County Seeking Disaster Funds

Assistance is being sought from two sources for farmers whose land and crops were damaged by the 12-inch rain which fell in early October.

Application for designation as a disaster area has been filed by the county ASCS and approval was approved by the State ASCS Office.

The application is now in the national office in Washington D.C..

Collingsworth County Commissioners Court is taking another route in requesting disaster designation. An application has been filed with the Governor's office and according to information received by Judge Zook Thomas Tuesday, Nov. 11, the application has been approved.

The ASCS application seeks funding through the Emergency Conservation Practice Program, and although the application has reached Washington, Bob Weatherly, ASCS executive director, warns that there is no money available for this program at present and none will be available until Congress can act after it convenes in January.

Weatherly also pointed out that only those farmers who did not participate in the same program in 1978 and 1982 can participate in this year's emergency Conservation program. There was heavy

Field House Addition Scheduled by ISD

An addition to the field house at the football stadium will be constructed by WISD employees, the board of trustees decided at its regular monthly meeting Monday, November 10.

A 43x40 structure will be added on to the west end of the present field house. The addition will accomodate the junior high school players and the visiting teams.

Supt. Dr. Lawrence Ward told the board, "I believe we have the ability to build a field house ourselves." Ward estimated the cost would be less than $10,000. Board president Kirby Campbell made the motion for construction and a second was made by Reed Souder. The vote was unanimous with John Barton, Frances Schmidt and Sharon Starkey also voting.

Board members absent Monday were Jamie Johnson and Jerry Duncan.

In other action, the board voted 3-2 not to participate as an intervenor in a class action suit against the Texas Board of Education, a group is seeking a more equitable disbursement of state funds. The group involved in the suit was asking school districts over Texas for $1 per average daily attendance for help in paying attorney's fees. Wellington's share would have been just over $600. Voting not to participate were Campbell and Mrs. Schmidt and Mrs. Starkey. Voting for the participation were Barton and Souder.

Also, the board learned of Wellington city manager Tiny Taylor's proposal to help the ISD construct stands at the new track oval. Dr. Ward pointed out that Wellington cannot host the district track meet unless it has seating.

The city will help with materials but specially treated 2x10 boards must be purchased at a cost of about $2,200. In addition, labor costs must be handled by the ISD.

County Near Proposed Route To Transport Nuclear Waste

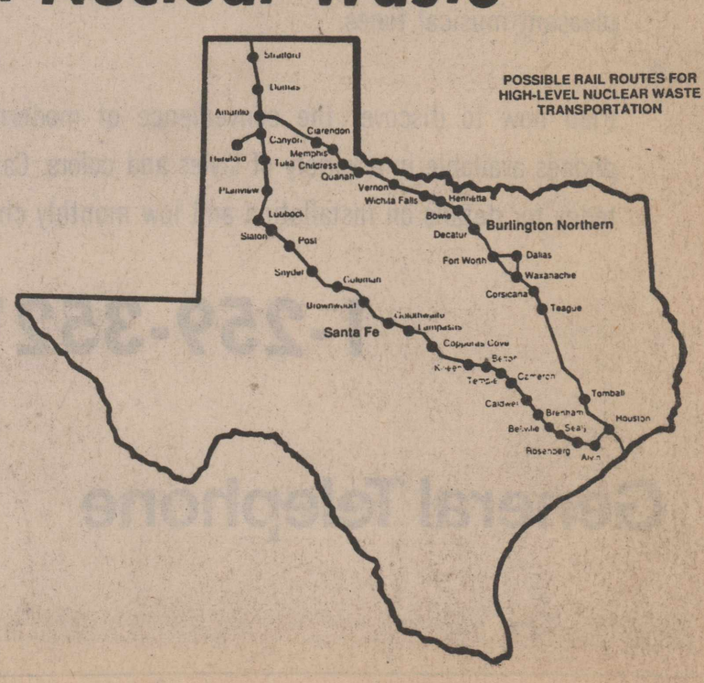

One of two possible routes for the shipment of high-level radioactive waste to a proposed site in Deaf Smith County would be by either rail or highway through Childress, Memphis and Hedley.

A load of high-level radioactive waste would be only 29.2 miles from Wellington as it went through Childress. It would be 22.7 miles from the south county line to Childress.

When it reached Memphis the load would be 26.4 miles from Wellington and 18.2 miles from Quail, but it would be only 2.2 miles from the Collingsworth-Hall county line.

As it passed through Hedley, it would be approximately 25 miles from Wellington and 13 miles from

How much does one vote count? It could be a lot. The narrowest recorded percentage win in an election would seem to be for the office of Southern District Highway Commissioner in Mississippi in 1979. The winner got 133,587 votes; the loser, 133,582; a difference of .0001 percent.

participation in both the 1978 and 1982 emergency conservation programs and many terrace systems were rebuilt over the county.

None of those farmers are eligible to participate in the current program.

Additionally, those programs required that farmers maintain at their own cost the terrace or other conservation systems at their expense for a 10-year period.

Therefore, farmers who built their terraces in either 1978 or 1982 but lost those systems in 1986, will now be required to repair or rebuild the systems at their own expense.

Farmers who are eligible for the current program may begin signing applications to participate, although they will not receive any money until the program is funded by Congress.

Weatherly said an undetermined number of farmers who lost terrace systems or other conservation structures are already beginning repair or rebuilding work, financing the work themselves or through sources they secure themselves.

Work on the commissioners program is just getting under way. County Judge Zook Thomas is out of town and additional information is expected within a few days after his return.

The Vice President during Abraham Lincoln's first term was Hannibal Hamlin.

Quail, but it would be traveling away from Collingsworth.

The Department of Energy is proposing nuclear waste be shipped by barge from the east coast to the port of Houston and then be transported by truck or train to the site 30 miles west of Amarillo.

One of the routes would be by Burlington Northern rails, or Highway 287 to Amarillo. Another route would be through Central Texas on the Santa Fe railroad to Lubbock and Amarillo.

During a recent hearing in Houston by the House Sub-committee on Hazardous Materials Transportation, state agriculture commissioner Jim Hightower said six million Texans are now tied into the possible dumping of nuclear waste in the Panhandle.

With the holiday season just around the corner, many of us are beginning to plan our menu for the festive occasion.

Many menus will include turkey, and here are some important preparation tips to follow to help insure a safe turkey dinner.

-Never thaw the turkey at room temperature. Turkey can produce salmonella if not properly handled, and if the bird is allowed to set at room temperature. This will activate the bacteria.

Instead, place the turkey in the refrigerator a few days ahead of the time to bake it.

-Microwave ovens are also safe for defrosting.

After thawing, wash inside and out with cold water and pat dry.

-Never stuff the bird and let it stand at room temperature. Stuff the turkey right before you cook it.

-After eating the meal at which the turkey is served, remove the stuffing from the cavity.

-Cooking the bird at 325 degrees is not recommended. Temperatures less than 325 will have a greater chance at developing harmful bacteria.

Sandi Seale Youngest Cutting Horse Trainer

Sandi Seale, born and raised in Wellington is now living in Clovis, N.M. where she has just proved to be one of the youngest up and coming cutting horse trainers in New Mexico. The Greater New Mexico Cutting Horse Association schedules show from February until September, giving year end awards to the top horses and riders in several different events. Competition is not limited to New Mexico horses, therefore, horses from Texas, Colorado and Arizona haul throughout the state of New Mexico to various cuttings.

Sandi is the trainer for Garrett Ranches, owned by Malcolm and Donna Jean Garrett of Clovis. She showed a little brown mare, Miss Bubbling Doc, to two year end titles. Together they won the most prestigious event, the open, by only twenty dollars and the 3,000 novice by a substantial lead. The Greater New Mexico awards banquet will be November 22 in Albuquerque where Sandi and Garrett Ranches will receive two trophy buckles and a Jim Reno trophy.

Sandi, who competed in nearly all of the Greater New Mexico cuttings during 1986 said after the finals at the New Mexico State Fair, "I've always loved to compete but it has seemed like I could only get as close as second place." "I wanted to win this bad, not only because I knew my horse had the ability, but also because women do not usually show as professional trainers." Although the competition was extremely tough and the championship was won only by a twenty dollar margin Sandi stuck by her basic principle. "I was raised to believe that if you worked hard enough towards a goal it could be obtainable."

Check Chimney Before You Use the Fireplace

COLLEGE STATION - Preventative measures can help reduce dangerous creosote and tar buildup in your fireplace chimney and flue, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service housing specialist.

"Both flue and chimney units should be cleaned before the first fireplace fire of the season," says Dr. Susan Quiring. "It also may require cleaning again during the winter, especially if you burn wood that has not been air-dried or seasoned."

The specialist says a fourth-inch accumulation of creosote indicates the flue needs cleaning.

She suggests checking the fireplace by hanging a flashlight from the top of the flue to a third of the way down the flue. Then, look up the lighted flue from the fireplace with a mirror to get an estimate of the buildup.

Wood stove distributors and some home improvement stores sell wire and plastic cleaning brushes that fit square, rectangular or round chimneys, for do-it-yourself cleaning. Or you can hire a professional chimney sweep to perform this service, Quiring remarks.

Then, every time you start a fire, allow a small quantity of dry wood to burn hot for at least 20 minutes before adding more fuel, she advises. This small, hot fire will burn off some of the creosote, reducing buildup.

Also check the chimney regularly for heat damage and deterioration. Repair any cracks in the mortar and places where the mortar has broken loose and fallen out, says the specialist.

EDITORIAL

The recent elections proved one thing. Voters went to the polls not to vote party lines but to choose who they considered the best man for the job.

There were considerable crossovers all over the country. It happened right here in Texas. Republican Bill Clements was elected governor while Democrats were returned to other state offices.

Democrats gained 150 seats in state legislatures and lost 8 governorships. Democrats now control both houses in 28 states while Republicans have the advantage in both in 9 states.

Republicans won the governor's chair for the first time in Alabama, the second time in Florida and South Carolina. And the Democrats won Senate seats in Nevada and both Dakotas where President Reagan demolished the opposition in 1980 and 1984.

Three western states which gave President Reagan all their electoral votes in 1980 and 1984 elected Carter cabinet members to office. Cecil Andrus is the governor-elect of Idaho, Neil Goldschmidt will take over Oregon's top job and Brock Adams is the new Democratic senator from Washington.

The Democrats now have a 55-45 majority in the Senate. They will be in control and the all important committee chairmanships will return to the other side of the aisle.

Democratic presidential frontrunner Gary Hart said it best. "The message for the Democrats is to have a message. We have a greater burden not just to oppose Ronald Reagan but to put forward concrete proposals of our own."

Who was helped in this election for the nomination for president in two years? Hart was a big winner because he has been talking issues for years. The 1986 election was an election of issues.

Vice President George Bush was helped. Many of the new Republican governors are old friends of the vice-president and are politically indebted to him. This could be a big difference when the delegates are selected.

Is the Reagan era over?

The President's influence in California and Nevada, where he stumped for senatorial candidates hard during the last few days, did not pay off.

Politically the next two years will be very interesting. Both parties got the message in the recent elections.

Letters From The People

Dear Editor:

As a person who loves Wellington but does not live there, it would be nice to see what the Wellington coaches look like. Try putting their pictures on the front page.

To those in Wellington who knew me when I lived there, let me tell you what a great town you have. My mistake was leaving Wellington for the city.

Thanks,
Betty Welch

Dear Mr. Constabile:

Recently a most interesting item appeared in the Dallas Morning News and one of the news magazines saying that it was a matter of record that at that time in the two year tenure of President Ford he had vetoed sixty-five spending bills while at the same stage in almost six years of tenure, President Reagan had chosen to veto only twenty-five.

This should come as a revelation to many of us who are wont to point the finger of guilt at Congress, the much maligned "Old Carter" or just about any whipping boy. Most usually the chief restraint on spending resides in the Oval Office.

Would like to compliment the several members of the staff who contribute their writings to the paper each week. It certainly lends a personal touch even when everyone is not in agreement with the opinions you express.

Yours very truly,
Truett Holland

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my appreciation to the people of Wellington. During these few months everyone has been helpful and generous.

Working on the Doug Seal Campaign has been a learning experience, something you do not learn from a book. I knew this campaign would be hard and difficult and that's the way it turned out.

I would like to thank Doug and Wyvon for giving me this opportunity. A special thanks to Carroll and Mollie Nunnelley who have been special friends.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The events on the day after the election couldn't paint the contrast any better between Gov.-elect Bill Clements and defeated incumbent Mark White.

White cast the deciding vote with Treasurer Ann Richards against Comptroller Bob Bullock to approve state borrowing of $600 million to keep the state from going broke early next year.

Clements, who has no such vote yet, joined Bullock in opposing the move. Bullock thinks the borrowing is unneeded. And Clements called the action deficit financing.

The men's political images are clear, deliberately chosen and buttressed. White is a spender and Clements is not.

But now Clements faces White's old problems, and White, as he told the press, will go into the private sector "somewhere between practicing law and selling barbeque."

Crossroads Reached

Clements will be in the hotseat as well as the Mansion, and he could likely face a deficit looming larger than the one that undid White.

But no matter the unfolding future, Texas government and politics will never be the same again. A crossroad has been reached and passed.

Two-Party Texas

The two-party system which coughed up its short-lived promise four years ago has opened its eyes and gotten back on its feet.

Texas Republicans are here to stay, but so is a large bloc of independent voters. The independents returned all other statewide Democrats to office, some with big margins.

Make no mistake about it, the ticket-splitters had a bone to pick with Mark White, not the Texas Democratic Party. Democrats are here to stay, too, and White's absence means a leadership overhaul will be in the making.

Resignations Sought

Immediately, Clements asked for the resignations of White's appointees to the prison board and utility commission.

The appointees didn't comply, and Clements can't compel them to quit, but he underscored the fact that failures in those tough areas will be laid on their doorsteps.

Meanwhile, White appointed his chief of staff, Jim Nelson, to the State Insurance Board, and is lining up jobs for other staffers.

AG's Race Close

If Clements' victory margin was larger than expected, few thought that Attorney General Jim Mattox's win over Judge Roy Barrera, Jr. would be so close.

Barrera's showing on his first time out has sparked lots of hope that an Hispanic can win a statewide race in Texas. In fact, Texas Supreme Court Justice Raul Gonzalez won, making him the first, officially.

Guts To Run

But Gonzalez had the advantage of incumbency, having been appointed to the post. And his was a down-ballot race.

The real issue is whether an Hispanic can win one of the top offices, and Barrera's close finish indicates the day is closer, even though he ran in a "kinded" situation.

Barrera ran as a Republican, which galled the Texas Democratic Party, presently dominated by urban liberals who like to portray the GOP as racist as well as elitist. Some of that ilk also fostered the notion that rural conservatives are also racists who won't vote for a Mexican-American.

The Republican Party gave Barrera a chance. The Democrats are still "grooming" their Hispanic hopefuls.

But before either party gets credit or blame, remember this: Barrera had the guts to run for statewide office, while the "hopefuls" sat out and voted with the liberals for Mark White.

Barrera has a future, and because of him, so does any other Hispanic with the courage to step up to the starting line.

Speaker Re-Elected

House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, handily won reelection and seems a sureshot to be a third-term speaker when the Legislature convenes in January.

Billy Clayton was speaker during Clements' first term, and caught between those two archconservatives, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, presiding over a liberal Texas Senate, had to reach new levels of finesse.

Lewis is also a conservative, but having just overcome what some regarded as a Republican political backshoot, he isn't as likely to participate in GOP partisan squeezeplays.

DETERMINE 1987 FERTILIZER NEEDS NOW

Make plans now to collect soil samples from those fields which will be planted to spring crops.

Early assessment of fertilizer needs will help crop producers take advantage of purchasing fertilizers in the fall or winter when prices are generally lower than during the high-demand period in early spring. Also soil samples can be collected after warm-season crops have been harvested, and problem areas in the fields can be identified more easily for specific sampling.

Traditionally, soil testing laboratories have a lighter work load during the fall and early winter so that samples can be processed and results reported more quickly to the sender.

Not to fertilize may result in only average yields which don't generate enough income to cover basic production costs. However, fertilizing at recommended rates will often increase yields enough to more than pay for the fertilizer and also provide some profit margin.

To help crop producers monitor the carryover or residual nitrogen levels in their soil, the Extension Service soil testing laboratories at College Station and Lubbock routinely analyze soils for nitrate nitrogen.

This analysis determines the amount of available nitrogen present in the soil and is subtracted from the amount of nitrogen required to reach a desired yield goal. The reduced nitrogen recommendation results in a direct savings to the producer without sacrificing yield.

There is no substitute for knowing what your soil's nutrient balance is as you start planning next year's cropping program. Soil testing can provide an economical means of determining your soil's nutrient status and can help you make those major economic decisions with greater confidence.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

LOTTERY STILL A BAD IDEA

AUSTIN — One of our colleagues, Sen. Hector Uribe, came through Amarillo last week to drum up support for a Texas state lottery, one of his favorite causes.

Uribe is a good senator who is very sincere in his desire to create a lottery here. During the 1985 regular session and each of this summer's special sessions, he carried legislation to do just that. He even enjoyed a little success during the first summer session as his lottery bills passed the Senate before dying in the House.

His reason's for promoting a lottery are simple enough. Uribe believes a lottery would raise millions for the state without creating any new taxes or raising existing ones. In these tough economic times, what could be wrong with that?

Plenty. Despite Uribe's sincerity and often-persuasive arguments, a Texas lottery remains as bad an idea today as it was when he first introduced lottery legislation almost two years ago.

When a lottery is created and people start buying lottery tickets, two things can happen. People either buy tickets from within their predetermined entertainment budget or they buy their tickets with money from outside the entertainment budget, money they may not be able to afford to spend.

People who buy from within an entertainment budget are taking dollars out of the private sector and giving them to state government. Rather than spend on entertainment items that might help stimulate the Texas economy, they are spending money strictly on a government enterprise, and that will do nothing but keep our economy stagnant.

Those who buy tickets from outside the entertainment budget could be damaging their already depressed personal economic situation. Since a disproportionately high percentage of low-income households participate in state lotteries, this extraneous spending for lottery tickets could force Texas to spend even more money on social services.

Obviously, neither of these scenarios are particularly good, certainly not good enough to justify the creation of a state lottery.

Think about it for a moment. We're talking about creating a lottery to give the state extra money with which to meet its budget obligations, but where are we talking about spending the money?

We're talking about spending the money on soical services that will be making payments to people who will have lost their money on lottery tickets in the first place. We're talking about spending money to stimulate an economy that will have been hurt in part by a flow of entertainment dollars away from the private sector and into the government's coffers.

Wouldn't it make more sense not to create the lottery at all and save Texas the budget expense?

Think, too, for a moment about the enticement a lottery holds out to the people. It holds the promise of getting rich quickly. We've all read the stories about the people who have won astronomical sums of money in the state lottery. But, remember this — a person has a better chance of being hit by lightning than winning a lottery prize.

That means for every story we read about someone making millions on the lottery, there are hundreds of unreported stories about people who spend desperately needed money and receive nothing. That means Texas, by creating a lottery, would be operating and promoting a something-for-nothing shell game that goes directly against the American tradition of making money by earning it.

Yes, the Texas lottery could do a lot of good for the State Treasury, but it could do a lot more bad for the state's people.

If you have any questions about the proposed lottery, please write us at P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas, 78711.

SERVICE MEASURED NOT BY GOLD BUT BY THE GOLDEN RULE

Between Us...

by Tom Constabile

It was a football season some will want to forget, but for the returning athletes in 1987, this year could be very important.

The record of 4-6 and 1-4 in district 2-2A wasn't impressive, but if the Rockets learned anything during the 10 game schedule, it should show up during 1987.

All of the top rated offensive players are back. The backfield of quarterback Brad Long and runners Carter and Curtis Nash and Alex Johnson plus pass catcher Arthur Pennon all return.

Punter Daryon Brown improved with every outing. Head Coach James Williams anxiously awaits next year, when he believes the program in Wellington will definitely take a turn for the better.

On the line, Wellington loses seniors Kenny Peeks and Jeff Powell. Senior halfback and defensive standout James Patterson leaves as do ends Derek Seal and Anthony Baker.

Everyone else returns and it's a good bet that Williams will promote at least five from the junior varsity to strengthen his forces.

Wellington should be picked to finish third, maybe higher in the pre-season polls. The Rockets generated a good offense this year, but gave up more points than they scored. Some hard work on the defense and Wellington will be in the middle of the 1987 district race.

Speaking of races, the coin toss sent Memphis home very disappointed. Quanah won the first toss, Canadian was second. Both are representing district 2-2A this week in the playoffs.

Now if the point system which we printed in this space last week was used, instead of the coin toss...Memphis would have been the district winner and Quanah would have been the runnerup.

Members of the district meeting in Wellington, November 12, were given a copy of the proposed new rule. Action probably will not be taken until the spring meeting.

My vote, and I don't have any, for the best running back in the district goes to Quanah's Len Winters, a straight-away power type. Close behind comes shifty Shawn Wright of Canadian and the most exciting player is Otis Henderson of Memphis. From the quarterback position in the wishbone, he makes things happen. The district team was to be chosen at the district meeting Wednesday.

Quanah Squeezes 7th Grade, 14-0

Quanah took advantage of two breaks to nip the Wellington 7th graders, 14-0, last Thursday, November 6, on the loser's field. It was the final game of the season for both teams. The Firecrackers finished at 6-2.

Quanah scored when it recovered its own fumble in the end zone for six points and again on an intercepted pass.

Wellington was stymied but Wesley McKnight did get off four runs of 50 yards or more only to be caught deep in Quanah territory.

Quanah Quiets 8th Grade, 36-0

Quanah ended the Wellington 8th grade football season on a dismal note last Thursday, November 6. The visitors smashed the locals at Powell Field, 36-0, scoring in every period but the fourth quarter.

Quanah counted four TDs in the opening period to put the game out of reach early. The 8th graders finished the year with a 6-3 record, two of the losses coming from Quanah.

START OF A GOOD GAIN

Rocket quarterback Brad Long, right, hands off to Alex Johnson during the district game at Quanah last Friday, November 7.

Rockets End Grid Year; Quanah On Top, 34-13

Quanah went to work early, scoring twice in the first period, went flat late in the third period, but recovered to whip Wellington, 34-13, in the season finale at Indian Stadium last Friday, November 7.

Quanah held a 21-0 halftime advantage, tried to coast the rest of the way, but a runaway almost became a close contest in the second half.

Wellington made it 21-7, late in the third period and a break or two would have made the game very interesting. But Quanah recovered and finished the regular season at 8-2 and 4-1 in district 2-2A for a share of the title. Wellington finished 1986 at 4-6 and 1-4.

Quanah, Canadian and Memphis all won last week forcing a coin toss to determine the playoff participants. Quanah was the odd man out first, gaining the top spot, and Canadian won the second toss, leaving Memphis at home.

Quanah knew it had to strike early to stay in the district race last Friday night and its star runner Len Winters was given the task of getting the job done.

The 200 pound hard driving senior carried the ball 10 straight times in the Indians' opening drive accounting for all 68 yards. He made it to paydirt at 6.31 with a 1 yard smash over the middle. Setrick Dickens made it 7-0 with a perfect placement.

The Skyrockets ran three plays and punted soon after and Quanah went to work again. This time it took the Indians 9 plays to go 47 yards.

But Wellington held on its own 5 forcing Quanah to try a field goal. It was a fake and quarterback Trent Tabor found back Troy Diehl in the endzone for a surprise six pointer. Dickens converted to make it 14-0 at 1.34 of the opening quarter.

Wellington couldn't get past its own 43 yard line during the first 12 minutes and was forced to punt on the first play of the second period.

Quanah drove from its own 22 to the Wellington 25, but was stopped by a strong Rocket defense. After three plays, Wellington punted to the Quanah 48 with 5.05 left in the half.

Nine plays later the Indians counted again on a 6 yard pass from Tabor to Curtis West on the right side. Dickens made it 21-0 at 1.26.

Wellington showed signs of a comeback late in the half going from its own 24 to the Indian 26 as the half ran out.

The Rocket defense held Quanah on the 10 yard line during the first drive of the second half and Wellington took over for a 16 play, 90 yard drive to paydirt, which was culminated by Carter Nash scoring on a 5 yard pitchout with 37 seconds remaining in the third period. Daryon Brown's kick made it 21-7. The drive consumed about six and a half minutes and was symbolic since Wellington was playing more for pride than anything else.

It was at this point that Wellington had a chance to make the game very interesting. Quanah evidently was gloating and went flat in the third period.

Into the fourth period, Wellington held Quanah and received the ball at its own 32. The Rockets tried a run by Carter Nash to the 37 and an incomplete pass at midfield. A third down run failed and Quanah took over after a punt at its own 29.

Quanah had to come up with a score and coach Jim Woods turned the problem over to his strongboy Winters, who ran three plays to the 45. Then Tabor hit Charles Converse for a 24 yard gainer to the Wellington 31.

Winters picked up 4 and Wellington was penalized to the 10. Two plays later Dickens bulled in from the 3 for a 27-7 lead at 6.37 of the final period. Dickens' try for the point was blocked.

Quanah added its final touchdown with 2.16 left on a 55 yard drive. Dickens jumped over the right side from the one and added the final point for a 34-7 lead.

Wellington had one more chance and made the most of it. Starting from its 33, the Rockets went to work. Reserve quarterback Lee Souder hit Carter Nash for a 38 yard gainer to the 29.

Six plays later Curtis Nash smashed over from the 3 to end the scoring and the season at 34-13 with 44 seconds left. A pass for two points failed.

Bald Eagle Tagging Program Gets Results

ROCKPORT--Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's bald eagle marking and tagging program has received reports of sightings of Texas-born eagles as far away as Ontario, Canada.

Biologist David Mabie said 28 eaglets hatched in Texas nests have been tagged and color-marked with wing streamers during the past two years.

Each Texas eaglet was banded with color-leg bands on one leg and a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service band on the other. Each bird also is marked with a yellow marker on the right wing and a blue marker with a yellow spot on the left wing.

Sightings should be reported to Mabie at 715 S. Bronte, Rockport, TX 78382, (512) 729-2315.

Quanah Nips Rocket JV in Finale, 18-12

Quanah scored three first half touchdowns and then held on to nip the Wellington junior varsity, 18-12, in the season final at Powell Field last Thursday, November 6.

Quanah scored when it recovered a Wellington fumble on the 20 in the opening quarter, driving across for the six points soon after.

Then on a Wellington fourth and one in the same period, Quanah held on the Rocket 40 and pushed over its second touchdown seconds later.

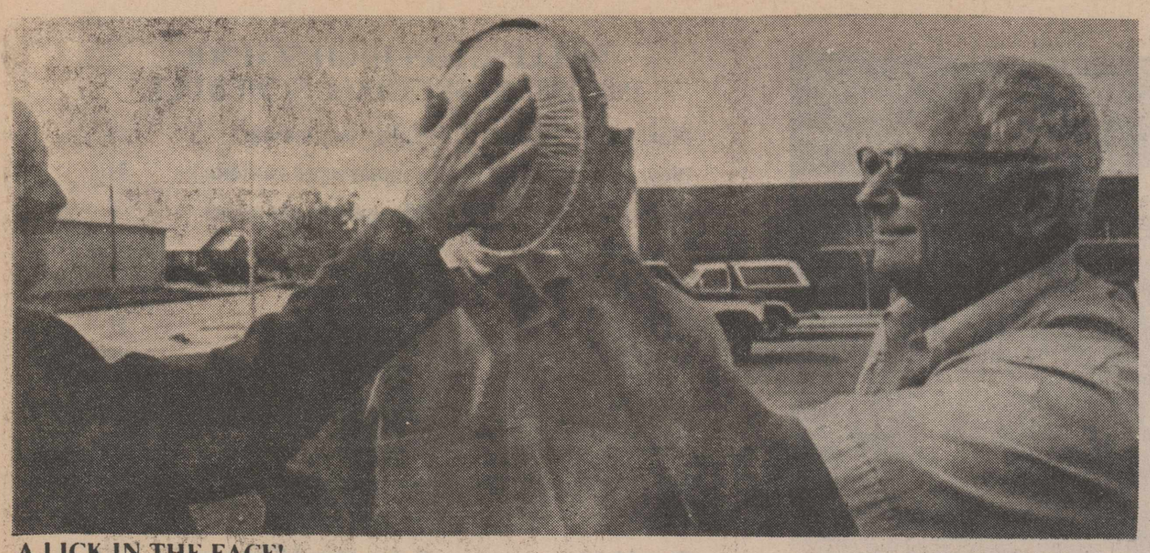

A bad snap on a punt set up the final Quanah score in the second period. The ball was recovered on the Wellington 20 and in three plays, Quanah tallied.

Wellington scored twice in the last period on a 40 yard run by Mark Watts and a 40 yard pass from quarterback Thomas Crytser to Watts.

Crytser set up the first TD with a 40 yard scamper on an option play.

Coach Tim Allen lauded his players explaining, "I've enjoyed coaching these kids all year. They have all been winners." The JV finished with a 4-3 record.

I Saw... by Virginia Robey

Tuesday, as the 11 o'clock hour neared, Nora Drake said: "Do you know, I remember when the whistles blew on the First Armistice Day, at 11 o'clock--the original armistice."

There was something special, indeed about those early Armistice days, when the whistles blew--all the whistles in town.

If you see a familiar logo in this issue of the paper, over the Museum news, this is the original museum logo which Nora and her husband, the late Clyde Drake, made possible. It's good to have it back. The Collingsworth County Historical Museum news will appear as often as Nora feels there is something to say.

We all know about Mrs. Santa Claus, but it never occurred to us that Santa had any other family. Now we learn at the Chamber of Commerce directors meeting that the reason for the change of date of his visit here is that he is going to visit some relatives in Oklahoma.

Those who ate turkey dinner at the B&PW dinner Tuesday evening, were the first to eat under the newly installed ceiling in the Bura Handley Community Center club room.

Collingsworth 4-H Club Calf owners continue to be winners. Earlier, Jody Wood had a high-placing calf at the Tri State Fair in Amarillo.

More recently, Shane Jones placed second with his showing of English and European crosses.

Their families went with both boys.

Now both are getting ready for more shows: the Collingsworth County Steer show in January and the Houston Livestock Show, the last of January.

Although it is the largest livestock show in the world, both of these 4-H boys know their way around the Houston show and feel much at home.

Shane's parents are Teresa and Steve Kane and Howard Jones, while Jody is the son of Margret and Joe Wood.

WORSHIP DIRECTORY

In a forest of giant Sequoias one tiny sapling struggles for life. Little trees cannot survive where the sun does not penetrate.

Nor can little souls flourish if big souls do not allow God's light to reach them.

In the replanting of the Faith every generation has a sacred mission to transmit its spiritual heritage to the next. In homes and churches of our community that mission is right now being fulfilled.

Whether you're a youngster or adult, a parent or grandparent, you have your own special part in God's replanting of the Faith. And no one can take your part!

BY NORA DRAKE

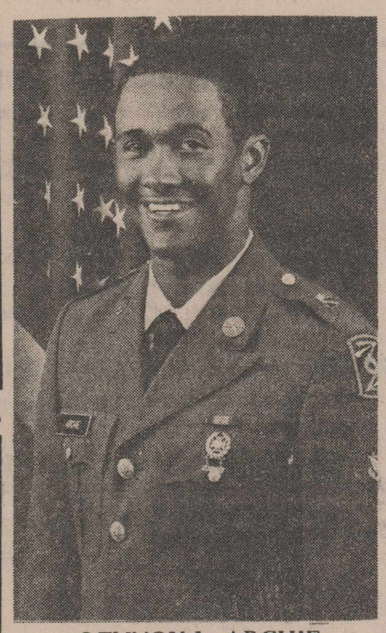

The annual meeting of the members and friends of Collingsworth County Historical Museum has been set for 7 p.m. Thursday, November 20, in the Heritage Room of Wellington State Bank.

Troy Gene Thomason, president, named Mrs. Wayne Cudd to chair a committee to make arrangements for the meeting and Mrs. Calvin Hurst as chairman of the nominating committee for the 1987 museum board. The election of officers will be held at this meeting November 20.

Troy Thomason spent a rainy afternoon visiting in the Childress Heritage Museum. Others of our members have also visited the neighboring museum and found it most delightful.

Mrs. Cudd has contacted Judy Hape the secretary and full-time employee of the museum, asking her to bring a special program for our annual meeting night and this is being worked out.

Mrs. A.V. McFarland who is a founder and director and an active volunteer daily worker at the Childress Museum, hopes to come over and others may also come along with them.

Department of Corrections Film Presented

A taped version of Texas Department of Corrections' presentations to Wellington and Samnorwood School Districts was available to the public the evening of November 6th at the Heritage Room.

Co-hosted by Wellington Garden Club and GFWC 1924 Study Club, the event was a public service by both organizations in answer to requests by adults and youth to view the very timely local event held earlier in the school year.

Operation: Kick It is geared to guide those who may be tempted along similar lines of problems.

The Collingsworth County Sheriff's Department co-ordinated the original program and the VCR filming as an orientation for the community. Lorene Jenkins, program chairman for this regular meeting of the two host groups, is immediate past president of Collingsworth Crime Stoppers.

The program, statewide, with two inmates and one supervisor is offered by the Texas Education Agency and the Texas Department of Corrections.

THANKS TO THE PEOPLE OF COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY

I sincerely appreciate the support that I received in the General Election November 4, 1986.

To the best of my ability, I will work with the Commissioners' Court, Elected Officials and County Employees in keeping Collingsworth County finance on sound business basis, providing the best service possible at a reasonable cost.

Respectfully yours,

THANK YOU

The Booster Club would like to say "Thank you" to each one who contributed to our recent fund raiser.

Thanks goes to Dickie Johnson for announcing for us at the game and a special "Thanks" to Butler Locker Plant for donating the half of beef.

Congratulations to David Caison for being the winner!

ROCKET BOOSTER CLUB

THANK YOU

I wish to express my sincere thanks to the 386 other brave souls that cast their votes for me. Of course I am disappointed and rather embarassed at the results of my latest endeavor. However, it was not a waste of time. I enjoyed my door to door campaigning and participating in the free election process. I congratulate Karen and wish her well.

And now for those who have a good sense of humor. I said "every vote makes a statement" and Mark White and I hear you loud and clear!

Again I say thanks to my supporters.

Campfire Girls Conduct Candy Sale

It's Camp Fire candy sale time again! This year the Wellington district of Amarillo Area Council of Camp Fire will conduct its annual candy sale from Friday, November 7 through Wednesday, November 19.

This year the council is selling four items from the Brown & Haley Candy Company: almond roca, chocolate covered mint patties, almond caramel clusters and blue diamond smoked almonds. Each item sells for $2.50 each.

Camp Fire boys and girls need the support of the community to make this sale a success. The adventure of Camp Fire provides opportunities for boys and girls ages five to eighteen to realize their full potential and to strengthen our community.

"When a Camp Fire youth asks you to buy Camp Fire candy, say yes. It's a delicious way to help and the smiles are free," said Debra Belew.

Parents Study Meeting Slated on Thursday

Parents are reminded that a one-hour study session will be held Thursday, Nov. 13, in which Barbara Williams will discuss "Helping Your Child with Language Arts." The session will be held in the Elementary school cafeteria, starting at 7 p.m. Mrs. Williams is a junior high school teacher.

Film strips will be used, and material will be available from the Region XVI Service Center. There will be an original skit, "The Trials of Harry Homework," presented by Mrs. Williams 8th grade speech class.

Those participating will be Tim Baker, Joe Bartlett, Joe Clark, Tonya Coleman, Gary Davis, David Duncan, Brenda Forrester, Shane Popwell, Frederic Schmidt, Rodney Weatherly and Julie Wilkins.

Anyone who is interested in helping students with language arts is invited to attend this class.

It is one of a series offered by the Wellington Independent School District and to be offered through the year.

Others have been taught by Dr. Lawrence Ward, superintendent of schools, and Wanda Cardwell, counselor.

Junior High Gets Jump on Cagers

The first official basketball game of the local season gets underway at 4:30 p.m. Monday, November 17 when the Wellington 7th grade hosts Childress.

The 8th grade will play following the first game. Gano Wilson coaches both teams.

The Booster Club has been working concessions to help pay for stands, according to several of the board members.

Souder was appointed to visit with the Booster Club and discuss the possibility of financing the costs of the materials and labor. The new stands would seat about 480.

Also, the board waived exemption on personal property automobile tax for the 1987 tax year.

And, the board will update the ISD's insurance program by increasing coverage to $6,060,665 for a premium of $18,788. The previous coverage was for $3,082,602 for $7,756.

However, the board is seeking premium reductions on several items which it believes are overvalued.

The board also learned from Dr. Ward that during the month of October the elementary school had 309 students and 98% in attendance; junior high school had 142 students and 97% in attendance and the high school had 190 students and 96% attendance. The total was 641 students. October and March are the two months that the state uses to base its aid to the district.
