FEAR FOR LIFE CAUSED NEGRO TO KILL ELEVEN

Farm Boss Assisted Plantation Owner in Murdering Fellow Beings Because of Fright.

Georgia Planter Wanted Men Out of Way to Prevent Testimony in Peonage Cases.

By Associated Press.

COVINGTON, Ga., April 6.—Fear for his own life was the motive that prompted Clyde Manning, negro farm boss to help kill 11 negro farm hands employed on the Jasper county plantation of John S. Williams, the negro told the jury today in the trial of Williams in Newton county superior court here. Manning asserted on cross-examination he did not want to help kill them, but was afraid to disobey Williams, who he declared, was trying to do away with the negroes for fear they might testify regarding alleged peonage conditions on the Williams farm.

"They wasn't a-bothering me," said Manning, "and I didn't want to get 'em out of the way," but he added later, "Mr. Johnny said 'it's their necks or yours.'"

The negroes met death shortly after federal authorities started an investigation of alleged peonage on the farm, six of them, according to Manning, being chained to rocks and thrown alive into rivers, and five knocked in the head or shot and buried on the farm.

Williams is on trial charged with murder of Lindsey Peterson, one of the three negroes alleged to have been brought into Newton county and drowned, and the defense sought to confine the witness to his account of Peterson's death and to bar him and two federal agents from testifying to peonage.

Judge John B. Hutchison overruled both motions.

Through an hour of cross-examination, Manning, who was indicted jointly with Williams, denied any pressure had been brought to bear on him to make him tell the story.

SUIT FOR $15,000 DAMAGES IS BEGUN

The trial of the case of George Lacey against J. J. Perkins, W. J. Grisham et al opened before Judge T. A. Martin of the 30th district court Wednesday afternoon. The plaintiff in the case is asking for $15,000 actual and exemplary damages for injuries alleged to have resulted when shot by an employe of the defendants on their lease in the northwest fields in 1919.

According to the plaintiff's petition, he and others delivered a large amount of casing for the defendants to their lease in block 97.

A disagreement arose, it is alleged, as to the rate that was to be paid for the hauling of the casing.

The plaintiff is alleged to have been shot by the lease foreman when he started to drive away from the lease with the casing.

U. S. TELLS ALLIES AMERICA WILL NOT SURRENDER RIGHTS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The American government, although not a party to the treaty of Versailles, has surrendered none of its rights in the overseas possession of Germany secured to the principal allied and associated powers by that treaty, the governments of Japan, Great Britain, France and Italy are informed by Secretary Hughes in similar notes dispatched by the state department last Monday.

Specifically the communications dealt with the award to Japan by the supreme council at Paris on May 7, 1919, of a mandate over the island of Yap, an important cable center in the Pacific ocean, and Mr. Hughes says the American government "trusts that this action which it must assume was taken under misapprehension, will be reconsidered."

The notes are the first important diplomatic communications penned by the new secretary of state and they make it plain that the change of administration in Washington had resulted in no modification of the previous position of the United States that as one of the principal contributors to the common victory over Germany, it must insist upon the exercise of its full rights in the dispositions.

Britain Note Made Public.

Only one of the communications—that Great Britain—was made public. Those to France and Italy are understood to be substantially the same, but the state department, in giving out the note to the London foreign office tonight, explained that the note to Japan contained "additional paragraphs referring to previous correspondence between the two governments.

It added that the correspondence with Tokio, "is not made public at this time," but no official explanation was forthcoming.

The text of the American note to Great Britain, which is similar to that to France and Italy, follows:

"With respect to the mandate to Japan, purporting to have been confirmed and defined in the terms by the supreme council of the league of nations, of the German possessions in the Pacific ocean, lying north of the equator, this government deems it appropriate to state the fundamental basis of its representations and the principles, which, in its view, are determinative.

Right of All to Decide.

"It will not be questioned that the right to dispose of the overseas possessions of Germany was acquired only through the victory of the allied and associated powers, and it is also believed that there is not disposition on the part of the British government to deny the participation of the United States in that the right accruing to the allied and associated powers through the common victory is shared by the United States and that there could be no valid or effective disposition of the overseas possessions of Germany, now under consideration, without the assent of the United States.

"This government must, therefore, point out that as the United States has never vested either the supreme council or the League of Nations with any authority to bind the United States or to act on its behalf, there has been no opportunity for any decision which could be deemed to affect

CRIME WAVE BLAMED ON "DRY" LAW

By Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 6.—Declaring that the recent Utah legislature, which passed the anti-cigarette law, was a "damn fool legislature," and advising the American Legion as a body to keep out of politics, the Rev. Dr. Elmer I. Goshen, congregational minister, addressed a local post of the legion last night on temperance, in which he assailed prohibition as a contributory cause of the crime wave.

"The saloons were Hell-holes and prohibition is a Hell-hole," said Dr. Goshen. "There was a wave of righteousness abroad in the land while you pernicious young men were overseas, and we passed prohibition in your absence and right now there are five thousand stills in Salt Lake, to say nothing of the home brewers.

"This is not freedom. It brings us perilously close to a nation of hypocrites. Prohibition, as a result of the war, is responsible in a large measure for both the record-breaking crime wave of 1920 and many of the labor disturbances."

MARLOW MAY BE CANDIDATE IN 1922 RACE

Belief that Former Mayor J. B. Marlow would be a mayoralty candidate in 1922, a freely expressed prediction during the campaign just closed on both sides, became a certainty Wednesday with the issuance of a statement that he would be in the race at that time in case Mayor Cline was a candidate.

Mr. Marlow made this indication in connection with the issuance of a statement commenting on the results of Tuesday's election, in which he dispupted the view of the results as an administration victory.

In the course of his statement he declared that the greatest concern during the days of the two opposition parties to his ticket was occasioned by the ex-service men supporting Joe B. Hatchitt, indicating that a concentrated effort late in the afternoon was necessary to save Dr. J. F. Reed, veteran alderman, who was again elected.

Mr. Marlow's statement follows:

Says Not Clean Cut

"I cannot see how the so-called 'Cline regime' can feel that they were given the vote of confidence in the balloting yesterday in the slightest. The Record News states that it was a clear-cut victory for the 'Cline administration' in the election of their two candidates—Police Commissioner Bralley and Finance Commissioner Shepherd.

"It was not a clean-cut victory, because out of the some 2,300 votes, Mr. Bralley received a minority.

"Had Rhea Howard been willing to receive the negro vote which numbered near the 400 mark, a different headline would have been at the top of the papers, much to the disappointment of the Record News, that is, if they had published it at all.

"Of our two opposing parties, Joe B. Hatchitt, supported by ex-service men, gave us more opposition. Mr. Hatchitt receiving more votes than Mr. Bralley. The Lord only knows what this young man would have done had we not thrown more support in the late afternoon to Dr. Reed.

"Old War Horse"

"No matter how victorious our administration opponents feel, we feel the victory is just as much ours as it is theirs, with Dr. Reed, an old-time war horse, and a man of his own mind, one who has served on the council before some of the candidates

Planting was not active in Texas, but progressed fairly well in Louisiana and is becoming general in central and southern Arkansas.

BOOZE BY WIRELESS IS VERY LATEST METHOD

CHICAGO, April 6—Booze by wireless!

Yep. It's the latest method in Chicago, according to District Attorney Charles F. Clyne.

Mr. Clyne received a complaint from an amateur wireless operator who said he intercepted a wireless message flashed from the old Twenty-second street district to Maywood recently. It was:

"Mike Costello did not get his booze on time last Thursday night. If this happens again shipment will be stopped." It was not signed.

Mr. Clyne has radio men and prohibition agents trying to trace the booze wireless stations.

It may be a flash—not a flask of whiskey from now on.

Who knows?

Mass Meeting of Representatives in Sweetwater Bitterly Scores Governor Neff.

By W. HAMILTON WRIGHT
Record News Staff Bureau.

SWEETWATER, April 6.—Strong resolutions condemning the action of Governor Pat M. Neff in vetoing the West Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college bill were unanimously adopted at a mass meeting of representatives of many West Texas towns tonight.

Representative M. E. Rosser of Synder declared in a masterful oration that if West Texas waited for the legislature and the governor to find a more propitious time for the building of such an institution Gabriel would blow his horn before the West would receive recognition.

Rosser excoriated Neff for the reasons he assigned for vetoing the bill, both because of its not being in the platform and because of alleged economy, citing his eagerness to sign bills for monuments and the university.

In the resolutions adopted, the question of dividing the state was not given serious consideration.

The resolution follows:

"West Texas has been grievously wronged and its people grossly denied an ideal that they have cherished for years in the veto of the West Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College bill by Governor Pat M. Neff.

"Not only has he broken faith with West Texas, but he has violated the rights of the entire state in vetoing a measure that West Texas was justly entitled to, and the great injustice to one section should be felt and regretted by the entire state.

"Governor Neff's veto of the West Texas A. & M. College bill struck down a needed institution of higher learning, one serving the agricultural interests of a vastly productive farming area. But he pursued still further the educational interests of Texas by denying to the farm schools a fund to be applied directly and entirely to the sustenance of the weaker and rural schools of Texas.

"We proclaim ourselves the sons of an Anglo-Saxon heritage, proud of a participation in the liberties guaranteed and in the rights vouchsafed by the immortal bill of rights, and the constitutions of the United States and Texas. "We complain in the name of Right and Justice at the continuance of a policy which denies us a legislative representation certified to us by the constitution of Texas.

"Paying into the state treasury, as do do, the greatest proportional tax on the basis of valuation, that is paid, we are made bold to demand an adequate representation on the basis of the constitutional ratio of population.

"Mindful that in the glorified days of American history that Americans first became Americans in resenting an iniquitious taxation without representation, we appeal to the people of Texas, common in an Anglo-Saxon birthright, to join with us in demanding that Governor Pat M. Neff and the legislature of Texas obey the constitutional mandate that this state shall be redistricted decenially.

"In this appeal to our brethren, descendants of an ancestry which fought the Mexican republic because of constitutional rights denied, we inform them that since population and development began in West Texas more than 20 years ago there has been no effort at senatorial redistricting, and that there has not been an effectual senatorial redistricting within 30 years.

"We demand that the governor hold the legislature in session until it does organize the legislative branch of this government upon a constitutional basis. "Therefore, be it resolved by these representatives of West Texas towns, in mass meeting assembled at Sweetwater, April 6.

"First, That we respectfully but with all seriousness and firmness denounce as unjust and unexplained the veto by Governor Neff of the bill creating an A. & M. college in West Texas.

WICHITA FALLS SCORES POINT FOR HOSPITAL

Oklahoma's Chances Lowered by Action of Governor in Tendering State Buildings.

By B. N. TIMMONS.
Record News Staff Bureau

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 6.—Wichita Falls scored a ten strike in the competition between Oklahoma and Texas cities for obtaining the location of the $2,500,000 soldier hospital in the proposition received today from Governor Neff offering the West Texas Insane Asylum buildings and 800 acres of ground for a temporary location of the hospital during the two years, which it is thought will be required for the construction of the government hospital. Governor Neff stated that the hospital would be ready for occupancy within sixty days. Inability of Oklahoma men to offer a suitable temporary site, for the hospital seems to have dimmed their formerly very brilliant chances, and though they are yet still very much in the running Fort Worth and Wichita Falls are being seriously considered.

Senator John W. Harreld of Oklahoma, Arthur Geisler of Oklahoma City and a committee from the Oklahoma American Legion will confer with Secretary Weeks tomorrow and urge his support of their claims. The delegation will urge that Oklahoma has the best climate and other requisites for the hospital. It was apparent tonight that Oklahoma will not get the hospital without a fight, whereas a week ago it was thought that Oklahoma had the hospital cinched.

Fort Worth Strong

Fort Worth got more strongly into the race today when Congressman Fritz Lanham of Texas obtained from the war department a promise that Barron Field, just outside Fort Worth would be turned over to the public health service for a hospital if a request was made for it. The Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce has a lease on the land where the former air field is located and had previously made an offer to turn the land over to the government.

It had been intended to dismantle the field after April 15, but the war department following representations by Congressman Lanham today ordered the dismantling held up. The hospital locating committee today made it plain that while it was necessary that the hospitals be located the institutions will not be located haphazardly and that the sites will not be chosen until the committee has studied the hospitalization situation from every angle.

LOCAL STOCK GIVEN BOOST BY GOVERNMENT

Wichita Falls stock rose several points Wednesday afternoon when word was received that the United States Health Department will send a man here to look over the proposed site for a Government hospital.

The committee has definitely decided to locate this institution in Texas, Oklahoma or Arkansas and it is believed by some that the action of the department in sending a man here to make personal investigation means that Wichita Falls is receiving favorable consideration.

Wichita Falls' offer, through the governor, of the asylum buildings recently completed here is believed by Hubert Harrison, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce, to give this city a decided advantage over other cities in the district asking for the hospital.

The news from Washington to Mr. Harrison is the first definite information that a hospital would be located in this district, it is said. The original bill providing such for the Southwest district was amended and gave the commission power to place the hospital where they thought best.

SINGLE TAX OUTLINED BY TEXAS SOLON

Single taxation will remove the power of corporations and individuals to pass the taxation expense on to ultimate consumers, as is done under the present system of taxation, Representative W. H. Black of San Antonio, guest of Representative B. Frank Johnson, told Ad club members in an address before the Ad club at their Wednesday luncheon at the Kemp hotel.

He declared that the average man never considers taxes until they hurt him personally and insisted that there are many who now suffer unjust taxation under the present system, who would receive justice under the single tax system. Mr. Black is secretary of the Single Tax league and is touring the state in the interests of single taxation.

Much interest in the study division of the Ad club, which meets every Thursday night at the Kemp hotel, was reported by Mrs. Mabel Kavanagh.

The program this week will be presided over by Miss Pat Murphy of the American National bank. Papers by Mrs. Kavanagh, Miss Pat Murphy and R. R. Rubottom, all three of whom are advertising directors for local banks, will be a part of the program.

Saying that this program promised to be uncommonly interesting, Walter Daffhorty, president of the club, made a short talk stressing the value of the study division and urging a full attendance at this week's meeting.

Some members of the club advanced an objection to business houses of the city having their names on the back of the baseball uniforms which they gave to players of the local high school teams. In reply to this objection, it was said that some merchants had not asked that their names be put on the uniforms and that the boys had put the lettering there of their own accord.

A meeting of the board of directors was announced for Monday evening, April 11, at 8 o'clock at the Overland Motor Company's salesrooms.

"Man-Killing" Cayuses Here For Round-Up

Man-hating, honest to Gawd outlaw bucking horses, and in numbers that will surpass any rodeo show heretofore seen in Texas are promised by the management of "Round Up" headquarters, who have offices at 715 City National Bank building. The Round Up will be staged at the ball park during the first Spudder week trip, April 28, 29 and 30, and the country, or rather the southwestern part of the United States, is being hunted for real bucking horses and it is believed some bad animals will be obtained.

Bryan Roach, assistant manager of the Round Up, is now in New Mexico trying out various reported bad horses and is expected to ship a string back, but only if he can personally testify as to their meanness.

More than $5,000 in cash prizes has been hung up by Tom Burnett, prominent stockman, and he has told at headquarters that he has already corraled a bunch of hard customers, but wants all the real outlaws of the range at the meet.

Mrs. Burnett, famous horsewoman and roper, is said to be in fine condition, ready to supply thrills and demonstrate her ability as a rider and roper. She is working out daily on the Burnett ranch.

On the whole the Round Up, according to "Fog Horn" Clancy, promises to be rather unusual inasmuch as the horses to be ridden are not trick horses, but are tricky. They're outlaws, pure and simple and every effort has been made to get the "bad 'uns."

Bucking horse riding is declared to be Tom Burnett's one best bet as real sport and the manager of the attraction says he is sparing neither time nor money to make the Wichita Falls meet unparalleled in thrills and interest.

were old enough to vote, I can feel that some of the hold doings of the men at the head of the city government will be checked. I have always thought that old wheel horse was worth more than five of the others in a six-horse team. It will soon be proven.

"I am indeed glad that the mayor's race did not come off yesterday, because had Mr. Cline made the race, I would have done likewise, and I certainly would hate to have the supporters of 75 cents gas and some of our good people defeat me; nevertheless, I shan't worry until April, 1922.

"Being asked to say something in regards to the woman votes, I will only say that I think they did themselves justice in turning out the large vote they did. I think that since they have a vote coming, they should use it like a good American citizen, to be cast for the party they think best fitted for the office.

"However, since Howard and Shepherd are elected, Mr. Bratley being my second choice, I am for them; in fact, I am willing to help them push the ball for the betterment of Wichita Falls. But I do hope that since the election is over, they won't allow our sewer pipe hauled back to the country.

"For a better Wichita Falls.

America Tells Allies Rights Not Relinquished

the rights of the United States. It may also be observed that the right accruing to the United States through the victory in which it has participated could not be regarded as in any way ceded or surrendered to Japan or to other nations except by treaty, and that no such treaty has been made.

U. S. Must Take Part

"The fact that the United States has not ratified the treaty of Versailles can not detract from rights which the United States has already acquired, and it is hardly necessary to suggest that a treaty to which the United States is not a party could not affect these rights. But it should be noted that the treaty of Versailles did not purport to secure to Japan or to any other nations any right in the overseas possessions of Germany, save as an equal right therein should be secured to the United States. On the contrary, Article 119 of the treaty of Versailles, provides:

"'Germany renounces in favor of the principal allied and associated powers all her rights and titles over her overseas possession.'

"It will not be questioned that one of the principals, allied and associated in whose favor Germany renounces her rights and titles is the United States. Thus, not only could the position of the government of Japan derive no strength from the treaty of Versailles or from no discussion preliminary thereto, but the terms of that treaty confirm the position of the government of the United States.

One of the Grantors

"Further, the draft convention relating to the mandate for the German concessions in the Pacific ocean, north of the equator, which was subsequently proposed, proceeded in the same view, purporting on behalf of the United States as one of the grantors to confer the mandate upon Japan thus recognizing the right and interests of the United States and the fact that the proposed action could not be effective without the agreement of the United States as one of the principal allied and associated powers.

"As the United States did not enter into this convention or into any treaty relating to any schedule, this government is unable to understand on what grounds it was thereafter attempted to confer the mandate without the agreement of the United States. It is manifest that the League of Nations without any authority to bind the United States and that the confirmation of the mandate in question, and the definition of its terms by the council of the League of Nations, in December, 1920 cannot be regarded as having efficacy with respect to the United States.

U. S. Did Not Agree

"It should be noted that this mandate not only recites Article 119 of the treaty of Versailles, to the effect that 'Germany renounced in favor of the principal allied and associated powers all her rights over her overseas possessions, including therein the groups of islands in the Pacific ocean lying north of the equator,' also recites that 'the principal allied and associated powers agreed that, in accordance with Article 22, part 1 (covenant of the league of nations) of the said treaty, a mandate should be conferred upon his majesty, the emperor of Japan, to administer the said islands and have proposed that the mandate should be formulated,' as set forth. While this last quoted recital, as has already been pointed out in previous communications by this government, is inaccurate in its terms, inasmuch as the United States as one of the principal and associated powers had not so agreed and proposed the recital again recognizes the necessity of the participation of the United States, in order to make the proposed disposition effective.

"As in the absence of any treaty with the United States relating to the matter, there was no decision on May 7, 1919, binding the United States, it is deemed to be unnecessary again to examine the brief minutes of the meeting of the supreme council on that date. It may, however, be proper to say that the minutes of this meeting, although obviously without any finality, could not properly be construed without due regard to the other proceedings of the supreme council and without making account of the reservations which President Wilson had already made in the previous meetings of the supreme council on April 21, April 30 and May 1, 1919. The attitude of President Wilson is sufficiently shown by the following statement, which he made to the department of state on March 3, 1920:

Wilson Never Consented.

"'I beg to return the note received yesterday from the Japanese government, which I have read, in relation to the proposed mandate covering the island of Yap.

"'My first information of a contention that the so-called decision of May 7, 1919, by the council of four assigned to Japan a mandate for the island of Yap, was conveyed to me by Mr. Norman Davis in October last. I then informed him that I had never consented to the assignment of the island of Yap to Japan.

"'I had not previously given particular attention to the wording of the council's minutes of May 7, 1919, which were only recently called to my attention. I had on several occasions prior to the date mentioned, made specific reservations regarding the island of Yap and had taken the position that it should not be assigned under mandate to any one power, but should be internationalized for cable purposes. I assumed that this position would be duly considered in connection with the settlement of the cable question and that it therefore was no longer a matter for consideration in connection with the peace negotiations. I never abandoned or modified this position in respect to the island of Yap and I did not agree on May 7, 1919, or at any other time, that the island of Yap should be included in the assignment of mandates to Japan.

All Pacts Conditioned.

"'As a matter of fact, all agreements arrived at regarding the assignment of mandates were conditioned upon a subsequent agreement being reached as to the specific terms of the mandates and further, upon their acceptance by each of the principal and associated powers. The consent of the United States is essential both as to assignments of mandates and the terms and provisions of the mandates, after agreements as to their assignment or allocation.

"'The consent of the United States, as you know, has never been given on either point as to the island of Yap.'

"Apart from the expressed purpose of President Wilson in relation to the Island of Yap, inasmuch as the proceedings of the supreme council on May 7, 1919, did not, and in the nature of things, could not, have finality, this government is unable to perceive any ground for the contention that it was the duty of this government to make immediate protest with respect to the so-called decision of May 7, 1919, and certainly it cannot be said that an omission to do so operated as a cession of its rights. It may be added, however, that when the matter was brought to the attention of this government, in connection with the conference on communications in October, last, this government informed the government of Japan and other governments, (by notes of November 9, 1920) that it was the understanding of this government that the island of Yap was not included in the action of May 7, 1919. Its position was subsequently stated at length.

Case of Regret

"It is a case of regret to this government, that after and despite this protest, there should have been any attempt to pass upon drafts of mandates purporting to deal with the Pacific islands, including Yap and that a mandate should have been approved, or attempted to be put into effect, which, while purporting to be made in the name of the United States, was without the assent of the United States. This government trusts that this action, which it must assume was taken under a misapprehension, will be considered.

"In particular, as no treaty has ever been concluded with the United States relating to the Island of Yap and as no one has ever been authorized to cede or surrender the right or interest of the United States in the island, this government must insist that it has not lost its right or interest as it existed prior to any action of the supreme council or of the League of Nations, and cannot recognize the alteration of the island or the validity of the mandate to Japan.

"In this view, this government deems it to be unnecessary at this time to consider the terms of the so-called 'C' mandates or the discussion with respect thereto.

No Exclusive Interest

"This government as has been clearly stated in previous communications, seeks no exclusive interest in the Island of Yap and has no desire to secure any privileges without having similar privileges accorded to other powers, including, of course, Japan, and relying upon the sense of justice of the government of Japan for of the governments of the other allied and associated powers, this government looks with confidence to a disposition of the matter whereby the just interest of all may be properly conserved."

WILL PLAY BIG PART IN GRAND COMMANDERY MEET

I. H. Roberts, who has been active in Wichita Falls Masonic matters since 1907, when he was demitted from New Hampton, Iowa, bodies, will have an important part in the Grand Commandery which meets here April 19 to 21 inclusive, by reason of his connection with the entertainment and escort committees. Mr Roberts has served as Past Commander of Knights Templar and Past Worthy Patron of the Eastern Star, in Wichita Falls as well as serving as Past Master of the Arcond lodge of New Hampton, Iowa, before moving to this city.

Mr. Roberts was elected to the Masonic lodge of Arcond lodge, New Hampton, Iowa, September 11, 1900, taking his Master Mason degrees on December 18 of the same year. His Musonic history follows: Adelphia chapter, R. A. M., No. 113, New Hampton, Iowa, W. M., February 12, 1902; P. M., May 13, 1903; M. E. M., R. A. M., August 17, 1903. Affiliated with Wichita Falls bodies, lodge, February 2, 1907; Chapter, February 11, 1907, Commandery, September 28, 1907; Consistory No. 2, Dallas, May 7, 1914; Shrine, Hella Temple, Dallas, May 8, 1914. Demitted to Maskat Temple upon its installation here.

Besides holding important offices in Masonic work, Mr. Roberts is president of the Wichita Falls Rotary club, and very active in civic and business affairs.

RAIL TRAFFIC NORTH AGAIN INTERRUPTED

Further interruption to train service on the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railroad this side of Elk City was experienced Tuesday night by a washout of 600 feet of track and the bridge at milepost 64.8, north of Tipton.

Reports from this section are very meager, owing to lack of wire connection, but it is believed the damage will not be repaired nor full service restored for a week or 10 days. At the present time passenger and freight service is being given between Wichita Falls and Tipton and between Elk City and Forgan.

The report that a farmer had discovered the washout and had flagged a freight train near Tipton Tuesday night by swimming to the higher elevation was received at the local offices. The warning was received just in time, the report stated, to keep the train from running into the washout.

Train No. 1, which left Mangum Wednesday morning and was routed by way of Altus and thence on the Orient to Chillicothe, and from there on the Denver, arrived here about 3:30 in the afternoon.

Under the present temporary service, between Wichita Falls and Tipton the passenger train leaves here in the morning at 7 o'clock, returning from that place about 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Canadian river, near Weatherford, Okla., is reported out of banks and 14 miles of that company's line is washed out. In fact all of the railroads operating in northwestern Oklahoma are having trouble with washouts on account of the heavy rains of the first part of the week.

Interesting Manufacturers In Wichita

The advantages of Wichita Falls as a sales distribution point is being placed before manufacturers of nationally advertised products with the view of having them locate branch offices in this city, according to the report made before the Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting Wednesday morning.

The campaign for branch factories for Wichita Falls at this time was considered unadvisable owing to business conditions throughout the country, a member said, and this feature of the Chamber of Commerce's program has been postponed until July.

Declaring that Mr. George Kessler, city plan expert, has already given the city enough material along this line to last for several years, the directors decided to discontinue his services after May 1.

That Wichita Falls will press vigorously the project to obtain a government hospital was the sentiment expressed by the directors after a detailed report from Hubert Harrison, general manager, on what had been done and what was contemplated. It is believed that with proper continuation of effort Wichita Falls will obtain such an institution.

AUSTIN GUILTY OF EMBEZZLEMENT

Charged with embezlement of less than $50, E. C. Austin, former deputy constanbe, was found guilty by a jury in the county court at law Wednesday afternoon and was sentenced to one day in jail.

Austin was arrested last week by county officers on the complaint of a local mercantile firm.

It was alleged that Austin was employed by the firm to make collections on certain bad checks that had been given the firm and that he had collected on the checks and failed to make a proper accounting. The sum involved was $15.

WILSON FOUND GUILTY.

Hoyt Taylor, charged with theft, was found guilty by a jury in the county court at law Wednesday morning and was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $25. Taylor was arrested several weeks ago.

YOUTH SUFFERS FROM DOSE OF DISINFECTANT

G. Lofton, 22-year-old prisoner at the county jail is in a serious condition as a result of his second attempt Tuesday night to commit suicide by taking a liquid used for disinfectant purposes at the jail.

The prisoner who was arrested ten days ago on a charge of carrying a pistol, made the first attempt to take his life Saturday night when he drank two cups of the solution.

He had sufficiently recovered Tuesday to obtain access to the fluid again and drank one cup Tuesday night. Lofton originally came here from Georgia.

RHEA HOWARD EXTENDS THANKS TO SUPPORTERS

I desire at this time to thank all those who supported me in Tuesday's election. If possible, would like to thank each voter personally. I am thoroughly satisfied with the result, and if my successful opponent can say as much, then all parties should feel good. I tried to conduct my campaign in a strictly honorable manner, and if anything was done or said in my behalf that hurt the feelings of any one, it was without my knowledge or consent.

Gratefully,

RHEA HOWARD.

Sailor Reveals Secret of Navy Cortecelli Bag

One of the most jealously guarded secrets of the United States navy, known to only a few of the "Old Salts"—the knotted cord work—will be exhibited by Theodore E. Potthoff, ex-naval service man, at the Bon Marche, 723 Indiana street, Friday and Saturday. Potthoff will specialize in ladies' handbag work, using gold and silver metal cord. Some of his work, in fact, all of it is what may be termed marvelous, as it is something that machines cannot do.

Potthoff learned this secret of the navy while in the service during the war with Germany. He "signed up" Oct. 28, 1915, and spent over four years in active service, making 26 trips across the Atlantic with troop transports during the war and during his stay in the service visiting practically all of the European and South American countries. He was with the mine sweepers in the North sea during part of the war.

The ex-sailor has had several interesting and unique experiences while wearing Uncle Sam's uniform, almost meeting death at one time when the cruiser Santiago was sunk off Long Island either by mine or submarine. Potthoff had risen to chief machinist mate and was on duty with five others of the crew in the port engine room when the Santiago went down. He and another sailor named Hawthorne were the only two of the six that were saved. His experiences would fill several volumes if written, but enough to say here that no doubt the women who go to see him at Bon Marche will be amply entertained both by his work and his interesting conversation.

Test Curative Power of Music At University

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 7.—Picture the tired business man, sated by musical comedy and jazz, paying a physician who prescribes one Hungarian rhapsody, three times a day, after meals.

When William Congreve, the poet, asserted in verse that "music hath charms to soothe the savage breast," he unwittingly stated a scientific fact, according to modern psychologists.

Going still farther, the psychologists declare that every kind of music has its own special sort of reaction, and to prove their contention a test was made at Harvard University.

With Harvard and Radcliffe students as subjects, it was definitely established that various types of music register varying effects on human beings.

As a result of these experiments, which are taking place throughout the country, it is believed that in the future music will have a definite place in the treatment of mental diseases.

The work is being carried on by officials of the Edison Phonograph Company under the immediate supervision of Thomas A. Edison and Professor Bingham, of Carnegie Institute. As the tests are made, the results are collected at the Edison laboratories, tabulated and studied.

The first subject to whom the test was applied was William J. Burns, the detective, immediately after a protracted investigation of the Wall Street, New York, bomb outrages. Mr. Burns listened to several records played on a phonograph and then filled out a chart describing his change of mood with each selection.

The test at Harvard was given to the advanced class in applied psychology under the direction of Professor Langfeld and J. F. Tolleson. Five musical selections were played on a phonograph before the class and each student then described on a chart his or her mood before the music began, the mood with which the music ended and the particular selections which had affected the change. Professor Langfeld emphasized to the class the importance which such a study may have on the treatment of nervous disorders.

Chief Butcher

Here's the latest arrival in the movie field, Heap Big Chief Butcher. What's that? Oh, no! Chief is his honest to goodness title and not one assumed for publicity. Chief Butcher is the oldest living chief of the ancient Peigan tribe. The Chief must have found the "Fountain of Youth," for he is 107 years young. He is as strong as a boy and he needs to be, for the movie life is a strenuous one and especially so when you have passed the century mark.

Chief Butcher is appearing in "Cameron of the Mounted," and the director says that he does his work well. Chief Butcher's signature was attached to the peace treaty between his tribe and the Canadian government many years ago.

Three Divide Attention on Wichita Bill

Victor Moore and "Em" Littlefield announced as headliners, divided honors for the audience's approval with Marie Stoddard, at the first performance of this week's vaudeville bill at the Wichita theater. The audience was better than the average first matinee audience in size, probably welcoming the return of the vaudeville program to a place more fitted for presenting of, and more comfortable for the listening to a vaudeville bill. And it was an unusually appreciative audience. The bill is funny all the way through, and noisy, and is full of that quality known as "pep".

The Victor Moore act, "Change Your Act, or Back To the Woods," gave the audience a nice intimate view of the rehearsal of a pair of ham actors who are ordered by the manager to deliver the goods or retire to the tall timbers. That much overworked word, "clever" can be applied here, in the real sense of the word.

Marie Stoddard does some really intriguing impersonations, and her act went over big with the matinee audience. Another fatigued from excessive use word must be applied to this actress, "personality."

Harry Puck and Company, said company being four attractive young ladies yessir they're young present one of those thumbnail musical comedy shows without which a vaudeville bill would be as a doughnut without the hole. The man is good at the piano, the girls sing fair, dance better, and look best. Costuming and setting good, and some novelties are introduced.

Price and Bernie open their show, with a song and piano act, that has enough of the "different" in it, and enough ability to make it really entertaining.

POPE BENEDICT ASKS PEACE AND HARMONY FOR ALL

NEW YORK, April 7.—"Let us work for peace and harmony of the world."

This is Pope Benedict's message, brought to America by Frank D. Tuttle of New York, after a trip through Italy and France.

He described his audience with the head of the Roman Catholic Church.

"In spite of the fact," Tuttle said, "that it was noon, I was told to wear evening clothes. Mrs. Tuttle was advised to wear a black gown with black lace over her head.

"The Vatican is the greatest treasure house in Europe. It contains vast fortunes in marble, frescoes and precious stones, which were gifts to various Popes.

"After waiting some time," Tuttle continued, "the Pope entered, simply and without ceremony. He is a small man with soft, dark eyes and a strong, sympathetic countenance. He was dressed in a white cassock and a small black cap."

After the guests kissed the famous papal ring of emeralds and diamonds the Pope said:

"I bless all that is in your hands and all that is in your hearts. I bless all those near and dear to you and those in distant lands."

He said he hoped that he might be given an opportunity to work for the peace and concord of the world.

Tuttle said that the Italian communists were spreading their propaganda, but that all was quiet on the peninsula. No signs of unrest were noticeable to the visitor.

TRUTH IN A BALLOON.

Truth seems to be as hard to come at when heroes or near-heroes foregather amid the loneliness of Canada snows far from the contamination of a vulgar world as anywhere else.

The version of the balloonists' trip given by Lieutenant Farrell is more detailed and matter of fact than Lieutenant Hinton's. Also it quarrels with it on several intimate facts, as Mr. Farrell's fist had hinted it would do. Evidently such a wild flirtation with death is no occasion for the accurate notation of events. The definition of history as an agreed lie suggests the safer way in which the report of such an expedition might be given to an awaiting world.

But safety is not what the public wants, nor is it the best way to get as near the truth as can be got. The processes of reporting so efficiently carried on in Mattiee by the assembled newspaper wisdom of the world, reinforced by movies and a whole background of telegraphers and guides, not to mention the dogs, will develop a host of contradictions and conflicting observations. Out of this mass of fisticuffs, actual and verbal, the awafting world will draw its own conclusion. And that will be history! One is reminded of that admirable, if somewhat confusing, process aimed at discovering the truth, a French criminal trial, wherein every one talks at once and nothing is excluded except order—and out of which justice pretty generally flows.

Perhaps if these three blowaways had used a little more discretion—had hung on to that tree at Wells, N. Y., for example—and kept well within the movie belt, some contradictions might have been avoided. If there is anything left to discover a generation hence no one will do anything without bringing back a complete film of everything done, we suppose. Yet even such a film would fail to record that damatic bark of the unidentified dog which brought the three balloonists to earth and by a few minutes saved them from death in icy waters. No; truth filmed will be quite as hard to discover as truth by word of mouth and fist to the chin.—New York Tribune (Rep.)

LATE MARRIAGES.

Grandmother, who married at 18, finds on looking over the Boston marriage licenses that present-day brides and bridegrooms are "in the thirties." The average age for orange blossoms is 27 to 33, and most bachelor dinners are served when the man most interested is between 30 and 40.

To people with a pre-war slant on economic and social problems these figures are upsetting. The marrying age has been usually roughly calculated as being somewhere in the early 20s. At 23 or 24 a girl was either filling a hope-chest or absorbed permanently in other interests which were, according to sitting-room sentiments, old style. The man who, not married at 25, also was looked upon as confirmed in bachelorhood.

What has happened since the war is that young people are not forming partnerships until they have prepared very carefully. Neither side wants to marry until the other has laid a firm foundation in business, or has stocked up with household furnishings. It must be remembered, too, that houses which could be rented for $25 a month in grandmother's time are now priced at $50 to $75, and furniture is proportionately high. Estimates of living expenses are not reassuring.

It is evident that there has been a serious dislocation of life due to the war, and the period of change and readjustment is not conducive to settling down.

The marriage license figures in Boston may differ somewhat with those of the country, or with those in other cities, but the tendency is unmistakable, and probably counts for more unlovely symptoms in our social life then we are prone to suppose.—Boston Globe (Ind.)

HOPEFUL TRUCE IN THE PACKING INDUSTRY.

The peaceful settlement of the dispute between the packers and the unions, even though it has been described by one of the labor men as only a "truce," is considered by most newspapers as a "triumph" for the Harding administration and particularly for the secretary of labor, who presided over the hearing. The fact that the employes yielded to the packer's demand for a reduction in wages is looked upon with satisfaction by a number of writers as a sign of the times indicating that labor has come to recognize that wages must go down if prosperity is to return. Although the disputants are only bound by their agreement until September first, when the war-ruling concerning the eight-hour day will no longer be effective, the majority of editors feel that both sides have shown that the tendency from now on will be away from the use of force and toward arbitration.

The New York Evening Post (Ind.) hardly an enthusiastic supporter of the republican regime, considers the settlement "a notable triumph for President Harding's administration," for "to postpone a strike for six months is equivalent to averting." The Scranton Times (Dem.) calls the work of "Secretary of Labor Davis, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace" a "first class job" and the Harrisburg Telegraph (Rep.) while it admits that "the calibre of Mr. Davis as secretary of labor is not demonstrated by this one instance" it grants him "a good start." The Milwaukee Leader (Ind.) says the "six months truce" is "a bright feather" in his cap and the administration's.

Justification of the choice of Mr. Davis as a cabinet official is seen in his successful role of mediator by the Sioux City Journal (Rep.) which regards the decision as "significant" in that it shows that labor has a "disposition to accept lower wages in the adjustment of costs which affect living conditions." Adopting this course, the Kansas City Star (Ind.) believes will strengthen the labor organization with the public, whether there is full basis for the hope that labor will generally accept lower wages is not a settled question to the Sioux City Tribune (Ind.), however, for even the packer's agreement may not be permanent if prices do not keep pace with wage-cuts.

It was rather a question in the opinion of the Indianapolis Star (Ind. Rep.) of establishing the fact that "the readjustment program is not aimed at reducing their strength as well as their wages" that troubled the workers who "are evidently disposed to be reasonable" as to the cut in pay. They "evidently realize," the Wheeling Register (Dem.) believes "that a strike was useless, that more was to be lost by a long fight against reduction than accepting them," and the "course they followed is a tribute" to their "common sense." To this the Chicago Tribune (Ind. Rep.) agrees:

"The workers' representatives displayed rare good judgment in submitting to the wage cut fixed by the packers in exchange for concessions on the eight-hour day and continued arbitration arrangements. There has been less meat produced, less consumed and less exported in the United States in the last year than in either of the last two previous years."

The attitude of the workers in agreeing to the cut was bound to come, declares the Mitchell (S. D.) Gazette (Rep.) "with the decline in prices and the general return to normal conditions and will undoubtedly set a precedent for other groups and for wages and salary workers generally." To the Savannah News (Dem.) it is an indication that:

"The wild days when wages were anything the employe wished to ask and when prices were anything the seller wished to ask, are over. Conditions are sifting down to a common sense, normal basis, which they must reach as the basis of the only prosperity that can be permanent."

The Boston Transcript (Ind. Rep.) is not so optimistic as some of the commentators, for though it admits something has been accomplished it quotes the words of the employes' representative to the effect that they merely established "a truce for us to prepare for war." The employes, "though protesting that it is unjust," have accepted the wage cut. The employers have granted the eight-hour day and "scored" in "securing a definite termination of the war-time agreements on September 15," but, it adds, "after that, what?"

DINNER STORIES

A man on the South Side advertised his car for sale. Early the next morning a man who lived across the street came over and said: "Pardon me, but I see by last night's paper you advertised your car for sale."

"Quite true," said the man who advertised the car, "but surely you are not in the market for it."

"No," was the reply, "but I only live across the street and I also want to sell my car. And there would be no need of my spending my money for an advertisement if people were through looking at your car you could just send them across the street to look at my car."

He was unaware of the eccentricities to be be found in western Canada. He entered what was apparently the only hotel in the place. After ushering him to a table and giving the stranger the usual glass of water the waiter inquired:

"Dinner is served, sir. Will you have sausages on toast?"

"No, I never eat 'em!"

"In that case, sir," replied the waiter, moving away, "dinner is over."

BEAUTY SLEEP ESSENTIAL, SO LAW RESCINDED

HAMMOND, Ind., April —The women of Hammond must have their beauty sleep.

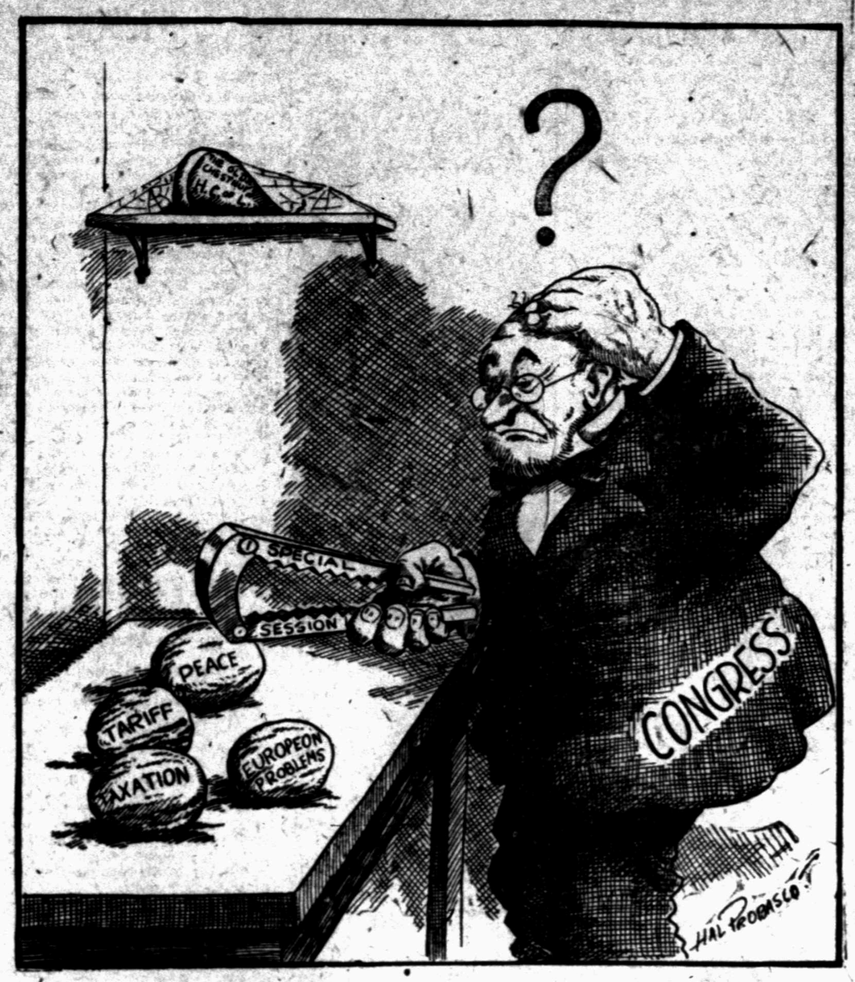

And because the City Council realizes this, Hammond will be the only town in the Calumet district that will not observe daylight saving time this Summer.

Representatives of important industries urged the council not to rescind the daylight saving ordinance under which the city has operated for years. The women wanted the ordinance rescinded.

"It may be important to save a hour or two for business," the spokesman of the women told the City Fathers, "but it is more important that the women have their natural sleep in the morning. We want ours."

After such an argument there was only one thing for the Aldermen to do and they did it. Hammond's daylight saving ordinance is defunct.

Pipeline Due to Be Connected on Archer Sensation

Pipeline connections are due to be made today at the Texhoma Oil & Refining Company's Gose well, the new Archer county sensation.

The Texas company has run a line from its K. M. A. line to the Texhoma's discovery well, and Tuesday advices were to the effect that it should be connected up today.

The well has never been drilled into the sand, since it first started flowing, but has continued to flow at the rate of between 175 and 200 barrels daily since that time. A test will now be possible with the pipeline connections made and much importance attaches to the outcome.

The Texhoma's No. 2 Gose, the closest of the new tests that have been started since the discovery, is reported drilling below 800 feet. The Lee Bass, on the Nat Henderson, to the north is reported drilling at about 300 feet. A number of other tests, which have been carried in previous reports as derricks, or locations, are making preparations to drill as quickly as possible.

RECIPES FOR A DAY

Scalloped Fish—This is a good way to use up a small amount of cooked, left-over fish. Flake fish and put a layer in an oiled baking dish. Cover with a layer of sliced, hard cooked eggs, then another layer of fish. Pour over a thin white sauce, put a few strips of bacon on top and bake until bacon is crisp.

Fruited Chocolate Pudding—One envelope plain gelatin, three-quarters cup cold water, one cup sugar, one-half teaspoon vanilla, one-half cup seeded raisins, one-half cup of dates, one-quarter cup nuts, one and one-half squares chocolate, a pinch of salt, three cups of milk.

Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Put milk in double boiler, add melted chocolate and when scalding point is reached add sugar, salt and soaked gelatin. Remove from fire and when mixture begins to thicken add vanilla, fruit and nuts. Turn into a mold first dipped in cold water and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

Potato Salad—A nourishing, substantial salad which prepared this way is enough better to pay for the extra work it takes. Boil the desired number of potatoes with the skins on. When done, peel and slice while hot int[illegible] bowl, putting between layers of pot[illegible] sliced onion, salt, pepper, a litt[illegible] oil and vinegar.

Make several layers of potato. Cover and let stand several hours. When ready to serve mix with mayonnaise and serve on lettuce. Celery or cucumber may be added and stuffed olives makes a pretty garnish.

TESTED RECIPES

Bread Pudding—Two cups milk, one cup bread crumbs, one-eighth teaspoon salt, two eggs, three tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons of powdered sugar, one-half cup jelly. Heat the milk, place the bread crumbs in a baking dish and add the milk. Leave in a warm place until the bread has absorbed the milk. Stir and mash with a spoon and add the salt. Separate eggs and beat the yolks and add the sugar to them. Add the sugar and eggs to the bread and milk. Bake in a moderate oven. Beat the whites very stiff and fold on top of pudding, pile the meringue lightly on top. Brown in oven, cool slightly before serving.

Thousand Island Salad Dressing—One cup mayonnaise, one-half cup olive oil, one tablespoon tarragon vinegar, one-quarter teaspoon paprika, one tablespoon chopped chives, one tablespoon chopped pimentoes, one tablespoon chopped green pepper, one cooked egg yolk, sifted, one tablespoon walnut catsup, one-third cup chili sauce.

Mix all together.

Veal Pot Roast—Two pounds shoulder veal, one-quarter pound salt pork, one bay leaf, one onion, salt, pepper. Put salt pork in [illegible] tle, when fried out add onion sliced and brown it. Put in veal, brown on all sides, add bay leaf, pepper and a little salt and one cup hot water. Keep just below boiling for two hours adding hot water occasionally. Remove from kettle, pour fat off from liquor, add more water if necessary and make a gravy.

French Women Teach Others How to Love

PARIS, April 6. — The strangest secret society on record—an organization to teach women past middle age of their husbands—has just been launched in Paris.

Its sponsor is the Countess Andree de Tavernay. She admits that she is forty-one years old, but not a one of her male admirers will believe her. She has grouped about her, she says, some of the best known women in French society, whose names are as secret as the by-laws and advice issued by the organization.

The new society is known as the "French Charm Club." It has just begun issuing a mysterious book whose chapters comes out serially. It is never to reach the eyes of man until years after the death of every member.

"I have taken a hint from the American correspondence schools," says the Countess. "To make sure that no part of the book falls into the hands of a man I mail out one chapter for members of the society to read and when they finish with that they send it back to me by registered mail and I send on the next chapter. Each time a member sends back her copy she renews her solemn pledge never to let the book out of her possession."

Only the introduction to the mysterious love book is public property. It is written by the Countess herself, though members of the society will contribute to several chapters.

Hang On To Charm, is Advice.

"Women of forty and over," says the preface, "you must learn how to charm your husbands if you are to keep them. Nothing is easier. Always remember that it is the woman of forty, ripe with experience in love, who most often awakes the affections of youth when love comes to youth intuitively. Retain your charm and you have nothing to fear from frivolous young girls."

The love book will have chapters on the care of the complexion and the hair, how to dress attractively and how to retain a youthful figure. One chapter, the Countess announces, will deal with "The Best Loved Man in Paris, a figure in real life and will recount the experiences of many women, both under and over forty, who tried to capture his heart.

R. Gordon Berry, who has been assistant manager of the Kemp hotel since it started here, and who is leaving for Little Rock, Ark., to make his home, was presented a handsome gold watch by the employees of the hotel Monday night.

All of the employees in the organization had a part in expressing esteem in which they held Mr. Berry and his removal from the city is regretted by those who have come in contact with him, both in a business and social way.

F. R. Carter, formerly with the Royal hotel at Excelsior Springs, Mo., an experienced hotel man, will take the position of assistant to Manager Allen, it was announced.

To be eligible to election to the Hall of Fame a person must have been dead for ten years.

The English mile is longer than a kilometer, being equal to 1,600 kilometers.

APPROPRIATION MAY STILL BE GIVEN SCHOOLS

There is still a possibility that the $4,000,000 appropriation passed by the last session of the legislature and vetoed by Governor Neff providing for rural school aid for 1921 and 1922 may be obtained, according to a letter received Wednesday by Durl Bryant, county superintendent of schools, from Anna Webb Blanton, state superintendent.

According to Miss Blanton, Governor Neff at the time of his veto said that he had no objection to the appropriation if means could be found to raise the funds.

Miss Blanton in her communication to Superintendent Bryant indicated that her department with the co-operation of certain members of the legislature was working out a method of securing the additional state revenue and that if this could be accomplished the bill would be submitted to the special session of the state legislature to be called during the summer months. In her letter Miss Blanton said she had no criticism to make of the action of Governor Neff in vetoing the bill as she felt that he had done so only because the state funds for such an appropriation were not available.

According to Superintendent Bryant, the rural schools of this county had expected to receive during the coming year between $5,000 and $6,000 aid from the state rural school fund. During the last year the total paid received by the county was $3,700.

This amount, Mr. Bryant said, was probably one of the smallest appropriations made to any county in the state. He said the appropriations were based on the financial status of the rural school districts and that the rural schools in this county were less in need of special aid than a large majority of rural schools in other parts of the state.

He indicated, however, that the failure of the bill providing for the appropriation to become a law would work a serious hardship on at least two of the rural schools in the county. During the last year County Line school has received $1,000 from the state fund. This was the largest amount received by any school in the county.

School Teacher Badly Hurt in Auto Accident

Thrown completely over the engine and radiator of a stripped Ford chassis when it collided with an Overland touring car on Buchanan street, near the 1500 block Wednesday evening at about 9:30 o'clock, Miss Olgie Norris, 22, teacher in the city schools, received a severe scalp wound necessitating 15 stitches, a broken thumb on her right hand and severe bruises to her back.

Attending physicians, who took an X-Ray picture of the scalp wound, say that it is possible that the injured woman's skull is fractured.

J. M. Lewis, driver of the Overland, which collided with the Ford, said that he was swerving to the left to avoid crashing into another car, when the accident occurred and did not see the Ford until too late to avoid the crash. Miss Helen Chesslock, 20, who was riding with Lewis, was thrown from her car; but received no injuries, according to physicians.

The car in which Miss Norris was riding had no seat, according to Miss Chesslock, and Miss Norris and her brother, Frank Norris, who was driving, were sitting on the gas tank. Miss Norris was removed to the Methodist hospital for treatment.

POSTPONE TRIAL OF HUSTED ET AL

The trial of the case against George Husted, C. A. McDonald et al charged with theft which was to have opened before Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court Wednesday morning was postponed until May 16 at the request of attorneys for Husted. The latter's attorneys stated to the court that he was ill with smallpox.

It had been previously agreed among the several defendants that Husted would stand trial first. The case involves the alleged theft of a large amount of oil in storage in the Northwest extension.

RE-ARREST MORGAN ON INSANITY CHARGE

A. W. Morgan recently sent from here to the insane asylum at Austin was again arrested here Wednesday by county officers following his dismissal from the Austin institution and is being held at the county jail pending investigations as to his sanity.

Morgan was dismissed as sane from the state asylum last week and returned here Tuesday night. According to officers, he began acting strange when he arrived. According to members of the family he threatened the life of his wife.

WASN'T TAPS BUT LIGHTS WENT OUT

Taps didn't blow—but downtown Wichita Falls got a taste of that quality of blackness which reigns in most residence district of the city after nightfall when the lights went out all over the city shortly after 10 o'clock Wednesday night. They stayed out for about ten minutes.

The lights died out at that hour when the crowds on the streets, in the drug stores and in the movie theaters were at their best.

And, in going out, the lights did a job with a thoroughness which was beyond dispute. The lights of the "white way," the electric signs, the window lights, and the single bulbs in the hotel rooms faded with an unanimity which left no room to doubt that the town was due to close down for for a while.

Pedestrians jostled against one another with more or less force while attempting to move from the house blackness, momentarily lifted by the headlights of a passing automobile or the striking of a match in the hands of one of the passersby.

Theater crowds indicated their displeasure by the stamping which is always in order—passengers on the stalled street cars indicated theirs through the customary vocal complaints—but the darkness—strangely—was not lifted thereat.

Momentary glows in the bulbs in various business houses gave rise to hopes on several occasions before the throwing in of an emergency generator at the light plant brought the lights on again.

A heavy loaded circuit at the light plant had tripped out from some undetermined reason, with the cutting off of the lights as a result.

WOMAN HURT IN AUTO, RECOVERS FROM DELIRIUM

The condition of Mrs. Mae Brown, found on Tenth street with a badly lacerated arm and delirious Tuesday night, was said at the Wichita General hospital to be greatly improved and the woman was allowed to return to her home Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Brown is said to have thrust her arms through the windshield of her automobile on Tenth street and then supposedly crazed by the pain, ran up the street. She entered the home of Commissioner Curlee and asked to use the telephone.

A service car was summoned and took her to her home on Lake street from which she was taken to the Wichita General hospital in the Merkle-Luna ambulance.

NATURE IGNORES WISHES OF DEAD MAN

When the man lying beneath the monum[illegible]ent shown above died in Hanover, Germany, one of his last wishes was that his grave be not disturbed by anyone. Some time after his death a tiny tree sprung up near the monument and it has now grown to such proportions that it has tilted the monument from its base.

Col. Goodnight To Visit Rodeo In This City

Colonel Charles Goodnight, pioneer Texas ranchman and founder of perhaps the only bison herd in this section of the United States, Wednesday evening wired his acceptance to an invitation extended by the management of the Round-Up to attend the opening day.

This will be the first time Colonel Goodnight has visited in Wichita Falls for several years, "Fog Horn" Clancy said. Illness prevented his attendance at the Round-Up last year.

Tom Burnett, who is taking a keen interest in the Round-Up to be held here April 28, 29 and 30 expressed himself as highly el[illegible]ated when he received Colonel Good[illegible]night's response. Mr. Burnett says it is the Round-Up's desire to entertain as many of the old timers as possible.

A buffalo and Indian race will be staged as a feature of the Round-Up, W. J. McCalister, owner of the Goodnight ranch has promised [illegible] and 75 reservation Indians will atten[illegible]d. Eastern visitors will be treated to barbecued buffalo if plans formulated at present are adhered to. Guy Shultz, of Bliss, Okla., has said he can bull-dog one of the bison and will be given his chance.

Redistricting Is Demanded by Western Texas

Second, That we deplore and regret his veto of the rural aid bill which would bring financial relief to the farm schools of Texas and which veto will shorten school terms in the rural districts of Texas and thus limit the educational aldvantages of the children of our state.

Third, that we condemn as subversive to the economy of a representative government the unwarranted refusal of the legislature of Texas to enact a senatorial redistricting bill at the present session of the legislature, as demanded by the constitution.

Fourth, that we, the citizenship of West Texas, stand united and cohesive, in the determination to right these wrongs, and we appeal to our representatives in the legislature that they sacrifice every political and personal ambition to the accomplishment of these ends.

Bridgetown Reports Say Bridge Safe

With the report that the water in Red river had ceased to rise and that a string of tank cars had been placed on the bridge to steady the foundations, local officials of the Northwestern late Wednesday night declared the danger that the bridge would wash away was less than earlier in the afternoon.

Telephone messages from Burkburnett late last night also minimized the reports that the bridge was in immediate danger.

However, railroad officials are exerting precautionary measures by "spotting" empty tank cars on the bridge to keep the pilings under the bridge in place.

The danger to the bridge had been increased earlier in the day when nine panels of the wagon bridge across the river at Bridgetown washed out and were carried down the turbulent course lodging against the railroad bridge. The force of the wreckage hammering at the structure as well as the sand bars under the piling partly washing away made the situation very grave, it was reported at the local offices.

April 18 Set as Date for First Southern Train

Operation of trains into Graham over the extension of the Wichita Falls & Southern will probably begin Monday, April 18, it was announced Wednesday at the local offices of the company. The laying of steel into Graham will be finished by April 16.

With the dates practically certainties the running of the Wichita Falls trades excursion train into Graham is fixed for April 25 or 26, it was announced, it being the plan to have the new line in service under actual operating conditions about a week before the heavily loaded 10 or 12 coach excursion train is run over the line.

Delivery of the additional passenger equipment ordered by the line several weeks ago is expected at any time, it was announced Wednesday.

Shreveport Sport Writer Sizes Up Texas League Club Chances

By Joseph J. Quinn, Sports Editor Shreveport Times.

Who will win the Texas league championship this year? That is a salient question, now that the season is less than a fortnight away. Pre-season contests are poor indicators of team's strength, yet the early battles have revealed weak spokes in the Rattlesnake circuit. Bright vistas open up before all the organizations. New faces will be seen. A greater abundance of talent is present. Pitching skill abounds. It is safe to predict that since the lifting of the league to Class A, that an entirely different atmosphere will surround the battles, a major league intentness will be observed back of every play by perspicacious students of the game. In short, the Texas league is due for the greatest year in its history, judging from the power of the teams as they look on paper.

Standing out with marked prominence is batting strength and the lack of it. Few of the squads are well balanced along this particular line. Pitching staffs seem to be the best card for all the departments; taking every team into consideration, batting is the weakest.

Putting one's finger on what looks to be the best team in the organization is well nigh impossible. Taking every department into consideration, carefully weighing the results of exhibition contests, summing up the hitting power of the teams of the league, there are two nines that stand out above the others—Fort Worth and Shreveport. The former has still a place to fill that prevents one from exclaiming "a well rounded team!" The Shreveport Gassers on the other hand have been whittled down to a keen squad. While not perhaps the strongest batting organization in the league as far as individuals are concerned, as a whole its stick work should measure up with the best. As to pitching, Shreveport compares favorably with the best of the nines. The addition of Ralph Ledbetter, Yankee release sends the stock of the North Louisiana team sky high. Against New Orleans he performed in world series style.

Wichita Falls.

Skipper Salm went to Hot Springs last week and received the assurance of Geoge Gibson, Pittsburgh pilot, that he would receive a first baseman, outfielders and two hurlers.

Outfielder Mokan, erstwhile Spudder, is making good with a bing with the Pirates and little hope is entertained of his being returned. Zinn and Eberhard, former Spudder hurlers, are also making some of the Pirate vets hustle to keep their berts, though it is likely that one of these will be returned.

Every other berth on the team has been nailed down by last year's men. Clark and Tanner are going better than ever at second and short, while Tex McDonald's work around the hot corner and with the willow has caused much favorable comment among the fans.

Center and right fields will be well taken care of by Jake Miller and McElwee, while Kitchens and Bischoff, obtained in a trade from Memphis, will handle the hurlers without any trouble.

Among the slab men who have already reported are Ruth, Sewell, Darrough, Hudspeth, Bowman, Rube Marshall and Anderson. The two hurlers from Pittsburg are yet to report, so Salm is not worrying about his hurling force. Any one of these could make his mark in this league and it will simply be a question of keeping the best of the lot. He won't make a mistake if he holds on to any one of them.

Houston.

The Houston club this year will be exceptionally strong behind the bat, the pitcher's box and in the outfield.

The infield is the doubtful department of the game at present. First base is considered safe with Jim Bottomly, a Card castoff, covering it. He is a left-hander and walloped .345 in the North Dakota league last year. At second Blades, a former southern leaguer, is counted on to star, but has not been seen in action as yet. At short Exell, a Texa semi-pro, is working out. He was sent to the Buffs from the Cards. To date he has been unable to get going and has piled up many errors. He is expected to come through, however. He is out a .250 hitter.

At third base Wilmer, a St. Louis semi-pro, looks fairly good. He also came from the Buffs, and, while he got away to a bad start, he is improving each day. Johnny Bagnan, Whitman, Charles M. Miller and Gene Bailey are counted on to take care of the outfield clouts.

Gene Bailey, the former Red Sox, is a .300 hitter.

Pitchers with the team are: Bolton, Bartott, Gudger, Whitworth, Buscha, Robertson, Donalds, Nichole and Munger.

Behind the bat Griffith, a former Western leaguer, and Gulham, released to Houston by the Cards under optional agreement, are expected to handle things. At present short and third are the only doubtful positions.

Shreveport

What will Shreveport do this year? It should come out on the upper rung. Hack Fibel is covering first like a fiend these days and has the fans pulling for him from beginning to end. Hollahan, a youngster, is holding down second with all the skill of a veteran. Watt and Hartford, at short, are battling it out for supremacy. Ewoldt, of course, is there on third with his accustomed sang froid and his dependability.

Wallace, Vann, Henry and Greenane, a rookie, are doing their part behind the bat. That department, as all others, offers no problem whatever.

As to pitchers, there are a host of them—all good. Ralph Ledbetter seems to tower above them all, although this is an unsafe assertion. Hinter and Crockett have had the Yankees eating out of their hands. Byrd is a beauty for steadiness, though not much of power. He seems to be able to fool the batters. Gleason is as good as last year and in his one exhibition showed up better than during any game last year. Price is the boy who struck out Ruth twice in succession and Babe said of him to Billy Smith: "Boy, but I do like that little pitcher." Verbout of last year and Bennett are standbys that will come in handy this season for they have shown up well. In fact, every one of Smith's hurling staff looks good to the fans in Shreveport.

In the outfield there are two new ones who are phenoms—and an old timer, Jackson. The phenoms are Storey and Bowman. Both of them have been hitting of late as if their war bonns depended upon it. Bowman has been swatting .600 and Storey, against the Yanks, passed the .500 mark. That's a record against the Yankee hurlers. Jackson, of course is as reliable as ever. It looks as if Shreveport will trot off the field a winner.

San Antonio

From present indications, San Antonio will not have the heavy hitting aggregation of 1920 in the race this season. This is largely because of the absence of Eddie Brown in the outfield. Frank Gibson from behind the bat and Fred Lear from first base. However, the Bruins have been giving worthy performances for a club that looks like a light hitter on paper. The infield will find Fred Henry, experienced, a fine fielder and a fair hitter, at first; Fuller at his best at second; Ewell Gross back at short with all his speed and ability to hit, and Manager Nee at third.

Les Tullos, who is hitting well and is now filling in at third while Nee lets an injured leg rest, will be utility man. Bill Patterson is at short, while John McGraw, who secured him in a trade for Gross, gets waivers on Ewell.

Booe will be back in left. Gresset or Danielly, neither of whom looks to be Texas league timber, in center, and Knizely in right. The Bears will have somebody else in center, as a deal is on now to put this over.

Joseph Casey will be first string catcher. The pudgy one looks fine. His assistant will be either Wilson White or W. G. White, both good hitters, but a trifle slow as fielders. Bill Fincher, Ray Jordan from the Pacific Coast; Olin Voight, from the Three Eye league, and Bob Reason from the Western association, three right handers and a southpaw, in order, will be the nucleus for a pitching staff that looked weak at first but stacks up well now. Ed Baindridge, left-handed, may be the fifth man and Gene Cochreham, veteran right hander, must be considered. The Bears look good offensively and defensively.

Beaumont

When Jimmy Doyle joins the Exporters, the 1921 team will be completed. Doyle's coming will plug a gap at second base that has caused Manager Pat Newman no little worry during the exhibition games. Art Byrnes, an outfielder from the Blue Ridge league, has been trying to convert himself into second baseman, and while he has shown some promise will hardly have a chance to wrest the keystone berth from the flashy Doyle.

As the situation now stands, the Exporters will start the season with Newman or Mathes at first, Doyle at second, Jack Stansbury at short and Red McDermott, the former Gasser, at third. The fans here have a dandy infield to look at. Newman hasn't yet chosen his outfield, but it should prove strong enough with Cutie Breaux, Nick Demaggio, Jack Johnston and Cedric Durst to pick from. Durst is the only rookie in the quartet and he has displayed exceptional qualities in the pre-season games.

Newman announced today he will retain Catcher Walter Alexander, Lud Kelly and Bert Whaling until the middle of May at least. The pitching burden is expected to fall on Bill Bailey, Bill James, Stuart Jacobus, of last year's team, and George Scott, obtained from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dallas.

Batting strength is the chief feature of the 1921 Dallas ball club, on which Ham Patterson and the new field leader, Jim Galloway, rely for the pennant.

In Williams, a right-hander, who has delivered in every league in which he has played; Snipe Conley, always good for this circuit; Reisigl, a veteran; slow ball artist, Roy Mitchell, emerging from voluntary retirement under the Texas league license for the spitball; Fitzpatrick, a Cedar Rapids star, and Schwartz, a left-hander from Moose Jaw, has a sextet of exceptional strength.

In addition, Gomez, Hill, Carter and Adkins, west Texas senarions in 1920, and Landry of last year's staff make it a problem where to cut down. There is $5,000 worth of catching talent on the team. Chink Mattick in center is the only survivor of last year's team. In the infield, Boskoff, a left-hander, will play first if Pete Adams is not reinstated; Palmer, second; Jim Galloway, third, and Marvin Smith from Regina, short, with Ray Falk as utility infielder.

In the outfield, Gleich, obtained from the Yanks, and Jodey Tate, a hardhitting infielder from Ranger, will flank Mattick. The team is a young one, but is nicely seasoned by veteran talent, and looks like a comer.

Galveston.

That the revamped Galveston Sandcrabs will be in the coming Texas league race, and mighty near the top when the season ends, is the verdict of many. The Crabs have met so far the best of the Braves, New York Giants and the Atlanta Crackers, and in the majority of the games they have played great ball. The locals in two contests whitewashed the Atlanta team, 3 to 0, and fought a 10-inning to 3-to-3 tie. They were beaten by the Giants by a narrow margin of one run.

The line-up that probably will start the season for Galveston is: Bittle, center field; Dister, second base; King, right field; Horan, left field; Schliebner, first base; Ellam, shortstop; Grubb, third base; Lapan, Witery and O'Brien, catchers. The hurling staff, thought by many to compare with the best in the circuit, at present consists of Conchman, Knight, McGrew, Jolly, Shaffe, Lee and Knight are known quantities, all first-string hurlers. The sensation of the training season to date has been the young McCrew, who was picked up at Yoakum, Texas, by the Crabs' manager. He stands even seven feet in his shoes and weighs slightly under 200 pounds. He has met with equal success against major and minor leaguers during the few games pitched thus far, and local fans believe that he will be the sensation of the circuit this season.

Dutch Schliebner, at first, can be dismissed with the mere statement that he is one of the greatest in the league. George Distel, at second, was secured from Little Rock this year, and is a first class performer. Manager Roy Ellam, formerly of Nashville, holds down short and runs the team. He is a steady, dependable veteran, not brilliant, but a dangerous pinch hitter, Harvey Grubb, at third, is an ex-Spudder, and an experienced veteran. The Crabs' infield is causing the manager no worry. Dan Wagner, late of Lake Charles, is a fine utility man, and some believe that he will carve a regular berth on the team for himself. The outfield is Boss Ellam's great problem, because he has such a wealth of material to select from.

In Callahan, Horan, Bittle, King and Wagner, with the possibility of Freddie McDonald coming back from Boston, he has six good men. Right now the chances are that Bittle, King and Horan will have the call. All are good fielders. Pete Lapan, a catcher, formerly of the Pacific Coast league, is considered here to be playing under his class when in the Texas circuit. Mickey O'Brien, with the team last year, and Frank Witery, from the Ontario league, will be the other catchers.

OLD TIMER PLAYS GREAT TENNIS IN SEMI-FINAL TEST

By Associated Press.

BOSTON, April 6.—Joshua Crane of this city, 52 years of age today, forced his younger opponent, Fulton Cutting of New York, to five sets before the latter gained a victory in the semi-final round of the national amateur court tennis championship tournament. The match lasted two and a half hours. The scores were: 6-1, 4-6, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

In the other semi-final rounds, Stanley G. Mortimer of New York defaulted to C. S. Cutting of New York. The brothers Cutting will play tomorrow to determine which shall meet J. Gould of New York, the title holder, in the Shallen ground.

BARNEY CONFIDENT SPUDDERS WILL COP TEXAS LEAGUE FLAG

The hope that the Spudders will win the Texas League pennant this year and the good wishes of Barney Dreyfus to the local fans, was expressed in a telegram to the sporting editor of the Record News Wednesday morning, by the Pirate's president and owner.

Mr. Dreyfus thinks that the Spudders will make any team do a miracle to beat the local club to the top of the heap at the end of the 1921 season., he expressing that sentiment while watching the contests between the Pirates and Salmites last Sunday.

WICHITA FALLS, BOOST FOR CUP ON ATTENDANCE

Wichita Falls will be an absolute closed town Friday, April 15, according to John W. Thomas, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association, who has announced that all merchants in the city will close their portals on the opening day of the Texas League.

"We've asked, Thomas said, that every business house, bank, institution, in fact every branch of business cease operation on that date, part of the day, or all of it, and that everyone in the city who is physically able, whether they like baseball or not to jam their way into the Spudder's park, opening day. Wichita Falls wants to win the attend cup offered by Doak Roberts, president of the league and as we missed out on it only by a few hundred last year, we want to make sure that such an occurrence does not happen again."

The Kiwanis Club has offered to assist in selling tickets for the opening game with Dallas, Friday, April 15. This club, the newest organization of business men in the city are anxious to show that they are organized to help make Wichita Falls known to be the best city in the state of Texas and are anxious to assist in one of the best ways to advertise the city—the winning of the attendance cup by the Spudders.

Mayor Cline, the city council, the Retail Merchants' Association, the Chamber of Commerce will be interviewed by committees appointed by the club in regards to declaring opening day at least, a half holiday. It is hoped by the Kiwanis and all baseball fans that their efforts will meet with success.

All of Salm's ball club will be guests of honor at the Kiwanis Club luncheon at their next luncheon and it is expected that Mayor Cline and other dignitaries of the city will be present to give the Spudders a royal send-off towards pennantville.

Let's hear from the next civic organization with plans to help along in making April 15 a holiday. This column is open to all activities along that line.

SPORT PICKUPS

Another international match of considerable interest was made possible when Johnny Buff of Jersey City clinched his right to the flyweight championship of America by knocking out Abe Goldstein. Buff is the first American of Wilde's own weight who figures to have an even chance with the noted English midget. Wilde was beaten by Jack Sharkey and knocked out by Pete Herman, but both were handicap matches. When Wilde was in this country, Frank Moson was the leading claimant of the American title in the flyweight class. Wilde beat Mason easily, but he is likely to find Buff a different proposition. London wants this match, but it may be that Tex Rickard will obtain it for his open air arena in New Jersey.

Jim Garton, released by the Giants to the New Orleans club of the Southern league under an optional agreement, is a very promising young pitcher and a year or two more should find him going well in the major leagues. He is in build and style strangely reminiscent of Ferdinand Schupp when the Louisville kid was trying to make good with the Giants a few years ago. Like Schupp he is a southpaw and he has Ferdie's disposition, being a happy go lucky sort of a boy apparently without a care in the world. Garton has a lot of stuff and as soon as he learns how to use it he will make a valuable man for the Giants.

Elmer Yoter, star shortstop of the Schoen Steel club last season, who just returned home after playing this winter in the Panama Canal baseball league, has signed a Philadelphia contract and is being farmed out to the Norfolk club of the Virginia State league, to be recalled in September. Yoter is exceptionally fast and was one of the fastest 100-yard men who competed in the U. S. Steel corporation meets.

No progress has been made with regard to the Yankees' second base problem and it looks as if Chick Fewster will hold down that station when the season starts. Mike McNally and Mitchell are destined to find places on the bench, but Ward may win his old place back from Baker. Ward is without question one of the best young men in the game. He proved his worth last year. Still, the Trappe mauler is far from through as an active player. As far as playing ability is concerned Hug certainly could use Del Pratt.

Babe Ruth's fame has reached eternal Rome. The Italian clergy and educators, enthusiastic over Pope Benedict's suggestion to the Knights of Columbus that they undertake welfare and athletic work among the young men of Rome and Italy, have sent numerous messages to Supreme Secretary William J. McGinley of the K. of C. urging the Knights to commence work in Italy as quickly as possible. A letter just received from a well known Italian educator asks that the K. of C. enlist the services of "Babe Butho" (Italian version of the swat king's name) for athletic work in Italy. They have visions of the Babe swating home runs across the ancient Tiber.

The Central league, expanded to a six-club circuit, plans to begin its season the second week of May.

SPUDDERS TO MAKE TRIP TO FREDERICK

Walter Salm, accompanied by his Spudders will make the trip from Wichita Falls to Frederick, Okla., to play the Frederick baseball team an exhibition game today. The entire team with the exception of some of the pitchers leave this morning at 7 o'clock and are expected to return at 9 o'clock tonight.

A full report of the game will be found in tomorrow's Record News, a member of the editorial staff accompanying the club to the Oklahoma town.

Groh Tells World Why He's Holding Out on Moranmen

By Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., April 6.—Hinie Groh, holdout third baseman of the Cincinnati National league club, announced today on his return from Augusta, Ga., where he had been in training with the team of his brother, Louis, that he would never play another game with the Reds.

He said that the club could trade him, sell him, or force him to remain idle, but that he would not sign a contract. Groh's grievance is that his salary demands were given too wide publicity.

"In 1919 and in 1920 I had salary differences with the club," Groh said "but each time I signed, not for the sake of the team, but because of the Cincinnati fans who have treated me fairly."

Works, Mangum and Rothfuss Sent To Spudders by Pittsburgh Pirates

The suspense is over, fellow fans, for Barney Dreyfuss and George Gibson, president and manager of the Pittsburgh National league club, respectively, have finally decided on the players they will send to Walter Salm's Spudder Sluggers. Here they are:

Pierce Works first baseman.
Harry Rothfuss, outfielder.
Leo Mangus, pitcher.

Will Join Salm Today.

These players are expected to join the local club this afternoon, according to a wire to The Record News from President Dreyfuss of the Pirates, yesterday morning, and will be seen in uniform with the Spudders upon the team's return from Frederick, Okla., Friday. As all three are in excellent condition, Salm will no doubt play them in the first game of the Omaha series which starts tomorrow afternoon.

Nothing much is known of Harry Rothfuss or Leo Mangum with the exception that they were good enough to be retained until the last moment by the Pirates and were only sent to the Spudders because of the fact that Gibson thought another year in the minors would make them about ripe for big league company. Rothfuss is said to be a slugger and is fleet of foot. He should make a fit companion for Miller and McElwee and with these three Salm should have the best minor league outfield in the country. Mangus looked good to Gibson, according to Dreyfuss and he would have been kept this year had it not been that the Pirates are well stocked with hurlers and that a "rookie" breaking in had to be a near world-beater to make the club for the season.

Works a Wonder.

Pierce Works, the first baseman, has played little professional baseball and plays the game because he likes it, not for the money he can make out of it. He is said to be a wonder at the initial sack, a great hitter and a man who works for the club and not for himself entirely.

While this is far from being the society column, it might perhaps be mentioned that Pierce Works or any branch of the family of that name is a name to conjour with, out in the golden state of California. According to Dreyfuss, the first sacker has for a father, none other than Senator Works of California, while his grandfather is chief justice of the sunny state. Pierce is said to be tall and handsome. What a chance for local debutantes.

Spudders a Slugging Club.

With the addition of three ex-Pirates Salm's club is going to show the Texas circuit a wonderful brand of baseball during the coming season, which by the way, is only ten days off. With a club like the following it is going to take more than the Fort Worth pitcher or the Shreveport sluggers to hold back the local aggregation. It is the two teams mentioned above who have the best chance for the penant this year outside of the Spudders.

Rothfuss, lf
Tanner, ss
McDonald, 3b
Works, 1b
Clark, 2b
Miller, cf
McElwee, rf
Kitchens, c
Bischoff, c

Look Them Over.

Just glance over the list and you'll notice one of the greatest bunch of minor league sluggers ever brought together. That is a broad statement perhaps, to make, but look 'em over, look 'em over.

Rothfuss, if his advance notices hold up, is a .300 hitter in any league. Tanner is always good for about .280 through the season. McDonald's hitting ability is too well known to discuss here. During the practice games this spring against the visiting big leaguers, Mac's batting average was over .400. Works is said to have almost taken Joe Grim's job away from him at Hot Springs on account of the former's clouting ability. Clark, little Danny, is a cleanup man and is good for around the .300 mark for the season. Miller, the fastest man in the Texas league, wallops the ball consistently. The same can be said of McElwee, while Kitchens and Bischoff are known to be one of the best when it comes time for a needed long hit.

Even among the pitchers Salm numbers some heavy hitters, notably "Babe" Ruth. "Rube" Marshall hits 'em hard. Bowman leans viciously against the horsehide, while the rest lam the pill with ardor on their trips to the bat. The probable utility men, if Salm finally makes his choice are all hefty sluggers, Comstock, Moore and Gross socking the pellet regularly.

It's up to the fans of Wichita Falls to show that they appreciate a team that is due to make history in the Texas circuit during 1921.

INCREASED ENROLLMENT IN SCHOOLS

An increase of 102 students enrolled in the Wichita Falls public schools is reported for the month of March over the previous month with a total enrollment of 5,505 compared with 5,403 for February. This total shows that a number of families are now moving to this city, contrary to the idea that Wichita Falls is constantly losing its population. Of this increase, part are those students who have moved here recently, while part are those who have just entered for the term. This increase is pleasing. Teachers say, as at this time when the school year is approaching the end, the enrollment usually falls to show any increase.

After a visit made by Business Manager Brown and Miss Marie Hall, Spanish teacher in the high school, to the Mexican district of this city, recently in the interests of the school census, a greater number of Mexicans are taking advantages of the free school. Many of the parents of the Mexican children of school age were not aware of the advantages in the way of educational facilities that were offered before the visit was made. Six of these Mexican children entered the Travis school Monday.

In the high school both senior and junior a decrease of 70 was reported during March with a total enrolled of 870. This decrease in face of the increase in the other schools of the local system was said by Principal Rider of the high school, to be due to an unusual number of students absent because of sickness. During the past two months, Mr. Rider says, there have been more absences due to sickness than during the rest of the school year. Vaccination for smallpox and scarlet fever has kept a good many out of schools lately, Mr. Rider said.

Cobblestones Of Brest Now Being Replaced

BREST, France, April 7.—The cobblestone roadways of the quays here are being repaired. Veteran cobblestones that felt the tread of new armies from a new land or bore upon them the weight of prisoners from the country beyond the Rhine as they worked and watched these same new armies disembark are passing into the discard. Long and well they have served their time giving place to newer and younger ones which are being laid by men as old as the service of those others.

Not much sentiment about a cobblestone think the old men of Brest as they dig them up and toss them contemptuously aside for the newer and less worn ones, yet back in America the cobblestones of Brest will linger long in the memory of almost 2,000,000 men. The cobblestones offered to countless men of the new American armies their first march on the soil of France. What Doughboy will ever forget them as descending from steamer with heavy pack and rifle he stumbled and clattered across them? As they were the first of French soil to be beneath his feet, so were they the last as with victory in his kit, with the mud of the Argonne still on his shoes, he slipped gleefully over them to the waiting transport and home.

Worn smooth by army trucks and the tramping men the old stones have done their bit. The only echo of those other days that has come to them has been in the trucks of the American Red Cross, which continue still to roll from cargo boat to warehouse carrying supplies that the people of Europe might live.

NEW YORK COFFEE.

NEW YORK, April 6.—The market for coffee futures was easier today. Some of the traders who bought on yesterday's reports that the Brazilian government was buying in the primary markets, were evidently disappointed by the showing of today's official cables and after opening at a decline of 4 to 7 points prices sold off further on private reports of easier Rio export changes. May 5.65; July 6.08; September 6.44; October 6.55; December 6.83; January 6.90; March 7.09.

Spot coffee dull; Rio 7s 6¼@½; Santos 4s 9¼@10. Brazilian port receipts 32,000; Jundiahy receipts 15,000. Victoria cleared 42,000 for New York.

NEW YORK SUGAR.

NEW YORK, April 6.—The local market for raw sugar was easier and the committee reduced its quotations a quarter cent per pound to the basis of 5 cents for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 5.02 for centrifugal. There were sales through the committee of about 10,000 Cubas and 15,000 bags of San Domingoes, all to local refiners at the 5c level for Cubas.

No change occurred in refined sugar with all refiners quoting on the basis of 5 cents for fine granulated.

The easier feeling in the spot market led to more active selling in futures and prices declined rather sharply, closing at the lowest of the day, or at net declines of 11 to 14 points. Final bids: May 4.76; July 4.92; September 4.98.

CHICAGO MART REPORTS RALLY IN ALL GRAINS

CHICAGO, April 6. — Apprehension that freezing temperatures might cause serious crop damage did a good deal today to rally the wheat market after the July delivery had touched a new low record prize for the season. Closing quotations were unsettled at ½c net decline to 1½c advance, with May $1.25 @1.26 and July $1.09¾@¾ to 1.13¾. Corn finished unchanged o ¼c higher and oats ¼c off o ¼c@¾c up. In provisions here were setbacks ranging from 10 @12½ o 45c.

It was after mid-day before bulls got the lead in the wheat pit. Depression at the start was associated more or less with bearish views of economic outlook especially as affected by the overnight news regarding the British coal strike. Word, however, that the mine workers and employes had agreed to a further conference looking to a settlement of the strike tend to encourage buying, as did talk of continued import business in new wheat as well as oil. Then came word of a heavy sleet and snow storm sweeping over Nebraska with temperatures down to 20 and still falling. During the rest of the day higher prices were the rule and speculators displayed a notable reluctance to sell.

Corn and oats were governed mainly by the changes in the price of wheat. Provisions droped in the absence of any support.

MONEY BEARS INFLUENCE ON STOCK TRADES

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Money was the pivot around which today's moderately active and fairly broad stock market revolved. Numerous issues augmented their gains of the previous session, though subject to irregular impairment of profit taking sales before thee lose.

Call or demand loans opened at 5½ per cent later easing to 5 per cent. The renewal rate of 4½ per cent established the lowest quotation for such offerings in considerably over a year.

There was no perceptible revision of rates for time money, bank balances or discounts, but it was reported that loans extending into the mid-year were made at fractions under the receipts posted in the open market.

Excellent crops and the British industrial situation were among the favorable factors of the day. Cables from London offered ground for an early settlement of the coal miners' strike. Incidentally exchange on London was substantially higher, continental rates also showing marked improvement.

One of the miner incidents of the session was the passing of the dividend on Midvale, a former "war bride." Such action had been discounted, however, and exerted little influence over other stocks of the same kindred varities. Oils, steels, equipments, coppers, motors and sundry specialities were among the outstanding features, rails remaining in the back ground. Reactionary tendencies marked the course of the Atlantic, Gulf, the leathers and local tractions. Houston Oil and Twin City rapid transit at net gains of 4 and 1¼ points respectively, were the strongest issues, sales amounting to 525,000 shares.

Trading in bonds was more diversified than usual, lower money rates contributing to the better tone of that market. Liberty issues were mostly higher, as were also several of the better known international flotations. Total sales, par value, aggregated $10,650,000.

TRADE BETWEEN U. S. AND MEXICO GROWING

MEXICO CITY, April 5.—Trade between the United States and Mexico during 1921 should amount to $430,000,000, as against $390,000,000 in 1920, according to an estimate given out by W. T. Saunders, secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce. He recently returned from a tour of the United States. Mr. Saunders says Mexico needs capital particularly to develop the sugar industry and for irrigation works.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON MART SHOWS LOSSES

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 6.—Fairly wide declines were made in the early trading in cotton today, but in the late trading the market reacted strongly, recovering all of its losses and continuing to rally until it stood at moderately wide net advances. English labor news almost entirely dominated the fluctuations.

From net declines of 21 to 27 points there was a rise to net advances of 18 to 22 points. The list on the close showed net gains on the day of 14 to 24 points.

A moderate amount of selling followed the reading of the government's weekly review of crop conditions over the belt. On the declines support of good character was met.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Early declines on the weakness of Liverpool and increasing nervousness over British labor conditions were followed by recoveries in the cotton market today as a result of covering and investment buying. The market closed firm at a net advance of 13 to 16 points.

The market opened easy at a decline of 15 to 26 points and sold about 20 to 24 points net lower before the end of the morning. Liverpool was a seller here during the first half hour, while there was some scattered southern selling and liquidation inspired by reports that British transport workers had voted to support the striking coal miners and the continued weakness of the English market. Later reports that the coal miners had accepted Lloyd George's investigation to a reopening of the negotiations had a favorable influence, however, and the market turned firmer during the afternoon. Some investment buying through commission houses showed itself below the 12c level for July, which promoted covering, while there was probably Wall street buying on the easier ruling of calling money and reports of a better feeling in the stock market. Last prices were at about the best for the session. Exports for the day were 21,405, making 2,803,720 so far this season. Port receipts 23,906. United States port stocks 1,415,994.

LIVERPOOL SPOT.

LIVERPOOL, April 6.—Cotton, spot, quiet; prices steady. Good middling 8.36; fully middling 7.66; middling 6.91; low middling 6.01; good ordinary, ordinary 4.01. Sales 3,000 bales, including 2,800 American. Receipts 200 bales, all American. Futures closed barely steady. April 7.20; May 7.36; July 7.56; October 7.77; December 7.85; January 7.88; March 7.94.

AUTO THIEVES PROVE FASTIDIOUS PARTIES

CHICAGO, April 5.—Chicago automobile thieves like fine cars, but in a pinch will take what they can get until they can acquire a better one.

P. J. Murray, an automobile salesman, missed his machine and found a note saying:

"Have borrowed your car for a little while."

A few nights later he saw his car standing at the curb. This time he found another note, which read:

"Much obliged—we have a better car now."

KERNEL COOTIE—THE RENT QUESTION

AIR FORCE EXPECTED TO BE MIGHTY

LONDON, April 6.— The great war proved that warfare must, in these days of modern invention, be carried into the heart and centre of civilian populations and that offensives must be instantaneous and launched first from the air.

Major-General Sir F. H. Sykes, Controller-General of Civil Aviation, lays down these new principles of modern warfare and outlines others so graphic as to overshadow the products of the imagination of an H. G. Wells.

He is conducting a fight for the development of civil aviation in order that Britain may build, in peace time, the framework of a great war machine. For he sees the days of Britain's supremacy through her fleet nearing an end, and the possibilities of strangling an enemy by blockade waning.

"In 1914," General Sykes declares, "it was some twenty days between the declaration of war and the exchange of the first shots. In the next war between great powers a mobile force of aircraft will be ready for action before the signature of the declaration is dry and the air battle will be joined in as many hours.

"There is every indication that torpedo attack by aircraft may reach a point where the very existence of opposing fleets, consisting of the giant capital ships of the present day, may be jeopardized. For the cost of one battleship a thousand torpedo-carrying aeroplanes could be built, and it is already questionable whether a battleship could survive an attack launched by even a small force of this mobile arm.

"Fleets operating near the enemy's coast will be vulnerable from land aircraft bases, and as the radius of aircraft action increases, close blockade will be rendered more and more difficult.

"Another form of operation may prove to be gas attack from the air, in co-operation with submarines, on naval bases. It is certain that aviation will materially modify naval tactics and construction.

"The war lasted long enough to prove the value of the strategic offensive by air. Modern warfare on the grand scale exemplifies the doctrine of the 'nation in arms.' Not only armies in the field, but men, women and children at home are concentrated on the single purpose of defeating the enemy, and armies, navies and air forces are dependent upon the application to work, the output of war supplies and, above all, the morals of the civilian population.

"War must therefore be carried into the enemy's country, his industries be destroyed, his nerve centres shattered, and the morale of the nation as a whole shaken.

"This can largely and will increasingly be effected by air attack on industrial and political centres.

"At the outbreak of the next war we may expect to see, in addition to the specialized employment of aircraft in co-operation with military or naval forces, an independent concentration of fighting machines to produce, if possible, a shattering blow on the enemy and obtain from the outset a supremacy in the air comparable to our supremacy on the sea in the last war."

GOTHAM BARKEEPS ARE GIVEN SHOCK

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Saloon keepers who derived comfort last night from the fact that despite a widely heralded police drive, things were "as usual" with dispensers of illegal drinks, got a shock today when they learned the police drive has not started, but would start in earnest today.

CLINE RESIGNS AS PRESIDENT OF MID-CONTINENT

The resignation of Walter D. Cline as president of the Texas-Louisiana division, Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, with the election of Frank Cullinan to succeed him as president, which came on March 28 at the Shreveport meeting, was made public Wednesday.

The resignation of Mr. Cline was accepted with regret by the directors, according to members of the board residing in Wichita Falls—the directors considering Mr. Cline's work in behalf of the industry such as demands his remaining at the head of the association.

Frank Cullinan is well known locally, having until about five years ago been the chief representative of the Texas company in this district, with headquarters at Wichita Falls. At the time of his leaving Wichita Falls Mr. Cullinan was a director of the Chamber of Commerce, and active in the work of that organization here.

Mr. Cline's regisnation will change the plan to move the headquarters of the association to Wichita Falls—the headquarters remaining at Mr. Cullinan's home at Dallas. The plan to move the headquarters to Wichita Falls was discussed in the hope that by this means he might continue as president of the association.

In his letter of resignation he gave as his principal reasons the fact that he would have to give up some of his outside work in order to be with his family more, pointing out Mrs. Cline's ill health during the past few months and the sickness of one of his children, which, with the mass of outside work upon him, prevented his spending any time with his family. In addition to his responsibilities as mayor, and to the association, he has a responsibility to his Masonic friends as potentate of the Maskat Temple here.

In his letter to the association he thanks each director for the co-operation and assistance given, and speaks in the highest terms of the work of Howard Bennett, secretary of the division, who, he says, has won the confidence and esteem not only of the various state officials of both Texas and Louisiana, but of every worth while operator in the two states.

CO-EDS INSIST THEY CAN EARN THEIR OWN WAY

WOOSTER, Ohio, April .—Mere man has no corner on the business of working one's way through college.

Co-eds at Wooster College testify to this assertion in essays they have submitted to college authorities in a contest on "How I Worked My Way Through College."

Girls attending the college paid their expenses by performing various tasks, including cleaning house, ironing, waiting table, doing office work, caring for babies, doing laboratory work, doing dishes at college dormitories, tutoring and working in factories.

"I'm sorry, of course, that conditions make it impossible for you to float through college 'on flowery beds of ease,' but let me tell you, you'll enjoy school ever so much more if you pay for it all yourself," declares Miss Florence E. Wallace, of Wooster, a senior, whose essay was in the form of a letter to a friend to whom she divulged her experiences in working her way through school.

"Pocket Your False Pride."

Miss Wallace laid down three rules to which she adheres. They are:

"First, pocket your false pride. Be proud only of being able to pay your own way.

"Second, take any job that offers, no matter how disagreeable, or poorly paid. That kind of work, well done, usually leads to something better.

"Third, let everyone know you are willing to work. It pays to advertise."

Miss Wallace said her expenses during her first year in college were less than $200. By the time her junior year was completed, her expenditures reached $225. This year, which will include her graduation, she estimates $300 will be sufficient to meet all requirements.

Miss Wallace has earned money both Summers and Winters. Her favorite odd-job is waiting table.

"I started when I was in high school," she confessed, "and I have become quite expert. I have served at the country club, at college affairs, at private dinners and at three Summer hotels. I have worked on Saturdays at a shoe store, and, later, at a clothing store. The objection to Saturday work is that nearly all the college games and parties come on that day.

"I do not use a typewriter, but I have found office work to do. I have addressed thousands of envelopes. Last Summer, profiting by the training I received in the science in which I am majoring, I procured laboratory employment and saved $200 during vacation. I have taken care of babies, done housework for faculty wives, and, when I was a freshman, I worked in a factory one vacation and did sweat-shop at home for 12 1-2 cents an hour.

Always Enough To Do.

"Like the widow's cruse, I've always abounded with opportunities for work. It seems as if I never need extra money without extra work appearing. Sometimes I've wished I were twins so I could do two jobs simultaneously. I've often been able to get work for other girls, and many of them have been kind in remembering me for the same purpose."

Miss Jean Wilson, whose parents are missionaries in India, has done some "domestic intervention" to "bring in the ducats," she said.

"Many of the good ladies of the community are glad to let someone play Martha for them at times," said Miss Wilson. "I have done it on a number of occasions. For anyone who likes housework, or cooking, there is an opportunity here for fairly steady employment. In the same connection I might mention the cherubic infants with which this town is richly endowed.

"They often need to be taken care of while 'mamma' and 'papa' go out to dinner or club. Some of the children are quite adorable. Some aren't. But that's all in the day's work. I most enjoy taking care of them from 7:30 p. m. until 11 p. m. They sleep and I read. That's very convenient."

Miss Lucile Cumming, of Rockford, Ill., declares that giving her name to the college Y. W. C. A. employment committee when she came to Wooster two years ago has afforded her plenty of work.

Washing Dishes "Fun."

"The wife of a furloughed missionary wanted someone to help her get ready to go back to her work. So I gave her an afternoon a week which resolved itself into an ironing day. When other calls for ironing came, I accepted gladly. I spent Saturday mornings for one woman, cleaning house.

"Washing dishes at the dormitory proved to be lots of fun. I spent an hour in the kitchen every night, washing dishes. Yes, but I was also getting acquainted with the other girls who work there. Being 'hall girl' proved delightful employment. The work was, principally, answering the telephone and doorbell.

"In my second year I tried living out in town and working for my board and room. I liked it, but it was too hard for me. Then I began working just for my room. That was much better. It gave me just enough of the home touch to keep my fingers nimble. I have also done some work as assistant to the college librarian, and a profitable path to the coffers of the world at large is through my stocking agency. I always find some girls who are needing hose. Last Christmas, we girls made dainty organdie flowers in bouquets and corsages and found a brisk demand for them. I often earn extra money by typing theses, or book reviews, or things of that sort."

NEGRESS HELD FOR ROBBING HOLLOWAY

May Bell Holloway, negress, arrested early Wednesday morning as one of a party of three negroes who are alleged to have held up and robbed George King, fireman at the electric light plant, Tuesday night, was placed under a $1,500 bond by Justice of the Peace Maxwell following a preliminary hearing Wednesday afternoon on a charge of robbery with firearms. The negress was identified by King as the woman who took part in the robbery.

According to the story told by King ,he was held up by two negro men and the Holloway woman near the intersection of the railroad track and Humphries street. The three secured $50 in cash from King.

Start Work on Incinerator at Sewerage Outlet

Work started Tuesday on the city incinerator which is being constructed near the sewer outlet at the city limits in the east part of town, and, if the work progresses with ordinary dispatch, City Engineer Montgomery says it will be completed within six weeks.

The outside dimensions of the building are 30 by 36 feet. It is to be built of brick with a tile roof and some member of the sanitary department is to be assigned the duty of "running" it.

This incinerator was originally to be located on a site near Front and Oak street, but property owners asked that the location be changed and after investigation by a committee composed of Engineer Montgomery and Dr. A. H. Douglas, the present site was agreed upon.

Work has been in progress for some time on the sewer lift at Front and Oak where the incinerator was first planned to be located.
