Grand Encampment And LAMP Auxiliary Elect Officers As State Convention Nears A Close Here

Delegates to the 36th I.O.O.F. grand encampment and the 43rd department council of the Patriarch Militant of Texas and state association of its auxiliary Tuesday put finishing touches on annual convention business after electing officers and choosing Fort Worth as the 1940 convention site.

Registration for the three day convention, which concludes officially with a dance affair in the Crawford hotel ballroom at 9 p. m. were reported at well beyond the 300 mark.

A. L. Honeycutt, Levelland, was named grand patriarch of the grand encampment, succeeding Conde R. Hoskins, Austin; W. R. Francis, Fort Worth, continued for another year as department commander of the Patriarch Militant; and Mrs. Mattie Waterfield, Houston, was elected president of the Ladies Auxiliary Patriarch Militant.

'BOW-LEGGEDEST'

With a spread between the knees four and three-quarter inches, attained by "choking the mid-section of a horse," John C. McPherson (above), 42, Texas and New Mexico cowhand, won the title of "world's most bow-legged cowboy" at the Eastern New Mexico State fair.

AFL Rejects Endorsement Of New Deal

CINCINNATI, Oct. 10 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor convention voted non-concurrence today with a resolution calling for endorsement of President Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Without debate on the tumult that attended previous discussion of the Roosevelt administration, the convention upheld a resolution committee finding that the federation could not give the "blanket endorsement" called for in the resolution submitted by the Connecticut State Federation of Labor.

The committee pointed out the Connecticut proposal drew no distinction between congressional and administrative action in its plea for a New Deal endorsement. It also voiced opposition to the "conser-vatives of both parties."

John J. Egan, the Connecticut Federation of Labor delegate, was the only speaker in behalf of the resolution. He told the convention he regretted some action was not taken on the proposal to give credit where credit was due. "No one has done more for organized labor than President Roosevelt," he said.

"Labor in Connecticut is serving notice on the republicans and democrats that we are not going to stand for reactionaries on either side."

Irate N. Orleans Citizens Work For Recall Of District Attorney

Two Taken Off Grand Jury After They Seek Removal Of Official

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10 (AP)—A mass meeting of five thousand angry citizens which booted the name of Governor Earl K. Long for more than a minute broke up without disorder at the criminal district court building here today after hearing speeches denouncing District Attorney Charles A. Byrne and launching a movement for his recall.

Meanwhile Byrne was busy inside the building arranging the hearing in his own defense against charges filed by seven members of the Orleans parish grand jury yesterday demanding he be removed as their counsel.

T. Hale Boggs, chairman of the People's League which called the meeting, launched the petitions asking Governor Long to call an election to recall Byrne from office. Twenty five per cent of the registered voters signatures are needed on the petitions. Boggs predicted these would be forthcoming by tomorrow night, Long would be forced to act, and Byrne would be unseated.

Long boos, hisses and yells penetrated the courtroom as eye witnesses to yesterday's turmoil described what took place then. Byrne announced Conrad Meyer, his assistant, would conduct the hearing after Attorney General David M. Ellison did not appear.

Meanwhile scores of policemen swarmed through the building and outside. Keeping the public from entering the courtroom, and seeking to prevent disorder. Two details of uniformed police guarded the

Heavy Rains On Scattered Texas Areas

Grain Crops And Pastures Greatly Aided By Moisture

By The Associated Press

Rains ranging up to 4.35 inches were reported today from widely scattered Texas points. The downpours were of great benefit to grain crops and pastures and in nearly all instances were followed by cool, pleasant weather.

4.35 Inches At McKinney

Sherman had 2.2 inches of rain yesterday and Laredo had two and one-half inches early today.

Additional showers were forecast tonight for Southeast Texas but tomorrow was expected to be generally fair.

Rainfall yesterday or early today included: McKinney, 4.35 inches, aiding the fall planting of oats; Navarro county, 1.22 inches, first general rain there since July 1; San Antonio, traces; Austin, 1.4 inch; Fort Worth, .55 inch, bringing considerably cooler weather; Paris, 1.17 inches, first rain since August 26; Tyler, .84 inch, first appreciable rain in month and a boon to roses and garden crops; Kerrville, 2.18 inches, breaking severe drought; Ellis county, one-half inch.

Houston reported unseasonably hot weather, with yesterday's maximum 89. Three-tenths of an inch of rain, however, had fallen over a two-day period.

Farmers and stockmen over a wide area smiled as they recounted the benefits from soaking rains that broke a damaging drought.

The rains spread over the upper half of the state with a fall of more than two inches visiting Dallas which had not received appreciable precipitation since last April.

General rains amounting to two inches were reported in numerous West Texas places.

Wheat farmers in the Panhandle and portions of West Texas said the moisture would enable them to begin planting their 1940 crop. The moisture came too late to be of much value to feed crops and cotton.

Among good rains were those at Paducah, measuring 2.28 inches; Gainesville, 1.1 inches, and .91 of an inch at Stamford.

Rains varying from three-fourths of an inch to two and a half inches fell on the South Plains all around Lubbock.

REA Sign-Up To Be Completed Oct. 20

Directors of the Howard-Martin county Rural Electrification Authority Monday fixed Oct. 20 as the date for completion of the sign up campaign for electric service in the agricultural areas of the two counties.

Riggs Sheppard, Courtney, co-ordinator of the project, announced that 287 persons in the two counties had signed membership agreements and had posted their $5 deposits.

It was indicated that upwards to another 75 patrons were in prospect before the deadline date.

At the expiration of the date, the engineer will be authorized to proceed with a survey and to make formal application for the line. It was predicted that the tentative route for the power lines might have to be revised to correspond with interest shown in the survey.

ADMITS SLAYINGS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 10 (AP)—Sheriff Sam Deal said Martin Sukle, 35, confessed shooting his wife to death at Point Sublime, a lookout point on a scenic highway near here.

The sheriff said Sukle, who walked 44 miles from Pueblo to surrender late yesterday, also calmly admitted fatally shooting Jack Russell, 37-year-old carpenter, whom he had warned to leave Mrs. Sukle alone.

Russian-Finn Negotiations Are Watched

Northern Neutral States Concerned Over Soviet Moves

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 10 (AP)—Europe's northern neutrals anxiously watched the approaching showdown between Soviet Russia and Finland today for a further sign of the new order in the Baltic region.

Confronted by Russia's quest for supremacy in that part of Europe, the northern countries which had not already signed on the Soviet dotted line wondered how Finland would make out.

Finland, Sweden, Denmark and Norway were drawn together at Helsinki in a discussion of how to sidestep the war and carry on their vital commerce in the Baltic and North seas.

Sweden, aside from Finland the most immediately concerned in the expansion of Soviet power, strengthened her defense forces and hastened construction of air raid shelters.

Finland herself practiced air defense while a delegation headed by Dr. Juho Kusti Paasikivi, minister to Stockholm, entrained last night for Moscow in response to the Kremlin's invitation—as Finnish officials put it—to exchange opinions about political and economic problems. The problems were not specified.

The Finnish party was expected to reach Moscow tomorrow morning.

"Never shall our land bow before the foreign tyrant," sang the crowd at Helsinki's station last night as the delegation set out. It was part of the national anthem of a people Russian-ruled until 1917.

The premier was asked for comment.

"It is hard to say anything at such moments as this. But we Finns hope that Americans will watch our coming negotiations closely."

"The sympathy and moral support of America has never gone unappreciated and we trust that now too America will watch what happens and judge the results according to civilized standards of justice."

R. D. Stephens Dies At Residence Here

Robert Daniel Stephens, 32, died at his home at 209 N. W. 3rd street Monday afternoon following a prolonged illness.

A carpenter, Stephens had come to Big Spring 11 years ago. He was born in the Indian Territory in Oklahoma in 1907.

Services were set for 4:30 p. m. from the Eberley chapel with Rev. Homer Sheets and the Assembly of God choir in charge. Burial was to be in the new city cemetery.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Lois Stephens; one son, Floyd, 11; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Stephens; and one brother, C. C. Stephens, all of Big Spring.

Fallbearers were Jim Bruton, Ed Randolph, Joe Phillips, Ollie Hux, Herman Wilkerson and Leonard Wilkerson.

THREE KILLED AND 31 INJURED IN N. YORK BLAST

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—Three persons were killed and 31 others injured today when an explosion wrecked a dry cleaning plant and tore through the wall of a motion picture theater housing 75 spectators.

The dead included Sylvia Binder, cleaning shop manager.

Police Commissioner Valentine said 19 persons, including several pedestrians hit by flying debris, were taken to hospitals. A dozen others were treated at the scene.

Valentine said "two or three" more bodies might be buried in the wreckage.

Firemen expressed belief the blast was caused by cleaning fluid fumes accumulating in the basement.

FRENCH WILL FIGHT UNTIL WORLD HAS 'CERTAIN PEACE'

That's Premier Daladier's Reply To Hitler; Says Fuehrer's Plan Is One Of Ruse And Violence

PARIS, Oct. 10.—(AP Via Radio)—Premier Daladier, in a radio speech broadcast to the French nation, tonight accused Adolf Hitler of repeatedly breaking promises and said the French would not lay down their arms "until the world had certain peace."

The premier said "man schemes of German propaganda" had come to nothing.

"Under the circumstances," he added, "we once more call upon the French people to make efforts to surround their common dangers."

The speech was described in advance as an answer to Adolf Hitler's peace proposals.

"The French," Daladier said, were "willing to make sacrifices for the safety of western civilization."

"Neither France nor Great Britain has embarked on any war of conquest. They accepted that way because Germany wanted to impose domination of Europe."

"Austria was one of the first milestones in Germany's conquest. x x x the peace that Germany offers now is one of ruse and violence. There will, however, be a real peace in the future."

"After Austria, Hitler said he had no more territorial demands. x x x after that came Czechoslovakia, and Chancellor Hitler announced he had no more territorial demands. x x x and then came Poland."

"We have taken up arms against aggression and we will not lay them down again until the world has certain peace."

"Every six months Germany makes new territorial demands and then says she is satisfied."

"Far from bringing about a reduction of armament, this system makes other nations increase their armament."

"In order to bring about lasting peace x x x we must fight against the abuses of force."

"A security of nations can come about only by mutual understanding devoid of all surprises."

"The time has passed when a territorial conquest brings happiness to people."

"Wars bring about bread cards and food cards, and our eating is limited. France holds in horror such servitude."

"I affirm again solemnly that we are fighting and still continue to fight until we obtain a guarantee of peace."

"If we demobilize now, again in six months we might have to face another aggression."

"If we called for peace now and then in six months sent our men back to the lines under the bombardment of German planes no Frenchman would pardon us."

"The German soldiers in the trenches must be saying to themselves perhaps our government opposed Versailles x x x but our government has also taken Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland."

"The cause which the French soldier fights for is the cause of civilization."

Asks Division Of Neutrality Singer Here For Concert

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Administration forces in the senate defeated today a motion to separate shipping provisions of the neutrality bill from the arms embargo repeal issue.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Senator Tobey (R-NH) urged the senate today to divide the administration's neutrality bill into two parts—one repealing the existing arms embargo and the other imposing restrictions on American shipping and travel to belligerent zones.

Tobey asked that the shipping and travel section be voted on at once to safeguard Americans. He contended that procedure would not forestall early action on repealing the arms embargo, a move recommended by President Roosevelt.

"Leaders in the senate and the country have agreed that the causes which drew us into the last European conflict were the seizure and sinking of American merchant vessels carrying cargoes to belligerents," Tobey asserted.

"There are subtle, unseen forces working constantly to draw us into this European war. No action that we can take will be more discouraging to such forces than the action which is contemplated in my motion, to take our ships out of the war zones immediately, thereby eliminating a recurrence of the causes which drew us into the World war."

Earlier democratic members of the senate foreign relations committee said they would meet soon to consider relaxation of the restrictions on shipping in the neutrality measure.

THIRD CHRYSLER PLANT IS CLOSED

DETROIT, Oct. 10 (AP)—A dispute between the Chrysler corporation and the CIO United Automobile Workers, which closed two plants and made more than 18,000 employees idle, spread to a third unit today.

Approximately 2,000 workers were sent home from the Karshover plant, which supplies bodies to two divisions of the corporation.

The closing of the Karshover plant, the spokesman said, followed "a strike on the area rest assembly line and among the conveyor loaders."

THE MISSING MAN

Although the woman in black seemed as calm and composed as ever, she had chosen the chair standing with its back to the light. The Police Commissioner eyed her thoughtfully as she spoke.

"You have, then, no further news of my husband?"

"None, I am sorry to say."

"The tall handsome young man with the sunken eyes threw his hat down on the table with an angry gesture."

"Why did you send for us, then?" he demanded.

Commissioner Davies looked up at him. "I wanted to discuss the matter with you, Mr. Murchison," he replied.

"All of you have impressed upon me the fact that you do not want any publicity in connection with the Professor's—with your brother's—disappearance. Frankly, we have come to the end of our resources, and in my opinion it is time to make use of the press."

"I feel sure that a judiciously worded account of the affair would bring results."

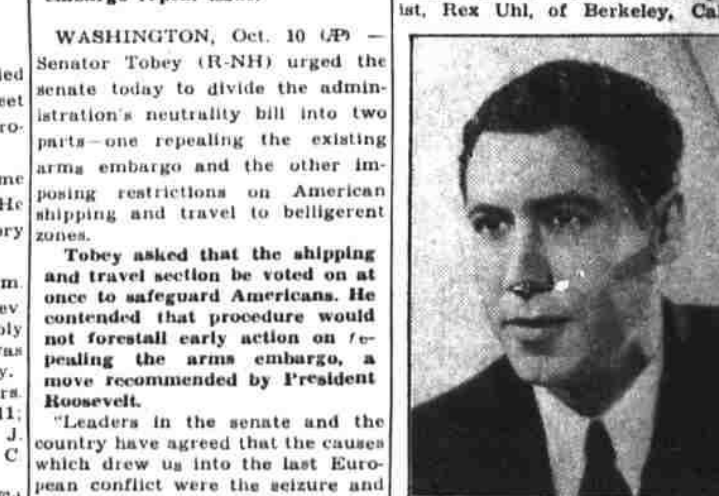

"Duncan Murchison scowled. His sister-in-law tapped nervously with those shining long finger nails on the arm of her chair. It was the third member of the group who answered.

"We have explained our position in regard to the matter of publicity many times, Commissioner Davies," he said gently. "Surely with an efficient police force and matters as they are, it is not necessary."

Mrs. Murchison leaned forward eagerly. "My cousin is right," she said quickly.

The Commissioner turned to the missing man's brother. "Is that your feeling, too?"

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

The Highland Park stadium now being employed by the local high school grid team may not be as gigantic as are some of the neighboring gridirons but it possesses what authorities are agreeing is the best turf of any of the playing fields of this sector.

When the local layout was being planned, special emphasis was placed on the foundation. Long before the seats became a reality the grass went into the ground and workers patted it constantly, weeding it and applying water in abundance.

By mid-summer the sod was solidly green and ready for mowing. The thick mat was a finished product by the time the Bovines first stuck their cleats onto the field.

Mentor Pat Murphy hopes to have a practice field by the time the season rolls around next year but is having to employ the stadium for all drills at the present time.

Even though the turf has been subjected to unusually heavy trampling thus far, it has survived and remains one of the state's better ball yards.

Daniel Baker and Arkansas A&M will be represented in an inter-sectional football game at Odessa Saturday night, the first of two college games booked for that city.

Hardin-Simmons will play there later in the season.

Buggs Morris, ACC mentor, has not given up on bringing a college game to Big Spring, 'tis reported

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs' Earl Whitehill and Ted Lyons of the White Sox will be the opposing pitchers tonight as the two teams meet in the seventh and deciding game of their series for the city baseball title.

The American leaguers evened the series last night on the home field before 26,900 spectators behind the superb southpaw pitching of Thornton Lee, who allowed four scratch hits for a 6-1 victory.

Gridders Buckle Down To Work For Austin

Flushed with enthusiasm over their successful conquest of the Odessa Bronchos, the Big Spring high school gridders Monday afternoon plunged into drills for their weekend assignment with the Austin (El Paso) Panthers in the Highland Park stadium.

Mentor Pat Murphy surveyed his squad for injuries and found that the right halfback and center slots had been weakened by mishaps suffered in the game with the Hosess and he set about to strengthen those posts.

Paul Kaach, rugged junior pivot man, who suffered a broken bone in his left leg, will probably be out for the remainder of the season, it was officially announced. In his place will be Ralph Stewart who saw almost 59 minutes of action against Odessa last week. Stewart weighs only 160 pounds as against Kaach's 175 but turned in an excellent performance Friday night.

Backing him up will be Bobby

With Roberts In Saddle, Ed Hennig Ready

Tyler Team Looks To Be Most Powerful Eleven In State

TYLER, Oct. 10 (AP)—Don't let Coach Ed Hennig know it's being bruited, but Tyler high school football fans will tell you the Lions are going to be better this season than last.

Which would be something, because the 1938 Tyler team was unbeaten in interscholastic league play and lost in the quarterfinals to Temple on penetrations after the two teams battled to a 13-13 tie.

They've hitched their wagon to a star over here but they can do pretty well with just the wagon.

Walton Roberts, called the greatest high school player he ever saw by Hennig, is rated the finest running back and punter in the league this season. Playing about half the time in three games Roberts scored over 60 points.

Last week Roberts was out with an injury. The fans worried because Tyler was playing Kilgore, a team unbeaten and unscored on, but the Lions took the game 28-0 and that's what made all this talk about Tyler aiming at the state championship.

They say if the Lions can do that without Roberts they can do twice as well with him. He'll be back in the lineup next week.

They're booming three of the Lions for all-state honors. Roberts is one; Derwood Mumford, a 180-pound center, is another; and Charles Finlayson, an end they tell you is better than all-state Wally Scott of last year's team, is the third.

What they like about Finlayson is that he's a "fifth" backfield man. He is good on end-around plays, is a fine passer and can go in at quarterback if needed.

And here's some more bad news for Tyler's opponents: Gilbert Johnson, the understudy to Roberts at quarterback, can pass right now as well as Roberts could last season—and Davey O'Brien said that that Roberts was the best high school passer he had seen. Coming from Davey, that just about made it official.

Nixmen Can Sew Up Flag; Other Teams In Tests

Forsan's Buffaloes face the Westbrook Wolves in a District 12 six-man football game at Westbrook Friday in a tilt that should go a long way in deciding the champion of northern half play.

The Elisons bowled over the Westbrook team, 22-7, September 15 but the Wolves held the lead until the last quarter. Playing in Westbrook it might be a story with an entirely different ending this time out.

Brady Nix's charges, should they be able to decision the Wolves, will have the inside track toward the title. They have only two league games remaining on their schedule for the Westbrook engagement and neither of the pair—Coahoma nor Garner—is expected to make trouble.

The Buffs showed plenty of power but line weaknesses in winning from Garner in Big Spring last weekend, 42-27.

The Wolves crushed the Coahoma Bulldogs, 38-12, in a great exhibition of power. Junior Davenport, Buel Claxton and Red Davenport combine to give the Westbrook team a secondary that bids fair to dull the Forsan threat.

Tommy McDonald, on even terms with the northern sector's other battle will send Garner against Coahoma in Coahoma.

In southern half play Garden City is faced with the rather hopeless task of meeting Courtney at Courtney. Nolen Robnett's Eagles are now top heavy favorites to go through their schedule undefeated and battle Forsan for the district championship.

Last weekend they stormed over Water Valley, 48-12, while Garden City was being tied by Sterling City, 26-26, and losing via the penetration rule.

A youngster by the name of Bill Pinkston is the Eagles' big secondary nose.

Swatzy's Yearlings To Play Angelo Friday

Held to a tie in their initial game with Colorado City last week, Howard Schwarzenbach's junior high school gridders hope to do better against San Angelo's Kittens when the two teams tangle here Friday afternoon.

The game had originally been scheduled for Thursday night but was moved up at the request of Angelo school officials.

Swatzy had his team out in full force Monday afternoon. No serious injuries resulted from the Colorado City game and the mentor indicated he would be able to start his regular lineup against the Angeloans.

Keller Milked Cows To Gain Wrist Power

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—About the only fellow who wasn't particularly impressed with Charley Keller's work in the world series was (you guessed it) Charley Keller.

"Guess I was just swingin' where they were pitchin'," insisted the Little Yankee somewhat shyly. "Don't know any other reason why I got hot."

This was from the lad who merely collected seven hits in 16 times at bat for 19 bases and a .438 batting average.

He led the series in runs, runs batted in, hits and the size of his meals. This Killer Keller was the most amazing rookie in a series since Pepper Martin turned Connie Mack's hair white and gave Mickey Cochrane nervous breakdown back in 1931.

You asked him how he could hit a ball like he does, and he wasn't so sure about that either. "I got good strong arms," he pointed out, rolling up his sleeve to show a forearm that resembles a good stout trunk of an oak tree. "How'd I get 'em? Why, milkin' cows when I was a kid I guess. From the time I was seven, my father used to have me milk the cows down on the farm near Middletown." (Middletown, Md., pop. 900.)

He went to the University of Maryland and played a year of football there. Then during the summer he picked up some odd change playing semi-pro ball for a couple of years in North Carolina. That was four or five years ago as he recalls.

That's where the Yanks heard about him.

Yank Bosses Looking For New Strength

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—President Ed Barrow of the Yankees and George Weiss, head of the Yankee farm system, are an instable pair, with no conscience whatever.

Fanning over the late lamented world series, I asked President Barrow why in the world the four-time champions now would have sellers out for George McQuinn, slugging young first baseman of the St. Louis Browns.

Hadn't Babe Dahlgren done well enough in the series? Hadn't he contributed as much as any Yankee toward licking the Reds in the first two games with his bat, and hadn't he fielded flawlessly in all four contests? Why McQuinn?

"Why?" echoed the aged but burly Barrow. "Why, because McQuinn is a fine hitter. He would make us a little stronger, wouldn't he?"

Barrow said, however, and with some regret, that he didn't believe he would be able to get McQuinn. It was evident there was no use in trying to appeal to his finer, more generous nature, so Weiss was tackled.

"Aren't you a little ashamed sometimes?" he was asked. "Here the Yanks have the best team there is by a country mile. They're murdering everybody. Do you have to keep bringing up these kids like Charley Keller?"

"Ashamed?" he said, startled. "Hell, no. I've got a job to do and I'm doing it."

"But you haven't seen anything yet," he laughed, wickedly. "I've got a pair out at Kansas City that will knock your eyes right out. Wait until the New York fans see them. Phil Rizzuto at shortstop and Joe Priddy at second base. What a pair!"

S'west Teams Dig In For Top Week

By the Associated Press
Southwest conference football teams counted a minimum of injuries today as they dug in for the biggest week of inter-sectional play this season.

There is but one "family" squabble on the schedule, Baylor playing Arkansas at Waco in a conference tilt.

Rice meets Louisiana State at Baton Rouge, Southern Methodist goes to South Bend to play Notre Dame, the Texas Aggies tangle with Villanova at Tyler, Texas Christian engages Temple at Philadelphia and Texas meets Oklahoma at Dallas.

Baylor's Bears concentrated on defense after hearing about the dazzling offense flashed by Arkansas in downing Texas Christian last week.

Only one player was doubtful at Arkansas. John Freiberger, giant wingman, is on the injury list and may not be able to go against Baylor.

Coach Dana Bible was hopeful his triple-threat fullback, Pete Layden, would be able to enter the lineup for Texas against Oklahoma. He did not make the trip to Wisconsin last week.

Jack Odle, Captain Bud Taylor and Center Fred Shook were out with injuries in the Texas Christian game to play this week.

The situation has improved at Rice with only Captain Ed Singletary, Andy Nobles and Mitchell Sadler missing from the line.

Ten Pin Tales

by JAKE DOUGLASS

A new ladies bowling record was set last week at the Casanova club by Lyon Crowfoot who fired in a beautiful 232 single game. I can name a whole bunch of men who would like to have that. This is Lyon's best to date, but as she has the "swing" of bowling she probably will raise the ante any time.

Did you know that we have a gang of Amazons right here in Big Spring who are pushing the male element for interest in bowling? Do you really know what these gals who average from 100 to 120 pounds in weight do in a bowling match? Do you honestly think this is a sissy game? If you are a member of the skeptics let me relate a few statistics to you.

Do you know that: Five bowlers in a tournament game run to the alley 35 times, they therefore run 1,275 feet in each game or 3,825 feet during the series? They each throw a 16-pound ball approximately 17 times in each single game or 1,360 pounds of mineralite. This totals up 4,080 pounds that they carry the same 3,825 feet in the series. In addition to this, each player throws the ball 60 feet down the alley or, each five-man team throws 285 16-pound balls an added distance of 15,300 feet in one match night not counting the practice games. Balled down to smaller figures, we find that each team runs three-quarters of a mile and throws a little over two tons of balls almost three miles.

Let us now go to the back of the alley and look at it from that angle. Let's see the poor pin boy at work. Each boy usually has ten pins to pick up after each frame if the bowler is lucky. Each pin weighs approximately three and one-half pounds and has to be lifted four feet to the rack and pushed another four feet back down to the alley. So we see that the pin boy picks up almost 385 pounds of pins in each single game or 1,925 pounds of pins in a 5-man 2-game series. They also have to pick up the same 4,080 pounds of balls that the kegler throws and roll them back the same three miles on a narrow runway. This totals up to 6,000 pounds that they must lift about four feet and still dodge that 16-pound juggernaut that comes roaring down the pines and slings pins all over the building. Some fun, do you want the job?

When bowling first came into prominence it was considered a "man's" game but it's a well known fact that most women will try anything once and so now the women bowlers of America are coming into their own. In Hollywood Warner Bros. has built a half-million dollar bowling alley for the stars. It was a former sound stage and is now equipped with 52 glistening pine centers side by side. At any time during the day and almost every night it is possible to see such notable as Rosemary and Priscilla Lane giving a bowling party, or Mable Todd, Gloria Dickinson, Marie Wilson, Betty Grable, Margaret Lindsay, Paula Stone and many others participating in the popular harmless healthful game of ten pins. Some of these have taken up the game for health, that is to reduce or gain strength, others just for pleasure.

Here in Big Spring, we have a few who have tried the game once and consequently they are now on teams and have formed a league. The league leaders at the present are Sue Wasson and Wanda Griffith who have average ages of 147 and 145. L. Crowfoot, I. Robb and Fern Wells are giving them a run for the top slot. The Elliott Drug team was successfully leading the group by winning five of their first six games. The whole local group of girls are good bowlers and if you don't want to take my word for it, come around on some Monday night and see the gals do their stuff.

So you can't bowl, eh. Here's a story of a man in Redkey, Ind. He hasn't missed a bowling session in 12 years of league competition. Roughly speaking, that is some 2,215 games. At one time he was suffering with a broken leg and proceeded to roll from a sitting position in a chair. There's a saying, "Once a bowler, always a bowler."

Cooking School To Teach Art Of Homemaking

Mrs. French To Be In Charge Of Lectures

A musician would not think of starting his career without instructions under the masters and the art of maintaining a home is just as important.

Mrs. French, well known Southern home economist and food authority, will teach the art of cooking and make it as intriguing as other arts become to those who master them.

To the many who never learned home economics, now taught in most schools and colleges, Mrs. French gives her information in a practical way.

Both men and women are invited to attend the cooking school and following the lecture, Mrs. French will conduct a question box. Prizes will be awarded and local merchants have arranged to cooperate with The Herald by donating kitchen equipment for awards.

Pull the Trigger on Constipation, and Pepsin-ize Acid Stomach Too

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach comfort, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nausea. This is how Pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even fussy children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative—Senna with Syrup Pepsin at your drugist today!

PAVE ALL STREETS WITH CONCRETE!

- 8 good reasons why— 1 You want a pavement that requires the minimum of maintenance which must be done at city expense. 2 Concrete is quiet. It greatly reduces the tire rumble set up by rapidly moving vehicles. 3 Traffic markers are built-in. Joints running the length of the pavement serve as lane markers without costly and impermanent stripe painting. 4 Every street demands a gritty, non-skid surface for the protection of motorists and pedestrians. 5 At night you need a pavement with high visibility. 6 Safety also calls for a pavement that is free from chuck holes, ruts and bumps... and stays that way with minimum maintenance. 7 Concrete pavement drains quickly... it is easily cleaned and stays clean... no depressions to catch dirt. 8 You want a pavement that makes the whole neighborhood look modern, prosperous, attractive. Concrete... and only concrete... completely meets all of these specifications.

The Rail Upturn

Additional evidence of the progress that the railroads are making in their vigorous fight for existence is contained in the earnings statement for Class One carriers just issued by the Association of American Railroads.

Covering 135 of the principal lines of the country, this shows net operating income for August—before fixed charges—amounted to more than $54,500,000, or nearly 21 per cent above that of August last year, while the eight-month net exceeded $269,000,000, which represented an increase of approximately 72 per cent over the corresponding period of 1938.

This latter comparison is not as impressive as it sounds perhaps, if it is recalled that the early months of 1938 saw rail earnings at their lowest point since 1932 because business of all kinds was on the downgrade. The figures, however, are more encouraging when it is considered that they were built up without the impetus of a war boom which would be expected to send them higher, reflecting rather the steady expansion of business activities generally, which was translated into heavier traffic.

It should also be noted that prosperity for the railroads means better times in many other lines of business. The employees of the railroads and the railroads themselves are good customers. Already the upturn in revenue is having its effect along this latter line, rail buying for the first half of 1939 amounting to more than $403,000,000, which was 34 per cent over 1938.

The railroads are still a long way from being out of the woods as the receivership record makes only too apparent, and as satisfactory as are the 1939 earnings, they represent a return of but 1.72 per cent on property investment. But that their affairs definitely have taken a badly-needed turn for the better seems certain.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—After all these years, with hundreds of plays coming and going, I still think the funniest scene on Broadway concerns the destruction of an automobile in Tobacco Road. It isn't a scene, really; the final obliteration of this automobile requires several scenes. It is explained in a few fragments of dialog.

Now this dialog is no good on paper. The background of the play is so good to it that quotations would be meaningless. There is a strange quality of abstractness all through this play, particularly in the dialog of Jeeter Lester. He is never concerned with actual events themselves. If his grandmother, who is nearly a hundred, gets lost in the "bedge crush," it goes unnoticed for days. Then he reflects, "I better look for her, one of these days."

There is one scene in which his wife admits to an earlier infatuation with a traveling salesman. The salesman arrived on Tobacco Road when Jeeter was 15 in Macon. "The time you went off to say that brown mule," his wife tells him. Instead of being horrified at this frank admission, Jeeter looks at her for a second and then slaps his sides. "I remember that mule," he says, "best darn mule I ever had."

The same quality of abstraction, which in my opinion is the only justification for the play, reaches a high note when the half-witted son, who marries a woman preacher, systematically wrecks a new automobile which his wife's first husband's insurance has provided. Every time he takes the car out to tears off a fender, or comes in the hood. They limp into the yard finally and the half-wit son yells to Jeeter, "Had another wreck, shore did, but could it help it. Wasn't my fault. Wasn't nothing in that road a tall. Then I look around for a little, and the moment I turned my eyes often the road, nigger jumped out."

"Didja kill him?" Jeeter asks.
 "Well, I looked back and he wasn't moving."
 Jeeter thinks that over for a moment, shakes his head, "Stumpy thing," he says, "but niggers'll jump in front of cars 'emite anything a man can do—you just CAIN'T keep 'em from doin' it."

I do not approve of the degeneration of the word nigger to nigger, but in a play this is permissible, when used by degenerate whites and degenerates they certainly are, in Tobacco Road. I imagine you could bankrupt the theatre and not find a lower, sordid, rattier, dirtier group of characters than the Lester household. They are inbred and they do not take baths. They change clothes only when their own apparel becomes so rotten it falls off their bodies.

Tobacco Road is now along in its sixth year. When it was opened the critics were frankly puzzled. It was a new piece of pie to them. On the whole, they agreed that it wouldn't do, that it could not last on Broadway. But it dated a year and five years, and now, like a war or a flood, nobody knows what the future of the Jeeter Lesters will be.

If you think that the $3,000,000 which the recent war games cost taxpayers is an excessive sum, you might compare the premium on your insurance policy with its face value.

The Works Progress Administration seems to fail to agree with the stage tradition, "the show must go on." The Federal theatre appears to be as dead as poor Yorick.

Just as Maria was at his nearest recently, perhaps Germany will soon be at her largest.

Life's Darkest Moment

The Creeping Man

by Frances Shelley Wees

Murchison shrugged his shoulders. "I don't see any sense in broadcasting it. It seems to me if your men had really been on the job they would have found some trace of him by now."

Professor Devoe glanced apologetically at the Commissioner, his dark eyes full of regret. "I am sure Duncan does not mean to be so abrupt," he murmured. "This six weeks' mystery has been something of a strain for us all."

"I can understand that, I am anxious to end it as you are, but you must realize that you are handicapping me greatly by refusing my request. It seems to me that Professor Murchison would be most unreasonable under the circumstances, if he objected to our taking such a course. He had no right to go away as he did—as perhaps he did—without giving you, his closest relatives and his wife, an explanation. We need not consider his feelings, and as for you, I think an account of his disappearance, together with his picture, would bring his whereabouts almost certainly to light. He passed his hand slowly over his thin white hair. "If you will not allow me to do this," he went on quietly, "I must warn you that we will drop the case."

There was absolute silence in the room. Professor Devoe spoke finally. His voice was worried. "We realize that by not reporting the case for nearly a week after my cousin's disappearance we have handicapped you from the start," he said. "Indeed—we all realize that you have done your part. But—"

His eyes went to the beautiful woman behind him, who looked away; to the tight angry mouth of the young man who stood staring from the window. He shook his head and turned back to the Commissioner. "It is because the Professor went away just so, a number of years ago," he went on.

"Any Valuables?"
 The woman stirred a little in her chair. She drew a slow breath. Devoe coughed and went on. "He came home then, quite safely. We are sure that he will do so again. He is quite probably absorbed in an intricate problem in some remote laboratory and forgets everything else. You will understand our reluctance to expose his absent-mindedness and his thoughtlessness to the world. He holds a high position in our University."

The Commissioner moved. "I see all that," he assented. "But I have no further choice in the matter. If you insist that we have no publicity then the police are herewith through with the case."

The anger smoldering in Duncan Murchison burst forth. "I have always understood," he said savagely, "that the police were for the purpose of safeguarding the public. I did not understand that they gave up a case so easily."

"We have spent six weeks on this, Mr. Murchison. We have combed the city, searched the resorts, questioned train crews, garages, and following your clue, every laboratory within several hundred miles. We can do no more. Of course the matter is still on the books, and if anything turns up we shall act on it, but all active searching must cease. Other matters are filling up for us."

 "I suppose there is nothing we can do but accept your ultimatum," Professor Devoe said regretfully.
 The Commissioner turned to Mrs. Murchison suddenly. "By the way, there is a matter I want to understand more fully. You said your husband had very little money the night he disappeared. Can you tell me if he possessed any valuables upon which he might have realized?"

She stared at him. "Nothing but his watch," she replied slowly.
 "You mean, on his person. We went into that thoroughly. I mean now, valuables stored away, bonds, something of that sort."
 She shook her head positively. "He had no bonds," she replied. "Nor anything else?"
 "It is certain he had nothing. She betrayed her Gallic origin by an expressive shrug of a slim shoulder. "Nothing of any value except the money in his bank account and the things at our house."

Davies traced patterns on his desk blotter. "Neither of you men, you, Professor Devoe, or you, Mr. Murchison—neither of you are aware of anything of that sort?"
 Devoe frowned thoughtfully. "I am sure his wife is right, or his word is not speak so decidedly," he replied.

"I don't know anything about it," Murchison said, shortly.
 Davies rose. "Well, then," he said pleasantly, "the matter rests. If any information comes to you, you will let me know at once? Otherwise I shall do nothing more."

He watched them down the corridor, the slight, chic figure of the woman between the two men. Murchison hanging slightly behind the other. Then, with sudden decision, Davies turned and went toward the office of the District Attorney.

"Cruel Experiments"
 John Forrester was sitting behind the big desk in his office, his lower lip between his finger and thumb, whistling "Ye Banks and Breves of Bonnie Doon" between his teeth. As the Commissioner knocked on the open door he looked up absently, muttered "Come in," and went on with his whistling.

"Is it," the Commissioner inquired gently, "graft in the home office or the state of the city golf course?"
 Forrester blinked, frowned and regarded his friend from beneath shaggy brows. "Ye're being frivolous," he said sternly.
 Davies took the words as an invitation and dropped into the chair in front of the desk. "I merely wanted to know how busy you were," he explained. "I want to talk to you."

The District Attorney pushed to one side a heap of papers and settled himself comfortably with his hands locked over his middle. "I wasn't what you might call busy," he replied. "I was sitting thinking what a remarkable boy my son Michael is, and what a fine wife he's taken to himself."
 The Commissioner snorted.
 "There was a twinkle in Forrester's eye. "And what's on your mind this fine morning, then?" he asked.
 Davies rubbed his chin. "Well, I was thinking what a smart boy your son Michael is," he said slyly.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—It sounds funny to hear reputable military scholars talk about battles and maneuvers in terms of the psychological effect they will have on one lone man well removed from the battle front, but that is the sort of talk most current in informed spots in Washington.

"Hitler is a mystic," we are told. "He has had phenomenal success with his guesses as to what will work for Germany and what will not. He has consistently outguessed his generals. He has convinced a large part of the German population that he is infallible. Also he has convinced himself, and that makes him vulnerable."

That is a composite quotation from several sources. It represents what certain skilled observers believe to be the basis of French-British strategy. Constant pressure of the blockade, of propaganda among the German population, of fighting on "German soil" on the west front—these and other factors are looked upon as likely to press Hitler into some decision which may turn out badly. The "myth" of infallibility will be shattered. Then might come a reshaping of German policy and an early end of the war.

RIGHT
 The thing sounds almost too slick but there is a substantial tracery of fact running through it. It is generally accepted that Hitler moved into the demilitarized Rhineland four years ago in violation of the advice of his army executives. They thought France would fight. They were wrong. Hitler was right.

The same thing happened in Austria. The generals were wrong again. Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Germany, stated in his report of conversations with Hitler that even General Goering, No. 2 Nazi, was surprised and dismayed at the sudden move last spring into the rest of Czechoslovakia. Goering and the generals were wrong. Nobody made a fight about it. Hitler was right again about the speedy success of the drive through Poland. Again, reports here indicate, some of his generals had been mistaken.

KEEP IT UP
 Now informed sources have it that there is real conflict once more between Hitler and some of his generals as to whether a drive against France should be launched in event no peace comes at the end of the Polish conquest. Strategists here say England and France would like nothing better than for Germany to try a break through Belgium.

If such a drive were successful even in the beginning it might give Italy and Russia the incentive they need to come in with Germany for the final kill. In that event, Hitler would be right again and the generals all around would be wrong, both in Germany and in the camps of his enemies.

But if things went wrong on the western front a collapse of the "myth of infallibility" could bring on a quick end to the war.

The whole thing is tenuous but this is a very tenuous war. Even though the troops are arrayed in the battle line, it is still a "war of nerves."

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—When it comes to friend-wining there's no equal in town to Gene Autry, the man nobody (in Hollywood) knows.

And when it comes to influencing people—at least to seeing his movies—Gene is all right, too. The other day I went to lunch with Gene at a valley eatery, air-cooled but still considerably warmed by Gene's apparel. You can't believe the Autry outfits until you see them.

Gene's costume was comparatively mild, at that. It was the wildest I'd ever seen, but he said it was just a run-of-the-mill outfit. Ten-gallon hat, of course, and red leather boots, and a quiet plaid shirt, white with green stripes; a handkerchief bow tie, white with red and green design; and a suit of bright orange.

"People expect a cowboy to dress this way, that's all," said Gene. They'd be disappointed if I didn't.

Gene and Mrs. Autry were recently returned from a tour of England, Scotland and Ireland, and the folks at the luncheon had the glad hand out. Gene had his hand out, too, to all the folks.

The place was crowded with a bus-load of tourists, and more than once as we ate and talked one of them would come forward with an autograph book. Gene had his pencil going, and his smile, even before they'd asked him to sign.

"Glad to do it," he said to all.
 We ordered the house specialty, the Gene Autry Cowboy Sandwich. Filet, shoestring potatoes, French-fried onions, broiled tomato. Gene said he didn't think it up; the house did, and named it after him.

Gene said he had a great time in the British Isles, and incidentally picked up the rights of a new song, "South of the Border," for use in a picture. Gene likes to use song titles for his pictures, and this one he thinks especially good. The English lads who wrote it have never seen Mexico, or a 1/8th of the border for that matter, but it's still a good song, said Gene. Gene is making a couple more westerns before he goes into "Jubilo" with Jane Withers at 20th Century—first picture he'll have a nade away from Republic. He thinks Jane is a swell little kid. He thinks the old Will Rogers film story will be something different—they're going to make the boy a cowboy as he was in the first Rogers (silent) version.

Outside, the bus-load of tourists is gathered in force. They have books and cameras out. They don't gang him; they do it politely, and Gene is, as usual, "glad to do it." He's glad too, to turn around and grin for the touring cameras, and to let the folks know, when they ask him, that his next picture is "Rovin' Tumbleweeds."

"Oh, well, watch for it," beams one tourist, "but then we never miss any of 'em."
 And Gene gets into his big wine-colored sedan, fancy to the last gadget, and drives off waving. He has made a bus-load of friends, and indirectly a thousand more who'll be told about him by this bus-load.

UCC Widens Service With Office Here

Opening of a new Universal Credit company office in Big Spring was seen today by G. H. Strong, Dallas branch manager for the company, as being of tremendous value to dealers in Ford products and their customers in this trade area. The new office is located on the fifth floor of the Petroleum building, R. H. Seawell, Jr., is in charge, and a number of local people have been engaged for work locally. Others have been transferred from Dallas.

"Nationwide public acceptance of Universal's low cost, exclusively Ford finance plans and Ford dealer cooperation has made possible the continuing expansion of Universal service throughout the past eleven years," Strong said.

"More than 4,000,000 buyers of new and used cars from Ford dealers have used Universal time payment plans. This remarkable growth is largely due to Universal's interest in the goodwill and satisfaction of the customer. More than 50 per cent of the customers of the Universal represent repeat users of the service and repeat buyers of Ford products."

"Universal has been repeatedly responsible for the reduction of finance costs for Ford product buyers. The large volume of business developed has made possible constantly improved plans, providing low cost financing for the Ford purchaser desiring to buy out of income."

"Ever since Universal Credit company commenced operations financing costs on Ford products have been materially reduced. It is estimated that time payment buyers of Ford cars and trucks have thus been saved in excess of $75,000,000 through the lower financing costs made available by the exclusive Ford finance plans of Universal Credit company. These lower credit costs have been and continue to be constructive contributions toward national economic recovery."

Big Spring is the location of the 172nd office of Universal. Universal Credit company serves the time sales requirements of Ford dealers and Ford purchasers.

New Orleans Citizens

entrance to Judge George P. Platt's courtroom. Judge Platt yesterday refused to hear the jury's petition asking Byrne's removal, jailed two jurors, and then ejected them from the jury.

The citizens league at opening of the hearing filed a petition asking Platt to rescind his action and reinstate the men to the jury.

Meanwhile outside loud boos and hisses penetrated to the courtroom as citizens listened to fiery speeches from several lawyers, and began signing petitions demanding Byrne's recall. Boggs bitterly denounced Byrne, saying he was a "do nothing" district attorney, and alleged that he had consistently handicapped the jury, and rejected all efforts of the citizens group to investigate and halt political corruption in New Orleans.

Although wild rumors had spread that national guardsmen would be called to duty, none appeared.

James I. McCain, another attorney, followed with a bitter denunciation of alleged criminal conditions in the city, and scored the administration of justice. Many women were in the crowd. The speeches were broadcast by a sound truck campaigning for former Governor and State Senator James A. Noe for governor against Earl K. Long.

A grand jury was dismissed here in 1933 when it attempted to return a "no true bill" against several hundred men charged with election fraud. The national guard was called out at that time. Two men finally were convicted but immediately pardoned by the governor. The legislature, at Huey Long's behest, then enacted laws clearing the others.

had decided to ratify the Soviet-Lithuanian mutual assistance pact in the form proposed by Moscow.

The pact would give back to the Lithuanians their ancient capital Wilno (Vilna) which was seized by Poland in 1920 but not all of Wilno province would go with it. Wilno province fell within the Russian occupation zone in Poland.

DIFFICULTIES SOLVED
TALLINN, Estonia, Oct. 10 (AP)—Difficulties between Soviet Russia and Estonia over the prospective entry of 20,000 Red soldiers in fulfillment of the mutual assistance agreement of Sept. 29 were reported solved overnight, making entry possible today.

Authoritative sources said the date and route of the march into Estonia were incorporated in a supplementary agreement which might be signed at today's sitting of the Russian-Estonian commission.

In official quarters the only statement was that the Soviet forces would cross into Estonia at Narva and proceed to the coastal points, probably by way of Haapsalu and Virtsu, avoiding Tallinn.

Forsan Pastor Is Speaker Before Brotherhood

Rev. A. T. Willis, pastor of the Forsan Baptist church, Monday evening cautioned members of the First Baptist Brotherhood against becoming "too busy" with unimportant things.

He warned that being "too busy" could cause loss of business, character, home and the soul. Regarding the need for better home life, he said that "the church can never do what the home is supposed to do," and proposed a "family hour."

Rev. Willis said that the "poorest businessman is the one who leaves the view of eternity out of his business."

Dorman Kinard was heard in two vocal numbers with Mrs. Marie Baird at the piano, and Mrs. Baird then favored with accordion solos J. C. Douglass, Jr., presided and Wayne Matthews was in charge of the program.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TALK POSTPONED A DAY
LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today postponed from Wednesday until Thursday the house of commons speech in which he is expected to reply to Adolf Hitler's peace overtures.

Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, told commons the postponement had been decided on in order to allow fuller consideration with the dominion governments.

The prime minister's speech thus is scheduled for the same day David Lloyd George, Britain's World war prime minister, has called a meeting of his council for peace and reconstruction.

Lloyd George has advocated an international conference to settle European issues.

Air Ministry Sir Kingsley Wood announced formulation of an empire-wide plan to give Britain "overwhelming strength" in the air through aircraft production and training of pilots in the British dominions and colonies.

Sir Kingsley declared the Royal Air force had made a "complete photographic map" of Germany's Siegfried line.

New Method Of Conquering Flu Described By Health Service

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The possibility that medical science at last has found a method of conquering influenza was disclosed today by the public health service.

The new "miracle drug" called sulfapyridine, already widely used in treating pneumonia, may come to be used as a preventive of the flu, according to Miss Margaret Pittman, associate bacteriologist at the National Institute of Health.

An eight-month-old baby gave the clue to the sulfapyridine method of controlling the disease, said Miss Pittman in her report. The infant developed inflammation of the eyes and ears and pneumonia. In addition to pneumonia germs, he had a heavy infection of the flu germs in his lungs, throat, eyes and ears.

Dr. J. H. McLeod of Washington, who reported the case to the institute, administered sulfapyridine immediately.

"Within 24 hours the child showed marked improvement, followed by a rapid and uneventful recovery," Miss Pittman said. Such success led institute scientists to begin immediate experiments on mice.

Two groups of mice were infected with the bacteria. One group received no sulfapyridine. The other group received varying amounts of it. All the untreated mice died promptly, and some of the treated mice succumbed. In the treated group the number which lived was directly proportionate to the amount of the drug administered, Miss Pittman said.

Endurance Driver Starts His Grind
Jimmie James, endurance driver appearing here this week, was well into his first day of a five-day, continuous stretch of the wheel, after starting his drive at the Big Spring Motor company's used car lot Monday evening before a crowd of several hundred people.

As a feature stunt, Jimmie was encased in blocks of ice last night before he started the drive. Then, handcuffed to the wheel of a 1940 Ford, he started a slow grind, in low gear, around a circle on the lot. The public is invited to ride with him at any time during the five days and nights.

Added feature each evening at the lot will be amateur shows, to be given from tonight through Friday evening. Prizes will be awarded, and entrants of all ages and variety of talent are invited to register. The attraction is all free to the public.

perform most of the work and do most of the dying. Upon labor always is inflicted most of the agony and tragedy of war."

He urged a program of liberal social legislation as "the most effective weapon" against the "complete reaction" of the anti-administration bloc in congress.

Lewis made the recommendation in his presidential report: as he attached the recent administration of the national labor relations act, one of the pieces of social legislation the CIO has championed.

Under attacks of the AFL and industry, he said the labor board "has more than leaned over backwards" with the result that its administration "may completely destroy existing advantages which labor now enjoys under the act."

But he gave no indication of joining AFL leaders in seeking revision of the act or anything else.

CHRISTMAS PLANS TO BE TALKED BY COMMITTEE

All merchants interested in developing plans for the pre-Christmas visit of Santa Claus, decorations and other Yuletide matters were urged Tuesday to attend an important open meeting at 3 p. m. Wednesday in the chamber of commerce offices.

At that time T. J. A. Robinson, C. W. Norman and Alfred R. Collins, a committee named at an Oct. 1 meeting, will make recommendations for seasonal activities. Out of these recommendations and the actions of the group will come the program to be observed in the first weeks of December.

County Funds $6,000 Above Last Year

Howard county cash balance dropped off about $6,000 during September but still showed a $6,000 margin over the same time a year ago, the report of Mrs. J. L. Collins, county treasurer, showed Monday.

Total balance of all funds at the end of September was $84,188, down from the $93,012 for the end of August but up from the $78,702 for September, 1938.

Most encouraging item in the monthly report was the sharp decline in the road and bridge fund disbursements, probably achieved by action of the commissioners court in abolishing the precinct road system and installing Thurston Orenbaum as county engineer. Instead of disbursements of $5,714 as in August, the expenditures for September dropped to $3,881, even with some carryover from the previous month.

The officers salary fund slid off to $6,311 with receipts of $1,145 against expenditures of $3,280. The general fund balance declined to $12,471 with receipts of only $229 against demands of $1,895.

Balances by funds follow: Jury $6,791, road and bridge $19,741, general $12,471, road bond $7,077, general bond $1,431, highway $6,368, permanent improvement $20,608, courthouse and jail $1,252, viaduct $1,134, officers salary $6,311; total all funds $84,188.

KBST NOTES

Dorothy Dix Book To Be Reviewed

"How To Win and Hold a Husband," a new book by Dorothy Dix, whose advice to the lovelorn is read by millions throughout the United States, will be the subject of Gail North's broadcast at 9 a. m. Wednesday on the Texas State Network.

The program will be carried by KBST, the local TSN station.

HEALTH EDUCATION

"Anemia" will be the topic for discussion on the 21st in the series of "Health Education" talks to be heard over Station KBST and the Texas State Network at 11:05 a. m. Wednesday.

Under the auspices of the State Department of Health, Austin, these weekly sessions are presented from KNOW, Austin, TSN's affiliate for the state capital.

GOVT. REPORTS

"United States Government Reports," a weekly series of programs revealing the inside workings of numerous government offices, and the contributions these agencies make, will be heard over Station KBST and the Texas State Network at 3:45 p. m. Thursday.

B. Frank White, acting administrative assistant for Texas, will be in charge.

MEXICO'S CRUDE HALTED BY WAR IN TEXAS PORT

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 10 (AP)—An informed source said today that transportation problems brought on by the war had caused the accumulation in Houston, Texas, of $1,000,000 worth of petroleum products owned by the Mexican government and consigned to Europe.

The same source said Mexico had sold all the oil she could produce this year but still having trouble just now in getting tank ships to move it to Europe.

The war brought an end to Mexico's oil-barter deal with Germany, Italy, which for some time has been asking for more Mexican oil, recently agreed with the government to trade rayon for petroleum. There is a heavy demand here for rayon.

For months Mexico has been shipping oil to Houston for refining and then moving it to Europe.

CARDENAS DENIES HE WOULD LIKE ANOTHER TERM

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 10 (AP)—A source close to President Lazaro Cardenas said today "all this talk about the president seeking another term or by some other means prolonging his stay in office" is absolutely unfounded.

It was pointed out that the constitution forbids re-election of the president.

"If I had to bet my life on it I would bet that the president would not under any circumstances remain in office beyond Dec. 1, 1940," this source said. "I know what I am talking about. The president believes in strict compliance with the constitution and the constitution is perfectly clear on this point."

7 PETTY NAGGING THE CHIEF CAUSE OF DOMESTIC DISCORD

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Petty nagging, arising largely out of money troubles, has become perhaps the principal cause of domestic discord, says Dr. Clinton C. Cox, a Presbyterian minister.

He obtained confidential reports from several hundred couples in his search for what's behind family frictions and divorces.

Mother-in-law? He said she runs a poor second these days as a cause of marital explosions.

8 ONE-TIME KIDNAP VICTIM SUCCUMBS

SEATTLE, Oct. 10 (AP)—Adolph Bremer, 70-year-old wealthy St. Paul brewer, died at a Seattle hotel late last night of a heart ailment, two days after he was reported to have arrived in the city.

Bremer, president of the Jacob Schmidt Brewing company, was the victim in 1934 of one of the most sensational kidnappings in abduction annals. His son, Edward, was kidnapped for $200,000 ransom, and was released three weeks later after payment of a large sum.

lives go into hysterics and pester us to death, and rant and rave." "Doesn't Murchison's wife go into hysterics?" "You've hit it. She does not." "Start at the beginning, Davies." "There isn't much to tell. You know that oval of houses out back of the University? They call it the Horseshoe." Forrester nodded. "The Murchisons lived in the big house at the curve of the oval. On the last afternoon of the term, Murchison walked home and shut himself in the study. His wife asked him to have tea with her in the living room, and he refused. Came out to dinner, preoccupied, went back to the study. At half past ten his wife went to the door and asked if he were going to bed, and he was still busy. They have separate rooms, and she didn't know until morning that his bed hadn't been slept in. She hasn't seen him since. That's the story."

"Humpf. What did she think when he shut himself into the study?" "Nothing in particular. She says it was common for him to do that when he was busy. Moody fellow, I think."

"Did he talk at dinner?" "No."

"What did he say when she asked him if he were going to bed?" "He said, 'Oh, leave me alone!'"

"It seems to indicate a certain degree of preoccupation," the District Attorney said dryly. "What's the wife like?"

Davies considered. "She's Frenchy," he decided. "

To Correct Constipation Don't Get It!

Why let yourself in for all the discomfort of constipation and then have to take an emergency medicine—if you can avoid both by getting at the cause of the trouble? If your difficulty, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, the "better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy toasted cereal—a natural food, not a medicine—has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it every day, it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular, month after month, by the pleasantest means you ever knew! Eat All-Bran daily, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Yanks Dominate Graham's All-Star Team

TED WILLIAMS RATES RIGHT FIELD BERTH

By DILLON GRAHAM Sports Editor, AP Feature Service NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—There are only two easy jobs in choosing an all-star baseball team: scribbling Joe DiMaggio and Bucky Walters on your ballot. Then the sniping begins from all sides. Any sports writer who dares to name a team of aces can probably ward off any objections to Bill Dickey's selection but the arguments will come thick and fast as the other stars are nominated. But, to daily no longer, here's our idea of the 1939 major league all-star personnel: First base, Jimmy Fox, Boston Red Sox. Second base, Joe Gordon, New York Yankees. Shortstop, Joe Cronin, Boston Red Sox. Third base, Robert (Red) Rolfe, Yankees. Left field, Joe Medwick, St. Louis Cardinals. Center field, Joe DiMaggio, Yankees. Right field, Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox. Catcher, Bill Dickey, Yankees. Pitchers, Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer, Cincinnati Reds; Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians, and Charles (Red) Ruffing, Yankees.

LEM NATIONS

Savage, regular wing, who worked at the center post during Monday's drill. Should Savage be given the new assignment Jack Graves will be moved up to the regular terminal. Skeets Davidson and Billy Suggs are holding down the other wing. Charles Buckner is another possibility at center. The sophomore was given a trial at that position Monday. The right half back slot is giving Murphy plenty of trouble. Lefty Bethel, regular at that position, spent 60 minutes against Odessa despite the fact that he hardly possessed the physical equipment. He cannot be expected to play every minute of every game. Horace Bostick, his understudy, will be out for at least two weeks due to an injury suffered in practice. Switched to that post Monday was Lem Nations who to date has been backing up Savage. Nations, a speedy sophomore, played in the secondary while in ward school but has been on end since he joined the Yearlings.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By EDDIE BRIETZ NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—The golfing pros will have purses totaling nearly $100,000 to shoot for on the winter tour. This week's game with Notre Dame will be "the season" for Southern Methodist, and it could be close. The Reds were amazed at the way the Yankees needed them from the bench. They said nothing like that goes on in the National League.

Today's Guest Star Earl C. Wingham, Aberdeen (S. D.) American News: "The Phillies now hold the record for having spent more time in the cellar than anybody since prohibition." The N. Y. football Giants will trot out their own brass band when they play Philadelphia here next Sunday. Leo Miller, general manager of the Indianapolis club, says Myron McCormick, the center fielder who goes to the Reds, will be the fastest man in either major next year. More than six per cent of the male enrollment at Big Ten schools are listed as athletes.

Week's Best Story Down in Texas the Austin and Hillsboro high school teams couldn't afford to scout each other. So Coaches Holly McLemore and Stan Lambert sat down and wrote each other about their formations, fundamental plays, defenses, lineups and weights. Gabby Street, who once managed the Cards into a pennant, is bored with collecting rents on all those apartment houses he owns out in Poplin Mo., and is looking for a baseball connection. Dr. Harry A. March, one of the early figures in professional football history, is recuperating from a serious illness. Many a wrestling champ has been crowned since we saw as daffy an exhibition of baseball as the Yankees and Reds put on in the 10th inning Sunday.

The Effects of Liquor Cannot Be Repealed Under the administration that brought back legalized liquor, drunkenness is strictly forbidden for all government employees. W. H. Reynolds, administrative assistant to the secretary of the treasury, has sent down the order prohibiting all drinking by government employees during working hours, including the lunch period, and all drinking at any time that results in the employe coming to work in the morning under the influence of liquor. There is the same penalty for drinking during leisure hours, if such drinking produces noticeable effects, as drinking during working hours. And the penalty is heavy: suspension for 90 days without pay, if the employe's record otherwise is good and it is a first offense; instant dismissal, if the record is bad or it is a second offense. Thus the administration that expected to increase its revenues by heavy taxes on beverage alcohol, legally recognized, and succeeded in that purpose, has found its own workers handicapped by drinking. —Christian Advocate.

Center field: There was no argument—DiMaggio. Right field: There were several crack right fielders, some better defensive men than Williams, but a man, even a rookie, who leads both leagues in the important run-batted-in column can't be left off an all-star team. Williams hit .327 and knocked in 142 runs. Catcher: Dickey batted in more runs than any other catcher, hit .303, and was perhaps the best hander of pitchers among the backstops. Pitchers: Walters turned in the best National League record since Dix Dean's heyday with the Cards. He won 27, while losing 10. He was more responsible than any other one player in Cincinnati's winning the National League flag. His partner, Derringer, won 25 and lost 7. Paul, with a victory string of 10 straight during the late weeks of a hot campaign, was just as dependable as Walters. Feller, the boy wonder of three years ago, finally reached his peak. He won 24 games and lost 9. And for the fourth straight year Red Ruffing won more than 20 games for the Yankees. His mark was 21 and 7.

Echoes, Sidelights On The War

OSLO, Oct. 10 (AP)—A German bombing plane which made a forced landing near Regevig yesterday was so damaged, observers said, as to lead to belief it had been engaged in an air battle. A Norwegian coast guard ship towed the wreck, with the crew of four still aboard, to Egersund, where the airman were held. Details of an engagement between British warships and German bombers yesterday, which British sources confirmed, still were lacking here. BERNE, Oct. 10 (AP)—A Swiss communique warned the public today to seek refuge in bomb shelters when motors are heard overhead—and not to go sightseeing. LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Lady Astor wants less champagne imported into Britain during the war. Speaking in the house of commons today she tried to impress on the board of trade that champagne was a non-essential commodity which, in her opinion, could well be excluded during the emergency. NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—Rep. Bruce Barton (R-N.Y.) says he is willing to make a "small wager" the European war will be over by Christmas. Barton addressed a Y.M.C.A. Founder's Day dinner last night. NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—War has not stopped the shipment of Christmas toys from Germany. A cargo of 1,200 tons of German-made toys arrived yesterday on the Holland America liner freighter Boschdjk. BERLIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—German high command spokesmen asserted today that Nazi planes dropped two bombs on a British warship in a clash on the North sea off the Norwegian coast yesterday. BERLIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—Rumors that the western allies had asked for an armistice, that "the Chamberlain-Churchill government" in Britain had resigned and King George had abdicated caused excitement in Berlin for an hour this morning until they were denied by DNB, the official news agency. DNB said the rumors were spread by certain "secret service agents." BUDAPEST, Oct. 10 (AP)—Tea and coffee, withdrawn from the market two weeks ago, will go on sale again Friday at trebled prices under an order issued today by the Hungarian government. The price rises, it was indicated, were imposed to reduce consumption. Under the new schedule the Hungarian housewife will pay from $2.32 to $3.85 a pound for coffee and $4.30 to $10.60 for tea. SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Oct. 10 (AP)—The 6,334-ton German ship Havelland, which sailed yesterday from Punta Arenas was reported headed today for Panama. The Havelland's progress through the neutral zone recently established by the Inter-American neutrality conference at Panama was followed with interest as a key to the degree of safety which vessels of belligerent nations might expect in the zone. PARIS, Oct. 10 (AP)—An investigating judge today charged former Air Minister Marcel Deat with being a signer of the "peace at any price" letter circulated recently in the chamber of deputies. Deat told the court his "good faith" had been taken by surprise when he was led to sign the letter. CRUDE PRODUCTION FOR WEEK DECLINES TULSA, Oct. 10 (AP)—Crude oil production in the United States dropped 221,365 barrels daily to 3,426,039 for the week ended Oct. 7, the Oil and Gas Journal said today. The flow of Oklahoma wells increased 14,900 to 402,425; Louisiana 5,999 to 253,074; California, 250 to 611,090, and eastern fields, 750 to 99,250. East Texas production declined 97,208 to 394,590; Texas as a whole, 229,207 to 1,255,883; Illinois, 11,552 to 332,715; Kansas, 13,150 to 144,075; Michigan, 380 to 67,982, and the Rocky Mountain area, 720 to 82,170. W. W. BARKERS ARE MOVING TO MIDLAND W. W. Barker, district agent for the Bankers Life company, with office quarters in 612 Petroleum building, is moving to Midland to establish his future headquarters in the offices of Mims & Crane, insurance agents. Mr. Barker and family are leaving Tuesday to establish their new home in Midland. It is evident, however, that this withdrawal in the face of the communist advance into the Baltic states will clear the road entirely for Moscow. Soviet Leader Stalin has won a great victory without having to go to war to do it. every indication that they don't intend to surrender rights which would infringe on their sovereignty. The other Scandinavian states naturally are in a state of great anxiety. In the face of this communist drive, Nazidom was rushing to carry out its astonishing scheme of repatriating Germans from Latvia, Estonia and Lithuania—a total of some 118,000 people. Whether this resettlement is being carried out at the request of Russia, or is merely a part of Herr Hitler's general scheme of rebuilding the Reich, hasn't been made clear.

AN ANALYSIS OF THE WAR DEVELOPMENTS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE With Herr Hitler dangling peace before the Anglo-French allies, and the war on both land and sea suffering from depression, the chief point of interest in the European imbroglio centered in Russia's drive for supremacy in the Baltic—one of the coveted objectives of the Nazi program. The Muscovites, having established virtual protectorates over the little states of Latvia and Estonia—thereby assuring control of the eastern Baltic—appeared today to have struck a snag in Finland. The Russians are said to be seeking heavy concessions from Finland in the way of naval bases which would make the Soviet master of the whole Baltic region. The Finns have sent a delegation to Moscow to discuss the communist proposals, but at the same time they have mobilized their army on the Russian border and have given

Kovacs Loses To Champion

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 10 (AP) Bobby Riggs, National and Wimbledon champion, added the Pacific Coast singles title to his collection today after beating down young Frank Kovacs of Oakland in five sets in finals of the 50th Pacific Coast tennis championships yesterday. The Chicago ace was within two points of losing to Kovacs, who is the California State champion, but turned on the steam to win five games in a row in the crucial final set to take the match 6-3, 2-6, 6-4, 2-6, 7-5.
