

1,000 Arrested In Vain Bid To Disrupt GOP Convention

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Most of the more than 1,000 demonstrators arrested Wednesday night after being outwitted in attempts to disrupt the finale of the Republican National Convention were released from jail today after posting nominal bonds.

Lt. William Armstrong, an official at the Dade County Jail in Miami, estimated that the number arrested, in random street violence that spawned ranks of charging police, "went over 1,000" shortly after midnight and that "a few stragglers were still being booked" this morning.

SPECIAL SESSION
Officials said 10 judges holding all-night special sessions had set bonds in most cases ranging from $3 to $40. They said bond hearings would continue this morning and be followed by individual trials.

After their release, the demonstrators traveled back across Biscayne Bay to Miami Beach where they began folding their tents and moving out of their Flamingo Park campsite.

As President Nixon spoke inside the packed Convention Hall Wednesday night, Secret Service agents hovered at the gates outside cradling axe handles. Just blocks away, riot-ready state troopers contained roving bands of protesters.

When the gavel finally fell at 11:17 p.m. and the delegates spilled from the littered hall out into the humid night, many wept from the lingering aftermath of tear gas. Rubbing red eyes, the hundreds whose ears were still ringing from the ovals for Nixon beheld streets swept empty of all but an 800-yard cordon of police. The officers stood quietly, 10 feet apart, wary of interlopers.

Protesters had tried to block the delegates from entering the hall five hours earlier. The plan called for peaceful sit-ins at the gates and milling crowds in the surrounding streets.

But when the demonstrators arrived, they found their path cluttered by bumper-to-bumper buses. The buses, some so old they had to be towed into place, hugged the gates and created a dilapidated corridor for other vehicles carrying delegates into the Convention Hall compound.

"We were defeated tactically before we even began," said Marsha Monastersky, a member of the Students for a Democratic Society.

Small bands of protesters fanned out into the streets to ward the hotels where most delegates waited to go to the hall.

Striking quickly, the protesters grabbed trash baskets, park benches and newspaper vending machines to fashion makeshift intersection barricades. As traffic ground to a halt, the young protesters dashed in to slash tires, fling open hoods and yank distributors.

When a few residents tried to kick over the barricades, the demonstrators set several garbage cans afire.

Close behind the barricade builders came 100 state troopers. Then 100 more. As their ranks swelled, elderly citizens cheered from hotel balconies.

A TIME OF TRAVAIL — Enrolling in the first grade is a traumatic experience for most children. Teacher Mrs. L. E. Rush of Cedar Crest School tries to instill in Pete Baeza the confidence to face up to life in the classroom in the above picture. Fernando Franco, in the front row, is meditating about the whole thing. Others in the picture are Dennis Heffington, second row left, and Suzanne Phillips and Ida Hutchinson, left to right, back row. School started in Big Spring Wednesday.

Dykes Speaker At Barbecue

SPIKE DYKES

One of the most popular men ever to coach at Big Spring High School, Spike Dykes, returns tonight to speak to the football faithful at the Quarterback Club's annual barbecue, which honors the 1972 Steer players and their coaches.

The meal will be served at 7:30 p.m., in the amphitheater in Comanche Trail Park.

Only certification a family needs to get through the gates is a membership ticket into the booster organization. That costs $5 and could be the world's biggest bargain, if a man has a large family.

The ticket, of course, enables the family to take part in all QBC functions for the school year, and the club is active in all sports, not just football. Al Valdes, co-captain of the club, reminded those who have not purchased tickets that they will be available at the door.

Valdes also stated that the booster club was off to its best year, having sold over 200 tickets. He added there is usually a brisk demand for ducats at the barbecue.

"The fans who support the Steers are going to be well rewarded this year," Valdes prophesied. "This is going to be an exciting team to watch."

Dykes, Clovis Hale's immediate predecessor as coach here, gave Alice High School a district championship in football last year, then moved on to become freshman mentor under Darrell Royal at the University of Texas.

He has also had head coaching tenures at Coahoma (where he developed two playoff teams) and Belton and was an aide at Eastland, Ballinger and San Angelo.

In a sense, Dykes is returning home. Although he played his high school football in Ballinger, where he was a ferocious guard, he lived here as a child and has numerous relatives here.

Drive Nearing $1,000 Mark

The Big Spring High School Bible Fund, although gifts slowed down in the 24-hour period ending at noon today, closed in on the $1,000 mark. Five times that amount is needed to insure the success of the drive.

Included in the $130 given Wednesday afternoon or this morning were $50 each by Mr. and Mrs. Noel B. Marsalis and Mrs. Noel B. Marsalis and the Men's Bible Class of the First Methodist Church, bringing the total to $950.

Good old Anonymous came through with another $5. He (or she) gives without asking credit but is generous.

Donations should be made out to The Bible Fund, care of the Big Spring Herald. Coordinating the drive is the Howard County Ministerial Association.

United Way Slogan Proves To Be Highly Effective

The United Way's slogan for this year — "thanks to you, it's working" — was proving highly effective, it was shown in reports received Wednesday, as division leaders held their first formal report meeting with Campaign Chairman R. E. Hickson.

The reports showed a grand total of $22,183 — approaching

20 per cent of the goal — after just one week's solicitation from only a few of the divisions.

CHAIRMAN ELATED
Hickson was elated with the results, and told his cohorts, "If we can just keep this momentum, we will be over our goal in record time."

The United Way is seeking $113,640, to finance operations of 14 member agencies.

Major divisions, such as those for public employees, all employees and for women, are just now getting under way, and emphasis will be placed on the United Way's traditional asking of the "Fair Share." This is equivalent to one hour's pay per month for hourly employees, and

Knott Woman Dies In Crash Here Wednesday Afternoon

A freak accident which occurred in downtown Big Spring at approximately 2:42 p.m. Wednesday claimed the life of Mrs. J. G. (Lida) Nichols, 81, of Rt. 1, Knott.

Services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Nichols was the passenger in a vehicle which had been parked at the side of Sears Roebuck & Co., 403 Rannels St., by her daughter, Mrs. Robert Cline, of the Fairview community. Mrs. Cline, who had gone inside the store to do some shopping, had left the motor running in order that her mother could take advantage of the air conditioning.

No witnesses saw what occurred, but the vehicle started forward and crashed into the Motors and Bearing Service building across the alley east of Sears.

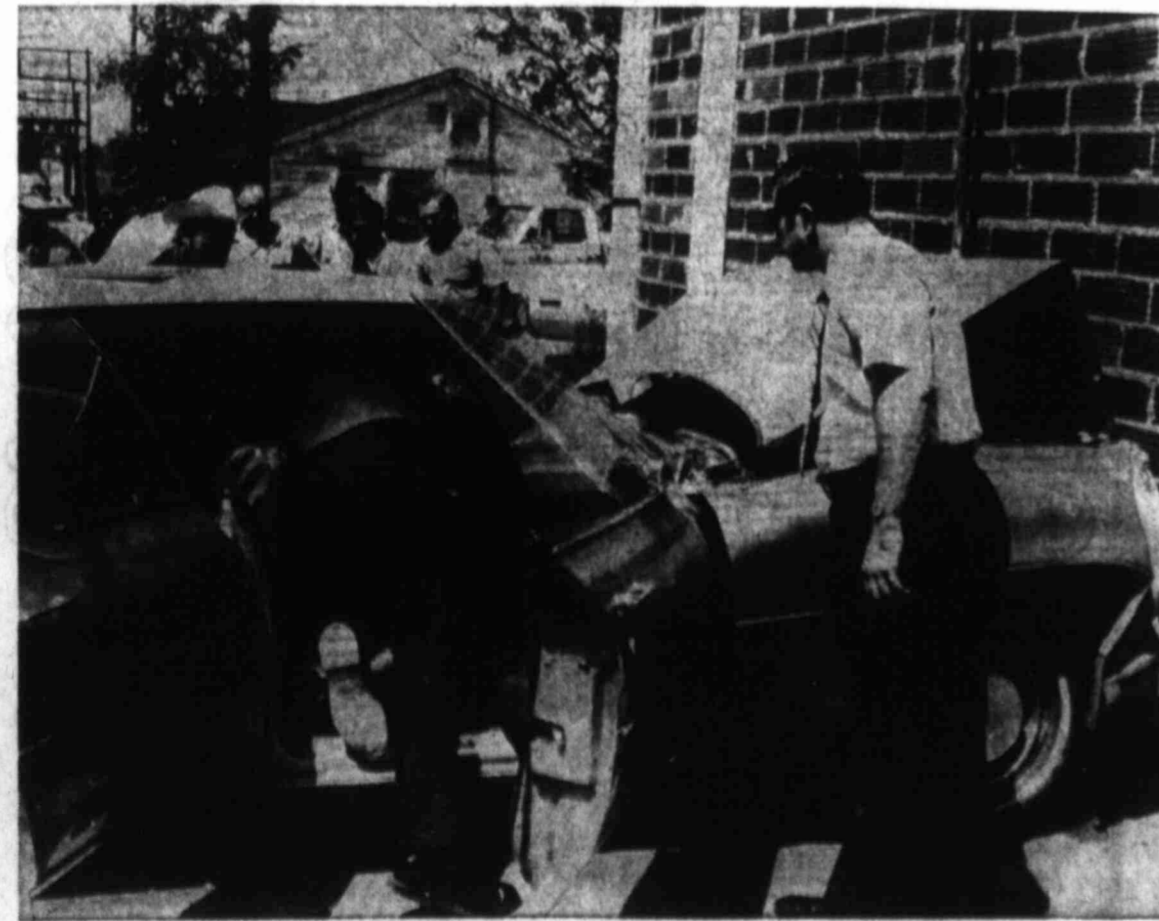

Mrs. Nichols was pronounced dead at the scene by A. G. Mitchell, Howard County judge, who took the role of the coroner in the absence of a justice of peace. The body was later taken to a local hospital, thence to Nalley-Pickle.

Mrs. Cline was taken to a local hospital for treatment of shock.

Mrs. Nichols was born May 26, 1891, in Rains County and arrived in Howard County in 1906. She married James Garner Nichols Aug. 10, 1909. He died April 22, 1971.

She was a charter member of the Mt. Joy Baptist Church in Knott.

Survivors include six sons, Clyde Nichols, Fred Nichols and Billy Nichols, all of Seminole; Oliver Nichols, Elbow; Everett Nichols, Morton; and Robert Nichols, Knott; three daughters, Mrs. Stanley (Myrtle Lee) Martin, Waco, Mrs. N. T. (Una) Royalty, Cincinnati, Ohio; and Mrs. Robert (Kathleen) Cline, Fairview; 27 grandchildren and a number of great-grandchildren.

GIGS CRITICS Nixon Sets Out To Win New Term

CHICAGO (AP) — In the first appearance of his campaign for a second White House term, President Nixon today pictured critics of his defense spending plans as gambling with world peace.

Nixon, in a speech prepared for the annual American Legion Convention, made no direct mention of his Democratic opponent, Sen. George McGovern, who spoke from the same platform Wednesday.

MILITARY SPENDING
However, the President cited military programs that McGovern would curb or scrap and described defense policy as "one of the major issues of this election year."

He said that if some of these economies were adopted "America would become the second-strongest power in the world."

He said: "We have economized and will continue to economize on military spending whenever and wherever it is safe to do so. But I never have gambled — and I never will gamble — with the safety of the American people under a false banner of economy. Lasting peace is built only on strength."

For Nixon, it was the first stop on a cross-country tour taking him into Illinois, Michigan and California on the day after accepting the Republican nomination for another four years in the presidency.

BUILD PEACE
The President told jubilant cheering Republicans at the closing session of their national convention Wednesday night that he seeks "a new American majority" that will win the election and build peace "the world can enjoy for generations to come."

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew remained behind in the convention city of Miami Beach, Fla., to answer newsmen's questions before heading to Minneapolis for an address before the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He won the GOP renomination Wednesday night with one dissenting vote and two abstentions and got a boost for the 1976 presidential nomination from Mrs. Nixon.

Cons Free Hostages

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Five convicts who held two guards and a laboratory technician hostage for 12 hours in Kentucky State Penitentiary released them unharmed early today.

Thomas Preston, press secretary to Gov. Wendell Ford, said "no conditions were met other than the fact that the commissioner of corrections, Charles Holmes, will sit down and talk with the inmates within the next two hours."

Preston said the five inmates had gone back to their cells.

The two guards and a prison lab technician were seized by inmates, reportedly armed with knives, late Wednesday afternoon and were held behind the barricaded, steel door of the prison barrack.

"They were under the influence of drugs," Holmes said of the inmates.

Deadly Honey Bees Head For America

WASHINGTON (AP) — Swarms of ferocious honey bees that have been known to kill both humans and animals are moving toward the United States from Brazil at the rate of 200 miles a year.

"The most alarming and best-known characteristic of Brazilian bees is their aggressiveness," according to the report. "Hundreds of bees become airborne and pursue and sting any animals or people within 100 meters of the apiary."

Shriver Labels President World's 'No. 1 Warmaker'

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Democratic vice-presidential candidate Sargent Shriver today received the endorsement of a 75,000-member AFL-CIO union and called President Nixon the world's "No. 1 warmaker."

Richard Nixon proved one thing last night: He is a single super-politician — a man for all seasons, a man with an excuse for every mistake, a different promise for every person."

He had ended the Southern half of his second campaign trip declaring that he and George McGovern probably would be defeated in a landslide if the election were held now.

Embarking On High-Road Campaign

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew have sounded the keynote of a high-road campaign.

The political slugging may come later.

But a GOP ticket favored by landslide margins in the polls appears likely to concentrate on boasting of its own record and prospects.

That formula leaves room for slaps at Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern. But it puts the emphasis where Nixon clearly wants it, on a Republican position he described as reflecting "the great principles we Americans believe in together."

TOUGHEST LINE

As the President and the vice president formally opened their campaign before the Republican National Convention Wednesday night, they had an ample dose of criticism for McGovern — but it wasn't like the old days.

And it was Nixon who sounded the offensive against the Democrat from South Dakota.

The toughest line of the night was his: "Let us reject the policies of those who whine and whimper about our frustrations and call on us to turn inward."

That bit of alliteration could have come from a vintage Agnew speech.

For his part, Agnew challenged "the piecemeal, inconsistent and illusory policies of George McGovern," and let it go at that.

He cast himself as "the President's man," and he spoke of

Cong's Delegate Flays Nixon Talk

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong's chief delegate to the Paris peace talks declared today that President Nixon does not have to travel around the world to seek peace in Vietnam, "it can be found here in this conference and nowhere else."

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, arriving for the 15th session of the conference, told newsmen that while President Nixon has traveled thousands of kilometers "the fact is that he has not moved a single millimeter from his position of aggressor and neocolonialist" in Vietnam.

She said in his speech to the Republican convention Wednesday night, Nixon "measured his desire for peace by the number of kilometers he said he had traveled during his term of office to seek a solution for the Vietnam war."

"But he was careful not to speak of the millions of tons of bombs and shells that, in the name of American peace, he has dropped on the Indochinese peninsula," she continued.

"He also did not speak of the tens of thousands of Americans killed and the hundreds of thousands wounded."

Nixon "repeated his old calumny that we want to impose a Communist regime in South Vietnam," Mrs. Binh continued, "while everyone knows it is the American administration itself that insists on imposing on the South Vietnamese people a fascist, warlike corrupt regime without equal."

She said that if the American government pursues its "erroneous policy," the Vietnamese people "will be obliged to continue their just struggle until they obtain their fundamental rights."

William J. Porter, the chief U.S. delegate, was away today on vacation, but his deputy, in the Nixon-Agnew game plan of the congressional campaign two years ago, the vice president has done the heavy partisan hitting, while the President adopts a loftier political posture.

But in the 1972 Republican strategy, both candidates may be cast in the latter role.

Nixon's acceptance-speech slaps at the proposals of McGovern — whom he never mentioned by name — and seemed designed to give him the advantage of the offense even as he defended and advertised his performance and proposals.

POLL RATINGS

Two speeches, of course, don't make a campaign. But the evidence points to more of what Nixon and Agnew offered the convention.

The Republicans have a lead to preserve, not an obstacle to overcome. That position weighs against a strategy that would produce a running, long-distance debate with McGovern.

Of course, if the poll ratings change sharply, Republican tactics are likely to change, too.

But with McGovern the underdog, said Sen. Robert J. Dole, the Republican national chairman, the President should not carry the political attack during the campaign ahead.

"There might be some reaction against us as the big and powerful," he said.

Furthermore, a major theme of the Republican convention — a political exercise designed by and for Nixon — was the recruitment of disenchanted Democrats.

HARD LINE

That end would not be served by a hard-line campaign.

And so, at that most partisan of American gatherings, a national political convention, Nixon talked past the delegates to the television audience, "not as a partisan of party, which would automatically divide us, but as a partisan of principles which can unite us."

Heyward Isham, told the Communists at the session that their assertions that they want to settle the Vietnamese problem peacefully contrasted with an article in two Hanoi newspapers on Aug. 4.

He said the article was "a call, in the most categorical terms, for escalation of the fighting, regardless of cost, in pursuit of a military victory."

The American delegate again called for a cease-fire in accordance with President Nixon's proposal on May 7 and added:

"We agree with you that negotiations are the best way to stop the war and restore peace to Vietnam. The question is, are you prepared to end the dichotomy between your words and your actions, your words in Paris and your words elsewhere?"

From all indications, the cloud that threatened Big Spring Wednesday morning never got this far with much moisture because most of it fell in a highly concentrated area southwest of town.

Chief beneficiary of the downpour was the R. V. Fryar farm, which caught three inches over a period of about two hours. It fell at an almost perfect time and at an almost perfect pace, according to Mrs. Fryar, because the area has been missed by the rainmaker much of the time when he visited other portions of the county earlier this year.

A trace of rain fell at Forsan and unconfirmed reports said that as much as an inch had fallen in the Lomax community. Elbow received an estimated one-quarter of an inch.

Movies Are Taken To Court Clerk

Federal District Court Clerk, Abilene, Wednesday, ordered Big Spring City officials to issue into custody of the court evidence confiscated from the Mini-Flick Theater Club during an Aug. 3 raid.

The films and projectors were held by the city police as evidence in a charge of exhibiting obscene matter against Jackie Kirk, Odessa, owner of the club, and Paul Bora, Odessa, operator of the club during the raid.

City Manager Harry Nagel and City Attorney James Gregg delivered the films and projectors to the clerk Wednesday, in compliance with the Federal Court order.

According to Gregg, the order was issued to insure the safekeeping of the evidence.

Power Of Texas Governor To Transfer Funds Illegal

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A long-standing power of the governor, which Gov. Preston Smith once used to prevent cuts in welfare funds for needy children, is unconstitutional, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin ruled today.

Smith's budget director, Charles D. Travis, indicated the opinion might cause more special legislative sessions in the future.

Martin nullified a rider in the current general appropriation bill authorizing the governor to transfer funds from one agency to another for purposes that would "aid the economic growth and general welfare of the state," as well as for disaster relief, studies and investigations.

The same provision is in the state budget for the fiscal year starting Sept. 1. Travis said the power was first given to the governor during the administration of former Gov. Price Daniel.

"It does take away some flexibility," Travis said of the opinion. He added that the governor's office receives an appropriation of $200,000 each year to help state agencies whose appropriations are insufficient.

"When that is exhausted, the only recourse, really, is a special session" as a result of Martin's opinion, Travis said.

State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert requested the opinion.

The attorney general said the Texas Constitution makes the legislature "the sole judge of the need and purpose for expending the state's money; by whom it shall be expended; and the amount to be expended, subject only to the veto of the governor."

"The Legislature cannot delegate this legislative power to the executive department of

13 Murders In Gotham

NEW YORK (AP) — There were more homicides Monday than in any other 24-hour period in the city's recorded history, the chief medical examiner says. Thirteen men died.

There were four murders in Brooklyn, one in the Bronx, four in Manhattan and four in Queens, including the triple slaying of Brooklyn teenagers on a deserted beach.

None of the murders appeared connected to the organized crime warfare that has claimed at least 15 other lives in the past 14 months.

Ten of Monday's victims died from handguns, two from rifles and one from stabbing. All were males. Six were black.

Lowest American Combat Death Count In 8 Weeks

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese battle deaths in 20 weeks of the current North Vietnamese offensive exceeded one-tenth of the acknowledged toll for more than a decade of the Indochina war.

The Saigon command reported Thursday that 617 government troops were killed in action last week and 2,311 were wounded, bringing the 20-week tolls to 15,610 dead and 50,909 wounded.

Authoritative American sources have estimated the actual death toll to be at least 5,000 higher than the official figures. In addition, thousands of civilians have been killed or wounded in fighting since Hanoi's offensive began.

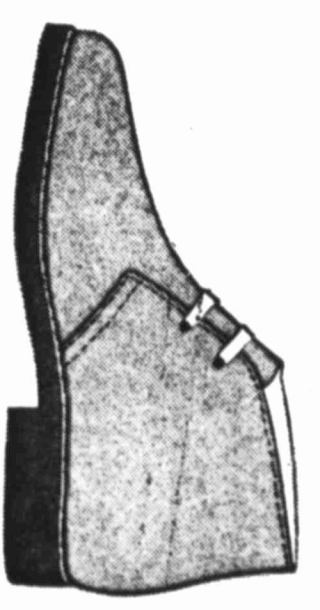

Three Americans were reported killed in action last week, along with 21 wounded, eight missing and 11 dead from nonhostile action, the U.S. Command announced.

It was the lowest American combat death count in eight weeks, but delays in the reporting system prevent the weekly U.S. summary from accurately reflecting any single week's casualties.

FOLKLORIST Joe Graham examines a candellilla plant in the Museum of the Big Bend at Sul Ross State University. The folklorist-English instructor is doing a film documentary on the wax-producing plant which is found along the Rio Grande in Texas and Mexico.

Texas' Adobe-Making Filmed By Folklorist

ALPINE, Tex. — Adobe-making, an art reputedly dating back to 9,000 B.C., and the candellilla wax industry that is unique to the arid Southwest and Mexico are subjects of film documentaries being prepared by Sul Ross State University folklorist-English instructor Joe Graham.

He is doing the research and filming near the Rio Grande River in southern Brewster County where he spent much of his childhood and youth with his late father, Joe Stanley Graham, who as a government "river rider" in Dead Horse Canyon, patrolled the border in the 1940's.

Young Graham, now 30, often observed and sometimes helped the Mexican laborers pull, bundle, stack and boil the leafless candellilla plant for its wax.

Haciendas, made with the dirt-and-straw adobe bricks, were as familiar to him as his native Southwest Texas.

"As a folklorist," he explained, "I am interested in the traditional. The techniques of candellilla wax-processing and adobe-making are handed down from generation to generation."

Graham's project is financed through a Sul Ross institutional grant funded by the State of Texas. He said that no film has been made to record "the traditional elements, per se," of the art and skill of adobe-making and extracting the wax from the wild, perennial plant.

"It's an art," he said of adobe-making. "There is really a skill to it — to make good adobes. Anybody can make mud bricks."

He has filmed Mexican Nationals working under the direction of Carmen Rico Vajardo making 3,600 adobes for a house in the Black Gap area 10-20 miles north of the Rio Grande. He said a Fort Worth physician contracted the work for 10 cents for each 24x18x4-inch brick. Workers, he said, examined four sites before finding the suitable work camp because "the amount of sand in the dirt was insufficient for good adobes."

CANDELLILLA wax (wax replica) is examined by Joe Graham, an expert in the wax process and adobe-making.

Some American industries, such as Wrigley's Chewing Gum Co., own and operate candellilla processing plants in Mexico.

Candellilla is found exclusively in Southwest Texas and in five Mexican states bordering the Rio Grande.

"Candellilla is unique to our country (and northern Mexico); unique to this area," Graham said.

Graham, born in Fort Davis, was reared in Marathon and graduated from Monahan High School in 1959. His mother, widowed in 1965, lives in Hereford. Graham holds a BA degree in English from Texas A&M University and the MA degree in English from Brigham Young University. His thesis was entitled "The Dream Mine: A Study in Mormon Folklore."

Between degrees, he was a missionary for two and one-half years in Finland for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon Church).

In Alpine, his folklore interests have led to his founding the Big Bend Folklore and Historical Society.

Early risers got the message this morning, or at least a hint, that fall is on the way. The breeze was a cool caress that made you want to linger outdoors a little longer.

But Big Springers are too busy to be dawdling — it's time to get downtown or out to the centers in search of fall fashions — there are football tickets to track down — and reservations to be made for those weekend trips.

Even that is not important today for a couple of proud grandmothers. Mrs. Jeanne Striegler is getting acquainted with her 2-month-old granddaughter, Jenifer, who brought along her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Duncan, from Washington, D.C., where Duncan is on duty with the U.S. Navy. Also here to admire her niece is Miss Kelli Striegler who has returned home after a two-month vacation in East Texas. When interviewed concerning the big story Mrs. Striegler said, "Jenifer is the prettiest, sweetest, smartest granddaughter ever seen in this neck of the woods, or anywhere else for that matter."

Paul, a BSHS grad and four-year performer in the band, became interested in the institute while working for Big Red Catering here the past year.

The R. E. Dobbins' have returned from a weekend trip to Plainview where they said goodbye to their son-in-law and daughter, Kenneth and Beverly Gordon, and grandsons, Terry and Craig. The Gordons left yesterday for a drive to San Francisco where they will enplane from Travis AFB for Honolulu, Hawaii. Capt. Gordon and Mrs. Beverly Gordon will be in the city for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Soldan and Christine and Mr. and Mrs. M. J. TEDSCO and Rachel have returned from a reunion of the Soldan family held at Allenspark in the Colorado Rockies. Also there were Mr. and Mrs. PAUL SOLDAN of Seminole and Mr. and Mrs. F. H. TALBOTT, the latter of whom stopped off in Colorado Springs, Colo., to visit friends and have not as yet returned here. There were 22 members of the family present at the gathering.

Convention Slated Here By ESA

A joint meeting by members of Mu Kappa and Alpha Chi Chapters, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, was held Wednesday evening at the K. C. Steak House to plan activities for the upcoming District 8 convention.

The convention is scheduled Oct. 15 at the Webb AFB Officers Open Mess. About 100 ESA's are expected to attend. The theme is "ESA County Fair" and members of the host chapters will dress in conjunction with the theme.

Committee chairmen appointed were Mrs. W. L. McMullan, publicity and invitations; Mrs. Clovis Hale, decorations; and Mrs. Ed Miller, favor bags.

In other business, members were reminded that a leadership seminar will be held Sept. 10 in Odessa. Those present volunteered to assist with the Jerry Lewis Telethon Sept. 3.

DECLINING ENROLLMENTS Some Schools May Close

By GEORGE RAMOS
Copley News Service

LOS ANGELES — Edith Unsworth Elementary School is considered typical of the public schools located in the suburbs of large cities.

Most of the children who attend the school live close enough to walk there.

NEW PROGRAMS

And it has its share of inventive new programs to aid the slow learner as well as accelerated training aids to help exceptional students.

But what is happening to Unsworth, most school officials admit, is typical of what may happen increasingly in California and across the nation.

In September, school officials in nearby Downey plan to close Unsworth. They also plan to close two additional schools when classes begin soon.

The reason for the closures is declining enrollment because young people are opting for smaller families and there is a more liberal attitude toward abortion.

PROBLEMS ACUTE

The problem is so acute in the Downey district that two more schools will be closed in the next two years.

The enrollment in the district has dropped about 20 per cent in the last five years. And it's expected to go even lower in the next five years.

Don Hart, Downey assistant superintendent, says the district is doing all it can to meet the dropping enrollments.

"We'll realign the junior and senior high schools," Hart says. "Grades six, seven and eight will be put in a junior middle school.

SAME THING

"Then we'll add the ninth grade to our high schools. That's about all you can do, because all of the school districts are going through the same thing."

Education officials in Sacramento, the California state capital, agree that the Downey situation is just a small part of the declining enrollment problem.

Figures show the enrollment statewide in California has been steadily declining since the fall of 1970. From a peak enrollment of 4,457,325 in 1970, officials are predicting the enrollment in California's public schools may dip below 4 million by 1980.

ONLY WAY

Forty-three of the state's 58 counties have been plagued by declining enrollments. And state officials admit the procedure followed by Downey officials is the only way to alleviate the problem.

An expert on educational administration believes the declining enrollment problem will be corrected "the same way it was after World War II and the Korean War."

"By 1980, the problem should begin to subside when the children of the Vietnam veteran are school age," says Dr. John Stallings, an educational development professor at the University of Southern California.

"You see, we had a peak enrollment in kindergarten in 1967 and in each succeeding year, the peak enrollment moves through the grades. That's the problem we face now.

"But by 1980, the children of the Vietnam veteran should produce a peak year in kindergarten."

But the expected baby boom, Dr. Stallings says, will be smaller than the ones that swamped public school systems in the 1950s.

BIRTH CONTROL

"Birth control and changing attitudes about marriages are the two biggest factors why the expected baby boom will be a relatively small one," Dr. Stallings says.

"As it is, this is also why we have such a problem now with declining enrollments."

What to do about the problem until the baby boom comes is very ticklish, Stallings admits.

One side effect of the declining enrollment problem, some Downey school officials privately say, may be the public's reaction to the closing of its typical neighborhood school.

CASE IN POINT

And Unsworth is the case in point. Downey residents who live near the school are angry over the closure.

They have gone to court, gone to the Legislature and have threatened the recall of three members of the Downey School Board in attempts to prevent the school's closing.

The residents argue the school, situated on Downey's north side, is the only one that is easy to get to.

The nearest other school is across an interstate highway and the school district proposes to bus the children

Muniz Calls Convention 'Big Fat Joke'

HOUSTON (AP) — Ramsey Muniz, Raza Unida candidate for governor, says the Republican National Convention was "a big fat joke" as far as Texas was concerned.

"They kept talking about representation, but there was only one Texas Republican delegate who was Mexican-American and no black delegates," Muniz told newsmen Wednesday.

Muniz, 29, lashed out at what he called "tokenism" toward Mexican-Americans by both major political parties.

"We are going to make an impact on the state of Texas—then the Democrats and Republicans won't be able to use us anymore," he said.

"We've put them in the state house, we've put them in the White House but we stay in the dog house. We don't want to stay there anymore."

Muniz said Raza Unida, not the GOP, is the second majority party in Texas. He denied that the chief effect of his candidacy would be to help elect Republican gubernatorial candidate Henry Grover.

He said Raza Unida will provide an alternative to what he called the look-alike conservatism of Grover and Democratic gubernatorial candidate Dolph Briscoe.

Muniz predicted that if the election were held today he would receive 400,000 to 500,000 votes from a hidden constituency "in small places where Briscoe's never been."

Storms Punish South Plains Cotton Fields

By The Associated Press

Destructive storms punished parts of Texas again during the night, and some of them hung on today mixed with scattered showers.

One of the fiercest thunderstorms almost destroyed around 1,000 acres of cotton where more than one inch of rain fell in some sections of the city. Official observers cautioned motorists against a possibility of high water in low areas.

Occasional showers and a few thunderstorms likewise continued this morning in parts of South Central Texas, another locale for some of the night's heavier storms, and near the Texas Coast.

Earlier morning temperature ranged from 63 degrees at Midland in West Texas up to 80 at Corpus Christi and 82 at Pecos on the coast. Wednesday afternoon's top marks went as high as 86 at Alice in South Texas while reaching only 82 at Alpine in far West Texas.

Additional showers were forecast over most of the state.

Alamogordo Bank Robbery

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — An all-points bulletin was issued Wednesday for an El Paso man as a white male in his early 20s, with short blond hair.

Police described the holdup man wanted in connection with Wednesday's bank robbery in Alamogordo which netted the bandit about $2,000.

The bulletin named Claude J. Abernathy, whose last known address was El Paso. He was believed to be in the El Paso area late Wednesday, officers said.

They reported a man matching Abernathy's description was seen in a car passing a border control check point between El Paso and Alamogordo in the direction of El Paso Wednesday afternoon.

Oil Patch Program Due To Be Aired

ODESSA — "Broadcasting in the Oil Patch," a one hour documentary on Permian Basin radio and television stations, will be shown Aug. 27, at 4 p.m., on KMID-TV.

The program was written and produced by Wally Jackson, chairman of the radio-television department at Odessa College. Jackson has been in the electronic media for the past 30 years.

The history begins with radio station KIUM of Pecos, established in 1935, and ends with Odessa's KOYL-FM, begun in 1966.

Although the show deals primarily with owners and managers of radio and television stations in the Permian Basin, the first segment covers both media's early history with many antique radios, grammas, and other collector's items being shown.

The program will be aired on KOSA-TV Sept. 3, at 1 p.m.

Screwworm Pact Shapes

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz and Mexican Agriculture and Livestock Secretary Manuel Aguirre will sign a $40 million five-year cooperative pact for eradicating screwworm from Mexico next Monday in Mexico City, an Agriculture Department spokesman said here Wednesday.

Eradication is through sterilization of flies so they cannot breed.

Screwworm infestations in the United States, which cripple and sometimes kill cattle, have been largely eliminated in the past few years, though periodic outbreaks do still occur. The Southwest is now undergoing its worst outbreak since eradication began in 1962.

Don't Mix

SEATTLE (AP) — Experts at the University of Washington say crude oil being spilled from a tanker destroys herring larvae, cuts back the size of those that survive and is bad for those who like "kippers" or "bismarcks" for breakfast.

The findings came from a study after a recent spill at Cherry Point, Wash., where the larvae, floating passively near the surface, were submerged in oil.

Three Mexican Coins Cost Texas Man $15,600

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Three rare Mexican coins cost a Brownsville, Tex., man $15,600 here Wednesday.

Pat L. Pace spent the sum in less than eight minutes at an auction of the coins, said to be among the first made at the New World's first mint, which was built in Mexico City in the 1500s.

"That's what I came for," said Pace of the expensive move. He said he had acquired a large collection of Mexican coins over the past 25 years. "I wanted to keep the coins together as a set," he said. The set was among nearly 3,500 coins, bills and medals offered at a three-day auction that concluded Wednesday.

Pace paid $5,000 for one of the coins, $5,600 for another considered the rarest of the three, and $5,000 for the third. All bear the mark of Francisco del Rincon, the first assayer and foundryman at the Mexican mint.

Each of the coins was a denomination of three Spanish reales, roughly equivalent to today's Mexican peso in its exchange value. About eight reales were equivalent to the U.S. dollar when the two met on the world market for the first time.

The three coins, slightly larger than a 50-cent piece, were minted only for a short time.

School Fire At Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Firemen blamed arsonists for a blaze which started in a workshop at Terrell Junior High School shortly before midnight Wednesday.

It was Houston's second school fire within a day. Classes reopened only Thursday morning.

A spokesman for the fire department said a suspect was being held without immediate charge in the Terrell blaze. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

Medical School Funds Disappear

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The district attorney's office is investigating the alleged disappearance of $12,500 from a fund at San Antonio's University of Texas Medical School, it was revealed Wednesday.

Dist. Atty. Ted Butler would not elaborate, except to say the missing money was a "routine matter" of alleged misapplication of funds.

Long-Haired Wanderer Turns Representative

By JACK WEBB
Copy-News Service

MONTREAL — Chris Arnold spent 10 years thumbing his nose at the Establishment — and now he's director of the U.S. exhibition here.

NERVOUS MAN

"I really believe we have a fantastic country," said Arnold, a tall, thin, nervous man who seems continually on the edge of jumping up and running to appear on a TV or radio show. Montreal is the home of Expo, where tourists from throughout the world can come and see gold jewelry from Iran, carved ivory and jade from China and the technological achievements of the Soviet Union.

But in the U.S. pavilion at Expo you will see only a collection of 250 dolls, a light show, an Indian silversmith, a travel movie and photos of the United States.

Which is just the way Arnold, the former hippie-type wanderer, wants it.

"We don't have the space to show America the way it really is," said Arnold. "We think dolls represent our history, more modern dolls represent the types of people who made them."

WEIRD FIGURES

Arnold was talking to a visitor in the lounge. Upstairs the lights were dimming and the heavy rock beat of "House of the Rising Sun" was trembling through a room lit by strobe lights and weird plastic figures. Two hundred people held their breaths as the music thrummed through the pavilion.

Downstairs Arnold shook his head.

"It took me nine years to finish college. As far as I was concerned, you could take the books and the professors and roll them into a ball and throw them away."

"I took off," Arnold said. "I've been to 49 of the states. I've worked on horse ranches and in canneries, as a short-order cook, and I've learned a lot about our country."

Arnold laughed.

"When I was in Alaska I worked at a steel foundry. One day I was mousing off about the U.S. flag and these two Puerto Rican immigrants grabbed me and held my hands like this far" — holding his hands less than half an inch apart — away from a 16-ton press.

"Those two Puerto Rican immigrants took their time to tell me about our country."

Arnold, the reformed anti-Establishment man, admits that many people do not understand the U.S. exhibition he has helped create in Montreal.

The aim of the exhibition, he said, is to let people get a feel for what the United States is all about.

FULL OF ROCKETS

"All of our former exhibitions were full of rockets and guns and big machines," Arnold said. "But this exhibit shows the past, where the technology came from."

"Some people get it and they really like it. Others come through and get angry and say they're going to write their congressman."

Outside, hundreds of visitors were leaving the U.S. pavilion. Some of them were frowning, but most had happy, amused or thoughtful expressions on their faces.

Perhaps Arnold, a man who has learned to love America and is now trying to show what it means to him, is right.

FORMER HIPPIE — Chris Arnold, right, greets Hashang Ardalan, commissioner general of the Iranian exhibition in Montreal, Canada. Arnold used to be anti-Establishment and now represents the United States as commissioner general of the U.S. exhibit at the Man and His World exposition. Shown looking on are Margo Johnson, 1972 Rose Bowl queen, and Canadian officials.

KO Officer In Manhunt

FERRIS, Tex. (AP) — A Ferris policeman who joined Dallas County officers in a search Wednesday night for a jail escapee was knocked unconscious during the unsuccessful manhunt.

The search was a continuation of the "round-the-clock" hunt for Russell Glen Torres, last of four escapees who broke out of the Dallas County jail last week.

The attacker of the officer, not immediately identified, escaped a dragnet of law enforcement men called to Ferris from Dallas and other points.

Ferris Police Chief Gary Graham went to an old barn about 7:30 p.m. looking for Torres after receiving a telephone tip. "When he didn't check in, we sent a second car, just in case," another officer said.

They found Graham still unconscious.

Two Dallas police helicopters and more than 25 Dallas and Ellis County officers and members of the highway patrol scoured the area near Ferris and northern Ellis County but found nobody.

Cuts In Space Funds To Cost 1,200 Jobs

—And cutting back in the supplies being ordered and in the operation of the mission control center.

None of the cutbacks would affect the currently planned missions, including Apollo 17, set for a December launch, and Skylab, set for next year. The effects will be subtle since they hit only research and development which is principally planning for possible future missions or activities.

HUNT WORK

Contractors are not being told how many employees to lay off, King said. Instead, the companies will be told how much of their expected funding they will not receive. The 1,200 to 1,400 possible loss of jobs, he said, is only an estimate.

Companies affected include TRW, Inc., Boeing, Brown & Root, Northrup, IBM, Kelsey-Seybold, Lockheed, McDonald-Douglas, General Electric, Philco and Univac. Lockheed is the hardest hit, losing a total of $5.3 million for the fiscal year.

King said a few MSC contractor workers, now at the White Sands test facility near Las Cruces, N.M., may also be affected.

Similar announcements are expected from two other centers—the Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., and the Kennedy Space Center in Florida, King said.

Payroll Checks Forgery Charged

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A warrant has been issued for the arrest of a city accountant charged in connection with the alleged forgery of $1,654 in city payroll checks.

Charges were filed with a peace justice Wednesday against Maria Alma Gutierrez, who had been a city employee 11 years.

City Manager Loyd Hunt disclosed last week that a routine examination of records had turned up six payroll checks, written on the city's check-writing machine and made out to the name of a woman not on the city's payroll.

Hunt said the checks were cashed at a local bank where an account had been opened. An investigation began at once after they were discovered on Aug. 8, he said.

'Drain America First' Policy

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A plan to drain America first, environmentalists have asked the Interior Department to limit the sale of new oil leases off the Louisiana coast.

Spokesmen for the Sierra Club and the Ecology Center of Louisiana proposed at a department hearing Wednesday that the sales be limited to areas already served by pipelines to shore.

J. Ross Vincent, vice president of the center, also said the sale of leases where the water is only 30 to 60 feet deep should be cancelled.

Such cancellation would involve 23 of the really prime prospects offered in the sale. The rest lie in water up to 600 feet deep and as far as 125 miles offshore.

Auction of 135 tracts of offshore water bottoms is scheduled in December after being postponed last year by an environmental challenge.

Vincent said objecting only to new pipelines and shallow-water lease sales "constitutes a major concession on our part. It is our feeling that no new risks to our coastal estuaries should be tolerated unless a clear case can be made for the necessity of such risks."

The number of tracts which might require new pipeline was not specified. The objection was only to running new pipelines across the coast—not to extending existing underwater pipelines at sea.

Both Vincent and Dr. Ann Pleasanton of New Orleans, representing the Sierra Club, pleaded for a full scale study by a neutral body on a national policy for energy fuel. They

Bus Contract In Brownwood

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — Arrow Coach Lines resumed operations at 12:01 a.m. today as a week-long strike of drivers and maintenance workers ended.

John P. Hughes, president of Amalgamated Transit Union Local 1313 said Wednesday night that a proposed two-year contract was drawn up by labor and management officials.

He said the settlement would have to be ratified by union members "but I have no reservations about their approving it."

Hughes said the contract retained a cost of living clause which management wanted changed.

Under the new pact, drivers will receive a 2 1/2 mills per mile pay increase during the first year of the contract and 2 mills more during the second year. Currently drivers received 11.55 cents per mile. The increase will raise their pay to 11.80 cents per mile.

Mechanics will receive a 25-cent per hour increase. All boosts are retroactive to Aug. 1.

Diet Booklet

NEW YORK (AP) — A little booklet, "Guide to Proper Exercise and Diet," which tells the Swedish viewpoint, is being given away in this country.

The guide was prepared in cooperation with Miss Berit Brattinas, attache for sports of the Royal Consulate General of Sweden here. Miss Brattinas, formerly a member of the Swedish Olympic skating team, is currently active in the U.S. with the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

China Will Cast First UN Veto

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Communist China was ready to cast its first U.N. veto today, to bar the admission of Bangladesh to the United Nations.

Diplomatic sources said the Chinese were adamant in their stand as the Security Council scheduled an afternoon meeting to take up Bangladesh's bid after three weeks of backstage maneuvering.

The session was viewed as another chapter in the Chinese-Soviet jousting for influence on the Indian subcontinent.

Bangladesh, expecting defeat, was prepared to carry its campaign for membership before the General Assembly which convenes Sept. 18. It hopes to get the assembly to tell the Security Council to try again.

China sought postponement of council consideration of the bid today. But if that failed, a Chinese veto was considered certain.

The Nationalist Chinese regime used the veto once in the 26 years it occupied the Chinese seat on the council.

Bangladesh, formerly East Pakistan, was born of the India-Pakistan war in December that Pakistan lost. The Soviet Union supported India in the war while China backed Pakistan.

The Nixon administration also sided with Pakistan but has since recognized Bangladesh and favors its bid for U.N. membership.

A poll of the council's admissions committee, which has been discussing the question for three weeks, showed 11 nations favoring membership and 10 opposing. China, Sudan and Somalia did not participate in that committee vote.

China sought postponement of council consideration of the bid today. But if that failed, a Chinese veto was considered certain.

The Nationalist Chinese regime used the veto once in the 26 years it occupied the Chinese seat on the council.

Snow Falling In Colorado

By The Associated Press

Travelers warnings were in effect today as summer storms blanketed higher elevations in the Colorado and Wyoming Rockies. Heavy rains drenched lower lying areas and, elsewhere, showers and thunderstorms stretched from Texas to Maine.

Trail Ridge Road—the nation's highest continuous highway snaking through 11 miles of Rocky Mountain National Park, northwest of Denver—was closed because of the snow fall.

More than 1½ inches of rain fell this morning at Sedgwick, in northeastern Colorado. Denver received nearly 1 inch of rain since midnight and flood warnings were issued in Provers County along the Kansas line.

Officials of the Permian Basin Graduate Center in Midland will hold a registration for all fall courses in Big Spring Monday evening, Aug. 28, from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m. in the Big Spring High School Library.

REGIMENTAL COMMANDER ARRESTED

Regard Que Son As Debacle

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese regimental commander and at least one of his battalion commanders have been arrested for their part in the loss of the Que Son Valley last weekend, military officials reported today.

The loss of the valley, a key access route from the mountains to the populous coastal region and Da Nang was the worst setback for Saigon's forces since the fall of Quang Tri on May 1.

U.S. officials including Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, are known to regard Que Son as a debacle that could and should have been avoided.

Sources at the South Vietnamese army's northern headquarters said as many as 2,500 troops — regulars and militia — were still unaccounted for in the wake of the rout.

CASUALTIES An unknown number of civilians also were casualties when they were caught in the fighting after the North Vietnamese attacked from the west and overran Fire Base Ross and the nearby town of Que Son, the district capital.

Meanwhile, a South Vietnamese task force with fresh reinforcements pressed a counter-offensive into the Que Son Valley, and the commander of the operation, Brig. Gen. Pham Hoa Hiep, told Associated Press correspondent Dennis

Industrial Growth Seminar Is Held

An industrial growth seminar is being held in Sweetwater today.

"How To Get A Textile Industry In Your Town" is the theme of the conference, sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the Texas Industrial Commission, Texas Industrial Development Council and the Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce.

Need: "I hope to recapture Que Son by today or tomorrow."

Although some units of the task force reportedly had driven as far as 15 miles, only light contact had been encountered so far, Neeld reported from Fire Base Baldy at the head of the valley.

Neeld also flew over Fire Base Ross in a helicopter and reported that it appeared deserted. But he said it was pitted by U.S. B52 strikes ordered in an effort to destroy artillery pieces and other equipment left behind by the fleeing defenders.

Vietnamese sources in Saigon said that perhaps as many as 300 wounded South Vietnamese soldiers also had been left behind and were "sacrificed" in the B52 raids. An American official said it was possible that this happened, but that the number "would be in tens, not in hundreds."

229 STRIKES

As the four-prong assault force drove inland from Highway 1, Communist troops extended their own attacks against government positions.

Viet Cong forces attacked government troops at Duy Xuyen, 15 miles south of Da Nang, and shelled Tam Ky, capital of Quang Tin province.

The U.S. Command reported that its fighter-bombers made more than 220 strikes against targets in North Vietnam Wednesday. But overcast skies confined most of the strikes to the southern half of the country.

U.S. B52 bombers attacked North Vietnamese troop concentrations and supply caches on both sides of the demilitarized zone and in the Que Son Valley.

Posse Slates Trail Ride

The Howard County Sheriff's posse will host a trail ride Saturday morning honoring the Stanton Sheriff's Posse and all interested area riders.

The group will hitch up Saturday at 9 a.m. at the Youth Horseman's arena on the Garden City Highway and ride 22 miles to the Garden City courthouse lawn for lunch.

The posse has planned a covered dish luncheon and the posse officials said that those that wish to carry the food in the saddle bags may do so, but they sure won't object to persons driving by motor vehicle with the food to Garden City. It's not against any rules.

In fact, for the less hardy riders, they urge them to join the group at Lee Store and ride in 13 miles or come along and "join up" anywhere along the route, according to Mrs. Cecilia Allred, who often has won prizes on trailrides as the oldest rider.

CLOVIS HALE

Hale Will Speak At ABC Meeting

Clovis Hale, head football coach of the Big Spring Steers, will be the featured speaker at Friday's American Business Club luncheon meeting. Coach Hale will discuss what is in store for the 1972 Steer Football Season.

Last Friday, the Big Spring High School Stage Band entertained members of the ABC Club with their lively musical selections.

ABC Club luncheons are held each Friday at 12:00 noon in the Settles Hotel Banquet Room.

Fugitive Sought In North Texas

DALLAS (AP) — North Texas officers searched today for a 25-year-old prisoner who escaped during the night from the minimum security unit of the old Dallas County jail.

He was identified as Jimmy Lee Brown, 6 feet 4 and weighing 210 pounds, who was held on narcotics and burglary charges.

Brown, who worked in the jail laundry, apparently got on to the roof through a ventilating duct and then used a rope to slide about 60 feet down to the second floor. There he broke a window and was able to walk down farther and out of the building, a sheriff's deputy said.

Skelly Awards Contract To Expand Area Plant

The Skelly Oil Company announced in Tulsa, Okla., Wednesday that an engineering and construction contract has been awarded to Olsen Engineering Corp. of Houston for expansion of ethane recovery facilities at the East Vealmoor natural gasoline plant in Howard County.

The expansion will enable recovery of approximately 39 million gallons per year of ethane, an increase of 18 million gallons per year.

Howard H. Belew, vice president of manufacturing, said field construction on the expansion will begin in January 1973, with completion set for mid-March. Olsen also was contractor when the plant was first modified to recover ethane in 1970.

Belew said Larry T. Larsen, district engineer for Skelly's southern natural gasoline plants district at Eunice, N.M., has been named project manager for the expansion.

The East Vealmoor plant, located north of Big Spring, was built in 1962 and has a capacity of 55 million cubic feet per day of inlet gas from several adjacent counties.

Products in addition to ethane include propane, natural gasoline, and iso- and normal butanes. The ethane is used as feedstock by Chempex Co., a Skelly petrochemical affiliate in Clinton, Iowa.

Skelly is operator of the East Vealmoor plant and owns 91 percent interest in the plant.

Conspiring To Smuggle Marijuana From Mexico

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — Six persons were arraigned here Wednesday before U.S. Magistrate W. P. Wallace on charges of conspiring to smuggle marijuana into the United States and intent to distribute it.

Five men, one from Maryland and four from North Carolina were held in Val Verde County jail in lieu of $20,000 bond each, charged with smuggling 120 pounds of the drug from Mexico.

Their female companion, Sherry Lynn Porter, 18, also from North Carolina, was released on personal recognizance bond of $20,000 because there is no provision for housing female prisoners in the jail here.

The men were identified as Tonnie Max Martin, 22, of Charlotte; Robert Harrison Greer Jr., 22, Raymond Carl Freeman, 22, and Robert Dietrich Hillman, 21, all of Raleigh; and Fred Mark Dover, 20, of Baltimore.

Greer, Freeman, Dover and Hillman were arrested 15 miles north of Eagle Pass after returning from Mexico Tuesday. Martin and Miss Porter were arrested 10 miles east of Del Rio on U.S. 90 by customs agents who alleged they had possession of the marijuana.

MEDIEVAL FAIR DAZE LINGERS IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP) — The jousting is over and all fair maidens in distress have been rescued by their sturdy knights, but the memories for thousands of youngsters and a few of their elders linger on.

Memories of the second annual Medieval Fair and Festival in upper Manhattan. The mid-August event capped the Summer Medieval Crafts Workshop Program conducted for city youngsters by the Cloisters, the Metropolitan Museum's branch of medieval art.

Running from late morning to late afternoon, the fair included games, entertainment, costumes of the period, troubadors and dances. Young Festival Workshop members performed, and the scene was enlivened by the carrying of a unicorn, puppet shows, and wares of the era displayed in the market place. In mock battle, the "good guys" in shining armor always won — and were rewarded with a kiss from a damsel.

The cost of the workshop and festival were shared by the Cloisters, the Neighborhood Action Program for Washington Heights and Inwood, Community School District, the Upper Manhattan Artists cooperative, and the New York State Council on the arts.

'DID YOU SEE HOW MANY KISSES I GOT' President's Handshaking

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon added a surprise personal touch to his convention-capping speech Wednesday night by staying on for more than an hour to bask in the glow of victory and shake hands with hundreds of jubilant delegates.

Despite sporadic violence nearby, both the President and his wife and Vice President and Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew lingered past midnight in the hall, itself an island of festivity.

The delegates and guests roared their approval when Chairman Gerald Ford announced at the formal close of this 30th quadrennial gathering of the party that "The President would like to meet as many of you as he can." But no one dreamed he would stay so long, much to the anxiety of scores of security agents and the near exhaustion of Ray Bloch and his band.

President and Mrs. Nixon stood on a specially built ramp wheeled in front of the convention rostrum, while Agnew and his wife Judy greeted well-wishers from the presidential box across the hall.

Nixon gripped so many eager hands that his physician, Dr. Walter Tkach, moaned that he dreads the prospect of examining the presidential right hand today.

Perhaps 200 persons were still waiting in line when the President eventually headed for his helicopter. One woman fainted in the final crush to reach him.

The wait for Agnew, meanwhile, was only about five minutes at any one time. Presidential aides began suggesting politely to those who had met Nixon that they might want to greet the vice president as well. No one could immediately recall when — if ever — the President had spent so long and had seen so many in a single reception line. But it wasn't a record, in any event, for Pat Nixon. She once shook 1,675 hands in a four-hour White House reception for the DAR.

At one point, Mrs. Nixon turned to her husband and asked: "Did you see how many kisses I got?" Then a woman not only gave her another kiss, but threw in a bear hug as well.

And while GOP Chairman Robert Dole enthused that "Everything worked out just right," even the Secret Service saw a blessing in the handshaking session. "At least this'll keep the traffic down. Everyone won't be leaving at once."

Young Sherman Mom Missing

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Police hunted further clues today in the disappearance of an 18-year-old mother, and they said it might be a case of foul play.

Marilyn Box, a divorcee with three children under the age of 3, vanished Sunday. Officers said they found blood on a corner of a bed in her home the next day, prompting further investigation, and a man was taken into protective custody.

GOP Nominee Seeks Probe Of Nepotism

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Maurice Angly, GOP nominee for state treasurer, asked Travis County Dist. Atty. Bob Smith today to start a grand jury investigation of his Democratic opponent Treasurer Jesse James, and Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Angly cited recent published reports that James and Calvert are "swapping relatives" on their payrolls. Both officials denied they were doing anything illegal.

"Specifically, it appears State Treasurer James has been, and is at the present time maintaining a son-in-law of the State Comptroller on his payroll in exchange for the State Comptroller employing State Treasurer James' brother," Angly said in his letter to Smith.

"I am certain that you are well aware of Articles 432 through 437 of the Penal Code setting forth the criminal provision of our state nepotism statutes and the punishment for such offenses."

"As the state treasurer under the constitution is the person charged with the issuance of state warrants, it would appear that his approval of the pay warrants for these individuals may violate Article 435 of the Penal Code," Angly said. "This article provides that the state shall not approve the drawing of any warrant to pay salary of an ineligible person . . ."

"In view of the circumstances, I trust that the situation will be investigated by the grand jury."

Both Calvert and James denied last week that their actions violated the state nepotism law. Both also said they had never discussed the hiring of the relatives with each other.

James confirmed that he hired Calvert's son-in-law, Leonard Baker, former San Antonio tax collector-assessor, last August to head the department's escheat division at $1,179. Baker replaced Angly's father-in-law, J. E. Hill, who was fired by James for what the treasurer called "leaking" information to Angly.

Calvert, also a Democrat, said that James' brother, Menor James, has been on his payroll since 1952 as a $630-a-month accounting clerk.

Nation's Trade Deficit Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's trade deficit declined to a six-month low of $542.2 million in July, the Commerce Department reported today.

The July figure pushed the trade deficit for the first seven months of the year to $3.88 billion.

"The prospects are for an improving trend in the trade balance in the months ahead, although every month may not show an improvement," said Harold C. Passer, assistant secretary of Commerce for economic affairs.

A trade deficit represents a loss of competitiveness by U.S. industry as well as a potential loss of jobs. The administration is depending on a reversal of the trade figures to correct its long-time balance-of-payments deficit.

Last December's devaluation of the dollar and other currency realignments should begin to have an impact on trade figures later this year, administration economic spokesmen said.

New Trial For Bremer Is Rejected

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — Judge Ralph Powers of Prince Georges County Circuit Court today rejected a request for a new trial for Arthur H. Bremer, convicted last month of the attempted assassination of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and the shooting of three other persons.

Benjamin Lipsitz, Bremer's attorney, based the request for a new trial on grounds that at least one juror previously saw television news film of the shooting.

Lipsitz said he wants to appeal the conviction but must first raise the $2,000 necessary to purchase a transcript of the trial.

Bremer has been moved to the diagnostic and reception wing of the state penitentiary in Baltimore.

He was convicted in Georges County Circuit Court Aug. 4 and sentenced to a 63-year term for the assault of Wallace and three other persons.

Four Bombers Blast South Belfast Hotel

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Four bombers blasted a south Belfast hotel today and a sectarian killer squad pumped five shots into a man from a Roman Catholic area.

The four armed terrorists carried a bomb in a parcel into the Drumeau House Hotel and told employees and guests to get out. The charge exploded 20 minutes later and damaged the building, but no casualties were reported.

It was the second hotel to be blasted in three days as the Irish Republican Army renewed its bombing campaign in an effort to unite Protestant Northern Ireland and Catholic Ireland.

The man hit by the terror squad survived the shooting. He was found sprawled in a pool of blood in a back street in the tough Protestant Sandy Row area of the capital. He had been shot from a passing car.

Agnew Gains Pledge Of 60 Votes In '76

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew leaves the Republican convention with a key delegate-vote victory and a plug from Pat Nixon for the 1976 GOP presidential nomination. And he has a pledge in his pocket for the first 60 votes in '76.

Agnew, staying over today for a post-convention news conference, has maintained he is "keeping the options open" but has made no decision on seeking the presidency.

He got the pledge for the first 60 delegate votes for president during the roll call on his renomination for vice president in '72.

"Florida casts all of its 44 votes for Spiro Agnew," announced Florida State GOE Chairman L. E. Thomas, "and we promise under the new rules to cast at least 60 votes for him for president in 1976."

Agnew won the renomination with 1,348 votes.

NBC newsmen David Brinkley got one. Two delegates, one from Oregon and one from Arkansas, abstained.

Earlier, Mrs. Nixon was asked how she would feel about Agnew as a presidential contender in 1976. "I'm for him," she replied.

"He's done a marvelous job as vice president," Mrs. Nixon said, "and I know he'd do the same as president."

But Agnew's biggest gain from the convention — how big is a matter of dispute — was the rule giving bonus 1976 delegates to the generally smaller, more conservative states that go for Nixon this year.

No one knows even approximately how many extra delegate votes this would give Agnew.

Some delegates say it is too early to predict what the rule will mean, pointing out that if Democratic presidential contender George McGovern loses the normally Democratic Northeastern populous states to Nixon this year, for example, Agnew would get no special advantage because both big and small states would be getting the 1976 bonus delegates.

Agnew stayed largely secluded during the week, making only four public appearances and indicated at one of them it was because he did not want to make any comment on the rules fight.

"It would be misinterpreted as interest in 1976," he said.

Didn't Argue For Hanoi

Ramsey Clark's sober and enlightening report on his visit to North Vietnam is in sharp contrast to the bombastic broadsides leveled against him by critics of his trip. It's not difficult to judge who has performed the greater public service.

Clark's press conference in San Francisco on his return to this country was in the nature of a first-hand report by an observant American. Clark is, of course, in the forefront of antiwar Americans; his position has been unchanged and public for some time. But he does not, as have other less responsible war critics, condemn this nation's war policies and actions out-of-hand and argue Hanoi's case. Instead, he has related what he has learned in North Vietnam without political embellishment.

For example, Clark reported first-hand sightings of damage to North Vietnamese dikes; he did not allege deliberate attack on the dike system, admitting military targets in the vicinity of bomb damage may have been removed. He reported on personal contacts with American prisoners in North Vietnam, and relayed their own opinions of the treatment they have received.

And he brought a message from North Vietnam which rational men should have long since accepted — that release of U.S. prisoners must follow cessation of hostilities. That is the lesson of history, for one thing.

Clark journeyed to North Vietnam as a concerned American, hopeful of encouraging the cause of peace. He has returned the same — not as a spokesman or propagandist for Hanoi, but as an American acting responsibly to give other Americans the benefit of his observations.

Speaking for himself, Clark condemned American bombing per se as an immoral act; that was his subjective judgment with which his countrymen can agree or disagree. His factual reporting provided an objective foundation upon which they can make that decision.

One Against Another

The Cost of Living Council, after being prodded by President Nixon, recently talked the major automobile manufacturers into seeking only small increases in the costs of their 1973 models.

This is another case of one federal agency struggling with another. The automakers say the major part of the price increases are needed to cover costs in meeting emission controls and safety standards, standards set by the federal government.

The administration is marking the first anniversary of wage-price controls and apparently wants to make a point with the consumer-voter on new cars.

Another reason suggested for the White House pressure is that the Price Commission has found no good reason for turning down the price increases. This makes the White House move appear even more hypocritical.

Not A Rainmaker

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

NEVER THOUGHT I'd see the day that I was accused of being a rainmaker. But somebody over in the Howard County courthouse said it started raining the day I came and rained all week.

Now, if I could claim to be a rainmaker, I'd just travel around the Southwest bringing that rain, and collecting that cash.

But I sure wouldn't want to claim to be responsible for that deluge over in Snyder last week. In fact, I've been afraid to even go to Snyder for nigh onto two years.

Back during the football playoffs in 1970, my teenage son and I accompanied an Andrews couple and another teenager to Wichita Falls to the W.F.-Permian football game.

NOW, JAN, who was the other woman on the trip accused all the rest of us of considering her as gullible and trying to make her believe anything we said. As we went across the agriculture area headed for Snyder, we saw one of these automatically operated tractors and her husband told her that it didn't have a driver. He very carefully explained the operation, but she called all of us in the car a bunch of liars and added emphatically "There's no such thing as a vehicle without a driver."

We laughed and joked about it as we drove into the Snyder city limits. Then suddenly, we saw a panel truck drive slowly by us in the other lane of traffic. It was going down a hill. There was no driver.

Mark, who was driving the car, said, "Marj, did you see that panel truck? Did it have a driver?" And, laughing, I answered, "It didn't. I don't believe it, but it didn't." Jan became angry and told us we just thought she was stupid enough to believe any dumb thing we said. So Mark drove around two blocks to try to find the panel truck and prove his point.

In the meantime, the vehicle had left the highway and crashed into a man's building, knocking out a wall and a window.

THE OWNER of the building was standing out front looking at the truck stuck through the side of his building. We drove up and Mark asked laughingly, "Did that truck without a driver just hit your building?" The man looked at us questioningly and said, "Yes, why?"

Well, we couldn't help it. Our entire group in the car began to laugh — so hard that tears were coming down our cheeks. The man looked furious, and there just was no use trying to explain to the poor man, with the crashed-in building, what we were laughing about. We just backed out of there and drove off fast.

The man took our license number and when we returned from that football game, we went back to Andrews through Lubbock. I've never been back to Snyder. But if they found any extra vehicles last week after that flood, minus a driver... it may have been an every day occurrence. They've apparently got a bunch of those driverless vehicles over there.

President's Song

William F. Buckley Jr.

MIAMI BEACH — The general jubilation of the Republicans has been very widely noticed, and indeed the pollsters reveal that if the election were held tomorrow Richard Nixon would win very heavily. The complacency has generated a sense of caution and President Nixon has alluded to it as at all costs to be avoided.

IN MIAMI it was pretty much a carnival, and of course Democratic critics leaped to make a comparison between the Nixon convention and the McGovern convention. They did not reach back for further precedents because, indeed, the Nixon convention resembles most closely the Roosevelt conventions of yesteryear, when Roosevelt ruled supreme, though to be sure he took the precaution of checking things with Sidney. But as the Republicans survey the scene, they feel they cannot easily account for their blessings. For the Democrats to nominate McGovern, and for Wallace to withdraw from the race at one and the same time is simply — too much. So much too much as to cause them to lose their judgment?

I HAVE COME across an omen of what I consider to be hard evidence that there is a little cool intelligence still at work within the Republican party notwithstanding the euphoria. The circumstances are these: At the big gala on Sunday evening, the party charged 500 dollars per person for the worst dinner ever served since the discovery of fire, capped by a red wine perfectly suited to the meal. Well, we thought, the GOP needs the money; and then there was an evening's entertainment nicely emceed by Art Linkletter, who introduced John Wayne as a hero who had won all the wars he had ever fought in. Mrs. Nixon came in, escorted by Sen. Dominick, and on the way to her table was greeted so amorously by one male guest whose features we could not distinguish that the question arose, who could he be? I volunteered the suggestion that it must be Nixon. But I was proved wrong — it was an old family friend. Mrs. Nixon then sat down comfortably at the table with Gov. and Mrs. Rockefeller, but after all she has had very good training, having only a few months ago sat between Chou En-lai and Madame Mao Tse-tung.

I WAS about to tell you of the residual Cool Intelligence. Well, the next morning I came across a distinguished and very affluent Republican who was morosely strolling the hotel corridor shaking his head ever so sadly. What was wrong? He told me that he had composed a special song for the Presidential campaign. The gentleman is very well connected and had no trouble at all in securing an audition at which, he told me, it was instantly agreed to inaugurate "The President's Song" at the gala banquet the night before.

What happened? Well he said, unaccountably, the master of ceremonies simply forgot to bring on the singer who was supposed to premiere the great political campaign song. At this point he reached for a mimeograph pile he was carrying and delivered it to me. I must share it with you.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Isn't it true that after hearing and believing that baptism is the step the Bible says man must take to be a Christian? Isn't "acknowledging" Him as Lord followed by obedience in baptism? I get the impression that you think baptism is not important. Am I right? L.P.

You are wrong. I believe baptism is important, and I have been baptized.

But I think we violate the Scriptures when we make baptism the prime requirement for salvation. The Bible warns against this fallacy when it says: "... Let us go on unto perfection, not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God of the doctrine of baptisms, etc." (Hebrews 6:1-2) Paul's central theme.

Did his Biblical researches convert novelist Wallace, who was a professed atheist when he began them? "No, but writing the book made me an agnostic," the author says. "My feelings at this point are best expressed in Ernest Renan's agnostic prayer: 'O Lord, if there is a Lord, save my soul, if I have a soul.'" was Christ and His saving power, although he spoke of baptism, he said: "I thank God that I baptized none of you... I just say should say that I had baptized in my own name." (1 Corinthians 14:15).

Baptism is a conclusive act of obedience and witness to the world that we are Christ's. I believe in it wholeheartedly. In our crusades we don't baptize because we feel that this should be done by the local pastors — and that if I baptized, some people would say they had been baptized by me, and that would be putting the emphasis on the wrong person.

To one who has received Christ, baptism is a necessary and meaningful experience. But, I must say with Paul: "Christ sent me not to baptize but to preach the Gospel." (1 Corinthians 1:17.)

A Devotion For Today..

Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world. (James 1:27)

PRAYER: O Lord, forgive our selfishness; help us love and serve those in need. For the sake of Christ, who loves us. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Coming To Dinner

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The political campaign is now under way, and we can expect to hear some wild promises made by the presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

JUST THE other day R. Sargent Shriver told the people of West Virginia that if George McGovern is elected, the poor people would be eating in the White House. He said there would be dinners there for people who need the food, rather than rich fat cats who have been invited to 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. in the past.

I don't know if Shriver checked this out with McGovern, but it could raise some very serious logistical problems if the Democratic nominee is sworn in next January.

LET US assume that McGovern has been elected President.

After he's been in the White House a few days, he says to his wife, Eleanor, "We have to give a dinner for the poor people tomorrow night."

"How many will there be?"

"Sarge said 1,300,064 people."

"You've got to be kidding," Eleanor says. "I don't have that many place settings."

"Can't you borrow some from Eunice?"

"Even if I did, we wouldn't have enough room to serve them all."

"YES, I THOUGHT of that. But Sarge promised that the first dinner we had in the White House would be for the poor people, and our credibility is at stake."

"Well, why doesn't HE give the dinner then? He has more money than we do," Eleanor says angrily.

"Because he's not the President."

It doesn't have to be a sit-down dinner, you know. It could be buffet."

"I don't care," Eleanor says. "I'm not going in the kitchen and tell the chef to prepare a buffet for 1,300,064 people."

"COULDN'T WE have it catered?" McGovern asks.

"This is ridiculous. We'll use up our entire entertainment allowance in our first dinner. What are we going to do for the rest of the four years?"

"Maybe we could freeze the leftovers," McGovern suggests.

"I still say Sarge got into this — let him get out of it," Eleanor says.

"How about the strolling Air Force Strings for entertainment?" McGovern asks.

"You said you were going to cut them out of the defense budget," Eleanor reminds him.

"OH YES, I forgot that. Did I promise to cut the Marine band, too?"

"Down to one French horn and two tuba players."

"Hmm. Maybe Warren Beatty can rustle up the Grateful Dead."

"George, I don't think this is going to work. More than 25 million people in this country go to bed hungry every night. You can't just invite 1,300,064 and not expect the others to be very angry."

"Why didn't you tell that to Shriver before he opened his mouth in West Virginia?"

MAYBE WE could have the 1,300,064 for dinner and invite the rest in for coffee and dessert."

"All right," says Eleanor. "I'll do it. But Sarge has to address the invitations."

QUITE A TEMPTATION

Jobless Disagreement

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Regardless of who wins the presidency, unemployment must be tackled all over again in an attempt to separate fantasy from reality.

Still unanswered, for example, are these basic questions:

—Is it really possible, considering politics, to maintain full employment and a stable economy?

—What is full employment — four per cent unemployed, as we now claim, or nearer three per cent, as some officials claimed during the Johnson administration?

—Who is to be regarded as unemployed?

The federal government says the jobless are all who attempted to find jobs during the month previous to its survey, or who were waiting to report for work or temporarily laid off.

But there is disagreement. Consider these two viewpoints, each widely held, about the same situation.

First, two New York professors, William Abraham and A. J. Jaffe, claim the jobless figures released each month by the government fail to include all those who are really seeking jobs. The federal statistics, they say, fail to count the "inactive unemployed" or "discouraged worker," —eligible for work, but too discouraged by earlier failures to look for work.

The professors say unemployment in the United States is more than a full percentage point higher than the official figure — recently about 5.5 per cent of the labor force.

Now consider the view of the National Federation of Independent Business, which claims an active membership of more than 300,000 small-and medium-size businesses. The federation claims that the widely quoted jobless figures overstate the problem.

It quotes the owner of a Mississippi cleaning plant as writing: "As the potential employer of as many as 20 people can you see how I feel when I go for months without one single application for work?"

"I can call the State Employment Office and the odds are about 10 to 1 that they will not send anyone to apply for the job. Most people who can even be contacted... will tell us they have no experience but will not take the job as it might interfere with their welfare..."

And it quotes an Ohio business owner as saying, "The percentage of unemployment published is a real joke. We have no luck finding dependable chauffeurs at $3.75 an hour, guaranteed 40 hours and 52 weeks of work."

Wallace Votes Helps

David Lawrence

CONVENTION ANALYSIS — An atmosphere of confidence and of optimism which unmistakably prevails at the Republican National Convention may continue as the Republican presidential campaign gets under way, but the party leaders are warning against complacency. They know that they must raise a lot of money to build a big organization designed to increase the registration of voters, young and old. They recognize clearly that they have a real fight ahead and that they must make inroads in the Democratic party in order to assure a substantial victory.

IN THE ELECTION of four years ago, Gov. George Wallace polled a sizable vote and no candidate had a majority of the popular vote. But this time, the strength of the Alabama governor will in large part go to President Nixon. While much of it is in the South, there are many voters in the North who supported Wallace in 1968. A two-man contest is regarded by the strategists as easier to win provided the Republican party is able to attract the 18-to-25-year-age group and obtain an increase among the voters above that age.

Most of the discussion in Miami Beach turns on the benefits that can be derived from publicizing the Republican platform. It was carefully drawn, and it endeavors to deal with the needs of various units of the population which have a heavy proportion of the vote.

While Mr. Nixon isn't likely to do very much campaigning himself, Vice President Agnew, members of the cabinet and other Republican officials will move around the country to make speeches. Several television addresses, of course, will be arranged for the President, and there will be news announcements from time to time which could have a political significance.

THUS, TROOPS have now been reduced to 23,700 in South Vietnam and approximately 16,000 sailors and airmen are stationed in the area. The top number of forces the United States had in the Vietnam War was 543,000. This was in April 1969, and the current figure inside South Vietnam is the lowest since April 1965. So it is obvious the ground combat part of the war is winding down for American servicemen. Since it has been declared that no draftees will be sent to Indochina, the whole war issue has virtually been taken out of the political domain.

The emphasis in the current campaign really is to be on the domestic side. There are signs of this in connection with disaster relief. Some complaints are being made, for example, that the victims of tropical storm Agnes have not yet been given enough help. The administration is working on this problem, and the prospects are full relief will be extended in the next few weeks.

THE BIGGEST issue is the economic situation, and most of the experts are saying that conditions are proceeding so favorably that wage and price controls ought to be lifted next year.

The Republican National Committee is not finding it difficult to gather money to meet the expenses of the campaign. Much of it has been obtained through fund-raising dinners featuring prominent speakers like Vice President Agnew.

Knows The Good Book

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the most meticulous researchers in literature is Irving Wallace, the best-selling author who has written millions of words that earned him millions of dollars on a battered $35 typewriter his parents gave him in his youth.

Wallace developed his passion for research as a nonfiction writer, but also kept it up when he turned to fiction. He studied source material over a 10-year-period before completing his latest success, "The Word," a religious novel.

Here are a few tidbits of unusual Biblical lore he says he turned up in his quest for facts: About 1 1/2 billion Bibles have been sold since Gutenberg printed the first one. There is not a single date in the entire Bible.

The New Testament does not mention that Jesus was a carpenter, that he was executed on Mt. Calvary, that nails were driven into his hands or feet on the cross, or that such a place as Nazareth existed.

The cross was not a symbol of Christianity until 600 years after Christ's death.

Church bells were not used until after the eighth century. Since Christianity was illegal almost everywhere for five centuries, the faithful were told of meetings by word of mouth. Later they were summoned by trumpet.

The New Testament does not mention the Three Wise Men as having ridden camels. According to some Latin-American churches, they rode a donkey, elephant and camel.

How much did Judas get for betraying Jesus? The 30 pieces of silver he received were called shekels, and 30 of them would be worth about $14 in our money.

Standard Bibles say Christ died in his early 30's. But a lost Gospel called the Acts of Pilate, and also the Gospel of Nicodemus, states that Jesus

Aging 'Duke Of Duval' Probed By Fed Jurors

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — grand jury witness. More witnesses testified behind a locked door Wednesday as a federal grand jury resumed an apparent probe in connection with South Texas political chieftain George Parr.

The aging "Duke of Duval," as he's called in Duval County, has not yet appeared before the panel, which began the investigation about three months ago.

So far the witnesses have included a Dallas woman granted immunity and officials of three Duval County political subdivisions, as well as officers of a bank.

The grand jury met for nine hours Wednesday after resuming its work late Tuesday.

Officials have declined to discuss the case and did not indicate when the jurors will meet next. Grand jury sessions are secret.

Now in his 70s, Parr is currently a member of the San Diego School District Board in Duval County. Officials of that body have been among those testifying.

One source said Parr, once the political strongman of Duval County and the surrounding area and still very influential, probably will not be called as a

Chapel Schedule Changed At Webb

Changes in the base chapel schedule for Fall have been announced by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Kenneth D. Summy, installation chaplain at Webb.

Effective Sept. 3, these will be the hours for chapel services: General Protestant service, 11 a.m., in the base chapel. The Sunday School will be held at 9:45 a.m. in the chapel annex.

Catholic services will be held at 9:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. in the base chapel, with CCD classes scheduled for 11 a.m. in the chapel annex.

Christian Science worship services will be held Thursday evenings, at 8 p.m., in the base chapel.

In a one-time change for Aug. 27, the general Protestant service and Sunday School service will be held at Christensen Park pavilion. On the same date, the Catholic services will be held at 9 and 10 a.m.

Three Astros Develop Own Little World

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Three astronauts passed the halfway point in a 56-day altitude chamber experiment Wednesday and space officials said they were in good spirits and doing well.

The three—Robert L. Crippen, Karol Bobko and Dr. William Thornton—entered the chamber July 26 and are scheduled to leave Sept. 20. The experiment is called the Skylab Medical Experiment Altitude Test (SMEAT) and is designed to test hardware and equipment to be used in space next year aboard an orbiting laboratory.

"They've developed their own little world in there," said Dr. Charles Ross, a space agency physician on the test support team.

Ross said that physically the astronauts are "in excellent condition."

Richard S. Johnson, director of life sciences at the Manned Spacecraft Center, said the test could end early if there are indications that the medical data from the crew will not change with the passage of time.

Ross said the crew has no eagerness to get out early.

"They're hoping that we go the full 56 days," he said.

Puerto Rico: Statehood Would Cost Island A Lot

By SAM STEWART
Copley News Service

If you were a substantial, self-respecting geographical entity, with a population of nine onto 13 million, and you had your druthers, would you rather be a colony? A territory? A state? A commonwealth? A nation?

The island of Puerto Rico has had a few of these options, and still isn't convinced it's found the right one. Puerto Rico was a colony of Spain for centuries. Then it became first a possession, or territory, of the United States, and then a commonwealth.

20 YEARS AGO

It was 20 years ago that a new self-governing constitution went into effect—and 54 years ago that American troops landed on the island in the Spanish-American War.

Puerto Rico's status as a commonwealth makes it unique; the United States has no other.

Puerto Rico has made great strides as a commonwealth, but there are still earnest citizens who believe that first-class citizenship comes only with full and complete statehood. There is also a minority on the island which cries out for independence, but the nationalists are pretty generally regarded as militants with pro-Castro leanings.

Statehood advocates managed to put the issue on the ballot five years ago, but the status quo folks—the backers of the commonwealth—won by a strong 3-to-2 margin.

HIGH PRICE

No question about it, Puerto Rico has made great strides as a commonwealth. Its economic freedom has given the island advantages which would be lost under statehood—a high price to pay for the position of the 51st star in the Stars and Stripes.

Puerto Rico's living standards and wage levels, still low by mainland standards, still rank far above Puerto Rico's Caribbean neighbors.

As a self-governing commonwealth within the American Union, Puerto Rico is not subject to U.S. federal taxes, either individual or corporate. Puerto Rico has no voting representative in Congress, and Puerto Ricans may not vote for president or vice president. "No taxation without representation."

TAX BREAKS

Puerto Rico is free to assess its own taxes and to grant tax exemptions. This was the theme of Operation Bootstrap, a self-help program instituted in the 1950s, soon after commonwealth status was attained. U.S. manufacturers were offered liberal exemptions if they would set up plants on the island. They pay no U.S. tax; exemptions from Puerto Rican taxes were granted for periods ranging from 10 to 17 years.

It is no mystery that American "name brands" flocked to the island in droves. Their building programs and their hiring were great stimulation to a depressed economy which had seen its poor fleeing north for years, many of them to New York. Since Operation Bootstrap, many of those who fled north have been "coming home."

As for history, Puerto Rico has it in abundance above and beyond the mainland. Its first governor was Juan Ponce de Leon, who established a colony there in 1508, after having first seen Puerto Rico while with Christopher Columbus on his 1493 expedition.

Defining a Puerto Rican is an ethnic challenge. The origins range from Spanish to African and all points in between, the importation of black slaves having begun in 1510 and continued until 1873, several years after the United States had called it off.

SPANISH SETTLERS

When the first Spanish settlers arrived, in the early 1500s, there were about 30,000 Arawak Indians, who suffered from maltreatment, disease and losing battles. They were gone—or absorbed—by the mid-1500s.

Until 1898, across a span of nearly four centuries, Puerto Ricans lived as subjects to the Spanish crown, ruled by governors appointed by Spain. Not much changed when the United States moved in in 1899—but in 1917 Puerto Ricans were established as U.S. citizens.

Even this didn't mean much until after World War II, during which Puerto Ricans distinguished themselves, and serious steps began toward a new status, which was adoption of a constitution and recognition as a commonwealth.

It's a continuing hot question on the island about whether 'tis better to be a commonwealth, or to become the 51st state. It's a safe bet that any submission of the question to the electorate will sustain the status quo. Looking at what has happened in 20 years, nobody could blame the Puerto Ricans.

Grease ring mold; gently bend pineapple slices to fit into bottom, spacing evenly. Then dip and turn each biscuit — first in oil, then in cinnamon-sugar mixture. Now stand one biscuit on edge in each of the 5 pineapple slices. Lay remaining five biscuits flat in the spaces between. Bake 15 minutes at 425 degrees; invert on serving dish. Let ring mold set 5 minutes before lifting off. Makes 3 generous servings.

Shop Wisely, Save Money, Eat Better

Are you spending too much for food? Many families do. Others don't spend enough. And, some who spend too much are still improperly fed. Nearly everybody could improve their food-buying habits. . . get a better balance in money spent, nutrition received, saving time in the kitchen, and serving meals with personal appeal.

Careful menu planning and wise shopping are among major considerations in getting full return for your food dollars.

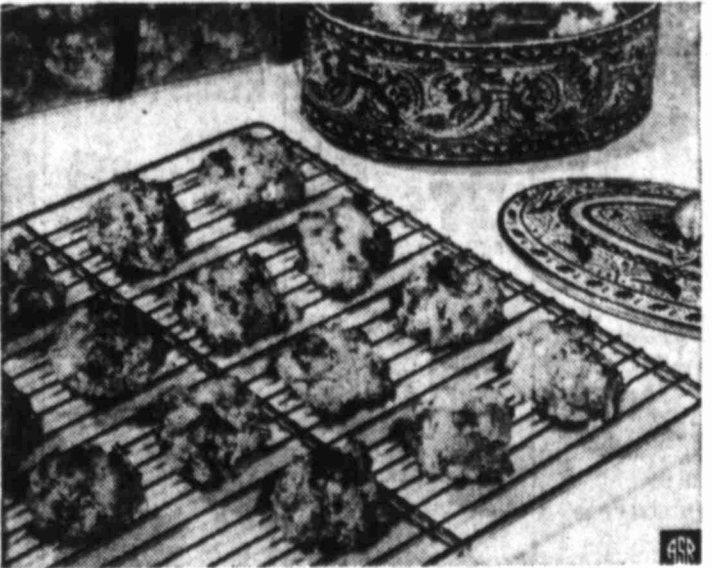

Reading the labels on food in the store is one helpful way to learn that you are getting what you pay for. These labels will tell not only the weight and package contents but often will tell the official quality grade.

USDA grades on food mean the same thing in all parts of the country, in any season, in any store, day in and day out. They are based on nationally uniform federal standards. They offer you a reliable guide to quality and a chance to compare quality with price.

You won't find U.S. grades on all foods, since their use is voluntary. Processors or packers who want their product to carry the U.S. grade name or the shield-shaped USDA grade mark must contract and pay for official grading services. Many foods that are actually graded by USDA do not carry the grade mark. Meat, poultry, eggs, fruits and vegetables are items frequently graded. These make up a big part of your food budget.

No one can say what percentage of a family's disposable income should be spent for food. Some families want to spend more and eat "high on the hog;" others want to spend less on food and have more money for non-essentials. Still others spend less and their families are better nourished than those who spend more.

American consumers spent $118 billion for food in 1971. That's almost 4 percent more than a year earlier. But, in 1971, the portion of disposable income spent for food dropped to an all-time low of 16 percent.

Everyone Does Own Thing To Help With Family Meals

By BARBARA LORD

Cooking is a family affair for the M. A. Snells. Snell, a vice president at First National Bank, is chief chef for family patio meals. The menu may include steaks, pork chops, hams, roast or a variety of other items. Snell is ably assisted by Dale, 6.

In the dessert line, Mrs. Snell's forte is baking pies, but the couple's daughter, Tracy, 8, is in charge of cakes.

"Tracy really makes a much better cake than I do," said Mrs. Snell (Judy), "and I'm glad she's interested in learning. I think it's good to let her start now to build up her experience."

In the end, most of the cooking is done by Mrs. Snell who enjoys the art and could easily spend all day preparing an evening's meal. She studied homemaking in school for four years, but said the only way to really learn is to cook regularly for a family.

"I prefer to cook old-fashioned meals," said Mrs. Snell. "Country cooking, like Mexican corn bread and home-made rolls, are favorites of my family. I follow a recipe pretty closely the first couple of times, and then I might add a little more of something and a little less of something to eat it just the way we like it."

Most of Mrs. Snell's recipes come from friends, and she can tell by looking at them whether or not her family will like them.

Her favorite and most used cookbook is one written by a friend, Mrs. Lee C. O'Neil of Lubbock. The "sure fire" pie shell recipe shown with this article is from the book. Mrs. Snell's ultimate goal is to become a gourmet cook, but she said she is far from reaching it right now.

"There seems to be some special talent involved in gourmet cooking," said Mrs. Snell. "I'd love to be able to do it, but just haven't had the time to practice. I really think we'd enjoy that type of food, and it would be nice to know for party entertaining." The Snells haven't done a lot of entertaining since arriving in Big Spring from Brownfield about two years ago. Most of their leisure time has been spent redecorating their home at 2809 Coronado. Various shades of orange and yellow are used throughout the home. The dining room and living room are done in light shades and have a cool refreshing atmosphere to them. In the den, the shades are somewhat darker and the over-all mood of the room is rustic and comfortable. The large fireplace has white bricks with an orange tint, and blends nicely into the decor.

"We like to do things around the house that the kids can help with," said Mrs. Snell. "It makes it more of a home, but I also have a lot of things planned for, now that school has started again."

The furnishings in the Snell home include an eclectic blend of French, Spanish, antique and early American. One of Mrs. Snell's treasures is an antique organ made in the 1800's.

"When I'm buying furniture, I don't look for a specific period or style. I think they can all blend together. Antique furniture goes with anything if the piece is chosen with care."

In addition to her home and family, Mrs. Snell is interested in club and civic activities. She is women's division chairman for the city's United Fund campaign this year, and she is a member of 1946 Hyperton Club. The family attends First Methodist Church.

Painting is Mrs. Snell's favorite hobby, but, like cooking, she must be in the mood before attempting anything.

"When I get in the mood I just sit down and do it," she said. "But I've painted some pretty horrible pictures that I tried to do when I really wasn't in the mood." Other hobbies include playing piano and organ, and she also sings.

Mrs. Snell was born and reared in Lubbock, the daughter of a farming and ranching couple. She said she enjoyed being a "farmer's daughter." Snell is from Lampasas originally. The couple has been married 10 years, and spent seven years in Brownfield prior to moving here.

Snell received a degree in animal husbandry from Texas Tech University, and began a career in the banking field as agricultural representative for State Bank, Brownfield.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES Of Mrs. M. A. Snell

PIE PASTRY SHELL

2 cups flour
3/4 cup shortening
1 tsp. salt
Ice water
Combine flour, shortening and salt, and work shortening in until it forms pieces the size of small peas. Add ice water (about 6 to 8 tbsps.) to make dough barely stick together. Chill, and roll out in desired pastry size.

MEXICAN CORN BREAD

1 cup whole kernel corn
1 1/4 cups corn meal
1 cup milk
1/2 cup soda
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup butter
2 eggs, beaten
3 jalapeno peppers
1/2 lb. grated cheddar cheese

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Put into muffin pans and bake at 400 degrees for 15 to 18 minutes.

HOMEMADE ROLLS

1/2 cup calded milk
1/4 cup shortening
2 tbsps. sugar
1 1/2 tps. salt
1/2 cup lukewarm water
1 pkg. dry yeast
1 egg
3 cups sifted flour
Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water and combine with milk, shortening, sugar and salt. Blend in egg. Gradually add flour and mix well. Let set in refrigerator about two hours. Remove and let set another hour. Roll out and cut into rolls. Bake at 375 degrees until brown.

RICE DRESSING

2 cups cooked rice
1 cup chopped parsley or two tbsps. dehydrated parsley
2 cups milk
1/2 lb. cheese, grated
3 chopped onion
2 eggs, beaten
1/4 stick margarine
1/2 tsp. cayenne pepper
1 1/2 tps. garlic salt
Salt to taste
Mix all ingredients and pour into a greased casserole dish. Bake at 325 to 350 degrees, covered, for one hour. Uncover for last five minutes.

INDIVIDUAL MEAT LOAVES

1 lb. ground chuck
1 bell pepper

Coat Chicken Evenly In Flour

When you are using a bag holding seasoned flour for coating chicken pieces, add only a few pieces of chicken at a time to the bag. This way you have the best chance of having the coating even.

AMERICANS ADOPT Indian Specialty

1/2 cup alphabet noodles
Salt and pepper to taste
1 medium onion, chopped
1 can tomatoes
3 tbsps. ketchup
3 tbsps. bacon drippings
Bacon
Chop half of bell pepper and combine with all other ingredients except bacon. Mix well and divide mixture into muffin pans. Pour a little ketchup over each, and top each with small slice of bacon and a piece of green pepper. Bake at 350 to 400 degrees for about 45 minutes.

Americans Adopt Indian Specialty

This was originally a dish from Indiana.

AMERICAN KEDGEREE

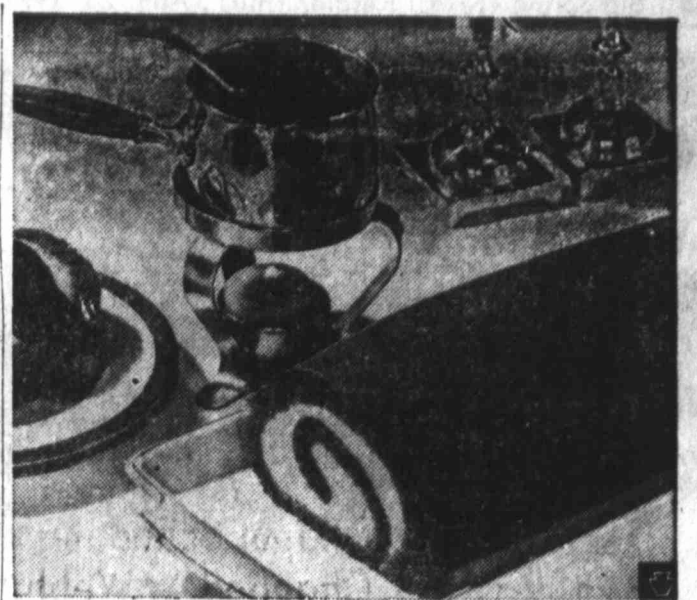

2 cups flaked cooked fish, firm white-meat variety
2 cups hot cooked converted-type rice
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 raw egg
1/4 cup light cream
2 tbsps. butter
Salt and pepper to taste
1 can (3 1/2 oz.) French fried onions, heated according to directions on can Mamango chutney

In a medium bowl toss together the fish, rice and hard-cooked eggs. In a small bowl beat together the raw egg and cream until blended. In a 10-inch skillet over moderate heat melt butter; add fish mixture; stir carefully but thoroughly to heat. Reduce heat to low and add cream mixture; stir carefully but thoroughly to heat. Add salt and pepper. Garnish with some of the French-fried onions; pass remaining onions and chutney. Makes 4 servings.

Hints Given For Hot, Cold Tidbits

Looking for new appetizer ideas? Blend bleu cheese and cream cheese, spread over salami slices and stack. Cut the stacks into quarters. Serve these little triangle-shaped stuffed salami pieces chilly-cold. (Keep wrapped in plastic film until ready to use).

For a hot hors d'oeuvre, roll out the tag ends of pastry and cut into small squares, spread with anchovy paste and flip over in turnover fashion, sealing edges with tinsol or a fork. Bake and serve before dinner.

HOMEMADE CAKE ROLL IS TASTY, PRETTY
An elegant way to top a meal

Choco-Mint Roll Is Cool, Fancy Dessert

A handsome, homemade ice cream cake roll never fails to impress guests, and it lists impressive credentials for the hostess, too. Its elegant appearance belies the easy advance preparation; this elegant dessert awaits the party in the freezer.

On the next warm weather occasion requiring a special dessert, this Choco-Mint Cake Roll will win the appropriate appreciation all 'round. The feathery light chocolate cake gets off to a fast start due to convenient pancake mix. With a filling of pink or green peppermint ice cream and a topping of warm fudge sauce, this dessert rates tops among cake roll variations.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Although bacon can keep under refrigeration for a longer period, for top quality it should be used within a week. When caught with an aging pound, provide a baked bacon treat. Simply separate the slices, arrange on a jelly roll pan and bake in a 400 degrees oven for 10 minutes. Carefully pour off drippings and return to oven for 2 to 5 minutes or to stage of crispness desired. Serve between toast (with or without lettuce, sliced tomato and/or cheese spread) or with eggs, pancakes, waffles or cottage-gripped potatoes.

CHOCO-MINT CAKE ROLL
1/2 tsp. salt
4 eggs
3/4 cup sugar
1 oz. (1 sq.) unsweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
3/4 cup pancake mix
2 pt. peppermint ice cream, softened

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Grease bottom and sides of 14 by 10-inch jelly roll pan. Line with waxed paper; grease again and flour.

For cake roll, add salt to eggs; beat until thick and lemon colored. Slowly add sugar, beating constantly. Blend in chocolate. Add pancake mix; stir until smooth. Spread evenly in prepared pan. Bake in preheated oven 8 to 10 minutes.

While cake is baking, dampen a towel; squeeze well. Immediately on taking cake from oven, loosen edges and turn out on towel. Peel off waxed paper. Roll cake in towel. Let stand 25 minutes. Unroll cake; spread with ice cream. Roll up; wrap in foil. Freeze several hours or overnight. To serve, remove from freezer, unwrap and cut into slices. Top with warm fudge sauce. Serves 8.

HIT BY PITCH — Kansas City Royals' Richie Scheinblum holds his head after being hit by a pitch thrown by Boston's Sonny Seibert. Bending over to aid Scheinblum is catcher Carlton Fisk. Scheinblum left the game and it was reported he was not seriously hurt. Kansas City pitcher Roger Nelson pitched the Royals to a 3-0 shutout, allowing one hit.

Tanner, White Sox Look For Key

Wood, Allen Lead Chicago Into Top Spot In AL West

By The Associated Press
The Chicago White Sox are meticulous baseball players, so it's entirely possible that they closed the door behind them when they stepped into first place in the American League's West Division.

Now, if Manager Chuck Tanner can only find the key to locking it.

The White Sox used Dick Allen's lively bat and Wilbur Wood's rubber arm for a 5-2 victory over New York Wednesday and then hopped into first place in the West a few hours later when Detroit whipped Oakland 7-5.

That was a vital victory for the Tigers since it enabled them to remain one-half game ahead of Baltimore in the East. The Orioles rapped California 7-1.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Cleveland dropped Minnesota 5-1 and Kansas City blanked Boston 3-0. Texas at Milwaukee was rained out.

In the National League, Houston defeated New York 7-4, San Francisco shut out Pittsburgh 8-0. Atlanta outslugged Philadelphia 9-6, Montreal blasted Cincinnati 11-0, Los Angeles shut out St. Louis 3-0 and Chicago stopped San Diego 7-5. Allen hit his 32nd homer of the year, a titanic two-run shot in the seventh inning to help Wood beat the Yankees. It was the 22nd victory of the year for the knuckleballer.

The homer soared into the centerfield bleachers at White Sox park—470 feet from home plate—an area reached only three times before. The huge homer gave Wood a working margin and increased Allen's runs batted in total to 91.

Tanner, reaching into his managerial bag of adjectives, called Allen, "Babe Ruth, Rogers Hornsby and Ty Cobb, all put together."

He neglected, however, to compare Wood with Cy Young, if the knuckler captures the award named for the legendary pitcher, that'll be good enough for Tanner. It might even mean that the manager will locate that key to the first place door.

Detroit boosted the Sox into the West lead and stayed in front in the East by knocking off Oakland. The Tigers did it with a seven-run explosion in the second inning, four of the runs scoring on Bill Freehan's second grand slam homer of the season.

That should have made it easy for Joe Coleman, who won his first game since June 22. And it was easy until the ninth when Coleman, coasting along on a three-hitter, was suddenly strafed for four runs. Chuck Seelbach came on to get the last out.

Ted Kubiak drove in four of the A's runs, three with a bases-loaded double in the ninth. Baltimore stayed one-half game off Detroit's pace by pounding California for Jim Palmer's 17th victory of the season.

The Orioles also used a big inning for their victory, bunching six runs in the fourth inning, three of them on a homer by Paul Blair.

Roger Nelson carried a no-hitter until two were out in the eighth inning against Boston when Ben Ogilvie spoiled the Kansas City pitcher's bid with a clean single on a 3-2 pitch.

"I just threw it right down the pipe and he hit it cleanly," said the Royals' right-hander of the Red Sox' lone hit.

Ed Kirkpatrick accounted for all the KC runs with a three-run homer in the sixth inning against loser Sonny Siebert.

Buddy Bell drilled a bases-loaded double for three runs as Cleveland stopped Minnesota.

The Indians snapped a scoreless tie in the sixth, scoring two runs on Alex Johnson's sacrifice fly and an error. Rich Reese's seventh-inning homer cut that lead in half but Bell's double gave Steve Dunning a comfortable edge.

That's something the Division leaders, Chicago and Detroit, wish they had.

HOUSTON DUMPS NEW YORK

Dierker Hurls Astros To Win

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'd like to think I've got a chance at winning maybe 17 or 18 games this year," said Larry Dierker, discounting any hopes of equalling his 20-win season of 1969.

"And I'm going to have to do it if we're to have any chance of catching Cincinnati," Houston's big righthander, now 12-7, added after the Astros beat the New York Mets 7-4 Wednesday.

The 6-foot-4 hurler scattered six hits and struck out nine batters en route to his 10th complete game of the National League baseball season—tops on the Houston staff. But he was more concerned about the Reds.

"It's discouraging," he said. "They've been so hot lately, it seems they never lose."

But they lost big Wednesday night. Montreal pummeled Cincinnati 11-0, enabling the Astros to cut the Reds' lead in the West Division to 7½ games.

"The only way for us to catch them," Dierker added, "is for us to really get hot."

The Astros really got hot against Jerry Koonsman in the fourth inning. Trailing 1-0, they put together four straight hits, including Tommy Helms' two-run single, to score five runs and take a lead they never relinquished.

Singles by Jimmy Wynn and Bob Watson and Doug Rader's double tied the game, then Helms singled to make it 3-1. One out later, Jesus Alou doubled Helms to third and kayoed Koonsman, 8-10.

Bob Stinson's sacrifice fly and Roger Metzger's single off reliever Gary Gentry completed the outburst but the Astros made it 7-1 in the fifth on Rader's sacrifice fly and Alou's run-scoring single.

The Mets, who had scored in the third inning on Ken Boswell's double and Lute Barnes' single, got their final three runs in the eighth, two of them on Ed Kranepool's seventh home run.

Friday night the Astros will return home to start a weekend series against Montreal while the Mets will open a road trip in Atlanta.

Card Coach Dies En Route To Contest

HOUSTON (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, shocked by the sudden death of defensive coach Chuck Druils, try to concentrate on football in the Astrodome tonight against the Houston Oilers in an exhibition football game.

Druils collapsed and died Wednesday on the Ozark Air-Louis to Houston. The plane landed at Little Rock, Ark. where Druils was pronounced dead.

Druils was attended on the plane by team physician Dr. Fred Reynolds.

The game will feature quarterbacks for both teams trying to nail down starting berths.

Cardinal Coach Bob Holloway will open with either Gary Cuozzo or veteran Cardinal Jim Hart. Cuozzo, who came to the Cards in a trade from Minnesota, has started all three St. Louis games.

Houston Coach Bill Peterson is expected to counter with second year quarterback Lynn Dickey, who is challenging Dan Pastorini, also a second-year man, for the starting Oiler job.

Pastorini, who engineered Houston's 20-3 victory over Green Bay last Saturday, has completed 28 of 60 passes for four touchdowns. Dickey has hit 20 of 28 passes for three touchdowns and a pin-point 71.4 percentage of his attempts.

Holloway also has Tim Van Galder to consider in selecting a starting quarterback. Van Galder took command with St. Louis trailing 13-0 against Denver and produced 17 second half points for a 17-13 victory.

Former Texas Tech All-American Donny Anderson and Leon Burns are new additions to the Cardinal backfield, both coming to St. Louis in off-season trades. Burns is the team's leading rusher with 86 yards on 22 carries.

Phils' Bowa, Skipper Swap Verbal Blows

Play me or trade me, insists shortstop Larry Bowa of the Philadelphia Phillies. Don't press your luck, says Manager Paul Owens.

The player and his boss took verbal swings at each other following Wednesday night's 9-6 loss to the Atlanta Braves.

"I think I'm going to be traded," said Bowa, who claims he's in Owens' doghouse. "Nobody appreciates anything I do."

Would Owens trade possibly the best fielding shortstop in baseball?

"Certainly I would," said Owens. "If I could help the club, I would. Nobody's untouchable here. But I wouldn't trade anybody just to make a trade."

Bowa was particularly irked after Owens pulled him out of Wednesday night's game in the sixth inning in favor of Terry Harmon.

"He told me I needed a rest," said the 26-year-old defensive star who set a major league fielding record for shortstops last season. "There's no way I can buy that. Who needs a rest when there is a day off coming up tomorrow?"

Owens responded to Bowa's acid remarks with fire.

"Tell him to go bleep in his hat," said the manager. "Some people aren't smart enough to understand anything. His trouble is that he's happy when he gets two hits and we lose ... but he's burned up when he gets shut out and we win."

While tempers exploded in Philadelphia, bats went beserk in Montreal as the Expos crushed the West-leading Cincinnati Reds 11-0 behind a 14-hit attack in another National League baseball game.

Elsewhere, the San Francisco Giants clobbered the East-leading Pittsburgh Pirates 8-0; the Houston Astros defeated the New York Mets 7-4; the Los Angeles Dodgers turned back the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0 and the Chicago Cubs clipped the San Diego Padres 7-5.

In the American League, it was Chicago 5, New York 2; Baltimore 7, California 1; Cleveland 5, Minnesota 1; Kansas City 3, Boston 0 and Detroit 7, Oakland 5. The Minnesota-Cleveland game was postponed by rain.

The clash between Bowa and Owens apparently reflected the pressures of a losing team. Felix Millan banged three hits and Dusty Baker ripped a home run as the Braves handed the Phillies their 74th loss in 117 games, the worst record in baseball.

Ron Woods, making a rare start against a right-handed pitcher, responded with two, three-run homers to help Montreal bury Cincinnati.

"It's unusual for me to hit one home run, let alone two," said Woods, shaking his head in disbelief over his performance. "I'm not trying to do anything different—I'm just trying to make contact when I go up."

Jim Barr pitched a two-hitter for his first major league shut-out and Willie McCovey blasted a two-run homer to lead San Francisco over Pittsburgh.

Four straight hits, including Tommy Helms' two-run single, highlighted a five-run fourth inning that carried Houston over New York. Larry Dierker scattered six hits and struck out nine Mets to notch his 12th victory in 19 decisions this year.

Willie Davis had three singles and knocked in a run to back the four-hit pitching of Bill Singer as Los Angeles defeated St. Louis. Billy Williams drove in three runs and Joe Pepitone and Paul Popovich had two RBI apiece to pace Chicago over San Diego.

BORDER CROSSING — A member of the Freilassing Athletic Club passes through a cheering crowd as he carries the Olympic flame across the border from Austria to West Germany Wednesday. The flame is to reach Munich Saturday, in time for the opening ceremony.

Hondo Knows Frustration

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Frank (Hondo) Howard hasn't known such frustration since his last years in Los Angeles, but the Texas Rangers' slumping slugger isn't thinking—yet—of ending his major league baseball career.

"Next year will be pivotal," the huge first baseman and off-season resident of Green Bay, Wis., said Wednesday night before the Rangers-Milwaukee Brewers game was rained out.

"If you put two bad years together, you've got to face reality and not kid yourself," Howard said. "I really don't know yet. I hope it's not the end. There's a month and a half to go yet this year, and maybe I can still put it together."

The former American League all-star's 1972 totals of eight home runs, 30 runs batted in and .238 batting average aren't the only factors against him. So are his 36 years and $100,000-plus salary on a club already financially pinched.

"Platooning hasn't helped," Howard said. "And then I had no spring training at all. I started the season cold turkey. Then, too, our ball park in Texas just isn't a hitters' park."

Howard signed his 1972 contract the day before the major league players went on strike. He worked out on his own at a junior college in Florida during the strike, but running in itself couldn't hone his hitting eye. Howard dismisses as "just conjecture" reports he had considered not moving with the franchise from Washington to Texas this year.

POLITICS DISAPPEAR

'The Game Is On'

MUNICH (AP) — Finally the young, the strong, the graceful and the swift are being thrust into prominence at Munich's Olympic Games.

Politics disappeared into the Bavarian fog as Avery Brundage and the entire Rhodesian team were consigned to sports' pasture within 24 hours.

"The game is on," said trackman Lee Evans of San Jose, Calif.

U.S. and Kenyan runners galloped through a blistering pre-view of Olympic track and field on Wednesday night. Black speedsters who earlier threatened a walkout at the Games were among the most impressive.

Evans, the 400-meter gold medalist in the 1968 Olympics, anchored the U.S. 1,600-meter relay team to a rapid closing of 3:00.89 fastest in the world this year.

Larry Black of Miami, Fla., back from leg injuries, did 20.24 in the 200-meter sprint and was leadoff man on the American 400-meter relay that blazed around Olympic Stadium in 38.89 seconds—seven-tenths seconds off the world mark.

Evans and his three running mates, Vince Matthews of New York, Wayne Collett of Santa Monica, Calif., and John Smith of Los Angeles, were among the American blacks who vowed to leave Munich if white-controlled Rhodesia had been allowed to compete.

Rhodesia was kicked out by the International Olympic Committee over a passport technicality, a bitter setback for retiring IOC President Avery Brundage.

His pride still openly wounded, Brundage presided Wednesday over the election of Lord Killanin of Ireland as the new IOC president, and there was a scent of change in the air. "We have to realize we are about to enter the last quarter of the 20th century," the Irish peer said.

Golf Twinbill Under Way

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Pro golf's first doubleheader, with two separate and distinct tournaments being played at the same time on the same course, got underway today with only one thing certain:

The man who leads the $100,000 Liggett and Myers Open after 36 holes has absolutely no chance of winning. In fact, he won't even be allowed to compete for the $20,000 first prize.

He'll have to shift over to the $150,000 U.S. Professional Match Play Tournament—with the possibility of facing Jack Nicklaus or Lee Trevino or Arnold Palmer head-to-head in his first match.

Both tournaments are on the 6,953-yard, par 72 Country Club of North Carolina course. The L&M is a regular 72-hole stroke play event. It runs through Sunday with one round of 13 holes each day.

On the weekend, the match play tournament will be held. It's straight match play, the only one on the pro schedule this year, in which one player goes head-to-head with his opponent. Two rounds are scheduled both Saturday and Sunday.

While the few U.S. track stars who entered the pre-Olympic meet were impressive, the Yank women's swimming team suffered at least a temporary setback.

Denna Dearduff of Cincinnati injured her ankle in a fall at Olympic Village, and the butterfly specialist was hobbling Wednesday on crutches.

In the track and field pre-view, Kenya's fabled Kip Keino, who may retire after the Munich Olympics, ran the fastest 800 meters of his career with a 1:46.41 clocking.

Keino will not run the 800 in the Games but will concentrate on the 1,500, in which he is defending Olympic champion, along with the relays.

Robert Ouko of Kenya tied a creditable 1:48.11 in another 800 meters heat. He is a teammate of Black's in the United States at North Carolina Central College.

Black had been timed in 20.0 for 200 meters prior to suffering leg injuries. He has been slowly regaining speed, but barely qualified for Munich by finishing third in the U.S. Trials at Eugene, Ore.

Valery Borzov of Russia, who has run 20.2, is the likely favorite in the spectacular dash event when Olympic track and field competition begins Aug. 31.

Bill Bowman of Oregon, the head track coach of the American men, removed 19-year-old Rey Robinson of Lakeland, Fla., from the 400-meter relay team and placed the more experienced Black on the No. 1 leg.

Bottled Up

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

HELP? (Q.) I think I am losing my mind. Something is eating away at me but I can't pinpoint it. I have talked to my counselor at school. He helped me a little but I can't see him again until September.

I am 15 and feel bottled up. There are few people who even come close to understanding me. My parents don't. To put it bluntly, I don't belong. I have practically no social life. My parents are afraid if I go anywhere other than school, I will get mixed up with drugs.

I greatly admire girls but have not been able to make good friends with any. My parents try to understand me and they do care for me, but they just can't really comprehend. If my mother knew or suspected I need professional help, it would break her to bits. My father thinks all a person who is sick in the head has to do is get hold of himself.

I know I am near a nervous breakdown. I don't know what to do. What do I need to do? ... In a Cage, California.

(A.) You are a very intelligent, you have not done the which I had to cut, tells me that. Yet, with all your intelligence, you have not done smart thing. You have not talked to your parents about your possible need of professional help.

You have bottled it up and carried it around inside you, letting it grow bigger and bigger and heavier. Tell them what you fear. It will not kill your mother or your father either. It'll be out in the open where it can be discussed. If help is needed in the discussion, ask them to go with you to your minister or your family doctor or, when school opens, to your counselor.

PICTURE PLEA: (Q.) I am 14 and ugly. I have pimples. I am always depressed. I am sending you a picture of myself. I would like an honest opinion of what you think I look like. Ugh in Upper New York State.

(A.) Your picture isn't all that bad. With a few beauty hints you can be very attractive. Get your hair trimmed all around length and keep it clean and shiny. See a dermatologist and let him clean your face up. Visit a cosmetic studio and ask for makeup advice. The right blush lipstick and eye makeup will add healthy color to your face. Then smile a lot, enjoy yourself and get interested in others.

Driver's Ed Data Released

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — "The new driver's education programs are working but the old ones are not," Glenn L. Peavy of the Texas Education Agency said Tuesday.

Peavy said students who have not taken driver's education in public schools have fewer accidents and violations in their earliest years of driving than students who have taken the course.

The reason probably is because drivers who have not taken the course are an average of two years older and have more driving experience than those who finished the program.

Drivers who have finished the new driver education program that utilizes an automobile simulator in the classroom also have fewer accidents and violations, he said.

Peavy, safety and driver education program director of the TEA, presented the results of a study to the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee.

Among recommendations in the study are more intensive traffic safety programs for males than for females and a 12-month restricted license instead of full driving privileges for students who complete a driver's ed course. The driver should be required to have an other licensed driver over 21 years of age in the front seat with him during the first year, he said.

Peavy said it would cost $13 million to provide a comprehensive driver education program for the 306,000 students who will be eligible during the 1973-74 school year.

Why Wait?

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a very fine gentleman whose wife passed away about six months ago. She had been ailing for over a year. This man and I have known each other for several years, but I give you my word nothing went on between us while he was still married although we have been attracted to each other since our first meeting. We are both past middle fifties, but this is some wild love affair. He wants to marry me quietly and quickly. I want to marry him, too, but it has come back to me that many people think we had something going while his wife was still living. This is not true. I have married children and so has he and I don't want any ugly talk. To be on the safe side, how long should we wait before marrying?

DEAR CON: If your conscience is clear, you have clear sailing. Why wait at all?

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from "FORTY-EIGHT AND GETTING THERE" with some concern because as far back as I can remember, comedians have been portraying old folks. Naturally, they come off a bit wobbly, and some don't hear too well, but it's all in fun, and I doubt if anyone sets out to ridicule them. My wife and I have always enjoyed the Carol Burnett show, which includes skits showing the old couple in their rocking chairs.

DEAR THERE: Thanks for expressing an opinion shared by this writer and many others. Carol Burnett is far too kind and sensitive to intentionally ridicule or hurt anyone.

DEAR ABBY: Our 22-year-old son has a 21-year-old girl friend who spends a lot of time at our home. These two cannot seem to keep their hands off each other.

The bidding:

3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠

Failure by East to lend his partner assistance early in the defense against South's four spade contract presented the latter with an opportunity to apply a vice against West. In the end position, West was offered a choice of plays—either one of which was destined to give declarer his 10th trick. West made a takeout double of South's opening one spade bid and East dutifully responded with two hearts. Since South possessed considerable playing strength, he jumped to three spades as an invitation to his partner which North accepted inasmuch as he held an ace and three trumps headed by the queen.

West opened the queen of clubs, declarer played the four from dummy and East signaled encouragingly with the nine. The suit was continued and North put up the ace. A third club was led on which East played the king and South ruffed with the five of spades. A small spade put dummy in to lead the remaining club which declarer again trumped in his hand as West discarded a diamond.

On the basis of West's takeout double, it appeared reasonable to place the latter with the ace of hearts as well as the king of diamonds—in which case South seemed slated to lose three tricks in those suits. If declarer was to avert defeat on the deal, it would be necessary to affect some sort of end play against his opponent and in order to set up a profitable position for himself, South proceeded to run all of his trumps.

West was obliged to make four more discards and he gave up the three and eight of diamonds and the six and jack of hearts. This was the position at trick 10 with the lead in the South hand:

NORTH

The ace of diamonds was cashed and West realized that if he played the ten, he would go in on the next round with the king and be forced to lead away from the ace of hearts. East's discard of the three, four, and five of hearts convinced West that South held the king of that suit. In order to avoid the endplay, West dropped the king under the ace of diamonds in the hope that his partner held the queen and could thereby get in to lead a heart. South now cashed the queen of diamonds for his 10th trick. In all, he lost one club and two hearts.

East had an opportunity to lend a hand to his partner at the outset, by overraking the queen of clubs with the king, after North plays low, and then shifting to a heart at trick two. West can cash two tricks in that suit to complete his book and then exit with a club and wait to score the setting trick later with the king of diamonds. West's failure to lead a heart originally, indicated that South held an honor in that suit and that a lead thru by East would help his partner.

Cuba Can Service Red Naval Vessels

By WILLIAM GIANDONI
Copley News Service

Communist Cuba is, at the very least, able to service Soviet naval vessels at the fishing port in Havana. What other support the Cubans provide the Russian navy in the Cuban capital is not known. But the fact that they have been servicing and repairing large Soviet fishing trawlers in Havana for some years now, since 1966, in fact, suggests additional capability. Until now, it had been generally believed only that the Cubans offered support facilities to the Soviet navy at Cienfuegos, the deep water port on Cuba's southern coast. Attention had been concentrated on Cienfuegos because of the visits there by Soviet nuclear submarines and other naval units since May, 1970. The perhaps unwitting reference to the extra service provided by the fishing port on the north coast came in a Spanish-language pamphlet on "Characteristics of the Market and Distribution of Fish Products in Cuba," an official publication of the Cuban Fishing Institute, a government agency. The pamphlet discussed the progress that the Cubans have made in commercial fishing in the 1967-1971 period and the reasons for the great leap forward. Among the items mentioned in the summary version obtained by Copley News Service was "construction of the fishing port at Havana, financed by the USSR at a cost of $85 million, which Cuba is repaying in services offered in the port to Soviet fishing and navy vessels." The reference to "navy" vessels was, so far as is known, the first official Cuban admission that the fishing port may be more than what its name implies. The port is located in the southwestern part of the Bay of Havana, in the Atrases and Pote coves. It covers a land area of some 33 acres. Its four docks total some 4,500 feet in length, and it is equipped with one floating and five gantry cranes. It has a floating dry dock, shops that can repair hulls, boilers, diesel engines, gears and other machinery. The fishing port was designed and built by the Soviets under an agreement signed in Havana 10 years ago, Sept. 25, 1962, that called for facilities capable of supporting a fishing fleet of up to 130 trawlers. According to an appraisal of the installation, by Milan A. Kravanja, a U.S. expert on Soviet fisheries, in the recently published book, "Soviet Seapower in the Caribbean," the Havana fishing port "could have some auxiliary military uses in an emergency, but there is no evidence that it is being used by Soviet naval or electronic intelligence vessels at the present time. . . . The (radio communications) center could provide communications support to Soviet naval vessels and submarines operating in the Atlantic." The subject of Soviet naval activities in Cuba is one that comes up for discussion in the U.S. Congress periodically. The House subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs, headed by Rep. Dante Fascell of Florida, held hearings on the matter in both 1970 and 1971 and presumably will do so again this year. The subcommittee's attention, though, has been drawn chiefly to the possibility that Cienfuegos might become a nuclear submarine support facility. A review of the heavily censored testimony Defense Intelligence Agency spokesmen gave the subcommittee in the past and consideration of what has become known about the physical facilities of the fishing port suggests that Havana is the better equipped installation.

Will Press For Barge Canal From Coast To Alamo City

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A 40-county association will be formed to press for the creation of a barge canal that would make San Antonio and inland port, linked to the Gulf through Tuesday. Chamber of Commerce officials said the group will promote the idea of a canal along the San Antonio River from Floresville to Victoria, which has a barge canal stretching to the Gulf. Stanley Campbell, head of the chamber's transportation council, said Gov. Preston Smith will help in establishing the San Antonio River Basin Development Association. He said the association would attempt to persuade the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to resume a feasibility study on the canal project. A preliminary study was temporarily shelved after the Corps found that the 140-mile waterway probably would not be economically feasible, Campbell confirmed at a news conference. But he said later economic information and changes, coupled with more lenient federal guidelines on the financial returns on waterways, have convinced local leaders such a project is feasible. Chamber officials and political leaders plan to visit Tulsa, Okla., again this fall to view that city's barge canal link to the Mississippi River, Campbell said.

The San Antonio project would take at least 15 years to become reality, he said. Although no cost estimate is available at this point, federal funds would be used. The Corps' feasibility study indicated San Antonio could only expect to ship 1.3 million tons of goods on the canal the first year, Campbell said, but the chamber has found one business, a major construction firm here, that said it would ship about 1.6 million tons of equipment a year itself. He said Tulsa's waterway carried four times as much tonnage in its first year as the Corps had estimated.

Blood Pressure

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a cheerful neurotic music teacher, age 35. The doctor says I am in excellent health but I have high blood pressure. I have lost 20 pounds, take medication and watch my diet. Several of my friends have high blood pressure and we compare notes. When theirs is 160-90, they take off from work to rest under (they say) their doctor's orders. Last week mine was 138-118 and my doctor says I'm doing great. When I report my blood pressure, they all tell me to go to bed and change doctors. I respect my doctor who has taken care of me and my husband for nearly 35 years and he tells me to keep on working. So should I keep quiet about my blood pressure "score" — Mrs. G. N. Managing a patient with high blood pressure can vary quite a bit depending on a lot of things including the patient's emotional makeup, his general health, whether he is making some gradual progress, and so on. However, it is extremely unusual for a patient to be told to stop work and go to bed just because pressure reached 160-90, and frankly it sounds to me as though your friends are using a pretty flimsy excuse to stay away from work. Let's admit that your pressure is higher than ideal — but you are doing something about it other than ducking work. I would, most certainly, follow your doctor's instructions, and take your friends' free "advice" with a grain of salt. Yes, I'd keep quiet about your "score," and if your friends do any insisting, lie to 'em with a clear conscience. It is quite probable their meddling is up-setting you enough so that your nervous tension is adding a few (or more than a few) points to your blood pressure readings. Meantime if you haven't read already, I suggest that you send 25 cents and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope for my booklet, "Controlling Your Blood Pressure." Just understanding the condition, and knowing that you are taking the proper steps to treat it, should give you a little more self-confidence and less worry about what your friends say. Dear Dr. Thosteson: The other day I was reading about an operation to smooth facial scars, called dermabrasion. Can you tell me how old one should be to have this done, the price, and where it can be done? — P.M. Age isn't particularly significant. Keep in mind, however, that dermabrasion is for relatively superficial scars and blemishes, and won't remove large scars or pits. The cost varies depending on how much area has to be treated. Your family doctor can refer you to a plastic surgeon, or to a dermatologist, since many dermatologists use dermabrasion. It amounts to removing the surface layers of skin, and allowing a new surface layer to form. It's excellent in certain cases, but it isn't the end-all of blemishes that some folks think it is. So talk to a skin specialist or plastic surgeon first, before making up your mind whether it will help you. Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 70 and my health is good. I work right along, do a lot of walking and go dancing once a week. In the last few months I have had a hernia on the right side. The doctor said I should get it fixed. Do you think I should at my age? — G.W. Yes. Your doctor recommended it and he knows your general condition. A hernia does not improve by itself. It gets worse. Headaches! You can beat them. Write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How To Tame Headaches." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Near, Yet So Far Apart!!

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — The two brothers lost track of each other in 1918. Charles Brooks, the older, accompanied his father from the family home in Healdton, Okla., to New Mexico to look for work. Henderson Brooks, the younger, stayed home. The father died and Charles never returned home. Henderson Brooks moved to Ventura County in 1941 and now owns a restaurant. Over the years he tried to locate his brother, but never succeeded until last week — too late. Henderson's wife came across the name Charles Herbert Brooks in the obituary column and began checking. She learned that the older brother moved to Ventura County eight years after Henderson and settled about 35 miles away from Ventura in the Simi Valley. Henderson Brooks is in a hospital because of illness and wasn't able to attend his brother's funeral.

Sweet Charity

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A postal employe sat on the steps of the Post Office enjoying a cup of coffee. He placed the cup beside him and closed his eyes against the glare of the hot sun. At that point Tuesday, an elderly woman passed by, paused and dropped a quarter into the half-filled coffee cup.

Horoscope Forecast

CAROL RICHTER

FRIDAY, AUGUST 25, 1972

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Indicating an interest in the lotter attributes of the mind, such as in art, music and culture, can eliminate a highly demanding condition that prevails in the atmosphere today. Make certain you avoid making any promises unless absolutely sure of all facts involved.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)

You may be in a rut now but if you act kindly toward others, you can make a triumph which tempers you to go on a triumph. Keep positive.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)

Don't depend on reliable friends today since they have problems of their own and are perplexed. You know just what to do, anyway, so study factors carefully. Tomorrow is a better day.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)

Make sure that jewelry and other valuables are in a safe place for the weekend. Do nothing that will irritate others. Take no chances where your reputation is concerned.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21)

You can assist others now and should do so since you are in a fine position at the present. You can also expand your horizons, so make preparations now and get necessary details.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 22)

You can handle your responsibilities nicely if you need, increased affection for the one you love will bring fine results. Avoid any heated arguments.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22)

Carry through with what associates want you to do and avoid arguing with anyone for best results today. Compliment associates and express appreciation. Show that you are a practical person.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)

You have much work to do, so get started early. Don't count too much on co-workers who are not feeling up to their now. But show higher-ups that you can be relied upon implicitly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

If you show others more affection you can have a delightful time today along social lines. Give compliments when due. Make a better preparation before putting a new plan into operation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)

The situation at home could be unpleasant if you don't keep your worries to yourself and annoy others with them. Make your home more charming. Think about the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Much can be accomplished now provided you use extreme care in travel, and avoid arguing with associates. Be precise in doing errands. Don't carry too much cash in your wallet.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You could make a grave error where money is concerned if you are not careful. Seek advice from a business expert. Plan time for balancing your budget. Avoid one who bickers.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)

Plan how to make yourself more charming and get out to places where you can succeed instead of worrying about troubles and anxieties. Don't let yourself become too annoyed with others.

Beef, Pork Cost More Than Ever

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beef and pork cost more than ever before in July while over-all supermarket food prices rose 1.8 percent, the Agriculture Department said today.

Supermarket prices for the year are running 4.5 percent more than in 1971, the department said.

Most of the gain was attributed to higher prices paid farmers and mark-ups by retailers.

The overall retail-food-price increase was slightly more than the 1.2 percent reported Tuesday by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The department explained its meat index was for the entire month while BLS covered prices only in the first week of July, meaning prices were through July.

In all, a "market basket" list of farm-produced food, theoretically enough to feed an average family for an entire year, cost $23 more than in June—a record of $1,322.

Average beef prices for all cuts soared to more than $1.17 per pound in July, compared with $1.13 in June and the previous record of slightly less than $1.16 last February and March. A year ago beef was about $1.05 per pound.

Pork averaged a record 85.6 cents per pound, compared with 82.0 in June. The previous high was 82.1 cents in January 1970.

The July report showed the price spread for beef rose the most between wholesalers and retailers. Farmers received the same as in June, and wholesalers who sell carcass beef actually received a little less.

Prices of live beef cattle have dropped from recent high marks and the wholesale beef price also has edged down. Much of that reduction, however, was not included in the July figures.

Farmers got $16 of the market-basket increase mainly because of higher prices for hogs, chickens, eggs and some fresh vegetables. Middlemen who transport, process and sell food accounted for $7 of the rise.

Compared with $528 in June, the farmers' share of the market basket in July was $544. The middlemen received $771 in June and $778 last month.

Compared with June, lower prices were reported for milk, bread, tomatoes and lettuce.

Band's Trip To Peru Was Successful, Says Star

You might call it "Drumbeat Diplomacy" but, whatever you call it, The University of Texas Longhorn Band's recent visit to Peru was remarkably successful.

Shish-Kabobs have become popular during the past few years for outdoor cooking and Star Hostess Mary Faulk Kooch describes a variety of meats and vegetables that can be combined. She points out that Shish-Kabobs can help create festive Labor Day dining indoors or out.

Star Editor Jimmy Banks comments that youth may have its own "silent majority" composed of sensible young people who are willing to gain a little experience before solving all the world's problems.

'Drive Friendly' Idea Slices Auto Accidents

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith said Tuesday that despite increased auto travel Texas drivers aren't smashing into each other as often as they did last year.

He gave his "Drive Friendly" program partial credit for reducing the frequency of auto accidents and for cutting car insurance rates.

Smith addressed the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee, which runs the "Drive Friendly" program.

"We are, and have been, considerably below the national average in the number of patrolmen—by whatever yardstick is used to measure this."

He said the successful use of National Guard volunteers to help the highway patrol on holiday weekends showed that the highway patrol could do a better job if its numbers were increased.

Irish Tenor Dies

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Eugene F. O'Neill, 84, a prominent Irish tenor on Broadway early in this century, died Tuesday. During his three decades on the stage, O'Neill introduced such songs as "Trees" and "Sweethearts" from the musical "Maytime."

Broadcast Renewals Change Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — After the deadline for a broadcast station to file for renewal of its license, the public will have 60 days, instead of the present 30 days, to file comments on the station's performance.

The Federal Communications Commission Wednesday made the change effective Sept. 1.

But in agreeing to the petition by Black Efforts for Soul in Television (BEST), the FCC refused to order stations whose renewal applications are now on file to notify the public for a second time of their renewal application.

The commission said this would seriously disrupt the orderly consideration of applications.

The rules require a station to broadcast and publish in the local press an announcement of its intention to file for license renewal.

The commission said BEST was correct in pointing out that the 30-day period was inconsistent with the 60-day petition for filing petitions to deny renewal applications because it failed to make the same change for the deadline for receiving public comments.

Big Tomato Bubble Plans

HOUSTON (AP) — Fans were to be switched on today to inflate a vinyl bubble covering 1 1/2 acres which will be used to grow tomatoes.

Charles Robinson, 50, president of Hydroponic Farms, Inc., hopes he will be able to grow more than 1 1/2 million to-matoes annually in the unique greenhouse about 30 miles west of Houston and eight miles north of Richmond.

It is said to be the largest structure of its type in the world.

Robinson said he believes he will beat the heat and ventilation problems by pumping water-cooled air into the bubble to maintain a temperature range of 65 to 80 degrees.

The plants, rooted in sterilized pebbles, will be flooded four times daily with a liquid "containing a precise formula of natural nutrients."

"It's like controlling a baby's formula," Robinson said.

In addition, he said the inflated greenhouse will permit 30 to 40 percent more sunlight to the plants.

Robinson said the high initial investment, $150,000 for the greenhouse and $100,000 for the hydroponic equipment, can turn a profit because of the heavy production possible with the soilless hydroponic method.

Artist Brands Texas 'Cultural Wasteland'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas rates with "cultural wasteland" states in its spending of tax dollars on the arts, the chairman of the state Commission on the Arts and Humanities says.

Gilbert M. Denman Jr. of San Antonio testified at a hearing before the governor's and legislature budget analysts on his agency's 1974-75 spending proposals.

LOW ATED

"In 1972, Texas ranked 42nd in per capita support of the arts by the state, down with Arkansas and Mississippi and other cultural wastelands like that," Denman said.

The commission wants a two-year appropriation of $1.1 million, compared with $302,236 for 1972-73.

Included is $250,000 to aid financially strapped big city museums, theaters, symphony orchestras and other cultural organizations. Another $300,000 would be used to assist non-professional organizations in smaller communities. Spending to send major orchestras and drama groups to small towns on tour would double, from the present $75,000 to $150,000 per year.

"There are at least 30 organizations in the state that have a statewide impact on the arts and have national recognition," Denman said.

"They are getting into deeper and deeper financial trouble. The price of tickets cannot cover these costs. They have to use deficit financing.

IMPOTENT EXECUTIVES

LONDON (AP) — Hard-working executives are more likely to be impotent than their employees, a leading physician reported.

As a result, added Prof. Ivor Mills of Cambridge University, they are likely to experiment with adultery. Writing in the Nursing Mirror, Prof. Mills said: "Impotence is particularly likely to occur in men who are under considerable mental pressure — the managing director, the supervisor who is suddenly given a great deal of paper work, the man working long periods of overtime."

"But the man working under strain may still be aroused by more exciting circumstances."

"When his married life has become humdrum and commonplace the challenge of a new romance may restore his faith in what he thought was his falling virility."

"A sense of guilt when he returns to his wife will complete his inadequacy with her."

The state should help with the financing. If the state has funds for this purpose, it can attract more funds from the federal government.

MONEY IMPACT

Maury Coates, the commission's executive director, said the New York Legislature recently had to appropriate $18 million to rescue several dozen orchestras, ballet societies and other artistic organizations.

"We know we have to start planning now if we are to avoid that kind of crisis, last-minute saving of organizations," Coates said.

He said the commission staff should be increased to give it the ability to perform research on how artistic organizations can cut costs.

Also, he said, the commission should try to learn the "financial impact of the arts."

"This would give us the ability to say to businessmen and social leaders in a community, 'We (the arts) are not a drain on the economy of this town, we are a contributing factor,'" Coates said.

No Tall Tail?

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — To publicize the movie "Willard," about a plague of man-killing rats, a local theater held a contest to find the longest rat in the city.

Chau Lai Chan won a year's pass for two Tuesdays with an entry 11 inches long. That did not include the tail.

Explosions In Oklahoma

OKEMAH, Okla. (AP) — The investigation of an explosion that knocked out several windows of a fuel bottling company in this east central Oklahoma town late Monday night continued today.

It was the third mysterious blast in the state in less than a week.

Police and fire dispatcher Fred Amos said the blast at the Liberty Oil Co. building came at about 6:15 p.m. He said several officers were on the scene until about 2 a.m. looking for evidence.

No one was hurt in the blast. The explosion came in the wake of two blasts in Creek County. The Veterans of Foreign Wars Club in Sapulpa was bombed Saturday night and the American National Bank of Bristow was bombed last week.

Federal Law Creates Jobs For Private Detectives

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — If you report a lost or stolen credit card, don't be surprised if a private detective starts snooping around your favorite stores.

A new federal law limiting one's liability for purchases made by credit card thieves created plenty of new work for detectives, says the man who regulates Texas' private investigators.

The legislature, however, hasn't provided enough money to regulate the booming detective business properly, Thomas W. Brown, executive director of the Board of Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies, said Wednesday.

MORE CHECKS
Most investigators haven't obtained the required state licenses, and a two-man field staff isn't adequate to force them to, Brown said.

Brown and board chairman J. Mason Lankford testified at a hearing on the agency's budget request for 1974-75. The agency, now operating with $66,102 a year, would be spending $574,227 annually in the year starting Sept. 1, 1974, under the budget submitted to the governor's office and the Legislative Budget Board. Included are funds for 10 more investigators.

Brown said the funds would enable the board to increase the number of detectives and other investigators holding licenses from 500 now to 3,000 by the end of 1975.

WIFE OVERBUYS

The new federal law limiting one's liability for purchases made with a lost or stolen credit card to $50 has made a lot of work for detectives, he said.

"Maybe a wife overbuys on her credit card. So to make it right at home, she says, 'That is not my signature—that's a forgery,'" Brown said.

So a credit card company hires a detective to find out the truth.

Also, he said, the credit card companies are "a lot more cautious who they issue cards to, so they are making investigations."

Texans find their way into politics, too, Brown said.

"Investigators are being used in political campaigns. In the last one here in Austin, investigators were used extensively. . . . That is the one category that needs the most regulation. This is where you are dealing with the rights of people and invasion of privacy," said the hawk-nosed, heavy-browed official.

PROTECTION

Checking the yellow pages of telephone directories, he said, Brown came up with a list of 90 different kinds of investigators subject to state licensing — "from 'adjustors' to shoppers service protection."
