Vietnamese Armed Forces Taking Over

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Vietnamese armed forces appeared today to be taking over control of ministries in President Ngo Dinh Diem's administration, without challenge to his over-all leadership.

The government announced all ministries will take orders from the military for the duration of the martial law period.

Amid political turmoil over the government's blows at its Buddhist opponents, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge visited two monks who have lived in asylum in the American aid mission since escaping there from arrest.

U.S. sources said Lodge paid a courtesy call on the monks barely 12 hours after he arrived in troubled Saigon Thursday night as the envoy of President Kennedy's administration.

The visit of the tall, 61-year-old American diplomat to the yellow-robed refugees even before meeting Diem, a Roman Catholic, seemed significant.

Lodge was reported to have asked some American officials later to take suitable food to the monks, who are vegetarians. His predecessor, Frederick E. Nolting Jr., was reticent about having any contacts with Buddhist monks.

The capital was alive with rumors of general strikes, Buddhist suicides and street fights, but conditions appeared quiet with the U.S.-supplied Vietnamese army on watch under martial law.

Opposition to the anti-Buddhist action mounted in Diem's official family. Foreign Minister Vu Van Mau was reliably reported to have resigned in protest, shaved his head in the fashion of a Buddhist monk, and asked Diem's permission to make a religious pilgrimage to India.

He was the third Vietnamese diplomat to resign in protest against the crackdown.

An American official said he believed the crackdown, which started with a series of bloody raids on temple pagodas early Wednesday, was instigated by Vietnamese generals.

"I don't believe the generals actually are in control," he said. "The country definitely is still ruled by President Diem.

"But there is a growing weight of evidence that it was on the generals' insistence the present crackdown and martial law were initiated."

There was no indication how long martial law would continue. A curfew continued at night throughout the country. Military censorship also continued.

A traveler arriving from Dalat, 150 miles northeast of Saigon, reported he had seen troops fire on demonstrators. There was no indication of the number of casualties.

Student strikes were reported in various parts of the country, including Saigon.

All pagodas remained sealed off by troops and police.

Most of the monks arrested in the Saigon pagodas were being held in a military compound on the waterfront, it was learned. Estimates of their number run to 1,000 or more.

There still was no reliable indication of casualties from the pagoda raids.

A few hours before Lodge's arrival, Vietnamese authorities opened telephone lines connecting the U.S. Embassy with the rest of Saigon. The lines had been cut since the pagoda raids.

Mau's resignation was preceded Thursday by those of Viet Nam's ambassador to the United States, Tran Van Chuong, and his wife, who was Viet Nam's observer at the United Nations.

The Chuongs are the parents of Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, the president's politically powerful sister-in-law who has urged severe government measures against the Buddhists. Chuong two weeks ago disavowed his daughter's stand accused her of "lack of respect" for the Buddhists.

DRILL MISSES ENTOMBED MINERS—Rescue worker kneels on ground to listen at opening of 6-inch well for sound from trapped miners just before drilling of 12-inch hole ceased when it was discovered to have missed its mark in mine rescue operations near Hazleton, Pa. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Miners Report They Can Hear Drill

By JAMES V. LAMB

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — Drilling of a new escape hole for the three trapped miners reached a point today where two of the men reported they could hear the drill.

The rescue crews slowed the pace of the giant drilling rig, which stands 10 stories high, and proceeded cautiously around the 300-foot level.

They asked David Fellin, 58, and Henry Throne, 28, to keep a close watch on the ceiling above the 14-by-9-foot chamber where they have been trapped 331 feet underground for 10 days.

"Let us know the first signs of dust or anything," the man handling communications from the surface told them via a microphone through the six-inch lifeline hole. "Keep track of it and tell us when to stop."

"We will," replied Fellin.

Two previous escape hole tries have failed, the latest one Thursday.

If all goes well, the 12-inch drill was expected to break through around midafternoon. Drilling slowed to avoid any possibility of a new cave-in.

After the 12-inch hole is completed, the next step will be to enlarge it to 17 inches. This probably will take another 30 hours.

A second drilling rig, much smaller than the 10-story-high one boring the escape hole, is drilling a four-inch-hole toward the area where Louis Bova, 48, is believed trapped.

Bova was separated from the others by about 25 feet of debris after a cave-in 10 days ago — about 9 a.m. Aug. 13.

A six-inch lifeline hole reached Throne and Fellin last Sunday, but Bova has had no food since the cave-in except what he might have had with him.

Throne and Fellin sleep fitfully at random times.

Two mechanical breakdowns delayed the escape hole drilling for a total of 3½ hours before dawn today.

Experts on the drilling rigs expect difficulties as a matter of routine in going through hard rock. They have a complete duplicate set of parts on hand at all times.

Optimism prevailed for Throne and Fellin. Bova's fate was uncertain. There have been no reports about him since Tuesday night, when Throne and Fellin said they heard brief shouts and tapping. A Navy survival expert at the scene said Bova's survival chances appeared slim.

On the third front, specialists with radioactive material rushed in from all over the nation, stood ready to make further probes to determine how close a previous 12-inch hole came to Fellin and Throne.

Initial efforts with a Geiger counter Thursday failed to disclose the distance.

Lt. Richard Anderson, of the Naval Medical Research Institute in Bethesda, Md., a physician well versed in survival techniques, gave advice to Fellin and Throne early today.

He said, "As long as there's food, water and hope, they're going to get along fairly well."

Anderson said the fact that Bova has been trapped without food or water for 10 days doesn't mean he's not alive.

"But his chances are pretty slim," he added.

H. Beecher Charmbury, state secretary of mines, said the larger drill was penetrating 35 feet an hour.

"We can go at a much faster rate now that we know the geological structure," he said.

He said he was "very optimistic" the third 12-inch hole would be a success.

"We were very disappointed with the hole we missed but we are glad that the men down there are keeping their spirits up. The failure Thusaday morning was probably a bigger disappointment to us than to them."

SPEED LIMIT HIKED

New Texas Laws In Effect Today

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans may drive at 70 miles per hour legally now.

The law raising speed limits on most highways went into effect at midnight along with about 350 other new statutes.

All roads are under the 70 m.p.h. daytime limit unless the Highway Department posts lower limits.

The nighttime limit for cars and buses is 65 m.p.h.

Trucks and truck trailers may go 60 in the daytime and 55 at night. School buses have a 50 m.p.h. limit day and night. House trailers, under 4,500 pounds may travel 60 day and 55 night and those over 4,500 pounds 45 m.p.h. day or night.

The law also makes it a crime to drive too slowly, impeding traffic.

Another major law which went into effect today is the "loan shark" measure passed after decades of wrangling.

Loan Commissioner Frank Miskall said he expects 2,000 to 3,000 Texas lenders to apply for permission to operate under the new small loan regulatory act today.

Lenders formerly could charge only 10 per cent interest legally. The new law includes a sliding scale of interest with loan costs dropping as the amount of the loan increases.

Another new law permits Texans 65 years of age and older to buy health insurance through the Texas 65 health insurance association.

The basic plan will pay up to $12 per day for hospital rooms up to 31 days, part of the doctor's costs for hospital visits, surgical fees up to $200 and miscellaneous hospital charge up to $125.

Premium for the basic plan will be $9 a month and the first enrollment period for the new insurance plan will be Oct. 1-31.

Other new laws:

Permit the School Land Board to convey state-owned land to the federal government for a national seashore area on Padre Island.

Create a new State Tourism Agency.

Merge the Game Commission and State Parks Board.

Give game wardens authority to arrest for trespassing.

Stiffen the hot check law.

Regulate cities' authority to annex territory.

Give cities authority to regulate pool halls.

Create civil appeals courts at Tyler and Corpus Christi.

Add San Angelo Junior College and Pan American College at Edinburg to the Texas senior college system. The schools will begin to get state support Sept. 1, 1965.

Under a bill passed by the 1961 legislature, the University of Houston becomes a fully state-supported college today.

Senate Panel Approves Bill For Binding Rail Arbitration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee, working against a Thursday strike deadline, approved today a bill providing for binding arbitration to settle the deadlocked dispute over railroad work rules.

The bill, calling for the creation of a seven-man arbitration board, is to be taken up by the Senate Monday.

The board would be composed of two representatives of the carriers and two of the unions and of three public members designated by the other four unions, or, if they are unable to agree, appointed by the President.

The committee rejected President Kennedy's proposal for submitting the four-year-old dispute to the Interstate Commerce Commission, which would have been empowered to issue work rules binding for two years.

The bill follows the lines of a proposal made a week ago by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz for creation of an arbitration panel.

The bill, approved by the Commerce Committee without dissent, would bar a strike or walkout or the posting of new work rules, pending arbitration of the dispute.

The bill provides for referring to the arbitration board the two main issues in dispute—firemen's jobs and the make-up of train crews.

Collective bargaining would be attempted on other lesser issues in dispute, but if they could not be resolved by negotiation they also would be submitted to the board for arbitration.

The arbitration board would be required to begin its hearings 30 days after enactment of the legislation or at such earlier date as the parties and the board might agree upon.

The board would have to file its award not later than 60 days after it commenced its hearings or after enactment of the resolution.

Wirtz proposal accepted immediately without reservation by the carriers and conditionally by the five rail unions involved in the dispute, was to submit the two key issues to an arbitration panel composed of management, union and public representatives. Other issues, such as wage structure, would be left to separate negotiation.

The two parties, however, bogged down in trying to reach agreement on timing and procedures.

Magnuson said Thursday that whatever bill the committee brings out will reach the Senate floor Monday. He indicated also that he feels the bill can be passed in the Senate. Passage in the House may be more difficult, he indicated.

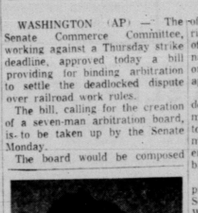

Actually, the House has before it a similar group of legislative proposals tailored to end the dispute, but leaders in that body are waiting for the Senate to act.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana have predicted that congressional approval of a bill is unlikely in time to avoid a strike next Thursday.

That is when the carriers intend to post new work rules to eliminate thousands of rail jobs they consider unnecessary. The unions have pledged an immediate strike.

The rail dilemma was given back to Congress when the carriers and brotherhoods failed to agree.

The carriers want to eliminate some 37,000 firemen's jobs they say were made unnecessary by the adoption of diesel engines which do not use coal. The unions have protested that job cuts would hamper the safety and efficiency of train operations.

REV. HILLIS HERREN

Rev. Herren Moving To Littlefield

Rev. Hillis Herfen, pastor of the Snyder Church of the Nazarene, has resigned to accept the pastorate of the Church of the Nazarene in Littlefield. Mr. Herren will terminate his duties in Snyder Sunday, and will assume pastoral duties in Littlefield Sept. 1.

The Herrens came to the Snyder Church of the Nazarene in April, 1960, from Cleburne.

During his pastorate here, Mr. Herren has been active in the Snyder Ministerial Alliance, served as chaplain of the Snyder Fire Department since Feb. 16, 1961, and has done substitute teaching in the public schools.

Padre Island Park Land Deed Signed

AUSTIN (AP) — Three officials [illegible] the deed to a 130-mile [illegible] national seashore area on Padre Island.

The School Land Board, composed of Gov. John Connally, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler signed a deed conveying the land to the Department of Interior for development of the slim, sandy island off Corpus Christi south of near Brownsville.

William Bowen, U.S. park superintendent at Corpus Christi, accepted the deed.

Bowen asserted the park will be one of the best attractions in the nation.

Connally said the area will be "one of the nation's foremost playgrounds, and will not only bring travel and tourists to our great state, but it reflects that the leadership of Texas is realizing that we live in a competitive world."

"I am thrilled to preside over such a magnificent occasion," Sadler said. "The national seashore will bring increased tourist traffic to Texas."

The board presented resolutions of praise to Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi, and Rep. Menton Murray of Harlingen, sponsors of the legislation which allowed the state to deed its submerged lands, free, to the government.

"We are not losing an asset," Connally said. "We are gaining an important facility."

Storm May Be Seeded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists flew from a Puerto Rican base toward hurricane Beulah today to decide whether to seed the storm with chemicals.

A Weather Bureau spokesman said the Navy planes carrying the scientists took off from Roosevelt Roads Air Station about 8 a.m. this morning and are due back at 7 p.m., Puerto Rican time.

The director of Project Storm Fury, Dr. Robert H. Simpson of the Weather Bureau, made the announcement in Miami.

Earlier, the Weather Bureau reported Beulah was heading a path toward open seas with winds at the center of up to 80 miles an hour.

Cecil Gentry, director of the National Hurricane Research project, said silver iodide crystals may be dropped into Beulah's mushrooming cloud formations.

The seeding, if successful, would soften Beulah's punch.

Her present course will carry her well north of all Caribbean land areas. Forecasters said it would pass 275 miles northeast of St. Maarten in the Leeward Islands this afternoon.

No landward gales were anticipated.

Ginning Rate Is Slower Than 1962

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Census Bureau said today that 607,375 bales of cotton, most of it in Texas, were ginned through Aug. 15. This compared with 765,094 bales ginned to the like date last year.

Ginnings by states this year and last, included: Louisiana 4,965 and 12,610, and Texas 580,311 and 668,772.

Compromise Okayed For Space Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A compromise authorizing more than $5.3 billion for the civilian space program this fiscal year was approved today by a Senate-House conference committee.

Included in the big package was $3.9 million to start building an electronics research center, originally planned for the Greater Boston area, which drew protests from Congress members in other areas.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., said the compromise includes restrictions originally approved by the House.

"This will require NASA to come back to the congressional space committees and justify need for the project as well as its location," Anderson said.

Anderson said the compromise now carries $5,350,820,400 because the Senate dropped some $160 million of items it had approved while the House accepted $147 Million of Senate increases.

President Kennedy initially asked $5,712,000,000 and the House cut this about $500 million with the Senate restoring some $307 million of these slashes.

Israel, Syria Square Off In U. N. Today

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)

Israel and Syria square off in the U.N. Security Council today, each accusing the other of aggression.

The special council session had been set for Monday but was advanced at the insistence of Israeli Ambassador Michael Comay. He claimed Syrian guns shelled two Israeli settlements near the Syrian border Wednesday night.

It was the first time in 10 years that Israel had originated a complaint in the council instead of following up Arab charges with counter charges.

In preliminary talks with council members, Comay said the Israeli group's action would show whether Israel could get satisfaction from the council, where the Soviet Union has exercised its veto occasionally on behalf of the Arabs.

The Israeli Parliament said Wednesday night that Israel would [illegible] its right of self defense [illegible]

Some delegates predicted Israel would encounter a tough time in the council because she has boycotted the Israeli-Syrian Mixed Armistice Commission since 1951. The council called on both nations in April 1962 to take "all steps necessary for reactivating the Mixed Armistice Commission."

Both Israel's and Syria's current complaints allege military aggression inside the demilitarized zone north of the Sea of Galilee. The zone is forbidden ground to all military forces under the 1949 armistice agreement between Israel and Syria, last of the Arab nations to stop fighting in the Palestine war.

Israel claims the area as her territory. Syria contests the claim and accuses Israel of making "repeated attempts to annex this area by force."

Members Of Parks Commission Sworn

AUSTIN (AP)—Three members of the new Parks and Wildlife Commission were sworn in today.

They are Will Odom of Austin, James Dellinger of Corpus Christi and A. W. Moursund of Johnson City.

The commission replaces the nine-man Game Commission and the six-man Parks Board under a merger.

HONORED FOR SERVICE—Pictured are the City of Snyder employes who were presented service pins at the city's Recognition and Awards barbecue Thursday night. Jack Inman, front row left, was presented a 15-year pin for service with the police department. Ten-Year pins went to Sgt. A. E. Crowley, police, and Prentice Smith, planning and zoning. Pictured in the back row are those who received 5-year awards. They are Jesse Browning, police; Mrs. Pat Bullard, accounting; Mark Vaughan, fire; David Stroud, meter reading; and Eugene Miles, water production. Not present for the 10-year awards were Bill Aaron and G. R. Gregory, both from the water production department. The awards were made by Mayor John Hamblen and city manager George Patterson.

Plane Wreckage Is Found Near Lamesa

LAMESA, Tex. (AP)— Wreckage of a military aircraft was found today on a ranch 12 miles north of Lamesa. A jet trainer was missing from Webb AFB at Big Spring. One body was found.

A Webb helicopter went to the scene.

Sheriff Henry Mayfield said the wreckage was on the Dean Ranch.

Aid Bill Handed A Crushing Blow

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans handed the Kennedy administration a stunning defeat today by slashing more than $1 billion from the foreign aid authorization bill.

It was the last chance for the Republicans to slice the bill. They had been turned back right down the line in a long Thursday night session. But today they prevailed by a 222-188 vote.

Many Southern Democrats joined forces with the Republican budget cutters. Only a few Republicans voted against the cut in the bill, which traditionally has commanded bipartisan support.

The administration, taken by surprise, must look to the Senate to restore some of the cut.

The bill had stood at $4.1 billion. The GOP-backed cut was $1,025,000,000.

The largest slice, was $600 million of the Development Loan Fund. Also cut were $150 million from the Alliance for Progress, $50 million from the President's contingency fund, and $225 million from the military assistance section.

A group of Republicans bent on slashing the money total in the controversial bill was beaten at every turn Thursday night.

A final roll call vote was postponed until today under a technicality invoked by a Republican.

The senate has been considering a foreign aid bill of its own in committee. This was interrupted by the hearings on the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, and the Senate committee is not expected to get back to foreign aid for at least several weeks.

While administration leaders held the line on the $4.1 billion authorization, their fight for this year is far from over.

Still to come is the appropriation bill that furnishes the actual money for the fiscal year which started July 1.

That is in the hands of Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., a vigorous foe of the foreign aid program.

Because of his efforts to cut the appropriation, the money bill has had little relation to the authorization bill for many years. It has been estimated that this year the appropriation may be as much as a billion dollars less than the authorization.

The three-day debate on the foreign aid authorization produced all the oft-heard oratory on both sides that has accompanied this program every year since it began after World War II as the Marshall Plan.

At one point, speaking about just one group of five amendments on Cuba, Rep. Edward Derwinski, R-Ill., said, "If all the words were put together we could [illegible] would be sunk."

When all was said and done, these major amendments were agreed to:

—A ban on any aid to countries which ship to Cuba either by sea or by air. Several competing versions were offered by Florida congressmen, but the winner was by a Democrat, Rep. Dante B. Fascell.

—A one-year ban on any U.S. aid for a controversial steel mill at Bokaro, India, which would require an initial U.S. loan of $512 million. This amendment, by Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Mich., did not mention Bokaro by name but was tailored to cover it. It had bipartisan support.

—A minimum interest rate of 2 per cent on loans from the Development Loan Fund. This would apply to about 70 per cent of the $1.5 billion program, which makes loans now at three-fourths of 1 per cent. Administration strategists hope to get it knocked out in conference with the Senate.

—A provision that 50 per cent of development loan funds be used "for purposes of economic development through private interprise." This was fought by Democrats as possibly hampering such aid, particularly in the Alliance For Progress.

While approving these amendments, the House defeated attempts to make wholesale slashes in the President's contingency fund, the $1.2 billion military assistance section, and to eliminate the technical assistance program entirely.

Town Eyes Secession

SNOW LAKE, Ark. (AP)—Residents of Mississippi Township have threatened to secede from Desha County because they have to drive 200 miles to get to the county seat—only 30 miles away as the crow flies.

They have invited county officials to a Sept. 6 meeting to discuss the withdrawal—if the officials care to make the 400-mile round trip from Arkansas City, the county seat, to Snow Lake.

The southeast Arkansas township is cut off from the remainder of Desha County by the White and Arkansas rivers and the White River Wildlife Refuge.

Burton Funk and B.H. Williamson Jr. called the secession meeting. They suggested the township might be better off as part of Phillips county, Helena, seat of that county, is only 60 miles away.

They also complained of poor roads.

"We have children who still have to walk three miles through mud, water and snow to catch a school bus," they said.

Mexico Alerted To Look For Robbers

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico has been alerted by Interpol to be on the lookout for participants in Britain's great train robbery.

Police general's office reported Thursday. It said Scotland Yard had relayed confidential information through the international police body.

Guilty Pleas Heard

James E. Cody of Colorado City entered a plea of guilty in county court this morning on a worthless check charge. He was fined $10 plus costs of $26.35.

The check had been given to the Rainbow grocery.

Also in county court Thursday a plea of guilty on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor was entered by Darvin Day of Snyder. Day was sentenced to 60 days in jail and assessed costs of $26.35.

Sadler Gets Some Credit For Showers

By The Associated Press

State Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler got credit Friday for limited success in trying to make it rain near San Angelo in West Central Texas, but there was no word of any gullywashers.

Sadler took to the air and seeded clouds with dry ice Thursday in the drought-plagued San Angelo area as temperatures mounted and most other sections of the state baked even drier.

The mercury hit an afternoon high of 107 degrees at Presidio in the Big Bend of West Texas. While light showers dotted parts of Southeast, Central and West Texas, there was no rain of consequence.

Sadler, who has taken credit for Central Texas showers which followed cloud seeding from his plane, tried the same procedure at the invitation of a business men's group formed to seek rain —San Angelo Weather Information Center, Inc.

As the land commissioner sprinkled about 550 pounds of crushed dry ice, James Green, president of the San Angelo rain seekers, and State Rep. Forrest Harding watched from a second plane.

"When they threw that stuff in there," Green related, "it seemed to us like everything started to boil."

The reaction began about two minutes after the dry ice was dropped, Harding said, adding: "We circled around one cloud that was seeded. It was just like water flowing out of a water spout."

There were no reports of sizeable rainfall amounts, however, to the Weather Bureau. San Angelo residents observed a rainbow across the sky to the south.

Sadler reported clouds were seeded from Christoval to Eldorado, then back toward Wall and Suzan Peak.

"The area directly north of Wall got a good heavy rain," Green said. "They got rain southeast of Wall also."

Skies were clear to partly cloudy throughout the state Friday morning and expected to stay that way. Weather Bureau observers predicted a few thundershowers in West and South Texas.

In addition to Presidio's 107-degree high Thursday, Laredo and Wichita Falls recorded 103, Mineral Wells 102, Austin, Midland and San Angelo 101, and Abilene, Childress, Fort Worth and Victoria 100.

Heavy Defendant Carried To Court

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A hand truck and two freight elevators were used by deputy U.S. marshals Thursday to get a man to the third floor of the Federal Building where he pleaded guilty to a charge of selling pep pills to truck drivers.

The novel means of access to the courtroom was necessary because the defendant weighs 585 pounds.

The plea was made before U.S. Dist. Judge James C. Connell by Charles E. Kinsey, 43, owner of Tiny's Truck Stop at Oceola, Ohio. Sentence was deferred pending a probation report and Kinsey was released under $500 personal bond.

Kinsey told deputy marshals he weighed 580 pounds at one time, but had "managed to reduce a little."

Ex-Convict Is Held In Bank Holdup

DALLAS (AP) — Police held ex-convict Frank Fleck, 59, as a suspect today in the June 28 holdup of the National Bank of Commerce, which netted a bold robber $65,000.

City detective Capt. Will Fritz said three witnesses who saw the bandit outside the downtown bank picked Fleck from a four-man lineup at police headquarters.

Officers nabbed Fleck as he returned to his apartment in suburban Farmers Branch Thursday, they found $1,032 in his billfold.

Fleck, a lean 6-footer, admitted nothing to questioners, but apparently hinted at some hidden money.

"When I hide something they couldn't ever find it," Fritz quoted him as saying.

Fritz said Fleck is known to have purchased a car, two trucks, a camera, pistol and interests in two exterminating firms.

The detective chief said Fleck avoided passing big chunks of money, obtaining cashier's checks for his purchases.

"Persons receiving the money would think it was borrowed from the banks," Fritz said. "There was no suspicion.

"We think he has this money scattered all over the place in banks and other institutions."

Fleck, a native of Pittsburgh, Pa., whose mother lives at Hillsboro, finished his latest prison term in 1962 at the Seagoville federal correctional institution near Dallas. He served three 5-year sentences for counterfeiting and forgery of securities.

The bandit who robbed the bank entered about 2 p.m., carrying a paper bag and heavy coat, wearing a mask and brandishing a sawed-off shotgun.

He took money from three tellers, departed by a side door, stole a car and abandoned it and the shotgun eight blocks away.

Fleck told Fritz that while he was imprisoned at Alcatraz he wrote a book titled "Behind These Walls."

Union, Ship Operators Sign Pact

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Maritime Union and 34 companies operating 170 ocean-going tankers from East and Gulf Coast ports have agreed on a four-year extension of their contract, a union spokesman says.

The spokesmen said the agreement was signed Thursday with the employer, the Tanker Labor Service Committee.

Union members will meet Monday in 30 port headquarters to vote on ratification.

The NMU contract for 14,000 seamen was to expire in June, 1965. The pact binds the parties until 1969.

A union spokesman said the contract extension provides for improvements in vacations, pensions, provision for an automation fund and for two reviews of wage rates. There is a "no-strike" provision that would take contract disputes to binding arbitration.

The NMU spokesman said one company, the Gulf Oil Corp., did not sign the contract extension.

Search For Bandit Centers In Dallas

DALLAS (AP)—A search for the straw hat wearing bandit who took $9,000 from the Rice State Bank centered in the Dallas area today.

The car believed used for his getaway after the holdup Wednesday turned up on a cafe parking lot at nearby Seagoville, north of Rice.

Sheriff Bill Decker said the car was stolen from Dallas.

Dred Scott Descendant Into Court

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—A descendant of America's most famous slave will go into court Tuesday, charging city officials discriminated against him in demoting him from police sergeant to patrolman.

He is Dred Scott Madison, 41, great-grandson of the Negro slave whose legal battle for freedom led to the nickname "Dred Scott amendments" on the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments to the Constitution.

Madison will ask Superior Court to overrule his temporary suspension and demotion last year.

His petition for a trial without jury comes 106 years after his great-grandfather was denied freedom by the U.S. Supreme Court. The court's ruling and accompanying opinion has been called "the trigger" for the Civil War.

Madison was ordered suspended for 30 days and demoted from sergeant to patrolman by City Manager George E. Bean a year ago. The 16-year police veteran was accused of conduct unbecoming an officer.

Terrorists Set Fire To Sergeant's Home

MARCAY, Venezuela (AP) — Terrorists set fire to the home of an American Air Force sergeant with a gasoline bomb Thursday, police reported.

The attack on the home of Sgt. William Elliott of the U.S. Air Force mission was attributed to members of a pro-Communist terrorist organization calling itself the Armed Forces of National Liberation (FALN). They have made previous attacks on American homes in recent months.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the letter from "MOTHER OF FIVE" who took you to task for calling a woman with a prefabricated family a "mother in the highest form": She asks, "What does a woman who has adopted four children know about the joy of first learning that she is to bear a child? What does she know about the beauty of carrying a child under her heart? What does she know about the thrill of hearing a child's first cry?" I would like to answer her, ABBY:

I have known the joy of first learning that I was to bear child five times, only to lose them all near the end of my time. I even had the thrill once of hearing my child's first cry, only to be told three hours later that I had lost her, too. But I did experience the fulfillment of motherhood because thanks to an adoption agancy, we were "blessed" with three healthy, beautiful, well-mannered, well-adjusted and loving children. We could not love them more if they had been born to us.

PLEASE CALL ME "MOTHER"

DEAR "MOTHER": To the adoption agency goes the credit for "blessing" you with healthy, beautiful children. But they became well - adjusted, well - mannered and loving because of you.

DEAR ABBY: I am a boy who is going to be 15 soon. I have a boy friend my age. One day I went over to his house when he was home alone. He told me to walk in, so of course I did. He shocked me. He was all dressed up in his MOTHER'S clothes! He said, "Take a look at me." Then he said it was "fun", and I should get dressed up in ladies' clothes, too, I said, "Drop dead if that's all you have to do in your spare time. I will see you later." I walked out of the house. I am wondering now—is he sick? What could I do about it? I'm sure his parents don't know. I am all shook up over it.

SHOOK UP

DEAR SHOOK: Tell your parents—but no one else. The boy apparently is "sick."

DEAR ABBY: That "Dr. K." who said that there were only two cases on record where women over 46 have given birth to babies has a lot to learn. I was the last of nine children, and my mother was 50 when she gave birth to me. And I'm sure I didn't make medical history. Enclosed is a recent clipping reporting that a 70-year-old woman has given birth to a baby in Eastern Nigeria. Sincerely yours, M. S. in CHICAGO

CONFIDENTIAL TO "AUNT BUNIE": Most people have some sort of religion, if only in knowing which church they are staying away from.

Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Physical Fitness Booklet Is Ready

WASHINGTON (AP)—The President's Council on Physical Fitness unveiled a new program Thursday to keep adults slim and trim by exercising.

The program is contained in a booklet, "Adult Physical Fitness," which is available from the government printing office for 35 cents. It is for both men and women.

The program, which starts with an "orientation program" of 10 exercises any adult should be able to do, includes knee lifts, body benders, sitting stretches and, for men only, pushups.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

LOT OF LIVING SPACE is found in this modest six-room rambler, which also features an attached garage and rear patch. The living room has a big picture window and the connecting dining room has a rear bay. The kitchen has its own outdoor entry and steps to the basement. Plan HA305N was designed by architect Herbert W. Neumann, Room 704, 48 W. 48th St., New York 36, N.Y., and has 1,095 square feet.

Davis Reunion Is Held Here

KNAPP — The John Gilmer Davis Reunion was held Saturday at Towle Park in Snyder.

The children attending included Marshall Davis and family of Ireland, Tex., Johnny Graham and family of Canton, Bethel Graham and family of Cisco, Gilmer Davis and family of Midland, and Melton Davis and family of Knapp.

Also attending were Mrs. Gus (Esther) Miller and family of Midland, Mrs. Oscar (Ruth) Morgan and family of Odessa, Mrs. Howard (Della) Brooks and family of Loop, Mrs. Max (Lura) Perry and family of Vincent, Mrs. Pearl Ford of Vincent, Mrs. J. C. (Mildred) Skelton of Knapp, and an aunt, Mrs. Harold Odgen and daughter of Amarillo.

Highlight of the occasion for three of the Davis children, Mildred, Esther and Marshall, was the attendance of their mother's youngest sister, Mrs. Francis Young of Macon, Ga., whom they had not seen in 53 years. Mrs. Young arrived in Midland by train and was met by Esther Miller, who recognized her right away to be family resemblance.

On Sunday they visited the grave of their mother and sister at the old Durham Cemetery in north Borden County.

VFW Auxiliary In Session Here

The Ladies Auxiliary of VFW Post 8231 met for a regular meeting Monday night, Aug. 19.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Pearl Sellars.

Visitors at the meeting were Mrs. Delle Wilson, district president from Abilene; Mrs. Donna Shannon, president of the Abilene post; and Pat Reeder, also of Abilene. Sixteen local members were present.

Following the business session punch and cookies were served.

Big Song Picked By Petite Singer

BY MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The 22-year-old girl entered by the U. S. in Poland's third annual international contest for pop singers isn't under a recording contract.

But, considering the offers that have been coming in, LuLu Porter is sure she soon will be. And, if her manager succeeds in taping her performances during the 10-city tour of the country which follows the contest, the first record might be "live," from Poland.

LuLu, small brunette and sophisticated, says her voice is big. "It's contralto, but it doesn't sound like anybody else. I never listen to other girl singers or study them."

For the contest, in which she is entered against 31 pop vocalists from 31 other countries, she chose two songs. "I picked 'Everything's Comin' Up Roses' from 'Gypsy' because it's a big song, comparatively new.

"I only sing one song the first day of competition, so I have to knock them out with whatever I do. I've got to come out and hit them with something."

Besides a song from his own country, each singer also chooses a Polish song, translated into English, French or German. LuLu chose "Parasolki, Parasolki," and English — "Parasol, Parasol." "It has a kind of 'Hi Lili' feeling."

She'll also sing "Come Rain or Come Shine," her favorite song, and "Swanee," from her night club act, at the outdoor song fest, but not in competition.

LuLu Porter is a stage name. "I just like LuLu and I like Cole Porter." She was born Marianne Wolford, youngest of nine children, in Youngstown, Ohio, and lived for two teen years in Atlanta. Her parents now live in El Monte, Calif.

LuLu's singing career started a year ago — and got its big break — in Ye Little club in Beverly Hills. That's where she made an impression on several government officials who heard her during a Presidential visit to California.

On her way to Poland, LuLu only had one worry. "They told me in Washington to be ready for a lot of vodka. Around a night club there's always somebody offering to buy you cocktails, wanting to meet you. But I like to perform. I don't want to miss a minute of it, so I don't drink."

MEANWHILE, back with the gentlemen singers.

It's no strain on Jim Reeves to take his tender, relaxed kind of country delivery and wrap it around songs from all over the world. "The International Jim Reeves," RCA, includes "Auf Wiedersehn Sweetheart," "The Old Kalahari" (with a clip a clop accompaniment, it sounds a smidgen like "The Old Ox Trail"), "Blue Canadian Rockies" (the Anita Kerr Singers back him up) and "The Hawaiian Wedding Song."

"Vincent Edwards at the Riviera," Decca, finds the star of Ben Casey quite in control of the Las Vegas situation. He's cheerful, in good baritone voice and has a smooth, assured nightclub act with a minimum of talk stitching song to song.

Twelve hits by a hit-and-miss assortment of Decca singers, a Bobby Darin effort, on Capitol. If you buy singles, listen to the radio or play the automatic coin machines, you'll know all these — "Reverend Mr. Black," "Walk Right In," "I Will Follow Him," "From a Jack to a King," etc.

Jimmy Durante, who is at 70 "amongst the very young at heart," has a new Warner Brothers album titled "September Song." There's no monkeyshining "Inka Dinka Doo" here. The incomparable Jimmy plays this one for nostalgia and the lump in the throat, with songs like "I Believe," "Blue Bird of Happiness" and one he dedicates, "This is for you, little Cee-Cee." — "Look Ahead Little Girl."

Sunburn Set To Beethoven, Brahms At Summer Festival

BY INEZ ROBB

TANGLEWOOD, MASS. — The music lover who wants informal comfort with his concert can listen to the ravishing music of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in shoeless, tieless, coatless ease while stretched out on a chaise longue under the ancient trees that shade Tanglewood's velvety lawns.

That is one of the privileges to be found in this yeasty, wide-spread cultural enclave which has grown up around the Boston orchestra's summer festival, which offers us on home ground what so many Americans annually go to Europe to find.

Or if the customer likes to sunbathe to music he can throw himself on a blanket in shadeless areas and slowly bake to Brahms and Beethoven.

Throughout the concerts in the orchestra's summer home the patron can eat and drink as long as he doesn't smack his lips, chew peanut brittle or other crunchy food, dust that damnable crinkly wrapper in which so much food is now enclosed, pour from a gurgling bottle or otherwise make noises that would interfere with his neighbors' enjoyment of the glorious music.

The audience at Tanglewood is divided into two groups — one the stuffed shirts like myself who buy a seat inside the Music Shed. This is open on three sides and from it the music pours in a golden flood. The second group is Tanglewood's "turf" patrons who pay $2.50 for a general admissions ticket which entitles them to sit on the grass and enjoy all the fun.

To the music lover accustomed only to the restrictions of the concert hall, the informality of the turf set is apt to smack of a family outing at Coney Island.

While dozens of turf fans bring lightweight folding aluminum garden chairs and chaise longues with them, hundreds bring blankets on which they throw themselves and make camp for the duration. The general effect is wall-to-wall blankets. Once they are spread, the first thing the spreadee does is to kick off his shoes.

Music lovers are also formidable trenchermen. They stagger through the gates of Tanglewood not only under the weight of gargantuan lunch baskets but toting small refrigerators full of ice and beer. But, having once made camp, they listen with truly rapt attention to Prokofiev, Wagner, Sibelius and Franck.

They listen with at least as much concentration and enjoyment as the 6,000 proper customers inside the Shed, seated on chairs which inspire many a patron to bring a cushion from home. During the intermission last Sunday I saw one young turf fan so carried away by the Barber piano concerto that he stood in his bare feet, oblivious to everything, conducting some invisible orchestra audible only to himself.

Next summer I swear I am going to enroll among the turf patrons, kick off my shoes, ease the two-way stretch, and relax to music.

Indeed, the only joy the turf patrons miss is watching the Boston Symphony in action under the fluid hands of its new conductor, Erich Leinsdorf.

Not only do Leinsdorf and the orchestra make beautiful music together, but, like most conductors, Leinsdorf is a joy to watch. Literally, his hands appear boneless as they float above the orchestra, drawing from it the best each player has to give and uniting it all in a glorious whole.

On the other hand, the turf patrons have the sun in the morning and the moon at night, and the stars as a bonus on summer evenings.

Faulty Instrument Hurt X15's Attempt

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—X15 pilot Joseph A. Walker says a faulty instrument made him undershoot his goal by two miles. He hit a record altitude of 66½ miles anyway Thursday.

Walker placed blame on a new instrument, an altitude predictor. It is designed to tell the pilot when to shut down the engine or lower the climb angle to avoid over-shooting his mark.

"Near the top of the climb I had an altitude prediction of 363,000 feet," the space agency pilot told newsmen after the flight. "So I noked her over a little. It looks like the predictor was off about 11,000 feet.

Walker reached 351,000 feet. His goal was 360,000 feet, more than 68 miles. Walker set the previous record of 348,000 feet July 19.

Although the tomato originated in America, it was shunned as food in the United States until about a century ago.

Junior Editors Quiz on ELECTRICITY

QUESTION: Why aren't birds electrocuted while sitting on electric wires?

• • •

ANSWER: Our diagram shows an electric current making a circuit over wires to a house and back through the ground to the power station. The wires carrying the current are covered with insulating material which prevents the electricity within them from making contact with anything outside.

But even if a bird were sitting on a wire which was not insulated he would not be hurt because he would be touching only one of the wires and would not be "grounded."

If you could imagine a bird sitting on a live wire and touching with his bill another wire or some other conductor leading to the ground, you might have a situation where the current would pass through the body of the bird. In this case the bird would be electrocuted. But this situation could hardly happen, so the little swallows are quite safe sitting on the electric wires.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Remember a couple of simple rules which will help safeguard you from electrical accidents. Never climb electric poles or touch outside wiring. If your hands or feet are wet, never touch anything electrical, for water is a good conductor of electricity. 8-23

(Mary L. Ortakales of Laconia, N. H. wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper.)

Woman's Joy Is Puzzle To Most Men

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The thing that puzzles men most about women is that they enjoy being women.

Now and then a man, worn out with the office politics of earning a living, has a kind of masculine envy of his wife.

"You got it made, baby," he tells her. "When you get tired of pushing buttons on all these modern labor-saving devices you can lie down on the couch and rest your worn finger.

"If you don't want to dust a table now, you can dust it later. If you don't feel like sending out the laundry today, you can send it out tomorrow.

"Boy, if I ever get the chance to be born again, I think I'd choose to be born a woman."

Actually, however, that is the last thing on earth he'd choose to be. A lion? Maybe. An elephant? Perhaps. But a woman? Never, never, never!

Now and then I discuss this subject with my wife.

"Tell the truth, Frances," I say to her, "if you had it to do all over again, wouldn't you rather be a man?"

"No indeed."

"Why?"

"Because it's more fun being a woman."

Fun? For the life of me I can't figure it out. Where's the fun?

Admittedly, a man's life is full of woe. Every morning he has to shave and then decide which sock to put on first—and what necktie to wear. But after he gets these major decisions out of the way the rest of his day is fairly clear sailing.

He is no longer much of a bother to himself.

But a woman is a perpetual nuisance to herself all the hours she is awake.

She is never quite right. She has to endlessly adjust herself. She is never at peace.

She is always straightening the seams of her stockings, tugging at her girdle, putting on lipstick, adjusting her hair, doing her fingernails, smoothing her dress, clipping her eyebrows, patting her chins to firm them, and anointing herself with lotions.

At least 50 times a day she has to look into a mirror to be sure she is still there—and pretend to be glad at what she sees therein.

Women have a lot of other problems. They can't scratch themselves in public. They have to be careful about crossing their legs.

But the worst of all ordeals about being a woman, to me at least, would be having to eat tuna salad for lunch day after day. But the girls seem to thrive on it.

"Just tell me one thing," I ask Frances. "What real joy could there possibly be in being a woman?"

"You'll never know," she says smugly.

Sen. Goldwater Would Support Rockefeller

ATLANTA (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says he would support Nelson Rockefeller if the New York governor won the Republican nomination for president in 1964.

"The country can't stand another four years of Kennedy," he said Thursday after replying yes to a direct question on possible support of Rockefeller.

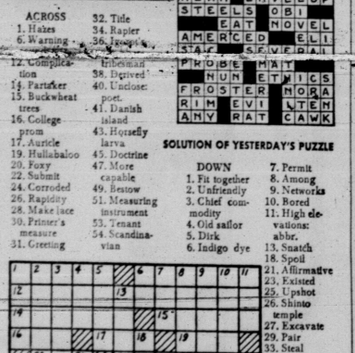

This was believed to be the first time the Arizona Republican, who also is a prominent possibility for the GOP presidential nod, has said he would support Rockefeller.

The New Yorker has not said whether or not he would back Goldwater if the nomination should go to the Arizona senator.

Cards Finally Win From Dodgers 3-2

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals, almost left high and dry by Curt Flood, took off for Houston today after salvaging the finale of a three-game set with National League leading Los Angeles and temporarily at least, throwing the Dodgers' runaway chances overboard.

Despite a base-running boner by the sure-footed Flood, the Cardinals kept the Dodgers from building their lead to a whopping 8½ games by edging the front-runners 3-2 Thursday night in a game punctuated by missed opportunities.

Flood, racing around third on Bill White's hit with the score tied 2-2 in the fifth, missed the bag and had to retreat. By the time Flood, who had four hits for the night, retraced his steps, it was too late to try and score.

As it turned out, the Cardinals snapped the tie in the sixth on a double by Ken Boyer and Julian Javier's single, ending the Dodgers winning streak at seven games and trimming their lead to 6½ games.

The Cardinals, who came into Los Angeles only 5½ games back and riding a three-game winning streak, now will be looking to make up ground against the Colts while the Dodgers tackle the suddenly potent Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves, who have moved into sixth place by winning eight of their last 10, lost to third-place San Francisco 8-6 as Juan Marichal posted his 19th victory despite a grand slam homer by Milwaukee's Joe Torre. The Giants are 7½ back.

In the only other NL game scheduled, Roberto Clemente hit a grand slam homer in Pittsburgh's 9-3 belting of the Chicago Cubs.

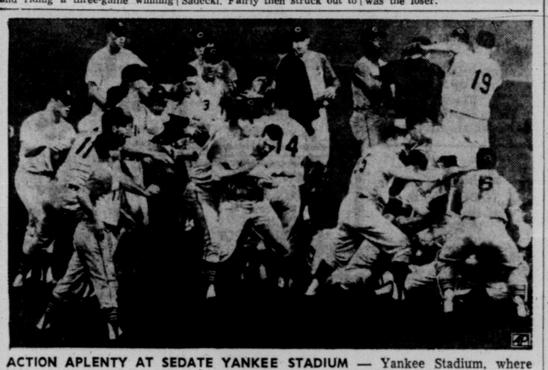

The Cardinals scored twice in the first against Dodgers starter Don Drysdale, 16-14. Dick Groat was hit by a pitch, moved to third on a single by White and scored on Stan Musial's grounder before Boyer singled White home. The Dodgers came back to tie in the third against Ernie Broglio, 14-8, on run-producing singles by Wally Moon and Tommy Davis. After that they were unable to come up with the key hit.

The Dodgers got men on first and third with one out in the eighth but Wally Moon got trapped off third when Ron Fairly swung and missed a pitch by Ray Sadecki. Fairly then struck out to end that threat. The Dodgers got Frank Howard to third with two out in the ninth, but Sam Jones relieved Sadecki and struck out pinch hitter Bill Skowron to end the game.

A crowd of 48,589 turned out for the series windup, bringing the total attendance for the three games to 153,816.

Marichal, 19-6, was tagged for Torre's grand slam in the eighth, but by that time it was too late for the Braves. Felipe Alou's three-run homer in a four-run third inning rally against Tony 8-8, had put the Giants ahead to stay. The decisive runs crossed in the eighth on a triple by Willie McCovey and a single by Willie Mays, who eventually scored on a passed ball. Chuck Hiller collected three of San Francisco's 10 hits.

A double by Donn Clendenon and Jim Pagliaroni's single broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth before Clemente broke it open for the Pirates with his grand slam in the ninth. Bob Bailey belted a triple and homer for the Pirates as they hopped over the slipping Cubs into seventh place. Bob Friend, 15-11, got the victory with Al McBean's relief help. Larry Jackson, 14-12, was the loser.

ACTION APLENTY AT SEDATE YANKEE STADIUM — Yankee Stadium, where rhubarbs are not on the menu, witnesses a donnybrook between Cleveland and New York players in eighth inning of second game of double header. Battle started when Yankee first baseman Joe Pepitone, hatless at upper left, was hit twice by Cleveland pitchers while batting and took off after twirler Gary Bell. Yankees won two, both by 3-to 1 scores, on Pepitone's hitting. (AP Wirephoto)

Yankees Lose To Cleveland

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Stuart may not have had an equal since Zeke Bonura.

For the younger fans in the audience, Zeke Bonura was a large right-handed hitting first baseman who played in the majors—principally for the Chicago White Sox — from 1934 through 1940. He hit the ball as few players have done. He also played first base as few players have done.

The latter was his undoing.

Stuart, a large right-handed hitting first baseman for the Boston Red Sox, comes close to qualifying in each respect. He is hitting the ball, at least so far as power is concerned, better than any other player in the American League.

The figures explain his hitting. The Red Sox belter, who once hit 66 homers in the minors, drove in two runs on a couple of singles and a homer in Boston's 11-2 romp over Chicago Thursday. The performance increased his American League lead to 33 home runs and 93 runs batted in.

Stuart's performance and a grand-slam homer by the Red Sox' Ed Bressoud prevented the second-place White Sox from closing up any on the league-leading Yankees, who took a 7-4 licking from Cleveland despite a grand slam homer by John Blanchard. Kansas City beat Washington 6-2 and Baltimore whipped the Los Angeles Angels 5-1 in the only other games played.

Bonura hit 27 homers and drove in 110 runs when he broke in with the White Sox in 1936, and in the four years he played with them averaged 20 home runs and 110 RBI. He was sold the season after he hit a career high of .345, and his inability to move in the field was the big reason. He was finished at the age of 32 after seven years in the majors, in which he compiled a lifetime average of .307.

Stuart's career has been remarkably similar. Though he has never hit for a high average, he has long been highly regarded as a right-handed power hitter.

"The Pittsburgh club couldn't have made me happier if they'd doubled my salary," Stuart chortled when the Pirates traded him away from spacious Forbes Field to the Red Sox' chummy Fenway Park last winter.

Boros Ties For Lead In American

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Julius Boros, Miller Barber and Johnny Pott, three Southern gentlemen with hot putters, went into the second round of the $50,000 American Golf Classic today tied for the lead.

All three shot three-under-par 67s in the opening round Thursday while the pre-tournament favorites, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, could do no better than match par.

Two strokes behind the leaders were Jay Hebert, Australian Bruce Crampton, Gay Brewer Jr., Dave Hill, Al Geiberger and Dave Marr.

Equalling par with Palmer and Nicklaus were George Bayer, Ed Furgol, Ted Kroll and Rex Baxter Jr. Eleven others, including Gary Player who returned from a month's rest, were tied with 71s while southpaw Bob Charles, the British Open champion, was in a group of seven with 72s.

Boros, the 43-year-old U.S. Open champion who has earned $70,936 while having the best year of his career, toured the opening round with 28 putts and one-putted eight greens. The veteran from Mid Pines, N.C., drove out of the fairways seven times but again proved he plays his best golf on tough courses as he picked up four birdies.

Although they found themselves three strokes off the lead, Palmer and Nicklaus remained the main attraction and in excellent position to take down the top prize of $9,000. Palmer bogeyed the first and last holes and might have finished one under par if his second shot on the 18th hole had not caught branches of a tree and fallen short.

Nicklaus birdied the second and fourth holes but ran into trouble on No. 3. His second shot landed on the edge of a pond. Jack took off his shoes and socks, stepped into the water and hit out of the mud. He needed three more strokes to get down and the double bogey six cost him a chance of breaking par.

Tigers Need One More Scrimmage

The Snyder Tiger football team has one pre-season scrimmage scheduled and is looking for another, according to head Coach Horrace Bostick.

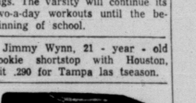

The Tigers will scrimmage against Midland High School here on the weekend of Sept. 6-7, Coach Bostick said that it has not been agreed yet whether to play on Friday or Saturday.

A scrimmage set against Seminole for Sept. 30 was cancelled by Seminole, Coach Bostick is trying to line up another opponent for that date.

In workouts up to date, the Tigers have shown a great deal of desire, and at least some of them are in fairly good condition for this time of the year.

The B Team is now working out only once each day, in the mornings. The varsity will continue its two-a-day workouts until the beginning of school.

Jimmy Wynn, 21 - year - old rookie shortstop with Houston, hit .290 for Tampa las tseason.

Favorite And Unknown Lead Tourney

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Don Iverson of Lacrosse, Wis., the favorite, and Jeff Riley of Balboa, Panama, the unknown, carried a three-stroke lead into the final round of the International Junior Chamber of Commerce Golf Tournament today.

They had 213 for 54 holes as a result of a one-under-par 70 by Iverson, seeking his first title in five tries, and Riley, a 15-year-old who came from nowhere, a 71 Thursday.

In third place was Wendell Coffee of Avondale, Ga., who had a 71 for 216.

Iverson, 17, pulled into a tie for the lead with Riley and could have taken over all alone had not a 20-foot putt stopped inches short of the cup on the final green.

Riley said he thought it would take part or better today to win "and I think I can do it."

The final round will be over the 7,040-yard Midland Country Club course and Riley said he wished it was Ranchland Hills' 5,850-yard layout where they played Thursday.

He shot 67 and 71 at Ranchland but when he played at Midland Country Club he had 75. But he has either led or shared the lead all three days of the tournament.

Women's Shoot Set For Sunday

The Canyon Gun Club Auxiliary will sponsor a Women's Shoot Sunday afternoon at the Canyon Gun Club Range.

The event will start at 1:30 with scoring to be done on five shots at 100 yards. Rifles of .244 calibre and down will be used.

The group scoring will count toward the yearly trophy.

Who Cares For Pacific Coast League

By The Associated Press

Pacific Coast League ballplayers are doing everything but catching line drives with their toes to attract attention, but no one seems to care.

Among the stunts offered Thursday night: Dallas Fort - Worth topped Salt Lake City 6-4 in the longest game of the year (regular admission price); Portland swept a doubleheader from Seattle 5-3 and 2-1 in the only race in the league and Hawaii trounced Tacoma 11-4 to win its 12th straight and come within a country mile of Spokane.

In other attractions the Southern Division's last place team, Denver, topped first place Oklahoma City 4-2 and San Diego humbled the National League's Cincinnati 6-2.

Salt Lake and Dallas-Fort Worth paraded four pitchers apiece before only 772 fans. Finally, Billy Cowan decided no one else was going to show up and belted a two-run homer to end it after 16 innings and four hours and 47 minutes.

Texas League Re-Shuffles

By The Associated Press

The fast-changing Texas League race shuffled again Thursday night and Tulsa now is in second place, El Paso third and Austin, in a disheartening slump, is fourth.

San Antonio increased its lead to three games because of Tulsa's rise as the Bullets clouted El Paso 12-9.

Tulsa slammed Albuquerque 7-3, shoving over six runs in the seventh inning. Harry Watts' pinch single was the key hit. It drove in two runs and put Tulsa ahead to stay.

Amarillo's last place Gold Sox continued the rout of Austin. The Gold Sox edged the Senators 8-7 for their fifth straight triumph. Andy Kosco's double with two out in the last of the ninth produced the winning run.

San Antonio and El Paso mixed it in a slugfest with 32 hits on both sides, including seven home runs. The Bullets scrapped back from a 9-2 deficit to win. Julio Julio Linares drove in five El Paso runs with two homers and a single.

Fred Bates of Hillsborough, Calif., won the pole vault event for Dartmouth in 11 of 13 duel meets this year.

Oilers Lose To San Diego

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The combination of John Hadl and Lance Alworth that was disrupted in the latter's rookie year with San Diego because of injuries bloomed anew as these two teamed up Thursday night to whip the Houston Oilers 21-3.

Hadl passed 15 yards to Alworth, the former Arkansas speedster, for a touchdown in the first period and then flipped one 60 yards to him to set up a second touchdown in the third period.

And Alworth would have gone all the way had he not run into the injury bugaboo again. He pulled a leg muscle while in the clear and was overhauled at the Oiler 20.

Unseeds Win In Doubles Tennis Play

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Uninvited but not at all embarrassed to be party-crashers, Jim McManus of Berkeley, Calif., and Allen Fox, of Los Angeles, are the only unseeded team remaining in the men's quarter-finals of the National Doubles Tennis Championships.

They go hunting for the fourth-seeded team, British Davis Cuppers Bobby Wilson and Roger Taylor in one of today's matches at the Longwood Cricket Club that will shrink the field to four.

Fox, a graduate student at UCLA, and McManus, captain of the University of California varsity, are old friends and tennis court enemies, but never had paired before this week.

"I've been to Longwood four times—with four different partners," said Fox. "I entered this time without a partner and they put me with McManus, who was alone, too. Good break for me."

McManus, an exceptional doubles player, was a quarter-finalist last year with Bill Hoggs, with whom he ranks second nationally. Hoggs is in Europe now.

Co-favorites' Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox of Mexico and U.S. Davis Cuppers Chuck McKinley of San Antonio and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., will have to apply themselves for the first time this week.

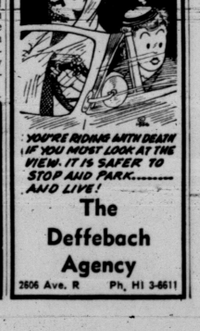

Pan-Am Loses Two Basketball Players

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP)— Pan American College, the NAIA basketball champion, lost a couple of players today.

Jim Harter, standing 6 feet-9 and slated for center, will undergo an operation for a tumor of the tongue and throat. A freshman prospect from Donna, Paul Chambers, will study for the ministry at LeTourneau College in Longview.

CHURCH NOTES

First Baptist

The Rev. Taylor Henley, Director of Religious Activities and Public Relations at the Baptist Memorial Geriatrics Hospital at San Angelo, will speak for both services Sunday. Rev. Henley will speak on the subject, "The Wonder of the Cross" at the 11 a.m. worship service. R. Virgil Mott will sing a solo, "Anchored in Love Divine".

Training Union will begin at 6 p.m., and the evening worship service at 7 p.m. The speaker will use the subject "The Gifts of the Holy Spirit", at the 7 p.m. hour of worship.

Sunday night is Youth night. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Loveless, will be in charge of the program for the evening, and those appearing on the scene will be, Miss Jan Summers, testimony, Miss Sheri Belt, pianist, and song leader, Jackie Walton.

Choir registration has been scheduled to meet at the church, Wednesday Aug. 28, at 6:30 p.m.

Dr. A. B. Lightfoot, pastor of First Baptist Church is presently away conducting a revival in Hawaii. Dr. Lightfoot is scheduled to return to Snyder, Sept. 7, and will be in his pulpit on Sunday, Sept. 8 for both services.

R. Virgil Mott, Minister of Music and Education of First Baptist Church, recently attended the Paisano Baptist Assembly located near Alpine. Mr. Mott taught music theory for a week at the assembly. Others appearing on the faculty were Dr. Euell Porter, Director of Choral Activities at Baylor University, Waco; also Dr. William Thorne, Lubbock. Mr. Mott assisted in the production of the Easter portion of Handels' Messiah.

Screen Star Leaves $1 Million Estate

Barthelmess, 68, died of cancer Saturday at his Long Island home. His will was filed for probate in Surrogate Court Thursday.

His property, including substantial real estate holdings on the East and West coasts, was bequeathed to his widow, Jessica S. Barthelmess of Manhattan; a daughter, Mary B. Bradley of San Rafael, Calif., and a stepson, Stewart Barthelmess, who lives in France.

Federal Aid Rapped By BYU Head

PROVO, Utah (AP)—Dr. Ernest L. Wilkinson, president of Brigham Young University, attacked federal aid for higher education and said his school has rejected more than $3 million in federal funds in the last five years.

Brigham Young is operated by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Wilkinson said the Board of Trustees made the decision to refuse the money.

The board includes the presidency of the Church, its Council of Twelve Apostles and most of the general authorities.

The board, Wilkinson said, had also expressed opposition to the proposed higher education facilities bill now in Congress.

He told a summer commencement audience Thursday that "Easy federal money will encourage the inefficient management and shocking lack of utilization of our existing educational facilities and buildings."

"State and private sources are responding to and can adequately meet the educational needs of the 60s," he said.

"The federal control of higher education, which would accompany and follow federal grants would be unwise and dangerous.

"Federal grants to religious educational institutions appear to be a direct violation of the First Amendment to the Constitution."

Seat Belts Now Standard Equipment

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry made a major concession to the average motorist Thursday but the car owner will pay the bill.

General Motors, followed in quick succession by Chrysler, Ford and American Motors, announced, effective Jan. 1, 1964, that all their new cars will be equipped with seat belts. Studebaker started the trend with a similar announcement last March 1.

The industry had been under growing pressure since the 1956's when Nash - Kelvinator's 1950 Rambler series offered seat belts.

Groups interested in traffic safety and in cutting down the nation's death toll of an estimated 40,000 persons in some 10-million car accidents, had urged wider adoption of safety belts.

Starting with 1962 models, built-in anchorages for seat belts were provided by all U.S. manufacturers so that dealers could make seat belt installations quickly and cheaply at a cost ranging upwards from about $20.

The auto firms said list prices of their cars will be adjusted to reflect the inclusion of front seat belts as standard equipment. Cost increases were not announced, but GM said its present cost is $18 or more plus installation.

The county's swimming pool is not a big profit maker, figures show.

Profits at the county swimming pool from the time it opened July 4 through last Friday totaled less than $700 for its two operators, Jack Dillon and Horrace Bostick, and the profit figure was derived without deduction of utility expenses this month, which will total about $800.

Before the month ends, however, additional receipts will offset one of the operating expenses.

Marx, Freud Get Credit For Strengthening Christianity

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Thanks be to God, the Christian scholar said, for the blessings bestowed on the faith by those two atheists, Karl Marx and Sigmund Freud.

It may sound strange for the world's two most noted disbelievers to be cited as sources of value to religion.

Yet among many theologians and philosophers, the thesis often is expressed.

They maintain that Marx, founder of communism, and Freud, founder of psychoanalysis, have contributed stimuli and insights to Judeo-Christianity that were neglected.

A long-standing church concept holds that God frequently may work through antireligious forces and individuals to correct, lead and strengthen the church.

It was at the Anglican World Congress in Toronto, Canada, this month that a British churchman, Canon Max Warren, stressed that divine guidance may come from outside the Christian fold—from other religions, science, and even atheists.

Christian concern for social righteousness "owes not a little, under God, to the stimulus of Karl Marx," he said.

He said the church also owes thanks to God "for His grace at work in Sigmund Freud," in bringing the light of psychiatry to bear on the healing of men's spirits—their personalities.

Both Marx and Freud spurned religion as wishful thinking. Marx saw it as a kind of mass tranquilizer to obscure the exploitation of common people.

Freud considered it a kind of obsessional neurosis, "brought on by desire for paradise beyond the difficulties and death of earthly existence."

Nevertheless, the psychoanalytic procedures he developed are widely credited with deepening understanding of Christ's teachings, and aiding in their application.

Theologian Paul Tillich says that Freud's approach of accepting, rather than condemning, the guilt-ridden was the very heart of Christ's gospel of forgiveness—the "acceptance of the unacceptable."

As for Marx, the idea of ties between his influence and Christianity is a matter of frequent analysis in academic circles.

In the current issue of Jubilee, a national Roman Catholic monthly, British Catholic philosopher R. C. Zaehner says that "Marxism is not old enough yet to realize that it has no essential quarrel with religion."

He says that communism's persecution of religion is in conflict with Marx's original theory that it would disappear automatically and that Stalinist totalitarianism was a "radical distortion" of original Marxism.

It "put a tyrant in the place of God," he says, adding that "a revolution in post-Stalinist thought" is now going on.

Christianity, he said, is not contrary, it has every reason to welcome it as an ordered alternative to unbridled capitalism."

Marxism itself, he says "has within it elements of natural religion which, given some relaxation of the present rigid attitudes, could be slowly absorbed and transformed in the body of the church."

"Stranger things than this have happened before, for 'the spirit bloweth where it listeth', and man is astonishly obtuse in forseeing where it will blow next."

TOP TV TONIGHT

By BUD EVANS

8:30 CBS "Alfred Hitchcock". An embittered, autocratic wine baron challenges his disowned son to a drinking bout for a stake the son desperately needs. After humiliating his son in the drinking contest, he adds insult to insult by trying to get the young man's chosen fiance to marry him, the older man. Gilbert Roland and Lorraine Day are starred and Don Galloway and Laura Devon are featured.

OTHER HIGHLIGHTS

6:30 CBS "Rawhide". Veteran actress Josephine Hutchinson makes a guest star appearance as a "sweet" old grandmother whom Rowdy Yates meets on the trail and offers to escort to a nearby town. Unknown to Rowdy, the grandmother is fleeing from a jewel robbery.

6:30 NBC "International Showtime" presents the "Spanish National Circus" in a performance taped at Hamburg, Germany. One of the highlights finds a petite trapeze artiste sliding down a rope to a trapeze, head down and holding by her feet.

7:30 CBS "Route 66" tells the story in which Linc Case's kindness to an injured dachsund is repaid by his being accused of having caused the injury. Ralph Meeker is guest star as an attorney who is reluctant to defend Linc and Miriam Hopkins stars as the false accuser.

7:30 NBC "Mitch Miller" salutes immigrants from many lands who brought their many favorite folksongs to the United States. Other highlights will be a scene in a New England whaling village, a rent party during the depression and an instrumental segment. COLOR.

9:00 NBC "Jack Paar" repeats the show spotlighting Alexander King, Dick Gregory, Les Paul and Mary Ford and the four-man cast of "Beyond the Fringe". Films show the home of Les Paul and Mary Ford in New Jersey in happier times and provide their rendition of "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise" and "Summertime". COLOR.

9:30 CBS "Portrait". United States Air Force Chief of Staff General Curtis LeMay is interviewed with Harry Reasoner.

Texas Still Tops In Oil Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas as usual is the top oil and gas state, a new report shows.

The report by the Independent Petroleum Association of America puts the state far in front in estimated value, at the well, of oil and natural gas production in 1962. The figure was $3,951,874,000.

Texas has been the leading oil and gas producing state for more than 30 years. In 1925 California held that position.

Of the Texas total for 1962, the report showed, $2,800,150,000 came from crude oil.

Louisiana was in second place with a value of $2,286,193,000, of which $1,521,768,000 was in crude.

Next came California with $984,421,000; Oklahoma, $755,873,000; New Mexico, $447,605,000; Kansas, $425,884,000, and Wyoming, $397,493,000.

Tennessee was last among the oil and gas states with an estimated value of $61,000.

The IPA figures for 1961 gave Texas $3,902,265,000, Louisiana also was in second place that year with $1,966,685,000 and California third with $962,145,000.

Nationally, the IPA said, 1962 oil production was valued at $10.6 billion, nearly 60 per cent of the value of the total U.S. minerals output.

The report figured that the average field price of crude oil in 1962 was $2.90 a barrel compared with $2.89 a year earlier.

A separate report from the Bureau of Mines estimated world crude petroleum production in 1962 at 8,879 million barrels, an increase of 693 million over the 961 level and a new high.

It was the largest annual increase in the history of the industry.

Asks Integration Of Cigar Smokers

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Sally Bison of Millis, Mass., cigar-smoking Phi Beta Kappa of Wellesley College, is seeking to have women admitted as members of the Cigar Smokers of America.

Mrs. Bison said Wednesday she will press a move for integration of men and women cigar smokers at the second annual convention of the national organization in Newport this weekend.

Her previous request to join the Boston Humidor—a cigar-smoking men's group—was turned down by men of that organization. She claims 1,000 women in this country now smoke cigars.

New Course Slated For Supervisors

Another in the series of supervisory development programs which are co-sponsored by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce and the Engineering Extension Service of Texas A&M is scheduled to begin next Monday.

The five-day program planned for next week is entitled "Effective Communications." The class will meet from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the West Texas State Bank.

Chief objectives of the program are said to be the developing of an awareness of the broad range of problems that result from poor communications; the conveying of a clearer understanding of the organizational and human factors in communicating; and the consideration of principles and techniques which help to overcome the barriers of effective communications.

J. H. Hunt, a staff member of the Engineering Extension Service, will be the instructor. Hunt has had a number of years experience in the oil industry.

Those interested in attending the program have been urged to mail or phone their registration to the Chamber of Commerce office. Enrollments in the course is limited to 20.

"I PRESS FORWARD

... to a high calling in Christ. For I know, "out of the lowest depths there is a path to the loftiest heights." This man's challenge is higher ground... to blaze his way to God. His highest moral intent is to go Heavenward. God had a purpose in his road-block. Maybe there is one before you. God doesn't make it easy for us to be good. But He gave Jacob a ladder and he climbed to Princehood with God. From way down, a man can climb way up when his purpose is lofty. The church will help every man in his climb if he truly seeks higher ground. You are what you want to be — good or bad; of God or of the devil. Then seek good this week... go to church.
