Teachers Raises

AUSTIN (AP)-Gov. Bill Clements says teachers are "quasi state employes" entitled to the same pay raise he has recommended for other state employes, but no more.

But the president of the Texas State Teachers Association said Monday Clements doesn't understand public education and is not living up to his promise to be all the people's governor.

Children Gassed

CLEVELAND (AP)-About 100 children were overcome by gas fumes at an elementary school today and were rushed to hospitals, deputy school superintendent James Tanner said.

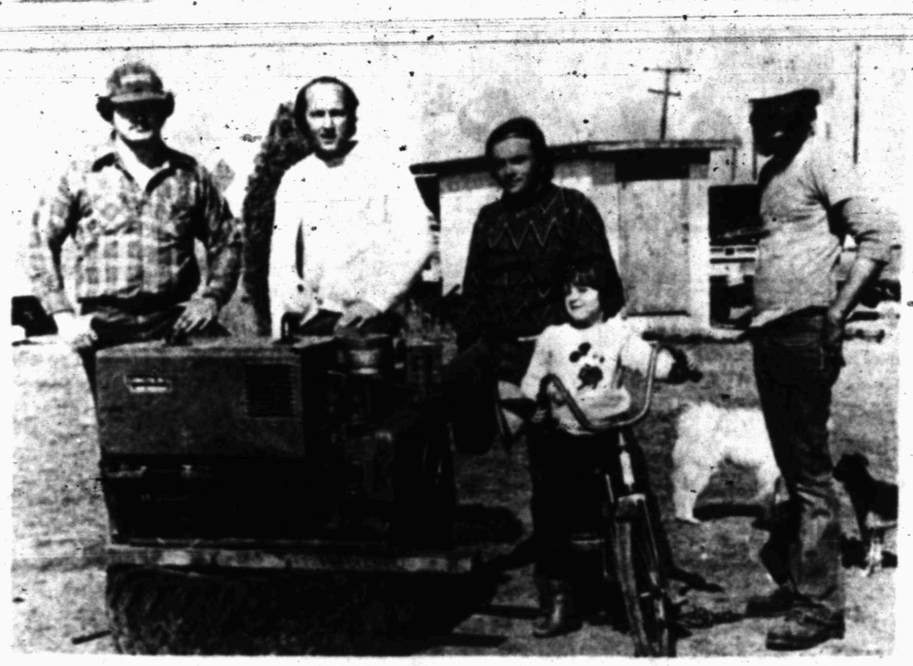

The children, about one out of five who were at the Longwood School, were taken to at least 11 hospitals around the city so as not to overtax any single emergency room, Tanner said.

Authorities were at the scene on Cleveland's near east side trying to determine what kind of gas was involved and where the leak was.

Troops Hold Fast

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)-Vietnam claimed its troops were holding fast on the northwest corridor to Hanoi and inflicted heavy casualties on the invaders at the other end of the frontier.

Radio Hanoi said the Vietnamese withstood a Chinese armored and infantry attack from three directions Monday in the Cam Duong area, on the Red River south of the provincial capital of Lao Cai and about 150 miles northwest of Hanoi. It said 1,400 Chinese were killed.

VISITING SNYDER--The search for oil has brought a French oil company to the Snyder area. The 16-member crew is composed of both French and Americans. From left are Tom Qualls, the assistant manager of the group; Jean Yves Gaborit, a Frenchman and the leader of the group; Gacques Fragonas; 5-year-old Emanuel Garorit; and Nick Grigsby. They arrived in Snyder Feb. 7, and said they will probably stay here about another week. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

But Shortage Looms...

Saudis Hold Off Crude Price Hike

By The Associated Press

Saudi Arabia, the world's largest oil exporter, said today it will hold off temporarily on any price increases, but American consumers already are paying more for fuel and they may face gasoline rationing and service-station closings in the future.

As the White House prepared to send a standby energy plan to Congress, Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger told the nation's governors that rationing would be used only as a last resort. He said the loss of oil from Iran is not reason enough for rationing, but added that other mandatory, energy-saving measures could be imposed if the Iranian cutoff continues for a year or longer.

The New head of the National Iranian Oil Co. said today the country hoped to resume exports next week selling to the highest bidder.

He said the country hopes to get $18 to $20 a barrel - compared to the current base price of $13.35 a barrel set by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries of which Iran is a member.

That base price - which is subject to some adjustment depending on the quality of the oil and other conditions - had been scheduled to increase 3.9 percent on April 1 as part of an overall 1979 price boost of 14.5 percent planned by OPEC.

Several exporting countries, however, taking advantage of the cutoff in supplies from Iran, have raised their prices before the deadline and boosted them above planned levels. Kuwait, for example, announced a 9 percent hike on Monday.

Saudi Arabia, breaking with the others, said it plans no general price increase before April 1.

For Oil Field Work...

French Crew Here To Check New Equipment

By JOHN LONG

The search for oil has brought a French petroleum company to Snyder to experiment with a new type of machine to record underground vibrations.

The 16-member crew is lead by Jean Yves Gaborit, a Frenchman. With him are his wife and 5-year-old son. Two other members of the crew are also French. One is here with a German girlfriend.

While the new piece of equipment is being tested three miles north of Loraine in Mitchell County, the crew members are staying at the Beacon Lodge Motel.

They are employed by Consolidated Georex Geophysical Co., a French firm, and under contract by Shell Oil Co. They have been in Snyder since Feb. 7, and indicated they will probably stay here about another week.

One of the differences Gaborit has noticed between his hometown of Poitiers and Snyder is the ever-present wind found here. "It is always windy," he said.

One of the biggest differences, however, lies in oil and the oil industry, the Frenchman noted.

"In France we don't have oil," he joked. He also noted that in his country gasoline sells for about $2.47 a gallon. "Do you understand why we have small cars?" he asked.

Another difference, he observed, is in the social realm. "In France," he said, "if nobody knows you, nobody is going to help you."

"I think what he is trying to say is that people here are friendlier," said Tom Qualls, an American, who is the assistant party manager.

Gaborit noted that his wife and son have been warmly received in the jaunts about Snyder. Such friendly treatment, he indicated, is not always ac-

The SDN Column

There's a strong move underway in Austin to change up the primary election schedule and a proposal now under consideration in the state senate would not only change the season but also the day of the week for primaries.

There was a time when state and local officials tried to keep their elections on Saturdays. Primary elections in this state have been held on Saturdays for as long as we can remember and school elections and city elections are on Saturdays.

The general election in November, which is nation-wide, always has been an exception, being held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

A senate bill now in the mill would move our regular primary elections back to July and August, where they were for many years. It also would move them to Tuesday instead of Saturday.

This would be a drastic change from tradition, but probably it does make sense. Saturday used to be the day of the week when country folks went to town. They did not leave their fields any other day, unless an emergency arose. Many of them regarded the vote as highly important, but no so important as a crop. So, Saturday was the proper day for elections.

Today, a trip to the polls usually requires only a few minutes, no matter where a voter lives. Also, there now are about as many people who do not work on Saturday as there are people who do, which means that a lot of people are free to take weekend trips. Many of them do, and for that reason they are not in their home county when a Saturday election is held. Absentee voting is available to these people, of course, but it requires more effort to vote absentee than it does to go to the regular polling places on election day.

So, perhaps Tuesday really is a better day in these times.

They are talking about a March date for a presidential primary and July and August dates for the state and local primaries. With April elections for city and school offices and the general election in November, and a few extras thrown in for good measure, such as liquor elections, bond elections, etc., we could be voting every month some years.

HEW Looks Into Complaint Here

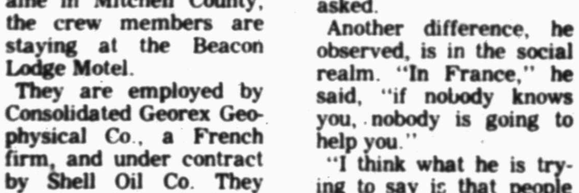

Officials of the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare were expected here this afternoon to make an on-site survey in response to a complaint concerning female coaches in Snyder Public Schools.

Notice of the complaint was received in July of 1977 by the local school district. The notice advised that HEW had received a complaint alleging that Snyder Public Schools were in violation of Title IX concerning salaries, work schedules, etc., for women coaches.

Since the notice was filed, the school district has forwarded information requested by HEW on several occasions, but no on-site visit had been made.

School officials said they felt that the district was in full complaince with all regulations in its pay scales, assignments, schedules and other factors.

Identity of the complainant was not divulged.

Snyder High Majorette Wins Trophy

Terri Dennis, 17, won first place in the Miss West Texas Majorette Pageant, Senior Division, during competition held Saturday in Slaton.

Miss Dennis, a senior, is the head majorette at Snyder High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry N. Dennis, 3505 Kerrville.

She also placed second in solo competition, third in military strut, and fourth in T-strut.

Also attending the Slaton competition was Debra Collum. She placed first and second in divisionals.

In winning first place in the overall competition, Miss Dennis won a trophy only slightly smaller than herself. She said she wasn't expecting it, and that "it was a shock to me."

But Standby Plans Readied...

White House Says Gas Rationing Last Resort

WASHINGTON (AP)-The White House prepared to send Congress standby plans for gasoline rationing today, but Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger assured the nation's governors that rationing would be used only as a last resort.

Schlesinger said rationing would not be used as a result of the loss of Iranian oil, but that other mandatory, energy-saving measures proposed by the administration might be imposed if the Iranian cutoff continues for a year or longer.

'We will not come to rationing because of what is a relative shortfall in supply" as a result of the Iranian shutdown, Schlesinger told the natural resources committee of the National Governors' Association.

Schlesinger spoke as the White House was about to send Congress its standby plan for rationing and other steps, including allocation of crude oil among refineries and possible restrictions on weekend retail sales of gasoline and diesel fuel.

Schlesinger predicted possible gasoline shortages this summer due to the Iranian shutdown, and said some mandatory steps contained in the administration's contingency plan might be triggered.

Asked about the plan for barring gasoline sales on weekends, he said that if the step is taken the administration might consider allowing states to pick a weekday if they preferred.

However, Schlesinger said he hoped such harsh steps would not be required at all.

He told the governors that gasoline prices probably will rise 10 cents a gallon because of the combined effect of Iran-caused shortages and recent price increases voted by oil-producing nations.

Asked about published reports the rationing plan would limit gasoline use to two gallons or less per day per registered vehicle, Schlesinger said that figure was an average based on "the typical car."

However, when pressed further on the matter, he said he did not recall what the actual rationing quantities would be and would have to check it further.

Earlier, Energy Department spokesman James Bishop said reports of the two-gallon limit were a "total fabrication" and that the standby rationing plan contained no specific gallon figures.

Any gasoline rationing plans probably will be based on the assignment of coupons to owners of registered vehicles, according to sources who asked for anonymity. The coupons could be freely bought and sold.

Q--Why is dancing permitted in the Senior Citizen's Center when it isn't allowed in the community centers?

A--The Senior Center is not the same type of facility as a community center. It is operated by Western Texas College and is for senior citizens of the county, while the community centers are facilities for general public use. The Senior Center is not available for public parties or dances, or for dances sponsored by other groups.

Suspect Held In Burglary

An 18-year-old burglary suspect was jailed this morning after surrendering himself to police.

Police investigators said the suspect was wanted in connection with the weekend break-in of the Ray Derrick home at 415 20th St. Taken from the residence, weekend reports showed, were a color television, a stereo turntable, and a radio.

In surrendering himself, the man also gave up the merchandise from the break-in, officers said.

Bone in the case was set at $2,500.

Israeli Cabinet Rejects Session

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Israeli Cabinet today rejected an American invitation for Prime Minister Menachem Begin to attend a Camp David summit meeting without President Anwar Sadat of Egypt. Begin said last week's Camp David talks produced no progress and accused the Egyptians of hardening their position.

The Israeli decision indicated serious problems for the American effort to mediate a Mideast peace between Israel and Egypt.

"The Cabinet decided that the prime minister is not in a position to accept the proposed meeting with Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil," Begin said after the Cabinet meeting. The vote against Begin going was 14-2.

Begin said Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan had reported to the Cabinet on President Carter's proposal that Begin and Khalil meet at Camp David with Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance. Dayan had returned from five days of talks at Camp David with Khalil.

shortages promoted

An urgent domestic challenge before the Carter administration, the Congress and the American people is getting a better grip on our energy problems.

We have drifted and debated far too long about how to lessen dependence on foreign oil, with nothing more accomplished than a paralyzing stalemate and no policy. This has to be a year of decision that the United States will face incalculable penalties.

The stunning 14.49 percent increase in crude oil prices announced in mid-December by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries far exceeded anything the industrialized West had expected. Moreover, the political convulsion in Iran that has denied six million barrels of oil daily to Japan, Western Europe and the United States is creating a shortage that promises to bring an even higher OPEC price in the non-distant future.

The soaring world price of oil makes the controlled prices over both oil and gasoline in this country not only unrealistic, but increasingly dangerous from an economic and production standpoint.

Federal price controls on old U.S. oil wells, which account for 35 percent of domestic production, at less than $6 per barrel have predictably resulted in a reduced flow of more than 50 percent since 1975. New oil production, which is permitted a price of about $13 per barrel, has increased correspondingly.

The economic stupidity of expecting U.S. producers to sell oil at $6 a barrel while the government subsidizes the importation of OPEC oil at $15 a barrel caused our allies at the economic summit meeting last July to urge corrective decontrol. President Carter promised publicly to do this, but has delayed action because of domestic pressures to avoid criticism about the price impact of such a move.

The need to decontrol the price of gasoline is equally compelling. In the first place, the gasoline controls imposed during the Arab oil embargo in 1973 have not kept prices down; high-octane unleaded fuel is up to 93.9 cents per gallon in some places. What controls have succeeded in doing is to discourage oil companies from investing in the expensive facilities required to produce unleaded gasoline, increasingly demanded by newer-model cars in compliance with federal anti-pollution regulations.

The resulting shortage in unleaded gasoline, which could become more acute with continued price controls, will not only drive the per-gallon price upward, but also in time lead to a repetition of the 1973 filling-station lines.

Yet President Carter said recently he has not made up his mind about ending price controls on gasoline. And Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Energy Committee, has suggested that the Senate would veto gasoline decontrol even if the president recommended it.

Obviously, the only way to encourage increased oil production in the United States is to decontrol the price both at the wellhead and at the pump. The higher price would at once discourage profligate over-consumption of gasoline, bring forth more U.S. oil and lessen our dependence on imported oil, now supplying 45 percent of U.S. needs at an annual cost of $43 billion.

The alternatives to price decontrol, as we see it, is increasing shortages of gasoline and further mortgaging of American assets to foreign oil producers.

The February issue of Texas School Business, a news magazine for school management, carried an interesting piece regarding leadership. After reading the article we felt that it was worthy of sharing with our readers: There are seven qualities of leadership that a leader must possess. There are of course, more qualities, styles and characteristics that may be considered but these seven are essential, and it would be difficult to say which is most important: integrity, perseverance, faith in the triumph of right, ability to plan, vision, initiative, and courage. There is an unknown author who wrote the following "Beatitudes of a Leader:"

BLESSED is the leader who has not sought the high places, but who has been drafted into service because of his ability and willingness to serve.

BLESSED is the leader who knows where he is going, why he is going, and how to get there.

BLESSED is the leader who knows no discouragement, who presents no alibi.

BLESSED is the leader who knows how to lead without being dictatorial; true leaders are humble.

BLESSED is the leader who seeks the best for those he serves.

BLESSED is the leader who leads for the good of the most concerned, and not for the personal gratification of his own ideas.

BLESSED is the leader who develops leaders while leading.

BLESSED is the leader who marches with the group, interprets correctly and finds the pathway that leads to success.

BLESSED is the leader who has his head in the clouds but his feet on the ground.

BLESSED is the leader who considers an opportunity for service.

An Alabama newspaper recently reported a case of a man who was defeated by a rather embarrassing margin when he ran for the office of sheriff.

He got 55 votes out of a total of 3,500 and the next day he walked down Main Street with two guns hanging from his belt.

"You were not elected, and you have no right to carry guns," fellow citizens told him.

"Listen folks," he replied, "a man with no more friends than I've got in this county needs to carry guns."

here we go again

You and I have been comparing notes on the newest military weapons, encouraged by the prospect that our tiny fraction of the planet's population could hold off the barbarians with technology.

With weapons of mass annihilation we brought Hitler and Tojo to their knees--but with lesser weapons we have not won a war since.

Now we hear Defense Secretary Harold Brown telling the Senate Armed Services Committee that we will continue to rely on masses of marching men.

He's talking about cranking up the old military draft again.

He says we might have to resume registration of 18-year-olds as soon as this year.

And Gen. David Jones, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Army Secretary Clifford Alexander second the notion.

I have too much respect for the integrity of these men to consider this a devious political ploy to get unemployed teenagers out of the way.

Indeed, President Carter has expressed opposition to resumption of inductions.

So it has to be concluded that there remains in the military mentality a preoccupation with tradition that is impossible to reverse in one generation--and that there are still those in the Pentagon who plan to fight the next war with the weapons which have lost the last two.

WASHINGTON (NEA)— If the National Park Service has its way, most of the garages, bars, liquor stores, swimming pools, tennis courts, clothing stores, sandwich shops and car rental agencies soon will be banished from Yosemite National Park.

All that will remain will be the rugged landscape of the towering, snow-capped Sierra Nevada mountains and the scenic grandeur of the lush green meadows, forested ridges, crystal-clear streams and pristine lakes.

It wasn't always that way, however. As recently as the mid-1970s, a coalition of insensitive federal officials and executives of a conglomerate coporations had grandiose plans for the commercial exploitation of Yosemite.

That scheme would have cluttered the breath-taking beauty of the nation's most popular (more than 2.5 million visitors annually) national park. Its collapse is a tribute to the power of an outraged citizenry, aided by a coalition of conservation groups and a group of concerned congressmen.

Back in 1925, the Park Service contracted with the Yosemite Park and Curry Co. to provide nominal amenities, principally lodging facilities and food service, for visitors to the 760,000-acre park in central California.

In late 1973, however, almost all of that company's stock was acquired by MCA Inc., a Los Angeles-based firm described by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., as "one of the biggies of the American entertainment industry."

Universal Pictures, an MCA subsidiary, was given permission to use Yosemite as the setting for a television series called "Sierra," purportedly depicting the experiences of National Park Service rangers.

"The extent of the Park Service's subservience to Universal," revealed Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., was a decision to promote Yosemite's chief ranger to a $25,500-a-year job, give him an official title of "assistant director-technical consultant" and move him to Los Angeles at government expense "for the sole purpose of providing free consulting service."

Denying charges that MCA was seeking to turn the park into a convention center, MCA Vice President Jay S. Stein claimed group meetings "rarely" attracted more than 100 people and were "Always (scheduled during) non-peak seasons."

But a subsequent investigation uncovered dozens of large conventions held in the park, with numerous meetings occurring during the peak summer months. Optometrists, Rotarians, Porsche owners, grape growers and life insurance salesmen were occupying hundreds of rooms intended for family visitors.

Finally, MCA executives were meeting secretly "as members of the master plan team" with Park Service officials to draft a development plan calling for replacement of 150 rustic, modestly priced "tent-cabins" with more profitable motel-style units.

Citizen requests of copies of the proposed long-range park plan were routinely denied. One irate Yosemite visitor complained to Congress that the park "is now a private playground for the benefit, amusement and profit of MCA."

The National Parks and Conservation Association, Wilderness Society, Sierra Club and other conservation groups mounted a protest, attracting the attention of several congressional committees that conducted an independent investigation.

To avert a potential scandal, the Park Service scrapped five years' work on the Yosemite master plan and began the process anew, this time denying MCA preferential treatment and giving serious consideration to public concerns.

The revised plan, expected to be formally approved in the coming months, calls for dozens of commercial ventures to be removed from the park and relocated at El Portal, just outside Yosemite's boundaries.

That dramatic change is a defeat for MCA but a victory for those who care about preserving the stunning beauty, incomparable vistas and spectacular landscape of Yosemite.

Report Suggests Blood Boosting

NEW YORK (AP)—Athletes might improve their performance if they got "high" on their own blood rather than turning to vitamins, according to a recent report.

Studies on blood boosting - the removal and subsequent reinfusion of the athlete's blood - can improve exercise time and performance by as much as 40 percent, according to the report in the Physician and Sports Medicine magazine.

Under the boosting program, a physician removes up to a quart of blood from the athlete. The blood is then frozen in a process that prevents red blood cells from dying.

The athlete trains normally until the body has regenerated the blood supply - usually about six weeks - and then the quart of blood is transfused back into the body.

It had been a long, hard session of bridge, but expert South finally saw light at the end of the tunnel when he picked up his hand. The light became a brilliant flash when he heard North open the bidding.

South thought about a grand slam but wanted to get the rubber over with, so he contented himself with a mere six.

He won the club with dummy's ace and then made a most unusual play. He ruffed dummy's low club!

Just a waste of time? Hardly! It resulted in his making a slam that would have been lost without that seemingly silly waste of time.

South's next play was the ace of trumps. West showed out. Now South cashed his queen of spades and started diamonds.

East ruffed the second diamond and at this point you can see the value of that little club play.

East was caught in an end play. A trump lead would let South get to dummy for two diamond discards on the ace-king of spades.

A club or spade lead would be equally hopeless and South was on his way home with game, slam and rubber in the bank.

Pat Snider has been named Woman of the Year of Scurry Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA). The announcement was made at the chapter's monthly dinner meeting, Feb. 22 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Mrs. Snider is co-owner of Don Snider and Co.

Annually, each ABWA chapter selects one of its members for this award. Selection is based on the member's achievement in her field of business, education, participation in the association, and in community activities.

As a qualified chapter, Woman of the Year Mrs. Snider may enter the competition for the 1979-80 Top Ten Business Women of ABWA and the "American Business Woman of the Year" awards. Announcement of the national award recepients will be made at ABWA's 1979 National Convention, Oct. 25-28, in Minneapolis, Minn.

Mrs. Snider has been a member of Scurry Chapter for five years. The association was founded in Kansas City, Mo., in 1949. Today, ABWA has more than 100,000 active members in 1,600 chapters throughout the U.S. and Puerto Rico.

Guide For Great Reunions

To make planning and producing a successful family reunion a snap, Kraft has prepared a handy booklet entitled "Families Belong Together—A Guide to Reunion Planning."

Whether your family numbers five or 500, this booklet is designed to guide you through the various planning stages needed for a large or small reunion.

You'll find specific suggestions on which committees you'll need, how to select a site, and even how to keep track of family members scattered across the country.

In addition, there are various name-tag formats, recipe card suggestions, and other reunion "helpers." There's even a family tree to use in tracing your family's "roots."

Kraft has also provided recipes for large gatherings as well as for family-size meals.

To order your free copy, send your name and address to: Families Belong Together, P.O. Box 4322, Dept. M, Chicago, IL 60677.

Adolescent girls indicate that their ideal marriage would be a partnership, with rejection of the domineering male, but with a sense of shared responsibility, including the rearing of children, reports Dorthy Taylor, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Success Story

Have You Ever Wondered Why One Community Thrives While Another Only Survives?

Pride is the basic ingredient in any success story. This community has many things for which to be proud...parks, good schools, an efficient hospital, jobs, paved streets, and churches to just name a few.

Taxes come from all of us including the local merchant, which is a good reason to patronize the local businesses. The more they sell, the more taxes they pay. The more they sell, the greater the demand on their merchandise. And the more merchandise they carry, the more taxes they pay to local institutions.

The things we enjoy, but often take for granted, did not just happen. They were planned and they were paid for by the residents of the community who pay their taxes.

Dual use of proteins

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am thinking of starting a weight-lifting program and I have your booklet, Weight Training for Energy and Weight Control. One of the things you said puzzles me. You said you need to consume enough calories each day to meet your daily calorie needs and if you don't, the body will not build new muscle mass.

I charted my protein and calorie intake and found that I have 104 grams of protein and only 1300 calories. Is this possible? I went over my findings three times and couldn't find any mistakes.

Could you give me a diet that would give me enough protein and calories to gain muscular weight in definition and not gain fat? I'm 17 years old, 5 feet 10, and weigh 140 pounds. Anything you can tell me would be appreciated.

DEAR READER — The statement that has confused you is related to the dual use of proteins. It's true that proteins can be and are used to build new proteins, including muscle proteins.

Proteins are made up of amino acids and these amino acids can be stripped of their nitrogen (amino group) and converted to carbohydrates and fats. That's one of the things people who consume lots of proteins forget.

In your case, this means if you don't provide enough calories (carbohydrate or fat) to meet the basic energy needs of your body each day, that 100-plus grams of protein you're eating will be used for energy. That may not leave enough protein to build new muscle protein.

If you're on a starvation diet, as happened with prisoners in concentration camps in World War II, the body will consume its muscles to provide energy to sustain life. The muscle protein is treated like any protein you would eat and is used for energy.

It follows, then, that there are two requirements you must meet to provide adequate protein for your body. The first is adequate, good quality protein and the other is enough calories to be sure that those proteins aren't used for energy.

I'm suspicious that you have not calculated your calories properly. It's possible, though, because foods high in proteins and low in fat may not contain many calories. A good example is lean round steak. A whole pound with all visible fat removed provides about 600 calories, but 98 grams of good quality protein.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-6, Balanced Diet, Recommended Daily Allowances (RDA) to give you basic information on a normal balanced diet. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

In addition to the foods listed in this diet, increase your lean meat, fish or chicken intake to at least two-thirds of a pound a day and add any foods you like to increase your calories. Whole wheat bread would be a good addition. Don't add high-fat foods. Developing such a habit can lead to other problems as you get older.

A good index as to whether you're doing the right thing is whether you're gaining weight and being certain that the weight you're gaining is not fat accumulating under the skin.

Genealogical Seminar Set

If you want to learn to trace your roots, an opportunity will be offered at a genealogical seminar sponsored by the Western Texas Genalogical Association to be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The meeting will be held in the conference room of the Agricultural Service Center, 3423 Avenue T, in the Snyder Shopping Center.

Guest speaker, Richard Hodson Shephard of Salt Lake City, is one of the most sought-after and popular genealogical speakers in the nation.

The public is invited to attend and those attending may bring their tape recorders. More information may be obtained by contacting Erwin Pavlik, at 573-8114.

Four Mishaps Are Reported

Four traffic accidents were reported to police Monday.

The 2700 block of College Ave. was the site of a two-vehicle collision about 8:30 a.m. Involved in it were a 1971 Monte Carlo driven by Gary Chesser and a 1978 Ford pickup driven by Glenn Coy.

Two vehicles also collided in the 1700 block of 25th St. at 1:20 p.m. There, reports show, a 1978 Chevrolet pickup driven by James Adams of Odessa and a 1975 Chevrolet pickup driven by Emma Gordon collided.

The Varsity Square Shopping Center parking lot was the scene of a hit and run. A reportedly illegally parked 1971 Chevrolet owned by Pam Hall was struck by an unknown vehicle. That mishap was reported to police about 2:25 p.m.

A parked 1975 Chevrolet owned by James Littlepage of Snyder was struck, reports show, by a 1977 Chevrolet driven by John Woodall of Abilene. The mishap occurred in the 100 block of East Highway about 3:30 p.m.

Phoenix, Ariz., was incorporated as a city in 1881.

Product Liability Bills Whiz Through Senate

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—Seven bills making it harder for consumers to collect damages in court from makers of products that injure them whizzed through a Senate committee Monday.

Unanimous or near-unanimous votes sent the measures to the Senate floor for further action. It will be at least mid-March before attempts are made to bring the bills up for debate, sponsors say.

The Senate Economic Development Committee took less than 90 minutes to hear testimony and vote on the bills, which rank among the top issues of the 66th Legislature.

Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said the intent was to restore a balance between consumer and manufacturer interests that Texas court decisions had upset.

Because the skyrocketing cost of product liability insurance adds to prices, "this is not simply a problem of business or the insurance industry, but of consumers as well," Farabee said.

Jim Sales of the Texas Association of Defense Counsel said the law had evolved to the point where a company can be held liable for money damages even though it had not been negligent and its product had been misused or altered.

High product liability awards have pushed businessmen's insurance rates up. Sales said, and this "has increased drastically the price of all kinds of products, including cars and drugs."

Mills Boon of the National Federation of Independent Business told of businessmen whose product liability premiums jumped as high as 28 times in a single year.

"In the vast majority of cases, these are businessmen who have never had a claim filed against them," Boon said.

Mike Gallagher of Houston, president of the Texas Trial Lawyers Association, opposed the bills and said the scales of justice had not tipped too far in favor of injured consumers.

Of the 25 product cases that were tried in Houston in 1977, manufacturers won 18 and consumers 7, Gallagher said, while in Dallas courts the score was manufacturers 10, consumers 2.

Carol Barger, southwest director of the Consumers Union, said the products liability crisis of skyrocketing premiums and unavailable coverage arose partly from wrong guesses by insurance companies.

"Until fairly recently, the insurance companies advertised that the number of product liability claims had reached one million a year. Now, however, the insurance companies admit that the correct number is less than one-tenth of that," Ms. Barger said.

Texas Senators Boo 55 Limit

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas senators say they are tired of Easterners trying to set the highway speed limits in Texas.

"These little old states in the East with about three miles of freeway want to set the speed limits for the rest of us," Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, told the Senate State Affairs Committee Monday.

By unanimous voice vote, the committee cleared for full Senate debate a resolution calling on Congress to pass a pending bill letting states set their own speed limits without loss of any highway funds if the limits exceed the federally approved 55 miles per hour.

If approved by the Senate, the resolution goes to the House.

"Oklahoma passed this recently and I think Texas should join them and pass this too," said Traeger.

Under present federal law a state is subject to losing any federal funds being used for highway purposes if that state does not comply with the 55 mph limit to conserve oil and gasoline supplies.

It has been estimated Texas could lose up to $400,000 if it raised the 55 mph limit to 70 mph, as some legislators have suggested.

City Councils Against Utility Regulation Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—Consumers will be the losers if electric companies can take rate requests straight to the Texas Public Utility Commission, city council representatives have told a House committee.

Rep. Lynn Nabers, however, says the bill he is co-sponsoring pares down an expensive and complicated procedure by taking away original jurisdiction in electric rate cases from the local governments.

"In essence you have two layers of expenses," Nabers, D-Brownwood, told the House State Affairs Committee on Monday. "I think this cuts out a layer of expense."

Utilities presently may appeal any city council decision on electric rates to the commission and many do. The commission has originally jurisdiction over rural areas.

City councils now may choose to delegate their authority to the commission.

Mayor R.D. Wilkerson of the Panhandle city of Pampa said only three of the state's 1,100 cities formally have taken that step.

"If we lose that jurisdiction - then who are you going to be able to complain to?" said El Paso Mayor Ray Salazar. "This bill to me is nothing more than giving the utility companies the right for utility rate increases."

Nabers said the bill would not prohibit city councils from holding a public hearing before the rate request goes to the utility commission. They could also send representatives as "intervenors" when the request would be heard in Austin, he added.

"It's not the intent of this bill to try to exclude anyone" Nabers said.

The bill was sent to a subcommittee for further study.

Dallas City Councilman Steve Bartlett said the local governments' leverage for handling consumer complaints is at stake.

"Utility regulation is an ongoing process, not just a biennial rate-setting process," he said.

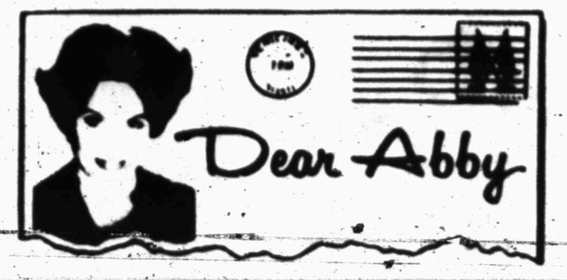

"The cities provide an effective check on the PUC which might be lost," added J. William Earle, director of Houston's public services department.

Representatives of Corpus Christi, Amarillo and Lubbock announced their opposition to the proposal.

She Read How-To Bedtime Stories

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a married man, 24, with questions in mind about my bride of less than six months. We married after a whirlwind courtship of 10 weeks. Our courtship included some heavy romantic sessions, but we never actually went all the way because Marie (not her real name) insisted that she was saving herself for her wedding night.

Marie claims that I am her first lover, but since our marriage her actions have led me to believe otherwise. I have had only three other women in my life, but my bride has taught me more about love making than I dreamed existed! It just doesn't seem possible that she had no previous experience.

I'm not complaining, but it is hard for me to believe that I am her first.

I don't want to insult her, but I would like to know the truth. How do I find out?

L. IN DENTON, TEXAS

DEAR L.: Enjoy your good fortune and quit wondering. Maybe Marie has just done a lot of reading in bed.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is in sales. I know he's good because he's won nearly every sales contest his company has had.

He makes a wonderful living for me and the children, but it doesn't compensate for his absences. He is busy nearly every night entertaining customers and prospects until the wee hours.

Weekends are a nightmare. He's exhausted and sleeps every Saturday morning, plus almost all day Sunday. Meanwhile, I am supposed to keep our youngsters quiet and out of sight while Daddy sleeps.

Sex has long been forgotten. He doesn't have the time or energy for that anymore.

I plan to stay until the youngsters are old enough so that I can leave with a clear conscience. Then I will try to make another life for myself—if I'm still desirable. I see no other alternative. Do you?

MARRIED BUT ALONE

DEAR MARRIED: Yes. Lay your cards on the table and give your husband a chance to respond. Perhaps he isn't aware that in his determination to make a good living he is making a bad life for his family. I recommend marriage counseling. Please give it a try. You've nothing to lose and everything to gain. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: About young girls who ask for brassieres when they have nothing (or very little) to put in them: Years ago, when I visited my daughter at summer camp, she asked me to please send her some brassieres. I told her she really didn't need any.

Then she told me that some of the boys looked through the armholes of the girls' sleeveless summer dresses. I told her the brassieres would be in the mail the next day. And they were!

About two years later my gardener, who has two motherless daughters, told me that his eldest (9) asked him for a brassiere and he laughed at her. I told him my daughter's story. Then he understood.

Wine's Popularity Still On Increase

NEW YORK (AP) The consumption of wine will register the highest annual groth-rate among America's favorite beverages from now until 1990, according to an industry magazine.

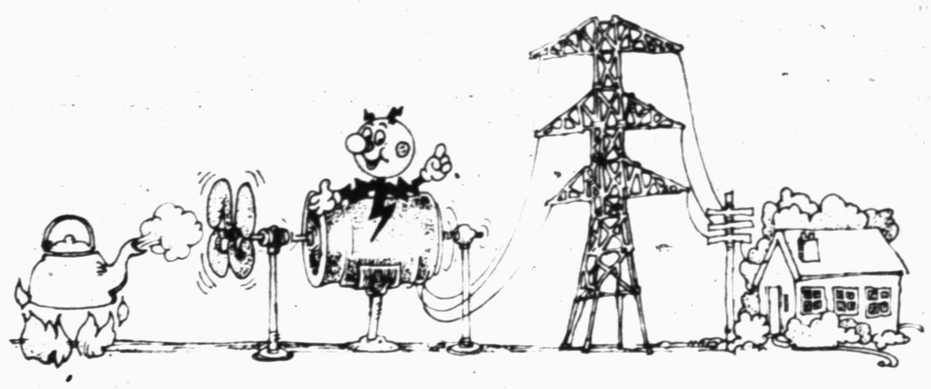

Soft drinks, however, will continue to be the nation's top beverage, gaining from a per capita intake of 36 gallons in 1978 to 50 gallons by 1990, says the publication Impact.

Wines are expected to show an annual growth rate of 8 percent, enjoying benefits from increased social and mealtime usage, it was explained.

Here's why it takes fuel to make electricity.

It takes fuel to make electricity.

A lot of people don't understand that, but it's true.

Most of the power plants in this country require steam to generate electricity. To make steam you must boil water, and that requires a lot of heat.

That's why we have to buy and burn large amounts of fuel, such as lignite coal and natural gas, every month. The steam we make with it turns the generators that make your electricity, which we distribute to you right when you need it.

The fuel we use costs money, more all the time, which is why we show it separately on your bill. At Texas Electric, we want you to know what you're paying for. And to remember: it takes fuel to make electricity.

Host NMMI 8 p.m. Thursday...

Westerners Ease Past SPC

LEVELLAND –Western Texas College's Westerners put forth just enough effort here last night and defeated South Plains College 78-74 in WJCAC basketball action.

The victory gives the Westerners a league leading 15-2 conference record while South Plains falls to 7-10. WTC will conclude the regular season by hosting New Mexico Military Institute in Scurry County Coliseum at 8 p.m. Thursday.

The Westerners snared the win from the free throw line here, hitting 20 of 33 shots. South Plains led in field goals: 32-29, but hit 10 shots from the stripe.

"We had already won the conference," commented Coach Nolan Richardson, "and were just going through the motions. We played good enough to win and that was about it."

Greg Stewart, freshman, led the scoring for WTC with 19 points, followed closely by Ronald Portee with 18. Bill Patterson, Michael Smith and Paul Pressey scored 8 each.

Richardson awarded special praise to Portee, who was filling in for an injured Joe Mendoza.

"Once again we had a kid walk into a starting position and take up the slack," noted Richardson, who has lauded bench strength as one of the Westerners strongest assets all season. "I'm really proud that he played such a good game. He was the key to our victory. A lot of guys went in and played in the game, but Ronald was the only one that really did a great job."

Mendoza, out with a sprained knee suffered in a recent game with Midland College, is expected back in time for regional play, but may not make Thursday's game with NMMI.

Jackie Vaughn paced the South Plains bunch with 16 points, followed by Wallace Hutchinson with 15 and Ricky Phillips with 12.

South Plains bettered WTC from the field, hitting 32 of 66 efforts, while the visitors managed 29 of 65.

The contest was close most of the way with WTC taking a 48-42 halftime lead. Portee hit a pair of free throws with two minutes left in the game to put the Westerners four points ahead and all but ice the contest.

The Westerners - already seeded No. 1 in the March 7-10 Region V Tournament - are 27-3 for the season.

WTC (78): Davis 3-1-7, Patterson 4-0-8, Stewart 6-7-19, Gifford 2-1-5, Williams 1-0-2, Bennett 1-0-2, Portee 6-6-18, Smith 2-4-8, Pressey 4-0-8, Brown 0-1-1. Totals 29-20-78.

SPC (74): Duffy 1-0-2, Perry 4-2-10, Phinizy 3-1-7, Phillips 6-0-12, Hutchinson 6-3-15, Butler 1-2-4, Wilson 3-0-6, Vaughn 7-2-16, Sydnor 1-0-2. Totals 32-10-74.

Halftime: WTC 48, 42.

Dusters Clutch Conference Co-Championship With Odessa

LEVELLAND – Coach Joe Cushing's Dusters nailed down a WJCAC co-championship here last night, thrashing South Plains College 69-48.

The victory, coupled with an Odessa over Frank Phillips 88-74 victory last Friday, leaves both WTC and Odessa knotted at 10-2 after the completion of the regular season.

The Dusters advance to Region V tournament play now, vying against Weatherford College at 1 p.m. Thursday in round-one of the three-day meet, held at Moody Coliseum in Abilene.

"Once again we played an exceptionally good ball game defensively," noted Cushing, only in his first year as Duster coach. "And we had another good game shooting the ball."

Field goal percentages were not available, however, Cushing relayed that the team hit three of only five free throw attempts. South Plains was four of five in the whistle-scarce contest.

"Belva Marsh, Katie Fisher, Joyce Plagens, Nodia Vaughn, Liz Hooper and Delbra Ray probably played our best ball last night," explained Cushing.

Vaughn led the scoring with 16 points, while Plagens and Marsh scored a dozen each and Fisher added 10.

Lou Ann Davis scored 12 for South Plains. Linda Vaughn led with 16.

The victory leaves WTC with a 23-10 mark on the season. The Dusters have won 16 of their last 18 games.

The upcoming Regional tournament features three teams from the Western and Northern conferences, plus two at-large teams, chosen this year from the Western Conference.

In addition to the WTC-Weatherford game Thursday, other first-round tilts include Amarillo College versus Ranger Junior College at 3, Clarendon College versus McLennan Community College at 6 and Odessa College versus Howard College at 8.

On Friday, the WTC-Weatherford winner will meet the Clarendon-McLennan victor at 6 p.m. Saturday's championship game has been set for 2 p.m.

Bulldogs Try Sands Mustangs

BIG SPRING--The Ira High School Bulldogs will clash with the Sands Mustangs in Class B bi-district basketball action here tonight at 7:30.

Tickets for the game - held at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum on the Howard County College campus - are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Ira comes into the girl's playoff game at 23-9 on the season and with a 12-0 district 10-B record. Sands, 30-4, took the 9-B crown after winning the second round of loop action andd defeating foe Dawson in a district playoff.

The victor in tonight's game will advance to Regional play, to begin March 2 in Levelland and will battle the Greenwood-Sanderson winner at 2:30 Friday.

Probable starters for the Mustangs include Jill Floyd, Tammy Nichols, Jana Long, Lesli Guitar and either Yolanda Rodriquez or Tammy Webb.

Floyd, a 5-9 senior, keys Sands' game, and will be one of the challanges Ira faces tonight.

"I'd say the three things we have to do tonight are be patient - wait for our shots - keep Floyd off the boards, and break their press," commented Ira Coach Mickey Rundell.

"Keeping her off the boards will be a key defensively. She's such a great leaper. I've seen her jump up over people and grab the ball and never touch them," he added of the three-time all-district player.

Ira and Sands have met on two occassions this season and on both, the Bulldogs got the short end of things. The Mustangs won by 6 points in their first meeting and by 28 in the second - a time when Ira shot only 19 percent from the floor and hit 1 of 12 free shots.

But that could work in favor of the Bulldogs tonight, who have improved steadily. And Sands Coach Stan Pulliam will have to convince his girls of that. If not, Ira will.

Opening up the action for Ira tonight will be Brenda and Linda Cooley, Donna Layne, Max Ann Preston and Shelly Maupin.

Sands will serve as the visiting team tonight and sit in the south stands. Ira, home team, will occupy the north bleachers.

Call Costly For ETS

HUNTSVILLE (AP)-A player's time out call in a last-gasp try for victory in regulation cost his team in the championship game of the Lone Star Conference basketball tournament.

East Texas State already had its limit of five time outs when guard Tim Goski asked for another one, with East Texas State and Southwest Texas State tied 69-69 and the clock buzzer fixing to sound and send the game into overtime.

Referees called a technical foul, and tournament MVP James Patrick sank the free throw with no time left to give Southwest Texas a 70-69 triumph.

Both teams will move into the NAIA post-season playoffs, but Southwest Texas State will get to play at home by virtue of the win, while East Texas will journey to San Antonio.

The game was tied 13 times, with East Texas State's Jeff Granger hitting two free throws to knot the game at 69-69 with 1:41 showing.

Patrick led the Bobcats with 24 points. East Texas State was led by the 30 points of 6-11 center Lee Johnson, who fouled out with 4:10 left and his team leading 65-63.

Southwest Texas led 40-38 at the half.

Both Southwest Texas and East Texas are now 23-6 for the year.

Others named to the all-tournament team were Granger, Johnson, guard Kelvin Branch of Southwest Texas, guard Randall Moore of Abilene Christian and guard Gary Hopkins of Howard Payne.

The victory gives Southwest Texas the homecourt advantage in the NAIA District IV playoff game Saturday against Texas Lutheran or Southwestern University.

East Texas will play at St. Mary's University Saturday.

Penn State football coach Joe Paterno originally planned a career in law or politics.

Slaton Battles Merkel Tonight

Fans who go out to Scurry County Coliseum tonight could wind up watching an eventual state championship Class AA team.

The action is set to begin here at 7:30 as the highly-touted Slaton Tigers take on the Merkel Badgers for a girl's bi-district basketball crown.

Both bring impressive records into the game, which will admit adults for $2 and students for $1.

Slaton - picked by many to grab a state championship this season, swept through District 5-AA with a 14-0 record. The Tigers are 31-2 for the season; one of the best records in any league throughout the state.

But Merkel, District 6-AA, is no sluff either. The Badgers have compiled an equally impressive 29-1 season, and will be looking to upend the high-flying Tigers short of the state tournament.

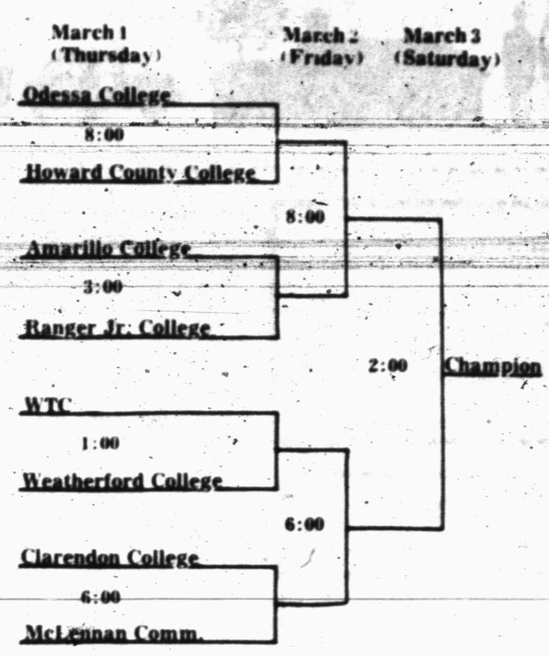

Probable starters for Slaton include 5-6 Cynthia Robinson, 5-7 Debbie Bednarz, 5-4 Esoleta Whaley, 5-5 Linda Louis and 5-5 Chris Kennedy.

Evert Pops Barlow 6-2, 6-1

DALLAS-Chris Evert beat Wendy Barlow 6-2, 6-1 to gain the second round of the $200,000 Women's Professional Tennis Tournament.

In other matches, fourth-seeded Dianne Fromholtz defeated Marcie Louie 6-1, 6-3; fifth-seeded Virginia Wade bested Bettyann Stuart 6-3, 6-3; Linda Siegel defeated sixth-seeded Kerry Reid 6-2, 6-4; Mary Louise Piatek beat ninth-seeded Kathy Jordan 6-4, 7-5, and Kate Latham beat 16th-seeded Marita Redondo 6-2, 7-5.

Region Tourney Set At Moody Coliseum

ABILENE -- Coaches have mapped out the upcoming NJCAA Region V Women's Basketball Tournament and the results include two important changes from last year.

The eight-team tourney, to be held here Thursday through Saturday, will take place in Abilene Christian University's Moody Coliseum instead of the McMurry College Hunt P.E. Center as was originally planned.

According to officials, the McMurry gym is too cross-crossed with lines, and playing on the court is confusing; thus at least one reason for the switch.

The championship game in the three-day meet has also been moved up to 2 o'clock on Saturday instead of the usual 8 p.m. time, to better accommodate travel schedules.

Three teams from the Western Conference and three from the Northern Conference were automatically berthed in the meet. Odessa College, Western Texas College and Amarillo Junior College were the top Western Conference teams gaining entry, while McLennan Community College (Waco), Ranger Junior College and Weatherford College made the tourney schedule from the Northern Conference.

In addition, two at-large teams - based on season records and a power-point system - were admitted. These were Howard County College (Big Spring) and Clarendon Junior College, both from the Western Conference.

Thursday's round-one schedule pits WTC against Weatherford at 1 p.m., followed by Amarillo versus Ranger at 3, Clarendon against McLennan at 6 and Odessa versus Howard at 8 p.m.

For Friday's semi-finals, the WTC-Weatherford victor will play the Clarendon-McLennan winner at 6 p.m., followed by the Odessa-Howard victor versus the Amarillo-Ranger winner at 8.

Eventual tournament champion will advance to the National Junior College Athletic Association Tournament in Overland, Kan.

Blalock Tops Record; Orange Classic Title

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA.-Jane Blalock shot a 70 for a tournament-record 205 total that gave her a 6-stroke victory in the $75,000 LPGA Orange Blossom Classic.

Blalock's 11-under-par total made her become only the second player to win the tournament two straight years. Kathy Whitworth won the event in 1968, '69, '70.

Sandra Post shot a 70 to finish second at 211.

OSU Athletes File Suit

OKLAHOMA CITY—Attorneys filed suit in federal court on behalf of eight Oklahoma State University athletes against the university, the NCAA, the Big Eight Conference and some conference officials.

The athletes are upset about the handling of a federal program that gives scholarships to college students.

Attorneys James P. Linn and William Shepnek filed the suit on behalf of seven football players and one basketball player challenging Oklahoma State's handling of the Basic Educational Opportunity funds.

A hearing on the suit will be held March 8 before U.S. District Judge Luther Eubanks.

Sycamores Regain AP Cage Summit

NEW YORK (AP)-Indiana State, having completed its first undefeated regular season, regained the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press college basketball poll today, easily out-distancing runnerup Notre Dame.

The Sycamores, 26-0 and ranked second last week, collected 31 of 61 first-place ballots and 1,192 points in balloting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Indiana State, which beat Drake 76-68 last Tuesday night and crushed Wichita State 109-84 in its first appearance on national television Sunday, was named on all the ballots although the Sycamores were ranked as low as seventh by one voter.

The Irish, ranked third last week, received seven first-place votes and 1,150 points.

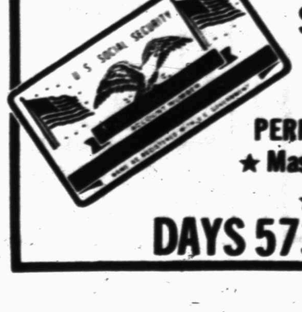

The remainder of last week's Top 10 engaged in a game of musical chairs.

Governors Undecided On Balanced Budget Issue

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)- The nation's governors see a balanced budget steamroller coming, but can't decide which way to jump.

They are convinced taxpayers want federal deficits ended and most agree with California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. that the balanced budget controversy is "the central political issue of 1979."

But a majority of the states' chief executives, gathered here for the winter meeting of the National Governors' Association, draw the line at Brown's demand that the Constitution be amended, through a historic convention if necessary, to require the federal government to balance its budget.

Such a convention, they fear, could play havoc with the Constitution. And they're concerned about congressional threats to make the states pay for the budget cutting through reduced federal aid.

Even opponents of such "radical action" and "simplistic solutions," however, say they think the public will force the issue if Washington doesn't come to grips with it first.

"There is going to be a balanced budget, whether you like it or not," Republican Gov. Lee Dreyfus of Wisconsin said Monday. "There is going to be a constitutional convention if necessary, and I am aware that this is fraught with danger."

And a leading gubernatorial critic of federal spending policies, Delaware's Republican Gov. Pierre S. du Pont IV, said he does not favor a constitutionally required balanced budget, preferring spending limits instead.

"Most of all I don't favor a constitutional convention," du Pont said. "But I'm afraid we may get one."

Ever since the so-called taxpayers' revolt broke out in California last summer, the idea of a mandatory balanced federal budget has been gaining popularity as a panacea for inflation and high taxes.

Legislatures in 28 states have adopted resolutions calling for a constitutional amendment to prohibit deficit budgeting, some even demanding a constitutional convention if Congress fails to act.

Thirty four states would have to approve such petitions before the convention could be called. Any changes it might recommend would have to be ratified by 38 states.

OBITUARIES

Wm. E. Lane

Graveside rites were set for 2 p.m. today at the Snyder Cemetery for William E. Lane of Clovis, N.M.

A retired railroad employee and former resident here, he died Monday in Clovis. Todd Funeral Home of Clovis is in charge of arrangements.

Survivors include a niece, Mrs. R.C. May of Snyder.

Mrs. LeFeuvre

COLORADO CITY--Private funeral service were held here for Margaret LeFeuvre, 67, of Snyder who died in a nursing home here Friday following a long illness.

Following the rites here, the body was taken to Restland Memorial Park in Dallas for burial. The Rev. Bob Ford, pastor of First United Methodist Church, officiated and arrangements were in charge of Kiker-Seale Funeral Home.

Surviving are her husband, Frank LeFeuvre of Snyder; a son, Alex LeFeuvre of Snyder; four brothers, W.W. Davis Jr. of Pensacola, Fla., Lloyd Davis of Alice, Frank Davis of Savannah, Ga., and Richard H. Davis of San Francisco.

Frederick Banting and Charles Best announced their discovery of insulin for the treatment of diabetes in 1922.

Farmers Warned In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police told protesting farmers today that tractor-driving demonstrations in Washington will be forbidden under any circumstances in the future.

The warning was given at a meeting between the farmers and representatives of the District of Columbia police, U.S. Park Police and Capitol police at the demonstrators' encampment on the Mall, the grassy promenade between the Capitol and the Lincoln Memorial.

From now on, police said, the farmers will be allowed to demonstrate only with foot marches after they obtain police permits.

County Court Sentences Two

Two persons have been sentenced in county court on charges of driving while intoxicated. Both had entered guilty pleas.

Frankie Mael Broker was levied a $200 fine and a 30-day jail term that was probated six months. Her case was heard in court Friday.

Yesterday, Esmeralda V. Sepulveda was given $100 fine and a 30-day jail term that was probated one year.

corded to strangers in France.

The experimental piece of machinery that brought them all here was manufactured in France. It was the prototype. Two more of the machines are being made in Denver, at the French oil company's North American office.

The machine has been tested in Oklahoma, North Dakota, California, and now, in Texas. After the crew leaves here, said Qualls, they will go to the Permian Basin for another series of tests.

Snyder was chosen as the residence for the crew while they were staying in this area because of its size, Qualls said.

"We'd rather stay in a smaller town. Period," he noted.

Harmonica Gets Carter Kin Arrested

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP)- President Carter's sister, Gloria Spann, is free on personal recognizance bond after being charged with illegal harmonica playing.

"Obviously I have less talent than I thought," Mrs. Spann said Monday night.

She, her husband, Walter, and two other persons were arrested Saturday night at the McWaffle restaurant, said Americus police.

"I am charged with: 'Defendant was playing a harmonica. When asked to stop playing music refused to do so and kept on playing," Mrs. Spann said in a telephone interview from her Plains, Ga., home.

"Walter is charged with: 'Defendent was asked to leave building, but refused to do so unless placed under arrest," she said. "I'm reading from Walter's ticket."

Man Beaten Here Monday

Billy Jack Ellison, 35, was reportedly struck twice on the head in an altercation outside the Club Sundown about 10 p.m. Monday, police reports indicate.

He was taken first to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Galyean Ambulance Service then transferred to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Police investigators said this morning that Ellison is in critical condition and is tentatively slated to undergo surgery Wednesday. He reportedly sustained a depressed skull fracture.

Two Charged In Felony DWI

Two men have been charged with felony counts of driving while intoxicated. Charged are Willie Winston Menges and Catanino R. Guerrero.

Menges was arrested Feb. 25 by officers of the city police department. He is being held without bond in county jail on a felony probation revocation.

Guerrero was arrested Feb. 23 by city policemen. He has been released from jail after posting a $1,500 bond.

Williams Trial Begins In C-City

COLORADO CITY—Jury selection entered its second day this morning in the murder trial of Aubrey Gene Williams.

Williams is charged with murder in the death of an ex-wife, Girlie Dee, last July. His first trial ended in a mis-trial Dec. 4.

Selection of the jury began Monday morning in 32nd District Court. Testimony in the case was not expected to begin until this afternoon.

U-Rent-Em Also Sharpens Saws Fixes Lawnmowers, Washes Cars

Norman Clement of U-Rent-Em on College Ave. returned recently from Minneapolis, Minn. where he attended the Foley School for a week of learning how to use the newest equipment in saw sharpening. Foley is the world's leader in saw sharpening equipment and U-Rent-Em now has the equipment to handle any kind of sharpening job.

There is no need to throw away your old dull hand saw when you can take it to Norman and have it re-toothed and sharpened. U-Rent-Em can take a saw and completely re-tooth the blade, set the teeth and file them to a sharp cutting edge whether it be a chain saw, circular saw or hand saw. They can also sharpen scissors, lawnmower blades and any other kind of cutting tool. If your saw is missing a few teeth or you feel you need more teeth on the blade to cut better, the new Foley equipment is geared to add teeth as well as replace broken teeth.

With old Man Winter hopefully gone for the season it won't be long before its time to crank up the old lawnmower and scalp the yard. Remember, U-Rent-Em is a Briggs & Stratton Dealer and carries all parts and does all types of lawnmower repairs. See George Lowe for any kind of spring lawnmower overhaul repair work you may need. If the engine on the old lawnmower seemed to be giving out at the end of last year just take it to George for a tune-up and feel safe for the lawnmowing season ahead. Don't get caught in the rush, bring your lawnmower in now.

U-Rent-Em also is the Snyder U-Haul headquarters with all kinds of appliances and dollys plus a full line of trailers and trucks. If you're moving, see U-Rent-Em on College Ave. Their newest rental equipment includes a commercial buffer-sander. The buffer is a heavy duty 20" model and can handle any commercial or industrial job.

Robo Car Wash is also a part of U-Rent-em and offers a free wash with any fill-up of 15 gallons or more. They carry Phillips 66 gasoline in regular and unleaded fuels. Attendant is on duty from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and a straight wash is $1.25. If you would rather wash your vehicle yourself they have two self-service bays at 25c for four minutes. The automatic wash can also give your car a wax job. The self service bays are large enough for oil field trucks.

See U-Rent-Em for all your U-Haul rentals, blade sharpening, locksmithing and lawnmower repairs at 3403 College Ave.

CHAINSAW HEADQUARTERS-George Lowe stands behind the Homelite Chainsaw and Briggs & Stratton service desk located at U-Rent-Em. Lowe handles all engine service and repair. He can service any kind of small engine be it in lawnmower, tiller or chainsaw. (SDN Staff Photo)

SAW SHARPENING-Norman Clement operates a saw filer as the final step to putting a new edge on a blade. The saw blade is first re-toothed, set and then filed to an edge. (SDN Photo)
