Mrs. Hanford has been living in Cincinnati two years.

DR. MCCOY TO TEACH AT BAGDAD

Honor upon honor has come to Dr. Dorothy McCoy, a chairman of division of science and mathematics at Wayland College, Plainview with the latest being a Fulbright Award from the Secretary of State to teach next session in the College of Arts and Sciences, in Baghdad, Iraq. This has come within a few weeks of the award of a $300 stipend to care for all expenses at an 8-week Summer Conference in Collegiate Mathematics at the University of Colorado.

Dr. McCoy will leave the United States in late August as she must be on duty by October. On every side she is being asked, "Just where in Baghdad and what is it like there?" She laughingly replies that all she knows now is that Iraq is bounded by Turkey, Syria, Trans-Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Iran and is the land formerly known as Mesopotamia. Iraq is 200 miles from the nearest Russian border, 500 miles from Jerusalem, 55 miles from Babylon and is located on the Tigris River. The city of Baghdad, according to some of the voluminous notes sent Dr. McCoy, has a population of 805,293 and was founded in 762 A. D.

What is no laughing matter to anyone brought up to expect gifts at Christmas is the notation, "No packages, not even Christmas presents, may be sent to you." To compensate for doing without Christmas gifts, Dr. McCoy will have a completely furnished house, except for blankets. Since blankets sell for $30 in Iraq, she has been requested to bring her own. The mean temperature for January is 40 degrees and no school room is heated.

Other suggestions of items to take are bottled meat tenderizer and an ample supply of TIE, which "can be used for disinfecting all fresh fruit and vegetables."

The young men are presently guests of Pete Peterman and Balford Rochelle of Rocky Ford, while learning agriculture of the United States. They will speak on agriculture in Holland and will also answer questions pertaining to their country.

Mrs. W. O. Stephens, secretary of the bureau, pointed out that their talks will be of interest to children and bureau members are asked to bring their families.

Mr. Rochelle will give a report on his recent trip to Washington, D. C. E. J. Stone of Sudan is president of the organization.

Also the suggestion is made that while food is plentiful in Baghdad, "a can of American food now and then is regarded as a treat." American movies, she has been told, are available but the films are at least two years old. Further in the entertainment line, the booklet of information states, "There is a hectic social life in Baghdad if you want to participate."

Dr. McCoy who has been at Wayland since 1949 coming from Belhaven College, Jackson, Mississippi, has been granted a leave of absence for 1953-54.

Local Draft Board Decides In Which Class To Place Registrants

It is a local draft board's responsibility, under law and regulations, to decide, subject to appeal, the class in which each man registered with it shall be placed.

Each registrant is considered as available for military service until his eligibility for deferment or exemption from the military service is clearly established to the satisfaction of the local board.

The board is obligated to receive all pertinent information on classification presented to it, says Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state draft director.

Mailing by the local board of a classification questionnaire to the latest address furnished by a registrant is notice to the registrant that he will be classified in F.A. unless information is presented to the local board, within specified for return of the questionnaire, which will justify deferment or exemption.

Unless the local board him added time, the registrant must return the questionnaire within 10 days from it was mailed.

The state draft director to this paragraph in the Service Regulations which board must always keep in mind.

"In classifying a registrant shall be no discrimination against him because of his creed, or color, or because membership or activity labor, political, religious, or organization. Each registrant shall receive equal justice."

We've been checking through a recently prepared re-cap of the 1950 U. S. Farm Census.

Looking it over, recalls the story of a statistician who went hunting one afternoon. His bullet missed the duck by an inch, going in front of its head. The statistician carefully lead the duck with his gun and fired a second time; the bullet going an inch behind the duck's tail. Later his wife asked how he made out. "Oh fine," he said. "On the average I shot a duck."

"On the average," what does the U. S. Census mean when they say "farmer"? You qualify as one of America's five million farmers if you say "Yes" when the Census Taker asks: "Do you crop $250 a year or more from three acres or more?" On this basis America has 5,400,000 farmers.

But far more revealing is this fact which the re-cap shows: 484,000 farmers pocket 50.8% of all cash paid for farm crops. The remaining 5,900,000 pocket the balance.

What makes it possible for one-tenth of America's farmers to receive one-half of the farm income? The answer is modern, scientific farming methods and equipment. Fortunately for our country's future, there application is spreading rapidly.

Since 1940, the number of tractors on farms has increased 150%; use of commercial fertilizer is up 250%; acreage irrigated by portable equipment has more than tripled.

To maintain and increase your share of the national farm income, it is becoming increasingly evident that your farm must be modern, mechanized, and carefully managed.

The battle between man and the insect kingdom goes on continuously. Whenever sanitation and control programs become ineffective, the bugs take advantage of the situation and rapidly increase in numbers with a corresponding increase in damages done. The annual toll taken by external parasites from the producers in Texas of livestock and poultry amounts to millions of dollars. Right now the extra dollars are needed to help keep production on the black side of the ledger. We have in our office now, C324, "A guide for controlling external parasites of livestock and poultry in Texas".

M/SGT, LOYD CHAPMAN VISITS PARENTS HERE

Master Sergeant Loyd Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Chapman, spent Friday and Saturday with his parents, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Chapman.

Sgt. Chapman is a member of the Marine Corps and is stationed at Beaumont.

Sergeant Chapman was accompanied to Littlefield by S/Sgt. Overton Hargraves and Mrs. Hargraves.

Sergeant Chapman and Sergeant Hargraves are enroute to California as an advance detail in preparing for a two weeks summer training for Marine Corps reserves at San Diego.

Sergeant Chapman has been in the Marine Corps for 16 years, and will remain in the service for another four years, at which time he is eligible for retirement.

BELLS ON HIS TOES AID BLIND BOY

LOS ANGELES AP—Twenty-month-old Mike Conrad thinks he's a pretty lucky young fellow to have bells on his toes.

Although he occasionally bumps into things, he likes to toddle around the house just so he can hear their pleasant tinkle.

The little bells, tied to his shoes, were the idea of his mother, Mrs. Paul Conrad, 33, 1322 East 64th Street. She decided she needed to know the whereabouts of the active, energetic youngster and the bells tell her.

Thus she can do her housework and, by the way the bells tinkle, she can tell where Mike is and pretty much what he is doing.

If you think Mrs. Conrad is keeping closer tabs on her son than most mothers, she considers it necessary. Since birth Mike has been blind.

EATING HABITS DETERMINE HEALTH

RALEIGH AP—Are you eating your way to an early old age? Age can't always be measured in birthdays says Miss Virginia Wilson, State College Extension nutritionist.

Scientists today agree that much of what is regarded as aging may actually be signs of poor food habits, she says.

Dr. Edward J. Stueglitz, an authority on the science of aging, says that what you eat between the ages of 40 and 60 helps decide your health in later years. Many of the "old age" diseases of the heart, arteries, kidney and joints find their beginning during the middle age period. The right foods in the right amounts are important aids in slowing up these oldage symptoms.

Local Library Sponsors Reading Contest; Must Read 21 Books

The Littlefield Library is sponsoring a reading contest which got underway June 1, according to Miss Lula Hubbard, librarian.

Those entering the contest are required to read 21 books of various classes. At the end of the contest those who read these books are awarded a diploma with full membership in the reading club.

The purpose of the contest is to give a balanced reading, Miss Hubbard said.

Amherst Methodist Church To Hold Service In New Building June 14

The congregation of the First Methodist Church of Amherst are expecting to have their first service in their new church building Sunday June 14, according to Rev. D. L. Egger, pastor.

The Educational and Fellowship building are expected to be completed by that time. They will use the fellowship hall for holding service and will later start construction on a new sanctuary.

Bible Words to Live by

My favorite Bible Verse is:

PSALM 23:21—"The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want."

In all its simplicity this word in the Bible includes everything that my soul craves, and for which my heart cries out.

It rates me as a poor, helpless and defenseless sheep, which I truly am, a lost creature for time and eternity, were it not for my good shepherd.

It includes God's providential care which satisfies all my wants.

It includes God's saving grace through Jesus Christ my Saviour. For he said, "I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep." So here is God's whole plan of salvation, eternal life through the death of Christ for sinners.

It is an expression of the faith of my heart, by the grace of the Holy Spirit, and "whoever believes in in him shall not perish but have eternal life." Therefore I trust with confidence. I have security, boldness, a living hope.

The Lord is my shepherd. When, from the heart I can say this, then I know that there will also be fulfilled on me the Word of God that "The God of peace, who brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, the great shepherd of the sheep by the blood of the eternal covenant, will equip me with everything good that I may do his will, working in me that which is pleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory forever and ever."

Beauty Tips For Hair Care

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Hair is a woman's crowning glory. But it is the feature she neglects most. So says Charles Antell, hair expert, who explains: "A woman thinks that if she permanent waves her hair or sets it every day or combs it in the morning before the daily grind, her hair is being cared for. Nothing could be further from the truth. It needs more care if she does permanent it and wash it often than if she did absolutely nothing to it."

Natural oils in the hair are washed out constantly by shampoos or hurt by permanent waving processes, he believes. That is why he advocates lanolin base formulas for the hair. He says:

"We should remember that the hair is protein, just as the skin is. It needs some substance that can be absorbed into the scalp and feed the hair as it grows out. Lanolin, the product of the sheep, will do that."

Mr. Antell made some tests along these lines. He tried a typical protein product, the egg, in olive oil and another in lanolin. After five days the oil egg had shriveled, but now two weeks later the lanolin-fried eggs is still in perfect shape, he says. He offers these tips for coping with that great hair-destroyer, over exposure to summer sunshine:

1. Whenever you sit in the sun wear a covering over the hair.
2. Never wash the hair unless it needs to be cleaned, and keep it clean by constant brushing.
3. Keep in mind that it is easier to keep the hairbrush clean than to wash your hair each day.
4. Wash the hair after a swim, but apply lanolin to the scalp to replace oils in the process.
5. Ordinary oils such as mineral oil and other oily concoctions are likely to do nothing more than accumulate dust in the hair and require frequent shampoos. Lanolin is a natural ingredient for hair absorption.
6. When pin curling the hair, rub in a small amount of lanolin first, then form curls, insert pins then wet the hair with a piece of cotton. Lanolin can absorb the water.
7. You can train your hair to curl if you keep it cut a good basic style.

Mr. Antell says that present day hair styles are not designed to please men who admire and prefer long hair. He thinks short hair is harder to care for than longer hair because one needs more permanent waves, hair shapings and shampoos when the hair is short. Also there is more of a tendency to neglect brushing the hair when it is short because you can "just run a comb through it" which most women think is the charming feature of short hair.

HAIR TREATMENT . . . This one contains lanolin, nourishing for summer locks.

He is a great fan of the page-boy type hairdo for women because he thinks it makes them look younger, gives the hair a nice sleek appearance, appeals to men, and because it requires only a slight permanent wave on the ends.

Missing In Action

Additional information has not been received concerning Second Lieutenant Kenneth W. Pharris, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pharris, who has been reported missing in action.

Word that Lieutenant Pharris was missing was received by his parents Thursday of last week. Lieutenant Pharris has been serving as U. S. Air Force all-weather fighter pilot with the 68th Fighter Squadron in Japan. He has been piloting a F-94 Jet interceptor in air defense missions over southern Japan.

Machinery Cheaper Now Compared to Crop Prices

How do farm machinery prices in 1953 compare with those in 1939, the year generally used as the base pre-war year on price comparisons?

They are lower in terms of farm commodities according to a survey made by Allis-Chalmers. This is in face of the greater horsepower available in its tractors today plus many other improvements in these and in its implements and harvesting machinery.

Versatile, more efficient tractor, implement, and harvester design permit lighter weight models to do more work than was done 14 years ago by heavier and more expensive equipment.

In 1939 the corn grower paid the equivalent of 2,249 bushels for an Allis-Chalmers tractor and 2-bottom pull-type plow. Today, this combination which includes hydraulic lift plow can be bought for only 1,044 bushels of corn while a larger tractor and 3-bottom plow cost only 1,392 bushels. He can buy the greatly improved 6-foot ALL-CROP harvester, with hydraulic lift, for small grains, beans, and seeds for 754 bushels of corn while in 1939 he paid out cash from 1,289 bushels for a machine with only a 5-foot header and hand lift.

The wheat grower had to have 1,515 bushels of his grain to buy a tractor and 2-bottom plow pre-war while now he only needs 719 bushels. If he wants the 3-bottom plow and tractor he can get them for 959 bushels. The combine sells in this market for 520 bushels compared to 868 in 1939.

The spread in terms of hogs is 38 1/2 200-pound head in 1953 for tractor and 2-bottom plow and 53 head for tractor and 3-bottom plow in 1939. The 6-foot combine today sells for 28 head compared to 39 1/2 head for the 5-foot machine.

Seven 1,000-pound steers buy a tractor and 2-bottom plow as against 10 steers in 1939, while the 3-bottom combination sells for 9 1/2 steers. The combine can be purchased for 5 steers against 5 3/4 pre-war.

The dairy farmer had to sell 965 cans of milk of 10-gallon capacity to buy his tractor and plow but today he can buy a better combination for only 523 cans. If he wants more power and a 3-bottom plow he can get them for 698 cans.

Ten bales of cotton will buy the 2-bottom plow and tractor and 13 1/5 bales the 3-bottom unit now where the 2-bottom plow and tractor used to cost the buyer 24 1/3 bales.

The soybean grower has profited too in the low price of the combine today compared to the crop which has come into its own with the ALL-CROP harvester. He can buy the new machine today for only 297 bushels of beans while in 1939 he paid out 735 bushels for the 5-foot harvester.

Commodity prices used are based on average prices during the first week of March, 1939 and 1953, United States Department of Agriculture reported averages, and factory prices of machinery.

Small Tips For Chicken Raising

Few farmers are complete without at least some chickens—both fryers and layers. Even though commercial flocks may not be practical, the few pennies earned in egg production or the money saved in raising meat for the frying pan really add up in a year's time.

In order to successfully raise chickens for home consumption, or for the market, it is important to look after the "little things" as well as the bigger problems. It may pay dividends to spend a few minutes checking on these profit leaks:

Hang up those empty feed sacks or pile them neatly on a rack. This is the best way to keep used bags in good condition. A few pains in opening sacks so as not to tear them will pay off.

Don't allow birds to waste feed. Use feeders that prevent waste and fill them only 1/2 to 2/3 full.

Make a practice to wipe off light bulbs and reflectors in the pens so often. It is surprising how much light is lost simply because bulbs and reflectors are filmed over.

Check up on the favorite laying haunts of your chickens. Eggs are lost because birds don't lay them in the nests. Dark corners, under the nests and roosts, should be wired off so birds just can't lay in those hard to get at places places where eggs are either broken or get dirty.

SENTINEL—A faithful gobbler walks guard while his mate sets eggs in a clump of cane west of Wichita Falls, Texas, and his owner, Joe Johnson, says he refuses to leave. The old Tom has beaten

a pathway a foot wide around the nest and threatens to attack anyone trying to approach his busy wife. (AP Photo)

FARM NEWS

Field bindweed is a long-lived perennial vine-unusually well suited for vigorous survival and spread. It is becoming a very serious noxious plant in Lamb County. The young plants are readily established and difficult to kill after they are six weeks old.

In many localities this weed is called "possession vine" because of its aggressiveness and persistence. It may take possession of the land and eventually cause abandonment if its control is neglected.

The leaves are usually surrounded and are fairly small. The flowers bell-shaped, about three fourths of an inch in diameter and predominately white, but various shades of pink may also occur.

A crop of bindweed seed is usually mature by the time wheat is ready for harvest.

The root system of an established bindweed plant is very extensive and may penetrate the soil to great depth. The main roots are long, whitish cords about one-eighth of an inch in diameter, with many branches. The fleshy roots may form shoot buds and give rise to new plants anywhere along their length, either with or without mechanical injury.

New infestations are started from seed which in most cases is carried by harvesting machinery, livestock, or impurities in crop seed or feed. Bindweed is also spread by the roots of the plant. New plants shoot up around the original plant and spread by this means continues throughout the life of the plant. Also new plants may be started by roots dragged from infested to uninfested areas by tillage implements.

Methods of Control

lative following the funeral of his mother.

Joe Ben Crank went to Andrews Sunday where he will work this summer at Stanolind's Three-Bar Plant located near Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Moore accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Moore and son of Littlefield to Nacona for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Howard and sons of Odessa spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dobson.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Davis and daughters of Andrews spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Davis. They were enroute to Sayre, Oklahoma for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. J. C. Taylor spent the week-end in Brownfield with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Horton who have a new baby son. Mrs. Horton will be remembered as Mrs. Agnes Simpson.

Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Hodges of DeLeon spent Monday night with Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Hodges.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Horton have returned from a short visit in Knox City.

Master Sergeant and Mrs. Jeff Sanders are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Dickinson east of town.

Plant crop seed that is known to be free of bindweed seed and use clean feed. Careless use of contaminated field seed and feed will spread bindweed faster than farmers can hope to control infestations of this weed by any known method.

Pasturing Bindweed

Bindweed is relished by grazing animals. It is not a problem in permanent pastures. Large areas with thick stands of this weed can be confined and controlled by pasturing where close and sustained attention cannot be given to eradication. Permanent abandonment of these areas from harvested crops is not necessary. Pasturing may be used to minimize these infestations until more effective means of control can be started. The carrying capacity for livestock of bindweed infested areas can be greatly increased by planting them to adapted summer and winter grazing crops or to semi-permanent pasture grasses.

Intensive Cultivation

This is the quickest and most reliable method of materially reducing the stand of severe bindweed infestations on large areas. Its most effective use requires close and sustained attention over one or more years. Ordinarily during the second and subsequent years, intensive cultivation must be supplemented by more efficient clean-up practices to insure eradication of remnant infestations and subsequent grips of seedlings.

For intensive cultivation to be effective against bindweed, it must be timely and thorough. Woodlings must be destroyed before they are six weeks old. All the tops of established plants must be destroyed frequently enough and over a long enough period to starve the root system.

Ordinarily by the time seedling bindweeds are six weeks old they have started enough food in their roots to insure resprouting of any roots left in moist or undistributed soil. Older plants have an abundance of food stored in their roots and under favorable conditions will resprout after repeated destruction of the tops. Also the root system of an old bindweed plant supported by a number of above ground shoots. If any of these escaped destruction, they continue to feed the entire root system.

Up until they are approximately eight days old the leaves on new shoots from old plants use more stored feed than they return to the roots. If they are not destroyed promptly, bindweed will more than maintain its stand. All cultivations should be timed in accordance with sprouting and regrowth. Cultivation every two weeks is required during periods favorable for growth of this weed. During unfavorable periods, cultivations may be infrequent.

Intensive cultivation continued throughout at or more bindweed growths if a high percentage of old bindweed plants are starved out.

Over 98 percent of a field of old bindweeds in Pott was killed by 16 cultivations within one year following wheat harvest. The area cultivated every two weeks periods favorable for a gang of 24-inch sweeps with rolling cutters overlapped approximately 25 percent.

Herbicides - 2,4-D

Use of this chemical or eradicate susceptible applicable to infestation size. 2,4-D is cheap and apply. Favorable growth and freedom from injury to plants are preconditions for satisfactory use of the other harmonious-type weeds.

All stages of vigorous bindweed is sprayed in the bloom stage. Under weather conditions good are also obtained from fall growth. Repeated use of 2,4-D give good bindweed control, but seldom give eradication of established After bindweed is sprayed, 2,4-D the top growth is destroyed for two to four weeks. This lapse of time is the chemical to be transplanted.

One pound of 2,4-D usually gives better results lower rates and as good. Water is a satisfactory 2,4-D when ground spray is used to treat bindweed. Oil-water emulsions offer advantages.

It can be used to reduce established bindweed on land either alone or in combination with intensive cultivation. However, it is only a substitute for intensive cultivation.

Chlorate and Boron Chemicals

Extensive use can be made of the long-lasting chemicals to control small bindweed up to one-half acre. A great deal of work is being made of sodium Alclate and Borosol for pose. More recently, Chlorate, Polybor and Chlorate have been introduced in various parts of the state.

Elizabeth Schovajsa Is Bride Of Jack Cummings In Church Ceremony

Elizabeth Schovajsa and Mrs. Jack Ed Cummings, were married Saturday at 3 p. m. in the First Baptist Church of Amherst, will make their home in Austin.

The bride is the former Miss Rose Schovajsa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Schovajsa of Amherst. Mr. and Mrs. Cummings of Hereford are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. John Rankin officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride wore an original gown of white French imported lace and tulle. The tight fitting bodice of the gown was accented by tiny pearls along the neckline and the yoke of nylon tulle. The skirt was an alternation of white and blue organdy over a white tulle skirt. The bride carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and a shower of step-pendants.

Joanne Schovajsa attended the ceremony as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Edwina Schovajsa, another sister of the bride, Miss Dorothy Yarbrough, the bride's cousin. A sister of the bride, Miss Sharon Cummings of Hereford was junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore light blue organdy over a white tulle skirt. The bridesmaids were accented by white carnations. They carried bouquets of white carnations.

Elizabeth Schovajsa, brother of the bride, and Jerry Brantley, a cousin of the bride, lighted the candles. They wore navy linen suits. The flower girl was Cecelia Brantley, cousin of the bride, and Elizabeth Schovajsa, brother of the bride, was page boy.

The Cummings of Hereford was the bride's best man. Ushers were Lonnie Bell of Dimmitt, Billy Tom Grant of Littlefield, and Logan Cummings, brother of the bridegroom, of Hereford.

At a reception immediately following the ceremonies the couple was assisted in receiving by their parents. The bridesmaids' bouquets were placed around the tiered wedding cake on the serving table. Aunts of the bride, Mrs. J. P. Brantley, Mrs. Mary Brantley, Mrs. Maurice Brantley, and Mrs. E. L. Yarbrough, were members of the house party.

For travelling to Austin, the bride chose a two-piece suit dress of blue salyna cloth with white accessories.

The bride was graduated from Texas Tech last May and was listed in the college's Who's Who. For the past year she has been teaching home economics in Lamesa High School. A former Texas Tech student, the bridegroom is now attending the University of Texas, where he is majoring in civil engineering.

Following the ceremony the couple will be at home in Lubbock.

Shirley Wagner and Lyndel Lynch Married

In a morning service Sunday May 24, in the First Methodist Church at Sudan, Miss Shirley Wagner became the bride of Lyndel Lynch. The Rev. Wayne Perry, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and emerald foliage and flanked by candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Wagner, Sudan. Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lynch are parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Robert Masten organist, played the traditional wedding music preceding the ceremony and accompanied Miss Frances Hall and Miss Lucy Barnett who sang "Because" and "Ab, Sweet Mystery of Life."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white tulle with French imported satin, with French imported Chantilly lace yoke and sleeves, and a Queen Ann collar. Tiny covered buttons extended down the back of the fitted bodice into the full skirt, which swept to a train.

MRS. JACK ED CUMMINGS

Henry-Orr Services Read In Methodist Church Saturday

In a beautiful double ring ceremony at the First Methodist Church, Littlefield, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Miss Sue Carole Henry and Norman Gale Orr were married.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace H. Henry and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo W. Orr, all of Littlefield.

The vows were exchanged before an altar flanked by candelabra and baskets of yellow mums with tropical greenery on either side. Rev. Harry Vanderpool, pastor of the church officiated.

Miss McGee Plays
Miss Trudy McGee, organist played traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Gurene Allen as she sang, "I Love You Truly", "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Wears Chantilly Lace
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original ballerina length dress of chantilly lace over nylon tulle and taffeta. The fitted bodice was fashioned with short sleeves and small collar and joined an immensely gathered skirt. Her finger tip veil of nylon tulle was attached to a tiara of velvet ribbon and orange blossoms. She wore a rhinestone necklace and ear screws, and carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid, and white satin ribbon streamers.

Sister Matron of Honor
Mrs. Walter Coln of Greenville, Miss., attended her sister as matron of honor. Her dress was of baby blue organdy over taffeta. The full gathered skirt was joined to a fitted bodice designed with square neckline and puffed sleeves. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink Pom-Poms. Bridesmaids were Miss Alice Faye Orr, sister of the groom, and Miss Dorothy Bitner. They wore dresses of pink organdy.

andy over taffeta, and were identical in design to the dress worn by the matron of honor. They carried colonial bouquets of blue pom-poms.

Coy Dean Orr Best Man
Judy Lumsden was flower girl and wore a green organdy dress and yellow rosebuds in her hair. Coy Dean Orr served his brother as best man.

Ushers and candlelighters were Jackie Beckner and Jim Doherty. Reception is Held

Following the ceremony a reception was given in the church parlor.

The bride's table was laid with white cutwork cloth, and arranged with the three tiered white wedding cake bearing miniature bride and groom at one end of the table, with the crystal punch bowl at the other.

The bride's and attendants' bouquets were attractive on the bride's refreshment table.

Miss Dorothy Poltny presided at the register.

Miss Myrna Jo Teague cut and served the cake while her sister, Miss Mildred Teague poured the punch.

Mrs. Leonard McGowan and Mrs. Billy Poole of Lubbock and Mrs. Virgil Teague and Mrs. Nadine Rice of Littlefield assisted in serving.

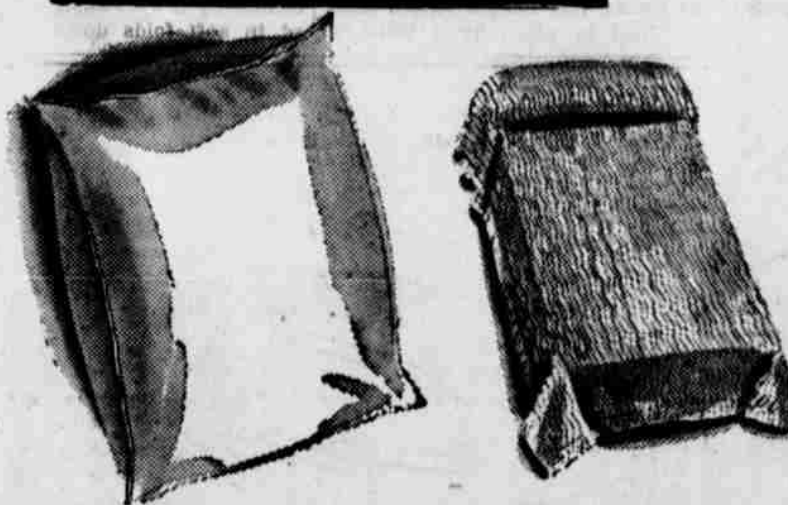

Mrs. Orr is a graduate of Littlefield high school. The groom also was graduated from the local high school and is majoring in pre-med at Texas Tech College.

For travelling the bride chose an orchid novelty weave cotton dress and white accessories. Following a wedding trip to Tres Ritos, New Mexico, the couple will be at home June 4 in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Roberts and children, Charles and Jimmie, left Friday for Albuquerque, New Mexico for a weeks visit with Mr. Roberts' mother, Mrs. Lula Roberts.

Eastern Stars Entertain Masons At Program Friday Evening

The local Eastern Star Chapter entertained the Masons Friday night at a program at the Masonic Hall.

The main feature of the program was "Judgment Day" a skit staged by members, which proved very interesting.

Rev. J. Henry Cox represented Saint Peter; Mrs. Doris Frey, the Devil; Mrs. Blanche Dodgen, "Death"; Mrs. Irma Reeves played the part of an Angel; Ann Frey was St. Gabriel; Mrs. L. M. Brandon played the part of a negro woman who helped Saint Peter in passing judgement and Mrs. Gene Johnson and Mrs. Coy Brooks were negro spiritual singers.

In the play, Death picked victims from the attendance to be tried by Saint Peter, and they were either condemned to the devil or sent to heaven.

A group of three boys who call themselves the "String Dusters", and who are Dannie Dunn, Wayland Jennings and James Jolly played several numbers on their electric guitars.

Following the program a social hour was enjoyed, in which refreshments were served to about 80 Masons and Eastern Stars.

Vows Exchanged by D'Ruth Hopping And Al Johnston Tuesday At Lubbock

Miss D'Ruth Hopping, daughter of Mrs. Jane Rieger, New York City, was married to Al Johnston, Richmond Hills, Long Island, and New York City, at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in Ford Memorial Chapel of First Baptist Church, Lubbock. A double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. John H. Johns, Baptist minister, who recently returned from service in Germany.

Miss Hopping is a daughter of the late Jake Hopping of Littlefield and a granddaughter of Judge and Mrs. R. C. Hopping of Lubbock.

Mrs. Earl Hobbs, organist, and Ivor (Tiny) Jones, tenor, presented the wedding music, which included a medley of traditional wedding songs and "Indian Love Call", "At Dawning", "My Wonderful One" and "I Believe".

Tapers were lighted by Mrs. Robert Watson and Miss Michael Hopping.

Brother Is Escort

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Richard Coke Hopping II, who escorted her to an altar decorated by white and yellow gladioli and white Venetian tapers.

Her gown of nylon organza was designed by her sister and maid of honor, Miss Connie Wray Hopping. The voluminous skirt of organza was gathered onto a fitted bodice topped by a cameo neckline created by soft folds of Chantilly lace. The dress was fastened with tiny, self-covered buttons and fitted sleeves forming points at the hands. Her chapel length train was held in place by a tiara of braided bridal illusion and seeded pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of shasta daisies. She wore a guard ring that has been in the Hopping family for many years and is now owned by Mrs. Jack Conley.

The maid of honor wore a gown she designed, which is of white nylon organza over maize nylon taffeta. The fitted bodice was accented by a wide sash which draped in soft folds down the center back and the waist length skirt was gathered on to a fitted bodice. The shawl collar was closed at the waist.

Attendants To Bride

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Conley, a cousin, Mrs. James G. Jarrett, Mrs. B. J. Louder and Miss Rhonda Mabray, wore maize organza over white taffeta identical to the honor maid's.

H. R. Johnston of Richmond Hills served his son as best man and ushers were Frank Hayne, uncle of the bride; B. J. Louder, James G. Jarrett and Herb D. Henderson, the latter of Wolfforth.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for the couple at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hayne of the Clovis Road, Lubbock. Decorations consisted of gladioli in white and maize, the bride's wedding colors. The bride's table was centered by a tiered wedding cake which was created by a figurine rose, which was one of the roses to decorate the cake at the recent observance of the 60th wedding anniversary of the bride-elect's grandparents, Judge and Mrs. R. C. Hopping.

The couple left by plane for New York for a trip to Lake George and later will live in New York City.

The bride was graduated from Texas Tech in 1949, where she was a member of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity; Sock and Buskin and Ko Shari Social Club. For the last year she has lived in New York City where she has been furthering her career as an actress. Until her marriage she has been associated with CBS Television.

The bridegroom, one of the youngest directors in television, is associated with the DuMont Network. His school was the Peekskill Academy and he served two years in the army.

For travel, the bride selected a suit of blending beige tones in belted silk. It was accented in white at the throat and she wore brown and white accessories.

Out of each dollar that is received is spent in this fashion: 26 cents for Cancer Research. This is Texas' share of a nationwide search for the cause, means of control and all possible cures for cancer.

37 cents for Cancer Education, to save lives by spreading knowledge about the disease. It furnishes films, booklets, exhibits, and other aids to tell the true fact about cancer. It helps keep Texas doctors informed of improvements in the detection and treatment of cancer.

16 cents for Service to Cancer Patients. This includes financial help for 12 cancer clinics in Texas. Volunteer workers of the Cancer Society prepare bandages and furnish items to ease the burden of cancer patients.

9 cents is to supervise and administer the American Cancer Society's work, both nationally and in Texas.

12 cents is to enable the Cancer Society to conduct its annual educational and membership Texas Cancer Crusade.

The American Cancer Society wants to protect you against Cancer by pointing out to you the 7 danger signals:

1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A painless lump or thickening.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. A wart, mole or birthmark.
5. Persistent indigestion.
6. Persistent hoarseness.
7. And change in normal bowel habits.

Last Rites Held Sunday For S-1c Tommy Farrell

Tommy Rae Farrell, 19, Seaman First Class of the U. S. Navy, on leave from a California base, was found dead of a gunshot wound on the farm of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll L. Jones, in the West Camp Community eight miles south of Farwell, about 11:30 a. m. Friday.

A .22 caliber rifle, with which the youth earlier had said he was going hunting, was found by his side. A bullet had pierced his brain.

Young Farrell returned from the west coast three days previous to visit his widowed mother, Mrs. Iva Pearl Farrell of Littlefield. He had spent Friday at the Jones farm.

Farrell is reported to have told Mrs. Jones that he was going out to hunt birds and took the .22 rifle from the house. His sister became alarmed when the youth failed to return for lunch and asked her husband to look for him. Jones found the body behind a barn near the house.

Farrell was stationed at San Francisco, California and in April had completed a course in deep sea diving at the naval salvage school in Bayonne, N. J. Prior to that he had served aboard the U. S. S. Bolster in Korean waters. He had served a year and a half in the navy and was scheduled to ship out again this month aboard the Bolster.

The remains were brought to the Hammons Funeral Home late Friday.

Survivors included his mother, three brothers, Fireman Henry K. Farrell of the U. S. Navy, presently serving aboard the U. S. S. Bremerton, also in Korean waters, Johnnie C. Farrell of Muleshoe, and S/Sgt. Jesse R. Farrell of Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin, and four sisters, Mrs. George M. Speed of Sweetwater; Mrs. A. L. Beatty of El Dorado; Mrs. Carroll L. Jones of West Camp Community, and Miss Patsy Farrell of Littlefield. Another brother, E. B. Farrell, preceded him in death in August, 1942. His father, Jesse R. Farrell, died in 1947.

Tommy Rae Farrell was born in Sulphur Springs, Texas, April 1, 1934 and came to the Littlefield area in the fall of the same year. His family lived on a ranch west of Littlefield for about two years before moving to town. The family home is at 205 North Wick-

He attended Littlefield schools until his enlistment in the U. S. Navy in January, 1952. He was a member of the Missionary Baptist Church of Littlefield and he had studied briefly for the Baptist ministry.

Funeral services were held at the Littlefield Missionary Baptist Church, Littlefield.

Funeral services were conducted at 1:30 p. m. Monday at the Littlefield Missionary Baptist Church with Dr. Weldon B. Meers officiating.

Military rites were held at the grave in the Littlefield Cemetery with Military Naval Chaplain Todd of Lubbock in charge.

Palbearers were Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Burial was in charge of Hammons Funeral Home.

Parkview Building Committee Meets

The Plans Sub-Committee of the Parkview Baptist Church building committee met at the church last Monday night to work out details of plans on the new auditorium to be constructed soon.

The State Architect of the Texas Baptist General Convention, Mr. Dewey Horton, of Amarillo, met with the committee to discuss the plans he has drawn that the Parkview church has voted upon.

The committee will make recommendations upon the details of floor-plan, construction, materials and procedure in a church conference to be announced Sunday.

Those attending of the committee were: Chairman of the Building Committee, Mr. A. B. Askew. Chairman of the Plans Sub-Committee, Mr. Lawrence Massengale. Members, Mr. H. F. Wood, Jr., Mr. Frank Fry, Mrs. A. B. Askew, and the pastor, Rev. John Taylor.

Visiting with the committee were Mr. John Clayton, Chairman of the Construction Sub-Committee and Mr. Sherman Goodwin of the Finance Sub-Committee.

Mr. Dewey Horton is employed by the Texas Baptist General Convention to assist small and medium size churches in building programs. He has had experience in assisting over 2,300 churches in recent years build new auditoriums and educational buildings. He has a good reputation of helping poor churches build buildings for not more than half the regular costs.

The Parkview church expects to build a new auditorium valued at approximately $54,000 standing and around $65,000 complete. They expect to be able to do it for not over $18,000 with the assistance of Mr. Horton and the donated labor.

Lieut. Kenneth W. Pharris Reported Missing in Flight

Second Lieutenant Kenneth W. Pharris is reported missing in action.

This tragic message from the War Department was received by telegraph about noon Thursday, which is a day later in the Korean war zone.

Lt. Pharris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pharris of Littlefield.

The message reads as follows: "It is with deep regret that I officially inform you that your son, 2nd. Lieut. Kenneth W. Pharris has been missing in flight since May 28, 1953. Extensive search is now being conducted, when further information is received you will be notified immediately. A letter containing further details will be forwarded to you at the earliest possible date. Please accept my sincere sympathy at this time of anxiety."

Maj. Gen. W. McCormick, Director of Military Personnel Headquarters, U. S. Air Force. Lieutenant Pharris has been serving as U. S. Air Force all-weather fighter pilot with 68th Fighter Squadron in Japan. He has been piloting a F-94 Jet interceptor in air defense missions over southern Japan.

He is a graduate of the 1948 class of Littlefield High School, and was in his third year in Tech College when he entered the service. He took his basic training at San Antonio, and was stationed at San Antonio, Columbus, Miss., and Moody Field, Georgia. He was awarded his wings at Williams Air Base at Chandler, Arizona. He has recently been stationed at Itavuke Air Base near Fukuia, on the island of Kyushu, Japan.

It is understood that a radar operator also occupied the jet piloted by Lt. Pharris.

Woman In Dream Car Escapes Tornado Death In Waco's Recent Storm

The following appeared in a Waco newspaper, from which it was clipped and sent to the Leader for publication by a Waco reader of the Lamb County Leader, G. V. Coker of 1520 Marshall Avenue, Waco, a former resident of this city.

It was her dream car. All creamy yellow and bright and shiny.

Mrs. Roy Temple had wanted it for years. But it arrived just in time to save her life.

Wacoans who stop to look at the crumpled new Studebaker shake their heads for whoever was unlucky enough to have been caught in the car when the tornado struck. But there is one little apathy-hardly big enough to notice, in which a passenger might have escaped death or serious injury. That was the spot in which Mrs. Temple was sitting. She received only bruises.

Pretty Mrs. Temple who talks with a slight girlish lisp says it all happened because she made the mistake of being on time.

"If I had been late to pick up my husband like I always am, I wouldn't have been there," Mrs. Temple said laughing. "But everything which could have worked out for me did work out."

Just Heard Lecture
Mrs. Temple had just heard a lecture on the Life of Christ when the storm struck. It was a good lecture, she said, one which made you feel like you were right there walking along the dusty road with Jesus.

And then the tornado struck. And she was buried under a pile of rubble from the crumbling Padgett building.

"I asked the Lord to take care of me, and, you know, it was the funniest feeling," she said. "I was buried under this rock and I knew it. And there was one big stone which could crush me if it slipped a little. But I wasn't really panicky."

It was raining when Mrs. Temple, who lives at 3025 Ethel, left the lecture at Columbus Avenue Baptist Church. So she decided to go shopping while waiting to pick up her husband at the Professional Building, Fifth and Franklin.

"It started pouring down rain. I decided to go and park and wait for Roy. I parked right near the corner on Fifth and Franklin, near the Padgett Building," Mrs. Temple remembered, and then it started hailing. And I thought, "Oh, my pretty car is going to get a dent in it."

Events Got Jumbled
After that the sequence of events got a little jumbled. It turned black, there was a terrible roar and Mrs. Temple saw the Padgett Building begin to crumble toward her.

It was then she made the move which saved her life. She ducked from the driver's seat over against the other side. Without thinking or knowing why, she moved toward the crumbling building. But it was the right move. Two big corner stones, each about a foot thick and about four feet long, toppled from the building. One of them crushed through the front of the car and tumbled to the driver's seat where Mrs. Temple had been sitting just a moment before. The other stone crushed in the other side of the front seat but, miraculously stopped about a foot short of Mrs. Temple. Bricks from the building buried the car.

Utilizing Manpower in Nation's Interest

The National Manpower Council, created by President Eisenhower in 1951 in his capacity as president of Columbia University, has made an illuminating report as to best means for utilizing human material in the national interest.

The council reminds that in a totalitarian society such as the Soviet Union the number of young persons to be trained as natural scientists, engineers and so on is specified in a five-year plan. In free or democratic society, essential manpower needs must be met by voluntary means, particularly by making certain fields of endeavor attractive to the free choice of the individual.

There is today a shortage of skilled specialists in this country so that it becomes necessary to devise means for increasing the number of doctors, engineers, scientists, nurses and other skilled citizens. These deficiencies have been aggravated more by the low birth rates of the depression years, than by the drafting of exceptional persons into military service during recent wars, and by various other factors.

Upon receiving the report a few days ago, the president told the council he would like to know also "what makes psychoneurotics when war breaks out." His allusion was to the large number of draft rejections for mental reasons. When these types are exempted or deferred from military service, it becomes necessary to call exceptional youths who often would be more valuable to the nation in specialized pursuits.

The manpower report, broadly, would improve educational facilities and the opportunities for unusual youths to pursue higher educational studies, primarily to afford enough specialists for the nation's requirements. To those ends, increased financial support from local government and private groups for educational institutions is recommended.

Continuance of the draft deferment program for students of definite promise is favored. The council points out that less than half of those capable of acquiring a college degree do so and that many with superior ability do not graduate. Only 155,000 persons of a working population of 63 million are scientists, of whom only 15,000 are engaged primarily in fundamental research "which opens up new frontiers of knowledge."

The report should prove to be invaluable in pointing the way to more effective use of manpower in a democracy.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Spring ushers in birds and flowers, picnics and swimming—hills—and, with the greater emphasis on outdoor life, a few things not quite so desirable, like poison ivy and ticks.

Caution is the password for the wise outdoorsman. He avoids picnic spots with underbrush, and if he must go into the fields or forests, he dresses to protect himself from annoying plants or insects. Nevertheless, many others are exposed to poison ivy, oak, or sumac. Bathing with plenty of soap and hot water immediately after exposure, taking care not to let clothes which have been in contact with plants touch the skin, and applying rubbing alcohol or a soothing lotion may prove helpful; however, severe cases are likely to require a doctor's care.

Certain ticks may carry Rocky Mountain spotted fever, a disease marked by spots on the skin, chills, and fever, sometimes ending in death. Since a tick bite may be so dangerous, the following method of removal is recommended: Apply ether, chloroform, or acetone to the insect to try to make it drop off. If it doesn't, tweezers should be used, grasping the tick as close as possible to the point of attachment and pulling gently to keep from leaving the mouth parts embedded in the skin. Every effort should be made to keep from crushing the insect and getting its contents into the bite. Use soap and water where the tick was attached.

After a bee or wasp "stinger" has been removed, a paste of baking soda and water can be applied. Victims of large numbers of stings may suffer much pain and be very ill. Not many black widow spider bites are fatal, but small children have died from them. Anyone who may have received a bite should be taken to the doctor if he complains of pain in the abdomen.

With warmer weather coming on, fainting may claim a greater number of victims. The patient should be laid flat or told to sit with his head between his knees or kneel as if tying a shoelace, his shoulders being braced to keep him from falling. Tight clothing should be loosened, the face rubbed with cold water, and spirits of ammonia or smelling salts held under his nose. After consciousness returns, he may be given a glass of cold water.

Convulsions may have any number of causes, ranging from serious conditions like epilepsy to more temporary ones like high fever in a child. The patient should be laid down and kept from hurting himself. A feverish child may be given a lukewarm bath or wrapped in sheets wrung from lukewarm water. An enema of lukewarm water also may be given. With fainting or convulsions which are unexpected or often repeated, a doctor should be consulted.

Nosebleed, too, may be of little importance or may point to a serious condition, such as high blood pressure. The patient should be told to sit, hold his head back, and keep from blowing his nose. Cold compresses may be applied to the back of the neck and over the nose (swallowing a little blood is harmless), and the patient should remain in this position until bleeding checks. Anyone with excessive or long lasting bleeding or repeated attacks should have medical examination and treatment.

Among causes of earaches may be a boil in the ear canal, infection of the middle ear, or injury of the skull. A hot water bottle to the ear may relieve the pain of a simple earache, as may a few drops of warmed oil placed in the affected ear canal. Aspirin also may be given.

For a toothache, a toothpick covered with a piece of cotton dipped into oil of cloves may be applied if a cavity can be seen. If not, a hot water bottle over the cheek or jaw may give relief. A dentist should be consulted.

Removing a bean, BB shot, chicken or fish bone from the air or food passage may prove troublesome. A slap on the back may dis-

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

COURT RULES ESSENTIAL TO JUSTICE

What about court rules—the procedural rules governing legal trials? Are they tools of delay or instruments of justice? Procedure is the lubricant which makes the machinery of uniform justice run smoothly. Far from being of concern only to lawyers and judges, rules of procedure are of real significance to all of us.

The law is composed of two parts—the substantive and the adjective law. The substantive law defines rights, duties and remedies; it enforces contracts and rights wrongs! It describes crimes and sets up penalties. Adjective law deals with legal procedure and describes the steps a person must take to invoke the substantive law.

Some of our most important rights are to be found in the body of procedural law. For example, as a people who want justice to prevail, we like to think that every man, rich or poor, shall have his day in court. This is an important right, for a day in court implies more than merely the right to have your say before a judge and jury.

Your day in court implies that you shall have the right to be properly represented, to have your case presented before an impartial jury and an unbiased judge, and to have a reasonable time to prepare for the trial. It holds that you shall have proper notice of the action against you; that the complaint or indictment shall state a clear cause of action. It means that you shall be confronted by your accusers; that you shall have the right to cross-examine them; that you shall be able to present evidence in your own behalf.

Finally, the law governing procedure tells you how you may appeal your case to higher courts when you feel that you have not had a fair trial or that a prejudicial error has been committed in the trial court.

Much of our procedural law comes down from centuries of experience. It is something that "doesn't belong," but it sometimes takes special instruments to remove these foreign objects. Some things children swallow are harmless and pass on through the food tube unaided. It would be safest, however, to call the doctor and follow his advice. No time should be lost in calling him if breathing is cut off. Water should be used to try to wash the bean or pea from the nose or ear because it may swell, making removal difficult, nor should much digging be done in these structures for fear of injuring the delicate tissue lining them.

Remember...

The following were news in Littlefield July 12, 1934:

The local Red Cross swimming and life saving instruction is going forward in a very successful manner. At the present time there are 28 boys reporting for swimming, 11 boys for life saving, and 14 girls for swimming.

The Littlefield band will present another concert Friday evening at 8 o'clock on the walk in front of Walter's Drug Store, A. B. Taylor, director announced.

John H. Arnett of the John H. Arnett Motor Co. will be a member of the party of Ford dealers who will visit the World's Fair and Detroit. A World's Fair Ford special left Dallas in July. The trip was made by 285 Ford dealers who are served by the Dallas branch.

Dr. C. E. Payne, physician and surgeon and former resident of Dallas, is opening offices at Sadler Drug Store.

Dr. Payne was graduated from S. M. U. with a B. S. degree, and from Baylor Medical College. He spent one year in general internship at Baylor Hospital and one year as resident surgeon at Parkland Hospital, Dallas.

perience in the courts of other lands. It was inevitable that through the centuries some of the procedure would become cumbersome, obsolete and difficult. For this reason the history of procedure has been characterized by great periods of reform. In America we have experienced many advantageous changes in our laws governing the procedure of courts and administrative agencies. There is a growing custom in the United States of giving the courts the power to revise their rules in certain fields.

Our Texas rules of civil procedure are made by our state Supreme Court, while the rules of criminal procedure are under the direct control of the Legislature. Both the court and the Legislature are constantly striving, with the recommendations of the practicing lawyer, to improve these rules. There aim is to provide uniform and relatively simple rules for the dispensing of justice with a minimum of delay.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

ed Tuesday morning at 7:30 o'clock in Sacred Heart Church, Littlefield by Rev. Father Dvorak, for Mrs. Mae Botsford, aged 50, wife of E. M. Botsford, who passed away Monday morning July 9, at 10 o'clock following a lengthy illness.

Interment took place immediately after in the Catholic Cemetery, with Burleson & Company in charge of arrangements.

With the biggest celebration in her history, Littlefield's citizens plan to observe the tenth birthday of the city in a two day celebration spectacle of entertainment features Friday and Saturday, July 20 and 21, making plans to care for 25,000 people.

Polo airplane stunts, a rodeo, free barbecue, baseball, a political rally in which local, state and national candidates will participate, will entertain the crowds part of the time.

Band concerts, old fiddler's contest, a carnival, women's horseback riding, a golf tournament, and ball dance Friday night will add to the interests.

Dr. C. C. Clements of Littlefield attended the Rotary International Convention at Detroit June 25-29. He was accompanied north by Stanley Doss, County Clerk of Lamb County.

Rev. Joe F. Grizzle returned Saturday afternoon from conducting the funeral services of an old friend, Mrs. A. Bratton, aged 75, of Wills Point, Texas.

Mayor L. R. Crockett and Dr. Ira Woods made their first airplane flight last Sunday. In other words, the city's chief executive, and the past president of the chamber of commerce, looked down on the city they have been boasting to the skies.

Bill Beisel was the pilot.

Mrs. John Blalock has resigned her position with the Popular Store here and will shortly join her husband at Kilgore where he has opened up an office. Mrs. Blalock will be succeeded by Mrs. Dora Chapman, who began her duties last week.

Miss Evelyn Garlington, who has been attending Tech College, spent from Friday day with her parents, Mr. J. O. Garlington. Miss Garlington has been elected a member of the Littlefield School Faculty her duties in the department in September.

RECORD-BREAKING GAS MILEAGE

for the driving YOU do!

This year's Chevrolet brings you the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And it's the kind of everyday economy that saves you money wherever and however you drive!

Inch along through heavy traffic. Roll up the miles in steady highway cruising. Long trips or short errands, byroads or boulevards, you get far more miles per gallon in this great new Chevrolet.

New high-compression power is the reason. Both the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine in Powerglide* models—and the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrifty-King" engine in gearshift models—deliver more power on less gasoline. Acceleration and hill-climbing ability are greater, fuel consumption is lower!

This is the kind of economy that counts the most—important gasoline savings for the driving you do, together with lower over-all costs of upkeep. And along with it, you enjoy all the other advantages that only the new Chevrolet offers you. Come in and see for yourself!

*Combination of 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine and Powerglide automatic transmission available on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models only.

Interpreter For Finds Peace

By DON DOANE

Germany—The man to be Hitler's official interpreter is now operating a school—training interpreters. Schmidt was the "voice of Germany" at every major international conference between 1923 and 1945. He was at Hitler's shoulder every time he talked to foreign diplomats. It was he who turned Hitler's ultimatum into English at the 1938 Munich conference.

Not a Nazi

But Schmidt was not a member of the Nazi party. A professional interpreter, he had worked for the Weimar Republic before Hitler took over.

Consequently, Schmidt was

PAUL SCHMIDT

cleared by a denazification court after the war and left free to follow his profession—and to cash in on his close relationship with Hitler.

This he did with a book of memoirs, "Hitler's Interpreter." He followed it up with an account of his experiences as a witness in the Nuremberg war crimes trial.

Tones False, Church Organ Expert Finds

AP Newsfeatures

LYNCHBURG, Va. — A 38-year-old Lynchburg organist and organ consultant is building a small pipe organ in the basement of his home to help him shed light on the mysteries of organ tone. But unless a visitor is accompanying him down, Bernard Williamson doesn't bother

Then he returned to the work he loves—languages. He took over a big "speech and interpreters institute" in Munich. Here, with a staff of 12 instructors, he teaches nearly 300 students how to interpret in six languages—English, French, Spanish, Italian, Russian and German.

"I want to raise the standards of interpreting. The ideal interpreter should also be equipped socially and intellectually," he says.
His school not only teaches languages. It also teaches such subjects as the history, economy and geography of the country whose language is studied, and drills students in technical and business idioms.

Trying Times

He had a few trying years after the war. He was interned in 1945, and held a prisoner while testifying in the trials of Nazi leaders.
After his release he was twice rearrested and threatened with trial.
But each time the charge turned out to be based on mistaken identity and he never was tried.

BLIND Bernard Williamson tests
an organ pipe.

turning on the basement light.

Williamson has been blind since birth.

It is Williamson's pet peeve that many churches fail to tailor their organs to the structures. Hence, they don't get the best tone possible from their instruments, he says.

Williamson, who has played the organ at the First Presbyterian Church here for the past 12 years, says an authority on the organ should be consulted at the time a church architect is laying his plans. In that way, allowance for correct acoustics can be made and the organ best suited to the church can be obtained.

LAMB COUNTY LEADER, THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1953

A more difficult task than fitting | spot the reason for a wrong "fit"
the right organ into a church is to | and remedy it.

A Little Headwork
Saves a Lot of Footwork

"I don't ever aim to give up fishing," Pappy Hayes said one day. "But the older I get the less
I like to hike over to Pike's Creek.
I'll have to bring the fish home to me."

Pappy got his nephew to come down about three acres of bottom land. Then he dammed
the little stream there.

He wrote the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in Washington, and got some "blue gills" and he stocked it—free. Pappy's nephew wound up giving him (and just about the best fishing pond in the county ... right in his own back yard.

From where I sit, Pappy may be older than some of us but his mind is active—and open. He's ready to listen to anybody with an idea. That's why he and I can talk on any subject—sometimes about his preference for buttermilk and mine for beer. And though we disagree, we respect each other's opinion. That's neighborliness without a "catch" to it.

Do you know what this car can do ?

It can set you atingle with thrill.

It can move from zero to legal speed quicker and quieter than any Buick before it—and with the utter smoothness of a gull in glide—because this is a 1953 Buick with the spectacular getaway of Twin-Turbine Dynaflo.*

It can loaf easily up a long steep hill —swoop instantly ahead when there's safe passing to be done—or whisper along at highway pace with throttle barely open—because this is the Buick powered with the world's most advanced V8 engine, with record-high compression of 8.5 to 1.

It can surround you with comfort, luxury, restful ease.

It can velvet a rough road with its even softer all-coil-spring cushioning —track true on curves with its solid torque-tube steadiness—handle like a flyrod with its Power Steering*— gentle to a precise halt with its Power Brakes.†

And it can seat you in the superb comfort of true spaciousness—because this big and brawny beauty is the Buick SUPER Riviera Sedan—room-iest six-passenger sedan made in America.

Above all, this car can give you supreme value—more room, comfort, power and thrill for the money than you can find elsewhere.

Why not come in and see it, drive it, compare it? We'll be happy to arrange matters.

NO MONTHLY CRAMPS... not even on the VERY FIRST DAY!

Doctors' tests show amazing preventive relief of pain, backaches, nervous feelings

Women and girls who suffer from the functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches due to menstruation—who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days" every month—may be suffering quite needlessly! Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound stopped or gave amazing relief of such distress in 8 out of 4 of the cases... even on the very first and worst day of the period! Yet! Medical evidence proves Lydia Pinkham's modern in action. It exerts a remarkably calming effect on the uterus—without the use of pain-deadening drugs! The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to the millions of women and girls whom it has benefited. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for you? Take Lydia Pinkham's! See if you don't get the same relief from cramps and weakness... feel better both before and during your period! Get either Lydia Pinkham's Compound, or new, improved Tablets, with added iron! Lydia Pinkham's is wonderful for "hot flashes" and other functional distress of the "change of life," too!

Landscape Planning

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—Now that you're proud of your vegetable garden, all things considered, why not see how things are going out front?

Do some meditating on the appearance of your yard as you stroll along the front sidewalk. If the picture is not altogether pleasing you might like to consider some landscaping.

By doing the work yourself and selecting plants that grow naturally in your part of the country you can end up with a satisfactory job.

Many landscape failures result from poor choice of plants, such as the tree in the foundation planting that grows up beyond the bedroom windows, shutting out light and air. Raymond P. Korbob, ornamental horticulture specialist at Rutgers, offers some of the advice that has won him the thanks of hundreds of New Jersey home owners.

The front door should be the focal point of a foundation planting, he says, so that attention is drawn to it. Beware of spectacular plants here, but use a few dignified lawn-growing specimens. Full grown, these specimens should always be lower than the plants at the house corners. These corner plants should reach about halfway between the ground and roof line.

Most front entrances need only two plants, one on each side of the door. This is especially true of spreading habits usually are best for this location.

Plants at corners serve to blend the building into the natural surroundings. This is done by concealing the inverted "T" where the vertical building line meets the horizontal ground line. Often one plant is enough—just be patient and wait for it to fulfill its purpose.

A larger home may need a tall plant near each corner plus a lower one at its base.

Where house and yard are both small the kind of trees used at the corners of large homes can be used on the lawn, to frame the house. You'll be prouder of them in a few years, than you would of large shade trees that in time might make your horse appear small.

Border and screen plantings are used to insure privacy rather than to keep out your neighbors, Korbob points out. These are often useful, especially on city properties.

In choosing trees there's a whole list of items to check. Among these are: Shallow and

Coming For Luggage

When planning a vacation, until the last minute you should be kept packing your luggage. Vacationers shop for preparing the wardrobe for their trip. Then when they are on the road they discover their clothes are pretty shabby. They should be kept sparkling, not only for the big day, but for little clean it immediately. Your return from a trip, you are not have a moment with soap. So can the new travelling garment bags which usually are made of canvas or duck, water-proofed with rubber backing. Even leather can be washed with a minimum of trouble.

Wipe the plastic or aluminum luggage first with soapy cloth, then with a clean damp one. Dry carefully and polish the surface with a soft dry cloth. Follow that with a thorough waxing and buffing, and you'll find it's even easier to wash next time. The travelling garment takes to the same suds-sponging and wiping routine, also, if there are stubborn spots, use a soft, soapy brush.

Light colored rawhide which stains easily may be renewed beautifully by washing. Be skimpy with water when you clean other leathers, however. Rely on thick soaps alone to do the job. Rub the leather briskly into the leather and let it set for a few minutes over particularly difficult stains. Wipe with a clean damp cloth, then buff the surface with flannel or some other soft material. Waxing after cleaning is especially good for leather.

Most new overnight cases have washable plastic linings and these or the silk, cotton, rayon or linen linings are easy to keep clean. First brush away or vacuum out loose specks of sand, powder, and dirt from pockets and corners. Then spread on meringue-thick soapsuds and work into fabric with a stiff brush. Rinse with a cloth wrung out of clean water and put the open suitcase in an airy place to dry.

It is best not to store luggage where it will be exposed to extreme temperatures or dampness. Heat dries natural oils in leather but also stiffens plastic. Dampness encourages mold, mildew and warping.

CLEAN LUGGAGE... It is easy with good stiff soapsuds and a cellulose sponge. Rinse with sponge wrung dry from clear water. This treatment applies to plastic and leather as well as cotton-covered suitcases.

TEEN TALK

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures

If you are between the ages of 17 and 19, chances you are married, engaged or that man is just around the bend in the road. One out of every three girls in your age group has set up housekeeping and marriages in the earlier years are on the upswing. So if you haven't been tagged, don't despair. That man might have his eye on you right this minute.

Since there are so many teenagers saying "I Do" these days, perhaps some pointers on how to behave at that wedding might be in order. After all, if girls are putting down their school books one day and picking up the wedding bouquet the next day, there isn't very much time to brief up on bridal techniques. So here are some suggestions for teen-age brides-to-be:

1. Be natural. Don't try to make yourself look older or more sophisticated. Your husband-to-be would like you to look like the girl he proposed to. The day before the wedding is no time to try to change your personality.

2. Set up an intensive soap-and-water routine well in advance of the wedding day so that your trousseau is in spotless order. This is particularly important if you have a small budget for bridal finery, and must wear some of your old clothes.

3. Your complexion should be on a three-times-a-day washing schedule so you won't be bothered with last minute skin problems. Watch your diet at this time. You don't want to break out in a "sweets" rash, the result of too many sundaes and sodas.

4. Shampoo your hair as often as possible, and if you are the type who looks better with a permanent wave, don't wait until the last minute to get one. Do it several weeks before the wedding if there is time, and be sure to shampoo it a few times before the wedding for a more natural look.

Wear the coiffure your sweetheart remembers. Don't experiment with new hairdos now.

5. Choose a dress that is right for you. It is fine to read the ads, but don't select a wedding dress merely because it looks well on the model or the sales girl recommends it. Take your mother or close friend with you so that you will get expert advice from someone who knows you. Young girls should stick to simple gowns, rather than fancy overwhelming outfits.

6. Be practical about your trousseau. If you have a house to furnish, and the income is to be small, select your garments sensibly, so that they may see service later.

7. Jewelry and accessories should be selected carefully. Long dripping earrings, big elaborate necklaces and jangling bracelets are inappropriate for a bride. If you plan to wear jewelry, stick to simple pieces. Pearls are traditional for brides, unless you happen to have a jewel bag of diamonds

BREAKFAST WITH DADDY—Little Cindy Neighbors of Hereford, Texas, has breakfast with her daddy after he returns home as one of the released American prisoners of war, traded in the POW exchange in Panmunjom.

Daddy, or Sgt. Gerald Neighbors, seems to enjoy his two-and-a-half year old daughter on their first meeting. He also doesn't seem to mind having traded an olive drab shirt for the gay one he's wearing here. (AP Photo)

In the family safe.

8. Your nails should be lovely at this time, because your hands will be up for inspection for quite a while after the ceremony as your wedding ring is admired. If your nails have been neglected, start by scrubbing them with a soap brush and using the emery board to smooth little snags. Be sure to have a good professional manicure the day before the wedding, unless you are an expert with polish.

9. You shouldn't need much makeup. Powder and lipstick should suffice for a teen-ager whose natural complexion may be heightened anyway by the excitement of the event. Whatever happens, don't use mascara or eyebrow pencil, unless you know how to use so artfully that they merely enhance your looks without making you look made up.

10. Get plenty of rest for at least a week before your wedding day. You'll need the stamina to withstand all the last minute confusion.

PRACTICES APPROVED FOR YEAR 1954

The following practices as listed in the National Handbook were recommended for approval for Lamb County for the 1954 A. C. P. Program year:

Constructing terraces to detain or control the flow of water and check soil erosion on sloping land. Constructing diversion terraces, ditches, or dikes to intercept runoff and divert excess water to protected outlets.

Establishing permanent sod waterways to dispose of excess water without causing erosion.

Establishing a permanent cover of perennial legumes or grasses, or mixtures of legumes and perennial grasses on severely eroded abandoned cropland or on cultivated land so subject to erosion, or with soil so shallow, alkaline, or incapable of drainage that their use should be changed from cultivation to permanent cover.

Initial establishment on cropland of perennial legumes or perennial grasses, or mixtures of legumes and perennial grasses, to improve soil structure, permeability or water holding capacity, as a part of a crop rotation.

Establishing an improved vegetable cover on range land.

Controlling competitive plants and shrubs necessary to provide adequate vegetative cover for soil protection on range land.

Constructing or deepening wells for livestock water to obtain proper distribution of livestock to prevent overgrazing.

Constructing, enlarging, or sealing dams, pits, or ponds for livestock water to obtain proper distribution of livestock to prevent overgrazing.

Installing pipelines for livestock water to obtain proper distribution of livestock to prevent overgrazing on large land.

Reorganizing farm irrigation systems to conserve water and prevent erosion.

Leveling land for more effective use of irrigation water or to prevent erosion.

Constructing, enlarging, or lining dams, pits, or ponds for irrigation water.

Furrowing, chiseling, ripping, scarifying or listing non-crop grazing land to prevent soil loss retard runoff, and improve water penetration.

The following practices were not listed in the NATIONAL HAND-

With the 712th Transportation Battalion in Korea—Cpl. Billy G. Vest, whose wife lives in Lubbock, Texas, recently returned to his unit in Korea from a rest and recuperation leave in Osaka, Japan.

He is with the 712th Transportation Battalion (Railway Operating). The unit provides most of the transportation for movement of supplies and troops to the UN forces in Korea.

Vest, former student at Whiteface High School, was a telegraph operator with the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railroad before entering the Army in February 1952.

For his service in Korea, he has been awarded the Korean

BOOK, but were requested as SPECIAL PRACTICES for LAMB COUNTY.

Bringing clod forming subsoil to the surface of sandy cropland to prevent wind erosion. Levelling dry land for the more efficient use of rainfall and prevent erosion.

The above practices have not been approved by the State Office, but only recommended for approval by the Lamb County P. M. A. Committee and the S. C. S. Board of Supervisors. You will no doubt notice that a number of practices that were included in the 1953 A. C. P. Program were not listed in the National Handbook for the 1954 A. C. P. Program Year.

Cards have been mailed to producers requesting a report for wheat seeded in 1950, 1951 and 1952. It is very important that we have this information. If you receive a card and did not have any wheat for the above years, please let us know by coming by the office in Amherst or by letter. There is a possibility that Wheat Allotments and Marketing Quotas will be established for the coming wheat year; therefore everyone that seeded wheat any of the above three years are urged to furnish the P. M. A. Office in Amherst with this information at once. We have received a number of these reports, but there are still a few farms which haven't provided us with this information at this time.

Started Screaming
Mrs. Temple started screaming for help, systematically and as loud as she could manage. She was surrounded by stones and brick. Her legs, temporarily pinned between the battered car door and a fallen cornice, felt numb. But her legs would have been crushed by the stone if they had not automatically shifted far against the driver's side when Mrs. Temple ducked her body in the opposite direction.

Outside, Mrs. Temple's cry was faint. Three men, including All-America End Stanley Williams, were walking among the rubbish, when one of them stopped.

"I hear somebody," he said. The others listened but could hear nothing. And then the cry came again. The men started digging toward the voice. When their tunnel reached the dream car, the men held to the precariously balanced cornice stone, while Mrs. Temple wiggled her legs free from the other.

Pulled Her Out
"One of them told me my arms. I did and they led me—swoosh—out the tunnel," Mrs. Temple was so happy I kissed them. Oh, the world is good."

Mrs. Temple was just from the pile of rubble husband, who knew a have been parked around waiting for him, looked street and saw her, treated at the hospital and lacerations and ribs. "The stones just left corner for me," Mrs. Temple said. "It was a miracle."
