Politics is beginning to get a little warmer but we are not going to get into any arguments about candidates or politics. Everybody knows that I am a Democrat and I guess I am "old fashioned" but I believe that anybody who votes in a Democratic or Republican primary in the spring should vote for the same party in the fall election or not vote at all. If you want to be an independent voter in the fall, stay out of the primaries in the spring. Some people will tell you they vote for the "man" and not the "party." But the truth is they vote for the man and get the party he represents.

When you get this paper, it will be just one week before the annual Loraine Community Fair. Don't forget to bring in your exhibit. Bring them in on Thursday afternoon if you can and it will help a great deal.

This weekend, a great number of former students of Loraine High School are expected to be here to attend the annual homecoming. Every one of them will be as welcome as can be and we hope they have a good time.

Mitchell County Eligible For Emergency Funds

In telegrams received this week from Congressmen George Mahon and Omar Burleson, it was announced that Mitchell County has been designated as eligible for emergency Agricultural Conservation funds, due to recent heavy rains.

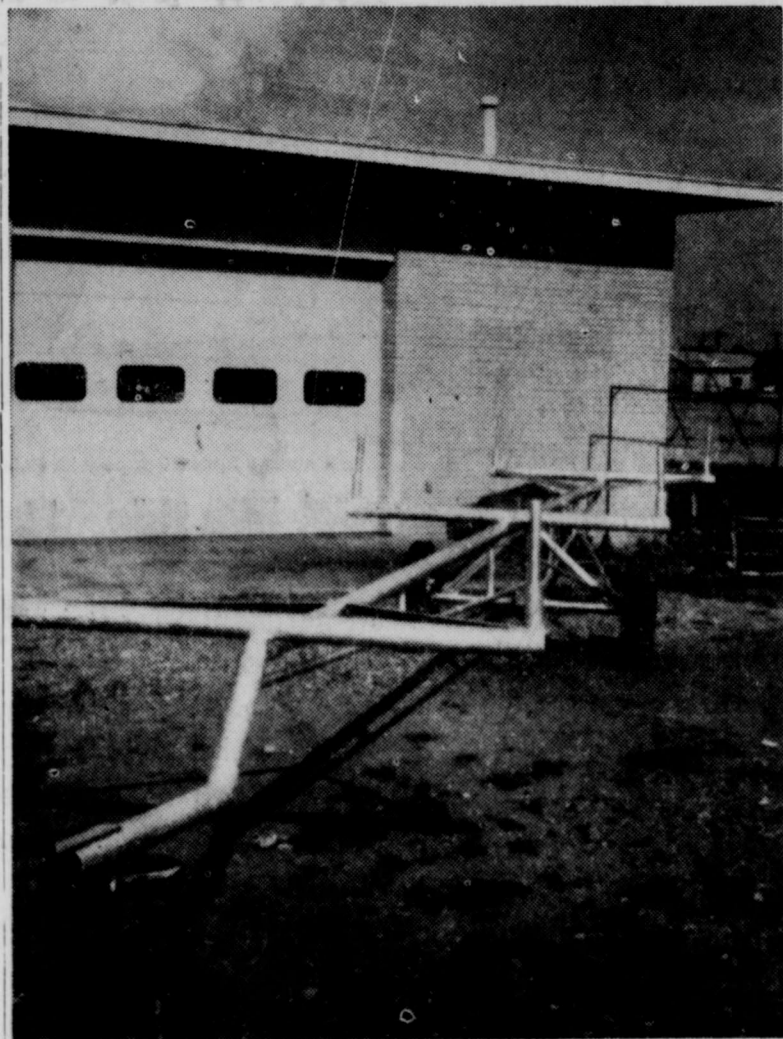

Under this emergency program, farmers with damaged terraces caused by flooding, may have them restored with the Government sharing the cost.

Eligible farmers should submit applications through their local ASC office.

Mrs. Jewell Miller of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Ollie Howell of Maud, Okla., are visiting Mrs. A. J. Scarborough this week.

Mrs. Max Fisher and son, Otto Fisher of Stanton were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Richey Tuesday.

The written entries were competitively judged and awards made in separate classifications of Farm, Shop or Home and Recreational projects.

On Sept. 14, she was guest of the Wednesday Club of Roscoe at the opening day luncheon at Roscoe Woman's Club. Sept. 20, she, along with other district officers, were guests of honor at a combined luncheon meeting of Anson Study Clubs. TFWC President Mrs. B. F. Seay, of Andrews, and Secretary, Mrs. B. A. Her hobbies include gardening, which she says is her first love, sewing and collecting old coins. She won the Mesquite District Fashion For Fun sewing contest and placed third in the State contest this spring.

House guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Templeton during the weekend were her two sisters and husbands, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Seale of Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Crossley of Lubbock.

Plans for the Loraine High School Homecoming are complete and all set for exes to be coming into Loraine Friday and Saturday of this week, as announced this week by officials of the Association.

More than 700 invitations were sent to ex-students whose addresses were known. Officials say all ex-students, along with other visitors, whether or not they are graduates of Loraine High School, are invited.

The class of 1936 will bring the program, and Eldon Mahon, member of the class, is speaker for the occasion. The program will follow the luncheon and business meeting. Lynn Hamilton is President of the Ex-Student Association.

Registration will begin at 10 a. m. Saturday and lunch will be served in the cafeteria at noon.

On Friday night, the high school students will stage a bon fire, which will be followed by the powder-puff football game to be played by high school girls.

Individual classes will hold reunions, some in the afternoon and other following the ball game that night between the Loraine Bulldogs and Hamlin B team. The Homecoming Queen and high school Sweetheart will be crowned at half time of the game.

Veterans Post No. 555, American Legion, will have a very important meeting at their hut on Tuesday night, Oct. 4. At this time the Post will plan activities for Veterans Day, November 11. Activities for Veterans Day will include the placing of small flags on the graves of veterans of all wars who are buried in the local cemetery.

The Community Fair Is Your Fair

When we think of Fair time, we think of all the festivity that surrounds such an occasion. How easy it is to forget that for anything to be a success, it takes cooperation of everyone in the community to make it so. Were you not interested in bringing in your products for exhibits, there would be very little for people to come to enjoy. We will need all of the products that you can bring to make this year's fair what it should be. These exhibits can be brought in Thursday, Oct. 6 from 2 to 6 p. m., and then on Friday morning until 9 a. m.

This is true of everything except flowers and this will begin on Friday morning, Oct. 7 at 8 a. m. and exhibits will be received until 10:30 a. m. Judging for the flower show will begin at 11 a. m.

The exhibits will be judged and first place will win for the exhibitor $25.00; second place, $15.00; and 3rd place will receive $10.00. Overall points will determine the winners.

Letter of Commendation Awarded

A letter of Commendation, honoring his high performance on the 1966 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test has been awarded to R. J. Baumann Jr. at Loraine High School. This Letter of Commendation was presented Tuesday in assembly by High School Principal Vance Dickenson.

The commended students are among 38,000 students in the United States who scored in the upper two percent of those who will graduate from high school in 1967. The Commended students rank just below the 14,000 semifinalists announced earlier this month by the NMSC.

John M. Stalnaker, president of NMSC, said: "The outstanding record made by these students in a national competition deserves public recognition. Their significant academic attainment gives promise of continued success in college.

"The Commended students should be encouraged to pursue their education as their intellectual talent represents an important and much needed natural resource. Our nation will benefit from their continuing educational development."

Only the highest scoring students in each state, the semifinalists, remain eligible to be considered for Merit Scholarships. Although students receiving Letters of Commendation advance no further in the Merit Program, their names are reported to other scholarship-granting agencies and to the colleges they named as their first and second choices at the time they took the NMSQT. These colleges also receive reports of home addresses, test scores, anticipated college majors and career intentions of the Commended students.

NMSC encourages these students to make every effort to continue their education.

Lone Wolf Mountain

The highest elevation and one of the oldest landmarks in Mitchell County is Lone Wolf Mountain, north of Loraine. It comes into view as one enters the county going west on Interstate 20. The name was derived from an Indian Chief of the fierce Kiowa tribe. The mountain was a natural lookout point for the Indians seeking movement of pioneer whites who dared move cattle or horses into the grassy meadows. Numerous arrow heads, Indian beads and artifacts were found by treasure hunters of yesteryear.

The tradition of Lone Wolf's having been "killed by a Texas scouting party and buried on the mountain," has been disproved by Mildred Mayall's book "The Klowas," (published by University of Okla. Press, 1962). She gives an extended account of his being the head of the Kiowa war party that killed and scalped white prisoners, but who died on the Indian Reservation in Western Oklahoma in 1879.

According to authors of modern Encyclopedia, this tribe was moved from Western Texas to Oklahoma in 1867. However, they made raids into Texas along the Mexican border, clashed with General Sherman and Texas Rangers at various places, including Camp Concho before 1875. Since Mitchell County had buffalo, Seven Wells water hole and good camp sites, it is plausible that Lone Wolf Mountain was a favorite lookout and camp site.

In the early history of the county, a small U. S. Post Office, a rural school and a Baptist Church (later called Lion's Rest) all bore the name Lone Wolf. Northeast of the mountain is Lone Wolf Cemetery, very old, still used and well kept. The creek that rises near the 2,500 foot high mountain, ends in the Colorado City limits. Lone Wolf Creek Valley was a famous grazing area, and is now dotted with rich farms. It grew the county's first bale of cotton. A dinosaur skeleton from prehistoric days was dug up from the creek bed in J. Irving Thomas' pasture, and is now in the Denver, Colo., Museum.

In Colorado City boom days, the first saloon was named Lone Wolf. The first sermon preached in Mitchell County was by a Presbyterian minister in that saloon, with liquors covered by canvas tarps.

The Coastal Geodetic Survey made good use of Lone Wolf Mountain by erecting a tower that was used by an observatory by D. T. Bozeman and other early day surveyors of the surrounding area.

Locally, the mountain was a famous picnic ground and a scenic background for kodaking groups.

Lone Wolf Mountain is located on land owned by Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Hester of Loraine, and is not accessible to tourists. However, its historical background merits an Official Texas Historical Marker near Hi-way 80, where tourists may see this famous landmark a few miles north of Loraine.

(By Mrs. Hal Bennett, member Mitchell Co. Historical Survey Committee.)

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Dobbs Wednesday were: his aunt, Mrs. Naomi McMitchell and son Richard, of Beegs, Okla.

Miss Mahon Honored With Showers

Miss Barbara Mahon, bride-elect of Charles Cauk Jr., of Lubbock, was complimented at a pre-nuptial gift party at the home of Mrs. K. L. Taylor from 3 to 5 p. m. Saturday, Sept. 24.

Mrs. Taylor welcomed guests and introduced Mrs. Royce Mahon, the bride-elect's mother, Miss Mahon and Mrs. Charles Cauk of Lubbock, mother of the prospective bridegroom.

The honoree's chosen colors, white and coral were featured in table decorations. The table, laid in linen cut work, was appointed in silver and crystal. Cake squares iced in white with a single coral rose bud, coral and white mints, nuts and punch were served by Miss Peggy Phillips, Mrs. Woodrow Pratt, and Mrs. J. B. Cushing. Centering the table was an arrangement of coral and white gladioli in crystal bowl, flanked by crystal candle holders with white tapers. Tea napkins held the couple's names.

Misses Marilyn Forbus and Susan Terry played organ and piano music and Miss Carla Britton presided at the register.

Other members of the house-party were Mmes. James Bennett, Wiley Walker, Billie Ruth Tartt, Roy Wells, Floyd Griffin

Other hostesses included Mmes. Hubert Thomas, Gene Liles, Vance Dickenson, Percy Bond, Robinson, Darrel Owen, John White, Price Hall and Earl Phillips.

Among pre-nuptial parties complimenting Miss Mahon was a lingerie shower at the home of Miss Camella Wilson in Lubbock on Sept. 19 when 22 friends called, among them the honoree's mother, Mrs. Royce Mahon of Loraine.

Grandson Confined to Wheel Chair Enrolls in Hale Center High School

Gary Adrian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Adrian of Hale Center, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Anders of Loraine, has rejoined the student body at Hale Center to finish out his high school career. Gary missed three years of school as a result of injuries he received in a freak accident in 1963 that left him paralyzed from the waist down.

Gary is still confined to a wheel chair and still suffers many physical handicaps, but he is happy that he is well enough to attend classes again. Hale Center students are happy to have him back in school again and are doing everything they can to encourage him, said his grandmother. Their concern and personal interest in his welfare has made his return to school a happy experience for him.

Gary was injured when a pickup he was driving overturned and rolled over his body. Paralyzed from the neck down, he was unable to move his body for several weeks, and his recovery remained in serious doubt for many months. But the plucky youngster, then an eighth grade student in Hale Center, retained his faith. His slow recovery was marred with agonizing setbacks and disappointments.

He was enrolled as a patient at the Rehabilitation Center at Abilene where he took therapy treatment, designed to restore damaged muscles and nerves. Still bedfast, he kept up his studies under the instruction of a home-bound teacher, furnished by the Abilene Public School System.

Now 17 years of age, he is a junior. His mother reported that he uses a typewriter to complete most of his written assignments as he still has problems with his hands.

In the meantime, he still has high hopes that his condition will continue to improve, although he does not expect any miracles. But his strong character could produce miracles and the unselfish student body at Hale Center is cheering for him all the way.

Mrs. Howard Preston and Mrs. Delmar McDaniel attended the funeral of Mrs. W. J. Smith in Midland Monday.

Guest of Mrs. J. D. Sheffield Saturday was a friend, Mrs. Inez Woody of Stanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Franklin and children, Angel and Patti of New Orleans, La., are here spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Graham. Others who have visited in the home while they are here were Mr. and Mrs. Troy Martin, Jamey and Tammy of Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tippitt of Roscoe, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Heffernan and Lyndon of Rotan. Monday guests were Rev. Ronnie Seaggs of Mont Bellview and Heston Redwine of Colorado City.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mayes came in Sunday and Mrs. Mayes remained until Wednesday visiting in the Hubert Thomas and Woodrow Pratt homes, and with other relatives.

Loraine is classified as a Gold Emblem Chapter by the Texas FFA Association.

Dramatic new styling marks the 1967 Ford which has received a major sheet metal change for the third time in three years. Pictured here are the X/L Convertible (above) and the X/L 2-door Hardtop, both of which offer Ford's Select Shift Cruise-O-Matic transmission as standard equipment. Featured only on the Fairlane GTA in 1966, Select Shift permits the driver to shift manually or automatically. Ford's new styling features sculptured side panels and a gull-wing design grille that is die-cast in the X/L, LTD and Country Squire series. Engineering improvements give the 1967 Ford an even quieter and smoother ride. All Ford models will be on display at Ford dealer showrooms Friday, Sept. 30.

I'm sure that it is disconcerting to many so-called "weekend fishermen" to note the same anglers' names being published again and again in the local newspaper when catches of big bass are reported.

Many readers dismiss such feats as luck. Well . . . catching one trophy bass could be attributed to luck. But when an angler consistently brings in big fish, he knows something many other fishermen don't know. What's his secret?

One fact about fishing reports that many casual observers overlook, is that the same angler usually catches his fish near one or two lakes or streams near his home. He doesn't let the wanderlust beckon him to far-away places. He fishes these "home" waters regularly.

When an angler travels to a strange lake or stream to fish, the odds are against him. That is, unless he hires a professional guide who knows the water and how to fish it.

Bass have certain spots where they prefer to hang out. Perhaps one weed bed or a submerged tree on a lake is such a spot.

A sprawling man-made impoundment has so many spots, so much water, that it takes a long time before the fisherman finds these hotspots.

These are discovered by trial and error, by fishing regularly, by being observant and keeping tabs on spots which produce.

These same places pay off with fish time and again. There is something about the water and environment which bass prefer. When a big one is taken out, another lunker most likely will move in and set up house-keeping.

Once a fisherman has learned of several such spots, he frequents these often. True, he may go through "dead" periods when the fish are not biting, but when they do begin foraging, he knows his bait is in waters where he stands that best chance of getting one to hit.

There's an old saying that no lure will produce unless it is presented close enough for a bass to hit. Far too many fishermen spend time casting in places where there are no fish.

Through experience and study, the angler also has learned which particular baits the fish prefer and at what seasons. Perhaps in early spring a plastic worm bumped right along the bottom will pay off. A month later a shallow running bait might be the secret. And in early summer a topwater plug could be the best bet.

There are many unpredictable pieces of the bass-fishing jigsaw puzzle that must fall into place before the angler is assured of success. He doesn't get this information haphazardly. He has learned it by talking to other fishermen, by reading and by observing. Knowing a lake and the spots to catch fish, knowing what bait the bass prefer, all are important to success in fishing.

Every successful angler knows that if he cast a proven bait into proven waters, and if he sticks with it for long periods, sooner or later he'll prod a grandpappy bass into striking. He knows too that tenacity is important to angling success and to catch fish you gotta keep the bait in the water . . . not in the tackle box.

Furthermore, he knows that big bass feed only occasionally. Thus he might cast for hours without a strike. But if he stays with it, somewhere, someplace, he'll hit the jackpot.

When preparations meet opportunity, that's luck — not fate. But it's planned success.
