

Youngsters brag about going to school 'stoned' Big Spring teachers 'gotta catch pot on you'

Editor's note: The names of the youngsters interviewed for this article were changed to insure anonymity.

By WALT FINLEY
How many Howard County youngsters have tried drugs?

No one can say for sure. But a Big Spring Herald staffer who went looking found nine without much trouble, the youngest eight, the oldest 16.

(One of a series)

Some say they go to school "stoned". All nine smoke marijuana, some try other drugs, too.

WHAT ARE THEY LIKE? Well, first there is Jim.

Jim, 15, claimed he's smoked pot regularly since he was 10.

Where does a fourth grader get money for marijuana?

Squatting in the weeds of an empty field near his westside Big Spring home, the high school pupil squinted.

"My sister shared stuff with me," he smirked. Few marijuana smokers get "high" alone — it's a social thing. Everybody shares, he said.

Also he'd "smoke up when some bigger guys, you know, got stuff and say, 'Hey, punk, you wanna get messed up with us?'"

Elementary school kids are usually too scared to tell anybody but best friends they've tried any drugs, he said. Discipline, also, is too tight in the elementaries for smoking inside or near the schools during the day, he pointed out.

Now, he's "into" hashish — the concentrated, expensive resin of marijuana, he boasted. "I go to school high most of the time and stay high most of the day. They don't do nothing."

SCHOOL AUTHORITIES "gotta catch pot on you" before they can do anything, he said.

George, 13, is a hefty, short, athletic eighth grader with a swaggering, friendly bravado. On a recent evening, he and Jim had been "doing hash" with George's brother Bob, 14.

Bob has wavy, brown hair and constantly "drums" with hyperactive hands.

George's cheeks were puffy. Bob's eyes were red and dilated. Little that Jim said was coherent. "I'm high right now," announced George.

"I tried to get him to (smoke hash) five years ago," said Bob. "But he wouldn't."

Why wouldn't George try it? "Cuz I was SMART," retorted the eighth grader. "No, 'cuz I was afraid of getting caught."

What changed his mind? "Not getting caught," he laughed.

WHAT WOULD his parents do if they knew he was involved in drug use?

"Put me in a boys home," he snorted.

He first tried marijuana because "I had this friend who came into school high every day so I decided I'm gonna try it so I tried it. I got my own."

Now, he smokes regularly at school, he said.

Could Jim quit any time he wanted to?

Weaving on his feet, he squinted and considered. Yes, he said, he could quit. But, wouldn't he lose his friends? "I don't care," he declared. "If they want to ruin their life, go ahead." The second time Tommy "huffed ink" he saw a vision of the end of the world.

THE 12 YEAR OLD poured an oil-base poster-ink into a plastic bag, inhaled the fumes and "saw Earth pass before my eyes — it's not going to last very long. And I saw the purest music, not really, but in my mind."

Tommy's the youngest of four brothers and sisters who each began testing drugs when they reached teenage. They live with their parents in an upper middle-class neighborhood.

"And I got home," Tommy continued. "My sister says, 'Goddam you, if you've been huffing lighter fluid, I'm gonna kill you.'"

His sister "had done it (ink) and she knew how bad it can get and she really started getting on my head about it," remembered Tommy.

"And I was so stoned, she scared me — I didn't go to sleep that night, afraid I wouldn't wake up. See, when you're high, if somebody puts something in your head, you believe it."

Mark, 13, was scared by the effects of marijuana the first time he smoked it. He smoked again, because "well, I know how to do it and I knew a bunch of friends..."

DOES HE DO IT now because his friends do?

"Well, no, not necessarily," said the 13 year old. "I don't like doing it, but once in a while won't hurt you, I mean it cures cancer cells."

He squinted, unsure.

"Doesn't it? You think it gives you cancer? What does it do?"

He squinted, again.

"One thing I'll never do is be like some guys at school who shoot up in the bathroom. They shoot up heroin. They DO!"

HEROIN? In Big Spring?

"Ninth graders, rough, big ol' guys."

They've actually shot up. They go around school askin' around if you got any money. Man, there are crazy people up there at our school..."

Among the nine kids, only Betty, 15, has parents who know of her fascination with marijuana. She is prohibited from going anywhere but to school and can talk with friends only in the presence of a parent.

A few evenings ago, she sat on a street curb in front of her house and kept an eagle-eye for her father in the garage — who thought she was asleep in her room.

"Pot don't lead to other drugs," she said. "If you can let it get out of hand — if you can't get your highs off of pot anymore and go to other things. After awhile, it takes more and more to get off."

She smokes daily, she said.

Article quoted police on drugs

Hiscritical of news story

By BOB BURTON
Superintendent Lynn Hise levelled some criticism at the Big Spring Herald Thursday, alleging "inexperienced reporting" in connection with an article on drugs in Wednesday's paper.

School board members whizzed through their agenda. They decided to drop insurance coverage on Kate Morrison and South Ward schools. They appointed a textbook committee. They tabled an item on personal leave for school district employees.

But most discussion followed a complaint filed indirectly with the Herald by Superintendent Lynn Hise. Hise, in reference to an article in Wednesday's newspaper, told the board, "The article cast reflection on teachers and administrative staff that we were not trying to do anything about the drug problem in the high school."

"We've never denied that we have a drug problem in the high school," continued Hise, "but that is because the high school reflects the community."

"I took no umbrage at Mr. Kissinger," the superintendent finished. "He is a very dedicated officer. There has been no lack of cooperation between the high school and the police department."

The article which Hise referred to was written on Sgt. Kissinger's address to the Big Spring Rotary Club in which he was quoted as saying, "Our own hands (the police's) are tied all the way" in reference to drug enforcement at the high school.

Hise quoted a mother of two high school students, who told him that her children had informed her the drug problem had lessened in recent years.

"We are following TEA guidelines," he told the board, waving a pamphlet. "Studies have shown that the scare film and show-and-tell kind of drug program can actually increase drug use."

Hise also objected to the size of the headline used in the story.

He presented the board with a copy of the school policy on assisting drug enforcement officers. (See below).

Board member Delnor Poss disagreed with Hise, saying that it was a matter of interpretation whether the article implied the school was doing nothing or whether the article was directed toward community interest.

"It sounded to me as if they were trying to get the whole community to help in a drug program," he said.

Board president Roy Watkins adjourned the meeting, although some board members remained to hear a presentation by Assistant Superintendent Don Crockett on the Tax Appraisal Board meeting Wednesday.

Below is the school district's policy on assistance of law enforcement officers. It was proposed to the board by former Superintendent Emmett McKenzie and adopted by the board February 10, 1975.

1. On request of law enforcement authorities, school records will be furnished only if such records are public in nature and not protected by law. Before furnishing such records, the principal will attempt to notify a parent or guardian of any student concerning the facts then known to such principal.

2. Except in case of emergency such as unrestrained violence, school personnel will not actively assist law enforcement officers in investigation procedures such as interrogation, detention, restraint or search, either of the student's person, his locker or belongings.

3. Law enforcement officers will be requested to present themselves at the principal's office and advise the principal or his assistant of their presence and purpose prior to commencement of any investigative procedures on school grounds, including each of the actions described in the following paragraph.

4. Prior to taking any action at the request of a law enforcement officer which would involve the arrest, detention, interrogation or search of any student, his locker or belongings (except in the case of emergency as indicated above), the principal will attempt to notify a parent or guardian of the student of the facts then known to such principal.

5. Subject to all of the other provisions hereof, the principal will, at the request of a law enforcement officer, request the student to report to the principal's office, provided school personnel will not, in any instance, arrest, detain or forcefully require the student to submit himself

'Mystery man' testimony

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A defense witness in the Cullen Davis murder trial testified today he saw an unidentified man enter the Davis mansion before midnight Aug. 2, 1976, and that man was not the millionaire murder defendant.

Uewayne Polk told the jury he saw the man put something on his head before he entered the mansion where two persons were shot to death and two others wounded.

The surprise defense witness, a co-owner of a Fort Worth nursery, said he went to the mansion that night to recover some plants for which he said he had not been paid.

Polk said he had tried several times to collect $677 from the defendant's estranged wife, Priscilla, but had been unsuccessful.

to any form of criminal investigation.

6. Provided, however, the policies outlined herein pertain only to investigations in connection with alleged criminal violations and do not amend other school policies authorizing or requiring certain actions in connection with disciplinary actions. In the event an investigation initiated by school personnel for disciplinary purposes reveals a criminal violation, the principal or his assistant will first attempt to call a parent or guardian and advise such parent or guardian of all facts then known to such principal and immediately thereafter will notify the appropriate law enforcement agency.

Coahoma man is killed

SNYDER — Ricky Jones, 18-year-old Coahoma resident, was killed Thursday evening in a road construction accident north of Snyder.

Jones and another construction worker, Tina Merrill, were filling two pneumatic rollers with water when one lunged forward, trapping Jones between the rollers, according to Gary Brewer, Department of Public Safety patrolman who conducted the investigation.

The rollers were part of a large asphalt-laying machine. Jones had, according to Brewer, stepped in between two such machines when the accident occurred. The machines were being used to resurface part of US 84 near Snyder.

Jones was killed instantly. The accident occurred about 5:15 p.m., 2.3 miles north of Snyder.

Jones was employed by Price Construction Co., which maintains offices in Snyder and Big Spring. Ms. Merrill was unhurt in the mishap. Scurry County Justice of Peace Bobby Goodwin ruled it an accidental death.

Services will be 3 p.m. Saturday at the Griffen Funeral Home Chapel in Hobbs, N.M. and burial will be in Hobbs Cemetery.

He was born Nov. 8, 1959 in Big Spring, and married Terry Womack Sept. 2, 1977 in Hobbs, N.M.

He is survived by his wife Terry, of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Jones, Hobbs, N.M.; two brothers, Randy Jones and Robby Jones of Hobbs, N.M.; and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Allison, Coahoma.

Residents here are urged to donate blood Saturday

Big Springers will have the opportunity to donate blood from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Company, 501 Runnels.

According to Ray Perkins, director of donor development, Big Spring has fallen behind in meeting the community's needs for blood.

"It is not an emergency yet, but it could soon become one," he said.

The West Texas Blood Service, which sponsors the drive, operates out of San Angelo and accepts donations each Monday at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

The service provides blood for 41 hospitals in West Texas.

Blood is stored in each of these 41 hospitals, including those in Big Spring. But patients use up an average of 1,200 units of blood each month, so the need to resupply is a constant one.

Those 18 through 65 years of age are permitted to donate blood, and 17-year-olds may do so with parental consent. Unfortunately, however, only about 17 of 100 donors are healthy enough to give blood.

The iron content of blood, blood pressure, pulse and temperature are all checked before a donation is permitted.

For those who have a rare blood type, a donation is more urgent. The AB-negative type is rarest, appearing in only 5 per cent of the population, according to officials.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Sent home
Q. I recently saw a high school student with a four-letter word printed across his T-shirt. Why was he allowed to remain in school?
A. According to Superintendent Lynn Hise, such clothing does not fulfill the equivalent of "appropriate dress" under the school dress code. The student who wears inappropriate clothing is sent home to change.

Calendar: Football galore
TODAY
The final game of the season for most area high school football teams includes Big Spring at San Angelo Central, Stanton at Shallowater, Coahoma at Merkel, Brownfield at Snyder.

The Colorado City Wolves will play Stamford Bulldogs in Stamford. If they win, the Wolves will be the District 6-AA football champions.

SATURDAY
The Howard County library will present three free films from 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. The films are "Tuktu and the Ten Thousand Flames," "Cheetah" and "In Beaver Valley."

SUNDAY
Whitten Art Show at 2809 Goliad, 2 to 4 p.m.

Offbeat: No candidates, nothing new BURGOON, Ohio (AP) — There are no candidates for Burgoon Village Council this year.

"It's nothing new," said Glenn Weyant, mayor of the community of 240 residents.

"They just don't want to bother filing petitions so we'll wait until after election (Nov. 8) and appoint the same ones back on the council."

There are five vacancies to be filled on the council.

"The councilmen get $4 a meeting and we only meet every few months," said Weyant, who's been on the job — at $60 a year — for 22 years.

"There just isn't that much to do."

Each house has its own septic system and well and the town gave up having its own police chief when the state started requiring schooling for law enforcement officers.

"The sheriff's deputies get through here once or twice a month," said Weyant. "We don't need much. We don't have any trouble."

TV's best: 'Intimate strangers'
"Intimate Strangers" is a look at a battered wife and the husband whose frustration and anger emerges in cruelty. Sally Struthers and Dennis Weaver play these characters in a well-written script which is sympathetic to both characters. The show starts at 8 p.m. on Channel 8.

Inside: Feminist admits guilt
A STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION member has accused a feminist leader of wanting to indoctrinate high school pupils, and she cheerfully pleaded guilty. See p. 3A.

A CONGRESSIONAL conference committee framing a compromise national energy bill is considering a ban on decorative outdoor gas lights as a way to conserve scarce natural gas. See p. 12A.

Outside: Low 70s
Skies will be clear through Saturday with warm afternoons and cool evenings expected by weather experts. High temperature today should reach the upper 60s, low tonight in the mid 30s and high Saturday in the low 70s. Winds will be light and variable.

No one injured in 18-car wreck near Colorado City

Miraculously, no one was hurt after 18 railroad cars left the track at a crossing on FM 1983, just west of Colorado City at 6:25 a.m. today.

The train was part of the Texas and Pacific MoPac Railroad and was west bound from Fort Worth to Big Spring.

At this time the cause of the massive derailment is not definitely known, but it is speculated that it was due to draw bar failure.

According to Dan Anthony, Train Master in Big Spring, it was fortunate no dangerous commodities were being carried by the train.

The four men who crewed the train are out of Fort Worth, and stated they were moving along the tracks at 46 to 50 miles per hour when the accident occurred.

According to Anthony, total damage estimates to tracks, railroad equipment, and commodities carried by the train could be anywhere between $50,000 and $100,000.

Fortunately, many of the cars which derailed were empty. Several which derailed were carrying coal and wall boards, and paper rolls.

Officials at the scene say they hope to be finished clearing up the track and road, and making necessary repairs by midnight tonight.

FIRING UP — The flare of his lighter is reflected in the glasses and face of AFL-CIO President George Meany Thursday as he lights one of his ever-present cigars. Meany was taking part in a news conference announcing that the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union is suing J.P. Stevens & Co., charging that the nation's second largest textile firm conspired with others to keep unions from organizing in the South.

Sterility decision
MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Dow Chemical Co said today its male employees exposed to the fungicide DBCP, suspected as a cause of sterility, did not appear to be less fertile than other males. Sperm counts from Dow employees here who were associated with the production of DBCP were about the same as sperm counts from a group of workers who were not exposed, Dow said.

Both groups of men showed sperm counts "within the normal distribution pattern for sperm counts," a Dow statement said. DBCP, dibromochloropropane, is a fungicide used on pests such as worms which attack root crops. The domestic makers of the chemical, Dow and Shell Chemical Corp., stopped manufacture in September after reports of sterility or low fertility among employees of Occidental Chemical Corp. in Lathrop, Calif., who handled DBCP.

Dow shifted production of DBCP from Midland to Magnolia, Ark., two years ago. Shell made it in Alabama. Federal authorities later drastically cut back the permitted use of DBCP on crops.

Dow collected sperm from 249 workers who had been exposed to DBCP here and 77 who had not. All were volunteers, Dow said.

"In both cases, two-thirds of the employees tested at or above 40 million sperm per milliliter of semen," said Dr. David B. Johns, medical director of Dow's Michigan Division, which made the DBCP. A milliliter is a cubic centimeter, about 6 percent of a cubic inch. Johns said physicians consider 40 to 50 million sperm per milliliter normal. About 63 percent of both groups had counts above 50 million. Of the exposed workers, 32.1 percent had counts of less than 40 million and 6.8 percent less than 10 million, compared to 32.5 percent and 6.5 percent of the non-exposed workers.

Dow said it intended to see how work histories of individual workers were associated with sperm counts. Results will be given to government agencies, Dow said.

Measles in Texas
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A sample study shows that one out of five Texas women are susceptible to rubella, or German measles, says the State Health Department. "This report is significant — and a bit frightening," Dr. Charles Webb, chief of the Bureau of Communicable Disease Services, said Thursday. If rubella strikes a pregnant woman in the first three months of pregnancy, Webb noted in a statement, it can cripple or kill the unborn child. He said blood samples of 1,025 women, ages 16 to 30, were sent to the department's laboratories for evaluation. A preliminary report showed that 201 of the women, or 19.7 percent, were susceptible to rubella.

"The young females tested in the pilot study are in the childbearing age," Webb said, "and are indicative of the picture on a statewide basis. We apparently have a large reservoir of young women in the prime childbearing years who are unprotected against rubella."

"Although Texas has among the highest rubella immunization levels for pre-school and school children in the nation, recent rubella outbreaks on college campuses create an unfavorable situation," Webb said.

He said most college coeds — as well as other young women just out of high school — were too old to receive rubella vaccine when it first came on the market in 1969. The health department's policy, he said, has been not to give rubella vaccine to females who are 12 years of age or older because of the possibility they might be pregnant.

Webb urged young adult females to contact their physicians to see if they are susceptible to rubella, and if so, to be vaccinated. "Protection against rubella is so easy to get," he said, "and it could last your own child a lifetime."

Veterans here reminisce

Nationalism peaked when war started

BY BILL WERRELL
On October 14, 1977, Governor Dolph Briscoe issued an official memorandum calling upon all Texas citizens to observe Friday, November 11th, as Veterans Day. On this same day, 59 years ago, an armistice to end "the War to End All Wars" was signed by the allies and representatives of Germany. The Great War was over. The war, which had promised to be "over by Christmas" had stretched on for four long years of events only described as remorseless, terrible and gruesome. The era of the "Germanly war" was over, as witnessed by the thousands upon thousands of unmarked graves littering the European countryside. The war had started much the way others had; with expectations of a fast, and perhaps more importantly, glorious victory forthcoming. Nationalism in the United States had never, and never would reach as high a peak as it did when the call went out for recruits in April 1917. Far now from such innocence and optimism, trained in cynicism and draft dodging, by the virtually continuous war since 1936, it is hard to glorify any event,

Runoff dates

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe set runoff election dates Friday for the four legislative contests resulting from the Nov. 8 special elections. Two will be Dec. 3 and two more on Dec. 10. On Dec. 3 the vacancy created by the resignation of Rep. Eddie Bernice Johnson, D-Dallas, will be filled either by C.B. Bunkley III or Lanell Cofer. On Dec. 10 will be the runoff for state representative between Mary Jane Bode, former top aide to Attorney General John Hill, and Austin attorney Lee Yeakel. The vacancy was created by the resignation of Rep. Sarah Weddington, D-Austin. Absentee voting in the Dec. 3 elections will begin Nov. 23 and end the 29th. Absentee voting in the Dec. 10 elections is for the Nov. 30-Dec. 6 period.

Retired judge is 'workaholic'

CHICAGO (AP) — When it came time to retire at 77, Judge Harry Hershenson rented a downtown office and went into high gear. Hershenson is a workaholic, a full-time volunteer. "This community has been good to me," said the 78-year-old, former Circuit Court judge from behind his cluttered desk. "It just seems right that I pay it back." Upon retirement last year, Hershenson kicked in his own money and set up an office. Now it's business as usual, every workday of the week, trying to ease the way for the blind, for struggling students, for the aged and for seemingly endless others. Hershenson had to retire a few months ago because of his age. "At that time I had offers from three or four major firms dealing in civil litigation and personal injury work," he said. "But I turned them down. I don't need to accumulate money. With my pension we've got enough to live on," he said. Instead, he's a director of about 15 service groups and is a member of twice that number. Hershenson enjoys talking on about his favorites. "We just finished coordinating the Chicago appearance of the Israel Ballet to benefit the state of Israel," he said.

Mid Continent now in chain

The Mid Continent Inn of Big Spring recently joined Best Western, largest and fastest growing lodging chain in the world. Best Western now has 1,783 motels, hotels and resorts in the United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Mexico, Guatemala and the Caribbean. Over three hundred properties are expected to become part of the chain in 1977. The Mid Continent Inn joins an organization whose phenomenal growth is based on its reputation for providing travelers with friendly service, personal attention, and clean, quality accommodations at a reasonable price. Unlike other chains whose properties are similar in design and concept, Best Westerns are all independently owned and operated. As the newest Best Western, the 61-guestroom Mid Continent Inn will benefit from services offered by the chain which either boost room occupancy or lower operating costs: a $3.4 million international advertising program, an international toll-free reservations system, wholesale purchasing programs, lower credit card discounts, reduced insurance premiums, and group-tour packaging promotions. By joining Best Western a property is entitled to be listed in Best Western's Road Atlas & Travel Guide and Road Maps which are used by over five million travelers annually. Mid Continent Inn is located on the IS 20 bypass east of the Lamesa highway immediately north of Big Spring.

Two from here at conclave

Two staff members of the Colorado River Municipal Water District participated this week in a weather modification update at Austin. John Girdusz, CRMWD meteorologist, addressed the conference on economic effects of cloud seeding on agriculture, particularly in the target area of the district's modification project, also downwind from it. Also taking part in the symposium on technology, operations, research, socioeconomic and legal aspects was R.A. Scholing, coordinator for the weather modification program staged by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, Texas Water Development Board and the District.

Liquid protein warning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government today asked 29 manufacturers and distributors of liquid protein to put warning labels on the controversial diet product immediately. The request by the Food and Drug Administration came after the FDA said it believes the diet played a role in the heart attack deaths of 10 women between the ages of 25 and 44 who had been on liquid protein diets. In a letter to the companies, the FDA asked them to give prominent display to the following warning: "Do not use for weight reduction or maintenance without medical supervision. Do not use without medical advice if you are taking prescription medications. Not for use by infants, children, or pregnant or nursing women." Liquid protein is sold over-the-counter in pharmacies and health food stores under numerous brand names. It usually sells for $9 to $12 for a quart bottle. Dieters usually are told to drink only about five ounces, or 300 calories, of the substance daily, and to eat little or nothing else. People normally consume from 2500 to 3000 calories daily. The FDA says the product is a dark syrupy liquid consisting of low quality proteins at least partially broken down or "digested" into amino acids, the protein products used by the body. They are laced with artificial flavoring to conceal the taste of the uncurd cowhide and beef tendon which form the basis of the liquid. The FDA letter, signed by its top compliance official, asks the 29 firms to "advise us promptly" if they will comply with the voluntary warning.

Trustees will view copier

STANTON — The Stanton School Board will meet 7 p.m. Monday in the School Administration Building. Among 10 items on the agenda is a demonstration by a representative of the 3-M Company. The presentation will include methods of copying school records. Kenneth Holcombe will be present at the meeting to discuss the possibilities of additional water for the Elementary School playground. In other business, board members will: —discuss the 1976-77 school year audit report with George Thorburn. —consider approval of pledge securities. —consider approval of the 1977-78 Textbook Committee. —open bids on the sale of a 1970 GMC school bus. —discuss insurance for the primary school and unemployment insurance. —discuss the building program for the high school.

Thieves steal variety of tools from truck
Police spent a relatively quiet Thursday. Mark Williams, 4423 Cline, reported that burglars ripped off a variety of tools from his Williams Advertising Company truck while it was parked in the lot of the Ramada Inn Wednesday night. Value of the tools was estimated at $75.

Deaths

H.B. (SANDY) STANALAND
H.B. (Sandy) Stanaland, 63, died at 3:30 p.m., Thursday following heart surgery in a Lubbock hospital. Services will be at 2:30 p.m., Saturday in the Nalley-Pickle-Rosewood Chapel here. Officiating will be Eugene Cardinal, former minister of the Birdwell Lane Church of Christ. Mr. Stanaland was a long-time member of that church. Burial will follow in Trinity Memorial Park. He was born Oct. 21, 1914, in Tuscola, Tex. He married Miss Alberta Hyso July 7, 1939, in Abilene.

Texans may collect from Merrill Lynch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investors in a Texas computer company who say they were fraudulently lured into the investment by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc. will receive $1.6 million in compensation from the brokerage firm. Merrill Lynch, while not admitting the allegations, agreed Thursday to settle a Securities and Exchange Commission civil complaint over the matter by making the payment and accepting a censure for the firm and some of its agents. The SEC, after a four-year inquiry, said Merrill Lynch should have known better than to push the stock of Scientific Control Corp., a small Dallas-based computer company. Before Scientific filed a petition for an arrangement under the Bankruptcy Act in late 1969, it never enjoyed a profitable year, the SEC said. But in 1968 and early 1969, the commission said, Merrill Lynch promoted it intensely, rated it as "buy-hold," and described it as a "speculative" investment for customers looking for "growth." The SEC did not contend that a stock firm is liable for losses by its customers. But it did maintain that a company should not promote a stock intensely unless it has done adequate research on it.

Stanaland

He moved to Big Spring in 1946 and for many years was associated with local car dealerships as service manager. He was manager of the Bill Wilson Oil Co., at the time of his death. Survivors include his wife, of the home; two sons, Dale Stanaland, Midland, and Lynn Stanaland, Dallas; a daughter, Mrs. Susan Barry, San Antonio; and three granddaughters. Also surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Ruby Van Cleeve, El Paso, Mrs. Millie Graham, Perryton, Mrs. Naomi Vaughn, Abilene, and Mrs. Lorena Crocker, Texico, N.M.; and a brother, S.L. Stanaland, Abilene. Pallbearers will be Tom Guin, Bill Wilson, Jerry Price, Virgil Bennett, Howard Sherrill and Charley Hedgcoth.

Joe D. Wood

Joe D. Wood, 76, died at 9:50 p.m., Thursday in a local hospital. Graveside services will be at 3 p.m., Saturday in Trinity Memorial Park. Officiating will be Jack McCall, minister of the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ. Mr. Wood was born Jan. 16, 1901, in Laneville, Tex. He was a former cafe owner in Big Spring but in recent years had resided in Big Spring since 1924, when he moved here from Laneville. He married Bessie Hale Oct. 29, 1975. He was a member of the Church of Christ. Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Burrell (Jean) Fortenberry, El Reno, Okla.; a son, Donald J. Wood, Monroe, La.; five grandchildren, including Billy Don Holiday, Big Spring; three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Bowen, Longview, Mrs. Susie Bittle, Bloomington, Cal., and a sister named Lucy Faye, whose address was not supplied to Nalley Pickle Funeral Home; and two brothers, Jess Wood, Gladewater, and Ben Wood, Louisiana. He was preceded in death by a daughter, Dorothy Marie Holiday, Dec. 19, 1966, and two brothers.

Feminist leader wants to indoctrinate students

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A State Board of Education member has accused a feminist leader of wanting to indoctrinate high school pupils, and she cheerfully pleaded guilty.

The exchange came as the board heard final protests Thursday against volumes recommended by the State Textbook Committee for use in the public schools. The board votes on the $30 million adoption Saturday.

Twiss Butler of Nassau Bay, representing the National Organization for Women, objected vehemently to "Clerical Office Procedures," published by South-Western Publishing Co.

Ms. Butler said the book's basic message was that "men will be bosses and women will serve them."

"This book teaches them, if not actually fear of the boss, at least a great deal of crawling subservience," she said.

Board member Jack Binion of Abilene, asserted to Ms. Butler, "You're trying to indoctrinate kids with a doctrine."

"Yes I am, one which has to do with fairness and equality of opportunity for the individual, which I think reflects the laws of our country," she replied.

South-West's representative, Henry Ransom of Cincinnati, said, "In no place in the textbook do we talk down to women or do we lower rate them. In fact, I think as you read through the text that we promote women."

Anne Droste of Fort Worth said a seventh grade Texas history and geography book, "Texas, the Land and its People," published by Hendrick-Long Publishing Co., was "childish and inaccurate."

"The Anglo is painted as land hungry and as one who resorted to threats and bribes in order to maintain political control," she said, "whereas blacks, Mexican-Americans and women are the oppressed minority."

Mrs. Droste said the "good guy" in the book was the federal government while "businessmen, the railroads and oil companies are painted as the bad guys with black hats."

While acknowledging the book was written at a fifth grade level for poor readers, she said it didn't have to consist of "simple choppy statements that are reminiscent of 'See Jane Run'."

"It is cluttered with such prophetic statements as 'One of the most dangerous places is in an automobile,'" Mrs. Droste said.

Jim Long, the publisher's representative, stood on the company's written reply but cited the scholarly credentials of the authors, including Ben Procter of Texas Christian University, a Harvard Ph.D.

The perennial subject of evolution came up in several protests against second-year biology books published by Addison-Wesley Publishing Co.

Phyllis Kester of Baytown said the works show a "lack of objectivity" concerning the "molecule to man idea" and ignores the opinions of scientists who disagree with the Darwinian theory.

"This book is the obvious attempt of someone who having accepted evolution on faith is now trying to make general evolution appear to be scientific . . . and make his case for evolution look as good as possible to the uninformed and unsuspecting students," she said.

Fire deaths in League City

LEAGUE CITY, Tex. (AP) — A coast guardsman and two of his daughters died Thursday night as a fire destroyed their home. Three other persons were injured.

The dead were identified as David R. Massie, 29, and daughters, Lisbeth Faye, 18 months, and Patricia Lynn, 3.

Mrs. Evonne Dee Massie, 23, and the third daughter, Cathrine, 2 months, were reported in stable condition at Clear Lake Hospital.

Steve Johnson, 29, a police officer, was treated for smoke inhalation after attempting to rescue members of the family.

Drug abuse begins at home

The tall gray-haired police sergeant was asked several times what was the main thing Big Spring parents could do to help with the local drug abuse problem.

Each time, Sgt. Ed Kissinger replied: "Clean out your medicine chest at home."

Kissinger, who was speaking to the Big Spring Rotary Club earlier this week, is the police department's safety education officer. It falls his duty to administer the police department's drug education program.

And his message was clear: Drug abuse begins at home.

HE SAID ONE of the most serious aspects of the drug problem in Big Spring is the trend toward drugs being used by younger and younger children. The problem has drifted down from the high school into the junior highs, and even into the lower grades in some instances, he said.

Most of the little kids who are getting drugs are taking them from medicine cabinets at home, the police sergeant said.

They dump the pills into their cigar boxes and gather around to try "red ones" and "blue ones," he said.

"They have no idea what they're getting,"

Kissinger said it was natural that children would be drawn to drugs because they see drugs abused by their parents at home. Parents take a pill to get them started in the morning and another to get them to sleep at night," he said.

"Children are little monkeys. Whatever they see at home, they think it's all right to try themselves."

Some children are not smart enough to know that alcohol should not be mixed with many types of drugs, and the sergeant said that there is some mixing of alcohol and drugs, which he described as a "way to end it all right quick."

KISSINGER EMPHASIZED that the police alone cannot solve the drug abuse problem here. In fact, he contended that in many cases the individual citizen can help more than a policeman.

He said that young people are often turned off by the authority that the policeman represents.

Obviously, one of the biggest needs which the community has is a "pooling of effort," as the sergeant termed it, or a cooperation between law enforcement authorities, school officials, civic groups and citizens to combat this drug problem.

Kissinger cited one example where a parent refused to believe that his young daughter had been involved with drugs even in the face of overwhelming evidence that she had.

Meanwhile, many of our youth, and even our children, keep on playing a most dangerous game which Sgt. Kissinger called "capsule roulette."

Market is firm

Around the rim

Bob Burton

Big Spring continues to surprise people. I have read the Environmental Impact Statement (in part) which predicted we would be in dire straits by now without Webb. I heard the testimony given to the Air Force in the high school auditorium that this town would be a ghost town without the base. It hasn't happened.

What has happened is something of a surprise. Business has been generally brisk.

So brisk, in fact, that some of the special considerations possibly given the town begin to look rather unnecessary and even unfair.

TAKE, FOR EXAMPLE, the housing market here. Real estate men were on their knees before the Air Force insisting that the loss of the base would kill them entirely. Instead, they have been doing well. One agent explained why the market stayed so resilient.

"The Environmental Impact Statement predicted a 20 per cent population loss, a 16 per cent economic drop, and 13 per cent unemployment. Instead, the civil service and military retirees have not moved out of the city, a lot of people have taken advantage of the market to trade up and people have actually moved to Big Spring to take advantage of the housing situation."

He continued, "There is not too much surplus in the market right now. A large part of the surplus is the supply of houses, and that is where I see the Capehart housing playing a very big role. It is our ace-in-the-hole."

According to City Manager Harry Nagel, the Webb Steering committee requested that HUD, which handled the military houses as they were vacated, give consideration to the local housing market.

What seemed to be unfair was that the housing market, at least to my eyes, seemed to be tight. Houses for several persons who were looking were hard to find.

Was HUD holding houses off the market and creating, in the light of the good real estate market, an artificial price in Big Spring?

According to the agent, and according to Gene Whitney with the Lubbock HUD office, no. The agent said, "I think the people who are looking and can't find anything are looking for a pot of gold. Housing prices here are below the national average, and falling behind as the average house rises at five to 15 per cent each year.

"THERE IS NO question that the price of owning a home has outstripped the average homeowner, but here it has still stayed below the national average."

Whitney said, "As far as I know, there is no policy here of holding houses off the market. We will sometimes hold a house while it is repaired, but we have no official policy that I know of for keeping houses off the Big Spring market in response to economic conditions."

So for the houses handled by HUD, there appears to be no pressure to keep the price high. According to Whitney, approximately 60 houses have passed through HUD hands, approximately 20 of which have been resold.

Capehart housing represents another issue. Nagel said that Capehart could be sold en masse, all at once, to one bidder. When and if that happens, the probability of part of it staying off the market to avoid a glut becomes probable — unless there is a large industry, hungry for housing, moving into Big Spring.

For the present, however, the market remains sound, something not many people foresaw when Webb decided to close up shop.

Handling of Helms

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — When a balky federal judge threatened to upset the government's plea bargaining agreement with Richard Helms, Justice Department lawyers declared their intent to proceed with a 10-count perjury indictment against the former CIA director — a final example of the Carter administration's ambivalence in handling the Helms affair.

Months of indecision over what to do about Helms were followed by more months of plea bargaining. Yet, when the chance selection of an obstreperous judge threatened to upset the agreement, the administration was prepared to do what no great power has ever done: the self-destructive prosecution of its own chief of intelligence for doing his duty.

THAT ONLY HEIGHTENS the mystery of President Carter's own attitude, toward Helms in particular and the intelligence service in general. Contrary to his public statements, Mr. Carter was deeply involved in the decision to prosecute and then to avoid a trial. Yet Mr. Carter never gave a hint of how he truly regarded the case. "The President was a sphinx," one insider told us.

The President is by no means wholly responsible for the humiliation visited on Dick Helms to conclude his distinguished career in public service. The notion of bringing federal charges against him for not revealing to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee covert operations in Chile by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) was started by President Ford's Attorney General, Edward Levi.

The inflexible Dr. Levi could not be convinced that Helms was not only following his oath of secrecy. Griffin Bell, Levi's successor in the Carter administration, was considered a more practical man. Bell, however, ran into three hard obstacles against dropping the case.

First, aggressive young lawyers in the Justice Department had been working on the Helms case for 18 months. To set aside their work would bring charges of "cover-up," foulest of crimes since Watergate.

SECOND, AN IMPLACABLE stand that Helms must be prosecuted to set an example for the intelligence community was taken by Sen. Frank Church, author of the dubious theory that the CIA has been a "rogue elephant" out of control. Church was well-qualified to mobilize the liberal community in protest to a "cover-up."

Third, and perhaps most important, was quiet support for Church from his erstwhile Senate colleague in harassing the CIA: Vice President Walter Mondale. Indeed, the Helms case illustrates why Mondale is one Vice President who should be taken seriously.

No opposite arguments came from officials who might be expected to urge dropping the case (such as CIA director Stansfield Turner or Secretary of State Cyrus Vance). Thus it became clear during the summer that Helms would be prosecuted one way or another, setting up the real struggle within the administration.

Church's insisted on severe punishment of Helms, even if it led to an open trial, was backed quietly by the Vice President. Influential friends of Helms, descending on the President and Attorney General with pleas for clemency, came to regard Mondale as their major problem.

Should patients get test results?

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Annual physicals are pretty expensive. My question is, why don't doctors give patients the results of blood tests, etc. My doctor, whom I like and respect, does not tell me these results. People nowadays are pretty knowledgeable about health matters. Yet the nurse even refuses to tell me my blood pressure. This seems a bit much. What do you think? — E.M.K.

If you are a regular reader of this column you know how I feel about the need for communication in matters related to health. Yet I can't agree with you on this one. I think there are more good reasons for not supplying detailed test results than there are for doing so.

In the first place, results of a complete blood test, for example, would probably be more confusing than informative, no matter how knowledgeable the average patient was. Such results are meaningless to the person who cannot interpret them properly. That means interpreting them as they apply to the patient's specific ailment. A high level of this or that blood component need not be significant. It can be temporary, perhaps to be expected in a given ailment.

Do you feel competent to do this kind of analyzing? If not, then of what value would such information be? Not too much.

If all is "normal," that is enough said. If a doctor feels there is some seriously abnormal reading, he will discuss it with you and try to find ways to correct matters.

The nurse can take your blood pressure, perhaps tell you if it is normal. If it isn't, it's the doctor's job to discuss it with you.

Sure, it's your test, your results, your money. But you're not paying so much for the figures on a chart as for the doctor's professional interpretation of them.

There's no dark conspiracy of silence involved here, just common sense medical practice.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'm always looking in your column for something about platelets. Why do some people have too few in their blood, and others, like myself, too many? — Mrs. C.A.

Platelets are tiny blood particles that tend to stick to areas of damaged tissue — clot. Another name for them is "thrombocytes," a Greek term

Crash suggested

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Two years ago, we reported that the nuclear industry was higning lethal radioactive materials around the country in vulnerable casks. Trucks, trains and planes carried the deadly cargo into heavily populated areas.

The shipments were authorized by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission which has spent millions, meanwhile, trying to develop a safer nuclear container. Much of the effort has been devoted to a feud with the rival Energy Research and Development Administration over safety standards.

INTERNAL DOCUMENTS SHOW that the multi-million-dollar research so far, has been a comedy of errors. For awhile, the commission toyed with the idea of crashing a Boeing 707 to test the durability of a sample container. Officials even approached the Pentagon brass about procuring two suitable planes for the test crashes.

This scheme was abandoned by less venturesome souls, who felt it might become too expensive to wreck perfectly good jet airplanes. Less spectacular tests, however, were conducted.

Last April, the internal reports show that a supposedly "failsafe" cask was badly damaged during a routine test. Hasty repairs were made, but the cask also failed a second round of examinations.

The delay provoked Commissioner Richard Kennedy into writing an exasperated memo. After two years, he complained, there was still "no acceptable design package" for the nuclear casks.

Footnote: A spokesman assured us that the agency plans to have completed its final container standards by "the end of the year." Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y., has led a congressional effort to improve nuclear safety standards.

CARTER vs. PRESS — Lobbyists wishing to rub elbows with White House insiders paid $250 apiece the other day to hear presidential pollster Patrick Caddell answer their questions about his eminent client, Jimmy Carter. Caddell was the featured speaker at a private fundraising dinner for Rep. Andy Ireland, D-Fla. Over filet mignon, brandy and expensive cigars, they bombarded the pollster with questions.

meaning "clotting cells." Obviously, if there are too few, a person will bleed easily from minor bruises. Causes include infection, allergy, drug reaction, and faulty platelet production in the bone marrow.

acknowledged that Carter has never been one of the media's "favorite people." Added the pollster: "They're tough on each other."

Caddell said that Carter is an "activist" president, who has taken unpopular but necessary stands on controversial issues. The pollster warned, for example, that the public doesn't yet comprehend the full impact of the energy crisis.

ELECTRIC CHARGE — A Texas firm has been falsifying government statistics in an effort to peddle its electric vans.

The company, Jet Industries, has been ballyhooing the results of tests conducted last year by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. But the figures that Jet has been promoting bear little resemblance to the NASA tests.

For example, Jet claims its electric van can travel 101 miles at 31 miles per hour without a battery recharge, while NASA found it could go only 70 miles at 20 miles per hour. And NASA never even performed some tests that Jet publicized in its promotional material.

Jet's president, William Bales, insisted he didn't know his figures were wrong. But he conceded that his promotional material included results of tests done by his company, not NASA, although this is not clearly indicated in its sales literature. Bales told our reporter Valerie Strauss: "We didn't mean to deceive or mislead anyone."

Meanwhile, an Energy Department official has been helping to promote the Jet van on the basis of the false figures. Walter Dippold wrote a letter to Jet praising its van as "superior," "impressive," and "especially remarkable." Dippold, it should be noted was one of the officials who helped award a government contract to Jet to build electric vans.

DIPPOLD TOLD US HE didn't know the figures were wrong or that Jet would use its letter to hawk its van. But once he found out, he admitted, "I didn't tell them they couldn't use it." Industry sources, however, told us Dippold is "too friendly" with Jet.

Footnote: NASA officials confirmed to us the Jet is claiming its van can go faster and farther than NASA found it could.

SALAD DRESSING — The Food and Drug Administration has come under fire for trying to allow manufacturers to use cheaper substitutes in ice cream.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: The religious section of our newspaper carries ads for numerous so-called faith healers. I am very suspicious of these people. Do you think there really can be such a thing as a miraculous cure? — L.H.

DEAR L.H.: God is all-powerful, and from time to time He certainly may choose to heal physical illnesses through ways that can only be described as miraculous. However, I do not believe that the Bible teaches that we should expect this. When a doctor uses medicine to cure a patient, he still is able to do it only because God has ultimately created the medicine and created the human body so that it will respond in certain ways to medicine. There may be times when God's will is not to heal.

Perhaps there are some people to whom God has given a special gift of healing, although I believe this is rare. Unfortunately, when people are sick they often will turn to anyone who promises a cure, and sometimes these healers are fraudulent. I believe we should be very cautious about any so-called healer (whether "religious" or not) who makes sensational claims or who seems to emphasize miraculous events without really pointing people to Christ. Some may even try to convince people they have been healed by whipping up their emotions to make them feel better temporarily.

Yes, God can heal, and we should pray to Him when illness comes. But that does not mean we can neglect medicine or medical advice.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor: As a former football player at BSHS, I know what it is like "on the inside" and I disagree with Mrs. Carpenter said in her column about the football program at Big Spring High.

I agree that Coach Robbins and his staff cannot help but be disappointed in this year's team, but in my opinion, along with about 45 other players and former players, they didn't try everything to win. They didn't give the players much confidence, if any at all. They rarely gave them credit, or even said "good job" when the players deserved it, this was left for the players to do. One coach often criticizes the players. I know that this is supposed to make players play harder and to work harder to win, but when a coach, any coach, points out a player and tells him that they lost the game because of him, it can be a pretty humiliating experience. I feel that any one player cannot be responsible for a loss. The players win as a team and lose as a team.

Sure, it's not all the coaches' fault that Big Spring is a perennial loser, but it is also not all the players' fault either.

When I played, I, along with many other players mostly "rode" the bench during the games. We practiced hard all week, sometimes even with the first team, and we all strived, at least most of us did, to improve so we might get to play a few downs. A few of us "broke through" and played in some games, and some of them did their jobs well. But the next week they were back on the bench again.

I'm sure that Mrs. Carpenter, along with most of the people who have not played football, do not know what it is like for a "bench warmer" (anybody who does not start) to watch his team getting beat 60-0 with about a minute left in the game, and our first team still playing. That was what it was like last year in the San Angelo JV game. I personally got to play one down before the game was over, but there were some players that did not play at all — some did not even make the trip. But every game was that bad, but there were too many that were, both on the JV and Varsity level.

Last spring, I, along with a lot of other players "checked out" of football. Not because we didn't like the game or because we couldn't take the punishment. We did like the game and it did help us. We quit because we didn't have any future in football. A few of us had been told that we would not play much this year because of our size, that is why I quit. Also, a few players already knew that they wouldn't play much because of past experience. A lot of people wouldn't join the team because they knew they wouldn't play much, if any at all.

So don't tell me or anybody else that there were not enough players out for football, because last year there were more than enough.

I know when someone plays football they have to make good every chance they get, but what if they don't get a chance. What if a coach just looks at a player's size and throws him on the bench with the rest of the "dummy defense"? We had a lot of people who might have gone a long way in sports with the proper "care", but nobody would do anything with all that "potential talent".

A lot of people say that Big Spring football players have an attitude problem. Sure, losing all the time discourages a lot of would-be players from playing the sport, maybe an attitude problem develops from. But a football player is human too, and they need a lot of encouragement and the proper support and, yes, even once in a while, they need praise. Without these, how can anyone, including a football team, succeed?

Dear Editor, This is in response to Marj Carpenter's article Nov. 8, about our boys and football.

We have been in Big Spring for six years. Your sports program was one of the reasons I decided to move here.

I also believe we have winners in Big Spring that are not playing. Look back over the junior high through freshman years, and the boys with winning spirit. After their freshman year, it is football and nothing else. During football you can't have any type of job that might interfere with 5 and 6 hours of practice every day during the week, and again on Saturdays.

We also have seniors not playing, because they need to work to save for college. Let's remember not everyone can afford not to have some sort of job for car payments, gas, dates, high insurance, etc.

So Marj, let's not try to pass the buck to the parents and boys not playing. Ride your fence and see what is really wrong in Big Spring.

Brand Loyalties Shaken By Taste Impact Of Low Tar Merit.

MERIT taste delivery switching high tar smokers away from age-old favorites.

There is a taste alternative to high tar cigarettes.

Modern technology created it.

Tests proved it.

Smokers are confirming it.

Today most MERIT smokers are coming from high tar cigarettes — many from brands they had been loyal to for years.

Yet they're switching to — and sticking with — MERIT.

The reason is a real advance in tobacco technology that resulted in a way to boost natural tobacco flavor without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

© Philip Morris Inc. 1977

It's called 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

MERIT and MERIT 100's were both packed with this special tobacco. And taste-tested against a number of higher tar cigarettes.

Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of both MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested.

Cigarettes having up to 60% more tar!

Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

And you can taste it.

REGULAR and MENTHOL

Say what you want about the Bible — it lives. It has endured through centuries. No matter where you go across the face of the globe you can find it, printed in a vast variety of languages, bringing new meaning to new thousands.

Maybe some of it may be a muddle to you. It isn't easy reading, even the revised versions. But because it really is the greatest story ever told it's worth all the study you can give it.

Think about it. This book has lasted through wars, floods, famines, periods of both depression and prosperity, this over centuries. Get to know it better. Both on your own, and through your church.

Baptists tackle modern problems

FORT WORTH — Human rights, television obscenity, child abuse and illegal aliens shared the spotlight with a "Bold Missions" effort to share the gospel with the world during the 92nd annual Baptist General Convention of Texas here last week.

Evangelist Billy Graham and Southern Baptist Convention President Jimmy Allen of San Antonio led a consistent chorus of challenges to support the Mission Service Corps launched by the Southern Baptist Convention in Kansas City in June.

The messengers here accented involvement in "Bold Missions" by adopting a record-breaking $28 million Cooperative Program budget for world missions and by electing a former career missionary as their president.

The budget allocates $9.6 million for world missions causes and the remainder for a statewide network of 23 educational and human welfare institutions and other state missions causes.

Music takes the airwaves

Cliff Donaldson, youth and music minister of the First Church of God, is working with Christian Contemporary Music through a Sunday hour of music on a local radio station at 8 a.m.

If you are a Christian singer or instrumentalist and would like to be part of a musical team, you may contact Donaldson.

He pointed out that one of the early Christian Contemporary Music groups was called Love Song and began in California.

Lamesa holds monthly meet

LAMESA — The Lamesa Baptist Association will hold its monthly Worker's Conference at the Key Baptist Church, Key, November 17.

The Associational Executive Board will meet at 6:30 p.m. The Associational Women's Missionary Union will also meet at that time. Bro. E.R. Holder will speak to the W.M.U. about a new ministry that the Key Baptist Church has just begun with the people that work at the gin during ginning season.

Supper will be served at 7:17 p.m. by the host church. The program for the evening will be at 8 p.m. The program for this month will be testimonials by Rev. and Mrs. Jerry Becknal, the pastor and his wife from Midway Baptist Church, concerning their recent preaching mission to Chili.

Sunday school celebrates

Members of the Bethany Sunday School Class gave a party at the First Baptist Church, covered dish luncheon for Mrs. George O'Brien, teacher of the class, on the occasion of her birthday.

After the class sang "Happy Birthday," they presented Mrs. O'Brien with a gift.

An offering was given to the Gideon Bible Fund by members of the class in memory of Mrs. Sammie Sain.

Plans were made for the Bethany class Christmas party to be at Coker's Restaurant Dec. 12.

BAZAAR COMING — These ladies of the Wesley United Methodist Church, E. 12th and Owens, are preparing for their Nov. 19th bazaar and chili lunch. Exhibiting their

Underprivileged benefit

World Community Day celebrated

United Church Women celebrated World Community Day Nov. 4 at the First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. H.C. Ernsting opened the meeting with a scripture reading. Other readers on the program included Mrs. Edward Cruz, Mrs. Ralph Henderson, Mrs. Judy Moss and Mrs. Sharon Balderach.

Mrs. Charles Parham sang "Fill My Cup" accompanied by her husband at the piano.

The Rev. Weldon Butler, pastor of the church, brought the message, "Heart Change — Global Change." Mrs. Cruz and Mrs. Henderson presented the symbolic act of sharing water.

The offerings presented at the annual World Community Day throughout the world are an expression of "heart change" by United Church Women.

The offering goes to unprivileged areas as Bolivia, India, and in the Navajo regions of the United States for help in natural disaster recovery, assistance in health programs, family service programs and with a new starters program for women released from prison in Texas.

Goal for the offering is that it will enable women to participate more fully in development of their countries and in building international peace.

The benediction was voiced by the group, reading in unison from Isaiah 55:10-11.

Refreshments were served by the Methodist Women. New officers of the group include Mrs. Darrel Fellows, president; Mrs. W.D. Lovelace, first vice president; Mrs. Robert Ball, second vice president; Mrs. L.R. Saunders, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Ben Boadle, representative from the West Side Center and Mrs. Lee Porter, publicity.

Methodists speak

Four Methodist Missionaries will be at First United Methodist Church November 19-20. Reverend Guy Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. W. Harold Crow along with Reverend W.L. Armstrong will speak.

November 19, at 10:00 a.m. the United Methodist Women will host a coffee for all ladies at the home of Mrs. Hayes (Dorothy) Stripling, Jr. At 10:30 a.m. Saturday a coke party is scheduled for all youth (grades 7-12) at the parsonage 101 Washington. A covered dish supper that evening at 6:30 p.m. in fellowship hall will feature

Jehovah's Witnesses return

Jehovah's Witnesses from our local area have returned home from a two-day assembly in Arlington this past weekend.

The assembly theme, "Endure Through Chastity," highlighted the value and necessity of Christian friends and how these can have a great influence on a person.

Other points discussed through a variety of talks and demonstrations were how to keep spiritually united and ways of attaining whole-souled service to God. These were handled by Don Foy of Abilene and Richard Wohlgenuth of Lamesa. (Others overseeing assembly parts were Floyd Hanson of Big Spring, Manuel Martinez of Sweetwater, Carl Enebak of Eastland, and Frank Garig of Lamesa.)

The keynote public address, "Maintain Your Confidence Firm to the End" was delivered by district supervisor W.S. Brandozzi. This lecture saw the assembly's peak attendance

Mission services

A series of five mission services will begin Sunday at Westside Baptist Church, 1200 West 4th.

The services will include a different missionary at each service from state, home and foreign mission fields.

Sunday services will be held at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Wednesday, services will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Pastor honored after one year

The Morning Star Baptist Church at 307 Trades Street will have a special program honoring their pastor, Vance McDonald on his first anniversary at the church, Sunday, Nov. 13.

Following the morning service there will be a special program at 3 p.m. with the Rev. H.F. Doyle of Midland as speaker. This will be followed by a supper at the church.

Suspected terrorists arrested

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — Two men, badly wounded in a shootout with a police stake-out team in suburban Amsterdam were identified today as West German terrorists sought in the kidnapping and murder of industrialist Hanns-Martin Schleyer.

The federal Criminal Office in Weisbaden, West Germany, said police were sent to Amsterdam and used fingerprints to identify Christoph Wackernagel, 26, a former actor.

He and a man whom Dutch authorities believe to be 33-year-old Rolf Clemens Wagner were arrested after Thursday night's gun-and-grenade battle with police. Amsterdam Prosecutor A.N. Messchaert said Wagner's identification was "almost certain," but there was some doubt because the men carried forged papers.

Police said one man was hit in the chest and stomach and the other in the head. One man reportedly underwent emergency surgery. Three policemen suffered minor injuries.

West German authorities have identified Wackernagel and Wagner as members of the Red Army Faction. The terrorist band, also known as the Baader-Meinhof gang, claimed responsibility for killing Schleyer, who headed the West German employers association. He was abducted Sept. 5 in Cologne and his body was found in the trunk of a car in Mulhouse, France, on Oct. 19, the day after West German commandos stormed a hijacked Lufthansa jetliner in Somalia, and freed 86 hostages aboard.

Despite reports that police were looking for a woman who fled the scene of Thursday's shooting, Messchaert said: "There were no indications that any more people were involved."

He said police had staked out an apartment in a residential area of western Amsterdam after they stumbled onto the building while hunting the abductors of Dutch multi-millionaire Maurits Caransa.

The prosecutor did not indicate the two wounded suspects were involved in the kidnapping of Caransa, who was released Nov. 2 after payment of a $4.1 million ransom to abductors he described as apolitical. But Messchaert said the team that found the apartment had orders to look for potential terrorist hiding places.

The prosecutor said two men left the apartment Thursday night and 10 detectives followed them to a public telephone booth nearby. Police said the apartment had a telephone and they did not know why the men went outside to make a call.

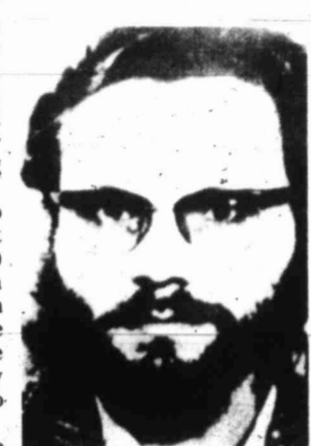

The two men entered the booth, Messchaert said, and a plain clothes detective approached and asked how long they would be.

One of the men replied in German, "One moment, please," and pulled a pistol, the prosecutor said. He said the man started shooting as uniformed police approached. One of the suspects hurled a grenade, slightly wounding one officer. Police returned fire with rifles.

West German police believe Wackernagel, a theater superintendent's son, first met terrorists in Munich where he was a well-known juvenile actor on German television. He later studied photography and theology.

ROLF WAGNER

Wagner is a former economics student.

Angie Fulgham is top debater

Angie Fulgham won outstanding debate speaker and the team claimed fifth in sweepstakes in the Great Northwest Dallas Speech Tournament over the weekend at R.L. Turner High School.

Angie and her partner, Teresa Davis, won second in the finals in standard debate, losing to Houston Memorial. Donny Knight and Hardy Wilkerson went down in the quarterfinals to St. Marks of Dallas.

Carrolltown High of Dallas won the overall first in sweepstakes with Midland High second. Dallas Kinross High was third. Sorpus Christi King, fourth. Big Spring only took seven contestants while many of the schools entered teams of 30.

Hardy Wilkerson won second in boys' extemporaneous speaking while Robin Von Rosenberg placed third in poetry interpretation.

Shannon Mullins and Jan Whittington got to the finals in girls' extemporaneous and prose. The team, coached by Janice Cook, will compete next in the Muleshoe Tournament.

Lubbock man critiques Whitten art show here

Mrs. Virginia Whitten, local art instructor, will hold her annual art show this weekend for local pupils.

The event will be a private showing and reception Saturday, Nov. 12, at 2809 S.W. 10th from 2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

A public showing will be held Sunday, Nov. 13, from 2-4 p.m. at the same location.

Preceding the Saturday private showing on Saturday morning, Leo Smith from Lubbock will critique the paintings in medias of oil, watercolor, pen and ink and various other categories.

Smith received both his bachelor's and master's degrees in art from Texas Tech University. He has taught public school art in Lubbock for the past ten years.

During 1977, he has won first prize at the West Texas National Watercolor show and a merit award and the Southwest III Show in Houston.

Mrs. Whitten's students compose three classes and range in ages from seven to adults.

Small business seminars set

LUBBOCK — How to start a new small business and how to improve an already operating small business are the key questions to be answered at two seminars at Texas Tech University Nov. 29 and Dec. 1.

Specialists in problems relating to small businesses will discuss such topics as opportunities in the Lubbock area, financial planning, sources of capital, record keeping, business regulations, taxes and insurance and management problems.

The seminars begin at 7 p.m. each of the two days in the Lubbock Room of the University Center on campus.

The federal Small Business Administration is assisting with the seminars, and the Better Business Bureau, the State Comptroller's Office and the Texas Employment Commission are participating.

Businessmen and women from the region will talk about their own business methods and experiences. Any interested person is invited to attend.

Mercury climbs into 60s in Texas

By the Associated Press

Temperatures climbed rapidly into the 60s and 70s across Texas today after a night in which temperatures plunged into the 30s and 40s over most of the state, including a chilling 38-degree reading at Alice in South Texas.

The Texas weather picture was dominated today by a large dome of high pressure, causing clear skies and light winds. No rain was mentioned in the forecasts today and forecasters indicate that it will be a pleasant weekend over the entire state although temperatures will again plunge into the 30s and 40s Saturday morning.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the 20s in northwestern portions of the Panhandle and in the mountains of Southwest Texas to the 40s along central and lower portions of the Texas coast. Extremes ranged from 28 at Wink in Southwest Texas to 48 at Galveston, McAllen and Brownsville.

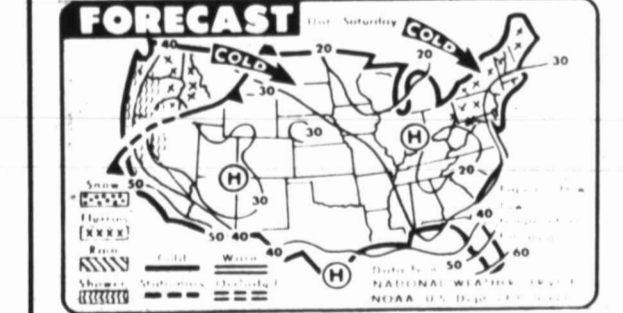

Other early morning readings included 35 at Amarillo, 38 at Wichita Falls, Texarkana and Dallas-Fort Worth, 33 at San Antonio, 29 at Lufkin, 35 at Houston, 41 at Corpus Christi, 39 at Del Rio, 32 at San Angelo, 31 at El Paso and 34 at Lubbock.

WEATHER FORECAST — West Texas — Generally fair. Warm afternoons and cool again tonight. Highs 60 to 76. Lows 27 to 36.

EXTENDED WEATHER — West Texas — Dry Sunday through Tuesday with above normal temperatures. Highs about 70 north and mountains to near 80 lower elevations of the Big Bend. Lows mid 30s north to the mid 40s south except 20s mountain tops.

WEATHER FORECAST — Snow or snow flurries are forecast today for the Northeast. Showers are expected for the central and northern pacific coast with snow flurries inland over the northern Rockies. Most areas will be cool.

Talks continue over personnel

Negotiations are under way with Cosden Oil and Chemical to prevent the layoff of 16 employees, according to J.D. Fortenberry of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

The employees, who work at W.R. Grace, were to be laid off when the plant underwent temporary inventory shutdown. According to Fortenberry, the Grace employees are actually under contract to Cosden and Cosden has been requested to keep the men on in different positions.

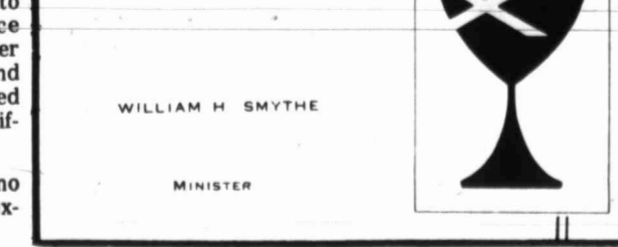

Fortenberry said no concrete decisions are expected until this afternoon.

WHERE SHOULD I PIN IT? — Is the question young Timothy Joe Flores, American Legion Poppy Boy, seems to be asking T. A. Trevino, Commander of American Legion Post No. 355. The American Legion, its auxiliary, junior members and the Boy Scouts will be selling poppies in remembrance of veterans tomorrow at both shopping centers and other places around Big Spring.

Saturday is Poppy Day for veterans

By DUSTY RICHARD
In Flanders Field the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders Field.

Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high.
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
In Flanders Field.

Country theme shower given

A luncheon honoring Sue Garrett, bride-elect of Stan Partee, was held Saturday at the ranch home of Toots Mansfield. Guests attending numbered 90.

Tables were decorated in a country theme of wire chickens filled with eggs and russet button chrysanthemums.

Hostesses were Mrs. Mansfield, Ova Mae Edwards, Mrs. Morris Patterson, Winifred Piner, Billie Piner, Mrs. Howard Schwarzenbach and Etha Reed.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Robbie Kilgore, Ruth Straban and Mrs. Dennis Nix of Lamesa.

Baby attends own shower

One and a half weeks old Rusty Baker and his mother, Beckie, were honored with a baby shower Tuesday night in the home of Mrs. Rufus Parks, Coahoma.

The table was decorated with a big green and yellow stork surrounded by diapers and babies and the house was decorated throughout with something for Rusty.

Rusty was presented with a red and white Christmas suit and shoes by the hostesses.

Cake and punch were served to the 25 guests.

BSSH needs newspapers

With the help of the City of Big Spring, the Volunteer Council to the Big Spring State Hospital is collecting old newspapers in the Highland Shopping Center and just north of College Park Shopping Center.

City trailers will be on hand each weekend from Friday afternoon through Sunday night, so take your old newspapers and deposit them in the trailers.

Weathercheck, a new Big Spring firm, is paying the Volunteer Council for the papers and proceeds will go to the Swimming Pool Fund for BSSH patients.

Remember, just newspapers, not magazines, and if for some reason you're unable to deliver your papers, call 267-7785 for pick-up.

Save your newspapers for this worthwhile project — a therapeutic swimming pool for BSSH patients.

McCrear after the devastation of Europe during World War I. Although fields were torn up by the terror of mortar shells, it was noticed that poppies were growing in the cemetery of Flanders Field. This became a sign of the eternity of life, and a symbol of the men who fought and died there.

A replica of this poppy has become the memorial flower of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary.

The American Legion was the first national organization to adopt the poppy as its memorial flower, having taken this action at its national convention in Cleveland, September, 1920.

The auxiliary adopted the poppy as its memorial flower at its organizing convention in Kansas City, October, 1921.

The red crepe paper poppies are handmade by thousands of disabled veterans in hospitals and poppy work rooms in 40 states. The public is given an opportunity each year to help the great work of the American Legion and its Auxiliary, to show their patriotism to our country, and to pay tribute to all who served, and all who died in service to their country, by buying a poppy on Poppy Day, Nov. 12, 1977.

With the funds that are received from the poppy sale, the American Legion and its auxiliary support the boys' state school, which is sponsored by the Legion; sponsor a troop of Boy Scouts in Big Spring; fund a nurse-training scholarship at Howard College; do volunteer work at the Veteran's Administration Hospital — this includes bingo games and refreshments for the veterans; and set up activities for all Big Spring children on Christmas and Easter Sunday.

Saturday, members of the American Legion, its Auxiliary, junior members, and Boy Scouts will be distributing poppies around Big Spring and in both shopping centers. This will be the time for everyone to dig deep into his or her pocket and come up with a little something extra for the veterans of all wars,

Girl Reminds Boys Of Their Mothers

DEAR ABBY: All the boys at school confide in me like I was their mother or something. They're always asking my advice on how to get dates with some of the really neat girls they have a crush on.

Is there some witty or catchy phrase I can throw out to let them know that I am available?

Also, my folks are taking me to Hawaii over the Christmas holidays, and I'd like to lose about 30 pounds in a month. I'd sure like to look cute for the trip, so please hurry your answer. Sign me... PUDGY

DEAR PUDGY: One problem at a time, starting with the one that's probably responsible for the others. You can lose weight by going on a serious diet under a doctor's supervision, but don't expect to shed 30 pounds in 30 days. It took you longer than that to pile it on.

Boys treat you like their mothers because you probably remind them of THEIRS. When you look more like a girl they want to date, they'll realize that you are "available," and you won't need a catchy phrase with which to catch them.

DEAR ABBY: I am a registered nurse who has worked for a competent physician for 15 years. Every hour at least one person calls and says, "I have a virus. Ask the doctor if I can run in on my lunch hour for a shot."

Abby, what this country needs is a sidewalk booth operated on the same principle as a cigarette machine. The patient could deposit a coin, stick his arm in a slot, select his own medication and get a shot.

People keep asking, "Whatever happened to the good old-fashioned family doctor who made house calls?" Well, I'd like to know whatever happened to the good old-fashioned trusting patient who let the doctor diagnose the case and prescribe the treatment? SANTA MONICA

DEAR SANTA: The old-fashioned family doctor was succeeded by a new breed who found he could practice more effectively in his office or in a hospital. And the "old-fashioned patient" has yielded to a generation mostly covered by medical insurance — with a tendency to overuse medical care.

DEAR ABBY: I am one of those people who eat like a horse and never put on a pound. Most of my friends tell me I'm too thin, and someone is always giving me a remedy that will fatten me up. I have tried everything, but I can't seem to gain.

I've had people I hardly know walk up to me, stretch their fingers around my waist, and say, "Gee, you're skinny!" They'd never walk up to a fat person and say, "Gee, you're fat!"

I have been hurt so many times by these rude remarks. Will you please give me a good snappy-comeback that will put them in their places? TOO THIN

DEAR TOO THIN: Silence is often the most effective response to a rude remark. But do see a doctor, dear. He may enjoy "fattening someone up" — for a change.

DEAR ABBY: I have a darling little 88-year-old mother who lives with my husband and me. She is in good health, looks after herself and can still read without eyeglasses. The problem is that lately Mother has been reading our mail. Several times lately I've found letters that I have discarded on her bureau! Obviously she has fished these letters out of the wastebasket or the garbage pail. (Bills, too!)

She doesn't know I am aware of this. She is not senile. Just nosy. She has always respected our privacy in the past (at least I thought she did), so I can't understand this sudden change.

My husband says to let it go. I think I should let her know we are aware of — and resent — her nosiness. We'll leave it to you. NO TOWN, PLEASE

Hustlers often double as card sharks, pimps

By JOETTE MOFFETT
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Tonight he's in Dallas looking for action.

Tomorrow he might hit Houston or Tulsa.

If he plays his cards right it could be Las Vegas.

The young man was neatly dressed and he walked into the dimly lit room confidently, carrying a leather case. He looked like a professional man because he was, and he had heard Dallas was a city for big-money pool games.

Instinctively the hustler knew which table had a money game. He sized up the spectators as well as the players — one of them would be his mark.

"I just got in from Oklahoma city," the young man said. His name was Tommy. "Are there any shooters in here?"

The spectators sized him up, and baited him with questions.

Finally, Ralph, a grandiose braggart who claims he's the best in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, asked "How much you want to play for?"

The bargaining began. They decided to play even nine-ball for $200 a session. The local product got a look at the hustler.

Tommy's stakehorse, an Oklahoma City bar owner, trailed close behind his protegee. Middle-aged and slightly balding, he was resplendent in gold and diamonds and leisure attire.

THE HUSTLER — A player at another table watches as a shot is made on the table in the foreground. The pool hustler travels from city to city looking for action in a game where the stakes are high.

While the spectators laid down side bets, their girlfriends kept a close eye on the out-of-owner — better looking than most shooters and the girls don't mind turning a trick to make a buck.

Tommy took his cue stick from its case and slowly assembled it.

A big part of high-stakes pool is the "psyche" job — being cool and confident. Ralph is a hustler too, however. And he's good with "psyche" jobs. "Hey man," he said, "you sure you're up to this?"

Tommy flashed a cocky grin. An hour after his wager $1 or a beer, are much more likely to get caught gambling than the high rollers. When two men are playing for $100 or $500 or even more "they aren't going to throw that kind of money around in front of people," the police spokesman said.

The maximum fine for gambling — a Class C misdemeanor in Texas — is $250. The stakes on a session of nine-ball quite often surpass that.

An establishment that "condones" gambling can be found guilty of a felony that carries a $5,000 fine and a two-to-10-year sentence for the operator.

Once again, however, "we have to prove that they're aware of the gambling going on," the vice squad officer said.

"We have a sign right up there that expresses our policy," said the manager of Dallas' most popular poolroom for "money games" as he pointed to a "No Gambling Allowed" sign.

"As long as they're not blatant about it, we just let them play," he said. "As far as I'm concerned, there's no gambling going on here."

The young poolroom manager has watched top players from throughout the United States play straight pool, eight-ball, nine-ball or one-pocket games on his front table for hundreds of dollars. He has heard the bets made and seen the money change hands, or watched the hustlers and their backers retire to the adjoining gameroom for their payoffs.

He knows that when there's illegal gambling on a pool game, there's almost always something else illegal going on.

When a hustler isn't shooting, he's playing poker or betting on football games. Maybe he's the local bookie.

When he is shooting, he may take amphetamines or "speed" to stay awake for all-night sessions. "The first time I ever shot speed," one player said, "I was losing about $200 to this guy. The fella that was backing me took me into the bathroom and said 'Look, I'll go one more session, but you gotta do this first. You're dragging out there.'"

"So he ran that stuff in my arm, and I went back out there and won his money back. I felt great."

The same shooter said that when he's been down on his luck, he has turned to theft or fraud or pimping — anything to get a bankroll so he can play pool again.

After losing two nine-ball sessions to Ralph, Tommy wanted to raise the wager. Ralph, usually full of bravado, balked.

"How do I know you're not holding back?" he asked.

A little miffed, Tommy took his customized stick apart and put it back in the trim leather case. He roused his bejeveled backer, who doled out $100 bills, and they left — losers.

State agency playing role of 'watchdog'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Attorney General John Hill wants an immediate investigation of the admitted practice of spying on other state agencies by the Texas Board of Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies.

The outgoing chairman of the board said Thursday it is "not an uncommon practice" for that agency to investigate officers in other state agencies.

State District Judge Joseph Connally of Odessa made the statement as he resigned under fire as head of the board.

In answer to a question by Attorney General John Hill, Connally said he ordered an investigation last year of a member of the Texas Industrial Accident Board.

But Connally said he did so only after making sure his agency had done that sort of thing before.

Hill cited a series of stories in the Austin American-Statesman that included an allegation that Connally sent Jim Richards, a field investigator for Connally's board, to Ruidoso, N. M., to spy on an unnamed member of the industrial accident board.

Cue Boykin, Connally's former law partner and chairman of the industrial accident board, reportedly asked Connally to make the investigation.

The newspaper quoted the person investigated as saying, "I think this was an attempt by Mr. Boykin to find some information about me that he could use to block my reappointment. I think they were just looking, looking for anything at all... to forward it to the governor's office."

The newspaper said the subject of the investigation did not want his name revealed but went on to say that he has since been reappointed to the board.

The only member of the three-member board to be reappointed since the investigation is J. J. McCuan of Pasadena.

After the meeting of the investigators' board, reporters asked Hill if he thought one state agency should be investigating another.

"I want to think about that, frankly," Hill replied. "I'm not prepared to say that in every instance it would be improper..."

He said Connally did not order the investigation "with malice aforethought."

After several questions on this point, Hill grew stronger in his response. Asked if it bothered him at all that one state agency would assume a watchdog role regarding other state agencies and without specific authority from the legislature, Hill said, "Yes, it does. It bothers me."

He said he would have the matter looked into "right away."

Hill also said Clema Sanders, executive director of the investigators' board, should not audit expense vouchers filed by Connally. That puts too much pressure on an employee of the board, he said.

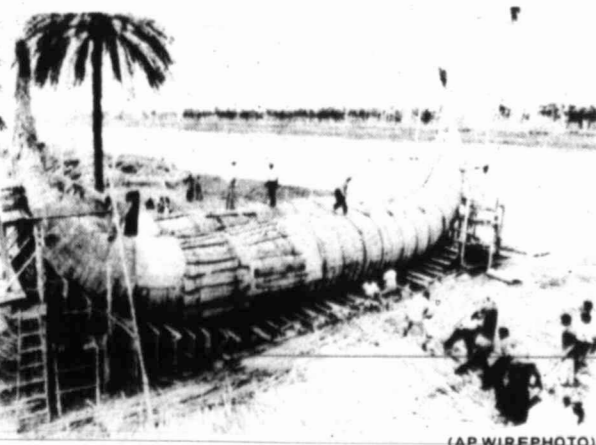

Mrs. Sanders had told Hill a clerical error — switching a hotel bill with an airplane ticket expense — accounted for an incorrect listing of $70.15 for Connally's hotel room on one of his trips for the board.

Proclamations, proclamations,

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — After less than two years in office, Gov. Cliff Finch appears to be easily outstripping his predecessors in the issuing of gubernatorial proclamations.

The proclamations — embossed, sealed and signed "Proclamation by the Governor" — are usually issued on behalf of noteworthy persons, civic groups, charity organizations and other causes.

But sometimes the honors are rather arcane. Finch proclaimed July 9 "Wolfman Jack Day" in honor of the disc jockey.

ANOTHER ARK — In the land where Noah was once said to have built The Ark, crew members and a team of Peruvian technicians put the final touches on Norwegian explorer-author Thor Heyerdahl's reed boat, near Qurna, Iraq. The vessel is named "Tigris" after the Mesopotamian river.

BOTH CLAIM TITLE — Ann Maher, left, and Denise Kovacevic, right, both claim they are Miss Spokane. Miss Maher has promised a court fight if pageant sponsors persist in their attempt to have her dethroned for allegedly missing too many public appearances. Miss Kovacevic says she was told in late September that she was the new official city hostess.

State drops a notch

Travel receipts up

AUSTIN—Texas' hold on third place in the national travel receipts race last year, the Data Center said that 227,258 Texans are traveling public, up nine per cent over 1975. Payroll is $1.3 billion, an 18 per cent gain.

State taxes paid by travelers amounted to $242 million last year, a 17 per cent increase, while local taxes were an estimated $58 million.

There was no change last year in the order of the top 10 counties in sharing state travel receipts, the Center said.

Dallas County continued to hold first place with nearly $1.4 billion. Harris County (Houston) was close behind with $1.2 billion.

Third was Bexar (San Antonio) at $480 million. Its 22 per cent gain over 1975 was the strongest of all top counties.

Then, in order, came Tarrant (Fort Worth), $296 million; Travis (Austin), $199 million; El Paso, $187 million; Galveston, $125 million; Nueces (Corpus Christi), $121 million; Potter (Amarillo), $102 million; and Jefferson (Beaumont), $96 million.

The Data Center estimated that 55 counties got more than $10 million shares of state receipts.

Included in the Center's Texas, by contrast, is now investing $2.7 million in tourist development. The sum drops the State from fourth to eighth among all states in competition for the nation's $104 billion travel market.

California and Florida continue to be the nation's traditional leaders in first and second place in winning shares of the national market.

In addition to the $6.1 billion that Texas is estimated to have received economic model is all travel for whatever purpose. Thus business and convention trips are part of its estimates.

It measures all overnight trips, and daytime trips at least 100 miles from one's home. Consequently travel by Texans within the state is included in estimates for Texas.

Energy
Energy bill compromise

Gas lamps turned off

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee framing a compromise national energy bill voted today to ban the use of natural gas for outdoor decorative lighting after 1982.

The ban would apply to residential as well as commercial use of gas lamps. There are an estimated two million to four million such lamps in the United States, many adorning the front and back yards of homes.

The conferees agreed to prohibit all future new hookups of gas lamps and decided that existing ones must be shut off or converted to electricity by 1982.

The prohibition was contained in legislation previously passed by the House. Senate conferees agreed to the ban after House negotiators agreed to give homeowners an additional two years to replace gas lamps from the 1980 deadline originally passed by the House.

The action came as the conferees neared completion of the second major portion of the energy bill program: legislation aimed at making industrial and power plants switch from oil and natural gas to coal or other fuels.

The conferees earlier reached agreement on the first administration energy bill before it, containing a wide variety of energy conservation measures.

Supporters of the gaslight ban claimed the step could save as much as 73 billion cubic feet of gas per year.

Meanwhile today, the conference chairman, Rep. Marley Staggers, D-W.Va., emerged from a White House meeting with President Carter saying he doubts Carter will veto any of the energy bills sent to him by Congress.

Early this week, Carter said in a nationally broadcast speech that he would veto any bills that did not meet his tests for fairness and energy conservation.

"I don't think there will be a veto," Staggers said.

He said the president has indicated he is ready to take a more active role in negotiating a compromise.

"He realizes more than I do the seriousness of the situation," Staggers said.

During Thursday's session of the conference panel, Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., said converting a gas lamp to electricity could cost as much as $180. "This is a symbolic thing of some importance, but I hate to subject homeowners to such a switchover cost," he said.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., leader of the House conferees on this issue, said he feels the gas should be turned off on these decorative lamps as soon as possible. "This kind of gas usage is monstrously wasteful. These things burn day and night," he said.

The conference committee tentatively agreed to exempt non-residential lamps that are "of a traditional nature and in conformity with the cultural or architectural style of the area."

More drillings are reported

Drilling increased both in Texas and throughout the nation the past week.

Rotary rigs making hole within the state for the week ending Nov. 7 totaled 815, compared to 806 for the preceding week. A month ago, 798 rigs were busy while a year ago the aggregate was 711.

Throughout the country, 2,114 rigs were active the past week, compared to 806 the previous week. On Oct. 10, 2,089 were making hole and a year ago 1,824 were drilling.

Shorthorns gore Angelo

"This was a very good win for us," said Coach Don Robbins, of Thursday night's Steer junior varsity 21-6 win over the visiting San Angelo Bobcat JV.

"We won three out of four district games," Robbins continued, "and last year we didn't even scratch." With the final victory, the Shorthorns evened their record at 4-4. The locals racked up wins over Abilene and Midland Lee as well.

Quarterbacks Jimmy Marquez and Jimmy Brown sparked the win, according to Robbins. After Angelo scored first on a 53-yard bootleg pass, Big Spring came right back on their next possession, with Marquez sneaking it over for the TD at the end of a 68-yard drive. Ronnie Walker kicked his first of three extra points.

Fullback Marty Terry, on a well-blocked play, dove and dove for 14 yards and the score, to give Big Spring a 14-6 lead at the half. In the fourth period, Marquez again engineered a 58-yard drive, capping it off himself on a well-executed option play from 11 yards out.

Brown also had several completions to Joe Willie Jones and other Shorthorn receivers, including an unusual deflection to weak guard Greg Henry for a first down.

On defense, Robbins mentioned Ricky McKey, David Manley, Mark Knight, Steve Painter and Brocky Jones as having exceptional performances.

RUSSELL SUBLET ON THE MOVE — Destined to make his mark in the Howard College Hawk record book, along side greats such as Marvin Johnson, Archie Myers and Taylor Williams. The talented sophomore from Houston Kashmere hit an amazing 12 out of 13 field goals during first half action with McMurry Thursday night, helping his team to a 100-91 victory over the visitors. Sublet also sunk five of five free throws and had a game-leading 33 points in his best night for the local squad.

Sublet rents hoop, Hawks win 100-91

"When you're hot, you're hot!" so sang a country-western philosopher not too long ago.

Howard College guard Russell Sublet re-recorded that hit tune on the hardwoods of Hawk Gym Thursday night, and played it over and over again for the visiting McMurry JV Indians.

The gifted sophomore from Houston Kashmere scored the nylon on 12 out of 13 field goals and five of five free throws during first half action to lead the Preybirds to their second consecutive win of the season, a methodical 100-91 suppression of veteran coach Herschel Kimbrell's quintet.

Sublet, who played only on brief occasions after intermission, finished the night as game-leading scorer, with 33 markers. He canned 18 of the first 32 local points, while the former high school teammate of his, Joe Cooper, accounted for nine of that number.

Sands teams sweep LHS 5

ACKERLY — All three Sands High School basketball teams defeated Loraine Thursday night in opening game action for both boys' clubs.

The varsity boys subdued Loraine 74-36 on the point production of Martin Nichols (25), David Long (14), Larry Feaster (12) and Stan Blagrove (11). Junior Martinez led Loraine with 10. Sands boys are now 1-0 on the season.

The varsity girls, led by Jill Floyd's 28 markers, rolled over LHS 64-40. Susan Martin and Jody Kemper scored 19 and 17, respectively, for the Sands' fems. Debbie Jones hit 13 for LHS. The Fillies are now 1-1.

Sands JV boys beat Loraine 51-38, behind Frank Garfias' 13 and David Hall's 12 points. Jeff Oliver hit 11 for Loraine. Their record is now 1-0.

Runnels White falls to Pecos

PECOS — Pecos Crockett took their opening drive in for a touchdown and scored twice in the second quarter to hand the Runnels White team their second loss of the season, 18-6.

"It wasn't one of our better games," said Coach Bobby Zellars, "but our defense did a good job in the second half."

Pecos rolled up 162 yards on the ground in the tilt, although they lost the battle of the aerials. But in the end, it was penalties which hurt the Runnel's effort.

For most of the night, "Coop" was leasing the space around it, completely dominating the backboards.

The 6-10½ mountain had, without a doubt, his best night as a Hawk. In addition to sweeping clean the majority of rebounds, big Joe sunk a career high 24 points, smacked three clean blocks, crammed a dunk shot home, had two steals and set up numerous scoring opportunities for his teammates.

All 11 Hawks saw action, and four of them made off with eight points each. El Paso freshman Allen Bonds hit on four of seven from the floor, and was again a blanket on defense.

The Oklahoma Sooners get a second chance to impress the armchair quarterbacks who watch their football on the tube.

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Free-spending Texas Rangers owner Brad Corbett, who had already shelled out $2.7 million for Richie Zisk this week, has coughed up an estimated $1 million to sign much-traveled free agent pitcher George "Doc" Medich.

Medich, a budding surgeon and a veteran right-hander who registered a 12-6 record while pitching for three teams last year, signed a four-year contract with the

Volleyball tilt on KFNE-FM

The District 5-4A volleyball playoff game between Big Spring and Permian will be carried live on local station KFNE-FM 95, with pre-game broadcast beginning at 6:45 p.m. Saturday.

Rock-steady forward Eugene Williams also notched eight markers on his runnin' gun, and helped Cooper with the carom stealing. Big guy R.Q. Tolliver rolled an eight as well, hitting four of them within a 20-second span by blocking a shot (his second), stealing the ball and hooking it in twice for "Mr. Photogenic" honors of the night.

Tennessee freshman Robby Randolph also had a high percentage night, dropping in two of three from the floor, and four of five from the charity stripe. Big Spring freshman Casey Wilder cooled off somewhat from his opening night blitz and only marked up five points, but he and the other Hawk guards, Sublet and Randolph, had the blueprints in their pockets to make plays happen all night.

they lost to top-ranked Texas 13-6, the only blemish on Oklahoma's record after nine games.

And the Sooners also remember last year.

"We need to win," Sooner linebacker Obie Moore said. "If we lose, we can still go to the Orange Bowl by beating Nebraska, but we need to win to get momentum and to avenge the loss last year."

"They scored 42 points against us last year and we still remember it."

Colorado Coach Bill Mallory would like a repeat of last year's 42-31 victory but is talking realistically.

"What can you say?" Mallory asked. "They have a great collection of athletes and it's a tremendous football team with more speed than anybody we have played."

Frosh Whip Brownfield

BROWNFIELD — "Our team is now as good as any we've played this year," said Steer freshman coach Edd Henry, following his squad's 14-7 victory over Brownfield Thursday night.

Brownfield sent a very speedy 8-1 club into the contest, but a jelled Big Spring unit, which has won three of their last four ballgames, wouldn't be intimidated. "We have a good football team," Henry again emphasized. "These kids can really play together."

The locals lost numerous opportunities to score in the first half on penalties and bad breaks, and trailed 7-0 at halftime. But the Bovine freshman came back in the third on a 41-yard drive, capped off by a Tommy Madigan one-yard plunge for the TD. The PAT failed.

Team work and key assists showed improvement, after only one previous game, and the Hawks' man-on-man and zone defenses were stickier as well.

"We played very well at times," said Head Coach Harold Wilder, "and we increase its record to 9-0 while Miami of Florida is at No. 2 Alabama, which already has clinched the Southeastern Conference berth in the Sugar Bowl.

In other games, Indiana is at No. 4 Ohio State, No. 5 Notre Dame is at No. 15 Clemson, No. 6 Michigan travels to Purdue, No. 7 Kentucky is at Florida, No. 8 Arkansas is at No. 11 Texas A&M, Temple is at No. 9 Penn State and No. 10 Pitt meets Army at East Rutherford, N.J.

Kansas travels to No. 12 Nebraska, No. 14 Southern Cal is at Washington, No. 18 Texas Tech is at Texas Southern, No. 19 North Carolina plays at Virginia and Northeastern is at No. 20 Colgate.

Saturday night, No. 13 Brigham Young takes on No. 17 Arizona State and Memphis State is at No. 16 Florida.

Russell and her partner, Billie Jean King, who has been on nine Wightman Cup teams, went to duce in that first game against Great Britain's Sue Mappin and Lesley Charles before winning it and rolling to a 6-1, 6-0 victory.

In the final game, Russell went to the net and put away a forehand shot to end it, one of just three games which went to deuce.

That made the score 4-0 in the best-of-seven match series, coming after Rosie Casals had beaten 19-year-old Michele Tyler 6-2, 3-6, 6-4. So the U.S. team now has the $33,333 winners share to divide.

In Saturday night's windup at the Oakland Coliseum

Arena, Chris Evert will face Sue Barker. King will play Virginia Wade and there will be one doubles match. The U.S. team, with a 40-9 advantage over the British over the years, is aiming for the first shutout since 1954.

GC Bearkats split with WHS

WESTBROOK — The Garden City boys and girls varsity roundball squads opened their 1977-78 season Thursday night, with the fems taking a 47-31 decision over Westbrook, and the boys falling to WHS, 61-41.

Patsy Blissard and Donna Plagens led the blitz for the GC girls with 26 and 14 points, respectively. R. Toney led WHS with 13 markers.

Wayne Hirt and his brother Kevin each hit 12 for the boys in their losing cause. D. Rich and T. Webb scored 19 and 17 for victorious Westbrook. The GC boys are now 0-1, while the girls are 1-0.

Next game for both teams will be at Mertzson next Thursday, and the following night, both squads entertain Westbrook.

U.S. clinches Wightman Cup

OAKLAND (AP) — A newkomer, JoAnne Russell, had the honor of hitting the shot that clinched another Wightman Cup tennis title for the United States.

"But I was nervous playing in the Wightman Cup for the first time," the 22-year-old Floridian said in recalling the start of Thursday night's doubles match. "Then I had to serve first. Did you notice I didn't get a first serve in for a while?"

The locals iced the cake in the fourth frame, with Madigan and Mark Law alternating for 77 yards on the ground. Law took the bacon home on a three-yard dive. On a halfback option play, Madigan passed to Mark Warren for the two extra points.

"Our offensive line did one whale of a job!" exclaimed Henry. Lupe Ontiveros, Richard Brito, David Rawls, Rudy Hilario, David Coffey, Rusty Hayworth, Charley Corson and Rudy Ortega were all mentioned for their efforts.

For the second game in a row, the fish defense has not allowed a first down in the second half. Edward Vela had 11 tackles and one pass interception. Mark Warren grabbed and INT, and Israel Cooper made nine tackles. Joe Monje, from his defensive end position, was unstoppable. He made seven tackles, had two quarterback sacks and recovered a fumble. "The entire defense was super," added Henry.

The freshman ground game racked up 205 yards. Madigan gained 105 on 24 carries; Law had 91 in 20 rushes and Ben Watson made 9 on 10 attempts. The fish finished their season with a 4-5 reading.

Surprise! Roger is having best year ever

ROGER'S RECORD RUN

Having shaken off a hamstring injury that caused him to miss two pre-season games and a bruised hip that slowed his movement last Sunday in the 24-10 victory over New York's Giants, Roger Staubach — without much fanfare — is having the greatest all-around season of his career through eight games, all Dallas triumphs.

Since throwing a third quarter interception against Tampa Bay in the regular season's third game, Staubach has hurried 136 consecutive passes without one being picked off by enemy defenders. That leaves him 30 attempts shy of Don Meredith's club record of 166 consecutive passes without an interception. Meredith turned the trick beginning Dec. 5, 1965 against Philadelphia and ending Oct. 16, 1966 against St. Louis.

Staubach can also eclipse a couple of his own team standards with performances over the next six games that are consistent with what he's done thus far in 1977. The ex-Middle, now 35, needs 154 passing attempts to break his club record of 369 attempts (set last year) for a season. He has thrown 25 passes in each of the last three games and would need to average 25.5 passes per game the rest of the season to set a new mark.

He also is 79 completions short of his team record 208 completions, also set a year ago. He would need to average 13.2 completions per game over the remaining six contests to break that record. He's averaged slightly more than 16 completions per game so far in '77.

Staubach's 1,218 yards passing so far and nine touchdown passes probably will not enable him to challenge (although he'll likely come close) the team records of 2,805 yards passing and 24 touchdown passes in a season, both marks set by Meredith in 1966.

Roger also trails slightly his best passing percentage year (62.6 in 1973) with a completion percentage of 59.7, tops in the NFL this year. He is averaging 7.35 yards per attempt and his best-ever effort in that category was 8.9 in 1971.

Staubach's best quarterback proficiency rating (and fifth-best in the history of the NFL) was 104.7 in '71. He's performing at a 94.4 proficiency — also leading the league — going into the season's ninth week.

One other item, Staubach can become the all-time Cowboys completion leader if he can complete a total of 1,170 completions this year by throwing 65 more completions.

COWBOYS NEWS & NOTES

With three more traps of the quarterback last Sunday in the Cowboys' 24-10 win over the Giants, fifth-year defensive end Harvey Martin is roaring through his best season. Through eight games he has 15 traps, equaling his single season best, set last year. Martin has 59 traps in his career and has led the Cowboys in that department every season he's been in Dallas. He began with nine traps as a rookie in 1973, had 10 in '74 and again in '75, and 15 last year when he made the NFC Pro Bowl squad for the first time. The club record for traps in a season is 22, set by George Andrie in 1966. Bob Lilly had his personal best that same season, 17. Randy White is second on the Cowboys trap parade this year with eight.

If Washington's Eddie Brown doesn't beat him to it, Butch Johnson is on an NFL record-breaking course for punt returns in a season. The league mark is 54 returns, set by Atlanta's Rolland Lawrence in 1970. Johnson has 37 returns so far this year, 17 shy of Lawrence's record. Johnson also holds the Cowboys club record for 45 returns in a season, which he set last year as a rookie. His 489 yards in punt returns last year also is a club mark. Johnson has 332 yards in punt returns to date in 1977. Brown has 33 punt returns so far this year for the Redskins.

One or two Cowboys have come up with outstanding, individual tackling performances in each of the team's eight consecutive wins this season (the club record for consecutive wins is 12, which began in mid-1971) and ran through the Super Bowl VI win that season and concluded with wins in the first two games of the 1972 campaign). Beginning with the 16-10 overtime win at Minnesota in this year's opener when Cliff Harris and Bob Breunig each had eight tackles and five assists against the Vikings, fierce tackling has been a key reason for Dallas' defensive defensive categories in the NFC.) Breunig had seven tackles and two assists the following week against New York, then eight tackles and four assists against Tampa Bay, and teamed with Harris once more in the St. Louis win. Cliff had six tackles and four assists in that first Cardinals' meeting and Breunig seven tackles with five assists. Against Washington, Harvey Martin led with nine tackles and eight assists while Randy White had six tackles and eight assists against the Eagles and eight tackles and two assists last week against the Giants. Mike Hegman had the top individual performance two weeks ago against the Lions when he filled in for a flu-riddled D.D. Lewis with five tackles and two assists.

Most of 1977 has been a vintage year so far for the Cowboys although one record of dubious distinction has fallen and another may be in line. Dallas' 14 penalties against the Giants last Sunday was a new club mark, breaking the 13 penalties in a game standard set on three other occasions. The Cowboys now have committed 67 penalties this year, just 30 short of the club mark of 97 set in 1964.

Monday night's opponent, the St. Louis Cardinals, also will be out to cut down on penalties this game. The last time the two teams met, Oct. 9 in St. Louis, the Cardinals committed 11 penalties for 166 yards, the most yards any team has ever had assessed while playing the Cowboys. The 11 infractions tied the '64 Bears for most penalties by a team while playing Dallas.

For the fifth time in Cowboys' history, the team has played three consecutive games without surrendering a fumble. Dallas had not fumbled the past three weeks in games against Philadelphia, Detroit and the New York Giants. The Cowboys also have thrown just two interceptions in eight games, one apiece by Roger Staubach and Denny White. The least number of interceptions the Cowboys have yielded in a season is 13, that record having been set a year ago by the same pair of QBs.

The last time the Cowboys and Cardinals met, Oct. 9, Tony Dorsett had a 77-yard touchdown run, the longest in Dallas club history.

By vote of the Dallas media covering the games, Randy White has scored a rare back-to-back achievement — winning two consecutive game MVP awards for his play the last two weeks against the Lions and Giants. He's had Cliff Harris leads the NFC in interceptions with five. Efrén Herrera is the leading scorer with 71 points, which also leads the entire NFL. The club record for points in a season is 107, set by Danny Villanueva in 1966.

Pro pickers say Tampa's time is here

By BRUCE LOWITT

AP Sports Writer

It is, let us say, an act of charity performed with a hand covering the mouth to keep the smirk from escalating to giggles and thence to guffaws.

Here we stand, in the ninth week of Tampa Bay's second season, the 23rd game in all. And still the Buccaneers are, to use a horse racing expression, maidens, without a victory — without so much as a tie — to look back upon.

Looking ahead they see, in the final five weeks of the season, Detroit, Atlanta, Chicago, New Orleans and St. Louis — all of them reasonably formidable foes.

Thus, if the Bucs are to avoid a second season of absolute humiliation, a victory must be achieved this Sunday against one of the few National Football League teams with an ineptitude in Tampa Bay's range.

Welcome, New York Giants.

It is, to be sure, an Upset Special of mammoth proportions, considering the Bucs have scored touchdowns in only three games this season and have been blanked in three others. And coming on the heels of last week's horrendous 7-7 mark that put the season record at 7-35 for a .688 percentage, it is a selection to be regarded only lightly at best.

In other NBA games Thursday, the Milwaukee Bucks edged the Washington Bullets 106-103 and the Phoenix Suns crushed the New Orleans Jazz 127-111. Houston jumped out front

Bucs 16, Giants 14

For New York, it is a trip from the sublime to the ridiculous. Having lost to Dallas, and having an offense resembling Abbott & Costello Meet The Keystone Kops, the Giants loom as the team most likely to be remembered as the one that helped Tampa Bay break its maiden.

Cowboys 31, Cardinals 21

It appears Dallas has an excellent chance to enter the playoffs, with a perfect record. St. Louis won't mar that mark this week, even though it will live up to Monday night with some electrifying moments.

Raiders 24, Oilers 13

Oakland and Houston have beaten each other by one-point margins the past two seasons. It won't be that close this time. The Raiders are first in offense in the American Conference. The Oilers are last.

Colts 28, Bills 14

Buffalo would love to see Roland get his Hooks into Baltimore the way he did to the Patriots last week. But the Colts' defense will get its hooks into almost everything the Bills try.

Steelers 24, Browns 17

Cleveland never has won in Three Rivers Stadium. And the Browns are showing signs of fading. The Steelers certainly haven't been world-beaters the past two weeks. They've been self-beaters. That's about to change.

Jets 30, Seahawks 17

Seeing Seattle's defense (of which there is none) will do wonders for the confidence of Marty Domres, New York's temporary starting quarterback.

Broncos 20, Chargers 9

San Diego went without a point in its two games against Denver a year ago. Not this time — but the outcome will be the same.

Dolphins 25, Patriots 20

It's tough to figure New England. The Pats can look so good one week, so bad the next. We'll stick with Miami's consistency.

Bears 24, Chiefs 16

Neither team can stop the other, but at least Chicago has more to stop. It's back to reality for Kansas City's Tom Bettis.

Lions 14, Falcons 7

Detroit literally gets its show on the road. We've given up on Atlanta's offense — if it ever really had one.

Vikings 20, Bengals 17

Minnesota's main goal will be to wipe away the memory of last week's shellacking by St. Louis.

Eagles 20, Redskins 17

Washington's down after after being so up and coming so close in Baltimore.

Rams 34, Packers 13

Los Angeles is shifting into playoff gear.

49ers 21, Saints 10

and New Orleans is stuck in reverse.

Rockets routed by Atlanta Hawks

By the Associated Press

Atlanta's John Drew has been resting his injured leg and it really hurt the Houston Rockets.

"Drew had a legitimate injury," Atlanta Hawks Coach Hubie Brown said. "He hasn't been practicing much to let his leg heal."

So Drew and Ollie Johnson scored 22 points each to pace Atlanta to a 132-101 National Basketball Association rout

Injuries still plague Bears

WACO, Texas (AP) — An injury to a backup defensive back has forced Baylor Coach Grant Teaff to start injured star defensive back Ron Burns against Rice on Saturday.

Teaff said Thursday that he had originally planned to rest Burns because of an ankle injury, but Burns' backup, Ken Griffin, was injured in practice earlier in the week and will not play against Rice.

Junior Benny Goodwin was elevated from the scout team to back up Burns, an all-SWC performer who injured his ankle against Arkansas last week.

The Bears will also be playing without fullback Steve Howell, also injured against Arkansas.

Choice words

PITTSBURGH — Pittsburgh Steelers defensive tackle Joe Greene, who said a mouthful last week, responded with a few words on paper after being fined $1,000 for criticizing National Football League officials.

The Steelers announced that he had been fined. The Associated Press learned the amount was $1,000.

Greene's comments: "I explained to Mr. Rozelle that I said what I said for effect. I wanted to call attention to the problem that I think exists regarding officials. I was upset and frustrated. In the future I will express my views in a more professional manner. The commissioner suggested I pick up the telephone and call him if I have any problem."

"I might take him up on the offer."

of Houston Thursday night and give the Hawks a sparkling 8-1 record, best in the NBA.

Drew showed no signs of his injury when he popped in four baskets early in the third period to widen Atlanta's lead after Houston had pulled to within four points at 55-51 late in the second quarter.

In other NBA games Thursday, the Milwaukee Bucks edged the Washington Bullets 106-103 and the Phoenix Suns crushed the New Orleans Jazz 127-111. Houston jumped out front

They call it St. Lawrence

with Marj Carpenter

Thirty-one years ago, the Oliver Daniel's 45 section ranch in Glasscock County was sold. The sale was the start of the St. Lawrence community.

Most of the land was purchased by World War II veterans from the San Angelo, Wall, Olfen and Rowena areas.

Among the early settlers were M.A. Braden, Herbert Seidenberger, Gus Mahler, Herbert and Herman Goetz, Martin Holder, Fred Ernst and Ace Hoelscher.

In a year or two, others followed including A.W. Schraeder, Isidore Hoelscher, Robert Hayden, Adolph Halfmann and sons, Oscar Schwerner, Sylvester and Edgar Glass, John Bednar and a Mr. Cope.

When the group arrived, they found no roads, only ranch trails with four or five gates to be opened and shut for a person to go visit his neighbor.

Cattle guards to the main highway were installed in 1949 and there was great rejoicing among those who had "to get out and close the gap."

Rattlesnakes were numerous and the pioneers lived in fear of being struck since the nearest medical help was in Big Spring, 47 miles away.

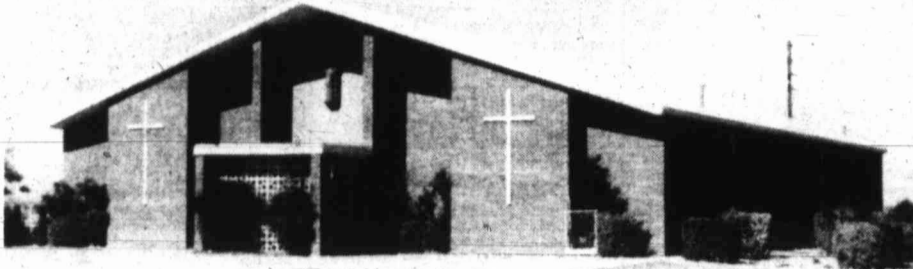

In 1948 they got a church, which became the center of their community. The Rev. Fidelis Albrecht, a Franciscan priest, arranged to have a small army barracks moved into the area.

Bishop Laurence Fitzsimmon, then Bishop of the Amarillo Diocese of which the St. Lawrence area was a part, donated the first church acreage and the church was named in honor of his patron saint, Laurence Martyr. The church first spelled everything Laurence, but later it became changed into Lawrence by custom.

In 1948, the first cotton gin, the first water well, a post office and a co-op grocery were milestones in the community.

A really important thing happened that year when Texas Electric took electrical lines to St. Lawrence. Cap Rock Electric brought in additional electricity in 1951.

In 1956, the second church,

COMMUNITY'S LIFE CENTERS AROUND CHURCH

a larger army barracks valued at $6,500 was moved in to the community. With meals served from cotton trailers, St. Lawrence had its first Fall Festival.

A parish hall was constructed in 1959 and finally in 1962, Wes-Tex Telephone Co. brought them telephones. The parish began a perpetual care cemetery in 1964. By 1967, the church was assigned its own pastor, the Rev. Augustine Lucca. A rectory was constructed and later a $90,000 church, seating 450, was built and dedicated in 1970.

The entire community's life centers around the church but they also take part in other things in the county. They soon became aware that they had no representation on the Garden City School board even though all of their children were bussed into that community to school.

Nowadays, they hold the majority on that school board and are enthused about school improvements and progress.

St. Lawrence folks most of whom are of German extraction, work hard, play hard and love the Lord.

They are the only real recent pioneers around. They went out in an area with no radios and no electricity and no telephones and no television and built themselves a farm community. And I always enjoy visiting St. Lawrence — when out ridin' fence.

Bob Berger keeps lead in pro rodeo ratings

DENVER, Colo. — The final rodeo of the 1977 season, the rich San Francisco, Calif., contest, was a "squeaker."

Two Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association title races came down to the wire, both between a defending champion and a challenger.

The Cinderella of the Cow Palace was Bobby Berger of Norman, Okla. The 32-year-old, a veteran competitor in all three riding events, hung on to a $5 lead in saddle bronc riding to win his first PRCA or world title with $25,436. The 5-6, 130-lb. Berger failed to place at San Francisco, but defending PRCA and World Champion Monty Henson could pick up only $29. The 24-year-old from Mesquite, Texas, who won his first title in 1975, had a season total of $25,431. Berger again will vie for the world all-around crown at the National Finals.

Another close title chase, this one in bull riding, found the defending champion Don Gay on top with $35,050. At one point last week, with winnings from a trio of smaller rodeos being added, Butch Kirby of Alba, Texas, trailed Gay by just $24. Gay, however, exploded at the Cow Palace, scoring 97 points on his second bull, setting a new PRCA record and collecting $2,414. Kirby, making his first bid for a title, finished the season with $32,612.

All-around cowboy for the fourth consecutive year is Tom Ferguson of Miami, Okla. The 26 year old finished second in calf roping and third in steer wrestling for a $65,981 year. Tom's brother Larry, 28, took his premier title this year in steer wrestling. Larry, also of Miami, qualifies for his fourth Finals with $27,437.

Repeat winners in their events included calf roper Roy Cooper and bareback specialist Joe Alexander. Cooper, of Durant, Okla., picked up $45,713 (a new record) on the way to his second title in as many years in the pro ranks. Alexander, of Cora, Wyo., the top money winner in the event the last seven years, collected $41,555.

Jerold Camarillo of Oakdale, Calif., the 1969 world champion in team roping, took the 1977 PRCA crown with $18,641.
