

Racial Clash Pen Fire Kills 37

JAY, Fla. (AP) — Thirty-seven prisoners were killed Sunday night when fire triggered by a convict brawl swept a locked barracks at a recently integrated state prison road camp.

Fourteen of the 51 prisoners inside the burning building were rescued. Five were hospitalized with burns at nearby Century and one at Pensacola.

G. C. Mayne Jr., assistant warden, said the fire erupted when the battling prisoners broke a gas line and smashed a fluorescent lamp. A spark from the lamp started the blaze.

Guards Save 14 Cons

Mayne said guards ran for their weapons when the fighting broke out but returned in time to save the 14 survivors.

Pasco Rowells, a State Highway Department foreman who supervised the men at work, said the fight began between a Negro and a white man. He said there had been reports of racial trouble and fights between the 35 Negro prisoners and 16 whites since the camp was integrated last week.

The first fire alarm came at 10:42 p.m. Guard Cocker Nelson said the aging World War II style barracks was destroyed in eight minutes.

Two Drop Dead On Lawn

Rescue workers retrieved 35 bodies when the embers cooled several hours later. The other two victims ran from the burning building and dropped dead on a lawn.

"The whole room was wrapped up with fire," Santa Rosa sheriff's dispatcher H. C. Crawford quoted a surviving prisoner brought to the county jail at nearby Milton. All eight unarmed convicts were jailed there overnight.

"Somebody hollered 'fire,'" Gerold Milligan, the prisoner, was quoted as saying. Milligan said he was sitting on his bunk removing his shoes. Then, he said, the fire "swept the whole top of the building."

Light Ignites Gas

"They began to pass out," Milligan said. He said he ducked under beds and crawled toward the locked door holding his nose.

Just as he reached the door a guard opened it and Milligan escaped the flames with only his hair singed.

Chief Deputy Harvell Enginger confirmed Mayne's report that the fire flashed through the barracks when the fluorescent light, torn from the ceiling, touched off escaping gas. Enginger said the fight went from one end of the barracks to the other, but couldn't say how many persons were involved.

Curtain Of Flame

The victims worked on road crews during the day and were quartered at Road Camp 12 each night. The prison-site is eight miles east of Jay, a farming community of about 5,000 located in the extreme northwestern tip of Florida's panhandle about 30 miles north of Pensacola at the Alabama state line.

Barracks which prevented escape through the barracks windows lay in the glowing ashes.

A. O. Lovett, one of three guards on duty when the fire erupted, said some of the prisoners, apparently frightened by the curtain of flame separating them from the door, refused to come out.

"Lovett went in and brought five of them out pushing them ahead of him through the door," said Louie Wainwright, director of the State Corrections Division.

Lovett was burned but did not require hospitalization.

Americans Flee

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — About 3,000 Americans and Europeans were trying to get out of secessionist Biafra today as federal Nigerian troops were reported advancing toward the rebel capital of Enugu.

Automobile convoys were bringing an estimated 200 Americans out of Lt. Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu's breakaway Eastern Region. Sir David Hunt, the British high commissioner in Lagos, told 2,000 Britons, mostly men, in Biafra to gather at Port Harcourt. Permission was being sought from the rebels to allow planes to land for lifting out the Britons.

When Ojukwu declared his region independent of Nigeria May 30, there were about 2,000 Americans, including 125 Peace Corpsmen, along with 3,000 Britons and 300 Italians living there. Many of them, especially wives and children, were flown out soon after.

Abilene Area Hunt Waged For Suspects

ABILENE (AP)—One of the most intensive murder investigations in years continued in the Abilene area today for two men sought for beating to death a highway patrolman's wife Friday.

But officials said today there were no arrests, no suspects, no established leads and no known motives.

Slain was attractive Mrs. Joyce White, 38. Bound and gagged, she was killed by repeated blows from a pipe.

Patrolman Alfred P. White, 37, also was beaten about the head and hospitalized until Sunday morning. He was not critically hurt.

The motive for the attack remained a mystery. Police theorized the Whites could have surprised the men in a burglary or could have been the objects of a vengeance attack.

The men took $25 from White's billfold. They did not ransack the house and left several weapons untouched. White said the men were Negroes.

Capt. George W. Sutton of the criminal investigation department said the Whites returned home about 11 p.m. from a movie.

Mrs. White went to a bedroom, turned on a light and screamed. White ran into the room and was knocked down twice.

Both of the victims were tied with cord from a blind and Mrs. White was gagged. A man reportedly sat on White while his wife was beaten.

White was knocked unconscious but revived later and crawled to a neighboring home for help. Mrs. White was already dead when neighbors arrived.

The Whites had a 15-year-old son, Stephen, who was visiting in Dallas at the time.

Fire Destroys Railway Dock

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Texas and Pacific Railroad storage dock and warehouse early today and a railroad official said the damages amounted to more than $500,000.

Larry Richardson, 25, a fireman, was hit in the back by a fire hose and taken to a hospital with back and kidney injuries. His condition was not serious. Three other firemen were treated for minor injuries and discharged.

The fire department controlled the fire after about two hours, and remained on the scene for several hours longer.

Four trailers were lost, six trucks were saved.

Fire Marshal Bob Thomas, investigating the fire, said it apparently started either in a truck or under the dock, but he could not yet tell the exact origin.

A railroad official made the $500,000 damage estimate, but added that his name be withheld.

Summit Meet Is Scheduled

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Premier Thanom Kittikachorn of Thailand said today the government chiefs of the seven allied nations fighting the Communists in Vietnam would hold a summit meeting in Bangkok in October.

Thanom said the meeting would be preceded by a foreign ministers' conference in Saigon. He said the actual dates had not been fixed.

The Bangkok summit would be the second among the leaders of the United States, Thailand, South Vietnam, the Philippines, South Korea, Australia and New Zealand. The first was held in October, 1966, in Manila.

The foreign ministers of the allied countries met informally in Washington in April after the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization ministerial meeting.

The building at the heart of the boys' dormitory area, will provide a living room, recreation area, central laundry and residence for the dean of boys. Cost will be $60,000.

Rail Traffic Trickles To Near Halt In Texas

School Taxes Survey Eyed By Committee

AUSTIN (AP)—The chairman of Gov. John Connally's Public School Study Committee said today the group might recommend a statewide system for equalizing local school district property taxes.

Leon Jaworski of Houston told a news conference: "We know some districts are not bearing their fair share."

Jaworski said the committee's recommendations would depend on the outcome of a statewide study of 1,100 local school district property tax values.

"By equalization," Jaworski said, "large sums of money would be made available and it would bring about fairness and quality not available now."

Glen Ivy, committee director, said if all Texas districts "made the effort of the best districts," $250 million to $300 million could be added in local funds supporting public schools.

Jaworski said a pilot study, involving 190 school districts, indicated urban school districts are paying more than rural districts to support public education.

State aid to local districts under the foundation school program is based on a district's ability to finance basic educational standards. This ability is determined by an economic index of reflecting property values and a number of other indicators of economic well-being.

Jaworski said it was possible that the committee might suggest replacing the economic index, "which only a handful of people in the state understand," with a simpler market value index.

He emphasized that the committee would not have any recommendations before Aug. 1, 1968, target date for completion of the $200,000 statewide school district study by Charles Bartlett, Dallas real estate appraiser.

Jaworski and Ivy's comments, suggesting possible recommendations were based on Bartlett's earlier study of 190 districts, completed in April.

"We want something bullet-proof," said Jaworski. "We want to come to the legislature and the governor and say we have the facts and figures. This is what it will take. We are confident when the study is completed, we will have something we can rely on, the governor and the legislature can rely on."

Connally has said on several occasions that local districts should be paying a greater share of the cost of their schools.

Seek Rail Strike Solution

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., right, and Rep. Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., talk today before a meeting of a joint Senate-House Conference Committee which is trying to decide on legislation to end the nationwide railroad strike. They head their respective delegations on the joint committee. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Solons Under Pressure To End Rail Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Swift action by Congress to end the rail strike was paced today only by delays of congressional procedure. All should be washed away by nightfall and a bill placed on President Johnson's desk.

The Senate-House Conference Committee — which had stalled for a month — broke up to permit new votes by the Senate and House under pressure of a nationwide strike that was slowly freezing the economy and shipments to the Vietnam war front.

FAST ACTION

The Senate was scheduled to vote first. Then the bill would go to the House where Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., who had battled against any form of compulsory settlement, said he looked for final action today.

After a House-Senate conference failed to reach agreement on a compromise of bills each had passed, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, predicted legislation to end the strike would be enacted within two or three hours.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said he thought the House would go along with whatever bill the Senate passes.

WAY OPEN

The House-Senate conference broke up after a last unsuccessful effort on a Senate bill that called for a compulsory settlement of the railroad labor situation and a House bill trying to avoid compulsion.

The way thus was opened for the Senate to re-pass its bill, with technical amendments relating to the strike, and then send it to the House for action later in the day.

The House, which last month rejected the Senate proposal, is expected to go along this time, sending the measure to President Johnson and giving him an opportunity to sign it and put into action the machinery to stop the tieup which has halted most of the nation's rail traffic.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., the first conferee to leave the room, told reporters "The Senate delegation voted unanimously to break up in disagreement."

REPASSAGE

The result, he said, is that the bill will be brought up in the Senate for repassage soon after that body convenes at noon.

He said it would be necessary for the measure to be changed because some of its original language was not applicable now that a stoppage is on.

"I have an amendment here from the Attorney General (Ramsey Clark) which will take care of it," he said.

POLICEMAN STOMPED TO DEATH

Plainfield Curfew Ordered

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Riotous gunfire crackled through this suburban city Sunday, snapping within sight of police headquarters and bringing a curfew order after a third night of Negro violence.

A white policeman died Sunday night after being beaten and stomped by a Negro gang after the shooting of a Negro, 22. Another white man was pulled from his car and critically beaten by another band of Negroes.

State police and National Guardsmen were sent to aid city policemen in containing, then quieting the violence.

INSURRECTION Mayor George Hatfield charged the violence was "planned, open insurrection" sparked by four nights of Negro rioting in Newark, 18 miles northeast. He declared a city-wide curfew from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. and directed liquor stores and taverns to close.

He said more than 100 persons had been arrested. A total of 12 people were injured, 10 by gunfire.

At daybreak, National Guardsmen entered the riot-ravaged Negro area in an armored troop carrier to post patrols along streets and yards littered with glass and debris.

CARS SEARCHED

Guardsmen searched all cars when Frank Bardecker, 63, of Rahway, was beaten and his car set afire.

Then came the shooting of the Negro and the death of the policeman.

Also injured was an attractive blonde who tumbled from a bullet-pocked car at police headquarters.

quarters crying, "They shot me! They shot me!"

National Guardsmen and state police moved in to back up local officers reinforced by helmeted patrolmen from neighboring towns.

Gov. Richard Hughes said he was "shocked and dismayed" by his state's second episode of shooting and death.

Shots echoed through the night, clearly heard at police headquarters. Some came from automatic weapons.

Negro reporters inside the troubled area seven blocks from the heart of the business district counted 90 weapons—M1 rifles, carbines and submachineguns—in Negro hands.

SHOTS EXCHANGED

Detective Lt. Daniel Hennessy said he saw Negroes in a car speed around a corner firing a submachinegun. He said he was atop a roof returning fire.

About 50 firemen and policemen were pinned by shots inside the central fire station for nearly eight hours.

A police mounted rooftop to guard headquarters against any possible hit-and-run raid after the woman was hit in the ankle by one of 17 bullets sprayed into the car in which she and a male companion rode.

Fifteen National Guardsmen riding an armored personnel carrier with a heavy machinegun reinforced the headquarters armament.

BRUTAL ATTACK

"It was really brutal," David Hardy, a Negro reporter for the Plainfield Courier News, said of the attack which took the life of Patrolman John Vincent Gleason Jr., who joined Plainfield's police force in 1958, the year his police lieutenant father retired.

Witnesses said Gleason had moved to head off a group of white youths headed toward a band of Negroes. He was caught between the two groups.

The white youths ran and Gleason was surrounded by Negroes. Witnesses said he pulled his pistol. A shot was fired and the young man, Bobby Williams, fell.

Another shot felled Gleason and the youngsters swarmed over him, Hardy said. "They beat him and stomped him. He was raising his hand and they just kept kicking him."

'WHITE' TARGETS

Hardy, Negro Councilman Everett Lattimore and two other Negroes guided a white reporter into the troubled area but quickly had to escort him out to avoid trouble. Hardy returned to the scene, then advised: "They're shooting at anything white."

Picket Lines Form At Yards In Big Cities

It was nearly impossible to ride a train in Texas today, and shunting by rail was nearly as difficult. Railroad workers nationwide strike, from the Panhandle to the Gulf Coast and from Texas to El Paso. Pickets appeared at switching yards and depots, mostly in the state's larger cities.

Spokesmen reported no new trains moved over the Santa Fe system, with more than 5,000 miles of mainline track in Texas, after the arrival of their destinations of those en route when the walkout began at 12:01 a.m. Monday.

The same was true on the Fort Worth & Denver.

SINGLE TRAIN

Officials of the Missouri Pacific and the Texas & Pacific filed passenger service, except for a single Missouri Pacific train a day between San Antonio and Laredo. Both lines continued freight service, but they estimated there was a forced reduction of at least one-third.

While one train after another pulled to a halt on the various railroads, those of the Cotton Belt and Southern Pacific continued to operate at a late hour in Dallas and through Tyler in East Texas—but well behind schedule.

FRISCO SLOWS

The Louisiana & Arkansas, running between Dallas and Shreveport, La., said it was moving trains only from Greenville to the Louisiana city.

Spokesmen said the Kansas City Southern expected to maintain normal operations through Texarkana.

An official said the Frisco Railroad, which lists Dallas and Fort Worth among its main terminals in eight states, would not try to keep any trains moving.

WONT GUESS

Personnel at the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad headquarters in Denison declined to speculate on how long they would be able to keep operating.

Fort Worth was one of the first places in which pickets appeared, taking shifts outside the Santa Fe depot and at rail yards on the city's north side and in suburban Saginaw.

The pickets said they were assigned by the Cleburne local of the International Association of Machinists and Local 223 of the International Brotherhood of Railway Carmen.

'STANDING STILL'

Santa Fe facilities likewise were picketed in Dallas, where everything in the yards was said to be "standing still" by early Sunday.

Trucking firm executives said that "we'll take care of our customers as best we can," as one expressed it in Dallas, but it would be impossible to handle many bulk or heavy equipment items normally shipped by rail.

Airlines braced to accommodate as many extra passengers as possible, warning there probably would be long waits.

MAIL DELAYED

Several Texas postmasters were quick to echo an announcement by Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien that second, third and fourth class mail could not be accepted for points more than 150 miles from the sender. They arranged for deliveries of regular mail by air and truck.

San Antonio residents were told that 400 sacks of mail due to arrive via the Southern Pacific early Monday "may be the last we'll get for awhile."

No Evidence Of Strike Here

So far the strike which has tied up many of the nation's rail lines has not involved the operations of the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. here.

The local offices said that the line's freight runs were operating as usual and that no strike difficulty had arisen. The line operates no passenger trains on this end of the system, so this phase is not an issue locally.

Negro Job Plan Director Shot

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — The Negro director of Fresno's summer antipoverty program was wounded by a bullet Sunday night after a day of vandalism, arson and rock and bottle throwing.

Hundreds of police tried to quell disorders in West Fresno, where bands of young Negroes roamed on foot and in cars.

Police said Dennis Mathis, 28, who directs a federally financed summer crash job program, was hit in the arm and side by a bullet they said was fired by a white merchant patrolman. Whether the shot was intentional was not apparent.

FIVE FIRES

Mathis was reported in satisfactory condition.

Five Negroes, 13 to 18, were jailed on suspicion of arson in the setting of five fires including a house, a telephone pole and grass.

Early today, firemen battled a big blaze at a wood yard.

Firemen said it had been set, apparently, and it was big enough to keep them busy until dawn.

Eighteen cars filled with sheriff's deputies patrolled West Fresno. About two-thirds of the city's 290-man police force were on duty.

'SOUL BROTHER'

No looting was reported. At least five false alarms were turned in. The Negro owner of a liquor store wrote the words, "Soul brother" on his windows, identifying the property as Negro-operated.

Police once went to answer a disturbance call and were met by a hail of rocks and bottles. No one was hit.

Police broadcast a warning that any person found carrying a container of gasoline would be jailed.

Only a confused description of the shooting of Mathis was available.

Pool Receipts About Average

Swimming pool receipts for the week ending July 16 indicate an average week. Charles Smith, city finance director, reported this morning that $273.48 had been received at the three city swimming pools last week, slightly below the $300 average which is estimated in the city budget.

Totals for the weekend showed $173.25 taken in at the main pool; $21.20 at the two North Side pools.

County's Audit Not Ready Yet

Printing machine trouble in the office of George Thorburn, certified public accountant, prevented him from having printed copies of the 1966 Howard County audit ready today.

The auditor had said he would have the audit ready for presentation to the county commissioners Monday and the reports would have been ready, it was said, if the reproduction equipment had not fouled up.

Youths Attack Amarillo Cop

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Four youths were to be charged today in the severe beating early Sunday of Amarillo police patrolman Norman Neece.

Neece was beaten with his own flashlight after he chased four youths, accused of a traffic violation, into a house.

The patrolman later struggled to his patrol car, radioed for help and then collapsed over the vehicle's steering wheel.

Police said the four youths, arrested soon after the incident, probably would be charged with aggravated assault. Neece, fellow officers said Sunday night, was in improved condition.

Forgery Charged

Forgery charges were filed Monday in Justice Walter Grice's court against Jimmy Anderson. He is accused of forging several checks on the KBST payroll account, signing the name of Winston Wrinkle to the checks. The specific charge alleges a forged check in the amount of $250.

Puzzle of Saturday, July 15, Solved

Congo Army Busy Looting

KINSHASA, the Congo (AP) — White mercenaries and Katangan troops who mutinied against the Congolese government are reportedly holed up in the vast plantation of Maj. Jean Schramm, their Belgian leader, in a tropical rain forest 155 miles southeast of Kisangani.

The mutineers who seized part of Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, July 5 moved out last week, leaving it to the Congolese army. The army did not pursue the mutineers but instead started looting.

Mercenaries and Katangan troops took over Bukavu and Kisangani after news reached them of the kidnapping July 1 in Europe of their former leader, ex-Premier Moise Tshombe.

Tshombe is now being held in Algiers, and Congolese President Joseph Mobutu's government is seeking his extradition so it can execute him.

Schramm, about 40, fought for Tshombe during the Katanga secession in 1961 and led a mercenary force when Tshombe was premier in 1964. A longtime resident of the Congo, he was among the mercenaries who remained with the army after Tshombe was overthrown.

Estimates of the strength of the rebels at Schramm's plantation near Puna ranged from 50 to 180 whites and from 200 to 800 Katangans.

Three U.S. Air Force C130 transports sent to Mobutu by President Johnson and two Red Cross planes evacuated 330 Europeans and Americans from Kisangani and were continuing to fly supplies into Congo troops.

Two Texans Shot Down

ALTUS, Okla. (AP) — Gunfire killed two Texas men Sunday at a tavern nine miles south of Altus in southwestern Oklahoma.

They were Reynaldo Villarreal of Oklaunion and Joe Alejos of White City. Both towns are in Wilbarger County near Vernon, Tex.

Authorities charged Frank Hernandez of White City with murder. Asst. Dist. Atty. Ted Roberts said Hernandez was taken into custody at Vernon.

Police Check Several Thefts

Detectives are investigating five thefts reported during the weekend. Odessa Conner, 700 1/2 N. Gregg, told officers a .22 caliber pistol had been taken from her home. Harry Zarafonitis, 426 Dallas, reported a water cooler, he valued at $74, missing from a house at 201 Galveston St. Approximately $60 in change was taken from coin-operated machines in Terry's Drive-In, 1307 E. 4th. The theft was discovered this morning by officers on a routine check.

Virginia Flores, San Angelo, said her purse containing $29 in bills was taken from her as she walked down the 100 block of Main Street Sunday. Two bicycles valued at $75 were reported stolen to the police by Aubrey Armistead, 431 Edwards Blvd., sometime during the weekend.

Oil Exec Buys Breeding Farm

The 46-acre farm in Tyler County near Woodville was purchased by G. E. Porter, president of the Porter-Reed Oil Co. of Beaumont. Sale price was not announced.

Peace Pickets To Try Again

HOUSTON (AP) — Thirty peace pickets strolled Sunday through the park where they fought 150 Marine reservists a week earlier. Police halted the march for want of a permit, and the demonstrators voted to make a third try next Sunday.

Lawyer Ben G. Levy led Sunday's pickets, who went unopposed. The week before they sought to join an American Legion back-the-war parade and fought the Marines, who slowed their pace and ripped down their banners.

Police arrived five minutes after fighting began a week ago. This time 25 officers were on hand from the beginning.

The pickets walked a mile Sunday before a city park patrol captain, Tom Sawyer, told Levy the group needed a permit to parade.

Sawyer promised to help get the permit, and the pickets voted to seek it and to march at 4 p.m. next Sunday.

Surveyor 4 Mum After Moon Landing

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Plans called for America's Surveyor 4 spacecraft to land on the moon which it did.

But scientists questioned today whether it landed gently, as planned, or went down with a crash. The odds, they said, favor the crash. Surveyor 4 wasn't talking.

"Everything was going as planned. It just didn't go on long enough," scientist Howard Haglund said Sunday night after contact with the craft was lost. CONTACT LOST

Attempts to contact Surveyor 4 were halted at 1:10 a.m., today to be started again at 5:30 p.m. at which time the craft will be over the Goldstone tracking station, 40 miles northwest of Barstow, Calif.

"All we know is that Surveyor 4 is on the moon," Haglund, the project manager, added. "We don't know its condition."

The 2,290-pound craft was heading for what looked like a perfect textbook landing, officials at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said.

Then, when it was about seven miles above the moon, all contact was lost.

BURNOUT

Controllers went through the normal landing routine, shutting off equipment, trying to test components, but they got no response.

"It will take several hours at least before we can be certain what happened," Haglund said.

"There are many possibilities but one of those uppermost in my mind is that there may have been an explosion in the rocket case just before burnout."

"We can't rule out the possibility, however, that the spacecraft may have landed safely."

RUGGED ROCKS

Other possibilities included a collision with a meteorite.

Scientists tracking the spindly looking, three-legged spacecraft lost contact shortly after 7 p.m. just seconds before Surveyor 4 was scheduled to land in a rugged area called Sinus Medii, or Central Bay, in the center of the visible side of the moon.

The proposed landing area, as shown in photographs taken by earlier spacecraft, is known to be extremely rugged, marked by rocks, craters and ridges.

Scientists planned to photograph some of the rugged terrain, use Surveyor's hand-size scoop shovel and test the soil for the presence of iron.

Reservoir Studied

ENNIS, Tex. (AP) — The usefulness of building a reservoir along the Bear and Red Oak creek's watersheds is being studied. The dam would be in the Ferris-Palmer vicinity.

The Greater Dallas South directors have discussed the plan at length and have asked a consulting engineering firm to consider the proposal.

Maj. Walter Reder, now 50 and serving a life sentence in Gaeta, had applied for release to join his aged, ailing mother in Vienna. Officials told him clemency would be considered only if the people of Marzabotto, 16 miles outside Bologna, forgave him.

Survivors Vote Against Clemency

MARZABOTTO, Italy (AP) — Survivors of Italy's worst wartime massacre voted 282-6 Sunday against clemency for the Nazi major whose troops slaughtered nearly 1,800 people in reprisal against the partisans.

Reds Disclaim Killing Three

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korea disclaimed any part in the killing Sunday of three American soldiers south of the armistice line and refused to join the U.N. Command in an investigation of the attack.

Two more Communist raids on South Korean positions on the central front were reported Sunday night, and at least one of the raiders was reported killed. National police also reported killing three suspected North Korean agents 130 miles south of Seoul.

The hit-and-run attack on the American post was the fourth major border clash in the 16-mile-long American sector of the border since last November.

Twelve American soldiers have been killed. North Korea charged that U.S. troops tried to invade North Korea Sunday several times but said Communist soldiers repelled them.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

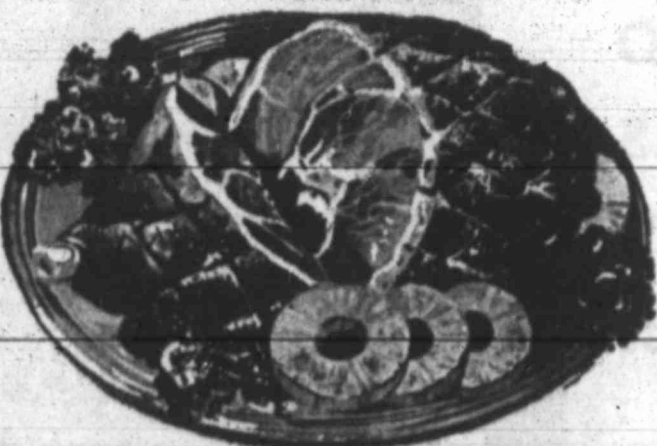

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

OIL REPORT

Borden Project Has Oil Shows

Tom Brown No. 1-C Clayton and Johnson, prospect in Borden County, had good reports of oil shows on two drillstem tests.

From the 8,200-15 foot section, tool was open three hours, with a fair blow, and recovered 6,860 feet of gas-cut mud with a trace of oil and the bottom 90 feet was heavily gas cut oily mud.

The second test from 8,207-20 feet, had the tool open 5 1/2 hours and very weak flow with gas surfacing in 55 minutes. Recovery was 305 feet of fluid, including 95 feet of free oil, and 150 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud.

The location is 14 miles southwest of Gail.

American Petrofina Co. of Texas in Big Spring will re-enter No. 1 Winters in Howard County and plug back to 6,200 feet for completion attempts in the Wolfcamp.

The project was completed from perforations at 7,476-77 feet in the Coronet (Canyon reef) area in April, 1966, by American Petrofina.

Site is three-fourths mile northeast of Vincent, 467 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 6-25-H&T survey, three-fourths mile southwest of the depleted Vincent, North (Wolfcamp) pool, but separated from that area by dry holes.

Barranca Oil Corp. of Mon-hans will dig the No. 3-A Snyder in the Snyder (San Angelo, Clear Fork) field of Howard County to 2,810 feet. Location is 2,310 feet from the south and 330 feet from the west lines of section 28-30-T&P survey, eight miles southeast of Coahoma.

R. H. Fulton has announced plans to dig the No. 1-B Hale to 8,650 feet in the Ackerly (Dean) field of Martin County. Location is 1,980 feet from the south and 690 feet from the west lines of section 42-34-T&N survey, eight miles southwest of Ackerly.

Shenandoah Oil Corp. of Fort Worth has amended the location of No. 1 John F. Lott and others in the Lutz-J.L. field of Garza County. The original location was 660 feet from the south and 990 feet from the west lines of section 18-1-Jasper Hays survey, 12 miles southwest of Post. New location is 990 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west. The projected total depth is 8,700 feet.

Crash Claims Both Drivers

AUSTIN (AP) — Both drivers were killed shortly before midnight Sunday in a collision of a station wagon from the Dallas area and an Austin man's car. Ten others in the station wagon suffered injuries.

The crash killed Alton R. Kempf, 37, of Garland, a Dallas suburb, and Joe L. Hernandez, 35, of Austin.

Injuries were suffered by Ozella Kempf, 33, who was riding with her husband; the couple's eight children, 3 to 15 years old, and a friend, Sandy McCullough, 15, of Yancey, Tex.

The crash occurred 3 1/2 miles north of Austin on Interstate 35. State police said the northbound Kempf vehicle was in the opposite lane.

Chinese Check Power Station

SAN ANGELO (AP) — Four young Chinese, employees of the Taiwan Power Co., have left San Angelo after two weeks of observation at West Texas Utilities Co.'s multimillion dollar power station on Lake Nasworthy. The group had already visited Tennessee Valley Authority facilities and two installations in Pennsylvania.

They rented a small apartment during their brief stay here in order to cook their favorite Chinese food. Their chief objection to American cooking: too frequent use of tomato sauce.

Enrollment Jumps

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas had an enrollment of 12,506 for the first summer term, Registrar Byron Shipp reported. The figure compares with 11,645 last year.

Broken Promises Trigger Riots?

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Negro leaders say the Newark riot was caused basically by the same things that have caused racial rioting and chaos in other urban slums. They said Negroes were fed up with broken promises for new low-rent housing, better schools, better jobs and equal justice from police.

This was the powder keg of unsolved issues, simmering for many years through many hot summers, that exploded violently last Wednesday night after the arrest of a Negro cab driver.

BLOODY RAMPAGE
The bloody rampage—which resulted in 24 deaths, 1,100 wounded, 1,300 arrested and property loss of more than $5 million—was blamed on "racist, brutal white cops and a mayor who refused to work with poor, helpless, frustrated people."

Said Oliver Lofton, administrator of the Newark Legal Services Project, which operates on federal antipoverty funds. Here, as elsewhere, it was a minor unconnected incident that ignited the powder—and it was during the hot, humid summer nights on steamy, crowded sidewalks. It's a time when idle young men, without jobs, money or a place to go, seem to vent their frustrations with sudden fury.

That's how it went in 1964 when minor traffic mishaps triggered violence and looting in

NATO Naval Force Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The NATO military committee has recommended a multinational naval force for the North Atlantic alliance, Pentagon sources say.

The small force, numbering perhaps a half dozen destroyers or other warships, would be somewhat similar to a NATO brigade-size mobile land force in existence for almost six years.

The proposal includes forming a more or less permanent NATO naval element, with a commander rotated periodically among the participating nations.

NO MIXED CREWS
Member nations would contribute ships manned wholly by their own crews. There would be no mixed nationality manning of ships.

The United States was understood to be noncommittal on the idea, even though the proposal reportedly was suggested by U.S. Adm. Thomas Moorer.

Sources said Moorer acted in his capacity as Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic, a job he will leave soon to become chief of naval operations, heading the U.S. Navy.

The main reason for a multinational force would be to have a NATO naval presence, though small, ready to move in an emergency and, perhaps equally important, demonstrate solidarity and unity among the sometimes differing allies.

PERMANENT STAFF
From a tactical military standpoint, it is believed the force, with a permanent staff, would give opportunities for valuable training in multinational operations at sea.

There has been one experiment in multinational naval activity under NATO.

This involved the staffing of a U.S. destroyer, the Ricketts, with sailors from a number of NATO navies to find out how they would work and live together.

This experiment was carried on as a possible forerunner to a seagoing NATO nuclear force comprising missile-launching surface ships.

The NATO nuclear force idea was dropped. However, U.S. naval officers said the Ricketts experiment showed a multinational crew could function efficiently.

Texan To Conduct Insect Research

BEAUMONT (AP) — Dr. William H. McGaughey has joined the staff of the Rice-Pasture Research and Extension Center in Beaumont as research agronomist.

McGaughey, a native of Jacksonville, Tex., will conduct research on stored rice insect problems, including the protection of rice and rice products in domestic and overseas shipments—determining factors responsible for insect attacks on rice in storage, handling, milling, processing and transporting.

Nine Rubber Plants Await Union Voting

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — After weekend preparations at its nine plants in eight states, B. F. Goodrich Co. was ready today for a quick start-up of production halted 87 days ago by a United Rubber Workers strike.

An agreement reached in Columbus Saturday must be ratified by nearly 12,000 Goodrich URW members. The voting has not been scheduled, but a union source said it was possible workers might go back before ballots are counted.

Another tentative agreement likewise awaits ratification, also unscheduled. That tentative settlement was reached with General Tire & Rubber Co. Thursday afternoon in Cleveland and applies to 1,800 tire builders here and 1,250 at Waco, Tex. General employees joined in the walkout June 22.

Three larger members of the rubber industry's big five were to resume negotiations today—Goodyear and Uniroyal at Cincinnati and Firestone in Cleveland. Together they employ about 40,000 of the 75,000 on strike.

Like Goodrich, Firestone and Uniroyal have been struck since April 21, but Goodyear's 21,000 URW members went out only last Thursday.

The Goodrich and General agreements provide for a total of 43 cents in hourly pay raises—15 cents this year and again next year, and 13 cents in 1969. There is an additional 10 cents hourly in the first year, for skilled workers. Present hourly top scale is $3.88, the union said.

An increase to 80 per cent of normal pay for supplemental benefits to laid-off workers was hailed by Peter Bommarito, URW international president, as a "giant step forward in reaching the goal of the guaranteed annual wage."

Bommarito, who became head of the 175,000-member URW last fall, participated in marathon bargaining that led to the Goodrich agreement. Parts of that settlement, he said, "were historic," and it "gives the blue collar worker a status which we set out to achieve."

Bommarito's endorsement and the fact that the big five employers are bound in a mutual assistance pact this year for the first time made it seem likely that the Goodrich agreement will provide a pattern for Goodyear, Firestone and Uniroyal.

Ward Keener, Goodrich president, said wage and benefit increases were above the 5 per cent pattern in other major labor settlements in 1967 and indicated a boost in prices would be the result.

"It is certain that B. F. Goodrich cannot absorb these increased costs without substantial and effective price increase over a broad range of our product line," Keener said.

Texas Violent Deaths Hit 22

By The Associated Press
Twenty-two persons died violently in Texas during the third weekend of July.

The toll recorded by The Associated Press between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday included 12 traffic fatalities, three drownings, an auto racing death and half a dozen homicides.

Alton R. Kempf, 37, of Garland, a Dallas suburb, and Joe L. Hernandez, 35, of Austin were killed shortly before midnight Sunday when the Kempf station wagon and Hernandez car collided 3 1/2 miles north of Austin on Interstate 35. Mrs. Kempf, her eight children, three to 15, and a friend were injured.

COUPLE DROWNS

A Houston lawyer, David B. Mauzy, 39, and his wife Betty, 38, drowned Sunday night off Galveston's East Beach while trying to reach their son Kevin, who was caught in an undertow. Fishermen saved Kevin, one of the couple's five sons.

Vicente Hinojosa, 27, of Asherton was killed Sunday night when a car overturned 3.3 miles south of Carrizo Springs on US 83. Four companions suffered injuries.

Six-month-old Joe Mendoza of San Antonio was killed Sunday night as another automobile struck the family car from behind on US 81 about three miles north of Elcinal in South Texas. His parents, Carlos Mendoza, 40, and Julia Mendoza, 24, and Pedro Ramos, 4, were injured critically.

TYE CYCLE MISHAP

Manuel Vidurri, 22, of Tye, near Abilene, was thrown off his motorcycle and killed Sunday as the vehicle topped a rise while he was riding toward Dyess Air Force Base. Two companions told officers Vidurri's head struck the paving.

Harold Gene Cartee, 27, of Irving was killed Saturday night when his stock car rolled five times during a race at the Dallas Sportsdrome.

'Mini-Mine' Secret Out

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Secrecy surrounding a new "mini-mine" being developed by the military went up in little puffs of smoke Sunday. Thousands of the tiny explosive devices drifted onto a public beach in North Florida.

Several hundred servicemen were ordered into the area to gather up the bomblets along some 120 miles of beach. A canister loaded with the brownish disks was reportedly dropped accidentally into Choctawhatchee Bay along the Florida Panhandle. The disks are the size of a quarter with knobs protruding from each side.

When squeezed or stepped on they explode with the force of a large firecracker.

The secret device, being developed for use in Vietnam as alarms against sneak attacks, became unsecret when Donald Spinelli of Fort Walton Beach found one.

Spinelli, 24, was treated for eye and hand injuries after he tried to pull one apart with his fingers and it exploded.

A military spokesman said security on the devices had been "sensitive."

In an official release the Air Force said the objects had been dropped under "emergency conditions," but would not elaborate.

However, a civilian official in the area said the accident was caused by "a pilot taking off in the wrong plane."

Many of an estimated 10,000 Sunday bathers were asked to leave the beaches.

Science And You Mystery In Women's Bones

—By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL

By DR. LEONARD REIFFEL
You may or may not have heard of a condition called osteoporosis. The name might be loosely translated as "holes in the bone." In effect, it is a loss of bone mineral, and it's a problem which, to a greater or lesser extent, afflicts no fewer than 14 million women in the United States alone.

Of these women, some three million have actually sustained hip or spine fractures. Another 1.6 million probably are walking around with a fractured vertebra and don't even know it.

It is one of the mysteries of medicine that minerals tend to leave the bones of the female skeleton in such great quantities. Many of the older ideas about the problem appear now to be incorrect, or at least doubtful. It was thought for a while that it was entirely due to changes in the hormone system of the body during the menopause. It was also thought that the likelihood of osteoporosis increased if a woman had many children and used natural feeding. A third idea that you can treat the condition with a high calcium diet also seems wrong.

Results of a study of over 2,000 outpatients, who were compared to 170 women who had clear symptoms of osteoporosis actually had, on the average, one less child than the women who did not have significant symptoms of the disease. The two groups of women showed no significant difference in the amount of calcium in their diets. Furthermore, a related study on 400 women using very high and relatively low calcium diets indicated no effect on bone mineral loss from either type of treatment.

Why is bone mineral loss so marked in women as compared to men? No one knows. All we know is that women seem to be subject to a steep and steady rate of loss when they are between 50 and 60 years of age. After a man reaches 70 years of age, the calcium in his bones leaks out at a much slower rate.

We will be trying to learn a great deal more about osteoporosis in the next few years. Such research is motivated not only by the affliction of so many women, but also by the needs of the space age.

It is already known that astronauts in orbit lose calcium out of their bones at very substantial rates. While no serious problems are likely to be encountered for periods of up to a month or so, the question of year-long flights is still a very open one. We will soon want to make such long flights for many reasons . . . for manned exploration of Mars and for orbiting space stations particularly. In fact, it is just possible that things we learn about osteoporosis in space will contribute to the relief of the condition in women right here on the ground.

Showers Dot Texas Areas

By The Associated Press

A weekend cool spell gave way slowly to warming weather across most of Texas today as moist air billowed inland to set off scattered showers, mostly in northern areas of the state.

Early morning temperatures dipped to 62 degrees at Dalhart and 63 at Amarillo in the Panhandle. Readings in other sections ranged up to 73 at Del Rio and 74 at El Paso.

Showers pelted the west side of the Texas Panhandle lightly, and others spread across the north central and northeast parts of the state.

One of the larger belts of light to moderate showers dotted an area from near Wichita Falls and Mineral Wells toward the east and south, embracing Breckenridge, Fort Worth, Dallas, Denison, Paris, Greenville, Tyler, Waxahachie, Waco, Hamilton and Stephenville.

Skies were generally cloudy over the north half of Texas and clear elsewhere early in the day. More showers, widely scattered and generally light, were expected in most sections again tonight or Tuesday.

Overnight minimums ranged from Alpine's 60 degrees to 77s at Corpus Christi and Waco. Corpus Christi had .16 inches of rain in the 24 hours ended at 7 a.m. today. Texarkana had .12 and measurable rainfall was recorded at Amarillo, Dallas and Fort Worth.

Light fog spread across the Panhandle in the early morning hours.

Still Calm In Hartford

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Hartford's troubled North End — beset last week by three consecutive nights of sporadic disturbances — was calm Sunday night for the second night in a row.

A state of emergency declared by city officials when violence flared in the Negro section Thursday night during the second night of disturbances was ended at noon Sunday.

The original incident which touched off the disturbances Wednesday night was clearly not a product of inter-racial rivalry, and this appeared to set the tone for the events that followed.

A Negro was arrested on the complaint of a Negro storeowner and the arrest was made by a Negro policeman, accused by Negro bystanders of being too rough with the suspect.

The violence which broke out Wednesday night consisted of rock and bottle-throwing and two fire-bombings, all apparently aimed at merchants — both white and black — who had accumulated grudges in the town.

Thursday night, the violence was aimed also at police, also both white and black. Two policemen were hurt by flying objects.

Friday night was the last night of any sustained — if sporadic — disturbances. "This isn't Newark," a Negro businessman told a white reporter. "And we don't want it ever to get like Newark."

Hartford police were credited with keeping things relatively cool, especially Friday night. Usually walking instead of running, flashing no lights and sounding no sirens, the police moved deliberately, with nightsticks instead of guns in their hands.

Police patrols kept groups of neighborhood residents from becoming crowds.

Farm Labor Dispute Trials Transferred

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP)—Starr County Judge Dr. M. J. Rodriguez granted a change of venue motion today on 15 misdemeanor cases resulting from the lengthy Starr County farm labor dispute.

The motion, filed by Jim McKeithan, asked that the cases be transferred to nearby Hidalgo County on grounds "that there exists so great a prejudice against the defendants that they cannot receive a fair trial in Starr County."

County Atty. Randall Nye did not oppose the motion, but refused to join the defense in seeking the venue change.

STORY INTRODUCED

McKeithan introduced as evidence a news story from a McAllen newspaper which quoted Nye as saying he had delayed trials of union members because he felt "the atmosphere" was not conducive to a fair trial.

McKeithan also introduced a copy of Nye's testimony given during a recent U.S. Senate subcommittee hearing here. Nye's statements to the senators also pointed out that he had delayed trial because of the atmosphere in Starr County.

15 CASES

The 15 cases scheduled for pre-trial hearings today involved nine members of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO, which has conducted a 13-month drive to unionize Starr County farm labor.

One of the cases involved former labor organizer Eugene Nelson.

Nelson is charged with disturbing the peace on June 2, 1966, the second day of the grower-union dispute. Other charges, all against union men, included use of abusive language, obstructing a public road, and simple assault.

FAIR TRIALS?

All of the cases were appealed from justice of the peace court after the defendants pleaded no contest and were fined from $15 to $50. The charges, among approximately 115 filed in connection with the strike, were the second group to be tried in Starr County.

The first trials were last December and three of 12 demonstrators were found guilty of a misdemeanor charge of obstructing a public bridge. They were fined $25 each.

McKeithan told Rodriguez today he was asking the court for a speedy trial in all other labor union cases and served notice he would ask for changes

Jap Fishing Boat Seized

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—The Coast Guard seized a Japanese fishing boat off the Aleutian Islands Sunday, placed an armed party aboard it and was escorting the vessel to Adak today.

The Tenyo Maru No. 3 was seized just short of three miles off Segula Island, about 200 miles from Adak.

The Coast Guard said the master of the 330-foot vessel was accused of fishing within the 12-mile limit, and each of the crew of 110 to 130 could be fined $10,000, and all the gear, stores and fish aboard could be confiscated.

Seizure of the vessel was the first incident of the kind since two Russian trawlers were escorted to Alaska ports in March and their skippers were fined.

The Japanese crew also may be prosecuted under Alaska law which bars foreign fishermen from operating within a line three miles off shore.

When the first Russian master was fined $5,000, Alaska Gov. Walter Hickel called the penalty "measly," and the skipper of the second Russian ship was fined twice that amount.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is certainly no day or evening to take any chances whatever. Make sure you do stick to whatever you have agreed to do and break no agreements when under that you have made. You find that most everyone is in a bad humor and at the drop of a hat. Do not turn your own work without any deviation from it.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): You are tempted to leave present set-up and dive into something unknown to you which would prove to be quite disastrous. Keep steady, however, if you do turn to study into some new outlet wisely.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Although you want to procrastinate on certain responsibilities you have, take care of them now, since they are not very difficult. Rely on your own good judgment. Your intuition is somewhat faulty.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): It's time to look that problem over with a good associate, but avoid doing so with one who would only laugh at you, or be very critical of you. Think before you take action on certain matters. Be wary of being a "buddy" to someone who is not responsible. Put those clever ideas to work. Don't fall for the extreme words of certain conversers. Be more independent.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23): You have to concentrate on financial affairs instead of going out for recreation. You could be really extravagant, and good for you. Forget that individual who is so unreliable. Find more inspiring companions.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Be more understanding with kin who is very upset instead of adding to present woes. Your power to straighten many things out that will bring happiness. Do not carry through with plans you have in mind, or you could get into some big difficulty. Correct some error in writing material before you mail it out, and it in, etc. Be more precise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Some measures of economy must be exercised now if you are to have a more harmonious business and personal life. Be sure not to act too quickly in your desire to have a larger income. Labor steadily.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 23): Being forced with one who has been and is a power in your life could lose you much support. Give out as much as you can. Be sure you must not criticize. Show that you have power, are eloquent.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24 to Jan. 20): Putting your affairs on a very secure basis is wise of this time, but keep out of the public eye pretty much. Be helpful with charities, in social work. Some friend you know could use a helping hand.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Be short in stating your aims to a person and then later to what their ideas, suggestions are. Those who have been energetic heretofore will now be apathetic. Sit down later and make intelligent plans.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): Safeguard your reputation since most people are just in the mood to make a mountain out of a molehill, just to gain stability themselves. Don't procrastinate any longer on some responsibility you have. Be prompt.

IF YOUR BIRTHDAY IS BORN tomorrow: He, or she, will at an early age, want to hit upon the best philosophical route, and since there is the intelligence to study both sides of any subject, your life's experiences can also be very helpful. The fruits of such study, public speaking, debating are amazing. Ideal in this chart.

A Devotional For The Day

God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil. (Ecclesiastes 12:14)

PRAYER: Father help us to choose wisely what we allow to influence our lives. Guide us in forming our attitudes and making our commitments. May we cultivate that which will last throughout eternity. For Jesus' sake, Amen.

CED Proposal Parallels Governor's

The Committee for Economic Development, a highly respected non-profit national research and education organization of business executives and educators, has taken a long look at state governments and not unexpectedly found them seriously wanting.

What is of special interest in Texas is that the CED's list of deficiencies and recommendations correspond remarkably to the basic reform program which Gov. Connally tried and failed to get through the 60th Legislature. The CED report is recommended as must reading for members of the next legislative session.

The CED first emphasized the need for state constitutional revision to reorganize obsolete state governmental structures so they may cope effectively with today's complex problems. This was Gov. Connally's top-priority request, which was answered by creation of a doubtfully effective study committee.

The CED recommended four-year terms for governors, who should be made chief executives in fact as well as name. Legislatures should have more constitutional flexibility to legislate and should have annual sessions to handle the big business of today's state governments. And governors and legislators should be paid commensurate with their expanding responsibilities.

The CED urged the states to simplify their court systems, preferably with appointive judges. Texas has made some improvements in this area, but not yet nearly enough. The CED also recommended that the states improve state-local relations and encourage intergovernmental cooperation at the local level. Gov. Connally proposed an excellent program for this—devoted by the Texas Research League—but it was defeated largely by the courthouse lobby.

The CED warns that federal assumption of responsibilities historically exercised by the states will accelerate, with severe detriment to the American system of self-rule, unless the states act soon and drastically to improve their governmental structures. That believable conclusion emphatically applies to Texas, and time is running out for corrective action.

Adding Fuel To The Fire

It is no longer intellectually fashionable to use the phrase "merchants of death," which was applied so freely to arms makers in the interim between the two world wars. But it has just been used by a man whose stature in the field of arms control lends weight to his views, and in a forum that commands particular attention.

The speaker was Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canada's delegate to the 17-nation disarmament conference at Geneva. He elaborated on the thesis that the world's great powers can rightfully be compared with the erstwhile "merchants of death" because it is they who in our time sell arms in areas of international tension.

The fact—that the Soviet Union, the United States and other industrial nations sell or give enormous quantities of arms to countries unable to provide them on their own—is unquestioned. The conclusions drawn by Gen. Burns from this fact deserve the most sober reflection, especially in view of the Middle East crisis. He said: "Nowadays we see that most conventional arms races are supported by gifts of armaments or sales at bargain prices by governments or under the auspices of governments. This provision of war materiel, which might be called fueling the arms race, sometimes appears to be done to increase the influence of one or another great power with the country to which the armaments are delivered."

That is most polite, restrained, even reticent. Others might prefer a blunt statement. The truth is that, whatever their varying motives may be, the powerful nations are making the world a more dangerous place by giving other nations the weapons of modern warfare. If such intervention cannot be brought under control, it may yet play a major role in touching off the powder keg of Armageddon.

Disclosure—they're very prudish about that, and who's to blame them? Yet the baring of all income sources, and the size and shape of total wealth, and the names in little black notebooks that reveal to whom discreet little checks are written—these are indispensable items of an Ethics Code. It's going to be a tough one to write.

VOLUNTARISM is one thing. Compulsion is another. Half a dozen somewhat exhibitionist members have already stripped, and have taunted their mates to do likewise. How can I be more effective on campus. I would like to set a spiritual bomb off in my school, but I don't know how to go about it. Could you give me some suggestions?

K. B.
Thank God for young people like you who see the need and possibility of a spiritual revolution.

First, muster all the youth in your school who have a kindred concern, and organize them into a Bible Club. The school laws allow students to have clubs of their own choosing, and when properly organized they can use school facilities for their meetings. I know a group of students who did this in central Indiana, and they have over 1,200 members in their Bible Club. They have their meetings once a week in the school auditorium. Attendance is, of course, voluntary. They invite speakers who give inspirational talks, and time is allotted for Bible study, prayers, and testimonies. These kids have really made an impact upon the community. The same thing could happen in every high school in America. If the young people like yourself would get on the ball and promote it.

You may not get the publicity that some of the "way-out" groups get with their riots and demonstrations, but your influence for good would be the "bomb" you would like to explode in your school. The materials for a real spiritual explosion are at your finger tips. Just remember: You are the fuse that can ignite it.

LIKE FISH IN A BARREL

James Marlow LBJ Plays Viet Numbers Game

WASHINGTON (AP)—There was too much light for the photographers but not enough to make clear what "as we feel it necessary" means.

The President had conferred lengthily last week with Robert S. McNamara, secretary of defense, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam, and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

THEN HE took them into the White House sitting room and called in newsmen and photographers. The photographers weren't happy with what they found. President Johnson sat on a chair and the other three men on a sofa by a big window.

There was too much brightness behind them for good pictures because the photographers had to shoot into the light. Even so, it was more light, in a way, than the newsmen got from the answers to their questions.

JOHNSON has always been a great believer in consensus. It was one of the reasons for his success in the 1950s as Senate majority leader. He was very successful at getting opposing sides to agree on some middle ground.

It seemed clear after the sitting-room session that perhaps Johnson's main purpose in calling the news conference was to get across the idea of harmony, that he and McNamara had agreed on sending more troops to Vietnam.

BUT THERE never seemed any doubt more troops would be sent anyway. The question still unanswered after the news conference was: How many? Neither Johnson nor the others ever cleared that up.

It may turn out to be a very delicate and critical question. McNamara and Westmoreland had met a few days before in Vietnam where the general, at or near to reports from there, wanted more troops. McNamara may have been inclined to Sadi.

NEITHER man, in Vietnam or here, ever revealed publicly just how many more men Westmoreland requested. But McNamara was said to have told the general he ought to make better use of the 460,000 troops already there.

Johnson and Wheeler didn't get into numbers, either. Johnson simply told newsmen all four of them were "in agreement on our needs." He didn't explain the needs. And Westmoreland said he was being provided with all the forces he recommended.

ALL THIS may have been intended to keep the enemy guessing but it is also an effective way to keep Americans at home from getting exasperated or indignant because too many were to be sent or not enough. But from what Johnson and Westmoreland said you could get the impression the general was getting just what he wanted except for a phrase Johnson used at the very moment he was emphasizing the all-around agreement.

"YES," the President said, "we have reached a meeting of the minds. The troops that Gen. Westmoreland needs and requests, as we feel it necessary, will be sent."

The President left unexplained what he meant by "we," whether it was an editorial "we," meaning the President alone, or a much broader "we," meaning himself, McNamara and the

To Your Good Health Girl Is Allergic To Her Engagement Ring

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I was so happy when my fiancé gave me a diamond engagement ring, but a week later my finger broke out in a rash. This also happened with my 10-karat school ring.

Years ago a doctor told me I was allergic to the zinc or other cheaper metal used to make gold strong enough to hold its shape.

Does that mean that is what has happened here?

I am concerned because next month I'll be getting a wedding ring and I don't want to spend my whole life wearing the rings until my fingers break out and then leaving them off until I heal.

Jim said he would get a platinum ring if that will help.

—V. J.

That is probably the exact cause of your trouble—sensitivity to one or more of the alloys. Pure gold is much too soft. It bends and wears. So alloys are always used.

An allergist may be able to determine exactly which metals bother you.

The platinum suggestion may be the answer. Can your jeweler lend you a platinum ring to wear for a time as a test? I suggest that you also consult the jeweler as to whether he can plate or coat the inside of the ring with something to which you are not sensitive.

I doubt that medical treatment can do much if anything for you, other than determining what metals you should avoid.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter is eight and since the age of four has had a cough, not a common one, but deep, like a bark. Doctors have said it is an allergy but I just can't accept this, as the cough is very alarming, especially at night, and the poor child has trouble breathing.

—MRS. P.

Why struggle against the diagnosis of allergy? Allergy can be a very real problem with cough, asthma, wheezing, especially in children.

In any event, a continuing cough like that in a child is not normal, and needs attention. If it is allergy, then the thing to do is find out exactly what the irritant is, so she can try to stay away from the offending substances.

Just refusing to accept the diagnosis gets you nowhere and helps the youngster not at all. I trust chest X-rays have been taken.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all mail from his readers, but because of the great volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner uses readers' letters in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim These Things Always Happen—

Things that are quite likely to happen here this year:

When the city's insect machine is fired up, some kid on a bicycle will follow in its wake and get completely enveloped by its billowing clouds, after which one parent or the other will wonder aloud about that peculiar odor at the supper table.

Some people who pay bills by check will wonder if they have made the amount for too much on one after they have already sealed the envelope and mailed it.

YOU'LL GET a wedding announcement from some girl's family you never heard of.

About the time you memorize the telephone or zip code number of a distant friend, he'll move.

Some Big Spring fathers will spend more time correcting their golf swings than their children.

SOMEONE WILL say "hello" to a casual acquaintance he hasn't seen for a long time. In the course of the ensuing conversation, he will ask about the well-being of the person's mate, only to be told that the husband or wife has succumbed sometime in the distant past or the marriage has been terminated in the divorce court.

You'll visit some vacation spot and wonder where they took the pictures they printed on the travel folders.

YOU'LL ENDURE a misery and improve, then count your blessings when you realize things could be worse. Suppose all the remedies proposed by the politicians had been tried.

You'll find yourself offering sympathy to a party in exchange for all the details.

At least one male parent will be shocked when he hears his small child use profanity, only to be told by his wife that the heir or heiress heard it from father in the first place.

AN ARMY of columnists will get mail from around the country which starts out with "I've never before written to a newspaper."

You ponder about the inanity of a television serial you never miss and concede to yourself that you could do a better job of writing it.

SOME NEIGHBOR will invite the insecticide man over to inspect his house and you'll wonder if you have termites.

Some person who orders football tickets to one of the biggest games of the year will find himself hunting excuses for not going, dreading the thought of fighting the crowd when he gets there.

Trade Can Be An Effective Weapon

WASHINGTON—Every now and then in world history it becomes apparent that the exercise of economic power, especially the use of the trade embargo, can do more than threats of military force to change an adversary's policy.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, (R-S.D.) speaks for a substantial group in Congress when he declares that so long as hostilities in Vietnam continue and "world communism arms and feeds terrorist insurrections, it is immoral to support them with trade." He said in a speech in the Senate on Thursday.

"IT IS MY earnest conviction that restraint of trade with the Communist world is needed now more than ever. That is why I am today introducing legislation to declare an embargo on exports to the Soviet Union and its East European satellites until such time as they abandon support for so-called wars of national liberation in Southeast Asia."

The South Dakota senator also is proposing legislation to raise by 200 per cent the duties on all products imported into the United States from the Communist-bloc countries. He insists that Americans should not trade with them as long as our citizens are dying on the Vietnam battlefields.

THE ADMINISTRATION gathered in recent months some support on Capitol Hill for its proposal to improve trade relations with the Communist-bloc countries in Eastern Europe, and has followed this with persistent efforts to secure passage of the measure. This is in direct contrast to the policy of the United States government in drastically cutting exports to the Soviet Union during the Korean War and subsequently during the Berlin crisis.

The pending east-west trade bill contains many ambiguous phrases which do not clearly set forth whether items that are not banned as "strategic" can be used in developing war weapons and materiel. In recent years, the American government has approved exports to the Communist-bloc countries of such goods as computers, electronic navigation gear, scientific instruments, precision machine tools and chemicals in large volume.

CONGRESS in 1962 wrote into the Export Control Act provisions explicitly prohibiting the shipment of goods of "economic significance," but by one means or another, these have been circumvented. Sen. Mundt stressed this point when he said:

"Now when you question the Commerce Department about their approving specific exceptions to the export controls, they always explain that these were licensed because comparable goods were available from other sources. This is what they tell you when they allow some of our advanced computers to be shipped to Russia."

IT WAS POINTED out by Mr. Mundt, moreover, that the embargoes against the Asian Communist states and Cuba have proved ineffective. He said that the United States has granted millions of dollars in concessions on grain deals with countries like Poland and Yugoslavia, and then when our back is turned they use these extra allowances to increase aid to Cuba and North Vietnam." Mr. Mundt added:

"In October 1966, we agreed to negotiate a 26-million-dollar debt overdue for food for peace sales. Having won this concession, the Poles then announced that they planned to extend 30 million dollars in aid to North Vietnam. When the terms of bargain were confirmed in January this year, the Polish government flaunted the spirit of our concession again by concluding a new multi-million dollar aid pact with Cuba."

IRONICALLY, the seven days beginning next Sunday have just been designated by President Johnson as the annual "Captive Nations Week." The White House might have preferred not to make the proclamation at this particular time. But a joint resolution of Congress, adopted in 1959, calls upon the President to issue such a proclamation for the third week of July "until such time as freedom and independence shall have been achieved for all the captive nations of the world."

There is no question about the friendship of the United States for the peoples of the Communist-bloc countries. But their governments today are dominated by the Soviet Union, and their trade relationships are subject to manipulation by Moscow.

John Cunniff Computer Cost Controversy

NEW YORK (AP)—Could the Air Force have saved $50 million on a $100 million computer contract? Competitors of International Business Machines, which received the order, say yes. The Air Force says no.

THIS IS THE latest of many recent controversies in electronic computing, which is the fastest growing industry in America today. And it has attracted the concern of congressmen seeking ways to hold down expenses.

Now checking one aspect or another of the industry are the General Accounting Office, three House subcommittees, a Senate subcommittee, the Justice Department and perhaps other agencies as well.

This Tuesday the Senate permanent subcommittee on Investigations begins closed-door hearings to which several computer manufacturers have been invited to testify on the $100 million Air Force order.

THE CHIEF order of business for the subcommittee is the contention by the Honeywell Inc. that its bid was about one-half that of IBM.

Radio Corp. of America and Burroughs also are believed to have submitted considerably lower bids. All three complained to the Air Force that its specifications on several projects favor IBM.

Honeywell also indicated it was thinking of refraining from competing for other contracts, one reason being that unsuccessful bids still cost money. RCA reportedly spent $1 million on its failure.

IN RESPONSE to their complaints, the government's General Accounting Office asked for a report from the Air Force.

Meanwhile, the Air Force has felt a need to explain its action in a complex statement of more than 1,500 words in which it blamed a failure to understand its selections methods for some of the misunderstanding.

The selection was based on the "one-step" method, in which an entire computer system bid is evaluated as a unit. This is unlike some military procurement methods in which the parts are analyzed separately.

THE SELECTION was based on an evaluation of five areas, the Air Force said: performance, software—machine as hardware, the programs accounting Office, three House subcommittees, a Senate subcommittee, the Justice Department and perhaps other agencies as well.

These characteristics were checked in five performances at the companies' sites, it said. Only IBM, it added, passed all the tests. This, apparently, left IBM as the only possible candidate.

Super Fisher

CHICAGO (AP)—Loren P. Woods, Field Museum's curator of fishes, could be described as a super fisherman.

He's fished most of the world's great seas and oceans to obtain rare species. His catches number in the 1,000s. His fishing waters range from the Galapagos to tiny lakes in the U.S.

His catches range from the giant Galapagos devil fish to the tiniest Great Lakes inhabitant.

Among his fishing techniques, Woods employs a vegetable material that drugs and immobilizes the fish so that they come out of their hiding places among rocky reefs.

An expert deep-sea diver, Woods goes down 30 to 100 feet to bring fish back aboard ship.

The Odessa Country Club's Pro-Am Tournament ended Sunday with laurels being heaped on the handsome heads and big clubs of the Messing brothers, Don and Rick. By the time it was all over, their impressive game had marshals begging the gallery to give the boys room to play. So many fine-feathered players to compete with, too! Golf is the only game I think of at the moment that allows a contestant free rein in choosing his clothing, and the bold colors sure brightened the fairways. I was fascinated with the green patent shine of Chip Stewart's golf shoes, but noticed that actor Dean Martin confined his costume to light blue, including the suede shoes.

Jack Wallace, Harold Hall and Lester Morton were all plugged into transistor radios to keep track of the action. On the fairways, noticed Nick Nicholson and son, Randy, big Rick Terry, Pat Patterson and James Underwood, a former local resident now in Midland. The John Taylors were watching the matches, too, and the Jerry Spences waved his white cooling off in the clubhouse. Saw Robert Rogers and the Jim Zikes, and chatted a minute with Clark Estes, who is in Big Spring often while doing his chores for Home Insurance Company.

Our ex-Big Springer, Bill Cox, was everywhere and doing everything while working with the tournament but took time out to join his pretty wife, Dixie, for a Coke.

It was good golf and a good time for everyone.

The Fred Kasches and the R. H. Weavers didn't make the golf Sunday, but they were in Midland for dinner at the Blue Star.

TIDBITS: While visiting with Rip and Polly Johnson in Mineral Wells last week, noticed that Perry Horton, an ex-Big Springer and brother of Mrs. Ray Shaw, has been named a director of the Brazos Country Club. My friend, Polly, used to call Houston home but is so sold on Mineral Wells and its future that she's gone into the real estate business there and sounds like a one-woman Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Modesta Simpson had a distinguished visitor the other day, Neil Vanderbilt of Reno, Nev., and member of the New York clan, was here while doing some research in Texas for a new book. They are old friends but this was the first time they had been able to get-together for four years.

Mrs. John B. Knox is back from Kirkwood, Mo., where she was with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ford and saw some big league baseball. Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Click and their grandchildren, Allen Lee and Linda Diane Click have returned from a long look at Canada's fair, Niagara Falls and Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Allen and their boys went the other way and toured Colorado and the Black Mountains of South Dakota.

Mrs. Phil Wynn and W. A. Fishback, both of the Coahoma schools, were to leave today for a reading workshop at Howard Payne.

Mrs. Joyce Croft Williams, whose brother-in-law is known as "Tennessee" is here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Croft. Probably leave tomorrow.

Mrs. W. H. McMullan, 1909 Princeton, Mrs. Clyde Bingham of Ovalo, Mrs. Bruce Murphy of Melrose, N. M. and Mrs. Rex Reddell of Tuscola have returned from an 18-day stay in Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif. While in LA, the sisters visited Mrs. McMullan's nephew, William Cauble and family.

Auxiliary Holds Hawaiian Luau

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stephens, 804 Birdwell, hosted a Hawaiian Luau Saturday evening for members of the Auxiliary of the National Association No. 1975 of Big Spring Letter Carriers and their husbands.

Guests were presented leis, and the island theme was used in the decorations and refreshments. Low benches served as tables and were covered with green paper leaves, candles and pineapple halves. A papier mache pig served as the centerpiece, and torches entwined with flowers lighted the area. Hawaiian music was played in the background.

Mrs. Wade Bledsoe and Ronnie Bledsoe were selected as the best costumed, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Daniels and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Slate were presented theatre tickets in the game contest.

Thirty attended.

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Affair

Miss Brenda Cowper, bride-elect of Bruce Alan Smith, was honored with a kitchen shower Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. Anne Gibson Houser, 103 Cedar. Cohostesses were Mrs. Joe Pond, Mrs. Coy Nalley and Mrs. J. R. Farmer, and they presented the honoree with a platter in her chosen pottery pattern.

Approximately 40 guests called between the hours of 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m.

Miss Cowper was attired in a sleeveless purple sheath striped with fuchsia at each side. Her corsage was of pink carnations, and her mother, Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, was presented a white carnation corsage. The prospective bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Robert Bruce Smith of Corpus Christi.

Assisting the hostesses were Miss Karen McGibbon, who registered guests, and Mrs. Don Brinegar, who presided at the refreshment table. The table was covered with a white Bangkok banquet cloth accented with grey and orange embroidery, and the centerpiece was of white Shasta and yellow daisies. Silver appointments completed the setting.

Hostesses wore corsages of rice bags and miniature clothes pins, and guests made white net rice bags for the wedding which will be held Sept. 2 in St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

A LOVELIER YOU

Longhairs Keep Cool Heads For Summer

By MARY SUE MILLER

A teen Lovely writes: I wear my hair long and straight. And I love it. But, now that I'm outdoors most of the time, it gets in my way. It's hot, too. I tried pinning it up like some girls do but that looks ridiculous on me. How can I wear it and look marvy? Please don't say braids. My little sister wears them.

Here's an answer in three parts:

a) Brush your hair back from the forehead and up from the nape; gather all together on the crown and fasten with a clip. Now brush the loose back hair into a smooth, compact fall; clip it about four inches from the ends. Cover the clips with bright ribbon bows—wide ones if you're mod-minded, narrow ones if you're mini-mod.

b) Starting as before with hair clipped on crown, very loosely roll up back, using one hand as a roller and smoothing the hair as you go by brushing with the other hand. When roll meets crown, slide hand out and pin down roll. Then cradle it in a length of fishnet and flip-tie ends at any becoming point above your forehead. Use bobby pins to keep the tie from slipping.

c) Again start with the clipped up sweep. This time swing the back hair forward, over the shoulder, brush smooth and b-r-a-i-d. But not like littler sister braids. You entwine a small hank of thin knitting wool in your braid.

How marvy cool can you get?

Their gift to the honoree was an electric percolator and a corsage of gardenias tied with blue ribbon and lily of the valley.

The bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Jesse W. Overton, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Joe B. Evans, received similar corsages. As Miss Overton greeted guests, she was attired in a beige lace A-line dress. Corsages which the hostesses wore were given by Miss Overton and her fiancé, and Mrs. Overton presented each hostess with a gift.

The refreshment table was appointed with silver and crystal and was covered with floor-length net over blue linen. The centerpiece was of white Spider mums, blue carnations and greenery, and petals fours were served. Two Combat Jets Downed SAIGON (AP) — Giant American B52 Stratofortresses unloaded close to a million pounds of bombs on five major Communist concentration areas in South Vietnam Sunday night and today.

The heavy raids were scattered from the Mekong Delta to the northern provinces just below the demilitarized zone. They included a strike at the infiltration route used by Red troops entering the central highlands, where a Communist offensive is threatened.

The air war over North and South Vietnam cost two more American planes, but both pilots were rescued, U.S. commanders said.

COPTER RESCUE

A Navy Skyhawk jet was downed by ground fire somewhere between the Hanoi area and Thanh Hoa. It was the 160th U.S. combat plane announced lost over North Vietnam. The pilot remained hidden overnight and was lifted off by helicopter this morning, a spokesman said.

The second loss was an Air Force F100 jet downed Saturday by ground fire from a Communist stronghold in South Vietnam's War Zone C, near the Cambodian border. It was the 194th U.S. combat plane reported lost to enemy fire in South Vietnam.

Only light and scattered ground fighting was reported.

WEAPONS SEIZED

Operation Hickory II, a three-day U.S. and South Vietnamese sweep to clear out North Vietnamese troops southwest of the much-battered Marine post at Con Thien, ended with less than 100 enemy reported killed.

One North Vietnamese regiment of about 2,500 men was reported south of Con Thien, but after three days of combing the area, U.S. Marines announced they had killed 57 Communists and captured 19 weapons while the South Vietnamese said they killed 35. Marine losses were four killed and 90 wounded. The South Vietnamese said their casualties were light.

Sixty miles southwest of Con Thien, the Marines ended Operation Crockett, a two-month drive in the Khe Sanh area close to the Laotian border. The Marines reported killing 206 enemy troops against 52 Leathernecks killed and 255 wounded in the operation, launched May 13.

100 SORTIES

In the raids on North Vietnam, Navy pilots from the carrier Oriskany spotted a nest of camouflaged Communist torpedo boats Sunday along the coast near Thanh Hoa. The Skyhawk pilots reported damaging at least two of the rarely sighted North Vietnamese naval craft.

Headquarters said heavy weather over North Vietnam limited Sunday's 100 missions to strikes in the panhandle extending south from Hanoi to the 17th Parallel. Carrier jets took the upper half and Air Force pilots from Thailand raked the southern supply network, including the Mu Gia pass which funnels supplies to the Ho Chi Minh trail and thence to South Vietnam.

Rain Soaks Tampa Area

By The Associated Press

Violent thunderstorms and hail hit two Midwestern states and Florida Sunday night while a mass of chilling air brought record cold temperatures to many other areas.

A severe hail storm destroyed crops in West Central Iowa near the town of Hornick. Farmers in the area reported hail three inches deep.

In Florida more than two inches of rain soaked the Tampa area, most of it falling in 1½ hours. Hailstones an inch in diameter pelted the area near Lake Alfred, 50 miles east of Tampa.

Heavy thunderstorms produced some flooding in Gallup, N.M. The Gallup unit of the New Mexico unit of the National Guard was called out to evacuate about 100 prisoners in the city's detention center, which was flooded. They were moved to city hall.

Temperature records for July 16 were broken in many cities between the Plains region and the Atlantic Coast.

The records included Knoxville, Tenn., 53 degrees; Atlanta, Ga., St. Joseph, Mo., and Jackson, Miss., 54; Birmingham, Ala. and Omaha, Neb., 55; Roanoke, Va., 56; Columbia, S.C., 59, and Fort Smith, Ark., 68.

Texas' Blackland Project Studied

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M University officials assigned to the university's agricultural assistance program in the Dominican Republic recently took a close look at Central Texas' Blackland Income Growth project for possible application in the Caribbean country.

Included in the field trip were visits to farms and other facilities near Corsicana, Hillsboro, Waco, Temple and Bartlett, as well as to the A&M-operated demonstration farm at Taylor.

Music Library At Baylor Tops

WACO, Tex. (AP) — A collection of music books valued at about $9,000 has been presented to the Baylor University Music Library. The collection, which consists of 404 items, was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Travis Johnson, 1928 Baylor graduates, of Forest Hills, N.Y. One of the books printed in 1885 is valued at $2,000.

James H. Rogers, university librarian, said the music library is now "possibly the best in the state. We now have items in our collection that even the New York Public Library doesn't have."

Dear Abby

Sick On One Subject

DEAR ABBY: For the past two years my husband has had a young woman in his department who seems to be the topic of conversation all over town. She is about 30, has been divorced twice, and I am told, has some very unconventional ideas about men and morals.

She openly dates married men and has been heard to say, "If a woman can't hold her husband, it's not my fault." Whenever her name comes up, my husband defends her, saying she's a "nice" girl who is sick on only one subject. Men! She flirts brazenly and tells off-color stories, but because she is pretty she gets away with it.

I have been in a state of turmoil over this for some time, and cannot accept the fact that she is "nice." I'm about ready to give up. I don't want to demand that my husband let her go, but I wish she would be transferred out of his department. (Out of the city would be better yet.) What should I do about this situation? UNEASY

DEAR UNEASY: Nothing. Just ask your husband how long he would put up with a "nice" wife who was sick on only one subject. Men!

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are newlyweds. She wants to have a dinner party and invite all her old boy friends. All these fellows are still single. I told her I didn't think much of the idea.

She says she wants to maintain them as "platonic" friends, and besides they all gave her lovely wedding gifts so she thinks she "owes" them a dinner. I say they all received thank-you notes for their gifts just as the others did. We would like your opinion. NEWLYWEDS

DEAR NEWLYWEDS: A wedding gift doesn't necessarily call for a dinner invitation. If your bride really wants to invite these ex-beaus to dinner in order to maintain them as platonic friends, she should ask them to bring their own girls.

But if she has in mind surrounding herself with the old guard to make them squirm and feel like losers, she should forget it lest she make them feel like winners.

DEAR ABBY: I've read about almost every kind of oddball in your column except this one.

My husband does all the grocery shopping because he "enjoys" it. Besides the regular things, he buys all kinds of goodies for himself, like candy, potato chips, nuts, etc. And he hides his goodies so he won't have to share them.

He is a very wealthy man, Abby, but you'd never know it. What makes people act like this? JUST WONDERERS

DEAR JUST: Could it be that your husband is a calorie counter who doesn't want anyone to know how much he indulges? Or that he doesn't want YOU to get fat?

Or perhaps he enjoys something more when he "sneaks" it—a mild and not uncommon quirk. Anyway, you two must have fun playing hide and seek.

San Angelo Maps Scout Changes

SAN ANGELO (AP) — A sweeping reorganizational plan has been announced here by officials of the Concho Valley Council, Boy Scouts.

Studies begun here in 1965 have been completed under direction of San Angelo businessman Frank Pool. After results were learned, council heads have called for expansion of the present 5,651 members to a proposed 8,097, an increase in the professional staff and the construction in San Angelo of a new scout executive building. Plans call for changes in district lines, according to scout executive Vincent Hobbs.

Texas Suffers Wind Erosion

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than twice as much land in the Great Plains was damaged by wind erosion during the season ending May 31 as in the previous season.

A U.S. Soil Conservation Service report put the damaged land at 2.4 million acres, compared with nearly 1.3 million the previous season.

Land damaged in the Northern Great Plains was put at 853,373 acres, compared with 316,767 in the preceding season, while that in the Southern Great Plains was 1.5 million and 839,800, respectively.

Texas suffered the most—some 881,630 acres, compared with 615,070 the previous season.

"States reported emergency tillage and vegetative conservation practices helped to reduce land damage," the service said.

"Lack of precipitation and local extreme drought in the Southern Great Plains and an unusual cold, wet spring retarding vegetative growth in the Northern Plains states contributed greatly to the wind erosion problem."

Bridge Test

—CHARLES H. GOREN

BY CHARLES H. GOREN

(10 1967 by The Chicago Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as

South you hold:

♠K6 ♠642 ♠KQ3 ♠J9874

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—This hand is a little too good for a simple raise in clubs.

Some mild effort should be made to encourage partner to go on, and the best choice is one no trump which, over a club, indicates from 9 to 11 points.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable,

you hold:

♠5 ♠72 ♠A93 ♠KJ10883

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

Pass 1♣ 3♦ ?

What do you bid?

A.—East's preempt has jammed up the bidding and your best action is somewhat of a guess.

Three no trump seems a reasonable choice on the ground that nine tricks should be easier to win than 11.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable,

as South you hold:

♠Q83 ♠AK ♠108654 ♠QJ3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two no trump. Normally a count of 13 points is required for a jump to two no trump, but after a previous pass this action may be taken with 11 or 12. A jump to three diamonds is not recommended, because partner with a doubtful holding in the major suits may not be able to bid no trump.

Q. 4—You are vulnerable,

the opponents have a 30 part score, and as South you hold:

♠AKJ10865 ♠AK ♠K10932

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

Pass 1♣ 2♣ Pass

2♥ 3♣ 3♣ 4♣

Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. While we are disciplined to override a double at this level, we feel that partner in this sequence might not visualize a seven-card spade suit. If he has as much as the Jack of diamonds for us, we can score a vulnerable game. On the other hand it might prove that the opposition can be punished no more than 100 points.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable,

you hold:

♠632 ♠84 ♠10973 ♠AQ64

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass 1♣ Dble. Pass

2♣ Pass 3♥ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four hearts. Two small trumps are not considered adequate support on which to offer a raise, but North's bid shows at least a good six-card suit and our six points should be enough to produce a reasonable play for game.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as

South you hold:

♠AQ1083 ♠4 ♠KQ852 ♠32

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1♥ Pass 1♣ Pass

2♣ Pass 2♦ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—We would advise you to quit while the quitting is good.

This is obviously a misfit and the best place to play such hands is at as low a level as is convenient.

One more bid by you may start a barrage of doubles from the enemy.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable,

as South you hold:

♠542 ♠AK3 ♠K10865 ♠AK

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1NT Pass 3♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Generally in this situation a raise is offered to partner, but with all our values located in the other suits we would prefer to bid three no trump and await developments. If partner's hand is highly unbalanced he may take control of the situation himself.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as

South you hold:

♠842 ♠KJ7542 ♠8 ♠Q83

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1♣ 2♦ Pass ?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. A two heart bid is not recommended. Partner has described a hand whose virtues are to be found principally in the diamond suit. If he were interested in hearts, he would have doubled first and then shown his diamonds.
