COLQUITT SCENTS A CONSPIRACY

DECLARES LIGHTFOOT, LANE AND RAMSEY ARE CONSPIRING TO HARASS HIM.

WRITES AN OPEN LETTER

Says That While Gov. Hogg Expended
$44,144 in Litigation in Four Years, Lightfoot Costs $41,590
For One.

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Nov. 25.—Governor Colquitt, in an open letter to R. H. Lightfoot, of Denton, says: "I am thoroughly satisfied that Lightfoot and Lane are being used as conspirators with the hope that they may harass and annoy me in my administration. I am also of the deliberate opinion that Associate Justice Ramsey, candidate against me for Democratic nomination as Governor, is in their confidence and perhaps among their advisers."

Referring to the letter of Assistant Attorney General, Rob F. Caldwell, Governor Colquitt writes: "The controller and the clerks in his office seem to be devoting a good deal of their time to letter writing in an effort to create the impression that they have not themselves clerical help necessary to do the work of that office."

The Governor says Hogg and Cutler had the heaviest litigation in the State's history, and that while Hogg spent $44,144 for the four years of his administration, Lightfoot wants $41,590 a year.

Wife Is Accused.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 25.—Mrs. Jane Quinn, whose husband was found shot to death in his bed recently, was charged with his murder in an indictment returned by the grand jury late yesterday.

Capitols Executed.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 25.—Two nefarious captured by Mexican soldiers near Guadalupe, on Mexican territory, near El Paso, have been executed. It was learned today. Four others were shot near Casas Grandes.

Postal Banks in Oklahoma.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—Effective December 22, three additional postal savings banks will begin operation in Oklahoma located at Dole, Heavener and Helena.

OKLAHOMA CITY LIVESTOCK MARKET

Special to The Times.
Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 25.—Today's cattle receipts were 190 head. The market continued strong. Stocker steers brought $4.00. Six dollars was the top price for calves.

Hog receipts were 1500 head. The market was steady to five cents lower, the bulk going at $6.05 to $6.50.

Hearing Suspended.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—Difficulty in getting magnates and corporation attorneys to give their views on the subject of trust control, forced the senate committee on interstate commerce to suspend its hearings again Friday.

Announce Reduction Commercial Rate For Electric Current

The Wichita Falls Water and Light Company announces important reductions in its rates for electric current for commercial use effective December 1. The announcement is made as follows:

To our customers who are now using and are entitled to our business rate. Commencing December 1st, bills will be rendered monthly on the following basis:

Seven cents per KW for 1st 100 KW.
Six cents per KW for 2nd 100 KW.
Five cents per KW for all in excess of 200 KW. Wichita Falls Water Light Co., Per Thos. R. T. Orth, Manager.

The rates for commercial use heretofore have been as follows:
Ten cents per KW for the 1st 100 KW.
Nine cents per KW for the 2nd 100 KW.
Eight cents per KW for the 3rd

Neither Manchus Nor Chinese Trust
Yuan—Believed He Is Sternly
Crushing Rebellion.

By Associated Press.
Peking, China, Nov. 25.—Premier Yuan Shi Kai's position is becoming more intolerable daily. Neither the Manchus nor the Chinese trust him and the Manchus are becoming more suspicious all the time.

The moderates do not hesitate to say that if Yuan had remained at Chang Te Fu the court would now be at Jehol and the rebellion ended. Many Chinese believe that while Yuan is re-assuring the foreigners with a view to obtaining a loan and placating the moderates with pretended pacific rumors he is in reality sternly crushing the rebellion with force.

The Imperialists after an attack upon Hankow that lasted for thirty-six hours were repulsed last Thursday and driven back across the Han river with great loss.

AUSTIN TEAM WON FROM SUB HIGH SCHOOL

The Austin School football team turned the tables on the sub High School eleven in a game played yesterday afternoon. The Austin team being victorious by a score of fifteen to nothing. Some good playing was done on both sides. William Skeen for the sub High and Leon Walkup for Austin, showing up best.

This is the second game which has been played between these teams, each team having won one victory. The line up in yesterday's game follows:

Austin School.
Joe Carrigan—Center.
Fred Smith—Right Guard.
Phillip Crawford—Right Tackle.
Sonny Williams—Left Tackle.
Ray Taylor—Right End.
Eugene Mathis—Quarter Back.
Frank Morris—Right Half Back.
Leon Walkup—Left Half Back.
Addison Trotter—Full Back.
Sub High.
Avis Taylor—Center.
Riley Carter—Right Guard.
Will Griggs—Left Guard.
Raymond Carter—Right Tackle.
Earl Fain—Right End.
Dick Wheeler—Left End.
Tom Taylor—Quarter Back.
Earl Bachman—Right Half Back.
William Skeen—Full Back.
Referee—Berk Taylor.
Time Keeper—Tugge Courtney.

Cashier Acquitted.
Shreveport, La., Nov. 25.—W. H. Simmons, former cashier of the Lake Charles First National Bank, charged with the embezzlement of more than $20,000 of the funds of the bank, the alleged defalcations occurring during the period of 1904 to 1907, yesterday afternoon was acquitted by a jury in the federal court after deliberating twenty-three hours.

Grading Work Resumed.
Marshall, Nov. 24.—Despite the rain Thursday grading work on the new station went on.

FOULER CRIMES THAN BEATTIE'S

DECLARED REV. HAM, ARE BEING COMMITTED 4 N WICHITA FALLS BY MEN WHO STAND HIGH.

CITY BUILT WITH BLOOD

Will Be Evangelist's Theme at Men's Meeting Sunday Afternoon.

The Wages of Sin is Death—Romans 6:23.
To an audience of probably one thousand, Rev. Ham preached last night, taking as the theme of his discourse, the execution of Henry Clay Beattie at Richmond, Va., yesterday morning, and as his text the well-known verse from the book of Romans.

In taking up the Beattie execution, Rev. Ham said he was impelled to do so because of the moral it contained, and the resemblance in it to the last sinner, who like Beattie would repent and confess after it was too late. In this connection Mr. Ham had reference to Beattie's public confession of his crime and his sorrow for having committed it. He also stated that to be put to death in the electric chair was nothing compared to the eternity in hell that an unsaved soul would have to spend.

The preacher also stated that there were even fouler crimes than that which Beattie had committed when he murdered his young wife, and that right here in Wichita Falls, there were men who were ruling women and sending them down to a worse than death, men who stood high in the community, and in some instances even passed as Christians. "And better," said Mr. Ham, "than a son he knocked down and his skull crushed and he robbed than that he come home with his pockets full and his eyes bleared and his face bloated with whiskey." In his opinion, the crime of voting for the saloon was as bad as that of murder. The greatest drawback to the religious movement he said was due to the moral men of this city who were outside of Christ and took no interest in religious work. Their influence was so strong on the growing generations that it was almost impossible to overcome, and while they were strong enough to live clean and moral lives themselves without Christ, they kept many weaker ones who were not strong from confessing Christ, and many of these were lost. "Rather would I have ten immoral men surround a boy of mine than one moral man who was not a Christian."

In closing his discourse, Rev. Ham implored those who felt that they had not been fair with Christ and who wished for the prayers of the congregation to stand up, and some fourteen or fifteen arose. Most of these later went forward to the altar rail and were converted.

In making the announcements for the Sunday meetings Mr. Ham urged all to attend their own churches in the morning. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a big mass meeting for men in the auditorium, when Mr. Ham will preach on the subject "A City Built With Blood." A mass meeting for women will be held at the same hour at the Presbyterian church.

At this service also the annual reports of the officers of the Associated Charities will be read and an offering taken for this work.

AUTOMATIC CIGAR VENDORS HERE

Mr. Nat L. Inge has installed a couple of automatic cigar selling devices, one in the lobby of the Kemp and Keen building and the other in the Priest & Hurley barber shop on Eighth street. These machines carry five brands of cigars, and both five and ten cent kinds. You simply pick out the brand you wish, drop your nickel or dime into the slot, and then you have your cigar. And there's no short changing the customer or working off an inferior brand, as something just as good, every man's his own sales man.

Mr. Inge intends to put in a number of additional machines if these two prove popular, and will aim to carry a first class line of cigars.

CAUGHT BY LION.

Employee of Show May Die From Injuries Received.

San Angelo, Nov. 24.—Caught in the clutches of a 3-year-old caged lion here Friday, Frank Collins, lost his left arm and his life is not yet out of danger. Collins was with the Miller Brothers' animal show here during the fair. His arm was badly mangled by the lion and he was mutilated.

CARNEGIE, AS REPORTER, IS NOT A SUCCESS

Tries to Interview John Bigelow and Encounters Stubborn Maid at Door.

New York, Nov. 24.—Andrew Carnegie, the youngest reporter in New York, fell down today on his first assignment.

For more than half a century Mr. Carnegie has been trying to get a job as a reporter. He wanted to break into the business in Pittsburgh and he was told then, he would never be a success at it. He was overcome by the old longing on the verge of turning 76 today. So he took a wad of yellow copy paper from one of the crowd of newspaper men who happened to be calling at his house to ask him about his birthday tomorrow, felt around in his pockets until he found a stub of a pencil and said, "Come along boys and see me interview John Bigelow." Did he?

He did not. It takes experience to interview. Some say the first thing to learn is to wear very heavy shoes and put your foot firmly in the door. He took the reporters in an automobile to the Bigelow home on Grammercy Park, rang the bell and the door was opened by a maid.

"I beg your pardon," he said, "but could we see Mr. Bigelow? We are gentlemen of the press. If you please."

The maid frowned and began slowly to close the door.

"I am sorry, sir," she said, "but Mr. Bigelow is engaged at present and he can not be disturbed."

"But a—" Mr. Carnegie stammered. "You can't see him, sir," the maid returned, almost snappily, in the usual tone doled out to the common or garden variety of reporters.

The rain was now dripping off Mr. Carnegie's derby. As the door was closed a few inches further, Mr. Carnegie raised his hand and said: "Will you be kind enough to tell a young newspaper reporter, wishes to interview him?"

The maid's eyes fairly popped as she opened them in great wonderment.

The next instant the door was flung wide open and the girl, too bewildered for speech, motioned for Mr. Carnegie to follow, and she bounded up the stairs. When Mr. Bigelow heard a mumbled account of the incident from the breathless maid, he chuckled.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE THURSDAY

The Union Thanksgiving service will be held in the new tabernacle Thursday morning at ten o'clock when Rev. J. L. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church will deliver the Thanksgiving sermon. Music will be given by the several church choirs of the city.

At this service also the annual reports of the officers of the Associated Charities will be read and an offering taken for this work.

ROCK ISLAND STRIKE AVERTED

By Associated Press.
Chicago, Ill., Nov. 25.—All danger of a Rock Island strike which would have affected many shippers in Texas was averted today when the men and the road agreed here.

The Commercial Club of Brownwood is planning to sink a well in search for gas within the corporate limits of the city, if satisfactory arrangements can not be made with the owners of the Tricham well in Coleman county for piping the gas to Brownwood. A few days ago a flow of gas which it is believed is strong enough to supply several families with fuel was struck by John F. Wilson in Brownwood at a depth of 190 feet. The pressure in the Tricham well is reported to have increased from 300 to 360 pounds.

Italian Ships Return.

Massawa, Eritrea, Nov. 24.—The Calabria and Puglia, Italian third-class cruisers, have arrived here from Akaba, Arabia, where they bombarded the coast. No details are furnished of the operations except that all the villages were spared.

MAY ACCEPT THE CHALLENGE

HILLES, SECRETARY TO PRES-IDENT, TALKS ABOUT STATE
EXPRESSION OF CANDI-DATE.

OHIO IS BATTLE GROUND

Importance of Development Lies in Recognizing Principle of Preference So Expressed.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—A far-reaching concession by President Taft to the demands of the progressive spirit in American politics is found in the statement authorized yesterday by C. D. Hilles, secretary to the President, that the Administration will accept in a modified form the challenge of the Ohio progressive Republicans for a state wide expression on Presidential preferences, the result of which shall be binding on Ohio delegates to the National convention.

Secretary Hilles said that he is talking only for himself. "But," he added, "I believe I understand the attitude of the friends of the Administration in Ohio, and that there will be no opposition from them to any kind of a fair test of the sentiment of the Ohio Republicans."

While Secretary Hilles claims to be speaking only for himself, it is evident that he would not speak upon this matter in such a manner unless he were reflecting the present inclination of his chief. The declaration in favor of chancing a Presidential expression in Ohio is taken to mean that the President is not seriously disturbed by the attempted launching of a Roosevelt boom by the Garfield Club in Ohio a few days ago.

Aside from the interest which attaches to the purely political phase of this development as affecting Ohio and the incidental announcement that the active organization of the party in Ohio in behalf of Mr. Taft will be placed in the hands of Senator Burton, who henceforth is to be sole patronage dispenser for the Buckeye State, the importance of the development lies in the recognition by the Administration of the principle of Presidential preference expression, renewed demands for the expansion of which may be expected to come from their Republican States.

There is, however, one point in Secretary Hilles' proposal that may need reforming to make it acceptable to the progressives. It is the intimation that the whole State delegation must be bound for or against President Taft according to the sentiment of the voters of the State as a whole. As things now stand, a split delegation from Ohio is almost certain. The law requires each district to elect its delegates to the National convention. Naturally there will be a Taft candidate and a Roosevelt candidate to stand for election and in some of the districts the progressives are practically certain to win.

REV. BOONE WILL REMAIN HERE

Announces Decision in Telegram Received Here Today—Now Sick in Arlington.

Wiley Robertson received a telegram this morning from Rev. J. P. Boone, pastor of the First Baptist Church, announcing his decision to remain in Wichita Falls. Rev. Boone recently received a call to the pastorate of the leading Baptist church at Hillsboro, and when he left the city a few days ago to attend the Baptist convention at Waco, he had not determined whether he would remain in Wichita or go to Hillsboro, so that the news contained in his telegram will be welcomed not only by the members of his church but by all people of the city who have had the good fortune to know him.

Rev. Boone is now sick at the home of his parents in Arlington, but hopes to be able to come home next Monday. He has asked Rev. Ham to preach at the morning service at the Baptist Church tomorrow morning.

MANY BIDDERS AT "OLD HOSS" SALE

What the grab sale is for the woman the "old hoss" sale is for the sterner sex, and if you don't believe the men of Wichita Falls are imbued with the same spirit that draws their wives to the grab sales just step into the Joline building on Ohio avenue this evening where the Adams Express Company is selling un-called packages.

The sale commenced this morning and the room has been crowded with eager buyers all day. Although the greater number are men, there is a fair sprinkling of women in attendance.

E. B. Goraline is the autoconer and none of the buyers enjoy the joke any better than he, when he sells a package of "Four Rees" to some member of the W. C. T. U. who believe their bundle contains ginaware, or when some man in the crowd bids up on a snappish package, which when it is knocked down to him is found to contain "liquid coffee in bottles."

It's a game of chance and some are lucky and others are less fortunate, but not many will bid large amounts unless they are morally certain as to the contents of the package, upon which they are bidding. Some get good bargains. One man bought a package for forty cents this morning and upon opening it found a set of silverware. Another man got a $30 suit of clothes for $210.

TO SCREEN GREEN STUFF.

Fruit and Vegetables Exposed for Sale in Dallas Must Be Screened.

Dallas, Nov. 24.—Probably thirty days from Saturday the ordinance providing that all fruits and other edibles exposed for sale in front of stands or stores must be screened will go into effect. Thursday afternoon the ordinance was signed by Commissioner Henderson for the Commissioners and by Mayor Holland and is being signed today by City Attorney James J. Collins. The city secretary expects to begin the thirty days' advertising tomorrow. The ordinance was passed by the board about the middle of October.

WOMAN'S STORY BADLY SHAKEN

ON CROSS EXAMINATION, MRS.
PATTERSON LOSES GOOD IM-PRESSION THAT HAD

NOT A HELPLESS PAWN

Of Two Men—One Buying Her Girlhood and the Other Selling Her Wifehood.

By Associated Press.
Denver, Colo., Nov. 25.—Mrs. Gertrude Patterson, charged with the murder of her husband, went on the witness stand today for cross examination with her story of the beatings by her husband much shaken. The prosecution produced letters written by her to her husband just about the time of the alleged beatings in which she wrote she never wished to be away from him, "even for a single night."

Little of the haze of romance and suffering that has hitherto colored the picture remained today. Until yesterday afternoon Mrs. Patterson had been to most of those watching the trial of a frail woman of appealing beauty, who had been the pawn of two men, one buying her girlhood and the other selling her lifehood. On direct examination she told of abuse and cruelty by her husband, of his incessant demands that she get money for him from a millionaire admirer and of the brutal beatings that followed her refusal. Today when she resumed the stand to face a pitiless questioning which in three hours yesterday robbed her story of much of its force there was a question in the minds of those in the court about the alleged beatings. Letters to her husband, only a few days after those beatings which she said confined her to her bed failed to mention them. These letters were full of endearment, and told Patterson that he was the only cure for her unhappiness and declared they must never be separated again and spoke of a bungalow she had fitted up for him with a little sleeping porch "just off my room."

"Just be happy, Charlie," she wrote, "and the way to be happy is to know that you have got the best little loving wife in the whole world."

Fowler to Reach Fort Worth Tomorrow
Eastland, Texas, Nov. 25.—Aviator Fowler, in attempting to rise after having alighted on a farm seven miles west of Strawn, ran his machine into a haystack, breaking one of the propellers, and as a result will remain in Strawn until Sunday morning, it is expected.

Fowler left Abilene, where he had been detained two days by a strong wind, at 11:30 this morning, stopping here, where he took dinner and made one exhibition flight. He left here at 12:30 o'clock and stopped at Ranger, fourteen miles west of Strawn at 12:45.

Hints Regarding Oil Locations

By W. M. Stephenson, Batson, Texas

You published an article a few days ago on the trend of the Electric Field in which you made me say that "oil is found in paying quantities only on anticlines which traverse or cross old sea beds." I must ask you to correct this statement for there is no such thing as an anticline and to say that oil is to be found in sea beds is ridiculous. The sentence should have read: I claim that oil is found in paying quantities only on anticlines which cross old sea beds, or basins once covered with water. My theory, now known as "The Gypsum Theory" postulates that crude petroleum is formed by the chemical action, deep down in the bowels of the earth, of gypsum and limestone; the hydrogen in the gypsum combining with the carbon in the limestone. These two substances were formed in the primal ocean and were deposited upon evaporation of the seas. The Mississippi basin is an excellent example of this theory, as is California, Russia and in fact, all of the oil fields of the world thoroughly corroborated this theory. Oil which generated in the Mississippi basin accumulated along the anticlines or ridges paralleling the Allegheny Mountains. This gave rise to the 45 degree theory. As the oil was noticed by the operators to run north 45 degrees east in the states of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, etc., it soon became fully established in the minds of oil operators, scouts, etc., that oil always ran northeast and southwest regardless of the location. When the Electric field opened up the prospectors began leasing lands northeast, extending even into Oklahoma. A farmer who lives on the Oklahoma side due northeast of Electric said that an old Pennsylvania oil man told him that oil always went northeast from the pool. This oil man is over 60 years old, and has been in the business all of his life. He did not know why the oil fields trend northeast and southwest in the states from which he comes. He simply knows they do and that's the limit of his knowledge in that direction.

Texas Oil War Dope.

Houston, Texas, Nov. 25.—With the announcement of the Pierce-Fordyce Oil Association and the Gulf Refining Company that both will build refineries at Fort Worth, Texas, and the purchase of the Muskogee Refining Company's output by the Pierce-Fordyce interests, together with the building of a tank farm and loading rack at Electric, the Texas situation becomes more acute, and while no war is threatened in all probability, Texas is in for the busiest time in any period of its oil business.

The Pierce-Fordyce Oil Association, formed after the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, was ousted from the state of Texas, and calling itself the successors of the last named company, has been doing a little business since the new company came into existence. It took over the distributing stations of the old Waters-Pierce Company and with oil purchased from John Sealy & Company, which later became the Magnolia Petroleum Company, and with some Oklahoma oil, was content to do a strictly marketing business. The Magnolia Petroleum Company decided to go into the marketing business on its own hook, however, and the Pierce-Fordyce Oil Association found itself cut off from a large portion of its supply of refined products. There was only one thing left for the Pierce-Fordyce Co., to do and that was refine its own oil. To that end, it purchased several months ago, the plant of the Texas City Refinery at Texas City, Texas, with a capacity of about 5,000 barrels per day. Improvements were started immediately and the plant is being enlarged to about 6,000 barrels capacity.

The oil to run the refinery has been purchased in Oklahoma and Caddo, deliveries being made by cars, and some has also been supplied by the Gulf Refining Company by boats. Realizing early that this plant would be insufficient to compete against the Gulf Refining Company, the Texas City Company, and the Magnolia Petroleum Company, the latter company having invaded the territory of the Pierce-Fordyce Company, the Pierce-Fordyce Company has been looking out for some production that it could control and from its intention to build a large plant at Ft. Worth, it evidently is counting on Electric to furnish at least a portion of the oil to run that plant. The Pierce-Fordyce Company has been able to buy some production in the Electric field is also shown by the construction of a loading rack and tank farm at that place.

"There's a Reason"

A peculiar fact to which I wish to call attention is while oil is found in the states of New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky, on the western slopes of the Allegheny Mountains, on the eastern slopes in the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and that part of Alabama east of the mountains, not one single oil field is found. There must be a reason for this. If oil had been flung promiscuously, as it were, off of the fingers of the Allegheny, it would have been found on the eastern slopes as well, but it is not. The reason is plain. The western slopes were once submerged beneath the waters of a sea which upon evaporation deposited the material accumulated beneath the anticline folds or ridges which always parallel the mountains. While the eastern slopes of the Alleghenies also have parallel ridges, there was no evaporated sea bed on that side, hence no oil producing material has been deposited, and therefore no accumulation.

The Electric and Petrolia oil fields lie in a basin or old sea bed, which is now drained by the Red River, hence we will call this old sea bed the Red River basin. This basin extended from the Wichita and Arbuckle Mountains in Oklahoma on the north to the Llano Mountains in Texas on the south. During Devonian time this basin was covered with water, and as it drained away vast swamps were seen in evidence which supported vegetable growth most luxuriantly and upon being submerged by later inundations, caused the vegetation to be converted into coal as at Bridgeport, Thurber, Strawn, etc., in Texas. The evidences of the accumulations of oil in remote areas these low lands, for while petroleum is found in basins, it must be where a ridge or anticline crosses that basin so as to afford a receptacle for its accumulation. There are two of these anticlines south of the Wichita Mountains under which oil has accumulated in vast quantities.

and it is learned that a portion of the Producers Oil Company output has been contracted for. The Magnolia Petroleum Company at present, is running both companies' oil, the Producers Oil Company having contracted with that company a short time ago, changing from the Texas Company, presumably for more money. That the Pierce-Fordyce Oil Association will have to pay a bonus to get oil now being run by other companies is an assured fact and if the Producers Oil Company's Electric production has been taken over by the Pierce-Fordyce Association, there is no doubt but that the Producers got an advance over what the other company was paying.

A rumor that the Pierce-Fordyce Oil Association and the Texas Company had made a working agreement, lacks confirmation, as the plans of the Pierce-Fordyce refinery, at Fort Worth, in opposition to the Texas Company's plant at Dallas, would seem to disprove the rumor.

The Gulf Refining Company will build a refinery at Fort Worth and will lay a six inch line from its station at Saltillo, Texas, on its Oklahoma-Texas line to the new refinery, a distance of about 125 miles. The new refinery will be about 5,000 or 6,000 barrels capacity daily.

Materials for the line and refinery have been ordered and the work of constructing both will be pushed as rapidly as possible. The new refinery of the Gulf will be in a position to practically command the refined as well as the fuel oil business of Fort Worth and surrounding territory, the fuel business of that city being very great on account of the packing houses and factories located there.

There is another move in the game for the control of the oil business in Texas, the Gulf being determined to maintain its supremacy in the fuel oil business of that state at least.

With the announcement of the Pierce-Fordyce Oil Association to build a $1,000,000 refinery at Fort Worth, that city will be well supplied.

The Gulf will have an advantage over that company as it will use its Oklahoma oil to run its refinery, while the Pierce-Fordyce Company will have to depend on the oil it will be able to purchase. The Gulf Company purchased a block of land in the Electric field and has been waiting for the field to develop before starting operations. As it is located close to the pool, there is nothing to indicate that it is not productive and it may be that from this property it will be able in a large measure to supply the new refinery at Fort Worth, Texas.

The Magnolia Petroleum Company is planning to do an extensive business in all branches of the oil business. Not only has it plans for 75 refining stations in Texas for refining products, but it is actively engaging in the fuel oil business, selling Mexican crude and residuum from Caddo crude. The company is also in the producing business, operating in the Electric field, having a production of 6,500 barrels in that field and is drilling some wells near the Louisiana line close to the Caddo field, having a small production in this district. The name of the producing company is the Corsicana Petroleum Company, successor to the Clayco Company, and its success in the Electric field has been very encouraging. Up to about ten months ago, the Magnolia Company was in the same shape that the Pierce-Fordyce Association was. The old Security refinery, which it succeeded, had been ousted from Texas at the same time that the Waters-Pierce Oil Company had, and when purchased by John Sealy, of Galveston its business was very small. It, too, was forced to depend on oil purchased by other companies, the Gulf Refining Company, the Texas Company, and the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana, furnishing its oil, the latter company supplying the bulk of the oil purchased.

The Magnolia Company operates two refineries one at Beaumont and the other at Corsicana, and oil by cars was found to be a pretty expensive proposition, especially when competing with the Texas Company and the Gulf Refining Company, which have pipe lines to supply their refineries.

The Build Pipe Line.

During the Caddo boom, the Magnolia Petroleum Company planned to lay a line from the Caddo field to either the Beaumont or Corsicana refinery or both and to that end a survey was made and a right of way secured. The Caddo field was proved so erratic that a pipe line for a company that did not own its production did not look very attractive and so the line was not been built. When the Electric field began to loom up as a big pool with 41 degrees gravity oil the Magnolia Petroleum Company made plans to lay a line from Electric to Corsicana, a distance of 180 miles. A right of way has been taken and there is no doubt but that such a line will be constructed. D. C. Stewart, formerly vice president and general manager of the Oklahoma Pipeline Company, has accepted a position with the Magnolia Petroleum Company, and will look after that company's pipe line interests when its lines are completed. With Electric supplying the Corsicana refinery and Caddo supplying the Beaumont refinery, the Magnolia Petroleum Company will be in good shape to do business in Texas.

That the company is going into the fuel oil business actively, is shown by the fact that it recently made a contract with the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico (Frisco) railway for 375,000 barrels of Mexican crude. The Magnolia Company is importing crude oil in considerable quantities from Mexico and will no doubt fill its future contracts with that kind of oil, as well as the Caddo residuum. The latter gets very bad in cold weather and the Mexican crude has been found to be of considerable value mixed with this residuum. Paraffin oil residuum gives considerable trouble when the temperature is below 60 F. After the recent cold spell a few days ago in Texas, a deposit of paraffin was found in the bottom of some tank cars that was too thick to run and strings as thick as a man's arm have been found in tanks containing residuum from this kind of oil. A recent test showed that paraffin residuum at a temperature below 60 F. do not make good fuel and the more paraffin in them, the worse they will be. In combination with the Mexican oil it has been found that they give satisfactory service as fuel.

Of the two remaining companies, the Gulf Refining Company is in far better shape to meet any strong competition than its competitor, the Texas Company. The Gulf Refining Company owns its own production and pipe lines and is, therefore, enabled to put oil into its refinery cheaper than the Texas Company. The latter company owns but very little production, buying the bulk of its oil from the Producers Oil Company.

The Gulf Refining Company exports by far more oil in refined products and has a great many larger fuel oil contracts many of which were formerly made with the Texas Company.

If, between the Magnolia Petroleum Company and the Pierce-Fordyce Oil Association, a war should start which would be the cutting of refined oil prices in Texas, of the two other concerns, the Gulf Refining Company would be in very much better shape to compete with these companies than the Texas Company would at present. It is reported that the Texas Company's storage is full, which would indicate a falling off in its refined output. That it has been unable to handle all the Producers Oil Company's oil in the Caddo field is evident by the fact that the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana is helping out the Producers Company by running a portion of its oil. Officials of the Producers Oil Company have on several occasions offered some of its oil to the Gulf Refining Company, and to the Standard Oil Company because the Texas Company has been unable to handle it. Nor is this because the production of that company has always been such as to preclude the possibility of a pipe line handling it.

Buying Gas Rights.

A new turn is being taken in the oil and gas fields recently in the purchase of gas rights on lands. Heretofore the policy pursued has been to lease the oil, gas and mineral rights, but now agents of the big companies are buying the gas rights alone, and in some cases they have paid as high as $99 an acre. These thousand and two hundred dollars for a quarter section of land looks like getting money from some when the owner will give up nothing of the use of the land for agricultural and grazing purposes, yet there are those who say such a sale will effectually stop the development of the oil, as no oil company, it is urged, would run the risk of drilling a well and have it run wild with gas for 40 days like the Miller well did. If such a thing should happen the gas company could collect pay for every foot of gas wasted—Henrietta independent.

GRANDFIELD OIL CO. HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

(Grandfield Enterprise)

The Grandfield Oil and Gas Company has received its charter and is now ready to talk business. W. E. Lindbald having returned Tuesday from Oklahoma City with the document. Upon receipt of the charter the stockholders met Wednesday and organized with a permanent set of officers as follows: W. R. Harrington, president; Chas. E. Lawrence, vice president; W. E. Lindbald, secretary; Roy C. Smith, treasurer. The directorate is composed of the officers and the following names: Jake Ring, S. E. Harrington and O. H. Maricle.

This is the only company in the Big Pasture now, or will be for a long time, which means immediate oil development near Grandfield. The Deep Red Oil Company is all right, and should be encouraged but everybody knows they intend to develop their leases east of Randlett first. They are under contract to do so. Therefore the Enterprise as a loyal champion of Grandfield naturally has its sympathies with that proposition which means more to the Grandfield country. This is the way we all feel about it, and it is a position which no man can fairly fault with.

The Grandfield Oil and Gas Company has the money in the bank and a guarantee that they will be drilling in thirty days. If all unleased land surrounding the Harrington property can be secured, but the president of the company has assured this writer that if the land holders show a disposition to lease, the proposition the charter will be surrendered and the company dissolved. It will certainly be a long time before any other oil company gets around to their vicinity where drilling is out. This company is organized for immediate business on a business basis and no foolhardiness. The treasurer is under $10,000—better than most, and everything is shipshape and ready for work.

Sir Chentung Liang Chert,
Chinese Delegate

The Anti-Opium Conference

C. FAWCETT
WASH. D. C.

Dr. Yen
Chinese Delegate

Queen Wilhelmina's Palace
where the Delegates will be Received

CHINA is to be released at last from the bondage of the opium evil which has for so many years hampered the progress and development of the most populous nation on the entire globe. And what is more, it is to be brought about largely through the good offices of the United States. At least it is at the instigation of Uncle Sam that there is to be held at The Hague, beginning on December 1, an anti-opium conference that is likely to take rank as one of the most important of international gatherings. A dozen of the leading powers will be represented by delegates empowered to act, and other members of the family of nations who will not be directly represented have pledged themselves to abide by the decisions of the conference.

Nor must it be supposed that the banishing of opium smoking from the Celestial Empire is the sole object of this cosmopolitan consultation. That might perhaps be called the most spectacular object—the devoutly wished millennium long sought by foreigners in China and by the most progressive Chinamen themselves. However, Uncle Sam is helping to do one favor for China in doing two for himself and most of the other nations are in the same boat. We have an opium problem of our own, here in the United States, and one that has been increasing as a menace very rapidly in recent years. So like the have most of the European countries. This then is the explanation of why all have been so willing to join hands to regulate and ultimately suppress the opium trade all over the world.

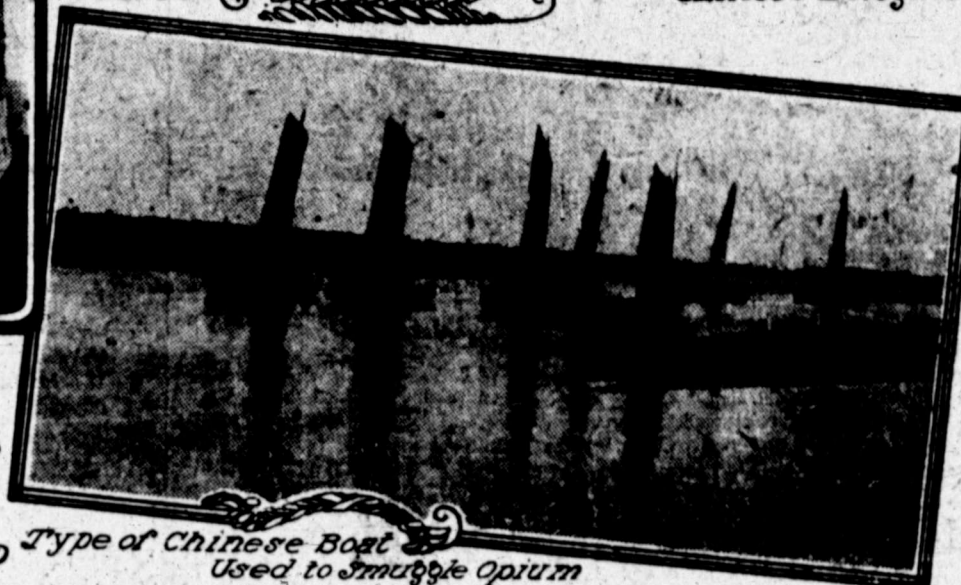

Even this is not all. The crusade which started several years ago as a campaign against opium has expanded in scope until now it includes all the habit forming drugs. To place credit where it belongs it should be explained that it was our cousin John Bull who proposed that the same restrictions which are to be thrown around the opium traffic should be put in force with reference to morphine and cocaine. Of course, the United States is only too glad to back up the British in this attitude inasmuch as the use of cocaine has in recent years reached alarming proportions in America and its evil effects have been even more conspicuously manifest than in the case of opium.

The selection of the Hague as the meeting place of the Anti-Opium Conference is a most happy one, for the Dutch capital is a rendezvous that is centrally located with reference to the nations that will participate. Then, too, the representatives of the great powers can presumably find their best common meeting place in one of the smaller and presumably neutral countries.

The $5,000,000 "peace palace" or Arbitration Building which is being erected at the Hague through the generosity of Mr. Andrew Carnegie is nowhere near completion and consequently it is expected that most of the sessions of the Opium Conference will be held in the stately and historic Knight's Hall—the Binnenhof where the International Peace Conference of 1907 was held and where on one momentous day each year Queen Wilhelmina formally opens, with an address from the throne, the sessions of the Dutch legislature. It is expected that the conference will be in session for three months or longer and the especial significance of the Conference lies in the fact that the delegates will have full powers from their respective governments to execute agreements relative to the regulation of traffic in the habit forming drugs. In other words each nation has pledged itself to put into force the regulations adopted by this group of experts and it is expected that our own Congress will at the coming session carry out Uncle Sam's part of the bargain by enacting such legislation as may be necessary to restrict the traffic in the tabooed drugs to its proper channels.

The Historic Knight's Hall—Meeting Place of the Anti-Opium Conference

Type of Chinese Boat Used to Smuggle Opium

Twelve nations will be represented at the Hague Conference. The parties to the consultation in addition to the United States, include China, Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, Persia, Portugal, Russia and Siam. Austro-Hungary although she will have no delegates in the assembly (owing to her lack of commercial interest in the opium trade) has agreed to accept any reasonable regulations adopted by the conference. Most of the delegations at the Hague will be made up of three, four or five members and inasmuch as each delegation will have one or two secretaries it is expected that there will be not less than fifty or sixty participants. The Netherlands government will arrange the customary social functions in connection with the gathering, including, probably, receptions at Queen Wilhelmina's palace and at the palace of the Queen Mother (Queen Emma) who is quite as popular in Holland as is her daughter.

The Conference at the Hague which has been explained, has been brought about by the United States, comes as the climax of agitation that has extended over a number of years. Uncle Sam's wider interest in the international opium problem and the American effort to find a solution are the outgrowth of Yankee occupation of the Philippines. No sooner had the United States taken over the islands beyond the Pacific than our officials found themselves confronted with a serious problem owing to the presence there of great numbers of Chinese who were confirmed opium smokers. Moreover the vice was spreading rapidly to the native Philippine population. The agitation that resulted served to induce Congress to pass laws prohibiting the importation of opium into the Philippines except for medicinal purposes.

Fully as important as the effect of this turn of affairs in the Philippines was the influence of the object lesson upon China. She saw a friendly power successfully combating at her very doors an evil which, as all progressive Chinamen realized, was sapping the life blood of the empire. There resulted a new anti-opium movement in China and out of this grew a direct appeal to President Roosevelt from representatives of missionary societies there and from commercial institutions in this country to the effect that the United States Government, considering its historical attitude in regard to the opium traffic in the Far East, should take the initiative in assisting China to secure the prohibition of that traffic. That was in 1904, and the movement thus started has progressed steadily until it now seems to be on the eve of full and final realization at the Hague.

The definite idea of an international concert of action with reference to the opium evil came in 1906, when Bishop Charles H. Brant, of the Philippines, wrote to President Roosevelt appealing to him to promote some movement that would gather in its embrace representatives from all the countries where the traffic in and use of opium is a matter of moment. Acting on the suggestion, Elihu Root, who was then Secretary of State in that same year, initiated a correspondence with those powers having possessions in the Far East, the object being the formation of an international commission to study the opium problem as it then appeared in the Orient and to report the wisest measures for its solution. The diplomatic correspondence thus begun in the autumn of 1906, extended over a period of some eighteen months ere it was cordially agreed by all the governments concerned that there should be an International Opium Commission and that it should meet in Shanghai in China on the first of January, 1909.

The Commission was a month late in convening, but when it did get down to work it discussed (at the suggestion of the United States Government) the moral, economic, scientific and political aspects of the opium problem, not only as seen in the Far East, but as existing throughout the world. This broadening of the scope of the movement occurred because our officials had in the meanwhile awakened to a realization of the extent to which our own country has become contaminated through the misuse of morphine and other opium preparations. The nations represented at Shanghai were virtually the same that will send delegates to the Hague and indeed, the Hague Conference is the sequel and outgrowth of the earlier meeting—a project for completing the work thus inaugurated and for putting into effect the measures which the men gathered at Shanghai could no more than recommend.

The Commission that assembled at Shanghai wrestled with the problem for a month and then in a series of short and concise resolutions recommended to the governments one and all that they overhaul their regulations with reference to the traffic in opium; take measures for the suppression of opium smoking; and restrict the manufacture and sale of morphine. The International Commission at Shanghai having unanimously agreed that the opium vice must cease it was open to our government to propose further international cooperation for the placing of the production and traffic in opium under international law. This they lost no time in doing, and now after many months of correspondence and interchange of views we are to have the great gathering in Holland's capital. And because the ground was so carefully gone over at Shanghai and the problems threatened out the delegates at the Hague will be able to get down immediately to actual work—a condition that would not have been possible without such preliminary activities.

Foremost of the objects to be sought through the Hague Conference will be uniform national laws and regulations throughout the world to control the production, manufacture and distribution of opium and its preparations. Secondly, there is to be regulation by the Universal Postal Union of the transmission of opium through the mails. Then there will be a restriction of the cultivation of the poppy from which opium is derived, and a restriction of the number of ports through which opium may be shipped by opium producing countries. Uniform marks of identification will be adopted for packages containing opium in international transit, and there will be arranged a reciprocal right of search of vessels suspected of carrying contraband opium.

One of the interesting features of the present project is the stand which China is taking. She has appointed a delegation of her most distinguished men, headed by Sir Chentung Liang Cheng and Dr. Yen (both graduates of American colleges) and is prepared to make war not only upon her traditional enemy, opium, but also upon morphine, which during the past ten years has been consumed in constantly increasing quantities in the Empire. The delegates representing the United States are confronted by virtually the same problems owing to the great numbers of Chinese in this country and in the Philippines. Uncle Sam will have able spokesmen at the Hague. At the head of the delegation is Bishop Brant, who has done so much, all along to promote this movement. Associated with him will be Dr. Hamilton Wright, of the Department of State, and H. J. Finer of California.

305 WICHITA FALLS 305

Wichita Falls, Texas, Nov. 25, 1911.

"No, Mabel, Yuan Shi Ai, is not a college yell, but the name of China's first premier," remarks the editor of "Questions and Answers" column in one of our exchanges.

The millions Mr. Carnegie is now giving to this or that cause will doubtless help to relieve his conscience a whole lot, but if they could be restored to those from whom they were first extorted it would be better.

There is some talk in papers outside the state of Congressman John H. Stephens becoming a senatorial candidate at the next election, but the rumor lacks confirmation. Mr. Stephens knows a sure thing when he sees it, and is not likely to turn loose merely for the sake of a chance of getting something better.

Evangelist Ham has selected for his subject for tomorrow afternoon, "A City Built With Blood." The meeting is to begin at 3 p. m. at the Tabernacle and is for men only. This is a subject upon which there is plenty of material to make it most interesting from start to finish. The Tabernacle has a seat capacity of about 1600 people, and fully that many now should be there to fill them, and doubtless will.

Electra, Tex., looks more and more like a genuine field every day. Twenty-two arrests the past week for drunkenness, street fights and assaults with intent to kill, next to the finding of the oil itself, is the most favorable indication. Now, if it is a real live oil field, a few killings are in line—oil and Gas Journal.

Right here is where Electra will surprise several other oil fields. The people of that town stand first for decency and law and order and in this stand they are backed by the great majority of the oil men and workers in the oil field. Some of those who sized up the situation differently were among the twenty-seven arrested. Before the oil field began to develop Electra enjoyed a reputation as one of the most peaceable and law abiding places in Northwest Texas. The influx of oil men has not changed the community in that particular. Of course sporadic infractions of the public peace occur, but these have received prompt attention from the local officers there.

If the man or corporation that proposes to organize a scheme by which $25 per bale can be advanced to farmers in order that it can be held for a higher price had proposed to share in any decline in the price of cotton from the time the loan or advance is made and the date it is sold or finally disposed of, as well as to share in the advance of the price, it would look a little more reasonable. As it now stands, the farmer accepts an advance of $25 on a bale of cotton that would sell on the market at 9c per bale, or $45. He pays to the money lender a commission or warehouse fee of $1. If the price should go to 13c per pound, he sells the bale and gets $65 for it, and pays to the money lender 25 per cent of the advance in price, or $5.00, in addition to the $1.00 commission. On the other hand, if the market price for cotton is 9c the day he borrows $25 on a bale from the money lender, and the price declines to 8c per pound, the farmer stands all the decline himself, and also pays the $1 commission. From this viewpoint it looks very much like a game of "head I win, tails you lose." If the money-lender shares in the advance, he also should share to the same extent in the decline. Or, perhaps, it would be more like a business proposition of the money lender's would charge a reasonable amount of interest for the use of their money and the warehouse of the cotton, and let the farmer take his chances on an advance or decline in the price of cotton.

We never like to be slighted even if we don't care anything about the affair that is going to be pulled off. And Governor Colquhoun, elected Clay county in expiating chairman of his county's little cotton acreage reduction electioneering scheme. It may be true that there are no combination Colquhoun-Quayle men in Clay county—Henrietta Review.

Every attempt so far made to reduce cotton acreage has acted the other way.

WICHITA FALLS TEAM WINS AT HENRIETTA

In the football game played yesterday afternoon at Henrietta between the High School team there, and the Wichita Falls High School football team, the Wichita Falls team was victorious by a score of 6 to 0. The game was hard fought from first to last, and the result was in doubt until the whistle had blown on the last quarter. The score came in the second quarter when Schuerer carried the ball over Henrietta's goal line for the only touchdown of the game. Smith easily kicked goal, thus making the score six to nothing in favor of the Wichita Falls High School boys. A large crowd from this city accompanied the local team to Henrietta and it was due in a great measure to the enthusiastic support rendered by the rooters from this city that the High School boys were enabled to win. These two teams are almost evenly matched, and during the course of the game the ball remained in the center of the field most of the time.

The victorious team won out on forward passes and end runs, and repeatedly made substantial gains by means of these plays. The Henrietta boys played brilliantly, but were held for downs every time that they came near their opponent's goal line and the ball always went over to their opponents.

ponents. The game was remarkable on account of the absence of kicks, a feature which was enjoyed by the spectators who applauded loudly whenever a good play was made by either side.

There were no individual stars, as the excellent training and admirable team work of both elevens, did not present an opportunity for much individual work. Viewed from every standpoint the game was well played, and the absence of squabbling was noticeable.

Karl Hammon, captain of the local eleven, stated this morning that his team was royally entertained by the Henrietta boys, and that every letter of their contract with him was carried out regarding expenses, and all the rest. He says that the members of his team were well pleased with their treatment at the hands of Henrietta, and that the trip was a pleasant one from beginning to end. He also stated that all of the boys who played on the High School team in yesterday's game were bonfire students of the High School, and no others were allowed to play.

The line up for the home team as they entered the game yesterday afternoon was as follows:

Eustis Hickman—Center.
Karl Hammon—Right Guard.
Laverne Somerville—Right Tackle.
Joe Ward—Right End.
Leroy Schuerer—Quarter Back.
Leonard Smith—Full Back.

Will Bachman—Referee.

The result of yesterday's game gives the championship for this season to the Wichita Falls High School, a circumstance which has not happened since these teams have been rivals for gridiron honors. It is not yet known whether another game will be played between Henrietta and a team from this city again this season, but it is probable that there will be no more until next year.

PETITIONS FOR OVERTIME.

Dallas Employe Says He Worked Extra 868 Hours.

Dallas, Nov. 24.—Declaring that he worked 868 hours overtime while in the city engineering department from July 15, 1905, to Feb. 20, 1911, W. M. Tapscott has filed a petition for $572.88 back pay. He says he worked a total of 434 days at an average of ten hours daily.

Under the provisions of the city charter the petitioner states, eight hours constitute a working day in his department, except that in cases of emergency employes may be required to work longer than eight hours, but paid at the rate of time and one-half for overtime.

Pleads Guilty.

Beaumont, Nov. 24.—Lafayette Jones alias H. J. Lewis, charged with using the mails to defraud in connection with the bills of lading, entered a plea of guilty to both indictments in the federal court here Friday afternoon. Sentence will be passed later.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded, that you summon, by making publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the county of Wichita, for four weeks previous to the return day hereof, Jos. Rinefeldt, whose residence is unknown to be and appear before the Hon. County Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be holden in the County of Wichita at the Court House thereof, in Wichita Falls, Texas, on the 4th day of December, A. D. 1911, then and there to answer a Petition filed in said Court, on the 26th day of Oct. A. D. 1911, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 1492 wherein J. R. McMullen is plaintiff and Jos. Rinefeldt is defendant. The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit:

Suit upon two certain promissory notes for the sum of $350.00 each, executed by defendant, on Sept. 28th, 1910, to M. J. Moran, bearing date on the day and year last aforesaid, and payable to order of said Moran at Wichita Falls, Texas, due 60 days after date and January 1st, 1911, respectively, bearing 10 per cent per annum interest until paid, and providing for usual 10 per cent additional for attorney's fees if collected by law, or placed with attorney for collection.

Plaintiff alleges that said M. J. Moran transferred said notes and lien to plaintiff, who is now the legal owner thereof, and that plaintiff has placed said notes in the hands of an attorney for collection; that said notes are entitled to following credits, to-wit: the 60 day note, Sept. 30, 1910, $50.00; Nov. 3, 1910, $100.00; Feb. 1, 1911, $50.00; Feb. 13, $150.00, and note due Jan. 1st, 1911, $200.00, making total amount paid on said notes $350.00, leaving a balance of principal of $159.00, besides interest and attorney's fees; that said notes are past due and unpaid, and defendant, though often requested, refuses to pay same or any part thereof, to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $300.00, said defendant, for purpose of securing said notes, did on Sept. 26, 1910, convey to M. J. Moran, who transferred said lien to plaintiff, the following described personal property, to-wit: one 35 Overland Automobile, 25 horse power, No. 68, being same car purchased from M. J. Moran; 1 John Deere Lister and Planter combined; 1 Poland China sow with 6 shoats, each weighing about 100 pounds, and sow about 350 pounds, 1 dark brown mare, 7 years old marked O K on left hip, 16 hands high; 1 black mare, four years old, named Doll, unbranded; that said conveyance is described and set forth in a certain Chattel Mortgage filed September 26, 1910 in Chattel Mortgage records, Wichita County, Book 14, Page 154; that on March 11, 1911, another date plaintiff at arrest in instance of defendant, repaired and furnished material on said Overland Automobile at various times to the value of $91 for which defendant agreed to pay; that said Automobile is in possession of plaintiff, for the charges last aforesaid, and upon which he asserts his lien for labor and material furnished; and that defendant has failed to pay said account, although same is past due and unpaid, to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $100.00.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays for judgment for his debt, interest, attorney's fees, costs of suit, for foreclosure of his Chattel Mortgage Lien on above described personal property and for foreclosure of his lien for labor and material on said Automobile furnished and performed and that same be decreed to be sold according to law, and for general and special relief.

HEREIN FAIL, NOT, And have you before said Court, on the 1st day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Wichita Falls, this 4th day of November, A. D. 1911.

W. A. REID, Clerk County Court, Wichita County, Texas.

By Carl Yeager, Deputy. 150-156-162-168.

The Ladies Guild of the Episcopal church will hold a fishing pool and candy booth market in the office of the Wichita Falls Laundry Company, next door to the Colonial Theatre, next Saturday, December 2nd. Great preparations have been made for this affair, and a large crowd is expected to attend.

An automobile party composed of Patrick Henry and wife, Sam Sproules, Miss Oliver, and Miss Ruth Traubel, motored over to Henrietta yesterday afternoon to witness the football game there. The trip was made in Mr. Sproules' auto, and the party returned last night. All thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and their pleasure was greatly added to by the fact that the Wichita Falls high school boys won the game.

School Days Recalled.

Mrs. Nina Butler invited a few of her old chums to spend the day with her last Wednesday at her home in Floral Heights, and a number responded, arriving in the forenoon to partake of her hospitality.

An unpretentious, though thoroughly enjoyed dinner, was served, after which the afternoon was spent in school reminiscences, and many an old almost forgotten incident was recalled to memory. The day was filled with enjoyment for all.

Among those entertained by Mrs. Butler were Mrs. King, of Mississippi, Mrs. A. E. Myers, Mrs. Eugene Sherred, Mrs. Wade Walker, and Miss Maud Stoncipher.

Free Band Concert.

The Wichita State Band will play the following concert in the court house yard tomorrow afternoon beginning at 2:30 o'clock:

"From Private to General"—Boehnlein.

"Tannhauser" march—Re Wagner.

"Red, White and Blue" Medley—Boos.

The Gartland (march)—Boehnlein.

The concert will be under the direction of B. H. Boyer, and the program arranged is a most attractive one.

Boy Scouts.

Dr. J. L. McKee's Boy Scouts, troop No. 1, are busy today preparing for a concrete floor to be constructed at their headquarters, Tenth and Travis streets. The concrete floor work is being put down under the supervision of I. H. Roberts, the cement man.

God's word, his deep spirituality, his kind and loving ministrations, his genial and friendly nature, have indeed been a spiritual uplift and inspiration to us all. His time, love and service have been truly and wholly at our command—ever ready to respond to a call for help, sympathy and encouragement from not only members of his charge, but from any who needed and desired help. Hence his presence, wise counsel and words of love and encouragement will be sadly missed by all. We recognize the fact that his place in the pulpit; in our homes and in our hearts will be hard to fill, but since, in conformity with the rules and regulations of our church, our relationship as pastor and charge will be severed, for a time at least, we will feel deeply our loss; and,

Resolved, that we commend Brother Hill and his estimable and beloved wife to the love and esteem of those who are so fortunate among whom God in his love and wisdom may see fit to cast their lot. Our love and prayers shall follow them.

City Tax Collector Harry Robertson says altogether there has been collected twenty-eight hundred and twenty-nine dollars street taxes for the year 1911.

Probably a Lot of Your Troubles Wouldn't Trouble a Want Advertiser at All!

Want advertisers and answers of want advertisements ACCOMPLISH THINGS that other people simply "worry about," and hope that they "will work out somehow, sometime."

With want advertising, the property owner finds either buyers or tenants, while the non-advertiser WAIT'S for someone to "come along" and search for him and for his property.

With want advertising, the worker finds work—the employers finds workers—and the machinery of daily life does not slip a cog.

With want advertising, the used articles are sold to advantage—the business plan finds a "backer"—the buyer and seller discovers each other without any "blind searches," and people come to manage their affairs with the smallest possible amount of vexation, worry or delays.

There's not much nourishment for the "trouble-germ" in any of your affairs if you utilize want advertising to the fullest possible extent.

comes the day when the stately American gobbler places his majestic head beneath the guillotine, the cranberry merchant gets as busy as a prairie dog with two holes, and the small boy begins to make mental measurements of his stomach capacity, wondering if it will hold more than it did last year. The good housewife busies herself preparing all the highly palatable indigestion promoters that have tickled the tastes of the epicurean kings since Methusalem got out of the Gasteria division. Everybody seems glad, even the town dog adds an extra wag of cheer to his caudal appendage on which has hung so many tomato cans and even the grouch so far forgets himself as to smile and admit that the sun has a perfect right to rise and set. All this is occasioned by the fact that the foremost nation of earth worships at the shrine of the Prince of Peace, who in Bethlehem paid the greatest debt that mankind ever owed and is about to give thanks to Him who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb and at whose beck and call this system of worlds and myriad of men move. But there is a pain for every pleasure, a grief for every gladness, and an awakening to every dream—in the cold gray dawn of the morning after—Don't forget we have what you will want. Sheriff Randolph and Constable Pickett have returned from Day Station where they went yesterday to investigate the safe blowing Thursday night.

Mr. Pickett says that the safe was almost completely wrecked in the explosion and about twenty-five dollars taken. The robbers entered the store through a window and in climbing in a button was pulled off the coat of one of the men. Mr. Pickett believes the men walked to Electra following the robbery and has hope that they may yet be caught.

THANKSGIVING DAYS—PAST and PRESENT

A COUNCIL held at Boston
Sept. 8, 1670.

The Council taking into their serious consideration the low estate of the Churches of God throughout the World, and the increase of Sin and Evil amongst our selves, Gods hand following us to punish, Do therefore Appoint the Two and twentieth of this instant September to be a Day of Publick Humiliation throughout this Jurisdiction, and do commend the time to the several Churches, Elders, Ministers and People, solemnly to keep it accordingly: Herby prohibiting all Service work on that day.

By the Council,

Edward Rawson Secreat.

A Thanksgiving Proclamation of 1670—The Earliest One to be found on Record

Thanksgiving day has a long and curious history and did not originate entirely with the Pilgrims at Plymouth. In the Bible—days set apart for giving thanks to God for some special mercy. These days of fast and prayer were customary in England before the Reformation, and later the Protestants appointed certain days of praise and thanks for various blessings. (The discovery of the Gunpowder Plot in 1605 in London brought the common sentiment of Thanksgiving. A scheme had been formed to blow up Parliament House on the fifth of November, the first day of the session. Great quantities of gunpowder and inflammable material were found concealed in the vaults underneath the building. The plot was discovered and the traitors were executed. In consequence of this deliverance the day was ordered to be kept as "a public thanksgiving to Almighty God" every year that "unfailing thankfulness may never be forgotten, and that all ages to come may yield praises to God's divine Majesty for the same." All ministers were ordered to say prayers thereon, for which special prayers were provided. This annual thanksgiving, together with one established later on May 29th, was abolished in 1833 in England for both had fallen into disuse. For several years afterwards, however, these days were recognized in New England by the Episcopal Church on account of its place in their church calendars. England continued to have special days appointed for giving thanks, and as recently as 1872 there was a day selected for the public to offer prayers of thanksgiving for the recovery of the late King Edward, then Prince of Wales, from typhoid fever.

The first thanksgiving on the American continent was held by an English minister named Wollast, and was celebrated off the coast of Newfoundland. This pious man accompanied the Fro-bisher expedition which brought the first English colony to North America. The log of the ship gives the record of the day's observance and tells how on Monday, May 28th, 1578, aboard the "Ayde" the men received communion, and how Minister Wollast in a sermon gave humble and hearty thanks to God for His miraculous deliverance in these dangerous places. This was the first Christian sermon preached in North American waters. Again in 1607 there was a similar service held at Sagadahoc—a little village on the coast of Maine. There is little record of this thanksgiving except that it consumed only a few hours of the day, after which the people returned to their labors.

The great American Thanksgiving Day had its origin in the Massachusetts Colony in 1621, and Governor William Bradford, the first Governor of that little band of sturdy pilgrims, sent out the first Thanksgiving Proclamation, setting apart a day for prayer and rejoicing over the piteous harvest of that year. The Englishmen recalled their Guy Fawkes thanksgiving, and the Dutch remembered hearing their ancestors speak of the great day of praise and prayer held at Leyden, Holland, in 1578, when that city was delivered from a siege. So, the entire colony began their pious preparation for what proved to be the gayest Thanksgiving the colony ever knew. Several days, the Puritan Thanksgiving meant long prayers, long prayers and long faces. Governor Bradford determined that the initial Thanksgiving should be celebrated with no little ceremony and that feasting should play a part in the occasion. History tells us that he sent out four men who were to search for game for the feast. Many fowls were shot—in fact, enough to meet the wants of the colony for a week. Wild turkeys predominated, so it seems that the turkey made its appearance early in the history of Thanksgiving. The day selected was December thirteenth (old style). At the dawn of that day a small cannon was fired from the hill and a procession was formed near the beach, close to where Plymouth Rock now rests. Elder Brewster, wearing his ministerial garb and carrying the Bible, led the procession as it moved solemnly along the street. The men walked three abreast with Governor Bradford in the rear. There was a long service in the meeting house, and after it was over there was a dinner—and such a dinner had never been known in the colony, for apart from the savory turkey and other wild fowl the women had done their share in providing good things from the limited supply at their command. The most dramatic incident occurred when the dinner was in progress, for as if by magic ninety friendly red men under King Massasoit, appeared carrying bunches of venison as an addition to the feast. Thanksgiving Day soon lengthened into days, for the psalm singing and feasting interspersed with war dances was continued several days.

After that Thanksgiving Day took on a different aspect, and occurred at any season; sometimes twice a year, or sometimes a year or two were skipped just as it pleased the Governor of the colony until 1664, when the day became a formal one in Massachusetts. Other colonies followed the example, and pretty soon all New England joined in giving thanks on the same day.

During the Revolutionary War the first four days of the week and will be elaborately entertained. From Toronto they will go to Hamilton for a visit of two days.

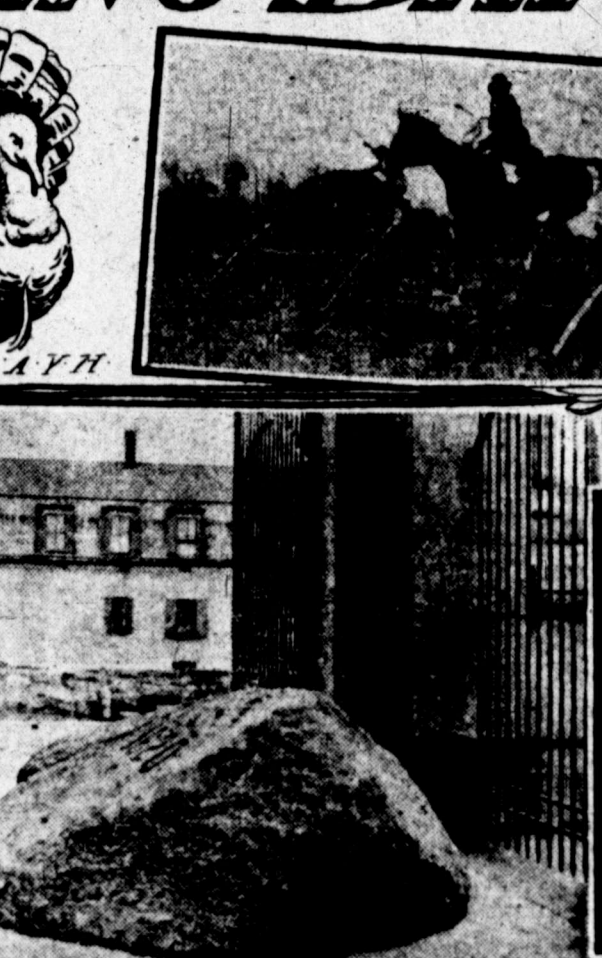

In Boston and in other cities as well exercises will be held Wednesday in celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Wendell Phillips, the noted reformer and orator.

At The Oyster Thanksgiving Feast

Thanksgiving has become a day of feasting and politics and is made the occasion of all sorts of sports and festivities. The craze for outdoor life keeps many from the churches, although the places of worship continue to be filled with "a goodly company," who gather to give thanks to Him "from whom cometh every good and every perfect gift."

The turkey is still king of the Thanksgiving feast and as an addition the good things of the field and vineyard have been added. The famous pigeon-pie, which was a popular Thanksgiving dish of the early part of the nineteenth century, is rarely seen.

In those days the wild pigeons which lighted in great numbers on the buckwheat fields were enticed by a decoy duck within a spring net and caught by the hundred. They were kept alive and fattened on grain until the day before Thanksgiving, when they were killed and made into a pie for the Thanksgiving table.

Many of the old customs of the day have passed out of existence. The turkey raffle with dice is still a custom in some parts of the country. Usually the turkey is a tough bird which was purchased cheap, by the proprietor of the saloon (for the raffle usually takes place there). The raffle, of course, draws a crowd of men who incidentally patronize the bar during the proceedings. Another sportive feature of Thanksgiving no longer in vogue was the shooting match where live turkeys tied to sticks were used. This cruel practice was abandoned because the New England Clergy objected, not on account of its cruelty, but because it kept the men away from the church service. This reason seems to fit in with the idea of the men back in the seventeenth century, who, while they were eating a Thanksgiving dinner of venison discovered that the deer had been killed on Sunday. They at once sent for the Indian and had him publicly whipped and also compelled him to return the money which he had been paid for the deer. This being done they at once resumed their dinner and finished up the venison.

New York City is responsible for the strangest of all Thanksgiving customs and one which has only recently died out. Young men and boys used to dress themselves in fantastic garb and parade the streets—hundreds of the boys wearing their sisters' old clothes, their faces smeared with paint and their heads covered with wigs. As late as 1885, they held parades and made the street hideous with their thumping drums and blaring trumpets. In 1870, this queer performance took on the dignity of a political parade and prizes were distributed to the companies wearing the most unique clothing. Senator William M. Tweed, the famous political boss of that period, was the donor of a prize of $500 in gold. This custom was undoubtedly a survival of Guy Fawkes' days, carried out on a later day in the year, for some unknown reason it was practiced only in New York City.

Thanksgiving has always been a day of charity, and in the old days it was considered bad luck to turn even a tramp from the door, and today our Friendly Inns, almshouses and charitable institutions have their turkey dinners, usually gifts from charitable people. Our prisons, too, serve their inmates with a hearty meal and have some sort of a service of praise. The custom of the great national holiday may have changed somewhat, yet the spirit of the first Thanksgiving which was held at Plymouth, in 1621, still hovers about the national day of prayer and praise of the twentieth century—a spirit of thankfulness to God for his mercy and kindness to the people of our great American Republic.

News Forecast for the Coming Week

Washington, D. C., Nov. 25.—From many leads the high officers of the Roman Catholic Church will gather in Rome at the beginning of the week to participate in, or witness the great ceremonial of the consistory, when the largest number of prelates to be named as cardinals at one time for more than 400 years will receive their insignia of office and honor. The Sacred College will then be raised from forty-six to sixty-six members. Among the new cardinals are the three American prelates, Archbishop Foxley of New York, Archbishop E. O'Connell of Boston and Mgr. Falconi of the papal delegates at Washington. According to the latest advices from Rome the private consistory will be held Monday, and the public one on two days later.

In far off Bangkok, the capital of Siam, representatives of the leading nations of the world will assemble for another interesting ceremony—the coronation of King Maha Vajiravudh, who succeeded to the Siamese throne upon the death of his father a year ago. The coronation ceremonies and festivities will last an entire week.

Another assembly of the nations will be the international conference for the suppression of the opium trade.

fic, which is scheduled to begin its sessions at The Hague. Great Britain, the United States and other nations will participate in the conference, which will try to complete the work begun at Shanghai in 1909.

The governors of ten Western States—California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming, South Dakota and North Dakota—will start from St. Paul Monday night on a 5000 mile tour of the East and middle West, carrying exhibits and the products of the States they represent. The governors will attend conferences and get acquainted with the business men of the many cities they will visit in an effort to attract further public attention to the Western country as a desirable field for the homeseeker and the investment of capital.

Pursuant to the call of Governor Johnson the California legislature will begin a special session Monday for the investigation of matters of State concern, including "woman suffrage, the initiative and referendum, weights and measures, and the issuance of irrigation bonds."

Their Royal Highnesses the Governor General and the Duchess of Cornwall will be the guests of Toronto the first four days of the week and will be elaborately entertained. From Toronto they will go to Hamilton for a visit of two days.

In Boston and in other cities as well exercises will be held Wednesday in celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Wendell Phillips, the noted reformer and orator.

The International Live Stock Exposition will open in Chicago Saturday and the number of entries from all parts of the United States and from Canada and Mexico indicates that a record breaking display of highly bred stock will be exhibited.

Gotham Recalls the Evacuation. New York, Nov. 25.—New York today held its usual observance of Evacuation Day, the anniversary of the evacuation of the city by the British troops, at the end of the revolutionary war. On November 25, 1783, the last British troops on American soil departed from the city, and as their ships made their way down the bay Washington's army entered.

There will be 32 boxes for the Army-Navy game at Philadelphia, the price being $125 each.

Carlisle has been using the famous crisis cross play this season, that was used by Yale in the season of 1888.

Do You Reflect Prosperity?

A well-dressed man always attracts more attention and consideration than a poorly dressed one. If his clothes are correctly styled and well appearing they create a good impression for him. Our New York made clothes are just the kind that create a man in dress style and easily, yet economically. They are fashioned in the very latest and most popular styles.

How You Can Get Better Thanksgiving Food Service Than Usual

It's a very common habit to plan the big dinner of the year far enough ahead and then let all the cooking, etc., go to the day before and the morning of the day.

This throws a large part of the selecting and buying of materials in the two days previous to the big day, at least that has been my experience during the past years.

I've always managed to take pretty good care of all the Thanksgiving business that comes my way but this year I'd like to give you and all my customers still better service and I can do it if you will only arrange to place your orders say on Monday the 27th. I'll deliver the goods at any time you say up to 7:00 o'clock Wednesday night, the 28th, and I'll guarantee you greater satisfaction than usual if you will get your order in early.

Thanksgiving stock will be on display all this week. Fresh goods every day.

Roberts' Mineral Water is highly recommended by physicians and patrons who have tested its merits for indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, kidney and bladder trouble. This water stimulates the secretions of the stomach, increases digestion and favors a more complete absorption of the food, and prevents the action of germs that cause typhoid and other infectious diseases. This water can be purchased at the wells or delivered in jugs or cans. This well is located one mile south of Adams school building in Stuart Heights, two deliveries daily morning and afternoon. G. J. Roberts, Owner. Phone 1501—4 telegraph office.

MARRIED 15 MINUTES AFTER FIRST MEETING

Couple Engaged in Fort Worth Within Five Minutes After Their First Sight of Each Other.

Fort Worth Telegram.

Five minutes after they had looked into each others' faces for the first time, A. D. Shoot of St. Louis and Mrs. M. L. Wilson, a well-to-do widow from Throckmorton, guests at Mrs. F. Withers' boarding house, 404 Taylor street, became engaged and fifteen minutes later were married by Judge Buck of the Fifty-eighth district court late Thursday afternoon.

He was tired of wandering—she was lonely, but here is how the briefest romance on record came about.

Shoot, who is a railroad man, came to Fort Worth Thursday said he was while he was in quest of a boarding house that Cupid turned his steps to ward 404 Taylor street.

He entered and inquired for the land lady. While he waited for her appearance, he fell into conversation with Mrs. Wilson, who told him she had come to Fort Worth to close a deal for a boarding house.

"Haven't you a husband to take care of you?" Smoot inquired, sympathetically.

"No, but if the right man should come I wouldn't stay single long," Mrs. Wilson responded.

Shoot is somewhat rapid in his methods.

"You needn't look any farther,—I'm the right man with a capital 'R,'" he said.

Mrs. Wilson is from the West where challenges seldom fall of acceptance. So they started for the courthouse.

The two arrived at the county clerk's office just as Clerk Beavers was closing up, but he accommodately prepared to issue the license.

When Smoot was asked his own name he spoke up readily enough, despite the dizzying swiftness of the events.

"Dogsone if I know—I'll find out I never saw her until fifteen minutes ago," and Smoot, turning to Mrs. Wilson, learned for the first time his bride's name.

With the license issued in due form Smoot asked Clerk Beavers to get somebody to perform the ceremony.

"We want to get this thing over with, don't we?" he asked, turning to the bride-elect, and she nodded her assent, blushing.

A Star-Telegram reporter called Mrs. Shoot up Friday morning to get the details of the rapid-fire romance.

Mrs. Wilson, who owns a hotel in Michigan, and lately has managed a boarding house in Throckmorton. She has money and is in Fort Worth to close up a deal for a boarding house in this city.

"I was just lonely," Mrs. Smoot said. "I liked his face and although I didn't know his name until after we were married, I have learned to be a pretty good judge of human nature—a woman who runs a boarding house gets to know people right at once, you see."

"I looked him at once as a man who would pay his bills and who would treat a woman right at all times. He has better the longer I know him."

"Where is your husband from?" Mrs. Smoot was asked.

"Why, I'll declare, I don't know—I'll ask him," she replied.

Shoot was called into consultation.

"To tell you the truth, I'm a floater—I'm from all over the world, though my home is in St. Louis, and I came from there Thursday morning."

"I'm a railroad man—been in the business for twelve years, and I'm looking for a job here."

"I was fired as the mischief yesterday afternoon, after my long trip after spending the day looking for a cheap but respectable boarding place (I had just been thinking that I would like to settle down in a home of my own and quit this knocking about all over the world, and when I saw the woman I picked her for the kind of a wife I wanted. That's all there is to it, only you can say that I like her fine and that I've discovered that she's the best cook in Fort Worth."

"I've got an idea that may can't know a woman very well, anyway on till he marries her, and I am backing my judgment to the limit that I'm the luckiest man in your town."

Mr. and Mrs. Shoot will make their home in Fort Worth, remaining at Mrs. Withers' boarding house until Mrs. Shoot closes the business deal that brought her to this city.

MANY BALD HEADS IN CONGRESS

(John Temple Graves in the New York Association.)

The Sixty-second is a bald-headed congress. Forty-three per cent of the representatives are innocent of hair on top of their heads. Forty-five per cent of the Republicans minority are bald. Thirty-seven per cent of the militant majority are hair topless, too.

Never since the government was founded has the visitor to the galleries looked down upon such an expanse of smooth and shining pate. Of the bald heads in this bald congress 84 per cent are set upon the shoulders of young men, under 45.

Why do we see superb specimens of young manhood, like Ollie James and Richmond Hobson and Gordon Lee and Henry Clayton bald, while the gallant speaker in the chair, himself a young man, loses something almost daily from the we scattered hairs that linger on his wise and loyal head?

Is it serious thought, or early palsy, or the absence of sunshine and air in the congressional chamber? Captain Hobson, who thinks that the skull has a telescopic arrangement by which it enlarges under high and serious thought, tightening the skin and making it impossible for the hair to grow. This may explain in part. But if the theory of serious thought were complete, why these two sermons of consecutive tariff debate ought to make the remainder of the house bald-headed.

On the other hand, the lapse of humor in the present congress to relax the skin and scalp sustains the Hobson theory. All this baldness came to congress since John Allen took his droll humor back to Mississippi. Adam Bede has been the only immortal since John Allen's day, and now Adam Bede is gone. The house is furnished for a laugh.

Statemen, however, are beginning to be afraid of humor, and the outlook is therefore gloomy, under the Hobson theory, for the hairdresser, in the house. Why are more Republicans bald than Democrats, baldness is a first cousin to gout and gout is the legitimate child of luxury and monopoly and the spoils system; which are synonymous of Republicanism.

Why are so many Democrats bald because, say the Republicans baldness is akin to drought and barrenness. "And because," Martin Littleton said, "the Republicans have snatched us bald headed so often that the habit has got into our hair."

That baldness is an associate of brains and statesmanship and points proudly to Champ Clark and Henry Clayton and Henry of Texas, and Hobson and Janies. But they forge the full raven locks of Oscar Underwood the curly pate of Rainey of Illinois and the hirsute glory of Martin Littleton.

A glance through the capital galleries reveals the fact that few of the elder statesmen were bald Jefferson's flowing curls were famous Webster's massive brow shown out of abundant hair; Henry Clay's locks came nearly to his shoulders, and John C. Calhoun, that vast, deep-thinking logician, had the full, shaggy mane of a lion. Ben Franklin wore curls and the two Adamses were the only bald headed presidents the country ever knew until the thinning crown of Cleveland, in his second term, brought him into line. And McKinley, the apostle of protection was rapidly fulfilling the Hobson theory when he died at Buffalo. President Taft is a progressive in the bald headed ranks.

John D. Rockefeller is, perhaps the baldest man in all the world. There is not a hair on him from the neck to the top of his shining dome. He has spent thousands of dollars in an effort to grow a suit of hair. He has long since given up, but he told me once that among all the million remedies which quacks and savants had proffered him, he had most faith in the daily anointing of his ivory scalp with ordinary writing ink.

OIL LOTS FOR SALE

ELECTRA OIL FIELD

$10.00 EACH

The Powell Oil and Development Company owns in fee simple 311 acres of land situated about three miles south, 62 degrees east from the Electric Oil Field. This company is putting 87 acres of this land on the market for the purpose of developing holdings.

The land is a part of the H. & G. N. R. R. Survey of land located in Wichita County, Texas, Survey No. 21, Abstract No. 143.

All men of experience consider holdings as being in the heart of the oil bearing territory for the reason that the geological survey marked by the government shows that the oil strata runs northwest and southeast from the town of Electra.

The first shallow oil encountered is about three and a half miles southeast from our holdings. This 87 acres of land is near enough the railroad to afford shipping facilities. It is also within one mile of a two hundred acre tract bought by the Electra Oil Company for tankage purposes.

OUR PLAN.

There are 4184 oil lots as shown by plat on file with the county clerk of Wichita County. Each lot contains 600 square feet. The purchaser of each lot is entitled to one share of capital stock of the company, when same is finally organized. When one half of the lots are sold we will at once begin operations on a deep well to be put down to a depth of 2,000 feet, unless oil or gas in paying quantities is found at a less depth, and when well is completed it will be turned over to the stockholders to be managed by a Board of Directors. 100 lots in the center of the field will be reserved for the deep well. The price of these lots is $10 cash in hand.

THE TIMES EMBROIDERY PATTERNS

By SARAH HALE HUNTER

Sarah Hale Hunter

WHEAT DESIGN FOR NIGHT DRESS OR CHEMISE.

This graceful design for a night dress or chemise is charming when finished and is not difficult to do. The scalloped border should be padded and then buttonholed. The dots are worked as eyelets. The ribbon, wheat and leaves are embroidered in the solid satin stitch with the stems and beard of the wheat in the outline stitch. An initial in the center of the wreath makes a pretty finish. Mercerized cotton No. 30 should be used.

DIRECTIONS FOR TRANSFERRING.

In taking off these patterns, lay a piece of impression paper upon the material, place the newspaper pattern over this, and with a hard, sharp pencil draw firmly over each line. If the material is sheer it may be laid over the pattern and drawn off with a pencil, as the design will show through.

BASEBALL NOTES

Rumor has it that George Stovall, the former Cleveland manager, will pilot the Toledo American Association team next season.

The Three I League is one of the first leagues to plan their schedule for 1912. A four trip schedule calling for 140 games will be adopted.

Oscar Stange, the Detroit backstop, caught 141 of the 154 games played by the Tigers last season. Catcher Ira Thomas, of the Athletics, is second on the list with 103 games to his credit.

Hugh Duffey, who will manage the Milwaukee team next season, is a great lover of football. After the close of the baseball season Hugh is there strong with the rooting for both the Brown and Harvard eleven.

WESTERN GOVERNORS TO TOUR THE EAST

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 25.—The preparations for the tour of the East by the party of eleven governors of many western and northwestern States, scheduled to start from here next Monday, are practically completed. The "Governors' Special" train has been "made up" and fully equipped and stands ready to start on its four-day journey when the signal for departure is given. The train is quite long and consists of several sleeping cars, enough to accommodate the governors and the members of their respective parties, a dining car, baggage car and five cars containing well arranged exhibits of the agricultural, horticultural and mineral resources of the western States represented by their executives in the party.

The governors included in the party will be A. L. Eberhart of Minnesota, John Shafroth of Colorado, Joseph E. Carey of Wyoming, R. L. Vessey of South Dakota, John Burke of North Dakota, James Hawley of Idaho, Edwin Norris of Montana, M. E. Hay of Washington, Oswald West of Oregon, Tasker Oddie of Nevada and H. W. Johnson of California. The governors will be accompanied by their secretaries and members of their staffs. The party will be in charge of former Governor James H. Brad of Idaho, with whom the idea of the trip originated, and Riley Atkinson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Boise, Idaho.

The tour of the western governors the total cost of which will be $75,000 will extend over a period of twenty-one days during which thirty-two cities will be visited. The train will start from here on Monday evening and will make the following stops: Nov. 28, Chicago; Nov. 29, Kalamazoo; Nov. 30, Detroit and Toledo; December 1, Cleveland; Dec. 2, Buffalo; Dec. 3, Rochester; Dec. 4, Syracuse and Utica; Dec. 5, Albany; Dec. 6, Washington; Dec. 8, Baltimore; Dec. 9, Philadelphia; Dec. 11, New York; Dec. 12, Harrisburg; Dec. 13, Pittsburg; Dec. 14, Columbus; Dec. 15, Indianapolis; Dec. 18, St. Louis; Dec. 19, St. Paul.

At all cities where the "Governors' Special" will stop there will be receptions and banquets in honor of the visiting executives. The cars containing the exhibits will be thrown open to the public and there will be some official in every car to answer questions and to distribute literature setting forth the advantages to be derived from the large fertile areas of the West. The exhibits contain specimens of grain and other agricultural products, displays of the various kinds of timber growing in the West and specimens of minerals mined in the various western states. In addition there are hundreds of maps and photographs showing the results of conservation through irrigation, drainage, reclamation and other methods employed to conquer adverse natural conditions in the so-called "arid belt."

One of the special missions of the visiting governors will be to attend the national river and harbor congress at Washington. They will also meet the governors of the southwestern states assembled in Baltimore. A Buffalo the date of the monetary has been changed to December 2, to coincide with the arrival of the visiting western governors. In nearly every one of the large cities visited on their tour the governors will be welcomed and received by the governors of the respective states. During their stay in Washington the governors will formally call upon President Taft at the White House, where they will be entertained as guests of honor.

The object of the tour, as conceived by former Governor James H. Brad of Idaho, is mainly educational. Politics is to be strictly barred and to that reason the urgent invitations of the woman's suffrage advocates, asking the governors to address suffrage trips, have been politely but firmly declined. The governors undertake the trip not only with a view of learning something by observing the conditions in the East, but they hope to convey a valuable lesson to the people of the overcrowded East, by bringing before them convincing proofs of the enormous resources and advantages of the West and informing them in regard to the manifold inducements offered to settlers in the western states. It is confidently expected that this tour will be fruitful of results by giving a new and powerful impetus to the westward movement of immigration and by diverting the westward march of settlers from Canada to the western states of the United States.

ANDREW CARNEGIE 75 YEARS OLD TODAY

New York Nov. 25.—Andrew Carnegie, capitalist, philanthropist, author, and philosopher, entered upon his 75th year today, having been born in Dunfermline, Scotland, November 25, 1837. He is in good health, as well as he has felt in years, as he declared upon his arrival home recently after his summer vacation in his native Scotland. This month Mr. Carnegie turned over $25,000,000 to the Carnegie Corporation of New York, the body incorporated by the legislature last June to take over Carnegie's work in connection with educational institutions, libraries and benevolent funds. The former steel master has given away a total of $222,000,000 of his colossal fortune and declares he is still ready to give.

Change in Ownership

Mooney & Sons have purchased the blacksmith, horse-shoeing, wood-work and general repair shop formerly owned by Mr. Reeves, located on Ohio avenue, near the Alfalfa Lumber Co., and they desire to call the attention of the public to this fact and at the same time solicit their patronage, guaranteeing their work to be first class in every respect.

Bishop Scadding 50 Years Old.

Portland, Oregon, Nov. 25.—The Rt. Rev. Charles Scadding, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Oregon, celebrated his fiftieth birthday anniversary today. Bishop Scadding was born in Toronto, Ontario, and received his education in that city. Previous to his election as bishop in 1906 he had filled pulpits in Middletown, N. Y., Toledo, Ohio, and other cities in the East.

REDUCED RATES FOR INDUSTRIAL CONGRESS

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 25.—Reduced round trip rates have been granted by all of the railroads of the State on account of the third annual convention of the Texas Industrial Congress which will be held in Dallas on Wednesday, December 20. The rate from points within 90 miles of Dallas will be one and one-third fare for the round trip; from points 100 miles from Dallas, $3.50 for the round trip, and for all points in the State over 100 miles from Dallas, one and one-fifth fare for the round trip. Tickets will be on sale at all railroad stations on December 18 and 19 and also on December 20 for trains reaching Dallas before noon of that day. They are good returning for all trains leaving Dallas, December 21.

The $10,000 in prizes offered by the Congress for the best yields of corn and cotton will be awarded at the convention. It is not yet known, of course, who the winners of the prizes will be, as all of the reports are not yet in, but many of the contestants have secured very gratifying yields. Some of them have produced over 100 bushels of corn and others as much as 2 1/2 bales of cotton per acre. Fifty of the leading contestants to date have an average of 45 1/2 bushels of corn and 1 1/2 bales of cotton per acre.

Rich Fabrics and Colors Promise a Brilliant Horse Show

Horse Show Week Establishes the Fur Season—Smart Tailored Suits for Afternoon Sessions—Wraps Almost Oriental in Magnificence of Color and Fabrics—Dainty Footwear.

After this year, the old Madison Square Garden, the home of the horse show for so many seasons, will be torn down and special preparations are being made to have the last session of the show in the old quarters the most brilliant event of the sort in years. The horse show in itself is not the important event that it once was, but it still marks a division of time in the course of the fashionable seasons, and engagements are dated "before" and "after" the Horse Show, or "during Horse Show week" as they were when this event was one of the most important functions of the year.

The boxes are subscribed for by well-known fashionable folk. And one is sure to see important personages in the social world at both afternoon and evening sessions; though the uninitiated one is apt to make amusing mistakes, for the owners of a box are seldom in that box. Much visiting is done from one box to another and very seldom indeed does a member of the smart set sit through a whole session in one chair. As a matter of fact the wooden chairs are too uncomfortable for prolonged occupancy, though the rich wraps thrown over them make them look quite luxurious from a distance. Wraps are worn from the carriage or lounge directly to the box, with no stop at a dressing room, as in the theatre or restaurant; and woman in evening dress never steps from her box without drawing her wrap over her shoulders. Gowns without wraps over them are never seen in the evening on the promenade, though the occupants of the boxes sometimes come down and walk around the oval to vary the monotony of sitting still so long.

Special Preparations Everywhere for Horse Show Week.

In a sense the week of the Horse Show at the Garden is a sort of festival or carnival throughout the city—or at least that portion of it that may be classed as the fashionable part. All the restaurants and hotels make special preparations; for luncheons, teas and dinners before and after the show are very popular and in every restaurant is a horse show exhibit of yellow chrysanthemums, and equine favors—little horses strapping, riding crops and other toys which are distributed among the guests. The shops along Fifth Avenue and Broadway are decorated with yellow chrysanthemums—the Horse Show flower and the confectioners' shops are appropriately trimmed with bon-bon pastries, pastries and table favors.

Supper parties after the Horse Show are a feature of the week at Sherry's, Delmonico's, the Ritz, the Plaza and other restaurants patronized by the fashionables, and beautiful evening frocks are seen at these suppers—frocks that have been worn at the Horse Show earlier in the evening. Many women "take in" the Horse Show on the way to a ball or other private entertainment, and altogether there is plenty of brilliancy in the boxes to satisfy the woman who coaxes her husband to take her to the Horse Show just to see the styles.

When Furs Make their Appearance.

Before Horse Show week furs may be donned, if the weather is cold enough, but they are not at all an essential part of the toilette. After Horse Show week winter styles are supposed to be firmly established and furs are worn, whether or not Jack Frost seems fit to make the air chilly. Women parade around the arena at the Horse Show fairly loaded down with magnificent furs, with a temperature of Indian Summer outside. If need be the coat or wrap is checked at the checkroom window, but the furs, never. The fur feature of the show, however, is always the display of superb coats and the very newest Paris models in seal skin, chinchilla and other costly pelts are to be seen. This year fur is extravagantly fashionable, and was clearly evidenced at the Grand Prix du Automne in September when the superb fur coats, wraps, hats and muffs were the talk of the town for forty-eight hours afterwards. Seal skins grow higher and higher in price with each succeeding year, and now sable is almost prohibitive in cost, since the decree of the Duma against the trapping of seals for three years. So much fur is used in garments and trimmings now that the supply is exhaustively drawn upon, and inevitably all pelts must bring much higher prices.

A gown and wrap intended for Horse Show wear this month are illustrated. The wrap of chinchilla is matched by a large muff and modish toque. The exquisite beauty of the fur and its artistic arrangement in striped effect are clearly shown in the picture. Many thousands of dollars must be paid for a wrap of this high character, especially when the wrap is accompanied by muff and hat. The gown worn under this chinchilla wrap is also trimmed with fur—a narrow band of skunk going around the hem of the skirt and the short train. These fur bands on evening skirts help to weight the soft thin fabric and make it drag more gracefully over the floor; though any woman who has any respect for her own trailing draperies will lift them carefully from the rough board floors and stairs of the Horse Show.

The fur-trimmed frock pictured with the chinchilla coat is made of the broadest crepe de chine, the new material that has been taken up furiously by Paris this fall. These figured crepes are really beautiful, though some of the color effects are a bit bizarre and striking, according to sensitive taste. All the new garish colors, however, are called Oriental, and the woman who loves red, yellow, orange and royal purple may have all these tones in one costume combining them with gold lace, and certainly she is very splendid and "East Indian" in effect. Paul Poiret especially loves the strong crude colors, but with his masterly skill he has a way of combining crude tones so that they are interesting and pleasing. If striking if everything, as everything Poiret created undoubtedly is.

Fur, Lace and Velvet in the Sams.

If you happen to have in the hair-loom chest, and old crocheted bedspread by all means bring it out now, hang it over gleaming satin, border it with fur and have the most stunning sort of a wrap. These heavy, hand-crocheted wraps are immensely fashionable in combination with fur and some of the most interesting furs that have come from Paris this fall are made of this heavy lace. A wrap by Francis is pictured, which shows a heavy square of heavy white crocheted lace made into a regal eveningcoat. The lace is allowed to fall in graceful folds over the shoulder, the sleeve being made of mole skin, attached to the lace in a wide straight band. A very straight band of mole skin borders the lace from the knee down and the square front corners of the lace are faced with pink velvet and allowed to fall back in rever effect, a narrow strip of the mole skin forming a medallion collar. If anything could be more suggestive of an ordinary crocheted bedspread than the lace portion of this wrap it would be hard to find, but no wrap sent over from Paris this season for American wear has been more beautiful and distinguished than the Francis combination of crocheted lace and fur.

Another fur and lace wrap is shown in the smaller picture illustrating the new French beaver hat. This wrap is made of Berry Battenburg lace mounted over gold colored velvet and the trimming is skunk—one of the most attractive of the dark brown furs.

Dashing Shapes Fancied in Millinery. There is no better place to display a handsome hat than in the Horse Show box, where it may be observed by thousands of eyes, and where there is no wind, as there is out of doors, to disturb the grace of line. Milliners outdo themselves in their efforts to evolve striking hats for Horse Show week and in the boxes large picture hats are the rule, though on the crowded promenade the small toque or turban is more comfortable. The latest Paris addition to the millinery field is the dashing silk derby, with plumes poised at the side. Indeed these glossy silk beaver hats are fast making themselves felt in fashion.

They are seen also in sailor and Continental shapes with plain band trimmings of heavy ribbed ribbon, for wear with tailored suits, but the striking type of silk beaver is the dashing derby shape, rolled up at the sides and heaped with plumes. These hats remind one of the riding hats worn in the thirties, when velvet habits, tall beaver hats and plumes were considered the acme of elegance.

Black Riding Habits Worn at the Horse Show.

The girl who rides now dresses as simply and as mannishly as is consistent with feminine garb, and at the Horse Show the fair riders are very sombre—and very elegant indeed, with faultlessly cut black habits, black silk beaver hats and a bit of white showing in neckstock and garter in the coat lapel. Cross saddle habits are not worn at the Horse Show where most formal and conventional riding apparel is demanded by the judges. Last season the young riders walked around the ring in the afternoon with big polo coats over their habits. This year most of these girls are planning to wear instead of the polo coat, a big smart coat of duofaced fabric, with the reverse side showing gaily in contrasting collars and cuffs.

Correct Street Costume for the Promenade.

Unless one has an invitation to sit in a box, full evening dress is not worn at the Horse Show. In the evening the promenaders wear—if they are women—handsome frocks accompan-led by furs and invariably—hats. In the afternoon smart tailored suits of frock frocks are the rule. This year tailored suits are of two sorts: correct yet simple little frocks of good-looking mixtures trimmed with satin braid or velvet, and very rich velvet suits. The woman that is planning to wear either sort at the Horse Show will see to it that it is accompanied by impeccable accessories in the way of veil, white gloves and corselet boots. This year boots—buttoning snugly up over the ankles are the rule with all street costumes, and slippers or pumps are worn only with evening or house frocks. Some very dainty boots intended for Horse Show wear were seen the other day. The tops were of satin with small black satin buttons set closely together. The lower part of the shoe was of patent leather, with the thinnest of soles and dainty French heels. Such boots are more becoming to the foot than even slippers, and certainly seem more appropriate with raiment intended for wear in the street.

Pretty Fur Wraps With Afternoon Gowns.

The little wrap of Persian lamb and skunk will be worn at the Horse Show over a pretty frock which is so oriental in coloring that I must describe it to you. There is a tunic of permo fabric—a crepe like weave of wool and mohair—in a bright shade that is almost like brick red. This is heavily bordered with orange, a deeper red and Chinese blue color, the whole toned down with black. Over the bodice of flame red chiffon there is a little bolero of black satin and the lower part of the skirt is also made of black satin.

Very Oriental also is the East Indian wrap of Poiret which looks simple in the photograph but which is really striking because of its coloring. The material is orange velvet with two stripes of green crepe, one draped in sash fashion, the other over the shoulders.

Every other woman in the boxes carries a jeweled locket which is used instead of an ordinary opera glass to view the events on the tan bark. These lockettes add a smart and pleasant touch to the costumes. Though handsome jewels are worn by the well-gowned woman at the show they are not a feature of the occasion as they are at the opera. In fact the really smart woman now though richly and exquisitely dressed for her box at the Horse Show, seeks rather to avoid than to court a conspicuously splendid effect.

THE BIG BUSY STORE

Pennington's

THE BIG BUSY STORE

Fads and Fashions

New York, Nov. 25.—The enterprises of the American merchants catering to the tastes and needs of the women in all matters pertaining to fashion, be it wearing apparel, millinery or some other part of feminine equipment, is almost unlimited. There was a time when imported models of gowns or wraps could be found only in the more exclusive dealers on Fifth Avenue, but now even the department stores have their quota of Paris gowns and wraps for evening wear, only one costume of a particular design being shown in a single city, however. American buyers order these gorgeous models from the French makers, who duplicate the same gown several times, each model going to some important shop in a different town.

In anticipation of the social events of Thanksgiving week, with its dinners, theatre parties, etc., many handsome dinner gowns, dance frocks etc., have been turned out by some of the fashionable establishments for their wealthy and fastidious patrons. One of the shops made a most charming little dinner dance frock after a model by Drecoll. This frock has a petticoat of lace flounces, very scantily gathered over a drop of pink chiffon. The lightness of this skirt may be imagined. Above it falls a tunic with side pieces reaching down as far as the knees. This tunic, of palest blue velvet, is scalloped at the bottom and edged with silver fringe, and looks much like one of the lambskins which used to be draped over marble mantle pieces when the latter were considered unsightly. At the edge of the blue velvet tunic is a festoon design of applied roses in pink and silver. The bodice is made of lace like the skirt, crossed demurely over the bust and held at the waist under one big pink and silver rose. The sash of this frock—a folded strip of blue velvet with a flange, pupa bow—is almost at the natural waist line. In fact, many of the new evening frocks show a tendency to ward a lower waist line.

An extremely handsome dinner gown which is to be worn at a Thanksgiving dinner party, is of white thread lace and white net separated by bands of gray velvet, the whole tunic dropped over black which makes the net and lace gray in tone like the velvet bands. The bodice is of white lace and gray hulle with silver fringe.

Purple is undoubtedly one of the most fashionable colors of the moment. It is used for entire costumes or as trimming and appears in a great variety of shades. A very handsome model of a winter gown, shown in one of the fashionable shops, was of plum purple with a straight narrow skirt trimmed below the knees with a deep fold of the material, piped with black satin. There were two swinging panels at the back, which gave a broad effect across the waist at the back. This, by the way, is one of the dominant features of this winter's styles, and will be seen on every kind of gown.

The coat was quite large and did not follow the slim, straight lines that all the tailors made conspicuous last summer. It had a black satin core across the back a little above the natural waist, which held the material in, and a peplum, or lower part which fitted the hips snugly and reached half way to the knees. There were two buttons to fasten it above the waist line in front, and a voluminous collar, square across the back and running to points at the waist. The material was French gray broadcloth, finished off with a band of the material, and with an Egyptian design in tubular black braid in the middle of the back.

Scarves are an important item in a woman's costume this season. There are designs innumerable, of satin lined with bright-bued, silk, of the sheerest chiffon, lined with satin, of lace, of spangled net, in short of any article which can be artistically converted into a scarf. Those made of satin and chiffon are gathered into a sort of tassel like bunch at the ends with some sort of a jeweled ornament as a pendant.

The straight satin scarf which is from nine to twelve inches wide and about one hundred inches long, is not only fashionable and pretty but serviceable and practical. It may be wound about the throat on a cold day and it may be arranged to protect the chest. Some of the newest scarves are edged with transparent or wooden beads, or a deep band of embroidery. Some have a deep band of fringe and others are finished with a deep hem, above which a fine spray of embroidery spreads out over the scarf, reaching up a foot or more. Chiffon edged with marabout, velvet lined with satin, and trimmed with fur, and a great many other designs are also shown.

Marabout, ostrich feathers and combinations of the two are the feathers used in the latest neck pieces and muffs. Not for many years have these accessories proved as smart as now. So beautifully is it manipulated that many prefer sets of marabout instead of fur, especially as they may be consistently worn the year around. It is light in weight, soft, becoming and quite inexpensive.

A square collar of white marabout is bordered in black marabout, while a bon of white marabout has an ostrich blue dash. Another fancy is to have muffs and collars constructed from alternating bands of shirred chiffon and marabout. The new ostrich boas are charming. Instead of the old time short ostrich, the boas of this season are made of tied ostrich, and most frequently uncurled. This produces a wonderful fringed effect so fashionable at the present time. In all hat trimmings feathers take the lead. Although the willow plumes have dropped somewhat from favor, the French ones are being much worn.

New blouses and gimpes show either a closing directly in front, or else lapped to one side under three large buttons. Whether the buttons are large or small, they are conspicuous for their beauty and decorative quality.

The skirts of the new three piece costumes are usually made with one of the long tunic effects, with either a real or simulated underskirt of another material or of the same material in a contrasting color.

Sometimes there seems to be an effort to increase the size of the waist by belting the figure just at the thickest point, and even then, belting it loosely. There are no more tight waistbands in the fashionable world.

The most conspicuous features of autumn millinery are the great height of the tall-peaked crowns, appearing in all sorts and conditions of hats, and the trimming, which is also employed to add to the towering effects.

Pierrot millinery shapes in velvet, scratch beaver or French felt with high round-topped crowns and slightly rolled brims will be a popular feature of this fall's millinery.

After black and white the most popular color in millinery is purple.

IT'S ALWAYS BAD.

The Best of Backs Are Bad When They Ache and Wichita Falls People Know It.

A bad back is always bad. Bad at night when bedtime comes. Just as bad in the morning. Ever try Doan's Kidney Pills for it?

Know they are for backache and for other kidney ills? If you don't, some Wichita Falls people do.

Read a case of it: J. R. Henson, 805 Seventh street, Wichita Falls, Texas, says: "My back was very lame and painful and had headaches and dizzy spells. There was a dull, nagging pain across my kidneys, and although I tried a great deal of medicine, I was unable to get relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. Often in the morning I felt depressed and after I had been sitting for awhile, I could not stand straight, owing to the pain in my back. Doan's Kidney Pills removed all these symptoms of kidney complaint and my experience was so satisfactory that I feel justified in recommending this remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WITH THE BOXERS.

Ray Branson and Tommy Howell will clash once more, the bout to take place in Indianapolis.

Harry Lewis has returned to France where he hopes to make another cleaning among the French boxers.

Win or lose in his bout with Bombardier Wells, Fred Storbek will meet Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh, in London December 27.

SAID SHE WOULD FAINT

Mrs. Della Long Unable to Stand On Her Feet More Than a Few Minutes at a Time.

Fondren, Ga.—Mrs. Della Long, of this place, in a recent letter, says: "For five or six years, I suffered agonies with womanly troubles. Often, I couldn't sit up more than a few minutes at a time, and if I stood on my feet long, I would faint. I took Cardui, and it helped me immediately. Now, I can do my work all the time, and don't suffer like I did." Take Cardui when you feel ill in any way—weak, tired, miserable, or under the weather. Cardui is a strength-building tonic medicine for women. It has been found to relieve pain and distress caused by womanly troubles, and is an excellent medicine to have on hand at all times.

Cardui acts on the womanly constitution, building up womanly strength, toning up the nerves, and regulating the womanly organs.

Its half century of success is due to merit. It has been used by thousands. Will you try it? It may be just what you need. Ask your druggist about Cardui. He will recommend it.

N. B.—Write to: Lander Veterinary Dispensary, Chicago Medicine Co., Cincinnati, Tenn. for Cardui, and other medicines. Send for literature. "Woman's Friend," sent in plain wrapper, no charge.
