Early voting period opens Wednesday

Early voting in the November presidential election begins Wednesday on the third floor of the county courthouse.

The turnout for the election is anticipated to be a good one, particularly because there are five locally-contested races. Voters will also choose state and U.S. legislators, court justices, and a president and vice president.

The early voting period runs weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m, through Nov. 1 in the county courtroom. The election will be held Tuesday, Nov. 5.

All five locally-contested races could be close ones. Two of them feature incumbents, but three offices are assured of having new officeholders. They include the office of county sheriff, where longtime lawman Keith Collier is retiring and has not sought re-election. Seeking to replace him are two current deputies, Republican Kerry Fritz and Democrat Darren Jackson.

The election will also determine a new county clerk. Seeking the office are Democrat Denise Beck and Republican Joan Bunch. The nominees were selected by their parties following the recent retirement of former clerk Frances Billingsley.

And looking to replace Lealand W. "Pete" Greene as county attorney are two local attorneys in private practice — Republican Michael W. Hartman and Democrat Marvin Sentell.

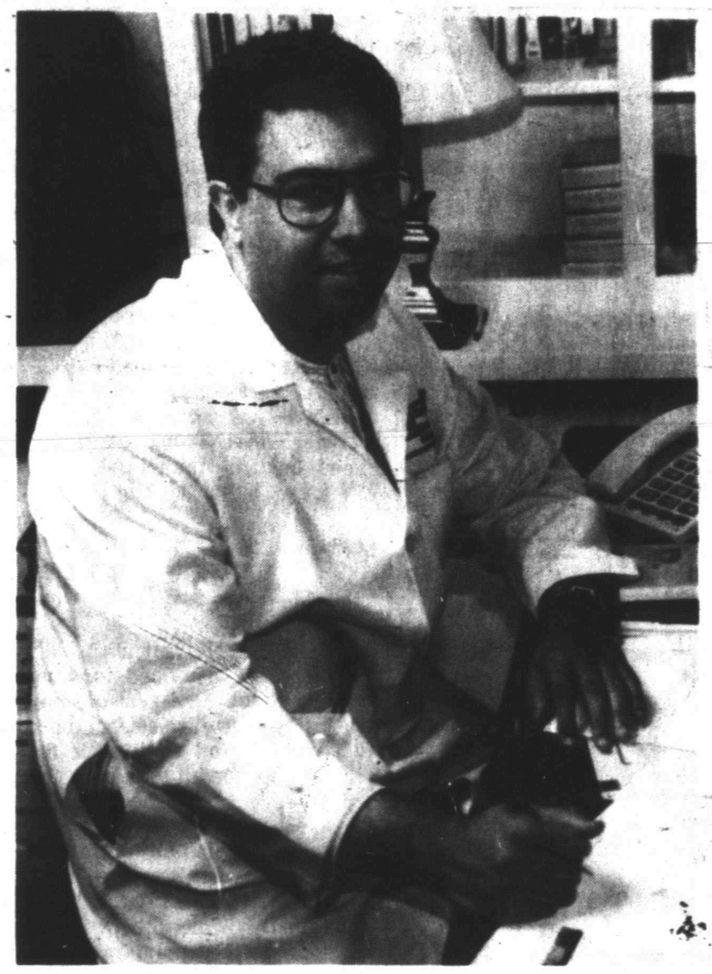

Greene won't return as county attorney because he is running for district attorney against incumbent Dana W. Cooley, a Republican who was appointed to the position last year. Greene is a former Scurry County DA, and the Democratic nominee.

In the other contested race, Precinct 3 Commissioner C.D. Gray Jr. is facing a challenge from local businessman Howard Limmer, the Republican nominee.

Four Democrats are running unopposed in November. They are Ralph Trevey, for Precinct 1 commissioner; Rona Sikes, for county tax assessor; Rodney Josey for Precinct 1 constable; and Billy Joe Gannaway, for Precinct 2 constable. The only Republican running unopposed is District Judge Ernie Armstrong.

Other races of local interest include U.S. Representative and State Representative. For U.S. Representative of District 17, Democratic incumbent Charles W. Stenholm is challenged by Republican Rudy Izzard of San Angelo. In the District 70 State Representative's race, David Counts (D-Knox City) is being challenged by Scott McLaughlin (R-Big Spring).

Snyder gets new physician

To join staff at St. Mary Healthcare Center

St. Mary Healthcare Center has recently recruited a new doctor to join the staff and increase patient access for Snyder and area patients.

Nazem Abdelfattah, M.D., has started seeing patients at the center's location on 5301 Trinity Blvd., Suite D, bringing the number of St. Mary physicians in Snyder to four.

Until the new clinic opens, Abdelfattah is sharing office space with Dr. Paul Thompson.

"He's definitely a big help to accommodating the patient population," said Carla Nunley, clinic coordinator.

Dr. Abdelfattah moved to Snyder from Detroit, where he attended medical school at Wayne State University and completed a residency in family practice at Grace Hospital.

Prior to coming to Snyder, Abdelfattah resided in Lubbock for a month, where he worked with other St. Mary clinics in the area.

Originally, Dr. Abdelfattah was not expected to arrive until the after the opening of the new clinic. However, that changed because Snyder needed the services of another family practitioner sooner.

He has practiced in Snyder since Aug. 30.

Dr. Abdelfattah said he learned of the opening in Snyder through a physicians referral service. A great attraction to his current position was the immediate ability to make a positive impact upon a community.

"I wanted to practice rural medicine," said Dr. Abdelfattah. "There's a lot more opportunity for family practitioners to practice in terms of patient care and procedure."

The St. Mary organization, a primary care network in 22 communities, was an attractive system with a strong background, said the physician.

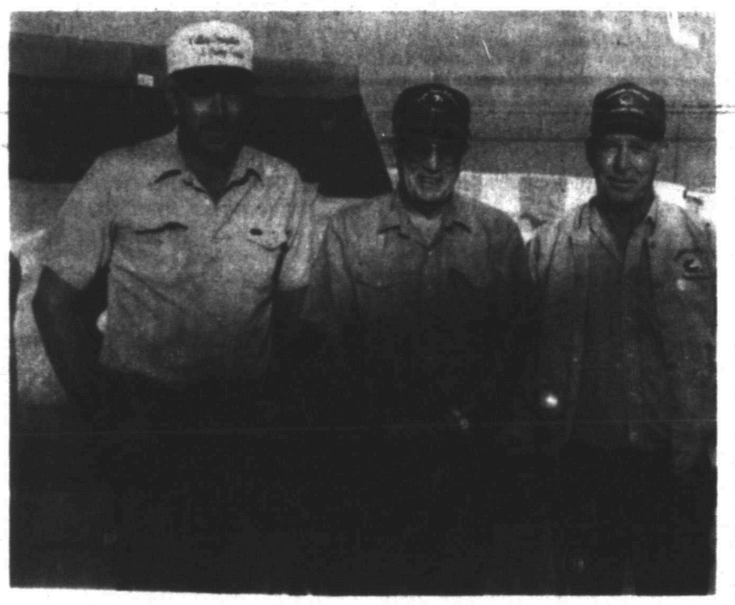

"They seem to be very successful in terms of patient care and the business aspect of medicine, too," he said.

Dr. Abdelfattah said he likes Snyder and its residents, who are "nice and more laid back" than larger cities.

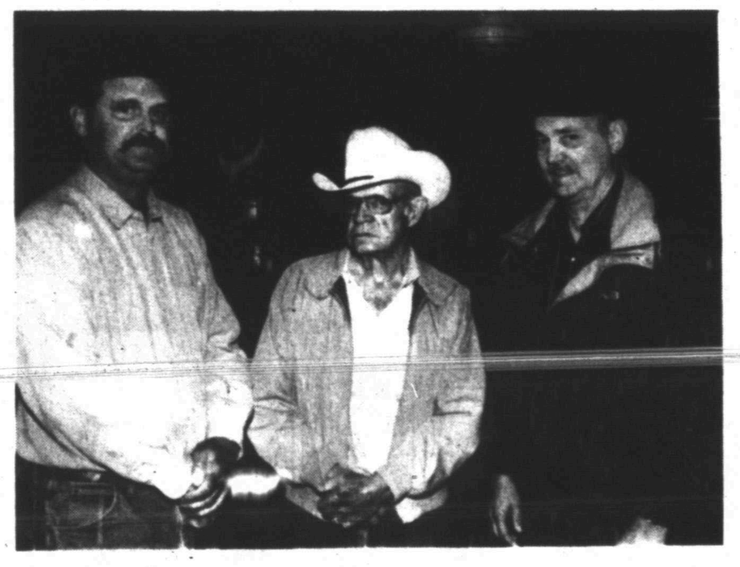

His interest in science eventually drew him to medicine — that, plus many of his friends were studying to become doctors. He soon discovered that it was what he wanted to do.

The new doctor enjoys basketball, swimming and going to the movies.

He is single.

High court to review '93 law on religious freedom

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taking on what could become an epic constitutional battle, the Supreme Court today agreed to judge the validity of a 1993 federal law aimed at enhancing Americans' religious freedom.

The court will use a zoning dispute between a Roman Catholic church and Boerne, Texas, to decide whether Congress exceeded its authority in passing the Religious Freedom Restoration Act.

The law gives far more weight to claims that governmental actions violate religious freedom.

The Texas church invoked the federal law after it was blocked by a local landmark-preservation ordinance from building an addition. Church officials said the city's action violated their religious freedom,

The the city attacked the constitutionality of the federal law.

A federal appeals court upheld the 1993 law in siding with the church. The justices now are being urged to rule that Congress in enacting the law wrongly usurped power from state and local governments and from the Supreme Court itself.

A decision is expected by July.

In other action, the court:

—Agreed to use a New York case to decide whether states may tax the income of hospitals run by employee welfare benefit plans.

THE SDN COLUMN

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Tension is the price paid for trying to be a race horse instead of a plow horse."

Think Rain!

At last week's Keith Collier Day luncheon, it was District Judge Ernie Armstrong's comment that drew the best laugh.

After all the praise had been heaped on the deserving sheriff, Collier expressed his thanks to various people and groups for their support over the years.

Judge Armstrong, the master of ceremonies, quipped, "You've just heard Sheriff Collier utter the most words ever at one time."

After the luncheon, long-time county commissioner C.D. Gray disagreed with the judge about Sheriff Collier being a man of few words. "You should hear him at budget time."

Think Rain!

Despite slow moving lines, we heard numerous positive comments about the food.

Among those who didn't mind the long lines were the politicians. Congressional candidate Rudy Izzard of San Angelo was one of the last to be served. "It couldn't have worked out any better," he beamed. "I got to meet a lot of people."

Think Rain!

Jerald Garner, Colonial Hill director of music, was working the sound system, and he told us a story on Dr. Charles Church.

An old dog, practically a family member, was brought to the Aggie's clinic. The owner said, "I think the dog is almost dead."

Church gave it a thorough examination. First he went up and down the dog's back, trying to detect a pulse. He then prodded the pooch in sensitive areas, but there was no sign of life.

Finally, Church took a scraggly cat from a cage and placed it on the exam table. The cat bristled, and carefully circled the dog.

"Yep, said Church. There's no sign of life. We had better put the ole boy to sleep."

After the deed was done, Church presented a bill to the owner whose grief was snapped by the total.

"This can't be right, $800?"

So Church gave him an itemized statement...$20 for the office call, $80 to dispose of the animal — and $700 for the cat scan.

Transplant may help child with brittle bones

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — After 35 broken bones, 16-month-old Lauren Bryant is looking for a medical breakthrough. Without one, it's unlikely she'll ever walk or live to see 30.

But for Lauren's family there is new hope. Doctors at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital think they have figured out a way to make the child's brittle bones grow stronger.

Lauren is the first person to have a bone marrow transplant in hopes of lessening the effects of osteogenesis imperfecta, a genetic disease that can leave its victims with bones so fragile they break with the slightest twist.

Even dressing Lauren is a risky business.

"We can't pull anything over her head because we might break the bones in her skull," said her mother, Kathryn, of San Antonio.

Doctors believe the new bone marrow, from Lauren's 6-year-old brother, Christopher, will stir the production of normal bone cells.

Prior to the transplant, doctors had to get rid of Lauren's existing bone marrow with chemotherapy. Powerful drugs keep her body from rejecting the transplant.

"That's the scariest part," Mrs. Bryant said. "But if there's a chance, you've got to go for it. When she's older and in a wheelchair, I don't want to say to her, 'Well, there was this chance but I was too scared and didn't do it.'"

Up to 50,000 Americans are believed to suffer from the disease to varying degrees.

The hardest-hit victims die at birth or soon afterward. Victims with milder forms can lead relatively normal lives, though they are generally short and have more broken bones than other people.

"Lauren has the most severe form that one can have and survive long enough that we can hopefully do something about it," said Dr. Edwin Horwitz, the child's physician at St. Jude.

Chances are slim she will live to 30 years old unless some new treatment is found. She cannot sit up, roll over or crawl.

"What's going to happen to Lauren a year from now? I can tell you what I hope, but I don't know," Horwitz said.

He and his colleagues are looking now for five other children to join Lauren in the study.

EDITORS: Parents who think their children might be able to take part in the study can call St. Jude at 901-495-2529.

'Material Girl' gives birth to baby girl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Madonna's a momma.

The 38-year-old pop diva and actress gave birth Monday to a healthy 6-pound, 9-ounce girl, Lourdes Maria Ciccone Leon.

Madonna, the baby and father Carlos Leon were resting comfortably, spokeswoman Liz Rosenberg said. It is the first child for Madonna Louise Veronica Ciccone. The 30-year-old father is her personal trainer and boyfriend.

The girl was born at 4:01 p.m. at Good Samaritan Hospital, Rosenberg said. No other details were released.

Paul Fleiss, father of Hollywood madam Heidi Fleiss, told TV crews as he left the hospital that he was the baby's pediatrician.

Fans all over the world celebrated the news of the baby. MTV ran a series of Madonna videos along with congratulatory messages from fans on the bottom of the screen.

The New York Daily News reported earlier this month that Madonna had wanted a natural childbirth, took birthing classes, considered having the baby at home and planned to breast-feed the girl.

Gossip columnists had also said she would name her baby "Lola." Instead, she settled on Lourdes (pronounced LOR-dis). It also is the name of a French city — (but pronounced LUURD) — where millions seek healing each year at a shrine to the Virgin Mary. Maria is Leon's mother's name.

Reporters staked out the hospital late into the night, but it was unclear whether Madonna and child were still there.

Months before announcing her pregnancy, Madonna told ABC's "Primetime Live" she planned to take out a personal ad to find a suitable candidate for "the fatherhood gig."

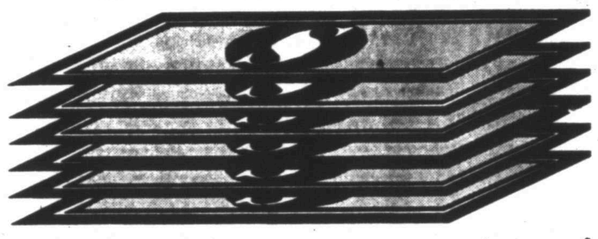

Leon got the job but Madonna did not use him as a "stud service," she says in November's Vanity Fair, which published excerpts of a diary she kept while filming "Evita" in Argentina.

Madonna says she didn't get pregnant for "shock value" and in one entry describes first seeing her fetus during an ultrasound test:

"I was stunned when I saw on the ultrasound a tiny, living creature spinning around in my womb. Tap-dancing, I think. Waving its tiny arms around and trying to suck its thumb. I could have sworn I heard it laughing."

Once she was pregnant, the woman who has mass-marketed herself through incarnations as actress, pop diva, vamp and "boy toy," suddenly became a recluse.

She was rarely photographed while pregnant and was reported to be scaling down her lifestyle this summer.

Children lived with slain mom's body

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Neighbors noticed nothing unusual about the 8-year-old boy and his 14-year-old sister for those two weeks. And even after the children opened all the doors and windows, no one noticed the smell.

Sgt. Bob Mitchell noticed it right away as he drove up to the house where police say the children lived while their slain mother's body decomposed in a closed bedroom.

"I could smell it without our car windows being down," Mitchell said Monday.

The children's father stabbed and beat 38-year-old Janice Castorena, threatened to kill them if they told, and fled, police said. For two weeks, the children visited friends, made meals and kept to themselves while living in the home.

"I can't believe that the girl was in our house a few days ago and not saying a word, not acting like anything was bothering her," said neighbor Robin Casey, adding that the girl had come over to visit her children.

Police found the woman's body after the boy purposely got caught shoplifting at a supermarket late Sunday to attract attention, Mitchell said. The boy told officers that he thought his mother was dead.

Investigators searched today for the father, Robert Castorena, 38, a high school social studies teacher who quit his job last month and vanished about two weeks ago. A motive in the slaying was not immediately clear.

"As he left he said 'I'm going to find the enemy,'" Mitchell said. "If he has a fixation on an 'enemy,' he could harm anybody. He's got a 10-day start and he could be anywhere."

Investigators said they believe Mrs. Castorena was knifed and bludgeoned to death on Oct. 1 and that her husband left within two days. Before he left, Castorena held a knife to his daughter's throat and warned her not to go to police, Mitchell said.

"She pleaded for her life, saying she wanted to have children some day," he said.

Castorena also threatened the boy while holding the knife, Mitchell added.

Officers found the boy's sister in the home; Mrs. Castorena's body was on a bedroom floor.

Police don't believe the children had seen their mother because the body hadn't been moved from where it was blocking the bedroom door.

Residents in the upscale neighborhood, with manicured lawns and tree-shaded lanes about five miles from the state Capitol, told police they noticed nothing amiss with the children, except that they seemed quiet.

"They kept to themselves. They weren't very friendly," said neighbor Ian Brooks. "They were very quiet, and normally kids scream and shout all over."

Neighbor Joyce Mitchell, no relation to Sgt. Mitchell, said the shades in the Castorena home were normally drawn and the door closed. But last weekend, she said, she drove by and noticed all the doors and windows open.

In Case You Were Wondering About
FLU IMMUNIZATION
The flu is a virus that passes from an infected person to the nose or throat of others. It can cause fever, chills, headaches, coughs, sore throats and muscle aches. Although Influenza can make people of any age ill, most recover after only a few days. Thousands of people a year die from this illness - mostly elderly people.
Should you be immunized? Yes, you should if you are age 65 or older, if you have a chronic medical condition, or if you have a serious long-term health problem with heart, lung, or kidney disease, anemia, diabetes, asthma, or AIDS. In addition, if you work or live with people who fall in the above categories or if you are a healthcare worker or work or attend a school or college. This will help to prevent an outbreak.
The Scurry County Health Unit will be giving flu shots on October 22, 24 and 25th. Most of the local physicians will also be giving them, as well.

CRMWD releases 35,000 acre-feet of water from Ivie

BIG SPRING — A release of about 35,000 acre-feet of water from Lake Ivie into the lower Colorado River began on Monday and will continue for about two weeks. The release will have little or no impact to most dwonstream water users, according to officials from the Colorado River Municipal Water District and the Lower Colorado River Authority.

The release is being made under the provisions of a 1985 settlement agreement between the two agencies. Water supplies in the Colorado River basin have been significantly reduced because of the ongoing drought. This release will raise the level of Lake Buchanan by about two feet and increase the combined storage of lakes Buchanan and Travis to about 67 percent of normal storage levels. The lakes' combined storage is currently at about 65 percent.

The water being released from Lake Ivie will contain salinity levels that are higher than those normally found in the river downstream of Lake Ivie. The CRMWD will monitor the quality of the water being released from Lake Ivie and the LCRA Will monitor water quality of the Colorado River downstream of Lake Ivie and in Lake Buchanan. The LCRA will notify downstream water consumers of any significant changes in water quality.

The City of Goldthwaite draws its water supplies from the river downstream of Lake Ivie and has been notified of the release. The LCRA and the CRMWD are coordinating the release with the city to ensure that its water supply is not affected.

Lake Ivie is located on the Colorado River about 150 miles upstream of the Highland Lakes.

Man sues hospital

LUBBOCK (AP) — A man is suing a Lubbock hospital on grounds it should have warned a woman away from a low-calorie diet that was blamed for her death in 1991.

Mario Martinez filed the lawsuit Monday.

He alleges that in June of 1991, his wife, Cynthia Kay Martinez, went to Lubbock Methodist Hospital for help losing weight. The lawsuit alleges that she died later that month after two doctors failed to warn her of the dangers of very low-calorie diets.

A supplier of the diet product, Optifast, has also been named as a defendant.

Martinez is asking for a $5.8 million judgment.

Cole rights too expensive for campaign

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Nat King Cole's music is more than unforgettable. It's unaffordable.

State tourism officials wanted to use the Alabama native's "Unforgettable" as part of a new tourism campaign, but an advertising executive said Monday it cost too much to get the rights to the song.

Instead, the state will use the words "Alabama. Unforgettable," minus any reference to Cole and with an original tune.

'Loving' Grandfather Was Far Too Loving to Some

DEAR ABBY: My grandfather died today. He was outgoing and loving, a pillar of the church and did much for our community. Everyone respected him, but they were unaware of a dark family secret. Until I was in my late 20s, no one in our family would talk about the fact that Grandpa was a pedophile (child molester). He molested members of our family — myself included — and God knows how many others.

There were excuses why no one in the family would discuss it. Denial was a means of coping, and some of us rationalized, "That was a long time ago; why bring up the past?" Grandpa eventually found himself facing charges of molesting a young neighbor girl. The outcome? He ran from the law to another state where he lived the rest of his life. Our legal system lacks the funds to pursue a pedophile in another state.

The one good thing that resulted from Grandpa being "officially" charged was that our family finally started talking about it. In my gut, I always knew there was something wrong, but I had buried the past so completely that it took several years before I was able to admit it — even to myself.

There are mothers who know that their husbands are molesting their children. I hope my experience causes others to come out with the truth. Were you molested by a parent you now allow to spend time with your children? You alone have the power to protect them. The problem doesn't just go away.

The first step is to tell someone. Remember the shame belongs only to the pedophiles, not the victims they violate.

Adults must teach children to protect themselves, and it's never too late to start. You can't remain silent and protect your kids. You must make a choice.

LIVING IN GOD'S GLORY AND GRACE

DEAR LIVING: Two of the most damaging results of sexual abuse are the shame and isolation felt by the victims. Healing cannot begin until the facts are brought out in the open and discussed among all the parties involved.

The National Child Abuse Hotline, 1-800-422-4453, provides information and referral for victims and family members. Telephone crisis counseling is also offered. Your local mental health society can recommend therapists specializing in counseling for those who were molested as children and still harbor the bitter memories.

Counseling helps victims work through their painful memories so they can finally be put to rest.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding "Mike in Texas," who wanted to know how to dispose of his Bible:

There are book repair shops that rebind and re-cover books and Bibles. My parents' rebound Bible is one of my most treasured possessions.

Most Bibles contain blank pages to record births, baptisms, marriages and deaths. If civil records are lost or destroyed, the Bible is accepted as proof in most states.

When my sister became eligible for Social Security, I took my parents' Bible to the records department in the courthouse. The clerk testified to the authenticity of the old Bible, and my sister's claim was approved.

Also, when tracing our roots, a family Bible can be invaluable.

The communication coup

By Phillip Alder

This was my favorite deal from the European Junior (under 25) and Schools (under 20) Championships that were played in Cardiff, Wales, last July. It features a farsighted piece of declarer-play by Hungarian junior Gyorgy Kemeny in the match against Italy.

How would you plan the play in three spades after West has shown length in the minors and leads the diamond jack?

Bidding two no-trump when 6-4, rather than 5-5, is debatable, but he did manage to push North-South up to the three-level.

	North 10-15-96 ♠ K 8 ♥ Q J 7 6 5 ♦ K 6 ♣ 9 8 7 5
West ♠ Q 10 ♥ A ♦ J 10 8 7 4 2 ♣ K Q 4 2		East ♠ J 9 5 ♥ K 10 9 8 3 2 ♦ Q 5 ♣ 10 3
	South ♠ A 7 6 4 3 2 ♥ 4 ♦ A 9 3 ♣ A J 6

Vulnerable: Neither
Dealer: South

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	1NT	Pass
2♠	2NT	3♠	All pass

Opening lead: ♦ J

The Italian declarer won the diamond lead with dummy's king, played a diamond to his ace and ruffed his last diamond with dummy's spade eight. True, East overruffed with his natural trump trick, but when he returned the club 10, declarer couldn't collect nine tricks.

Suppose South wins with the club ace, plays a spade to dummy's king, and exits with a card. West cashes one heart and two club tricks before leading a diamond, which East ruffs with the spade jack to uppercut declarer's ace.

Alternatively, if South covers with the club jack, West wins with the queen, cashes the heart ace and continues with a diamond, East discarding his last club. Again, the defenders gain five tricks.

Kemeny spotted the solution. After winning with dummy's diamond king, he unblocked the spade king. Now, when East overruffed the third diamond and returned the club 10, declarer won with the ace and cashed the spade ace, which drew trumps. Kemeny lost one heart, two clubs and an overruff.

Very nicely done!

Beebe has career game in OT win for Packers, 23-20

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Don Beebe never had a bigger game, and it couldn't have come at a better time for the Green Bay Packers.

The 32-year-old journeyman receiver stepped in for the injured Robert Brooks and caught 11 passes for a career-best 220 yards as Green Bay beat San Francisco 23-20 in overtime Monday night before a record crowd of 60,716 at Lambeau Field.

"I've had four touchdowns in a game and I've had 10 catches," said Beebe, who played in four Super Bowls with Buffalo. "But considering how this came out, I'd have to say this was my best game."

Beebe, whose 220 yards were the third-highest in the Packers' 76-year history, had a 13-yard catch that helped set up Chris Jacke's 53-yard field goal, the longest overtime kick in NFL history.

He also had a controversial 59-yard catch for a touchdown that sparked the Packers' comeback from a 17-6 deficit in the third period.

Brooks, Brett Favre's favorite receiver and Green Bay's best deep threat, was lost for the season with a knee injury on the Packers' first offensive play. He landed awkwardly when 49ers cornerback Tyronne Drakeford pulled him down.

"It's a shame," said coach Mike Holmgren, who said Brooks would undergo surgery this week.

This was a game between two of the NFL's best teams that lived up to its billing as the 49ers tried to reverse a 27-17 playoff loss last season.

For most of the game, it looked like San Francisco would win.

Led by Dana Stubblefield, Lee Woodall and Marquez Pope, the 49ers (4-2) dominated on defense, limiting Green Bay to 68 yards rushing and forcing Favre to pass a team-record 61 times.

Tiger netters claim district championship

By Brent Taylor
Sports Editor

For the first time in several years, the Snyder High School team tennis has an undisputed district championship as a result of a 17-1 victory over Frenship Saturday.

The men's team went 5-0 while the women 4-1, but in fall tennis, the main numbers are the results of all the matches together.

"The kids earned it. They have worked hard all year long," said SHS tennis coach Chad Redwine.

Next up for the netters will be the regional tournament in Lubbock, Oct. 25-26. According to Redwine, regionals is a tournament format with eight to 10 teams. If your team wins, you go on, you lose you are out.

"It will be a great test and experience for our young team. There will be some great teams there that are traditionally strong. The thing I am proud of is that when people are talking about strong teams, Snyder is starting to be mentioned."

The one match Snyder lost Saturday was by default. "I defaulted Laura Gonzales because of a sprained ankle. I would rather have her for regionals than have her injure it more," added Redwine.

To keep off weight: diet, exercise all the time

BRECKENRIDGE, Colo. (AP) — The secret to keeping off weight is no real secret at all: The rare few who stay slimmer don't ever stop dieting and exercising, researchers found.

A team of researchers [illegible] information on 786 people who dropped an average of 66 pounds and kept it off for five years and counting. They then pored over the data to see what [illegible] successful dieters were doing right, Dr. Mary Klem of the University of Pittsburgh and researchers from the University of Colorado started the National Weight Control Registry of long-term weight losers. She reported the results Monday at a meeting of the North American Association for the Study of Obesity.

Almost all the dieters said they had tried and failed to keep weight off in the past. This time they simply put themselves on stricter diets and exercised more vigorously. About half did it on their own, while the rest joined weight-control programs or got professional help.

For these people, the initial diets worked extremely well. They dropped an average of 66 pounds. And they had kept it off an average of 5½ years.

Most of the volunteers had been fat since childhood, which makes their success even more remarkable.

Eighty-eight percent said they continued to diet and exercise. All but 7 percent restricted their food intake in some way, and many said they watched their portion sizes, counted calories and avoided fat.

They admitted eating fast food less than once a week. Average daily calories were 1,297 for women and 1,725 for men.

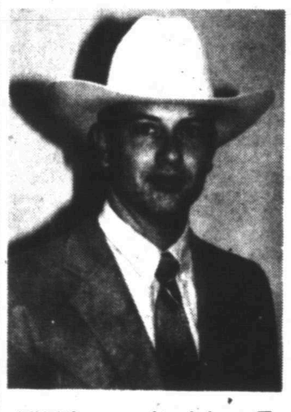

Exercise was an important way of burning up calories. For women, it consumed an average 2,667 calories a week; for men it was 3,489. Walking was by far the most common exercise, followed by aerobic exercising and competitive sports.

Many believe that getting people to exercise — and to keep exercising — is one of the toughest challenges in weight control. Half of those who start exercise programs give them up within three to six months.

"People would rather have their jaws wired or their stomachs stapled than exercise," said Rod Dishman, an exercise physiologist from the University of Georgia.

How to track dietary fats

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: With all the talk about cholesterol, I try to read labels [illegible] hard to understand. How can a food label say there is [illegible] cholesterol? What's important to keep track of — the saturated fats or the total [illegible]?

DEAR READER: Dietary fats are [illegible] by whether they [illegible] at room temperature. Unsaturated fats, such as olive oil, are liquid. Saturated fats, such as lard, are hard. All Americans would do well to use the least saturated fats available.

Most types of animal fat are saturated — and contain large quantities of cholesterol, a substance that contributes to heart disease and stroke. Some vegetable fats are saturated, but don't contain cholesterol.

Go easy on all saturated fats, especially those of animal origin. In my view, you should pay close attention to the cholesterol content of foods, choosing liquid, unsaturated fats when possible, and using other saturated fats in moderation.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Understanding Cholesterol." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Recently I found it necessary to wear hearing aids, and it is important that I keep my ears free of wax. But how? I've tried over-the-counter remedies, hydrogen peroxide and alcohol. Nothing has been satisfactory. Your suggestions?

DEAR READER: In most people, ear wax is expelled from the ear canal in small quantities on a regular basis, especially during bathing or swimming. Any device that blocks these flakes from exiting will cause an accumulation of wax that usually requires professional attention.

Hearing aids are notorious in this regard. Not only do they block the auditory canal but they keep the wax in deep, so it cannot escape. Your situation is not unique.

I suggest that you ask your doctor to remove the wax periodically with one of a number of techniques that have been developed for this purpose.

I usually use a jet of warm water from a syringe; other physicians employ the Water-Pik (a device usually used to clean between teeth) or they actually vacuum out the ear with special equipment.

If you wish to solve the problem yourself and avoid the deafness caused by wax accumulation, you can purchase an ear-cleaning kit from the drugstore. One of the most popular is marketed by Murine and consists of a bulb syringe and drops to loosen and liquefy the wax. If this isn't effective, your doctor can advise you.

Your Birthday

Wednesday, Oct. 16, 1996

In the year ahead, you might put together a partnership arrangement that could make previous ones pale in comparison. You will achieve financial and social goals.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Early in the day you might brush your responsibilities aside, hoping to take care of them later. However, you will not be able to make up for lost time. Libra, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Make sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not hesitate to compliment someone who does something well today, even if you do not like this person very much.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In business meetings today, try to eliminate corny jokes and small talk. You will be more successful if you get right down to business.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It will not be productive to try to use flattery to gain acknowledgment today. Associates will have more respect for you if you're forthright and sincere.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Make an effort to keep a nosy friend out of your affairs today. Even though he or she may try to help, it's more likely that your pal will cause complications.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Accept a new friend for who she is today instead of trying to make this person conform to your specifications. You will be glad you did.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Associates will not be pleased if you try to take credit for something that was a collective endeavor. Honesty is always the best policy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not let the behavior of someone you don't like take the fun out of any situation today. Move away from this individual, and relax and have a good time.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your evaluation of a situation is likely to be better than your mate's judgment today. Do not let your spouse change your mind.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you put together an important agreement today, do not treat the small details with disdain. These bits and pieces will soon be relevant.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It will be important to keep your priorities in order today. Do not devote time to frivolous activities that will cost more than you can afford.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Let your hair down and enjoy yourself without overindulging today. You will have a good time if you do things in moderation.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis," and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis, relieves pain by first selectively attracting and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis, is an odorless, greaseless, nonstaining cream, and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work or your money back.

INDIANA, Pa. (AP) — For some residents of Jimmy Stewart's hometown, it's not such a wonderful life anymore.

A handful of people quoted in "James Stewart: A Biography" say they were misquoted by author Donald Dewey.

Accidents, arrest keep officers busy

Snyder area peace officers made one arrest and investigated two major accidents during the past 24 hours.

Officers and EMS responded to an accident at the Avenue E overpass on U.S. Highway 84 at 5:04 this morning. Twenty-six-year-old Maria Silva of 2409 Gilmore was transported by Snyder EMS to Cogdell Memorial Hospital where she was treated for multiple fractures and abrasions and transferred to University Medical Center in Lubbock.

Silva was the driver of a 1994 Ford Ranger pickup which left the road and struck a guard rail. She was thrown from the vehicle.

Also in the vehicle were 27-year-old Thomas Alonzo, 16-year-old Jessie Alonzo, 18-year-old Luis Silva and 4-year-old Ashley Silva, all of 2409 Gilmore; and 16-year-old Sandra Vizarro of 54 Palmer Circle in Austin. None of the other occupants were injured.

Two subjects fled from an officer during a routine traffic stop in the 1200 block of 17th Street at 4:33 p.m. Monday. Officers located one, a 37-year-old male, and took him into custody for driving with a suspended license and evading arrest. An offense report was filed for failure to identify and evading arrest on the other individual, who could not be immediately located.

At 2:40 p.m. Monday, officers investigated a four-vehicle accident near Snyder Oaks Care Center. Involved were a 1985 Ford Bronco driven by Jerry Don Holloway Jr. of 3901 Eastridge and a 1977 Buick driven by Linda Sue Wilson of 2611 37th St. On impact, the vehicles slid into the Snyder Oaks parking lot, striking an unoccupied 1984 Cadillac owned by Erminia Garza of 505 N. Ave. R and a 1987 Ford pickup owned by Margret Villaneuva of 2912 Ave. L.

Holloway, 16, and Wilson, 22, refused treatment at the scene.

DPS troopers were advised at 9:44 a.m. Monday of a one-vehicle rollover five miles south of Snyder on Highway 208. No DPS report was available this morning. However, the lone occupant of the pickup was not injured, according to dispatch information.

Police also worked a two-vehicle minor accident at 10:20 a.m. Monday at the traffic circle. Involved were a 1984 Oldsmobile driven by Corina Hernandez of 1405 Ave. M and a 1978 Datsun pickup driven by Canon Burditt Jr. of 3406 Ave. E.

At 4:40 p.m. Monday, a woman contacted officers in reference to some damage at her residence in the 1200 block of Avenue O. An offense report for criminal mischief was filed.

Officers also responded to a number of other complaints and requests, non of which resulted in reports submitted.
