Congress Busy With Peacetime Programs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Congress concerned itself today with the hero of Bataan and the culprit—if any—of Pearl Harbor. It starts the first full week of its "reconversion" session by formally receiving Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright and discussing a resolution for a congressional investigation into the military disaster of Dec. 7, 1941.

Otherwise on Capitol Hill there was talk on such diverse subjects as a peacetime navy, surplus property, airports, wages and hours, the atomic bomb and presidential appointments.

General Wainwright, who finally surrendered the Philippines to the Japanese after a valiant fight, was scheduled to make personal appearances in both the senate and the house.

This was the situation on other matters: Peacetime navy—Congress heard today that the navy wants a post-war fleet of 1,079 fighting ships—just 229 less than it has now.

Surplus property—High on the house calendar is a bill to replace the three-man surplus property disposal board with a single administrator.

Airports—Although the senate has no "must" bill ready for action, it may be asked to consider a measure designed to spur civilian airport development. The bill, following in general presidential thinking along that line, would authorize the government to spend $500,000,000 in the next five years to build 3,000 new flying fields and repair about 1,500 others.

Wages and hours—Senator Aiken (R-Vt) will pin-hit for his democratic colleague, Senator Pepper (Pa) in opening hearings on a proposal to hike the minimum wage standard from 40 to 65 cents an hour.

Appointments—Capitol Hill confidently expects Mr. Truman to appoint Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson to the supreme court vacancy left when Justice Owen J. Roberts resigned.

City Gives Week To Clean Up Lots

Residents of Big Spring have through this week to get their premises cleaned up to par according to the city ordinances, city officials said Monday. After that if checks show violations of the law, court appearance notices will be given.

E. J. McDaniel, city manager, said that still 80 per cent of garbage containers have no covers. Health officials are also finding stock lots in bad condition.

"A decided improvement has been made over the city," said the city manager, "but there is still much to be done in our city sanitary campaign."

By the end of the week, officials expect to finish spraying with the DDT. Beginning today a number of the pit toilets and stock lots will be re-treated with the insecticide.

Expected to arrive this week to assist Sam Landrum, sanitarian with the state health department in the temporary laboratory set up here are Dr. S. W. Bohls, Dr. I. V. Irons, and Neal Randolph, all of Austin.

Few Arrests Made Over Quiet Weekend

City policemen had an uneventful week-end with few arrests and several minor investigations. Jack Johnson told officers that the spare tire was stolen from his car Saturday either from the country club or his home.

Paul Atwell told policemen that his black Ford pickup was stolen Saturday at 11 p. m.

In city court Monday morning seven drunks were fined, one man was booked on charges of reckless driving and two were picked up for unlawful train riding.

Tojo Won't Talk Of His Defense Plans

By MURLIN SPENCER and RUSSELL BRINES (Copyright 1945 By The Associated Press)
TOKYO, Sept. 10 (AP)—Gen. Hideki Tojo, who as Japan's warring premier launched the attack on Pearl Harbor, declared in an exclusive interview today that the American victors now could fix responsibility for starting the war but that history might disagree.

The shaven-headed one-time terror of Asia, who now is living quietly on his comfortable farm outside Tokyo, refused flatly to discuss such questions as whether he expected to be tried as a war criminal and what defense he was preparing, but was willing to talk of many things, in moods ranging from steely-eyed impassivity to hearty laughter.

A little earlier, a formerly high-placed Japanese politician had told us that Tojo expected to be tried as a war criminal and hoped to accuse President Roosevelt of being the world's top war criminal, then commit suicide in traditional hara-kiri fashion. Of this Tojo himself sharply refused to speak.

His whole attitude he expressed in this statement: "Real soldiers fight to the finish in the field. War ends when peace is declared. Each respects an enemy who fights hard and cleanly and so MacArthur has the respect of myself as well as the Japanese people."

Tojo said we were the first Americans he had seen since Japan's surrender.

Asked who was responsible for starting the war, the man who was premier and virtual dictator of Japan from before Pearl Harbor until the Americans took Saipan, replied: "You are the victors and you are able to name him now. But historians 500 to 1,000 years from now may judge differently."

Changing the subject, he said that he himself had narrowly escaped death May 25 when a Superfortress fire raid ringed his house with flames.

We were taken to the palace by Jujiro K. Kasai, a liberal parliamentarian who was graduated from the University of Chicago in 1913 and who acted as interpreter for us.

Other sources reported that Tojo had amassed a fortune of millions of yen during his tenure of office, most of it coming from the illicit opium trade in China, where high generals acted as couriers to take the drug from north China to Shanghai markets.

Despite his power, Tojo's downfall was a foregone conclusion to the Japanese after the loss of Saipan. These sources said that for days after the island was lost, Tojo's telephone rang and anonymous voices asked his wife, "Hann't Tojo committed hara-kiri yet?"

When we arrived at Tojo's house our interpreter wrote our names on a card and asked a young man to deliver it to Tojo. He departed with a deep bow, but returned quickly to say that Tojo would not see us.

Kasai refused to take no for an answer from the man who once could have thrown him readily into secret torture chambers.

Carrying the card, he walked into the garden and motioned us to follow. Tojo, sitting on his chair, had his back to us and was unaware of our approach until we were within a few feet. Kasai then told him the purpose of our visit.

Tojo shook his shaven head vigorously. His face was set and stern. We stood there.

Finally, with a slight shrug he permitted introductions and held out his hand.

This would-be Napoleon of the Orient is only 5 feet, 4 inches and appears to weigh about 120 pounds. Nevertheless, he is stocky and appears strong for his 61 years.

Tojo obviously was highly displeased by our intrusion and curtly declined to discuss the war.

Then he apparently decided to make the best of the situation by employing repartee. Throughout life he has done this, with a mental keenness and ability at subterfuge that won him the army nickname of "Razor Brain."

We told Tojo that he was more widely known in America than any other Japanese except the emperor.

"With a keen glance he shot back, 'for good or for bad?'"

He threw back his head and laughed lustily, showing a mouthful of gold teeth. He laughed repeatedly, but each time his face slid smoothly back into the graven impassivity so familiar in his photographs.

After cigarettes, he rose and escorted us to the road where he immediately expressed interest in our jeep, saying it was the first he had ever seen and asking immediately, "Can it be carried by airplane?"

We assured him that it could and drove off.

MacArthur Dissolves Jap General Staff

TOKYO, Sept. 10 (AP)—General MacArthur struck Japanese militarism a death blow today by ordering the imperial general headquarters abolished and simultaneously clamped a press and radio censorship on the beaten empire.

As supreme commander he issued a directive that the headquarters must dissolve by Sept. 13. General headquarters was set up in 1940 a few months before Pearl Harbor to coordinate army and navy activity.

The blow at the Japanese general staff will erase the last symbol of Japanese aggressiveness. It was the tactical organization of the entire military setup.

Even as this order was issued by MacArthur, Japanese demobilization was already well under way and trains loaded with hundreds of unarmed soldiers and naval personnel in the home islands were on their way home.

The censorship for Japanese press and radio pledged there would be a minimum of restrictions on freedom of speech. It was contained in a directive issued to the Japanese government. As a result overseas broadcasts from Tokyo radio stations were reported by American public relations officers to be off the air.

MacArthur simultaneously issued two statements from his new headquarters in the U. S. embassy in Tokyo. One pledged that Japanese militarism would be eliminated. The other assured his troops they would go home as soon as peace could be made secure.

In his first statement he explained that the Japanese would rule themselves, subject to his orders and with occupation troops ready to enforce his decisions if necessary.

He warned his own troops to respect the rights of Japanese: "Looting, pillage, rape... would be but a stain on your own honor."

To the Japanese, he announced that freedom of speech, press, religion and assembly would be encouraged, and limited only by the demands of military security.

A light censorship was placed over Japanese newspapers Sunday, but there has been no attempt to control their editorials or propaganda.

Occupation troops will be sent home, MacArthur said, "as speedily and as effectively as the consolidation and securing of peace can be accomplished through orderly occupation of Japan and the demobilization of Japanese armed forces."

The date will depend to a great extent upon how the troops carry out their occupation duties, he added, reminding them that "we fought and won a war to protect the rights of the individual... for all peoples of the world."

MacArthur's headquarters reported the Japanese government would be called upon to hand over war criminals when wanted. There was no indication of urgency, since it was felt they would be unable to escape from Japan.

The Eighth army announced that army agents were preparing their net for "a few" Americans in Japan suspected of aiding the enemy. Eichelberger reported that 11,322 war prisoners have thus far been released and evacuated—or held in Japan. More than 6,000 of them have started home.

Disarming of Japanese military forces, scheduled to be finished by mid-October, is proceeding "very well," he said. The Nippon Times reported approximately 686,000 Japanese army troops in the home islands already have been demobilized. The paper estimated it would require three years for total demobilization of the more than 3,000,000 Japanese troops overseas.

MAY REMOVE SUBSIDIES
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 10 (AP)—Subsidies on cattle may be removed by April 1, 1946, Clinton P. Anderson, secretary of agriculture, said today.

Needed Showers Fall In Lamesa Vicinity
LAMESA, Sept. 10 (Sp)—Thunder showers, starting at about 3.30 a. m., poured out an inch or urgently needed moisture here today.

The fall was general over most of the county and farmers reported it was enough to be of great benefit to the late feed, which Dawson county has in its greatest abundance this year due to earlier drouth.

Four Prisoners Killed—Nagasaki Deaths Mount
By VERN HAUGLAND
NAGASAKI, Japan, Sept. 10 (AP)—The second and last atomic bomb dropped by the Americans turned half of this city of 250,000 population into a desert of rubble.

Of this city, comparable in size to San Antonio, Tex., or Providence, R. I., nothing remains in the three-mile-long and two-mile-wide business district except debris.

The havoc caused by the atomic bomb dropped on Nagasaki Aug. 9 was much greater than the first dropped on Hiroshima three days earlier.

The smell of death still is heavy over the city and smoke rises from fires started a month ago by the single bomb.

Authorities in Nagasaki now estimate that 26,000 persons have died, 40,000 were wounded and that 10 to 20 victims are dying daily.

The spot where the bomb exploded, an area a half a mile square, was swept almost clean. A mile across the valley from the bomb center houses were pushed out of line and lean drunkenly along the street.

There was no crater, and, contrary to previous reports, Japanese in Nagasaki said the bomb exploded about 1,500 feet above the ground.

Nearly every building in the industrial half of the city was wiped out in the explosion. Large areas of trees were burned from surrounding hills which are now bare and brown.

Local authorities said all buildings within a range of six miles received some damage.

In this valley of death, a few families have started to move back, setting up shacks. Others have left signs in front of their former homes telling friends where they may be found.

One prisoner of war said that 200 Allied prisoners were very close to the center of the blast and that only four were killed. But two other prisoners, he said, died 20 days later from peculiar symptoms—jaws locked, throats swelling, high fever and pain and skin hemorrhages.

Governors Dine On Stevenson's Fishing
DENISON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The governors of three states met in a fellowship session on Lake Texoma yesterday and later dined on fish caught by Governor Coke Stevenson of Texas.

They were Gov. Stevenson, Governor Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma and Governor Andrew Schoepel of Kansas. They were guests of the U. S. Engineers and the city of Denison.

They inspected the $55,000,000 Denison dam reservoir.

Although most of the 90,000 acre lake lies in Oklahoma, Gov. Stevenson brought fishing permits for the other two governors.

"I had to guess at your descriptions," Gov. Stevenson said.

Gov. Kerr challenged the length of some of the fish caught by Gov. Stevenson, and once measured a fish with a ruler.

Today Gov. Stevenson was called to Austin by business, but the Oklahoma and Kansas governors remained for an afternoon fishing trip.

Rice Nominated To Federal Judgeship
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—President Truman today nominated Ben H. Rice, Jr., of Waco, Tex., to be federal judge for the western district of Texas succeeding the late Walter A. Keeling.

Rice, chief justice of the Texas tenth court of civil appeals at Waco since 1940, was endorsed by Senator Tom Connally of Texas and recommended to the president by Attorney General Tom C. Clark.

Senator W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas had endorsed to Clark Gov. Coke R. Stevenson of Texas for the job.

The president also nominated for reappointment Stanford C. Stiles as U. S. marshal for eastern Texas, and Guy McNamara as U. S. marshal for western Texas.

Rice is the son of the late Judge Ben H. Rice, Sr., who was for 11 years associate member of the third court of appeals at Austin.

Quisling Convicted, Sentenced To Death For High Treason
LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Oslo radio announced today that Vidkun Quisling had been convicted of charges of high treason and condemned to death.

The pronouncing of the sentence by the court that tried Quisling for cooperation with the Germans during the occupation of Norway was broadcast direct from the courtroom.

Under the new law legalizing the death penalty in Norway, the sentence will be executed by a military firing squad composed of 10 soldiers firing 10 bullets.

Under the law Quisling can appeal to the supreme court which can commute the sentence but cannot reverse it.

The presiding judge at Quisling's trial, however, was Erik Solem who also is a supreme court justice and thus one of the group which would pass on any appeal.

Unless Quisling is held for purposes of giving evidence in other war crimes cases, it is likely the execution will be carried out within three weeks.

He was charged with turning over Norwegian defense data to the Germans, and on the day of the invasion, April 9, 1940, it was charged he went to the government offices and personally telephoned certain garrisons and gave instructions not to resist the Nazis.

Koreans Slapped In Face As Japs Remain In Office
By JOHN GROVER and RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
SEOUL (Kellijo), Korea, Sept. 10 (AP)—Korea was a potential powder keg today after American occupation forces moved in and announced that Japanese administrative officials would remain in office—but would be under direct orders from Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, commander of the 24th army corps.

Koreans, jubilant in expectation of quick freedom under American occupancy after having been dominated by the Japanese nearly half a century, termed the army's administrative decision "a slap in the face."

Demonstrations broke out in the capital and political factions plastered the city with posters of protest.

Two Koreans were killed and 10 wounded by Japanese as they paraded, unarmed and carrying small American flags, to greet American occupation forces at Jin-sen. Koreans charged the Japanese fired without provocation.

In Tokyo, General MacArthur proclaimed today that any act to disturb the peace in Korea, or any hostilities there against occupation troops, would be punishable by death or such other punishment as the occupation authorities determine.

Hodge told the islanders that their desire for immediate independence cannot be granted because of the danger of political chaos among their own factions.

"In effect, I am the Korean government during the transition period," Hodge said, "I am making use of the Japanese governmental machinery because it is the most efficient way of operating now."

Tired Wainwright Arrives In Capital
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—A tired but triumphant Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright returned today to the acclaim of the nation's capital—and a wife who wept with joy.

The hero of Corregidor after a few years' parting that included the trials of Bataan and the horrors of Japanese prisons, arrived at the capital's National airport at 11:26 a. m. (CWT).

First to greet him was the missus, "Kitty."

As the plane came in to a stop, Mrs. Wainwright ran forward to the plane door, her hands outstretched.

As soon as the door was opened she rushed up several steps to meet the general as he descended.

The couple embraced and Wainwright gave his wife a genuine smack.

Mrs. Wainwright came down from the ramp to stand with bowed head and hands clasped in front of her, weeping with joy and overcome with emotion.

Among the first to greet Wainwright was Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff.

Wainwright was erect and eager-eyed, although still weak from imprisonment. He carried a cane but used it only a little, indicating his strength is returning fast.

From the airport he drove to the Pentagon to report to his boss, Secretary of War Stimson.

The army commander who fought the Japanese on Bataan against overwhelming odds until his small force ran out of ammunition was accompanied here by four comrades who shared the ordeal with him.

They were Brig. Gen. Lewis C. Beebe, Wainwright's chief of staff, Lt. Col. John R. Pugh and Lt. Col. Thomas Dooley of McKinney, Tex.

Final Action Waits Debate Tuesday In Pearl Harbor Case
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—Final action on legislation calling for a congressional investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster was deferred today by the house until tomorrow.

At the suggestion of Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts the house set aside one hour to debate the proposal tomorrow, with the understanding amendments could be offered freely.

Republicans have served notice they would offer an amendment to give them equal representation on the investigating committee.

As passed unanimously by the senate last week, the legislation calls for an inquiry by a ten-member committee, three democrats and two republicans from each branch. House republicans want three from each party from each branch.

Interest in the case was heightened by two other questions:

1. Whether Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, naval commander at the Pacific bastion when the Japanese struck, will request the court martial the navy has offered him.

2. Whether still secret navy documents should be made public against official wishes.

Those two questions were raised over the weekend as the result of a letter from Secretary of the Navy Forrestal to Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) of the senate naval committee.

Resort To Cannibalism—Japs Eat Yank Flesh
By The Associated Press
The Australian government in an official statement declared today that Japanese soldiers ate the flesh of American prisoners of war after they had been used for bayonet practice.

In other parts of the Far East stories of other brutal Japanese treatment came to light as hundreds of American prisoners reached safety and told of their existence in Japanese hell camps.

In an official document made public today Australian authorities disclosed that the Japanese had "resorted to cannibalism" against Allied prisoners.

The atrocity report said that Japanese soldiers tied the hands of captured American and Australian soldiers behind them, used the helpless men for bayonet practice and then while they were still alive sliced off their flesh for food.

The atrocity report was prepared for submission to the United Nations War Crimes Commission. From authentic evidence it was established that the prisoners were eaten and in some cases, the report said, human flesh was found in Japanese mess kits or over camp fires. The report contained confessions from Japanese soldiers who admitted they cut up and ate Allied prisoners.

The document also told how two Americans were given the Japanese "back bend." Their hands were tied behind their backs and to their ankles with their feet being bent back.

In other parts of Japan, China, Manchuria and Korea, American authorities continued to evacuate American prisoners from Japanese camps and rush them to medical centers.

At half a dozen Far East ports, Americans were being placed aboard homeward-bound ships.

More than 500 prisoners in northern Kyushu have liberated themselves and are roaming the southernmost Japanese home island awaiting the arrival of occupation troops.

U. S. navy rescue teams gathered up 908 internees, veterans of Bataan, Corregidor, Hong Kong and Singapore, from three war camps in the Nagoya area.

Charles Johnson Could Qualify As Motor Doctor

From Big Spring it is about 10 miles to Charles E. (Charlie) Johnson's garage on US 80 at Coahoma, but many local people find it a saving in time to make the short trip to get Johnson to do their work. While Johnson's work is such that it keeps him occupied, his schedule is not so overcrowded but what he gives special emphasis to getting rush jobs out as quickly as possible.

Mechanical repairs and rebuilding have been life-long habits with Charlie Johnson since he began tinkering with his first model T as a youth near Roswell, N. M. He has seen the evolution in motors and because of his step-by-step experience with each development in automotive power, Charlie Johnson might well qualify as a "doctor of motors." He can check the "symptoms" of any ailing machine and quickly diagnose the trouble and prescribe the cure.

His ability is not restricted to passenger car and truck motors, for Johnson also is familiar with the problems peculiar to tractor motors. Thus, he has built a flourishing trade in tractor repairs. No few farmers have been able to keep going at critical periods for their crops because Johnson could step in and correct their motor troubles.

In addition to his mechanical work, Johnson stocks Standard Oil products, including new gasoline that is more powerful than the best pre-war products, quality greases and 100 per cent pure Pennsylvania Pennzoil.

Thomas Ready To Reconvert

During the past five years when office machinery was so difficult to obtain, the Thomas Typewriter Exchange has specialized in office supplies. Not only were the necessary supplies made readily available, but Thomas' kept old pre-war machinery in good operating order by expert repair.

New typewriters, adding machines, duplicators and other office machinery restrictions are lifted so Thomas Typewriter may now take orders, and factories will ship them as the orders are dated. Eugene Thomas, owner, said Monday that priorities are no longer necessary, but the machines will be sold according to the time the order is placed.

Royal typewriters and R. C. Allen and Victor adding machine orders are being accepted. At the present time very few of either machines have been received, but from all indications the orders which have been received by the factories will be delivered to the customer by the first of the year.

One thing Thomas takes pride in is keeping the typewriters and other office machines in good serviceable condition. During the war there were so many more repairs and so much less help that at times a customer would have to wait longer for his machine to be repaired than in normal times. Now he promises within the near future that the repair department can turn out any machine quickly without sacrificing quality.

Items which are in demand and are available now are zipper two and three ring notebooks, and Thomas Typewriter is also headquarters for quality merchandise in school supplies.

"Employees of the Thomas Typewriter Exchange at 107 Main street, will be glad to have you stop by and look their merchandise over at any time," Thomas declared.

Nalley's Offers Residential Type Funeral Service

A residential type of funeral home in Big Spring is Nalley's, located at 906 Gregg. The home is a completely equipped and modernly appointed institution.

C. O. Nalley, owner and operator, established his funeral home in 1938 to serve Big Spring and West Texas. A reliable Burial Association Insurance is carried by the business at the lowest rates in West Texas. Among the first to organize in West Texas, Nalley has paid over 150 claims in Texas and other states.

An air conditioner has recently been added to the chapel to make it more comfortable for those in bereavement. When the sad moments come and a loved one has departed one can visit Nalley's and receive from them the type of conscientious and sympathetic treatment that is needed most in such a sorrowful hour.

It is a matter of satisfaction to know that Nalley's always knows what should be done and is prepared to render the most desirable kind of funeral service.

Nalley's carry a complete line of metal caskets, vaults and wood caskets; also for the family's selection many ladies' dresses and men's suits.

The funeral home furnishes two ambulances for public convenience which may be obtained by calling 175.

Nalley is assisted by his wife and Vernon Esterling, embalmer, and M. L. Clements, assistant embalmer.

Brooks Big Winner In Frontier Rodeo

COLORADO CITY, Sept. 10—Nolan county's Louis Brooks, world champion all-around cowboy, showed how he earned his spurs and title in Colorado City's Frontier Roundup and rodeo which closed Saturday night with the third and last performance. The 1945 stanza of the annual show was the most successful of a series of ten yearly rodeos. Brooks was champion of finals in three events — bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, and steer wrestling.

Produced by Earl and Jack Sellers of Del Rio, who furnished stock, the show was this town's first strictly professional cowboy celebration. Only one contest, jackpot roping for Mitchell county men, was open to cowhands of amateur standing.

Jess Slaughter of Big Spring was the show's champion professional roper for the three performances with two calves tied in 24 seconds. S. G. Russell of Merkel was second with 34.7. A thrilling 14 seconds flat demonstrated by Mansfield, world's champion roper, Friday night, failed to off-set a 30.3 for the opening performance.

Stamp 37 by-passed and will not be validated. Shots—Book Three airplane stamps 1, 2, 3 and 4 good indefinitely. OPA says no plans to cancel any of these stamps.

The all-around champion, Brooks of Sweetwater, rode his way to first money in bareback bronc busting Saturday evening. J. B. Hunter of Roscoe was second in the last night bareback riding.

Fastest time of the entire show was credited to Buck McDougle of Big Spring when in the final steer wrestling event he was clocked at 9.6 seconds at steer wrestling. Brooks was second with 15.3 and finals winner.

Petite Mary Harris of Odessa out-sat Christine Northcutt, Colorado City favorite, to win the musical chairs contest. Nell Snyder of Melvin was third, Jeannette Hightower of Garden City, fourth. Gate receipts hit a high mark in

Dischargee In Limelight With No-Hit Pitching

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The stirring big league pennant races were forced to share the spotlight today with a 21-year-old Canadian army dischargee who returned to the baseball front only 24 days ago.

The former soldier, Dick Fowler, right-handed hurler of the Philadelphia Athletics, celebrated his first 1945 starting assignment for the Mackmen yesterday by hurling the season's first no-hitter to whip the St. Louis Browns 1-0 in the second game of a double header. The A's also won the opener 6-2.

Claude Passeau, in rare form, prostrated the Hubmen 9-1 and 4-0.

The Redbirds had to win theirs the hard way. After coming from behind to sneak in with the opener 5-4, they made it two successive one-run decisions over the New York Giants by winning the second 3-2.

The season's record crowd of 72,152, 65,534 paid, saw ex-gob Bob Feller outpitched ex-GI Spud Chandler to pave the way for a Cleveland 10-3 and 4-3 double win over the New York Yankees at the Yankee Stadium, and practically eliminate the Bronxites from any flag consideration.

In the other twin bills, Cincinnati came from behind twice to win both contests from Brooklyn 6-5 and 6-4, needing 10 innings to take the first. Al Lakeman drove in the winning runs in both contests. The Phils and Pirates split. After Walter (Boom Boom) Beck gained his sixth straight triumph for Pittsburgh 4-3 in the opener, Philadelphia jumped on three Buc hurlers for 24 hits and a 14-3 decision in the nightcap.

Slammin' Sammy To Put On Show After Winning Dallas Tournament

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Sept. 10 (AP)—Slammin' Sammy of the Virginia Smeads, sub, hid himself down to tempo today to give a golfing exhibition for the wounded veterans of McCloskey General hospital, $2,000 in war bonds tucked in his pocket for winning the Dallas open.

Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., who finished seventh in yesterday's tournament windup, also will go to McCloskey hospital to demonstrate golf shots to the veterans, but other members of the touring professional links troupe, except Byron Nelson, who has a dinner date in Fort Worth, were on the way to Tulsa to participate in an invitation tournament scheduled to open Thursday.

Snead registered his fourth sub-par round—a four-under 68—on the Dallas country club course yesterday in finishing with a total of 276 for the 72 holes. That was 12 under par for the four rounds and the drawing Hot Springs, Va., stylist boasted a four-stroke lead over that habitual runner-up, Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Sanford, Me. In third place with 281 was Nelson, the Toledo, O., umbrella man who is golf's leading money winner, while little Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., was fourth with 285. The fifth spot went to an amateur, Wally Ulrich of Brooks Field, San Antonio, who had 287.

Vet Favors Giving A-Bomb To Council

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—A soldier-turned-lawmaker said today the secret of the atomic bomb should be passed on to the World Security Council to strengthen its hand in maintaining peace.

Rep. Lyle (D-Tex.), who was elected to congress while fighting the nazis, disagrees with Senator Connally (D-Tex) on that matter. Connally, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, said Saturday he thought the United States should retain the secret but provide the Security Council with bombs and an adequate air force.

State To Crackdown On Drivers Permits

AUSTIN, Sept. 10 (AP)—The state police plan to crack down on the 250,000 Texans who have no automobile driver's licenses, or whose permits have expired.

Saying it was not a matter of revenue or red tape, Director Homer Garrison of the department of public safety announced that a vigorous enforcement campaign would be started to "keep people from being maimed or killed."

"The deliberately evasive person is likely to be dangerous, either because of known incompetence or, in the case of any new residents and new drivers, ignorance of Texas safety rules," Garrison said.

Lyle, a former army major, predicted a mad race between nations to develop and improve the bomb if the secret is not turned over to the world organization.

"We would be stupid to think we could keep this secret to ourselves," he said in an interview. "It is inevitable that other nations will work out the answer. We have no monopoly on scientific brains."

Nelson has $53,537 while McSpaden is second with $23,765. Sam Byrd of Detroit, who did not play here, is fourth with $15,256 and Hogan, who has participated in only four tournaments, is next with $10,733.

Other leaders are: Jimmie Hines, Chicago, $7,866; Ghezzi, $7,356; Herman Barron, White Plains, N. Y., $6,957; Johnny Bulla, Atlanta, Ga., $6,433.

Connally said he thought the United States should tie up all sources of uranium and other elements necessary to the manufacture of the bomb, as well as holding the secret of its production.

Chick Genovese, center fielder for the Louisville Colonels, yesterday closed out his second American Association season with a record that perhaps never will be touched by another player.

After the tournament at Tulsa the professionals will go to Spokane Sept. 21-23, to Portland Sept. 24-26, Tacoma Oct. 4-7 and Seattle Oct. 11-14, then will go to Richmond Nov. 2-4 to start the fall-winter tour.

There was some improvement in prospects in the northwest districts and the backlands, but offsetting losses occurred in East Texas and the coastal area, where the crop was damaged by the hurricane.

Hot Fielder Holds On To That Baseball

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 10 (AP)—Chick Genovese, center fielder for the Louisville Colonels, yesterday closed out his second American Association season with a record that perhaps never will be touched by another player.

Genovese played in every one of the Colonels' 154 games this year, missing only a total of nine innings, without making an error. He had 73 errorless games last year with Louisville, making a total of 227 flawless games. In that time he handled 513 chances and made 499 putouts without an error.

AUSTIN, Sept. 10 (AP)—Cotton prospects shifted in some districts, but the statewide outlook for production of 2,100,000 bales for 1945 remained generally unchanged as of Sept. 1, the United States department of agriculture reported today.

The prospective production of 2,100,000 bales compares with 2,646,000 last year, and the 10-year (1934-43) average of 3,112,000. Yield per acre will average out of approximately 162 pounds which is slightly better than the 10-year average, the USDA said.

Colorado Wolves To Open Season Friday

COLORADO CITY, Sept. 10—Colorado City Wolves, class A high school footballers, will open the season with a non-conference game against Kermit high school to be played on Cantrill Field here Friday night, it has been announced by "Soc" Walker, coach, and Clark Prather, new assistant coach for the Wolves.

Twenty-six men are reporting for scrimmage with 17 of that number lettermen. Forming the backbone of the team will be two three-year lettermen, Ocie Lambeth and Rodney Tiller both backfield men who starred last season.

Three two-year lettermen, Richard Thomas, back, Truman Bodine, back, and Reginald ("High-Pockets") Bolding, end, are also on the first string as promising material for wins.

Thomas Biggs, who lettered last year in the end position, is back along with Don Shepperd, guard, and one-year letterman, and Lindy Merkett, backfield man. Don Benson, sophomore and younger brother of Lee Benson, a Wolf star last year, has earned himself a place on the regulars as back.

The Nation Today— Those Wartime Habits Of Thrift Can Make Reconversion Easier

By ARTHUR EDSON
(Substituting for James Marlow)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The road to reconversion can be as bumpy as a war path.

"What can you do to help smooth it?"

Here's the answer, given today by government officials:

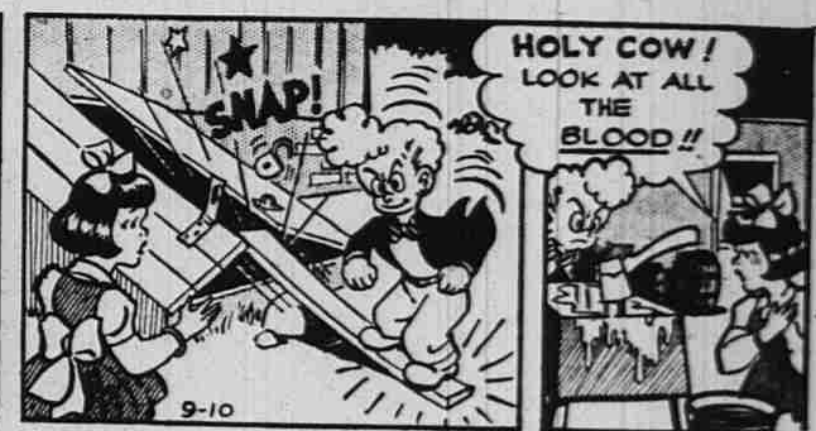

First, keep doing some of the things you have been doing. Keep on buying war bonds. There still is more money than goods.

War bonds not only are a good investment, but every $18.75 taken out of circulation is an $18.75 sock at inflation.

Inflation (which means that everything you buy costs more than it's worth) is the villain that often precedes a depression. Keep buying.

Keep on saving waste paper, fats and oils, and especially tin cans.

The War Production Board will quit sponsoring paper collection drives about Sept. 30. Possibly

Peacetime Travelers See Changes In Texas

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

Those lucky enough to take a trip through Texas by car have noticed an encouraging smoothness in the change from war to peace.

Here are a few examples:

Service stations are reopening by the hundreds. Many are operated by service men now discharged, enthusiastic over their first business.

Detours have returned as highway repairs, long needed, get underway. New highways, also, are being built.

Towns smell of fresh paint. Store fronts are being remodeled. Homes are being painted. New buildings are going up with surprising suddenness.

An occasional traveling salesman is seen.

Shelves are beginning to bulge with such things as cigarettes again.

Menus printed during the war show signs of peace—in the smaller places such items as T-bone steaks have been added in pencil or ink. Larger restaurants, of course, have reprinted menus to include the new dishes.

Large signs on now-vacant buildings proclaim the imminent opening of war-closed non-essential businesses such as sporting goods stores.

Everywhere there is a heart-warming courtesy. "It'll take a long time to get completely used to it after long war years of short tempers and short stocks which resulted in an un-Texas-like gruffness.

But one still sees signs of hardships. Like the farmer near Dallas who, through peace and war, has grimly kept five lightning rods on his house, three on his barn.

Problems Of Employment

Considerable debate now centers around the so-called full-employment bill, and that phase of it which provides jobless benefits up to $25 for 26 weeks...

The objective of employment for all who are able and willing to work is one of those theories on which most people are in agreement. The practical application of it, however, stems into as many directions as the spokes from a hub.

Chief views are that 1) private industry should be geared to furnish jobs to virtually all who desire to work, or that 2) the government will make more jobs or pay benefits to those who are unable to find work.

Again, there is agreement that it is far better for business to provide the jobs for such jobs represent productive activity and mean more jobs, too, as business expands and needs more manpower...

Thus, business is entitled to some tax relief. It is entitled to a clearer picture of its future in order to encourage investment and expansion. It also is entitled to considerable relaxation of multiple restrictions and form-fillings.

However, practical experience would indicate that there may be a surplus of manpower before business can become geared to peak production. There may not be enough jobs to go around.

Arguments in favor of the $25 per week center around a payment large enough not only to permit the individual to subsist, but to have an ample amount to keep his family going until he finds work.

The chief argument, however, is that the $25 per week payment would encourage loafing. Unfortunately, there are a lot of people to whom $25 per week would represent a good living by pre-war...

With The News

by Dewitt Mackenzie AP Foreign News Analyst

The big five council of foreign ministers, meeting in London tomorrow, will in effect constitute a clinic which will give Europe a drastic overhauling and determine the real state of peace's health.

This council was established at the Potsdam meeting of the Big Three. The nucleus, of course, is America, Russia and Britain—to which France and China were added. The task assigned the council was "to continue the necessary work for the peace settlement."

Now the very nature of this assignment means that the foreign ministers are bound to uncover any weaknesses in the relations of the big five. Of special moment will be the status of the relationship among the Big Three, upon whom so largely depends the maintenance of world peace.

This is to say, the affairs of Italy are so complicated that other problems likely will have to be solved before a treaty can be drawn up. The way things look now, the badly tangled skeins of Balkan politics will have to be straightened out, and that is one of the hot-spots where Russia, on the one hand, and the Anglo-American allies, on the other, don't see eye to eye.

This whole argument revolves about the spread of communism in eastern and southeastern Europe. It will have to be ironed out, and so far as one can see it will fall to the council of foreign ministers to do it, for their clinic not only will diagnose but prescribe.

standards. With that in sight, they would be less anxious to take employment unless it fit individual specifications. Administration of such liberal benefits would have to be extremely efficient to avoid contributing to idleness at a time the nation will be in need of productive hands.

Jobless benefits are worthwhile, but we view them much in the same light as old age assistance, etc., namely that it should be a subsistence payment—not a pension as so many people hold it to be.

The Timid Soul

EVER SINCE MR. MILQUETOAST READ ABOUT THE JAP BALLOONS

With The AEF: "So That's What Went With Vaudeville!"

By HAL BOYLE WITH AMERICAN MARINES ON JAPAN, (AP)—Japanese tee-hee:

The best wisecrack of the occupation of Japan was made by a hardfaced leatherneck the day of the original landing. Marines had waded ashore on Futtsu peninsula in Tokyo Bay still uncertain whether all would be as peaceful as portended. Their rifles were loaded and they carried the usual supply of grenades, mortars and other "Jap convincers."

After a long, hot weary walk we came to the enemy's army training camp in the central one of three forts on the peninsula. It had been evacuated and only two officers and an interpreter were waiting to turn the fort over to the marines, who were hot and disgruntled and half wishing someone would start a fight anyway.

The interpreter was a retired chauffeur from Long Island. He was a grotesque figure with big ears soaring past his close cropped head and oversized bifocal glasses.

He wore a faded and wrinkled gray uniform several sizes too small for him. He had wrapped-around leggings on his bony calves and big floppy shoes that made him walk like a duck.

After inspecting the odd caricature for several minutes and listening to his sing-song English that sounded like a burlesque comedian imitating a Japanese butler, a perspiring leatherneck jammed his rifle butt to the ground and exclaimed: "Now I know what happened to vaudeville!"

Those who arranged the surrender ceremony aboard the battleship Missouri made a gesture of thrift in keeping with the new peacetime economy.

After describing in detail how each Allied and Japanese representative would sign the surrender documents, Col. H. Bennett Whipple added this warning note: "Each signator, if he desires to keep the pen used in signing, can do so by using his own."

Anti's Slow To Come Into Open

(Last Of Four Articles) By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Because nobody is in favor of unemployment, no Congressman is going to rush into print with a general denunciation of something called the Full Employment Bill.

The bill, as introduced in the Senate, has as its sponsors Sens. Murray (D-Mont.), Wagner (D-N.Y.), Thomas (D-Utah), O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), Morse (R-Ore.), Tobey (R-NH), Aiken (R-Vt.), and Langer (R-Ind.).

In the House the bill was introduced by Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex). No fewer than 70 representatives from 25 states have formed themselves into a "steering committee." As "co-authors and co-sponsors of H.R. 2202," they intend to see that it becomes law. As in the Senate, there are virtually no party lines.

However, don't think the bill won't get some negative votes if it comes to the floor as written now. The four Republican Senators mentioned above already have introduced amendments.

One amendment says that no measure or program shall be adopted which would "create unemployment or impede the improvement of the standard of living in other nations" or which would "contribute to economic conflicts among nations."

Another is a "Stabilization of Agriculture" clause. If these amendments are passed over, there might be the spectacle of four "sponsors" of a bill voting against it.

Already there is much argument over terminology of the bill, especially in the initial "declaration of responsibility" paragraphs. Sen. Warren R. Austin (R-Vt.) says he believes that the declaration clause should be toned down to make it clear the government has no intention of taking over industry by totalitarian methods.

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) has asked some rather pointed questions, indicating he isn't pleased by the terminology either. In San Francisco it wasn't any secret that some members of our delegation were unhappy about that clause in the United Nations charter that the United Nations "shall promote . . . full employment. . ."

It was the smaller-nations, Australia particularly, that got this flat-footed commitment in. Having approved the charter with only one dissent, the Senate already is overwhelmingly committed along these lines, as Secretary of State Byrnes has pointed out. Rep. George E. Outland (D-Calif.), who made such a thorough analysis of the bill before the House, says its critics fall into four groups: Those who think (1) the bill is dangerous, (2) unnecessary, (3) goes too far, (4) doesn't go far enough.

Mr. Outland, of course, doesn't think any of these objectives holds water. Some in the first group, still to be heard from, are saying off the record now that the President's annual report on the National Budget will have an unwarranted effect on the nation's business trends. A pessimistic forecast, they say, would hasten or perhaps precipitate an economic crack-up, while an optimistic one might cause a dangerous relaxation of vigilance.

Philip Murray, head of the CIO, already has placed himself on record as a member of the fourth group. He contends that specific measures should be taken to guarantee jobs for all. Mr. Murray, however, was criticizing, not opposing.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Army Unpopular With GI's, Railroads

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The Army is determined that returned European war veterans shall no longer appeal to congressmen or newspapermen to hasten their discharge from the Army or to protest redeployment to Japan for police duty.

Severe secret orders have just been issued to this effect over the signature of Brig. Gen. A. M. Gurney, chief of staff for Lieut. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall, commander of the Second Army. The order, which has been secretly circulated, reads:

"Recently members of a division in the United States scheduled for redeployment to the Pacific area appealed to the press and radio protesting against transfer of the division to the Pacific theater. . . . Action of this nature, if concerted, may subject participants to disciplinary action. . . ."

"Incidents such as noted in paragraph 3 above (the paragraph just quoted)," continued the secret order, "will be dealt with drastically by this headquarters and the commander concerned will be summarily relieved."

The division referred to probably was the 9th, stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss., which sent all sorts of appeals to newspapermen and radio commentators against being transferred from Europe to Japan. Apparently the protests worked, for the order to send the 9th to Japan was rescinded.

Those who traveled with President Truman on his various trips to Washington state and Potsdam found him a delightful and entertaining companion. One story they tell about Truman's trip to the northwest was regarding his salmon fishing off the Washington coast.

While the motor boat was chugging back to shore, Truman and his old senatorial friends, Governor Mon Wallgren and Senator Warren Magnuson of Washington, played poker. The stakes were low, but the thrifty Truman was trying hard to come out ahead. It was agreed that, no matter who was ahead, the game would stop the minute the boat hit shore.

So the president kept up a line of banter to the Norwegian skipper.

"Slow her down, Christiansen," he said, "I'm behind. I need a little extra time to catch up."

Or again, it was: "Speed her up, Christiansen, I'm ahead now. Let's get to shore before the governor catches up."

Finally, the motor boat touched shore with the president of the United States a few cents ahead. Skipper Christiansen was just as pleased as Truman.

OPA Crackdowns The justice department announced an important drive to crack down on black marketers and violators of OPA ceilings. Some people are now wondering whether the department's laudable move will fall by the wayside now that the war is over.

Those OPA prosecutions will come largely under the new assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, Theron Lamar Caudle. Mr. Caudle is a charming, likeable gentleman from Wadesboro, N. C., who was U. S. attorney for western North Carolina. Based on previous happenings in his district, it would appear that Mr. Caudle is not energetic in pressing for prosecution of OPA violations.

Last November, the Cox Lumber company in Caudle's home town of Wadesboro was prosecuted by the OPA for violating price regulations. The suit was for $450,000, and the OPA brought criminal charges.

However, the Cox Lumber Co.,

retained very distinguished counsel, Clyde Hoey, former governor of North Carolina, now U. S. senator and a good friend of Mr. Caudle. Mr. Hoey at that time was not actually serving as U. S. senator. He had been nominated, which is equivalent to election, but he had not taken the oath of office. Otherwise he would have violated the law which says a member of congress cannot handle a case against the U. S. government. However, Mr. Hoey, just before he officially became a senator, made some representations to justice department officials.

Suddenly the criminal case against Hoey's clients, the Cox Lumber Company, was dropped. There is no evidence that Caudle had anything to do with this. Subsequently, however, Hoey urged that his friend U. S. Attorney Caudle be promoted to the key job of assistant attorney general in Washington in charge of the justice department's criminal division. Caudle got the job. Now he is in charge, not merely of OPA violations in western North Carolina, but of OPA violations throughout the entire United States.

It will be interesting to watch him and see how he makes out. Note—OPA attorneys say the civil case against the Cox Lumber Co. has not yet gone to trial, though it is now nine months old. They also say that criminal charges are customary in cases like this, and they never could understand why those charges were dropped.

Hoarding Army Manpower Here is one illustration of how the discharge of high-point veterans is being held back in the army—in this case Morrison Field, at Palm Beach, Fla. Morrison Field happens to be under the command of Col. Richard T. Kight, the pilot who flew Wendell Willkie around the world and who also flew Henry Wallace through Siberia to China.

Colonel Kight is 32 years old and an excellent pilot. And apparently he liked the army—which, considering his age and rank, certainly has treated him well. So he thinks enlisted men should stay in the army too.

For on Aug. 21, when Colonel Kight got orders from Washington that all 85-point men should be discharged regardless of their technical specialty, the 32-year-old commander hit the ceiling. The rest of the day he spent burning up the wires to Washington, contending that he could not operate if he discharged 85-point men.

Many men at Morrison Field, who had not done one real day's work a week, were furious. Colonel Kight is supposed to repair planes brought back from India for the Air Transport Command. But enlisted men say his operation is so disorganized that they are idle half the time and some of the planes have had to be flown all the way to Long Beach, Cal., for repairs instead.

Capitol Chaff When Radio Station WOL, Washington, advertised for a new radio personality to broadcast a news program to be known as "The Voice of Washington," a Latin American diplomat and a representative of the French government were among the large number of important government personnel, cab drivers, theater managers, servicemen and others who responded. Francisco Banda, until recently Ecuadorian consul-general in New Orleans, was one of the applicants. Another was Willy Blanchet of the French purchasing mission. . . . OPA officials admit privately, despite reassuring public utterances, that price increases, bringing the cost of many consumer goods far above the 1942 base level, will have to be granted soon. They blame the open-handed big business policy of WPB Head Cap Krig.

Army and Railroads Even the army's friends on Capitol Hill say the brass hats are killing any chance for public support they might have had by their autocratic disregard for civilian needs in such fields as coal mining, steelmaking and railroading.

One of the busiest railroads in the country today is the Southern Pacific, which has handled most of the east-west traffic to the busy port of San Francisco. The SP is a single-track line able to carry its huge volume only by scheduling trains at ten-minute intervals round the clock. In order to maintain this schedule, it requires a huge crew of crack trainmen, repair men and other skilled workers. It has done pretty well even in the past year, although there was a recent bottleneck near El Paso which resulted in the holding up of 75 trains.

Southern Pacific officials have been begging the army to release skilled railroad men with the 80 points required for discharge, or to furlough railroad men in this country with less points.

Finally in mid-summer the army agreed to release 4,000 railroad men, with 2,400 of them assigned to the SP. But then the army began going back on its promise and said it could discharge only 1,300 men. A few weeks ago, the army released 230 men to the Southern Pacific and said no more were available. The joker is that 24,000 men have gone into the armed forces from the SP employment roster.

Finally, War Mobilizer Snyder stepped in and forced the army to release 4,000 railroad men, amidst loud squawks from brass hats that this action would destroy morale. (Copyright, 1945, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Hollywood—

Marie Not So Dumb -- Or Is She?

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD—I never thought I'd be a stage door Johnny but in Marie Wilson's case I feel I was justified. I visited the blonde comedienne, the Iron Woman of American show business, on the night she was appearing for the 1,722nd time in Ken Murray's review, "Blackouts of 1945."

Marie has devoted every night for more than three years to the suave Murray opus. Whereas "The Plains" in other long-run dramas take Sundays off, Marie has played three shows every Sunday, as well as a matinee on Saturday. And during the three years she has worked in five or six movies.

"Only once have I heard Marie say she was tired," the debonair Murray told me. "That was after she had worked 20 weeks in 'Music for Millions' and had a fever of 104. I tried to get her to quit, but she wouldn't do it. She won't even take a vacation."

I chatted with Marie in her dressing room between acts. "Don't you get tired of appearing in the 'Blackouts' every night?" I asked her.

"No, not particularly," she replied with that beautiful, wide-eyed look of hers. "I still have time to hit some of the nightclubs after work. After all, the show only takes three hours of my time.

"And I get a chance to wear some really beautiful clothes. Gee, a girl really feels swell if she is dressed up."

"But don't you ever want to take a vacation?" "I suppose if something important came up, I would. But so far nothing has. Sometimes I think Ken might be a little uneasy if I wasn't in the show.

Another thing about Marie, producers always know where to find her if they have a movie role for her. In show business it is always easier to get a job while you have a job.

No other actress can boast of working as steadily as Marie, and this brings up the question of whether she is as dumb as the characters she portrays. "I don't think I'm as dumb as people think I am," she said. "But it's nice to be considered that way. Then people don't expect as much of you."

But I am withholding judgment on her intelligence, after asking her how to spell her husband's name. "I think it's Nixon," she answered. "Or is it Nixon? Gee, if I wrote it out I'd know, because I write it on a letter every day."

Of course, she might have just lapsed into character.

First GI On Jap Soil To Get Big Reward

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Secretary of Interior Ickes took steps today to create a new national monument at the site of the first test explosion of the atomic bomb in New Mexico.

The first atomic bomb was exploded July 16 on public grazing lands withdrawn in 1942 for use by the war department as a bombing range.

Ickes directed Fred W. Johnson, commissioner of the general land office, to reserve the lands surrounding the place of the atomic bomb experiment for a new national monument.

DISTRICT JUDGE DIES SAN ANGELO, Sept. 8 (AP)—W. C. Jackson, 79, judge of the 112th district court, was stricken with a heart attack in the courtroom at Sonora this afternoon. He died at a hotel there 40 minutes later.

France May Ask For Internationalizing Ruhr And Rhineland
LONDON, Sept. 10 (AP)—France is expected to demand that the Ruhr and Rhineland be internationalized and that Germany be amputated territorially in the west, as well as the east, at the meeting of Big Five foreign ministers starting here tomorrow.

The French views were forecast in an interview with Gen. Charles De Gaulle by the Times of London, which editorially approved the French position.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes arrived today. The foreign ministers of Russia, Great Britain, France and China already are here. Meetings of the Big Five council were arranged at Potsdam.

The Big Five ministers will draft a peace treaty for Italy and tackle the Balkans problem, which may provoke heated arguments.

Crimson Tide Could Use Couple Of Ends

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Sept. 10 (AP)—Coach Frank Thomas is straining his eyes in an effort to find a pair of capable ends among the 50-odd candidates for the 1945 Alabama football team.

Not a single end remains on hand from the 1944 squad which surprised everybody, including Thomas, by wallowing enough foes to land in the Sugar Bowl last Jan. 1.

Otherwise, the Crimson Tide should be tough indeed, with eight of the men who started against Duke last New Year's still on hand and experienced reserves also available.

Miss America Scorns Movie Contract For Music Scholarship
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP)—Miss Hess Myerson, 21, of New York City, brunette and hazel-eyed "Miss America of 1945," a college graduate, plans to use a scholarship that went with the title to take two years of advanced study at a music conservatory in this country and another year of study abroad.

She said in an interview yesterday that she does not plan to accept either the movie contract or the 15-week personal appearance tour which were part of the grand prize.

Post Announces Overseas Scoring

Enlisted men with 45 or more points or who are 34 years of age or older will not be given overseas assignments according to new instructions from higher headquarters it was announced today by Col. John K. Nissley, commanding officer of the Big Spring Bombardier School.

For overseas duty enlisted men must meet the following qualifications: at least 18 years old with at least 17 weeks of training, be under 34 years of age, have an adjusted service score of less than 45 points.

The new instructions, issued by the Army Air Force headquarters, were received from Lt. Gen. Barton K. Yount, commanding general of the AAF training command who announced that they will be applied to all future shipment of enlisted men overseas.

The only complete exceptions are all regular army volunteers who may be sent overseas regardless of these provisions. Training command headquarters directed its subordinate commands and stations to remove from all units provided for overseas duty those who meet qualifications under these new instructions.

Cities Scheduled In Japan Occupation

TOKYO, Sept. 10 (AP)—Virtually the entire American division was unloaded on Japanese soil by noon today, General MacArthur's headquarters announced, and the full 27th division is expected to be in Japan by Wednesday. Troops of the 27th continued to arrive by air today at Yokohama, from Okinawa.

Future roles of nine army and one marine division were revealed. American headquarters was established at Hara-Machida, southwest of Tokyo.

The entire First cavalry division was in Tokyo, less the Eighth regiment which is in Yokohama and the 12th regiment, in Tachikawa. The latter will be relieved Saturday by American troops.

Also in Japan were the 112th regimental combat team of the 11th airborne division, and the reinforced Fourth marine regiment.

Other occupation schedule:

Eighth Army:
Forty-third division, into Yokohama Sept. 13; 81st, Omiato Oct. 3; 77th, Aomori Sept. 27; 158th regimental team to Omiato, date indefinite.

Sixth Army:
Fifth marine division, Sasebo Sept. 22; 33rd division (army) Wakayama, Sept. 25; 98th division, Nagasaki Sept. 26; 98th division, Wakayama Sept. 27; 25th division, Yokkaichi Oct. 2; regimental combat team of 24th division, Okayama, Oct. 22; Sixth division, Osaka or Nagoya, Oct. 23; 41st division, Kure, Oct. 3.

Bible Course Fund Climbing Steadily

The high school Bible class fund climbed another $60 Monday as response continued at an encouraging pace.

Among donors were the Ruth Sunday School class of the First Baptist with $10, the Coffey Memorial Sunday School class of the First Methodist with $15, the Christian Science Society of Big Spring with $25, and Lonnie A. Coker with $10.

This made the amount of actual cash paid in come to $954.31, plus $160 in individual pledges, or a total of $1,114 in sight toward a $2,000 goal. The increased tempo of gifts gave leaders of the campaign to finance a full-time Bible course on two levels grounds for much encouragement.

Ruling Unclear On Slaughtering

Slaughtering quotas apparently were ended, but meat rationing is still in effect on the basis of information from Washington Monday.

Local slaughterers were somewhat in a quandry over the picture and awaited official instruction before lifting the lid on killing. Meantime, they were continuing to charge points (on the lowered value schedule, which ran to approximately 50 per cent on veal and beef).

Unclear was the matter of grades. Does the lifting of slaughtering quotas also abolish per centages on grades? This stood to reason, said Big Spring slaughterers, but again they had no instructions.

Meanwhile there was growing speculation about the end of all meat rationing by Oct. 1. The Office of Price Administration said that the decision would be made by agreement with the agriculture department, but in Washington one government spokesman said "if supplies look good by the end of the month, rationing will go."

OPA's action in removing all limits on the slaughter of livestock was taken in expectation of heavy runs of cattle to packing houses. It was accepted generally as indicating an early end of rationing.

Shoes may go off rationing before November if OPA and the WPB see fit to follow recommendations of the shoe trade.

Navy Gives Points

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The navy is lowering the goalpost for 422,000 more prospective civilians. Effective Saturday, it is adding credit for overseas service to its point discharge system: one quarter of a point for every month of service outside the continental United States since Sept. 1, 1939.

Galan Stands Trial For Murder Charge

Telesforo Galan, Jr., went to trial Monday in 70th district court on an indictment charging him with the murder of Edwardo Deanda.

Galan, according to the state, fatally stabbed Deanda the evening of Dec. 24, 1944. Arturo Marquez, first witness for the state, testified as to the stabbing and said that he had sustained a cut on his arm from the defendant.

Jurors in the case were M. R. Creighton, Roy Cornelison, Sherman Smith, Emmett Grantham, Ollie Anderson, C. B. Lawrence, Kyle Gray, Jim Hodnett, Clyde Denton, Roy Cook, W. R. Dawes, Jr., and B. O. Brown.

The court had given Sipriano Lopez and Enrique Guzman two year suspended sentences each on charges of theft of an auto on Jan. 13, 1945. They entered pleas of guilty.

Among judgments entered by the court was one for the Great Eastern Fire Insurance Co. versus A. J. Crawford, for $800; and a divorce and division of property for Colletano Chevarria from Vera Chevarria. The petition of James E. Gallilher versus Betty Gallilher for divorce was dismissed on motion of plaintiff.

Olan Scott Butler Dies In Forsan

Olan Scott Butler, 46, longtime resident of Forsan, died at his home at 11:07 a. m. Monday at Forsan.

Born March 1, 1899, Butler spent most of his adult life in service with the Sun Oil company, retiring recently to operate a small grocery business. He had been a resident of Forsan since 1929. For the past four and a half years he had been in failing health.

Rites were set for 4:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Forsan Baptist church with Rev. J. R. Clark and Rev. P. D. O'Brien, Big Spring, in charge. Active pallbearers were to be C. V. Wash, J. B. Hicks, L. S. Alston, C. M. Adams, E. C. McArthur and T. R. Camp.

Following services, the body was to be brought to Big Spring and shipped by the Eberley-Curry Funeral home to Paris, where last rites will be said at a funeral home there Wednesday and interment made in the Evergreen cemetery.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Clare Butler; one son, Kenneth Preston Butler, home on furlough from the army; one daughter, Mary Ellen Butler, Forsan. He also leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Butler of Pattonville, Texas; two brothers, John Ray Butler, Pattonville, and H. W. Butler, Paris; five sisters, Mrs. F. Geiser, Dallas, Mrs. C. J. Lamb, Lewisville, Mrs. Chock Chandler, Mrs. Jess Anderson, Mrs. Ima George Pattonville.

In early Colonial days the Virginia Assembly passed an act awarding premiums to successful grape growers.

Blamey Accepts Jap Surrender In Indies

MELBOURNE, Sept. 10 (AP)—Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, Australian commander-in-chief, accepted yesterday the surrender of thousands of Japanese troops in the eastern East Indies.

In the presence of Dutch, American and Australian forces on the small island of Morotai, 215 miles southeast of Mindanao, Gen. Blamey told the defeated troops: "I don't recognize you as an honorable gallant foe, but you'll be treated with due courtesy in all matters."

The direct recipient of his blunt remarks was Lt. Gen. Tishima, commander of the Japanese Second army.

Japanese troops were reported laying down their arms in all sectors, from Bougainville in the Solomons to Wewak in northeast New Guinea, following the surrender of an estimated 140,000 enemy troops.
