JFK Hurries For Look At Race Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flew back today from his Cape Cod holiday ahead of the previously indicated schedule. An apparent factor in the speedup was the new Alabama crisis over the school desegregation segment of civil rights policies which Kennedy concedes have been politically costly.

The presidential jet plane landed at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., after a flight from Otis Air Force Base, Mass.

Earlier the White House had indicated the Labor Day weekend at Hyannis Port, Mass., might extend until Wednesday. Kennedy flew to the summer White House last Thursday.

RIGHTS STAND
Kennedy said in a nationwide filmed television interview Monday night he lost some Southern states in 1960 and may lose more in the 1964 presidential election. He suggested that his position also may have cost him support in the North.

The President said his civil rights stand "has caused a good deal of feeling. I suppose, against the administration in the South—also, I suppose, in other parts of the country."

"I am not sure that I am the most popular political figure in the South but that is all right," he said.

The President was interviewed by Walter Cronkite of the Columbia Broadcasting System for the inauguration of a half-hour "CBS Evening News" program.

Kennedy will grant a similar interview to the National Broadcasting Co. next Monday night.

GOP SUPPORT
"I would be surprised," he said, "if the Republican party, which after all is the party of Lincoln—and is proud of that fact, as it should be—I would be surprised if they did not also support the right of every citizen to have equal opportunities, equal chance under the Constitution."

Kennedy added that "it is going to take time" and said "a good many people who have advised us so generously abroad have no comprehension of what a difficult task it is that faces the American people."

The President touched on a number of other subjects, including:

—The economy: He said there is "no magic solution" to unemployment, but an $11-billion tax cut and other programs he has proposed would help prevent an increase in the unemployment rate.

—Test ban: It would be most desirable if the limited nuclear test-ban treaty gets strong support from the Senate. "If the treaty is not substantial enough to stand discussion and debate, then of course it isn't a very good treaty."

LODGE TRIP
—Lodge: The President said that sending Henry Cabot Lodge as ambassador to South Vietnam in this time of crisis was not calculated to remove the Vietnamese situation as a political issue in 1964. Kennedy said Lodge, a Republican, "wanted to go out to Saigon."

The President's office announced he will make a coast-to-coast tour this month to inspect national parks and other conservation projects.

The 10 states he will visit include only three that were in his column in the last election—Pennsylvania, Minnesota and Nevada.

He also is going to North Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Washington, Oregon and California, all carried by Republican Richard M. Nixon in 1960.

FUND ALMOST PUT TO SLEEP

Labor Day all but put the Bible Class fund to sleep.

This was supposed to have been the termination of the appeal for the fund, but it is less than two-thirds of the way to its goal. The volunteer appeal will be held open through Sunday by the Herald, then closed.

If you have not yet had a part and can, don't delay another day please. Your help is needed desperately. Mail or send your gifts to the Herald for grateful acknowledgment.

No News Meeting
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will not hold a news conference this week, the White House announced today.

New Record For Nation Set By Toll

By The Associated Press
Traffic deaths during the long weekend soared to a record high for any Labor Day holiday period. The count reached 550, including belated reports, for the holiday weekend that began at 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and ended at midnight Monday.

The previous high was 501, set during the Labor Day observance last year.

The slaughter on the highways during the holiday was marked by several multiple-fatal accidents, including six in Michigan. The worst accident occurred Monday when 10 persons lost their lives near Dayton, in Southeast Texas.

The Labor Day holiday traffic toll marked the third record toll for this year's three major spring and summer holidays. The 159 persons killed on Memorial Day was the highest for a one-day holiday. During the four-day Independence Day holiday, 537 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents, a record for a four-day Fourth of July weekend.

In addition to the traffic deaths during the Labor Day holiday, 20 persons lost their lives in boating accidents and 46 others drowned. The over-all accident death toll was 609.

Assume Reds Will Cheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor has told senators the Joint Chiefs of Staff assumed, in supporting the limited nuclear test ban treaty, that the Russians "would attempt clandestine testing of some sort."

This was disclosed today when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee made public heavily censored testimony taken behind closed doors from Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff.

Taylor testified he thought the temptation to cheat would be in atmospheric tests of small tactical weapons or other small tests that would be difficult to detect and from which information could be gained to apply to antimissile missiles.

"But it is in this field that you feel we are very well prepared ourselves, is it not?" asked Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman.

"Well," Taylor replied, "it is in this field where I don't think the gains that might come from this kind of testing would have any great bearing upon our relative position."

The treaty, approved by the committee last week by a 16-1 vote, would ban nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in space and under water but not under ground.

Chairman Named

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. John Connally appointed Sen. Walter Richter today as chairman of the governor's committee on aging.

Richter, of Gonzales, succeeds Secretary of State Crawford Martin of Hillsboro. Richter is a director of the Texas Society on Aging and is a former executive director of the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation.

Highway Crash Snuffs Out 10 Lives Monday

CRASH NEAR DAYTON NATION'S WORST ON LABOR DAY
Ten die in smash, including six from Baytown family

Head-On Collision Leaves One Living

By The Associated Press
A single highway crash took 10 lives and the traffic toll during the three-day Labor Day weekend in Texas zoomed to 39 deaths.

There also were five drownings and 11 fatalities from assorted other causes, swelling the violent death count to 55 between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday.

Six persons in one Baytown family were among the 10 killed Monday afternoon in a collision one mile south of Dayton in Southeast Texas.

The accident sent the number of dead well above the 31 anticipated in the state by safety experts.

State police said one car skidded on a wet highway and the two vehicles smashed head-on.

It took workmen using garage wreckers more than half an hour to pry the crumpled cars apart. Troy Odom, 9, was the lone survivor. In the truck with him were Carl Odom and Mrs. Carl Odom, both 33; their son, Keith, 6; Matt Odom Jr., 38; Mrs. Matt Odom Jr., 34; and Peggy Odom, 12.

Occupants of the car the police said skidded across the road, all from Lufkin, were Marshall Tynes, 21; Mitchell Malone, 19; Yvonne Clark, 28; and Dale Clark, 11.

Shortly before midnight Monday a car carried Ernie Erickson, 23, Amarillo, roared to death one mile west of Seminole as it hit a culvert and tumbled over and over three times. Patrolman Charles Mueller said he was trailing Erickson at 110 miles per hour.

Two young Dallas Negroes, Alanzo Nickerson Jr., 15, and his sister, Beatrice, 13, drowned Monday near Rock Ledge Park at Grapevine Lake.

Robert Hall, 42, of Uvalde was killed Monday when his gasoline delivery truck overturned on U. S. 83 near La Pryor.

Two Fort Worth women, Mrs. Annie Usleton, 69, and Mrs. Lula Usleton, 56, were killed Monday when a car struck a railroad locomotive at a crossing south of Mexico.

G. E. Mummie, 21, of Kenady was killed in a one-car accident Monday on U. S. 90 near Singleton.

Richard Edwards, 6, of Dallas drowned Monday while wading in Grapevine Lake.

Lewis Brown, 40, was found Monday beneath an overpass at Fort Worth and died soon afterward. He presumably fell and police were investigating.

James Brooks, 9, McGregor, Negro, was struck and killed by a car Monday at McGregor.

Luther McBride, 39, Tyler, painter, was killed Monday when a car collided with a train.

A car backing from a driveway killed Rafael Garcia, 17-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Librado Garcia, at the family home at Port Isabel Monday.

Youths Find New Kicks In Rumpus

HAMPTON BEACH, N.H. (AP)—Thousands of young persons at this Atlantic Ocean vacation town and three other resort areas across the nation apparently have established a new sport to be played at summer's last gasp.

It's called Labor Day weekend rioting and more than 400 arrests at Hampton Beach, Seaside, Ore., Ocean City, Md., and Lake George, N.Y., attest to its popularity.

The rules are simple: dress casually, show contempt for authority, snake dance in the streets, throw rocks, bottles and firecrackers and drink too much.

In Los Angeles, Evangelist Billy Graham said "these outbursts of teenage revolt are the result of youth's futile search for purpose and meaning" to life.

CALM IN MOST SCHOOLS

Alabama Boils But Other Integration Moves Easily

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George Wallace, risking federal retaliation, kept the Tuskegee Public School closed by force today despite the local school board's reluctant willingness to obey a federal court desegregation order.

Helmeted state troopers, redoubled in strength and supported for the first time by mounted sheriff's deputies, kept students and teachers out of the school to enforce the governor's orders to postpone the start of the fall term until next Monday.

Students in the consolidated elementary-high school were turned back as they approached the building for the second straight day, even though the Macon County Board of Education said that as far as it was concerned the school was open.

Thus the 12-grade school was ready for the return of pupils from the summer vacation, but the 215 armed state troopers surrounding the building refused to let them in.

Col. Al Lingo, commanding the troopers, said only Principal E. W. Wadsworth would be admitted to the building.

Even teachers were turned away because, Lingo said, "school is closed and they have no business in there."

Wallace issued a strongly worded executive order directing the school board to postpone the start of fall classes in the one school Monday because of what he called the threat of violence.

The previous white Tuskegee school was the only one in Macon County ordered desegregated at this time and the only one affected by Wallace's order.

The mounted sheriff's deputies came from Dallas County under the command of Sheriff Jim Clark. The trained horsemen have been used previously to keep order during racial demonstrations in other cities.

There was no indication of federal intervention.

A Justice Department spokesman said Monday that "the dispute is between Gov. Wallace and the local school officials."

Wallace intervened Monday two hours before 13 Negroes were to enter the white public school. It would have been the first desegregation in Alabama schools below college level and it would have left Mississippi as the only state with a completely segregated public school system.

The Alabama chief executive, an ardent segregationist, invoked his police powers in an executive order in which he said there was reasonable cause to fear "breaches of the peace by force and violence which cannot be speedily suppressed or effectively prevented by law enforcement agencies."

The governor sent 108 armed and riot-trained patrolmen to circle the school and enforce a strongly worded executive order which postponed the opening of school for one week.

However, the Macon County School Board, under federal court order to integrate its schools this year, defied Wallace's order and said in a statement, "The members of the board determined their primary duty is to operate the schools of Macon County. Therefore, all schools of Macon County are open as originally scheduled by the board."

The possibility of federal intervention was strengthened by the presence of John Doar, deputy director of the Justice Department's civil rights division. Doar conferred for several hours with members of the board but declined to say what the Justice Department planned.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy cut short a holiday return to work when he received word of Wallace's executive order.

Wallace himself did not appear in Tuskegee, but sent six of his top aides to act in his behalf. The governor was in north Alabama on a Labor Day speaking tour.

The delegation, headed by Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, drove from Montgomery to talk with the school board. Although in the same building with Doar, they did not meet with him.

State Finance Director Seymour Trammell, one of Wallace's most trusted officials, said, "We have no desire to see him (Doar). We would not see him under any circumstances."

The school board's defiance of the executive order touched off a harsh exchange between Wallace and Flowers.

Flowers retorted that he only "advised the school board they could not shift the responsibility of closing the schools to the governor without possibly being in contempt of the federal order that the board and superintendent are under at this time."

No Incidents In Texas As Many Units Integrate

By The Associated Press
A new wave of school integration began in Texas Tuesday, and reports indicated desegregation was peaceful and without incident.

Although 61 school districts in Texas announced earlier that they would integrate for the first time this fall, the number fell far short of that, simply because no Negro parents applied to have their children transferred to all-white schools in some areas.

This was particularly true in the area around Dallas, where five districts said they would accept Negroes in all-white schools.

Of the five, only Carrollton and Arlington had integrated classes. No Negroes applied at Grand Prairie, Irving or Garland.

Texas now has 252 school districts which are integrated or have expressed willingness to integrate with 61 making the announcement in 1963. Five others have announced plans to integrate next year.

Five Negroes quietly integrated the schools in Birdville in the Fort Worth area.

Fort Worth schools are scheduled to open Wednesday. Fort Worth is the largest city in Texas forced this year to integrate under federal court orders.

Gaithersburg in effect forced about 60 Negroes to attend formerly all-white schools. The district closed the only all-Negro school.

Meanwhile, throughout the state, schools which had integrated in former years continued their grade-a-year integration march.

Dallas was one of these, and as many as 100 Negroes are expected to attend one-time all-white schools. Negro leaders have held campaigns to persuade more Negro parents to transfer their children to predominantly white schools. At least two Dallas schools not previously integrated are expected to be desegregated Wednesday.

Four Baton Rouge Schools Integrate

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Desegregation came peacefully to the four white high schools in this Louisiana capital city today.

With almost military precision, 28 Negroes entered the schools under the careful scrutiny of policemen.

The officers kept newsmen and onlookers out of the immediate area at each school.

Only two minor incidents were reported — one, a picket who quickly lost his sign to a policeman, and the other two women school bus drivers tried to block a driveway.

At each of the schools, the Negro students—all 12th graders—arrived in taxicabs.

14 Negroes Enter Savannah Schools

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—Public schools were integrated quietly here today as 14 Negro pupils took their places in class in two formerly white high schools.

Originally, 20 had been accepted but only seven Negroes were admitted at Savannah High School, where 13 had registered earlier.

School officials had no immediate explanation as to why only seven were admitted there.

At Groves High in suburban Savannah, seven Negroes went to seven separate classrooms.

Groves High has about 1,100 white pupils and Savannah High has about 2,600.

Classes Peaceful For Charleston

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Eleven Negro children sat down with white children in four Charleston public schools today, marking South Carolina's first school integration below the college level.

There were no incidents as the Negro students arrived for their first day of classes.

Although there had been reports that a white group would attempt to bar the Negroes from the schools, no such effort was made.

DRAIN LAKE

Tots Die; Mother's Body Being Sought

CROSSVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A private, 30-acre lake is expected to be drained today in the search for Mrs. John Reed, mother of two small children whose bodies were found Sunday in a septic tank about 500 yards from the lake.

Using bits and pieces of their clothing, officers identified the children as John Anthony Reed, 2, and Rose Marie Reed, 4. The 19-year-old mother, officers said, disappeared from her Crossville home sometime in November.

Lt. Cecil Strader of the Tennessee Highway Patrol said investigators in the case want to question a man identified as Sammy Earle Ammons, about 30, of Knoxville. He said that Ammons is known in the area by the alias "Big John Williams" and is wanted in "just about every county around here for bad checks."

The last description of him he had when he was passing bad checks was that he was with a woman and two small children," Strader said. "The last we heard of Mrs. Reed was she was baby sitting for him and was last seen with him."

Mrs. Reed's husband lives near here. Officers said they were separated some time ago.

The bodies of the children were discovered after a tourist reported seeing what he thought was a human hand in the septic tank, which is in the rugged mountain country at a demolished resort hotel, about 18 miles east of here.

The deaths were ruled a double homicide.

Steel Strike End Ordered

GARY, Ind. (AP)—Union officials ordered striking employees of the huge Gary works of the U.S. Steel Corp. to return to their jobs this afternoon, apparently ending a 13-hour wildcat walkout.

The brief strike, affecting 15,000 workers, had posed a possible threat to steel supplies to the nation's auto industry, now reaching a peak in its production of 1964 models.

Company officials had begun a shutdown of the plant, listed as the world's second largest steel mill, before the walkout was ordered abandoned.

The strike stemmed from the suspension of a union grievance committee member after he allegedly struck a supervisor.

The order to return to work came from Mark Tinchin, president of Local 1014 of the United Steelworkers, and Orville Kincaid, director of the union's subdistrict.

The controversy started Friday with the five-day suspension of Jack McLaughlin, a member of the grievance committee of Local 1014 of the United Steelworkers Union.

U.S. Steel officials said McLaughlin was suspended because he "attempted bodily injury to another employee and used abusive and threatening language."

Union officials said McLaughlin was not technically an employee of the company while a member of the grievance committee.

Cars Hit By Truck

Bent parking meter standards, front wheels of cars on the curb, and a curious passer-by resulted at 9:46 a.m. today when a milk truck, left unattended in the middle of the 100 block of Main, rolled back and struck the three vehicles shown here. Vehicles, from left, are owned by A. M. Riggins, 1509 Main, damaged $390; E. P. Driver, damaged $175; and Omar W. Decker, 1402 Harding, damaged $250. Driver of the Gandy's milk truck was Charles Arthur Peugh, 429 Dallas. Damage to the truck was estimated at $75. The driver allegedly left the truck unattended with the motor running in the center of Main Street, to make a delivery and the truck started rolling backward toward First Street. It turned into the three cars in front of Big Spring Hardware. Vivian Rasco, meter maid, said she was writing an overtime parking ticket for one car when the accident occurred. She couldn't find the ticket after the excitement died. Robert Walker, pedestrian, looks on curiously.

Georgia U's First Negro Wed To White Journalist

NEW YORK (AP)—Charlayne Hunter, first Negro girl to attend the University of Georgia, has disclosed she secretly married a white student at the university and they are expecting a child in December.

Her husband, Walter Stovall, 25, of Douglas, Ga., said his father, George, a chicken feed manufacturer, greeted news of the marriage with the comment, "This is the end of the world."

The couple announced their marriage Monday after Stovall's arrival here. He worked this summer as a reporter for the Atlanta Journal.

Mrs. Stovall, 21, said they were married last spring. She graduated in June.

Stovall declined to give the exact time and place of the wedding but said it was in the North and they spent their honeymoon "on the turnpike."

He said his parents maintain contact with him but refuse to talk about his wife.

The couple kept the marriage secret because Stovall had to spend the summer in Atlanta and according to his wife, they did not want to add difficulties for him. "Now I can wear my wedding ring all the time," Stovall said. The two met in a campus coffee shop last fall, Stovall said, when he walked in and "there was only one seat—across from Charlayne."

They were seen together—on campus and in his car—"but you really couldn't call it dating," he said, "because there is nothing much to do in Athens (site of the university)."

Mrs. Stovall said they drove to Atlanta to visit integrated theaters and restaurants.

She said her friends accepted the romance. Stovall said his "weren't exactly comradely about it."

Her family had no objections to the marriage, she said, but she did not tell them about it until after graduation. "They were worried enough about all the rules of the university," she said.

Her mother works as a real estate office in Atlanta. Her father, Lt. Col. C. S. H. Hunter Jr. of Tampa, Fla., is a retired Protestant Army chaplain.

Mrs. Stovall is an editorial assistant at the New Yorker magazine. Her husband has another year of college. He said he might continue his education here and work part-time.

They live in a one-room Greenwich Village apartment but expect to move into a four-room apartment in Brooklyn later this month.

The former Miss Hunter entered the University of Georgia in 1961, transferring in her freshman year from Wayne State University in Detroit.

She was one of the first two Negroes to attend the Georgia institution. The other was Hamilton Earl Holmes, a high school classmate of hers.

More Jobs, More Money, Says Long-Range Forecast

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON (AP)—In the new Washington.

ECONOMY More jobs and more income for most American families 10 years hence are part of the generally bright future forecast for the U.S. economy in a National Planning Association study.

Average family income will rise $2.20 from the 1962 figure to $9,300 and the unemployment rate will drop from 6.6 to 4.4 percent, despite 15 million more workers by 1973, the association's center for economic projections said in a Labor Day forecast.

The Gross National Product will rise to $904 billion, a 63 percent increase over 1962, and the nation's population will rise 38 million to 226 million, the study said. The major dark spot in the generally optimistic report is for the unskilled worker.

There will be a 12.5-million increase in white collar jobs, but only 2.5 million for blue collar workers, the study said.

ANCIENT MARINERS The Smithsonian Institution reports that Orientals may have crossed the Pacific to South America as long ago as 5,000 years.

"Prehistoric voyages across the Pacific Ocean from southern Japan to the coast of Ecuador—possibly as early as 3000 B.C.—now are postulated on the basis of substantial archeological evidence."

The Smithsonian announced Monday.

Papers by two Smithsonian experts, Betty J. Meggers and Clifford Evans, said tracing the pre-ence of Orientals in Ecuador long before the birth of Christ was based on a modern method of dating ancient relics—in this case, pottery.

EXPORTS President Kennedy will speak at a White House conference to encourage businessmen to expand U.S. exports, it was announced Monday by Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. The conference will be held Sept. 17-18.

Kennedy, in his message to Congress on the balance of payments July 18, said the purpose of the conference is to emphasize to businessmen "that vigorous action to increase their exports would serve their own private interests as well as the national interest."

BALANCE OF PAYMENTS: Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said today that President Kennedy is attempting to improve the U.S. balance of payments with only short-term measures that are no more effective than "building sand castles to protect our shores."

"The imbalance of international payments is getting worse—not better—and it threatens to continue along a course unfavorable to us," Javits said in a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate.

Javits said reform of the world's monetary system is essential, and proposed an international conference to consider long-range solutions.

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—Britain's trade union leaders met behind closed doors today to head off a split over nationwide wage restraint that could damage the Labor party's chances in next year's elections.

National planners want the unions to gear wage demands to the country's economic health. Leaders of the T-ades Union Congress, industrial parliament of 8,315,000 British workers—are inclined to agree.

But leaders of several large unions are demanding that no restrictions be placed on their freedom to press wage demands.

GRANBY Que (AP)—The Quebec wing of Canada's bickering Social Credit party emerged from a convention here divided into two camps—one supporting a national leader Robert Thompson and the other backing deputy national leader Real Caouette.

The split was expected to leave each with 11 followers in the 263-seat House of Commons and lead to two Social Credit parties in Quebec.

Princess remains in grave condition

VENICE, Italy (AP)—Alexandra of Greece, former queen of Yugoslavia and cousin of Britain's Prince Philip, remained in a grave condition today from an overdose of sleeping pills.

Doctors attending the 42-year-old wife of ex-King Peter II said slight improvement was detectable. But Alexandra remained in a coma for the second day since taking 16 tablets at the Venetian villa of her mother, Princess Aspasia of Greece.

Peter, who arrived from Paris Monday, told newsmen he could not explain why Alexandra took the pills and doubted that their marriage had anything to do with it.

EXPECTING SOMEONE?

A Coat With A Family Plan Claims Applause

NEW YORK — Considering the number of years women have been becoming mothers, it is odd that fashion has just now gotten around to designing a coat with a family plan.

Still, better late than never.

This oversight is not entirely the apparel industry's fault. Despite a few centuries with which to work on the problem, women have only recently broken down Victorian notions that ladies should retire from view as soon as their expansion plans are obvious.

NEW ERA

Actually, the revolution of social attitudes towards pregnancy has occurred largely during the past decade when career women stubbornly stuck to their jobs through thin to thick.

And, needing to be even more chic than usual to avoid criticism from associates with archaic views, they demanded and got innovations in maternity wear.

The old kangaroo hole in the skirt and the telltale coolie jacket or smock lost out to A-lines, shifts, stretch fabric sportswear, even bathing suits.

The coat got short shrift. Thrifty women hated to make this major wardrobe investment for a few months' wear, especially since there would soon be medical bills and another little mouth to feed.

A few ladies did buy cape-style coats which could encompass the circumference in latter months, but in the meantime, and afterwards were bulky and unflattering.

And the rest of the ancient population strained at the buttons, and at last let their wraps hang free.

PATENTED PANEL

Coat couturier George Carmel made up for lost time, however, when he realistically demonstrated the growth potential of his otherwise slim coat on an obviously pregnant model.

He has patented the inside panel that deceptively adds inches to the handsome double-breasted red mohair coat without adding any more inches to the wearer.

Still Carmel believes that other designers will follow his lead in developing devices to expand or contract an outer garment without jeopardizing its style.

Then every practical young wife shopping for a coat will wisely insist on these built-in expansion precautions, just in case.

We're getting so much cenizo about Big Spring it begins to appear that we will have almost as much as Zane Grey's riders had when they were riding through it. Cenizo's southwestern name is purple sage. The Spanish name means ashlike which certainly fits the pretty gray green of the leaves . . . when the blooms come they are a rich purple and the entire bush seems to be one great ball of beauty. Most of the blooming period has passed, but some bushes, are still holding on to the pretty petals.

HINTS FROM HELOISE by Heloise Cruse

Dear Folks:

I have received many, many letters from folks who complain that the stem of their electric coffee pots corrode and wear out. They also get "crusty" on the bottom, etc . . . they're expensive!

I have tested coffee percolators for three weeks. (I could not believe these complaints when they started coming in.) I perked coffee in two electric coffee pots and one on top of the stove coffee pot. Here's what I found . . .

HELOISE

As long as the inside stem (that's the gadget that holds the basket where you put the coffee grounds) is aluminum take extra care of it.

The longer it stays in the coffee (after it's brewed) the more corroded and crusty it's going to get! After your coffee gets through perking . . . remove the stem and wash it.

One can buy commercial coffee pot cleaners and perk it through a cycle, following "Joe Blow's" directions on the can. This will remove most of it and clean the coffee pot at the same time.

Also, do NOT leave perked coffee in the pot overnight. Pour it into a thermos bottle or a fruit jar and put it in your refrigerator.

Here's a quickie way to test coffee yourself:

Leave a pot of coffee overnight. Heat it the next morning and then make a fresh pot. Compare the two! Wow! You'll never believe the difference until you taste it.

wives on their feet all day:

Place a ten cent foam rubber powder puff in each heel of a pair of shoes which are a little too big for you. Cut to fit if your heel is especially narrow.

For tender callouses, just cut a hole in the middle of the sponge . . . It beats all the market preparations I've ever tried. These sponges can be cut in half to make them thinner if your shoes are tight. Best to use these methods in old stretched shoes.

OH, HO . . . READERS —
Guess what I just discovered?

It's a way to freshen stale biscuits, bread, donuts and old sweet rolls which are too hard to be enjoyed but yet you don't want to throw away.

Put them in a plastic box or a big fruit jar, dampen a paper napkin quite well . . . lay on top of the rolls and put the lid on tight. Leave it overnight and they're great!

I'm stunned. Later these can be put in the oven, eaten as is or toasted and they're heavenly!

Our fireplace is artificial. I covered it with contact paper and have been doing so for years.

I change the paper about every three to five years and it always looks nice. So easy to keep.

A Devotional For The Day

Arise therefore, and be doing, and the Lord be with thee. (I Chronicles 22:16.)
PRAYER: Father in heaven, help us to see the tasks before us, however small. As we use our efforts to further Thy kingdom, may Thy Son be with us, as He promised. May we leave nothing undone which Thou wouldst have us do. In the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Third Party Nonsense

Periods of emotionally charged upheaval in the evolution of American society have usually spawned third-party movements which flared briefly only to subside into oblivion as the two-party system adjusted to change and absorbed the abnormal political pressures.

It was all but inevitable that a by-product of the Negro civil rights movement, as it neared its climax, would be an attempt to base a third party on that issue. This is now emerging as an effort by some Negro leaders or would-be leaders, outside of the six major civil rights organizations, to form an all-Negro national political party, the "Freedom Now Party."

It is also all but inevitable that the effort will fail. It will fail, first, because the American two-party system almost precludes any single-group or special-interest splinter party from gaining sufficient political power to sustain its existence. Election success at any level requires putting together a majority vote, which obviously a minority-oriented party cannot do. A third-party movement may for a time bring single-issue pressures to bear on one or another of the major parties, but rarely so effectively as a strong faction active within the major party.

A Negro third-party movement is doubly doomed to failure because it would be a political form of segregation in direct conflict with the mainstream of Negro aspirations for complete assimilation into American life. This is no doubt one compelling reason why the Negro civil rights organizations have discouraged a third-party movement and can be expected to shun support for the attempt now under way.

With the Republican and Democratic parties in earnest competition for Negro political support, Negro voters would be foolish indeed to waste their political influence on a futile splinter party. And it is most unlikely that many of them will.

Two Bitter Lessons

A boy on a bicycle was racing down a hill the other day ahead of two friends on another bike. They had books in their carrier baskets. They had been to the neighborhood library and were on their way home, riding the crest of a wave of boyish good spirits. The boy in the lead rode through a stop sign at the bottom of the hill and

And smashed into a truck. The truck driver told police, "I didn't have a chance to stop or swerve."

The scene was in a large Midwestern city. It could as well have been in any other city or town. And the tragedy of the boy who ran through the stop sign suggests two valuable lessons for other children, and for their parents.

One of the lad's friends said, "I think his bike had burnt brakes." One of the two lessons is that bicycles, as much as cars, need to be checked for mechanical defects. On either a car or a bicycle, faulty brakes can spell death.

The other possibility is that the boy hurtled through the stop sign without thinking of the danger, perhaps because he had not been trained to observe the safety rules. No boy or girl should be allowed to ride a bicycle on the streets until these rules have been thoroughly learned. Parents who neglect such training are inviting tragedy and heartbreak.

Postmaster General's Thankless Job

WASHINGTON — In the difficult search for a Postmaster General the White House might do well to try a want ad. WANTED: Chief executive for largest business in the world with 577,000 employees; salary $25,000; must be able to get along with all sorts of characters telling you how to run the business; annual deficit no cause for worry.

THE MAN JUST vacating the job tried hard to introduce some efficiency into a system that has been burdened by favoritism, patronage, special privilege and the barnacles of an ancient bureaucracy. J. Edward Day, who had a brisk, humorous approach to this thankless task, used to like to say there had never been any real change since Benjamin Franklin initiated the system.

Like many another hoary institution the Post Office Department is caught in the switches of lightning change. The postal service was based on the railroads and that base has been largely eroded away.

DAY WENT TO Germany and made a personal study of routing mail by a system of code numbers. He found that the German post office allows only 12 different sizes of envelopes. In contrast into the mails in this country each day go on the average 700 sizes and shapes. And the Postmaster General knew full well that any attempt to limit the variety in America would be frustrated by loud and angry squawks from the customers. The Soviet Union, where the customer has very little to say about the size and shape of anything, allows only six different envelopes.

FOR THE first time in the fiscal year recently ended the number of postal employees was not increased over the previous year. This is attributed to some of the changes Day introduced in his effort to move out of the handicraft era into the age of automation.

But like every Postmaster General before him he could never tell when one of his innumerable critics in Congress and out would come down on him. After Life published an article charging Congress with immoral use of pork-barrel appropriations for election purposes, including new post offices, members of Congress demanded to know how much subsidy magazines like Life were getting.

THE POSTMASTER General's office declined to give out specific figures, saying so many variables were involved. But the second-class mailing privilege has long been one of the principal reasons for the deficit. In a detailed reply to Life, Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona charged that in the current year it would cost $310,000,000 to carry the second-class mail while the Post Office Department would get back in revenue only $95,000,000—by the Udall calculation a subsidy of $215,000,000.

HE WENT ON to put the subsidy for the Luce publications "in the neighborhood of $20,000,000." The cost of carrying The Reader's Digest is estimated at $35,000,000 above receipts and, as resentful members of Congress have noted, it devotes a lot of space to attacking politics, politicians and the government. According to Udall, new post offices authorized are always far behind the need with the population growth and the difficulty of getting appropriations to replace old buildings and worn-out equipment.

Third-class or junk mail is another reason for the deficit, which was $400,000,000 last fiscal year and would have been twice that much if the cost of postage had not been increased in January. Yet the flood of junk mail adds less to the deficit than second-class.

DAY WILL probably be remembered for the Zip Code. This is a system of numbers for each region which when included in an address reduces the number of times mail must be sorted. The department has called for bids for machines that will read Zip numbers with an electric eye—80 per cent that are printed or typed.

IN THAT EARLIER era of Deadwood and Painted Post you looked for a shrewd politician as Postmaster General. He dispensed patronage and kept a careful eye on the machine of the party in power. Today he must be part politician, part businessman, part administrator—a rare combination indeed.

During all the years of endless chores taking care of my family, I longed for a little leisure, but now I have more leisure than I know what to do with. My husband objects to my taking a job; what do you suggest I do?

M. K.

If your husband can support you, don't deny him the privilege. This is one of his joys and satisfactions. But this is no reason for you to be idle or fill your days with meaningless activity, which always makes one feel bored and useless. Every hour is a gift from your Heavenly Father. Ask God how He would have you use it. He'll tell you to give some time to developing the talents He has given you. Music? Sewing? Gardening? Painting? You are not too old to learn a new skill, or perfect one which has been neglected because of the pressure of household tasks. And there are new worlds awaiting you between the covers of books. If you've been too busy to read more than magazines and the daily papers, begin now to read great books, especially the Bible.

Jesus was sent to show us the way. Most of His hours were spent helping others. In the past, your immediate family needed most of your time and strength. Now you can extend the range of your love. Every day do something for Christ. Remember that Jesus said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." (Matthew 25:40) Become active in your church and its organizations. Then you'll find endless opportunities for service, and new meaning and purpose in life.

Diem Brother's Ouster Sought

EDITOR'S NOTE — For a decade the United States has been expending money and men to keep vital South Viet Nam from being engulfed by communism. Now Washington faces the effort to unseat the ruler of the country's own government. In the following analysis, Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter John M. Hightower reports the United States may consider a step if changes aren't forthcoming quickly.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's public crackdown on the U.S.-supported government of South Viet Nam is aimed primarily at forcing the removal from power of the brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

If President Diem is unwilling or unable to remove quickly his powerful brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, U.S. officials indicated today the Kennedy Administration will feel compelled to consider other measures.

These measures, it is understood, will include a review of the U.S. aid program with possible cutbacks to follow.

Kennedy told a nationwide CBS television audience in an interview from Hyannis Port, Mass., Monday night that the war against Communist forces in Viet Nam could not be won unless the Diem government makes "a greater effort" to win popular support.

He said that changes in policy "and perhaps in personnel" are needed to produce victory in the struggle in which Viet Nam and the United States are partners.

THE PRESIDENT, however, carefully refrained from advocating any specific plan of action for the Vietnamese.

As one official put it: "The Vietnamese will have to clean house themselves; we can't do it for them."

If Kennedy's warning is taken by dissatisfied elements in Saigon as a bid for revolt against the Diem government it would be no great surprise here.

However, officials said, the problem would be much simpler if Diem would handle the situation himself.

Kennedy's outspoken criticism was coupled with an assertion that it would be "a great mistake" to halt military assistance to Viet Nam.

U.S. aid to the small Southeast Asian country is running at the rate of $500 million a year. The total during the past decade is near $3 billion.

WHILE KENNEDY ruled out an end to military assistance, officials said there are various actions short of a U.S. decision to abandon South Viet Nam which could be taken and which if the situation gets worse will have to be considered.

For the moment the Administration policy makers anxiously awaited Saigon's reaction to Kennedy's blast. The President's words were aimed primarily at South Vietnamese leaders, including not only President Diem but also his brother Nhu and the general who compose the military high command.

UP TO THE end of last week, the President's advisers had counted on popular antagonism in South Viet Nam spearheaded by dissident Buddhist monks, to produce pressures which would lead to Nhu's withdrawal from his strongman role in Diem's regime.

At the end of the week Nhu was still firmly in power, and the Buddhist movement against the government, and the supporting student demonstrations, had been crushed through widespread arrests of students, monks and nuns.

To Your Good Health

Most Transplants Still A Rare Procedure

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Has there been a transplant of the stomach of animals, such as goats or sheep, to the human body? —J. P.

No, not to my knowledge.

The idea of successfully transplanting organs (stomach, lungs, kidneys or whatever) is an intriguing one, but to accomplish it is difficult.

Surgically, it is possible to perform any number of "transplants." Transplanting is not the problem; it is one of making the transplanted organ grow and function.

Regardless of the organ, the basic difficulty is that the body rejects and in time destroys any tissue which is strange or foreign to itself.

As an example, you can graft skin from one person to another, but in a matter of several weeks, the grafted skin may slough off. It is sufficiently different so the body gets rid of it.

Except as a temporary expedient, we do not always expect borrowed skin to continue to grow. If such as in cases of severe burns, or other injuries, we have to replace an area of skin, we take it from some other part of the patient's own body. The grafted skin becomes permanent. And new skin grows in the place from which the graft was taken.

A few short years ago it became possible to transplant a kidney from one identical twin to another (people have two kidneys, and thus can spare one). Since then such transplants have been extended to include those from one close relative to another, but this is still a rare procedure.

Not long ago, we read that a lung had been transplanted to a desperately ill convict, but he died several days later, from another cause, so we do not know whether the transplanting would have succeeded.

In dogs, by use of very powerful drugs, it has been possible to subdue the "rejection" action of the body so that a transplant has been known to survive for months and in one case for more than two years.

But then we come to the greater problem of transplanting an organ from one species to another—a stomach from a sheep or goat or whatever—to a dog or pig, or even to a human being—we have not yet found the answer. However, I am an optimist enough to believe that we will eventually find it.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a person do anything to tighten the skin of face and neck without plastic surgery?

gery? Is there any pill or vitamin? —MRS. D. C.

No.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our youngest daughter has started adding extra sounds to the ends of her words, like "What's that-t-t-t?" or "Yes-s-s-s." Sometimes she uses the first letter at the end, like "Door-d-d-d."

Could this mean she is going to be inclined to stutter? Or is this stuttering in reverse? She has been talking clearly since she was one year old. —D. E. W.

This may be a form of stuttering. Start trying to get her with not too much pressure, though, to talk more slowly. That may help her.

"Don't Quit Because Of Arthritis" is the title of my leaflet designed to help all who suffer the aches and pains of arthritis. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Dr. Molner is always happy to hear from his readers, but he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters due to the great number received daily. Whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Around The Rim

Get Out The Broom And 'Mow' That Lawn

Maybe we should go back to the old way that once prevailed in most West Texas towns.

Watching harried residents battling to save their precious Bermuda lawns from the heat and drought, I recall the days when I was a kid and how different things were then.

Only a handful of residents ever tried to have grass in their yards. The other folk regarded this effort as an affront to public decency and a blatant example of "showing off."

THE REST OF THE residents saw to it their yards were grassless. Not only grassless but kept clean of all weeds and growth. Trees, shrubs, flowering bushes — these things were tolerated. Grass, weeds, ground covering plants — not on your tintype.

The yards were as bare as an uncarpeted floor. The lady of the house saw to it they stayed bare.

I used to fret at the idea of sweeping the front and back yard with the broom. Somehow such a chore affronted my dignity. As I saw it, sweeping involved the removal of dirt from a given surface. Pray, how could you remove dirt from dirt? Plumb silly, I thought.

Nevertheless, the yard had to be swept. Any daring weed or blade of grass which stuck its head above ground was cut down. The result was a gleaming expanse of hardpacked earth.

WHAT WATERING was done was based on the bases of the few trees and shrubs which were in the yard. Moats circled the trees to hold water.

There was good reason to be careful. Water was a precious commodity. The drinking and cooking water we stored in underground cisterns. Gutters rimmed every residence, and every rain was hailed with delight—it might supplement the water in the cistern.

Wells in the neighborhood produced lots of water, but it frequently was so tainted with gypsum that it was a brash and daring thing to try and drink it. Poured out on the ground and allowed to evaporate, the ground was left coated with a thin layer of white.

THE FELLOWS who grew grass on their lawns solely for the purpose of showing off their affluence, therefore, were looked down upon by their proud but much poorer neighbors for "wasting" precious water.

And good housewives, thinking of these stuckup folk and their green lawns would shake their heads disapprovingly and order the kids out to see to it that not a sprig of green grew on their own yards.

When it was dry these grassless yards were elegant. They were hotter than a grassy yard but since none of us knew of grassy swards what was the difference?

BUT WHEN it did rain, as it occasionally did, the sodless yards became loblollies, and the gummy mud stuck tenaciously to shoes. It clung until one entered the house; then it spread freely over the floors.

When the rains passed the yards dried. When they had dried, it was time to get them back in shape. And the kids, lug-ging brooms, were back on the job.

AND THE GRASSY LAWNS of the pernickety rich were pointed out in derision. The grass, stirred to new vigor by the rains, grew up in ragged profusion. The mowers of the day were not much and it was hard, sometimes, to find someone to push the ones that did exist.

Maybe it wouldn't be bad to go back to this old plan.

Some Results Of The 'March'

There are so many stunning aspects to the great March for Jobs and Freedom that those of us who were present are still sorting out its manifold truths. Nothing is more significant than that the demonstration in the nation's capital turned out not to be a Negro but an integrated rally, that three out of every 10 marchers were white.

AND THE GREAT number of white clergy, young and old, who were in the line of march will rejoice the critics who have felt that religion has been even more laggard than Congress in recognizing the brotherhood of man and pressing for its realization.

How any church, North or South, can ever again draw a color line is incomprehensible after the outpouring of Protestant clergymen, rabbis and priests who rallied and led their congregations in the march. Religion, actively fighting to implement what it teaches and to what it gives lip service, cannot only revitalize itself but can be the most powerful weapon in this fight for social justice.

IT WAS AN exhilarating experience to witness the church militant, its sword unsheathed and committed to the battle, as its leaders, young and old, marched on the Lincoln Memorial.

It was also a day on which to give grateful thanks to television, which took this stirring, peaceful, dedicated demonstration into every section of the nation. It cannot help but have touched and—more importantly—involved the conscience of millions of Americans in states and areas remote from the problem and its urgency.

IT SEEMS TO me that the greatest immediate impact of the march will not be on Congress but on the grass roots of self-help.

Here were thousands of Negroes who paid their way from New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and a hundred other communities, and who could afford to take the time off to show their solidarity with the poor, the jobless, the undereducated and the underprivileged.

AS JACKIE ROBINSON later said on a television program, "Ladies of the Press." "It proves that we who have been lucky are locked in the struggle, too. Our involvement must be complete."

Above all, it is obvious, after this tremendous, integrated outpouring for civil rights, that this nation will never be the same.

Socialism In The Recreation Program

WASHINGTON—Legislatively speaking, when the gods arrive at Capitol Hill, the demigods depart. The supernal matters of seeking racial reforms without uprooting the Constitution, of monitoring nuclear fallout without getting bear-trapped by an avowed enemy, of revising our taxes without deepening our deficits and of aiding foreigners without impoverishing ourselves—these big boys tend to run the urchins off the Hill.

MAYBE IT'S a good thing, because many of the urchin affairs ought to go back where they belong—to the states, to communities, to business and civic groups. I don't expect that Interior Secretary Udall will agree that his mammoth schemes for buying up playgrounds and seashores under his Recreation Program are juvenile projects when compared with Civil Rights, the Nuclear Treaty and the rest, but that's about the size of it. He's having trouble getting congressional attention.

Stewart Udall, a personable and strenuous outdoorsman, believes in his mission to make the Sixties what he calls an "Age of Action" at the Interior Department. He has created a new agency—the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation—and he has smashed the tablets of an old Congressional Commandment, which said, in Speaker Joe Cannon's words, "not a penny for scenery."

WITH THE PURCHASE of Cape Cod for a National Park, Udall initiated what no other Interior Secretary ever accomplished—federal land purchase for the explicit purpose of nationalized vacation sites. The secretary envisioned dozens of new parks across the nation, but with emphasis on the densely populated East Coast, where the general public is to be accommodated—and regulated—as a taxpayer guest.

In order to get his way, Udall has made concessions. For example, there are 800 persons still living in Cape Cod National Park. They may own the land, and may dispose of it, but not quite freely—only if they agree to keep the property in its present use. Meanwhile the Park Service practices conservation and beautification, and in the end will take over entirely. But these concessions, to anyone who knows how such things go in Federalism, have the look of "creeping socialism." From the Tennessee Valley Authority to the Area Redevelopment Administration, the take-over tactics always begin at a crawl and never at a pounce.

IF THE PAST is any prologue, the prairie that Udall has bought in Kansas, the Great Lakes dunes he has sought in Indiana and Michigan, the sand spits that he is accumulating on the Atlantic and Pacific shorelines will, in time, become part of a domain that is ruled, no doubt, with benevolence, but nonetheless ruled for the people, rather than by the people.

All this can be said without denying that population pressures are upon us, and that natural beauties are worth preserving for human enjoyment. Udall's case would be more solid, however, if the states had not already done a great deal in these regards, if philanthropists named Rockefeller and Mellon and others had not plowed business profits back into foundations to preserve natural and historical treasures, if garden clubs and other citizens' groups had not been active in the same work, if resort hotels and Chambers of Commerce had not made paying propositions of mountain and seaside vistas without ruthlessly despoiling the aesthetic values.

PRIVATE AND LOCAL enterprises, despite many shortcomings, still represent a freedom to exploit and a law-of-the-market-place and this nation would be poorer because of their loss. Udall's spirit of conquest looks out of proportion amid the overriding problems in Washington. It also looks mighty suspicious to anybody who has watched Federalism grow.

Congressmen Facing Heavy Work Load

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen are facing a heavy work load as the month of September begins. Most of the big battles still lie ahead.

Usually by Labor Day, Congress is breezing down the home stretch. This year it has a thick stack of legislation to clear away.

Many members fear they'll still be around after the leaves fall and the snow flies and the Christmas decorations go up.

On the long, probably bumpy road ahead are such controversial issues as a tax cut, foreign aid spending, the limited nuclear test-ban treaty—and the civil rights program which promises to trigger a Southern filibuster in the Senate.

The House planned no business this week, continuing until Monday a sort of informal Labor Day recess.

To clear the deck for expected debate next week on the nuclear treaty, the Senate was scheduled to take up President Kennedy's request to broaden the 1962 Man-

Police 'Lynch Mob' Alleged

PLAQUEMINE, La. (AP) — James Farmer of Chicago, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, says a "lynch mob" made up of law enforcement officers broke up a Negro demonstration in Plaquemine.

Farmer, who has been leading a campaign against alleged discrimination in this town on the Mississippi River delta, told a news conference in New Orleans Monday. "Police did not break up the demonstration but pursued demonstrators into churches, homes and any shelter they sought."

He said Plaquemine was "a city under siege," and added, "I have never seen such police treatment in Mississippi or Alabama."

Tear gas, fire hoses and mounted policemen smashed the demonstration Sunday night, firing tear gas into a church that was headquarters for the Negroes.

Maj. Ben Ragusa, commanding state troopers who reinforced Plaquemine's police force, said no force was used except tear gas. He said Negroes were throwing bricks before troopers went into the church and that 20 of his men were hit.

In Washington, the Justice Department said it was sending additional FBI agents to Plaquemine, 20 miles south of Baton Rouge, to investigate Farmer's charges.

Red Writer Flees To West

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — Prof. Hans Mayer, East German national prize winner and one of the most prominent Soviet bloc "liberal" intellectuals, has fled to West Germany.

Here on a lecture tour, Mayer announced Monday night he will not return to Leipzig University where he has taught literature for 15 years and gained an international reputation.

In 1955, he won the East German government's national prize for his works on classical and modern literature. Since the East German Communist regime tightened its reins, he had fallen into official disgrace but his defection is expected to have a bombshell effect among intellectuals in the Soviet bloc.

Mayer, 56, is a close friend of many leading Eastern writers.

Kimbell Feed Mill Office Entered, $2,963 Is Missing

The Kimbell Feed Mill office, 100 Lancaster, was burglarized during the weekend and $2,963.80 in cash and checks taken. Bonds, amounting to $9,000, were pulled from their file and scattered. Papers from desk drawers and files were strewn over the office floor. Cash lost totaled $375.

Clyde Eager, manager, told police the cash was supposed to have been put in the safe Saturday but it was missing Monday.

Entry to the office was made by breaking out a part of a side door and forcing the latch from the door frame.

One other theft was reported. Robert C. Stevens told police two bicycles were taken from the front of the garage at 2508 Cindy while the family was at church. They were found later, abandoned, at the rear of 2302 Lynn.

Whites Vow No Violence At Folcroft

FOLCROFT, Pa. (AP) — A group of Folcroft residents says there will be no more violence against a Negro family that moved into a white neighborhood but it will use "passive resistance by demonstrations and boycotts of any business which serves or deals with the family."

The statement was issued Monday after about 1,000 men met for nearly two hours at the Folcroft Swim Club.

The statement deplored the mob violence that greeted Horace and Sarah Baker, who moved into the Delmar development under state police guard Friday night. A mob had blocked the move Thursday.

The statement, which was not signed, emphasized that the Baker family is not welcome in this suburb of Philadelphia but said the state troopers may leave and the violence will not return.

State police kept the area under tight security and Folcroft Borough Mayor Hugh McVicker ordered that no passes be issued to nonresidents Monday.

The Bakers, with the help of friends, spent Labor Day repairing their row house. Windows were broken and the lawn was littered with rocks, eggs and vegetables by the mob.

BOTH LEGS GONE, BUT LASS HAPPILY RETURNS TO SCHOOL

WATERLOO, N.Y. (AP) — Slowly, surely and gracefully, Debbie Marcuccilli is walking on artificial limbs, six months after losing her legs in a school bus accident.

The 8-year-old returns to school Wednesday and is looking forward to seeing her friends.

Debbie and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orazio Marcuccilli, met with newsmen and photographers Monday at the family's home in this central New York village. It was Debbie's first public exposure since shortly after the accident last February.

Wearing a light blue, frilly dress, a white jacket and a bright smile, she walked forward and backward without hesitation, aided by two small canes.

Debbie was injured in a collision between her school bus and a tractor-trailer. She underwent four major operations and lost her entire right leg and her left leg below the knee.

She received the artificial limbs early last month as a gift from a Rochester company.

She was taught how to use the limbs at the rehabilitation clinic at Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester.

Debbie will enter the third grade. She said she might have to look for "a school boyfriend" among her classmates to help her carry her books.

Her No. 1 fella she said, is still Dr. David L. Koch, who attended Debbie after the accident.

Minor Accidents Are Investigated

Five minor accidents were investigated by Big Spring police during the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today. There were no injuries.

Locations of collisions, and drivers of vehicles involved, were: Third and Birdwell, Willie Andrew Jackson, Odessa, and Joe Fowler, Sterling City Route; Northwest Third and Gregg, Felipe Telez Ramirez, 310 NW 3rd, and Ruth Lillian Tabor, 506 Lancaster; Third and Gregg, Jake Hancock, 1305 Lexington, and Ormae Terry Coffee, Midland; Edwards and Gregg, Cecil E. Seventy-three bodies were found in the debris Monday night and the search continued, reports said. Hardest hit was Gumbarg, 15 miles southwest of Srinagar, the capital of Kashmir. The quake destroyed all homes and killed more than 25 persons in the village.

Most inhabitants of the stricken area were working in the fields when the quake hit.

Johnson In Stockholm For Goodwill Mission

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson flew into gray and cloudy Sweden today on a goodwill mission to Scandinavia. He called it "a mission of old friendship and new confidence."

Bringing personal greetings of President Kennedy, Johnson arrived in a jetliner at Arlanda airport, 23 miles outside Stockholm. He was accompanied by his wife, Lady Bird, and his daughter, Lynda Bird.

Premier Tage Erlander and members of his Cabinet greeted them.

Erlander said he was sure Johnson's visit would strengthen the already close ties between Sweden and the United States.

Johnson said the United States' "greatest debt to Sweden is for the finest gift of all—the 1,200,000 natives of your land who honored us by coming to live in America and contribute to the strength and success of our country."

"I am proud to come bringing the good wishes of more than a million Americans of Swedish descent and the warm personal greetings of the President of the United States," Johnson said.

U.S. Army helicopters brought the Johnson party to the Stockholm heliport. The vice president was greeted by a reception committee of children.

Johnson strode to the crowd and started shaking hands all around. He chatted especially with the children.

A girl happily clutched a pen presented her by the vice president. At their hotel entrance later, the Johnsons were greeted with a Texas whoop from an old friend swinging his broad-brimmed hat. The surprise was provided by Texas State Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo, here on a trade mission.

NAKED THEFT UNDRAPES 'EM

WASHINGTON (AP)—The girls at the Gayety Burlesque were barely left with anything to take off.

Somebody stole all their G-strings and grass skirts. "The strippers have been outstripped," moaned manager Sam Goldberg. But in the best tradition of show business, they went on with their bumps and grinds.

"The girls are improvising," said Goldberg modestly. To put it nakedly, improvising on a burlesque dancer's flimsy attire is no snap.

The dancers rummaged through their ransacked wardrobes and came up with enough to make one mismatched costume.

Performing one at a time in Monday's four-hour matinee, each girl shed one item of clothing at a time and tossed it into the wings for the next dancer to wriggle into.

The makeshift costume didn't always fit, but Ginger Lee solved that: "If something was too big, I put a knot in it. If it was too small, I'd rip it and hold it together with a pin," she said.

"Most of it was too small," she confessed. A detective's estimate that the loss totaled $473 was challenged by Goldberg, who said it was more like $3,000.

"That stuff costs. A good G-string with rhinestones will run you $50," he said. "It has to be custom-made."

Gonzalez Planning Labor Bill Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., intends to fight the Mexican farm labor bill.

He criticized both the pending legislation and what he called high pressured groups backing it. The law permitting braceros to enter this country to work on farms expires Dec. 31. It has been in operation 12 years, renewed one and two years at a time.

The Senate passed a one year extension bill Aug. 15, but only after writing into it an amendment making many benefits accorded the braceros, such as transportation expenses, applicable also to domestic migratory farm workers.

The House voted 174 to 158 in May to defeat a bill for a two-year extension of the present program. With the Senate-passed bill in hand, the House Agriculture Committee during the past week approved a bill by Rep. Graham Purcell, D-Tex., providing for a year extension.

"It's no secret what the strategy of the program backers is," said Gonzalez. "They hope to bring the legislation up on the House floor, substitute the Senate bill, then amend it by striking out all the provisions applicable to domestic farm workers."

"It's just a ruse," Gonzalez said he is for better wages and working conditions for the domestic migratory laborers. He said these matters should be handled in separate legislation, arguing that the presence of the Mexican nationals tends to depress the wages of domestic workers.

"This existing labor import law is vicious," he said. "The whole history of the bracero program is a sordid one, making a sorry page in our history."

HELPING MAKE THE CLAIM

There are company agents and independent agents. A company agent sells insurance policies for the one company he represents. Ordinarily he does not concern himself with claims.

Your local independent agent represents more than one company. Patterson Easily Wins Invitational Tourney

By TOMMY HART
Jimmy Patterson returned the Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament championship to the home course Monday when he put together final rounds of 73 and 71 for a 72-hole aggregate score of 285.

For the tournament, the long-hitter 19-year-old was one under par. Patterson's opposition faded badly. Defending champion Bill Craig of Colorado City, three strokes back when the morning's play got under way, lost three more shots to Patterson but his 291 was good for second place.

Third was Bobby Blumh of Lamesa, who needed a birdie on the last hole to tie Craig but didn't get it. He settled for a 292. Fourth place went to medalist Bernard Rains, Big Spring school teacher, who finished with a 294. Rains soared to a 78 the morning round but he registered a 70 on the final 18, the best round of the day.

Fifth was Tommy Wilkerson of Big Spring, a slightly-built youth, in at 296. Stormy Edwards of Ruidoso, N.M., who was tied for second at the end of Sunday's play, faded on the final 36 and wound up sixth with a 297 aggregate. Only one other player, Robb Smith of Big Spring, came in at less than 300. He had a 299. Patterson had a triple bogie on the third hole in his morning round but that came after he had tallied birdies on the first and second holes.

Packers Show Real Punch In Victory

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Green Bay Packers are still the Green Bay Packers, which means masters of the New York Giants and the rest of the National Football League.

Where that puts the College All-Stars is problematical, but it puts the Packers squarely atop the scramble as the 14 NFL teams move closer to their season openers 12 days from now.

The Packers, rolling to their fourth victory since that ignominious 20-17 loss to the Colts on a hot night in Chicago a month ago, smacked the Giants 24-17 before a roaring, sellout crowd of 42,327 at Green Bay Monday night.

It was the champs' seventh straight victory over the Giants, the team they whipped in the NFL title game the last two years, and their 23rd pre-season game without a loss against NFL opposition. A grind-it-out second half did the job for Green Bay this time after the Giants, capitalizing on two pass interceptions, had taken a 17-14 lead in the first two periods.

Jim Taylor, who scored the only Green Bay touchdown in last December's 16-7 title game, banged over from the two for the go-ahead points in the third period. Jerry Kramer sealed it with a 25-yard field goal late in the quarter.

Taylor scored from the one in the first half, which was marked by two electrifying long-distance strikes. The first was a 100-yard kickoff return by the Packers' Herb Adderley. The second was a touchdown by Dick Lynch of the Giants at the end of the second period that completed a 91-yard return of a pass interception.

Erich Barnes, the New York defender whose interception had set up the Giants' first touchdown, deflected Bart Starr's pass on the last play of the half. Jim Patton grabbed it at the New York 9, scrambled up to his own 33, where he lateraled to Lynch. Lynch went the rest of the way to the end zone.

The loss was the third in four exhibitions for the Giants. Eastern Division champions four of the last five years.

The Green Bay-New York game which boosted NFL pre-season attendance over 914,000 with six days remaining next weekend, climaxed an 11-game pro football program over the Labor Day weekend.

In other NFL games, Dallas whipped San Francisco 37-24 and Pittsburgh defeated Detroit 22-7 Friday night. Baltimore turned back Washington 27-21. St. Louis edged Chicago 17-14. Cleveland spilled Los Angeles 23-14, and Philadelphia beat Minnesota 34-27 on Sunday.

FLIGHT OPERATIONS ON THE AIRCRAFT CARRIER "SWLON" ARE BEGINNING TO RUN SMOOTHLY. TAKE-OFFS EVERY 30 SECONDS LIKE CLOCKWORK.

ON LANDING, THEY HIT THE DECK WITH AFTER-BURNERS ROARING, ARRESTING CABLES SNATCHING THEM TO A STOP. FEWER AND FEWER TAKE-OFFS.

I TELL YOU, WE'VE GOTTA GET WITH IT. THAT "CRUSADER" SQUADRON IS OUTFLYING US. THEY'RE GETTING FEWER TAKE-OFFS. AND DO YOU KNOW WHO IN OUR SQUADRON IS GETTING THE MOST TAKE-OFFS? SKIFFER!

SAVE YOUR CROWN! STOP RUBBING HIM!

GASOLINE ALLEY

The cartoon, O'Connell, observe the cow!

It's almost like the clock cow in the cattle book!

Precisely! In other words our artist has done a bit of cribbing!

Then the guy who drew the cartoon may have Pop's book and the $250!

A remarkable deduction! Come! I believe a call on the gentleman is in order!

Boy! This is getting exciting!

NOBODY EVER CALLS ME "CUTIE"

WELL, SURELY YOU MUST ADMIT THAT YOU ARE NOT WHAT IS KNOWN AS A "RAVING BEAUTY"...

OF COURSE I ADMIT IT!

I JUST WANT TO BE A "RAVING CUTIE!"

DICK TRACY

IT'S IMPOSSIBLE TO GET THE BODIES OUT TILL THOSE FLAMES DIE DOWN.

MEANWHILE, MR. TRACY, LET'S EXPLORE THE RUBBLE OF SLINGSHOT MOUNTAIN.

GRANDFATHER'S PAPERS STATED THAT AT ONE TIME THE CONFEDERACY HAD 100,000 TONS OF GUNPOWDER STORED HERE IN BARRELS.

PART OF A BARREL STAVE?

MARY WORTH

YOU STARTED OUT TO PUBLISH A FINE ARTS MAGAZINE?

I USED TO PUBLISH "CUTLASS"--ONE OF THOSE MONEY-LOVING LITTLE MAGAZINES, FULL OF GOOD WRITING BY TALENTED UNKNOWN, MRS. WORTH--AND IT WAS DYING ON THE NEWSSTANDS!

SO ONE DAY I CHANGED THE NAME TO "PALETTE", PUT A PRETTY GIRL ON THE COVER AND WENT ABOUT FILLING IN BETWEEN FIRST-RATE STORIES AND ARTICLES WITH PHOTOS OF BATHING BEAUTIES!

...AND JOHN Q. PUBLIC BOUGHT IT LIKE BARGAIN-COUNTER BUBBLE-WATER!--I COULD PAY MY AUTHORS HANDSOMELY!--AND STILL MAKE FANTASTIC PROFITS!

AND PURELY BY ACCIDENT, I HAD A CHANCE TO BUY A TOP SUPPER CLUB, AND MORE MONEY POURED IN!

Texas Gulf May Merge With Sinclair

NEW YORK (AP)—Subsidiaries of Sinclair Oil Corp. propose to buy producing properties of Texas Gulf Producing Co. in a $250 million deal.

Agreement on the terms was disclosed Tuesday by E. L. Steinger, Sinclair president, and Gordon Reed, chairman of the Texas Gulf Producing board.

The transaction is subject to satisfactory tax rulings and approval by affected groups.

Sinclair spokesmen said their aim is to obtain a further source of crude oil, explaining the company now purchases about half its requirements from other producers.

Most Texas Gulf Producing domestic and foreign oil and gas properties, undeveloped acreage and other assets figure in the transaction. Reed said the sale will be made under a plan for complete liquidation.

Repeating a statement made to stockholders at an April meeting, Reed said liquidation and sale of his company's assets are in the best interest of shareholders.

"With oil becoming harder to find, and the cost of finding and producing it constantly increasing," Reed said, "a company such as ours is faced with the prospect of a progressive decline in remunerative operations."

Contracts are being prepared and the effective date of the transaction is expected to be Dec. 31.

A spokesman estimated the sale, which is subject to approval by Texas Gulf Producing directors and stockholders, will bring stockholders about $62 per share.

DIVIDING RACES

Imbalance Key Worry In New York Schools

EDITOR'S NOTE With the opening of the school year, boards of education and other officials in New York State are facing a racial problem never before so sharply defined for them.

By CHARLES STORER

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The opening of public schools in New York State is pushing to a new—and in some cases bitter—climax the problem posed by the color of a child's skin.

Administrators in more than 40 city and suburban school districts, under pressure from racial minorities and from the State Education Department, are wrestling with the question of racial imbalance in their schools.

The imbalance generally is attributed to segregated housing patterns.

In some school districts, steps to eliminate or reduce racial imbalance are being inaugurated as pupils return to classrooms this week and next.

In other districts, the problem still is under study or proposed solutions are effective at later dates.

ANGRY PARENTS

In still others, angry parents are fighting in the courts against plans for school integration.

State Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. contends that children in schools wholly or predominantly Negro are deprived of equality of educational opportunity.

Such imbalance, he says, "must therefore be eliminated from the schools of New York State."

The commissioner directed all school districts to report to him on steps they would take to eliminate any racial imbalance. Sunday was the deadline for the reports.

For the purposes of the reports,

Tattooed Oldster Succumbs At 102

TRUMBULL, Conn. (AP)—Isiah Roy, who had his birth date tattooed on his arm, died Monday at St. Joseph's Manor. He was 102. A retired maintenance man and weaver, Roy told a reporter in 1960 that he smoked a half-dozen cigars and had a glass of beer each day.

His wife was 79 when she died in 1947.

Survivors include a son, three daughters, 20 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

North Viet Nam Fetes Birthday

TOKYO (AP)—Communist North Viet Nam celebrated its 18th anniversary Monday with a rally in Hanoi, Peking's New China News Agency reported.

In a dispatch from Hanoi, capital of North Viet Nam, the agency said 200,000 people gathered to celebrate the occasion.

President Ho Chi Minh and other North Vietnamese party and government leaders attended the rally.

he said, a school with a Negro enrollment of 50 per cent or more should be considered a racially imbalanced school.

At least 60 schools in 41 districts, outside of New York City, fall into that category, an Education Department survey showed. New York City and Buffalo, the state's two largest school districts, and Syracuse are moving speedily to reduce imbalance.

The Board of Education in New York City has waived its neighborhood school policy and will permit thousands of Negroes and Puerto Ricans to attend schools outside their home districts.

NUMBER LIMITED

At the outset, the number of sending and receiving schools will be limited. About 14,500 Negro and Puerto Rican children are expected to be transferred this month. Transportation will be free.

In Buffalo, the superintendent of schools said the city would be divided like a pie into four sectors. The parents of any pupil will be permitted to apply after Nov. 1 to transfer him to another school in his sector, provided there is room.

Parents will have to pay the cost of transporting their children to schools to which they are transferred.

The Syracuse Board of Education says it will attempt to end racial imbalance by considering racial housing patterns in drawing boundaries for school attendance areas.

75 PER CENT

Allen's call for reports on racial imbalance accompanied an order to the Board of Education in Malverne, on Long Island, to end de facto segregation at an elementary school with an enrollment about 75 per cent Negro.

But a group of Malverne parents has obtained a temporary injunction to bar the board from complying with the directive.

Residents of another Long Island school district—Westbury—also have gone to court to try to prevent implementation of a plan under which a school that now is 91 per cent Negro would become a single-grade school for all the district's third-grade pupils.

"I believe the Negro and white children should be together, but this is the wrong time in their lives," explained the mother of a white child who will be entering third grade.

Opening lead: King of ♠ Against South's slam contract in hearts West made the obvious lead of the king of diamonds, and things looked doubtful for declarer. Everything now appeared to depend on finding a 3-3 club break, which was distinctly against the odds. In his anxiety to learn his fate declarer tried to run the clubs and when they failed to break evenly he had a rude awakening.

Six hearts was a sound undertaking. When South's demand bid in hearts received an immediate raise, he tested for slam by cue bidding the ace of clubs. It would do no good to "employ Blackwood in this situation, for his concern lies more with kings than it does with aces. When North raised clubs, it alleviated South's concerns in the suit and he proceeded to slam.

In the absence of the diamond lead, South has time to make a spade play to establish dummy's king for a discard. As matters stood, West had made the "killing attack," and declarer could see no recourse but to try the clubs. After drawing two rounds of trumps, he played the three top clubs. When that suit did not respond favorably, South went down to defeat.

Declarer had acted with undue haste. At no additional cost, he could have run the heart suit first and saved the club play for the end. Why not give the opposition a chance to make an error in discarding?

In point of fact, West would have found himself unable to defend against the onslaught of trumps. He has to make five discards which means that, in order to hold his club protection, he must throw all of his diamonds and blank down to the lone ace of spades. When West discards the queen of diamonds and the queen of spades, it must become obvious to South that his opponent has a club stopper. With the hope of a discard in that suit eliminated, declarer has no recourse but to lead a spade toward the king. West plays the ace but, since he has no diamonds left, he must surrender the remaining tricks to declarer.

Estes Estate Facing Claim

EL PASO (AP)—A $12,289,316 tax claim against the bankrupt estate of one-time promoter Billie Sol Estes and the partnership of Estes and Estes has been filed here.

A lien tying up Estes personal holdings had been filed previously, but the government had taken no action to enforce its claim in bankruptcy court.

The notice on file today charges additional income tax due from Estes for 1959 of $351,375, for $4,879,656 in 1960, and $6,668,846 in 1961. It also claims smaller amounts in various sorts of other taxes.

Harry Moore, receiver for the bankrupt estate, said no decision would be made on contesting the claim until a detail report is submitted by the government. He said that, as trustee, he expects to receive a total of around $8.8 million from the estate, including $7 million to be paid over a period of years by American Grain Co.

Moore said that of the $8.8 million, $500,000 is earmarked for the disposition of claims arising from mortgages but non-existent fertilizer tanks. Another $5.8 million is in secured claims that would come ahead of the federal tax claims, leaving very little left for unsecured claims or the federal government.
