US Will Not Back Rhee's Plan For War

Expect Ike's Program To Be Approved

WASHINGTON, July 29 —(UP)— Senate Republican leaders predicted Thursday that Congress will approve more than the minimum legislative program outlined by President Eisenhower.

Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson agreed that five of the six priority items listed by the chief executive are sure to pass. But he said he does not know the outlook for the administration's anti-subversive legislation.

At his news conference Wednesday, Mr. Eisenhower said he would be bitterly disappointed if Congress adjourns without passing at least six major items.

There was no question that Congress would act on five of the items — taxes, housing, farm supports, social security, and foreign aid. But there was some doubt a-

Knowland Okays Debate On Censure Resolution

WASHINGTON, July 29 —(UP)— Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland agreed Thursday to let the Senate plunge into "a full dress debate" on a resolution of censure against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

For the time being at least, he abandoned his previous plan to shut off debate on a proposed censure resolution by offering a non-debatable motion to table it. The resolution is sponsored by Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.), who has served notice that he will put it before the Senate Friday.

Knowland gave a go-ahead for several days of debate as Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) proposed a substitute resolution calling for a bipartisan committee, headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, to investigate "so-called McCarthyism."

The bipartisan committee would be required to submit a report to the Senate by next Feb. 1 — thus postponing a showdown on the McCarthy issue until after the November elections as many senators are anxious to do.

Flanders said he would be glad to accept Smith's plan as a follow-up to a Senate vote on censuring McCarthy, but not as a substitute.

Smith's resolution states that "The Senate views with real concern" the split in its own ranks and throughout the country "over the alleged good or evil of so-called McCarthyism."

Sen. John L. McClellan loomed Thursday as the key to the amount of Democratic support there will be for the Flanders motion to censure McCarthy.

The word was being passed, unofficially, that McClellan's attitude will decide how many Democrats vote when the censure motion is called up for action in the Senate

ROK President Is Praised For Determination

WASHINGTON, July 29 —(UP)— Administration leaders and key congressman made it plain Thursday that this country will not back South Korean President Syngman Rhee in his proposed war of liberation in Asia.

They praised him for his stubborn determination to rid his country and the world of the Communist menace. But they privately took exception to resorting deliberately to the terrors and destruction of war.

Rhee, who is visiting the United States as the guest of President Eisenhower, made his war call in a defiant speech before a joint session of Congress Thursday.

Urges Attack on Reds

He urged American military and naval help to attack North Korea and Red China. He asked for aid to double South Korea's 20 divisions. He said it would be "excellent" if Russia intervened because it would justify the United States bombing it into surrender.

At a Korean embassy dinner Wednesday night, President Eisenhower and Rhee exchanged friendly toasts without alluding directly to the idea of reopening the Korean war.

But Mr. Eisenhower noted that the two countries have "occuasional differences" over "methods and means" and then appeared to suggest an alternative to war.

"We do not always see the an-

Commies Reject Protests Of US

WASHINGTON, July 29 —(UP)— Communist China has rejected outright two stern American protests on the airplane clashes in the South China Sea in which three Americans were killed.

State Department Press Officer Henry Suydam, who announced the rejection said the matter "will not be permitted to rest there." He would not give any details as to future American action.

Minutes after Suydam first told newsmen of the rejection, he held a second brief news conference to announce that the two American notes had been physically returned by the Chinese — an unusually brusque action in diplomacy.

The notes were originally delivered to Chinese Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs Chang Han-Fu in Peiping by British Charge D'-Affaires Humphery Trevelyan. This channel was used by the United States since it does not have diplomatic relations with Red China

Later Wednesday evening in Peiping, a Chinese official "handed the two aide memories (notes) to a member of Mr. Trevelyan's staff, saying that Mr. Trevelyan had forgotten to take them with him," Suydam said.

This Chinese gesture was regarded in diplomatic quarters as adding a deliberately - intended insult to the previous verbal rejections of the U.S. protests voiced by the Chinese foreign office official to Trevelyan.

US Praised By Britain For Rescue

LONDON, July 29 —(UP)— Britain said Thursday prompt American action in sending rescue planes saved several lives off Hainan. The statement hotly denied reports the government urged caution on the United States.

At the same time the U. S. embassy in London issued an indignant denial of reports in a Washington dispatch to the London Daily News. The dispatch said Britain has refused an American request to join in a condemnation of the Chinese downing of a British airliner off Hainan last week.

The British foreign office said "no such request was received" from the United States.

The Daily Mail dispatch claimed that U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had asked British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to join him in a public statement denouncing Red China.

"No such request, formal or informal, ever was made," the spokesman said.

"Now is it true," he said, "that the British urged calm on the U. S. government.

"The prompt action of the U.S. government resulted in the saving

Absentee Voting Opens August 8

Absentee balloting in the Democratic run-off will start August 8, it was announced this morning by H. D. Cordell, county Democratic chairman.

The run-off is scheduled for August 28.

There will be seven races listed on the ballot.

The run-offs will be headed by the governor's race with Ralph Yarborough and Gov. Allan Shivers.

Other races will be Few Brewster of Bell County and Alfred M. Scott of Travis County in the race for Supreme Court of Texas, Alan Haley of Wichita County, and Lloyd W. Davidson of Travis County in the race for Court of Criminal Appeals; O. T. Rothwell and E. L. Ham, candidates for Commissioner of Precinct 1; John Turk Fowler and Dave Brummett, candidates for Commissioner of Precinct 2; O. C. Hammit and Willie Prescott, in the race for Constable of Precinct 1, and Sam J. Lewis, Mrs. Oford King and O. E. Lankford, candidates for Chairman of Precinct 11. All three received two votes each in the primary.

Close Vote On Farm Support Measure Expected In Senate

WASHINGTON, July 29 —(UP)— Two senators agreed Thursday that a small group of their wavering colleagues will decide the shape of new farm legislation passed by the Senate this session.

Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.), a leading advocate of the present system of high rigid supports on basic crops, estimated that "at least a half-dozen" senators are uncertain how to vote on farm legislation.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), a powerful factor in his party and likewise an exponent of continuing the high supports, said in a separate interview that the outcome will "depend on four or five" senators who are not committed either way.

The administration is pushing for a program of flexible and generally lower fam supports.

May Come Up Friday

Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland indicated Wednesday that he will bring up the farm legislation for action as soon as the foreign aid bill is dispose of, perhaps Friday.

Much could depend on parliamentary maneuvering between now and the time the farm bill is subjected to final vote.

For instance, Russell said he was uncertain whether farm bloc ranks would hold firm if the administration proposes basic crop price supports ranging from say, 85 to 90 per cent of party.

Russell said he is not willing to compromise his views that basic crop supports should be continued at 90 per cent of parity. "There is no justification for reducing supports on these crops, where production can be controlled at the source," he said.

The administration, arguing that ponderous surpluses stem in part from high price supports, wants flexible supports.

Greenbelt Queen Contest Slated For August 3

Judging of the girls in the Greenbelt Queens' contest will be held the night of August 3 at the Childress Country Club.

It will be followed by a dance, according to Billie Stiner of Beta Sigma Phi, sponsors of the contest.

A Coke party will be held during the afternoon at the Country Club for the contestants.

Queens are being entered in the contest from Childress and surrounding towns and the winners will be chosen by the players in the Greenbelt Bowl Classic.

The queen will be crowned during the halftime activities at the game which will be held the night of August 6. She will be accompanied by the four runners-up in the contest.

Hank Earl will be in charge of halftime activities.

3,064 Votes Cast In Primary Here

The final, official vote cast in Saturday's election in Childress County was 3,064 votes, it was announced today by H. D. Cordell, County Democratic Chairman.

The largest vote cast in the election was that in the sheriff's race in which 3,060 votes were counted.

"Overs" and "unders" accounted for a fair percentage of the votes, according to Cordell.

"Childress County had recorded 2,467 poll taxes paid," he said.

Saturday Is Deadline For Paving Drive

The deadline for the securing of blocks or streets for the paving program sponsored by the Jaycees is Saturday, chairman Bud Adams said today.

To date, 18 blocks have been signed up for paving under the economical plan. Preliminary work on blocks will begin August 1, and the contractor will begin the actual paving September 1.

"No checks will be cashed until after the work is completed, although money for the paving must be put up in advance," Adams said.

Although 18 blocks have been signed up, many other residents will not be able to have streets near their homes paved because of a few property owners who have refused to have a portion of the block paved, Adams said.

"This is unfortunate for those who wished to take advantage of the economical paving program," Adams added, "as this probably will be the last opportunity at these low prices."

"We are asking that every effort be made to sign up all blocks possible by Saturday. Jaycees will be out working all day Saturday and anyone wishing to pave their streets may contact Johnny Walker, myself, or any Jaycee member," he said.

Jaycee members be glad to furnish other information concerning the project, Adams said.

Storm Won't Give State Much Rain

BY UNITED PRESS

The tropical storm, "Barbara," isn't likely to do Texas much good weather-wise, after all.

Weather observers said the tight, little Gulf disturbance failed to spread out enough to create a widespread rain area and that unless it changed its present course and veered more westward, Texas wasn't likely to get much rainfall.

Only precipitation attributable to the storm, which was blowing itself out over Southwest Louisiana Thursday morning without causing major damage, was .03 of an inch at Beaumont.

Skies were beginning to get cloudy in Southeast Texas around Lufkin shortly after daybreak and the extreme eastern portion of the state along the Louisiana border could expect some rain activity Thursday and Thursday night.

But elsewhere no break was seen in the drouth picture, although slightly cooler temperatures were noted in nearly every section of the state due to the northeast winds brought in as a result of the storm.

In Dallas, for example, the mercury hit 99 degrees three times Wednesday but for the first time in 24 days failed to hit 100.

The state's high reading Wednesday was 107 degrees at Presi-

Benson To Reveal Details Of Drouth Feed Program

WASHINGTON, July 29 —(UP)— Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson will reveal in a few days the "details" of a program making surplus government - owned livestock feed grains available to drouth stricken farmers at cut-rate prices, a spokesman said Thursday.

The announcement followed President Eisenhower's order to federal agencies Wednesday to "make every effort" to assist farmers in the parched Midwest and Southwest.

The Agriculture Department has been preparing the feed grain program for several weeks. It said "legal determinations," "operating procedures" and the "extent to which drouth conditions develop in intensity" were holding up announcement of the aid.

So far, Mr. Eisenhower has designated Wyoming, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico as drouth disaster areas and Benson has named parts of 83 counties in those states as eligible for federal relief programs.

Benson expects to act this week on requests from Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Georgia and Alabama for similar designation. Benson recommends to the President the states to receive aid. He also chooses the counties in the states eligible for aid.

To date, farmers in the named

Mrs. Patterson Dies In Clinic At Rochester

Mrs. Ethel Bell Patterson, 58, died suddenly of heart attack yesterday at 4:30 p. m. in the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., after being hospitalized for two weeks.

A resident of Community Center and Childress County since 1921, she was born November 21, 1895, in Pittsburgh, Tex.

She came to Childress from Coolidge, and was married in 1912 to John M. Patterson. She was an active member of the Community Center HD Club, and a member of the local First Baptist church.

The body will arrive by train here at 6:25 p. m. Friday from Rochester. Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church by Dr. B. J. Martin, pastor.

Pallbearers will be Earl Hackler, Pat Murphy, Monroe Hackler, James Ray Hackler, Paul White and Lynn Jones.

On the flower committee will be Mmes. Earl Hackler, Monroe Hackler, Lynn Jones, Herman West, Paul White and Pat Murphy.

Interment will be in the Childress cemetery by the Newberry Funeral Home.

Survivors are her husband of Community Center; one daughter, Mrs. Lucille Rorick of Bucyrus, O.; one son J. B. Patterson of Cheyenne, Wyo.; her mother, Mrs. Emma Lankford of Childress; four brothers, W. B., C. F., B. L. and A. H. Lankford, all of Childress; two sisters, Mrs. Virginia Campbell of Childress and Mrs. M. D. Love of Irving; and three grandchildren.

Water Well Pump To Be Replaced

All of Childress' water supply is now coming from the Michie Sandhills and Baylor Creek Lake, it was announced today by City Manager Joe Howard.

The pump on the "62" well, near Estelline, has burned out and must be replaced.

"We anticipated that the pump would soon go out and ordered a new one July 1 and have been promised 30-day delivery," Howard said.

"They new pump should be here within a week," he added.

The cost of the new pump will be $1,584, plus an installation fee of $800.

Chidress is now using approximately 2,400,000 gallons of water daily. Of that amount, Michie Sandhills produce approximately 1,300,000 gallons.

Jean MaGouirk Takes Position With Rogers

Miss Jean MaGouirk, office secretary af the C of C-BCD for the past three years, will leave Childress August 12 for Washington, D. C., where she will become Congressman Walter Rogers' secretary.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. MaGouirk of 1103 Avenue E, Sw.

A replacement for Miss MaGouirk has not been announced by Bob Polson, secretary-manager of the C of C and BCD.

New Cracks Noted In Rock At Famed Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., July 29 —(UP)— New cracks in the famed Prospect Point area of Niagara Falls threatened Thursday to send more tons of rock toppling into the 167-feet deep chasm of the Niagara River.

The cracks extended 50 feet upstream from the point where a 200 foot wide chunk of land overlooking the falls crumbled into the Niagara gorge Wednesday changing radically the appearance of the American side of the natural wonder.

Keith Hopkins, park superintendent, said some of the threatening cracks were as much as two inches wide and 12 feet long. He said they may expand.

Fear All Will Tumble

Hopkins said it was impossible to determine immediately how dangerous the new cracks might become or when they might cause a new collapse.

A. M. Anderson, chief engineer and executive secretary of the Niagara Frontier State Parks Commission, said he feared all of Prospect Point eventually would tumble into the gorge. He indicated it would be 10 years or more before the point vanished, however.

The gigantic collapse which occurred Wednesday came within nine hours after cracks were discovered along the brink of the Many congressmen shied away from commenting publicly on his proposals. But the pivate feeling of most was summed up by Rep. James T. Patterson (R-Conn.), a member of the Senate-House committee on atomic energy.

"As much as we all sympathize with the problems of the Republic of Korea," he said, "the free world cannot allow itself to be led into an all-out atomic war at the wrong time or in the wrong places."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, said "it is rather surprising and chocking to hear a visiting head of state speakng before a joint meeting of Congress to advocate American participation in the renewal of hostilities."

Some other senators shared Humphrey's shock at Rhee choosing Congress as a forum to make his war plea. They said privately the Communists will undoubtedly use the fact in their effort to pin a warmonger label on the United States.

Spectators View Event

A policeman found cracks in the rock adjacent to an iron rail running along the lip of Prospect Point. Workmen sent to study the danger signs were ordered to leave the area at 4:45 p. m. Within 15 minutes, a 70-foot wide portion of the point crumbled and fell into the torrent of water that cascades over the falls. A few minutes later 130 feet more of the point crumbled into the gorge. In all an estimated 185,000 tons of rock and earth collapsed Wednesday.

Thousands of honeymooners, tourists and residents watched the spectacular event.

They had been alerted to the impending collapse and stood behind guard ropes a safe distance away during the hours before the point crumbled.

The tons of rock fell into the gorge with a roar that almost drowned out the constant noise made by the falls themselves.

bout the anti-Communist bills, some of which have been snagged in the judiciary committees.

Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland told a reporter that Congress will approve at least one of the anti - Communist bills. But Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) said he expects "most" of the anti-Communist legislation to be enacted.

Both Knowland and Ferguson also agreed the Congress will act on some administration - backed legislation not mentioned by Mr. Eisenhower.

Presumably, this included such items as extension of unemployment benefits to some 4 million additional workers and authorization of a $500 million two-year federal-aid-to-schools construction program. Chiefly in doubt, however were the anti-Communist bills.

These anti - subversive bills include measures to strip convicted Communists of citizenship, to break up Communist-dominated organizations, to permit use of wiretap evidence in trials involving subversives and to stiffin penalties for sabotage an esponage.

McCann's News Analysis

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

British Labor party leaders Clement R. Attlee and Aneurin Bevan must be two pretty embarrassed men.

They announced on May 26 that they had accepted an invitation to visit Communist China in August and September with six other leading laborites.

It was to be a visit of friendship and good will.

The fact that at the time the Communists were winning the war in Indo-China and the peace negotiations at Geneva — that Democracy was on the defensive throughout East Asia — did not matter.

Didn't Consult Churchill

Attlee and Bevan did not even bother to consult Prime Minister Winston Churchill or Foreign Scetary Anthony Eden on the diplomatic advisability of the visit.

On July 14, Attlee harshly criticized the United States foreign policy in East Asia, Europe and Latin America. He called for the admission of Red China to the United Nations.

Bevan followed up on July 17 by saying that Churchill and the United States are risking "a third and last war" by keeping the Chinese Communists out of the UN.

Now the Reds have shown their friendship and good will toward Britain by shooting down a British civil air liner and kllng 10 of the 18 persons aboard it.

True, the Peiping government apologized for the attack. But it could not bring back to life the fighter pilots.

'Foolish, Ill-Advised'

Attlee, the head of the Labor party, and Bevan, the left wing leader, can not be very happy now that they have buried their own party differences temporarily to visit the Chinese Red utopi atogether.

Since the snooting down of the British air liner United States carrier planes seeking survivors of the air liner crash were attacked by Red fighters. Two of the attackers were shot down. The carriers are patrolling the South China Sea with orders to shoot down any further attackers.

The London conservative newspaper Daily Sketch urged Attlee Wednesday to postpone his visit "or better still call the whole thing off."

"For Mr. Attlee and his fellow leftists to visit China as the guests of its Red masters at this moment would be most foolish and ill-advised," the Daily Sketch said.

The foreign office formal denial of the London Newspaper's Story was an unusual step and was made following President Eisenhower's statement Wednesday that the Chinese Communists apparently were trying to divide Britain and the United States over the issue.

The foreign office action constitued the British government's strongest expression to date, backing American action in the China Sea incident.

ast Squad Stacks Up As One Of Best In Greenbelt History

rom end to end and through backfield, this year's East ad for the Greenbelt Bowl e has all the attributes of of the finest teams ever field- in the five - year history of game.

he team, which will be coach- by Frank Kimbrough and Clark nagin of West Texas State, will e an over - all weight aver- of 181½ pounds per man. The kfield tips the scales at 172, the line at 191.

t ends, Kimbrough and Jar- in can call on four of the e's best ones of 1953. Includ- are Dale Jackson, Mangum, a., 180 pounds, 6'1"; Charles erson, Stephenville, 190, 6'1"; nie Mason, Dallas, 175, 5'11"; Harold Lamb, of Borger, 181, 6'.

All four were named to all-district teams in 1953, whle Jackson and Mason were all-state selections. Roberson received honorable mention on the All-America schoolboy squad.

Tackles slated to perform for the East squad are Fred Lang, Munday, 205, 6'3"; Jerry Cornelison, Temple, 220, 6'3"; Gilbert Pelton, Anson, 195 5'10"; and James Kaufmann, Levelland, 207. Both Cornelison and Pelton were all-state selections in 1953.

Kimbrough's four guards ranked high in picking up honors last season, and are expected to give the East real strength in the middle of the line. They are Norman Noble, Breckenridge, 190, 5'11"; John Styles, Seymour, 190, 6'; Tom Neely, Vernon, 195, 6'2"; and Wendell Hale, Burkburnett, 235, 6'2½".

Childress fans, of course, are familiar with the two boys who were members of District 2A-3 teams last season — Styles and Hale — as well as Vernon's Neely. Styles was on the all-state team as was Noble. All were members of all-district squads and Hale made the area all-star team.

The East mentors have no worries at the center position, boasting two of the state's top pivot men. Childress' Jay Sharp was on the official all-state squad and William Hawkins, of Fort Worth Paschal, also copped several honors.

Sharp is the smallest lineman selected for the game, weighing-in at 160 pounds (soaking wet), and standing 5'10". Hawkins is a 195-pounder at 6'2".

Three top-notch T-Quarterbacks will be on hand for Kimbrough, including Sharp's running mate, LaNoal Castleberry, rated by many as the top T-Man in the state despite Childress' loss to Stamford in the bi-district .

Working with the 175-pound, 5' 10" inch "Huck" will be Phil Slater, of Olney, and Frank Ryan, also of Paschal.

In the halfback slots during the fifth annual dream game will be Bill Dendy, Breckenridge, 155, 5' 8"; Jimmy Jones, Quanah, 190, 5'11"; Joel Honeycutt, Temple, 160, 5'8"; and Jim Knox, Graham, 173, 5'10". Dendy, Honeycutt and Knox were all-staters.

Fullbacks for the conflict will be Curtis Reeves, Wichita Falls; Max Kelley, Stamford, and Hugh Sullivan, Archer City. Reeves was all-state and both the other boys were on all-district squads.

Members of the squad are due to report here Sunday, with workouts to start Monday morning. The game will get under way at 8:30 p. m., Friday, August 6.

Ducats now are on sale at Roberson-Eubank and Holleman Drug Stores, with mail orders being filled by the Chamber of Commerce office.

Maxwell Gets Favored Role In Army Meet

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29 —(UP)— Cpl. Billy Maxwell, the former National Amateur champion from Big Spring, Tex., who displayed his class by winning medalist honors, ranked as the solid title choice Thursday as the all-Army golf tournament switched to match play.

Maxwell and 21 other survivors of qualifying play will battle it out in match play Thursday and Friday for the crown.

Maxwell shot a two-under-par 70 on Wednesday's round over the Woodmount County Club course to take the medal with a two-round score of 141, a total of three strokes under par.

Tying for second place only one stroke behind the former national champ were Cpl. John B. Weaver of Houston and Pfc. Richard Yost of Portland, Ore. Weaver and Cpl. John H. Guenther Jr. of Reading, Pa., each shot a 70 on the second round to lead the Fifth Army to the team championship with a five-man score of 583, just two strokes better than the Fourth Army.

Other low scores in the qualifying play included:

Guenther at 143; Cpl. Billy Maca of Kingsville, Tex., and Cpl. Eddie Johnson of Springfield, Mo., at 144; and Pfc. Claude Buster Reed of Dallas and Cpl. Billy G. Phillips of Paris, Tex., at 146.

Eagles Purchase Beaumont Catcher

DALLAS, July 29 —(UP)— The Dallas Eagles have announced the purchase of catcher Jim Fiscalini from the Beaumont Exporters for an undisclosed sum of money.

Fiscalini, who played for Birmingham of the Souhern Association last year, was hitting .225 with the Exporters. He is 25 years old, stands 6-1, weighs 200 pounds and is a native of San Bernardino, Calif.

PLUG N' TRIGGER

By J. FRED EDER
United Press Outdoor Consultant

A large percentage of the thrills of outdoor campaigning are certainly produced by the aroma of the camp frying pan.

If the fish stay down for the day, refusing to rise, camping can have its disappointments, and more so when the menu continues to bring forth canned food only.

What's a man to do on such unlucky days?

It's happened to all of us, but generally there is no need to get along with skimpy camp meals. For there is other excellent eating along the waterways . . . frogs, that is.

When I say excellent eating, I mean just that. For frog legs rival white chicken meat in my opinion.

The bullfrog, of course, is the monster of his race. However, the green frog, though much smaller, also has legs of edible proportions.

You'll find him along the edges of rivers, ponds, lakes and backwaters, easy to spot if you must listen for his musical "chung," which sounds like a plucked string on a bass violin.

Smaller, but also a savory addition to the frying pan is the grass, or leopard, frog — so named bceause of its leopard like spots and grass green color.

That takes care of variety and believe me they are all good eating.

Now when it comes to catching frogs, it's every man to his own choice. The surest method, and my favorite, is with a .22 caliber rifle.

Sometimes its the only method capable of bagging a wary frog. Slingshots are also effective, and a good air rifle fills the bill nicely.

Or you may gig for frogs with a long handled spear. Gigging is an old southern custom and is most effective at night with lantern and some one to paddle the boat along slowly.

Frogs seem more easily confused at night and usually the big bull frogs are bagged at night.

Another method, and one that should appeal to the angler, is a long cane pole, a length of line, and a bit of bright red ribon or cloth as bait on a barbless hook.

If you are reasonably quick and adept, clubbing frogs can also fill the frying pan.

In any event, for fun and good eating, try frogging the next time the fish are not co-operative. There is no need for the skillet to go empty on any camping trip.

Dressing Mr. Frog is a simple operation. Kill the frog and cut through the skin of his back with a pocketknife, tear the skin off the hindquarters and then cut the hindquarters from the body. Now you are ready for the frying pan . . . and some good eating!

Pros Expected To Shatter Par In Open Tourney

KANSAS CITY, July 29 —(UP)— Youth's assault on major professional golf titles gave the older swingers real concern Thursday at the start of the $20,000 Kansas City Open tournament.

One of the hottest candidates for the championship, which is being defended by Ed (Porky) Oliver, was California's 23-year-old Gene Littler.

All the players, young and old, were playing for kids, since proceeds from the KC Open go to Children's Mercy Hospital. Last year the tourney gave the hospital a check for $10,874.

As the experts stepped up to the 320-yard No. 1 tee at Blue Hills Country Club, par was considered a dead duck. It is 73, calling for 36 on the front nine and 37 on the back. The fairways were brown with dead grass and as hard as concrete, but the greens were in good shape on the 6,625 - yard course.

Lloyd Mangrum, a veteran of money golf and a former Kansas City winner, talked about the youngsters in the game.

"These young kids on the tour are making it tough on us oldsters," he said. He was an admirer of Littler.

Besides the glitter of the oldline pros, the big field included a number of sharp ex-collegians with a lot on the ball. Among them were Bo Wininger, Dick Mayer, Bob Toski, and Fred Wampler.

Fifty Years Long Enough With Any Husband

BARTLETT, N. H. —(UP)— On Nov. 3, 1831, a teen-age girl named Dolly Emery was married here to a young pioneer named Hayes Dodifer Copp of Stowe, Me.

They went into the mountains a few miles from here, built their home and raised a family. On the 50th anniversary of their wedding, Dolly said:

"Hayes is well enough. But 50 years is long enough for any woman to live with a man."

So the couple divided their worldly possessions and, after a golden wedding party, separated. Dolly went to Auburn, Me., to spend her remaining days, while her husband went back to Stowe.

Giants' Second-Stringer Blasts Three Home Runs

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Those lowly, unsung second-stringers, or "scrubeenies" as they're called in the big leagues, never are given a special "day" — so they merely banded together Wednesday and staged one for themselves.

One of them — Jim (Dusty) Rhodes of the Giants, who is delighted when he gets a turn at bat, much less a shiny new automobile — had even the regulars congregating around him enviously as he blasted three homers in a 10 to 0 rout of the Cardinals.

And another scrub, 35-year-old Steve Souchock of the Tigers, one of the daily steadies on the Detroit bench, got off it Wednesday to hit a pair of three-run homers in a 10 to 2 victory over the Athletics.

Mantle's Homer Wins

Still another "irregular," Vic Wertz, a fellow who is installed in Cleveland's lineup one day and yanked out the next, chipped in with a sixth - inning single that drove in the winning run in a 2 to 1 triumph over Boston that kept the Indians 2 ½ games ahead in the American League race.

Bobby Young of Baltimore, benched because of light hitting, struck still another blow for the cause of the reserves when his pinch single in the seventh drove in the winning run in Baltimore's 2 to 1 conquest of Washington.

Of course, the regulars didn't allow the scrubeenies to enjoy the day all to themselves.

Mickey Mantle, who has been a regular throughout virtually all of his baseball career, smashed a three - run homer in the ninth inning to give the Yankees a 7 to 5 victory over the White Sox.

And in Cleveland's triumph, Early Wynn, one of the best established hurlers in the league, aided Wertz by scattering 11 hits for his 15th victory of the year.

Mays Adds Another

The Dodgers stayed two games behind the first-place Giants in the National League race by beating the Cubs, 3 to 1.

Rhodes, installed in the Giants' lineup only Tuesday night, wasn't the only home run thorn in the side of the Cards. Willie Mays smashed his 36th homer to go 11 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace and Ray Katt hit a three-run homer to help end the Giants' six-game losing streak.

Milwaukee won its sixth straight game and moved to within 10 games of first place by beating Pittsburgh, 6 to 4.

Earl Torgeson's eighth - inning triple followed by Smoky Burgess' sacrifice fly helped the Phillies to a 3 to 2 verdict over the Reds.

Wednesday's star — Jim (Dusty) Rhodes of the Giants, for his three homers in the 10 to 0 romp over the Cards.

Hectic Day In Life Of Volunteer Fireman

LEALMAN, Fla. —(UP)— Troubles don't come singly to the volunteer fire department here.

Recently, dispatcher Howard Weeks received a report of a spreading grass fire. He sounded the siren. It wouldn't wail.

Weeks manned the fire truck alone and sped to the address given. No fire.

Ten blocks away he found the fire. In his haste, he backed the fire truck into a new automobile parked at the curb.

To make the day complete, Weeks found that another member of the fire department, Ben Highnote, had started the fire to clear off some grassland. He and Highnote finally got it out.

ONE-TWO PUNCH

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich. —(UP)— Police said Jerry Fife, a disgruntled motorist, angrily stalked off and left his car parked on the street after patrolmen charged him with speeding. Another officer came along and ticketed his car for obstructing traffic.

Flying Father Is Selling US On Value Of Aviation

By HARMON W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, July 29 —(AP)— Max Conrad of Winona, Minn., is in business for three reasons: He has 10 kids and they all like to fly. They also like to eat. He sees a future in America if the young learn to fly.

All of these things came out as Max sat beside me during an interview at the suggestion of the Civilian Aeronautics Administration, which likes flying people.

As a matter of fact, the CAA is interested in old Max for a selfish reason. In 1947 and '48, 260,000 student pilot permits were issued. Last year the number was barely 30,000. Something had to be done about getting the young fry interested in flying machines.

Romance in the Sky

"What's wrong with the kids?" I asked. "Is the glamor gone?"

"No, it isn't," Max said. "But for $10 an hour you can get a kid dancing lessons. We have to tell them that if they go to the right places they can learn to fly for less. The answer is the government. There is more romance in the sky than on a slippery floor. No disrespect to dancing, of course."

So what has Max of Winoa been doing? He has been working on the kids. He has the know-how, too. Back in 1950 he took a single-engine 330-K back and forth to England and says he could have done it non-stop if they had let him.

"Also," Max told me, "I wanted to tell the world that you don't have to be a millionaire to fly an airplane. I went from Minneapolis to Rome for $124 worth of gas. Later, I think I proved something to the kids when I set a record for a little plane (not over a metric ton) by flying from the West Coast to the East.

Quite a Sensation

The CAA and the Civil Aeronautics Patrol heard about the father of 10 from Wainona and sent him to every capital in the United States. He made quite a sensation.

What worries the old flier is that the rest of the world is rushing forward with airplanes. America isn't. Max is striving to do something about it.

What he is doing is trying his luck with barnstorming. Taking kids up in little towns without air felds — for a dollar a head, three at a time.

"My expenses are low and that helps me feed my own herd," Max said.

Watch Pullet's Beak For Tip On Egg-Laying Ability

LINCOLN, Neb. —(AP) —One way to judge the laying quality of a pullet is in the color of the beak, according to J. H. Claybaugh, extension poultryman at the University of Nebraska.

Claybaugh said the ready-to-lay pullet is expected to be "more vigorous," with the richer yellow color in the skin beak and shanks."

"After the pullet has laid well for six weeks," he added, "there should be little yellow color left in her beak."

The yellow pigment should fade in this order, he said. First, from the bottom of the feet and front of the shanks; then the back of the shank, top of the toes and back of the hock.

"The yellow pigment starts to return when a healthy hen stops laying," he said.

Crop Prospects Fall As Drouth Grows In Area

AUSTIN, July 29 —(AP)— Crop prospects fell Wednesday as temperatures soared and a near-statewide drouth increased in intensity.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture said recent showers in the Panhandle, with the heaviest amounts north of Amarillo, "revived hopes of making a grain sorghum crop in that favored area. All other areas in the state urgently needed soaking rains to check deterioration of immature crops and revive pastures."

In South Texas, cotton picking, corn snapping, sorghum combining and peanut threshing moved along in the hot, open weather.

Dry range and pasture feed was getting "very short" and supplemental feeding was necessarily increasing on many farms, particularly in the central and eastern counties.

Mid-week showers in the northern plains will start grass in that area, but "much more rain is needed even in that area to assure fall grass," the USDA warned.

Cattle and sheep continued to lose flesh, and stock water was short on many farms in central and eastern counties dependent on surface tanks and streams.

Development of cotton in the blackland and East Texas areas was reported sharply checked as the drouth intensified. The crop in the low rolling plains and non-irrigated acreage in the High Plains was beginning to suffer from lack of rain, but the crop in those northwest areas as a whole "held up surprisingly well and was still growing and fruiting," the USDA reported.

Don't Change Drivers With Engine Running

MILFORD, Conn. —(AP)— Mrs. Phyllis White moved over to let her husband drive the family automobile. According to police, here is what happened:

She accidentally stepped on the gas.

Her husband fell out, injuring his leg.

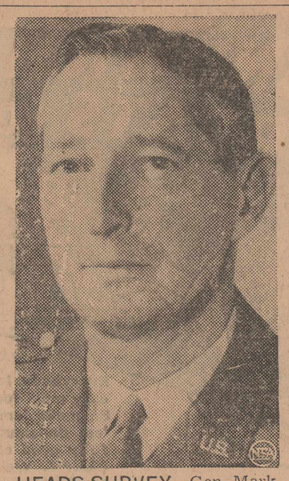

The car roared across the street.

It narrowly missed other cars.

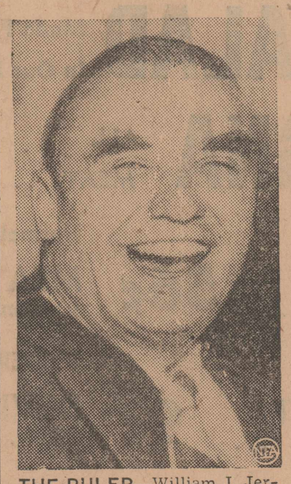

It traveled across Joseph Benedoso's lawn and smashed through his concrete-block-and-stucco garage, tearing a 10-by-10 foot hole in it.

Tore down two doors before stopping.

She didn't get a scratch.

HEADS SURVEY—Gen. Mark W. Clark will head the commission that will study the top secret Central Intelligence Agency. A former Far East commander, General Clark is at present head of The Citadel, a military school in Charleston, S. C.

THE RULER—William J. Jernick, 53, of Nutley, N. J., is the Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. He was chosen at their annual convention in Los Angeles, Calif.

WELL HATTED

BRIMFIELD, Mass. —(AP)—One of the natio's largest and most unusual hat collections is that of Charles A. De Lane, Jr. He has more than 500 hats representing 35 countries. He's been collecting odd headgear since 1933 when he took a trip around the world.

Last B-36 To Be Delivered At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, July 29 —(AP)— The last globe - encircling B-36 bomber that will ever be built in this country will be delivered to the Air Force in a special ceremony Aug. 14, August Esenwein, a vice president of the Convair Aircraft Co., announced Wednesday.

The ceremony will be held on the airstrip at the Convair factory at Fort Worth and the public has been invited to the ceremony to look at what used to be one of the most secret planes in the world.

"It (the ceremony) will take place in a roped off area near the runways so that all visitors will get a closeup look at the takeoff of the last B-36 ever built," Esenwein said.

The B-36 has 10 engines, including six piston-type engines and four jets. Each B-36 costs $3.5 million. The plane is the biggest ever built and the only bomber today with pusher type propellers.

The B - 36 probably will be replaced with the B-47, an all-jet bomber produced by Boeing Aircraft. Esenwein said the end of B-36 production doesn't mean the end of the B-36 program for Convair.

"We'll be maintaining and overhauling B-36's for the Air Force for several years, keeping them in fighting trim, for they will be the only long-range bombers available in the United States in useable quantities for some time to come," he said.

Livestock Shipping Injuries Cost Money

CHICAGO —(AP)— Livestock producers lose millions of dollars a year because their animals are brused during shipment, according to Livestock Conservation, Inc.

The organization said that a 27-month study showed that 76,730 hogs out of 943,255 shipped were found to have been bruised with a loss of nearly $1 per hog.

Of 219,271 head of cattle processed, 14,788 were bruised with a loss of $5.88 per animal.

Livestock Conservation, Inc., said that the average livestock farmer will have one badly bruised hog out of every 12, and one badly bruised head of cattle out of every 15.

The organization urged farmers to keep yards and pens free of sharp objects, to keep chutes in good working order and to partition mixed livestock loads.

Knowland Has Rough Time As Leader Of US Senate

WASHINGTON, July 29 —(AP)— This has been a trying, rough year for Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland.

His ordeal began early in the session. He was the majority leader without a majority — the Democrats held 48 seats to the Republicans' 47.

His tribulations have multiplied in the late phases of the session and, ironically, after Republicans finally obtained a majority because of deaths.

The split with the administration on the Bricker amendment early in the session. And critics blamed him, in part at least, for the thumping defeat dealt the administration's Taft-Hartley bill.

But two weeks ago, Knowland got his toughest personal test when he encountered the filibuster on the atomic energy bill.

It seemed to bring out some pent up resentments against Knowland, particularly after he put the Senate through a non-stop session that ran, for practiacl purposes, 85 consecutive hours last week.

Since then, Knowland's "human qualities" have been questioned by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.). He has been reminded, by Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.), that he "is not Loius XIV; he's just another senator." And Knowland's parliamentary tactics have been likened — by Sens. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) and Lester Hill (D-Ala.) — to the application of the guillotine."

Knowland is a large man, built along the lines of a professional football tackle. He is energetic. His normal gait is just short of a gallop. His critics say also that he is stubborn, uncompromising — Gore used the word "bullheaded" at one point.

In the give-and-take of Senate debate, he has been mostly calm, even when it was plainly written on his face that he was angry.

Tuesday, the dam broke and he poured out his feelings in a flood of heated words against the atomic filibusters.

Alternately raising his voice to shout and lowering it to its normal pitch — which can, of itself, be pretty impressive — Knowland belabored the "willful minority of obstructionists" and, especially Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Independent.

To the critics who accused him of parliamentary bludgeoning through use of the non-debatable tabling moton on amendments, Knowland recited that the Senate had 13 days and more than 160 hours of debate on the bill. He said the opposition had challenged him to stay in session until Thanksgiving or "abdicate."

And so, said the large Californian in the dark blue suit, if that's the challenge the Senate can prepare for a long stay in Washington.

Mae West Has 'Beef Cake' In Nightclub Act

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 29 —(AP)— Mae West, at 62 still blonde and curvaceous, made her night club debut Tuesday night by introducing "beef cake" to saloon shows.

The queen of comedy sex was greeted with whistles and cheers at the Hotel Sahara as she made her come-back to big time show business with her usual shoulder and hip wiggles and risque songs.

But her retinue of eight muscular men, including Dick DuBois, Mr. America of 1954, brought down the house in what Miss West called "the first bare chest act for lady customers in history."

"I know what to give the women," she murmured after the show. "A woman likes to look at any male body.

"Muscles, big or small, men, men, men, I love them all," she chanted in that slurring voice that helped make her a star of stage, screen, and jokes for half a century.

The eight men, three of them Mr. America contest winners, and all contestants, wore white Bikini bathing suits. Miss West introduced them as "my athletes" as she sang, "I've Something for the Girls — Boys, Boys, Boys."

"He'll make a bum out of Rubirosa," she said as she pointed to one blushing muscle man.

One of her tunes was entitled "I Wanna Do All Day What I Do All Night."

Miss West is receiving a reported $25,000 a week for her three - week engagement.

Army Keeps Close Check On Persons Asking For 'Bars'

WASHINGTON, July 29 —(AP)— The Army has quietly ordered a "national agency check" on the loyalty and character of every person seeking appointment as either a commissioned or a warrent officer.

The investigation calls for a search of the files of every federal agency which might shed light on an applicant's background. FBI fingerprint and subversive files are examined in particular.

A spokesman revealed Wednesday that the new security action is "considerably broader than prior regulations." It was ordered by Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and described in a circular signed by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, chief of staff. It became effective this month.

The circular said a "favorable national agency check is a prerequisite for appointment" as a commissioned officer or warrant officer in either the regular army or the reserves.

The order also specifically calls for a national agency check for doctors and dentists, who are brought into the Army under special provisions of the draft act.

Rock Island Seeks To Purchase Track

WASHINGTON, July 29 —(AP)— An application by the Rock Island Railroad to buy a 38.8 mile line from South Hanlon to Graham, Tex., from the Wichita Falls & Southern Railroad was pending Wednesday before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The ICC last month gave the W. F. & S. permission to abandon its entire 168-mile line between Wichita Falls and Dublin, Tex. It also authorized the Rock Island to acquire W. F. & S. stock, so it could operate a 105-mile northerly section, on an experimental basis for three years ,between Wichita Falls and South Hanlon.

The Rock Island's latest application, however, was for permission to buy only the South Hanlon-Graham section, located in the middle of the W. F. & S. trackage.

Doctor Reports On Campanella's Hand

BROOKLYN, July 29 —(AP)— Roy Campanella's injured hand is progressing but won't be "normal" again for five to seven months, according to neurologists Dr. Edward Dombrowski.

The Dodgers' star catcher was examined by Dr. Dombrowski and two other neurologists Friday. Dr. Dombrowski announced they had found "partial ulnar nerve paralysis, with a moderate degree of degeneration resulting from the operation.

Chivalry Bow To Electronics

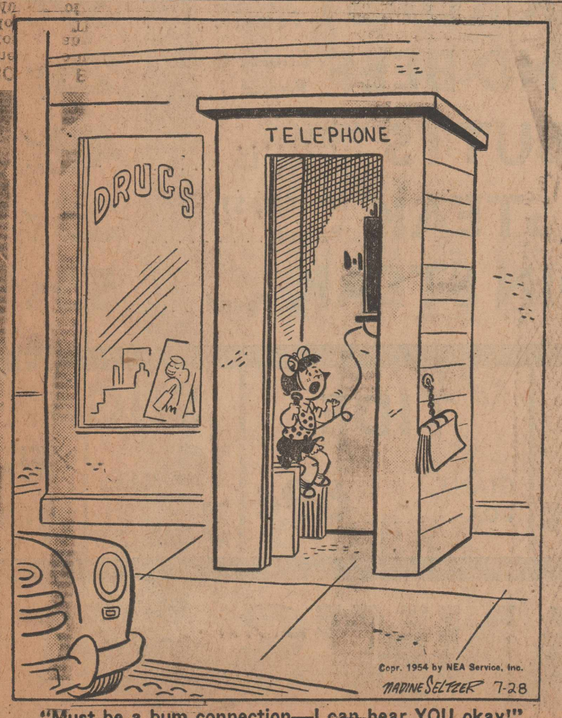

ST. LOUIS —(AP)— Chivalry isn't dead among St. Louis' policemen, but electronics have made it take a back seat.

When five women drivers, all charged with speeding by the same officer, showed up in court, Assistant City Counselor Roy A. Fish remarked jokingly to the arresting officer, "The age of chivalry must be gone."

"My chivalry is all right," the officer replied. "Those five tickets were handed out because the ladies were clocked by radar speed controls."

A vast rain-forest encircles the earth between the tropics, says the National Geographic Society. It extends across northern South America, central Africa, parts of India and the Malay peninsula, the East Indies, and northern Australia. Half the continent of South America is covered by this forest belt.

Jelly And Peanut Butter Together Bad For Teeth

SAN FRANCISCO —(UP)— The lunchpail standby, the peanut butter and jelly sandwich, promotes tooth decay, says Dr. Willard C. Fleming, dean of the University of California's College of Dentiistry. He told a convention of home management experts that peanut butter acts as "glue," holding the sugared jelly next to the teeth.

"Sugar is not the whole story in tooth decay," he said, "but it is a most important part."

A plain peanut butter sandwich, he said, is fine.

Tours Conducted By Women Now

NEW YORK —(UP)— Chalk up one United Nations victory for the distaff side.

Men squired visitors around the tall, modernistic glass and marble UN headquarters when it first opened to the public in the fall of 1952. But the women moved in gradually, and now there are 75 conducting sightseeing tours.

Collectively, the tour leaders speak 20 languages besides English. About one-third of them were born outside the United States. Most of the others have lived abroad long enough to become fluent in several languages.

The current staff includes a former Methodist missionary who served in Africa, several school teachers, a former ballerina, an artist whose work has been exhibited in Manhattan galleries, a former morale officer in Korea, and a one-time door-to-door fruit peddler.

Most of the girl guides conduct at least five one-hour tours daily. Each tour covers about six city blocks.

Most of the guides after a short time on the job develop a soft spot in their hearts for Great Britain.

"It's strictly a non-political favoritism," one Estonian-born tour leader explained." Most of the 60-member nations have contributed furnishings to the UN. But we like the British contribution best. Miles and miles of soft carpeting."

111 Planes Owned By Schools In Eleven States

NEW YORK —(UP)— America's colleges and universities operate a fleet of 111 airplanes in a comprehensive aviation education program that utilizes these aircraft in such varied occupations as airline pilot training, aeral application on school farm lands, air mapping and photogrammetry.

There planes log nearly 14,000 hours in the air each year according to planes, official publication of Aircraft Industries Association. The AIA conducted a survey of all states and territories to determine the type and amount of aviation education available through the nation's normal educational facilities. Forty-seven states and the Territory of Hawaii returned answers to the surveys.

The 111 aircrafts are owned by schools in 11 states and two schools, the Universities of Mississippi and Illinois, own helicopters. All but six of the remaining aircraft are single-engine utility planes which carry from two to five passengers. The others are twin-engine transports carrying 10 or more passengers.

The heating of wood in order to convert it into carbon or charcoal may have been the first chemical process discovered by man. Charcoal fuel has twice the heating power of wood and burns without flame or smoke.

Pay Is Not Only Lure For Teachers

EVANSTON, Ill. —(UP)— Teachers take romance and glamour into account as well as salary when they cast about for jobs, officials of the National College of Education report.

Hawaii, for example, attracts June graduates with its vacation lures and tropical life even though beginning salary there is comparatively low at $3,000.

Other new teachers take the western states, despite somewhat remote locations, because of relatively high starting scales. California pays $3,700 to $3,800 and Portland, Ore., $3,400.

During the past 20 years, according to National College placement records, beginning salaries for teachers have risen on the average of $110 a year from $1,075 in 1934 to $1,500 in 1944 and $2,600 in 1948.

This year, June education graduates were being offered slightly higher than the average of $3,200 which was paid to 1953 graduates.

BARBECUED YOUNG TURKEY with baked potatoes and corn on the cob, is a feast for a hungry crowd.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

For a hungry crowd who like to eat outdoors, why not barbecue small turkeys. They are amazingly delicious and not at all difficult to do. Our Chicago friend, Kathryn B. Niles, showed us how she does it and she is a turkey cooking expert.

With a simple barbecue set up, or 4 bricks, an oven rack and fuel for the fire, your picnic site can be wherever fancy finds you.

Slow cooking is necessary for good results, so keep the fire low. You don't need fancy food accompaniments either, corn and potatoes roasted in the fire, slices of melon and a favorite beverage should please everyone.

Choose a turkey 4 to 5 pounds ready-to-cook weight. Have it split in halves or quarters. If your favorite barbecue sauce is thick, thin it with water to "daubing" consistency.

When the fire has burned down to glowing embers, the turkey, well-brushed with the sauce, should be placed on the grill skin side up. Cook without turning for 40 to 45 minutes. Baste several times with sauce.

Turn skin side down and continue cooking, turning and basting occasionally, until the turkey halves are crusty brown and the drumstick when twisted separates readily from the thigh joint, about 45 minutes more.

It is well to plan additional barbecue sauce to serve with the turkey.

To enhance the flavor of broiled turkey, done indoors, Miss Niles give these suggestions:

1. Rub favorite herbs or spices, cinnamon, ginger, marjoram, nutmeg, poultry seasoning, thyme, etc., into the surface before brushing with the fat.

2. Marinate turkey in barbecue sauce or French dressing 1 to 3 hours. Drain, Proceed to broil. The drained marinade may be used for basting.

3. Add 1 teaspoon sugar with each half. Drizzle lemon juice over turkey during the broiling.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Barbecued turkey, potatoes roasted in coals (wrapped in aluminum foil), corn on cob, butter or margarine, raw carrot sticks and scallions (top onions), buttered rolls, watermelon, coffee, tea, milk.

COOL, BUT WET—No, the heat hasn't affected this New Yorker. He's just washing his new suit made of orlon and cotton. While he is sleeping the suit will dry. The manufacturer says that in the morning the suit will be ready for wear—without pressing.

COMPARING TRADE TOOLS—While French, Viet Nam and Viet Minh delegates meet at Trung Gia for truce talks, this French MP, left, and a Viet Minh soldier compare their weapons, both U. S. Army carbines. The Frenchman's rifle was supplied by the U. S. aid program, while the Communist holds one captured from a seized French Union post.

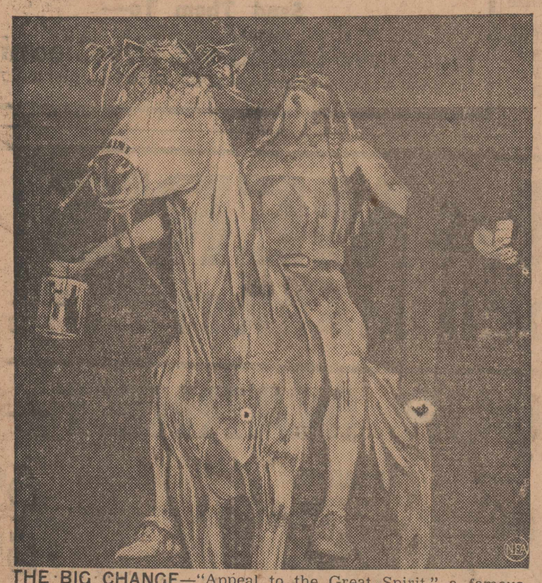

WARRIOR'S GRIEF—Maria Trinidad Cruz, the only woman soldier in the liberation army of Col. Carlos Castillo, kneels before the tomb of her husband in Guatemala City, Guatemala. A leader of the anti-Communist group, he was shot to death by a firing squad of the ousted regime.

ZOO'S THAT? – It's "Irwin Young," who's been the No. 1 gorilla ever since Bushman died a couple of years ago. The cagey character stares at hundreds of visitors daily from his cage in Chicago's Lincoln Park.

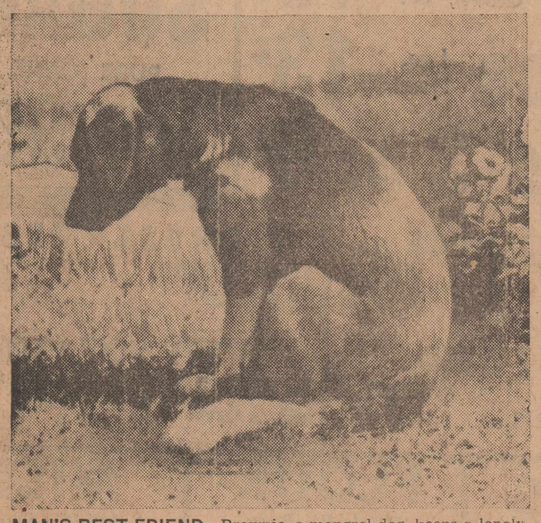

THEY'LL HAVE TO WAIT —With temperatures soaring toward the 100-degree mark, this sign offers a comforting thought to these three residents of Chicago, Ill. Mopping perspiration away as they read the sign are, left to right: Pat Boyle, Ed Hickey and David Davis.

THE BIG CHANGE—"Appeal to the Great Spirit," a famous statue standing in front of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts was recently "remodeled" by some vandals. A straw hat was placed on the horse's head and a paint bucket and whiskey bottle in the Indian's outstretched hands. The statue, created by Cyrus Dallin, is one of the most popular attractions with visitors to Boston.

EATING CROW—Here's an exception to the tradition that farmers and crows are traditional enemies. Farmer Robert Jordan, of Columbia, Mo., has raised Mr. Caw and a nest-mate since they were hatched. Rather than peck away at the farmer's corn, Mr. Caw likes to be spoon-fed with chicken mash.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND—Brownie, a mongrel dog, keeps a lonely vigil beside the grave of his master, Raymond Sobleski, Jr., 7, who drowned in Petoskey, Mich. The dog was found at the cemetery, 17 miles from home, by Raymond Sobleski, Sr., father of the dead boy. Brownie refuses to eat and appears to be dying of a broken heart.

The better you know America, the better the future looks!

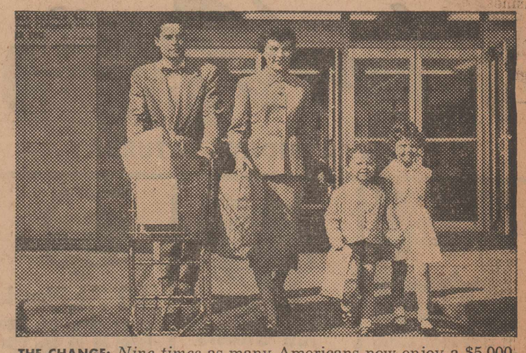

Great changes are taking place in America today. And each one of these changes brings with it an equally great opportunity for all of us – businessmen and farmers, factory workers, office workers and housewives. Here are just a few of the changes that, directly or indirectly, will make your future brighter.

THE CHANGE: Every day we add 11,000 new babies, enough in a month to populate a city the size of Richmond, Va.
THE OPPORTUNITY: Babies are good customers – for baby foods and safety pins right now, eventually for all products.

THE CHANGE: Even though employment in some areas has fallen off, we still have twenty million more jobs than we had in 1939.
THE OPPORTUNITY: A flow of purchasing power that keeps our economic machine running smoothly.

THE CHANGE: Nine times as many Americans now enjoy a $5,000-plus income as in 1941. Savings are at an all-time high.
THE OPPORTUNITY: Saved money is for spending – for homes and automobiles and washing machines and everything else.

THE CHANGE: By rapidly mechanizing our farms, we have increased agricultural output 52% per man-hour since 1940.
THE OPPORTUNITY: Increased farm production makes the farmer a better customer for all kinds of merchandise.

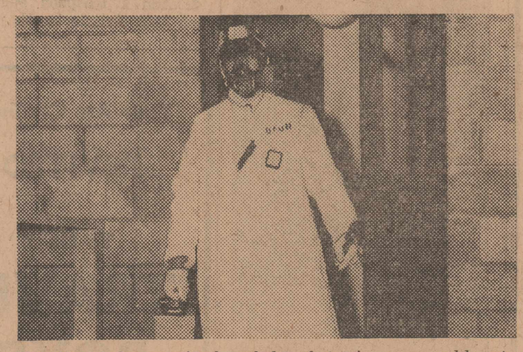

THE CHANGE: More and more of our young people attend high school and college; 2,377,000 are in college right now.
THE OPPORTUNITY: An intelligent, informed public is a great assurance of future prosperity for any nation.

THE CHANGE: Our industrial genius increased America's factory output every year. Today, 98% of our work is done by machinery.
THE OPPORTUNITY: Increased productivity creates higher living standards and more general prosperity.

THE CHANGE: More leisure. Forty million Americans get paid vacations, and they're not spending this time in the old rocking chair.
THE OPPORTUNITY: More dollars for the hotel and transportation business and for the sports, hobby and entertainment fields.

THE CHANGE: Our growing knowledge of atomic energy and how to harness it for constructive peacetime uses.
THE OPPORTUNITY: This opens up fabulous new fields. Sooner or later, atomic energy will run our farms, factories and mines.

THE CHANGE: Membership in religious congregations has increased at twice the rate of our population gains.
THE OPPORTUNITY: Our spiritual gains will help us to lead richer lives, to make the best use of our material gains.

WHITE-HAIRED ROLLER COASTER BUILDER DOUBLES FOR CUPID

"ROLLER-COASTER JOE" McKEE: Keep the couples in the car.

NEA Staff Correspondent

FORT LEE, N. J. —(NEA)— Joe McKee is 67 years old, white-thatched and vaguely paunchy. And he looks more like a retired carpenter or statesman than like Cupid.

But the fact is that he is far from retired. And when somebody says that the course of true love never did run smooth, they mean him.

For Joe McKee is the world's foremost — and practically only — thrill-ride designer and builder.

As "Roller-Coaster Joe" he has been bringing young couples together more or less forcefully for the past 50 years wherever there's an amusement park in America, Canada, Mexico and Europe.

It's a delicate science, this shrieking, whizzing, dipping, looping ride. It's a science based on three axioms:

1. Keep the couples together.
2. Keep them in the car.
3. Keep the car on the track.

To qualify as a thrill scientist, McKee can point to:

1. His two years of high schooling.
2. The 300 rides he has built.
3. His apprenticeship to the master builder.

In the whole nation, there are only four other men in the same business and they all look on him as the real professional.

"But my little brother is coming right along in the business," Joe said. "He's really learning fast."

The little brother, it turns out, is 57 years old.

It's a better than even chance that you — and your grandfather — have seen Joe McKee. He can usually be found leaning against the ticket window of his roller-coaster, listening to the roar and the shrieks and thinking:

"It's not going fast enough. Not enough dips and curves. It's not high enough."

And as the passengers stagger from the cars after the ride and careen out into the midway, Joe is usually thinking:

"I'll fix the suckers on the next one I build."

The result has been a trail of thrill rides across the world that have spun young lovers into the arms of the nearest justice of the peace.

The roller-coaster is purely American in origin. It grew from the old-time scenic railway which faded before the motion picture. And it was first built by John A. Miller in 1904 with a crew of 18 men, including McKee.

The ride that used to cost less than $10,000 has sky-rocketed to a cost of $150,000. But it's a real money-maker. The ride at the Canadian National Exhibiton, open only 14 days each year, grosses over $64,000.

Nevertheless, the price of building is prohibitive. Consequently, Joe has had to design extra thrills that will make up for shorter rides. At Poughkeepsie, N.Y., the ride has the deepest dips—122 feet from crest to valley. At Palisades Park, N.J., the ride is the fastest — 60 miles per hour. At Cincinnati, O., the ticket window is the smallest. Joe knows, because they had to hire a very small girl to sell tickets and Joe married her.

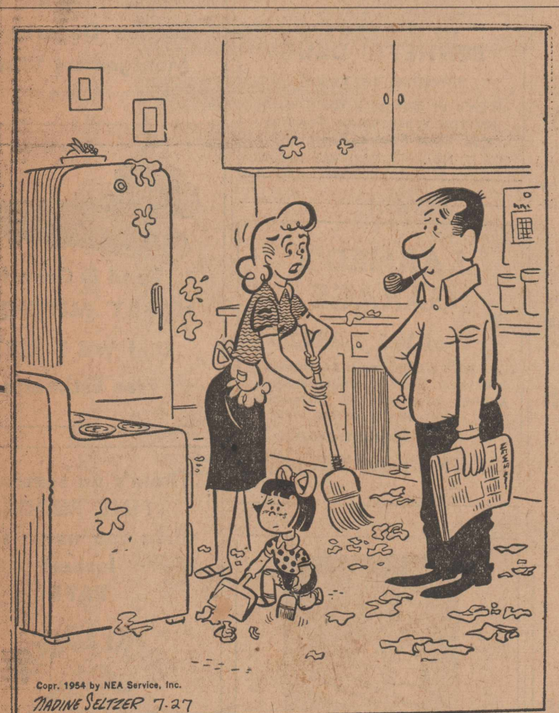

Although several McKee rides go through buildings or over rooftops, he has never spanned an entire city.

"Sure would beat the traffic problem for all those suckers who have to drive or walk, he said.

On the job, his day begins at 8 a. m. when he comes into the park to check the rides. Every inch of track is walked, every loose screw is tightened, worn parts replaced immediately.

By noon, Joe himself is in one of the cars, taking a test ride. He stays near his ride until the park closes after midnight. And so at five in the afternoon he takes a short nap and then walks back to the roller-coaster.

Walks. Because automobiles are far too dangerous.

"It seems she used a novel technique in preparing the [illegible] salad!"

Vacationers Can Seek Treasure

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. —(IP)— Vacationists with a yen for adventure can get their fill here, plus a share of sunken treasure if they are lucky.

A unique three-man corporation known as "Vacation Expeditions" is looking for persons who want "an absolute true adventure vacation" and are willing to work.

The project is the brain-child of Paul Roberts and Wes Tennant, television executives, who have been joined by Horace Blitz, an advertising executive, in rigging up a "gold-hunting ship," the Elise.

The 85-foot, $150,000 vessel contains all sorts of diving equipment, ranging from French aqua-lungs to Navy-type frogmen's outfits. The goal of the vacation-adventure is the British sloop De Braak which sank off Lewes, Del., during a Revolutionary War engagement. The ship was said to carry $80,000,000 in gold.

Loot to be Divided

Roberts said the Elise, with 12 to 14 vacationists aboard, would leave here each week for Lewes. Each trip will take about two day during which the amateur adventurers can practice diving, spearfishing or underwater photography.

But when the Elise moves into the "treasure" water, the vacationists are expected to join in the search for the sunken ship. Roberts and Tennant, both professional divers, will give tips on how the amateurs should go about it.

Any loot recovered will be divided evenly. Roberts said the vacationing adventures also will give close attention to other sunken vessels in waters up to 85 feet deep along the South Jersey and Delaware shorelines.

"Expeditions have always been associated with millionaires' vacations or government - backed projects," Roberts said. "As far as we know, this is the first time, a bonafide expedition with the proper equipment was ever organized for the man or woman who always read about such things but never had the opportunity to participate."

NOW YOU CAN TELL 'EM OFF—A system of answering the noisy blasts of any annoying motorist you happen to meet has been devised. When the person behind you starts to blow his horn without a letup, just wave the appropriate sign. You can tell him "Thanks" or give him the nose-thumbing signal, left, or you can just ask him to "Be Quiet," right. The signs were first demonstrated in Detroit, Mich.

TV AIDS ARTIST—Suzanne Silvercruys Stevenson, of Hartford, Conn., works on a model of Sen. Joe McCarthy she started during the TV session of the Army-McCarthy hearings. She believes this is the first time a "sitter" has posed in this manner. The senator promises to help Mrs. Stevenson finish the portrait by posing in person for her in Washington, D. C.

France's Extermination Of Hare Population To Be Finished Soon

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS —(NEA)— It won't be long now before white-tailed Brer Rabbit will have ceased to exist in France.

It took only two years and one vial of the dread Sanarelli virus to exterminate the rabbit population in 70 out of 87 departments, and experts believe that by the end of 1954 there won't be a wild rabbit left in this country.

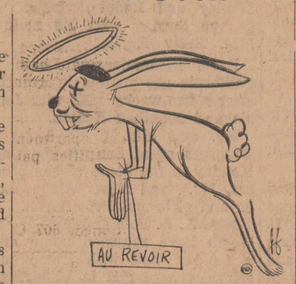

The person responsible for this devastating germ warfare is an eminent Parisian doctor, 70-plus Professor Armand Delille.

Owner of a chateau surrounded by woods 60 miles from Paris, his property was the happy hunting-ground of rabbits. He decided to get rid of them by innoculating a half score of them with "myxi-matosis," a disease which had appeared in South American hutches at the end of the last century.

Delille's experiment proved more than successful. Within 12 months the disease had spread with lightning rapidity. It crossed the frontiers and attacked successively the rabbit populations in Germany, Holland, Belgium, Luxemburg, Spain, and even England.

Throughout rural France, opinion is divided. Certain farmers are all in favor of the action of the man, whose opponents call him "The Scorcerer's Apprentice." Those in favor say: "Rabbits destroyed our crops. Since they have disappeared we can sleep in peace."

Dr. Delille declares, "My chateau is enclosed in high walls. I had the right privately to make an experiment." But the fact rmains that "operation myxomatosis" has already ruined several enterprises and may even yet destdoy every wild rabbit in the world.

Rabbit is a current item of food in European countries. The disappearance of this animal from the family table represents a revenue of somewhere around 20 billion francs. Dealers in rabbit skins and the hat industry represent another nine billion. Revenue from shooting permits and sales of guns and ammunition has fallen.

The "myxomatosis" war is well under way. Recently Professor Deville was assigned to appear before the court in the town of Dreux to defend his case.

In France, there seems to be no way of braking the epidemic. According to the International Office of Epizootics, anybody and everybody can transmit it.

An automobile running over a rabbit can carry the pathogenic agent tens of hundreds of miles, as the case may be. Insects and birds, especially crows, also are carriers. Birds are said to be responsible for the disappearance of rabbits in British woods.

In England there are many landowners who are ready to erect a statue to Delille. But what the verdict will be in France against the man who has unwittingly caused the destruction of tens of millions of wild rabbits is as yet in the lap of the courts.

Salads Can Use Meat In Them

NEW YORK —(UP)— Summer brings the problem of keeping cool while cooking, and still provide the family with hearty meals.

One way is by serving main dish salads occasionally filled with such protein foods as meat, fish or poultry, cheese and eggs.

If you use leftover meat, improve its flavor by marinating it before combining wtih other salad foods. Mix 3 tablespoons of salad oil, 6 tablespoons of lemon juice or vinegar, ½ teaspoon onion juice, 1 teaspon salt, and 1 teaspoon of celery seed.

Here are some good combinations:

Cold cuts of meat or flaked fish, Liver, minced onion, tomato, lettuce and pickles.

Roast beef, radishes, onions, potatoes, lettuce or cabbage with horseradish dressing.

Cold cuts of meat or flaled fish, with raw spinach, onions, cooked potatoes, stuffed olives or pickles and cheese.

Or, whole sardines, American cheese, lettuce, radishes, hard cooked eggs, cucumber, sweet pepper and onions.

Successful Thief Can Not Be Caught

COGNAC, France —(UP)— There is a thief in this tiny town that nobody has ever caught — and nobody ever will. In fact nobody has ever seen him.

The thief of Cognac is evaporation, which robs the producers of their cognac brandy at a rate equivalent to more than 25,000 bottles a day during the process of aging by oxidation.

Nothing can be done about it. For it is this costly process that endows cognac with the flavor, bouquet and color which has made it known throughout the world.

Buenos Aires ranks second to New York City among the ports of the New World.

Nutrition Expert Blasts US Food

MEXICO CITY, July 29 —(UP)— A New York nutrition expert, Dr. Norman Jolliffe, said Tuesday Americans eat too much food that doesn't do them any good.

Jolliffe told the First Continental Meeting for the Study of Nutrition and Growth Problems that consumption of "empty calories" has inceased 43 per cent in the last 40 years. He defined an "empty calory" as a source of body energy with little or no value in proteins, minerals or vitamins.

The director of the Bureau of Nutrition of the New York Department of Health blamed dipping into the sugar bowl and the frying pan for much of the trouble. The result, Jolliffe said, is a wastage of food at the same time the food supply can't keep pace with population increases.

Jolliffe said Americans should change their diet pattern, and eat more meats, starchy grains and tubers, and watery vegetables and fruits.

The winners in Saturday's election sort of let me down. I felt sure that since the winners in the city election got us a good rain right after they were voted top men, that the county and state candidates could equal them, if not outdo them — How about it boys — It sure is hot and dry.

Work got underway on the Buster Building which will house the new creamery last week. Sewer and drainage pipe are being installed this week.

The City has black topped the alley in the 200 block between Commerce and Third Street Northwest this week.

Perry Bros. broke with a full page ad in Wednesday's paper announcing their 39th Anniversary Sale with anniversary specials throughout the store.

Bob Ray of the Index was on vacation the first part of this week.

Hartley's Shoe Store is now holding it's Summer Shoe Clearance. Ben says the sale is to continue through First Monday.

Incidentally next Monday will be First Monday in Childress — Watch Sunday's Index for the many specials to be offered by your local merchants.

Clyde Madison of White's returned to work this week after a weeks vacation.

The Beta Sigma Phi will be in charge of the Queen's Contest to be held during the Greenbelt Bowl Game.

Buckley's Men's Stores Fourth Anniversary Sale is still in progress. All men's summer clothing has been especially priced for this anniversary sale.

Royalty Gets Royal Tours In Movie Studios

BY ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD, July 29 —(UP)— When Paul Wrangell walks through the sound-stages of MGM, it's one time the stars themselves turn to stare.

Wrangell's job is to herd about visiting royalty and other foreign dignitaries, and a peek at a movie studio is a must on the itinerary of travelng queens, princes and other big-wigs.

This week Wrangell conducted a tour of MGM for Gen. Franco's daughter.

Recently he also guided the elbows of the prince of Japan and the queen of the Netherlands, while other studios played host to the rulers of Greece and Ethiopia.

"Tourists usually stare at the stars, but with foreign royalty it's reversed," Wrangell reported Wednesday. "It's odd to see the stars wait in line to be introduced to these visitors, and foreigners in native costume make a particularly big hit with the stars."

MGM handles an average of 60 visitors a day. Only theatre men, press, and dignitaries can squeeze inside a studio's gates — except on Thursdays, when the USO brings busses full of servicemen.

You have to be royal to get the grade-A, red carpet treatment which includes a huge lunch to which all the studio's stars, city officials, and local press are invited.

Franco's daughter, not being a princess, got the "B" treatment, meaning a small luncheon for only her party.

Visiting press are taken around the studio by publicists, while theatre men and "friends of friends" are given tours by messenger boys, no food included.

"Royalty are no different from others when it comes to being interested in the studio," said Wrangell. "The queen of the Netherlands was so fascinated she stayed four hours and was late to her next appointment.

She even got out of the Limousne to go to the plater shop. The king of Iran is interested in electronics and wanted to see the sound department."

WHOLEHEARTED COOPERATION is extended prospective builders by the Childress Lumber Company, 'Childress' Pioneer Home Builders'. A. O. Howard, manager, invites those planning to build or to remodel to visit this yard for personal attention and courteous service, where the best in materials is available.

Harry Mitchell Does All Types Of Contracting

Foundation work, water wells, excavations and razing are all in a days work for Harry Mitchell, Childress contractor.

Although Mitchell is known mostly for his sand and gravel supply, he is also available for, and experienced in, all other types of construction.

Mitchell also has at his disposal mobile mounted dragline equipment for the quick and economical excavation of ditches and trenches.

The erection of steel girders for new building construction is another specialty of Mitchell's.

He can also supply your needs for pumice blocks, steel window casings and many other types of construction materials and supplies.

Mitchell's modern and powerful equipment can be used to good advantages in the digging of water wells, foundations and practically any type of excavation job.

Your inquiry for any construction job will be welcomed by Mitchell, and of course you will be under no obligation.

He invites your visit or phone call.

Sheet Metal Is Ideal For Sheds, Farm Buildings

Farmers and businessmen who plan to erect equipment sheds or other buildings in the near future are advised to consider the advantages offered in sheet metal construction.

W. J. Pleming and L. T. Bussey, owners of the W&B Sheet Metal Shop at 306 Main Street, will be glad to discuss metal construction with you.

For many uses, sheet metal outlasts other materials, it is low in initial cost, and lasts longer with a minimum of upkeep, resulting in savings through the years.

The W&B Sheet Metal Shop is equipped to handle metals as heavy as 16-guage, a thickness sufficient for almost any need.

From their well-equipped shop, Pleming and Bussey can deliver metal ducts for air conditioning, ventilation and heating, or any other use. They can also construct grain storage bins, work benches, sinks.

Pleming and Bussey invite inquiries on any type of metal construction job. Estimates on all jobs will be cheerfully given without obligation.

NEW TWIST FOR 'BURGERS

NEW YORK —(UP)— For a picnic treat, wrap hamburgers in aluminum foil after browning them at home. Chill the hamburgers and carry to the picnic. When ready to eat, just pop the 'burgers on the grill and cook for 15 to 20 minutes.
