Storms Leave Trail Of Destruction In Two States

Oklahoma Hit; Two Killed In Texas Tornado

More Than 30 Are Injured By Twister In East Texas On Friday; Destruction Also Is Reported Saturday

Buildings Razed

Roads To Devastated Area Are Reported Impassable; Means Of Communication Scant And Details Are Lacking

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Jan. 21. — Latest reports tonight from the tornado stricken section of Lamar and Red river counties brought the total number of known injured to 30. So far as could be learned only two persons were killed.

A check showed that nine small communities were swept by the terrific wind, which first struck south of Howland about 5 p. m. Friday and headed northeast to Manchester on the Red river. Farm houses, barns and other structures were damaged along its path. The storm lasted until about 7:30 p. m.

One Family Not Reached

Relief workers tonight had cared for all of the storm victims, but one family had not been reached by a physician. Bad roads made travel difficult. Nearly all of those injured were tenant farmers.

Striking first at Howland, a village south of Paris, the tornado swept northeastward to Manchester, where a negro woman identified as the wife of Link Brown and her year-old child were killed and 18 injured. The community of Reunion, two miles west of Manchester, was reported razed and property damage at Post Oak, Glory and Reno was believed to have been extensive.

Roads Are Impassable

Roads to the devastated area were impassable and means of communication were scant. Details came slowly and only the fact that many persons in the 5-mile long strip over which the twister struck sought refuge in storm cellars was believed to have prevented additional casualties.

First word of the storm came when a telephone operator at Manchester walked a mile from his demolished exchange and connected an emergency telephone to a wire which was still intact. Physicians immediately left from Clarksville, Paris and Detroit but had considerable difficulty reaching Manchester.

They administered first aid to the Senate Fight Is To Be Continued

AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (AP)—Continuation of the political fight in the senate over three appointments of Former Governor R. S. Sterling to the State Board of Education was assured late today.

James V. Allred, attorney general, ruled that Governor Miriam A. Ferguson had no right to withdraw the appointments without consent of the senate.

The senate committee on governor's nominations planned to meet Monday to consider confirmation of the Sterling appointees. A motion probably will be made that the appointments be returned to Mrs. Ferguson, as she requested, that will start the argument, and regardless of the committee's action, the senate itself likely will make the final decision.

Six Minutes Is Required By Jurors To Acquit Three Men

ALAMOGORDO, N. M., Jan. 21. (AP)—It took just six minutes for a jury late today to acquit three sheriffs possemen of murder charges for the slaying of Lupa Gonzales, Spanish-American who terrorized the Mescalero Apache reservation last April.

Attorneys said they believed the jurors set a speed record in returning the verdict. Trial of the case lasted four days.

District Judge Numa Frenger instructed the jurors they were to convict the three defendants, Jack Danley, J. M. Harper and Casey Jones, for first or second degree murder or acquit them.

PORT ARTHUR CHOSEN

AUSTIN, Jan. 21. (AP)—Delegates to the state convention of disabled American veterans of the World war tonight selected Port Arthur as the 1934 convention city. Port Arthur was chosen over Dallas, by a vote of 46 to 20. The meeting will be some time in the spring.

Libby's Baby To Get Two Million

(By The Associated Press)

GREENSBORO, N. C., Jan. 21. —The Greensboro Daily News says it learns "from a realiable source" the infant son of Libby Holman Reynolds and the two-year old daughter of the former Anne Cannon will each receive about $2,000,000 of the estate of their father, the late Smith Reynolds, while the remainder will be used for an endowment under terms of settlement now being worked out by representatives of Reynolds, Cannon, and Holman families.

The paper says the residue of the estate, after provision for the two children of the tobacco heir who was found fatally shot at his Winston Salem home last July 6, is estimated at $15,000,000, which would be used to provide a memorial for young Reynolds and his father, the late R. J. Reynolds.

A settlement of approximately $1,000,000 was made upon Anne Cannon, who was Reynolds' first wife, and their daughter, Anne Cannon Reynolds, II, at the time she obtained a Reno divorce six days before the 20-year old heir to millions married Libby Holman in November, 1931.

Situation At Capital Said To Be Serious

Local Citizens Have Variety Of Views On Crisis Facing Tech But All Believe That Fight Can Be Won

Local citizens who were in Austin the past week, when interviewed by an Avalanche-Journal representative yesterday, expressed various views regarding the crisis confronting the Tech.

However, the consensus of their opinions is that the situation is serious but that if the right tactics are pursued, the technological departments can be retained although it is going to take a strenuous campaign to do this.

Reductions Are Seen

It is generally conceded that all schools and other departments in the state government are going to have to take radical reductions in appropriations, something around 25 per cent. However, due to the present conditions, no one locally is objecting to the most rigid economy except where there are glaring inequalities already existing.

The committee on organization economy, known as the "efficiency committee," is going to introduce bills to carry out their recommendations and there will be a hard fight made to pass these bills. There will be just as hard a fight made on the part of all the state schools and their friends to prevent the recommendations being carried out. Tech, however, and other schools in the western part of the state will have a harder fight than schools in central and east Texas for the reason that other schools are located in more populous sections of the state and have more people and have

Receiver For 3,600 Sheep At Fort Stockton Chosen

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 21. (AP)—Will H. Hill of Tierra Alta was named receiver of 3,600 sheep on the 19,200 acre ranch of J. Bert Kincaid south of Fort Stockton by an order entered in the 119th district court here this afternoon. Application was by the Wool Growers Central Storage company here, but application for receivership on the land, on which the company holds a third lien, was held in abeyance until next Saturday when another hearing has been called.

Bert Kincaid is the son of T. A. Kincaid, president of the sheep and goat raisers association.

Large Group Of Job Hunters Is Asked To Desist And To Permit Governor To Consider Matters Of State

Jim Has Message

Says He And His Wife Can Not Afford To Fritter Away All Their Time When Problems Must Be Considered

By R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 21.—Normality in the Texas capitol, where the state legislature is preparing to consider a variety of subjects incident to operation of the government during the next biennium, was expected to return next week after confusion attending a change in administrations.

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, inaugurated governor last Tuesday, has asked a large group of job hunters to desist and permit her to consider matters pertaining to the state's welfare.

Speaks Through Husband

She spoke through her former-governor husband, James E. Ferguson, who made an impromptu address to men and women who have swarmed about the executive offices since the Fergusons moved in.

Speaking with all his campaign fervor in a sudden and dramatic appearance before the job seekers, Mr. Ferguson, in firm language, said he hoped they would "quit trying to manhandle" the executives and legislators in the interest of employment.

Position Is Changed

He explained that the governor was not in a position to influence the placing of as many employes as formerly. He recalled that she did not have control of the highway department, the health department, the game commission and the board of control as was the case during her previous tenure in 1925-26.

"You simply are trying to get something we haven't got," he stated.

Expressing "regret at this seemingly abrupt statement," Mr. Ferguson reminded his hearers that "we cannot afford to fritter away the

Ruth Judd Admits She Repacked Body Of Slain Woman In Her Luggage; Is Carried Back To State Prison

(By The Associated Press)

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 21.—Counsel for John J. Halloran, obtained from Winnie Ruth Judd today for the first time an admission that she herself repacked the body of Hedvig Samuelson in a small trunk and other luggage in Mrs. Judds own home two days after the slaying of Miss Samuelson and Agnes Anne LeRoi.

The admission was made during questioning of Mrs. Judd in an effort by Halloran's counsel to impeach the testimony with which she sought to involve the lumberman as an accessory to murder.

Admits Changing Body

"Of course, Mrs. Judd," he said, "that part about putting parts of Miss Samuelson's body in a trunk and a hat box at your Brill street apartment is true, isn't it?"

"There is nothing in that article about that," she declared. "It doesn't even mention it."

Smith read from the statement: "I had tried to place Sammy in

Body Of Missing Pilot Is Found In Cockpit Of Wrecked Plane Saturday

Crash Against Hill In West Texas Is Fatal For Flier

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 21. — Still seated in the cockpit of the mail plane in which he was lost in the fog early yesterday, the body of Ray Fuller, 36, was found this afternoon. The plane had crashed into the side of a hill seven miles southwest of Boerne.

A "hunch" led A. B. Williams of San Antonio, old engineer, and Paul Green, employe of Williams and a friend of Fuller, who lived in the same apartment, almost directly to the scene of the crash.

Mark Highest Hill

Consulting maps, they marked the hill where the plane was found because its altitude was slightly above 1,900 feet. All the other hills in the vicinity were 1,850 feet or less. They went by automobile to Boerne this morning and thence directly to the H. F. Swope ranch, on which the hill they had marked on the map is located. Twenty minutes after they reached the ranch, they found the plane.

Only a few minutes after they had discovered it, it was sighted from two other planes in the air, one piloted by V. H. Ramsey, chief pilot of hangar six, Winburn field, and Van J. Weaver, reserve officer, who were part of the searching party that had been seeking the missing plane since Friday morning.

Seeing a man standing beside the wrecked plane, one of the observers reported that Fuller still was alive, but the man later proved to be Williams, who was just leaving to report the discovery.

Flying Between Hills

Fuller's plane was pointed toward San Antonio. He was flying between two hills and in clear weather could have seen the lights of the city. He

Thirty South Plains And West Texas Towns Invited To Send Delegates To Good Roads Meeting Here On Friday

REPRESENTATIVES of 30 South Plains and West Texas towns have been invited by Lubbock Chamber of Commerce to attend a good roads meeting in the Hotel Lubbock ball room Friday afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

Letters of invitation have been mailed to chamber of commerce secretaries, county judges, and newspaper editors in Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Motley, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Bailey, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Scurry, Borden, Dawson, Gaines, Andrews, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, Ector, and Midland counties.

Will Present Plan

"What is everybody's business is nobody's business," the letter said in part. "We want to present a plan of forming a good roads association in this section of West Texas in completing its road program.

"Lubbock county's program is virtually complete, therefore, we have no selfish motives in calling the meeting. It will be up to you and representatives from other counties to decide what shall be done after

Negro Uses His Peg Leg In Making Escape From Prison

(By The Associated Press)

MARSHALL, Jan. 21.—Loss of a leg may be a handicap to most folks, but Herman (Peg) Minneweather, Harrison county negro, owes his freedom to just such a misfortune.

Minneweather, held in the city jail holdover, was jailed as a suspect in a store burglary here. Evidently confinement irked him. So Herman took off his peg leg, used it as a lever in prying away the facing of a barred window and made his escape after using the window weight to knock out enough bricks to make an aperture through which he could crawl out of the jail.

Motorist Robbed By Two Saturday

Two men, walking on the Brownfield highway about three and a half miles from Lubbock, hijacked a motorist about 11:30 o'clock last night, police were told.

The victim, who said he lost $1.55 in cash and a hydraulic jack, refused to give his name, police said last night. The man was seeking county officers at midnight. Police said they understood the man was driving slowly on the highway when two men stepped in front of his car, one with a drawn gun, and ordered him to stop.

Trial Of Man For Drowning Of Wife Will Open Monday

SWEETWATER, Jan. 21. (AP)—L. M. Parks, former soft drinks stand operator here, is scheduled to go to trial Monday in 32nd district court charged with drowning his wife, Mrs. Joe Havins Parks, in Lake Trammel, municipal reservoir, last July 8.

Judge A. S. Mauzey has ordered a special venire of 100 from which to select a jury.

Mrs. Parks was drowned while on an outing at the lake with her husband and two young daughters. An investigation followed discovery by officers that insurance policies, in which Parks was named beneficiary, had been taken out on the woman's life a short time previous to her death.

Hawkins Murder Case Will Be Called For Trial Monday

District Attorney Daniel A. Blair and Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney, probably will go to Plainview Monday when the case of Joe Hawkins, charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of his father-in-law, S. M. Watkins, will be called.

Hawkins, at his first trial in Crosby county, drew a 50-year sentence, but on appeal he obtained a reversal. Watkins was killed October 28, 1929.

Alex Williamson Dies Early Saturday At His Ralls Home

RALLS, Jan. 21. (Special)—Alex Williamson, 59, known here as "Dad," died at his home in Ralls at 1:30 o'clock this morning of influenza. A resident of Ralls 16 years he had been engaged in the transfer business.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon by the Rev. J. M. Harder and the Rev. W. B. Flores, Baptist ministers. Burial will be in Ralls cemetery.

Survivors are one son, Tom Williamson of Ralls. Mrs. Alex Williamson and her two daughters died in 1931.

Senator Cutting Likely To Be New Interior Secretary

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP) — Recognizing the support of Republican independents in the recent campaign, President-Elect Roosevelt virtually has decided to place one of that group in his cabinet.

A source close to the incoming chief executive let this be known tonight and intimated simultaneously that Senator Bronson B. Cutting of New Mexico may be offered the portfolio of secretary of the interior.

Jap Leader Is Hurt In Blast

Military And Diplomatic Head Seriously Injured; Premier Of Manchukuo Is Reported As Death Victim

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Jan. 21—Persistent reports circulated here today that General Nobuyoshi Muto, supreme military and diplomatic representative of Japan in Manchukuo, has been seriously injured by a bomb exploded at the railway station at Changchun, Manchuria.

In the same bombing Chang Hia-hsu, premier of Manchukuo, was killed, according to these reports, which could not be verified because of Japanese censorship on press dispatches.

Apprehension Increases

The rumors of the bombing case as China showed evidence of becoming increasingly apprehensive regarding the course of the conflict with Japan.

It was reported that thousands of troops were being sent into the "war area" of North China by the nationalist government from Honana, South Chihli and Shantung. Some estimates put the total number of men involved in this movement at 250,000, but conservative commentators considered this exaggerated.

Drastic Curtailment Of Work Offered By Texas Colleges Is Advocated By Education Board

Engineering And Architecture Departments At Tech Facing Threat Of Extinction; Most Teachers' Colleges Would Be Made Junior Schools; Tech Still In Senior Class

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 21.—Drastic curtailment of the work offered by the Texas state teachers' colleges was advocated by the State Board of Education in its biennial report, made public today. As a combined economy and efficiency move the board suggested the transformation of most of the colleges into junior colleges and the possible abolition of one or more.

The board recommended the consolidation of the two institutions at Denton, the College of Industrial Arts and the North Texas State Teachers' college. This combined institution would be retained as a senior college. The other senior teachers' colleges would be Sam Houston at Huntsville. Texas Tech at Lubbock would remain a senior institution, although its engineering and architecture departments would be abolished. The University of Texas and Texas A. and M. would continue as senior institutions.

Would Abolish San Marcos School

As for the Southwest Teachers' college at San Marcos, the board said in conclusion: "Another question which arises is whether the state can justify the maintenance of two institutions within 35 miles of each other." The board already had pointed out that San Marcos was only 33 miles from Austin, seat of the University of Texas.

Of the College of Mines at El Paso, the board said: "Should the state decide to maintain this institution it should definitely indicate its new function. It must then further decide whether it should be continued on the senior level or on the junior level. It would appear to be somewhat inconsistent to continue it on the senior level, when the available data are given full weight."

Changes Are Proposed

The first part of the board's report was concerned with changes suggested in the state's elementary and high school system. The board said that these changes had to be made in order that the school children would suffer as little as possible from the current condition of tremendously reduced revenues.

"That a material reduction in the number of local school units would promote administrative and scholastic efficiency is clearly apparent," the board said. "Our detailed and restrictive regulations governing the organization of local units of school support and administration should be repealed; they not only stand in the way of educational progress, but constitute a prolific source of excessive overhead costs. In their stead we should have clear-cut authorization of the county Board of Education to establish local units

Legislature Is Urged Not To Deprive This County Of One Of Its Courts; Summary Of Work Here Is Given

The state legislature is urged not to "deprive this county of one of its courts" in a statement distributed Saturday by Judge Clark M. Mullican, showing the number of cases handled by the 99th and 72nd district courts in the past five years. A committee from the legislature has suggested that 99th district court be abolished, and that one county, Crosby, be taken from 72nd court.

Judge Mullican, of 99th district court, suggests that an additional eight-week term be granted his court.

More Time Is Asked

"It is sincerely and earnestly urged that the legislature do not deprive this county of one of its courts, but that more time be allowed for business," the statement set out.

"The bill creating the 99th court allowed too much vacation. It is physically impossible to dispose of the business of this court within the time allowed. It is suggested that no term of this court be longer than eight weeks, thus fixing more 'appearance days' and earlier trials; and that a new term of eight weeks be added."

Forty Weeks Allowed

At present there are two 12-week and two eight-week terms, or about 40 weeks, annually.

The figures presented, sworn to

Five Of Seven Products May Be Cut From Farm Proposal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. (AP)—A bold blue-penciling of the domestic allotment farm relief bill aimed at its "simplification" threatened tonight to cut out five of the seven products it would benefit and possibly to eliminate entirely the acreage reduction feature.

Poking critical pencils at various sections of the price-boosting measure passed by the house, members of the senate agriculture committee talked of striking out peanuts, rice, dairy products, tobacco and hogs, retaining only wheat and cotton. Committee sentiment as interpreted by its leading members showed a drift toward this limitation.

Judge Kenesaw Landis Goes To Arizona For His Health

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 21. (AP)—Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball commissioner, left here today for Arizona after an overnight stop. Landis is on his way to that state for his health.

Reporters who attempted to interview the commissioner found him more concerned about getting his baggage loaded into his car, finding his wife, who preceded him to the lobby of their hotel, and how bad the fog was.

Two Men Are Identified As Cranfills Gap Bank Robbers

MERIDIAN, Jan. 21. (AP) — Two men accused of robbing the Security State bank at Cranfills Gap of $712 were identified at the Meridian jail late today by Chris Rhone, cashier of the bank.

Officers arrested Lathan Mann alias "Cotton" Mann, 16 miles south of Corsicana. Roy Sutherland was taken into custody at a house in the northern section of Dallas by Sheriff Pearl Benson of Bosque county and State Ranger L. Burton.

Oklahoma Farmer Given Life Term

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 21 (AP)—Sam Wilkerson, farmer, was sentenced to life imprisonment by an Oklahoma county district court jury for the murder of Isaac Hemmingway, 73-year old loan broker.

Wilkerson was alleged by the state to have murdered the aged loan man when the latter went to his farm seven miles east of here to collect a mortgage judgment. Hemmingway's body was found buried on the Wilkerson farm several days after he disappeared from his office.

The verdict was returned after day of deliberation. The state had asked the death penalty.

Mrs. Wilkerson also is charged in connection with the murder.

Income Tax Net Is Spread For Three Chiefs Of Gangland; Search Started

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—An income tax net, like the one in which the government bagged Al Capone and many of his Chicago colleagues, was spread for three New York gang chiefs today—Dutch Schultz and two of his lieutenants.

Bench warrents were issued by United States Commissioner Francis A. O'Neill and an hour later police all over the country were asked to arrest Schultz, alias Arthur Flegenheimer, and his lieutenants, Henry Stevens and Frank Ahearn.

Meanwhile immigration and customs officers, prohibition agents and police throughout the nation have been asked to watch for them.

The specific charge, Medalie said, was that Schultz failed to pay a tax of $22,366.21 upon a net income of $130,324.70 in 1929; that Stevens failed to pay a tax of $1,126.48 on an income of $25,227.03; and that Ahearn failed to pay a tax of $39,164.57 on an income of $193,284.31.

Identity Of Man Found Dead In Box Car At Slaton Friday Undetermined

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SLATON, Jan. 21.—A report that the unidentified man who was found dead on an incoming freight train here Friday was W. C. West, formerly of Slaton, was believed to have been spiked tonight when J. T. South of Hurlwood, a brother-in-law of West, was unable to identify the body.

South, however, said he had not seen West since 1908, Police Chief R. L. Wicker said.

Efforts were being made tonight to reach Mrs. eBtty Purcelle, of a Capitan, N. M., rural route. Heavy snow in the Capitan area made it impossible to reach Mrs. Purcelle, who lives 40 miles from Capitan. Her name was found on a scrap of paper carried by the dead man.

Sheriff Tom Abel was here today in an attempt to identify the body. He was unable to establish identification. Friends of West, who was said to have gone to New Mexico, expressed an opinion the body might be

Activities Of Boys Planned

Preliminary Program Is Out For Older Boys Conference Scheduled At Plainview On February 10-12

Preliminary program for the annual Older Boys conference of Northwest Texas, to be held February 10-12 at Plainview, was announced here by Grover C. Good, state secretary of boys work for the Y. M. C. A. of Texas. Mr. Good was here with a flying squadron to meet with local men and discuss attendance from Lubbock.

"Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech; Dean James M. Gordon of Tech and Dr. J. A. Hill, president of W. T. S. T. C. at Canyon, have accepted invitations to speak," Mr. Good said. "Some other speakers will be: Rev. Gaston Foote, Amarillo; Herbert Carver, superintendent of an underprivilged boy's home at Denver; C. G. Fairchild, boys' work secretary of the Fort Worth Y. M. C. A. and Pat Henry, student at T. C. U. Lubbock people should remember Pat Henry as he was president of the conference that met in Lubbock two years ago.

"Captain C. G. Ghiselin, of Dallas, will be in charge of the induction ceremony. L. McNeil, Amarillo, also will be with us."

The conference is to open at 3 p. m. Friday, February 10, in the Plainview Municipal auditorium. The congress of the gathering, headed by Clarence Wells, Denison, president, will meet. There will be a night program.

On Saturday sessions will start in the morning and last until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. From then until 5 there will be games and amusements. At 5 a social hour for both boys and girls will be held; with a banquet at 6, followed by a concert at 7 o'clock.

Sunday morning's session will be in the high school auditorium.

"How We Can Best Serve God," is the theme of the conference. "The boys selected it and we did not change it," Mr. Good added.

Joe Witherspoon, Wichita Falls president of the conference; R. E. Shepard, former mayor and a well known singer and Harry Hines, also of Wichita Falls, are on the program. Levi Reynolds, of Simmons university, Abilene, will be on the program as well as C. E. Davis, superintendent of the Plainview schools and Jack Madison, president of the Plainview Hi group.

George Dupree of Lubbock has been invited to attend and participate in the program.

Each church in the territory, which includes from Wichita Falls to Abilene, Sweetwater and north to the state line, will be asked to send delegates if possible.

To Take Up Problems

"If your county highway program is not complete, if you want it completed, if you want to keep the gasoline tax fund for the only purpose for which it is right to collect it, if you want the cooperation of other counties in this section to work with you in completing your highway program, we cordially invite you to attend a meeting in Lubbock next Friday afternoon."

In district No. 5 of the state highway department, which has headquarters here, there are said to be 206 miles of paved roads, 125 miles of state highways under construction, and 363 miles of designated state highways which as yet are unimproved. Of the counties which have been invited to have representatives here, it was said Hockley, Lamb, Dawson, Lynn, and Terry have no permanent highways. The designated highways in this section which are incomplete are Nos. 7, 9, 24, 28, 83, 84, 86, and 137.

State Tax Is Cited

In connection with the calling of the meeting, it was pointed out that the state tax on a gallon of gasoline is 4 cents, of which one cent goes to the school fund, about one cent to pay off county highway bonds, and two cents used for maintenance of present highways and construction of new roads.

"The total sum derived from the gasoline tax is barely enough to do the needed work and obtain federal aid, which, of itself, amounts to millions of dollars annually," it was said.

Figures released by the state highway engineer showed that $27,854,-343.44 was spent during the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1932, for construction of highway and bridges, and that income to the highway department for the same period from the gasoline tax (then three cents a gallon for highway work) was $21,-584,665, and the income from registration of motor vehicles to the state was $4,206,207.

Abolishment Of Two Departments At Texas Tech Is Proposed In Report of school administration, convenient in size and financial resources adequate to the needs of their scholastic population."

Burden Is Outlined

At the outset, the board outlined the enormous financial burden which the state was assuming if it continued state aid along the lines now followed.

"To balance the budget of public school support on August 30, 1933," $5,750,000 must be made from the general revenue to liquidate the deficit in the current apportionment and to provide for the payment of approved state aid claims. Then an additional amount must be provided—at least $3,900,000—from some source to offset the loss that will be brought about by the operation of the homestead amendment; then again if the schools are to be maintained on their present statutory level of financial support, provision must be made, by an appropriation from the already depleted revenue fund or by the creation of other sources of revenue, to supplement the state available school annually to the extent of at least $2 per capita.

May Cut Apportionment

"The fact of the matter is that unless adequate remedial measures are adopted the schools must operate after this year on the basis of a per capita apportionment of $12.50; possibly $11." The present per capita is $16.

The board said that "the present crisis" in the educational program "has accentuated the need for a revision of our obsolete and inequitable method of distributing state available school funds. "It is a well-known fact that under our present system approximately 400,-000 children out of a scholastic enumeration of over one and one-half million receive none of the beneficient returns from the annual investment of about $30,000,000 of state school funds."

The board recommended that the county and state superintendents be appointed rather than elected and that no district with an assessed valuation of less than $700,-000 attempt to support a four-year high school.

Report Not As Severe

The report of the board was not as severe on the smaller colleges as the legislative committee on organization and economy. This committee recommended abolition of several colleges, or their support by the communities in which they are located.

What the fate of these recommendations will be when they reach the legislature remains to be seen.

The board recommended that graduate work be limited to the University of Texas and Texas A. & M. Senator Joe M. Moore of Greenville already has introduced a bill to carry out that purpose. The board advocated further that all work of high school level now being offered and given in any of the state colleges be discontinued. However, under agreements made by the state, sub-college work at John Tarleton Agricultural college at Stephenville must be continued.

Absorb Upper Classmen

The board suggested that Texas Tech could absorb the upper classmen of Sul Ross of Alpine and West Texas teachers of Canyon with little additional expense. It added that the combined institution at Denton could take the upper classmen from East Texas teachers of Commerce at only a slight additional cost.

In similar manner, Sam Houston Teachers' college could absorb the juniors and seniors from Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches. "There need be very little discussion about the possibility of the University of Texas absorbing students in upper level classes' from Southwest teachers and from the College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville, the board said.

"The Texas A. and M. college can, with little, if any, additional cost absorb those upper levels students coming to it because of the concentration of certain special offerings at fewer institutions. This is particularly true in the fields of agriculture and engineering."

In support of its contention that there should be only five senior state colleges in Texas, the board pointed to the expense of maintaining small classes for juniors and seniors in the other institutions.

The board suggested that each Texas student at any of the state colleges be charged a fee of $25 a semester and that an out-of-state student be assessed $50 a semester.

that of West. At least one man with whom West had traded, however, stated that it was not West's body.

The man subsequently found dead recently rode toward Lubbock in an automobile, the driver of the car informed the sheriff's department Saturday morning. The man, who was hitch-hiking told the motorist, the latter said, that he had been working on the Horne brothers ranch near Capitan, and was returning to Lubbock. The motorist said the man, whose name he did not learn, also mentioned Mrs. Purcelle.

West was a former service man. Fingerprints of the dead man possibly will be sent to Washington, D. C., to be compared with those of West, it was said at Foster Funeral home.

Tech Crisis

more representation in the legislature to fight for them.

Some Criticism Noted

There is a lot of talk in Austin that the Texas Technological school should never have been created but if there was a need for such a school that it should have been located closer to the center of population of the state. This sentiment is going to be hard to overcome and is going to make it necessary for West Texans to plan their campaign strategy very carefully.

Legislators, school men and citizens generally in other sections of the state resent West Texas arousing sectionalism by pointing out the large amount of lands in West Texas that have been used for the benefit of institutions, railroads and so forth in East Texas, and it seems at this time that every effort should be made to secure the good will and cooperation of these people rather than to antagonize them.

Of course, everything is in such a turmoil in Austin right at this time that no one can prophesy with any degree of accuracy as to what may come out of the present legislature. All agreed, however, that the Tech and other West Texas schools are facing their greatest crisis at this particular time.

MANY PAY TRIBUTE

WACO, Jan. 21. (AP)—Hundreds of friends and associates stood in a drizzling rain today to pay tribute as last rites were observed for Judge Warwick H. Jenkins, Sr., 85, patriarch of the Baptist church in Texas. The flag was at half mast at Baylor university, on whose board of trustees Jenkins had served since 1902. He died yesterday after a long illness.

The Yorubas of Nigeria do not permit burials until debts of the dead have been paid.

NEWS BRIEFS

Ray Nichols, Vernon editor, has been named chairman of the "On to San Angelo" committee of the Rotary district, according to word received here. He is asking local clubs to name committees for the annual district conference to be held May 1 and 2 at San Angelo.

Bids were to have been received Saturday at Aiken, in Floyd county, for construction of a four-room school building to replace the one burned there just before the holidays. S. B. Haynes is the architect. Recently insurance on the building was settled for $7,350 and the structure is to be built from those funds.

The Rev. O. N. Baucom, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, is leaving Monday to attend a meeting of the Texas Synodical Board of Cumberland Presbyterian Sunday schools. Rev. Mr. Baucom is secretary.

R. V. Kimmel and James Kimmell have received word of the death of their father, Penn Kimmel, 84, who died at home in Mt Calm Friday night. The Lubbock men attended their father during his illness but were here when he died.

Forty members of the Carroll B. Y. P. U. and their guests were served a chili supper at the First Baptist church Friday night. Children from the Mexican school were presented in a program by their teachers, Mrs. George Duval and Miss Pearl Jackson.

A standard teachers training school is to be started at the Asbury Methodist church at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Lessons will follow each evening at 7:30 o'clock through Friday. Courses are to be taught by The Rev. J. O. Haymes, Dr. C. A. Bickley, the Rev. J. W. Watson and Mrs. R. T. Campbell.

Funeral services for Betty Ruth Serratt, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Serratt of Sudan, were conducted at Sudan Saturday afternoon.

The child died in a sanitarium here yesterday morning of diphtheria. Bynum-Stahler funeral home had charge of arrangements.

Three girls, two of whom are sisters, were arrested by police Saturday afternoon in connection with shoplifting at Montgomery Ward and Co. and Barrier Durham stores here. The sisters were 15 and 17 years of age, and the other was 18 years old.

Shorty Hicks pleaded guilty of swindling, by evading a board bill, before County Judge E. L. Pitts, who fined him $1 and sentenced him to a day in jail, Saturday.

Ignacio Cervantez, 32, sentenced to two years for murder without malice, and Charles Hance, 26, who after Lubbock police arrested him for attempted forgery revealed he had escaped from the state penitentiary, were to be taken to the prison at Huntsville late last week. They were taken to Abilene by Lubbock police Thursday and were to be carried from Abilene to Huntsville by a prison officer.

Three members of troop No. 31, of Slaton, received merit badges at an honor court there Friday night, Scout Executive D. T. Jennings said yesterday. The awards were to Bobby Turner, personal health; Louis Sanders, metal work, firemanship, and personal health; and Gunter Garland, personal health.

Mrs. J. J. Sigler and daughter, Irma, of Tulia, visited their daughter and sister, Mrs. N. L. Ball, of 1924 Sixteenth street, Saturday.

I. G. Trimble, long time Lubbock resident, of 1947 Texas Avenue, is exhibiting an unusual style of paper-hanging, which he called panel work. The ceiling gives an impression that it is hanging.

A Chevrolet coupe, 1931 model, was stolen Saturday night from downtown Slaton, Police Chief R. L. Wicker reported. The license number is 881,642.

The automobile, owned by W. T. Richardson of Slaton, and taken about 9:15 o'clock, had new tires and the gasoline tank was full of gas, it was said. The machine had a solid bumper both at the front and rear.

A negro was arrested by police Saturday night in connection with shoplifting at Stephens Drygoods store. Three sweaters were said to have been taken.

Fire department members answered two fire alarms Saturday afternoon. At 1:30 o'clock a trash fire at 807 Avenue H resulted in an alarm. At 4:55 o'clock the department began a run to Slide, where fire had flared up in a burr pile near a gin. There was not sufficient water for the booster pumper the department sent to Slide to extinguish the blaze.

Seed Testing Work Growing

Between 900 And 1000 Samples Of Seed Analyzed By Tech Laboratory Since It Began In February 1932

Between 900 and 1,000 samples of seed have been analyzed by the substate testing laboratory since it was started at Texas Technological college the first of February, 1932, according to G. L. Beene, assistant state seed analyst. This does not include about 75 samples run through for the college by Mr. Beene.

Recently the spring rush began, Mr. Beene reporting 16 samples being received in one day. The average has jumped to 10 or 12 samples per day.

"It takes from 30 minutes to two hours to run a test on purity of the seed," Mr. Beene explained. "Germination tests take longer.

Work Is Growing

"Our work here is growing. We handled more than twice as many tests the first year as state officials had expected us to. The work is growing and the coming year should show a substantial increase in work."

Mr. Beene reports a high percentage of non-germination in susan seed as shown by recent tests. The percentage of sudan germination runs from a low of 73 to a high of 93. Average milo tests are from 85 to 95 per cent, with kafir and hegari about the same.

Wheat tests show 90 per cent germination and better. Oats, barley and rye are about the same as wheat.

Residences Unroofed By High Wind At Atlanta

ATLANTA, Tex., Jan. 21. (AP) — High winds from the southwest tore into the residential section of Atlanta at 5:30 p. m. today, unroofing six residences, blowing three others from their foundations and demolishing a dozen garages and small structures. No fatalities were reported.

The wind struck the Atlanta public school building, shattering windows and blowing doors from their hinges. Practically every tree on the campus was blown down. The wind missed the business section of the town but blew full blast into the residential district.

O. C. McClung, who saw the wind storm approaching in a cloud of dust, said he had just driven to his home and was preparing to put his automobile in the garage when the gale struck, demolishing the garage.

Residences and buildings owned by Mrs. G. W. McClung, Abe Mays, Joe Warren, Frank Whisnat, Wade Aday, Wilmer Hughes and Ab Brabbam were damaged. The damage was estimated at $10,000.

At Least One Person Is Injured In Sooner State

OKMULGEE, Okla., Jan. 21. (AP)—At least one person was injured and more than a score of buildings damaged when a tornado swept through Adair, Mayers county, today. The tornado traversed a path half a mile long and a quarter of a mile wide in that section, coming from the southwest.

J. R. Calvert was cut and bruised when the wind wrecked his garage. Citizens quickly started a check up to determine whether others were hurt.

was flying close to the hillside not far from the top. The right wing of his plane struck a clump of small oak trees not more than 20 feet high, and careened into the hillside about 50 feet farther on.

It skidded to a stop without turning over and except for the crumbled wing was not badly damaged. Fuller was seated in the cockpit, a smile on his face. The plane had not caught fire and the mail cargo was undisturbed. He had made no effort to leave the ship and his safety belt was not unclasped.

Eighteen army planes from Randolph and Kelly fields and four planes from Winburn field were notified to return to their landing fields and Bob Spaulding, American Airways operations manager here, and Wayne Parks, operator of Winburn field, left immediately by automobile for the scene of the crash. The body was brought back to San Antonio tonight.

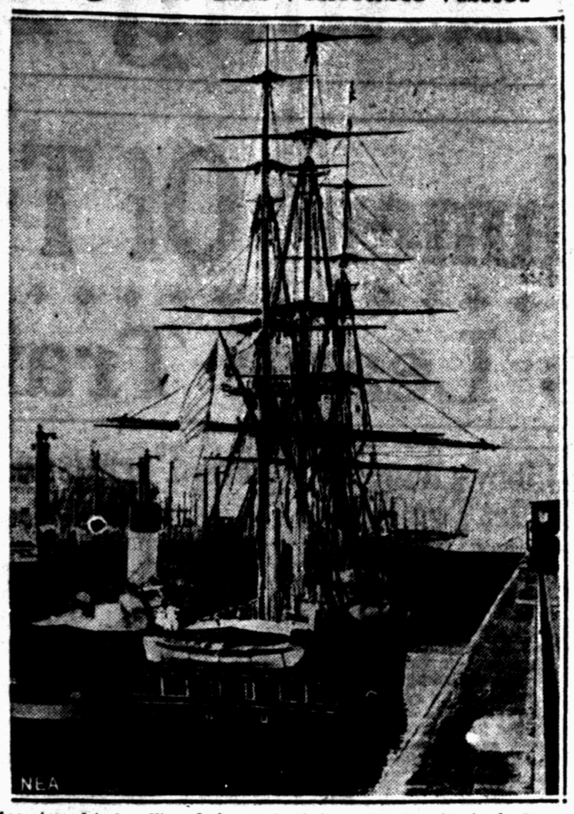

Sub-Station For Collector Opened Saturday At Idalou

A sub-station of the county tax collector's office was opened Saturday at Idalou, W. H. Carpenter, the collector, said.

Slow registration of automobiles for 1933 indicated that there will be a jam of automobile owners the last few days of January, Carpenter said. Although there are about 8,000 passenger cars and 1,500 trucks in Lubbock county, only about 2,200 cars and 190 trucks have been registered.

A sub-station also is open at Slaton.

"Big Ditch" Has Venerable Visitor

Accustomed to handling sleek vessels of the modern marine trade, Panama Canal workers were a bit amazed when the U. S. S. Constitution, "Old Ironsides," was towed into one of the greatest locks on the first visit of the venerable vessel to the canal.

Court Defense

by Mrs. Olive Fluke, deputy district courts clerk, show that 3,488 criminal and civil cases were filed in 99th court from 1927 to 1932, inclusive, and that in 72nd court, in this county, 1,755 civil and criminal cases were filed during the same period.

Summary of Cases

The summary of cases filed in both courts for the entire period showed:

Ninety-Ninth court: Civil exclusive, 1,297; divorce, 699; tax, 1,054; criminal, 409; total, 3,468.

Seventy-Second court: Civil exclusive, 694; divorce, 207; tax 398; criminal, 466; total, 1,755; total for both courts, 5,223.

Summary of cases disposed of: Ninety-Ninth: Civil, 2,296; criminal, 379; now on file, 793.

Seventy-Second: Civil, 1,018; criminal, 433; now on file, 304.

Time Element Not Shown

"These figures," the statement set out, "do not and cannot show the time necessarily consumed in the trial of cases, nor do they show the repetitions of trials made necessary by hung juries, reversals on appeal, or other causes.

"In 1931 in the 99th court, one case alone, 'Spikes vs. the Capitol Land Syndicate et al,' consumed 12 weeks actual trial and approximately 12 weeks in passing upon 224 depositions containing 51,946 questions and answers; and 114 motions to quash depositions containing 3,553 objections.

Murder Cases Lengthy

"This court at its last preceding term necessarily consumed 28 days in the trial of three murder cases, or nearly an eight weeks term.

"Any district court that selects three juries and tries three jury cases in one week, whatever may be the importance of the cases, has achieved better than the average, and this without considering that a court handling the volume of business disclosed by this report, must devote much time outside of actual courtroom trials by jury for the disposal of the multitudinous matters connected with trials without juries, divorces, taxes, injunctions, receiverships, default judgments and the presentation of motions and questions of law.

To Much For One

"In the opinion of the undersigned, no single district court in Texas could possibly handle the legal business of this county.

"The committee (making the proposal for abolishing 99th court) is respectfully cited to a fact that the legislature must face and, in its best judgment, dispose of, that this is a new and fast developing section of our state, not by spasmodic and temporary boom conditions, but natural and permanent causes. As the recognized center of a vast trade and commercial territory, business has, for years, made its paper payable here. The natural forum for such paper is here, and business all over three states adds its litigation to that of our citizens."

Report Is Designated

Attention is called to the fourth annual report of the Texas Civil Judicial council, for 1931, which shows Lubbock county to be 17th among all Texas counties in volume of legal business.

Judge Mullican declared, "Five of the leading 16 counties, Dallas, Harris, Bexar, Tarrant and McLennan, may each be classed as metropolis. Six others, El Paso, Hidalgo, Cameron, Nueces, Galveston and Jefferson, are ports of entry. Travis is by statute the sole forum for certain designated litigation. Three others, Wichita, Potter and Smith are oil centers. Grayson, the 16th, is a great railroad center on the Red river Oklahoma-Texas boundary. Lubbock, the 17th, leads the field as an ordinary inland agriculture and jobbing center, forging ahead of such old and prominent counties as Ellis, Hill, Navarro counties."

my little metal trunk. I lifted her body . . . . . "

"Did you lift Sammy from the trunk?" he demanded. Mrs. Judd hesitated.

Lifted Portions

"You can answer that cant you?" the court inquired.

"Yes I know whether it is true or not," she said and then burst forth:

"No I didn't lift Sammy—I lifted a portion."

"Then you lifted other portions of her body and changed them, didn't you?"

"Yes," she said.

Her interrogation ended abruptly there, and she left the court to be returned to the state prison at Florence, where she is under sentence to be hanged Feb. 17 for murder of Mrs. LeRoi.

Four Persons Are Injured In Wreck Near Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Jan. 21 (AP)—Four persons were injured, one seriously, when an automobile and a truck collided near Forest Hill, about five miles south of here, this afternoon.

The injured: Herman Mobley, Waxahachie, fractured skull; O. W. Head, Waxahachie, cuts and bruises; Mrs. L. N. Hall, Cleburne, lacerated knee and injured left arm; Mrs. C. W. Putman, her mother, also of Cleburne, cuts and bruises.

Hall and Sharlynne Hall, 3, were unhurt.

Lamb County Boy Awarded First In Production Test

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 21. (Special)—The names of five Texas farm boys selected as winners of a cotton production contest sponsored the past year by the Lankart Pure Bred Seed farm of Waco have been announced by M. T. Payne, state boy club agent of the extension service, Texas A. & M. college.

Ancel Miller, Amherst, Lamb county, was first with a yield of 563 pounds of lint cotton an acre on 6 1-4 acres, and a return for his labor and investment of $239.54.

Other winners were: William Hill, Alanreed, Gray county, second; Guy Walker, Lockhart, Caldwell county, third; Harold Real, Converse, Bexar county, fourth; and Jim West, Roxton, Lamar county, fifth. Cash prizes ranging from $50 to $5 are to be awarded the winners by Mr. Lankart.

Of the 2,150 boys in Texas engaged in 4-H club cotton growing demonstrations the past year, 499 entered the contest, Mr. Payne said. The winners averaged more than five acres in each of their demonstrations, made average yields of 343 pounds of lint an acre, and received an average return for labor and investment of $21.71 an acre. The boys were judged on the basis of yield, profit, story of demonstration, and its effect on the community.

people's time when our efforts are needed in the service of the welfare of the state."

Wastes Much Time

He explained that on yesterday Mrs. Ferguson was compelled to devote four hours to job hunters "half of whom we never saw during the campaign" while legislators, seeking to discuss pending important legislation, had been able to get only one and one half hours of the chief executive's time.

The better friends you are to us the more I expect you to help and quit trying to manhandle us and the legislature in an effort to get jobs," he said. "The legislators have shown a disposition to cooperate with us. I am pleading with you not to hamper them in their work."

Fergusons Sincere

At this point in the legislature's career sentiment indicated that the Fergusons were sincere in their desire to work hand-in-hand with the legislature. Indications were the legislators were in a receptive mood, wanting to join with the executive office in working out some of the problems of state that confront the administration.

A test of the Ferguson strength in the senate was expected Monday, when action was promised on Mrs. Ferguson's request for withdrawal of the names of Ben F. Tisinger of Garland, C. H. Chernosky of Houston and Tom Garrard of Lubbock as appointees to the four-year terms on the state Board of Education. They are incumbents. Former Governor R. S. Sterling re-appointed them during the closing days of his administration and asked the senate to confirm them. Action was deferred.

RETURNS TO SCHOOL

SEMINOLE, Jan. 21. (Special)—Many students of the Seminole high school who had remained away from school to harvest crops, have returned. O. C. Southall, superintendent, says. There are also a large number of new students in both grades and high school.

Babson Declares Technocracy Is Passing Fad, Neither New Nor True

Machines Not To Blame For Ills, He Says

Financial Advisor Says Same Old Argument Of Machines Replacing Men Is Center Of Latest Theory

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Copyright for Avalanche-Journal

BABSON PARK, Florida, Jan. 21. Like cross-word puzzles and Tom Thumb golf, technocracy is a passing fad, which will soon be forgotten. It is merely an old ghost with a new name, and it is neither new nor true. If machinery is causing the downfall of our civilization, as technocracy says, then civilization would long ago have collapsed. Ever since the first wheel was invented 5,000 years ago machines and scientific inventions have contributed to the advancement of civilization, employment and standards of living.

Roger Babson

The technocrats see only the displacement of men by machines. They ignore entirely the creation of new industries and the expansion of old ones through machinery, which has provided more jobs than before. What this country needs is not technocracy but greater power of marketing. Under-consumption, not over-production, is the trouble today. We must build up increased purchasing power both at home and abroad.

Machines Not To Blame

If new machinery, while displacing workers, had not created new opportunities in the same or other industries, at least two-thirds of our people would have been out of work long before the present depression started. As a matter of fact, not over 2,000,000 were unemployed in 1930 and of this number less than 100,000 were unemployed from causes that could possibly be connected with new machines.

The reason we have 11,000,000 unemployed today is not because of machinery, but because, in the boom of 1926-29, we mortgaged our future incomes, indulged in speculative excesses, and at the same time, by a policy of isolation and exhorbitant tariffs, we cut off our world markets. It is foolish to talk about over-production, with one-third of our own population in need of the bare necessities of life, and 500,000,000 in Europe, India, and China potential customers for all the goods that all the machines in the world could produce.

Present Only Half Truth

The technocrats present a formidable array of figures to prove their contentions. The difficulty is they present only half the truth—and then draw the wrong conclusion. If the men displaced by machines in the past fifty years had not found other work, then before the depression we would have had 50,000,000 unemployed, instead of the actual figure of 2,000,000. As a matter of fact, the number of persons gainfully employed in 1930 was 3 per cent greater in proportion to the population than it was fifty years before.

Employment relative to population, actually increased in the very industries which have made the greatest use of labor-saving machinery. In the two years since 1930 very little new machinery has been installed. Hence, it was clearly not the evils of machinery, but the evils of over-speculation and reckless living, which brought on the present depression and the present unemployment. The excesses of the boom period have now, however, been compensated for by three years of liquidation, rigid economy, and obsolescence. Prosperity will return only as the desire to purchase, by those who are able to, is made stronger than the fear which causes them to hoard.

Emphasize Sales And Advertising

The need for goods is greater than ever. There is just as much money in the country today as there ever was. The need of the hour is to put this cash and credit into more active use. That will increase purchasing power and enlarge buying by putting people back to work. To create a desire to buy is the job of the salesmen and advertisers. If they are unable to do the job adequately, then let the Federal Government spend 2 per cent of its budget on a national campaign of advertising to induce people to purchase goods.

With increased buying as an objective, something like the Liberty bond campaigns of war times would soon start business going, employment increasing, and profits returning. Moreover, by purchasing now, the public can get new and superior goods at bargain prices. Buyers of these bargains are not only giving business a real lift, but are getting handsomely repaid for their foresight.

Business, in any event, is going to recover. Indeed, recovery is already under way. It could be greatly hastened, however, if a large part of the people who are engaged in production could be transferred by their employers into sales force. Some will say, perhaps, than an "inside man" has neither the temperament nor the ability to sell. Then let him at least do sales missionary work, thereby relieving the regular salesman from a drain on his energy, and giving him additional time for actual salesmanship.

Furthermore, I say that if a person cannot or will not do this economic missionary work, at least let him go up and down the street with a sales placard on his back. Every able-bodied man or woman who can possibly be spared from the factory should be put into the sales field or behind the sales counter. In other words, concerns should be literally turned "inside out."

Destroy As New Is Produced

Instead of curbing new inventions and machinery, as the technocrats advise, we should encourage it,—but at the same time insist that the old and obsolete machinery be destroyed. In other words, the solution of the problem lies in encouraging the destruction of the old, rather than discouraging the building of the new. This applies, not only to machinery and equipment, but to houses, office buildings, factories, and other so-called "capital goods." Technocrats are worrying about the new machinery. They forget that fully one-half of the $25,000,000,000 worth of machinery and equipment in this country has been pronounced obsolete. If we could scrap even one-half of the obsolete machinery, we would create at once a $6,000,000,000 market for new and improved equipment. Think of the employment that alone would provide! What we need is not technocracy, but the courage and character to demolish the obsolete, to replace with the modern, and aggressively to push forward toward a higher standard of consumption and purchasing power.

Business as registered by the Babsonchart now stands at 13 per cent below a year ago.

LEVELLAND, Jan. 21.—Two city commissioners and the mayor are to be named by voters of Levelland at a biennial election scheduled for the first Tuesday in April.

Dr. H. N. Lusk will be the outgoing mayor. He was named mayor nearly two years ago after the newly elected city executive had died.

C. S. Padgett and Frank L. Adams are the outgoing commissioners.

County Meets Are Scheduled

Bailey County Contests Are Set For March 24 And 25 At Muleshoe; Others Over Territory Arranged

MULESHOE, Jan. 21. (Special)—The Bailey County Interscholastic league meet will be held at the Muleshoe school March 24 and 25, Miss Beth Mardis, secretary, announced.

Boys and girls basketball tourney dates are January 20-21; at Sudan if the gym can be secured, otherwise at Muleshoe. Following will be the boys schedule: Muleshoe—Bula, Baileyboro vs. Goodland; Fairview vs. Watson; Circleback vs. Y. L. The girl's schedule will be: Goodland vs. Fairview; Progress vs. Bula; Baileyboro vs. Y. L.; Muleshoe vs. Watson.

Eliminations for both boys and girls playground ball must be held before March 18, with final games played March 25.

Ralls To Be Scene Of Crosby County Contests

CROSBYTON, Jan. 21. (Special) Ralls has been awarded the annual Crosby County Interscholastic league meet, dates of which have not been set, officers were selected at the teacher's institute here. James M. Rankin, superintendent at Ralls, is director general and C. B. Hendricks, athletic coach, is coach of athletics.

Under the plan the meet rotates between the three towns with independent districts, Ralls, Crosbyton and Lorenzo.

Whitharral To Be Host To Hockley County Meet

LEVELLAND, Jan. 21. (Special.)—Whitharral will be the scene of the annual Hockley County Interscholastic League track meet March 31 and April 1, Clyde Gee, secretary, announced.

Anton will be host to the basketball meet February 24 and 25. Coaches must register their teams with A. C. Davis, Levelland, by February 14.

Brownfield Will Entertain Annual Terry County Meet

BROWNFIELD, Jan. 21. (Special)—Brownfield will be host to the annual Terry County Interscholastic League meets in the spring, A. B. Sanders, director general, announces.

Four cups will be awarded for: rural schools, ward schools, class B schools and class A high schools.

POST, Jan. 21. (Special)—During 1932 Post had a total of 26.71 inches of rain, the Double-U company said their record shows. This is the heaviest annual fall since 1926. Normal fall is about 18 inches.

"Siamese Twin" Calves Owned By Lubbock Man

What is believed to be the only "Siamese twins" in the Hereford division of the animal kingdom, are two joined calves, which have been stuffed, and are in the possession of Tom Garrard, local attorney. The twin calves were found dead about nine years ago on the old Dr. Windham ranch 12 miles south of Brownfield.

"I am told by W. L. Stangel of Texas Tech that they are the only twin calves of their kind he has ever seen," Mr. Garrard said.

The calves have two pairs of hind legs but only one pair of front legs. The heads are perfect as are the bodies.

Joining of the two bodies starts at the shoulders. It is about 14 or 15 inches across the space where the two bodies unite.

Employes fo the Windham ranch, formerly known as the "Wineglass" ranch because of its branch being shaped as a wineglass, found the calves. Apparently they had been dead since birth.

John Powell, a Brownfield taxidermist, mounted them and presented them to Mrs. Garrard. The animals are full sized and show Hereford breeding marks.

NEW DEPUTY SHERIFF

LITTLEFIELD, Jan. 21. (Special) J. L. Walraven of Amherst has been named chief deputy sheriff, the New Lamb county peace officer, Sheriff Len Irvin announced here. He formerly served under Sheriff Irvin in that capacity up to two years ago.

Professor Shoots Himself To Death

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP)—Robert L. Whitley, 27, professor of sociology on sick leave from the City College of New York, was found dead yesterday in the bathroom of his Long Island City home, a gunshot wound in his head.

The death was listed as a suicide by police.

Whitley's sister-in-law said he had been suffering with a nervous disorder for some months. His wife is a school teacher in Brooklyn and was at work when the body was found. His father is president of the East Texas State Teachers college at Commerce, Texas.

Suicide Victim Was Known By Tech Men

Robert Whitley, who shot himself to death at New York Friday, was known by Dr. James M. Gordon, liberal arts dean, and W. T. Gaston, business manager, at Texas Technological college.

Dean Gordon said that he had met Mr. Whitley and that Mr. Gaston was well acquainted with him. The young man's father, S. H. Whitley, president of East Texas State Teachers college at Commerce, and Dean Gordon were classmates at Trinity university in 1902. The Lubbock men were shocked by news of the suicide.

JUMPS TO SAFETY

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 21. (AP) — Lieut. Merrick H. Truly, Fayette, Miss., student officer in the attack section at Kelly field, jumped and landed safely with his parachute when the tail controls of his plane were torn away by the propeller of another plane a few hundred yards of Brooks field yesterday.

After Voting In Hale County Four Years, Abernathy Man Finds He Lives In Lubbock

By Staff Correspondent

ABERNATHY, Jan. 21.—For four years Ray Pinson, local druggist and civic worker, has voted in Hale county, considered himself a resident of the county and was active in political as well as business and civic affairs. Now he finds himself a resident of Lubbock county.

It took a precinct commissioner's election contest to set him right. Last summer he voted at the first primary. The election was close—one vote separating the two candidates. A check of all voters was made.

Pinson, it was found on investigation, was living south of the Hale-Lubbock line. "Now you have to vote in Lubbock county," he was told. He has to travel 10 or 12 miles to vote. He kept the information secret until recently.

Texas Beats Aggies To Hold Lead; Matadors Defeated

Signed Players Match Holdouts

OMORROW is the day coaches of high school basketball teams are supposed to send their intentions to participate in the second annual Lubbock High school invitation tournament. All boys teams of high school classification are eligible to compete The tournament starts Friday of this week, with the finals on Saturday. More than a dozen entries have been received. That many more are expected. Teams will be notified early this week of the time they are to play.

The Lubbock High school Westerners meet the Amarillo Sandies here tomorrow night. The game starts at 7:30 o'clock on the Lubbock High gymnasium floor. The situation augers well for a thrilling encounter. Lubbock defeated Amarillo at Amarillo the other day. Coach Hill's charges are after revenge this time.

THE Westerners are finding their basketball "legs," so to speak. They looked like champions on their first appearance, but they were a pretty slow, bashful lot; anything but colorful and aggressive. They have improved. They look much better, and there is hope for them. When all of them get fired with the spirit that seems to envelope Joe Lewis and Robert Hale, they'll be hard to catch. They looked good against Pampa Friday night, although there were some offensive points on which they still needed practice. They missed a lot of their shots that should have counted. Particularly were they off on their free goal shooting. On the floor, that is on defense and on passes, they looked good. They should give Amarillo a fit, but they might as well know that Amarillo is coming up to trim them. After watching the Westerners play a few games, we are of the opinion that they do not have the self-confidence necessary for a consistently winning ball club. They take too many "hope" shots—bang away at the goal and hope it will go in. They should take a few minutes off some day and brush up on Dizzy Dean and Babe Didrickson lore.

By the way, the football District 1 will have a basketball league next year. Members of the executive committee, in session Friday at Plainview, looked upon the suggestion with favor, and decided to give it a trial next year. Each club would play two games with every other club. Pampa, Borger, Amarillo, Plainview and Lubbock are the Class A teams.

THE baseball idea is slowly but (we hope) surely gaining momentum, and this department hopes to announce within a few weeks the definite arrangement between Lubbock and some "mother" club for a bang-up ball club here this summer, a member of the West Texas-New Mexico League. Those of you who like the smell of grandstand peanuts, the sound of ash against leather and the gnashing of teeth should begin talking it over with the neighbors and stir up the necessary interest. Officials of the Lubbock Baseball club are being quite stubborn and hard to please in regard to the "farm" connections. Two possibilities have gone by the board in an effort to find the best. Financial and player support is what they're after, and what they'll eventually get.

The boys down in East Texas (from Abilene that way) are giving the West Texas-New Mexico League the big razzberry. It strikes us that if we make good in this baseball deal it will be one of the best methods of letting 'em know that West Texas is somewhat ahead in this 'n' that 'n' the other. So far they've hogged all the athletic honors down that way (the Southwest conference, Texas League, Corisicana, etc.) because West Texas hasn't come alive to its possibilities, but we could be wrong about that. A live baseball league would at least be a gesture, if not an overture.

Majority Eager To Put Signatures On The Line

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—It remains to be seen whether the alacrity of the athletes to reach for their fountain pens so far is merely a bit of stage business, calculated to put fear into the more recalcitrant players, but it is a fact the magnates, within the first week, have carried most of their objectives in the annual major league salary campaign.

Not even the holdout tactics of so formidable a pair as Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig or the apparent rift between George Earnshaw and the Athletics have obscured the rapidity with which club owners have collected signed contracts. Conspicuously in the fold so far are Babe Herman, Heinie Meine, Goose Goslin, Charley Gehringer, Joe Vosmik, Lefty O'Doul, Glenn Wright, Bill Terry and the Waner brothers, among them a number of last year's loudest salary kickers.

Unusual For Gehrig

The world champion Yankees, in good times or bad, can depend upon the ballyhoo for a debate with Ruth, although it is unusual for Gehrig to have any salary differences with his employers. Neither case is serious. The Babe already has pointed the way to a compromise by expressing willingness to take as much as a 16 per cent or $11,000 cut and probably will sign for a mere $62,500. Gehrig failed to reach an agreement over the size of his "cut" at a conference today with Secretary Ed Barrow but he, too, can be depended upon to come to terms shortly.

Pennant challengers such as the Washington Senators and Pittsburgh irates appear to have avoided or minimized salary disputes by the simple expedients of not trimming too heavily or granting raises to a favored few. The Waners and Larry French, in addition to promising youngsters, benefitted from the Pirate policy of liberality, predicted upon high hopes of a drive to the top of the National League.

The New York Giants today contributed further to their picture of a happy family bl signing Carl Hubbell, southpaw star. Hubbell won 18 games with a sixth place club and was second only to Lon Warneke of the Cubs in pitching effectiveness last year. Despite some rumblings in the distance from Freddie Fitzimmons, the rotund right-hander who had only a fair 1932 season, the Giants have yet to list an official holdout.

On recommendation of his capable brother, Merritt Hubbell, also a left-handed pitcher, will be given a tryout by the Giants at Los Angeles. The younger Hubbell is a free agent, but he has pitched in the Western Association and Texas League. He will accompany Brother Carl to camp from the family home, Meeker, Okla., but will not be signed to a contract until Manager Terry has inspected his talent.

Navy Gridmen's Home Towns Share Army Gate Receipts

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 21 (AP) — Thirty four cities and towns, the homes of Navy's football players, will share in proceeds from the last Thomas C. Hart, superintendent of the United States Naval academy, announced today.

"Home towns" sharing in the receipts include:

Little Rock, Ark.; Robelline, La., and Corpus Christi, Tex.

The amount given each home town was $100.

Cooper And Runyan Tied At Half-Way Mark In Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 21 (AP) — Harry Cooper of Chicago, and Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., were tied for first place with 138's at the end of the first two rounds of the Arizona open golf championship here today.

Horton Smith, Oak Park, Ill., was third with 139. Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles, placed fourth with 140, Craig Wood, fifth, at 142, and Archie Hambrick, Zanesville, O., sixth at 144, even par.

Third and fourth rounds will be played tomorrow.

Longhorns Win 38-31 Victory Over Soldiers

Arkansas Sweeps Series With Rice, Winning Last Battle By 33-23 Score; Frogs Win Over Celtics By One Point

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 21 (AP) —The University of Texas Longhorns kept their lead in the Southwest conference basketball race tonight by defeating the Texas Agricultural & Mechanical college quintet 38 to 31.

Twice, desperate Aggie rallies came within one point of tying the score, but the Steers built up a handy lead in the middle portion of the game, featuring Bill Kubricht, center, and Jack Gray, sophomore forward.

Kubricht led the way for his mates with 14 points, 10 coming in the first half. Captain Joe Moody of the Aggies won high scoring honors of the game, however, with 17 points.

The Steers whittled away at an early Aggie lead of five points and kept scoring, holding the Aggies to two field goals and nine free throws for the period, leading 23 to 13 at the half.

Razorbacks Overcome Early Lead To Win

FAYETTEVILLE, Jan. 21 (AP) — Outclassing the Rice Institute Owls of Houston both on offense and defense, the University of Arkansas Razorback cagemen piled up a steady lead tonight to win the second of the two-game series here 33-23.

Rice jumped ahead in the first minutes of play with Dixon, guard, and Johnson, center, leading the sally. Arkansas guards retaliated with a fast-breaking offense which carried the Razorbacks into a 14-8 lead at the half.

Kendall went scoreless in the first game last night, but tallied nine points tonight to tie with Murphy for high scoring honors.

White Sox Carded To Play In Texas

CHICAGO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Chicago's White Sox met only minor league competition during their spring travels of 1932 but never again.

Deciding that the best baseball sparring partners are major leaguers, the White Sox today announced that during the 1933 training jaunt they would engage the Chicago Cubs, New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates in 10 spring games along the Pacific coast, Arizona, Texas, Oklahoma and in Chicago. Ten more games will be played against Pacific Coast League opposition.

Four games will be played with the Cubs, the first pair at Los Angeles March 15 and 16 and the other at Chicago, April 8 and 9 just before the opening of the championship season. The Pirates will be engaged in a barnstorming tour and the Giants in a pair at Los Angeles. The White Sox squad will leave for its training camp at Pasadena, Cal., February 23.

The schedule includes:

April 4, Pittsburgh at El Paso, Tex.
April 5, Pittsburgh at Amarillo, Tex.
April 6, Pittsburgh at Tulsa, Okla.

Pity The Poor Goose—And Gander!

Lured To Death By Papa's Call, Geese To Have No Chance At All; Their Voices On Phonograph Records Now

AMARILLO, Jan. 21. (AP)—By the time the next goose hunting season rolls around, a phonograph and loud speaker may be standard equipment in every hunter's blind in the Panhandle.

Their own honking, mechanically recorded, will lure the unsuspecting birds to their deaths, if the plan of a group of Texas sportsmen proves as successful and popular as their experiments would indicate.

Recording apparatus has been set up where the birds congregate. Invariably a few of the leaders come in first from nearby fields where the geese feed. Those first to arrive then call to the remainder of the flock, producing the sounds which the hunters may later broadcast from electrically transcribed records.

Those sponsoring the plan have obtained patents and plan to distribute records commercially. They expressed the belief that the natural sounds, recorded, would be more effective than imitation calls.

State Board Would Make High School Grid Games On Saturdays, Is Report

Educators Endorse Slashing Of Cage Schedules Also

AUSTIN, Jan. 21. (AP)—The state board of education, in its biennial report made public today, recommended that the practice of holding high school football games on Fridays or other school days be discontinued and that all contests be held on Saturdays.

"It is true," the board said, "that some high school coaches wish to be free to attend college games on Saturdays; it is true that gate receipts in some communities will be smaller on Saturday; it is true that some boys have to work on Saturdays and hence could not participate in or attend Saturday games. None of these reasons has any appreciable weight when compared with the interference with the school program of games on school days."

Limit Basketball Schedule

The board also recommended that basketball competition be limited to Friday and Saturday nights. Eight football games per season were suggested as a maximum, and the board recommended that basketball contests be limited to 15 between December 1 and March 1.

"Tournaments should admit only a limited number of teams," the board said.

"The value of interschool sports is questioned by practically none of the executives who chose to submit statements concerning the same," the board reported. "Ninety per cent of the public schools of Texas need outside competition. This value can under proper controls be obtained without interfernig with school time and without disorganizing factors. If so, there would be a net educational gain and an increase in educational return for the money expended in public education."

The board gave results of its questioning of the Texas high school inspectors regarding whether "teachers are ever coerced either directly or indirectly into giving special consideration to members of athletic teams either in passing them in scholastic work or in relaxing usual discipline."

"Two of the 15 high school inspectors failed to answer this question," the board stated, "three say 'no', while 10 say 'yes'. Asked concerning the percentage of schools in which this coercing occurs, one estimates that it occurs in 60 per cent of the high schools, five estimate 50 per cent, one 25 per cent and one five per cent. One inspector who says the practice exists fails to estimate the percentage of schools in which it occurs."

Do They Train?
Brill Can't Tell About Rasslers

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21. (AP) —How professional wrestlers manage to take the punishment they do without adhering to strict training diets is a mystery to Marty Brill, assistant gridiron coach at La Salle and once a star on Notre Dame elevens.

Watching Joe Savoldi, a former teammate now in the grappling business, consume hot dogs, sandwiches, ice-cream and pop immediately after a match evoked surprised comment from Marty.

"This wrestling must be an act," he declared. "You can't tell me you'll be in shape for a real contest in a couple of days after what I've seen you eat."

Joe's answer was an offer to meet Marty on the mat right then and there.

"Maybe the college trainers are too strict with the football men," Marty hazarded. "More relaxation in the diet might be a good thing. I don't say so myself. As a coach I'll continue to train the players as I was taught by Knute Rockne, but just the same, I can't figure it out."

Entries For Lubbock Invitation Cage Tournament Expected Early This Week

Tomorrow is the deadline for entries or acceptances for the second annual Lubbock High school invitation basketball tournament which starts Friday of this week.

John (Swede) McMurry, basketball coach at Lubbock High and manager of the tournament, requests that all schools desiring to participate in the tournament send in acceptances at once. Entries mailed before midnight Monday will be accepted.

More than a dozen teams already have entered, McMurry said. There is no limit to the number of entries. Thirty-three teams participated in last year's tournament, which was won by the Big Spring High school Steers.

Coaches of high school, rural school, academy and prep school basketball teams are urged to fill in the entry blank printed at the right and mail same to Coach McMurry at Lubbock High school or to the sports department of the Avalanche-Journal.

Matadors Fail To Get Going Against Towering Bisons; Drop Series With Two Bad Defeats At Canyon

CANYON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The Buffaloes of West Texas made it two in a row over the Texas Tech cagers here tonight, winning 42 to 17. Burk, Buff guard, was high point man with 12.

Coach S. D. Burton of the Canyon school announced before the game that the Buffaloes would play the National A. A. U. champions of Wichita, Kansas, here next Friday and Saturday.

Aud Darr And Stoops Bryant Lead Varsity "B" Team To 43-23 Victory Over Jackrabbits To Sweep Series

The consistent ringing of the bell by Aud Darr and Stoops Bryant, who tied for high point honors with thirteen tallies each, accounted for more scores than the Wayland college team altogether last night and the Texas Tech varsity reserves won the final game of the series, 43 to 23.

It was a rough, fast game, and Referee Braxton Gilmore had his hands full of Jackrabbits and Matadors, doing a good job of officiating withal.

Stoops Bryant scored a dozen points from scrimmage and one field goal, while Darr put in five field goals and three from the free-throw line. Every player Acting-Coach Cy LaMaster sent in scored.

Coach Caddell's Wayland team, which lost the Friday night game at Plainview in an extra period, 48 to 46, after the score was tied at 42-all at the end of the regular playing time, failed to get started last night. Durham and Pelley, forwards, were the only effective shot makers. Durham made three field goals, and six free throws out of eight attempts.

The box score:

Favorites Come Home In This Race And Tickets Pay Well

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 21. (AP) — Favored in the betting, the Shandon farm entry of At Top and Ennis gave backers plentiful assurance their confidence had not been misplaced by running one-two today in the $2,500 Jefferson derby, closing feature of the Jefferson park winter race meeting.

At Top, with Jackey Mel Lewis astride, came down in front with his running mate, Ennis, a length and a half behind after the latter had set the pace over the mile course. Kilmore, an outsider, ran third, and Eva B., which had good support in the betting, fourth. The time was 1:39 4-5.

At Top paid $5.20 on $2 certificates to win and along with Ennis $3.60 place and $3.00 show. Kilmore's show tickets were worth $6.80. The race was worth $2,455 to the winner.

League Four Wins Class B Crosby County Cage Title

RALLS, Jan. 21 (Special) — The League Four quintet defeated Mount Blanco in the finals of a tournament of Crosby county B teams here today. The score was 21 to 16.

League Four can challenge Ralls, the winning class A team, for the championship Should the B winners decide to challenge the Jackrabbits, the game probably would be played here Monday night.

Ralls Jackrabbits Winners Crosby County Cage Tourney

RALLS, Jan. 21.—The Ralls Jackrabbits won the Crosby county championship in basketball last night by defeating Crosbyton 32 to 27 and will go into the quadrant elimination games next week, meeting the winner of Dickens and Floyd counties. The winner in this series will go to the district tournament at Lubbock.

Westerners Meet Amarillo Monday

Sandies Here For Return Game At Lubbock Gym

Having turned back the Pampa Harvesters Friday night here, the Lubbock High school Westerners will seek their second basketball victory of the season over their other North Panhandle enemies, the Amarillo High school Sandies, here Monday evening.

The game is to begin at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

Admission Price Cut

Admission for the Lubbock-Amarillo game has been reduced to 25 cents, payable at the door, for all comers. Lubbock High school students, however, may procure tickets in advance for 15 cents, although no 15-cent tickets will be sold at the door.

Tomorrow night's game should attract one of the biggest crowds yet to see a high school game here. The Sandies, like Pampa, are out for District 1 championship honors. Lubbock won a game, 35 to 32, over the Sandies in Amarillo a week or so ago, and rekindled the old athletic rivalry between the schools. A number of Amarillo fans are planning to see the game, it is understood.

Local Show Improvement

The Westerners showed much improvement Friday night when they defeated Pampa, 29 to 23, in a fast, close game at the Lubbock gymnasium. The score was tied four times during the contest, and only during the last few minutes when Lubbock scored two field goals to increase a short lead was there an indication of how the game might result.

Like Pampa, Amarillo has enlisted several football players on its basketball team. Big, rangy and capable, the Sandies' district championship footballers are very much noticeable in basketball regalia.

Louisiana State Cuts Three Sports Off Athletic Program

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 21. (AP) — Baseball, tennis and golf have been removed from the Louisiana State university spring sports program but they may be resumed next year if an increase is found in the football revenue.

Track now remains as the only spring sport here. The Tigers won the Southern conference title a year ago and are favorites to take the Southeastern event this May.

A sharp decrease in football receipts the past season was given by athletic authorities as the reason for the abandonment of the three sports.

A'S RELEASE HEVING

PHILADELPHIA Jan. 21. (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics today announced the outright release of Catcher John Heving to the Toronto club of the International League. He joined the A's two seasons ago, coming from the Boston Red Sox by waiver.

Baseball Body Meets Tuesday

Committees Of Lubbock Club To Report Tuesday Night At Lubbock Hotel; Program To Be Arranged

Committees appointed by John Dalrymple, president of the Lubbock Baseball club, are asked to meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock and make reports regarding progress of plans to install a professional club here as a member of the West Texas-New Mexico league.

A special program will be arranged and Judge Clark M. Mullican has been invited to speak at the meeting.

The meetnig, open to all Lubbock fans, will be held in room 212, Hotel Lubbock. Originally set for Monday night, the date was changed so as not to interfere with the Lubbock-Amarillo basketball game.

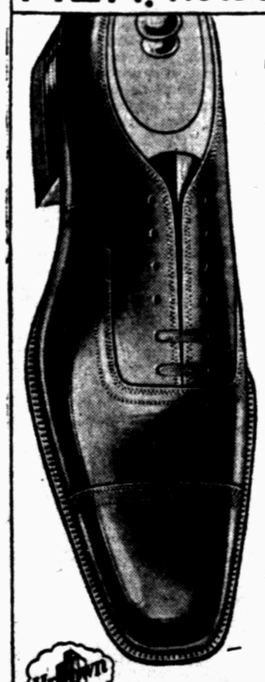

It is important that all members of all committees be present at Tuesday night's session. Location of a park, organizing of a stock company and other important matters are to be discussed.

Jackie Fields And Corbett To Meet In Title Battle

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 21. (AP) — Jack Kearns today signed for a title fight for Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, with Young Corbett, Fresno. The fight is scheduled for 10 rounds in the San Francisco baseball park the afternoon of Feb. 22.

More than three and three-quarters million people visited national parks and monuments in 1932.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS.
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, Greeting:
You are hereby commanded to summon Jno. K. Lyne, individually and as guardian of the estate and person of Charles J. Lyne and Geo. Lyne, minors; and Charles J. Lyne and Geo. Lyne, minors, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, to appear at the next regular term of the 99th Judicial District Court of Lubbock County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, on the First Monday in April, A. D., 1933, then and there to answer Plaintiff's First Amended Original petition filed in said Court on the 4th day of May, A. D., 1932, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 5124, wherein the Panhandle Construction Company, a Corporation is Plaintiff, and Jno. K. Lyne, individually and as Guardian of the Estate and person of Charles J. Lyne and Geo. Lyne, minors, and Charles J. Lyne and George Lyne, minors, are Defendants, and said petition alleging
That the plaintiff is the legal owner and holder of a Certificate of Assessment of an indebtedness in the principal sum of $915.38, and a lien against Lot No. (11), Block No. (181), Original Town of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas, issued by the City of Lubbock, in Lubbock County, Texas, pursuant to proceedings by the said City of Lubbock on June 25, 1925, at which time Mrs. C. J. Lyne, now deceased, was the owner of said property; that the said Mrs. C. J. Lyne left surviving as her sole and only heirs two minor sons, Charles J. Lyne and George Lyne; that the said Mrs. C. J. Lyne was one and the same person and Mrs. Jewell R. Lyne, and that she was divorced from her husband, C. J. Lyne, prior to May 13, 1926; that the said Mrs. Jewell R. Lyne on May 13, 1925, executed in writing and delivered to the plaintiff a mechanic's lien contract to secure the cost of paving the street abutting the said property, and to secure the payment of the said Certificate of Assessment in accordance with said proceedings; that the said proceedings, Certificate of Assessment, and mechanic's lien contract provided for the payment of interest on said indebtedness from June 26, 1925, at the rate of 8% per annum, and providing for payment of said indebtedness in six equal installments, the first due on or before thirty days after completion of said paving, and the remaining payments in one, two, three, four and five years after said date, respectively, and provide for the payment of a reasonable attorney's fee in the event of default, and that $200.00 is a reasonable and customary compensation for such services; that the said indebtedness is all past due and unpaid, and plaintiff has placed the same in the hands of its attorneys for collection and promised to pay to them as a part of their compensation the said reasonable attorney's fee; that the defendant, John K. Lyne, is the Guardian of the estate and person of the said Charles J. and George Lyne, and that the said John K. Lyne, individually and as said Guardian, and the other defendants are asserting some right, title or interest in said property, but the same, if any exist, are inferior and subordinate to the rights of plaintiff herein; plaintiff prays for judgment for said debt, interest, attorney's fees, cost of suit, foreclosure of lien, and all other and further, general or special relief, either in law or in equity, to which it may be entitled.
Herein fail not, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.
Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this the 16th day of January, A. D., 1933.
(SEAL) CHAS. B. METCALFE, Clerk,
District Court, Lubbock County.

Cotton — Cotton Prices Off Saturday; Livestock — Light Weights Are In Demand; Grain — Price Of Wheat Goes Downward

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 21. (AP) — Cotton was rather quiet today and prices were disposed to ease off after a slight gain at the start on trade buying and price fixing. Hedge selling in a narrow market forced prices down in the second hour and the only active months at the end. July and October closed at net declines 7 points.
The opening was steady as Liverpool cables came in about as due. Private cables said the market was quiet with some trade calling with Egyptian advancing, but reacted on week-end realizing. There were no Manchester advices. First trades here showed gains of 2 points and the market improved a little further in the first hour on price fixing and trade buying. March advanced to 6.19, May to 6.32 and July to 6.45, or 2 to 4 points above the close of yesterday.
During the second hour moderate hedge selling developed and May dropped to 6.22 and July to 6.36, down 10 points from the early highs. The close was at the lowest with only July and October active at the end, the latter month selling at 6.53 and these two months were 7 points net lower for the day.
Port receipts 22,299, for season 6,412,677, last season 7,236,178, export 13,103, for season 4,713,847, last season 4,531,653. Port stock 4,700,264, last year 4,954,225. Combined ship-board stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 129,227, last year 209,041. Spot sales at southern markets 23,350, last year 30,193.

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP) — Trading in cotton was quiet today with prices easing from an early advance under southern selling and week-end liquidation promoted by reactions in the wheat and stock markets.
March contracts after selling at 6.23 declined to 6.12 with the general market closing steady at net declines of 2 to 7 points.
Relatively steady Liverpool cables were followed by a steady opening here with first prices 3 to 5 points higher on trade buying combined with covering and a moderate commission house demand. Southern selling increased after the call.
July sold from 6.46@6.37 in the late trading and closing prices were the lowest of the day on March and later deliveries. There were only a few sales in the January position which closed at 6.10 or within 3 points of yesterday's final.
Liverpool cables attributed the relative steadiness of the market there to trade calling in a quiet market. Houses with Liverpool connections seemed to have very few orders here during the morning. Some of the early selling was attributed to the continent, but much of the day's business was said to be of a week-end character.
A private report estimated ginnings prior to January 16 at 12,410,348 running bales, making an outturn of 324,700 for the last ginning period. The census ginning report is expected on Monday.
A Liverpool cable to the New York cotton exchange service said that trade calling in that market had been offset by hedging of prospective shipments of Peruvian and East African cotton.

Chaney Not To Be Released To Federal Officers First

ABILENE, Jan. 21 (AP) — Ben Chaney, alias Roy Howard and several other aliases, held here on a number of burglary charges, and wanted at other places on similar counts, will not be surrendered to federal authorities who want him on a Mann act charge until he has been tried here, officers said today.
Chaney was arrested early this week after a series of house breakings in this and nearby cities, and the attempted kidnaping of 11-year-old Pauline Shanks from her home at Clyde, near here. He had been sought by federal authorities and by Louisiana officials following his escape in November, 1931.

Minimum Of Accomplishment Is Seen In Saturday Trade Of Stock Market

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—Today's stock market represented a minimum of effort on the part of professional traders, and close to a minimum of accomplishment.
There were enough small gains by noon to lift the averages a minor fraction. With the turnover only 365,577 shares changes carried little significance except the additional emphasis that was thus placed on the list's inability to stir out of a narrow trading range. Bonds, which in the past day or two have been much more resistant than earlier this week, again improved.
A few soft spots still persisted in shares, thus maintaining a recent characteristic of the market. Consolidated Gas of New York was lightly sold, presumably from the sources that have recently put it under pressure; no particular reasons therefor have been advanced except that a trading investment trust has taken profits. U. S. Steel was down half a point, but the preferred rose nearly as much.
Tobaccos leaned toward firmness. Corn products jumped 1 1-2, then lost much of its rise. American Telephone softened fractionally toward the close. Woolworth, National Dairy, R. H. Macy, Westinghouse, American Can, General Electric, Allied Chemical and Union Carbide were steady. Rails stayed on a siding.

Stella Walsh Sustains Hurt While Vacationing In Poland

WARSAW, Poland, Jan. 21. (AP)—Stella Walsh of Cleveland, O., the American woman athlete, was reported today to have dislocated or broken a joint in her foot in the Carpathians, where she had gone for the skiing.
Newspaper reports said the accident occurred while she was walking down to the postoffice for her mail and that the injury might interfere with her athletic career. She was on the way back tonight to Warsaw, where she is studying at the physical culture institute.

Lee Chase Wins Curtiss Cup With One-Up Win At Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 21. (AP)—Lee Chase of Buffalo, N. Y., won the 1933 Glenn H. Curtiss amateur golf tournament here today by defeating Brooks Glenn of Miami one up in a 36-hole match. Chase won the last three holes to come back from a two-down disadvantage after the 33rd.

SAN ANGELO WINS
SAN ANGELO, Jan. 21 (AP)—The San Angelo High school team defeated Big Lake (Reagan county), 38 to 30, tonight for the championship of the first annual Concho Basin basketball tournament.
The San Angelo team went into the finals with a 28-to-19 victory over McCamey, defending bi-district champion, in the semi-finals.

End Of Trouble In Senate On Glass Banking Bill In Sight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—The end of the senates trouble wracked road to enactment of the Glass banking bill was in sight tonight—with compromise smoothing the way—but the house's course was less clear cut.
After both Democratic liberals and conservatives had yielded partly to put through a restricted branch banking proposal, only one senator—Thomas of Oklahoma—stood in the way of a final vote, and even he agreed his vocal chords alone would not stand the pressure of a filibuster through night sessions planned for next week.

Second Suit As Outgrowth Of Collision Is Filed Saturday

A second suit, as a result of a truck-automobile collision on highway No. 9, a half mile south of Monroe last month, was filed Saturday in 72nd district court against Lamar McKenzie of Abernathy and the Trinity Universal Automobile Insurance company.
Plaintiffs are Helen O'Gwin, a minor, and her father, C. F. O'Gwin. The plaintiffs are asking $2,000 as a result of injuries the girl suffered. Mrs. O'Gwin and her husband Friday filed a suit for $5,150, naming McKenzie and the insurance company.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 21. (AP)—The cattle market during the week under review was on a weight basis. Demand continued to center upon the lighter weights of fed steers and yearlings with prices for such offerings holding about steady. Lower grades of light steers and yearlings sold to an especially good advantage. Medium weight and heavy steers along with heavy beef cows and heavy heifers were tendered a general decline of 25 while at some centers heavy steers scaling above 1,400 lbs. slumped 50. Choice yearlings generally commanded a 1.00 or more premium over the comparable grade of big weight steers. Chicago had a top of 7.10 on yearlings and secured 6.25 for highly finished 1,325 lb. steers. Majority of heavy steers offered had to sell from 4.00@5.00. There was a fairly broad county demand for stocker and feeder steers at steady to 25 higher rates. Receipts at eleven markets for the week totaled around 151,000 as compared with 145,513 last week and 158,074 the corresponding period a year ago.
Lighter receipts of hogs resulted in a general price advance of 15 to 25 with St. Louis reporting a late top of 3.60. Total offerings for the week were 62,000 short of last week and 166,000 under a year ago.
Fat lambs trade felt the depressing influence of sharply lower prices for dressed lambs and current prices are steady to 25 lower as compared with a week ago. Fat ewes ruled firm to 25 higher. The supply numbered 248,900 against 289,020 last week and 342,066 the same period a year ago.

Wants Husband

"Lovely Widow" Is Seeking A Mate

Mayor J. J. Clements had received a letter from a Pine Bluff, Ark., woman who describes herself as "a lovely widow 40 years old" and who would "like to correspond with some good man in your state who wants a real true blue pal wife." The woman, Mrs. Ola Wilson, 519 West Barreque street, Pine Bluff, asked that the press make public her desires.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN
FORT WORTH, Jan. 21. (AP) — Demand on the Fort Worth cash grain market continued fair to the week's close, aided by very light offerings of all classes.
Prices ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to destination, delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points:
Wheat No. 1 hard according to protein and billing 52@53. Barley No. 3 nominally 33@34; No. 3 nominally 32@33. Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 67@69; No. 3 milo 61@66. No. 3 kaffir 58@60; No. 3 kaffir 56@57.
Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn No. 2 mixed 40 1-2@41; No. 2 white or yellow 41@42.
Delivered Texas common points: Oats, No. 2 red 33 1-2@34 1-2; No. 3 red 32@33 1-2.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, Jan. 21. (AP) — Tumbling of wheat prices today followed early gains that were attributed more or less to hopes toward settlement of England's debts to the United States.
More than a cent a bushel reaction took place in wheat values, largely because of a dearth of new speculative demand, as well as on account of week-end liquidating pressure from recent buyers. Late setbacks of wheat values here were in the face of Liverpool quotations stronger than expected and notwithstanding reduced official estimates of Canadian wheat yields and of Russian winter wheat acreage.
Wheat closed unsteady, 3-8 to 3-4 under yesterday's finish, corn at a shade decline to 1-8 advance, oats a shade lower to 1-8 to 1-4 off, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2 cents.

Twentieth Amendment Nears Ratification; 35 In Favor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — A sweeping unanimity of sentiment in legislatures from coast to coast tonight had swept a twentieth amendment to the constitution, the one that will abolish "lame ducks," to the verge of ratification.
Thirty-five states were on record for it. None has opposed and the favorable action of but one more was needed to make this modernization of government procedure a part of the fundamental law of the land. Under it congress will meet every year on January 3, and every four years the president will be inaugurated January 20, instead of March 4 as now.

Sixty-Five Per Cent Of Students At Texas Tech Taking Technical Work

Survey Made By Dr. Knapp Reveals Information

"A BETTER name for the school of liberal arts at Texas Technological College would be the school or division of arts and sciences," says Dr. Bradford Knapp, president. He states that careful analysis of enrollment answers the criticism often made against the institution that a large part of the students are taking general courses in the liberal arts, and throws a different light on the work that Tech is doing.

Of 2,252 students registered at this institution since September, 1,484, or 65 percent, are taking technical or vocational courses with definite objectives, while only 768, or 35 percent, are taking what would be classified as general liberal arts courses. Of 716 who are registered in the school of liberal arts, and who are taking technical courses, the following majors and objectives are indicated: biology, 11; chemistry, 55; economics and business administration, 291; education (teacher training), 118; government, 36; journalism, 44; pre-law, 78; premedicine, 77; physics, 7. To these we must add 202 students in the school of agriculture, 368 in the school of engineering, and 197 in the school of home economics, making a total of technical and vocational students of 1,484.

Preparing For Technical Work

It is clear that those who are taking majors in biology, chemistry, economics and business administration, education, journalism, and physics are preparing themselves for definite technical or semi-technical vocations. Those in government, pre-law, and pre-medicine are taking technical courses either leading to positions or leading ultimately to vocational or professional courses.

This is not the full enrolment for the entire year because additional students will be registered at the spring term beginning in March.

Freshmen Total 1,203

By classes, there are 1,203 freshmen as against 1,066 last year at the same time; 505 sophomores against 485 at the same time last year; 303 juniors against 273 last year; 184 seniors as against 194 last year; and 37 graduate students against 51 last year. The total enrolment at this time last year was 2,069 as compared with 2,252 at the present time. Neither of these figures include summer school registration. There are 1,354 men students and 898 women students who have registered since last September. Last year there were 1,257 men and 812 women at the same time.

These figures, according to President Knapp, show that the predominant trend at Texas Technological college is in the direction of definite vocational work rather than a general liberal arts education, which is the criticism which has previously been aimed at this institution. In the new catlog emphasis will be placed on the technical and scientific work in all branches and general courses maintained for those who have not made their final choice of a definite field of study.

Man Being Held For Car Theft

A Lubbock man was arrested here Saturday morning by the sheriff's department, which took charge of a Ford coupe he had, after information from the Falls county sheriff at Marlin indicated the man here possibly was a member of an automobile theft ring. The Falls county sheriff's department had arrested three men accused of being members of the ring and had recovered seven automobiles identified as stolen, authorities here were informed.

The suspect taken into custody here said he bought the Ford coupe, Sheriff Tom Abel said. Formerly a Littlefield resident, the man lived in the 1600-block of Avenue M here, the sheriff said.

The alleged automobile theft ring uncovered in Falls county used modern methods, including false swearing of affidavits to confuse investigators attempting to trace cars by registered numbers, the sheriff here was told.

A 1930 Ford two-door sedan, owned by J. F. Bumpass, 1616 Avenue F, and stolen here last June, has been recovered by the Hill county sheriff's department at Hillsboro, the sheriff's office here has been notified.

Tech Engineering School Is Ranked 52nd In Enrollment

Texas Tech's school of engineering ranked 52nd in enrollment out of a total of 145 schools, according to a survey made by the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, Dean O. V. Adams states.

Enrollment was slightly over 400, Dean Adams said. The survey figures were given below that number, because of an error in the reports.

Some of the larger schools and universities of the country showed fewer students for that scholastic year than did the local school. Among them were Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Columbia and a dozen state universities or professional schools.

Brownfield To Elect Three New City Aldermen In April

By Staff Correspondent

BROWNFIELD, Jan. 21.—Three city aldermen are to be chosen at the annual city election here the first Tuesday in April.

Outgoing aldermen are: Tom May, J. V. Knight and M. J. Craig.

Holdovers are A. M. Brownfield and C. D. Gore. Mayor W. A. Bell was elected in December to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Joe McGowan, elected county attorney.

ARM FRACTURED

RALLS, (Special)—John Lang of this city received a double fracture of his left arm while driving on the East Plains recently. He was in his car and had his left arm propped up in the window. In passing a load of cotton he failed to correctly estimate the clearance of the car and the width of the cotton and as a result the arm was broken above and below the elbow.

Scout Meeting Opens Tuesday

Persons Expecting To Attend Dinner Tuesday Night Being Urged To Purchase Tickets Not Later Than Monday

Persons expecting to attend a dinner which will be given Tuesday night in the Hilton hotel as a part of an annual meeting of the South Plains Area Boy Scout council should buy tickets not later than Monday, as those in charge must know by Tuesday morning how many persons to prepare for, D. T. Jennings, area executive here, has announced.

A business meeting of the council executive committee will begin at 3:30 o'clock. Three group discussions will begin an hour later. A recess will be between 5:30 and 6 p. m. The dinner, at which Judge Clark M. Mullican will be toastmaster, will begin at 6 o'clock. Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, will be the principal speaker.

Roundtable chairmen will be S. A. Henry of Lubbock, Dr. F. B. Malone of Lubbock and J. T. Herd of Post. Joseph R. Griggs of Lubbock will speak on "Developing Lone Scouting Through the Schools" in place of A. B. Sanders of Ralls, previously announced as the speaker on that subject.

Tickets to the dinner are on sale at the City Drug store and the First National bank for 50 cents each.

A visitation of troops Friday night revealed each Lubbock troop has from three to eight candidates working on tenderfoot tests.

A first and second class board of review, as well as a merit badge board, will meet at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the scout office in City hall to avoid conflict with the annual meeting, Executive Jennings said. For the same reason, a Boy Scout class in textiles will meet at 7 o'clock Monday night at Texas Technological college.

Ralls C. Of C. Plans Dinner

Dr. Bradford Knapp Will Be Principal Speaker At The Annual Affair On Thursday Night In Auditorium

RALLS, Jan. 21.—(Special)—The annual dinner of the Ralls Chamber of Commerce will be at the municipal auditorium in Ralls Thursday night. The home economics department of Ralls High school will serve the dinner.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech, will be the principal speaker. Miss Myrtle Murray, district supervisor of home demonstration work in Texas, also will speak.

New officers and directors for the year will be introduced and plans outlined for the year's work. M. A. McLaughlin, cashier of the Security State bank of Ralls is the newly elected president of the organization. He succeeds M. G. Hargraves.

I. D. Moore, mayor of Ralls, was elected vice president.

Directors for the year are as follows: Roy Cooper, I. D. Moore, P. B. Ralls, J. Edd McLaughlin, Dr. H. F. Schwab, M. G. Hargraves, L. A. Wicks, W. P. McKee, M. A. McLaughlin, Frank Benson, F. L. Robbins and Reed B. Loflin.

For the past few years the Ralls Chamber of Commerce has had a representative from each of the communities in the Ralls trade territory on the board of directors. Following is a list of these: R. L. Gibson, Cone; W. C. Gray, New Home; T. J. DeFee, Farmer; H. P. Teston, Cap Rock; J. G. Igo, League Four; H. N. Prewett, Emma; J. W. Gillon, Pleasant Hill; R. A. Winn, Canyon Valley; A. A. Hillin, Fairview; Clyde Hillin, Owens; W. F. Infeldt, Four Mile Lake.

To Remodel Club House At Slaton

By Staff Correspondent

SLATON, Jan. 21.—The old community club house here, a frame building built about 1917, is to be remodeled and used as a community room for large meetings of various kinds, Ed Smith, custodian, says.

"We plan to fix up the newer brick building and use it exclusively for a meeting place for small groups and banquets," he said. "The frame building will be used for church services and larger meetings."

The original building was used for a number of years for community gatherings. When remodeled it will seat between 700 and 800 persons, it is estimated.

Mrs. A. R. Rowland Wins Most Honors At Hale Center Show

HALE CENTER, Jan. 21.—(Special)—Mrs. A. R. Rowland, living west of here, won more honors than any other exhibitor in the White Leghorn cock and hen championship classes, first in dairy products display and first and third in eggs.

There were 188 birds judged. A. R. Bateman, vocational agriculture teacher at Plainview and W. W. Evans, county agent, judged the show. A. R. Rowland acted as manager in the place of R. H. Maxwell, vocational teacher, who was ill.

CALICHE JOB FINISHED

MULESHOE, Jan. 21. (Special)—With all caliche work completed on No. 7 between Muleshoe and Sudan, asphalt surfacing was delayed until spring and the caliche opened to traffic. Engineer Harry N. Roberts is working on location on No. 33 from the Deaf Smith county line to a mile west of Friona in Parmer county. Parmer county commissioners are said to have secured right-of-way for No. 7 from the Bailey county line to Farwell.

They Don't Mix
Spinach And Love Cause Trouble

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21.—When it came to choosing between love and spinach, Mrs. Esther Lucile Ewing's hubby took the former, sne recently charged in court here. "He ordered spinach for every meal," she said, in seeking a divorce. "Why, I cooked it for him three times a day for six months. He wanted spinach all the time and wouldn't eat a meal unless he had it." She charged that his passion for the green ruined her happiness.

New Firms In Texas Decline

Past Year Sees Only 1,844 New Corporations Chartered; Capitalization Is Lower Due To Smaller Firms

AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (Special.) Not to be daunted by a darkening business horizon, a total of 1,844 new corporations applied for and received charters from the secretary of state during the year 1932, according to compilations of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. However, this is the smallest annual total since 1924, the bureau's report pointed out.

"Total authorized capital stock, amounting to $38,503,000, is a trifling sum when compared with totals during the 'golden' era of new incorporations back in the 1920's," the report said. "For that matter total authorized capital stock for the year 1932 was a third smaller than that for the year 1931. Since according to Texas law, authorized capital stock must be paid in within two years, the reason for this apparent caution becomes evident.

Smaller Firms Listed

"This declining capitalization accounts for the increase in the number of firms with authorized capital stock of less than $5,000 from 512 in 1931 to 626 in 1932. The number of firms with authorized capital stock of $100,000 or more dropped from 113 in 1931 to only 68 in 1932.

"Of the firms receiving charters in 1931, 487 were organized to do business in some phase of merchandising, and 434 were engaged in the oil industry; 248 were manufacturing concerns, and 191 were firms operating real estate and building businesses.

Out-Of-State Firms Decline

"Fewer out-of-state corporations sought permits to operate in Texas, as indicated by the decline in the number of foreign permits from 434 in 1931 to 279 in 1932.

"Except for an unusually large number of firms with authorized capital stock of $100,000 or more, the charters record for December does not make an impressive showing. The number of new charters granted during the month was the smallest on record, as was also the number of foreign permits issued. Total authorized capital stock amounted to $3,411,000, the highest total for any month since last June."

Permanent Texas Roosevelt Group Formed At Austin

AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (AP)—A permanent "Roosevelt club of Texas" having as its object furtherance of a friendly understanding among Democrats of the state with the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner, when they are inaugurated president and vice president, respectively, was perfected here yesterday.

Permanent officers of the organization were elected as follows: T. W. Davidson of Dallas, president; L. C. Alexander of Waco, first vice president; Harold H. Young of Dallas second vice president, and Archie C. Price of Waco, secretary.

The organization was perfected from the former Roosevelt-for-President campaign club. All officers of the permanent club served in that capacity in the campaign organization except Alexander, who was chosen to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Newt Williams of Waco.

Forty of the 60 members who attended the organization meeting were delegates to the national Democratic convention in Chicago.

Tech Horticulturist Says Trees Need To Be Sprayed

The time to spray shade trees, shrubs and fruit trees is before the leaves start, according to C. V. Russell, professor of horticulture in the school of agriculture at Texas Tech.

"San Jose scale can be controlled by proper spraying," Mr. Russell said. "We have found a lot of it around Lubbock and we have heard of a lot more. Scale is found on shade trees as well as fruit trees and shrubs.

"Buds here open late in February or early in March, depending on the season. It is a good thing to spray and this should be done before the buds open. After they open it is too late."

MUCH CHEESE MADE

ABERNATHY, Jan. 21. (Special)—Fifty-eight thousand pounds of cheese were made during December at the Struve Cheese factory here, Rudolph Struve, manager, states. Following the Christmas holiday 19,000 pounds of milk was received the next day.

GOOD U. S. INCOME

ABERNATHY, Jan. 21. (Special)—Money orders to the amount of $22,236.85 were sold residents of this town during 1932 by Postmaster George Ragland. Fees were $247.24. Receipts were $55.56 lower in 1932 than in 1931. The total last year was $2,567.35.

Hereford Clubs Have Shaft In City Park; Club Room Is Provided By Societies Of Pampa Women

By MRS. T. V. REEVES

CANYON, Jan. 21. (Special)—The federated clubs of Hereford have to their credit the placing in the Park, a city park of six acres, a miniature replica of the Washington monument centering a group of memorial trees, each planted by some local organization in observance of bicentennial year.

The plan originated with the Bay View club but the cooperation of the two other federated clubs was only a matter of asking. The Lion's club, American Legion, and Chamber of Commerce were quickly added, the monument was placed, the trees were added, and a public memorial service was held at the site.

The shaft stands six feet high and is a realistic miniature reproduction of the original. It is made of cement finished in white and bears an attractive marker on which the names of the various participating organizations are enrolled.

To Have Opening

The club council of Pampa will soon complete the furnishing of the club room which has been set apart at the city hall for the use of women's organizations. Money contributions, silver teas, bridge tournaments and a Chinese tea are among the means used to raise money for the room. The date of the formal opening of the club home has not been set.

Women's clubs of the seventh district are evincing a lively interest in legislation this year, because so many possible legislative proposals seem to strike at the welfare of the youth and childhood of Texas. The education department, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Tillman Jones of Post, has led a district-wide protest against the curtailing of the services of the two state colleges located in the 48 counties of the district. Club women, most of them mothers, want economy in state government, but not at the expense of their children's futures.

Clubs Elect Leaders

Several Pampa clubs have selected new leaders for 1933-34.

Mrs. Charles Todd was chosen president by the Junior Twentieth Century club, and Mrs. William T. Fraser by the Twentieth Century club.

El Progresso club will be led by Mrs. W. Purviance, and Mrs. E. C. Will, who has served as vice-president of the Twentieth Century Culture club, has now been promoted to the presidency.

Has Duties

Mrs. Roosevelt

It was the late President Theodore "Teddy" Roosevelt, Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt's famous uncle, who coined and exemplified the term, "the strenuous life".

But the first lady-elect apparently is an ardent advocate of the doctrine. She has five children, a town house in New York, and the Hyde Park estate to manage, not mentioning the president-elect's Georgia camp at Warm Springs. Mrs. Roosevelt also teaches history at a girls' school in New York and manages a factory where hand-made furniture is turned out.

Now, prior to overseeing the family move into the White House in March, she has undertaken to write a book.

Truly, family traits do crop out, despite political differences.

Alumnae Play Cards At Fete

Mrs. Clarence Wiginton And Miss Alma Spikes Are At Home To Sans Souci Group Here Saturday

Sans Souci Alumnae society members and their guests were entertained with a bridge party in the club house at 2401 Broadway Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Clarence Wiginton and Miss Alma Spikes arranged for the affair.

Social Service Is Class Work

Interdenominational Society, Formed To Study Bible, Helps Others; Members Visit And Aid Needy Folk

Although the class is organized primarily to study the Bible, Sanders Bible class members have considerable social service work to their credit for the year that has just been concluded.

This is an interdenominational class fostered by the Church Women's Federation and drawing a membership principally from among women in the northeast section of the city. The class meets at the Sanders ward school in the winter and in the homes of members during summer months. The class was formed about three years ago.

Small dues are paid by the members monthly and this money goes into general funds for the society. Helping their neighbors is a slogan with these women. Last year they made 1,340 visits to others who were sick or lonely and took 176 flower offerings. Many garments were renovated by the group, this clothing being valued at approximately $196. In the summer and fall the members canned many quarts of fruits and vegetables that

Suits Are The Thing For Spring

Suits will be the thing for Spring, according to southern togs that are being shown everywhere. You can take your pick as to style, fortunately. For the woman who looks best in a long-coated suit,, here is a stunning white swagger suit, right, made of a new soft, dull crepe Mataloy. It has a blouse of its own fabric, buttoned up in simple style with big pearl buttons. The drop-shouldered swagger coat is unlined, and ties at the throat if you want it to. The best thing about this new fabric is its washableness. For the woman or girl who can wear a hip-length jacket to advantage, the dusty pink Mataloy crepe suit at left is tremendously becoming. It has several new features, including the way it buttons right up to the scarf collar and the way its long sleeves blouse over tight cuffs which button shut with the same pearl buttons that fasten the front.

CIA Ex-Students Elect New Officers At Supper Meet On Friday; Plan Meeting To Be In March

Ex-students of the College of Industrial Arts elected officers Friday evening at a covered dish supper in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Leroy T. Patton, 2415 Nineteenth street. Those who were elected will assume their duties at another meeting of the group in March.

Mrs. Dude Buster is president for the coming year. Mrs. Floe Swenson is secretary-treasurer and Miss Blanche Bean is reporter. This is the E. V. White chapter of the ex-student association. Mrs. N. L. Peters is president and Miss Sallye Bean secretary-treasurer this year.

Although the chapter has been in existence several years, a new constitution and by-laws were adopted Friday evening, providing for at least two meetings each year, one in October and one in March. There are about 70 ex-students in Lubbock.

Those who attended the supper were Mesdames W. L. Meier, Paul Hardy, Swenson, Steve Lee, Olan Key, Patton, Charles H. Smith, R. S. Williams, W. G. McMillan, Peters, George N. Atkinson and Misses Alberta Rowley, Irma Pryor, Louise McKee, Gertrude Daniel, Alma Girand, Blanche and Sallye Bean.

Misses Mary and Lou Barr of St. Joseph, Mo., arrived Saturday for a visit in the home of their brother, Dr. I. E. Barr, and Mrs. Barr, 2112 Fifteenth street.

Beth Holland Wins National Recognition In Craft Work; Is Local Camp Fire Member

For the second time Lubbock Camp Fire girls have won recognition in Everygirls, national magazine of the organization. This time, as before, the mention is made because of unusual work of one of the members, Beth Holland of the Wakishaka group, won recognition in nature craft.

Local groups are continuing to work toward their birthday project.

Beth Holland has exchanged a collection of butterflies with a scout in Richmond, Calif., and has exchanged specimens of flowers and grasses with Camp Fire girls in Virginia. She also has a number of moths and shells from Hawaii.

The second lecture in a series based on the birthday project, "Making the Most of Me," will be given Friday afternoon at the First Methodist church at 4 o'clock. A speaker, to be selected, will talk on clothing.

Announcement Of Wedding Is Made

Announcement was made Saturday of the marriage of Miss Gladys Hudson and Weldon Warren, both of Lubbock, which took place September 2 in Pueblo, Colo.

Mrs. Warren is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hudson of 3003 Twenty-First street. She attended Smithsonian college at Ogden, Utah, and for the last three years has been employed by the State Highway department here.

Mr. Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Warren of Fort Worth, is employed by Swift and company.

Knapp To Talk To Federation

Musical Program Is Planned For Meeting Of Federation Of Women's Clubs; Board To Have Meeting

While Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, will be the principal speaker, a musical program has been arranged for the City Federation meeting this week. The meeting will be at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon at the Hilton hotel.

Members of Daleth Delphian chapter are arranging the program through a committee of which Mrs. W. C. Wood is the chairman.

The musical selections have been arranged as follows: Piano solo — "Impromptu in A Flat" (Schubert), Mrs. Wood; violin solos—"No. 4 from Symphonic Espagnole" (Lalo) and "Prelude from Unaccompanied Partita No. 6" (Bach), Mrs. Kenneth Knickerbocker, with Mrs. Jed A. Rix accompanying.

An executive meeting at 2:30 o'clock will precede the program, according to the president, Mrs. A. T. Biggers.

Garden Club Expects To Plant Trees Along Lubbock Highways

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

MEMBERS of several culture clubs over the Panhandle district were surprised last year to find how interesting their study of Indian life and arts could be. Until Mrs. B. F. Guthrie of Hereford, the Indian welfare chairman, encouraged them to take up this subject during the year, they had not known the possibilities.

That is typical of most of us. We think all the good things in life are far away.

We look for our romance in Peshawar or the South Sea Islands. We search for beauty in other climes; we think that there is no history at home worth studying.

Yet this land of ours is filled with romance and beauty and history. The Indian offers clubs a thousand opportunities for study. He was here before the white man arrived. He built towns; he fought battles; he cultivated the soil; he had a culture of his own.

The club looking for a study of romance and civilization can find all that it seeks in this section—in a study of the Indian.

HEAR DR. KNAPP

THE City Federation of Women's clubs meets this week. If you haven't been attending, come down to the meeting. Your club has a representative to the gathering, in all probability, but you will get more from the program if you see and hear what happens.

Various clubs are providing the program this year—societies that are affiliated with the federation. Daleth Delphian chapter has planned the program for this week and Dr. Knapp has been asked to talk. He is continuing to get acquainted in Lubbock. This will be another opportunity for you to hear his views and know him better. Save Friday afternoon for the federation meeting.

ALONG with the other things we may think of doing to help the world along, here is a suggestion to ponder:

"Don't call frivolous any more a woman who often buys a new gown or a new hat," says Mademoiselle Gabrielle Chanel, French couturiere. "Each time she does it she gives work to a dozen people, and in my heart, I think it is a greater and finer action to give work than to give charity."

The husbands probably will be against me for passing that suggestion along, but it might give us ideas. There are a lot of things people may buy or have done that will give others employment and that is one way to keep hard times from being so hard. No one of us has much money these days but those who have need to help the ones who haven't by buying and hiring. Every little bit will help.

One need not be extravagant to do some buying.

CAT STORIES

WE were telling cat stories the other day—almost every one has a favorite. One man, according to his tale, had a cat that could count and a cat that loved praise.

"Her name was John Thomas," he started out, "and we had her at our cabin in the mountains. The mice were pretty bad out there and Tommie liked the mice but she never ate them until we had voiced our approval of her catch.

"One night she got four. The next morning she had them all lined up in front of the door—heads pointing the same direction—for us to count. She called our attention to each one, mewing out the count and then when we congratulated her on the catch, she went ahead with her meal.

"Every time she caught a mouse she brought it around for us to see before she would eat it and she always waited for our approbation."

That was inspired by our cat which never comes home on Sundays, although he shows up for food on other days in the week.

* * *

People who like cats and dogs always have a favorite tale. Folk who don't care for animals just miss a good thing in life—having a subject for tall stories.

went to needy families in the city.

Dispense Food

In addition to these things, the members took 400 trays or cans of food to other people during the year.

There was an average attendance of 15 women at the Bible class meetings last year. In addition to the study, the women enjoyed a monthly social meeting.

During 1932, Mrs. R. E. Blanton was president of the society and Mrs. C. A. Bickley taught Paul's letters.

Officers were elected last week and a new teacher chosen. Mrs. W. T. Boone is to teach the class during the next twelve months and Mrs. R. M. Hocker will serve as assistant teacher.

Mrs. Winnie Hubbard is the newly-elected president. Mrs. L. Stokes is vice-president. Mrs. J. B. Morrison is secretary-treasurer and Mrs. D. B. Mackey is the reporter.

Committees In Club Named By Mrs. Mullican

Six Out-Of-Town Women Are At Lecture Meeting Here; C. E. Russell Talks On Rock Gardens, Pools

TREES will be planted along seven highways leading out of Lubbock this year, if plans that are being made by the Lubbock Garden club materialize.

This project was discussed Friday afternoon at a meeting of the club at Texas Technological college. C. E. Russell, of the college faculty, gave a slide lecture on rock gardens and pools and Mrs. Clark Mullican, president, appointed committees for the year.

In addition to local people who attended, there were six visitors from Ralls. They were Mesdames John Thomas, Forrest Robbins, Lloyd Wicks, Roy Cooper, Bryant Robertson and J. T. Schudell.

Committees are as follows: Program: Mesdames A. B. Cunningham, George N. Atkinson and W. L. Bradshaw; membership—Mesdames R. T. Campbell, V. D. Shell and J. I. Kilpatrick; telephone, Mrs. J. E. Cook; reporter, Mrs. L. S. Mast; delegate to the City Federation, Mrs. C. E. Dean.

The club meets on February 17 with Mrs. A. B. Cunningham.

Civic Work

manship of Mrs. B. F. Guthrie of Hereford, has received the attention of clubs of the seventh district during the past year, some clubs advising that it has provided the "something different" that gives spice and variety to a program. A study of the Texas Indians is being stressed while Indian cultures, literature, music, and art are adding their intriguing interest. One club reports that the year's study on "Frontier in Literature" and a program on "Cultural Frontier of the Indian" were combined most satisfactorily.

Have Busy Year

The LeFors Art and Civic club, under the leadership of Mrs. R. C. Ogden, is having a busy year. It has started a loan scholarship fund and earned $63 by the home talent production of "Miss Blue Bonnett" to add to the fund. A colorful celebration was sponsored November 11 and the club has studied child and adult health under the direction of the public school nurse, Mrs. M. G. Downs, and the physical education teacher, Miss Imogene Wood.

Mrs. Geraldine Green, a member of the Woman's Book club of Canyon, was speaker at the quarterly meeting of the Panhandle Penwomen Tuesday.

The Child Study club of Amarillo heard an address, "Education and Child Welfare in a Time of Depression", by Dr. R. P. Jarrett, dean of the West Texas State Teachers college.

The pottery exhibit, available to clubs of Texas has been in Pampa the past week through the courtesy of the Arno Art club, and has acquainted many people with one of the oldest of the world's arts. Clubs wishing this exhibit may secure it through Mrs. Frank Bain of Silverton. The expense is very small.

White Dining Rooms Are The Newest Kind To Have

Let Rugs And Drapes Lend Color To The Room

BY JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Now that families are reunited in homes, whether they are there from choice or just because they can't afford to go places and see things is immaterial.

The thing to do is to make the home so attractive that the habit will last.

Dining rooms have increased importance this year. There is something magic in the charm of a home-cooked meal served in pleasant surroundings that makes such hospitality remembered long.

Modern Ensemble

White dining rooms are the newest kind you can have. Chaste white walls, while curtains, white woodwork, or polished pine, and pure white table linen is considered smart once more. Against this background, you can let your love of color run riot in your drapes, your rugs, your china and table decorations. And the ensemble gives you a certain restful beauty that highly-colored walls never achieved.

Combined with white walls, no furniture is more appropriate and as inexpensive as American maple.

In an eight-room house of Colonial influence, on exhibition, all the rooms are finished in maple and all the furniture is maple. Surprisingly inexpensive and absolutely charming reproductions of historic pieces have been made.

The dining room is particularly smart in its white walls, maple woodwork, and its early American furniture.

Along one side is a large sideboard of very early type. A high cupboard arrangement with three drawers is copied from the upper part of an old water bench. The butterfly table, a copy of an original dating about 1700 now in the Wadsworth Atheneum, can be closed up to make a breakfast table.

The chairs are reproductions of early American ones, made of maple, too. The entire center of the room is covered with a handsome round rag rug, of rose and rich blues and yellow, with a handsome black border. The dainty ruffled window curtains have overdrapes that also are ruffled, made of a reproduction of early American hangings, in cretonne of the same colors as the rug.

Get Out Your Relics

For this room, the old-fashioned style of using fruit pictures is revived. Over the sideboard there is a vivid still life of fruit and flowers, and smaller fruit pictures, all framed in black with white mats, hang about the room. Two old-fashioned glass lamps are electrified for the top of the sideboard.

If you are interested in doing your dining room over in white walls, you can get stunning results in the use of plain colors for the rugs and window drapes, instead of figured. A medium blue, used with white borders for the drapes, with a tiny gold line between the white and the blue, are most effective. Your rug could be the same blue. Green makes a nice foil for white walls, too.

With white walls and rubbed maple woodwork, a rag rug and maple furniture in early American design, this dining room is an example of consistent arrangement.

One Leading Man No Longer Is Enough For Leading Stars Of Hollywood

BY ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—There was a time —when movie stories followed a more conventional pattern—that one leading man in a picture was enough for even the most glamorous star.

NORMA SHEARER

Norma Shearer must have started something with her series of perambulatory romances, beginning with "The Divorcee" and culminating with the three-cornered romance she portrayed in "Strange Interlude," with Clark Gable, Alexander Kirkland and Ralph Morgan as protagonists.

Today there is almost a contest to see which star can surround herself with the greatest number of handsome males in each picture, with three so far being the nearest approach to the record set by Miss Shearer in "Strangers May Kiss."

Three To A Picture

In "Today We Live," Joan Crawford's heroine is involved with Gary Cooper, Robert Young and the newcomer, Franchot Tone.

Clara Bow, in "Call Her Savage" had at least three suitors—Gilbert Roland, Monroe Owsley and Anthony Jowitt with others implied.

CONSTANCE BENNETT

Constance Bennett is the center of a masculine group in "Our Betters," the cast including Charles Starrett, Hugh Sinclair and Gilbert Roland. But Miss Bennett diverges from custom in this case, since the three men are not as one in seeking her attentions. Anita Louise sharing the romantic spotlight.

The eternal triangle thrives on of course, notably in "The Animal Kingdom" of current release, but the romantic quadrangle comes more and more to the fore.

Remaking A Silent

FILMING of the old favorite, "The White Sister," proceeds with Helen Hayes in the Lillian Gish silent role and Clark Gable offering a different Giovanni from that which boosted Ronald Colman to stardom.

CLARK GABLE

The story has been modernized somewhat, placed in a world war setting, but remains essentially a love story. The ending has not been decided, and there is a chance that the "unhappy" conclusion of the silent version and the book may be abandoned.

Change of the setting to wartimes is another blow at the theory that "war pictures are finished." Besides this one, there have been "Smilin' Through," and "A Farewell to Arms," and in the making are "Today We Live" and "Men Must Fight," a film about the next war.

Up To The Director

NORMAN Reilly Raine tell how he conceived the character Tugboat Annie.

He had heard of a woman who was captain of a tugboat, and about the same time he saw Marie Dressler in "Anna Christie," portraying a waterfront character.

When he began to write his stories, he kept Marie Dressler in mind, trying to make his Annie do and say the things Dressler might do and say in such a role.

MARIE DRESSLER

Marie's employers have bought three of Raine's "Annie" stories and he's here now to help adapt them.

Troublesome Necessity

Truer words than these seldom have been spoken. When Loretta Young returned from a vaudeville tour, during which mounted police often were called on to keep back the crowd, Miss Young said:

"Such adulation was a terrible nuisance, but it would be perfectly awful if people didn't do it."

TO PRESENT PLAYS

RALLS, Jan. 21.—(Special)—The Dramatic club of Ralls High school is now working on two one-act plays and are planning on entering the one-act play tournament at Lubbock. The plays they are working on are "The First Dress Suit", and "Mansions."

Lee Tracy And Lupe Velez In Current Movie

"The Half-Naked Truth" Will Open Today; "Night After Night" And "The Mummy" To Be Shown At Lindsey

BY VESTEL LOTT

LUBBOCK theatergoers this week will be offered a movie program replete with comedy, adventure, romance and mystery.

"The Half-Naked Truth", a lively comedy-drama exposing the ballyhoo racket, starts a three-day run at the Lindsey today. Lee Tracy plays the role of a press agent. His exploits parallel some of those of the late Harry Reichenbach, generally conceded Broadway's most spectacular ballyhooer. Lupe Velez is seen as a carnival side show dancer who is skyrocketed to fame through the efforts of Tracy. Eugene Pallette heads the supporting cast.

LUPE VELEZ

"Night After Night", the screen version of Louis Bromfield's novel, "Single Night", will be offered at the Lindsey Wednesday and Thursday. George Raft appears as proprietor of a New York speakeasy. Mae West and Wynne Gibson are two of his ex-sweethearts who find more difficulty in breaking the tie with him than he does. Constance Cummings is seen as a Park avenue debutante who visits the speakeasy often because it is in the old brownstone mansion in which she was born two decades before. A queer romance develops between her and Raft—a romance which is precipitated into startling channels by a series of unusual events. Alison Skipworth appears in a leading role.

Karloff To Appear

Boris Karloff, noted creator of sinister screen roles and acknowledged as filmdom's greatest makeup artist, has achieved a new masterpiece with the mummy countenance which he uses in "The Mummy", which will be screened at the Lindsey Friday and Saturday. The story deals with an ancient sacrilege committed by a high priest of Osiris and a priestess of Isis. An archeological expedition unearths the mummy of the priest, who had been buried alive as a penalty for his crime. When a sacred scroll is unearthed the mummy comes to life, bringing to the modern world his ancient occult secrets. He discovers the reincarnated soul of his unholy love in a beautiful Anglo-Egyptian girl and his efforts to carry her back through the ages so that their love may be consummated provides a singular and strangely fascinating drama.

"One Way Passage"

William Powell and Kay Francis are co-starred in "One Way Passage", which starts a three-day run at the Palace today. Strangers to each other until they meet at the opening of the story, the two fall in love the moment their eyes meet. They resolve that the month of love and companionship they can have while crossing the Pacific is worth all the rest of life. And they know that is the price each must pay for death, in a different guise waits for both on the American shore. Aline MacMahon and Frank McHugh head the supporting cast.

"Uptown New York," taken from Vina Delmar's story, "Angie—Uptown Woman", will be offered at the Palace Wednesday and Thursday. It is a story of plain, middle-class people in a turbulent metropolis section. The story concerns a promising young doctor, in love with a girl not of his own faith whom he is forced to desert in order to marry another. When he returns from abroad she is planning to marry another. He suggests they go on as before, despite his marriage. She wavers but marries her new suitor. But she remains doubtful and her husband offers her freedom—but a gripping last-minute development laters the situation. Jack Oakie and Shirley Grey appear in the leading roles.

Zane Grey's romance of the west, "Heritage of the Desert," will be screened at the Palace Friday and Saturday. Randolph Scott, Sally Blane and J. Farrell MacDonald head the cast.

"One Hour With You", starring Maurice Chevalier, starts a three-day run at the Lyric today. It is a typical Chevalier picture with plenty of music, singing and sophisticated comedy. Jeanette M'Donald plays opporite the star and Genevieve Tobin appears in a prominent role. Charley Ruggles furnishes the comedy. Chevalier is seen as a young doctor who sings his patients back to health.

Maurice Chevalier

Joan Blondell in "Miss Pinkerton" will be presented at the Lyric Wednesday and Thursday. It is an unusual mystery story with Miss Blondell cast as an agent of the world-famous detective agency. George Brent plays opposite Miss Blondell in the picture, which is replete with thrills and suspense.

"The Man From Arizona," a western thriller starring Rex Bell, will be offered at the Lyric Friday and Saturday.

Real Stuff

Dry Agents Find Bath-Tub Gin

FORT WORTH, Jan. 21.—Prohibition has given rise to many a fanciful tale about gin being made in bath-tubs. But a real bath-tub gin was found here when prohibition agents raided R. T. Lalthall, Rolland Hobbs, and his wife recently. The agents found gin dripping into a bath-tub from a 400-gallon still.

Twenty Miles Of Pipe Used In Heating University Buildings

AUSTIN Jan. 21. (Special) — Almost twenty miles of pipe will be in use in the heating system of the University of Texas when the new buildings are completed, according to C. J. Eckhardt, superintendent of the university power plant. The pipes are all under ground and have been completed to all of the buildings with the exception of the physics and home economics buildings. This subterranean network is constantly patrolled.

In order to accommodate the new buildings the power plant is now adding approximately $250,000 worth of new equipment.

At the THEATERS

Karloff and David Manners are shown here in a scene from "The Mummy", which starts at the Lindsey Friday.

George Raft is the center of attraction in this group of supporting players in "Night After Night", which starts at the Lindsey Wednesday. The actresses are Mae West, Constance Cummings, Wynne Gibson and Alison Skipworth.

Here are Jack Oakie and Shirley Grey as they appear in "Uptown New York", starting today at the Palace.

Texas Now Has 9,865 Miles Of Paved Roads, 3,056 Of Which Are Concrete And Brick; Association To Aid Work

AUSTIN, Jan. 21. (Special.) — Texas already has passed the halfway mark in her fight for good roads, it is revealed in 1932 figures released by E. J. Amey, state highway statistical engineer.

The state now has 3,056 miles of concrete and brick, as well as 6,809 miles of asphalt surfacing, or a total of 9,865 miles of paved roads. This is considerably more than half of the entire designated highway system, which covers 19,148 miles.

One-Fifth Laid Since 1930

In the two-year fiscal period just closed, one-fifth of all the state's paved roads were laid. This included 1,768 miles of new concrete, or far more than the total amount up to that time, and 2,036 miles of surfaced types, an increase of nearly 50 per cent.

Officials of the Texas Good Roads association expressed jubilance over the record, especially since the brunt of the expense has been borne by the gasoline tax, through which the roads develop their own revenue. But they voiced a warning that this huge investment can go for naught if the people permit their legislators to cripple highway work by taking away any more of its gas tax revenue.

Must Be Maintained

"These roads must be maintained," said W. O. Huggins, president, "and we must build enough new ones to get our share of federal aid. We already pay the government more than the amount of this aid in the federal gasoline tax. If we don't match dollars and get it back, it will go to other states while we keep on paying it.

"We must keep for road work the amount the roads now get. This is only one-half the money they develop through the gas tax. The taking away of any more of it will ruin the state's program. I appeal to the people to impress their legislators with this fact."

SENIORS TO BUY RINGS

SLATON, Jan. 21. —(Special)—A committee of seniors of the Slaton high school is to be named soon to arrange for purchase of class rings. It is expected between 45 and 50 rings will be bought. January 23 has been selected as the date on which the committee will meet salesmen who want to sell rings to the students.

Courage Needed!

ONE thing we like about Franklin Roosevelt is the courage of the man; the courage to go ahead in spite of his crippled condition; the courage to forget the past when he was upstanding among men; the courage to face realities, which means intellectual as well as physical courage.

Mr. Roosevelt may be no extraordinary man but we have plenty of evidence that physical misfortune often inspires new vitalities and drives one ahead to unusual accomplishments.

The greatest composer in many respects of all was Beethoven. And he was deaf! The greatest composer of anthems—the blind Handel! John Milton—blind! Steinmetz, the General Electric wizard—a broken hunchback! Alexander Pope—a cripple! These were men of courage. And Helen Keller—blind, deaf, speechless!

Mr. Roosevelt is very likely none of these but as we look at him, as we think of him advancing to meet his new duties, we believe somehow his physical misfortune will be a far greater asset than liability.

Courage! There's the essence of it! What the world needs today is a rebirth of courage—courage with our intellects—to think courageously; courage with our hearts, our wills and our bodies to face every responsibility, even obligation, every handicap and have the nerve to stand the strain.

So we approach the coming administration firm in the faith that another man of courage will sit in the White House ready and willing to carry on the fight. It is our prediction that we will all know exactly where this gentleman stands on all questions when he takes office.

OWING MONEY GRACEFULLY

Experienced credit men say that owing money gracefully is a fine art.

Owing money easily is no trick at all, as most of us have discovered, but to owe it gracefully seems to imply a technique that should have some consideration.

Not many will deny the need for critical study as to proper ways and means of handling indebtedness so as to keep creditors friendly, but what to do, when creditors' eyes look through and through as debts come due? Aye, there's subtle art required, as one must know.

Here are four rules, says the credit man, which, if followed, will add artistry to owing money.

First and most important: see your creditor first, before he arrives at the point of sitting on your neck and taking his due out of your hide. Beat him to the draw, so to speak, if you would avoid his withering fire.

Secondly, keep your promises.

Thirdly, if funds become available to apply on debts, pay all creditors proportionately, and Fourthly, continue dealing with the man to whom you owe money and whose merchandise you must continue to buy. One of the most disheartening conditions a merchant has to face is to have the customer to whom he has extended credit, go elsewhere and pay cash. Don't do it, says the credit man, if you desire to be honorable and fair and expect to remain in good faith.

Keeping creditors happy without money is a hard job but it can be done and to do it artistically appears to imply nothing more than being square and honest.

In the crucible of life as it is now functioning, debt obligations can burn fiercely but they are more apt to burn with clear and smokeless flame if properly mixed with the four ingredients enumerated above, says the experienced credit man.

The chairman of the House committee on the disposition of useless executive papers says his committee could be abolished without doing much harm. Judging from the fate of the Wickersham report, there must be some other way of getting rid of them.

Lambasting the United States again, George Bernard Shaw, the playwright, says he has defined the 100 per cent American as 99 per cent idiot, and still "they just adore me." How flattering to Bernard, if he's right in both respects.

A bill has been introduced in Congress to create a super cabinet to give the president and Congress advice. But how to make them take it is the question.

In this holiday season, probably a great many husbands would like to write a book called "I'm a Fugitive From a Chain Store."

A Russian peasant drew a two-year sentence for stealing a watermelon. Alone, this seems not unreasonable, but they confiscated the watermelon.

U. S. Magic Has Limitations

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

White House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—If it be recognized as hopeless to try to raise $48 by appealing separately to 48 persons, not one of whom has as much, individually, as $1 to bless himself with, is it logical to assume that the $48 can be raised by appealing to the same 48 persons collectively?

It is not difficult to anticipate the answer to this query.

Nevertheless I have been listening for several days to witness after witness assure the senate committee on manufactures that each of the 48 states has cared for its depression victims up to the last cent of its financial resources—consequently that naught remains except for the federal government (the COMBINED 48 states) to take over the task.

THE proposition would be arguable if it were advanced in behalf of just a few states.

That is to say, an exceptionally poverty-stricken state might greatly need an extension of charity from one or more of its richer sister states, and its application to Uncle Sam might be its indirect way of seeking such assistance.

But the case is not so stated; the contention is that this is an emergency for the federal government to deal with, because no single state is equal to it.

BESIDES, the poorer states are not the ones from which demands for aid are most urgent.

No other state presses its claim upon Washington with such exigency as the enormously rich state of Pennsylvania. New York, the richest of them all, is nearly as insistent. Also Illinois.

In effect, these commonwealths want contributions from states like Arizona, Nevada and Wyoming, which haven't the wealth, among them, of any one of half a dozen banks in Manhattan, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh or Chicago.

PENNSYLVANIA'S plea is not improved upon by Governor Pinchot's explanation in response to the suggestion that the crisis is grave enough to justify a Keystone State bond issue for relief purposes. A bond issue is impossible, he points out, because the state already is up to its constitutional indebtedness maximum. In short, he admits that what Pennsylvania asks is succor from elsewhere—rather than readjust its constitution, to take care of its own destitution.

Chicago (to consider a mere municipality's troubles) is too discreet to explain why it needs outside charity, but it is unnecessary; the cause of its plight is known to the entire country.

The Windy City's straits really are desperate.

Swamped with unemployment, it likewise is bankrupt—owing to the notorious tax dodging of its multi-millionaire owners of real estate.

TO BE SURE, the witnesses before the senate committee on manufactures, to which was referred the La Follette-Costigan bill appropriating $500,000,000 for direct federal unemployment relief, have been mainly social workers, mindful only of the terrible need for funds to prevent actual wholesale starvation, and indifferent as to the source whence money is obtained, provided it be speedily forthcoming.

The fact is that the stories they tell indicate a rapidly progressive breakdown in relief activities almost everywhere.

It appears to be quite true that the credit, as well as the cash, of the majority of states, is exhausted.

But, this being so, how long can Uncle Sam's last?

RELIEF workers have an idea that there is some magic in the name of the federal government.

Up to a certain point, it may be that there IS more magic in it than in the names of any of the state governments, but it is anyone's privilege to wonder when that point will be passed, at the present rate.

Briefly, the La Follette-Costigan hearing makes it perfectly obvious that, unless remedial measures of a fundamental nature are taken mighty promptly, emergency relief will collapse utterly, and the destitute will be left to meet their own "situation" as best they can.

ANOTHER TREATY SCRAPPED

Another treaty, another scrap of paper. This time repudiation comes not from Germany or Japan but from the entire Central American family.

In 1923 the United States sponsored a Central American treaty under which the five little Latin American republics agreed to recognize no government coming into power by force of arms. Since then all five have had revolutionary or provisional presidents.

Costa Rica recently tore up its copy of the treaty and El Salvador has just followed suit. General Martinez is the government in El Salvador at this writing, although not recognized as such by the neighboring republics or by Washington. He was "elected" by bullets rather than by ballots.

Here is a treaty that has been treated like a scrap of paper because it is only a scrap in effect. Nothing can argue Latin America out of its periodic revolutions, not even the United States marines. Washington was sincere, but naive, when it sponsored the treaty but one suspects that the Central American governments subscribed to it more to maintain their power than in the name of peace and orderly government. At the very moment they were affixing their seals there probably were several would-be presidents prepared to ignore it.

El Salvador's action creates a dilemma for the state department at Washington. President Martinez has given his country a better administration than his immediate predecessors and would be recognized officially but for the treaty. But can Washington "forget" the treaty of 1923?

THE NEW BOOKS

James Cozzens Writes Interesting Novel, "The Last Adam", Which Is Chosen As Choice Of Book-Of-Month Club; Le Roy MacLeod Again Has Book On Strife; Van Dine Has New Mystery

"THE LAST ADAM," by James Cozzens, tells the story of a small town in Connecticut—tells it so well that the day-by-day doings of the town's undistinguished people seem vastly important and significant.

Mr. Cozzens has drawn for us a diverse group of imperfect and very human people; ordinary folk, all of them, doing ordinary things in an ordinary way, but standing, somehow, for the eternal struggle and failure and triumph of the entire race.

Giving His Best

There is a doctor—a rather slipshod, careless man, getting on in years, drinking more than is good for him, letting his patients die occasionally when another man might have saved them, but giving his best, on the whole, and fighting at least a fairly good fight.

There comes to the town a typhoid fever epidemic. The people are frightened, and in their fright they turn on the doctor—who is also the local health officer—blaming him for the epidemic, trying to take his job away from him. The doctor goes unemotionally about his business, and his place is saved, at last, by the machinations of a local political boss.

On this slight thread Mr. Cozzens has hung a very moving story. The people in his book—the tired little telephone operator, the rich man's rebellious daughter, the local bootlegger, the doctor and the others—are uncommonly real. Among them, they manage to sum up the aspirations and disillusionments of all people everywhere.

Published by Harcourt-Brace, "The Last Adam" sells for $2.50. It is the January choice of the Book-of-the-Month club.

War Never Ends

IN contrast to the peace of Wabash Valley, little disturbed even by the civil conflict just coming to a close, Le Roy Mac Leod in his last novel suggests a background of war going on always elsewhere; and he sets over against the apparently peaceful routine of daily life the strife within the individual and between individuals. For ten years he follows the life of the Pecks and their neighbors, dividing the story into two parts, "Plowing" and "Planting."

It was disappointment at not being able to join the Southern army back in Kentucky and anger at his mother that drove young Tyler Peck, fortified with whiskey, to propose to Evaline Weller, and it was pride, not love, that made Evaline marry Colonel Peck's son. Tyler's is a divided soul, torn between the determination to make the best of his marriage and a desire for freedom and adventure. He has with Minnie Scott, the tawdry wife of a neighboring farmer, an affair which he tries again and again to break off, and when his last meeting with her causes Uncle Lafe's death, he is filled with remorse and wants to kill himself.

Struggle Runs Counter

The struggle in Evaline runs counter to that in Tyler. She has come to love Tyler, and disillusionment is hard. Her inner struggle is concerned chiefly with her pride, for which she believes her first-born's simple-mindedness a punishment. She cannot completely humble herself until she confesses to Tyler that she married him without love. Tyler has been feeling all the time that he must tell Evaline of his unfaithfulness, but at her confession he feels that life has played a trick on him. Then it comes over him that it doesn't matter much, and that if he keeps his secret twelve years it will "not amount to much either." And when Evaline asks if he loves her, he cannot for the life of him tell whether he is fibbing or not when he says, "Yes, Evvie." So ends Part II, "Planting," and the reader must write his own "Reaping."

Characters Humanly Drawn

The characters are humanly and intimately drawn. Tyler has in him a mocking devil, a sense of humor that gives him the power of detachment of "seeing himself for a hot-headed-fool" and of "grinning at the spectacle of his chasing the son and scaring Evvie with his anger." It is this other self that can turn disappointment to comedy for him. Surely his twin demon must smile when he snatches at the support his resolution to quit Minnie would receive should Scott become a Mason. Then it would be a question of honor. But also for the weakness of the flesh, he blackballs Scott—and is comforted to find there have been two blackballs. The mocking demon is subdued with Uncle Lafe's death; that is tragedy for Tyler. But there is no sense of humor to lighten Evaline's struggle; she has a puritanical bias. Besides Tyler and Evaline there are Uncle Lafe, the lovable country squire, lean dark Aunt Mary, the twinkle in whose eyes challenges Tyler's, the dissolute Cousin Alan, and all the others. One knows them, and especially does one see them.

Ratiocination

WITH most writers of mystery and murder stories, the telling is labor, ingenious perhaps but hard work nevertheless. With S. S. Van Dine, pseudonym for Willard Huntington Wright, erstwhile learned mathematician, the telling is pure art. For the average reader most mystery novels are either tediously transparent or utterly impossible of solution, a jigsaw puzzle with the author holding out the key-piece. But a new murder novel by S. S. Van Dine is sheer joy. He lifts it from the tabloids to the realm of literature. It becomes an effort written carefully, intelligently and with a regard for the conventions of good taste. A modicum of atrocities, sufficient only to provide adequate motivation for the calling in of such an expert criminologist as Philo Vance, suave, cultured gentleman and keen ratiocinator, is his choice, and his solutions of the problems presented by the crimes are flavored with generous sprinklings of authentic information concerning antique jewelry, abnormal psychology, Egyptology, higher mathematics and other like topics.

In "the Kennel Murder Case", Philo Vance's latest case, Van Dine chooses as Vance's modus operandi a combination of his knowledge of Chinese ceramics and his acquaintance with and fondness for Scottish terriers. To tell the story, or even to pose the situation would be inadequate mead for a lover of good mystery stories. It is enough to say that Philo Vance is as charming as ever, that his accomplishments are as enthralling as in the Benson Murder Case, the Green Murder Case, the "Canary" Murder Case, the Bishop Murder Case, and the Scarab Murder Case, and that no Van Dine devotee will be disappointed in the peregrinations of the gentleman-criminologist or in the solution to the case.

"The Kennel Murder Case", a Philo Vance story, by S. S. Van Dine.—Charles Scribner's Sons, New York. $2.

Letters To The Editor

Local Man Writes Again On Creating "State Of West Texas"

To The Avalanche-Journal:

Sirs: Will you give space in your valuable paper for the publishing of the following article.

Not long since I made mention of forming a new state out of the vast domain called Texas and gave some reasons for such a division. Since then I have been approached on the subject by a great many citizens of Lubbock and surrounding country, agreeing that such a division (under certain conditions should they eventuate.)

Not only by meeting these men face to face and talking the matter over but by being in touch with them by long distance telephones and by letters both public and private, I find quite an unrest over existing conditions both morally and politically as well as educationally. Of course as the large portion of population lies east and southeast in consequence of this, they have the greater majority of representatives in the legislature and naturally every legislator is partial to his individual constituancy.

I mention three reasons why we should form a new state morally. The section that would form this new state is predominantly opposed to anti-prohibition. Politically the governing party that's now in power is foreign to our conception of what our governing body should be. That is the great majority of this section so conceives it if left to a majority of this new state. Things politically should be different.

Educationally, in the free schools the whole state shares alike. There is no contention here. The state of Texas, through its law making body was constrained by the unanimous voice of the citizens of this section of Northwest Texas to establish two schools of higher education. Known as the Technological college and a normal college. The last mentioned, located at Canyon, Texas, the Tech at Lubbock. It is not necessary to repeat what was contained in my former article, but there is omnius clouds gathering that portends a coming storm on our legislative sky. Lightning and thunder are both seen and heard that would rend asunder (if it should materialize) our institutions of higher learning.

Northwest Texas has made some sacrifices to get these institutions located where they are and to function as they are with all the department organized as they are. Now to have them lose the most important departments belonging to them and have them diverted to other schools beyond the confines of this territory and there to help build colleges and universities already crowded at the expense of these two institutions within our own territory which give cause for a separation from the parent state to say nothing of other causes that would cooperate with their main issue but we have this issue for the present. We will now define as we see it topographically the amount of territory necessary in other territory interested in this separation.

We will begin at the northwest corner of what is known as the Panhandle go east with north line of the Panhandle to its northeast corner thence south with said line to the Red river, then with said river to the northeast corner of Hardeman county, thence south with several jogs to the southeast corner of Taylor county, thence west to or near the southeast corner of New Mexico and Texas to the place of beginning. Comprising some sixty five counties, equal to one half of the states severally in the United States.

Within these limits potentially we have every facility of making a great and prosperous state.

Respectfully submitted,
L. C. Robertson.

Hockley Turkey Growers Ship Two Carloads To Eastern Mart

LEVELLAND, Jan. 21—(Special)—Two carloads of turkeys, amounting in all to 28,810 pounds, were shipped over the Santa Fe from here to Nashville, Tenn., in a pool formed by Hockley county growers. A price of eight cents a pound was obtained, with concessions that brought grade No. 1 for practically all of the birds.

W. T. Magee, county agent, with the cooperation of Major H. Rodgers, J. A. Turrentine and W. R. McCann, local produce dealers, worked on the pool. Between 2,000 and 2,600 birds were believed sold in the lots.

The shipments netted growers $2,275 or $555 above current local prices before the shipments. It was reported produce houses buying through local dealers, after the pool was completed, attempted to offer a higher price than the pool. Dealers and others refused to submit the higher offer to the pool committee, explaining they had sought a higher offer but were refused.

Feeding Out Livestock Becomes Major Winter Operation Of South Plains

Territory Is Center Of Home Grown Grain Feeding; 12,500 Head On Feed In 4 Projects

Income To Farmers Selling Feed To Large Feeders West Of Lubbock; Projects Being Watched Closely By Feeders, Farmers And Business Men Over Entire Southwest

The South Plains is the center of home grown grain feeding of cattle and four of the largest projects in the state, with over 12,500 head of cattle in the pens, are in operation. The largest is at Brownfield where W. R. Hearst is feeding 5,700 head.

Between 150 and 200 tons of grain sorghums and corn are being fed daily to these animals. Income to the farmers from these four projects represent around $500 a day. Surplus feed that previously had been expected to be held over, is being consumed.

75 Men Employed

In addition around 75 men are finding employment taking care of the animals and feeding them.

Feeders, farmers and business men from Fort Worth to New Mexico are watching closely these projects and hundreds of people from a distance have looked over the plants.

A staff writer for the Avalanche-Journal recently inspected these plants and here records what he saw and heard. A recent article described the Hearst feeding project.

Fred Snyder Has Large Herd Of Stock On Feed

By Staff Correspondent

LEVELLAND, Jan. 21. — Fred Snyder of Lubbock, well known farmer of the South Plains, who has a large herd of cattle on range in Cochran and Yoakum counties, west and southwest of here, is feeding out his own calves in two projects, one here and the other at Whiteface, just across the line in Cochran county. There are slightly under 4,000 head altogether.

Both projects are home grown feed projects, in that grain sorghums raised in this territory by farmers form the basis of the feeding. A balanced ration that included roughage, minerals and fat producing feed, is fed to each group.

D. N. Bills In Charge

D. N. Bills is in charge of the Whiteface feeding. He had 1,989 head of heifers, ranging from yearlings to 18 months and two years. There are a few younger ones. Bills has five men handling the feeding besides himself and several other men.

Associated with Mr. Snyder is D. Reid of Austin, one of the well known business men of that section of the state. A huge hammer mill has been set up to grind the feed. Maize heads and corn will be ground and fed in addition to roughage, consisting of bundles of kafir and maize. Cottonseed meal is being mixed in. Bundles are cut up before being dumped in the big feeding troughs.

Water Abundant

An abundance of water from the Santa Fe railroad is available.

At Levelland the feeding pens are located in a lake west of town about a mile from the depot, with the grinding operations being done at the station. Here Major H. Rodgers is in charge of the grinding. A group of men with wagons haul the ground feed to the pens. Bundles of roughage are kept in the racks all the time and the cottle can help themselves. There is also an abundance of water all the time.

In this pen are 1,932 calves.

Heavy Purchases Made

Heavy purchases of home grown feed are being made at both locations. The animals seem to thrive on the rations and are putting on a substantial gain.

E. G. Rall of Fort Worth, capitalist and land owner, is associated with Mr. Snyder in the Levelland project. Mr. Rall has large interests over the South Plains and he is a firm believer in this area as a feeding center.

Both projects have attracted wide attention and the pens are visited daily by from several score to a hundred or more persons who want to see what is being done. Farmers are interested in the methods used and those in charge are asked many questions as to how to mix the rations.

Coble And Roberts Feeding Out 3,000 Head

By Staff Correspondent

LEVELLAND, Jan. 21.—Dean of dry lot cattle feeders on the South Plains, B. B. Roberts, better known as "Burk" Roberts of the firm of Coble and Roberts, is feeding out about 3,000 head of high class steers and heifers at his pens six miles west of here. Roberts and his partner, W. T. Coble of Amarillo, have a plant at "Coble Switch", on the Santa Fe.

Roberts feeds throughout the year. In 1931 he did a little feeding in the summer time and found that it paid, so he tried it again last summer, with better results.

Raise Own Feed

"We raise our own feed—that is a good portion of it, as we farm about 3,000 acres," Mr. Roberts said. "We have a number of farmer tenants and we buy from them. There are about 15,000 acres in this property and we use home grown feeds all the time.

"We are feeding out bundles this year instead of ground bundles. This plan is a saving in expense. With our ration we include two pounds of cottonseed meal. The last month we reduce this to half a pound and substitute corn.

Feeds 5 To 8 Months

Mr. Roberts feeds his calves from five to eight months. He adds 200 to 250 pounds or more, dependng on the weight desired.

"California is a good market for yearlings that weigh from 650 to 750 pounds and for baby beef and I am using it more and more."

Right at Coble Switch, on the north side of the Santa Fe, are the central feeding pens. Here Mr. Roberts has his largest group. He has a huge hammer mill with a capacity of 40,000 pounds of ground feed daily.

Has Pit Silos

Here also are two huge pit silos. The trenches are nine feet deep, 12 feet wide at the bottom and 14 feet wide at the top, and a full length of 120 feet and two 25 to 30 foot incline approaches. Capacity is estimated at around 400 tons.

Besides these Mr. Roberts tried a new stunt, one he had formerly seen used in Canada where he also has fed. It is known as a "bundle silo". Bundles are stacked in a circle, 30 to 35 feet across and the inside filled with cut bundles. "We build them up to about 12 feet high," he added. "This type has some advantages in being accessable to wagons. "We had a dozen of these. I think the capacity was about 80 tons."

Ration Is Varied

Ensilage, corn and maize, ground feed, cottonseed meal, salt and other minerals and bundles comprise the chief portions of the menu. The bundles are used for roughage.

Many of the cattle come from the Turkey Track ranch, in Hutchinson county northeast of Borger and east of Plemons, the old county seat. Some also come from the May ranch. Some also came from down near San Angelo.

Besides feeding at the central pens, there are a number of smaller bunches of several hundred animals being fed by ranchers on the property. Practically the same ration is used with these animals. The herd has been divided according to ages. At the central plant there are 1,000 to 1,200 two and three year olds.

Mr. Roberts also does some feeding on contract. He has had some of the Fred Snyder cattle on feeding projects.

Northwest Lubbock County Also Has Feeding Projects

By Staff Correspondent

SHALLOWATER, Jan. 21—One of the largest feeding projects in the northwest section of Lubbock county is under way here.

Joe Miller, manager of the 3-Circle ranch, three miles west of town, has about 600 head of calves on feed. He is using home grown feed, supplemented with other feeds and minerals in his ration.

T. C. Calley, cotton gin owner and farmer, is reported planning to feed out some cattle. A number of farmers have small bunches, up to a car load of calves, on feed. There are also a number of hogs being fed by farmers. A. G. Winn, produce man of Sweetwater and Lubbock, has a big bunch on feed.

NEW MORTON STORE

MORTON, Jan. 21. (Special)—R. L. Coker of Whiteface has opened a grocery store here. The business is located on the west side of the court house square.

Tarleton Cow Becomes State Champ

Nobleman's Katy Lee, (shown above) a 4-year-old Jersey bred by T. L. Shepard, Lubbock druggist and Jersey breeder, has just become the Texas champion in butterfat production. In a 365 day test conducted at John Tarleton Agricultural college, at Stephenville this Jersey produced 925.46 pounds of butterfat, qualifying her for the state championship of all ages, as well as the senior four-year-old state championship. Nobleman's Katy Lee, sired by Lucky Nobleman 247920, Mr. Shepard's herd bull, is now owned by the animal husbandry departmeent of the John Tarleton institution.

Ed Burns Is Feeding 950 Head In Hale County

By Staff Correspondent

HALECENTER, Jan. 21—Ed Burns a well known farmer in this section of Hale county, has a large feeding project under way in his place.

He is feeding out about 340 head of young steers and 610 head of lambs. The lambs are expected to be shipped in March before the Easter lamb market.

LYNN MAN FEEDING

TAHOKA, Jan. 21.—O. S. Smith, a farmer living in the New Home community, has about 20 steers on feed at his farm. He is using home grown grain sorghums.

Mr. Smith and a neighbor are also feeding out some hogs. They expect to have three truck loads of animals to go to market in March. Mr. Smith is a tenant on the R. E. Overstreet farm.

Lamesa C Of C To Continue Planting Of Trees In Area

LAMESA, Jan. 21, (Special)—The civic department of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce is again sponsoring a county-wide tree planting program, according to officials of the organization of the local chamber of commerce. Last year, according to the check, more than 15,000 trees were planted in Dawson county, under the sponsorship of this department.

This year, with the wonderful seasons and low priced trees, it is expected by chamber officials to approach last year's record in number of trees planted in the county. Already prices are being received by the organization from nurseries over the country, and according to the low prices scheduled, the organization is pointing little or no reasons at all for the citizenship of Dawson county not taking advantage of this program.

LOCATING PITS

SUDAN, Jan. 21. (Special)—Preliminary work of locating gravel and caliche pits for local paving projects has been turned over to a committee. The committee is composed of C. A. Daniel, W. A. Peachey and E. Lam. An engineer is expected here soon to assist in preparing plans for the paving of the streets.

Lamb County Feeds 10,000

Small Projects By Number Of Feeders Listed; Sheep And Hogs Are Also Being Fed Out For Market

(By Staff Correspondent)

SUDAN, Jan. 21—More than 4,200 head of cattle, 2,200 head of sheep and 800 hogs are on feed in Sudan's territory by farmers and feeders, according to a check of the section. These figures do not include a number of cattle in small lots, less than a car load, being fed by farmers.

P. E. Boesen, dean of feeders in this area, has 1,025 head of yearling steers in his two pens. He is following them with about 500 head of hogs.

Furneaux Feeding

Furneaux and Furneaux, have 400 head of heavy steers on feed, 1,000 sheep and about 300 head of hogs. Chis Furneaux is supervising the feeding.

Ralls and Lee are feeding 250 yearling steers in their pens five miles southwest of here.

Arnold and Poore have a contract with W. H. Fuqua, Amarillo banker and rancher, to feed 250 yearlings on the grain basis.

Mat Nix, living east of town, has 200 head of heifers at his pens.

Lambs Fed Too

Paul Brothers and Kent, living near Circleback in Bailey county west of here, have 500 head of yearlings and calves. They also have 1,200 head of lambs. Tom Kent is doing the feeding on the Paul ranch.

George Benton has 150 heifers on feed.

In the Pep community, in northwest Hockley county and south and west of here, a group of farmers are feeding 1,500 two year old steers. The animals are being fed on a grain basis by a group of farmers. Jot Smyth of Lubbock is the owner and most of the men have had experience in feeding in previous years.

Two Tech Holsteins Set New Records In Production Of Butterfat In Long Time Tests; Exceed 500-Pound Mark

According to the last monthly report from the Holstein-Friesian Association of America two registered Holstein cows owned by the Texas Technological College have completed long time tests and each exceed 500 pounds fat.

Flowerdale Echo Cynthia, a 7-year-old, made 501.2 pounds fat and 14,461.5 pounds milk in 298 days in Class A. Her stable mate Tech Fayne Alcartra, a senior 4-year-old, is credited with 570.8 pounds fat and 16,358.1 pounds milk in a year in Class A.

Three other cows in the herd are on test, one making a Class A record and two are in Class B.

ABERNATHY TAXES PAID

ABERNATHY, Jan. 21. (Special)—Abernathy property owners are paying taxes for 1932 J. J. Riley, city secretary, states. Since the announcement that taxes collected would be used for buying material for civic improvements with R. F. C. funds paying for labor, tax payers have been paying up, the secretary said.

Annual Abernathy Dairy Show Is To Be Held On April 7-8

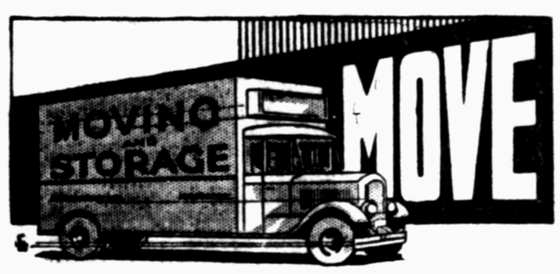

By Staff Correspondent

ABERNATHY, Jan. 21—Date of the fourth annual Abernathy Dairy show was decided on by the chamber of commerce at a recent meeting. It will be held April 7 and 8.

The show is held each year prior to the annual Panhandle-Plains dairy show at Plainview. Prize winning animals are entered in the Plainview show and are taken directly from Abernathy to the regional show.

Officials will be named later. V. S. Payne, vocational agricultural teacher, with his students, will assist in handling show details, as usual.

COMFORT—YES!
But Not Like The Comfort Of A Modern WELL LIGHTED Home

To be sure there was a lot of comfort to the men of yesterday, who liked to go home after the days work had ended, and just sit and look into the fireplace. Today's men who like the same in part, supplement that by turning on a modern Electric light and keeping up with times by reading.

Sure in this modern age, and man cannot just sit and think—he must utilize every spare minute—what a comfort to have plenty of Light while utilizing these minutes for reading.

Lynn County Sheriff Captures Huge Still; Five Men Held

TAHOKA, Jan. 21, (Special)—B. L. Parker, sheriff of Lynn county, began 1933 by capturing a huge still with more than a dozen gallons of corn liquor and 17 barrels of mash. Five men were held for the grand jury in bond of $1,000 each.

Sheriff Parker was advised by Sheriff Jess Smith, new sheriff of Terry county, of the probable location, several miles east of the Terry county line. The men arrested were: Hollis Roberts, R. O. Johnson, R. H. Gibson, Truly Bounds and William Reed. The grand jury that meets in February will act on the case.

According to reports the still was the first one found in Lynn county in operation for some time.

Seniors Head Roll Of Honor

Ninety Students Are Listed As Making High Scholastic Standing; Thirty-Nine Of Group Are Seniors

Seniors head the honor roll composed of ninety names, and the juniors rank second. Ten students have an average of 96 or above.

Those students making an average of 96 or above are as follows: Fannie B. Bratcher, Pauline Edgett, Oleta Kelly, Robert Laverty, Martha Mathis, Mary Mathis, Ferreline Tucker, Mary Thomas, Ruth Wagner and Elizabeth Whitnack.

The thirty-nine senior names listed on the honor roll are: Ruth Lewis, Roleta Izard, Billie Bob Jones, Lois Adair, Katherine Klett, Julia Blackwell, Louise Hodges, Aline McCrummen, Maynard Knight, Mary Thomas, Alice Graham, Mary Ellen Bourland, Pauline Phillips, Martha Mathis, Mary Mathis, Elizabeth Whitnack, Fannie B. Bratcher, Ralph Brock, Zona Kunkel, Lyle Donaldson, Ruth Wagner, Pauline Edgett, Johnnie Bowen, Raymond Billingsley, Veda Ruth Barkham, Lena Belle Brown, Elizabeth Fox, Edward Barkham, Wildring B. Sherrod, Elinor Crenshaw, Johnnie Mullins, Charles Truett, and Madeline Neves.

Juniors Total 31

The names of the juniors are: Christine Murphy, Johnie Pierce Helen Wagner, Weldon McCarty, Mildred Pierce, Frances Cleveland, Beatrice Seitz, Inez Rose, Pauline King, Janella Hollis, Willena Nelson, Helen Brown, Mary Ratliff, George Dupree, Helen Kruger, Eloise Ratliff, Evelyn De Shazo, Laverne Terrell, John McNeil, Oleta Kelly, Thelma Ford, Arilla Thompson, Betty Bizzell, Idyle Glenn Abbott, Haws Hiatt, Maurice Hughett, Norman Heath, J. G. Lindley, Jim Fay Ashmore, Mary Jane Johnson, and Artie Hicks.

The thirteen sophomores making the honor roll are: Ruth Holland, Marie Thompson, Christine Cowan, Pauline Stafford, Margaret Taylor, Nona Pevehouse, Betty Lindsay, Edward Leidigh, Jack McDonald, Robert Laverty, Faye Potts, Verna Peugh, Joe Donaldson, and Curtis Woodell.

The high freshman class ranked last in number of honor students. Freshman who made the honor roll are: Nita Mae Baughman, Ferreline Tucker, Elton Terrell, Wallace Hawkins, Parrish Heath, Harold Rynn and Raymond Jarvis.

Good Citizenship Roll Announced

Boy's Good Citizenship roll, revised after last quarter's grades were given out, was announced Wednesday by J. C. Brown, dean of boys. Students having an average grade in citizenship of 96 or above with no demerits or detentions are eligible for membership in the club.

Juniors And Sophs Tie In First Grid Game Of Classes

The junior and sophomore football teams played to a scoreless tie Wednesday afternoon in the first intramural game of the 1933 season. The game was hotly contested throughout, neither team holding a great advantage at any time.

The sophomores presented a strong team, a good forward wall, and a fast running backfield. The junior team was equally as good, lacking only the ability to block. This gave the sophs a slight advantage over their older opponents.

Outstanding Men Listed

Greggs, Whitehorn, and Dowell were outstanding performers for the younger team, while Doherty, Blythe, and Newton were the stars of the juniors.

In penetrations of the twenty-yard line, and first downs, the sophomores proved their superiority but were unable to push a touchdown over when they were in a position to do so. But as an intramural game can be won only by points, it will be necessary for the two teams to meet again.

The players and their positions were as follows:

Sophs	Position	Juniors
Greggs	E.	Bigham
Whitehorn	E.	Williamson
Prather	T.	Doherty
Phillips	T.	Wimberly
Young	G.	Duncan
Aycock	G.	Blythe (c)
Dowell (c)	C.	Minor
Skinner	Q. B.	Bradshaw
Calhoun	H. B.	Heit
Atchison	H. B.	Bradley
Granberry	F. B.	Newton

Favorites To Be Selected

Elections Set For Next Week For Senior Favorites, All-Westerner Boy And Girl For Yearbook

Favorites of the senior class are to be chosen next Tuesday morning when the class will hold a special meeting in room 216 of the high school building.

The faculty will nominate and elect the all-Westerner boy and girl, but members of the graduating class will vote in the popularity contest.

From Honor Roll

The All-Westerner boy and girl are chosen from the senior class roll, and are judged on the basis of their school spirit, scholastic standing, and general attitude toward school activities.

The most popular girl and boy will be selected by secret ballot.

The four students receiving these honors will be given full-page pictures in the 1933 Westerner, senior yearbook.

Senior Play To Be February 10

The senior play, "The Tale of Two Sillies," will be presented under the direction of Mrs. W. P. Clement on February 10 in the high school auditorium.

This play is an annual affair which is presented by the senior class each year in order to help finance the Westerner year book. The 1932 production, "Skidding," was also directed by Mrs. Clement.

Girls from the senior class will serve as ushers at the performance with Maxine Burrus as head usher. Nancy Jo Haymes, Elizabeth Lowrey, Ruth Wagner, Ruth Lewis, Carolyn Whitworth, Pauline Phillips, and Johnnie Mullins will be assistants.

G. E. Dawson's mechanical drawing class will make posters to advertise the play in the different schools of Lubbock.

Nine Make High Grades In Special English Examination

After a survey of the grades made on the special English examination which was given to all English L4 students last week, it was announced by Miss Dorothy Lomax, head of the English department, that nine students had made grades of 96 or above.

Lois Adair and Nancy Jo Haymes led with grades of 98 1-2 each. Martha Mathis, Ralph Brock, and Fannie B. Bratcher, ranked second with a grade of 98. Ruth Lewis and Mary Mathis had the next highest mark with grades of 96 1-2, and Arline Harris and Myra Moore came next with grades of 96.

The examination was given as a test to seniors over the four years of English taught in the Lubbock High school.

The class is to meet in the auditorium for the election which will be held in the Australian manner.

Local Firms Get Contracts For Senior Invitations And Rings; Instructions On Orders Given

Contracts for senior class rings and invitations were let last Tuesday and Wednesday morning to Helber Jewelry and Lubbock Printing company, respectively.

The class members may choose rings from a selection of six prices, ranging from $6.75, the price of a 7 pennyweight 10-k ring, with solid shank, to $4.20 for a 4 pennyweight 10-k ring, with sterling silver lining, according to the report of Principal R. W. Matthews.

In regard to the invitations, Mr. Matthews stated that all students must place their orders with the Lubbock Printing company by March 25. The printing company, which will secure its supplies from the Stafford Engraving company, quotes the following prices: 6c for each invitation, with two envelopes, and the cost of personal cards ranging from 85c to $1.50 per hundred.

From a total of seven offers, the bids of these two companies were selected by the executive committee of the class. This group includes the following students: Lewis Spears, Julia Blackwell, Richard Godeke, Maynard Knight, Mary Thomas, Fred Jackson, Johnnie Mullins, Charles Rice, Dianaween Bridgeman, Lena Bell Brown, Padgett Maddox, Edgar Heald, and Mary Mathis.

HEALTH IS AT YOUR WINDOW

Oxygen is necessary to breathing. Oxygen is taken from the air by a gas flame just the same as by any other kind of flame. Fresh air supplies oxygen.

So For Your Health's Sake, Let A Little Fresh Air In!

If you must have a fire to dress by, have it in another room. If you live in a small apartment and sleep in your living room, turn out the fire and raise the windows when you go to bed.

WATER HEATERS WITHOUT FLU PIPES ARE A MENACE!

Many gas appliances, including some well-constructed room heaters, are safe to use without flue connections in WELL-VENTILATED rooms. However it is advisable that all appliances using gas in considerable quantities should be connected with flues, for even the most efficient types may produce poisonous gas when the flame is first lighted.

If your water heater, or any other kind of a heater, is in the bathroom, turn it out when you are ready for your bath. It requires approximately 10 cubic feet of air to supply sufficient oxygen to burn one cubic foot of gas, and there usually is little or no fresh air coming into the average bathroom.

Natural Gas When Properly Used, Not Only Is Efficient And Economical, But IT ALSO IS SAFE!

West Texas Gas Company places a higher value on the health, safety and good will of consumers than upon any revenue it might derive from gas that is not properly used.

West Texas Gas Co.
