Action/Reaction: Blue Moon

Q. Who sang the popular rock 'n roll rendition of Blue Moon?

A. The classic version (the lyrics were written by Richard Rogers in 1934) is by The Marceles, who recorded it in January 1961. Elvis Presley recorded the first rock 'n roll version in 1956. Other early rock 'n roll groups who popularized the song were Herb Lance and the Classics and the Ventures.

SEARCHING FOR A FRIEND — Howard County Librarian Judith Gray recently helped An Van Chau, a native of Vietnam and a resident of Big Spring, to find his best friend who was separated from him when they came to the U.S. in 1980. Chau had been searching for his friend for 3½ years.

Happy ending

Search for a friend ends in Howard County library

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

An Van Chau's 3½-year search for his best friend ended this week with a simple trip to the Howard County Library.

Chau, a native of Vietnam, stopped at the library Monday seeking information about how he might find a friend who also had emigrated from Vietnam to the U.S.

Chau had lost contact with his friend after they were transferred from Thailand to the U.S. in 1980. Chau had come to Big Spring in May of 1980, while his friend, Danh Be, was sent to Idaho in June.

The only contact Chau had since that time was a letter from Be in June of 1980 giving him his address. However, Chau had lost the letter in 1980 thus losing contact with his friend. And Be, after receiving no reply from Chau, apparently never wrote again.

But Chau never forgot his friend.

The library visit was only one of many attempts Chau had made to find Be since arriving here. Before Monday, Chau had searched out virtually all government agencies from the Immigration and Naturalization Service to the various refugee centers around the U.S. — all with no luck.

"I had talked all over to Washington, D.C., California and Texas looking for him," Chau said. "I thought it was going to be too hard to find him, and I thought I wouldn't ever find him."

Chau asked for help from Head Librarian Judith

Gray who guided him to several directories containing information on refugee agencies.

After digging through several files of information, Mrs. Gray found a telephone number for a refugee program in Washington, D.C., and Chau went home to try the number.

"A little while later he walked back in and said 'I found him!'" Mrs. Gray said. "He was so excited and so happy. It felt really good seeing him so happy. So often when we help someone we don't get any feedback, but this time was different."

Chau said he had to make four phone calls before locating a government agency in Boise, Idaho that had information on his friend.

"The lady on the phone said she couldn't give me his address or phone number," Chau said. "I told her he's a special friend of mine. I was almost crying. I never had a good friend like him before, and I very much wanted to see him."

Evidently moved by his impassioned plea, the lady in Boise finally consented to give him an address and phone number.

"I called Be right away," Chau said. "He answered and I said 'Be is that you?' and he knew me right away. He's on that side and he's so happy and I'm so happy on this side. After 3½ years of looking, I was very, very happy."

Chau said he plans a trip to Idaho to see Be either in November or December. It should be quite a homecoming.

Grand Jury lists indictments

The Howard County Grand Jury Thursday afternoon indicted Oren Lee Craig, 23, of Route 3 with murder in the Oct. 19 shooting death of James Kevin Harmon, 23, of 306 E. Fifth.

According to police reports, Harmon was found bleeding the evening of Oct. 18 from gunshot wounds in the parking lot of the Big Spring Robo car wash at 1915 S. Gregg. He died in the early morning of Oct. 19. Harmon's 23rd birthday, shortly after surgery for his wounds at Malone-Hogan Hospital.

The grand jury passed until the next session a decision on whether to indict three Big Spring men in the July 30 death of Manuel (Nino) Lopez Sr., 27, of 818 W. Seventh.

Although the grand jury did not indict Raul Flores, 25, of 304 N.E. Eighth, Tony Flores, 21, of 100 Whipkey and Juan Marquez, 20, of 204 Algeria, both the Flores brothers were indicted on one count each of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

Police reports show Lopez was found dead of multiple stab wounds the morning of July 30 in a front yard on the 1500 block of Wood Street. Witnesses told police Lopez was involved in a fight with "three or four" persons before he died.

Robert Wayne Loveless, 24, of 304 E. Sixth was indicted for aggravated robbery in the May 20 holdup, in which hostages were taken, of the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant on 2200 Gregg.

Alonso Orozco Armendariz, 25, of Odessa was indicted for the Aug. 5 aggravated robbery of the Coahoma State Bank, in which hostages were locked into a bank vault by a robber carrying a BB gun.

Lesley Robert Lloyd, 17, of 2308 Roberts was not indicted for attempted aggravated robbery on July 31 of the Burger King restaurant at 2000 East FM 700.

The grand jury investigated Rod Puga, 21, of 911 W. Fifth for sexual assault, but did not indict him for that charge. However, Puga was indicted for retaliation against a witness, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and burglary with intent to commit a felony.

The grand jury refused to indict Lonnel Lott, 23, of 1504 B Virginia with burglary of a habitation and

AT&T split to show up on bills

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. split will touch not only the pocketbooks of Southwestern Bell Telephone customers but telephone users across the state, who could find a new charge on their bills as early as Jan. 1.

Making up for long distance revenues the companies lose through the AT&T breakup — the issue that may result in an additional charge for consumers — is before the Texas Public Utility Commission.

Texas telephone companies, including Southwestern Bell, General Telephone Co. of the Southwest and Continental Telephone, recently proposed a $1 monthly addition to residential telephone bills and $3 a month surcharge on business telephones to help make up for the loss. That charge, referred to as an "end-user" fee, would be paid by all local service customers, whether or not they make long distance calls.

Also, the companies propose to boost long-distance rates for calls within certain regional boundaries by 10 percent. But long-distance carriers, such as MCI and AT&T, will be asked to make up for the bulk of the revenue loss in "access charges" since they can't function without the local systems.

That agreement represents a compromise among the telephone companies, who have been pushing slightly different plans with end-user fees running twice as high as now proposed.

The telephone companies, who have enjoyed a share of long-distance revenues reaped by Southwestern Bell, say they will need to make up for the loss as Bell leaves the long-distance business. The companies say the funds have helped support local service.

"We honestly couldn't live without those revenues. We couldn't meet our bills," said Southwestern Bell spokesman Dale Johnson. The divestiture will take away some $870 million in revenue from that company next year, Johnson said, which must be made up with access charges and end-user fees. Other telephone companies expect to lose millions of dollars as well.

So they want the new charges to begin Jan. 1 as the divestiture-related loss begins. But the utility commission will have the final say on when and if the charges are levied.

Council OK's terrace

Coahoma seeks to avoid $1,000 a day fine

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — The City Council in a special meeting Thursday night approved measures to avoid a $1,000-a-day fine for violation of the state water code.

The council approved construction about one mile south of Coahoma near FM 820 of a terrace to block drainage of tailwater from a privately owned and operated irrigation pump into a now dry ravine that empties into the water system when flowing.

If the council does not notify the Odessa district of the Texas Department of Water Resources by Nov. 7 of the corrective measures under way and the estimated date of their completion, the city could be fined $1,000 a day under Sections 26.121 and 26.213 of the Texas Water Code.

Council members voted 3-0 to have City Water Systems Director Robert Helm and John Wayne Metcalf, owner of the irrigation pump, examine the area on Metcalf's land said to be in violation of the state water code. The council also authorized the men to send their solution directly to the Odessa district office without further council approval.

Although the alderman voted to approve whatever plan Helm and Metcalf agreed on, the council did discuss construction of a three-foot-wide, sloped dirt terrace to block the drainage into the waterway.

The runoff travels 1,312 feet parallel and 400 feet north of FM 820. It then travels 400 feet south to run next to the road another 400 feet.

Hance says Iran sales should stop

Harte-Hanks Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration should immediately halt all U.S. business dealings with Iran following reports that Iranian terrorists were allegedly behind last Sunday's suicide bombing in Lebanon that killed 226 U.S. Marines.

That's the view of Rep. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock, who is running for the U.S. Senate.

U.S. businesses this year have purchased more than $500 million in oil, yarns, hides, fish, artwork and other miscellaneous items from Iran. The month of August alone netted Iran $288 million in U.S. sales, Hance said.

"I believe America will be willing to do without the (Iranian goods) if they knew the money is being used to help support terrorists intent on killing Americans," Hance said.

Hance urged an immediate end to Iranian purchases although the Reagan administration has not proven conclusively that Iran was at least partially responsible for the bombing.

Police Beat

Wreck ends police chase

Police arrested at 5:51 p.m. Thursday Gordon Robinson, 33, of 510 Donley for investigation of fleeing an officer and on traffic citations. Robinson wrecked his Harley-Davidson motorcycle at the intersection of Eighth and Abrams following a police chase, police reports said.

• Jo Harvey, 77, of 1101 Lancaster told police at 6:21 p.m. Thursday that someone between 4 p.m. Saturday and 5 p.m. Thursday entered a building at 1001 N.E. Second by force and stole various items worth $145, police reports said.

• Police arrested at 9:32 p.m. Dave Rodriguez of 707 Connelly on suspicion of driving while intoxicated, driving with license suspended, traffic warrants and having no insurance. Rodriguez was transferred to the county and released on $3,500 bond.

• Oren Craig, 23, of Route 1 was released from the county jail at 7 p.m. Thursday on a $50,000 bond after having been indicted for murder Thursday during Howard County Grand Jury proceedings. Craig also posted a $5,000 bond for possession of marijuana.

• Randy Phillips, 23, of 358 Westover, Apt. 147, was arrested at 10:45 a.m. Thursday by county authorities on a peace bond complaint and released on $2,000 bond.

• Juan Aguirre, 30, of 1710 Benton was released from the county jail at 3:10 p.m. Thursday on $6,500 bond after having been arrested on suspicion of resisting arrest and assaulting a police officer.

• County authorities arrested at 3:10 Thursday James C. Holland, 43, of Odessa on suspicion of issuing a bad check. Holland was released on a $200 bond.

'Bubble boy' doing well

HOUSTON (AP) — Doctors say they're encouraged with the condition of a 12-year-old boy who had an experimental bone marrow transplant that could free him from his plastic, germ-free bubble where he lived since birth.

The boy, identified only as David, suffers from severe combined immune disorder, a rare defect that leaves his body without the ability to fight germs. He has lived longer than any other person born with the disorder.

One week ago, David received less than two ounces of specially treated cells taken from his 15-year-old sister's bone marrow. His physician, Dr. William T. Shearer, said David had showed no adverse reaction to the procedure.

Doctors said they will not know for at least three months whether David will be able to leave his isolation unit at Texas Children's Hospital and live safely in the germ-filled world.

Shearer said the boy was in "especially high spirits." "He's doing all the normal things he would if he were at home. So far, everything is going very well," Shearer said.

Medications may be pulled

AUSTIN (AP) — Federal health officials are considering whether a California pharmaceutical firm should pull medications that contain plasma drawn from an Austin victim of acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

Charles Whitfield, 30, died Oct. 21 at Brackenridge Hospital of AIDS, an illness that mainly affects homosexual men.

Jeri Moore, manager of Austin Blood Components, said Whitfield sold plasma to her firm 50 times between November 1982 and Sept. 16. Plasma taken at the Austin Blood Components office is shipped to Cutter Laboratories Inc. of Berkeley, Calif.

Cutter spokesman Bud Modersbach says the plasma was probably used to make substances to help blood coagulate in hemophilia patients and would only be in the hands of hospital pharmacies and doctors.

Modersbach said Thursday his company has begun "tracing the donation by the victim through the entire manufacturing process to the final product."

"I expect very soon we will be able to identify each lot that was eventually produced from the particular donation in question," he said.

Dennis Donohue, director of the division of blood and blood products for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, said the possibility that Whitfield's plasma could transmit AIDS through a Cutter product "is almost vanishingly low."

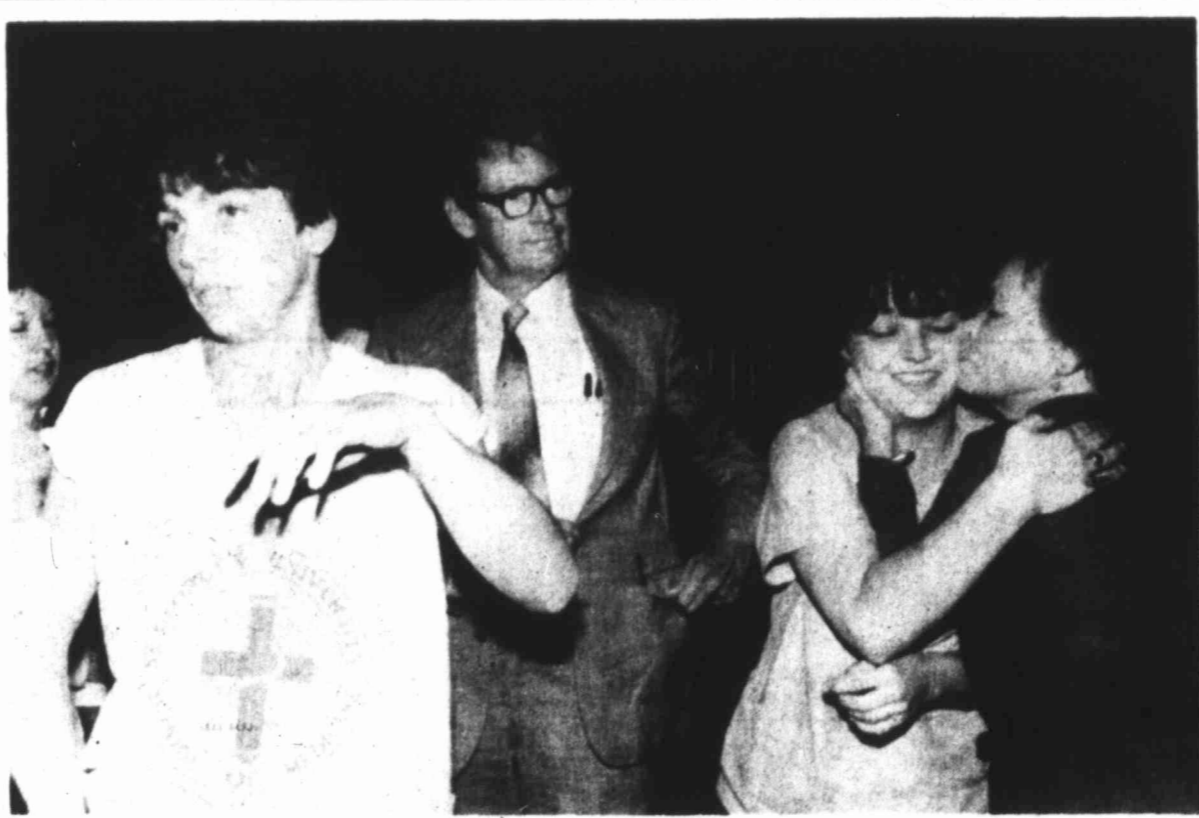

But Philip Zbylot of the Austin-Travis County Health Department said any medicine containing Whitfield's plasma should definitely be withdrawn, at least temporarily.

WELCOME HOME — Timothy Mooney, left, 23, and his bride, Michele Walls Mooney of New Orleans, are hugged by Mooney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mooney, as they returned to Houston Thursday after being rescued from the medical school in Grenada by U.S. troops.

Students recall fears on Grenada

HOUSTON (AP) — A medical student airlifted from St. George's University Medical School on Grenada says the "greatest sound in the world" was an American soldier kicking in the door to a dormitory room where he, his wife and 50 others were huddled.

"American soldier — freeze" were the first words we heard," said Timothy Mooney, 23, of New Orleans, upon arrival Thursday at Houston International airport.

"It scared the hell out of us, but that was the greatest sound in the world," he said.

Mooney and his bride, Michele, 21, flew to Texas from Charleston, S.C., for a tearful but happy reunion with their families.

Mrs. Mooney said she and her husband were with about 250 students who awoke at dawn Tuesday to the deafening roar of anti-aircraft carriers, bombs, mortar and automatic weapon fire.

"We felt our lives were in serious danger," she said. "We were terrified."

Mrs. Mooney said she and her husband were not only afraid the Grenadians would not let them leave the island to safety, but that they would be wounded by gunfire.

"By the time our group was waiting to be rescued — crammed into the five rooms in the dormitory building closest to the beach — we were convinced anything could happen," she said. The campus became a battleground for invading multi-national troops and defending forces.

"We'd actually been worried and afraid since Prime Minister Maurice Bishop was assassinated during the coup last week," Mooney said.

"Especially when the students were confined to campus during the subsequent curfew and a shoot to kill" order was issued," she said.

Their fears increased when Radio Free Grenada began broadcasting messages the night before the invasion warning, "The imperialists are coming — take arms."

Mrs. Mooney said a student body poll only a few days before the invasion indicated about 75 percent wanted to leave "as soon as possible. We were about third and fourth on the list to get out."

But they missed the first helicopter off the beach and laid in the sand and shallow water for cover until another arrived.

The couple had only been in Grenada since Aug. 20, the day they were married. Mooney had been attending medical school while his wife taught English and did volunteer work.

Both said the invasion was necessary.

"It was just a terrible situation, and the people there were very desperate to get rid of the new military government," she said.

Grand Jury

Albino Ortega, 52, of 817 N.W. Sixth with burglary of a building.

• The grand jury also indicted Danny Ray Crosby, 23, of 508 N. San Antonio and Joe Torres, 29, of 1107 Settles on separate counts of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

• Rosa Flores, 19, of 304 N.E. Eighth was indicted for simple assault. She had been charged with aggravated assault.

• The cases of four persons charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon were passed until the next grand jury. The persons whose cases were passed are: William Paul Darrow, 38, of 609 W. 17th; Earnest Moreno, 49, of Coahoma; Lamesa residents Raynaldo E. Sanchez, 25, and Jose Samuel Sanchez, 20, brothers charged with involvement in the same Aug. 11 incident.

• Holston Banks Jr., 17, of 1106 N.W. Seventh was cleared of a charge of aggravated assault.

• Four persons were indicted for second offenses for driving while intoxicated. They are: Floyd Eugene Breedlove, 54, of Odessa; Haskell Monroe Franks, 49, of Snyder; John Lynn Maddox, 70, of Knott; and Boyce Lee Strickland, 65, of Midland.

• The grand jury reduced to misdemeanors the charges against three persons originally charged with felony unauthorized carrying of a weapon on licensed premises. Instead, Reynaldo Hernandez, 26, of 1510 Bluebird; Joe Diaz, 23, of 1105 N. Scurry; and Tony Gonzales Jr., 25, of 508 N.W. 10th were charged with carrying a prohibited weapon.

• Three persons were indicted for theft by check. They are: Corliss Johnson Warren, 30, of 1804 Hearn; and Dean Hendon and Brenda Northcut Hendon of Fort Worth.

• Others indicted were: Cody Carroll, 22, of 1406 Donley, with criminal mischief; Joe Hinojosa, 21, of Stanton with theft of rental property; Harvey Grenado, 37, of Lamesa with forgery by passing; and Raymond Ramirez, 32, of 31 W. Sixth with theft by appropriation.

• The grand jury reduced the felony charges against two persons indicted Thursday to misdemeanors. Juan Manuel Garcia, 18, of Big Spring was indicted for misdemeanor criminal mischief, while Robert Miles, 26, of Amarillo was indicted for misdemeanor theft, which now is under $750 instead of under $200.

• Persons the grand jury cleared of charges include: James Cecil Burnett, 43, of 2513 Central, charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle; Vincent Martin Partsch, 34, of Odessa, charged with theft by check; and Steve Pharris, 29, of Colorado City, charged with forgery by passing.

• The case charging Teresa Marie Sundry, 26, of 3603 Hamilton with aggravated assault on a peace officer was not presented to the grand jury. She made a separate plea bargain in county court Wednesday to a misdemeanor offense.

• The grand jury also did not investigate the matter concerning Jimmy Sherrod and Lloyd Patterson involving the title to a pickup truck, as neither party showed up.

• Passed to the next grand jury was an investigation into the matter concerning First Federal Savings and Loan, Nita Poole, Gene Joplin and Brian Williams.

• Also passed until the next grand jury were cases against: Laura Mae McCammon, 21, of Southland Apartments, charged with criminal mischief; and Bobby J. Montgomery of Sweetwater, charged with hindering the secured creditor.

• A charge of criminal mischief against Franco Salazar Rosales, 35, of Odessa was dropped by the victim, District Attorney Rick Hamby said.

Coahoma

According to council members, the runoff is usable.

The council was notified of the violation in a recent letter from Odessa District Supervisor William F. Lockey, which informed aldermen the violation was found Sept. 15 during a routine inspection of sewage treatment for the city.

According to Lockey's letter, the inspector found "an unauthorized discharge of tailwater runoff from an adjacent irrigation facility into a dry ravine in violation of Texas Water Control Permit No. 10723-01 and the Texas Water Code."

Section 26.121 of the Texas Water Code states in part: "(a) no person, except as authorized by rule, permit or an order issued by the department, may: discharge sewage, municipal waste, reclaimed waste, agricultural waste or industrial waste into or adjacent to any water in the state...."

Aldermen have not decided whether the city or Metcalf will pay the terrace construction costs. Metcalf is the brother of Roy Lee Metcalf, the new alderman who will assume his duties at the next regular meeting. Roy Lee Metcalf also was at the meeting.

The council originally considered construction of a dyke, but decided a terrace would be cheaper. The City of Coahoma's general fund was reported to be in deficit at the last council meeting.

Although aldermen said they were unsure how the terrace would be financed or how materials would be obtained, they said action was preferable to flirting with a large daily fine.

"We sure can't stand a $1,000-a-day fine," one alderman said.

In other action, aldermen voted 3-0 to send Mayor Jim Rackley to Austin to appear Monday before the State Review Board for the Community Development Program.

Although aldermen previously believed the city would be ineligible for grants, state officials told the mayor recently the city had a chance to get grant money, Rackley said.

"Let's get the process started of School district to survey area on education

Residents of the Big Spring school district soon will get a chance to give their opinions to school officials and trustees about the state of education here.

Trustees yesterday approved a survey which will be sent at random to 2,500 persons in the district. The purpose of the questionnaire is to give school personnel and the board information with which to determine long- and short-term goals.

Superintendent Lynn Hise said 86 percent of the surveys will be mailed to taxpayers, while 14 percent of the questionnaires will be sent to those persons who live in apartments or rent property.

The survey is divided into two main parts. The first section asks for strengths and weaknesses in the district and also has questions on learning, discipline and ways to improve education.

The second section asks respondents to rate the overall makeup of the district such as facilities, subjects, student services, etc.

Hise said the surveys probably will be mailed out Nov. 9. He said the district is asking that the questionnaires be returned by Nov. 23.

In other business, the board waived the $350 rental fee required for use of Blakenship Field so that the Big Spring Jaycees could hold a benefit flag football tournament Nov. 5-6 for the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Halloween care urged

AUSTIN — The Texas State Department of Health urges Texas parents to be sure their children are not tricked while out being treated this Halloween.

"Children should only go to homes that have outside lights on as a sign of welcome," said Dan Sowards Jr., chief of Hazardous Product Control at the department.

"They should be warned not to eat any of their treats before they get home. And all treats should be examined before youngsters eat them."

Sowards had other tips for Halloween:

— Costumes should be decorated or trimmed with reflective tape which glows in a car's headlights.

— A natural mask of cosmetics is better than a loose fitting mask which restricts breathing or obscures vision.

— If swords or knives are carried, they should be made from a soft or flexible material such as rubber or soft plastic.

— Flimsy materials and costumes with big, baggy sleeves or billowing skirts should be avoided to minimize the risk of contact with jack-o-lanterns.

— Parents should encourage home parties and celebrations instead of trick-or-treating.

Agents watch as doorman shot

HOUSTON (AP) — Two Secret Service officers who witnessed the fatal shooting of a doorman at a fashionable westside condominium complex never tried to catch the fleeing gunman or bothered to write down the license number of the getaway car, police say.

The two officers were making a security check of the neighborhood in preparation for an overnight visit by Vice President George Bush, who was planning to stay at The Houstonian less than two miles away, said special agent Bill Livingood.

They arrived at St. James Condominia just moments before the doorman, Gregory Chafin, 25, was shot and killed by a man armed with a .45-caliber rifle, said homicide detective Steve Garza.

Livingood declined to comment in the incident.

However, he said, the officers were members of the Secret Service's uniform division and assist in protecting the president and vice president. Officers of the division are trained to use firearms, he said.

There was no indication that the shooting was related to the vice president's visit, police said. Bush was to dedicate a school and speak to the State Bar of Texas on Friday.

Police said the gunman drove to the front of the 25-story building where Chafin was working, climbed out of the car and started firing.

Several people ran out of the building after hearing shots, and a contractor working on the 21st floor yelled at the suspect. The gunman turned his weapon at the building and started firing, Garza said.

At least five shots hit several windows but no one was hurt, Garza said.

The gunman then fired five more shots at the stricken doorman, who had worked at the complex for two years and was described by residents as "very friendly, very outgoing."

"He wanted to kill him. It was like a personal vendetta," Garza said.

Deaths

Alejandra Olivio

Graveside services for Alejandra Munez Olivio, 61, who died Wednesday, were at 10 a.m. today at Mount Olive Memorial Park under the direction of the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home with the Rev. James Delaney, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, officiating.

She was born June 18, 1922 in Toyah, Texas. She moved to Big Spring in 1940 from Lorraine. She married Jose Olivio in 1949 in Big Spring. He died in 1960. She was also preceded in death by one daughter, Mary Olivio, in 1975. She was a housewife and a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Survivors include her son, Jose Olivio of Big Spring; one daughter, Ramona Olivio Luera of Colorado City; two brothers, Raymond Munez and Jose Olivio, both of Big Spring; one sister,

ALEJANDRA OLIVIO
Gregoria Rodriguez of West Covina, Calif.; and five grandchildren.
Pallbearers were Johnnie Hilario, Benito Hilario, Fred Lopez, Raymond Munez, Jose Olivio and Johnny Puga.

Phyllis has great time

NEW YORK — Comedian Phyllis Diller says attending a men-only Friars Club roast in disguise fulfilled a "great fantasy" for her. But her architect friend, Howard Rose, has some explaining to do.

The 66-year-old Miss Diller combed her short hair like a man's, wore a false mustache and dressed in drag for the Oct. 20 Friars Club roast of comedian Sid Caesar. It also was attended by 2,300 men, with comedian Buddy Hackett as roaster.

But Rose, who got her a ticket, has been invited to the Friars' next board meeting Nov. 12 to explain how Miss Diller got in, Jean Pierre Tebet, director of the 79-year-old male bastion, said Thursday.

Tebet said he assumed Rose "will be reprimanded ... if, indeed, he is the person who invited her."

Women are not permitted, he said. "It's never happened before. It's against the rules."

Miss Diller, contacted in Israel where she is playing in a celebrity golf tournament, said Rose "didn't break the rules. I did."

It was "a great fantasy of mine" to attend a stag roast, she said.

Asked why the Friars Club bans women at its roasts, Tebet explained, "The language gets kind of graphic."

Fame has a price

LOS ANGELES — Dorothy Hamill, winner of the Olympic gold medal for figure skating in 1976, says she was wrong to think life would be "a piece of cake" after her Olympic victory.

"I wasn't used to being treated as a star," said Miss Hamill, as she set out Thursday on a winter tour with the Ice Capades.

"I was a simple girl from Riverside, Conn., who won the Olympics at 19. I had to grow up all of a sudden," she said.

"I had to be without my family, who I missed. I had to live in strange hotels every week; travel, which is very taxing; do the interviews, which I certainly wasn't able to handle."

As a result, she wound up hospitalized with a bleeding ulcer two years after her Olympic triumph.

But these days, she said, those problems are behind her, and she has a full professional schedule. On the Ice Capades tour she will perform nine times a week through the end of the year.

That's in addition to television work. She also has a book coming out next month, called "Dorothy Hamill On and Off the Ice."

David Niven honored

LONDON — Actor Laurence Olivier, Princess Margaret and a host of other actors and friends gathered to pay tribute to the late actor David Niven as a man "who gave millions so much happiness."

"We're not here for anything so solemn or ponderous ... as a memorial service. That would not be his style," said Niven's close friend, British playwright John Mortimer, at a service Thursday at St. Martin-in-the-Field Church in Trafalgar Square.

For Niven, "the bad times, the doty film directors, the misadventures, all became subjects for laughter, but laughter without malice, without bitterness. ... I shall hear it always," he said.

Niven died July 29 after a battle with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, or Lou Gehrig's disease. He was 73.

Lord Olivier, 76, read from the Bible as a choir sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd." Others in attendance included Niven's widow, Hjordis, movie stars Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Deborah Kerr and Sir John Mills and film director Sir Richard Attenborough.

"This is a service of thanksgiving, of gratitude for the man who gave millions so much happiness," Mortimer told the congregation.

Author wants museum

SAN ANTONIO, Texas — Author James Michener, deep in work on a novel named "Texas," is calling for creation of a "living museum" that would salute the American cowboy.

Michener, 76, in an address Thursday opening the 37th annual meeting of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, urged that a working ranch of not less than 1,000 acres be set up, possibly in Texas.

The life of a cowboy is a unique way of life that should be preserved, he said, and a such a ranch would be a fitting tribute to the "local cowboys who gave this area of the country such color."

Michener, who has written some 40 books, described himself as a "historical buff" and a "child of preservation."

Indefinite stay for troops

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — Honduras will need to have U.S. troops stationed here indefinitely unless the leftist government of Nicaragua is toppled, the Foreign Ministry says.

In a news release Thursday, the Foreign Ministry said it would also ask to become an associated free state of the United States, much like Puerto Rico, a U.S. Commonwealth, unless the Sandinistas in neighboring Nicaragua are removed.

The statement said these were "extreme hypotheses" that would come about "only if America allows the consolidation of the Communist system in Nicaragua."

About 3,500 American troops have been involved in military exercises in Honduras since August, and are expected to continue at least through March. Honduras and Nicaragua have had border clashes in the past two years.

Meanwhile, Nicaraguan army Capt. Hugo Torres, a political liaison with his country's armed forces, said Thursday the U.S.-led invasion on Grenada "is a prelude to an invasion of Central America ... But (the United States) are going to get bogged down in Nicaragua and the consequences will be serious..."

In Tegucigalpa, military chiefs from Honduras, El Salvador, Guatemala and Panama ended a strategy session in which, according to sources, they discussed the alleged threat posed by Nicaragua rulers to Central American security.

Also Thursday, the foreign ministers from Mexico, Venezuela, Colombia and Panama announced they will join their counterparts from El Salvador, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Honduras and Costa Rica on Nov. 17-19 in Panama for another meeting to seek a way to avert war between Nicaragua and its neighbors by demilitarizing the region.

Lewis faces prison

CHICAGO — A prosecutor says he'll seek "extensive incarceration" for James W. Lewis, facing up to 20 years in prison for an attempt to capitalize on the Tylenol killings by extorting $1 million from the medication's manufacturer.

A federal jury took just 2 1/2 hours Thursday night to convict the 37-year-old Lewis of writing a letter demanding that Johnson & Johnson Co. pay up "to stop the killing."

After the verdict, U.S. Attorney Dan K. Webb said Lewis' "entire defense was a confession," and said his office will continue to seek the person responsible for the actual poisonings.

Seven people in the Chicago area died from taking cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules in September 1982. No one has been charged with the murders.

Lewis' lawyer shocked the courtroom at the start of the trial by admitting that his client had written a letter demanding $1 million from the company.

But defense lawyer Michael Monico contended Lewis had never intended to collect the money, and only wrote the letter to expose wrongdoing on the part of his wife's former employer, to whose bank account he ordered the money sent.

Search continues for ship

PEKING — An air and sea search continued today for a missing U.S. oil drilling ship struck by a South China Sea typhoon three days ago, and an official of the company that owns the vessel said chances of finding it are good.

The last sign of the 5,926-ton Glomar Java Sea, lost in Typhoon Lex, was a weak distress signal picked up by a Japanese merchant ship 600 miles away early Thursday, the drilling vessel's owners, Global Marine Drilling Co. of Houston, Texas, reported.

Glomar Java Sea's crew of 81 included 42 Americans.

"I'd say the chances of finding it are good. There are conditions where the vessel would go down, but it more likely that it would survive," Global vice president Dick Vermeer said in Houston.

Vermeer said the ship was reported listing 15 degrees Wednesday and in the path of the typhoon, which packed winds up to 75 mph and churned 26-foot waves. But he said the 400-foot vessel was designed to withstand worse storms.

But an official for Arco China Inc., which leased the ship for exploration in China's Yingge Sea Basin south of Hainan Island, said today, "Our thoughts are divided, but we are not optimistic." He declined to be identified.

Hainan island lies off China's southern coast and is separated from Vietnam by the Gulf of Tonkin.

On Thursday night Arco China reported radio contact with "some sorts of floating objects" had been made by search craft, which included 11 Chinese ships and U.S. aircraft.

U.S. Navy aircraft searching the region had found nothing by early today, said Air Force Lt. Col. Jack Gregory, a spokesman for the West Pacific Rescue Coordination Center in Okinawa, southern Japan.

The U.S. air search began Thursday and continued until darkness, but it was hampered by bad weather with "low ceilings and poor visibility," Gregory said. The typhoon's strong winds prevented the air search from starting on Wednesday, he said.

'Swamp rat' cornered

VARNADO, La. — After eluding lawmen for nearly seven weeks in southeast Louisiana's tangled cypress marshes, a fugitive known as the "swamp rat" has been arrested — in the swamps — on charges of first-degree murder and armed robbery.

Charles Lee Hall, a former mental patient, "just went from one swamp to another" as hundreds of officers hunted him in boats and helicopters and on foot until finding him Thursday night, said Washington Parish Deputy W.E. "Sleepy" McGehee.

Hall, 42, was charged in the shooting death of retired engineer Leander L. Keller Jr., whose body was found Sept. 10 in a canal in St. John the Baptist Parish, about 50 miles from where Hall was apprehended.

He was returned to the parish to go before a judge today.

Police said Hall left his Manchac home earlier this year and apparently lived at several camps deep in the state's densest marshes.

Initially, Hall was wanted only for questioning in Keller's death. On Oct. 18, however, an arrest warrant was issued.

Flies find revenge in pond

WASHINGTON (AP) — Everyone knows that toads eat flies. But scientists mucking around a small Arizona pond find that some flies reverse the scenario by eating toads first.

Scientists at Cornell University say they've found the first evidence of a reversal in the usual toad-eats-fly pattern.

Larvae of large horseflies found in the mud of an Arizona pond set a unique trap for passing toads and manage to get some of the toads who would have later gobbled them, according to a report to be published today in Science magazine.

Drs. Thomas Eisner and Daniel Aneshansley of Cornell, and graduate student Stephen Nowicki, said they decided to investigate the unusual phenomenon because no evidence of such a role reversal has been published before.

Nowicki said in a telephone interview that he and Eisner stumbled upon the role reversal in August 1982 while filming a naturalist documentary near Portal, a town in Cochise County.

They saw thousands of young spadefoot toads, formally called Scaphiopus multiplicatus, emerging from a pond and congregating on the muddy shores.

Rodger Jackman of South Devon, England, a cameraman for the British Broadcasting Co., first noticed that some of the small toads appeared trapped in the mud, and were dead or dying, Nowicki said.

"When we attempted to pull fresh carcasses from the mud with forceps," said the report, "we always felt a counterpull, which persisted until almost the moment of extraction of the toads. The predator remained concealed below the surface and seemed capable of quick evasive burrowing."

"We found a great irony in this reversal of the roles of predator and victim."

Higher temperatures

The dome of cool Canadian air that brought readings in the low 40s to much of Texas Thursday morning shifted into the southern Mississippi Valley and temperatures over Texas were 10 degrees warmer this morning.

Early morning readings were mostly in the 50s and 60s, although it was still in the 40s from deep East Texas into the Hill Country.

The coolest place in the state was San Antonio where it was 43 degrees at 4 a.m. Corpus Christi had a balmy 70.

Skies remained clear over most of the state except for the trans-Pecos region of West Texas where multi-layered clouds pushed in by an upper-air low produced some widely scattered light rain showers.

One-hundredth inch of rain fell during the night at El Paso for the state's only recorded rainfall.

The forecast called for more widely scattered light rain showers over the trans-pecos region and isolated showers and thunderstorms across much of the high plains.

Elsewhere skies were expected to be sunny with south winds increasing to 10 to 20 miles an hour statewide. Highs were expected to be in the upper 60s across the Davis mountains and warm to the 70s and 80s elsewhere.

The sun shone on most of the nation Thursday, although rain showers were widely scattered in northeastern New England and southern New Mexico and patches of fog remained along the shores of the Pacific Northwest.

A frost warning was posted for parts of South Carolina.

For Friday, widely scattered rain was expected in New England, the upper Great Lakes and the northern Pacific Coast.

Widely scattered showers were forecast for southern New Mexico and southwest Texas.

High temperatures should be in the upper 40s in northern Maine and northern Minnesota and the 50s from central New England across the Great Lakes, northern Minnesota, North Dakota, northeastern Montana and northern Washington. The mercury was expected to reach the 80s in the Virginias, and from western Kentucky across Alabama, from southern Illinois across the central Gulf Coast, in the lower Mississippi Valley, eastern Oklahoma, parts of Texas, and Florida.

West Texas: Scattered showers and isolated thunderstorms northern mountains. Otherwise, isolated showers most of area today. Partly cloudy tonight and sunny Saturday. Cooler north and warmer far west Saturday. Highs today 70s, except upper 40s in the mountains and far west. Lows tonight 40s in the Panhandle to 53 extreme south. Highs Saturday 60s in the Panhandle to 81 in the Big Bend valleys.

Voluntary prayer law is neither

"Good day, class. We will now bow our heads and pray to our Lord...."

Hold on. Which lord should children pray to in the public schools?

If the local school boards decided, that would probably mean a Mormon school prayer in Salt Lake City, a Jewish prayer in New York, a Baptist prayer in Dallas, a Roman Catholic prayer in Boston.

But what if you were Protestant in Salt Lake City, or Jewish in Dallas, or Baptist in Boston or Roman Catholic in New York? What if you were Buddhist or Moslem or agnostic?

Well, then you could remain silent, while the rest of the kids recite after their teacher.

Or you could make up your own prayer.

Or you could be intimidated and follow along with the majority.

Or you could take your case to court, charging that your constitutional right to religious freedom had been violated.

Not if the United States adopts a constitutional amendment to permit group prayer in public schools, you couldn't. The amendment, proposed by President Reagan, reads:

"Nothing in this Constitution shall be construed to prohibit individual or group prayer in the public schools or in other public institutions. No person shall be required by the United States or by any state to participate in prayer."

It would permit public prayers in public schools, a practice which has been barred since a 1962 Supreme Court decision that such prayers violate the First Amendment. The amendment guarantees that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

The voluntary school prayer amendment is opposed by organizations of teachers who would have to administer it. It is opposed by mainstream Protestant and Jewish groups as violating the historic separation of church and state the Founding Fathers built into our Constitution. It is opposed by the Roman Catholic Church as being too diluted; the Catholic church advocates voluntary religious teaching in the schools.

Fundamentalist Protestant groups and conservatives are spearheading the effort to pass it. They show a Gallup Poll that records 81 percent of the American people favor the voluntary school prayer amendment.

We support the religious impulse behind the well-meaning amendment.

But we must firmly reject any intervention by the government into the religious affairs of the American people. We must oppose any amendment or law which would authorize organized prayer in the schools, either in groups or through a moment of silence.

Why this rejection of school prayer?

Because the government has no business intruding into the soul of schoolchildren, or anyone else. It would be as discriminatory as segregation, excluding some children from the group for their religious beliefs and making them strangers in their own school.

This country began as a refuge for victims of religious intolerance. It has deep religious roots. But the American way to protect religion has been to give it freedom. And religion has flourished in this country, defying predictions of the death of God, defying assimilation of minority religions into one single denomination, defying the materialistic and profane aspects of modern society.

We must stop Washington from dragging prayer into the schools by the ear of kicking and screaming schoolchildren and dragging religion through the mud of politics.

The source

You don't know me, but I think it is important that you do.

A lot of labels could describe me: world-traveler, trombone player, former teacher, or reader of history. But the label which should concern you the most is city reporter, which I have been for all of two weeks here at the Herald.

You consider the source before accepting any piece of information you come across. You are more likely to believe Aunt Celestine when she says it's time for dinner than when she says that no-good Danny White ought to hang up his cleats and sell insurance, though you may agree on both counts.

For much of the news about the City of Big Spring — the city council, police and fire departments — I'm your source. The one you get the facts from. Because I don't plan to get into the insurance business very soon, you should know more about me.

I come out of an oil family. My dad is on the verge of retirement after more than 35 years of service to his company. With that company we have lived in Illinois, Venezuela, Connecticut, Colorado, California and Texas. I graduated from Lee High School in Midland, went to a small liberal arts college in Los Angeles — coming back each summer to work in the oilfields — and then went on to 3½ years of teaching English as a foreign language in Takamatsu, Japan.

After all this, I have learned to plow myself down in cultures as different as California, Texas and Japan, speak the local dialect and see what the people are about.

I don't think I can call myself a Texan, though I seem to develop a drawl when buying gas or something at the 7-Eleven. I guess I'm a Californian, though I certainly don't like to admit it — not in Texas, anyway.

What I know I am is an American. Three and a half years of watching the clockwork of a foreign culture and of being a spokesman for my own culture has shown me that clearly. I think like an American. I have American ideals.

I cannot say yet with such certainty that I am a newspaperman. I have read about these creatures — and dreamed about being one — all my life. They are basically honest, idealistic people. They rush around a city and talk to people with something to say. Sometimes they try to get information from people who don't want to give it. They tell you information you need to know. They are your eyes, your ears, your watchdog.

They make judgements about what is news and what is not, and in doing so they have a responsibility to separate the important from the trivial with intelligence and impartiality. They also have a responsibility to get facts right.

Since I now include myself among these creatures you should get to know me better and consider the source when you read one of my stories.

We're sailing as fast as we can

The U.S. Navy is getting a real workout. Just the other day the captain of the aircraft carrier "Snail Darter" was carrying out exercises in the Indian Ocean when his communication officer came in with a radio message.

"Washington has ordered us to proceed immediately to the coast of Nicaragua and stand by to interdict any ships bringing in arms to the Sandinista government. At the same time we're to let through any boats bringing arms to Honduras, but we're to stop and search vessels approaching El Salvador to make sure they are not supplying the rebels."

"Left rudder right, steady as she goes."

Two weeks later. The communications officer wakes up the captain. "Sir, urgent dispatch, top secret from NAV ATLANTIC. Disregard taking up station off Nicaragua and proceed immediately to Sea of Japan and stand by in South Korean waters to guard against sneak attack by North Korean planes. Patrol entire area on 24-hour basis."

The captain said, "Tell them message received and make course for South Korea."

"How do we get there, sir? The carrier's too big for the Panama Canal."

"I guess we have to go around the tip of Argentina. We better refuel in Brazil."

"Aye, aye, sir."

Three weeks later the navigation officer comes on the bridge. "We should be off South Korea tomorrow night, sir."

"Good."

"Sir, message from White House Situation Room."

"Read it."

"Proceed maximum speed to San Diego, pick up 2,000 U.S. Marines and then sail to Beirut and stand off Med to give air cover to peacekeeping troops. Further orders forthcoming as you approach station."

"Good grief, don't they know where we are?"

"Yessir. I told them our position, but they said this is priority one."

"Turn the damn thing around, helmsman, and let's see how we can get to Beirut from here."

Four weeks later.

"We're going through the Strait of Gibraltar, sir."

"Notify NAV Naples. Tell them we should be off Beirut in three days."

"Just got a rocket from NAV MED flagship, sir. We're to alter course and head direct for the Strait of Hormuz."

"Do they say why?"

"Apparently the French have sold fighter planes and Exocet missiles to the Iraqis, and the Iraqis are threatening to close the strait and cut off Mideast oil. Our mission is to make sure they don't do it."

"Do we have any up-to-date maps of the Strait?"

"Washington is sending them out by special messenger. They should be here in 24 hours."

"Now hear this. This is the captain speaking. This ship is not going to Beirut. We are proceeding to Iran. The Iraqis may try to close Strait of Hormuz. Unfortunately they are flying American planes we sold them when the shah was there. So make sure when you shoot down aircraft it's one of theirs and not one of ours. Also don't shoot down any French planes unless they shoot at us. Good hunting, men."

A week later. "Telephone call for you, captain, on scrambler."

"Ted, this is Beetle at NAVOPS. There seems to be some sort of dustup in the Philippines, and Marcos could fall. We have to get a carrier there as fast as possible to show the flag. This order comes straight from the top. Full power, Ted, and don't zigzag."

"For God's sake, Beetle. Tell them I'm sailing as fast as I can."

A government, a man and the truth

WASHINGTON — A year ago, I reported that a Defense Department auditor had blown the whistle on improprieties by a major defense contractor — and was being punished for his disclosures. Not only did the Pentagon brass do nothing to correct the abuses, they harassed the honest investigator and tried to force him out of his job.

The unsung hero was George Spanton, a respected, career auditor with the Defense Contract Audit Agency. He spent years ferreting out waste and mismanagement in the defense establishment, without getting into trouble.

Then he was assigned to keep an expert eye on Air Force contracts with Pratt & Whitney — and the roof fell on him. My associates Donald Goldberg and Indy Badwar have pieced together more of the story.

Spanton discovered that Pratt & Whitney was overcharging the Air Force for spare parts that could be purchased only from the company. He reported excessive labor costs and complained of serious difficulty in gaining access to the company's files.

All that was embarrassing enough. But then Spanton committed the unforgivable offense: On Feb. 11, 1982, he wrote a memo questioning Pratt & Whitney's lavish wining and dining of government officials, some of whom were in a position to look the other way when the company overcharged the taxpayers.

Spanton found that Pratt & Whitney played the generous host to "high-ranking military and civilian personnel, including generals, admirals, congressmen, Air Force test pilots and other DOD employees."

At the very least, this entertainment was a violation of Defense

Department regulations — by both Pratt & Whitney and the freeload employees who accepted the company's largesse.

Spanton knew his memo would touch some raw nerves in high places. So he wasn't surprised when, on July 7, 1982, he was visited by John Batson, a special agent in the Defense Criminal Investigative Service. Batson informed Spanton that he was the subject of a criminal investigation.

Unfortunately for the vengeful authorities, Batson — like Spanton — is an honest cop. After an exhaustive investigation, Batson filed a report that said: "All significant leads have been followed, and available evidence does not indicate that Spanton was involved in any criminal activity..."

Batson not only gave Spanton a clean bill of health, he also confirmed the auditor's charges. Batson reported that in the period from 1978 to 1980 Pratt & Whitney had spent at least $500,000 entertaining government officials.

At this time, the matter has also been investigated by the FBI and the Air Force's Office of Special Investigations, and evidence is now in the hands of a grand jury. Pratt & Whitney vigorously disputes all charges of wrongdoing.

Meanwhile, the big brass have tried unsuccessfully to force Spanton into retirement or get him to accept a transfer that would have gotten him out of Pratt & Whitney's hair. This fact, too, was dutifully reported by Batson.

Sen. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, is planning hearings on the Spanton case. He wrote Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger: "We must reward the George Spantons of the world and punish those who muzzle him."

Weinberger's response was ambiguous: "I know you share my view that no one should be disciplined or removed on the basis of unverified rumors." Did he mean Spanton — or his persecutors?

Footnote: Government employees who have stories to tell but want their identities protected can contact Whistleblowers Anonymous, Box 2300, Washington, D.C. 20013. No one will blame them for wishing to avoid the harassments that Spanton has gone through.

WHOPPER OF THE WEEK: For political reasons, Treasury Secretary Donald Regan is stoutly insisting there's no evidence that huge federal deficits drive interest rates up.

It's a contention that flies in the face of conventional wisdom — to say nothing of contradicting the view ardently held by President Reagan's conservative backers and some of the Treasury's own economists.

The trouble is that the administration is coming under fire

Christians can't keep their secret

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: It is all very well for you to believe in God, if that is your desire, but why do you try to push your views on other people? I don't believe in God, and I have dedicated myself to helping others realize we don't need religion. — R. N.

DEAR R. N.: It sounds to me like you are guilty of the same thing you accuse me and other Christians of doing — trying "to push your views on other people!" We live in a free nation and you are free to believe as you want — but you must respect the rights of others also.

Imagine for a moment that a scientist had made a major breakthrough on the fight against cancer, such as a vaccine that would completely immunize a person against that dreaded disease for the rest of his life. But imagine also that the scientist decided that he would use the vaccine only for himself, and never make it available to the rest of the human race. What would be your attitude toward him? I think you would agree he would be guilty of gross neglect and selfishness, and you would be indignant at his failure to prevent thousands from dying of cancer.

Christians believe that the human race — every human being — has a fatal disease. It is not a physical disease but a spiritual disease, a disease so terrible that it causes spiritual death and hell. Furthermore, the Christian knows there is only one cure for this disease, and that is Jesus Christ. In spite of our sin, God loves us and has provided the cure by sending his Son into the world to die for our sins. Now I know you do not believe that is true — but can you understand why those of us who are convinced it is true want to share that good news with others? It would be criminal for us to keep silent, when we know Christ is the answer to the deepest needs of the human heart.

Your question saddens me because it tells me you have deliberately turned your back on God and are refusing even to consider that you might be wrong. I challenge you to reconsider.

Halloween starts run on costumes

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — All of Rita Parness' witches joined the church and were converted to nuns this year, jut in time for Halloween.

Ms. Parness, owner of the Take One costume rental shop, had no choice. Habits, priests' collars and other religious garb were snapped up so quickly that even her graduation gowns were pressed into service as blue nuns.

In all, 26 nuns, at $20 each, made it out of the Take One store in this Phoenix suburb, while ghouls didn't have a ghost of a chance.

"No witches," she said. "Nobody asks for witches anymore."

Part of the reason may be that nun and priest costumes are more comfortable and less expensive than most.

'Mama's boy' jailed for walking to store

CHICAGO (AP) — A 54-year-old "mama's boy," sentenced to spend two years at home under his mother's wing for burglary, was rearrested for taking a walk by himself and sentenced to six years in prison.

"He was always tied to my apron strings, but he left the house to get some medicine and was picked up," Gessner Cochran, 75, said Thursday of her son, Perry. "He didn't do anything bad. I want him back."

"He always was a homebody even when he was little, and he did my housework, shoveled snow and mowed the lawn," Mrs. Cochran said. "He is a good boy."

Circuit Judge Dwight McKay passed sentence Monday as Mrs. Cochran and the family's pastor pleaded for leniency. Public defender George Morrissey said he will appeal the severity of the sentence.

Mrs. Cochran has an ailing 79-year-old husband to care for. A second son, Reggie, 33, lives at home but is busy with his junkyard job. The family lives in suburban Robbins in a modest neighborhood.

"Judge McKay originally sentenced Perry to home confinement from January 1982 to January 1984 on a burglary charge," Morrissey said. "He took in consideration that Perry since 1965 did not have an arrest record."

McKay, contacted by telephone Thursday, declined comment on the case.

Morrissey said the big sentence probably resulted in part from the news coverage the case drew originally.

"I was angry when Perry said he was going to the store without me," Mrs. Cochran said. "I really didn't see him leave. I told him not to."

"He never complained about housework and I don't think he got fed up with it," she said. "He has bad eyes and he just wanted to get some medicine for them."

"It was the first time he ever left on his own. In a couple of months he would have served his home sentence and could do what he wanted."

"Before then (1965) he had been in and out of jail several times on misdemeanor convictions," Morrissey said. "Perry said he had found God, his attitude had changed and he was in charge of a Bible study program."

Perry was convicted of breaking into a home and stealing, among other things, a TV set. Morrissey said that in passing the unusual home sentence, McKay also took into account crowded prisons.

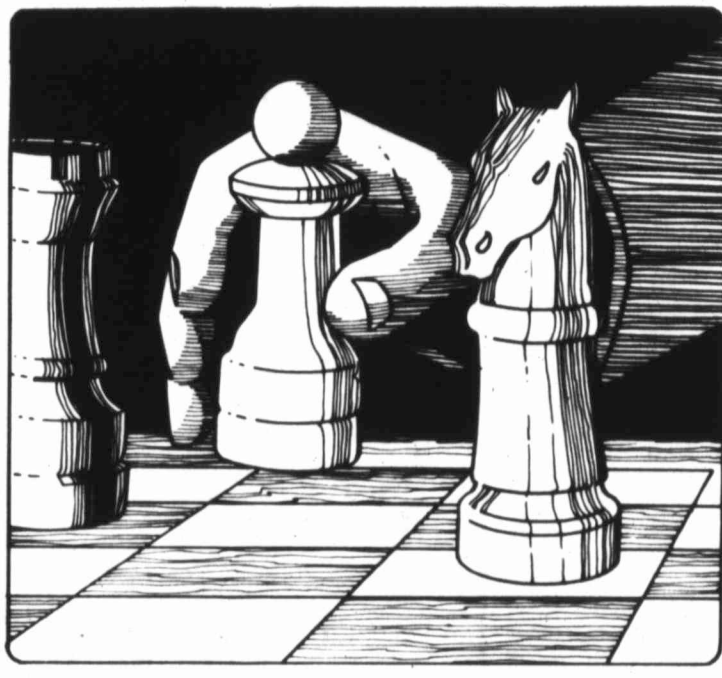

Perry went "straight" for 19 months, obeying the sentence that allowed him to leave home only to take his mother shopping or to church, Morrissey said.

"Police were familiar with the case. They picked him up three months ago walking on the street by himself 1 1/2 miles from home," said Morrissey. "He was in custody from that time until sentencing Monday. He indicated he was returning from a store where he went to buy medicine."

Women's Club to sell cookbooks

Members of GFWC Big Spring Junior Women's Club have begun selling Caprock District Cookbooks since Oct. 17. The cookbooks will be available at a bake sale at Big Spring Mall Dec. 3. Yearbooks also were passed out at the club meeting which took place Oct. 17. Tentative plans were made for a social Nov. 5. Some members traveled to Anton Saturday to attend the Caprock District Fall Board Meeting and workshop. The club received its charter at the meeting.

Mrs. Joyce Crooker of Mr. G's Garden Center presented a program on constructing holiday wreaths and decorations. She supplied members with ribbons and instructions for making bows. Board members attended the Western District Fall Board Meeting Oct. 8. The meeting was hosted by GFWC Forsan Study Club and was held at Big Spring Country Club. Gifts were bought for a Halloween Treat Bag to be sent to the club's adopted daughter at Whiteface.

10 percent of food wasted by consumers

"Food - Waste Not" was the Elbow Extension Homemakers Club program presented by Joyce Soles Oct. 20. Ms. Soles said many homes may waste as much as 10 percent of the total food brought into the home. The three most common ways of wasting food are improper storage, preparing and serving too much food and ordering too much food at a restaurant.

Martha Barden was a guest. The next meeting is Nov. 3 at Virginia Roberts home.

Moss School to host Halloween Carnival

Moss Elementary will be the site of a Moss Halloween Carnival from 5:30 to 8 p.m. Monday. The public is invited. Participants will be entertained by the following types of booths: Toy Walk, Go Fishing, Dart Throw, Cake Walk, Coke Toss, Pick-a-Pocket, and Sweet Shop. Moss will serve hot dogs, frito pie, nachos and cokes in the cafeteria.

Area military retirees to be honored at base

Goodfellow Air Force Base will host the 2nd annual Retiree's Appreciation Day for West Texas retired military personnel Oct. 29. Military retirees may visit services available to retirees and handle business in offices normally open during duty hours. Registration is at Consolidated Open Mess at 8 a.m., followed by briefings on Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS), survivor benefits, County Veterans' Services, and expansion programs at Goodfellow. Many base agencies will be open from 10:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. to provide service. The personnel office will provide military life insurance and burial benefits information. The base legal office will offer legal consultations by appointment. Call (915) 653-3231, ext. 2248 for appointment. The pharmacy will honor existing prescriptions and have medical services available. The finance office will answer financial questions. Security police pass and identification section will issue identification cards and register vehicles.

Dr. Donohue

Basal cell cancer

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have suffered from basal cell carcinoma. Some doctors have removed malignant spots by burning surgically. The sores appeared mostly on the chest, neck and shoulder, and in a few cases on the face. I have been told that there is no cure. There must be thousands of people who have this disease caused by overexposure to the sun. Are common brown spots related to this carcinoma? I am anxious to read your comments.—M.T.G.

Basal cell skin cancers are curable, and completely so in well over 90 percent of the cases; the earlier detected and treated the better the outcome. Such cancers are usually smooth, waxy, firm growths with varying amounts of brownish pigmentation, and with border sort of heaped up. The centers of the growths are somewhat depressed. Ulceration often occurs.

Treatment? That depends on size, how deeply they have penetrated into the skin, and where they are located. But all treatments are quite successful in most instances. The basal cell cancer can be cut out, scraped, then dried up with an electric device, or frozen with liquid nitrogen. These are not the only treatments.

Yes, basal cell skin cancer is related to sun damage in many, and you give me a chance (albeit an off-season chance) to remind people about protecting themselves from ultraviolet light.

About other brown spots: Many are benign, yet unwelcome from a cosmetic standpoint. A common form of brown spots is seborrheic keratosis, which often appear in multiple arrays and grow. There are oval affairs with a cauliflower-like surface and seem to be "pasted" onto the skin surface. But any such spot, brown or otherwise, should be investigated if there is the slightest doubt. The earlier any kind of skin cancer is treated, the better the chances for total cure.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My son-in-law, age 35, had a physical and blood was found in his urine, not the kind that is visible to the naked eye, however, but microscopically. He went to a specialist, had special X-rays of his kidneys and cystoscopy. All was normal. Six weeks later he had another urine test in which blood was found again. His doctor didn't seem concerned about it and didn't request a return visit. Is this cause for concern?—Mrs. R.G.

Your son-in-law had microscopic hematuria, blood in the urine not visible to the naked eye, but seen via a microscope. That indicates only that there were not enough number of blood cells to cause discoloration, but blood cells nonetheless.

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble"—it could be dangerous. Read the booklet, "Your Kidneys—Facts You Need to Know About Them." For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Turkeywalk to benefit the American Heart Association

Volunteers for the Howard County Division of the American Heart Association are participating in a Turkeywalk Nov. 12 at Big Spring State Park on Scenic Mountain.

Turkeywalkers are getting pledges for every mile they walk. Prizes will be given to walkers raising $100 or more for AHA. Persons raising $50 to $100 will be given a Turkeywalk T-shirt. All participants will receive a Turkeywalk Survivor Certificate.

Fashion workshop presented to Hyperions by Sakowitz reps

A fashion show and accessory workshop was presented to members of the 1970 Hyperion Club Oct. 14. Johanna Harris, personal shopper and buyer for Sakowitz of Midland, demonstrated wardrobe planning and coordination.

Two other Sakowitz representatives presented current shoe and handbag selections and accessories such as jewelry, scarves and belts. The meeting was held at First Baptist Church. Plans were finalized on the nacho booth at the Arts and Crafts Fair held recently. Members of other local Hyperion Clubs were guests at the meeting.

Dear Abby

Mother searches for daughter's cure

DEAR ABBY: I need some advice fast. I have a 13-year-old daughter who is crazy in love with a 19-year-old neighbor boy. Today, you hear about 12- and 13-year-old girls getting pregnant, and I am out of my mind with worry. So how do I keep my precious daughter from making this mistake? I keep close tabs on her. She isn't allowed to date this boy, but she may talk to him in front of the house.

Abby, I pray every night, and I know God hears me, but I need to know how to handle this in a calm manner. Every time I think of it, I cry. I hear her talking to her friends on the phone, and I know she is in terrible danger. She "loves" this boy so much, she would do anything he asked her to do. (I pray to God she hasn't already done it.)

I can't lock her up. I have talked to her about love, making love, and how important it is to save herself for marriage, but I'm not sure I got through to her. Please help me. I am desperate.

GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: First, have a calm, non-judgmental, heart-to-heart talk with your daughter and find out what the relationship is between her and the 19-year-old neighbor man — not boy. Does he have a serious interest in your daughter? Or is she (like many 13-year-old girls) living in a dream world?

If your daughter is sexually involved with this young man, have a talk with him. Does he know that sexual intercourse with a minor is statutory rape? And does your daughter know everything she needs to know about how to prevent an unwanted pregnancy? (Don't make the mistake some mothers make in thinking that if they discuss it with their daughters it's the same as giving them permission. It's not.)

If your daughter has a father, include him in this discussion. She's his daughter too. (P.S. Prayer is wonderful. But it's a very unreliable contraceptive.)

DEAR ABBY: After a homosexual male has had a sex-change operation and becomes a female, is he then a heterosexual, bisexual or is he still a homosexual?

This is not a joke, Abby, it's a question that has been puzzling me for a long time.

Luther's birthday celebrated

The Lutheran Churches throughout the world will observe the 500th anniversary of Martin Luther's birth, Nov. 10. Luther was a noted hymn writer and liturgologist, as well as a theologian and reformer.

Luther was born in Eisleben, Germany on Nov. 10, 1483. He entered the monastery of the Augustinian Order of Erfurt in 1505. After becoming a priest, Luther was sent to the University of Wittenberg to occupy the chair of the Bible. Luther received his doctorate of theology Oct. 18, 1512.

Luther began lecturing on the books of the Bible. During that time, he was appointed preacher in the monastery. Three years later he was appointed district vicar with several monasteries under his jurisdiction.

"Luther had a concern that the Christian church should base all of its teaching strictly on the Bible. At that particular time a lot of things were being practiced in the Christian church which was not Bible-based," said Dr. Carroll Kohl, pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran Church. "In an attempt to bring the church back to the Bible, he was seen as a threat to the church and was therefore denounced and removed from membership in the church."

form the protestant church, because they were no longer accepted in the Roman Catholic Church.

Luther discovered a new truth through his study of the scriptures. The truth became the theme for 95 theses which he nailed to the Wittenberg Castle Church door on Oct. 17, 1517 for professors and students to read.

The theses resulted in a series of debates. Luther was summoned to defend himself in Heidelberg, Augsburg, Leipzig and Worms. Following the Diet of Worms, where Luther appeared before the church's highest officers and was interrogated, Prince Frederick had him kidnapped.

During his ten months stay at Wartburg Castle, Luther translated the New Testament into everyday German. Before Luther died, the New Testament had been printed in 253 languages.

Luther also was an advocate for human needs in life.

"The impact of Luther was on all the Christian churches. The whole Christian church throughout the world benefitted through the works done by this man," Kohl said.

Leifeld speaks at conference

The San Angelo Diocesan Charismatic Service Group will sponsor the Diocese of San Angelo Fall Catholic Charismatic Conference at Sacred Heart School Gymnasium in San Angelo, Nov. 4-6. Sacred Heart School Gymnasium is located at Oakes and Bearegard. The theme of the conference is "The Time of Harvest is at Hand."

Martin Leifeld, guest speaker, will speak about "Who is the Evangelist?" at 8:30 p.m., Nov. 4, and "Equipping the Evangelist" at 10 a.m., Nov. 5. He also will instruct Workshop Four about "Spiritual Boldness."

Leifeld plans, coordinates and executes all Christian conferences at the University of Steubenville as director of the Christian Conference Office. He is a graduate of the University of Steubenville and is currently working on a master degree at the university. Registration is at 6 p.m., Nov. 4. Another registration will be at 8 a.m., Nov. 5. Four workshops will be held.

For more information, call the Rev. Bob Bush at 267-4124.

MIKE WARNKE

Warnke gives concert

Mike Warnke, an internationally renowned evangelist, will give a concert at East Fourth Street Baptist Church at 8:30 p.m., Nov. 6.

Warnke will describe his former life as a hippie, Marine Corps medic, drug addict/pusher and demonic worshiper. He is the author of the books, "The Satan Seller" and "Hitchhiking on Hope Street."

He has spoken at conferences in the U.S., Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Denmark and Sweden.

Warnke and his wife Rose co-author a column in Contemporary Christian Music Magazine. Warnke was Record World Magazine's Contemporary and Inspirational Non-Musical Artist of the Year for 1976, 1977, 1978 and 1979. He has a bachelor of arts degree from Valley Christian University and a doctorate degree in philosophy.

Film shown tonight

John Hus, a film on the life of the noted 15th century Bohemian priest, will be shown at the Upper Room, 313 Runnels, at 8:30 p.m., Oct. 28. The public is invited.

John Hus is a presentation of a historical figure who planted the seeds of the Protestant Reformation 100 years before Martin Luther.

Singspiration held

The First Church of the Nazarene will have its fifth Sunday Singspiration at 6 p.m., Sunday. The Sanctuary Choir, solos, duets, trios, and quartets will sing. Jerry McGuire, music director, will lead an old-fashioned sing-along.

"A GOING CHURCH FOR A COMING SAVIOR"

John Hus

The history books make little mention of this Bohemian priest and scholar who lived 100 years before Luther and the Protestant Reformation. Yet, John Hus was convinced that the Bible should be presented in the language of the people, that salvation comes by faith in Jesus Christ, and that the Word of God is the final authority. He taught openly in the University of Prague and as a pastor—challenging the abuses of medieval Christendom. Not only departing from the Latin mass, Hus introduced congregational singing into his church and ultimately incurred the wrath of the church hierarchy.

Intrigue and false promises weave a powerful story of one man's commitment to faith in Jesus Christ. In the end, Hus was accused, imprisoned, and charged with heresy. Ultimately, he was condemned and burned at the stake as a heretic.

Handicapped grandmother wheeling across nation

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — A handicapped grandmother says she is driving her motorized wheelchair from Pennsylvania to Florida to try to convince others with disabilities that "they can do something worthwhile."

Geraldine Yocum of Bethlehem, Pa., stopped near Frederick Tuesday, two days after beginning her trek. "I hate to see handicapped people sitting at home thinking they cannot do anything," said the 65-year-old Mrs. Yocum.

"This is in hopes of showing handicapped persons they can do something worthwhile," said Mrs. Yocum's husband, Albert. Yocum and the couple's granddaughter, Rebecca Haas, are making the trip with Mrs. Yocum, following her wheelchair in a trailer.

Mrs. Yocum, who lost a leg as a result of polio, said her wheelchair "is like a little motorcycle" complete with a basket in which groceries can be carried. On Tuesday it also sported a sign which said "Wheelin' Granny, Pa. to Fla."

Mrs. Yocum said she is trying to cover 100 miles a day in her gasoline-powered hand-controlled wheelchair, which she said can reach speeds of 30 mph. Her ultimate destination is Epcot, Fla.

Embryo transfer 'success'

CHICAGO (AP) — The first transfer of live embryos between monkeys has resulted in healthy births, raising hopes that women who cannot produce eggs or the hormones needed to sustain pregnancy may one day be able to "adopt" embryos and bear children, doctors say.

Such embryo transfers have been possible for years among lower animals, but doctors have believed that among primates and humans, an embryo grown from a genetically foreign egg might be rejected by the female receiving it.

That fear has been allayed with the births of four monkeys fertilized in the bodies of their genetic mothers but transferred to females lacking ovaries. The recipients had been prepared for pregnancy with hormone treatments.

Such a technique, if it worked in humans, would in effect allow a mother to "adopt" an embryo and carry the fetus through an otherwise normal pregnancy.

"The implications are that ... we could accommodate the establishment of pregnancy in a woman who doesn't have ovarian function but does have a functional uterus," said the researcher who conducted the study, Gary D. Hodgen of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md.

He reported his findings in Friday's Journal of the American Medical Association.

"There are ethical, social and legal issues inherent in these considerations," Hodgen said in a telephone interview Thursday.

But in an accompanying Journal editorial, Howard W. Jones Jr. of Eastern Virginia Medical School in Norfolk said, "It is relevant to mention that child adoption is considered highly ethical in most segments of society."

"While there is a big difference between a child and conceptus (embryo and accompanying tissue)," Jones wrote, "the difference is much less to the eyes of the adopters, and it can even be argued that parental instincts may be increased by intrauterine adoption rather than later adoption."

Human embryo transfer would allow pregnancies in women who are unable to have children and are not candidates for artificial insemination or in vitro — test tube — fertilization.

Four successful pregnancies resulted, all progressing normally and resulting in healthy births, Hodgen said.

Friday's football forecast

Stanton (4-4) at Wall (7-1)

Stanton has won its last three games, all in district play, and takes 3-0 against unbeaten Wall. The Buffs pulled out a win in this game last year thanks to a field goal by Scott Church. This game should also be tight. Buffs passing attack led by QB Darren Sorley has really come to life. Wall is led by tight end Doyle Weishuhn and RB Mark Ray. Should be biggest test in weeks for SHS defense which has allowed just two TD's in last three games. This year, however, the Hawks have too much and will claim an 8-AA championship. (Game time 7:30 p.m.) Wall 19, Stanton 14

Coahoma (3-5) at Ozona (3-5)

Coahoma has lost four straight games and first three in 6-AAA play. Ozona is 0-3; the winner of this game moves out of league cellar. Bulldogs have had trouble hanging onto the football in recent weeks. Ozona has great individual talent but depth problems and injuries have hurt. CHS needs a win before tangling with top 5-rated Ballinger next week. They'll snap out of streak tonight. (Game time 7:30 p.m.) Coahoma 26, Ozona 18

Colorado City (5-3) at Sonora (5-3)

Despite the one-touchdown loss to Ballinger, the Wolves are still in playoff picture with 2-1 league mark. Sonora bounced Coahoma last week to retain faint hopes with 1-2 record. C-City almost pulled off win over Bearcats behind passing of QB Doug Chitsey who has thrown for over 1,000 yards. Sonora scored 32 points against Coahoma and has played over 6-AAA teams close. Still, the Wolves have too much firepower to handle. (Game time 7:30 p.m.) Colorado City 23, Sonora 20

Lamesa (2-5) at Pecos (5-2)

Lamesa battled Monahans on even terms for three quarters before falling last week. Golden Tors piled up over 250 yards in total offense but saw the Lobos turn it on in final period. Pecos has already topped Andrews in league play and has played better than most thought. Web Bolinger is team leader on a squad that had only five players back from last year. Home field advantage gives nod to Pecos. (Game time 8 p.m.) Pecos 25, Lamesa 21

G-City (4-4) at Sterling City (4-3-1)

Garden City needs two wins and lots of help to make the playoffs after one-point loss last week to Eden. Sterling City is down from last year's squad with only five starters back from 8-3 playoff unit. The Bearcats moved football well in second half against Eden but missed tying PAT in third quarter and never got another chance to score. This week, the luck will turn G-City's way. (Game time is 7:30 p.m.) Garden City 20, Sterling City 12

Roscoe (7-1) at Klondike (4-4)

Klondike has won three straight games and put itself in position to battle Roscoe for the district title. The Cougars have Rolando Juanitos to run pass and Scott Runge to pass. Defense has given up two TD's in last four games and recorded two shutouts. Roscoe has rolled over 7 opponents since opening game loss, boasting excellent size and ability to cash in on opponents' mistakes. This should be a real shootout, but as I said last week, the 1982 state finalists just have too much for anyone in 7-A this year. (Game time 7:30 p.m.) Roscoe 30, Klondike 20

Roby (3-5) at Forsan (1-6-1)

Forsan is still winless in 7-A North Zone play and has played the league co-leaders in the past two weeks, losing to Roscoe and Klondike. The young Buffs have outstanding players in RB Mitch Hays and QB-LB Todd East and others are coming along says coach Jan East. Roby has won once in district play against Lorraine but is having problems with size and offense. The Buffaloes bounce back this week and grab first league win. (Game time 7:30 p.m.) Forsan 26, Roby 12

Eden (5-3) at Greenwood (6-2)

By winning six straight games, Greenwood has moved itself into a position to win the 7-A South Zone title this week against Eden. The Rangers are 5-0 while Eden, the defending zone champs, are 3-2. Roger Smith is a 1,000-yard rusher for Greenwood but backfield mate Todd Foris had 143 yards last week. Bulldogs are small and quick and RB Billy White can score on any given play. Biggest test to date in district for Rangers but they'll come through once more. (Game time 7:30 p.m.) Greenwood 28, Eden 22

Grady (3-4) at Paint Creek (1-6)

Grady played its poorest game of season last week against Borden Co., coach Richard Gibson said. This week, the Wildcats have good chance to even record against Paint Creek. PC restarted its football program a couple of years back and is still building its program. Wildcats have too much offensive punch and defense for home team to handle. (Game time is 7 p.m.) Grady 54, Paint Creek 28

Football style 'trick or treat'

Steers host Permian 'Black Cats' in Halloween thriller

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
Sports Editor

'Tis the season for tricks and treats. And if the Permian Panthers work their usual 'Black Cat' magic, they'll be taking advantage of every treat and turning those into tricks on the football field.

The Panthers, ranked No. 7 in the state 5-A ratings, visit the Big Spring High Steers in an 8 p.m. District 4-5A game tonight at Memorial Stadium. A win is a must for Mojo after a loss to Midland Lee two weeks ago knocked Permian from first place.

The Panthers are 4-1 in 4-5A play, the same record held by Lee and Odessa. With the loss to the Rebels and Odessa High on the schedule next week, Permian can ill afford to slip up against the Steers. And the Steers would like nothing better than to end a long string of losses to the Panthers.

"I think they'll be really excited," BSHS coach Quinn Eudy said of his players earlier this week.

The one thing the Steers can not do against Permian is provide turnovers, or treats if you will. The Panthers have forced their opponents into 23 mistakes this season and cashed most of those errors in for points. Conversely, Permian has fumbled just five times and thrown two interceptions in eight games. The 23-8 ratio is the best among 4-5A teams.

This fact alone grabs the Steers' attention. Against No. 6 Midland Lee last week, Big Spring turned the football over six times and the Rebels converted five of the mistakes into touchdowns.

"If we didn't turn the ball over so much," Eudy said, "I think we'd play real well."

Big Spring has lost 14 fumbles and had 12 passes intercepted, the third highest total in the league.

The Panthers are the No. 1 offensive team in the league, grounding out 371 yards a contest. Quarterback Rex Lamberti has thrown for 1,055 yards and hit 63 per cent of his passes. In 105 attempts, has thrown 16 TD's and just two interceptions. Combined with 180 yards rushing, the senior averages 154.4 yards total offense a game.

Fullback Britt Hager is No. 5 in the league with 662 yards and 8 touchdowns. Marcus Hudgins, the tailback, has 392 yards and is No. 9 overall.

When Lamberti throws, the passes usually go to wingback Kirk Strahan or split end Shane Easley. Both have 14 catches and rank among the league's top 10.

The Panthers are able to move effectively on offense because of five big linemen. The front five averages 203 pounds per man with tackle Richard Rowntree the biggest at 250.

On defense, Mojo is much smaller but very quick. Like Lee, Permian prefers to go with as many one-way starters as possible. Only Strahan (wingback, cornerback), Hager (fullback, linebacker), Jerry Burleson (tight end, end) and Gerald Carman (guard, end) go two ways.

The player for the Steers to avoid is Hager. A blue-chip prospect at the linebacking position, Hager (194-pound senior) anchors a defensive unit that gives up just 182 yards a game.

"He's one of the better linebackers I've seen on film," praises Eudy. "This is just a typical Permian team. On offense, they run and throw the ball equally well. On defense, they're small and quick and run to the football well."

Eudy's game plan calls for the Steers to "run straight at them and option the football. We'll see if we can have some success doing that and then throw."

Junior Tommy Gartman (27 of 67, 329 yards) will start in place of senior Mark Johnson. Johnson, the starter for the past two games, aggravated a knee injury this week.

In other changes, sophomore Louis Puga has been called up and will start at offensive right guard in place of Doug Walker. Eudy made the move to keep his

Rockets' Murphy announces retirement

HOUSTON (AP) — Calvin Murphy, a 13-year veteran who once hit a National Basketball Association record of 78 consecutive free throws, says he is retiring from the Houston Rockets because it's "time to go do bigger and better things."

"It's a good feeling to say I didn't need to play basketball anymore," Murphy said Thursday in making the announcement.

Chuck Nevitt, at 7-5 the tallest player in the league, announced Thursday he will play this season in Italy. The Rockets cut Jeff Taylor, bringing the roster within the NBA's 12-player limit.

Murphy, a 5-foot-10 point guard, has not been a starter for two years. He averaged 17.9 points a game through his career and was 17th on the NBA's all-time scoring list.

He hit 89.2 percent of his free throw attempts, second only to the 90 percent average compiled by Rick Barry, who played much of his career with the Golden State Warriors and also played with the Rockets.

The decision to retire was his own, Murphy said.

"It dawned on me it was my time to step aside," he said. "I did a lot of soul searching. I wanted to do what was right for everyone concerned."

The Norwalk, Conn., native said his biggest thrill was playing on a Rockets team which reached the championship series in 1981.

Murphy set his consecutive free throw record between Dec. 27, 1980 and Feb. 28, 1981.

He had his best scoring season in 1977-78, when he averaged 25.6

Champions open NBA's 38th year

Six of the nine teams with new head coaches open their 1983-84 National Basketball Association seasons tonight as the league starts its 38th year.

Those openers include Atlanta and Mike Fratello at New Jersey, with new Coach Stan Albeck; Boston and K.C. Jones at Detroit, with Chuck Daly; San Diego and Jim Lynam at Portland and Golden State and John Bach at Seattle.

In other openers tonight, Indiana is at Milwaukee, Los Angeles at Kansas City, Utah at Denver, New York at Cleveland and Washington at Philadelphia.

The openers tonight will be played without the regular referees used by the NBA. The officials and the league have not reached an agreement on a new contract and union counsel Richie Phillips says there will be picketing at the game in Landover, Md. if no agreement is reached by gametime. According to the league, the officiating will be handled by substitute referees who worked the exhibition season.

Bill Fitch of Houston, Mo McHone of San Antonio and Kevin Loughery of Chicago must wait until Saturday to begin with their new teams. San Antonio is at Houston for the game that also marks the debut of Ralph Sampson with the Rockets and New Jersey is at Chicago.

Phoenix is at Dallas in another Saturday opener. Despite the preponderance of coaches with new teams, all of them have NBA experience.

Three were head men last year — Fitch went from Boston to Houston, Albeck from San Antonio to New Jersey and Loughery from Atlanta to Chicago.

Four others — Fratello, Bach, McHone and Lynam — are going from the assistant coaches' ranks to their first head coaching jobs.

Daly and Jones previously had head coaching jobs and are back this season. Daly was at Cleveland in the 1981-82 season and Jones was at Washington for three seasons from 1973-1976.

"I'm very excited and optimistic," Jones said. "This will be our first season at the helm and I feel we have a real solid nucleus of players returning from last year's team, which finished 56-26."

"I have a solid background in defense and that is how you build winners," Daly said. "Turnovers and too many shots blocked really hurt the Pistons last season. If we improve in those two areas, our defense should be substantially better. The playoffs is our immediate goal."

Two more teams will make the playoffs in each conference under the NBA's new postseason format.

The Bullets, at 42-40, missed the playoffs last season and they have a tough first game against the 76ers, who won 65 games and lost only 17 and then rolled to the title with a 12-1 mark in the playoffs.

UIL sports alignments

to be announced Sunday

University Interscholastic League athletic and academic alignments will be announced Sunday for the 1984-85 and 1985-86 school years.

Of particular interest in the status of Big Spring High. One of the smallest 5-A schools in the state, BSHS could remain in the largest classification or drop to AAAA.

The statewide re-alignments will be published in the Sunday Herald. — GREG JAKLEWICZ

BACKSTROKING BY THE REBELS — Big Spring High senior Terry Bordofski stretches out during the 100-yard backstroke Thursday against Midland Lee. Bordofski won the event in a time of 1:05.12.

BSHS, Lee swimmers split dual

By GREG JAKLEWICZ
 Sports Editor

Miscommunication between swimmers cost Big Spring High a sweep of its District 4-5A dual meet with Midland Lee Thursday evening.

Winning the 400 freestyle relay by a wide margin, third leg Charles Morse began his 100 yards before second leg Brigham Martin had touched the wall. The result was a disqualification of the eventual winning relay and a Rebel victory over Steers in the final team standings.

Lee, which finished second in the race, was awarded first place points and scored a 42-36 victory over BSHS. The Steer No. 2 team took third.

The ruling prevented a Big Spring sweep. Minutes earlier, Hartley Newell survived Jana Housman's tremendous finish to win the relay and clinch the Lady Steers' 36-29 victory.

The Rebels entered the relay with a 36-33 lead over the Steers. Had the results stood, Big Spring would have gained first (6) and third (1) place points to finish at 40; Lee would have had second (3) place points and ended the day at 39.

BSHS coach Harlan Smith shrugged off the misfortune and said:

"What's important is that we beat them. We swam very well and had a lot of our times drop. That's what counts."

Matched against a school with a similar number of contestants, Big Spring battled Lee down the wire in both boys' and girls' divisions.

Lee began the night with problems of its own. The Rebels entered the only medley relay team but failed to score points because of a disqualification on a turn. With the six first place points, Lee would still not have enough to catch the Lady Steers.

Newell, swimming the event for the first time, and Kelly Williamson went 1-2 in the 60 freestyle. Rita Fleckenstein began a string of five consecutive first for BSHS by winning the 100 freestyle in 1:06.11.

Williamson followed with a win (7:55.39) in the 500 freestyle while Carol Davey won the 100 backstroke (1:20.49) and Lisa Salazar the 100 breaststroke (1:28.07). Williams dropped her 500 time 30 seconds while Salazar dropped 8 seconds in her event.

The most dramatic race of the night was the 400 relay. Fleckenstein, swimming the second leg, brought the Lady Steers into the lead by making up a length and 1/4 deficit. Davey added to the BSHS lead and Newell, facing one of top freestylers in the region in Housman, fought off her competitor's sprint to win in 4:41.01. Lee had a 4:41.25.

Fleckenstein swam her 100-yard leg in a 1:05 split while Newell, seemingly in slow-motion next to Housman's charge, had a fast 1:06.

She added a second place in the 100 butterfly while Fleckenstein was second in the 200 free, Davey second in the individual medley and Salazar second in diving.

Freshman Cade Loftin was a double winner for the Steers, taking the 16-yard individual medley (1:57.90) and 100 butterfly (1:05.53). Classmate Scott Ferguson sped away from the pack in the 500 freestyle, clocking a 6:06.72 which lowered his best time 11 seconds.

Terry Bordofski collected the other Big Spring first with a victory in the 100 backstroke (1:05.12).

Ferguson was second in the 200 freestyle while David Booth was runner-up in both the diving competition and 60 free. Martin finished second behind Ferguson in the 500.

Big Spring swims again Tuesday in a 4-5A tri-meet against Odessa and Midland in Midland.

Central blasts Lady Steers

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo Central sewed up the District 4-5A volleyball championship with a 15-9, 15-6 victory over Big Spring here Thursday night.

The Bobcats won a coin-flip following the match and host Amarillo Tascosa Nov. 5 in a bi-district match. Cooper, which thrashed cross-town rival Abilene High (1-13) 15-6, 15-6, finished second in the league and hosts Amarillo High Nov. 5.

In other matches around the 4-5A on the final night of league play, Midland Lee (9-5) toppled Midland High (7-7) 16-14, 13-15, 15-10 while Permian (7-7) stopped Odessa High (1-13) 15-6, 15-10.

San Angelo, 13-1 in district play, rolled off to an 8-3 lead behind the serving of Teresa Harrington but BSHS closed the gap to 12-9. Spikes by Monica Bradley and Anita Allgood made it 14-9 and the 'Cats won the first game when a Lady Steer dink fell out of bounds.

Central roared to a 9-0 lead in the second game. The lead grew to 14-2 before BSHS scored four straight points before San Angelo could nail down the match-winner.

Harrington finished with 14 points from the service line for the Bobcats.

Central advances into the playoffs with a 22-7 record while Cooper stands 27-5. San Angelo's only loss came to Cooper which sailed through league play with a 12-2 mark.

Big Spring closed the season with a 6-8 mark, matching the team's 1982 effort.

Lye's 63 leads by two

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Mark Lye took the lead in golf's season-ending event, scattering ten 3's across his card, while Fuzzy Zoeller and Calvin Peete kept alive their hopes for major seasonal honors.

Lye, who scored the first victory of his nine-year PGA Tour career, once held out over the green, required only 24 strokes on the putting surfaces and birdied half the holes he played on the way to a spectacular, 8-under-par 63 in the first round of the $250,000 Pensacola Open golf tournament.

Each had 68 on the Perdido Bay Country Club course, Zoeller despite pain from a chronic back condition. He received medical attention shortly after completing his round, and made a date for treatment before teeing off in the second round.

Zoeller, with $415,689, must finish fourth or better in this last official-money event to overtake Hal Sutton, who completed his American play last week with a $426,668 total.

Peete, the defending champion, needs a 72-hole total of 269 or better to overtake Ray Floyd in the Vardon Trophy race.

Bean, who needs a victory here to extend his string of six consecutive seasons in which he has won at least once, was tied for second at 66 with Ronnie Black and Dan Pohl.

Lon Hinkle and Jeff Sluman were next at 67.

Pensacola Open

He started his heroics Thursday with a 20-foot birdie putt on the sixth hole and got a some raised eyebrows from his partners, Cesar Sanudo and Peter Oosterhuis.

Lye scored a one-putt par on No. 8, and, on the ninth, missed the green again. Using a putter from well off the green, he holed out from about 70 feet.

Zoeller and Peete still had hopes of overtaking some absent leaders and nailing down, respectively, the season's money-winning title and the Vardon Trophy, which goes to the golfer with the low scoring average.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1983

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good time to not only do those things that prepare you for greater scope of activity and breadth of expansion in the days ahead but also to think up the new ways of doing so.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get into that creative work for which you seldom have enough time and get it perfected so you can get benefits from it.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Ideal day to make your home more charming and have more harmony there with those dwelling with you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Do those errands and shopping early so that later you can handle correspondence that is important.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Good day to study property and other possessions and to know how best to improve them.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) Analyze your personal wishes and then go after them in a positive way and gain them. Avoid being overly aggressive.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan now if you want to gain goals that mean much to you, but be sure you comprehend the idealistic side of them also.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Fine day for being with fine friends and enjoying hobbies with them. You need to spend some time relaxing and enjoying yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get into civic and credit matters during spare time and improve your status and gain prestige.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Keep active and take little trips; see interesting people and make changes where needed today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show allies that you appreciate being allied with them and gain more cooperation in the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Many situations arise whereby you can gain benefits and become more successful. Be open-minded.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get your environment beautified and rearrange furniture so that all is more charming and others can be happier.

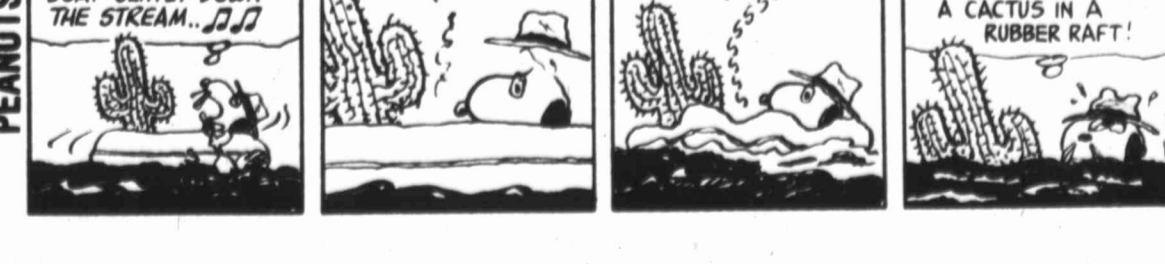

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who charms everyone with a lovely smile and a sweet manner, so be sure to praise when something is done very well. Provide a substantial education for future success.

Use, misuse of lie detectors sparks debate

NEW YORK (AP) — On the eve of 1984, use and misuse of lie detectors has sparked debate in the courtroom, the boardroom and the war room over the mixing of machines and morals.

In Washington, federal officials are arguing over Reagan administration proposals to require mandatory polygraph tests for thousands of government employees. In Los Angeles, lawyers are disputing two different lie detector tests which alternately indicate John Z. De Lorean is lying and telling the truth about the cocaine charges against him.

In New York, a television station paid for a lie detector exam for a former Guardian Angels member who claimed leaders of the self-styled subway vigilantes had staged incidents involving claims of police brutality. And across the country, more and more employees and job applicants are filing — and winning — lawsuits against companies which require them to take polygraph tests.

A major problem is that no one, not even the 1,200 members of the American Polygraph Association, will claim lie detector test results are always 100 percent accurate. However, they say the machine's measuring of changes in heartbeat, blood pressure and perspiration can show to 95 percent accuracy whether someone is lying.

Opponents, on the other hand, say a machine should never be the gauge of something as abstract as "truth." After all, if people through the ages have been confounded by the notion of "What is truth?" then how can a machine decide it for them?

At hearings in Washington earlier this month on the Reagan proposal, the head of the congressional Office of Technology Assessment called the lie detector "more of a fear detector."

"There is no scientific evidence to establish the validity of polygraph testing for screening of a large number of people in connection with the investigation of unauthorized disclosures," John Gibbons said. "There has been no research on this type of application."

The White House directive last March, aimed at plugging leaks to the news media in the Defense Department and other agencies, could require 2.5 million federal workers and 1.3 million employees of defense contractors to submit to polygraph tests or lose their jobs. Disgruntled Defense Department employees complain that while the Nixon administration had its "plumbers," the Reagan administration has its "electricians."

Private employers require an estimated American 500,000 to 1 million workers and job applicants to take polygraph tests each year. Tests are given to judge the honesty of workers before they are hired and to question people already on the job about thefts.

Some people who lose jobs because they flunk lie detector tests are fighting back by hiring attorneys who challenge the use of the machines on a variety of legal theories.

In some cases they claim the results are libelous. In some cases they claim the machines were defective or the operators were negligent. In one case in Chicago, a lawyer negotiated a settlement after claiming lie detectors were discriminatory because blacks have a higher failure rate. Another pending case in New York claims that a department store is discriminating against the physically handicapped by requiring them to take lie detector tests.

Lawyers have also won damage awards for clients denied jobs because of lie detector tests: $150,000 in Michigan, $220,000 in Connecticut and $250,000 in Florida.

Seventeen states and the District of Columbia have passed laws either banning or restricting the use of lie detectors, and 21 states require polygraph operators to be licensed, according to the Legal Action Center in New York.

There is no federal law limiting polygraph use, though the U.S. courts bar lie detector results as evidence.

'Right Stuff' not doing well

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The film epic about America's Mercury 7 astronauts, "The Right Stuff," proved the wrong stuff for a box office bonanza in its opening weekend — but producers say the $27 million blockbuster will soon find an audience.

"The Right Stuff" took in only $1.6 million at 229 theaters nationwide from Friday through Sunday, less than six other films.

"We thought frankly it would open a lot bigger," co-producer Irwin Winkler said. "I think it's going to take the kids a couple of weeks to find it. It opened in only 230 theaters because we believe it's a picture where the word of mouth will spread... I expect it to be up 25 percent next week."

Winkler noted that the weekend's top grossing films are playing in far more theaters than "The Right Stuff," and he said the film's three-hour, 12-minute length makes it difficult for theaters to screen it more than once per evening.

The weekend's biggest film money maker was "Never Say Never Again," a James Bond thriller marking Sean Connery's return as Agent 007. It pulled in $6 million at 1,552 theaters, while "The Dead Zone" ranked second, drawing $4.6 million at 1,293 theaters.

Next were: "The Big Chill," $3.2 million at 725 theaters; "Under Fire," $1.8 million at 816 theaters; "Mr. Mom," $1.7 million at 1,045 theaters; and "All the Right Moves," $1.6 million at 442 theaters.

Ashley Boone, vice president of the Ladd Co., which produced "The Right Stuff," said the film would have to gross $140 million to turn a profit. Two other recent three-hour-plus films, "Gandhi" and "Reds," grossed $54 million and $41 million respectively. Most feature films run around two hours.

Some theater owners criticized the $6 million promotion campaign for "The Right Stuff" for emphasizing the film's historical aspects over its thrills.

"All the advertising and promotion has been in the wrong vein," said Ed Plitt, vice president of the Plitt Theaters in Los Angeles.

Two foundations plan school reform grants

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A "rising tide" of reports on America's schools has prompted two foundations to announce a new grant program they hope will get some education reform proposals off the drawing board and into the classroom.

The grants program, which will distribute $3,000 apiece to 200 high schools, was billed by Carnegie Foundation President Ernest L. Boyer as a way to implement the proposals in his recently published educational report entitled "High School."

The Carnegie Foundation is sponsoring the program, which is funded by the Atlantic Richfield Foundation and administered by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

The two foundations jointly announced the program Thursday. "We've had a lot of recommendations this year in what I'd call a 'rising tide of school reports.' Now it's time for action," Boyer said. "Unless this climate of reform touches the community more directly, we could be left with just a lot of new statewide regulations that could leave the schools more crippled, less vital and more controlled."

The grants were announced at a news conference in Los Angeles which was beamed via satellite to seven other cities: New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Chicago, Denver, Dallas and Houston.

The principals' group will mail grant applications to the nation's 16,000 high schools in November, with replies due Jan. 15. The 200 winning applicants will be notified by early April, said Scott Thomson, executive director of the principals' association.
