TERRIFIC HAIL STORM STRIKES WEST TEXAS

Heavy Rains and Hail Do Damage in County

Heavy rains falling in this part of Runnels county late Friday afternoon were the heaviest for several years and falling fast caused high water at many points.

The heaviest downpour was reported a few miles west of Rowena where six inches fell in a short time accompanied by some hail. The water covered all fields and ran over the highway several feet deep. The Santa Fe tracks around Rowena were covered with water and section men were sent out to walk the tracks until a late hour Friday night to see that no washouts occurred.

South Ballinger was flooded several feet in water and much damage was being reported Saturday morning. Sand Creek came down with a mighty rise and as the water was unable to pass under culverts, spread over that part of town.

Parr Brothers garage in South Ballinger stood several feet deep in water and they report a damage from water and mud in their machine shop. Several houses were flooded in that section and some people left their houses, wading waist deep out of their yards.

The shoulder on the new highway was washed away in a number of places, especially in South Ballinger where sand was thrown up against the pavement.

Rowena reported 4 inches of rain and often 1/2 inches. Ballinger parties who were caught at these places during the storm stated that the largest hail they had ever seen fell in those communities, riddling auto tops and breaking glass out of store buildings and residences.

Paint Rock received one and one-half inches and all the territory between Ballinger and that town covered with heavy rain. Streams where cement dips are used on the highway got as much as half a mile wide and a number of Ballinger people spent the night on this road, struck or unable to cross the swollen streams. One car drove into a stream in an effort to cross and was drowned out, water running in the car over the tops of the doors.

A small amount of large hail fell around Bradshaw and Guion. The hail did little damage but

Fayette County to Bar All Bolters

LA GRANGE, May 3.—The Fayette county Democratic executive committee has decided to bar all candidates for office unless their applications for places are accompanied by affidavits that they supported the Democratic ticket from constable to president in the last general election.

Auto Hits Pole; Woman is Killed

Miss Marshall was thrown out of the car a distance of twenty feet.

HIGHWAY WORK COMPLETED AT MILES FRIDAY EVENING

L. E. Whitman and Co. poured the last cement on highway No. 30 at Miles Friday afternoon. The big mixer was moved off the road after completing the work and all the cement was covered where it will set for ten days or two weeks.

A few miles of shoulder work and the asphalt on the bridges will complete the construction company's work on this stretch of road. Friday's rain brought some damage to the new shoulders along the highway which will have to be repaired by the highway department as soon as employees can get to it. Engineer G. M. Garrett stated Saturday that he expected to put a grader to scraping the trash from the highway Saturday afternoon. A number of miles of cement is covered with trash as a result of high water rushing across it.

Brady Defense Attorneys May Ask for Continuance

DALLAS, May 3.—Defense attorneys were uncertain today whether they would seek a continuance in the second trial for murder of John W. Brady, of Austin, when it is called here Monday. Two defense witnesses are said to be unable to appear. State's attorneys are making final preparations to go to trial.

Brady, formerly a member of the court of civil appeals, is charged with the murder of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, court stenographer, in Austin on November 9.

DALLAS, May 3.—One man having stood between him and a life or death sentence at a previous trial, John W. Brady of Austin is due to get a second chance here starting Monday, to prove that he was insane when he fatally stabbed Miss Lehlia Highsmith.

The first trial of the 59-year-old former judge of the third court of civil appeals on a charge of murder was conducted at Austin late in January and early in February. J. R. Keltner, foreman of the jury, held out for acquittal. Of the other eleven jurors, nine were for the death sentence and two for life imprisonment. The jury was discharged after four days of deliberation. The trial occupied approximately three weeks.

Brady was alleged to have knifed Miss Highsmith, frail 28-year-old stenographer the night of November 9 while thousands of his fellow former students at the University of Texas were celebrating Homecoming. The killing created a sensation in Austin where Brady had been respected as county attorney, assistant attorney general, attorney for the state banking department, lawyer and judge.

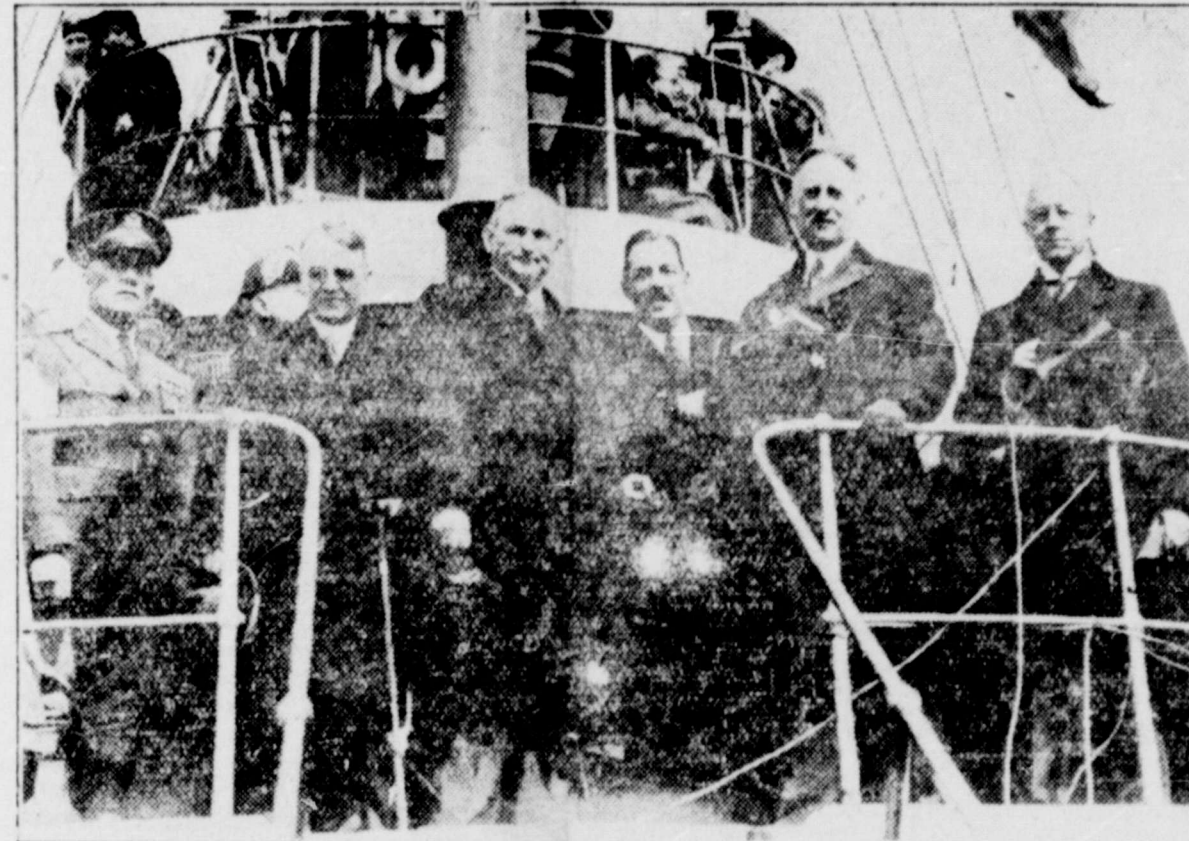

Defense witnesses and attorneys pictured the white-haired former jurist as a man who had become insane through the continued use of alcohol. They said liquor had dulled his mind and had reduced him to a shell of his former self. Brady had been active in the association of former students of the University of Texas and in the Knights of Columbus.

State's attorneys ascribed the slaying to jealousy and offered witnesses who stated that Brady knew right from wrong when he killed his asserted inamorata. They said that Brady realized that he could not hold Miss Highsmith and that he was determined that no one else should. The young woman was killed after she had been brought home by another young man.

Brady asserted he had attended a drinking party with friends at

Recess Taken in Parker Squabble

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The week-end recess brought a surface lull today in the Senate dispute over the nomination of Judge John Parker as associate justice of the United States supreme court but efforts to swing doubtful votes in balloting columns went forward unabated.

A roll call to decide the issue will be taken early next week, probably Monday.

MAKING SURVEY OF WILD ANIMALS IN WEST TEXAS

AUSTIN, May 3.—A survey of Texas in the interest of devising plans for the elimination of rodents and predatory animals is being made by the United States department of agriculture. The survey is being made by W. E. Crouch, senior biologist and assistant in charge of the division of predatory animal and rodent control of the biological bureau.

Special attention to the ravages of rodents and predatory animals in West Texas will be paid by Crouch. He is touring West Texas by motor and is visiting the counties where the large amount of animal destruction has been noted.

The government investigator expected to be in the field on active survey duty for three months. He will visit all of the western states when the department of agriculture maintains offices.

Statistics disclose that 2,534 animals were destroyed in Texas during the first three months of 1930 by government activity. The total included 1,750 coyotes, two mountain lions, 293 bobcats, 269 red wolves and 40 Mexican eagles.

Pecos county has the largest number of predatory animals, according to records, although this county is carrying on an intensive campaign to rid the region of pests.

Forward steps also are being made in the vicinity of El Paso where airplanes are being employed to hunt eagles. Recently a plane carrying H. S. Bernhardt, marksman of the El Paso police department, killed nine of the kings of the air during one trip. The birds were said to have been carrying off more than a dozen lambs and sheep daily.

Hunters who had on foot sought the retreat of the birds were unable to get within shooting distance.

The average reduction will, it is estimated be about $1 a ton.

The reduction to Dallas, Texas, is 86 cents a ton; to Fort Worth $1.05; to Lubbock, 23 cents; and to Sweetwater, $1.20.

For a number of years, Oklahoma coal operators have urged the necessity of lower rates on coal to Texas but find themselves unable to persuade the railroads to grant the reductions, in May, 1928, and appeal was made to the Corporation Commission of Oklahoma.

CONDITIONS IN TENTH DISTRICT IMPROVING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 3.—Business conditions in the Tenth Federal Reserve District during March remained virtually on a par with February, but showing a slump in most lines compared with March, 1929, the monthly review of the Kansas City reserve bank stated.

Justice Precinct No. 7 Shows Gain

The population of justice precinct No. 7 in Runnels county was announced Saturday by W. L. Turner, census supervisor. The number of people living in this precinct, which includes the town of Rowena, is 1,372 as compared with 1,176 for 1920. This is a gain of 196 citizens, or over 16 per cent in the past ten years.

This is the third census report on Runnels county. The first report was for the town of Winters, and two justice precincts have been announced. All of these showed gains and it is predicted that every district in Runnels county will show a considerable increase for the ten-year period.

Ballinger lists were sent to Brownwood last Wednesday evening and as soon as they can be checked by the district office the population of this city will be announced.

Supervisor Turner will telephone The Ledger as soon as the count is official.

FARMERS NEAR EL PASO TO PLANT MORE COTTON

FABENS, May 3.—According to announcement recently made by the New Mexico Agricultural College statisticians can expect an increase in the cotton acreage in the El Paso and Mesilla Valley for 1930. A survey of the farms in this district showed an increase while those farming the smaller acreages showed a decrease of from 8 to 10 per cent.

The survey consisted of questionnaires sent out to farmers in this section. It covered El Paso and Hudspeth counties in Texas and Dona Ana, Sierra, Chaves and Eddy counties in New Mexico. The study showed the decreased acreage came not only on the smaller farms but in the areas where the smallest production was recorded in 1929. Conversely, the increases not only were on the largest farms but in the sections where the greatest returns were made last year.

With the present favorable season and increased acreage a bumper crop for 1930 is now being predicted by cotton men in this section, which has experienced more sunshine than usual.

Church Schools Must Keep Pace Says Dr. Ruff

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, May 3.—The old appeal that the church college should be supported on grounds of denominational loyalty and because it is a safe place for a boy or girl is no longer sufficient, Dr. Robert H. Ruff said in a report prepared for submission to the annual meeting of the Board of Education, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, here today.

The church school, the report declared, must keep pace with the development of state and independently controlled institutions of learning.

Dr. Ruff, who is secretary of promotion and finance of the board, reported that survey is being made to discover on an impartial and factual basis what distinctive contributions Methodist schools and colleges are making to higher education, and through this, to the church and state. The survey is to be followed by a study of alumni and certain Methodist institutions in order to measure the efficiency of church colleges in terms of their products.

Dr. Ruff urged the board to request the General Conference to set apart the month of May each year as Church College Month, and one day in it as College Day, at which time the needs of Methodist educational institutions could be stressed.

He also recommended a church-wide convention of Christian education in 1931 or 1932 and a church-wide essay contest on denominational education.

Endowment Fund of Church Grows

(By Associated Press)
CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., May 3.—An increase of $13,453 in the Southern Presbyterian Church's endowment fund for ministerial relief, making a total of $1,569,570.45, is related in the annual report of the committee on Christian Education and Ministerial Relief to be made to the 70th General Assembly of the church beginning here May 22.

The fund is to be further increased this year.

Loans aggregating $39,175 were made last year to 275 students, 136 of them women, which was four less than the preceding year. Applications from 65 students were declined on account of lack of funds.

Two hundred and fifty-five candidates for the ministry were aided; six were helped in the mission field; and 35 young women were aided in various forms of church service.

In the field of ministerial relief the committee reports aided 258 widows, 53 orphans in 39 delegating the home of 191 ministers, ceased ministers' homes and six commissioner lay workers, an increase over activities of the preceding year. To the homes was renitted $198,168, an average of $401.15 a year for each family aided.

The committee received from living donors for current use $198,206.67; from interest, rent, refunds etc. $105,645.77 for a total income of $303,852.44. This was a decrease of $49,059.47 from the preceding year.

A debt of $26,235 had been carried over from the preceding twelve month, says the report, and on account of a decrease in receipts the committee reports a present debt of $12,180.17.

Dix Plays Role He Created on Stage in Film

Richard Dix, for the first time in his career plays a film role he created on the stage in "Lovin' the Ladies," all-talking comedy romance opening tomorrow afternoon at the Palace Theatre. The role is that of Peter Darby, the electrician, in the William Le Baron stage play, "I Love You," produced on Broadway with Dix in the lead.

In 1918 a playwright and his wife dropped into a Times Square theatre where Richard Dix was playing. They were Mr. and Mrs. William Le Baron, and they were looking for acting material for Le Baron's new play, "I Love You."

Dix was offered a part in "I Love You." He couldn't accept, for he had a more pressing engagement with Uncle Sam's forces overseas and was scheduled to sail within a week.

Dix was not forgotten. Shortly after the war the play was produced and Richard Dix was given the leading role. In the cast with him were a number of war entertainers, Ruth Terry, John Wesley, Gipsy O'Brien and Dianthe Patterson.

The sequel to all this came eleven years later, when William Le Baron had become vice-president in charge of production for Radio Pictures and Richard Dix was the leading male star of the same firm.

"I Love You" was adapted to the talking screen under the title "Lovin' the Ladies." Dix became its star. And William Le Baron once again lent a supervisory hand to the production.

Featured with Dix are Lois Wilson, Allen Kearns, Rita La Roy, Renee Macready and a notable cast of supporting players. The production was directed by Melville Brown, who has taken advantage of every chance to make the production one of the outstanding comedy hits of the year.

Ballinger Boy Scouts returned to their homes Friday night after starting for the annual jamboree at the campsite for this area near Buffalo Gap. The leaders and twenty-five Scouts left here about 4:30 Friday afternoon and a few miles east of Bradshaw ran into a terrific rain. They stopped at Guion for some time but soon saw it would be impossible to continue on and started for Ballinger before the streams became too high to cross.

At Winters only a sprinkle fell and R. E. Bruce stopped there to phone the Scout camp and see if it had rained there. All wires leading to the camp were down and no connection could be had.

The lads returned here about dark giving up all hope of attending the jamboree.

DEMONSTRATES PLANTING OF CLOVER BY AIRPLANE

(By Associated Press)
BEAUMONT, May 3.—If the first demonstration of planting clover by airplane in this section is a fair test of acres of pastures seem to be destined to be seeded in that manner within the next few years.

On March 22, 15 acres of the pasture of Ed Hebert, nine miles from Beaumont, were sowed in lespedeza, or Japanese clover, by airplane. The event was a main feature of a program arranged to interest farmers in the permanent pasture campaign in east Texas being sponsored by the East Texas and Beaumont chambers of commerce.

Five bushels of seed were scattered over 15 acres and today Hebert has a near perfect stand of Japanese clover, that already attained a height of more than four inches.

Economical... YES!

..as proved by many companies using Pontiacs for business

Although the Pontiac Big Six gives you the performance advantages of a 60-horsepower engine and the comfort advantages of big, roomy, substantially built bodies by Fisher—it is one of the most economical cars you can possibly own!

Scores of leading business houses have standardized on Pontiac for this reason. And typical of their experience is this statement from one firm operating forty-four:

"From the standpoint of cost of operation, our experience with the Pontiac Six is that its cost per mile is less than that of any other make or type of car we have ever used. This includes all gasoline, oil, tires, insurance and depreciation."

Buying a Pontiac Big Six means the enjoyment of big car performance at small car cost. You save when you buy—while you are driving—and when you are ready to trade.
