NEFF RENEWS GRAFT CHARGE

IRRIGATION PLANS ARE APPROVED BY NOTED AUTHORITY

IN REPORT PREPARED FOR BENEFIT OF BOND BUYERS DECLARES PLAN MERITORIOUS

ANSWERS MANY POSSIBLE OBJECTIONS TO PROJECT

Is Employed to Make Report at Instance of Those Who Are to Buy Bonds

When directors of the Wichita Falls Water Improvement district sought to market the irrigation district bonds in the east, the prospective bond buyers said, "Get Morgan to approve it."

They referred to Arthur E. Morgan, head of the Morgan Engineering company, and a national authority on water and irrigation projects.

Wednesday the directors received Mr. Morgan's report. It puts an absolute o. k. upon the project as a whole and upon the plans for construction and operation. Mr. Morgan went into the matter, on his visit here earlier in the summer, in an exhaustive way, and his report covers every conceivable angle of the project. Here are his findings:

"We have examined the changed plans for the district as submitted to us June 23, and approve them with certain changes in the capacity and design of the spillways of both the storage and diversion dams as hereinafter described.

"We have checked the plans in a general way to determine the amount of materials necessary and the work to be done and agree reasonably closely with the estimates submitted by your engineer.

"We have recalculated the cost of the work, and are of the opinion that by exercising rigid economy the works can be constructed within the estimated cost of $4,500,000. In this connection we recommend that the contracts for the structures required in the distributing system not be let until the remainder of the work has been contracted for. Should it then become necessary, wooden structures can be built instead of concrete in the distributing system and approximately $200,000 saved for use elsewhere.

"This irrigation district is a meritorious project. The soil is fertile, the location is excellent, and the need for supplementing the rainfall is imperative if crops are to be grown successfully and profitably. The land is now approximately 50 per cent under cultivation by dry farming methods and the colonization problem that is usually one in irrigation districts is of minor importance in this one.

"In our opinion the securities of the district are a safe investment. They are a lien not only on the agricultural land in the district, but on the city of Wichita Falls as well. The valuation of this property greatly exceeds the cost of the work."

Answers Possible Objections.

Mr. Morgan's report describes the project in detail, containing much information that has been previously published. He also discusses a number of possible objections that might be raised, and his answers to these objections form a very interesting feature of his report. Whether irrigation is really needed for profitable farming, the possibility of flood damage, whether the annual rainfall is sufficient for irrigation purposes, the disadvantage of the presence of alkali in the water, the danger of filling up by silt, and the characteristics of the soil are all discussed, with findings in line with those given above.

Discussing the need of irrigation, the Morgan report says:

"The average annual rainfall at Wichita Falls is 27 inches. This would be sufficient for successful farming if the rain came at the right season. The average annual rainfall in Minnesota is 25 inches, and in Iowa 32 inches, and seldom is a crop lost from drouth. However, in the area under consideration, there are periods of drouth nearly every year and farming even by the most approved methods is too hazardous to be profitable in the long run.

"We have analyzed the rainfall for the last nine years to determine how many irrigations will be needed each year. We find that in five of these years two irrigations would have been necessary based on a period of 30 days with no rain or only a scanty rainfall; two of these years, one irrigation would have been necessary, and in two years no irrigation would have been needed.

"In 1913 four irrigations would have been necessary and the reservoir would

INCREASING NUMBER OF MASKED PARTIES OPERATING IN STATE

BETWEEN FIFTEEN AND TWENTY CASES REPORTED SINCE APRIL ONE

FREQUENT OCCURRENCE DURING THIS MONTH

Five Cases Are Reported Within the Past Few Days Including One Woman

HOUSTON, TEXAS, July 20.—A former bank cashier of Bay City suffered a tar and feather attack Saturday night at that place, it was reported here today.

DALLAS, June 20.—Activities of masked bands in Texas have been increasing, especially in the past week, according to news dispatches received here. Seven cases in which masked persons took part have been reported.

About fifteen or twenty such happenings have been chronicled in news items since April 1, when a negro bell boy was taken from a Dallas hotel, accused of familiarity with a white woman, whipped and branded with the letters "K. K. K." acid being used. Two other cases in Dallas, in which men were whipped have occurred since then, one May 24 and the other June 15.

Early in April a report from Houston that a lawyer had been tarred and feathered was received.

Beaumont has reported two cases of men being tarred and feathered, early in May the first one, and the other last Saturday night.

From Waco came the report that a masked mob attempted to take a man from his home early in June, but the man escaped. About a month later the same man was captured by masked men, tarred and feathered. Four men were arrested. Three were bound over to await grand jury action and one was released.

Several cases of whippings and tarring and application of feathers have been reported from near Goose Creek.

A negro was whipped and tarred near Belton in June.

Early this month a man was tarred and feathered after being taken from an automobile in Fort Worth.

The cases reported in the last few days include Teneha, Mrs. Beulah Johnson, white woman, stripped and tar applied to her body. J. W. McKnight of Nacogdoches, beaten last Saturday night near Timpson, and again last night. Earl H. Peters of Athens, taken from hotel at Chandler, knocked unconscious and left on highway. Ben Wiley, at Lufkin, tarred and feathered last night, and G. C. Benson of Dickinson whipped with a strap early this week.

IDENTIFY TWO BODIES FOUND UNDER TRUCK

One Was Houston Man and the Other Oil Field Worker of Goose Creek

HOUSTON, TEXAS, July 20.—Identification was established today of two men found dead beneath an overturned truck near San Jacinto battle ground late Tuesday night. They were identified as Ned Bergin of Houston, former trainman for the Southern Pacific, and Frank Lee, former oil field worker of Goose Creek.

Bergin's body was identified by his wife.

The two had been at a fishing camp near Sylvan Beach for a week, she said.

Governor and Lieutenant Governor of Illinois With One Other Are Indicted on Embezzlement Charge

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., July 20.—Governor Small and Lieutenant Governor Sterling and Vernon Curtis were indicted today by the grand jury investigating the state treasury. The indictment charged embezzlement, conspiracy and operation of a confidence game.

The indictment resulted from the loan of $10,000,000 of state funds through the agency of a bank which Attorney General Brundage claimed never existed except on paper. The state received two per cent interest on the funds and the loan was secured by paper from the Chicago packing houses bearing seven per cent interest, it is alleged. Bonds of all three were fixed at fifty thousand dollars on each count.

On the first indictment the governor, lieutenant governor and Curtis were charged with embezzlement of $700,000.

The indictment for conspiracy and confidence games charges that the three obtained, "divers drafts, warrants, vouchers and documents to the amount of $2,000,000."

BILL BURNS AGAIN ON WITNESS STAND IN BASEBALL TRIAL

RELATES DETAILS OF PLOT TO THROW WORLD'S SERIES GAME

DECLARES CHICK GANDIL SPOKESMAN FOR PLAYERS

Mentions Instances of Alleged Double-Crossing in Connection With Negotiations

CHICAGO, July 20.—The Chicago White Sox players, after agreeing with a clique of gamblers to throw the 1919 world series to Cincinnati for $100,000, became sick of the deal when they were not paid the bribes promised and at a meeting before the third game decided to play their best and win the series, Bill Burns, accomplice in the alleged deal and the state's star witness, testified today in the baseball trial.

Urged by the alleged "fixers" to win the third game to improve the betting odds, the players said they had lost to two regulars—Cicotte and Williams—and would not win for a "busher," Dick Kerr, Burns said. Then, feeling they had been crossed by the gamblers, they double crossed their bribers by telling them they would lose the third game, but instead won it three to nothing, with Dick Kerr pitching.

Attempts of the state to have Burns tell of a conversation with Eddie Cicotte in New York where the state claims the alleged conspiracy was formed, failed when Judge Friend sustained a defense objection.

Swede Risberg, the White Sox shortstop, agreed to "go through" with the game throwing, Burns testified.

Repeated attempts to persuade the players to throw the rest of the games failed and Burns then gave up his efforts to bribe the players again, he said.

Burns himself was double crossed out of his share of the spoils by "Chick" Gandil, who refused to pay him, the witness testified, adding that he told Gandil that he would "squawk" and expose the whole deal.

Burns related further details of meetings in Cincinnati hotels at which he said the gamblers and players discussed throwing the games. Attell and Bennett, the latter identified yesterday as David Zelser of Des Moines, Iowa, a defendant, were the leaders of the alleged gamblers, and Chick Gandil headed the players, according to Burns.

Burns said Attell refused to pay the $20,000 promised the players after each game. He persuaded Attell to give him $10,000 after the second game, which was given to Gandil, he said.

A St. Louis man volunteered to put up $10,000 to have the fourth and fifth games thrown, but the players turned him down, Burns said. He did not know the man's name but said Joe Gedeon of the St. Louis Americans, who was released after the grand jury inquiry, was present at the time the proposition was made.

Burns then told how he conferred with Ban Johnson, president of the American league, and John Tyrrell, assistant state's attorney, about the case. He said he came here voluntarily to testify and had received no promises or compensation other than his expenses, which were paid by Johnson. Burns then was turned over to the defense for cross-examination.

Attorney Berger of the defense called the jury's attention to the fact that Burns had given no testimony against Carl Zork, St. Louis defendant.

COURT HOUSE SOON FILLS AND DOORS ARE CLOSED

CHICAGO, July 20.—Bill Burns, admitted accomplice of former White Sox players and alleged gamblers on trial here charged with entering into a conspiracy to throw the 1919 world series to Cincinnati, resumed the witness stand today to continue his story of the alleged sell-out which was interrupted yesterday when court adjourned.

An hour before the opening of the trial the doors of the court room were ordered closed, when every seat was taken.

Hundreds of disappointed fans crowded the corridors or waited outside to watch the arrival of former star ball players who yesterday were accused by Burns of planning to lose the world series in return for $100,000 to be paid by a gambling syndicate.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR BUSINESS MAN KIDNAPED TUESDAY

SHARON, PA., July 20.—Authorities of western Pennsylvania today were searching for Thomas D. Randolph, business man of Sharon, alleged to have been abducted Monday night and held for $50,000 ransom by kidnapers. Randolph is said to have asked his wife and father, E. V. Randolph, of Sharon, to obtain the ransom in a note addressed to his wife at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Fogel, Sharon.

The police said today that Randolph, accompanied by a man and a woman, had left Franklin after he had called his wife on a telephone this morning and said that he was going to Erie, Pa., where he would board a steamer for Cleveland. Randolph was to pass through Oil City and Erie in the automobile, but at daylight this morning the car had not been seen.

Mrs. Randolph denied today that she had spoken to her husband from Franklin, or that Oil City and Erie police had been warned that her husband was at large.

BILL IS DESIGNED TO END ACTIVITIES OF KU KLU KLAN

AUSTIN, July 20.—Representative Patman of Cass has prepared a petition requesting the governor to submit a bill to the special session making it a felony to appear in disguise in Texas. The bill is aimed at the alleged Ku Klux Klan organization. He was circulating it among the house members at noon and several had signed it, including Representative Johnson, author of the Johnson enforcement bill. It will be presented to the governor this afternoon.

Representative Patman asked the governor yesterday to submit the bill and he said that he would consider it after all the bills now up were disposed of. Representative Patman said that if the governor refused he would introduce a resolution proposing that he do it.

Representative Rountree of Brazos, who proposed introducing a resolution to investigate the Ku Klux Klan of Texas, said that he would withhold the resolution until the governor had time to take action on Representative Patman's petition, which he signed.

"If the governor then refuses to submit this bill, I will introduce the resolution," Representative Rountree said.

STATE OFFICIALS HAVE NOT BEEN REQUESTED TO ACT

AUSTIN, July 20.—No action has been taken nor statements made by state officials regarding the latest activities of the Ku Klux Klan in Texas. Attorney General Cureton said it was not up to the state to take a hand in the matter as no requests have been made by local authorities that such be done. He pointed out that it is the duty of the district and county attorneys to prosecute alleged members and activities of the klan.

BENNETT PLEADS GUILTY, LIFE TERM IMPOSED BY JURY

YOUTH CHARGED WITH MURDER OF GEORGE GENTRY OFFERS NO DEFENSE

COUNSEL AGREES NOT TO ASK FOR DEATH PENALTY

Attorneys for Defense Limit Efforts to Showing Prisoner's Mother Was Insane

Dan Bennett, 27-year-old laborer, must spend the balance of his days in penal servitude, a jury in the 30th district court decreed Wednesday, for the murder of George Gentry, an aged mechanic whom Bennett, according to the latter's own confession, killed and robbed on the night of May 17.

Bennett pleaded guilty at about 11:30 Wednesday morning and within an hour had heard the verdict of guilty. It at first appeared that the case would be contested, and selection of a jury started on that premise, but after conferences between the prisoner, his father and attorneys, the previous plea of not guilty was withdrawn and one of guilty was entered.

The plea of guilty was entered pursuant to an agreement of counsel that the state would not ask for the death penalty, and the jury, although it had the right to prescribe a death penalty despite this agreement, conformed to the wishes of the attorneys.

Indication of Insanity.

The state used three witnesses. County Attorney Fulton testified to Bennett's confession and to the finding of the purse. On cross-examination, Attorney S. Heyser asked him if he did not know it to be a fact that children of insane mothers were usually defective mentally. Mr. Fulton replied that such was his understanding.

Dr. W. P. Lowry testified to the nature of Gentry's wounds. He answered in the affirmative when Mr. Heyser questioned him about the children of insane mothers being prone to mental defects.

Mrs. W. G. Wooten, at whose home the killing took place, testified to the fact of Gentry's death and also that Gentry usually carried a considerable sum of money and that Bennett was aware of that fact.

W. G. Bennett of Tishomingo, Okla., the defendant's father, testified that the mother, who died some years ago, lost her mind some months before her death.

Says Life Term Sufficient.

In a very brief speech to the jury, District Attorney Wilson told of the agreement of the counsel for a life sentence. He said that the one thing that might be considered in Bennett's favor was the fact that he had made a full and voluntary confession, evidencing some contrition of mind over his crime.

"A life term would serve all ends of justice," Mr. Wilson said.

Counsel for the defense stated briefly that both sides had agreed to life imprisonment. The jury then retired and within a short time brought in the verdict.

When the case was called the defense presented two motions, both of which were overruled. One was for quashing the indictment on the ground that the jury commission which drew the grand jury list had not been properly appointed. The other motion was for continuance on the ground that the jury list was not properly certified to, and had not been served on the defendant.

Bennett, a well-groomed and not at all evil-looking youth, sat in the court room near his attorneys. During the proceedings he alternately smoked cigarettes and chewed gum. He received the verdict without emotion, although the manner in which he nervously wiped his perspiring hands and face indicated his stress of mind.

Bennett's Confession.

Bennett's confession was published, so far as the main facts went, at the time it was made. It states that he had thought of getting Genry's money previous to the night of the crime, and that he had obtained an iron rod, about 18 inches long and with a bolt on one end, to use when the time came. On the night of the crime he went to Gentry's dugout, in the rear of 308 Mississippi, and laid in wait for the aged man. When the latter came he struck him down, obtained the money, and a short time later went to the flats, where he talked for a while with a woman. Later in the evening he returned to the house and hid the money under the barn.

A few days later, the confession states, he sent a $100 bill out of the four that he found on Gentry to his brother in Oklahoma, instructing the latter to retain $40 of it and send him a money order for the balance. When his brother did so, he spent the money, paying his board bill and buying some clothing and cigarettes. When an officer approached him that night at his home, he hastily shoved the remainder of the money under the house, where it was later found by some children.

INCLUDED IN MESSAGE TO HOUSE BUT NO DEFINITE INFORMATION IS FURNISHED THE LEGISLATURE

AUSTIN, July 20.—In a message to the house of representatives this morning, Governor Neff renewed his charges of extravagance and graft in the state capitol. The governor gave no definite information, but said that he renewed every charge that he had made in his speeches.

He said that he had noticed where the speaker said it was "high time" that the person making these charges substantiate them, and that he would gladly do so if called upon. If not, he said, he would go before his "constituents" and tell them with "lips not padlocked."

The governor enumerated the charges he had made, that there was graft, padding of expense accounts and graft in the public school funds and department funds of the state.

The governor's message was sent to the house, alone answering the opening speech of Speaker Thomas in which he charged the governor to produce his evidence. The governor said that he did not think "it unfit or unbecoming" to have made these charges in his speeches.

He charged in one instance that in one department the state had been swindled out of approximately $12,000.

Through an error the resolution proposing that the governor substantiate his charges has not reached the state affairs committee to which it was referred.

Representative Hall of Harris, chairman, said it would probably be acted on late today.

The rural school aid bill appropriating $4,000,000 was introduced in the house by Representative Melson of Hopkins. This bill was vetoed by the governor after being passed at the regular session.

Representative King of Throckmorton introduced a similar bill appropriating $2,000,000 for this purpose.

The house passed finally the mileage and per diem bill of $65,000 and the contingent expense bill of $20,000. Both were passed by the senate yesterday.

Representative Williams devoted his talk to the criticisms which Governor Neff has in speeches lately hurled at the legislature.

"It looks as if we are expected to do as the young mocking birds do, eat from the chief executive's hand," he said. "We have been called down for being in too close harmony with the department heads, that those who appropriate the people's money and those who spend it are in too close harmony, insinuating that the taxpayers are being filched. At Corsicana, the governor said that there was graft in certain departments, thereby calling every head a crook by not naming the particular department.

"When we first came here we received a message from the governor calling us 'dear co-laborers and signed 'yours for service,'" continued the representative. "Yet when we refused to pass the Dean law amendment he sh t a stirring criticism at us."

He said that he was not opposed to the governor solely but that he opposed any man who attempted to criticize the legislature or hold them in contempt.

"Yet it looks like we are being ridiculed into contempt now," he said.

Representative Morris of Medina, who introduced the Dean law amendment at the regular session, on a point of order requested that the speaker address his remarks to his point of privilege.

"I am doing that, Mr. Speaker," replied Representative Williams, and the man who calls me down introduced the bill that would have been a shame if we had passed it. Also he has introduced it now."

Laughter, yells and cheers followed this remark. Representative Morris insisted on his point, and Speaker Thomas warned Representative Williams.

When he said that he was in favor of harmony, laughter followed the remark, the members evidently thinking of Governor Neff's recent announcement that he wanted no harmony in the capitol.

Representative Williams was cheered loudly when he concluded.

Representative Quicksall of McLennan, on a point of personal privilege, followed Representative Williams and said that the remarks which his brother representative had made about the governor were an insult to the legislature.

The chasm that has arisen between Governor Neff and the legislature widened considerably this morning when Representative Williams of McLennan, on a point of personal privilege, denounced the governor for criticizing the legislature. His speech followed

BEGIN ARGUMENTS FOR READJUSTMENT OF FREIGHT RATES

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Three days of oral argument before the interstate commerce commission on a case involving readjustment of freight rates south of the Ohio river including the Mississippi valley, was scheduled to begin today with representatives of all the railroads of that section and of more than one thousand protestants in all parts of the country to be heard. Protests against the readjustment proposed by the carriers have been made by state commissions, shippers organizations, chambers of commerce and cities in the Mississippi valley and gulf territory as well as by shippers, manufacturers, packers and associations from as far east as New England and west to North Dakota.

The proposed readjustments resulted from an order of the commission to remove differences in rates in favor of points situated on the Mississippi, Ohio and Missouri rivers and the Gulf of Mexico, which enjoy depressed rates on account of water competition. The commission held that water competition should no longer constitute a reason for these points having lower rates than intermediate or interior points.

DE VALERA MAY MEET SIR CRAIG IN BELFAST

Re-Entry of General Smuts in Negotiations Basis for More Optimism

LONDON, July 20.—The probability of a meeting in Belfast between Eamonn de Valera and Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, is foreshadowed in some political quarters and several newspapers this morning.

General J. C. Smuts, premier of South Africa, who re-entered the negotiations yesterday, doubtless is largely responsible for this and similar optimistic speculation which has survived under great difficulties since Monday when Ulster's premier departed suddenly for Belfast after making a forceful statement on the subject of self-determination as it applied to Ulster.

This seemed for a time to end all hope for an amiable meeting between the two Irish leaders, but the moderating influence of General Smuts, coupled with Belfast advices to the effect that Sir James does not regard the peace parleys as interrupted, have gone a long way toward re-establishing confidence.

Mr. de Valera now is reported willing to go to Belfast and meet Sir James after he has discussed with his Dublin followers certain proposals which it is understood Premier Lloyd George will submit to him Thursday.

The British cabinet today will give special consideration to the Irish question, and it is believed that the aforementioned proposals will be discussed at great length and that they are likely to receive the approval of the entire ministry.

On the other hand, there still are persistent rumors that the cabinet is not altogether harmonious, although definite expressions to this effect are not obtainable.

Staunch unionist members of the British parliament are reported to be increasingly nervous respecting the progress of Irish affairs and it is known that about forty of them met privately yesterday to discuss their positions. As they lacked inside knowledge respecting the negotiations, however, they refrained from reaching any decision as to the action they would take.

HOUSTON YOUTH KILLS 13 YEAR OLD BROTHER

HOUSTON, July 20.—Funeral arrangements were being made today for 13 year old Earl Feagin, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Feagin, of Cross Timbers, a suburb, who was shot to death yesterday afternoon by his 11 year old brother. The small boy said he was playing with a gun and did not know it was loaded.

OIL FIRE IN MEXICO BIGGEST CATASTROPHE IN HISTORY OF FIELD

By Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, July 20.—The Amatlan oil fields are on fire, with drilling towners falling like chaff and the workmen fleeing, according to reports received here describing "the greatest catastrophe in the history of the oil field." The cause of the fire is not known.

The financial loss cannot be estimated, says the advices, which add that the conflagration dwarfs into insignificance the Pordro del Llano disaster.

Columns of fire hundreds of feet high are covering the entire field, it is declared, and efforts to suppress the blaze are said to be considered hopeless.

It also is feared that there will be some loss of life as the fire spread so quickly from lot 162 where it started and other wells in the vicinity exploded.

The Amatlan field is one of the richest in the state of Vera Cruz.

Hatlan, in the oil region of the state of Vera Cruz, lies between Tuxpan and Tampico, about 35 miles northwest of the former city and some 70 miles southwestof Tampico.

TWO BIG WELLS IN THE AMATLAN FIELD ON FIRE

HOUSTON, July 20.—Two big wells in lot 162, Amatlan, southern Mexican fields, are burning and the entire district is threatened. The wells were completed Wednesday, according to information received by the Oil Weekly, and caught fire. Each well is estimated to be making 75,000 barrels of oil and 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily. It was stated the fire was beyond control, endangering both producers and drilling wells in the vicinity. This is the busiest section of the Mexican fields.

Sheldon & Jarr No. 4 and Tillotson No. 5 are the wells that caught fire. Lot No. 162 adjoins lot No. 190, the most prolific producer in the Amatlan district.

GENERAL EXODUS OF JAPANESE WORKERS

Leave Turlock, Calif., District Following Deportation of 58 of Their Number

TURLOCK, CAL., July 20.—A general exodus of Japanese field laborers and their families from his district is taking place today following the deportation to Keyes, five miles north, of 58 Japanese male workers by members of a union of fruit and melon pickers, the authorities announced. The union is composed principally of white itinerants.

Japanese here who witnesses the enforced departure of their countrymen complained to the police that they were roughly handled and in some instances were robbed.

The Japanese leaseholders were not disturbed.

Bees Interrupt Traffic an Hour

BOZEMAN, MONT., July 20.—Business was paralyzed, scores of persons ran to cover and traffic ceased for more than an hour for a distance of three blocks in the business district here yesterday when thousands of bees, that apparently had lost their queen, swooped down on that section and filled the air.

Tourists driving into Bozeman stopped their cars and parked them to await clearing of the atmosphere.

Finally, a city street foreman with a shovel and hammer succeeded in attracting the bees into the city park, a short distance away, by a constant clanging.

"ALLEGED WIDOW" NOT INCLUDED IN WILL

NEW YORK, July 19.—Harry C. Hemming, killed in the presence of his estranged wife last week by Frank Eberhardt, caretaker of her Duck Island estate near Northport, referred to Mrs. Hemming as his "alleged widow" in his will, which left her nothing.

NEAR RIOT RESULTS FROM RAID AT CADDO LED BY A MINISTER

BRECKENRIDGE, TEXAS, July 20.—Sheriff L. D. Head and Deputy N. Smith, answering a riot call to Caddo, an oil town 16 miles south of Breckenridge last night, restored order without serious difficulty. Trouble threatened when citizens, led by a minister, raided an alleged bootlegger's establishment on Main street. When the officers arrived the streets were filled with armed men but guns quickly disappeared. Four men paid fines for fighting. The sheriff later raided four places in Caddo.

SHORTAGE IN ACCOUNTS MORE THAN A MILLION

AUSTIN, MINN., July 20.—The actual shortage in the accounts of R. J. Thomson, former comptroller of George A. Hormal & Co., local packers, is $1,189,000, according to official figures received here today from Chicago, where creditors of the concern are in conference.

DR. PAUL IS AGAIN WARNED TO LEAVE

Notified He Would Be Forced to Undergo Operation and Then Be Beheaded

BEAUMONT, July 20.—Dr. J. S. Paul, two months ago a victim of a tarring and feathering episode, today told the Beaumont Journal that he had been warned by R. F. Scott, who was tarred Saturday, that if he was not out of town by Saturday, he would be forced to undergo an operation and that he would then be beheaded. Scott was ordered to deliver this message to Paul.

Dr. Paul declared that he did not intend to leave Beaumont. Paul was recently indicted jointly with Scott.

ARGENTINE DECLINES TO SETTLE DISPUTE

Will Not Act as Mediator in the Costa Rica-Panama Controversy

BUENOS AIRES, July 20.—The Argentine republic has declined to mediate between Costa Rica and Panama in the territorial dispute which last March caused open hostilities between the two nations and prompted the United States to send several sharp notes to the isthmus before warfare ceased.

The dispute, which dates back nearly a hundred years, reached an acute stage early in March when Panama formally disavowed an award by the late Chief Justice White of the United States supreme court which gave to Costa Rica several thousand square kilometers of land on the Pacific side of the isthmus, including the village of Coto.

MANDAMUS SHERIFF FRED K. SMITH TO ISSUE BILL OF SALE

A writ of mandamus against Sheriff Fred K. Smith was granted by Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court Wednesday morning upon the application of the Burkburnett Supply company, who asked for a bill of sale to some property that had been sold at a sheriff's sale.

It is set forth in the petition that the sheriff, through his deputy, Scott, sold some property that had been levied upon by the plaintiff, but that after the sale, in which they were the highest bidders at $160, the sheriff refused and still refuses, to give a bill of sale

WANT A REDUCTION IN FREIGHT RATE ON LUMBER

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Railroads of the southwest asked the interstate commerce commission today to authorize reductions of from 2 to 10 cents a hundred in rates on lumber shipped from Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas to points in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and border points in Minnesota. Shippers of the southwest sought the reduction to meet competition from the Pacific coast, where similar reductions have been granted.

DEBATE WILL FEATURE MEETING OF BANKERS

MINNEAPOLIS, July 20.—A debate between Omaha and New York members of the American Institute of Banking will be a feature today at the annual convention of the institute here. The schedule will be "resolved, that the plan of Professor Irving Fisher for stabilizing the dollar should be adopted by the federal government." New York has the affirmative.

NOTORIOUS NIHILIST IS AGAIN REPORTED DEAD

COPENHAGEN, July 19.—Vera Sassulitch, notorious nihilist, known 25 years ago throughout the world, died at Moscow yesterday, according to a report received here.

The death of Vera Sassulitch at Petrograd was also reported in July, 1919. Included in her crimes was the killing of General Trepoff, prefect of police of St. Petersburg in 1878.

REFUSE TO VISE THE PASSPORT OF WALSH

British Authorities Want to Know If He Intends to See Eamonn De Valera

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Frank P. Walsh, counsel for the American committee on Irish independence and American adviser to Eamonn de Valera, announced that he had been unable to obtain a vise to his passport so he might visit England. The reason for his trip was given as the transaction of legal and private business.

When his passport was presented to the British authorities he was asked, among other things, it is said, if he intended seeing Eamonn de Valera in England.

Mr. Walsh plans to confer today with Secretary of State Hughes and United States Senator Calder in reference to the case.

TOTAL OF 386,511 BAGS OF SUGAR ARE IMPORTED

GALVESTON, TEXAS, July 20.—Sugar imports through Galveston total 386,511 bags to date this year. There still remain about four months before exhaustion of this year's Cuban sugar crop and it is expected that between 16 and 20 more ship loads will be brought here during this time. A total of 385,915 bags were imported from Cuba for the entire previous year.

It is expected that total imports for this year will reach approximately 700,000 bags of Cuban sugar, which would make both the largest calendar year and biggest fiscal year for sugar imports in the history of the port. The ships bringing sugar cargoes this year so far number 22, with two en route and expected daily with a total of 38,000 bags on board.

NOT THOUGHT NECESSARY TO STRENGTHEN MILITARY FORCES IN UPPER SILESIA

PARIS, July 20.—Strengthening of the allied military forces in Upper Silesia is not considered necessary by the British government, according to a note received at the British embassy for delivery to the French foreign office today. This note is in reply to a recent French communication to the British government, in which it was pointed out that allied reinforcements were needed in Upper Silesia immediately.

The British reply, excerpts of which appear in this morning's newspapers, is understood to insist upon a meeting of the supreme council as soon as possible for the purpose of discussing the entire situation.

FATHER WANTS HIS SON RELEASED FROM ASYLUM

SAN ANTONIO, July 20.—Petition for release from the Southwestern insane asylum of Sid Campbell, under indictment for murder in Harris county, was filed in the 45th district court yesterday by W. H. Campbell, his father. Dr. J. G. Springer, head of the asylum, is named defendant.

The petition for a writ of habeas corpus alleges that Campbell is under $5,000 bail bond, which is still a sufficient surety and that he has entirely regained his health. An order for his release has been signed by the county judge of Harris county, who committed him to the institution, it is set forth.

Dr. Springer said that Campbell is sane, but that he is under charges of having killed a sister-in-law in Houston and cannot be released except on order of a district court.

ANOTHER DEPUTY EMPLOYED BY THE COUNTY SHERIFF

C. L. Bradford, who has served as a peace officer in this county for several years, was deputized and commissioned as a deputy by Sheriff Fred K. Smith, Wednesday. The deputation was filed with the county clerk early Wednesday morning and the new deputy assumed his duties at once.

STATE VALUES GAIN NEAR FIFTY MILLION

Statement Is Issued by Comptroller for the Automatic Tax Board

AUSTIN, July 20.—Total estimated taxable values of the state of Texas for 1921 is $3,370,469,672, which is an increase over the estimated valuations of 1920 of $49,630,958, according to a statement made today by Comptroller Lon A. Smith for the automatic tax board as a basis on which to fix a tax rate for the current year.

The total receipts from July 1, 1920, to June 30, 1921, is $9,465,585 to the credit of general revenue and the total to the credit of the available school fund for the same period is $5,636,755. Balance in the state treasury on June 30, 1921, is $370,345, and receipts from other sources is $5,363,755. These figures were presented by the comptroller at the meeting of the automatic tax board and on which will be fixed a tax rate for 1922. The present tax rate is 62 cents, being 22 cents ad valorem, 20 cents school, 15 cents text books and five cents Confederate pension. The board met today to fix the new rates, but was unable to act because the legislature has not as yet made the appropriations.

HOLTON IS CANDIDATE FOR OFFICE OF STATE TREASURER

AUSTIN, July 20.—G. N. Holton, the newly appointed state treasurer, who succeeded John W. Baker, resigned, announced today he would be a candidate for the office of state treasurer at the next general primary election held in July, 1922. Mr. Holton has been connected with the treasury department for twenty years.

PLAN EXPERIMENTS WITH FERTILIZERS

Department of Agriculture Has Taken Over Fixed Nitrogen Laboratory

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The department of agriculture has taken over from the war department the fixed nitrogen laboratory, established in 1919 for war purposes, and will at once begin experiments with a view of furthering the interests of the farmers in the matter of fertilizers.

Thus far the experiments that have been made were by Germany, which country has safeguarded the results attained. Nitrogen is one of the three great elements in fertilizers necessary for plants, the others being phosphoric acid and potash, nitrogen being the chief essential. During the world war the necessity of importing Chilean saltpeter, with its attendant uncertainties and tie-up of transportation facilities, was constantly before congress and resulted in the determination of the war department to establish nitrate plants at various places over the country, including the one at Mussel Shoals, Ala. The only plant at which any progress was made was at the latter place, although there were four others in contemplation.

Proponents of the plan for the government to manufacture nitrogen for the benefit of the agricultural interests will watch these experiments with concern, since a study is to be made of fixation of nitrogen by the cyanamide, the Haber and the arc processes. Extensive studies also will be pursued of the methods in transforming the various forms of nitrogen-containing products so as to make them available for agricultural and industrial uses.

The cyanamide process is the one designed to be used in the big Mussel Shoals plant in Alabama and the Haber process in a smaller Sheffield, Ala., plant. The arc process, however, is regarded as one of chief concern from a military point of view, since it can be most rapidly installed in case of war as it provides nitrogen at once in the nitrate form without the necessity of any axidation from the ammonia form. The government owns no arc plant and will not give it any consideration from a commercial standpoint.

The proposition now before the war department for the lease of the Alabama plants by Henry Ford causes the work being carried on by the department of agriculture to be of importance in determining the future policy of the government in manufacturing nitrates through the fixation processes. This is due to the fact that it has been claimed by opponents of the development of the Mussel Shoals project that this country had no definite formula which is regarded as reliable for fixation of nitrogen. The department of agriculture, however, to dispel all doubts in the minds of the credulous on this subject. It is pointed out that the cyanamide process is one of the best known and best established methods of fixing nitrogen and one which has been successfully tried in America. Moreover, should the Mussel Shoals plants be completed and operated, 220,000 tons of cyanamide per annum would be produced.

The department of agriculture is thoroughly convinced that the fixation of nitrogen by this process would be a boon to the farming industry. Pot and field tests have been carried on in cooperation with the bureau of plant industry at the Mussel Shoals plants, where 20 acres have been devoted to experiments. These are declared to have been entirely satisfactory.

The Haber process has never been commercially operated outside of Germany. It has very great inherent difficulties connected with handling the large quantities of inflammable gas at high pressure and high temperatures and it has never been thought it would be practicable to attempt to produce it in this country.

AEORIGINAL DELICACY OF MEXICO NOW IN SEASON

LAREDO, TEXAS, July 20.—An aboriginal delicacy made in Mexico from the maguey plant, in the form of cajete or mezcal, is now in season.

The thick leaves of the maguey, including the bud in the center from which the leaves spring, are taken at a certain time of the year, peeled and roasted in ashes. The resultant cajete is a vegetable dish with a peculiar flavor and is greatly liked by the Mexicans. It appears to have descended from the ancient Indians and is unknown to many of the resident of Laredo, especially those of European blood.

The tuna, or "prickly pear," also forms a delicacy that is favored by the Mexicans. The fruit of the cactus, or nopal, the national emblem of Mexico, is ground on the metate, ancient handmill of the Aztecs, until it forms a paste. To this is added sugar, and the resulting conserves are considered a great delicacy, although to the American palate the fruit is rather insipid.

The guava and quince preserves, made in the same way and dried after being pressed into "bricks," are other delicacies of the natives and are favorites with Americans. Large quantities are imported from Celaya and other sections of Mexico where their manufacture is a local industry and some of the importers in Laredo ship them in quantities to the northern markets.

China produces 200,000,000 bushels of wheat annually, approximately one-quarter the amount produced in the United States.

RADICAL CHANGES IN DEPARTMENTS TO BE RECOMMENDED SOON

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 20.—Radical changes in governmental departments which have been discussed for years are soon to be recommended to the president by the joint congressional committee on reorganization which has been at work on the task for the past sixty days. They will go to the president, who will in turn lay them before the cabinet for consideration. There is to be a general regrouping of the various government departments, bureaus and other agencies which handle the business of the country here in Washington.

It is understood that the most important change provided for in the plan provide for the consolidation of the war and navy departments under one head. These large and expensive departments are to be taken over by one department to be known as the department of national defense. W. H. Brown, the personal representative of the president on the committee, is of the opinion that this consolidation will result in the greatest individual saving of any of the many other changes and allocations recommended. The proposed consolidation of the various departmental investigation agencies, including the United States secret service, as proposed, will also tend to cut a considerable amount of money spent annually on this work, and, according to members of the committee, cannot help but improve the efficiency.

The committee is now occupied principally with the allocation of the many bureaus of the many government departments, some of them overlapping in their authority and duplicating in their efforts. All investigation work of the government, in all likelihood, will be turned over to the department of justice as will the prohibition enforcement and secret service bureaus of the treasury department. Other changes that will be made relate to welfare work. At present the bureau of education is said to be duplicating much of the work that is being done by the department of agriculture in the application of educational extension work.

Tin guards with holes through their centers are slipped over ship hawsers to prevent rats from reaching shore from the ship.

BLINDNESS, INSANITY AND CRIME FROM DISEASE

AUSTIN, TEXAS, July 20.—Disease is a frequent cause of blindness, insanity and crime, according to Mrs. E. M. Barrett of the Texas Prison association. Mrs. Barrett organized the school for defectives and was associated for about twenty years with the schools for the deaf and dumb, blind and defective of the state. She organized the Social Justice league of Los Angeles, Cal.

"The tax payers of Texas will continue to be burdened with the maintenance of asylums, blind institutes and feeble minded institutions unless the sources or the feeders of these institutions are removed," Mrs. Barrett said. "A large percentage of the blindness is preventable, the same is true of insanity. Forty per cent of our crime is due to disease.

"The great crying need of the state is a health department with adequate facilities to checkmate this extravagance. Every dollar spent on health will mean a saving of twenty dollars to the public. Given a physically fit and mentally balanced population all of our present troubles will become things of the past."

DISCOVER SUNKEN WRECK NEAR ARANSAS PASS, TEXAS

GALVESTON, TEXAS, July 20.—An unusual discovery of a sunken wreck about three statute miles southwest of Aransas Pass, Texas, was made on July 7 and received by Captain F. P. Holsheuser, assistant superintendent of the ninth district recently. The government lighthouse tender Sunflower was found stranded in the gulf at this point by United States coast guards at Aransas. The report signed by keeper of coast guard station No. 221 at Port Aransas follows in part:

"At 4 p. m. July 7, 1921, lookout man reported lighthouse tender Sunflower in distress about four miles southwest of the pass with signals N C flying. Immediately manned surf boats and proceeded to scene. Found vessel on top of an obstruction or sunken wreck.

"The Sunflower was endeavoring to back off the obstruction with her own engines and the assistance of the tug Swallow.

"At 6 a. m. July 8, stranded vessel pulled off of the sunken wreck with the assistance of the tug Bascobal. The Sunflower was not damaged, apparently.

"A sandbar was formed by a recently sunken vessel, apparently a wooden barge about 200 feet in length or more in thirty feet of water, one and one-half miles from shore."

POLISH INSURGENT LEADER REACHES PARIS FOR VISIT

PARIS, July 20.—Adelbert Korfanty, the Polish patriot and insurgent leader, has arrived for a visit of several days, the purpose of which he did not reveal.

In an interview given to the newspapers, he discussed the Polish situation and asserted that the supreme council of the league of nations is the only agency through which an equitable and lasting settlement of the Upper Silesian problem can be effected.

This problem must be settled immediately, he declared, or the allies will find Silesia a fertile field for complications of a very serious nature.

THE U. S. USCO TREAD

Here is the U. S. Usco Tread, with a long-established standard of service among motorists who have an eye to value, as well as to price. While selling for less than the other tires in the U. S. Fabric line, the Usco has earned a reputation for quality and dependable economy which is not exceeded by any tire in its class.

The standard tire likes nothing better than to prove its service

PEOPLE used to be secretly envious of the young fellow who came tearing up the street and stopped his car with a jerk.

Now they are inclined to criticise such abuse of tires. A mark of the growing consciousness about tires—their service, their work, their value.

This same respect for a good tire is the reason why the four-square tire dealer has passed up odds and ends, "job lots", "seconds", "cut prices"—and come out squarely with the standard quality service of U. S. Tires.

He is getting a bigger, and also better, tire business than he ever had before.

He is dealing now with his own kind of people. The substantial citizen. The man who knows that you can't get something for nothing. The steady customer—not the bargain hunter.

To the man who has not yet learned the standard tire service he is entitled to we say—

Go to the dealer in U. S. Tires and make him show you.

Here is a man in close touch with one of the 92 U.S. Factory Branches—a constant supply of fresh, live U. S. Tires.

The U. S. Tire you buy is a tire built for current demands. No overproduction. No piling up of stock. No loss of mileage by hanging around on the dealer's racks.

Every way you look at it, a par quality tire at a net price.

Auxiliary Answers Camp Logan S. O. S. With Case of Fans

The local American legion auxiliary shipped a case and several dozen big palm leaf fans to Camp Logan at Houston Tuesday, in response to an S. O. S. from the soldiers' hospital stating that suffering from the heat among the 1,200 soldiers being treated there was intense, and there were no fans.

The Houston legion auxiliary has been bearing the great part of the burden of helping care for the soldiers at the camp hospital, for whom the government, under the present dispensation, is providing only the absolutely necessary attention and treatment. An effort is being made to interest all of the legion auxiliaries in the state, but so few have the first hand information concerning the camp that the local auxiliary has that there is comparatively little response.

Several dozen of the fans sent Tuesday were edged with a strong overcasting of bright colored wool yarn, to insure long life. If there had been time all of the fans would have been so strengthened.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR LITTLE MISS WILTON WADE

Little Miss Wilton Wade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wade, was given one of the happiest surprises of her brief seven years Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. William Huff, assisted by little Miss Elizabeth Huff, complimented her with a delightful birthday party.

The children were all gathered at the Huff home when Wilton and her little guest, Katherine Hodges of Abilene, were sent for, and after the "surprise" was somewhat abated they spent a delightful afternoon playing games and enjoying contests on the lawn and in the house. Late in the afternoon they all went to the Wade home where iced watermelon, stacked high on the tea wagon on the porch, was served each small guest. Later Master Wade furnished music for dancing and there was more fun. The guests included Misses Doris and Reva Ray Brown, Kathryn Marcus, Fay and Thelma Fisher, Marguerite McDonald, Katherine Freeland of Dallas, Katherine Hodges of Abilene, Nell Fisher, Helen Jameson, Evelyn Frances Lyle, Frances Boyd, Wilton Wade and Elizabeth Huff. Masters Albert Pattillo, John Emmett Lyle, Sam Bashara, Yancey Cummings, Harry Paul Smith, Stanley Field and William Huff. The only regret at the pretty party was that several of the little guests expected did not get their invitations until too late to attend.

FORTY-FOUR BABIES AT HEALTH CENTER WEDNESDAY

Forty-four mothers and babies were at Red Cross health center at the county court house Wednesday between 10 and 12 o'clock, continuing the record of an increase each week at the clinic. The number of babies and children attending is specially encouraging to the county Red Cross nurses and the local child specialists in charge, because of the danger of illnesses among the little folks during the hot season.

Babies under two years were attended to during 10 and 11, and those over two were examined between 11 and 12, as far as possible. A new child specialist, Dr. Henry Ledford, was added to the local corps which has been attending to the children.

The Red Cross committee on nursing activities attended the clinic Wednesday morning in a body and were very much pleased at the big work that is being done.

FUNERAL SERVICES MISS EMMA CHILDERS HELD LATE TUESDAY

The funeral services for Miss Emma Childers were held at the home at 5 o'clock and at the Episcopal church Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, with Rev. F. T. Datson in charge.

The service at the church, which was very beautiful, was attended by a throng of friends which crowded the capacity of the church, including a number of out-of-town co-workers in the Young Women's Christian association. A large number of young people, former pupils of Miss Childers in the history department of the high school, were present. The floral offerings from here and out of town were exceptionally beautiful, and with the exception of those that covered the casket, were taken to Riverside in a separate conveyance. Rev. Mr. Datson said the committmen tservice at the grave.

A score or more out of town relatives and friends attended the funeral.

LATEST STYLE

By LENORE

What every woman knows who has a reputation for style, is that in order to be smartly dressed she must choose her clothes with a little daring, and wear them with a well-dressed air. And while she must stick close to the rules of common sense and good taste, she is never afraid of the new if it fits her type and scheme of dressing.

In this dress, based on the new order of novelty in sleeves, one may safely banish all fear of being commonplace. There is a long tightly fitted sleeve under the ripple—but one may, if preferred, appear sleeveless by wearing a very brief sleeve that would be concealed by the ripple. By such little maneuverings does one achieve individuality. The material is Canton crepe, in castor, and the sleshed skirt reveals a black silk petticoat at each side. The becoming line at the neck is obtained with hemstitching.

PATTERN NO. 213.

A pattern for the above model—No. 213—can be obtained in sizes 34, 36, 38 or 40 by sending to Lenore, 8 West Fortieth street, New York City, your name, address, the number of this pattern and the size required, and 25 cents in postage stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you—which will be within two weeks.—The Editor.

ELIZABETH HANKS NO BETTER; CONDITION IS VERY SERIOUS

Elizabeth Hanks, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hanks, who was operated on some weeks ago for appendicitis and developed typhoid almost immediately, is reported just holding her own at the General hospital Wednesday afternoon. The little girl was somewhat improved last week and friends were more hopeful for her recovery.

Mr. Hanks recently developed typhoid at his home and is just now able to sit up in bed.

When me and Jubilee woke up this morning he opened his mouth and gapped, and then he sort of smiled at me and laid his head down on the pillow like he was going to stay there all day, but I told him nothing doing. Then I got up and held my short pants up with the seat of them between me and the window so as to see if the seat was any thinner than the rest of them but I could not see that it was.

I bet when I am a man and have a little boy of my own I will not buy him such tuff pants. Even if a fella does not have long pants he likes to have his short ones wear out once in a while so he can get some new ones. I would of took my dollar and a half and bought me some long ones, only my mother would of cut the legs off of them.

I got the rope out of the garret and let Jubilee down out of the window hanging to it by his teeth, and then I put on my short pants and went down and got the pail and went out to milk the cow and her dotter and there was lots of dew on the grass and Jubilee rolled over in it and then went out and rolled over in the road and got dirty and happy.

When we had clumb out of the manure hole I was going to go over and ast Youniss to have some more ice cream, and probly she would have, but Peanuts and Hopper and Panty and the rest of the bunch was there, so me and Jubilee had to go with them to put the cows out. And when we got out there my horse was standing in the crick asleep and I bet Errick he could not stand up on his back, and he said he could, and he was doing it all right till Niba jagged the horse with his stick and he gave such a quick jump that at first Errick looked like he was hanging in the air, and then he made one of the best splashes that has been made in our crick this year.

He said just for that we would not go to heaven. But he said if we would each give him a nickel he would not tell his father on us, but we would not do it. Then Niba said to less go in swimming whilst Errik's clothes was drying, and when we got busy with Errick so he was not looking Niba filled his pants pockets full of mud where they was spread out in the sun, and then when we come out and put on our clothes he had to take his pants off to get the mud out, and he was standing in the crick in his shirt-tail washing them when we went away to the ball lot to play ball.

And he was standing in the crick in his shirttail washing them when we went away to the ball lot to play ball.

I asted Miss Parmer if the preacher could keep us out of heaven, and she said she did not think he would need to. I guess Errick would feel kinda cheap if he knowed what she said. My ant said we would have a evening of song, so I went up to bed early and clumb out over the roof and went over and sot by the woodpile in the brickyard so I could not hear her. I have not got any ear for music.

PNEUMONIA PROVES FATAL TO YOUNG OIL FIELD WORKER

John R. Bryan, aged 19, died at 9 o'clock Tuesday night in the home of his uncle, L. Y. Woodruff, 1502 Burnett street, after a very short illness with pneumonia. He had been employed in the oil fields and was stricken while at work.

The body was removed to the Merkle & Lunn undertaking parlors and prepared for burial, later bein sent to Houston, the young man's home, where funeral services are to be held.

Mrs. Bentley Pullin.

Mrs. Bentley Pullin, aged 31, died early Wednesday morning in her home on North Seventh street after a short period of ill health. She is survived by her husband and her father, F. M. Harris.

The body was removed to the Hines undertaking parlors and is being held there. Funeral services will be conducted in the Hines chapel at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon with Rev. Newby of the Church of the Assembly of God officiating.

Burial will be in Rosemont burial park.

THREE MEN AND WOMAN ARRESTED IN CONNECTION WITH CASE AT CHANDLER

TYLER, TEXAS, July 20.—Three men and one woman were under arrest today in connection with the finding of Earl H. Peters in an unconscious condition early yesterday near Chandler, Texas. Reports here are that two men and the woman are held in jail at Athens, and a man brought from Brownboro yesterday to Tyler was taken to Athens today. Peters lived in Athens. Peters has not regained consciousness. It is believed he was hit with a sand bag at the time, or after being taken from his hotel at Chandler. His father arrived here today from Grimes county and said he knew of no motive for the attack.

ALLEGED "MASTER MIND" IS CHARGED WITH ROBBERY

HOUSTON, July 20.—A charge of robbery by firearms was filed today in justice court against John F. Martin, 27 years old, alleged confessed "master mind" of the trio who held up the Citizens' State bank here in January and obtained $22,000. He implicates two other men.

WOMAN'S SPHERE.

"They talk about a woman's sphere
As though it had a limit;
There's not a place in earth or heaven,
There's not a task to mankind given,
There's not a blessing or a woe,
There's not a whispered "yes" or "no,"
There's not a life, a death, a birth,
There's not a feather's weight of worth,
Without a woman in it."

WOMEN'S APPAREL TO VALUE OF $2500 STOLEN FROM P.B.M

OFFICERS BELIEVE ORGANIZED BAND OF THIEVES IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THEFT

EVIDENCE OF "SPOTTERS" IN STORE DAY BEFORE

Large Quantity of Silk Underwear and Other Feminine Apparel Missing Wednesday Morning

An organized band of professional thieves that have caused minor losses to local merchants on several previous occasions are believed by the police to have been responsible for the robbery Tuesday night of between $2,500 and $3,000 worth of ladies' wearing apparel from the P. B. M. department store, 812-814 Indiana avenue. The work of looting the ladies' department was carried out systematically by robbers who evidently knew what they wanted and where to look for it, officers said.

The loss was discovered Wednesday morning when the store was opened for business. All the stolen goods, which were reported to be from fall stocks that had but recently been received, were taken from counters and show cases on the third floor of the building. Silk underwear, kimonas, georgette waists and a few handbags used to carry away the loot made up the larger part of the stolen property.

Entrance was gained by mounting by means of a ledder to a small platform attached to telephone poles opposite a window opening on the alley at the rear of the store, and then swinging into the room. No idea could be gained as to how many burglars were involved in the theft.

Acting Chief of Police Miller is confident that the work was that of a professional organization. Reports of sales girls at the P. B. M store that two women made a careful inspection of the third floor stock late Tuesday strengthened the belief that an organized band "pulled" the job. The two women, Miller avers, were what are known as "spotters," who looked over the proposed scene of operation and then communicated with the men who actually committed the robbery.

Another woman who was arrested by Miller last Saturday on suspicion of being a professional thief, but who was later turned loose, is also being sought in connection with the theft and police believe that arrests will be made shortly.

Officials of the P. B. M. store announced Wednesday morning that a reward of $50 for each arrest and conviction in connection with the case would be paid and that a further reward of 10 per cent of the value of all stolen goods recovered would be posted.

TOOTS AND CASPER—Casper Didn't Want to "Meet" the Butcher, Oh, My, No! —BY J. E. MURPHY

MORGAN SWORN IN, DENIES PLANS FOR EXTENSIVE CHANGES

R. L. Morgan, newly appointed chief of police under the Fitts administration, was officially sworn in early Wednesday morning and was handed his commission by the police commissioner. Mr. Morgan turned the larger portion of his day's work over to Acting Chief Miller, several matters pertaining to unfinished work in the juvenile office claiming his attention.

The new chief confirmed rumors prevailing for some time to the effect that no radical changes would be made in the personnel of his department, at least for the time being, the only major switch being the abolishment of the office of chief detective and the consolidation of the detective with the regular police department. It is understood that at least two and possibly three detectives will be employed.

Announcements were made Wednesday to the effect that J. B. Nail, formerly constable and a well known peace officer, had been commissioned as a patrolman to succeed Charlie Dodgen, whose resignation was handed to former Chief of Police Huff last Saturday night. It was also announced that the resignation of P. E. Hunter, city detective, had been received and accepted. Hunter is leaving the department entirely on his own volition, it is said.

Aside from these changes and the confirmation of reports that a new detective was to be accepted no other indications of a "shake down" were apparent around the city hall Wednesday, and in the opinion of old officials not many more changes will be made.

Chief Morgan stated that he had already received something like 100 applications from job hunters but the majority of these will be given little consideration, it is thought.

APRON AND OVERALL PARTY DELIGHTS YOUNG PEOPLE

An apron and overall party given Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Countess Taylor was a specially pleasant affair for a bunch of young people. The costumes were quite attractive, and prizes offered for the best ones went to Mrs. Newcomb, one of the chaperones, and Archie Fitzsimmons. Walter Dixon and Archie Fitzsimmons also won contest prizes, after which ice cream and Dilipops, appropriate to the spirit of the occasion, were served.

Those present included Misses Helen Lang, Bernice Gatlin, Flo Mathews, Berniece Taylor, Anita Ramey, Beulah Floyd, Erwin, Thelma Ernst and Louise McCormick; Messrs. Riley Dixon, Frank Dixon, Walter Dixon, Clete Lonsway, George Rose, Archie Fitzsimmons, Deane Harkins and Master Mac Taylor. The chaperones included Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb and Mrs. Dixon.

Leadership is a Sacred Trust—

"Comparative Prices Must Go!"

We never quote "comparative prices." The integrity of the spoken and written word of the J. C. PENNEY COMPANY is now as it always has been, a sacred trust.

The plain, straight-forward statement of our ability to buy in great quantities, quality merchandise at low prices is taken by millions of people as an honestly stated fact worthy of confidence.

In this policy of not quoting "comparative prices" we have been leaders for years.

Others now follow our leadership—a number of the greater stores of the West and Middle-West recently announced in their newspaper advertising that "the use of comparative prices would hereafter be discontinued because it is misleading, exaggerated and destructive of public confidence."

From the beginning, our policy has been a simple, sound Golden Rule policy—and every person connected with the J. C. PENNEY COMPANY takes just pride in sustaining a leadership that is and always will be a sacred trust!

ONE HANDICAP REMOVED

A few days ago The Times commented upon the statement of one of the country's financial editors that Germany would have a big advantage in her industrial competition on account of her freedom from the burden of armaments. It was pointed out that this country was handicapped by such a burden. But there is another burden by which many other nations are handicapped from which the United States is stripped, or nearly so, and that is the burden of drink.

The Amarillo News comments upon this feature saying:

"England is being warned of the fact that she must 'compete in trade with a sober nation,' when she handles her commerce in territory occupied in part by the forces of the United States. This statement is based on an article in the London Mail, written by Frederick C. Atkins of London.

"The writer of the article, who has but recently visited the United States, sets up the fact that he found America far more alert than he had thought to do, and wider awake than when everyone had a drink whenever such was desired. It was in the light of this state of affairs that he sounded the warning that England in dealing with America is dealing with a 'sober nation,' and therefore a far more alert and keener people than they were in the old days of plenteous supplies of booze.

"Another observation of the writer is to the effect that the men of America are demanding better stage shows than during the times when after a trying day, they would throw a drink under the belts, and 'put up with almost anything' by way of entertainment.

"So, while we are saying, that is some of us, that 'prohibition does not prohibit,' the outside world is face to face with the fact that we have dropped the habit that made us easily satisfied and easy competitors in business. All of the breeze and chaff about "old Scotch" and other expressions lending color to the belief that booze is plenteous, are but the 'whistling along the trail through the cemetery in the night time.' There is no appreciable quantity of liquor available at present. It is doubtless a fact that there is too much illicit alcoholic liquor to be had, but this does not define a quantitive measure that is large. The fact is that any alcohol for drinking purposes is in excess of the warrant under law, but by comparison with the open saloon days, it is extremely negligible.

"Our business competitors abroad, realize even if we do not, that we are a 'sober nation' whose senses have been cleared, whose wits have been sharpened, and whose men and methods will be far more difficult to meet and contend with, under the changed condition."

SPINSTERS COME TO TEXAS

There are 155,214 more males in Texas than females, according to the 1920 census which shows 2,254,006 females and 2,409,220 males. According to these figures a female has a much better chance for marriage in Texas than in many other states where the proportion of males is larger than females in the population. Spinsters come to Texas.

The corresponding figures for 1910 were as follows: Total, 3,896,542; males 2,017,626, females 1,878,916. During the decade the total population increased by 19.7 per cent, the male population by 19.4 per cent and the female population by 20 per cent. The ratio of males to females in 1920 was 106.9 to 100 as against 107.4 to 100 in 1910.

The distribution of the population, according to color, in 1920 was as follows: White 3,918,165, negro 741,649, Indian 2,118, Chinese 773, Japanese 449, all other (Filipino, Hindu, Korean), 38. The corresponding figures for 1910 were: White 3,204,848, negro 690,049, Indian 707, Chinese 505, Japanese 304, all other (Filipino and Hindu), 8.

During the decade the white population increased by 22.3 per cent, while the negro population increased by only 7.5 per cent. The foreign-born white population numbered 360,519 in 1920, as against 239,984 in 1910. This element constituted 7.7 per cent of the total population in 1920, as compared with 6.2 per cent in 1910.

ANOTHER REASON

Chicago city officials are reported to have joined in a big reception given in that city to Jack Johnson and his white wife. This is another reason why we're glad we don't live in William-Hale-Thompsonville.

THE MORE NEED FOR ECONOMY

With an overdraft of $250,000 and faced with many necessary expenditures it is probably expecting too much for Councilman Fitts or indeed the whole council to bring about any reduction of the city tax rate this year. But the existence of this overdraft will make the observance of the closest economy in the operation of the city government the more desirable.

There may have been no expectation on the part of the people that there would be a reduction in the tax rate but many had hoped that it would not be increased and, indeed, are still hoping that there will be no increase. Many property owners are finding it difficult to pay their taxes as they are finding it difficult to pay their other obligations and an increase in taxes would be adding to burdens which many do not now know how they will meet.

As said the existence of the large overdraft may make it impossible to reduce the tax rate. Doubtless this overdraft was incurred by necessary expenditures and it is hoped that Mayor Cline meant no criticism of the newly elected councilman in citing this overdraft as an obstacle to tax reduction. If Mr. Fitts did not know about this overdraft he shared an ignorance of the city's financial condition with at least 91 out of every 100 other tax payers.

These figures ought to be given the people at frequent intervals. Perhaps the press of the city has been at fault. The Times does not wish to offer excuses. It will try to make amends for any dereliction of its duty in this particular.

The Tariff Debate Goes On
(Kansas City Star)

Democratic members of the house are making the most of the position into which the tariff debate has forced them. They cannot defeat the bill, they cannot amend it, but they can do what the republicans do when they are in a minority and the democrats are putting a bill through with the aid of a special rule. That is to say, the democrats are viewing with alarm, with amasement, with consternation, with solicitude for the constitution and with everything else that the minority generally views with, the deplorable spectacle the house is making in surrendering its powers to the committee on rules.

There is no denying the house has done this, and despite the sorrow and indignation of the democrats there is no denying the house has to do it if it does any legislating at all. It isn't anything new, nor is it a practice confined to the republicans. Important legislation, or at least legislation of a nature provocative of debate and obstruction, is generally accomplished under a rule brought in by that powerful, and probably necessary, committee. And every time a rule restricting debate, cutting off amendments or dispensing with the reading of a bill is brought in, the house is treated to an exhibition of the aforesaid alarm, amasement, consternation and solicitude with which the minority is seized.

Then do honorable members (of the minority) rise in their places and demand to know if this house has reached at last the uttermost depths of its degradation. Then do they demand to know if there is any spectacle on this broad continent more humiliating to an American citizen than that of this representative house, a co-ordinate power in the government, servilely, basely, pusillanimously and abjectly abdicating functions which this house ought to die defending, into the hands of this unconstitutional, this arbitrary, this tyrannic committee. (Applause on the democratic side.)

Then do honorable members (of the majority) rise in their places and demand to know if any intelligent member of this house is deceived by this exhibition of simulated indignation. Then do they demand to know if this house hasn't, by the due and proper exercise of its functions, and acting in behalt of the public welfare which demands the prompt passage of this bill, invested this committee with the power to bring in this rule. (Applause on the republican side.)

Thus does the tariff debate progress. The democrats solemnly warn that the responsibility for this iniquitous measure, great as it is, which rests upon the shoulders of the republicans, is as nothing compared to the responsibility they are assuming, and which no dodging by gentlemen on the other side can avail them to escape, of tearing the constitution into shreds and casting it upon the floor of this house to be trampled under the feet of this committee which has brought in this rule. What (they ask) is a tariff bill compared to the constitution? This house may pass this bill or it may reject it. It is of little moment. There have been other tariff bills before (a voice, "The Wilson bill," and laughter on the republican side), and there will be tariff bills to come. But when this house has destroyed the constitution, when it has rent this fabric of the fathers, what will remain, not of this house alone, but of the country, of democracy, of representative government? That is what they want to know, do honorable members of the minority, wiping their brows and retiring to the cloak-room for a drink of ice water.

To which the republicans retort, after an hour of effort to get back a quorum, that this committee on rules which has been assailed and vilified on this floor has brought in this rule in response to the unanimous demand of the entire country, which has been shocked and made indignant by the reprehensible attempts of gentlemen on the other side to obstruct and delay the passage of this bill. The country saw this house shackled and bound hand and foot by the dilatory tactics of the democrats. It saw urgently-needed legislation thwarted and delayed by parliamentary practices that were a reflection upon and a humiliation to free government and representative institutions. The country demanded, and the house, which is the country's servant (laughter on the democratic side) instructed the committee on rules to bring in this rule which restores freedom of action to this house. Here it is. The house is a free agent. It can adopt this rule and pass this bill, or it can reject the rule and cast the country into the bottomless abyss of despair by letting this bill drag here all summer. The house adopts it and the quorum disappears. Thus does the tariff bill progress.

Danger of Coal Shortage Increases
(Denison Herald)

"Wise people who know they must buy coal between now and next winter will buy it as soon as practicable," says the Railway Age. "Foolish people who know they will have to buy coal will postpone buying it and probably pay dearly for doing so. If there is any considerable increase of manufacturing and other forms of industrial activity, there will be a coal shortage, and a serious one, unless buying for business and domestic purposes soon increases very largely.

"The normal increase in consumption of coal in the United States for a long time has been from 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 tons a year. The year 1914, like the year 1921, was a year of depression. Nevertheless, in the first six months of 1921 the amount of coal produced and shipped actually was 9,000,000 tons less than in the same months of 1914, seven years ago, and, in fact, less than in the first six months of any of the last eight years except 1915. It was 30,000,000 tons less in the first six months of 1921 than in 1913; 50,000,000 tons less than in 1916; 77,000,000 tons less than in 1917; 86,000,000 tons less than in 1918, and 62,000,000 tons less than in 1920. At the present rate of output the total production of 1921 would be less than 400,000,000 tons. The last year in which less than this amount of coal was consumed was 1909—12 years ago.

"The interstate commerce commission has become so alarmed regarding the situation that Chairman Clark has made a special appeal to the railways and public utilities to increase their purchase and storage of coal. Many of the railways and public utilities are doing so, but there is a limit to the beneficial effect this will produce. Unless other business concerns and domestic consumers speedily and largely increase their purchases the country will have serious coal troubles this winter.

"There is every reason why consumers that can buy and store coal to provide for future needs should do so now. The railways today have a surplus of 163,000 coal cars. In addition, they have over 120,000 coal cars in bad order, many of which could soon be put into service if there was a demand for them. This makes a total of almost 300,000 coal cars for which there is no demand now; but past experience shows that a large increase of coal traffic in the fall and winter would soon wipe out this car surplusage and create a shortage.

"It is as certain as any futuse thing can be that there will be no substantial reductions in freight rates on coal this year. The railroads themselves are paying for coal prices per ton which, according to the latest statistics available, average $4.40 per ton, or about 180 per cent higher than in 1916. The advances in rates on coal have averaged nowhere near this much, and the railways cannot afford to reduce the rates on coal when they are having to pay such high prices for it. Furthermore, there seems no prospect of any considerable reductions in prices of coal, because the mine operators are still paying the mine workers the highest wages in history and under their contracts will have to continue to do so until April 1, 1922.

"All past warnings regarding the increasing danger of coal troubles next fall and winter have been disregarded by the public. It is to be hoped that the warnings now being given will receive more attention."

The History of Your Name
By PHILIP FRANCIS NOWLAN

MacWILLIAMS.

Similar Derivations—MacDavid, MacAndrews, MacHenry.

Racial Origin—Irish plus Norman-French.

Source—A given name.

There is probably more romance and tragedy, and certainly more history, bound up in the surnames of Irish origin than in those which developed in any other country, with the possible exception of Scotland.

Ireland today is full of Anglo-Saxon and Norman-French names which families of pure Irish blood were forced by law to assume. Sometimes they simply translated their names into English. At others they adopted those English names which were nearest in sound to their own.

But the shifting nomenclature of Ireland was not a one-sided affair by any means. And of this fact such names as MacWilliams stand witness today.

Prior to the death of William de Burgo, third earl of Ulster, at the hands of the natives in the year 1333, many Norman-French families had become thoroughly settled, and the English influence predominated in the north of Ireland. But upon De Burgo's death this influence waned so rapidly that these families had no choice but to cast their lot with the Irish, and the family of De Burgo, with many others, abandoned their Norman family names and constructed new ones for themselves after the Irish fashion of using the first name of a revered ancestor with the prefix Hui (O' in modern spelling), or Mac, to denote descent. Thus the Burgos became "Sons of William" or MacWilliams, and such names as MacDavid, MacAndrews and MacHenry came into being among families which in the course of time have, as the tradition goes, "become more Irish than the Irish themselves."

JUST FOLKS

THE LESSON.

You will discover by and by,
When you have grown as old as I,
That certain men at whom you sneer,
With habits strange and customs queer
And sometimes very coarse and crude
And in their conduct often rude,
Grow rich, while men of finer grain
In humble poverty remain.

And no doubt, too, as oft have I,
You'll notice this and wonder why—
Why should the barren intellect
The treasures of the world collect,
While polished minds from day to day
Must struggle for a meager pay?
If ignorance to wealth can rise,
Why be a gentleman and wise?

Yet when these thoughts shall come to you,
There is one thing I'd have you do—
Consider this: so rich to be.
Would you remain as coarse as he?
Count up your friends and his right then—
Would you give up the kindly men
Who stand by you and take his place,
Almost an outcast from his race?

Would you be laughed at, as is he,
The richest man on earth to be?
And for mere gold, so highly prised,
Would you be pitied or despised?
Learn from such men that here on earth
Money is not the proof of worth,
And poor is he whose wealth is told
In nothing but a pile of gold.

HUMANISMS
Inner Lights on Lives and Whims of Personages in the Public Eye

By WILLIAM ATHERTON DU PUY

Down in Washington it is coming to be admitted that the local public is evidencing a quite new spirit toward Mr. Woodrow Wilson, its former president. Two or three times lately theatre audiences have detected his presence and have insisted on demonstrations of unusual fervor.

Ray Stannard Baker, the writer, who is collaborating with Mr. Wilson in the preparation of his book, went to a moving picture show the other night, and it happened that President Harding and Mr. Wilson both appeared in the news feature. Mr. Baker thought the former president got the better of the applause. The next day at the Cosmos club he said so to a group of friends. They insisted that he was a prejudiced judge. Whereupon Mr. Baker challenged them to go to the same show that night and report back. They did so, and, next day, sustained Mr. Baker's claim.

This does not necessarily prove anything one way or the other, as the play of the pictures may have been such as to produce this sort of result. An audience may be drowsing along and unawake to the idea of applause when one figure is flashed. There is an outburst which arouses this present. Then the second figure is flashed and the response is much stronger.

But the point to this story is that Mr. Baker told Mr. Wilson of the incident, and of the fact that he had elicited greater applause than the president. He expected his would be pleasing to his chief. Instead of a show of pleasure, however, he saw a cloud come over the face of the father of the league of nations. He sat silent for half a minute, and then he said:

"That is not the proper spirit for an American audience to show toward its president."

The assistant secretary of treasury in charge of foreign loans, Mr. Eliot Wadsworth, used to be a member of the firm of Stone & Webster who tackle jobs of engineering and construction all around the globe.

He handled the financial end of constructing the Keokuk dam, across the Mississippi. I used often to be asked, Mr. Wadsworth says, why a dam was not put across that great stream. The answer always was:

"Dam it they can't"

Major General Peyton C. March, the retiring chief of staff, is a lineal descendant of the Washingtons of Charleston, W. Va., where four brothers of the father of his country settled and brought up families. General March has that Washington quality of measuring over 6 feet in height.

Dr. Hugh M. Smith, chief of the bureau of fisheries, calls attention to the fact that the phrase, "there she blows," originated in the good old whaling days and was the call of the lookout for whales which could first be detected by the water they blew into the air.

Ernest Lewis, recently appointed interstate commerce commissioner, used to be a reporter on a newspaper out in Indianapolis and got to studying public service corporations that he might write pieces about them. He got to know more about them any anybody else and so was appointed by Governor Goodrich as a member of the public service commission of the state. Advancement to the interstate commerce commission was a logical step for him.

AND RIGHT THERE IS WHERE I MADE MY BIG MISTAKE

THE RED-HEADED LEAGUE

By A. CONAN DOYLE

Copyright, 1921, by Harper & Bros. Published by special arrangement with The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The story thus far:

Mr. Jabez Wilson, a stolid, stout, red headed man, a free mason, who has been in China, visits Holmes for the purpose of obtaining help. He gives Holmes and Watson a clipping, asking them to read it.

It is dated two months before. It says that there is a vacancy in the Red-headed League, at a salary of four pounds a week. Wilson says he is a pawnbroker, whose business of late years has been a small one. He has only one assistant, a quick and reliable young man named Vincent Spaulding, whose only fault is that he is always taking photographs and running to the cellar to develop his plates. Wilson is a widower without a family, and a girl of fourteen keeps his place clean and does a little cooking. Spaulding told Wilson of the vacancy in the league and suggested that Wilson, with his fiery red hair, apply. Wilson did, with Spaulding, and was accepted out of scores and scores of men, by the manager of the league.

PART THREE.

"'My name,' said he, 'is Mr. Duncan Ross, and I am myself one of the pensioners upon the fund left by our noble benefactor. Are you a married man, Mr. Wilson? Have you a family?'

"I answered that I had not.

"His face fell immediately.

"'Dear me!' he said, gravely, 'that is very serious indeed! I am sorry to hear you say that. The fund was, of course, for the propagation and spread of red heads as well as for their maintenance. It is exceedingly unfortunate that you should be a bachelor.'

"My face lengthened at this, Mr. Holmes, for I thought that I was not to have the vacancy after all; but, after thinking it over for a few minutes, he said that it would be all right.

"'In the case of another,' said he, 'the objection might be fatal, but we must stretch a point in favor of a man with such a head of hair as yours. When shall you be able to enter upon your new duties?'

"'Well, it is a little awkward, for I have a business already,' said I.

"'Oh, never mind about that, Mr. Wilson!' said Vincent Spaulding. 'I shall be able to look after that for you.'

"'What would be the hours?' I asked.

"'Ten to two.'

"Now a pawnbroker's business is mostly done of an evening, Mr. Holmes, especially Thursday and Friday evenings, which is just before pay-day; so it would suit me very well to earn a little in the mornings. Besides, I knew that my assistant was a good man, and that he would see to anything that turned up.

"'That would suit me very well,' said I. 'And the pay?'

"'Is £4 a week.'

"'And the work?'

"'Is purely nominal.'

"'What do you call purely nominal?'

"'Well, you have to be in the office, or at least in the building, the whole time. If you leave, you forfeit your whole position forever. The will is very clear upon that point. You don't comply with the conditions if you budge from the office during that time.'

"'It's only four hours a day, and I should not think of leaving,' said I.

"'No excuse will avail,' said Mr. Duncan Ross; 'neither sickness nor business nor anything else. There you must stay, or lose your billet.'

"'Is to copy out the "Encyclopaedia Britannica." There is the first volume of it in that press. You must find your own ink, pens and blotting-paper, but we provide this table and chair. Will you be ready tomorrow?'

"'Certainly,' I answered.

"'Then good-bye, Mr. Jabez Wilson, and let me congratulate you once more on the important position which you have been fortunate enough to gain.' He bowed me out of the room, and I went home with my assistant, hardly knowing what to say or do, I was so pleased at my own good fortune.

"Well, I thought over the matter all day, and by evening I was in low spirits again, for I had quite persuaded myself that the whole affair must be some great hoax or fraud, though what its object might be I could not imagine. It seemed altogether past belief that anyone could make such a will, or that they would pay such a sum for doing anything so simple as copying out the 'Encyclopaedia Britannica.' Vincent Spaulding did what he could to cheer me up, but by bedtime I had reasoned myself out of the whole thing. However in the morning I determined to have a look at it anyhow, so I bought a penny bottle of ink, and with a quill pen, and seven sheets of foolscap paper, I started off for Pope's Court.

"Well, to my surprise and delight, everything was as right as to work. He started me off upon the letter A and then he left me; but he would drop in from time to time to see that all was right with me. At two o'clock he bade me good-day, complimented me upon the amount that I had written, and locked the door of the office after me.

"This went on day after day, Mr. Holmes, and on Saturday the manager came in and planked down four golden sovereigns for my week's work. It was the same next week, and the same the week after. Every morning I was there at ten, and every afternoon I left at two. By degrees Mr. Duncan Ross took to coming in only once of a morning. The table was set out ready for me, and Mr. Duncan Ross was there to see that I got fairly started, and then, after a time, he did not come in at all. Still, of course, I never dared to leave the room for an instant, for I was not sure when he might come and the billet was such a good one and suited me so well, that I would not risk the loss of it.

"Eight weeks passed away like this, and I had written about Abbots and Archery and Armor and Architecture and Attica, and hoped with diligence that I might get one to the B's before very long. It cost me something in foolscap, and I had pretty nearly filled a shelf with my writings. And then suddenly the whole business came to an end."

"To an end?"

"Yes, sir. And no later than this morning. I went to my work as usual at ten o'clock, but the door was shut and locked, with a little square of cardboard hammered on to the middle of the panel with a tack. Here it is, and you can read for yourself."

He held up a piece of white cardboard about the size of a sheet of note-paper. It read in this fashion:

"The Red-headed League
is Dissolved.
October 9, 1890."

Sherlock Holmes and I surveyed this curt announcement and the rueful face behind it, until the comical side of the affair so completely overtopped every other consideration that we both burst into a roar of laughter.

"I cannot see that there is anything very funny," cried our client, flushing up to the roots of his flaming head. "If you can do nothing better than laugh at me, I can go elsewhere."

"No, no," cried Holmes, shoving him back into the chair from which he had half risen. "I really wouldn't miss your case for the world. It is most refreshingly unusual. But there is, if you will excuse my saying so, something just a little funny about it. Pray what steps did you take when you found the card upon the door?"

"I was staggered, sir. I did not know what to do. Then I called at the offices round, but none of them seemed to know anything about it. Finally, I went to the landlord, who is an accountant living on the ground floor, and I asked him if he could tell me what had become of the Red-headed League. He said that he had never heard of any such body. Then I asked him who Mr. Duncan Ross was. He answered that the name was new to him.

"'Well,' said I, 'the gentleman at No. 4.'

"'What, the red-headed man?'

"'Yes.'

"'Oh,' said he, 'his name was William Morris. He was a solicitor and was using my room as a temporary convenience until his new premises were ready. He moved out yesterday.'

"'Where could I find him?'

"'Oh at his new offices. He did tell me the address. Yes, 17 King Edward street, near St. Paul's.'

"I started off, Mr. Holmes, but when I got to that address it was a manufactory of artifical knee caps, and no one in it had ever heard of either Mr. William Morris or Mr. Duncan Ross.'

"'And what did you do then?' asked Holmes.

"'I went home to Saxe-Coburg Square, and I took the advice of my assistant. But he could not help me in any way. He could only say that if I waited I should hear by post. But that was not quite good enough, Mr. Holmes. I did not wish to lose such a place without a struggle, so, as I had heard that you were good enough to give advice to poor folk who were in need of it, I came right away to you.'

"'And you did very wisely,' said Holmes. 'Your case is an exceedingly remarkable one, and I shall be happy to look into it. From what you have told me I think that it is possible that graver issues hang from it than might at first sight appear.'

"'Grave enough!' said Mr. Jabez Wilson. 'Why, I have lost four pounds a week.'

BUGHOUSE FABLES

NAVAL PLANES HELD BY HEAVY WEATHER

Bombing of Former German Battleship Postponed Until a Later Date

NORFOLK, VA., July 20.—After being held up nearly four hours because of heavy seas, high winds and a "low visibility," air attacks on the former German battleship Ostfriesland off the Virginia capes were ordered to proceed this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—A message from the U. S. S. Henderson to the navy department said bombing tests against the former German battleship Ostfriesland off the Virginia capes had been postponed today because of weather conditions.

"Commander of air believes it impossible to operate," the message said.

By Associated Press.

ON BOARD U. S. S HENDERSON, Off the Virginia Capes, July 20.—The airplane and the capital warship met here today for the first time. Army, navy and marine corps aviators, using bombs ranging in size from 250 to 1,000 pounds, were prepared to carry out a series of attacks on the former German battleship Ostfriesland, a heavy armored craft, corresponding to the dreadnaught Florida of the American navy. Although battle conditions could not be simulated, as the Ostfriesland was unmanned and at anchor, the result of the tests was expected to have an important bearing on the controversy started by Brigadier General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, with his declaration before a congressional committee that the airplane was making the capital ship obsolete.

Many naval officers here to observe the attack predicted that the Ostfriesland would be able to withstand any punishment the bombers could give. On the other hand army officers believed that the airmen would score a victory. They said that even if the craft was not actually sunk the airplane probably would inflict so much damage that the ship would be out of the running.

No living creature was aboard the Ostfriesland and consequently there was no way of determining the probable effect on a crew. The army officers were certain, however, that hits with several of the larger bombs to be employed would put practically the entire ship's crew out of action through shell shock. Some members of congress observing the tests were also known to entertain the same opinion. The attacks today were divided into three separate phases. In the first, more than a dozen army, navy and marine corps planes were to drop some three score bombs, weighing 250 and 300 pounds each. In the second phase army land planes and navy seaplanes were to launch approximately a score of 520 and 600-pound bombs, while in the third attack, navy and army Martin bombers were to launch 16 bombs weighing 1,000 pounds each.

Should the bombers fail to put the Ostfriesland down today the plans call for a continuation of the attack tomorrow with 1,900 and 2,000-pound bombs. If the ship then is afloat, the superdreadnaught Pennsylvania, flagship of the Atlantic fleet, will go into action against her, using the main battery of twelve 14-inch guns.

The Ostfriesland is 456 feet long, 93 feet broad and has a displacement of 22,800 tons. She was one of the most heavily armed crafts in the once German navy and carries 12-inch rifles in turrets. She also has a deck armor five inches thick, designed particularly, it was said, for protection against air attacks.

DOES NOT PRESENT SAME RESISTANCE TO ATTACK

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Owing to the removal of some of her armor, structure and fittings for other test purposes, the former German battleship Ostfriesland, as the target today of aircraft off the Virginia capes, does not present the same resistance to a bombing attack as if she was ready for action, according to Rear Admiral Taylor, chief constructor o fthe navy.

"The Ostfriesland is not equal to our modern battleships as regards under water protection," Admiral Taylor also stated.

TENTATIVE VALUATION OF COTTON BELT ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The valuation of the St. Louis and Southwestern Railway company of Texas was fixed tentatively today by the interstate commerce commission at $26,029,939. The Stephenville North and South Texas was included in this valuation.

The outstanding capitalization of the company as shown on its books is $27,590,926, and money invested in road and equipment amounts to $26,820,299, of which $16,956,248 is represented by securities issued or assumed for property purchased.

The commission said it was unable to determine the original cost of the road but that to reproduce it new would cost $28,156,973 which, if depreciation were deducted, would amount to $21,352,005.

SECRETARY OF WAR OF MEXICO GOES TO TAMPICO OIL FIELD

MEXICO CITY, July 20.—The arrival in Tampico of Secretary of War Estrada for the purpose of investigating a recent revolt headed by Gen. Martinez Herrera is reported in dispatches received here today.

It has been announced that General Herrera and his lieutenants, despite their voluntary surrender, will receive no amnesty at the hands of the government and that court-martial proceedings are to be started in the near future. In this connection it is rumored that President Obregon, who left San Luis Potosi yesterday for the capital, will proceed to Tampico.

The president is due here today, but has not confirmed the report that he will join Secretary Estrada in the oil region.

Landis Against Stalling Off the Bonus Measure

CHICAGO, July 20.—Stating that what he said might be reason for impeachment, Federal Judge K. M. Landis in an address before wounded soldiers at Fort Sheridan denounced the foes of the soldiers' bonus bill and asserted that if he were president he "would fire the whole outfit" at Washington who were "getting in one another's way trying to pass on the veterans compensation proposition."

"As one man who stayed at home in peace and security while you fellows were fighting for our lives," said the judge, "I am against stalling off this bonus proposition."

TWINS AND COUSINS OF LATE THEODORE ROOSEVELT ARE REPORTED MISSING

NEW YORK, July 20.—Search was started today by the police for Charles and Latrobe Leaycraft, 26 years old, twins and cousins of the late Theodore Roosevelt, at the request of their brother, Reginald Roosevelt Leaycraft. The twins have been missing from home since Monday morning.

Reginald said that after an unsatisfactory discussion of a business venture at their Wall street office, his brothers said they thought of shipping as seamen on a trans-Atlantic vessel or might go to California.

The twins are described as five feet seven inches in height, 150 pounds, fair complexion, blue eyes and light, hair.

VETERAN OF WORLD WAR AFTER FATHER'S ESTATE

MADISON, WIS., July 20.—Albert Brinker, a veteran of the world war, now employed in a ten-cent store here, has begun court proceedings to recover the estate of his parents in Chicago. Brinker returned from France to find that his parents had died and that he himself was reported to have been killed in action. The state had taken over his parents' property and he was penniless. He came here to work until he had the money to go to court and establish his identity and his right as sole heir to the property. He said he did not know the value of the estate.

IRRIGATION PLANS OKEYED BY MARTIN

have been very low. It is possible that some shortage of water might have occurred that year. In 1918 four irrigations would have been necessary, but the reservoir would have been fairly well filled with water and no shortage would have occurred."

Considering the danger of excessive precipitation, such as might result in flood damage, the report goes into much greater detail than most Wichitans might consider necessary, but Mr. Morgan evidently considered that situation worthy of his attention. Calling attention to the fact that on May 28, 1909, over five inches of rain fell in Wichita Falls in one day, Mr. Morgan says:

"Our study of the movement of storm rainfall in Texas leads us to believe that a very heavy storm will some time be centered over the drainage area of the Wichita river, and that it will come at a time when the reservoir is full of water. Such being the case, ample spillway capacity must be provided at the dams."

On the subject of the total amount of water available, Mr. Morgan takes up river-stage and rainfall figures, going back to 1891, and finds that the total amount of water available is considerably in excess of the maximum needs of the district.

As to the presence of alkali in the water, Mr. Morgan reports that an analysis made under his direction shows a chemical content of 592 parts to the million, which is about the same as in the Rio Grande, about half as much as in the Brazos water and less than half as much as there is in Pecos water.

"We believe," says the report, "that no difficulty will be encountered from such alkali as indicated in the water unless the soil is allowed to become water-logged. This should not occur in this district because the drainage outlets are from fair to excellent and because the district is located in a region where frequent and repeated irrigations will not be necessary, and where there is sufficient rainfall to assist in removing any alkali that may accumulate."

The silting question, which always must be considered in irrigation problems, is not at all a serious one in this instance, Mr. Morgan reports.

"We calculate that it would take approximately 275 years to fill the storage reservoir (with silt). In other words, only about 9 per cent of the storage would be occupied by silt in 25 years.

"In our judgment, the silting problem on the project is not as serious as it is in a great many other places, and no great apprehension need be felt from that standpoint."

As for the soil and its irrigability, Mr. Morgan says:

The Soil Problem.

"The soils in one area are of a reddish brown color. In density they vary from a heavy clay to a sandy loam. A large majority of the soil is of a loamy type that tills easily. All the soils that come under irrigation are fertile and will produce luxuriant crops when properly watered."

Discussing the technical engineering phases of the project, Mr. Morgan makes a number of recommendations involving minor changes. The most important of these calls for the construction of an additional spillway for the storage reservoir; one service spillway is favored, and another spillway for emergency purposes is recommended. Mr. Morgan's recommendation for possible saving by using wood instead of concrete for the canal construction work is set forth in his summary of the project.

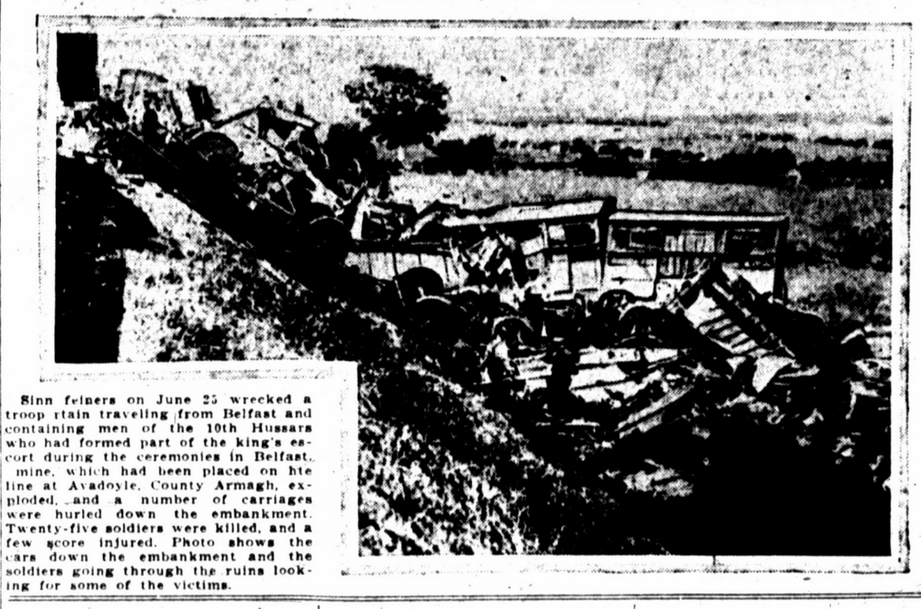

The report concludes with the following flattering resume:

Points Out Possibilities.

"The principal crops that the landowners now attempt to grow by dry-farming methods are wheat, cotton, corn, oats and other general crops of the same type, under irrigation, all of these crops as well as alfalfa, fruits, vegetables and all other crops adapted to the climate and locality could be successfully and profitably grown. The chief advantage to be derived from irrigation is that crops could be profitably grown every year, whereas without irrigation there is a great hazard in raising all crops.

"It is estimated that 50 per cent of the land in the area to be irrigated is now under cultivation with good farm improvements and a supply of stock and farm implements. It is true that the land will be cultivated more intensively under irrigation than it is at the present time; but, even so, there is, from all appearances, a large number of inhabitants in the adjacent territory who would be attracted to the locality when the successful growth of crops is assured. Considered from the standpoint of colonization alone, this is the most favorable irrigation project that we have ever examined."

SINN FEINERS WRECK TROOP TRAIN IN ENGLAND

Twenty-five soldiers were killed, and a few score injured. Photo shows the cars down the embankment and the soldiers going through the ruins looking for some of the victims.

CURLEE EXPLAINS PURPOSE OF PAVEMENT RESURFACING WORK NOW UNDER WAY

A statement with reference to the resurfacing of the pavement on Brook and Elizabeth streets was made Wednesday by Street Commissioner Curlee as follows:

"The one-half inch mat of surface treatment of tarvia has been completed on Brook street from Huff to Collins avenue, and on Elizabeth avenue from Brook to Marshall street.

"These streets are paved with concrete. This concrete has worn off considerably, and the one-half inch of bituminous surfacing was applied to stop the cracks and prevent further wear. The cost of this treatment was approximately 13 cents per square yard. This work is being paid for by the contractor, L. E. Whitman, who agreed with the city council to allow a certain amount due him from other work to be applied to surface treating Brook and Elizabeth streets.

"The street department is also experimenting with one block of concrete pavement on Tenth street between Baylor and Denver street, which is in very bad condition. This block is considerably cut up by patches, and the old concrete continually ravels out. The cost of this bituminous surfacing for the 600 feet on Tenth street is less than $300. This bituminous surface treatment should save its cost in patching every two or three months.

"While it would have been preferable to surface this block with one and one-half inches of bitulithic, the cost at this time is prohibitive. For this one block it would have cost from $4,500 to $5,000 to do this. I feel that at this time the property owners would not want to invest that amount, and the city can not."

NEFF RENEWS CHARGE OF GRAFT AT AUSTIN

the reading of the governor's message to the house.

WANT THE GOVERNOR TO FURNISH INFORMATION

AUSTIN, July 20.—The second day of the special session of the legislature saw another resolution proposing that Governor Neff should furnish information to the legislature to substantiate his charges of graft and extravagance introduced. This measure was offered by Senator Burkett of Eastland and was reported favorably by the senate committee on state affairs by a 10 to 1 vote.

Senator Dorough of Bowie opposed the passage of the bill by the committee, registering the negative vote. Senator Bailey DeWitt, in urging a favorable report of the bill, said "the state is afire from the governor's words that graft and extravagance exist in the capitol," and to "let the governor take the consequences of ill-timed remarks if he is mistaken."

A similar resolution was introduced in the house of representatives by Moore of Hunt, but no action has been taken on it by the house committee on state affairs. By an error the measure has not been reported to the committee.

The committee reports on two of the governor's law enforcement measures were made today. The repeal of the suspended sentence law was reported unfavorably by a vote of 8 to 7 by the house committee on criminal jurisprudence. A favorable minority report was filed. The Dean law amendment proposing to take from the law that section making it an offense to purchase liquor was reported favorably by the house committee on liquor traffic.

The house committee on agriculture also reported favorably the bill proposing abolishing the marketing and warehouse department.

A resolution introduced in the house by Quickwall of McLennan and others proposing to reduce the salaries of certain state employes and department heads that were raised by the 36th legislature to the original sums was defeated when a motion to table carried.

A bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Cousins of Jefferson appropriating $4,000 to defray the expenses of the state superintendent of education in taking the scholastic census of any school district where it may be deemed necessary to do so.

A concurrent resolution was introduced in both branches providing for transferring the home economics department of the Texas A. and M. college to the College of Industrial Arts. This department is operated under the extension service provided by the Smith-Lever act of the federal government.

A bill was introduced in the house by Morris of Medina making it the duty of the state comptroller to co-operate with the county commissioners courts in collecting delinquent and insolvent taxes. The committee on revenue and taxation to which the bill was referred appointed a subcommittee to confer with the governor to ascertain if it came within his reasons for calling the special session.

The legislature did very little actual work today, both branches adjourning at noon until tomorrow.

PROPOSED FERGUSON PICTURE CAUSES STIR IN THE SENATE

AUSTIN, July 20.—Debate on whether James E. Ferguson's picture should be placed on the rotunda wall of the state house with other Texas governors consumed practically the entire morning in the senate.

Senator Bledsoe of Lubbock introduced the resolution calling for the painting of the impeached governor's portrait for that purpose.

Senator Page of Bastrop offered an amendment to the resolution providing that the inscription under the portrait should include the fact that Ferguson had been impeached. The Page amendment was the signal for heated argument, continuing for an hour and only interrupted by the appearance of former Congressman Carlos Bee, who was asked to address the senate.

When Mr. Bee left the platform the debate on the Ferguson picture was renewed with vigor and was still continuing as the noon hour approached.

The resolution by Senator Burkett asking the governor to furnish information of graft in the capitol was laid on the table subject to call. After the governor's message to the house was read, Senator Page of Bastrop moved this action. After it was adopted Lieutenant Governor Davidson complimented the senate on its "sane conservative manner of handling this situation."

M'KNIGHT CARRIED TO HOME OF A BROTHER

Deny That He Was Victim of Surgical Operation as Has Been Reported

NACOGDOCHES, TEXAS, July 20.—J. W. McKnight, taken by masked men near Teneha last night, was beaten and tar placed on his clothing but not on his body. He was brought to his home here about daylight this morning by a brother. McKnight was not forced to submit to a surgical operation as one report said.

Before being beaten McKnight was stripped. He was blindfolded and taken naked a short distance from Timpson, where his clothing was dumped on the ground and he was placed standing on his garments. After being threatened further, he said, he was abandoned by the masked men.

Lee McKnight, brother of the man assaulted, met him near Garrison and brought him to his home here about daybreak.

McKnight said today he was planning to lay his case before federal authorities in the hope of securing protection. He declared he recognized one member of the party attacking him last night and knew some of those who attacked him Sunday night.

McKnight had gone to Shelby county yesterday with the intention of laying his complaint before the authorities. He was taken into custody because it was alleged he carried a concealed weapon. On the way to Center, the county seat of Shelby county, he was taken from the deputy sheriff in charge of him.

Sheriff Woodlan of Nacogdoches county was informed today that threats were made at Timpson against other residents of Nacogdoches. An oil man from this county was whipped near Timpson several weeks ago.

TAKEN FROM DEPUTY SHERIFF NEAR TIMPSON TUESDAY NIGHT

CENTER, TEXAS, July 20.—Efforts of the sheriff's office here up to 10 o'clock this morning had failed to locate J. W. McKnight of Nacogdoches, reported taken from a deputy sheriff near Timpson last night by masked men.

The last information the sheriff's office had was that the party which was supposed to have McKnight was going through Timpson. J. W. Smith, sheriff, said he was endeavoring to trace the movements of the party and had telephoned the surrounding country, but up to 10 o'clock had no definite information.

McKnight was beaten early Sunday morning near Teneha. He returned to Teneha yesterday, having announced his intention of laying the matter before the authorities. He was taken into custody for alleged carrying of a concealed weapon and was being conveyed to Center last night when seized from the officer in charge of him.

Triple in Eleventh Paves the Way For Victory at Dallas

DALLAS, July 20.—Clark's triple in the 11th, followed by Work's squeeze and an out that added another run, gave Wichita Falls the decision in 11 innings Tuesday, 6 to 4.

Mitchell pitched steady in the face of erratic support and the Marines outhit the visitors nearly 3 to 1.

First Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Bescher popped to Galloway. Tanner singled to center and stole second. McDonald went out swinging. Clark hit to his usual place and was thrown out, Palmer to Galloway. No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

DALLAS: The Marines wasted two hits in this round, both coming after two were down. Falk was thrown out by Tanner and Clark got Munson at first. Galloway pasted a single to right and Conley followed with a double to left that put him on third. Palmer was thrown out by Tanner. No runs, 2 hits, no errors.

Second Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Griggs popped to Robertson behind the plate. McElwee walked and stole second. He went to third while Works was being thrown out at first, Galloway to Mitchell. Kitchens went out swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

DALLAS: Mattick was thrown out by Tanner. Robertson doubled to left. Segrist walked. Robertson stole third, with the aid of Umpire Kane. Mitchell was thrown out by McDonald, Robertson holding third and Segrist going to second. Falk was thrown out by Tanner. No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

Third Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: A two-ply wallop together with a brace of errors gave the Spudders a three-run lead in this period. Bowman led off with a double to left. Bescher hit to Mitchell who threw to third to get Bowman, but Segrist dropped the peg and all hands were safe. Bescher went to second on the play. Tanner popped to Palmer. McDonald hit to Palmer who tried to get Bowman at the plate, but the peg was late and Bowman scored. Clark poled a long fly to Falk and Bescher scored after the catch. McDonald went to second on the throw to the plate. Munson dropped Griggs' fly in right and McDonald counted. Griggs stole second but his effort was wasted when Segrist and Galloway retired McElwee. 3 runs, 1 hit, 2 errors.

DALLAS: Munson flew out to Bescher. Galloway singled past Clark, but died stealing. Conley doubled to right. Palmer was thrown out by Clark. No runs, 2 hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Works was thrown out by Conley. Kitchens took a third strike. Bowman went out, Mitchell to Galloway. No runs, no hits, no errors.

DALLAS: The Marines gave Bowman a drubbing and the air also in this round. Marshall relieved him, but before the fusilade ended the score was tied. Mattick and Robertson singled in quick succession. Skinner was sent in to hit for Segrist and he flew out to McElwee. Mattick went to third after the catch, but Robertson was held at first. Mitchell cleared the bags with a long triple to center. This blow sent Bowman to the bench and Marshall relieved him. Falk greeted him with a single that scored Mitchell. Munson hit to Clark and Falk was forced at second. Galloway's single to right put Munson on second. Conley was thrown out by Clark. 3 runs, 5 hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Bescher placed a safety in center. Tanner hit into a double play, Palmer to Galloway. McDonald was thrown out by Palmer. No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

DALLAS: Palmer was thrown out by Clark. Mattick skied to Griggs. Robertson lofted to Bescher. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Clark popped weakly ot Galloway. Griggs was thrown out by Palmer. McElwee grounded to Galloway. No runs, no hits, no errors.

DALLAS: Marshall weathered a tough storm in this round when he got away without being scored on with Galloway and Conley facing him with the bases filled. Smith was thrown out by Clark. Mitchell and Falk singled to center and Munson drew a pass. Galloway hit to McDonald and Mitchell was forced at the plate. Conley swung at three and sat down. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: "Caddy" Works put the Spudders into the lead in this chapter by tripling to center and scoring on Kitchens' squeeze, Mitchell to Galloway. Marshall swung three times in vain. Bescher flew out to Falk. 1 run, 1 hit, no errors.

DALLAS: The Marines lost no time in tying it up again. Palmer opened with a single to center and went to second on Mattick's out, Clark to Works. He scored when Robertson plastered a safety to center. Mattick sacrificed Robertson to second, Marshall to Works. Mitchell flew out to Bescher. 1 run, 2 hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: The Spudders passed up a wonderful chance to win in this frame when they got men as far as second and third, but could not score. After Tanner had been retired by Conley and Galloway, McDonald thumped a double to center. Clark was purposely passed. Griggs went out at first, unassisted, McDonald going to third and Clark to second. McElwee popped to Robertson. No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

DALLAS: Griggs prevented a lot of damage in this round. He robbed Falk of a sure triple when he backed up against the center field fence and snared his drive. Munson went out swinging. Galloway grounded to Works. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Works fanned. Kitchens flew out to Falk. Marshall popped to Galloway. No runs, no hits, no errors.

DALLAS: Marshall got into hot water again in this round, but escaped unscathed. Conley opened with a single to center and went to third on Palmer's drive to the same pasture. Palmer was too ambitious, however, and was thrown out trying to reach second, Kitchens to McDonald to Tanner. Mattick hit to Clark and Conley was nipped at the plate. Robertson fouled out to Works. No runs, 2 hits, no errors.

Tenth Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Bescher fanned. Tanner grounded to Galloway. McDonald lined to Palmer. No runs, no hits, no errors.

DALLAS: Smith fanned. Mitchell was thrown out at first by Clark. Falk grounded to Tanner and was an easy out at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eleventh Inning.

WICHITA FALLS: Clark tripled to deep center. Griggs was hit by a pitched ball. McElwee was thrown out at first by Mitchell, no advance. Works hit to Mitchell and the latter's peg to the plate was too late to catch Clark. Griggs romped to third on the play. Works stole second while Mitchell held the ball. Kitchens was thrown out by Conley, Griggs scoring and Works taking third. Marshall fanned. 2 runs, 1 hit, no errors.

DALLAS: Munson flew out to Griggs. Galloway was thrown out by Clark. Conley flew out to McElwee. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FORT WORTH, July 19.—Buzzer Bill Whittaker, the one-eyed pitching ace of the Fort Worth Cats, let the Shreveport Gassers down with three hits today and the locals won the first game of the series 3 to 0. Fort Worth touched Flaherty, Gasser moundsman, for eight hits, bunching them in the second and sixth innings for enough tallies to ice the game. Both teams played errorless ball throughout. Score:

FORTY-ONE ENTRANTS IN BIG GOLF TOURNAMENT

WASHINTON, July 20.—With 41 of the leading golf professionals of the country and two foreign entrants for the open golf championship already qualified for the final round of the titular play, the second half of the qualifying round in the annual classic opened today over the course of the Columbia Country club near Washington. Included in the prominent players who were scheduled to play this morning were Robert T. Jones Jr. of Atlanta, Ga., declared by Harry Vardon to be the leading American amateur; Leo Diegel of Detroit, one of the four men in a tie for second place last year at Toledo; James M. Barnes of Pelham Bay, and George Duncan of the Hanger Hill club, near London.

FIRST PLACE IS AT STAKE IN SERIES OF GAMES AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, July 20.—Possession of first place in the American league standing is at stake in the four-game series which is scheduled to open here today between the Cleveland Indians and the New York Yankees. This morning the world's champions were leading by less than one game. The series finds Manager Speaker better fortified with pitchers than he has been for two years. He has seven ready to go in against the Yanks—Coveleskie, Bagby, Uhle, Mails, Morjon, Caldwell and Sothoron.

It is expected that Shawkey and Schang will be the battery for New York and Coveleskie and O'Neill for Cleveland. O'Neill returned to the game yesterday after a six weeks' layoff due to injuries, and Wambsganss played second base after a week layoff with an injured leg.

SHRINES GIVE A WATCH TO BONHAM BALL PLAYER

VERNON, TEXAS, July 20.—Willie Delmasso of this city, now playing first base for the Bonham baseball team in the Texas-Oklahoma league, was lately given a gold watch by the Shriners of Bonham in recognition of his faithful and creditable playing. The presentation took place just as Delmasso was going up to bat in the first inning. The presentation speech was made by Attorney Sam Neilson, who spoke on behalf of the player's brother Shriners. Delmasso is the only Shriner on the team.

Donohue Holds Phillies to Four Scattered Hits In Nearly Full Game.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The feat of pitching a four-hit game in his first appearance in the major leagues was virtually performed yesterday by Peter Donohue, a Cincinnati National recruit. Donohue, who came from Christian university, Texas, held Philadelphia to four scattered hits in 8 2-3 innings, after the Quakers had batted Marquard out of the box. Donohue struck out four men and passed three.

PURELY PERSONAL.

GEORGE DUNCAN when he whales the ball
Assaults it with a speed so high
You cannot see him swing at all
If you by chance should hat an eye.
I only wish that all of those
Who stand as if attached to glue,
Who wiggle, waggle, wait and pose,
Would copy him a year or two.

BOB MARTIN, the A. E. F. product, still keeps discussion moving in polite pugilistic circles. Martin remains something of a mystery. His defense against the cleverer, faster Brennan (as compared to Moran) was all that might be asked of a debutante in fast company. Yet Moran, a much slower boxer, landed heavily and often. Against Brennan the A. E. F. boy had no left. Against Moran it was his most effective weapon. He showed greater cleverness against Brennan and more ability to take it against Moran. He isn't ready for Dempsey by a number of longer and earnest jumps, but his next hard test will be worth watching. His lack of championship speed and ring cleverness are still barriers to any extremely tall heights. The fact that he has courage, that he can take it and that he can sock are matters not to be overlooked.

BERYL G. RUDD, captain of the Oxford-Cambridge track team and Olympic 400-meter champion, is one of the greatest in the game at either the quarter or the half. Great Britain has always had a flock of star runners on hand from distances that range between the quarter and ten-mile slog, but few at the shorter distance that have been up to Rudd.

LENNY LEONARD, with Lew Tendler, should present one of the best entertainments of the year in the summer colony of Siam, provided both weigh in at the lightweight limit and the affair carries all the aspects of a championship contest. If the weight of either is out of focus and there is no title at stake, the contest will merely be an exhibition worthy only of casual mention. It is quite unlikely, with the possibilities offered that either will fail to look after this important feature. For the populace is only lured forth in large shoals when a throne is to be defended or pushed over.

CARPENTIER was supposed to have introduced a novelty in using his cook for a sparring partner. This may have been a novelty in France, but not in America. Sparring with cooks has been one of the most widespread institutions of the last fifty years.

JOCK HUTCHISON is outstanding [illegible] that a cove can be as nervous as a hooked fish and still play brilliant golf. The British open champion is a bundle of nerves with no great amount of flesh to protect the same, yet he plays his best golf under the highest possible pressure, even when he is unable to stand still for half a moment. There is nothing stolid or anything approaching serenity of mind in Jock's make-up but his intense concentration on the math job at hand remains a big feature of his game. All in all he is one of the rare characters of sport, a champion with a vivid and magnetic touch that will make him one of the great cards of a great game.

ZBYSKO, oldest champ of all,
Is resting quietly in his stall.
It's much too warm, and he's too fat,
To swelter on a July mat.
With some large, burly person who
Will only make him steam and stew.
Yet Time is no uplifting leaven
When one's approaching forty-seven.

JOHN W. HEISMAN, head coach of Pennsylvania's football team, has just turned author to a most pleasing effect. His new book, Principles of Football, published by the Sports Publishing Bureau of St. Louis, is one of the leading contributions of past years to the game. The book is full of sound advice and extremely well written by one who has been teaching the game for twenty-nine years. His 174 maxims make up a striking feature of the time which coaches and players will find extremely useful.

ROGER WETHERED still has the greatest alibi in golfing history for losing the British open. A 70 would have put him in front by a stroke, but after sizing up a putt on one of the home coming green, as he was walking back he struck the ball with his foot, thereby losing the most valuable single stroke in golf history. The marvel of it all is that after this upsetting incident the young amateur moved serenely along as if nothing had happened. Golf is replete with all varieties of alibis, but this one runs at the head of the column.

ST. PAUL, July 20.—Mike Gibbons today celebrated his thirty-third birthday on a train en route to New York, where on Monday night he is scheduled to meet Augie Ratner in the ring. Gibbons said last night before leaving that the birthday present he could get would be a signed contract for a match with Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion.

NAP LAJOIE ROUNDING UP FORMER DIAMOND STARS

CLEVELAND, OHIO, July 19.—Stars of the diamond of the not so very long ago are being marshalled by Napoleon Lajoie, the great old Cleveland second baseman; for an "old-timers" game during this city's celebration of its 125th anniversary. The game is scheduled for July 29.

Acceptances of Lajoie's invitation are reported from Cy Young, who now hails from Paoli, Ohio; Neal Ball, New Haven, Conn.; Harry Bay, Peoria, Ill.; Bobby Wallace, Independence, Kan.; George Cuppy, Elkhart, Ind.; Charlie Hickman, Morgantown, W. Va.; Chief Zimmer, Paddy Livingstone, Frank Gatch, Earl Moore, Bill Bradley, Terry Turner, Jess Burkett, Larry Twitchell, Elmer Flick, Bunk Congalton and Nick Altrock.

TERRA ALTA, W. VA., July 20.—Bob Martin, heavyweight champion boxer of the A. E. F., is spending a few days at his home here. The Terra Alta post of the American Legion, of which Martin is a member, is making an effort to match him for a bout here within the next month.

CAPTAIN OF TRACK TEAM IS A CONSTANT SMOKER

BOSTON, July 20.—Bevil Rudd, captain of the Oxford-Cambridge track team that meets the Yale-Harvard group in Harvard stadium on Saturday, trains on a pipe.

The big Oxford athlete puffs on a briar pipe almost incessantly. He smokes even on the days when he is slated for gruelling tests on the cinder tracks, and laughs at American trainers who say it will hurt him.

"Why, it helps me a tremendous lot, really," Rudd said today. "Over in Antwerp one of your American coaches told me to cut it out and see if it didn't help me. I tried it and ran third in the 400 metres. Then I smoked two pipefuls and won my next two events."

NO RESENTMENT AT HESITANCY OF JAPAN IN ITS ACCEPTANCE

POSITION OF NATION DIFFERENT FROM OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

POSITION OF JAPANESE APPEALS TO SYMPATHY

Sorely Pressed With the Need for Land for the Surplus Population

By MARK SULLIVAN
National Political Correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Wichita Daily Times.
(Copyright 1921 by the New York Evening Post.)

WASHINGTON, July 20. — Among those who have a well informed attitude toward the coming conference over questions arising out of the Pacific there is no resentment over the hesitancy of Japan to give as unqualified an acceptance to our invitation as the other nations did.

The position of Japan in relation to the coming conference is such as to appeal to generous sympathy. Japan, in a real sense, is the chief nation concerned. She lives in the Pacific.

Every reasonable statesman knows that Japan's situation is such as to call for much consideration. She is a nation of some 70,000,000 people, living in a group of comparatively small islands, with limited natural resources. For a large part of her population the economic margin of safety is so small that the failure of a single day's fishing may mean hunger.

At the same time she is a rapidly growing nation. She has two things which, combined, have the resistlessness of a force of nature. She has a high birth rate, and she has a knowledge of hygiene which enables her to keep a large proportion of her babies alive.

Under these circumstances her people must spread out somewhere, and it is the duty of her statesmen to see to that outlet and keep it open. But every time Japan seeks to expand, she is rebuffed. When considerable numbers of her workers began to come to America we asked her to stop them, and she did.

The local California feeling about the immigration of Japanese is accepted and would undoubtedly be endorsed and supported by the American government whenever the occasion should rise. But having denied the right of Japan to find an outlet in America for her surplus labor, we then join other nations in denying her an outlet elsewhere.

One natural outlet for Japan would be in eastern Siberia, but our government has taken the position that the unity of Russia as it existed before the revolution must be preserved and our attitude is one of protest against extending in any territory formerly Russian.

The same attitude that California takes toward Japanese immigration is taken by Canada, by Australia and by New Zealand. In fact the British dominions take this attitude of exclusion even more strongly than America does.

If Japan's particular problem in the coming conference were stated frankly it would be: We are sorely pressed with the need for land for our surplus population. Where are you willing that we should go.

MORGAN ASKS FOR SUPPORT OF PUBLIC

To Have Meeting of All Members of Police Department on Thursday Night

"The police department asks for the co-operation and support of all good citizens of Wichita Falls," said R. W. Morgan, new chief of police, Wednesday. "I will appreciate information and suggestions from any one, and I believe that any good citizen who has information about any member of the department or any other matter that I ought to know will come directly to me instead of talking to others about it. If the people will do this I believe that the police department can give good service.

"It would be ungrateful in me not to express my appreciate to former Police Commissioner W. G. Bralley, and to former Police Chief Lee Huff. They have given me every assistance in getting onto the job, and while I was juvenile officer I could not have asked for finer co-operation than these men gave me."

Mr. Morgan said that he intended to have a meeting of all members of the department at 8 o'clock Thursday night when he would make a short talk.

DISMISS SWINDLING CASE AGAINST THOMAS H. MORGAN

Upon motion of the state's attorneys, the swindling charge against Thomas H. Morgan was dismissed by Judge H. F. Weldon of the 30th district court Wednesday morning. Morgan has been in the county jail since last fall. The case had been set down for trial at two former occasions but the prosecuting witnesses failed to appear.

IOWA PARK'S SECOND REFINERY NOW OPEN

Livingston Buys Interest in Waggoner Lease; Production for Week Shows Decrease

The Livingston Oil corporation of this city has purchased for a consideration of $15,000 from the Humble Oil and Gas company the latter's half interest in the Maxey lease on the R. M. Waggoner property in the Northwest extension. On the property are three wells with an average production of 100 barrels daily.

In the K. M. A. district the Texas Pipe Line company is erecting its second 10,000-barrel tank on the Munger farm to take care of the increased production in this district. The average June runs from this pool amounted to nearly 2,000 barrels per day.

Iowa Park's second refinery started running oil for the first time this week when the Iowa Park Producing and Refining company, two miles west of town, was completed. It has a capacity of 1,000 barrels daily, but at the present time is using only one still and running 500 barrels of crude oil.

Following are the pipe-line runs from the Burkburnett district for the week ending Saturday, July 16. This is a slight decrease from last week's production:

Constantin Refining company, 19,750 barrels; Gulf Production company, 12,550 barrels; Humble Oil Refining company, 11,075 barrels; Magnolia Petroleum company, 15,500 barrels; Old Dominion Oil company, 19,100 barrels; Paragon Oil company, 14,630 barrels; Prairie Oil company, 13,500 barrels; Sinclair Pipe Line company, 17,575 barrels; Texas Pipeline company, 55,500 barrels; miscellaneous, 116,320 barrels. Total for week, 295,500 barrels.

About 3 p. m. Tuesday a miniature cyclone hit the shallow field south of Burkburnett and razed many derricks, causing considerable damage throughout that section.

In the old Texhoma field the Texana Oil company's derrick on No. 6 well was blown down and one of the workers had a narrow escape from injury. Two derricks on the Hobbs tract were also blown to different parts of that lease. On the Daniels land the derrick over No. 5 well, owned by the Aggers Oil company, was completely destroyed. In all, about 15 derricks and sheds belonging to different companies felt the full force of the wind.

On the Mrs. Rexford land the Burk-Tex Oil company, which had its No. 1 well come in with an initial flow of 200 barrels early last week, has put it on the pump and it is now numbered among the producers, making 50 barrels per day. On the same lease No. 2 is making over 1,000,000 feet of gas from the 1,350-foot sand. No. 3 Rexford is standardizing around 1,325 feet.

This week finds a little more activity in oil operations in the Archer pool. Kirkpatrick et al on the J. D. Lyle tract, after testing out a sand encountered from 1,606 to 1,610 feet which showed water, are now drilling around 1,640 feet.

On the D. T. Coffman land J. J. Perkins et al are drilling at 600 feet. The Sun company's No. 1 McCarty is drilling at 800 feet.

The Texhoma's No. 1 Coffman has set the 6⅝-inch on the sand at 1,620 feet and is now shut down waiting on storage connections. Texhoma No. 2 Taylor has also set casing on the 1,600-foot sand and is rigging up a machine preparatory to drilling in. No. 3 Taylor is now down around 1,250 feet on the S. M. Gose well; No. 7 is also drilling at 1,250 feet.

On the Nat Henderson tract the Griswold Oil company had the misfortune of having the casing slip about five feet and shut off the pay, but has raised it and set at 1,615 feet on the sand and will put on the pump.

The Texas-Illinois company's No. 1 Taylor has tested out a sand at 1,620 feet, showing considerable salt water. They drilled deeper, reached a good looking sand at 1,635 feet and set the 6⅝-inch on top and showed the same water that was encountered in the upper sand. They will reset the casing and drill deeper.

The test of the Harper-Jones company on the Taylor, just east of the Texhoma wells, is swabbing and cleaning out and is showing considerable oil with a small amount of water.

After testing out a sand at 1,614 feet that showed salt water, the Sun company on the Nat Henderson has drilled deeper to the lower sand at 1,645 feet and will run a string of 5 3-16ths with a packer and test out.

Lloyd Weaver has gone to Galveston to spend the rest of the week.

Charles Taylor has returned after a two weeks' visit to El Paso and points further south.

A false alarm from the corner of Broad and Thirteenth streets caused a needless run for the fire department at 11:56 Tuesday night. The apparatus from No. 4 station responded to the call, but could find no trace of fire in the vicinity.

The third quarterly conference for Wichita mission meets at the Midway church on Saturday, July 23, the presiding elder, Rev. S. M. Black, preaching at 11 a. m. on that day and Sunday at 10:30 a. m. Immediately after lunch on the grounds the business session will be held. The official members are urged to be promptly present at preaching, luncheon and session of conference.

FOERSTER RETURNS FROM HOTEL MEN'S CONVENTION, RE-ELECTED VICE-PRESIDENT

H. J. Foerster, cafe manager of the Kemp hotel, has returned from Chicago, where he attended the hotel men's convention held in that city, which was attended by over 12,000 members from the different cities throughout the United States and Canada. In confunction with this convention the different hotel supply companies held an exhibition of almost everything used and needed to maintain an up-to-date hotel.

Mr. Foerster was re-elected vice-president of the American Caterers' association, which held its meeting at the same time. The 1922 meeting will be held in Atlanta.

The efforts of the hotel men to have hotel management taught in the institutions of higher learning in this country have met with success. Mr. Foerster learned at the meeting. Cornell university will give a course in such training as a part of its four-year curriculum.

Master Masons from a number of northwest Texas counties, comprising the Wichita Falls district, are expected to be here for the occasion.

Frank Collier, E. V. Friberg, W. Y. Hammack and N. M. Clifford comprise the arrangements committee.

AFTER SPENDING 8 MONTHS IN JAIL WOULD WALK HOME

T. L. Greer, a young man just out of his teens, was released from the county jail Wednesday afternoon, where he had spent eight months. When his case was dismissed by Judge H. F. Weldon he stated upon inquiry that he had no money, but that he was going to walk home. His home is in Bowie.

Members of the bar and the judge donated sufficient funds to pay the boy's railroad fare home. Greer had been held on a charge of forgery.

Willie Davis, negro, was also released from jail when the case of theft of an automobile was dismissed upon motion of the state.

Late News Briefs

COLLEE STATION, TEXAS, July 20.—That the rural population of Texas is larger than that of any other state was brought out in a letter to President Bizzell of Texas A. and M. college from Washington in which he was advised that as a result of the last census Texas was entitled to an increased sum from the federal government under the Smith-Lever law. As a result of the 1920 census, Texas will receive $10,392.54 more for 1921-1923 than under the census figures of 1910.

GOLDTHWAITE, TEXAS, July 20.—Autoists of Mills county have organized the Mills County Automobile Protective association to prevent theft and to recover cars. The membership fees comprise standing rewards for the return of cars and arrest and conviction of thieves.

TEXAS CITY, TEXAS, July 20.—A total of 1,567,267 barrels of oil passed through the port of Texas City during June, according to a terminal company's announcement. Fifteen ships, one foreign and 14 coastwise, loaded with oil at Texas City during the month, in addition to 32 ships that bunkered here.

TEN PER CENT DUTY ON LEATHER GOODS

Seven and Half Per Cent on Textiles Composed of Long Staple Cotton

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Compensatory duties of ten per cent ad valorem on all leather goods, including shoes, and seven and one-half per cent ad valorem on all textiles composed wholly or in part of long staple cotton, is understood to have been agreed upon today by the house ways and means committee. They result from the house action reversing the committee and voting tariff on hides and long staple cotton.

SWEET BILL PASSES SENATE IN RECORD BREAKING TIME

WASHINGTON, July 20.—In record-breaking time the senate passed today the Sweet bill to consolidate all federal agencies dealing with veterans and extending additional benefits to disabled former service men.

The bill now goes to conference with the house, the principal senate amendment being a centralization of administering soldier relief in a veterans' bureau, independent of any government department.

Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, presented estimates that the soldier bill would cost $402,725,000 the first year and require a deficiency appropriation of $97,655,000.

Speaking of war risk insurance, he said the government had received $300,000,000 in premiums and incurred a total liability of $1,300,000,000 payable over 20 years.

GLASS OF ICE CREAM SODA COSTS SEVEN AND HALF CENTS

NEW YORK, July 20.—The cost of production of ice cream soda is 7½ cents a glass, a prominent pharmacy states today in announcing that it could make a reasonable profit by charging the customer 10 cents. The cost is divided as follows:

Syrup 1 cent; milk 1 cent; ice cream 2 cents; labor, breakage, waste, etc., 3½ cents. Most prices in New York are 15 cents and up, plus war tax.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS REDUCE DISCOUNT RATE

BOSTON, July 20.—A reduction in the discount rate of federal reserve banks in Boston, New York, Philadelphia and San Francisco to 5½ per cent was announced here today. The new rates were effective tomorrow. They have been approved by the federal reserve board.

GOVERNOR TO SUBMIT IRRIGATION BILL TO LEGISLATURE FRIDAY

The bill which it is desired to pass for the benefit of the Wichita river irrigation project will be submitted to the special session next Friday, according to advices received Wednesday from Judge J. J. Starley, who wired that the governor had made him a promise to that effect.

DOROTHY DIX'S TALKS

By DOROTHY DIX
THE WORLD'S HIGHEST PAID WOMAN WRITER

A Woman's Money

WHAT is a woman to do who has inherited a nice little fortune? Shall she turn it all over to her husband, or keep it herself?

I say that she should keep it herself. If her husband is the right sort of man, he will be glad to know that she is protected against the hardships of poverty and want, no matter what befalls him, and if he is the wrong sort of man, she will need her money more than ever.

For that type of husband never treats the wife who is financially independent, as meanly as he does the one who is dependent upon him.

I believe that the married woman who has money should keep her financial affairs in her own hands, and separate from her husband's, for many reasons. First, because it makes the family doubly safe. All of the eggs are not in one basket. If the husband is a good business man, he will not need the wife's little roll, and if he is a poor business man, the wife's income helps out, and keeps the wolf from the door, and sends the children to school.

Until within a comparatively short time ago a woman's property automatically passed to her husband on her wedding day. Many women still put everything they have unreservedly into the hands of the men they marry, and merely sign on the dotted line whatever paper the husband brings to them. The result is that all of us know dozens of women who were reared in the lap of luxury and inherited fortunes, who have been brought to direct poverty by their husbands.

Mos tof these men did not intentionally rob their wives. They were just bad managers, or reckless spectators, and they took risks with the money they had not earned, that they would never have taken with money for which they had toiled and sweat. Come easy, go easy, is the eternal law of the dollar. You rarely see either men or women wasting the pennies that represent their own hours of toil and sacrifice. It's inherited money, or married money, they throw at the birds.

Some of the most lovable men in the world, the kindest, the best, the tenderest, the most ideal husbands in all the higher matters, are utterly incapable of taking care of money. The very qualities that make them so adorable, unfit them for practical matters. Their softness of heart that can never say "No"; their cheery optimism that refuses to look on the dark side of any proposition; their hope that is confident everything will turn out all right; their visions and their dreams, all make them the predestined prey of every sharper, and schemer, and vendor of gold bricks that comes along.

Such a man is always on the verge of making billions, and he has no hesitation in taking his wife's last cent to invest in some mine in Peru, or invention for making gold out of sea sand; and he is surprised and broken-hearted when the scheme goes to pot and everything is swept away. But the money is gone, and there is as little profit in crying over spilt dollars as there is in crying over spilt milk.

Such a man needs to be taken care of as if he were a child, and his wife can only do t by keepng a death-grip on her own pocketbook. Moreover, the woman who inherits money, owes something to the parents who toiled and saved that their children and their children's children might have the advantages that money gives, and that perhaps they did not have in their youth. The man who lays up a fortune is thinking for the future. He is thinking of his grandchildren, and planning to give them an education and a start in life, and his daughter is in honor bound to fulfill his desires as far as she can. She has no right to turn the money over to a stranger to waste, and so risk her children's inheritance.

Of course, it will be said that now and then a wife does give her property to her husband, and he turns a few thousand dollars into a fortune. True. There are exceptions to every general rule, but the man who has the money-making instinct would make his fortune anyhow, and taking it by and large, the risk is too great. Nine times out of ten, the woman is better off to keep her own.

But the woman who inherits money should play fair with it. She should keep the principal, but spend the income for the benefit of the family, and not selfishly use it for her own benefit.

If she has enough to be personally independent, she should not expect her husband to pay all of her bills, or those of the house. Her money should be the velvet that enables the family to live more comfortably, and indulge in luxuries that they could not otherwise have.

And the clinching argument for a woman's keeping her own money is because there is no other thing under the sun that brings with it so much self-respect, such an ineffable sense of independence, as to have your own money that you can spend as you please, and for which you do not have to give an account to any human being. No matter how generous and kind a husband may be, his wife has a sense of degradation and humiliation every time she has to go to him for money. The woman who has a chance to save herself that, and doesn't do it, ought to have her head operated on for the sillies.

Also a man treats every woman who has money in her own right, differently from the one who hasn't. This instinctive kowtowing to money extends even to wives, and so the woman who wishes to keep her husband on his good behavior does well to keep him interested in her.

There is no financial problem more complicated than the domestic one, but the woman who keeps her money may be sure of one thing: She is playing a safe game, instead of taking a flier on her comfort and happiness.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

COTTON MARKET.

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Low prices were scored in the cotton market early today as a result of poor cables and local Wall street selling. The opening was barely steady at 7 to 10 point declines and in subsequent transactions, notwithstanding moderate support from New Orleans and the Atlantic states, based on showery weather, the market eased off to 12.75 for October and 13.18 for December, or 10 to 14 points net lower. Scattered trade buying and further favorable reports from textile centers failed to help the market, which towards the end of the first hour was easy.

Subsequently, the market felt renewed pressure from Wall street and local sources which in the absence of outside supporting orders caused another weak spot and at 2 o'clock October was back to 12.75 and December to 13.18, or 10 to 14 points under the previous close.

Although the first impression of the weekly government report was bearish, a subsequent perusal of details showed such pronounced activity by boll weevil that the market improved and at midday had a very steady undertone around 12.92 for October and 13.30 for December, or a few points above the previous close.

The cotton market closed steady.

	High	Low	Close
July	12.32	12.21	12.20
October	12.92	12.75	12.76
December	12.30	13.16	13.17
January	13.31	13.16	13.16
March	13.55	13.41	13.41

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, July 20.—Poor cables caused a fall of 14 to 16 points in the price of cotton around the opening today but accounts of a much better demand for cotton goods and of mills in this country being larger buyers of spots soon gave the market a very steady tone. At the end of the first hour of trading the most active months were only 1 point under the final prices of yesterday. October fell off to 12.29 and recovered to 12.42.

The weekly crop reports from the government were rather better than expected and they caused selling which put prices to levels 8 to 10 points under yesterday's close by 11 o'clock. October fell back to 12.34c.

Offerings gradually increased and the market received little support so that in the late trading the most active months were 17 points under the last prices of yesterday, October felling back to 12.26.

The cotton market closed steady at net decline of 15 to 18 points.

Liverpool Cotton.

IVERPOOL, July 20.—Spot cotton not so active; prices easier. Good middling 9.10c, fully middling 8.70c, middling 8.25c, low middling 7.35c, good ordinary 6.20c, ordinary 5.45c. Sales, 10,000 bales, including 9,300 American. Receipts, 5,000 bales, including 5,000 American. Futures closed quiet: July 8.41c, October 8.69c, December 8.78c, January 8.80c, March 8.86c, May 8.92c.

Texas Spot Cotton.

DALLAS, July 20.—Cotton middling, 10.75; Houston, 11.85; steady. Galveston, 12.10; steady.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Possibilities of a railroad embargo against grain shipments to Chicago had a bearish influence on the wheat market today. It was estimated that 2,000 car loads of wheat were on track here unloading. Opening quotations, which ranged from ⅛c decline to ⅛c advance, with September $1.28 to $1.29¼ and December $1.32 to ⅛ were followed by material setbacks all around.

Subsequently, forecasts of hot weather northwest rallied the market and so too did indications of liberal export business. The effect, however, was only transient. Prices closed heavy, 1⅞c to 3c net lower, with September $1.25⅝ to $1.26 and December $1.29½ to $1.29.

Corn, after opening ⅛c to ¼c lower, including September at 62⅜ to 62½c, rallied a little but then sagged lower than before.

Crop reports were favorable and the market lacked support. The close was weak, ⅞c to 1⅛c@1⅛c net lower, with September 61⅛@61⅜c to 61⅜@61½c.

Oats started ⅛c to ¼c higher, September 42⅜ to 42½c, but later showed slight losses.

Lower hogs depressed provisions.

LIVESTOCK.

Kansas City Livestock.

KANSAS CITY, July 20.—Cattle—Receipts, 9,000; better grades beef steers steady to strong; best heavies $8.60@8.80, other grades steady to weak. Texas grassers $5.25@7.40, best yearlings $9.25@9.35, choice heifers $7.65, cows weak to 25c lower, best $6 early, bulls strong to 25c higher, good and choice butchers $5.00@5.50, calves 25c to 50c lower, best vealers $8.00@8.25, canners mostly around $1.75, medium to good stock steers $5.00@6.00, choice stock cows $4.65.

Hogs—Receipts, 7,500; slow, mostly 15c to 25c lower, best lights $10, packer top $9.85, heavy mixed hogs mostly around $9.50@9.65, bulk of sales $9.50@9.95, pigs and packing sows 25c lower.

Sheep—Receipts, 4,500; steady; best to 25c higher, $9.25 paid, native ewes $4.75, native lambs steady.

Fort Worth Livestock

FORT WORTH, July 20.—Although fresh receipts reached only 2,500 head of cattle and 1,500 calves today, around 600 additional cattle were offered, the yards holding 20 carloads from yesterday. Market conditions were more favorable, steers selling steady, cows and yearlings displaying a little strength and best light calves going strong to higher. Heavy calves were not wanted. Good steers br uohgt$ 5.50cmfwypeta cars of cows brought $5 and light calves notched $6.25.

Hog prices eased down 20 to 25 cents. Shippers paid $10.40 for sorted hogs, but the packer top was $10.20. Bulk sales, with 1,500 hogs yarded, ranged from $10 to $10.15. Pigs sold at $8.00 to $8.75.

Sheep, lambs and goats were in demand, the market being active and fully steady on all kinds. A run of 1,500 head sold easily. Genuine lambs sold up to $8, wethers brought $4.85 and $4.75, goats sold at $2.75 and lambs cleared at $2.

Quotations:

Cattle: Beeves $3.00@6.25; stockers $2.00@4.00; cows $2.00@5.00; canners $1.00@2.00; heifers $3.00@6.00; bulls $2.00@2.75; calves $1.00@6.25; yearlings $3.00@6.50.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

NEW YORK, July 20.—The stock market moved within narrow limits at the dull opening of today's session. Changes among leaders were limited to fractions. Mexican Petroleum was the only exception, reacting a point and then rallying moderately. Other Mexican oils were irregular on publication of figures which indicated that the export tax imposed by the Mexican government in some instances equaled or exceeded the sales price. Steels, equipments and rails were firm. Exchange on London reacted slightly from yesterday's rally.

Oils were under pressure during the mid-session, California Petroleum losing 1 point. American Tobacco also became heavy but American Woolen and obscure specialties such as American Ice and Endicott-Johnson seemed favored by bull pools.

ALL DISARMAMENT CONFERENCES TO BE HELD IN AMERICA

By Associated Press.

LONDON, July 20.—The suggestion that a meeting preliminary to the Washington disarmament conference be held in London to enable the British dominions to express their views on Far Eastern questions is likely to be abandoned, it was learned in a well-informed quarter here today.

"Any and all conferences dealing with these two subjects will be held in America," was the assurance given in the quarter.

LEGAL NOTICES

SHERIFF'S SALE.

The State of Texas, County of Wichita. By virtue of a certain order of sale issued out of the honorable district court of Wichita county, on the 13th day of June, 1921, by A. F. Kerr, district clerk, against R. D. Roman et al for the sum of $2030.20 and costs of suit in cause No. 10296 in said court, styled Empire Mortgage Co. versus R. D. Roman, Elberta Simonton and J. D. Simonton and placed in my hands for service, I, Fred K. Smith, as sheriff of Wichita county, Texas, did on the 5th day of July, 1921, levy on certain real estate situated in Wichita county, described as follows, to-wit: Lot 11, block 80 in the Floral Heights addition to the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, and levied upon as the property of said R. D. Roman, Elberta Simonton and J. D. Simonton. And on Tuesday, the 2nd day of August, 1921, at the court house door of Wichita county, in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, between the hours of ten a. m. and four p. m. I will sell said real estate at public vendue for cash to the highest bidder as the property of said R. D. Roman, Elberta Simonton and J. D. Simonton, by virtue of said levy and said order of sale. And in compliance with law I give this notice by publication in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale in the Wichita Daily Times, a newspaper published in Wichita county. Witness my hand this the 6th day of July, 1921. Fred K. Smith, Sheriff Wichita County, Texas. H. C. Dakan, Deputy. July 6, 13, 20

CITATION ON APPLICATION FOR LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION

The State of Texas to the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County, Greeting: You are hereby commanded to cause to be published once each week for a period of 10 days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper of general circulation, which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year in said Wichita County, a copy of the following notice: The State of Texas. To all persons interested in the estate of J. B. Evans, deceased. Know ye that N. M. Clifford has filed in the County court of Wichita County an application for letters of administration upon the estate of said J. B. Evans, deceased, which will be heard at the next term of said court, commencing on the first Monday in August, A. D., 1921, the same being the first day of August, A. D. 1921, at the courthouse thereof, in Wichita Falls, Texas, at which time all persons interested in said estate may appear and contest said application should they desire to do so. Herein fail not, but have you before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof this writ, with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and the seal of said court at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 12th day of July, A. D., 1921. W. T. Harris, Clerk County Court, Wichita County, Texas. By M. F. Yeager, Deputy. July 13, 20

LEGAL NOTICE.

IRREGULARITIES IN BOND TRANSCRIPT EASILY REMEDIED

Irregularities in the transcript of the $1,500,000 road bond issue proved to be but minor defects and they were easily remedied by county officials. The letter from the adjutant general's office arrived here Wednesday morning and officials immediately set about to make the corrections.

The transcript with its corrections was sent back by special delivery mail at once and it is now hoped that the matter will be approved and the bonds in condition to realize money on them within the next ten days.

In the meantime, arrangements with the local banks will carry the county over until the bonds are sold so that work on the roads will not need be stopped.

BIG PUMP ARRIVES, TO BE INSTALLED IN NEXT TWO WEEKS

The 5,000,000-gallon pump ordered some time ago for the water system reached Wichita Falls Tuesday and work was started at once installing it at the pumping station. About two weeks will be required to get the pump ready for operation. The pump is expected to materially improve water pressure conditions here and to relieve the shortage which now exists during the "peak" hours of the day.

OKLAHOMA MAN IS LIKE HIS OLD SELF

Muskogee Resident Declares He Eats, Sleeps and Works Better Than In Years

"I don't know what it is about Tanlac that makes such a big change in a man, but there's something in it different from anything I ever tried," said J. E. Curtis, well-known messenger for the American Railway Express company, 310 Geneva street, Muskogee, Okla.

"My stomach got all out of fix about two years ago and from then up to the time I got Tanlac I hardly ate enough to keep alive. I had dyspepsia of the worst sort, never was without a sour taste in my mouth and was often bothered with nausea. I went down in weight until I was hardly more than a skeleton, and my nerves were so upset that I got little rest day or night.

"It certainly was a big surprise to me the way Tanlac fixed me up. I have a corking big appetite now and am never bothered with indigestion any more. The fact is, I am my old self again, full of life and energy, eating again, full of life and energy, eating, sleeping and working better than I have in years. Tanlac certainly delivers the goods."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug company, in Electra by Tarleton Drug company, West End Drug company, Burkburnett, Texas, and by all leading druggists. (adv.)

TAX RATE WILL BE FIXED ON MONDAY

Commissioners Court Believes That Rate Will Be 80 Cents the Same as Last Year

With the county board of review finished with its work, the tax rate for this year will be fixed by the county commissioners at its regular session next Monday morning.

Judge J. P. Jones and the entire court is of the opinion that the rate will not have to be raised over that of last year, which was 80 cents. It was at first believed that the levy would have to be raised in order to meet the needs, but a closer survey of the various funds led to the different opinion.

The tax assessor and his force are busy at work preparing a total of the valuation of the county so that the court will have an accurate basis to work upon in fixing the levy.

ROTARIANS TO BE GUESTS AT ELECTRIC PLANT FOR SUPPER THURSDAY EVENING

No noonday luncheon of the Rotary club will be held Thursday, but at 6:30 o'clock in the evening the members of the club will be guests of P. A. Rogers, manager of the Wichita Falls Electric company, at the power plant at the foot of Burnett.

Recently somebody called Mr. Rogers up and asked him where the plant was located, saying he would like to visit it. That gave "P. A." a thought, to the effect that there might be others who didn't know what an institution he had, so he decided to have the Rotarians give the property the "once-over." He will furnish the eats and everything.

OAKLAND SALES RESPOND TO SALES DRIVE

D. H. Rubsam, manager of the Marshall-Huff Motor Co., local distributors for Oakland, Jordan and MacFarlan cars, reports very satisfactory results from his recently launched sales drive on the Oakland Sensible Six.

Mr. Rubsam points out the fact that owing to present money conditions many people who normally would have entered the field of porspective car purchasers have been forced to lay aside their hopes of owning a car until a later date. Mr. Rubsam has met this condition by a carefully prepared partial payment plan whereby the salaried man or the young professional man may purchase an Oakland on terms that will be convenient to him. The "pay as you ride" plan should be very popular.

DEVELOP MUSICAL CULTURE AMONG POORER MEXICANS

LAREDO, TEXAS, July 20.—Musical culture is developed extehsively among even the poorer Mexicans, especially along the border. The moving picture shows here have good orchestras and the music furnished by these orchestras is of a quality seldom heard in the larger cities, except when played by a pretentious concert orchestra.

The musicians, many of whom are nearly illiterate, play with taste and appreciation the best works of the European composers and their intimate knowledge of all the great operas sometimes surprises the American who looks upon the Mexican as being without culture.

The street urchins whistle airs from the operas, some of them little known to Americans save those of the musical class, and although the jazz fad here for a time controlled the musical taste of the Mexicans, they soon returned to their first love. The airs from operas by Leoncavallo and Mascagni, by Verdi and Bellini and even the lighter operas by Strauss and Lehar are still familiar to all who listen to the theater orchestras.

RAISE FUND TO COMPLETE COLORADO IRRIGATION PROJECT

STAMFORD, TEXAS, July 20.—A fund of $4,000 is being raised by the Colorado Irrigation association to match a similar amount subscribed by the federal government to continue the survey of the Colorado irrigation project in the vicinity of Bronte, where engineers for months have been making a report on the possibility of placing under irrigation a large area of land. The reports so far have been most encouraging and the money now being raised is for the purpose of completing the survey. The towns of Bronte, Robert Lee, Ballinger and San Angelo have practically subscribed their quota to the fund, according to advices received by the West Texas chamber of commerce.

HUGE TOOTH FOUND IN GRAVEL PIT NEAR HEREFORD

STAMFORD, TEXAS, July 20.—That thousands of years ago monstrous animals or mastodons roamed the plains of west Texas has been proved by findings in several parts of the country. The latest traces of these monster animals has been found in a gravel pit near Hereford where workers unearthed a large tusk eighteen inches in circumference and over twelve feet long, weighing probably 500 pounds. Near it was a complete lower jaw with teeth still intact. This jaw weighs over fifteen pounds, and according to T. B. Slaughter, on whose land the remains were found and who is interested in the study of prehistoric animals, this animal was probably twice the size and weight of the modern elephant.

The West Texas chamber of commerce has reported findings of this nature several times within the past year, and is now endeavoring to interest scientists in making an investigation of the river beds of the Canadian, north of Amarillo, where it is believed one of the greatest deposits of prehistoric animal life will be found.

VETERAN EMPLOYE OF ASSOCIATED PRESS DEAD

OMAHA, NEB., July 20.—Guy R. Pritchard, 42, traffic department representative of the Associated Press and a veteran employe of the organization, died at a local hospital early today. He was stricken with apoplexy Sunday morning and never regained consciousness.

Keep Your Blood Pure In Summer

Many fever epidemics are caused by impurities in the water supply and are ended only when the water is purified. Likewise, many blood disorders such as eczema, tetter, pimples, boils, blackheads and Rheumatism are caused by impurities in the blood supply and can be stopped only when these are driven out. Enrich your blood and keep it pure by taking S. S. S. You could have no better health insurance.

"TRY THE DRUG STORE FIRST"

Your Druggist Is More Than a Merchant

Have you ever seriously considered how important to your community is the druggist? It is a mistake to think of him chiefly as a merchant and only incidentally as a professional man.

His store is really an institution safeguarding the health of your community, offering convenience and safety to you and others.

You can show your appreciation of his professional service and his faithfulness to scientific ideals by faithful patronage.

Character—

The true worth of a man or a woman is the measure of his or her character.

Did it ever occur to you that precisely the same applies to a banking institution?

If this bank enjoys success and a high reputation; if it is a truly helpful and up-building force in this community; if it is fulfilling its highest mission as a bank, then it is all due to the character that makes the American National the institution it is.
