plaster materials on the floor of the West North Avenue police station today, preparatory to the start of a remodeling project.

San Angelo Barber Enters Race For Lieutenant Governor

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 28 (AP)—Alton M. Mead, San Angelo barber, today announced his candidacy for lieutenant governor with a pledge to oppose a sales tax of any kind.

Mead also advocated the elimination of useless boards and offices which he declared would save the state $6,000,000 a year.

He was a candidate for the office in 1938. Mead explained his stand personal liberty and local self government, with "eat what you, want, drink what you want, go to any church you want and always tell the truth. I don't mix politics and religion."

The candidates advocated increasing the truck load limit to 15,000 pounds and turning liquor law enforcement over to county officials.

SWIFT JUSTICE

Lubbock Moves Rapidly Toward Goal Of 50,000

City Dads Discuss Plans For Sewage Disposal, Storm Sewer Systems; Work To Start Soon

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

FIRST positive, statistical evidence that Lubbock is making headway toward reaching its goal of "50,000 by 1945" was revealed to members of the city commission Wednesday afternoon.

The evidence was in the nature of a report of the results of a survey presented to an informal meeting of the commission which had been called by Mayor Carl E. Slaton in an effort to expedite the starting of work on a storm sewer and sewage disposal plant for which an aggregate of $550,000 in bonds was voted in September 1938.

The bonds, of which $300,000 are for the storm sewer to extend entirely across the southern part of the city and $250,000 are for the sewage disposal plant, were sold last week.

Should Be Farther

As result of the meeting, members of the commission were in expressed agreement that site of the sewage disposal plant should be removed approximately two miles further from the city limits than the present plant; that the plant must be adequate for the needs of a city considerably larger than Lubbock is today; and that probably the interests of the city will be better served if most of the work on both the sewage disposal system and the storm sewer is done under contracts with those skilled and experienced in those types of construction.

It was the further consensus of members of the commission that in working out the storm sewer plans, efforts will be made, if finances permit, to convert the present "lakes" at Avenue Q, Avenue X and in the vicinity of Jefferson street into landscaped spots of beauty. At the present time, they become weed-grown, debris-strewn puddles of extensive areas after rains, the unsightliness of which is increased by the necessity of spreading oil upon the surfaces to keep them from becoming mosquito breeding places.

Participating in the discussions was the entire membership of the commission, composed of the Mayor and Commissioners W. G. McMil-

Bradfield Says Liquor Board Should Have More Men Or Cities Help In Enforcement

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Feb. 28—Dr. W. D. Bradfield, chairman of the state liquor control board, said here today the enforcement personnel of the board should be increased or the duties returned to city and county authorities.

The chairman's statement was prompted, he said, by newspaper articles detailing a movement led by County Judge Roy Hofreinz to rid Houston of honky tonks.

There are only 97 inspectors with the liquor board to work 250 counties, Dr. Bradfield continued, and while praising their work, he added it was impossible for them to supervise enforcement of the law properly.

"Neither the administrator, Mr. Bert Ford, nor the members of the board should be held accountable for this manifest failure of the state to provide them adequate facilities for enforcing the control act," Dr. Bradfield said.

"The local authorities in many places seem to think that the

Morris Teague And Wife, Littlefield, Victims Of Wreck

(Special To The Avalanche)

POST, Feb. 28.—A wrecked truck quickly became a virtual inferno near here early tonight, claiming the lives of a Littlefield man and his wife.

Pinned in the wreckage nearly 45 minutes the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Teague were badly burned.

Teague, about 30, was dead when his body was dragged from the battered and burned cab of what had been his new truck. Mrs. Teague, 26, died about 30 minutes after she was brought to Jacobson clinic here for treatment.

Probably Fell Asleep

The bizarre mishap occurred three and a half miles west of here on the Lubbock-Post highway shortly after 6 o'clock.

Investigators surmised that Teague either fell asleep at the wheel or lost control of the heavily loaded truck, evidently traveling fast, as it trundled off the caprock. It had struck a culvert on the left side of the road.

A motorist discovered the accident and being unable to render aid single-handedly, summoned help. Between 10 and 15 workers from an automobile agency and a wrecking company worked three-quarters of an hour before Mrs. Teague could be lifted from the truck.

Scatters Maize Heads

Post fire department sprayed water on the heated motor several times to enable workmen to complete the task. Finally the semi-conscious woman was lifted through the cab top.

Mr. and Mrs. Teague had started from Littlefield this afternoon with a load of maize.

The sudden impact of the truck against the culvert and embankment threw the maize over the truck cab, almost covering it. A witness said the grain heads were scattered 30 feet in front of the machine.

Both Badly Burned

Likewise, the quick stopping of the truck's forward motion jammed the motor backward under the cab, which was nearly sheared off the chassis. Bed of the machine was only slightly damaged.

Parts of both bodies were charred.

Mrs. Teague apparently died of a skull fracture, although the lower portion of her body was marked by burns.

The man bore evidence of a fractured neck and a gaping wound on his lower body pointed to almost instant death. His right leg was nearly severed and he suffered a severe head injury.

Entire Body Seared

Teague's right foot was completely burned off and his right hand was charred. His entire body had been

Clear Weather Welcomed By Californians

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28—Sunshine through broken clouds today cheered residents of a score of flood-swept towns in northern California, from which between 3,500 and 4,000 persons had been evacuated.

Two deaths were attributed to the flood, which spread torrents of water out of rivers and creeks from as far north as Dunsmuir, to San Francisco bay where the Sacramento river spills into the Pacific.

Engineer Drowns

Harold E. Von Bergen, hydraulic engineer, drowned today at Sacramento in the capsizing of a boat as he measured the river's overflow. At Redding, the body of Irene Clemens, 19, was recovered from the flood into which she was hurled when her car overturned in a creek.

While the weather bureau predicted two or three days of fair weather before another storm could hit, it warned that precautionary measures in the vast river network of the Sacramento valley must not be relaxed.

Terrific rains of the past four days, and swiftly melting snows, set off the flood which inundated vast areas, swamped hundreds of homes, and caused much damage to highways, bridges, farm lands and city property.

Looks Like Earthquake

In a last, final burst of storm, a 75-mile gale screamed over the San Francisco bay early today, and a cloudburst that followed caused damage at Berkeley, estimated at $100,000.

Three raging streams poured down from the Berkeley hills, and City Engineer Harry Goodrich who made the estimate of damage, said the districts in their path "look like they had been hit by an earthquake." Stocks were swept from store shelves, water burst through the floors of four shops and a foot of mud was left on Hearst avenue in the main business section. Mrs. Rose Lescinsky and her two-year-old son were rescued after four feet of debris crashed into her home.

Employment of 1,500 men in the various flood areas on a WPA project for emergency flood control, was authorized. At Sacramento, legislative leaders promised to reconvene the Legislature if it became necessary, "to deal with problems of hardship and destruction among the unemployed, resulting from the floods."

The president's immediate destination remained undisclosed, but it was indicated the question would be answered in news communications tomorrow.

House Votes To Help Finland

By RICHARD L. TURNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. — The House voted to help Finland to the extent of a $20,000,000 loan for non-military purchases in the United States today but shied away from taking a record vote on the question.

Although overwhelmingly in favor of helping the Finns, many members feared that European events might take such a turn that a vote for the loan could bring them election time difficulties. So by a general but tacit agreement, passage came on a rising ballot. It showed 168 for the bill and 51 against, the total a bare quorum.

Adds Hundred Million

The measure would add $100,000,000 to the lending funds of the Export-Import bank, with the understanding that $20,000,000 of that amount would go to Finland, and a like sum to China. At no point in the measure is Finland directly mentioned.

Senator O'Mahoney Declares Reciprocal Trade Program Is Unconstitutional

Solon Testifies Before Senate Committee Considering Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP) — Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., charged today that the administration's reciprocal trade agreement program is "clearly unconstitutional."

Testifying before the Senate finance committee, which is considering a House-approved bill extending the program three years, he asserted that the trade pacts are either treaties or the revenue laws because they change import duty rates.

If they are treaties, he said, they must be ratified by the Senate; if they are revenue laws, they must under the constitution originate in the House of Representatives. The program of agreements made entirely by the executive does not satisfy either requirement, he said.

Can Delegate Power

Congress can delegate its authority if it sets up certain standards restricting its use, he said, but "you will search this bill in vain for a single standard to be imposed by Congress."

The framers of the constitution, O'Mahoney said, gave the Senate sole power to ratify treaties and the House exclusive power to originate revenue legislation, for good reasons. The House power was lodged there, he said, because the constitutional powers wanted to "keep tax laws close to the people."

"What has come over us?" he asked. "Instead of taking power away from the executive, we are surrendering power to him."

To Introduce Change

O'Mahoney, a leader in a coalition fight to give Congress power over the pacts, announced he would introduce soon an amendment to provide that no agreement "shall take effect until the Congress by law has specifically approved such agreement and the duties and other import restrictions so specified to carry out such agreement."

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich., said that Secretary of State Cordell Hull, foremost champion of the trade program, had taken the same stand as O'Mahoney when he was a member of the House years ago.

Hull, in speaking of the flexible tariff clauses in the protective tariff act, asserted in a speech that delegation of congressional powers "is contrary to the plainest and most fundamental provisions of the constitution."

Kiss Of Death

Citing an example of how the trade pacts allegedly usurp congressional powers, Vandenberg read the trade agreement with Columbia, which states that "as long as the present agreement remains in force it shall supersede any provision" of the commercial treaty between the two countries.

Senator Bennett C. Clark, D., Mo., chided O'Mahoney for contending that the pacts are treaties, which must be ratified by two-thirds of the Senate, but proposed at the same time an amendment which would require approval by mere majorities in both houses of Congress.

O'Mahoney proposed, Clark contended, a "kiss of death" for the entire program because the history of tariff bills shows the extreme difficulty which congress experienced in handling the subject.

Contract To Increase Size Of Slaton Community House Let

Contract for increase in size of Lubbock county Community house in Slaton was awarded to Charles H. Lewis of Slaton Wednesday, in a special session of the county commissioners court.

Should Lewis fail to qualify by posting proper bond, the contract would go to M. O. Napp, also of Slaton, who submitted bid of $2,277, it was provided.

Two other Slaton men, W. E. Kidd and T. O. Porter submitted bids of $2,451 and $2,489, respectively, court records showed.

Room in the assembly hall will be increased 50 per cent by the addition.

School Boards Are Advised Of Trustee Elections April 6

Notices were mailed Wednesday from the office of Claude L. Hale, county school superintendent, advising school boards of April 6 elections for trustees in eight rural schools of the county.

Three notices must be posted in each district. Any five qualified voters may put forward a ticket. From two or three trustees are to be elected in each district, each to serve three years.

Representative boards will meet early next week to name election officials, such action being required by law not less than 20 days before the election.

Rotarians Tell Of Their Visits

Wednesday was "Rotary Latch String Day," for the Lubbock club with members and guests relating experiences in attending meetings of other clubs. Dr. C. J. Wagner, president, was in charge of the meeting.

W. W. Rix, chairman of the attendance committee, reported a 100 per cent attendance last week, every one of the 102 members either attending the local club or making up attendance elsewhere. It was the first 100 per cent meeting since in March, 1933. New song books were used for the first time.

Neil Wright, introduced as the member who has helped organize more Rotary clubs than any one else here, said he "got the most wholehearted reaction from the members of the Slaton and Ralls clubs than any clubs I know of." He added these clubs had probably done more for their communities than most clubs.

Impressions Related

George Garrett related impressions of the Austin club, its care for visitors and the singing by members. J. I. Kilpatrick related his first visit to Ralls. Dean James M. Gordon told of a visit to the Memphis, Tenn., club and Rix said one year he made a New Year resolution to visit more clubs that year and that he had made many new friends.

Vienna was the best remembered of a number of European clubs he visited years ago, said Dr. J. T. Hutchinson. He was told in San Francisco last year, he said, that that club averaged 300 visitors a year. Irving Jones said he had attended but two local luncheons in 10 weeks, making up his attendance last week at Clarksville.

Others Speak

Sudan Rotarians boast of the fact that they have had but two members absent this year, said Harmon Jenkins, who said that club had but 27 members. Tom Gaston said he had been impressed with the cordial manner Austin Rotarians greet all visitors.

Mayor Glad Snodgrass of Floydada related some of his experiences on a visit to the International convention in Nice, France, where he met with clubs in 10 countries. W. M. Maher of Okmulgee, Okla., told how his club has increased its attendance at meetings. Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum of Slaton spoke briefly, as did J. A. Raley, jr., C. I. Wall, S. E. Cone and Jack O. Stone.

Weather Bureau Says Soil Has Ample Moisture To Aid Crops

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—The weather bureau reported today that surplus soil moisture was now ample in many parts of the country, including the heretofore extremely dry midwest, to give early spring vegetation and crops a fair start.

The bureau added, however, that the sub soil in some sections, particularly in the Great Plains region, was still dry.

In the South there has been much rain and dry, warm weather was said to be needed for proper growth of truck and other early crops.

Winter wheat continues to be largely dormant, except in the southwestern portion of the Great Plains, the bureau said. In Texas the crop was said to be making fair progress.

Body Of Concert Singer Found At Apartment Hanging By Noose

NEW YORK, Feb. 28. (AP) — The body of Nina Palini, a 39-year-old concert singer who had been unable to obtain engagements, was found in her apartment today, hanging by a noose made with four bright silk scarfs.

She had come to this country only three weeks ago from Riva, Latvia, with her husband, Osip Tal, and their son, Ilja, 8. When she died the husband was out hunting work; the boy was at school.

Oyster Closes Shell On Duck's Foot, Causing It To Drown

OCEAN PARK, Wash., Feb. 28 (AP) —Oyster fishers saw a duck struggling in the water as the tide rose. They investigated, but too late. An oyster had closed its shell on the duck's foot and it drowned.

First Recession In Factory Employment Since May Told

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—The first monthly recession in factory employment since last May was reported today by Secretary Perkins. At the same time she announced that there had been greater-than-seasonal decline of 1,160,000 workers in all non-agricultural employment between December and January.

She added, however, that "as a result of large increases in employment during the past year, approximately 1,100,000 more workers were engaged in non-agricultural occupations in January, 1940, than in January of last year."

Constipation Relief That Also Pepsin-izes Stomach

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up fast that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach comfort, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nausea. This is how pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even finicky children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative—Senna with Syrup Pepsin at your druggist today!

...The board, being desirous that no ...justice be done in these matters, ...olved that for the present and ...until such time as the true facts of ...the cases could be determined, it ...did not concur on the discharge ...of the employes and that Dr. John... ...be so advised and that the em... ...be continued in the employ ...of the hospital.

Tom DeBerry Ill

...Employes affected were Mike M. ...Mastel, W. J. Finnegan, Stanley ...Rice, Harry O. Davis and S. R. ...Tom.

...Board members absent today's meet... were Chairman Harry Knox, jr., ...and Frank Davis. Tom DeBerry, the ...fifth member, was ill.

...A month ago the board conducted ...a public hearing on morals charges ...against Dr. Johnson. The superin... ...tendent contended the charges were ...unfair and the hearing was an ...outgrowth of a political conspiracy ...against him. The hearing has been ...delayed until the state supreme ...court rules on whether the board ...was empowered to fire Dr. Johnson. ...Dr. Johnson attempted to dis... ...charge Rice, an attendant, after the ...suicide of a patient Feb. 17. Rice ...told the board that on that date ...there were not sufficient attendants ...in the suicidal dormitory to watch ...all the patients.

...One of Dr. Johnson's complaints ...against Mastel and Finnegan was ...that they neglected their duties to ...play poker. They replied they had ...played penny-ante poker in a hos... ...building but had not neglected ...their duties. They added that they ...had given the superintendent play ...cash for money.

...Dr. Johnson accused Hines of ...drinking to excess. The employe told ...the board that his drinking was ...confined to an occasional bottle of ...beer while off duty. He said that on ...occasions he had seen the superin... ...tendent take a few drinks.

...Hines said in his statement that ...Dr. Johnson proposed to replace him ...with a man who was a witness for ...the hospital head in the board of ...control hearing.

Editor Declares Italy To Fight

ROME, Feb. 28. (U.P) — Italy will enter the war if it spreads to the Balkans, Virginio Gayda, editor and often a spokesman for Premier Benito Mussolini, said in an interview with the United Press.

The Danube river as well as the Mediterranean are the key to Italian security, Gayda said, especially since Italy became a Balkan power with the occupation of Albania.

Although Italy is ready to aid in any peace, and the mission of United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles is regarded as a happy development in that direction, Gayda said war in the Balkans "would make it impossible for Italy to stay out."

"But I don't expect any immediate peace," he said. "The conflict of years between the Allies and Germany is so great I don't see a single factor making for peace and I think the end of war is far distant."

How One Woman Lost 20 Pounds Of Fat

Lost Her Double Chin—Lost Her Prominent Hips—Lost Her Sluggishness

Gained a More Shapely Figure and the Increase in Physical Vigor and Vivaciousness Which So Often Comes With Excess Fat Reduction.

Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know what to do.

Why not be smart—do what thousands of women have done to get off pounds of unwanted fat. Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water first thing every morning to gently activate liver, bowels and kidneys. Cut down your caloric intake Eat wisely and satisfyingly—there need never be a hungry moment!

Keep this plan up for 30 days. Then weigh yourself and see if you haven't lost pounds of ugly fat. Just see if this doesn't prove to be the surprise of your life and make you feel like shouting the good news to other fat people. And best of all a jar of Kruschen that will last you for 4 weeks costs but little. If not joyfully satisfied—money back.

Shallowater To Honor Athletes

Shallowater schools tonight will honor athletes of this year's teams by conferring letters, and those of other years by public recognition.

A program will be presented in the high school gymnasium beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Approximately 150 persons, including 99th District Judge E. L. Pitts of Lubbock and County Superintendent Claude L. Hale, are expected.

Athletes of so far back as 1912 will attend, as in the case of A. C. Wright, whose youngest son, Terrence, is being graduated from Shallowater high school this year.

The program as announced by Supt. B. T. Rucker, who will be master of ceremonies:

Invocation, Rev. E. H. Coston, pastor of the First Baptist church; music, Bob Berry, a pianist who formerly played in New York and with Harley Sadler's shows, now a Shallowater farmer; "Mysterious Howard," the magician, in a 15-minute act; special music by Dana Woodward, violinist, and Hazel Todd, pianist; "The Whistling Widow," a reading, by Daphene Wren; introduction of special guests and former students, by Superintendent Rucker; awarding of letters, Harris Cheek, jr., coach; address, Elmer Tarbox, former Texas Technological college athlete; organization of an "A" club which proposes to conduct an annual dinner program; benediction, Rev. E. Peters, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Census Enumerators For School District Announced Wednesday

Census enumerators of the Lubbock independent school district who will start taking the annual census Friday were announced by district school officials Wednesday.

Watson Wilson, general supervisor of the census several years, was reappointed several days ago.

The enumerators follow: for white sections — Mrs. Jack D. Wester, Mrs. Lyda Royalty, Mrs. Iva Burnett, Mrs. T. J. Foster, W. E. Lynn, R. L. Duckett anad W. D. Aycock; Mexican section — Mrs. George Duval; and negro section — E. C. Struggs.

Mrs. Duval is principal of the Guadalupe Mexican school and Struggs of the Dunbar negro schools.

Wilson estimated that at least a month will be required for the work. He added that the enumeration should include the names of every child in the district who will be between the ages of 6 and 17 years, inclusive, on next Sept. 1.

Permit Issued For New Clinic

A permit was issued Wednesday for construction of a $70,000 clinic building to adjoin the west side of West Texas hospital.

W. G. McMillan is contractor for the building, excavation for which was started Wednesday morning. McMillan estimated that approximately four or five months would be required for completion.

Owners Are Listed

Those associated in ownership of the building were named as Drs. R. T. Canon, Fred W. Standefer, O. W. English, Ewell L. Hunt, D. D. Cross and Sam G. Dunn.

They and other members of the staff of West Texas hospital, it was announced, will establish their offices in the building, which will front 70 feet on Main street and be 115 feet in depth.

To Be Modernistic

The structure, it was announced, will be modernistic in design, fireproof, will be faced with brick harmonizing with the hospital, will be air-conditioned and will be completely equipped as a modern clinic.

Among unusual structural features, McMillan related, will be glass bricks in the front and a "spray deck" roof. The roof, he explained, will be continuously covered by water to a depth of three inches.

Could Add Floors

To be constructed immediately, it was announced, will be a full basement and the first floor. The foundation and walls, however, will be of sufficient strength to support three additional floors when and if they should be required.

Permit also was issued to B. J. Rogers, owner, and J. E. Ligon, contractor, for construction of a $2,700 residence at 2312 Seventh street.

Those and three smaller permits hiked the week's total to $98,436, for the month to $289,287 and for the year to $883,088, records in the office of Jim Reid, city building inspector, show.

HAS HONEYSUCKLE

WOULD you like a clump of honeysuckle to set out against the garage, the back fence or a porch? Mrs. T. A. McIlroy has gobs of it she is anxious to give away. Telephone her or go by for your share.

If there are others who have bulbs, violets, rose cuttings or other flowers or shrubs to give away we'll be glad to pass the good word along. Some folk who have moved into new homes lack the necessary cash to have professional landscaping and still they want attractive yards. They'd probably be thrilled to get a few green things.

GARDENING HINTS

THESE two spring days have given us a yen to get out and work in the yard although we're afraid to mention it lest Mother take up on it. Winter has receded and spring is surely on the way. We were in a home recently where a woman had clipped branches from her forsythias and their yellow blooms in a deep blue bowl were breath-taking in their beauty.

David Burpee, who stands supreme with us as a gardener and cataloguer, suggests you prune late summer blooming shrubs this month. Go over your roses, cutting all canes which have been wind-whipped, for rot may enter there.

Go over your borders again for damage done by the snows. Replenish the larder for birds because it won't be long until those little fellows will be flying north and you might have a new apartment ready for their spring occupancy of two or three days. Suet crumbs and flower seeds are feeding box delicacies.

Go over your garden tools. Order new ones, check up on your garden hose, send spades and hoes to be re-sharpened.

If your seed orders have not been mailed yet, get them off. Order your spring supply of fertilizer.

WANT TO REDUCE?

WOULD you like to lose about ten pounds in as many days? Get a job as general manager for "Gone With the Wind" promotion, taking care of ticket sales, answering tens of thousands of questions and satisfying fussy customers.

Arlie Crites, general manager of the Lindsey theaters, who has borne the brunt during a week's sales before the picture arrived and is in his fifth day of showing the film, has lost eleven pounds. His assistant, J. H. Jaggers, has lost seven pounds.

And incidentally, don't you think Clark Gable lost quite a bit of tonnage during the filming of the masterpiece? He looked down right thin in that scene when he dances with Scarlett when she is wearing her widow's garb.

WATCH YOURSELF

THE CURRENT idea that it's smart to be right in the thick of everything is keeping many a woman from doing any one thing really well. Furthermore, it's putting across her face a harassed expression instead of a pleasant, calm, feminine one.

You know the type. To begin with, she has the responsibility of a home and a child or two. She belongs to at least one club and has a certain amount of social activity to keep up. All of which is fine and dandy.

IN ADDITION, however, she has joined a couple of other clubs, and she holds an executive position with attendant responsibility in each. She's not content with a little gardening. Her garden must be a show place. It isn't enough that she take part in parent-teacher activities. She must organize a side faction—and run it single-handed.

As a result, she's always in a fret. She has so little time for shopping that her clothes become standardized to the point of being dull. She can't find time to sit still long enough for nail polish to dry, so she gives it up entirely. She depends on hats to conceal the fact that she was too busy to see the hairdresser this week. She wouldn't dream of doing anything so frivolous as exercises. Her time is too valuable for that sort of thing.

THE POINT is that she could be active enough to lead an interesting existence and still find time to look and act feminine. She could manage to be a really attractive woman whom her husband would like to look at as well as talk to.

There's a happy medium between being frivolous do-nothing and doing too much.

Women, Girls Learn Merit of "Build-Up"

A woman's periodical distress from headaches, nervousness, irritability, cramp-like pain may be due to this fault: functional dysmenorrhea brought on by an undernourished condition!

There's convincing proof of this in the way so many women and girls are helped by CARDUI. Because it usually stimulates appetite and the flow of gastric juice; so aids digestion; helps to build up physical resistance to periodic distress for many users.

Others, who take it a few days before and during "the time," have found CARDUI helps ease their periodic distress. Used 50 years. Adv.

Nazi Germany Is Reported To Have Offered To Guarantee Rumania's Borders

Fuehrer Would Receive Oil

BUCHAREST, Feb. 28 (AP)—Authoritative quarters said today Germany had offered to guarantee Rumania's borders in return for huge increases in oil, wheat and other raw material shipments to the reich.

These sources said the plan was substituted while the Rumanian cabinet considered issuing a royal decree for virtual civil mobilization to accompany military mobilization already undertaken in part.

Would Halt Mobilization

Acceptance of the German plan, it was said, would oblige Rumania to abandon her plan for civil mobilization and send at least 1,000,000 of her 1,400,000 men under arms back to their jobs in fields and factories.

The German plan also was said to include a promise to prevail upon Hungary, Bulgaria and Soviet Russia to abandon their territorial claims on Rumania and sign nonaggression pacts with her.

Germany was reported ready to sponsor a new military agreement between Rumania and Hungary to make it easier to transport vital supplies to the reich.

Price Is Too High

Authoritative quarters said it was extremely doubtful whether Rumania would accept the plan because the price—a virtual nazi monopoly of her exports—was considered far too high.

The proposed civil mobilization order would give the government control of all industry similar to the plan already in operation in Turkey.

The presence of Allied and Turkish armies in the near east within reach of Rumania's border was said by diplomats to be making the Balkan country cautious about accepting German guarantees.

Visit Is Postponed

Dr. Carl Clodius, German's ace economic expert, postponed a visit to Bucharest until next week. Observers said this was to give Rumania time to study the German plan.

The recent favorable trend of French and British relations with Rumania wherein the Allies resumed shipping raw materials, war planes and armaments to Rumania, was seen as another bar to the German proposal.

Meanwhile, Rumania was scheduled to call an additional 200,000 reservists to the colors March 1, swelling the army to 1,600,000—virtually general mobilization.

Tech Publication Officials To Be Named In Voting Today

Candidates for offices of student publications of Texas Technological college spoke in the gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock last night preceding election which is being held today.

Speeches followed a parade which started at 6:45 o'clock at West Texas Museum building and terminated at the gymnasium.

Candidates who spoke were Roy Erwin, George Musick and Orval Graham, for Toreador business manager; Sid Spear, Mary White, Rollin Herald and Edward Kidd, for Toreador editor; Willie Pinnell and Frank Spitler, for La Ventana business manager; A. J. Kemp and Wayne Smith, for La Ventana editor.

All speeches were broadcast by KFYO.

Election will be conducted today from 8 to 12 o'clock this morning and from 1 to 5 o'clock this afternoon. Ballot boxes will be situated in the administration, engineering, agriculture and home economics buildings.

Censorship Is Its Own Enemy

(By The Associated Press)

European censorship is back-firing on itself.

Newspapers and the people in France and Britain complain of the lack of fully truthful news and now the censors' own governments criticize the blue-pencil men both for what is published and what is withheld.

The latest storm over censorship is in France where Premier Edouard Daladier temporarily settled the argument by lifting home censorship on political discussions in newspapers.

Complaints Heard

In Britain, there has been a series of public plaints which the government is trying to obviate by changing censors. Newspapers so far have failed to record improvement.

Foreign correspondents, especially those sending news to the United States, still suffer from delays, mistakes and arbitrary decisions of censors.

Here is what the various countries are doing to control news:

Germany—No censorship on established correspondents such as those of the Associated Press. Correspondents are responsible for the truth and impartiality of the news they send.

Allies Strict

Britain and France—All news is censored.

Finland—Censorship is similar to that in Britain and France but more flexible in that censors work more closely with foreign newspapermen.

USSR — Soviet Russia abolished censorship May 4, 1939, but reimposed it more severely than ever, Dec. 29, 1939.

Spain—Tight censorship on news sent abroad, but a lighter one, something on the "honor" system, on Spanish papers.

Italy — No censorship on telephone, which correspondents generally use, but correspondents are responsible for the news they send.

Correspondents Free

Holland and Switzerland—Censorship on important military and "alarmist" news, particularly anything that might reflect on their neutrality.

Other neutrals, such as Hungary, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Portugal supervise strictly their native newspapers but give foreign correspondents full freedom except in the rare cases when some of them may "interrupt" all communications temporarily when there is a political assassination or something of that nature.

Many Demos In Congress Owe Their Jobs To FDR

By W. G. RAGSDALE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 — Two-thirds of the Democrats in Congress owe their jobs either to President Roosevelt or to the political upheaval which he precipitated. This has something to do with the way the third term idea has taken hold.

In addition, the president has a stronghold on state jobholders. In 1932, the Democrats held 26 governorships, 15 of them in the Solid South or in the so-called border states which are more often Democratic than Republican. At the peak of New Deal power, after the 1936 elections, the Democrats held 38 governorships. Two others were in the possession of friendly farmer-laborites or progressives.

Picture Was Changed

That picture was changed in 1938. The Democrats now have 30 governors. The upturn swept the farmer laborites and progressives out in Minnesota and Wisconsin, too.

But the 1938 losses of governorships are believed by many politicians to have strengthened the third term demand rather than to have weakened it. In some of these states, the Democrats had not commanded the state houses within the memory of full grown men until Mr. Roosevelt came along. He was not in the running in 1938 when the losses occurred. To their minds, his name is associated with victory. From them comes some of the third term clamor.

Ride In On Wave

In Congress, 173 of the 261 Democratic House members have been elected since Mr. Roosevelt took the stumps in that fateful 1932 campaign. Forty-three of the 69 Democratic senators have come into office since then. Forty House members were elected at the same time as Mr. Roosevelt in 1932. Another 43 were elected in 1934 when the New Deal was still rising. Fifty-two more rode into office on the coattails of that 1936 sweep. Another 38 are first termers elected in 1938.

Not all of these can be said to be ardent third termers. Some are deeply opposed. But these figures give evidence of the way success or failure can become associated with a name.

Flier Corroborates Story Of Recruiting For Foreign Wars

ROCKFORD, Ill., Feb. 28. (AP) — Walter E. Palmer, a handsome 20-year-old flier, corroborated today reports that American youths were being recruited for war service abroad.

The Los Angeles youth said at least 20 youths had been signed up on the West Coast, were provided with railroad tickets and $5 spending money and were ordered to report at the Wellington hotel in Toronto for further instructions.

Some of the youths, he said, already have reached Canada.

Last night he telephoned his father in Los Angeles and promised to abandon his prospective solider of fortune career and return home.

Curb On Census Takers Sought

By GEORGE B. ROSCOE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 — Frank L. Peckham, spokesman for the sentinels of the republic, pleaded with a Senate commerce subcommittee today to keep census takers from acting as "Paul Prys and Sally Snoops."

Peckham, a slight, nervous man, testified in support of a resolution by Sen. Charles W. Tobey, R., N. H., to put the Senate on record against census questions dealing with private income. Census Director William L. Austin is vigorously defending the questions.

Termed Unnecessary

"It isn't necessary, in a republic such as ours," said Peckham in a low voice, "that every citizen should live in a gold fish bowl.

"There are just some things that are none of the public's business. If the government keeps on encroaching on the rights of its citizens, we'll be no better off than our fellow human beings who live under despotic forms of government."

Chairman Josiah W. Bailey, D., N. C., of the committee challenged the witness. Census takers are sworn to secrecy and heavy penalties may be imposed for any revelation of census data.

Should Be Known

"I can concede that it is the government's business," Bailey said. "There are millions of people in this country making nothing. I think there are millions making less than $1,000 a year. These things present a great social and political problem, and the facts about them ought to be brought out. What's wrong about it?"

Sen. Wallace H. White, R., Me., said it wasn't a question of the government's business, but whether Congress had authorized such questions.

There Is Difference

"It is our business," White said, "but have we made it our business?"

"Let's make it our business," Bailey replied.

"If you're going to tax these people, then you've got a right to ask them these questions," Peckham said, "but the government hasn't any right to send a lot of temporary employes around the country prying into everybody's personal business."

"Now you're making a distinction between a deputy revenue collector and a census taker," Bailey replied.

"There's a tremendous difference between them," Peckham said.

Soviets Warn Black Sea Defenses Strong

MOSCOW, Feb. 28 (U.P.)—The Soviet press warned today that Russian Black sea defenses opposite Turkey were "factories of deadly fire" and that blackout drills had been ordered in strategic zones because Russia "must always be on guard."

The blackout zones include Baku and other cities near the Turkish frontier and important centers in the far north. The press has frequently charged that Great Britain and France plan to attack Germany and Russia from the south.

It required 180 musket balls to kill a dangerous elephant in a London menagerie in 1826.

Senator Walsh Will Not Fight Third Term For Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP) — Senator Walsh (D-Mass), who has opposed some major administration policies, said today he would not "be a party to any opposition" to a third term for President Roosevelt.

He added a forecast that only presidential intervention would block renomination, since it "appears this is the general sentiment both in and out of Congress."

"COME ON IN— The Weather's Fine!"

WHO-O-O—Listen to that wind howling along at fifty freezing miles an hour.

Hurry! Get behind that broad and beaming windshield where the weather's always fine. Touch that little dial—the Nash "Weather Eye"—then off with your overcoat—quick!

February mysteriously vanishes : : : fresh Spring air comes out of nowhere : : : and you're left knee-deep in June.

Different? Sure it is—and so is everything else about a Conditioned Air Nash. For instance, that throttle. It wasn't made to be stomped on!

Just a touch—and you're sailing down the road. Another tap—and a Fourth Speed Forward lets you "ghost along" with a silent engine. Tap it again—for a new thrill in the throttle—a terrific "Automatic Overtake" speed for safe passing.

There's a sign ahead—"Warning—road under construction" : : : but as you glide over the frozen rock, you'd never believe it. (If your bed had wings, it would feel like this!)

You can tell by the staunch, steady feel of the wheel : : : by the lack of jiggle and jounce — that Nash's Arrow-Flight Ride is something new in springing.

Work On Storm Sewer To Start

lan, J. A. Fortenberry, W. B. Price and Hub Jones, joined by City Manager W. H. Rodgers, City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley, City Engineer Marlin R. Smith, jr., and Gordon W. Parkhill, who obtained a leave of absence from the Texas Technological college faculty last September to assist in the city engineer's department in the preliminary work necessary to the determination of just what the needs of Lubbock are in regard to a sewage disposal system.

The information Parkhill has gathered in the most extensive survey of its kind to be made in Lubbock was evidence that Lubbock now is hitting the growth pace which, if maintained, indicates the "50,000 by 1945."

Figures Quoted

The slogan, "50,000 by 1945" was that adopted for the membership campaign of the chamber of commerce last fall.

Parkhill explained more explicitly that the present flow of sewage into the city's existing plant averages approximately 2,000,000 gallons per day. If the rate of increase of the past two or three years is maintained, the volume will reach 3,000,000 gallons daily by 1945. The volume per capita is figured at approximately 60 gallons per day. On that basis, the present population of Lubbock would be figured at between 33,000 and 35,000. A 3,000,000 gallon volume would indicate a population of around 50,000.

Action Not Binding

Although no official or binding actions were taken by the commissioners, they were unanimous in their agreement that it is desirable to build the new disposal plant further from the city than the present plant, which is just beyond the southeast city limits. A site belonging to the city is available approximately two miles southeast of the present plant on what is known as the "Boles plant."

If plans work out as discussed, the new plant probably will be built there. A 24-inch main in which the raw sewage will be collected near the present plant to be conveyed to the new will be large enough to meet the requirements of a city of approximately 75,000 people. The disposal plant to be built at once will be of a capacity to serve the needs of a city of approximately 50,000.

Units Can Be Added

However, it will be the type of plant to which units can be added as needed. Thus, it was explained, no money will be tied up in equipment for which there may not be need for several years. Furthermore, members of the commission were informed, when units are added, the city will be in position to take advantage of any improvements which have been developed in sewage disposal equipment. Such improvements are being made constantly, Parkhill related.

Commissioners were in agreement that the sewage disposal plant should be constructed under contract with someone experienced in that particular line of work.

Estimate Of Cost Given

It will be several weeks, however, before detailed specifications can be prepared so that a call for bids can be issued, the commission was informed.

Tentative estimates were that the plant will cost approximately $140,000 and the 24-inch outfall line approximately $80,000. All or most of the money remaining from the $250,000 disposal plant issue will be required for auxiliary lines leading into the city, officials said.

Plans for the storm sewer, which occupied about half the time of the commission discussion, were drawn in 1938 by Harry N. Roberts, local consulting engineer, when hopes were held that federal assistance of nearly $250,000 would be obtained for the project. His plans include a "main line" along with laterals spreading a net-work over practically the whole of the southern part of the city so as to provide drainage for all of the area south of Nineteenth. In some cases, the drainage area extends well north of Nineteenth.

On Twenty-Third Street

The federal help failed to materialize, so the only money available for the project is the $300,000 from the bond issue. City Engineer Smith estimated that the sum is sufficient to build the main line and perhaps one lateral of major importance reaching toward Nineteenth and College avenue to serve an area where drainage has been a problem of increasing seriousness in time of rain.

The main line, as proposed, will start with a 24-inch pipe reaching from Jefferson street "lake" at the extreme western city limits to Avenue X "lake." Most of the sewer will be laid along Twenty-third street, the mains increasing in size as progress is made toward the outlet in Yellowhouse canyon beyond the eastern edge of the city limits. At the outlet, the sewer will measure eight feet in diameter—sufficiently large that a man on horseback can ride into it without difficulty.

The storm sewer will connect the various "lakes," which will serve as catch basins to collect and hold the water which drain into them from their immediate localities. The lakes thus will become a safeguard against the possibility of flood conditions because the storm sewer capacity may be over-taxed momentarily. As soon as the momentary load upon the storm sewer ceases, draining of the "lakes" will proceed automatically. However, the commission agreed that the possibility of beautifying the lake sites will be considered in an effort to convert eye-sores into civic assets.

Rest Under Contract

Under the tentative plans, laterals will be built as needed and as the money becomes available from general revenues.

Construction of one unit of the sewer, connecting the Avenue Q and X lakes, already has been started by the city. Members of the commission, however, expressed the opinion that most of the remainder of the project should be constructed under contract.

Mountain Folks Speak Like Pope, Milton, And Chaucer

NEW YORK, Feb. 28. (U.P.)—Hits won't pleasure you much, most likely, but the fact remains that the folk of the southern Appalachian and Ozark mountains come a sight closer to using the English of Chaucer, Shakespeare, Pope and Milton than flat country people.

At least that's what Columbia university said today in its publication "American Press," which contained a passel of information about mountain talk dug up by Lester V. Berrey.

Survival Of English

"The dialect of the southern highlands," Berrey found, "is largely a survival of earlier English rather than a degradation of language. Though these regions were settled late, the student of English literature is struck by the survival here of characteristics, now archaic, that marked the literary language in other periods.

"Most noticeable is the presence of Elizabethan strong preterites such as swum, clum, wropped, fotch, drug —to mention only a few."

Berrey's survey included the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia and West Virginia, the Great Smokies of Tennessee and North Carolina, the Cumberlands of Kentucky and Tennessee and the Ozarks of Arkansas and Southern Missouri.

Talk Like Polk

Nerrey foun that like the characters of Chaucer the mountaineers speak of a "heap" of things and use the word "admire" of things and tonished as Milton did.

As with Pope, he said, the mountain folk say jine, bile, spile and pizen, and, in common with Shakespeare, call a bag a poke and a sermon a preachment.

A couple courting is "talkin'," "mind" means intend, and "hit won't pleasure her much," would give a fair idea of wife's probable reaction if her husband threatened to "silent her" with his "crutch-stick."

It's enough to make a professorman bust.

ROBBERY SUSPECT — Walter Hugh, 34-year-old WPA painter, was arrested and police Lieut. Kyran Phelan said that Hugh had confessed the hold-up of a cashier of Marshall Field & Co. department store in Chicago, in which $18,066 was taken. Approximately $15,000 of the loot had been recovered.

rank and file opposition was almost certain.

Cooperation Urged

Discussing the "political" increase in the number of employes since the 1938 expropriation and the steady rise in labor costs, Cardenas primarily proposed sharp salary reductions and the elimination of "useless jobs."

He also proposed that the union join the government in a drive to increase the present foreign exports of 60,000 barrels daily to 200,000 barrels and that 20 per cent of the receipts from the foreign sales be set aside to "establish a fund to pay the indemnization" of the expropriated companies.

the bill now goes back to that branch for action on House amendments forbidding Export-Import bank loans to countries in default on their war debts, and permitting the purchase of commercial aircraft, as distinguished from military planes. Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, announced that he would try to obtain Senate approval for the changes tomorrow, sending the measure to the White House almost immediately.

Senator Brown (D-Mich), its author, said he saw no objection to the House amendments and believed the Senate should accept them so the funds could be made available immediately.

Collective Bargaining Votes Ordered For General Motors

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP) — Collective bargaining elections among employes of 59 General Motors plants in 11 states were ordered by the labor board today. Regional directors were instructed to hold them "as soon as practicable."

Perhaps 150,000 workers may be eligible to vote, the largest number ever to cast their ballots at one time. The main issue in 58 plants will be between the rival CIO and AFL units of the United Automobile Workers of America.

The NLRB order was based upon an agreement reached February 13 between the company and the contending unions, following hearings in Detroit from Jan. 30 through Feb. 13 on the petitions of various unions for recognition as employes' bargaining agents.

Canadian Fighter Returns To Trial On Charge Of Murder

NEW YORK, Feb. 28. (AP) — A young man who three months ago was punching around a couple of fellows named Joe for a living returned to trial today, charged with slaying a German consulate secretary.

He is Ernest Kehler, 24, Canadian born fighter known in the ring as Ernie Haas.

The state charges him with the "deliberate and premeditated murder" of Dr. Walter Engelberg, 42, first secretary of the German consulate here, last Dec. 6 in the German's Brooklyn home.

Police said Kehler confessed he killed the nazi agent when Engelberg made indecent advances.

Girl Does "Chamberlain Dance" With Only Umbrella To Wear

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28. (AP) — A "Chamberlain dance" was described by a state liquor board agent today in testimony against a social club charged with presenting indecent entertainment.

The only thing a girl dancer wore, he said, was a raised umbrella.

Not In Vain

In spite of British and French efforts to build an unbreakable wall from Switzerland to the sea, forces moving with the speed and cohesion which marked the German drive through Poland and protected by a strong air force would have an excellent chance to break through, an Italian artillery man told me.

"German military theory always has been, 'find the enemy and destory,'" said a British officer. "The Germans know the drain of supporting an army and the German army, which has been mobilized almost continuously since the fall of 1918, must be used to prove to the people that their sacrifices are not in vain."

Pastor Who Was Follower Of O'Daniel Will Not Support Him

FORT WORTH, Feb 28. (AP)—Rev. J. Leslie Finnell, pastor of the Magnolia Avenue Christian church here, who was one of W. Lee O'Daniel's staunchest supporters when the flour salesman ran for governor two years ago, is not going to support O'Daniel if the Fort Worth man seeks a second term.

Mr. Finnell, who scheduled a $100 a plate O'Daniel appreciation dinner —with the proceeds due to go to the church—and then called it off—said he would support another man for governor this year but refused to name his candidate.

"I don't think O'Daniel is as strong with the boys out in the forks of the road as some think he is," Finnell said.

Jan Anderson Quits Pensions Union Because Of No Funds

DALLAS, Feb. 28. (AP)—Jan Anderson of Austin today announced he would discontinue his work as director of the Texas Pensions union because of lack of financial support.

Anderson said he was "financially exhausted, having spent seventeen months of effort without compensation and $2,553 more than the old folks contributed." He added "the old folks apparently cannot and will not support their own campaign" and he was forced to discontinue his work with the union and to "seek a paying job to meet my own responsibilities."

Anderson said he quit the work with disappointment and expressed thanks to the old folks who helped.

Lubbock Firemen Do More Than Fight Fires And Play Dominoes

If you think firemen do nothing except fight fires and play dominoes, interview a certain Chinese pheasant.

At least two firemen, Lloyd "Sass" Bentley and Alfred "Skinny" Parrack, turned to another diversion Wednesday.

The pheasant made an unexpected and unaccountable call at the fire station. George Eubank, city health inspector, informed Sass and Skinny.

A chase ensued.

Last the firemen saw of the bird was when it disappeared in full flight.

"I'd have caught it if the darned thing hadn't taken to wing," one said.

Agency Lobbying May Be Curbed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (U.P.) — Chairman Howard W. Smith of the House national labor relations board inquiry, indicated to Attorney General Robert H. Jackson today that the committee may seek to curb lobbying by governmental agencies.

Smith wrote Jackson after the attorney general refused to give an official opinion as to whether the board, by seeking to arouse support against amendment of the Wagner act, had violated federal law.

Statement Released

He told Jackson that "any further action lies solely in the province of your department"—an intimation that the justice department should proceed against the board.

Smith agreed, however, that the precedent cited by Jackson as the basis of his refusal to give an opinion "seems to me fully (to) justify your position."

Smith wrote:

"I acknowledge receipt of your letters of the 23rd in reply to my letter of February 13, in which I asked for your opinion as to whether there had been a violation by officials of the national labor relations board of section 201 of title 18 of the U. S. code relative to the use of government appropriations for lobbying activities.

Precedents Read

"I note your statement that, owing to precedents established by your predecessors, you are compelled to reply that you could not with propriety render an opinion to a committee of Congress on the subject.

"I have read the precedents referred to in your letter, which seem to me fully justify your position.

"It is regrettable that a committee of Congress, conducting an investigation under specific authority with a view to recommending remedial legislation, should not have the benefit of the advice of the chief law officer of the government as to whether, under an undisputed statement of facts, a criminal statute had been violated.

Must Probe, Report

"I think it entirely possible, if the incident referred to does not constitute a violation of the act, that Congress would desire to enact necessary legislation to prevent the continuance of the lobbying activities referred to.

"As to the partieular incident involved, my committee is charged solely with the duty of investigation and report. Any further action lies solely in the province of your department."

Her mother, Mrs. Frank Bush of Littlefield, and two sisters, Mrs. Butler Bass of Allred and Miss Eula Moore of Littlefield, survive Mrs. Teague.

Teague is survived by two brothers, Buck of Littlefield and Willie of California.

Funerals Not Set

The bodies were taken to Davis-Mason Funeral home to await communications with relatives, who late tonight had arranged no funeral services. Burial probably will be in Littlefield.

B. L. Wooddell and D. R. Enochs of the Texas Highway patrol came here from Lubbock to assist Drew Story, deputy sheriff, in investigation of the accident.

Two Victims Of Accident Near Denver City Are Improving

DENVER CITY, Feb. 28 (Special) —Improvement had been shown tonight in serious condition of James Riley Shaw and Jasper W. Wright, who were injured this morning in a truck-car collision a mile north of here.

Haire hospital authorities said both men were resting well. Both are about 35. Wright, an oil company employe, came to Denver City from Midland and Shaw came here from Ardmore, Okla. He is a construction worker.

Both men suffered concussions, possible internal injuries and lacerations when the car in which they were riding collided with a truck driven by Len McGuire and in which Clyde Masse was a passenger. McGuire and Masse were not injured.

L. W. Wendt, deputy sheriff, investigated.

New Deal strength.

There was increased activity yesterday among candidates for the presidential nominations of both parties. The name of Thomas E. Dewey and Arthur H. Vandenberg were entered on the primary presidential preference ballot of Nebraska, assuring a contest for delegates.

A similar contest was promised in Wisconsin where a Dewey slate was filed yesterday and a Vandenberg slate was said to be on the way to Madison for filing. Names of delegates instructed to support Mr. Roosevelt for a third term nomination also were filed in Wisconsin yesterday.

A slate of delegates to support Vice President Garner for the Democratic nomination was filed in New York.

Seagraves Still Building Fast

(Special To The Avalanche)

SEAGRAVES, Feb. 28—The building program in Seagraves continues under a steady and permanent pace, with a number of modern business and residential structures either recently completed or under construction.

Among the larger concerns to recently enter this city is the Hest-and-Kimbell grocery company of Lubbock, who are erecting a modern 50 by 100 structure in the Santa Fe industrial district. The concern is the first wholesale grocery and produce distributor to establish a house in Gaines county. The local house will be opened for business within 30 days.

Oil Company Moves

The Panuco Oil company recently announced the location of district offices here. An office building for use of the concern is being erected at Simpson avenue and highway 51. P. Gentry, formerly of Brownfield, is manager of the Seagraves branch office.

The George F. Meither machine shop has opened for business in its new home in the Santa Fe industrial district. The concern moved its Hobbs, New Mexico plant here. C. W. Pegues, recently of Odessa, is manager.

Formerly Of Lubbock

The Beverage Sales corporation is another new wholesale concern to open for business in Seagraves within the week. Earl Horn, formerly of Big Spring, is manager.

The Jones-Russell company, Seagraves' newest furniture and applaince dealer, has announced formal opening of a retail store here. The business is housed in a modern brick building on East Gunnip avenue.

Barrier's shop, new ladies exclusive store, has recently opened for business in the Armstrong block on East Main street. Mrs. Paul Barrier formerly of Lubbock, is manager.

especially economic, were not organized preparatory to the transition and reconstruction period, the forces of autarchy and regimentation and economic totalitarianism would probably follow the same tendency they did after the World war.

This tendency, he said, was to spread their practices on an ever narrowing and more disastrous basis to increasing areas of the world.

Hull emphasized that the conversations going on had only to do with preparations for post-war adjustments, economic and disarmament.

His ideas on the economic order that should follow the peace are understood to embrace:

1—A liberal system of trade, with abandonment of systems of economic autarchy.

2—Lower tariffs should be agreed upon, and other types of commercial restrictions such as barter and import quota arrangements should be eliminated.

3—Trick currencies, such as one currency for internal circulation and another for external circulation, should be given up.

In contacting other nations, Hull is said to be limiting himself to general expositions of his ideas and is not as yet seeking to tie them down to concrete planks.

Tavern Operator Broods Over His Partner's Suicide Until He Finally Shoots Himself

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 28. (AP)—Walter E. Hutchin, tavern operator, told his partner, William Gott, after two losing business ventures:

"If I didn't have any more sense than you have, I'd blow my brains out."

Two days later, Gott did.

That was seven years ago.

Hutchin brooded over Gott's suicide. Among Southwestern cattlemen who went to his tavern to drink and gamble in Kansas City's wilder days he was known as "a square John." But he couldn't square his own conscience.

He was found fatally wounded in his office yesterday. Detective Charles Wyatt said Hutchin, 57, still blaming himself for Gott's death, had fired a bullet into his own brain.

Russo-Finnish War

ed to gain ground ever since the war started Nov. 30.

Apparently the Russian high command feels confident the Finns are not strong enough to counter-attack, but they have been wrong on previous occasions — notably at Suomussalmi and northeast of Lake Ladoga where entire Russian divisions were cut off and destroyed.

Apparently something also has gone wrong with soviet calculations in the Kuhmo region, about midway on the long Russian-Finnish border.

Try To Surround

The Finnish communique said that operations there were continuing against "surrounded enemy positions" and that several "strong points" had been captured.

Northeast of Lake Ladoga, 50 miles from the isthmus front, Russian "attempts to advance" were repulsed, the Finns said.

In the far north Finnish troops were forced back eight miles as the Russians advanced to Nautsi on the Norwegian frontier 75 miles below the Arctic coastline. Every building in Nautsi was reported aflame.

Quiet In Air

Finnish planes in revived activity were reported to have bombed soviet munitions dumps, troop concentrations and other military objectives behind the battle lines, as well as carried out scouting flights.

Russian air action was described by the Finns as "quieter than usual."

Parts Of Three Skeletons Are Found In Box Of Cardboard

RICHWOOD, W. Va., Feb. 28 (AP) —State Trooper W. L. Lence reported today parts of three human skeletons had been found in a cardboard box on a mountain road 35 miles north of here.

"The bones were chopped and broken apart at the joints and very roughly handled," Pence said, adding:

"There is a possibility that they came from a medical college or a doctor's office but the manner in which they were treated leads to the opinion that the persons were murdered."

The box, found by a WPA worker, apparently had been hurled from an automobile, the trooper said. Its condition indicated, Pence added, that it had lain along the highway about a month.

The bones were "greasy" as if the flesh had been removed by chemicals and some were slightly burned, he said.

Debate Teams To Leave Today

Debate teams which will represent Texas Technological college in the Savage tournament at Southeastern State Teachers college at Durant, Okla., Friday and Saturday, will leave Lubbock this morning with Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, debate director.

Several students who had been scheduled to go will be unable to make the trip because of illness.

Teams to debate are Warlick Cox and Waggoner Carr, senior men's division; Mary Helen Carroll, Alice Lynn Street and Ranell Chandler, senior girls' division, Miss Chandler debating the negative with Miss Carroll and Miss Street debating the affirmative with Miss Carroll; Orville Shofner and Raymond Goodrich, junior men's division, and B. Shannon and L. V. Ratliff, junior men's division.

Subject will be: "Resolved, That the United States Should Follow a Policy of Strict Isolation, Economic and Military, With All Nations Engaged in Armed Civil or International Conflicts Outside the Western Hemisphere."

Tech will be represented at the tournament April 2-6 in Chattanooga, Tenn., to be sponsored by the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech.

Taxpayers Don't Know What They're Getting For Money

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 28 (U.P.)—Taxpayers know that schools are costing a lot of money these days, but they don't know why and they don't know what they're getting for their money, W. H. Pillsbury, superintendent of schools at Schenectady, N. Y., said today.

Educators are to blame, he told the 70th convention of the American Association of School Administrators. Pillsbury declared that for two decades the school and the public gradually have been drawing apart because educators have been "so occupied with improvement of procedures that we have lost sight of the fact that progress is safe only as it carries with it public understanding and support."

Program Recommended

He recommended a "well-conceived program of public relations" and urged educators to convince the public that the schools should be generally supported.

Unemployment of youth is serious and the schools must do something about it, Worth McClure, superintendent at Seattle, Wash., declared before a convention section meeting.

He asserted that high school curricula must dignify the occupations by which three-fourths of the students will earn their livelihood instead of offering course "as though 75 per cent of our students were headed for white collar executive and professional jobs, whereas the reverse is true in most communities."

There must also be wise counselling to help a student determine his capabilities, and "the school must actually assist in placing youth in employment," McClure said. The depression only accentuated unemployment of youth, "the result of long-time trends which are likely to continue," he said.

Dr. W. W. Bauer, of the bureau of health education of the American Medical association, prescribed that schools "should teach about health and not about disease ... about hygiene and not about medicine ... not merely facts but attitudes."

Blood Donors Form Company

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 28 (U.P.)—The proprietors of Oklahoma City's newest concern were out for blood money today, and didn't care who knew it.

They're 50 healthy young men who have formed a commercial blood donors' company to sell their product to local doctors and hospitals.

The business is helping support them while they study medicine at the University of Oklahoma medical school.

Donors Checked

"We thought of the idea last fall," explained Houck Bolton, one of the members. "Doctors sometimes have a hard time getting blood for emergency transfusions. Many of them have to rely upon members of their families or persons of their immediate acquaintance, because commercial donors are scarce."

The average price for blood transfusions is $25 per pint. Regular business cards advertising the service were passed out to doctors last week, and names of the organization's members were left with the local physician's exchange so that a donor might be contacted in an emergency.

Each donor is checked regularly for his health condition, and has been placed in one of the four different types so that a physician will know exactly what member to call for a transfusion.

War Conditions Have Little Effect On Mrs. Housewife

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (U.P.)—War conditions have caused ups and downs in many businesses, but haven't had much effect on Mrs. Average Housewife's total living cost in this country.

The bureau of labor statistics reported today that living costs in 32 large cities dropped six-tenths of one per cent in the three months ending Dec. 15. Officials said that there had been little, if any, change since then.

Minneapolis Excepted

On Dec. 15, the cost of living in Dec., based on 1923-25 costs as 100, was 82.2, compared with 82.7 on Sept. 15; 81.7 on June 15; 82 on March 15; and 82.7 on Dec. 15, 1938.

Food costs declined in each of the 3... cities surveyed, except Minneapolis, where there was an increase of six-tenths of one per cent. This was offset by rises in clothing costs, mostly for woolen goods and cotton, which went up in every city. Detroit reported the largest increase—1.6 per cent. Fuel and light costs increased on the average 1.3 per cent, and housefurnishing goods 1.4 per cent.

Figures Quoted

The survey was made among families of wage-earners and low-salaried workers in Kansas City; St. Louis; Houston, Tex.; New Orleans and 28 othe. cities.

The report showed total living cost decreases in all 32 cities except Minneapolis, Chicago and Detroit.

"Food costs were 2.8 per cent lower, on the average, on Dec. 15 than on Sept. 15, due in large part to declines in the price of meats and of sugar," the bureau reported. "Washington, D. C., reported the greatest relative drop, 5.5 per cent, while Seattle and Boston reported a decline of 5.1 per cent and Kansas City 5.0 per cent.

The English prototype of the modern musicians' union was "The Company of Musicians," established in London in 1472.

BOARD MEMBERS NAMED

LEVELLAND—T. M. Lumly has been named to membership on the city park board, by the city commission. Harry H. Mann, Ed Pilley and Jim Peeler are other members.

BOOKS AUDITED

CROSBYTON—Audit of county books by Merriman and Campbell, of Lubbock, auditors, has been presented to the commissioners' court. The firm was complimented on its work.

He takes a stitch in time on Texas telephones

Each day this Texas telephone man flips keys and watches sensitive indicators as he searches for a clue to possible trouble on Texas telephones.

He appreciates the wisdom of a stitch in time in finding and fixing troubles—or weak spots that might result in trouble. That is one way we safeguard your telephone service in Texas.

And one result is that despite the increasing complexity of telephone equipment, telephone customers report troubles on their telephones only half as often as they did 10 years ago.

A stitch in time saves nine. These words in action contribute their full share to the accuracy, dependability, and low cost of your telephone service.

Westerners Sweep Twin Bill With Plainview For Share Of 'Big Five' Ti

Lubbock Quintet Halts Bulldogs' Final Drives

By JAY HARRIS
Avalanche Sports Writer

With two hair-raising finishes that brought out the goose pimples on an otherwise drowsy house, Lubbock High's nonchalant Westerners swept a twin bill with the Plainview Bulldogs at Senior High last night to become co-champions of the "Big Five" with Pampa's Harvesters.

Until the last two minutes of each of the two games last night, the only thing that was keeping the spectators from dozing off was the occasional blast of the referee's whistle, and that didn't always turn the trick.

Westerners Off

Score of the first game was 23 to 20, that for the finale being closer and more thrilling, 28 to 27—with the long, looping field goals sliding in from every angle of the court as the second hand ticked its toll to what was perhaps the best finish to two of the worst ball games played here by the Westerners.

Surprisingly off form from their fine performances in their District Three championship drive last week-end, the charges of Coach "Goober" Keyes never got warmed up until the fading minutes of each contest, and even then it was by sheer necessity and desperate shooting to ward off Bulldog rallies that threatened to wipe out substantial Lubbock leads and humble the Black and Gold completely.

Both Games Slow

Whatever the cause, time certainly didn't march on at Senior High last night. There might have been a good reason for the Westerners' showing, however. They play the tough Crowell crew in the second game of the Regional One tournament Friday night in Canyon. It could have been they were "saving" themselves or "just thinking" the whole thing over. But, regardless of that—

First quarter of the opener saw Plainview holding a 7 to 5 advantage, Pete Cawthon and L. A. Storrs contributing the Westerners' final four points to that total in the last two minutes of play. The next stanza was a farce, Lubbock adding three points on a field goal and gratis shot by Frank Smith, the Bulldogs tallying a field goal by W. A. Graham, sparkplug of both contests for the visitors.

Stave Off Rally

And as in the second game, the third quarter furnished most of the scoring, Lubbock drawing ahead a minute after the final half started and tenaciously hanging onto an 18 to 15 advantage as the two fumbling fives headed into the fourth quarter.

Cawthon and Joe Tyson sent their mates into a six-point lead with two field goals but watched Coy Miller hit a field goal, interspersed by Graham's free toss and polished off by Andy Martin's two pointer to bring the Bulldogs' business up to a 20 count while the Lubbocks remained static at 21. With seconds to play, gangling Pete hooked in a crip shot and the game was iced.

Reserves Take Lead

Not so cocksure were the Westerners in the second tussle. The second string combination of Robert McKinnon, James Kelly, Roland Nabors, Max Walthall and Francis Bearden against a similar "second string" lineup from Plainview.

The Lubbock reserves "piled up" a 4 to 3 advantage by the end of the initial quarter, Kelly and McKinnon sinking two of the harder variety while the easier ones hopped out—as was the case most of the night. During the second quarter, Lubbock managed to hold the one-point lead and drew up to the rest period with a 9 to 8 advantage.

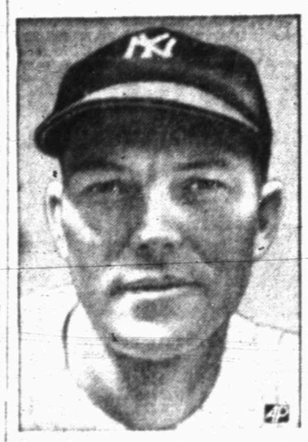

First Teams Return

Both coaches then sent in their first string machines and the fun and scoring started, the latter half of the last ball game being by far the best of the night's entertainment.

Coach Keyes had sent Leete Jackson, Storrs, Tyson, Cawthon and Smith into the fray and right away they got busy; well, pretty busy.

Slaton Names Ten Champions To End Meet

DICKEY CATCHES UP — ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 28. (AP)—Catcher Bill Dickey signed a 1940 contract with the New York Yankees today which was reported to call for $20,500, a $2,500 increase over last year.

Another pitcher, Spurgeon (Spud) Chandler, reported to the training camp.

Pro Grid Loses Big Drum Man

NEW YORK, Feb. 28. (AP)—The man who built a drum that couldn't be beat has retired from pro football, and Carl Storck, president of the National Pro league, believes the sport has lost one of its most colorfül figures.

The man whose one drum made the Drums Along the Mohawk sound like the drumming of your fingers is George A. "Dick" Richards, who sold his Detroit Lions this year because of poor health.

The drum couldn't be beat, for two reasons, to wit: It was the biggest drum in the world, Richards claimed, and it couldn't be used for some time because no skins were available to cover it.

Richards likes the novel in showmanship, and after transporting the Wayne university band to make music for his team at several out-of-town games, he decided the band should have something which no other band could match.

Argentina To Rescue

He decided the something was the biggest drum in captivity, and he ordered it made. However, he discovered he had nothing to cover it with. Steers just didn't seem to grow that big.

Undaunted, he gave an operative a tape measure and expense account and told him to start hunting. All the stockyards and tanneries in this country were checked, but no dice, so the operative headed for Argentina.

About five months later the weary agent located two steers on pampas, purchased them, brought back the hides, and soon Detroit and environs were greeted by noise the like of which they never heard before.

Head Cold May Keep Lee Savold From Meeting Pastor Friday

NEW YORK, Feb. 28. (AP) — Lee Savold, Des Moines, heavyweight contender who is booked to meet Bob Pastor in a 12-round bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night, developed a head cold today which may keep him from going through with the fight on schedule. Savold was examined by Dr. William Walker and Dr. S. L. Meylackson, who will give their final decision after another check-up tomorrow morning.

Tahoka Awarded Squad Trophy After Deadlock

(Special To The Avalanche)

SLATON, Feb. 28.—Terminating three nights of flying fists in Slaton's best amateur boxing tournament in history, champions in 10 weight divisions were crowned here tonight with a full house cheering 18 semi-final and title tussels.

Tahoka and Slaton deadlocked for the team trophy with 14 points each, the local squad, however, voting the award to the Lynn county leather slingers. Snyder was second with 8 points and Hale Center and Plainview staged a race for third place honors with 5 points each.

Champions were presented handsome reversible jackets.

The 10 champions and how they got that way in their final bouts:

85-pound division: Duncan Hewlett of Snyder, by decision over Ray Talbort of Slaton for the title.

100-pound division: Wayne Townsend of Slaton, by outpointing James Welles of Tahoka.

Flyweight—R. C. Brackeen of Slaton, by receiving the judges nod over Buster Gillam of Shallowater, for top honors.

Bantamweight—Mutt Seesums of Tahoka, by winning over Jimmy Dickson of Hale Center, decision.

Featherweight—Cleli Whetsel of Snyder, by default over Arvill Hicks of Hale Center.

Lightweight—Tex McLaurin of Tahoka, by outpointing Dan Daniel of Tahoka, District Golden Gloves champion, in one of the better fights of the night.

Welterweight—Howell Steen of Lubbock, District Golden Gloves champion, by decisioning J. E. Anderson of Plainview.

Middleweight—Robert Crouthers of Plainview, by registering a technical kayo in the first over Lowell Thompson of Tahoka.

Light Heavyweight—John Buck of Morton, District Golden Gloves titlist, by decisioning Bill Shields of Snyder.

Heavyweight—Linard Buck, John's brother, also a District champion, by tacking up a technical in the second stanza over Weldon Hargrove of Snyder.

In the semi-finals, the following results were posted:

85-pound division—Billy Brackeen of Slaton, kayo ja. Ray Talbort of Slaton. Duncan Hewlett of Snyder decisioned Billy Bartley of Slaton.

100-pound division—Wayne Townsend of Slaton gained a decision over Wayne Robertson of Lockney. James Welles of Tahoka won by default over Billy Waldrop of Slaton.

Flyweight—R. C. Brackeen kayoed J. R. Robertson of Lockney, in the initial round.

Bantamweight — Mutt Sessums cooled Jack Talbort in the first round.

Featherweight—Arvill Hicks decisioned Dodghit Grinstead of Slaton.

Lightweight—Tex McLaurin received the judges' nod over Eugene Fields of Snyder. Dan Daniel decisioned Bob Lock of Plainview.

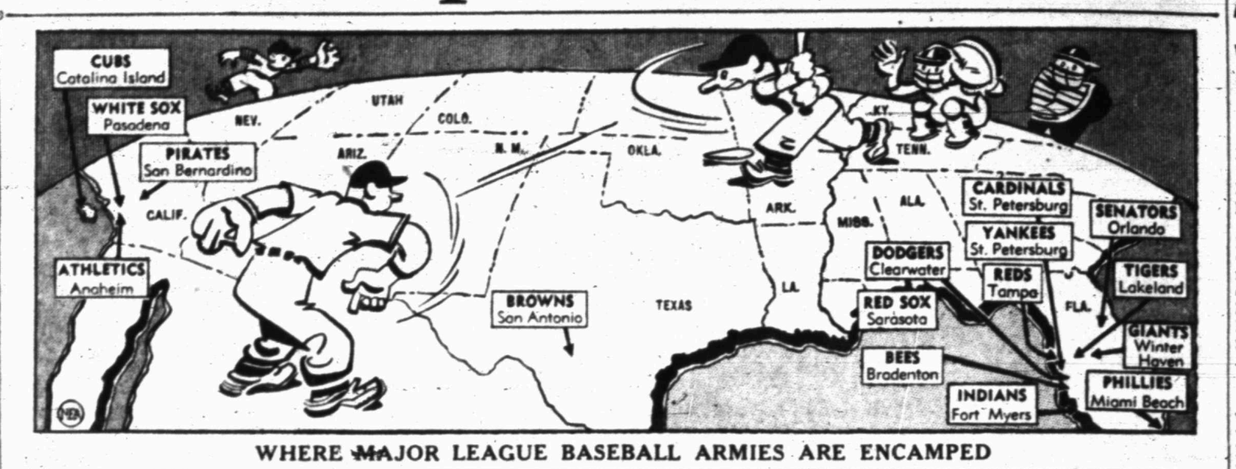

Welterweight—J. E. Anderson outpointed Lee Dent of Hale Center.

BUCK NEWSOM TARDY

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 28 (AP) — Manager Del Baker of the Detroit Tigers indicated today he was getting peeved over Pitcher Buck Newsom's absence.

Newsom is four days late already for spring training, and Baker, with a trace of sarcasm in his voice, said Buck had advised that "urgent business" was keeping him away.

The veteran twirler is expected in camp tomorrow.

Harrison Paces Demaret In Florida

St. Petersburg Tourney Starts

(By The Associated Press)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 28.—E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Little Rock, Ark., professional, clipped three strokes from par for a 68 and the first round lead in the $3,000 54-hole St. Petersburg open golf tournament at Lakewood Country club here today.

Harrison, recovering from a bogey 5 on the first hole, shot 13 pars and for birdies displaying unerring touch with his putter. He held a one-stroke lead over Jimmy Demaret, smiling Houston professional and leading money-winner of the winter tournament campaign.

Sammy Snead, the defending champion from Shawnee, Pa., occupied third place with his 70, the only other card better than par.

Clayton Heafner, Linville, N. C.; Byron Nelson, U. S. Open champion from Toledo, Ohio, and Billy Burke, former National Open titleholder of Bellfair, Pa., equalled par with 71's.

Hogan Competing

The 72-bracket included John Revolta, Evanston, Ill., and Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., former PGA champions, and Ben Hogan, also from White Plains.

The 60 low professionals and 10 low amateurs qualified for the final 36 holes tomorrow. First money is $700.

SHADER TO TUCSON

CINCINNATI, Feb. 28. Miller, who formerly played ball under Shader, has been secretary of the Arizona-Texas league.

Anybody Want A Hoss Race Track? But Not This One

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28—Jack Horning, the blond, starry-eyed young man who sank a cool million dollars of his and his mother's money into the construction of a horse race plant in a community where two tracks already flourished, still is wishing he could get the first nickel of it back.

Any sunny day Jack can leave his home on Hibiscus Isle and in a 30-minute drive reach his beautiful, bankrupt racing property. There it stands—Gulfstream Park—its great steel grandstand yawning emptily, its splendid track unmarred by hoof prints, and its long lanes of stables giving no odor of horse.

So far as young Horning or anyone else knows, Gulfstream Park will remain a ghost track indefinitely. Only a little over a year ago it opened amid fanfare, before the biggest crowd to attend the opening of a track in Florida, and in game but hopeless opposition to Hialeah.

Runs Three Days

Friends of Horning had tried to dissuade him, but he hadn't listened. Gulfstream struggled through the third day, on which the mutuel play fell to $81,922, and then Jack's bubble collapsed. The mutuel "bankroll" was whisked away, Horning didn't have any money left to operate the plant, and since then Gulfstream has slumbered.

So long as Hialeah and Tropical Park continue to operate as prosperously as now, horsemen can see no chance for Horning's folly. At present the fine, modern plant is in bankruptcy, and it is estimated that more than $500,0000 of fresh money would be needed to straighten out the mess and put the place in operation.

Unless such a sum is forthcoming, as appears extremely unlikely, there is nothing Horning can do toward salvaging the fortune tossed into the venture by him and his mother.

Frankie Frisch Puts Pirates Through First Heavy Drill

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Feb. 28 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates had their first workout under the direction of new manager Frankie Frisch today, and it left them groggy.

The "Fordham Flash" put his 10 athletes through two solid hours of jogging around the lot, bunting and playing for the baserunners, fielding grounders on the infield, chasing flies and sprinting. Then, after lunch, they went through the same routine again.

Stormy Davis Takes Baseball Franchise At Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 28. (AP) — C. A. (Stormy) Davis of Arp, veteran player and umpire, today took over the franchise of Jacksonville's East Texas league baseball club, thus assuring an entry in this year's campaign.

Local leaders had turned back the franchise to league President C. P. Mosley yesterday. Davis has started work lining up players and arranging for spring training.

Even The Track Umps Go Wrong

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—Despite the presence of so many badge-wearers that there should have been efficient checking at all points, it now has developed that Joe McCluskey actually was "short-changed" out of a world indoor record in last Saturday's National track championships.

The two-mile steeplechase McCluskey won was fast all the way, and Joe finished off with a fine two-lap sprint. Therefore there was some surprise when his time was announced as 10 minutes 3.4 seconds, 16.6 seconds slower than the mark he set in 1932.

The first squawk came from McCluskey, who claimed the official assigned to announce the number of laps to the runners yelled "seven to go" on two successive trips past the checking station.

"Ret. Or Black?"

Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A.A.U., insists an extra lap would have been impossible because McCluskey was checked at each quarter-mile and every one tallies down to the last, which was reported as 1 minute 33 seconds. Actually that was his fastest 440 but, as Ferris put it, Joe could have done 1:33 "on his hands and knees."

Ferris' explanation, therefore, ties up with the watches used by the timers. These show two sets of

Westerners Win Two

Jackson, who showed his wares as a good floor man throughout, counted a crip shot to send the Westerners ahead, 11 to 8. Hofer, who had entered the game for Plainview, plopped in a free toss following the same performance by teammate Breland. But Tyson edged in one of those slithery shots from a one-hand pose, a feature of his early season play, but watched Miller, spark of the last game for the Bulldogs, retaliate with a tip-in. Things rocked along then and the fans rocked, too, until the fading minutes of the third when Miller counted two more.

Storrs Comes Through

Then, in quick succession, Cawthon, Smith and Jackson scored to send themselves ahead, Miller's one pointer leaving the standings at the beginning of the fourth: 19 to 15 for Lubbock.

And the local lads increased that lead with two more shots from the arms of Storrs and Cawthon. But the end of the game was drawing nigh and time for another Plainview rally was imminent. It came.

In those two remaining minutes, it seemed that anything might happen—and almost did. The Bulldogs, due largely to Knox, pulled up within one point, the score reading 23 to 20 with little more than a minute remaining. Storrs dropped in his only free toss of the night and Cawthon added a crip shot and local partisans breathed easier. But not for long. Breland stood near the center of the court and slid a long thriller in from the sidelines and Wilson knotted the count with another long sizzler.

The second hand stood at the 30-to-go mark as Storrs burned the net with a mid-court one-hander. And as Plainview fought back, adding one more tally on a free toss by Breland, the whistle found the ball in Lubbock territory, Storrs shooting for a free one.

Cawthon and Storrs paced Westerner scoring in the opener with 8 points each, Graham beating them out for honors with 11 points. In the finale, honors went to Miller with 8 points for Plainview, and to Cawthon with 6 for Lubbock.

Armstrong And Garcia Get By Physical Tests For Battle

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28 (AP) — Hammerin' Henry Armstrong and Ceferino Garcia, who meet for the latter's middleweight title Friday night, passed their physical examination today.

Dr. Lloyd Mace, the California commission physician, made the usual tests and declared both fighters were in excellent condition for their 10-round battle.

Armstrong after his fourth title in the bout with the Filipino, smiled easily during the proceedings, while Garcia seemed irritated by the prolonged examination.

Riggs, Fabyan Grab Honors In Tourney

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)— The National indoor tennis championships took on a tri-city hue today as players from Chicago, Boston and Los Angeles dominated the quarter-finals competition.

Bobby Riggs and his fellow Chicagoan, Frank A. Froehling, stormed into the semi-finals of the men's singles, where they will have to contend with each other.

In the other semi-final match tomorrow Don McNeill of Oklahoma City will be paired against Frank J. Bowden of New York.

In the women's singles quarter-finals top-seeded Sarah Palfrey Fabyan swept gracefully past Charlotte C. McNeill of Bound Brook, N. J., 6-1, 6-4 and fourth-seeded Katherine Winthrop finally conquered Louise Raymond of Scarsdale, N. Y., 7-5, 5-7, 6-2.

Pauline Betz, Los Angeles, conquered Norma Taubele of New York 6-3, 6-2, and Gracyn Wheeler, Los Angeles, stopped Millicent Hirsh of New York 9-7, 7-5.

Berg, Jameson Moving Toward Title Classic

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 28, (AP)—Patty Berg of Minneapolis, the red-haired miss who won the 1938 National championship but was kept at home last year by illness, breezed through her first round match in the annual South Atlantic women's golf tournament here today.

She eliminated Elizabeth Wing of Evanston, Ill., 7 and 5, and pointed for victory in her third consecutive winter tournament. She won at Miami and Orlando.

Betty Jameson, the 1939 National titleholder from San Antonio, also won today and appeared headed for a final-round contest with Miss Berg. Mrs. Miriam Phipps Lyon of Orlando bowed 4 and 3 to the National champion.

Attra, Corona Grab Matches In Chicago

CHICAGO, Feb. 28 (AP)—Jose Andreas of Fort Worth, Texas' first fighter to appear in tonight's Golden Gloves quarterfinals, was defeated in three rounds by Tommy Nate of South Bend, Ind.

There were no knockdowns. Nate was given the decision on boxing superiority.

Two other Texans, Tom Attra, 160, of Austin, and Morris Corona, 147, Beaumont, won their third round matches.

Attra defeated Forrest Gee of Milwaukee, in three rounds.

Corona took the measure of Howard Bleyhl of Minneapolis in three stanzas.

INDIANS ON WARPATH

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 28 (AP)—Manager Oscar Vitt led a squad of 27 Cleveland Indians, mainly batterymen, through their first spring workout today.

Of 19 pitchers on the Tribe's roster, the only absentees were Johnny Allen and Willis Hudlin, still unsigned, and Johnny Broaca, who recently agreed to terms after holding back several weeks. Catcher Frankie Pytlak, another holdout, also was missing.

Former Senator James Couzens of Michigan put $2,500 in the Ford Motor Company as a partner and took out $30,000,000 when he retired.

Plan To Reduce Strikes Aired

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (U.P.)—Director John R. Steelman of the U. S. conciliation service said today that he believed an increase in the federal mediation staff, unaccompanied by legal compulsion, would cut down strikes and lockouts and aid U. S. labor relations.

Steelman's comment was made when asked to discuss proposed legislation to improve labor relations machinery, and especially the new bill of Sen. Robert F. Wagner (D-NY) to establish an expanded federal mediation service.

Provisions Not Talked

Steelman refused to discuss specific provisions of the Wagner bill because it is pending before Congress. It would create a U. S. mediation board with three $10,000-a-year members charged with urging employers and unions to mediate or arbitrate their differences before resorting to lockouts or strikes.

Steelman said that the growth of labor unions and the increased resort to collective bargaining was a "healthy sign."

He predicted that the number of labor disputes would be reduced still further if more parties had access to impartial conciliators before mild disagreements flare in violent controversies.

Body Of Man With Picture Of Wife And Rosary In Hand Found

HOUSTON, Feb. 28 (U.P.) — The body of George Wacher, 31, with a picture of his wife in one hand and a rosary in the other, was found today in his parked automobile just outside the city limits.

The car's exhaust had been piped into the tightly closed machine with a garden hose. Mrs. Wacher said her husband, an unemployed salesman, had been worried about being unable to find work.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wacher of St. Louis.

Prominent Men Plead Innocent

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 28. (AP)—Pleas of innocence were entered in federal court here today by five prominent men, one a former state official, indicted on charges of mail fraud and "hot oil" violations connected with Louisiana's recent political scandals.

A sixth defendant resisted removal from Texas and did not appear for arraignment.

Judge Ben C. Dawkins set March 28 as the deadline for defense motions.

Arraigned were:

To Fight Removal

Leon C. Weiss, architect, and Monte E. Hart, contractor, both of New Orleans, who pleaded innocent to charges of using the mails to defraud Louisiana state normal college of more than $159,127.49 in construction overcharges.

Former State Construction Commissioner William G. Rankin, now serving a federal sentence for participation in the Richard W. Leche "yacht" deal; and Charles G. Leskey and George Belchic, prominent Shreveport oil and gas men, who pleaded innocent to charges of conspiracy to violate the Connally "hot oil" act by shipping in interstate commerce oil products produced in excess of Louisiana allowables. Also indicted with them was the Longwood Oil and Gas company.

Sylvester Dayson, East Texas oil refiner, also indicted with Rankin, Laskey and Belchic, failed to answer to his name and J. M. Grimmett, counsel for Laskey and Belchic, announced Dayson was resisting removal from Texas. His arraignment was deferred by Judge Dawkins until such time as he may appear.

Thieves Give Reception To Lubbock Visitors Wednesday

Thieves gave Lubbock visitors a hearty welcome Wednesday night.

V. L. Lewis of Abilene said a coat, a vest, three shirts and a pair of trousers, all valued at $12.50, were stolen from his car parked in 700-block Broadway.

A Waco man, E. H. Pfeffer, told police a $20 overcoat and a pair of gloves were taken from his automobile parked at Texas avenue and Sixteenth street.

G. M. Koker's overcoat was stolen from his car at Tenth street and Avenue H. He resides at 610 Sixteenth street.

Ralph Goldwater, patrolman, said none was injured in a collision of cars driven by Horace Davis, 26, of Main street at Avenue Q and L. E. Gill, 21, of 1937 Avenue H at 4:20 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Sixteenth street and Avenue L.

Hopes For An Early Peace

FEARS expressed in Europe that the present war may last many years have, without question, considerable justification in fact.

Certainly, if the present strategy is continued by the belligerents, there can be no accurate forecast as to when the end might come. The conflict thus far has been a test in endurance with each side conserving its resources to the utmost, and with neither side taking the chance of considerable sacrifices. The drains upon physical and material resources have been so small, in a relative sense, that there is every reason to believe that neither side would become exhausted for many years.

However, there is the all-important human element to consider which encourages a more optimistic view of the outlook than that reputedly taken by some of the European statesmen.

If it happens that the peoples of the various belligerent nations will be content to endure without protest the strain and the privations which already have been imposed upon them, then the probability of a very long war are increased immeasurably. But there is a serious question as to whether the common people of Britain, France and Germany will suffer indefinitely without protest.

Murmurings of protests already have been reported in all those countries. The government propaganda bureaus, of course, have denied them. But the reasonable assumption is that the reports have some basis of fact.

They hint that soldiers in the front lines have become restive. They have become worried about their families, for whose living expenses very little provision has been made. Soldiers likewise are reported also to be getting their fill of the rigid discipline which goes with the military life. And the people back home—in France, in Britain and in Germany, have not responded to the war demands with anything approaching the patriotic fervor typical of 1914.

The attitude of the men under arms and of the people back home may have had something to do with the relative quiet on the Wesern front. There is reason to believe that the various governments fear revolutions if slaughter should begin on any approximation of the scale of the first World war.

The pessimistic view of the future, without denial, is that this war may go on and on until it involves the whole world and until all the combatants are in prostrate exhaustion. Logic, however, seems on the side of a more optimistic outlook.

It St - -, Er, Smells Bad!

ACTION of the Louisiana State Democratic Executive committee in naming Gov. Earl K. Long as nominee for secretary of state was so brazen that it would have been incredible in any state except Louisiana.

Long had just been defeated decisively for the renomination as governor. The sole issue of the campaign had been the rottenness of the political machine founded by the late Huey K. Long and of which Brother Earl had become the titular head. Of the executive committee members who attempted to make Earl the nominee for secretary of state, 51 stand discredited before the world. They were defeated in the primary which smashed the Long machine, and they participated in the meeting which nominated Brother Earl because their terms of office had not expired.

It is impossible to understand what the committee expected to accomplish. Perhaps it was attempting to grasp at any straw which might offer any kind of salvation for those who have been part of the machine. Certainly, the place they sought is most important, because most of the rottenness disclosed in Louisiana politics should have been discovered and revealed in the office of the secretary of state years ago. A conscientious man in the office may mean the penitentiary for some of the Long racketeers who thus far have escaped exposure.

Quite naturally, Governor-designate Sam H. Jones, an arch foe of the Long machine, has refused to countenance the nomination. To have abided by the committee's action would have meant that he would have carried a worse stink into the governor's office than did any official during the lushest days of the Long domination.

Some of the finest chefs in the world have been mobilized by the Swiss army and are preparing food for the soldiers. Gourmets may still obtain their favorite Waldorf salad simply by enlisting

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

GREATEST ORATOR IN THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE

George Whitfield (1714-1770), founder of Calvinist Methodism, is considered the greatest orator to speak the English tongue. For 36 years he spoke an average of 40 hours a week. He crossed the Atlantic 13 times and delivered 18,000 sermons averaging 4 hours in length each. He often spoke to open air gatherings of 30,000 people in so loud a voice that he was perfectly heard by all. He fascinated Beujamin Franklin, who had come to scoff. The great actor Garrick offered to pay 100 guineas if he could learn to say "Oh" like Mr. Whitfield. He could move audiences to tears by pro-nouncing the word "Mesopotamia". Wherever he spoke, audiences would leave theaters and circuses to hearhim. He was buried beneath the pulpit of the Federa l Street church in Newburyport, Mass.

CHAPTER XVIII

Mrs William Martin had asked Katie Donovan to meet her at the Colony at 1.

"There are so many things I want to talk over with you, my dear," she told Katie. "We won't have a chance tonight. I'm terribly glad you're back."

Mrs. Donovan was flattered by the intimate note in the phone call. She felt as if she had already been admitted to the Martin family circle. She knew from past snubs that it wasn't easy to crash.

With great care she dressed for luncheon. Susette had helped her into three different costumes before she settled on her black crepe and black Persian lamb coat. Instinctively, she knew they toned her down. Instead of her diamond bracelets she wore pearls. If Mike had seen her he would probably have asked where the funeral was, especially when she fitted on that queer peaked black hat with the long veil. But then, she knew it was smart, hadn't she paid $50 for it at Varnet's?

You couldn't make a mistake with Varnet's clothes. He dressed everybody in society. A Varnet custom-made was like a court uniform. It got you by in the right places.

A chattering lot of fashionably dressed women were already jamming the lounge when Mrs. Donovan walked in a few minutes before 1. Mrs. Martin had not yet arrived.

But Katie didn't mind waiting. She liked to watch the people, many of whom she recognized from their pictures in the papers. Mrs. Birdie Matson was beginning to show the wear and tear of five husbands, she thought, surreptitiously studying the flamboyant woman sitting beside her. Across from them was Mrs. Matson's first husband. He waved good-naturedly to his former wife. Jean, the owner of the Colony, nodded affably at Mrs. Donovan.

"We've missed you," he said.

"Yes, I've been South," Katie answered, pleased to be noticed by Jean and yet careful of overfamiliarity. "I came back on the boat," she added.

In her heart, Katie knew that Jean knew the social standing of the Donovans was not so secure as their finances. But today she thought he would be more impressed. To be seen publicly with Mrs. William Martin sent one's social stock soaring.

A stir at the door, heralded Mrs. Martin's arrival. Where-ever she appeared, there was always a commotion. Her dress, her manner and her voice, commanded attention.

"My dear Mrs. Donovan," she cried; bearing down under full sail on Katie.

She was dressed today in heavy black satin with a great deal of jet gleaming at the throat and her mink coat and a mink hat made her look like a Russian general. Those waiting in the lounge looked pleasantly self-conscious as she passed, glad to be at the Colony on the day she was lunching there.

"We have your same table, Mrs. Martin," Jean nodded, then signaled to a waiter. "Madame is sitting in the front, the one marked reserved."

He directed the small cavalcade of waiters, busboys and attendants to draw the chairs back, fill the glasses with ice and put a special bouquet of spring flowers on the table.

"We'll order and then talk," Mrs. Martin said, accepting the homage. She sat opposite Katie, nodding to this and that person, holding up her lorgnette the better to identify those about her.

"There's Mrs. Morgan," she murmured, bowing to an extra-ordinarily thin old lady whose wrinkled parchment throat was held in place by a black velvet band.

"I'm expecting you at my party tonight," she called.

Mrs. Morgan nodded, the plumes swaying on her Queen Mary turban. "I'm looking forward to it with great pleasure. I hear your beautiful niece is the inspiration."

By the time Mrs. Martin had spoken to the different people around her, it developed that practically everybody in the resturant would be at the party. The Robillards, the Jameses, the Kissans and the Leonard Finches were all coming.

Mrs. Martin fixed her lorgnette on Mrs. Donovan.

"I hope you like smoked salmon and filet of sole," she said. "I always order them in England. This is the only place in New York where they're half decent."

Katie murmured that she liked them very much. She was going to be a lady if it killed her.

"And now," said Mrs. Martin, sweeping aside the knives and forks which the waiters had so carefully laid in front of them, "we can get down to business."

She was not one to side-step the issue. "James Martin and Will, my husband, need your husband's help and co-operation — in a business way—" She eyed Katie benevolently, paused a moment, then spoke slowly and deliberately. "The short-cut to this union would be a marriage between your son and James' daughter. What could be more all-powerful than the merging of these two families?"

Katie nodded. Discussion of business of any sort was beyond her depth, but she had sense enough to keep quiet. Mrs. Martin mistook her silence for scepticism.

"There's no reason in the world why you shouldn't be the first lady in society," she said, gently patting Katie's hand.

Before Mrs. Donovan had a chance to reply, Mrs. Tom Sherwood interrupted.

"You must have raced us back," she exclaimed. "I pictured you still cruising north on the Katherine and here you are looking as if you'd already readjusted yourself to this frightful rush."

Katie smiled and explained she'd only arrived yesterday. It gave her great satisfaction to introduce Mrs. Sherwood to Mrs. Martin, for she still recalled that the former had been a bit patronizing on the boat that day she and her husband came aboard with the Murrays for luncheon.

* * *

Mrs. Sherwood had hardly left when Lynda came up to the table. "Oh Auntie," she cried to Mrs. Martin. "Think of finding you and Mrs. Donovan here. May I join you?"

"Of course, my darling." But there was a tinge of regret in Mrs. Martin's tone. She had not yet finished her conversation with Katie.

A waiter hurried forward with a chair for Lynda. Another took her mink coat. From the service she got, the other guests, whether they recognized her or not, knew she was somebody.

"You and I don't need any introduction, do we, Mrs. Donovan?" Lynda smiled sweetly. "You're a very important person in my life."

A jostling behind her caused her to turn, frowning.

"This place is entirely too crowded," she began. But a petulant grimace followed the frown as she saw who was doing the pushing.

"Why, Dan Donovan—" she said.

The welcoming note in her voice gave way to disapproval. Dan was followed by a girl. That forward girl, Lynda thought, who modeled her gown at Varnet's.

Dan grinned, but he stared questioningly at his mother.

"See you later?" he asked.

Mrs. Donovan did not answer.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT may have to name a new member of the Supreme court in lieu of the missing and misbehaving Frank Murphy. His personal, political and judicial behaviour since his appointment grieves Chief Justice Hughes and his hard-working associates.

Immediately after his swearing-in, Justice Murphy darted for Florida—an unheard-of performance for a man trying to make good alongside the eight best jurists in the land. His lack of enthusiasm annoyed the Chief Justice. When Mr. Murphy returned, he attended only one public convocation of the court and only four private sessions. He appeared to be disinterested and lackadaisical. He sat staring out the window during discussion of pending cases. Finally, the ordinarily genial Chief Justice burst out in a tone of utmost mpatience:

"When Mr. Justice Black came on this court, he came under the cloud of a great scandal. But he approached the court in a spirit of humility, and he has been a hard-working member. He is making a host excellent jurist. I regret to say that Mr. Justice Murphy has come among us in a spirit of diffidence."

—Note: The Oxford Dictionary defines diffidence as "The opposite of confidence; mistrust; distrust; doubt; distrust of oneself; modesty; shyness". Some distionaries define it as "disinterestedness".

CHOICES: Chief Justice Hughes then assigned Mr. Murphy the handling of an extremely complicated public utility case. The Michigan jurist accepted it, but next day begged off from immediate work in a note to the C. J.

Mr. Murphy explained that his sinus condition required that he vacation in Arizona sunshine for a few weeks. The sympathetic Chief Justice gave him leave of absence. But imagine the court's surprise when the baby jurist turned up not in Arizona, but as house guest of Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury in Florida, where temperatures have hovered around 40 for the last six weeks. Meanwhile the court learned that Mr. Murphy had conferred with certain Michigan politicos with a view to obtaining the delegation's support for the Vice Presidential nomination.

For a Supreme court justice such conduct amounts to treason—at least in Mr. Hughes' opinion. So Justice Stone—a mellow, fatherly man who could not be suspected of selfish motives—was assigned the mission of finding out whether Justice Murphy was actually angling for political preferment. The answer was a blunt "Yes". While it may be a remote possibility, a Supreme court sufficiently annoyed at such goings-on has the privilege of recommending impeachment to the House—of counseling the offending member to mend his ways or resign—or of telling the President that he has picked a "daisy".

PURPOSEFUL: Congressional indignation against British treatment of American shipping—maritime and aerial—has been inflamed by confidential information that the real objective is to cripple our commerece with neutrals. The British are believed to be resorting to war measures as a pretext to increase their trade as well as to blockade Germany.

The most flagrant instance reported to Capitol Hill by business men concerns an American firm which received a request from Norway for a quotation on steel tubing. The American company replied, but received no answer or order. Subsequently it discovered that its cabled quotation had been held up at London, never reaching the prospective customer. Meanwhile, the representative if a British corporation appeared at the office of the Norwegian firm, and made the sale of tubing. What spurs Congressional curiosity is the fact that the Norwegians had never before done business with the British firm, or even heard of it!

The delays imposed on American vessels at British control stations are apparently designed to hamper our trade, according to letters to Congressmen. British salesmen have suggested to foreign buyers that deliveries will be more prompt if they ship their stuff, even from American ports, in British bottoms. Therefore the growing demand on Secretary Hull for a full and public report on such harassments.

EFFECTS: Business conditions are parachuting downward even more sensationally than reported in this column several days ago. Politicos and economists here view the situation with such grave alarm that they are set to prepare the public for the shock with a series of warnings such as Henry Wallace has issued to the farmers.

Although the production index for February may hover somewhere between 100 and 110, as against December's peak of 128, for several stretches during the month it has sunk, as low at 100. Private estimates foresee a further drop to 85, unless checked by forces not on the horizon. Steel production has declined from 94 to 63, belying the industry's leaders' earlier prediction that 80 was to be the bottom for several months at least. WPA rolls have leaped from the minimum of 1,800,000 to 2,305,000. Prospective loss of purchasing power will eventually make itself felt in lower farm prices.

This threat may produce a revolutionary shift in policy at the White House and on Capitol Hill. It may slow down the economy drive, since government spending will again be advanced as the only means to stave off a new recession. Even anti-Roosevelt and anti-third term Democrats may be forced to do a right-about-face before they go home to tackle the voters. And it enhances the GOP's chances enormously.

NEW YORK
By Richard Waldo

WHEN it comes to tracing tht ribald aspects of the European war the financial detectives are getting most of the laughs. There is a saga of hot money which ends with the discovery that Canada will profit between 400 and 600 million dollars as a result of a vast duplicity deal that missed fire. Here's the chronological setup.

Over a period of three years millions of dollars in German money sneaked out of the Reich in spite of export restrictions whose violations carry the death penalty. By a number of ingenious schemes some thousands of Germans and German refugees accomplished the transfer of funds to Holland, Belgium and Switzerland. The cemeteries were filled with others who tried and failed. Funds were placed under anonymous accounts with a small number of investment trust banks in three neutral states famed for discreet handling of the fortunes of premiers, presidents and kings. The German refugee money was swelled by the deposits of notables of every country of Europe who had need of a secret trustee.

When the prospect of the war on Poland raised the same threat successively against each of the three small neutrals, the hegira of securities to North America began. As noted previously in this space Switzerland and Belgium have opened N. Y. agencies to act as custodians of these dummy accounts.

LOST: But an equal, if not greater, volume of investments was routed by the neutral trustees to Canadian investment trusts. The funds were registered in Ottawa rather than in N. Y., so as to avoid U. S. taxes. To shroud identity of European owners the legal owners became Canadian corporations.

This is the real background explanation of the fact that mighty England owns only about one billion dollars worth of American securities while financially minute Canada holds paper worth over 2 1-4 billions. Subsequently Canada followed the British lead in declaring war and in mobilizing all foreign securities.

The net results of the international pilgrimage of this smart money is that Canada has mobilized the securities as Canadian-owned. When sequestration comes the securities will be tied up in a Canadian war loan three transactions removed from the intentions of the original owners. Worse, the Germans and German expatriates have little chance of ever establishing ownership. For they would now have to petition an enemy country to establish proof that German money is "financing the Canadian war."

Czechoslovakia Is Down, But Not Out, As Its Nationals Smash Back At Nazi Foes

By THOMAS M. JOHNSON
NEA Military Writer

JUST as the cables announce new Nazi measures to crush Czechoslovakia's will to live, the grapevine brings news that that will grows stronger. The Czechs have struck back; their first blow, in a manner new and significant of things to come.

Confidential word reaches America that Czech air squadrons have joined the French army on the Western Front and Czech pilots have brought down German planes, including one of the new Messerschmidts. This is interesting, not just because of the David-and-Goliath appeal, but because this Czech David has in his sling bigger and better stones than might appear.

THESE first hundred Czech airmen are the "pilots" leading six hundred more, daring survivors of one of Europe's best-trained air forces, who have eluded the Nazis and flitted to France to fight for their country's freedom. Some even flew their own planes via Poland or Rumania. Supporting them are many of the mechanics and technicians in whom Czechoslovakia abounds—trained gunners, radio men, engineers, munitions workers.

Probably the most expert army in Europe are Czechoslovakia's 15,000 men now training to support their airmen near the old A. E. F. port of Bordeaux. Their cold expertness is animated by a flaming desire to right their oppressed country's wrongs.

Men Who Are Gold Mines

BY thousands they have found stealthy paths leading out of their country, now a prison house. First through Poland, now through Rumania and Yugoslavia, they come, burning with desire to strike a blow for freedom.

Through Yugoslavia alone have come nearly a thousand specialists, men worth their weight in gold to an army. Escapes were often carefully planned by several secret organizations in the Nazis' midst. They have even found ways for three Generals to escape this past month despite the arrest of many former Czech army officers. All Czech roads lead to Bordeaux, even from America whence has come much help.

According to advices received here, the youthful Czech pilot who brought down the Messerschmidt, flew an American plane, wore an American sweater, and, afterward, smoked an American cigarette.

For backing him and the rest of the Czech army-in-exile are nearly two million people in this country of Czechoslovak birth or descent. Their "capital" is Chicago and besides Illinois they are numerous in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Minnesota, Texas. A quarter of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is Czech. Pittsburgh is the center where internal differences have been pretty well smoothed and a majority support the Czech Slovak National council.

Army May Soon Be 50,000

THIS reawakened organization is raising money for relief of 5000 refugees here, and many more elsewhere. Also it is sending comforts to the growing army in France, that is the hope of these people, always tenacious, who still believe.

They believe this army will eventually be forty or fifty thousand and latest advices are that its ranks are being swelled steadily by conscription of all Czechoslovaks in France and the British empire.

This was authorized lately by the government in Paris which recognized, headed by Eduard Benes, the exiled president. His brother, Dr. Benes heads the movement in this country. In the Canadian west there is being formed a special army of Czechoslovaks which some say this country are joining, although our neutrality laws forbid recruiting here are being observed. Unlike Finland, Czechoslovakia is legally at war.

LEADING the new army across the Ingre, and many of the glorious band of Legionnaires who 20 years ago wrote with their blood upon snow a glorious page in history. They marched and fought across Siberia to the Pacific, that brought them to this country, then home to Czechoslovakia, where the flags of that Czech Legion, the flags of their republic—red, white and blue—those flags, cherished in Praha, were burned by the Nazi Gestapo. That is one reason why the new Czech army will fight.

IDEAL HOME SIX ROOMS

2427—27th Street

If you are interested in something that is really nice, then this brand new six-room home should appeal to you. In addition to an extra large living room, there are large bedrooms and a "bunk room" finished in knotty pine with "built-in" bunks for the kiddies. You will just "rave" over the pretty kitchen and bath, and, you will like that nice 70-foot north front lot too. LISTEN—It only takes $600 to buy this and the balance is in the FHA loan with low monthly payments of approximately $36 which includes taxes and insurance. You may not fail to see "Gone With the Wind" but if you fail to see this "good buy" soon, it will be gone.

ALL OF MARKET GOES UP

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)—Reports of advancing aircraft production and predictions of better days for steel manufacturing spurred their representative stocks into a rise today which carried the entire market upward.

True, the forward movement was a fractional affair and it was hesitant, but the day's final records showed an advance had been made. This consoled many a Wall street commentator who, for the last week, had futilely predicted a rise.

The Associated Press average of 60 selected stocks rose .1 of a point to 49.7. Transactions totaled 567,710 shares compared with 510,030 yesterday. It was the fourth consecutive advance in the amount of daily trade.

Leaders in the upswing were Douglas, United Aircraft, Martin, Pan American Airways, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Allied Chemical, Eastman, Du Pont, International Nickel, Phelps Dodge, American Telephone, Standard Oil of N. J., and Santa Fe.

New highs for the year were set by Loft, Interborough Rapid Transit and Brooklyn and Queens Transit preferred.

Improved quotations in the curb were recorded for Thew Shovel, Sherwin Williams, Aluminum Ltd., Creole Petroleum and Phoenix Securities. Transactions totaled 121,000 shares compared with 122,000 yesterday.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)—Cotton futures hovered around 2½-year highs today without getting up enough steam to break through. Final prices were 3 points lower to 2 higher.

Bombay was a brisk buyer at the start, following a precedent set in recent sessions. Demand from India, brokers explained, appeared due to straddle operations — purchases here against sales in Bombay. Bombay prices have been rising faster than New York lately, thus narrowing local premiums.

This support faded soon and prices gave ground when sales in March and May hit the ring. Locals sold and hedge offerings appeared.

Trade interests, who in the past month have done much to support prices, were chary.

Worth street reported disappointing textile business. A number of bids were rumored to be in the market slightly under current prices but mills refused to make concessions.

Exports Tuesday 5,769 bales; season so far 4,901,983. Port receipts 17,230; port stocks 2,975,880.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 28 (AP) — Wheat prices pushed upward almost two cents a bushel today, wiping out much of the loss sustained earlier in the week.

Additional large sales of Canadian wheat to Europe, mostly Great Britain, approach of the crop scare season in the domestic belt and damage reports from Europe as well as war news inspired most of the buying.

There was a letup in receipts at principal markets although the volume was much larger than a week or year ago.

An early gain of 1⅛ cent was reduced sharply during subsequent nervous fluctuations but just before the close the market rallied again and final figures, which were 1⅛ to 1⅞ higher than yesterday, were the best of the session. May closed at $1.03⅝@1.03½ and July at $1.01Z@1.01⅛.

Corn closed ⅛ to ⅜ up, May 56⅞@57, July 57⅞@57⅝; oats ⅛ to ⅛ higher; rye ⅜ to ⅝ up and lard 5 to 10 higher.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Feb. 28 (AP)—Moderate demand for grain continued here today.

Two Millions Are Infected

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (UP)—The U. S. Public Health service reported today that 2,000,000 Americans are "constantly infected" with gonorrhea and called upon every community to develop "adequate control programs," similar to the successful campaigns against typhoid and smallpox.

The service warned against treatments by "quacks and drugstore preparations," and cautioned particularly against use of sulfanilamide except under care of a "competent doctor."

Recommendations Made

It made these six recommendations to local communities:

"1. Each state and city health department to have a special division devoted to control of gonorrhea and syphilis, under supervision of a rtained, full-time health officer.

"2. An efficient and workable system of case reporting to be set up in sufficient detail so that the health officer may learn the extent and trend of the problem with which he is dealing.

"3. Approved and practical diagnostic laboratory services to be available without charge to all physicians treating gonorrhea.

Treatment Available

"4. Adequate treatment to be available to everybody despite inability to pay. Drugs for treatment to be provided to all clinics and physicians without charge by the state.

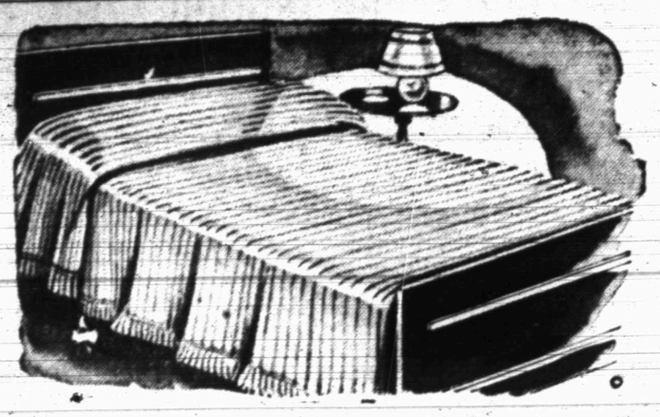

"5. Cure is the only means available to health officer for preventing spread of gonorrhea. There should be provided sufficient follow-up workers to locate and return to treatment patients lapsing from treatment before they are pronounced cured.

"6. Every public health program depends for success upon trained physicians and an enlightened public. Provisions should be made in each locality for developing an information program—both for the medical profession and for the public."

Pains In Knees Had Almost Crippled Him

Gly-Cas Relieved Him Of Constipation And Frequent Kidney Action; Then Those Miserable Aches And Pains Began To Leave.

"I never hesitate to recommend Gly-Cas at every opportunity," said Mr. W. E. Harmon, 115 Flood St., Wichita Falls, Texas. "Habitual constipation had finally taken its toll causing me so much suffering

MR. W. E. HARMON

I was in almost constant distress. Even the strongest of laxatives soon wore-out in my case and had very little effect. My digestion was so upset that even a drink of water would make me so nauseated. I could not eat the foods I liked because of the suffering they would cause me and too frequent kidney action disturbed my rest and sleep so much I was sluggish all the time. I lost my appetite too but what caused me the real agony were the awful pains in my knees which almost crippled me and made it so difficult to get around. But once I gave Gly-Cas a trial it was not long until I was well on the road to good health again."

"It is almost unbelievable how well I am today," continued Mr Harmon. "All those distressing aches and pains have been relieved and I get around with ease, my digestion is good, have a keen appetite, get full nights of sound rest and sleep, am enjoying real strength and energy and get around with ease now since I am getting regular elimination of poisonous impurities. Gly-Cas proved a wonderful medicine for me."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

Peace Strategy Well-Planned

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

President Roosevelt's peace sleuth, Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles, couldn't have been assigned to a better spot to start his investigation of prospects than in the eternal city with Signor Mussolini, and this may prove to be a bit of rare good fortune.

There can be few men who have acquired so much information about the belligerents and their innermost aims, their asking prices and their selling prices, as is stowed away in the shrewd and far-seeing brain of the fascist chieftain. Other European leaders don't fool him much if they claim one thing and think another.

He's Non-Belligerent

As a much sought-after non-belligerent (he himself uses this term rather than "neutral," to show that he has preferences and carries a gun) he has had exceptional chances to make an intimate study of the position from all angles. If he has chosen to talk freely with his visitor—and the American diplomat has been most cordially received—Il Duce likely will have disclosed the results of some keen mind-reading which should be invaluable to Welles in dealing with the warring leaders.

The undersecretary's mission is a most difficult one at best. He will be consulting statesmen with whom he isn't well acquainted personally.

Must Be Psychological

His work must of necessity be to a large degree psychological, lest he place a wrong value on the spoken word. One judges that President Roosevelt will put much reliance on his emissary's assay of the conversations. Perhaps Welles' biggest test will come at his next stop, when he visits Herr Hitler.

The German fuehrer is at times one of the world's most difficult personages, because he has a habit of letting his emotions take him cloud-riding. Some there are who think he does this deliberately.

Mussolini has his axis partner pretty well figured out by this time, including the flights of fancy which at one time or another have irked the practical fascist leader no end. Il Duce also has had an opportunity to get a good slant on the astute Birmingham businessman who is Premier Chamberlain of Britain, and the bull of provence, Premier Daladier, who now rules France under dictatorial powers granted him by his parliament.

Has Good Equipment

So if Mussolini has felt well disposed toward Mr. Roosevelt's search for peace, Welles has gone forward with good equipment for the remaining stages of his journey.

There is every reason to believe the Italian leader will be delighted to give full cooperation to any legitimate effort to halt the war. Actually this paradoxical personage, who has preached the virtues of war and used force for conquest, has quietly been working vigorously for peace himself, and only slackened in his efforts recently because he saw that the time hadn't yet arrived for mediation.

Even a year before at Munich, he was one of those chiefly responsible for keeping the German-Czecho-Slovak crisis from precipitating a general war. He stood for peace. I saw him there, his face drawn and lined, and clearly showing the strain under which he was laboring.

On August 26, just before Hitler invaded Poland, Mussolini was said in a responsible Italian quarter to be taking an active part in a "last attempt to save the peace of Europe."

Hal Roach's Plea For Information Draws Bag Of Scholarly Insults From Teachers

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 28 (U.P.)—Hal Roach, whose training in paleontology was confined to making custard pie comedies, today received a mail bag of scholarly insults from college professors to whom he had addressed this inquiry: "What kind of a voice did the dinosaur have?"

Those not insulting, were confusing, and Roach said he still had no idea whether a dinosaur went "unk," "auk," "eek," or "wowie." The situation was serious. Roach had in production a movie about life on this planet 1,000,000 years, B. C., complete with dinosaur, tyrannosaurus, dimetrodon, and triceratop. Its big moment was the battle to the death between a savage tyrannosaurus and a giant dimetrodon. It was going fine until Elmer Raguse, the sound engineer, said:

Sent Queries

"Hey, Boss, what kind of noises do these pets make?"

Roach, who didn't know, sent queries to paleontologists.

"It was a mistake," he admitted.

Dr. Robert J. Barr of Marquette university suggested that he send sound engineers to Cook Strait, New Zealand, and record the "love hunger, anger and other" calls of the tuatera, the world's only living fossil.

Dr. Kenneth E. Caster of the University of Cincinnati said he was organizing the "society for the succor of slandered saurians" and added in passing: "A death struggle between a tyrannosaurus and dimentrodon would be an anachronistic howler and I'd sugest an occasional Bronx bellow. Dimetrodon died approximately 100,000,000 years before the first tyrannosaurus had an evil gleam in his eye."

Fight Not Fair

Furthermore, added Prof. Carroll Chouinard of the University of Nebraska, the giant dimetrodon was only six feet long; the tyrannosaurus 45. He didn't think the fight was fair."

Dr. Fred H. Glenny of the University of Akron suggested that saurians went either "unk" or "uuk," and urged that Paleontologist Roach make sound recordings of elderly crocodiles at play. Dr. Hiram Schneider of the University of Utah confessed that he knew of no way to determine "whether dinosaurs grunted, growled, or s...
