U.S.-Iranian military confrontation claimed

By the Associated Press

Iran claimed two carrier-based U.S. fighter jets "started to shoot" at an Iranian patrol plane over the Gulf of Oman today in the first U.S.-Iranian military confrontation since the American hostages were seized nearly six months ago. The Pentagon denied there was any shooting.

In Washington, the Defense Department said: "Two F-14 aircraft from the aircraft carrier Nimitz made a routine intercept of an Iranian C-130 aircraft near the Strait of Hormuz. The U.S. aircraft escorted the Iranian plane back to Iranian air space. It was a routine intercept. There was no firing of weapons."

Washington officials said the Iranian airplane came within approximately 50 miles of the Nimitz and the two F-14s were launched to look it over. The Nimitz is one of about 30 U.S. warships stationed in the Indian Ocean following the takeover of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran last Nov. 4 by Iranian militants and the December Soviet thrust into Afghanistan.

The official Iranian news agency Pars quoted the Iranian army joint staff as saying the two American planes started to shoot at the Iranian plane but four Iranian jets were sent up and they "warded off the attack." Pars quoted the army as saying the U.S. planes "changed their direction as the four Iranian jetfighters escorted the patrol plane" back to Iran.

Tehran Radio reported the Iranian army joint staff has warned the armed forces to "expect extensive action by the U.S. Army" in the wake of last week's abortive attempt to rescue the American hostages in Iran.

The Gulf of Oman, 350 miles long and 200 miles wide, lies on the southern shore of Iran and separates the Arabian Sea from Persian Gulf. Iran has two major ports on the Gulf of Oman, Jask and Chah Bahar, and must use this body of water in exporting its oil.

Meanwhile, Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh escaped unharmed from what appeared to be an assassination attempt in Kuwait, Iran's army mobilized for a major offensive against Kurdish rebels in Sanandaj, and a controversial churchman arrived in Tehran to take charge of the bodies of the U.S. commandos killed in the abortive U.S. hostage rescue.

Kuwait's news agency said a hail of bullets fired from at least two cars hit a motorcade taking Ghotbzadeh to a meeting with Kuwait's ruler at Assaif Palace, slightly wounding a Kuwaiti security guard. The palace is the home of Sheik Jaber Al-Ahmad, Kuwait's ruling emir. The Kuwait Interior Ministry said police located two cars used in the attack, but made no mention of arrests.

The Iranian news agency Pars said one of the cars was found outside the Iraqi Embassy in Kuwait and claimed "the passengers of the car left the vehicle and entered the Iraqi Embassy." Pars also said two suspects had been taken into custody. There was no Kuwaiti confirmation. Iran and Iraq have been having a dispute along their border in recent weeks.

Ghotbzadeh arrived in the oil-rich Persian Gulf emirate Monday on a tour to try to improve his regime's relations with Arab governments. The Kuwaiti and other governments in the region are worried by Iran's attempts to export its Islamic revolution.

Tehran Radio said residents in Sanandaj were told by bullhorn to evacuate their homes today and head to the army garrison so that government troops who have deployed throughout the city can battle Kurdish rebels and "see to these sinners once and for all."

Eight American commandos were killed in the failed hostage rescue mission, and Greek Catholic archbishop Hilarion Capudji arrived in Tehran today and said he would accompany the bodies "to another country and hand them over to the International Red Cross for delivery to their families."

Boyd election

cost $7.36 vote

Hal Boyd was officially elected to the Big Spring City Council by a margin of 129 votes; 128 more than he needed.

"The way I calculate it, that comes to about $7.36 a vote," said City Manager Don Davis, assessing the cost of the election to the city.

In recent weeks, city officials had been revising estimated cost of the election downward. But when all expenses were tallied, total cost was $950, close to the original estimate of $1,000.

Five polling places were in operation in the city from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Monday. Of the vote totals, three at each box can be attributed to the election judges stationed there.

Totals by box were as follows: Northside, 10; 11th and Birdwell, 31; 15th and Main, 42; Central, 37; Westside, 4; Total, 129.

SAFE AFTER RESCUE — One of the twenty-four men rescued from disabled boats after Sunday's storm in the Florida Straits walks off the U.S. Coast Guard cutter "Diligence" Monday in Key West. Most were in small boats on their way to Cuba to pick up relatives when a hurricane force storm hit. Some people are still reported missing.

Goon squad gets tough with weekend loiterers

By JAMES WERRELL

Five local police officers were sent into the night to prowls Gregg Street, this weekend.

The group, which City Manager Don Davis laughingly referred to as a "goon squad," had one assignment: get the kids off the parking lots and sidewalks of the city's busiest business area. The squad did its work with a vengeance, issuing a total of 99 citations, 88 of which were for criminal trespass which requires a $30 bond.

Filling out the list were seven citations for public intoxication; one for D.W.I.; one for no drivers license; one for a traffic warrant; and one for discharging fireworks in the city limits.

"Six months ago, I asked (Police Chief) Stanley Bogard to contact businesses along Gregg to advise them of the criminal trespass laws, and their responsibility under the

Absentee voting deadline today

Absentee voting totals 510 Democratic and 111 Republican ballots cast for the Saturday primary.

Democrats have cast 475 votes in the office and 35 mail-in ballots. Republicans have cast 41 votes in the office and 70 mail-in ballots.

Democrats have been mailed 83 ballots in all and Republicans have been mailed 120 ballots.

Voting today totaled 45 Democrats and four Republicans. Absentee voting deadline is 5 p.m. today.

law," said Davis, this morning. "We (the city) had gotten lax in our enforcement of those laws, and last week we met and decided that what we needed to do was set up a goon squad," he added.

Five extra officers in three patrol cars were assigned to the regular night shifts to conduct the dragnet. Bogard stated today that the squad will go into action again, "off and on throughout the summer until the debris is gone and the (trespassing) signs are recognized and obeyed."

What was the reason for the special force?

"The situation on Gregg has gotten almost intolerable and out of hand. I have heard that beer bottles have been tossed at cars passing by, and other various sorts of disturbances. The debris, trash and nuisances have become an overriding concern of the community," said Davis.

The city manager also deemed the weekend practice of hanging out on Gregg Street as "explosive," and he wants to get it "under control" before the end of the school year.

"This, I guess, is really a recreational problem, not a law enforcement problem. The kids don't have anything to do, or don't want to do anything else, and it has become a nuisance," he explained.

Bogard states that he has received numerous complaints from businessmen along Gregg, and this is what prompted him to take action.

"We have received all kinds of complaints from the general public, mostly about all the trash these kids leave behind. We just decided it was time to do something about it," he said.

Valdeses amid 1980 Trail of Tears

'God put me here at this time'

By MARJ CARPENTER

MIAMI, Fla. — The 1980 Trail of Tears is between Havana and the Florida Keys. There are tears of joy as Cuban refugees arrive and lie down and kiss the ground.

There are tears of horror as refugee boats arrive with children that have been bitten by a pack of hungry dogs, while waiting on the Cuban shores for passage out.

There are tears of frustration and anger as Cubans who are American citizens scramble for boats and enough money to buy and rent these boats to go for their relatives.

The complications of the exodus of Cuba, which Castro has been claiming as an ideal society, are complex and endless. People attempting to get out of Cuba come in three categories.

There are the relatives of many Cubans in America who have heard from their own families that there is something better than the country with little food, little medicine and little religious freedom.

There are also those arrested in the first place because they tried to escape Cuba years ago. They were recently released from prison.

The third group is apparently a group of incorrigibles which Castro has released from prison.

The Cubans in Americans who are begging, renting or buying boats have found the price of boats has become very high. They are faced with all kinds of problems. Cubans are stripping their saving accounts and even their pay checks and jewelry to take down to the shores to purchase boats. Cash on the line is what the boat operators are demanding. Many are raising the prices to exorbitant amounts.

One boat operator said he cleared $100,000 over the weekend, which means a price of $4,000 per person.

For awhile the weather cooperated and the refugees were being brought out on calm seas. But over the weekend the weather turned ugly, and the first death in the armada was reported Monday.

Coast Guard officials are having problems. "It is a zoo out there," one official said. "We get as many as 25 distress calls in the same five minute period."

Many of the boat operators in the Miami and Fort Lauderdale area have chosen not to get involved because of the risk.

Danny and Norma Valdes, former Big Spring residents who were well-known while Danny was a photographer at the Herald, have been involved in the scramble for a dozen days.

They are both tired and emotionally drained from lack of sleep coupled with concern.

They began trying to get in contact with relatives 12 days ago. At that time, Danny was going every day after work hunting for a boat. Norma was on the telephone trying to get through to Cuba. Miami operators have gotten hoarse saying, "No lines to Cuba."

On April 24, Norma got through, and she learned more details about the desperation of their relatives and their desire to get out. The relatives began immediately gathering at check out points and having been waiting since Friday for the possibility of a boat.

Refugees leaving are giving up everything. They are leaving home, carrying only a few possessions. The ones in the Peruvian embassy are reportedly existing on mango-leaf soup and in some cases, dogs and cats.

The Americans coming in for the refugees have been told for every relative they bring out they must bring three refugees from the embassy.

This, of course, limits the space on the boats they are paying for.

Over the weekend, Danny had found a small boat and put all of his savings in the purchase of it. He pooled with a Cuban friend who also was ready to go.

The danger of the small boat sinking was heavy. He worked on the boat over the weekend trying to get it shipshape.

By late Sunday after the storm, the Coast Guard was turning back boats that size because so many were sinking.

In the meantime, back in Big Spring, Al and Lillian Valdes got a phone call from her sister. They realized the desperate plight.

It was then that the First United Methodist Church and Dr. Edwin Chappell put together a fund drive to aid the Valdes family.

Back in Fort Lauderdale, Danny

and Norma are spending hours putting together supplies and necessities.

People in the Miami area are upset over refugees arriving on private property. Others also are concerned about American tax dollars going to the refugees.

Up until Tuesday, food provided the refugees has come from the Cuban-Americans. The state of Florida allotted $50,000 over the weekend to help out with the crisis. The federal government declared Dade County a disaster area.

Danny and Norma have been through a gauntlet of emotions in the 12 days, including the desperate search for boats, the fee for a reasonable price, conversations with frightened relatives and concern that one government or the other will halt the exodus before they can get there.

Danny said on Saturday, "For some reason God put me here at this time. I have been in Big Spring all this time. Now I am here when this is happening. I don't want to go, but I must go; these are my family and this may be the last chance for them to get out. We will go as soon as the sea is flat (calm)."

On Sunday, after hearing about Big Spring's help, Danny said, "I want to do this myself, but I cannot. I appreciate the help of Big Spring. What I hope is we can buy a boat and sell it back when they return. I will return the money to everybody to do good with it again. Your friends are the ones who help you when you cannot help yourself."

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Illegal aliens

Q. Cuban citizens are being asked to pay $5,000 each to be transported to the Florida coast and they are being admitted to the U.S., yet aren't they illegal aliens? A man I know is serving time in the Federal Correctional Institute in New Mexico for transporting illegal aliens out of Mexico for $500 each. What is the difference?

A. Apparently, none. President Carter said recently on a telecast that the admission of Cubans to America was illegal. Few, however, are prepared to intervene in such a humanitarian cause, including the president himself.

Police beat— Windows smashed, pistol shot fired

Vandals were busy in the city Monday. The plate glass window at Leonard's Pharmacy, 308 Scurry, was shattered by BBs, sometime during the night. Damage was estimated at $800. Vandals used a pistol to shoot out a window pane, a plate glass door and the frame of a door at the Big Spring High School, Monday night. Damage was estimated at $200. Another window was shattered by BBs at the Motel Nine, 704 E. 3rd, around 10:30 p.m. Monday. Cost of the damage is unknown.

Thieves rolled Larry Porras' 1972 Chevrolet Malibu 200 feet from his driveway at 311 N.E. 7th, early Monday morning, and sent to work on it. The hubcaps and rear speakers were stolen, and a knife was lifted from the glove box.

The thieves also tried unsuccessfully to pry open the car's trunk. Loss, including damage, was estimated at $250.

David M. Haro, 310 W. 7th, knows the person who fired a pistol at him while he was inside his car at Fourth and Birdwell, 6:14 p.m. Monday. Officers will investigate further.

Four hubcaps were stolen from a car belonging to Robert Wilkerson, Odessa, while it was parked at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Friday. Loss was estimated at $208.

Burglars climbed into the roof of the Fina Gas Station, 3101 West Highway 80, Monday night, and entered the station through an air conditioner duct. Once inside, they stole a case of motor oil.

Officers discovered several prints from a pair of tennis shoes approximately size seven. Loss, including damage, was estimated at $41.

Nena Steagald, 2006 Runnels, is reported in good condition at Hall-Bennett Hospital following a one-car accident on the 2600 block of West Highway 80, 11:55 p.m. Monday. According to reports, Ms. Steagald lost control of her car, struck a traffic sign, swerved into the eastbound lane of the highway, and struck a guard rail there.

Debra Cunningham, 1401 Wood, was treated at Cowper Hospital and released following a two-vehicle collision at 2200 Gregg, 8:29 p.m. Monday. The Cunningham vehicle was traveling south on Gregg, and making a turn west when it collided with a vehicle driven by Kevin Mitchell, 4004 Vicky.

One other mishap was reported Monday. Vehicles driven by Tammy Burgess, 2405 W. 16th, and Cleve Forward, 3002 Cherokee, collided on the 1200 block of W. Third, 5:59 p.m.

Sex discrimination complaint hits city

City Manager Don Davis was notified Monday that two local women had filed a sex discrimination complaint against the city with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

The complaint alleges that the Big Spring Police Department discriminated on the basis of sex in not hiring Dolores Sharpnack or Vonda Stephenson. The city has the option, but is not required, to reply to the allegations, said Davis, this morning.

According to Police Chief Stanley Bogard, both women applied for jobs as police officers late last year. Neither was hired.

Bogard's only comment about the women specifically was that "they had no college hours or experience in law enforcement, and I am just hiring certified officers and not rookies."

The chief explained that before being hired, applicants must take a battery of tests and submit to an oral interview by a selected panel. The panel usually includes three policemen, Captain of Patrol Sherrill

Farmer, a city councilman and a layman.

"I very rarely attend the interviews myself. The layman is usually a preacher or a businessman," added Bogard.

Davis said that his only action in regard to the complaint will be to confer with City Attorney Elliott Mitchell, and await further word from the E.E.O.C.

For the record

Former Chief Probation Officer Guy Talbot said he was approached by Howard County regarding purchase of furniture left in his office.

"The county approached me concerning the purchase of furniture and fixtures," said Talbot. He said he would donate the fixtures, such as carpet, lights and suspended ceiling, if they bought the furniture. Talbot asked $945, though he said the package was worth $1,800.

"Hell will freeze first if I ever donate my time or furniture again for use by the county of Howard," Mrs. Nichols may use whatever she needs. I will dispose of the remainder," he said.

Auditor Jackie Olson said that she was initially approached with the proposal by recently appointed Chief Adult Probation Officer Jeanette Nichols.

Two transferred to Huntsville

Two were transferred to Midland for boarding of a Texas Department of Corrections bus Monday.

They are James Earl Neill, Coahoma, and Herbert Aaron Endsley, Atlanta, Texas.

Neill was sentenced to three years in prison for a plea of guilty to felony DWI. He was arrested April 16.

Federal limit to be reached soon

Food stamp program in trouble

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Food stamps to buy groceries may be late, reduced or even suspended, state welfare officials are warning those participating in the program.

Jerome Chapman, Department of Human Resources commissioner, said Monday that Congress set a national limit of $6.18 billion on the program this year and that limit will be reached by June 1. Congress is working to extend the program, but it is uncertain when and to what extent additional financing will be available.

"At this time we don't know how much money Congress will provide for food stamps for June through September of 1980," said a letter to persons receiving food stamps. "We want to alert you to the possibility that your authorization to get food stamps may be late. It also is possible that the amount of stamps you receive may be less."

Chapman said 1.2 million Texans are eligible for food stamps, and about $40 million in stamps is issued each month. Most recipients are children of low-income families but many others are elderly or disabled.

Chapman said if Congress acts early enough in May, the authorizations to participate in the program in

Limit raising likely by Congress

By ANDREA COHEN
If food stamps are suspended for the month of June, approximately 2,000 persons will be affected in Howard, Glasscock and Martin Counties.

"It will hurt. It will definitely hurt everybody," said Paula Talbot, area supervisor of the Texas Department of Human Resources (DHR).

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland informed state governors by letter Monday that "a suspension of all

June food stamp benefits now is likely."

The persons affected in the three-county area receive approximately $50,300 a month in food stamps. "We just don't know," Talbot said. "We'll know May 15. Surely they can't do this, but they might. If there's no money, there's no money."

"There's a serious problem," said Frank Taggart, public information officer for the DHR West Texas Region.

Suitcase election computers mull

By DON WOODS
Howard County Commissioners are deciding what kind of vote counter to replace the one that will be lost when a new computer is installed in the tax assessor's office.

Two devices are being considered to replace the vote counting feature in the old computer. Another alternative could be to use the existing computer through November.

One of the devices being considered is a new-fangled computer contained in a metal suitcase that can be hand carried to election precinct polling places. It is marketed by Computer Election and called a precinct counter. The company is the only one certified in Texas to sell.

The cost would be $2,130 per unit. Commissioners aren't sure how many will be needed. If boxes are combined fewer machines will be needed. Erratic voting makes it difficult to determine if boxes can be combined.

Howard County Clerk Margaret Ray is recommending purchase of 15 of the units. She said 15 would include enough for the large boxes. The smaller boxes, could be brought to a precinct counter in her office.

Commissioner David Barr expressed reservations. "Backing off and paying $32,000 for something you use twice a year is pretty rough," he said. Exact cost would be $31,950.

The state of Texas will give counties who upgrade their election systems a 10 percent rebate per election year for equipment bought. Mrs. Ray said the rebate would pay for the precinct counters in 20 years.

Units such as these process 1,800 cards an hour. The law requires that the machines undergo public testing to assure their reliability. Mrs. Ray said a computer operator would "zero out the computer" before feeding test ballots into it. The unit would process cards currently used in Howard County voting machines.

She also said it was possible to combine boxes if permission is received before the election.

Federal grants, however, aren't available for aid to counties buying election equipment. The commissioners will discuss with their constituencies how they feel about the amount of the purchase and the combining of ballot boxes.

The other device to be considered is a card feeder that can be mounted on the new computer system being added to the tax assessor-collector's office.

Howard County Junior College has the card feeder on their computer, but centering the election headquarters there would be awkward, said Mrs. Ray.

The cost of purchasing a feeder for the county would be $300 a month for five years for a total of $18,000. Mrs. Ray said she wasn't sure if there would be a 10 percent state rebate for the feeder.

Commissioners have to decide before 90 days before the election.

Reagan will speak at Midland rally

Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan will speak at a public rally at the Holiday Inn Villa West in Midland Wednesday, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The former California governor will be making his first appearance to Midland this year as part of a final campaign swing through Texas in preparation of Saturday's primary.

Reagan will arrive in Midland late Wednesday and hold a press conference at 6:45 p.m. in the Holiday Inn.

He will then proceed to a private $500 per person reception prior to appearing at the rally which is scheduled to feature all of Midland's local Republican candidates.

This rally is open to the public.

The following is Reagan's Midland schedule:

- 5:30 p.m. Arrive Midland Regional Airport from El Paso.
- 5:45 p.m. Arrive Holiday Inn Villa West.
- 6:45 p.m. Press Conference in Conference Room D.
- 7 p.m. Private Fund Raising Function.
- 7:30 p.m. Reagan for President Rally in Holiday Inn.
- 8:30 p.m. Depart for Midland Regional Airport.

Weather Thunderstorms are moving into area

By the Associated Press
A surface high pressure system brought mostly clear skies to Texas today, except for a few high thin cirrus clouds and middle-level clouds in the extreme west.

Winds were mostly south to southeasterly at less than 10 mph statewide.
Early morning temperatures were in the 50s and low 60s.
Fair skies in the north and northwest and partly cloudy weather in the south and southwest was forecast for today. Scattered thunderstorms were expected in the extreme west this afternoon. Warmer temperatures were predicted for the northeast and south.
Afternoon highs were forecast in the upper 70s to mid-80s in the north to the upper 80s in the south and southeast and the mid-90s in the Big Bend valleys.

WEST TEXAS — Fair north, partly cloudy south today with scattered thunderstorms in the extreme west. Increasingly cloudiness tonight with scattered thunderstorms Wednesday with possibly a few severe thunderstorms central and eastern sections during the afternoon. Cooler most sections Wednesday. Highs today upper 70s north to upper 80s south and middle 70s Big Bend valleys. Lows tonight upper 40s mountains and northwest to lower 40s southeast.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy through Saturday with widely scattered afternoon and evening showers and thundershowers mainly Panhandle and South Plains becoming less numerous Saturday.

WEATHER FORECAST — Rain is expected in the forecast period for the St. Lawrence Valley and northern New England. Showers are forecast in the Southwest. Cool weather is forecast in the Northwest and the Northeast but most of the country is expected to be mild.

Magazine interview reveals

Cronkite would rather be No. 2

WASHINGTON (AP) — And that's the way it could be, John Anderson.
Walter Cronkite, one of the most popular and highly trusted men in America, is quoted in a magazine as saying he would be honored to team up with Anderson in the 1980 presidential race.
Anderson would be the anchorman; Cronkite No. 2.
The Illinois Republican congressman, recently embarked on an independent campaign for the White House, hasn't asked him to be his running mate, Cronkite reportedly told The New Republic.

But if Anderson did invite Cronkite aboard, according to the magazine, CBS would lose television's top newscaster faster than you could say Dan Rather.
"I'd be so honored to be asked, I wouldn't turn it down," Cronkite is quoted as telling executive editor Morton M. Kondracke. "It would be the right party. I've been an independent all my life."

An Anderson aide said that the congressman, who quit the Republican race and announced his independent bid last week, has not talked with anyone about second place on his ticket.

Anderson's press spokesman, Mike Rosenbaum, added that "I don't know if anyone on the campaign has speculated about this. I just joined the staff this morning."
Rosenbaum said that the focus of the campaign at this point is to get Anderson listed on as many state ballots as possible, a difficult chore requiring the collection of thousands of signatures in most cases. Some deadlines already have passed.

"There is no list of people being considered," Rosenbaum said. "It's one for the back burner at this point."
Kondracke tells a different story. "I have it nice and high from the Anderson entourage," he said. "It's not a joke. I know it's been seriously discussed with the candidate. I wouldn't be presumptuous enough to say that Cronkite is Anderson's number one choice, but I do know he is being considered."

Cronkite is quoted as saying that he is wary of politicians and others who try to profit from associating with him, but that he wouldn't suspect Anderson of such a thing.
"I admire Anderson very much," Cronkite is reported saying. "He's brought a fresh breeze to the scene."
Cronkite, 63, who has spent 30 years at CBS, is due to retire as anchorman and managing editor of the network's evening news program, next year.

While Cronkite is very familiar to the American public, Anderson is not. An Associated Press-NBC News poll taken over the weekend said most Americans don't know much about Anderson, but nearly a third now say they might vote for the Illinois congressman in November.

Nearly two-thirds of those interviewed — 65 percent — said they do not know enough about Anderson to have an opinion of him. Thirty-five percent said they were familiar with him.

Cronkite could not be reached for comment. He's sailing.

Big Spring State Hospital needs vols for rummage sale

The Volunteer Services Council for Big Spring State Hospital needs volunteer assistance with the semi-annual rummage sale scheduled for May 1, 2 and 3. The sale will be in the former Knight's Pharmacy Building at 900 Main Street, from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. each day. Prior to opening, volunteers are needed to help set up, price and sort items to be sold.

These volunteers are needed beginning April 28 as well as during the sale days. A work schedule is being maintained in the Volunteer Office. Anyone wishing to help with this fund-raising project of the Council is asked to call 267-8216, ext. 535.

The rummage sale is known for its variety of items offered for sale at bargain prices. If you are in the market for knick-knacks, furniture, clothing (especially children's clothing), antiques, quilt scraps, kitchen utensils or books; or if you would like to come and browse, be sure to shop at the rummage sale. Those who have items they would like to donate for the sale can contact the Volunteer Office. All donations to the Council are tax deductible.

What Texas Electric says about setting your central air to save money.

At Texas Electric we are often asked about the cheapest way to operate a central air conditioning unit and still be comfortable.

Here's what we recommend.
• Keep the temperature at 78° or higher. Each degree below that causes the unit to use about 5% more energy.

• Leave your air conditioner's fan switch in the "auto" position. This way the fan only comes on when it's needed.

• Finally, before you leave the house, turn your air conditioner switch to "off." Even though your house may be warmer when you return, you won't be paying to air condition an empty house while you were gone.

For more energy-saving ideas and answers to your questions, call Texas Electric and arrange to attend an Operation Tighten-Up workshop in your neighborhood.

We may have heard it all before

When President Carter asked for support from other nations of his Olympic Games boycott, not many representatives of countries around the globe manifested any enthusiasm for the snub.

Egypt won't be sending a team, but then Egypt never fields much of a team, anyway. The same can be said of Saudi Arabia, which agreed to support the United States stand. West Germany and several other nations are looking at their options.

The lack of sympathy the world has evinced for America's plight could be a tipoff on the level to which our respect has slipped.

The world, it goes without saying, is in turmoil and each time a government is overthrown somewhere the malcontents vent their spleen on America. American intelligence is blamed for the problems that led to the uprising.

Recently, the African nation Liberia underwent an upheaval. When heads roll in such countries, they really roll. The Liberian chief executive, William R. Tolbert Jr., was shot to death and his son reportedly was beheaded.

Tolbert was regarded as one of the best friends the United States had in Africa. The fellow who led the uprising that brought about the change was a 28-year-old master sergeant. He is identified as Samuel K. Doe, and he reportedly moved quickly to set up a new government.

Will that government be friendly to the United States? It is likely only if we offer more in the way of money, machinery and goods than do the Russians.

First reports from the nation said that Liberia wanted to continue on "good terms" with the United States.

If Doe was taking a soft line toward the U.S., holding out the olive branch, he was using a different tack against those in his own country who had been wearing the trappings of power. He was promising to try most of the former government leaders' immediately for treason and other crimes.

Doe also was quoted as saying that he wanted to be a leader in the "liberation" of all of Africa.

The first reaction in Washington naturally was guarded. For the rest of us, there are reasons to be concerned.

CHANGES IN GOVERNMENT rarely take place peacefully, unless the ruling regime's reign was so bloody and onerous that revolution came as a last resort.

Some of the rhetoric coming out of Liberia, too, sound suspiciously like some thing being heard where — in Iran, Nicaragua and El Salvador, to cite a few places.

Liberia was founded by slaves freed in America who were granted the chance to return to their homeland. Its government and rulers generally have been regarded not only as fair, but friendly to Western ways and the democratic process.

It would be a story with great import to read about a country toppled by some anti-Communist regime being toppled without blood having been spilled. That is just too much to ask. The script is always the same. Perhaps it is because the same people are writing them.

Close to life

Around the rim

Andrea Cohen

They are a typical family with two teenagers, one son and one daughter. And they have a dog who is very much a part of the family.

Dad naps on the sofa most afternoons, hates to do work around the house, plays cards with the boys. If his wife lets him and has been taking the same bus to the same boring job with a boss he's afraid of who is also henpecked.

HIS WIFE GOSSIPING on the telephone, gossips to her next door neighbor who is also her best friend who also has her husband henpecked. She also makes sure her husband gets to the bus on time every morning.

Sounds pretty boring? Well, if it is, the creator of the comic strip Blondie has been making a lot of money on a very boring subject for years.

I really have never understood what keeps some of the comic strips going for so many years. Do they reflect real life?

Well, if they do, I wish my editor would read Brenda Starr. I stopped reading it a few years ago, but I assume her editor is still sending her to faraway, exotic places.

The farthest Tommy has sent me so far has been Lamesa. Well, maybe comic strips don't resemble real life.

But the silliest comic is probably Dondi. He was adopted during the second world war and do you know he hasn't aged a day since then? But he has all the modern day conveniences we all know and love. Dondi is a model child who never gives his parents any trouble. And his parents still have not taken him to a psychiatrist to find out

why. And yes, I still read it.

My favorite though is Cathy who is the ultimate in a single woman who is trying to get through everyday struggles. I have cut out too many of them and every so often, Mom even sends one when she has something to tell me in a roundabout way. I have to hand it to the writer of Cathy. She gets my mother to actually put something in an envelope and send it down here.

Cathy goes to seminars spurred from the liberation movement. She hears how to cope before and after the divorce, through the marriage, and being single. Then she wonders why all of today's women's problems are still caused by men.

MOM SENT ONE down that sits on my desk that shows a clipping war between Cathy and her mother. It seems Cathy keeps finding articles that single working women are happy and adjusted. Her mother keeps finding articles on the return in society to marriage. Get it?

But my favorite is one I have never failed to identify with and is also taped on my desk.

Her friend calls her up and asks her if she wants to go to lunch. Cathy declines saying she has only $3.75 until payday.

"Three dollars and seventy-five cents?" her friend asks. "Cathy, one of these days you're going to have to learn to budget your money!"

And Cathy, insulted replies, "How do you think I managed to come up with the $3.75?"

Maybe the comics are closer to true life than any of us ever imagined.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I would like to go to church, but the people in all the churches near us are so well-dressed and we are rather poor. I think they would just laugh at us. Is it wrong for me to feel this way? — N.V.

DEAR N.V.: You should not let this feeling keep you from going to church. For one thing, your idea that people will reject you and laugh at you may be wrong. You may instead find that they will welcome you and do all they can to make you feel at home.

In fact, if you go to a church that is trying to live by the Bible, you should find a sense of love and acceptance there — the Bible speaks out against Christians discriminating against other Christians who may be poorer. In James we read: "My brothers, as believers in our glorious Lord Jesus Christ, don't show favoritism. Suppose a man comes into your meeting wearing a gold ring and fine clothes, and a poor man in shabby clothes also comes in. If you show special attention to the man wearing fine clothes... have you not discriminated among yourselves and become judges with evil thoughts?" (James 2:1-4).

Another reason you should not let this be a problem is that you need the fellowship of other Christians, and you will find this only on a continuing basis in a church. If you have accepted Jesus Christ into your life you are now part of the family of God. All true believers are part of that family — whatever their status might be in terms of money or social position. You need the strengthening and the teaching from God's Word that comes from fellowship with others in church.

Remember too, the needs of your family. They also need to hear the Word of God and to get to know Christians who can be helpful spiritually. This is particularly true for your children. You shouldn't feel any sense of inferiority because you don't happen to have as much money as others, nor should your family. In God's eyes Christians are "heirs of God and co-heirs with Christ" (Romans 8:17).

CIA vs MX

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — A top-secret Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) report to President Carter warns that the proposed MX mobile missile system has been outflanked by new Soviet long-range nuclear warheads, thus forcing the U.S. to look elsewhere to protect its intercontinental missiles — and setting off a bitter internal bureaucratic struggle here.

The report has been held up by disagreements between CIA Director Stansfield Turner and other government intelligence officials. They object to Turner's formal conclusion that the land-based MX, still in the planning stage, needs to be replaced: retired Adm. Turner is suspected, perhaps unfairly, of plugging for a coastal, sea-based system.

The CIA's verdict against MX, say some officials, exceeds its mandate. Competing intelligence services contend that whether or not the MX is now unworkable should be a decision for the president or the Pentagon, not the CIA.

ANDERSON IN N.Y. Although Jimmy Carter's lawyers kept independent candidate Eugene McCarthy off the New York ballot in 1976 and thereby saved the election, Rep. John Anderson is likely to prevent a repetition of that only by winning the ready-made place on the ballot long held by the state Liberal Party.

THE LIBERAL first choice is Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. But assuming he is not nominated, party leaders have all but decided to give their designation to Anderson. There is no chance of Carter heading the Liberal line in New York, as he did in 1976. The result could be Anderson drawing enough votes to give the state to the Republicans, as McCarthy was prevented from doing four years ago.

A footnote: Anderson is popular with New York Liberals and will be more so if he can find a leftist Democratic running mate — such as Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona. Feelers have gone out (on a staff-to-staff basis) from Anderson to Udall, but the answer has been an unequivocal and irreversible no.

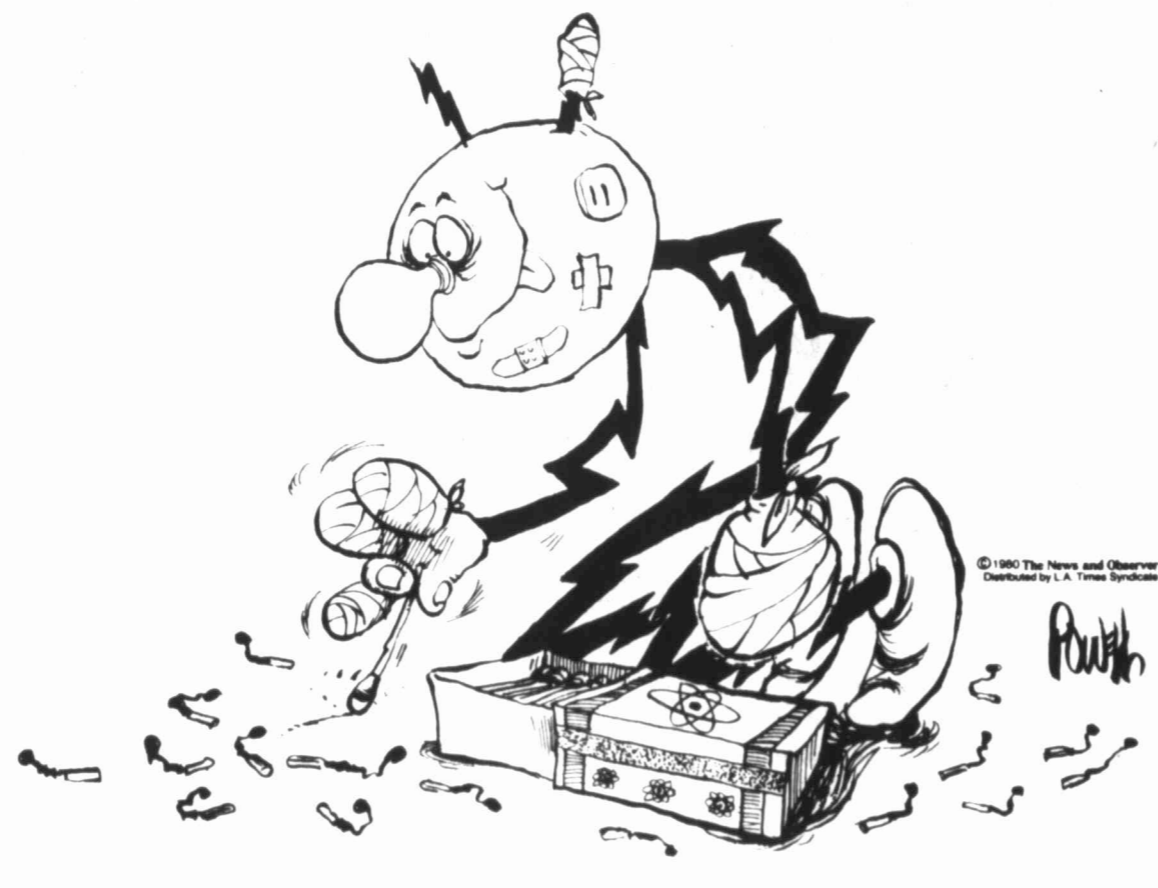

BEGINNING WASHINGTON PLOY. Breaking new ground as an Israeli prime minister, Menachem Begin brought nearly 1,000 top Jewish leaders to the Shoreham Hotel in Washington to plead for their support against President Carter's Mideast policies.

On past U.S. visits by Begin and earlier Israeli prime ministers, the inevitable appeal for help has always been made far away in New York City. But Begin wanted to impress Carter with his influence on the American Jewish community which has turned against the president in the Democratic primaries. A session with Jewish leaders 10 minutes' drive away might make a larger stir in the White House than one 300 miles away.

A footnote: Despite wide discontent with Begin's colonization methods on the Palestine West Bank, leaders of the American Jewish community tend to publicly support to Israeli leaders. That pattern was repeated despite rising frustration privately felt by Jewish leaders over what they consider Begin's dangerous West Bank policy.

REAGAN PLUS DEMOCRAT

The New Right political movement, seeking to win over blue-collar Democrats with populist conservatism, is pressing Ronald Reagan to select a conservative Democrat as his running mate.

Blood phenomenon causes fever

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please explain what actually causes a fever — D.D.

Infection is the most common cause of true fever. First, let's look at how the body's temperature is kept on an even keel.

Body temperature is controlled in the hypothalamus, a small section of the brain. It does this by sensing the heat of the blood passing through and comparing that with what is called its "set point."

Infection throws this off. White blood cells go into action to fight off the organism causing the infection, and in so doing they give off a substance called "pyrogen." This acts directly upon the "set point," lowering it to the point that the hypothalamus gets the mistaken idea that body temperature is too low. It then sends out instructions to the body to increase heat production by burning calories. When you shiver from the cold, the muscle contractions cause the body temperature to rise. This happens in the chill that precedes a fever.

Fever, such as one resulting from infection, can be lowered, if need be, by drugs like aspirin. They are "antipyretics," called that for good reason, as you can see. Such drugs return the set point to normal, stopping the heat-production process.

Dear Dr. Donohue: After taking spine X-rays the doctor said I had a bulging disc between my fourth and fifth vertebrae. He prescribed a mild pain killer. Today the back feels better, but I have an excruciating pain down my right leg. The tablets are not helping. Is there any other kind of medicine to alleviate the leg pain? — Mrs. P.B.

No medicine will cure the bulge in the spine vertebrae. That bulge may now be pressing against the sciatic nerve roots. This is the nerve serving the leg.

You should return to your doctor. The treatment of a bulging or herniated disc is either by a trial with traction or removal of the disc. Traction involves attaching weights to the lower part of the body so that the spinal column is stretched slightly. The hope is that the bulging disc will go back into place.

That is not always successful, and often surgery must be resorted to. Sometimes, various spine-related pain is associated with muscles, with which the back is rich. Your complaint, however, sounds very much as

Was deal made?

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Although our European allies appear to be supporting economic sanctions against Iran, the State Department and the CIA are checking into disturbing evidence that France may have worked out its own behind-the-scenes deal with Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini that would crack the united front wide open.

Specifically, intelligence experts are trying to verify a report that the French have agreed to supply the revolutionary regime secretly with military and economic aid in return for Iranian oil.

A SPOKESMAN FOR the French Embassy categorically denied any such diplomatic stab-in-the-back. But reports to that effect have been persisting since last November, when the secret deal was supposedly made.

"It's a delicate thing," a State Department source explained. "It's not the kind of thing you can launch a formal investigation over without offending the French."

The Franco-Iranian agreement supposedly was signed Nov. 21 — more than two weeks after the U.S. hostages were seized in Tehran — and is supposed to run for five years. It reportedly became effective on signature, without further ratification by either party.

Although rumors of the alleged agreement have been rife in diplomatic circles since December, it first appeared in print last January in the International Currency Review, a small restricted London newsletter with excellent contacts in the Middle East.

"ICR is very authoritative," a CIA source told me. Associate Dale Van Atta, ICR's editor Christopher Story, described the January article as "very solid." Here's what it had to say:

"Under the agreement, France undertook to make good any shortfall in military supplies brought about by the United States' reaction in halting deliveries of spare parts and urgently needed equipment for the armed forces, and for the Iranian Oil Ministry."

"The French undertook to... deploy men and supplies to reorganize the Iranian air force, army and navy... (and) to double the current total of French 'specialists' serving in though the sciatic nerve is involved. You may want to study my latest booklet, "Backache and Spinal Problems" to answer the most frequently asked questions. For a copy send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me care of the Big Spring Herald.

Iran immediately... from just under 2,000 officers and men to about 4,000.

The French also agreed to provide consumer goods and food in the event of "unofficial" sanctions by the United States. A source explained that "unofficial" meant sanctions outside the United Nations.

"The credits involved were extended with a grace period up to 1986. The rate of interest... was set at a ridiculously low 3.5 percent."

IN RETURN, "Iran agreed to supply France with 20 million tons of crude oil (equivalent to 400,000 barrels per day) with effect from January, 1980," the newsletter reported. "That is about double the amount imported by France from Iran in 1978, and three times the volume... in 1979." The French got "an exceptionally favorable price."

An intelligence source said the agreement may have been dropped by the French, but added: "If we find out the report is true — even if the treaty is now off — this idea of an ally doing that to us is horrendous."

RELIGIOUS RACISM: Pastor Gordon Winrod, who once suggested that American communities kill all their Jewish neighbors as a means of ending the Vietnam war, promotes his anti-Semitic hate literature in radio broadcasts over a six-station network.

Winrod's flagship station is WWVA in Wheeling, W.Va. The station is owned by Columbia Pictures Industries, whose chairman, Leo Jaffe, is a prominent Jewish leader and was industry chairman for the United Jewish Appeal.

"I'm totally unaware," said Jaffe, who was dumfounded when my associate Les Whitten told him the tough-talking pastor was plugging anti-Semitic mailings over WWVA. "It'll bring this to the attention of the Anti-Defamation League and other proper authorities," Jaffe said.

Two other stations that carry Winrod's shrill tirades are also part of major broadcasting groups. Officials of Park Broadcasting, which owns WNAJ in Yankton, S.D., were unaware of Winrod's anti-Semitism. Bahakel Broadcasting, which owns KXEL in Waterloo, Iowa, had gotten a complaint recently and has begun checking into the pastor.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

Big Spring people and the Herald have always been a lot of help to Bible Club students. Activities the last weeks illustrate this perfectly.

April 10 the Bible students were invited to the "Passport to Adventure" showing of ISRAEL. It was great taking a trip to the Holy Land as guests of the Rotary Club of Big Spring.

April 19 the Bible students traveled to Six Flags. After a prayer circle at 5:15 a.m., we left and arrived at Six Flags at 11:30 a.m. We crowded a bunch of rides into the hours between 11:30 and 8 p.m. Kenny Steen said he made 14.

Two churches helped us with the transportation. We were most appreciative since there were 46 going on the trip.

Don Powell and Rick Stout did the driving. Mrs. Janice Mays, who took Bible when she was in high school, went as a sponsor. It was 2:30 a.m. when we got back to the high school and Stout offered our prayer of thanks for a safe trip and fun day.

Those going were Eutimio Ortego, Johnnie Rawls, Gary Carey, Doug Pounds, Arthur Oretgo, Dottie Becky, Marion Keaton, Lisa Keaton, Becky Simer, Albert Oliverby, and Sandra Matthews.

Dolores Tecero, Carla Matthews, Debbie Hitchok, Laglenna Coffman, David Anderson, Donna Bell, Russell Kelley, Jackie Piper, George Bentley, Oliver Bentley, Ishmael Bihl and Lupe Bihl.

Avis Earl, Gary Kirkland, Cynthia Morales, Veronda Booth, Ida Morales, Chris Curtis, Curtis Collins, Ione Crane, Debbie Torres, Alex Ruiz, Manuel Ruiz, Mrs. Janice Mays, Don Powell and family, Rick Stout and Family and Mrs. Elizabeth Johansen.

Dear Editor:

I want to extend a warm congratulations to all of my former students and others in Big Spring for doing so well at the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association awards held recently in Beaumont.

The Howard College awards together with the four awards Kilgore College journalism students won at the competition proved again what two-year college students can do when competing directly against juniors and seniors from major universities and colleges throughout Texas.

As advisor for the winning Hawk Review yearbook, the magazine, and for one eligible semester's work for the Hawk Reporter newspaper, I'll have to admit that I had mixed feelings seeing Kilgore College students compete against Howard College students. But the fact that we both won is a strong statement on the importance and benefit of the two-year college system.

I enjoyed so much the opportunity to meet and talk with 'old friends' at the convention. Again, congratulations to all and keep up the tradition of excellence at Howard College!

John Marder, Dept. Head, Journalism, Kilgore College

Dear Editor:

Thank you, Big Spring, for supporting our Special Olympic team at the local, district and state levels. Our motto is "When You Give Help — You Give Hope" and the "help" we received will be new "hope" for our handicapped citizens in meeting their future needs.

Special thanks to the following businesses, organizations and individuals for sponsoring our athletes: La Contesa Beauty Salon, Big Spring Hardware, Inc., College Heights PTA, B.P.O. Elks Lodge No. 1386, Smith-Coleman Oil Company, Evening Lions Club, Furr's Super Market, Chicano Golf Association, American Legion Auxiliary and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Stephens.

Also, the following merchants donated prizes for our fund-raising project: Prager's, Faye's Flowers, T.G. and Y-College Park, Kentucky Fried Chicken, The Record Shop, Radio Shack, and the Coca-Cola Bottling Company, and Giant Food store provided refreshments at our local track meet.

(AP LASERPHOTO) END OF A LIFESTYLE? — A group of Amish schoolchildren return from classes in rural Middlefield, Ohio, east of Cleveland. Their way of life is being threatened by the proposed construction of a high-power transmission line in their farming community.

Amish power problems Country life threatened

MIDDLEFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Crist Miller unhitched his bay horse from his black buggy, put the horse in the barn and gazed out across a long slope of farmland to the creek winding through the valley.

"It's going to take away the look of the farm and the way we do things," he said softly.

Miller was searching for words to explain the impact a proposed high-power transmission line would have on him and his Amish neighbors — people who still live much the way their ancestors did when they settled in this corner of northeastern Ohio a century ago.

The proposed 52-mile transmission line is to carry electricity from a nuclear power plant being built at North Perry on Lake Erie to an Ohio Edison Co. station in Rootstown, a few miles east of Akron.

The line has become a high-voltage issue among residents of three counties, and one sociologist has testified it could erode the Amish way of life. The opponents have been supported by the three county governments.

State officials have scheduled further hearings before finalizing the path of the power line.

"I've never seen the Amish people with their hackles raised as they have over this," said Uria Byler, superintendent of the Amish community's 22 schools. "Usually they take something like this in an indifferent manner."

The bearded Byler, 65, wearing blue work clothes and a black wide-brimmed hat, came out of the one-story frame schoolhouse tucked behind his home to talk to a reporter.

He said the tall power line towers would intrude on an Amish community already pressured by industrial expansion from Cleveland suburbs to the west.

"There is no more land available for farming. It's become very expensive," said Byler. "In the past 10 years about 100 families have moved away."

Despite the exodus, the Amish community of about 6,400 is holding its own, Byler said. "Fortunately, the young people are getting married faster than they move away. They're very prolific."

However, rising taxes and living expenses have forced many Amish to leave their farms for jobs in shops and factories, he said. "They have no choice but to take the lunch bucket and go to the shop."

"Forty-five years ago, when I was starting, 95 percent were farmers," he said. "Now it's a lot less."

He said he doesn't like to see the young people going into the factories "because of the atmosphere." For the same reason, the Amish maintain their own schools.

"We don't think they (public schools) fit our way of life," he said. "We try to stay on the farm. What we want our children to be is not what the public schools want them to be."

The Amish community raised about $6,000 through a bake sale and auction last fall to help support the organization fighting the transmission line.

Prime mover of the Committee to Preserve Our Community is Middlefield tire dealer Charles White, who owns a scenic parcel of land near the proposed route of the line "with those 15-story erector-set towers."

White, 38, says the group is not "against electricity" but believes the existing four transmission lines in the region are adequate. After studying information from electrical engineers, "We just say they don't need a fifth transmission line. And if they did need one, they could put it in one of the existing corridors," he said.

The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. and Ohio Edison say the fifth line is needed as a backup in case of power failures and that the existing corridors aren't wide enough to accommodate the added capacity. The proposed 346,000-volt line would require at least a 150-foot-wide corridor.

No telephone or electric lines are connected to Amish homes such as Miller's, where he was born 51 years ago and where he and his wife raised seven sons and a daughter.

Pointing with his hand, Miller showed where the proposed high-power line would run through a neighboring "sugar bush" (where maple syrup is made), past a pond he dug a few years ago, down across one of his fields and across a marshy area where he says hundreds of wild geese feed every summer.

Viewing Childbirth: Why Not Hire a Band!

DEAR ABBY: When APPALLED IN K.C. wrote that she was dismayed that her married daughter was going to let her 3-year-old son and 19-year-old unmarried sister witness the birth of her second child, you said, "It should be a fascinating and educational experience."

My wife and I are contemplating having a child. I would like to invite her 11-year-old nephew and members of his Little League team to witness the conception of the child. I also think it would be a "fascinating and educational experience" for the neighborhood kindergarten class to watch. My wife is appalled at this idea. Would you please tell her that she is a prude — that the best way to learn about the miracle of life is to witness it from its very beginning? Signed . . .

AS CRAZY AS YOU

DEAR ABBY: Surely you weren't serious when you approved allowing a 3-year-old to watch his mother give birth! I am a registered nurse who has assisted in at least 5,000 births, and every time one of those supportive husbands scrubs and dons a gown to be with his wife during childbirth, I hold my breath for fear he will faint. Men in the delivery room are a pain in the neck. The bigger they are, the harder they fall. Abby, please don't encourage making childbirth a family affair. We don't need fainting daddies and hysterical kids while mama is panting, puffing and pushing.

MARTHA AT ST. JOHN'S

DEAR ABBY: When I was 9, my mother gave birth prematurely to my brother. I was the only one present — not counting my little sisters who were 4 and 6 at the time. It took me years to get over it. I'm not sure I ever did. I am now 36 years old, married, but . . .

NO CHILDREN IN CANADA

DEAR ABBY: Allowing a 19-year-old unmarried girl to witness the birth of a baby might cause her to go on the Pill for the duration. But a 3-year-old child! Abby, that's sick! According to the Bible, Elizabeth hid herself for five months before John was born. Births should be sacred and private — not a sideshow.

M.S.F. IN BELPRE, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: I think that a young expectant mother who wants to let her 3-year-old watch a new life come into the world is out of her mind. And so are you for agreeing with her. If it's such a great "learning experience," why not invite the toddler's nursery school class, and serve ice cream and cookies? Better yet, why not hire a hall and sell tickets?

MAC IN PASADENA

DEAR ABBY: I've read and reread that letter 17 times, and still can't believe my eyes. Abby, as a nurse (obstetrics and surgery) for 23 years, and mother of five, I think even a normal birth is not for the eyes of a 3-year-old. Can you guarantee that the birth will be quick, quiet and uncomplicated? Seeing his mother moan, scream and yell could be traumatic for the youngster. And heaven forbid there should be complications! To expose a child to these facts of life at such a tender age could give him psychological problems for life. This is child abuse! Where were your brains on this one, Abby?

each with a different classification, met in Nashville, Tenn., and organized Altrusa.

The local club was organized July 23, 1917 with 23 members. Charter members still active are Olive Ruth Cowden, Jessie Nalley, Tot Sullivan, Marguerite Wooten, Doris Guy, Johnnie Winham and Kaye McDaniel. The local membership now stands at 37 with some awaiting initiation.

Mrs. Highley explained that Altrusa is asked to be represented in many non-Altrusan meetings, including the American Bar Association, the American Medical Association, Camp Fire Girls Service Club Leader Conference and others. Twenty-three members and two guests, Vera Gross and Mollie Smith, were in attendance.

The next business meeting will be May 8 at noon in the Patio Room of the Holiday Inn.

Announcement tea honors Miss Guitar

Mrs. Repps B. Guitar Jr. announced the engagement of her daughter, Lesli, to Martin Nichols at a tea held April 20 in the Potton House.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins and received by Mrs. Guitar and Lesli in the parlor. Joining the receiving line were Mrs. Robert Nichols, mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. J.W. Greene, Abilene, and Mrs. Repps B. Guitar Sr., grandmothers of the bride-elect.

Guests were registered in the reception hall by Connie Sheppard. Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. Pricilla Jones, Mrs. Joe Pond, Carla Parker, D'Ann Hall, Mrs. Billie Mac Sheppard, Mrs. Jerry Hall, Mrs. Robert Hurt, Mrs. Wanda Driver and Mrs. Wallace Hunter.

A large floral arrangement portraying the bride's chosen colors, candlelight and peach, was used on the buffet. In keeping with the antique setting, appointments on the serving tables were family heirlooms.

The crystal punch bowl and sterling silver coffee service used belonged to the bride's great grandmother, Mrs. J.H. Greene. The normandy lace table cloth was made by her great-aunt, Mrs. James T. Johnson.

Guests were permitted to tour the Potton House and grounds.

Miss Guitar and Nichols will wed July 26 at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Feds turn over state surface mining control

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The federal government has turned over to the state Railroad Commission primary control of surface mining in Texas, and commissioner Jim Nugent noted federal bureaucrats "will have less control over Texas business."

Texas is the first state to gain federal approval of its proposed program to regulate surface mining. Approval was granted Feb. 16 but Director Walter Heine of the Federal Office of Surface Mining told a news conference he had not had a chance until Monday to attend a commission ceremony.

Texas ranks first in the nation in the production of lignite, or heavy coal, and was No. 10 in total coal production last year with 27 million tons. Coal production is expected to rise to as high as 90 million tons a year by 1985.

The commission estimates Texas has 12 billion tons of lignite within 200 feet of the surface and reserves of 12 billion more tons of light coal.

Texas ranks third among the states in uranium ore reserves, and total production this year is projected at 6.3 million tons, which would rank Texas among the top four states.

"Our lignite and other surface mining operations in Texas have left few scars on our land. Under our present laws, reclamation is conducted in a manner which requires restoration of the land to as good, or better, productivity than before the valuable mineral was mined," Nugent said.

Commissioner James Wallace said, "While some environmentalists have taken this agency to task for a portion of the strip mining program, other citizens have recognized it as being a sound program."

Heine said the federal government would finance 50 percent of the cost of regulating surface mines. Although the state will be in charge of daily regulation, he said, the federal government will make certain that federal funds are being properly spent, make periodic inspections of mines and respond to citizen complaints.

Wallace said the commission also had asked the federal government to approve the state's proposal for reclaiming abandoned mine land.

THE ONE WAY
by B.W. Briggs

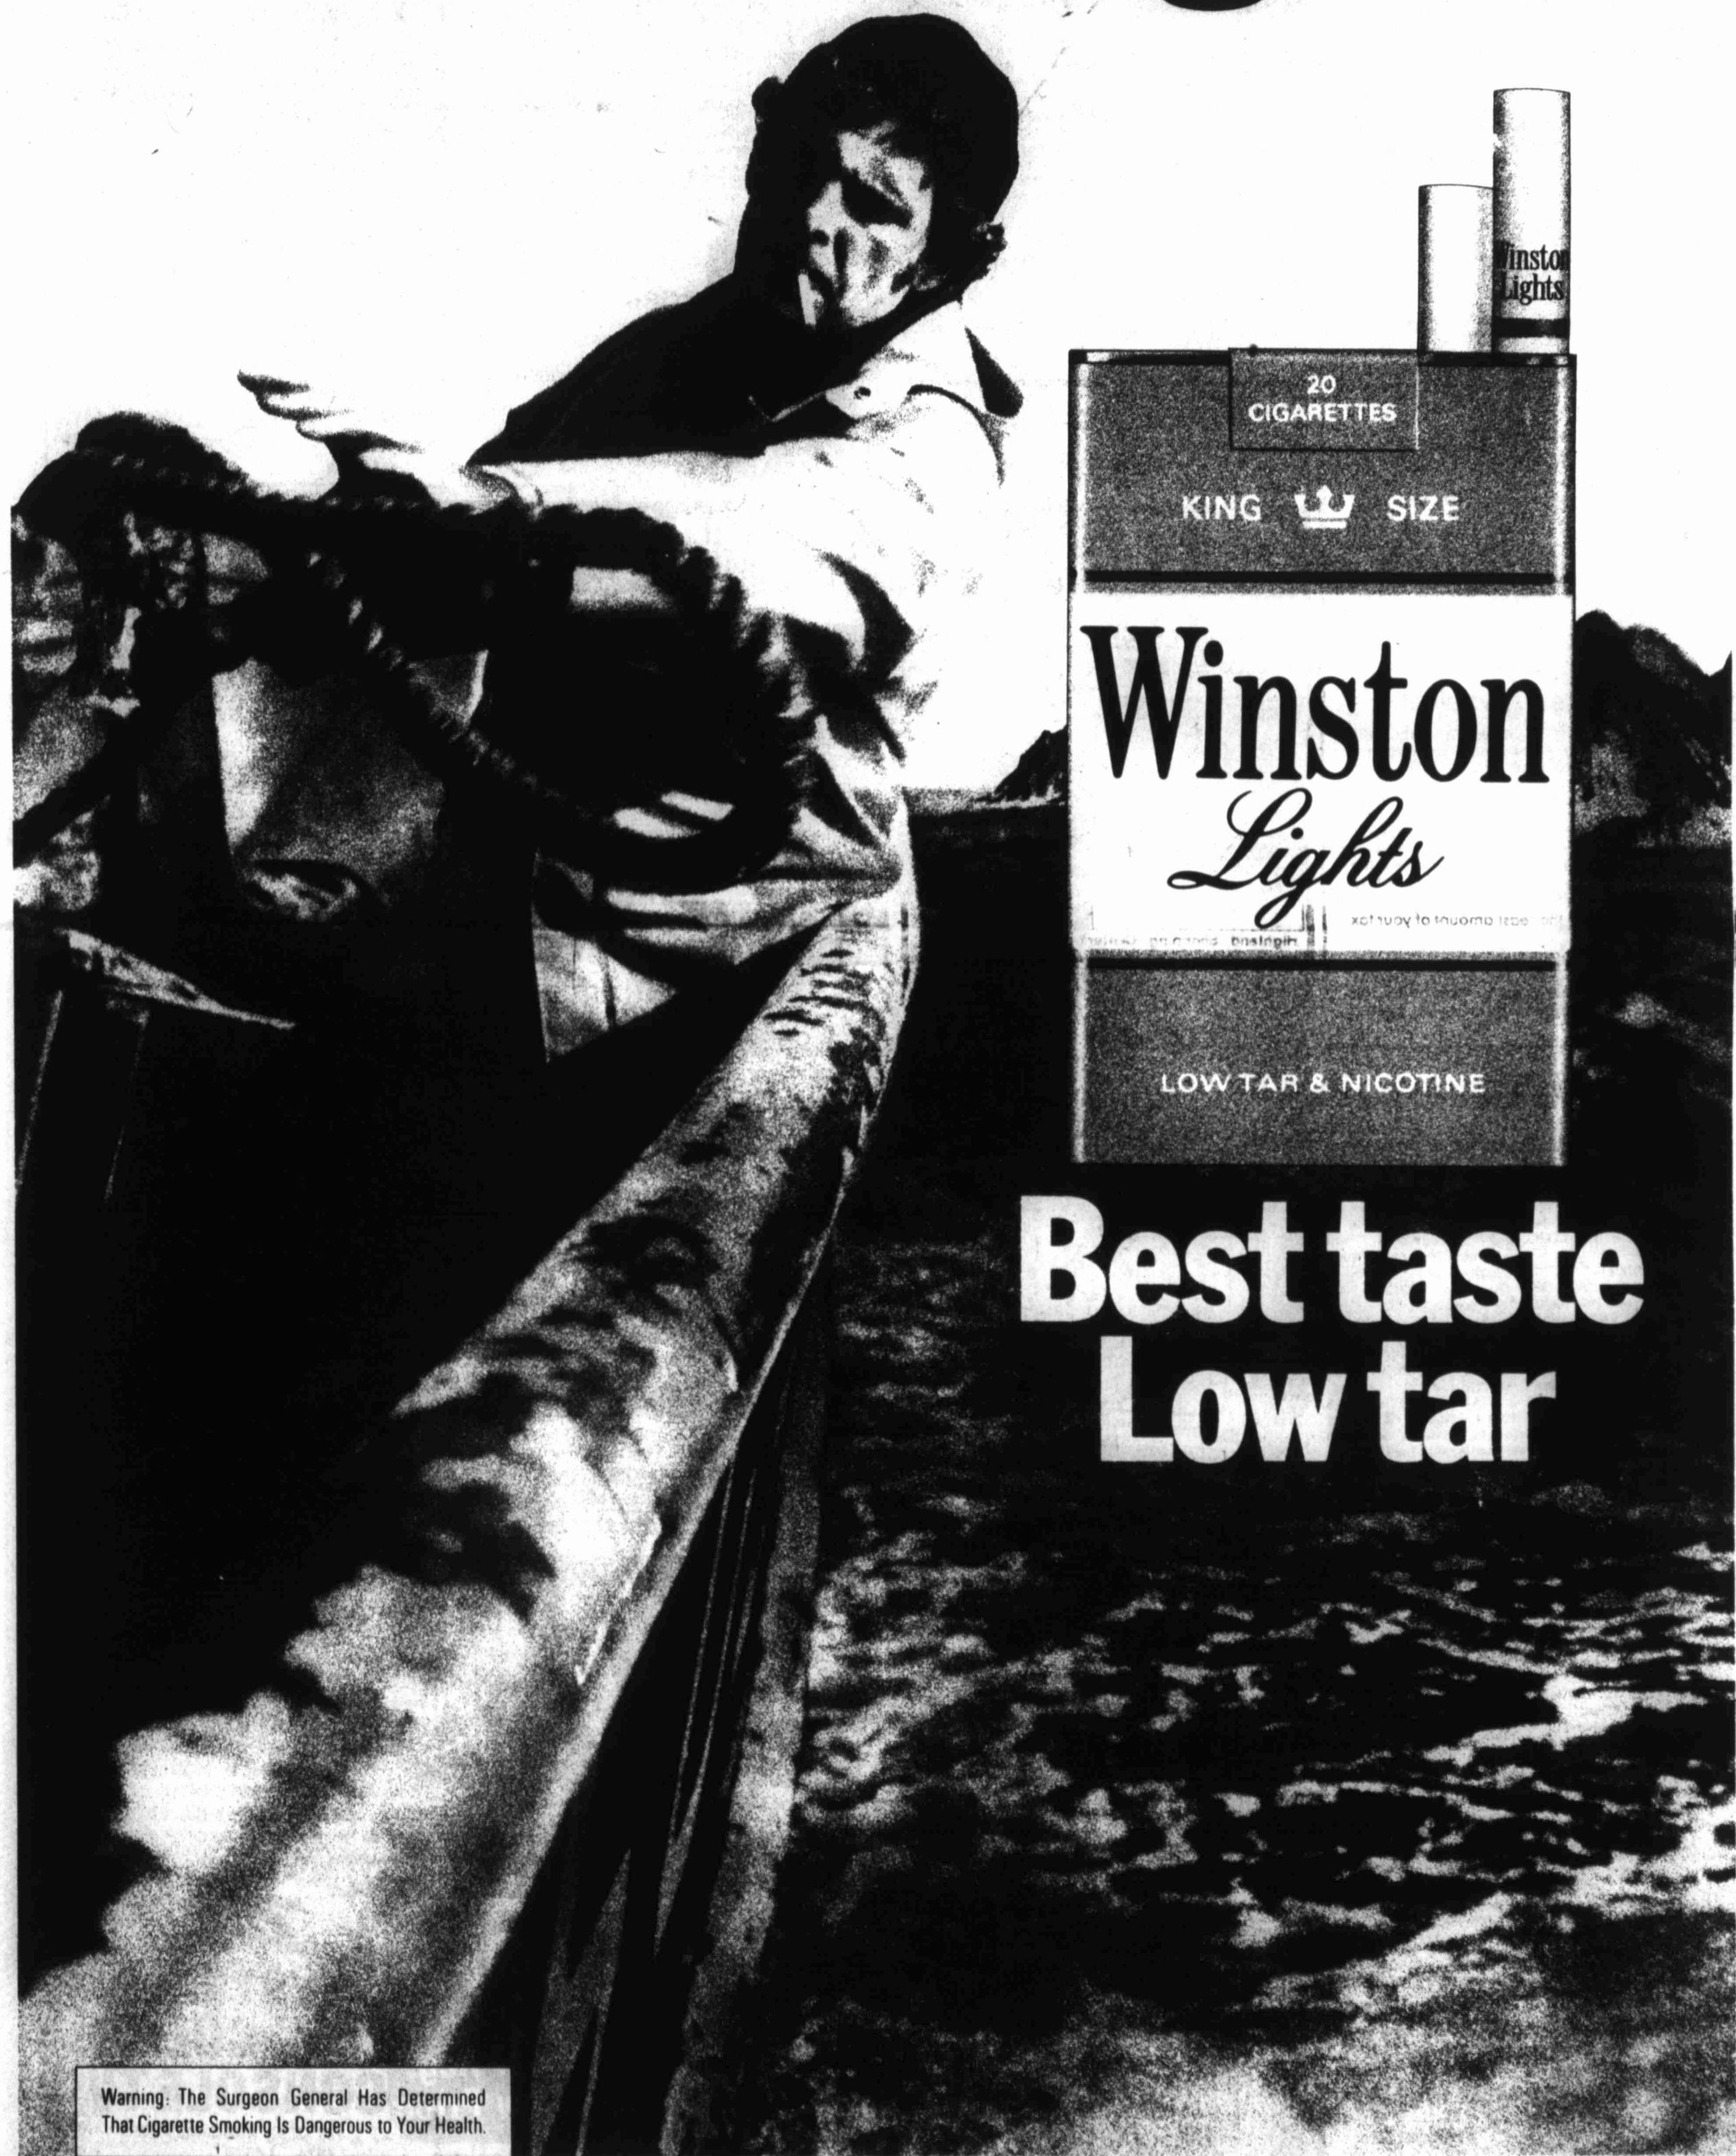

Greetings from your friends at the churches of Christ! The reason I say we are your friends is by virtue of what Paul said in Galatians 4:16. Here the apostle of Christ Jesus states that he is not their enemy by reason of his truthfulness. If he told them a lie, then would he be their enemy. We in the churches of Christ strive to speak the Words of God in love and truth. Today we'll continue in our study of UNITY from the Ephesian four context. Our subject, ONE FAITH. People can find faith in anything and anybody! People create all kinds of faiths. There are weak faiths, strong faiths, lukewarm faiths, people faiths, animals faiths, food faiths, religious faiths, etc. I do hope you followed my point? We just talk about faith like we talk about love. The word love is so abused it has almost lost its flavor and meaning. We love our dog, we love our cat, we love our car, we love Mexican food, etc. So when we say that we just love somebody, the word seems to fade away even before it enters another's ears. The word FAITH is misused the same way. For the man who races horses or bets on them, he has faith in that young colt! Yes — he has faith, real faith! For he is convicted and assured that within the colt lies the fully recognized award of money! He has so much faith he'll bet everything he owns on that colt! If we just had the faith of that horseman in Christ Jesus! But we don't always have it, do we? The problem with the man who bet on the horse is that it didn't pay off! So — again we have another loser in life that had the wrong type of faith in the wrong object! You see the point, friends? There are all kinds of "faiths" in this crazy world. Unfortunately, one of these crazy kinds of faiths is found in the religious world. The place where you would not expect it, you find it! This person is of this faith; that person is of that faith; he is of this faith and she is of that faith, etc. However, the Holy Word of God teaches that there is but ONE FAITH. It's not any kind of faith, it's a specific ordered system of faith found only in the Bible, God's blessing to mankind! In the scriptures we find that the faith, which is found in the Word of God, was obeyed by multitudes, even of Jewish priest, Acts 6:7. We also see that people were anxious to hear the faith from preaching, Acts 24:24. Upon hearing the faith, men such as Paul went out and preached it, even though he had once made havoc of it, Galatians 1:23. The faith is so important to maintain in the church that we are exhorted to contend (fight earnestly) for it, Jude 3. We are to in UNITY strive for the faith of the gospel, Philippians 1:27. Have you noticed that each time I mention the faith I have underlined it? The reason is for emphasis! When the faith is mentioned in the New Testament text, according to the Greek text, the definite article the is used. This depicts a "specific" type of faith, not just any-ole faith! If there are fourteen Tommy Smiths in the Big Spring city, and I ask for a Tommy Smith to come to McDonalds where he'll receive a free meal, I'm gonna be in trouble, aren't I? Because I never said which one! But if I say something about Tommy Smith at 2404 Johnson Street, then I have solved the problem because I have eliminated all others by my specific terms. The Bible has specific teaches which make up "THE FAITH." If you follow these specific terms, you'll know you're in the faith! Have a nice week. Study God's Word for yourself! Give yourself to God and He will by His Word open up the faith to you! That is, my friends, the only way you can come to know His blessed will! Study! Study! Study!

Caller cancels shows

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Engelbert Humperdinck says he may have to hire a detective to find out who spread a rumor that he was ill and would miss appearances at the MGM Grand Hotel. Humperdinck wasn't ill, but a caller convinced hotel officials he was — and both the singer's Sunday night performances were canceled. Hotel officials said they received a call Saturday night from a person identifying himself as Humperdinck's manager who said the entertainer was ill and had gone to Los Angeles for treatment. Humperdinck said the matter was not a publicity stunt.

Judge decides curtain time

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge may decide whether the curtains will rise on a new Broadway musical, "A Day in Hollywood, A Night in the Ukraine."

A copyright infringement suit filed by the Marx Brothers' estate seeks to stop the Thursday opening of the new Alexander Cohen production. Susan Marx, widow of Harpo Marx and trustee of the estate that owns and licenses rights for the comedy team's material, also seeks damages in excess of $10,000.

Mrs. Marx contends the show, which has been staged in London and Baltimore, is an "attempt to recreate a Marx Brothers comedy" replete with jokes and styles that symbolize the great comedy team.

But sources close to the production said the show is "loosely based on Chekhov's 'The Bear' as if it were done by the Marx Brothers."

Secret vices revealed

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you figure the cookbook author James Beard has a weakness for marshmallows? Or that talk show host Dick Cavett lifts things from hotel maids?

New York magazine, assuming that the Big Apple was "a circus of secret vices," went to find out the little sins of assorted celebrities. Their results, reports in the latest issue:

—Beard said he might eat 20 marshmallows at a time when the craving hits. "I don't like them toasted, and I don't like those nasty little ones. I like the large, puffy ones, and I eat them right out of the bag."

—Said Cavett: "I steal extra shower caps from hotel maids' supply carts."

—Comedian Rodney Dangerfield said he was at the age when food had taken the place of sex. "In fact, I've just had a mirror put over my kitchen table," he said.

Draft registration vote posted by Texas solons

States News Service
WASHINGTON — The votes of the Texas delegation in Congress for the week ending April 25:

HOUSE
The House voted 218 to 188 Tuesday to adopt President Carter's draft registration plan and provided $13.295 million to carry it out.

The President has the power to order registration for the military draft, but Congress must allocate the funds.

The $13 million would be transferred from left over balances in an Air Force military personnel fund. The bill would require about four million 19- and 20-year-old males to register for military service.

Carter called for the plan in response to the Soviet Union's invasion of Afghanistan.

Opponents of the bill contended that the Soviet Union would not be fooled by a false show of military preparedness. They also argued that advanced registration would not save much time in mobilizing troops.

FOR: De la Garza, Gramm, Hall, Hance, Hightower, Roberts, Stenholm, White, Wilson, Wright, Wyatt, Loeffler.

NOT VOTING: Kazen, Pickle.

Offered by Robert E. Bauman, R-Md., the plan would have included physical examinations for the registered males. This proposal would enable the military to classify the 19- and 20-year-olds, and determine how many would actually be able to serve.

Bauman called the President's plan "just another Carter gesture, and a very weak gesture at that."

FOR: Gramm, Wilson, Wyatt.

AGAINST: De la Garza, Hall, Hance, Hightower, Pickle, Roberts, Stenholm, White, Wright, Loeffler.

The House overwhelmingly killed two attempts to reveal secret documents related to the Administration's handling of the events in Iran.

Congressional leaders felt the revelations might further endanger the lives of the 53 American hostages still being held hostage in Tehran.

The first resolution would have required that all information be made public regarding the arrangements made with the deposed Shah of Iran when he left the U.S. for Panama.

The resolution of inquiry was tabled and thus killed. The vote on the motion to table was 362-57.

FOR: De la Garza, Gramm, Hall, Hance, Hightower, Roberts, Stenholm, Wilson, Wright, Wyatt, Loeffler.

NOT VOTING: Kazen, Pickle, White.

Vance resignation shows divisions in administration

HOUSTON (AP) — Republican presidential candidate George Bush said Monday the resignation of Secretary of State Cyrus Vance showed "deep divisions" in the Carter administration and called Vance a "very decent individual."

"So far, I don't know the reasons yet for the Vance resignation," Bush said in a wide-ranging interview with The Associated Press. "It's too early to give you a reaction."

"It does show," the former Ambassador to China said, "that there have been deep divisions inside the administration because of how to reach certain objectives."

He said Vance, who resigned Sunday night in protest of the mission to rescue American hostages in Iran, "on a personal basis is a very decent individual. He's a hard-working, dedicated."

Bush, in Texas for an intense five-day campaign before the state primary Saturday, said he was "surprised" at the timing of Vance's resignation.

Bush said he would be on "the opposite side" of Vance, who was against the rescue effort. "I supported the president (on the mission)," he said.

His voice laden with emotion, Bush called the display Sunday of the bodies of eight American soldiers who died in the rescue effort "animalistic."

"I thought it was as outrageous a violation of custom and tradition as anything I've seen," he said. "It just again shows the madness of the people in control over there."

"To display bodies in a primeval, insensitive, inhumane way I think shows the depraved nature of this regime. (It is) absolutely outrageous."

"I think it just one more indication that you are dealing with irrational people. These people dance on the very graves of the bodies of fallen soldiers. It's animalistic."

Turning his thoughts to the Texas primary, where polls show him trailing Ronald Reagan by a considerable margin, Bush said, "The polls say a win is very tough, so I'll just keep working hard and prove them wrong."

"It's been a very strange year," he continued, leaning back in his car as he rode to his next speaking engagement.

"If you had asked at the outset with Connally, Baker, Dole, Crane and Bush which one would have been left, none of them (political experts) would have said Bush...and here I am."

Bush acknowledges he faces a tough battle in Texas, where Reagan is solidly entrenched.

He says the chief differences between himself and the former governor of California are in the areas of tax cuts. "I'm not going to over-promise," he said, talking about Reagan's proposal to slash the federal budget by $210 billion over a three-year period.

"If that's such a good plan, why isn't everyone backing it?" he asks, adding that Reagan's plan would result in a "major deficit."

He also chided Reagan for his proposal to use oil in Alaska to help reduce imports from OPEC countries, saying Reagan's figure of the possibility of producing nine million barrels of oil a day in Alaska is "a pipe dream."

The former Central Intelligence Director said he would strengthen the CIA. "We've got to protect sources and methods of intelligence," he said. "I am one who feels we would do better to strengthen the CIA, not weaken it."

He said Carter's policy of downgrading the "operational side" of the agency has failed, but added that "we still have a strong intelligence capability in this country."

Bush said he would not criticize the effort to free the American captives in Iran last Thursday. "I see a lot of Monday-morning quarterbacking," he said, "out there doing that who may or may not have access to all the information."

The windfall profits tax should not have been passed, according to Bush, without a reinvestment provision.

The time, according to Eli Terry.

Eli Terry made more than clocks. He made works of art that told time. Back when Betsy Ross was making the first American flag. Now, so that more than museums and private collections can have the Howard Miller clock — a grand old example of his exquisite craftsmanship and recreated it. Then they added Europe's three most beautiful cathedral chimes. Westminster. St. Michael, Whittington. The matches Eli Terry Mantel Clock. It's just like seeing history made.

As expected, Sims taken first in NFL draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Sims, the exceptional halfback from Oklahoma, was picked — as expected — by the Detroit Lions today, the No. 1 selection in the National Football League's annual college player draft.

The Lions, who shared with San Francisco the worst record in 1979 at 2-14, officially picked the 24-year-old Sims 3½ minutes after NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle called the draft to order.

Sims, the Heisman Trophy winner as a junior and the runnerup to Southern California's Charles White in the prestigious award as a senior last year, has 4.5 speed and punishing strength to go with his 5-foot-11, 210-pound frame.

"Billy Sims is the greatest player in the country," Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer said before the draft. "I know I have said this before, but he is the greatest clutch player there is. There will never be another player like him at Oklahoma... he's a million'king around."

With the No. 2 selection in the first round, the Jets selected Johnny "Lam" Jones, the speedy wide receiver from Texas who won a gold medal in the 1976 Olympics as a member of the U.S. 400-meter meter relay team.

"I've watched Lam on film and met him in person," Coach Walt Michaels of the Jets said in a release handed out moments after the selection of Jones. "He has the type of character and ability that should help accelerate our program."

The Cincinnati Bengals, picking third, took 285-pound offensive tackle Anthony Munoz of Southern California, who missed almost all of the 1979 season after undergoing his third knee operation.

The Green Bay Packers used little time in selecting defensive tackle Bruce Clark of Penn State, who, like Munoz, required knee surgery last season. Clark was expected to play nose guard in the Packers' new 3-4 defense.

In quick fashion, the Baltimore Colts grabbed running back Curtis Dickey of Texas A&M, like Jones a world-class sprinter, who could be used as a wide receiver to replace Roger Carr.

Carr has said he is set on leaving at age 36.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who were thought to be seeking a tight end, went instead for Michigan defensive lineman Curtis Greer, who played tackle in college but is expected to be an end in the NFL.

Beginning the second half of the opening round, the Cleveland Browns used up their entire 15 minutes and passed to the Oakland Raiders.

The Raiders immediately selected Wilson, Brigham Young's All-America quarterback. The choice was something of a surprise considering the Raiders' recent swap of quarterbacks with Houston, with Oakland acquiring Dan Pastorini and giving up Ken Stabler.

In rapid succession, the Bills, with the choice obtained earlier from Seattle, took Jim Ritcher, North Carolina State's two-time All-America center.

Then, the Browns, in a complicated deal, traded their first-round selection to Los Angeles and the Rams used it to take Texas defensive back Johnnie Johnson, another two-time All-American.

Green Bay had acquired San Diego's first-round selection in a trade for Willie Buchanon and the Packers chose Oklahoma linebacker George Cumby, who made

The Associated Press All-America team in 1977 and 1979.

The Baltimore Colts, selecting for the second time, used a pick acquired from the Dallas Cowboys in a trade for John Dutton and went for a relative surprise, defensive back Derrick Hatchett of Texas.

Southern Cal's Charles White, the 1979 Heisman Trophy winner, finally went as the 27th overall pick. He was taken by the Cleveland Browns, using a pick acquired earlier in the day from Los Angeles in a complicated deal.

Ali's mouth still in championship form

By the Associated Press

"This is the legend of Muhammad Ali," said the bulbous ex-champion with the unfamiliar mustache, "the prettiest fighter you ever will see."

"He talks a great deal, he does indeed."

"Of a powerful punch and lightning speed."

"The fistic world was dull and weary."

"With a champ like Holmes, it had to be dreary."

The 64th floor of a New York skyscraper shook from the roaring laughter. An imported four-piece Brazilian band struck up a bossa nova tune. Guests drowned out the music with resounding applause.

The man they call "The Greatest" was just getting his second wind.

"This brash fighter is something to see," he spouted.

"Four times champion is his destiny.

"This fighter is great — got speed and endurance."

"If you sign to fight him, increase your insurance."

Play it again, Sam — one more time. The great Ali is back, and the whole world has got him. The fistic sport is jumping and jiving again.

The record is old and squeaky now. The poems with their jerky meter and simple rhymes are unchanged. But, for fight fans, it's a melody to their ears.

They were all there — the Ali worshippers, the hangers-on, the wheelers and dealers, the soul people, the fat cats and the cynical press. And they relished every minute of it.

Here we go again.

Ali, three-time heavyweight champion, dapper in a grey pin-striped suit, his long curly hair around the jowls and belly, flew into New York to sign for a comeback fight against the undefeated World Boxing

Council champion, Larry Holmes.

Barring complications (there are reports of a court suit by a slighted Madison, Wis., promoter), the 31-year-old Holmes and the 38-year-old Ali will meet July 11 in Rio de Janeiro's 165,000-seat Maracana Arena.

"This is the last hurrah," Don King said. "The song is over, but the melody lingers on."

King is the live-wire entrepreneur who is co-promoting the spectacle with Murad Muhammad and the latter's California-based organization called Prime Sports. A Californian named James Glennie, owner of Brazilian gold and diamond mines, is said to be footing the bill.

Ali and Holmes already have received advance payments of $250,000 and $100,000, respectively. Ali is slated to get $8 million and Holmes $4 million of the $12 million pot.

Hollywood going to 49ers?

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys, without a first-round choice in the National Football League draft for the first time since 1967, mulled the possibility today of acquiring a third-round pick from San Francisco in return for linebacker Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson.

Henderson told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram Monday night the vice president and head coach of the 49ers called him earlier in the day and told him he'd be wearing a San Francisco uniform next fall.

Gil Brandt, vice president of the Cowboys, confirmed Monday that the club had talked with San Francisco officials about a trade for Henderson, but said nothing had been finalized.

"At this moment, no trade has been made for Henderson," Brandt said. "We had some conversation with San Francisco. A lot of teams have expressed interest in Henderson. If we get an offer we like, we could trade him."

A spokesman for the 49ers confirmed to the Star-Telegram that head coach Bill Walsh and vice president John Ralston had talked with Henderson by telephone Monday about a possible contract. However, he added:

"We are uncertain at this time if we will be able to meet Henderson's demands."

Henderson "retired" from the Cowboys late last season rather than allow the team to release him on waivers.

The controversial linebacker remained the property of the Cowboys and the club has tried to trade him to several teams. There was speculation Henderson would be traded to New Orleans, but the Saints' highest offer was reportedly a sixth-round choice.

San Francisco had the No. 2 choice in both the first and second rounds of the draft, but the spokesman ruled out the possibility the club would trade away either of those.

"Walsh said he wanted a weak side linebacker, and he said I was the best in the

Both King and Holmes expressed sorrow that Ali, overweight and allegedly bereft of his old reflexes, had seen fit to come out of retirement after winning the heavyweight crown an unprecedented third time.

"Ali ought to be home with his wife and kids," Holmes said, "but if he wants to fight, I will oblige him."

The two heavyweights, following the script, exchanged insults and made menacing gestures toward each other.

"Don't worry," Holmes said when Murad Muhammad sought to restrain him. "Nobody's going to hurt me."

"I made you," yelled Ali, referring to the years Holmes spent as his sparring partner. "I'm gonna get out of my rocking chair and whip your tail."

"Ali was a great champion once," Holmes said. "I learned a lot from him. Now he will learn from me."

BSHS Spring Sports Banquet set Friday

The Big Spring High School All-Sports Banquet will be held on Friday, May 2 at the BSHS cafeteria at 7:00 p.m.

Athletes that participated in basketball, baseball, track, golf, tennis and swimming will be honored at the affair, which will have a cost of three dollars per person.

Awards will be given to outstanding performers in each sport for both males and females, as well as the final honor, the Obie Bristow Award, for the outstanding athlete at BSHS.

Former Olympian Josh Owusu, who participated in the 1972 Olympics and is still a possibility for this year's Olympics, will be the guest speaker.

Mike Weaver wins Country Club Tourney

Miek Weaver combined for a two-day total of 142 to take top honors in the Big Spring Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament that culminated here Sunday afternoon.

Weaver, a local golfer, scored a two-stroke victory over second place finishers Howard Stewart and Rick Diets, who had 144 totals.

Terry Bruner and Kevin Heise finished tied for the fourth with totals of 146, while Bill Edwards and Wendy Green each had finishing totals of 148.

Morris Rhodes won the handicap division in a playoff with Dr. Lou Ladaga. Both had finished with totals of 138. Weldon Bryant was third in the handicap division with a 139 total.

Finishing in a four-way tie for fourth were the quartet of Jim Howell, Doyce Haney, Dr. Jim Mathews and Harold Davis, who had 142 totals.

Red Sox sweep pair from Marfa

MARFA — The Big Spring Red Sox baseball team swept a twin-bill from Marfa Sunday to extend their record to 4-0 for the young season.

The Red Sox exploded for 16 runs in the first two innings of the initial contest in route to a 21-3 rout. All the Red Sox hitters were hot with John Morellon and Arthur Olague leading the charge with three hits each, with Adam Yanez and Ernie Garcia adding two.

David Cruz was the winning pitcher in the opener. The Sox bats continued to wreak havoc on the Marfa pitchers in the second game, as Ernie Garcia had five hits to pace a 23-7 triumph.

Yanez and Pete Amaro each contributed four hits, with Morellon and Joe Martinez adding three each.

Sox hurler Milo Solis benefitted from the hitting attack, as he raised his personal record to 2-0.

Coahoma to organize baseball

COAHOMA — A meeting will be held at Richter's Store here at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, at which time baseball and softball programs will be organized.

Officers for the program will also be named, including president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Glenn Sargent, who served as president of the program last year, will be unable to serve this year.

The schedules ordinarily get under way near the end of school.

Cubs slugger Kingman proving versatility

By the Associated Press

Dave Kingman didn't hit any home runs Monday night but he was a big man for the Chicago Cubs anyway...and not just because he stands 6-foot-6.

The tall left fielder, known for his towering homers and wild-swinging strikeouts, threw out St. Louis's speedy Garry Templeton trying to score from second base on a single by Keith Hernandez in the third inning.

That preserved a 1-1 tie and it remained that way until the ninth when Kingman slapped a pitch from Bob Sykes into center field for a tie-breaking RBI single that triggered a three-run uprising as the Cubs defeated the Cardinals 4-2.

"He's the complete ballplayer now," Manager Preston Gomez said of Kingman. "He beats you with his bat, he can run, he can throw and he can field."

Only three games were played in the majors while four were rained out — Atlanta-San Diego in the National League and New York-Baltimore, Boston-Chicago and Kansas City-Toronto in the American.

As usual, Kingman wasn't available to the media but other Cubs didn't mind talking about him.

"When the game's on the line and he's up, you better watch him," said relief ace Bruce Sutter, who picked up his sixth save. "When he first came up, he used to swing at everything. He's cut down on his strike zone. He knows what he wants up there now."

Ivan DeJesus opened the Cubs' ninth with a walk and Bill Buckner bunted safely before Kingman singled. Jerry Martin then greeted Donnie Moore with an RBI double and Tim Lincecum added a sacrifice fly.

A's 8, Angels 0

Tony Armas, Dwayne Murphy and Dave Revering homered Monday night to support the Rick Langford's seven-hitter. Langford, 2-0, was making only his second start of the season and struck out four.

Armas homered with the bases empty in the second inning to give Oakland a 1-0 lead. Murphy added a two-run homer in the fifth to make it 5-0 and Revering homered off Jim Barr in the seventh.

It was the A's fifth consecutive victory over the Angels this season. They swept a four-game series in Oakland earlier in the month from the defending American League West champions.

Mariners 6, Twins 4

The Twins committed seven errors and two of them by pitcher Terry Felton and left fielder Ken Landreaux led to a five-run Seattle fourth inning. Willie Horton began the big inning by drawing a walk against Felton. One out later, Bill Stein singled and Felton's error on a tapper back to the mound loaded the bases. Larry Cox's squeeze bunt scored Horton, Joe Simpson walked and John Verhoeven replaced Felton. But Jim Anderson singled to make it 3-0 and three more runs scored when Landreaux, who hit a two-run homer in the seventh, dropped Dan Meyer's liner. Rick Honeycutt allowed seven hits in 61-3 innings to raise his record to 4-0.

Scorecard

Baseball

INTERNATIONAL LITTLE LEAGUE
The Crown Decorating Beers opened the season on a winning note, taking a 12-5 win over the Rangers in International Minor League play.

Carlos Ovalle pitched the win for the Beers, and was benefited by the home run hitting of Clay Atkinson, Jerry Bakock and Mickey Boyd.

The Beers are now 1-0, while the Rangers are 0-1.

AMERICAN LITTLE LEAGUE
The Cain Electric Cougars opened their Little League season here this weekend by taking an 8-3 win over the Fiber-Flex Falcons in Major League action.

Colin Carroll was the winning pitcher in the contest, with Mike Mendoza absorbing the loss.

The Cougars were led in hitting by Jim Clark, who had a double, and Robert Gilbert; Sam Kerby, Gary Osburn and Jon Tindal, who each had singles.

The Falcons were paced in the hitting department by Gary Wallis, Heath Slevarth, Timmy Winchester and Eric Thompson.

AMERICAN LITTLE LEAGUE
The Small Piping and Rental Tool Warriors exploded for a 22-1 win over the Optimist Club Sports in American Little League action here this weekend.

The win boosted the Warriors record to 2-0, while the Sports are now 0-2.

Gary Shaffer and Calvin Harrison each contributed a double and a single for the winners, with Jimmy Shaffer, Steve Fortenberry, Aaron Allen and Tony Jackson adding singles.

L. Robinson had a double for the Sports, with T. Eaton and W. Fields adding singles.

NATIONAL LITTLE LEAGUE
The Anderson Music Company Devils used the pitching of David Williams and some outstanding defensive play to take a 4-0 win over the Big Spring Herald Rangers in the season opener for both of these National Little League Major teams.

Mike Dodd connected for a single, double and triple to pace the Devils, while Randy Odom had two hits and Williams and Doug Baum each.

Carey Fraser was the losing pitcher.

NATIONAL LITTLE LEAGUE
The Colts powered past the Tigers by a score of 17-3 in National Little League action here this weekend.

It was the season opener for both teams.

Mike Averette, Barney Dodd, Jacky Turner, Steve Cline, Timmy Gutierrez and Jimmy Moore all connected safely for the Colts, while Jennings had a base hit for the Tigers.

Steve Fortenberry was the winning pitcher, while Thomas Moore was the loser.

NATIONAL LITTLE LEAGUE
The Dibrall's Sporting Goods Yankees opened the National Little League's Major League action here this weekend by taking a 10-0 victory over the Cardinals.

The defending champion Yankees were paced by the hitting of Kim Anding and Sammy Watson, who had two hits each. Guade Weaver, Jason Donaghy and John Otson each added singles to the Yankees cause.

Yankee pitchers Watson and Morris combined to limit the Cardinals to no hits in the contest, while Wayne Wright of the Cards accepted the mound loss.

Patterson, general manager, to a new three-year contract.

Kuhn to back Braves in snubbing Horner

ATLANTA (AP) — All it takes is Bowie Kuhn's signature, and Bob Horner will be barred from professional baseball.

"The commissioner's office indicated they will wire approval" of the Atlanta Braves' request that their slugging third baseman be put on the disqualified list, spokesman Wayne Minshew said Monday night.

That means Horner will forfeit his estimated $2,000 a day salary for refusing to obey a Braves' order to report to their farm team at Richmond, Va., to get his game back together.

It also means Horner cannot be offered a contract by another club or be given his outright release by the Braves, Minshew said.

Kuhn said during the weekend he approved of the Braves' sending Horner to Richmond.

Horner was hitting .059 with no homers and no RBI, and the Braves were 1-9 on April 21 when the Braves ordered him to report to Richmond.

There, said owner Ted Turner, Horner was to find the swing that produced 33 home runs and a .314 average last year.

Horner wouldn't do it.

"The money just doesn't mean that much," said Horner, who stayed at his suburban north Atlanta home. "It's not like I ever had it to begin with and am losing it. I never had it."

"Anyway, money is not an issue. This thing is a lot bigger than that. It's a matter of what's right and wrong, and there's no way this thing is right."

Horner and Executive Director Ed Miller of the Major League Players Association said the assignment to Richmond violates terms of Horner's contract and that he will ask for arbitration, requesting that he be declared a free agent.

In WCT tennis action Sadri's serve not enough

DALLAS (AP) — John Sadri's serve has been timed at 129 mph, but Monday night most of his bullets either whistled into the net or came back at him.

Sadri, a 23-year-old from Charlotte, N.C., was outretuned; outerved and outthrust by 5-foot-7 Johan Kriek of South Africa in a 7-5, 6-4, 7-5 World Championship of Tennis quarterfinal match that opened the $25 million Reunion Arena.

Kriek's serve has never been timed by a radar gun but it was more effective than Sadri's, who had only eight aces to ten for Kriek.

"Johan can serve," said Sadri. "He's not tall but he can crank it."

"I don't know what it was but I felt sluggish for some reason. I was always off-balance. Maybe the court was slower than I thought.

He just ran down all the balls. I guess it was just him."

Kriek has a reputation as perhaps the speediest player on the WCT tour.

"I'm not sure how fast I am," said the Naples, Fla., resident. "I just hope it keeps up until I'm 60 or 70."

Kriek seemed surprised that he had such an easy time with Sadri's famed serve.

"I never played anybody who could serve like that," said Kriek. "I just had a short swing on every ball and I anticipated well."

Kriek will play the winner of Thursday night's match between defending champion John McEnroe and Heinz Gunthardt of Germany.

Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia was to meet India's Vijay Amritraj tonight in another quarterfinal match.

Jimmy Connors meets Bill Scanlon Wednesday night.

Opening night ceremonies went off with just a few minor hitches in the 17,000-seat (for tennis) arena. The $1 million overhead scoreboard failed to function. Some fans complained of dusty seats in the yet-to-be-completed building.

The players loved it.

Kriek said "It's a great arena for professional tennis. It has lighting at angles and you never lose a ball."

Sadri said "I agree. It's nice, very nice."

Kriek only had an uneasy moment at the start of the match. Stunned by Sadri's hard serves, Kriek defaulted three straight times to lose service.

"I was very nervous but I thought I played well after the early problems," he said.

Al Oliver moved back to left

DETROIT (AP) — Since being moved to right field, Al Oliver "has not been himself" and is being shifted back to left field, Texas Rangers manager Pat Corrales says.

"I told him ... he'd be back in left field Tuesday and he'd stay there the remainder of the season," Corrales said as the slumping Rangers prepared to play a three-game series against the Detroit Tigers.

Oliver was at left field when he came to Texas from Pittsburgh before the 1978 season, but was moved to center field and later to right field because club officials felt he would strengthen those positions.

Each time, Oliver made the shifts but complained mildly about the club's not leaving him in one position.

"Al has not been himself around the clubhouse this season," Corrales said Monday.

"It's not the way he was playing, just the way he was acting. It wasn't Al. So after Sunday's game (a 7-4 loss at Cleveland), I called him in

Ledet gives Rams early LSC lead

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — Harold Ledet broke the Lone Star Conference record with a throw of 59 feet 10 1/2 inches Monday to capture the shot put and give Angelo State the early team lead in the conference track and field meet.

His throw was 15 1/4 inches farther than the previous record of 58-7 set 15 years ago by Russell Polhemus of East Texas State.

Mitch Admire gave the hosts another victory in the javelin with a throw of 213-3, and Angelo State accumulated 44 points after four events.

In the two other field events Monday, James Dougherty of Southwest Texas State won the high jump at 6-10, and Larry Sutton of Howard Payne took the long jump with a leap of 25-4 1/2.

Twelve-year-old John Menges is a sixth grader at Goliat. Unlike many of his other classmates, John is already on his own. He's in business for himself as Herald carrier for Route 248.

John's route includes homes on Canyon, Cedar, Indian Ridge, Indian Hills, Osage, Mountain Park Drive, Kiowa and the 900 block of W. 17th. He has been servicing customers in this area since last July.

This is the time of the month that carriers like John are making their route collections. Carriers buy their papers at wholesale rates. They depend on you, their customer, for their profits. When a carrier is not paid on time, he or she must still pay for the paper so that you will have yours every day.

John says the thing he likes most about having a Herald route is the money he makes. Since he only gets paid by his profits, your prompt payment is essential to his monthly earnings.

John likes to spend his profits on clothes, going skating and going to the movies. He also enjoys playing football and other sports during his spare time. In school, John is active in band.

John is the son of Ray and Olnee Menges, Jr., of 4209 W. Highway 80. If your son or daughter wants to earn and learn from a Herald route, call 263-7331 or stop by 710 Scurry for a route application.

Biology major Bentsen speaks out wins hoop roll
WELLESLEY, Mass.
(AP) — A Wilmington, Del.,
biology major won this year's Wellesley College
hoop roll, an 85-year tradition among seniors at the women's college outside Boston.
Donna Campbell, 22, led a field of some 60 classmates
dressed in caps and gowns
who pushed wooden hoops down a 400-yard hill to a finish line outside the campus chapel Saturday.
Tradition says the winner
will be the first of her class to marry.
"No prospects yet,"
laughed Ms. Campbell, a member of the school's lacrosse and field hockey
teams.
Ms. Campbell received a bridal bouquet and a ceremonial dunking in nearby Lake Waban.

Single 6-year term for president urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen.
Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas,
says a single 6-year term for a president would be an improvement over the
current system.
"I think we ought to push for a 6-year term," he said.
"I think I ought to start on that next year, make it a project."
Bentsen advised a staff member standing nearby not to let him forget about his improvement plan.
The senator, an unsuccessful presidential candidate four years ago,
said the campaign now goes
on too long and is decided too early.
" That means that the process of selecting a president really needs some major changes," he said.
"The two parties really have to go to work and try to change the process, shorten
the period of time."
Bentsen said the length of the campaign works to exclude almost anybody who has a job, such as a senator.
He was asked at a news conference Thursday to predict the outcome of the upcoming Texas presidential primary.
Bentsen replied that he expected President Carter to do very well against Sen.
Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.,
on the Democratic side.
But Bentsen declined to make any predictions on the race between Republicans
Ronald Reagan and George Bush.
"I'm going to let the Republicans settle their own fight," he said.
Bentsen defeated Bush in 1970 to win a first term in the Senate.
Kathy Doria put off her plans to go to law school
after she was offered the new position of director of Hispanic affairs at the Democratic National Committee.
"I figured in a national election year, you can learn a lot," the 27-year-old San Antonio woman said. "The task here is overwhelming. I could get very caught up just in convention logistics."

Ms. Doria predicts that Hispanics will have more representation this year at the Democratic national convention than ever before — somewhere between 150 and 350 delegates.
"It's my hope that Hispanics will emerge as the best organized group at the convention," she said in an interview. "I think this time the leadership is going to be very firmly backed up by a lot of people."
Ms. Doria arrived in Washington less than a month ago.
"I've got a tremendous credibility building to do,"
she said.
The job was offered to her
after the DNC met last year in San Antonio, where she was active in the Texas
Mexican-American
Democratic Organization.
Ms. Doria was working as a paralegal in San Antonio, her hometown, after returning from seven years
of studying and working in Massachusetts.
Rep. Kent Hance, D-
Texas, says he warned
President Carter that he votes the president won in Texas farm areas four years ago might be lost unless the administration changes its agricultural policies soon.
"A lot of people said the farmers were frustrated, and I told him that in my district they were mad,"
Hance said after attending a White House meeting
Wednesday between farm
state congressmen and the president.
"I felt that maybe
someone had not been telling him what the feeling was among the people," the Lubbock congressman said.
Sen. John Tower, R-Texas,
is calling for the Carter administration to change its policies for control of livestock predators.
The senator wants to see
research resumed on the banned chemical compound 1080.

CARD OF THANKS

There is no way we can express our gratitude, properly
for the many blessings our friends, relatives and acquaintances bestowed upon us during our recent bereavement. Your prayers and love and kindness gave us faith and hope. It gave us strength to carry on. God bless you all for the many flowers, food, tokens of friendship, and prayers. It has sustained us. The memory of your kindness will remain with us always.

Month of May designated as Older Texans Month

AUSTIN — The month of May has been designated as Older Texans Month by Gov.
William P. Clements, Jr.
Texas has "almost two million senior citizens," the governor said. "We are deeply indebted to this rapidly growing segment of our population for the rich heritage they have created for us."
In recognition and appreciation of that heritage, it is important that we encourage older Texans to remain active so that our State can continue to benefit from their experience and wisdom," Gov. Clements said.
He urged Texas communities to honor senior citizens during Older Texans Month "to encourage their continued participation in the decision-making process."

Animal warden funds budgeted

COLORADO CITY — The Colorado City council has been able to budget a full year for an animal warden.
According to City Manager
Ray Mason, the position is much needed.
Paul Davila, formerly employed by the city under a CETA grant, is returning to fill that post. Davila's duties have been expanded to include maintenance on city buildings.
