Soviets say warning shots ignored

By RICK GLADSTONE
Associated Press Writer

A top Kremlin general said today a U.S. spy plane rendezvoused with a South Korean airliner that entered Soviet airspace on Washington's orders and ignored at least 120 warning shots before a Soviet warplane destroyed it with a missile.

"The plane obviously must have been flying toward Soviet airspace fulfilling a spy mission ... Why did it proceed in no other place than the one with Soviet installations?" asked Marshal Nikolai V. Ogarkov, the Soviet military chief of staff.

In a rare news conference at the Soviet Foreign Ministry televised overseas, Ogarkov told foreign reporters that Soviet defense forces detected Korean Air Lines flight 007 flying side by side with an American RC-135 surveillance aircraft for 10 minutes near a sensitive Soviet military zone in the Sea of Japan, 310 miles off the jetliner's intended course.

"Their flights were certainly coordinated so as to make our task more difficult and confuse our air defense forces," the marshal said.

He said the South Korean Boeing 747 later tried to flee when interceptors scrambled to meet it and defied 120 warning shots before a Soviet warplane blasted it with an air-to-air missile.

This was the first Soviet acknowledgment that one of its planes downed the South Korean jetliner with a missile, one of two Ogarkov said were fired. Previously, the Soviets had said only that the flight was "stopped."

On the warning shots, Ogarkov said Soviet pilots fired two sets of warning shots, including a series of "four bursts" totalling 120 rounds of tracer shells.

The United States has admitted that an RC-135 spy plane was in the area the day of the shooting, but claims it was never closer than 300 miles to the jetliner and was on the ground in Alaska one hour before the jetliner was shot down Sept 1.

Asked by an American reporter why the Soviets couldn't identify a jumbo jet, and why in any event the plane carrying 269 people, including 61 Americans, was shot down, Ogarkov replied:

"The Soviet air forces made attempts to make it land but the plane evaded, altered course... All possibilities were exhausted and only then was the order given." He did not say why the plane couldn't be identified.

District turns to water search

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District appropriated a half million dollars Thursday to fortify west-end ground reserves, then turned to deal with the specter of drought on the east end.

As a quality-quanity hedge, the board ordered a cutoff of deliveries of water from Lake Thomas for secondary recovery no later than Nov. 1 in the absence of at least 5,000 ac. ft. inflow into the reservoir. By doing this, said General Manager O.H. Ivie, the lake still would have 18,000 ac. ft. in reserve next June to blend with Lake Spence water.

During the past 14 months, Lake Thomas has received less than 1,500 ac. ft. inflow, which has caused the content to drop to 35,300 ac. ft. currently.

At any moment, district officials say, pump-back operations may be begun to recover the remaining contents of the lake. Conservation of this supply is critical because Lake Thomas water is used to upgrade Lake Spence water, which is high in chlorides.

The board approved exchanging 2,400 acres out of the west part of the district's Ward County well field lease with the University of Texas System for 2,600 acres on the east side. This is calculated to improve both quantity and quality of water from the field after drilling of at least five new wells, installing pumps and collecting lines at a cost of $45,000 approved by the directors.

Also appropriated was $60,000 to cover the cost of test holes in the Winkler County field, plus those on two tracts of a prospective well field in Winkler County. If the latter tests as satisfactory, this might involve another half million dollars upfront money for water rights, and $60,000 or more for development of at least one well to verify production. Development of a field there could call for $4.5 million for pipelines and pump stations as a minimum, Ivie said.

Sentences passed after guilty pleas

Two local men were given prison terms and seven others placed on felony probation in 132nd District Court action Thursday.

The court chose to revoke the probation of Charles Allen King, who now faces a prison sentence of four years in the Texas Department of Corrections.

King had been placed on probation in May 1983 after pleading guilty to charges of possession of a controlled substance. The revocation action was brought against him after his alleged involvement with a theft case in Snyder July 4th.

Sheriff's officers indicated that King would be allowed to serve his sentence in the Scurry County Jail.

Also facing a term in the county jail is Elisello Usevio Delao who pleaded guilty to DWI charges. Delao was ordered to pay a $500 fine and to serve a 90-day jail term.

Seventeen-year-old Donald Eugene Jeffery, indicted Tuesday by a Scurry County grand jury for the Sept. 1 burglaries of the SHS field house and the Rose Stiles residence, pleaded guilty to both charges Thursday.

He was placed on felony probation for 10 years for each case and ordered to pay fines of $500 for each offense.

Thomas Patrick Boley, also indicted by the recent grand jury, entered a guilty plea to charges of possession of a controlled substance and was placed on probation for a 10-year term.

He was also ordered to pay fines totaling $1,000. Charges brought against him in connection with a recent burglary of a storage room at the old Strayhorn Motel were dropped as part of his plea bargin agreement.

Jeffery Wayne Turner, indicted for possession of a controlled substance after his arrest in July, pleaded guilty to the charge and

Jobless here again under five percent

Since March, unemployment figures for Scurry County seem permanently stuck between the 4-5 percent range.

The latest estimate from Texas Employment Commission personnel here in Snyder places it at 4.6 percent, down slightly from last month's figure of 4.9 percent.

The latest reporting estimates the county work force for the month of July. In actual worker numbers, it figures a civilian labor force of 10,533 individuals with 10,051 employed. This indicates 482 of persons in the work force were without jobs.

For the same reporting period last year, the unemployment figure was set at 3.4 percent, but a smaller work force was estimated. That figure for July estimated 8,913 in the civilian work force with 8,610 employed. This estimates 303 individuals were out of work.

For the year to date, the lowest unemployment in the county was set at 3.1 percent last January and the highest was 5 percent in March.

Rae Adams, local TEC representative, reminds locals that the employment commission office here is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. with a worker on hand through the lunch hour.

It is located in the chamber of commerce building at 2302 Ave. R.

In addition to the Scurry County TEC figures, information regarding surrounding counties served in the same district were released. This includes:

—Stonewall County: an unemployment rate of 4.6 percent. This figures a work force of 1,108 with 51 members of it unemployed.

—Fisher County: an unemployment rate of 7.4 percent. This figures a work force of 2,298 with 170 members of it unemployed.

—Kent County: an unemployment rate of 5.9 percent. This figures a work force of 461 with 27 members of it unemployed.

—Mitchell County: an unemployment rate of 5.6 percent. This figures a work force of 4,381 with 247 members of it unemployed.

—Nolan County: an unemployment rate of 7.5 percent. This figures a work force of 8,379 with 631 members of it unemployed.

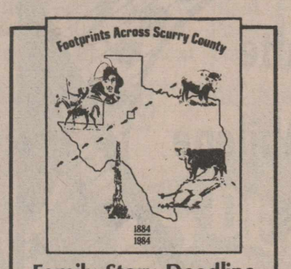

Footprints session set

A family history book workshop with all county residents invited to attend is planned Saturday from 1 until 5 p.m. in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The event — with some 15 book volunteers to be on hand — will be conducted in Room A at the coliseum's north side.

A large crowd of county residents is hoped for as the deadline draws near for submitting local histories in the "Footprints Across Scurry County" publication.

The purpose is to assist persons still in the process of writing their histories. Regarding this, the volunteers will have with them a list of ideas which writers may consider including in their stories.

History counting 'long-short' noted

A "long way" and a "short way" explanation of "how to count" words for family history stories to be included in "Footprints Across Scurry County" was offered Thursday.

For locals who prefer a general estimate, book sponsors suggest typing these histories on a standard size sheet of typing paper, leaving a white space margin equaling 1 inch at the top, bottom and sides.

If double spacing is used, 1½ pages of copy will equal approximately 500 words.

As for counting each word in the history, they note that all words should be counted except those comprised of only one or two letters (a, an, of, in, I, me). An abbreviated word of only two letters (St. or Co., for example) and all numbers count as a word. "Sept. 9, 1983" for example, counts as three words.

In addition, when individuals are identifed using initials, these initials count as one word. Words that are hyphenated count as two words.

Book volunteers remind that all stories of 500 words or less will be printed free. For stories which exceed but come near the 500 word limit, there will be a charge of 15 cents per word.

Soviet position changing?

MADRID, Spain (AP) — West German Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher said today the Soviet Union has indicated a possible willingness to drop its insistence that British and French nuclear forces be included in the Geneva arms reduction talks.

Genscher told a news conference that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko told him Thursday that the British and French forces had "two faces" — one strategic and one medium-range.

Genscher called the statement "remarkable in a positive sense."

But he said the test of possible new Soviet intentions will come in the actual medium-range missile negotiations in Geneva.

Mayoral assassination...

Plot was just drunken banter

CHICAGO (AP) — The chatter of "a loud-mouthed drunk in a bar" led to criminal charges that landed a wealthy real estate broker in jail for allegedly plotting the assassination of Mayor Harold Washington, the broker's attorney claims.

The suspect, Lawrence N. Oberman, 38, was indicted by a Cook County grand jury Thursday on two counts of solicitation to commit murder and one count of possession of cocaine, said Cook County State's Attorney Richard M. Daley.

Oberman was arrested Wednesday night. At a preliminary hearing Thursday, Circuit Court Judge Joseph J. Urso set bond at $4 million.

Daley told a news conference Thursday that Oberman offered to pay an undisclosed sum of money to have Washington, the city's first black mayor, assassinated. Daley declined to say how much money was offered or what was the motive.

Daley said the offer was made to an undercover informant he identified only as Keith Freeman.

George Murtaugh, Oberman's attorney, said in a telephone interview Thursday that his client was set up and that his tape-recorded comments were "light drunken banter." He said Freeman is Oberman's cousin and helped law enforcement agents for his own benefit.

He said the tape recordings are "a parroting of a loud-mouthed drunk in a bar. I'm talking about my client. He's the kind of guy that you walk away from in a bar.

"I'm glad it's tape recorded. When you hear the tapes, you'll see how silly this thing is."

However, said Daley, "Threats of violence must be taken seriously and we do take them seriously whether they involve a public official or a private citizen."

Unnamed sources were quoted in the Chicago Tribune and Chicago Sun-Times as saying that Oberman was tape recorded offering $1 million for the mayor's assassination because he was concerned about the future of the city under Washington's administration.

Murtaugh said Oberman will plead innocent to the charges at his arraignment, which is scheduled Sept. 29.

Daley, who lost to Washington in the city's Democratic mayoral primary last February and is the son of the late Mayor Richard J. Daley, said Washington's safety was never in jeopardy. He said the mayor's bodyguards were advised of the investigation when it began Aug. 12.

Grayson Mitchell, Washington's press secretary, said switchboards at city hall lit up after the report about the alleged plot Thursday morning. He said the mayor first learned of the allegations from news reports, but was "unshaken."

"It's not the first threat," Mitchell said. Washington has been the subject of "bomb scares and threats fairly frequently."

Baytown council okays ban

BAYTOWN, Texas — About 300 families will have to leave their homes in the fashionable Brownwood subdivision because of a new city ordinance barring anyone from ever again living in the flood-prone and hurricane-ravaged area.

"Our attachment to our sticks and stones is not realistic. Brownwood is gone. It is no more," Gene Shepherd, president of the Brownwood Civic Association, said before the council voted Thursday night.

Brownwood homeowners can sell their land to the federal government, which has $1.5 million available to buy the property. Under the ordinance, the federal government will give the land to the city of Baytown to keep as an "open green space."

Homeowners who choose to keep their land may do so, city officials said, but no fences or buildings may be put there.

Brownwood residents' reaction to the eviction was mixed and emotional.

"I've never heard such impassioned debate in my life of covering some 300 disasters in 10 years," said William Hansbury, an official with the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

The subdivision, which was the first location in the state to qualify for federal flood insurance, was pummeled Aug. 18 by Hurricane Alicia's 10-foot tides. It is about 30 miles east of Houston.

A third of the homes in the area, which lies on a peninsula that fronts two bays, were reduced to slabs. Most of the rest are little more than studs and roofs.

Dorothy Edmundson, who has lived in the subdivision since 1954, said she would be glad to get out.

"It's been a wonderful place and a horrible place to live," she said. "I lived through hurricane Carla and spent a cold winter with plywood on the walls.

"Many young people don't realize that this kind of thing is going to happen again and Brownwood won't be a better place, but a worse place," Ms. Edmundson said.

But several homeowners said they would not give up their waterfront property.

"I'll keep my house there until hell freezes over," said Billy Higginbotham, 38, a garage owner. "Brownwood may be a past tense to somebody but it's not to me," he said.

The ban was effective immediately after passage.

Victim's mother gives testimony

MOUNT PLEASANT, Texas (AP) — The mother of one of three Pizza Hut employees slain at the restaurant last year wept as she told jurors about the last time she saw her son.

Nadine McCalflin testified Thursday in the capital murder trial of Calvin Loyd Padgett, the man accused of killing her son.

Mrs. McCalflin, the first witness called by the prosecution, said her son, Howard LeRoy McClaflin, 25, "was in a good mood, ready to go to work and happy" the last time she talked to him. The next time she saw him was in the funeral home, she said.

Padgett, 28, is also charged with killing Shirley O'Bier Thompson, 24, and George Dwayne Landrum, 42. Padgett has pleaded innocent to the charges.

Conviction of capital murder carries a possible sentence of death by injection.

The three employees were found shot to death near a cooler in the rear of the restaurant on May 10, 1982. Authorities said Landrum also had his head smashed with a hammer.

Twice during her testimony, Mrs. McClaflin cried while being questioned about her son, an employee of the restaurant for about a year.

Padgett was arrested late last year with his girl friend and 15-year-old brother in Oklahoma, where he had been convicted of aggravated robbery of a service station-restaurant and was serving a life sentence, officers said

Oklahoma prison officials turned Padgett over to Texas officials in March to stand trial for the Pizza Hut killings. He had been held in the Morris County Jail at Daingerfield until recently when he was transferred to the Titus County Jail in Mount Pleasant

In opening remarks District Attorney Charles McCobb told jurors that "it will not be easy to sit there and listen to the evidence presented."

State District Judge William R. Porter of Daingerfield ordered jurors to wear name identificaton badges at all times. He said they would not be sequestered only during their deliberations.

Lucas testifies during hearing

MONTAGUE, Texas (AP) — District Court Judge Frank Douthitt says he will probably rule next week on the admissibility of certain evidence in the upcoming trial of Henry Lee Lucas, charged with killing Kate Rich of Ringgold.

In a pre-trial hearing Thursday, Lucas took the witness stand and indicated he was coerced into signing a written confession to the murder of Rich.

"I got tired of being treated the way I was," said Lucas, when asked by defense attorney Don Maxfield about why he confessed.

Maxfield said Lucas "lives off coffee and cigarettes," and was deprived of both prior to signing a confession.

"I couldn't take it no more," Lucas said.

Lucas, who has claimed to have killed 100 women in 17 states, said after he signed the confession he was given all the coffee and cigarettes he wanted.

The cell used to hold Lucas in Montague was described as windowless, with cement floors, and normally used for women prisoners.

Montague County chief deputy sheriff Jesse Ramos he had denied Lucas of certain items in obtaining his confession.

"I can't hit him, so I've got to do something," Ramos said.

Ramos and investigator Paul Smith of the Montague County District Attorney's office also testified about a search they conducted of Lucas' apartment at the House of Prayer Church in Stoneburg.

Ramos said the search revealed information which indicated that Lucas was wanted in Maryland on an outstanding fugitive warrant.

Smith testified that the September 20, 1982 search of Lucas' apartment was an attempt to gain information about Lucas' identity. He said that he and Ramos obtained permission from owner Reuben Moore to enter Lucas' room.

A hearing on change of venue is scheduled for next Wednesday.

"The princess Papooli has plenty papaya and she loves to give it away."

That vintage song is recognized by any Hawaiian as naughty.

The lyrics go on, by implication, to detail Papooli's sharing of herself.

In essence, the only difference between Papooli and a prostitute was that "she love to give it away..."

Americans can see some of that "generosity" in their own mirror.

In Ventura County, California, tons of lemons are rotting on the ground. Most of the lemons from those beautiful groves will go to waste this year.

While the owners of some of those farms are buying lemons from Chile!

There is a pro-rate system imposed on American agriculture by our Congress which limits the amount of American-grown fruit which can go to market.

It places no limit on the amount of foreign-grown fruit which can be marketed in the United States.

So the officials of Riverbend Farms in California — for just one example — are having to let their own high-quality lemons rot on the ground — while they fill orders from their customers with lemons imported from South America.

The public school system in the United States is an unproductive disgraceful mess — with more than half of high school graduates unable to read a HELP WANTED ad.

Yet while New York City's public schools are neglecting the "Three R's" they seek to teach 13 other languages!

In Arlington, Virginia's public schools, students can demand and get instruction in such obscure languages as Vietnamese, Lao and Kymer.

U.S. News recently counted 80 languages being taught in United States schools.

No other nation in the world is so deferential to outsiders.

Most other nations insist that foreigners learn and speak the language of the host country.

Texans bust their budgets trying to provide separate bilingual classes for Mexican-Americans — yet in Mexico there is no effort to teach anything other than Spanish.

Japan is fiercely protective of its language. You go to Japan and want to share their life, their culture — then you will learn their language.

In West Germany you are taught in German. Italian schools teach only Italian.

Only in the United States do we dilute our culture and mongrelize our language and diminish our academic effectiveness to satisfy strangers.

I didn't finish telling you about the Princess Papooli. However freely she gave of herself, she ended up used up and cast aside.

Play Dunbar at 8...

Tigers test heavyweights tonight

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

Coach George Byerly said Snyder will have to be prepared for a well-balanced attack tonight when the Tigers face off against the Panthers of Dunbar here.

"Rushing is their forte...but they are a good passing team, too," he said. "They'll run up the middle, then use their quickness to get outside, then maybe drop back and throw a pass. They keep you guessing. They are a well coached football team and they do the things they do very well."

Leading the Panther rushing game is tailback Ricky Parks, a 6-0, 165 sophomore. Parks, who ran for 150 yards in Dunbar's 33-6 win over Lubbock High a week ago, replaces second-team all-state back Larry Green.

"Green ran for 1,700 yards and he's not even starting this year," said Byerly. "That gives you an indication of how good the sophomore is. He's got excellent speed. They have a good blocking fullback in Brian Steffensen (5-9, 195 senior). He can also run with the football. Up front, they are huge. There is no doubt they'll be a definate challenge," he added.

The Panthers average over 210 pounds across their offensive and defensive lines, making them probably the biggest team Snyder will face this season. Leading the way is 6-2, 285 senior tackle Greg Robertson. Another key player is tight end-defensive end Sam Collins, who stands 6-4 and weighs 237.

In contrast, Snyder's defensive line averages 166 pounds.

"Yes, we have a chance to be intimidated," Byerly said, when the size difference was pointed out. "But we're always going to be smaller somewhere, at some position, every time we play this year. We've got to have the confidence we can do the job no matter who we're lined up against. Dunbar will be the biggest team we'll face and we still know some things we can do to beat them. We've got to have confidence in those things and take care of our game plan."

Recognition of Dunbar's offensive and defensive moves will be extremely important to the Tigers, who will have to rely on quickness - and possibly a good passing game - to get around the bigger Panthers.

Jimmy Cain will again open at the quarterback spot for Snyder, though Byerly said he also expects to see Charles Bollinger in the position as well tonight. Running backs will be Norman Malone, who had 70 yards against Big Spring last week, and Paul Thompson.

The other positions remain the same as far as starters are noted, except that Mike McCravey (5-10, 170) will open at tackle for an injured Jeff Sisneros (5-11, 210). Sisneros will probably see some action, however.

Win loop opener...

Girls pop Fort Stockton

EDITOR'S NOTE: Snyder varsity lost to Coronado 15-12 and 15-12 in the Snyder Tournament this morning. The Tigers were to play again at 12:30 today. A victory in that match would give them a 10 a.m. match Saturday.

In this morning's match, Tricia Gregory served for 5 points, Karlene Thompson for 4, Mona Green for 7, Cari Walker for 2 and Susan Brim for 6.

The tournament, which includes Palo Duro and Dumas, is double elimination.

The championship match is set for 11:30 a.m. Saturday. A second championship match, if necessary, would be at 1:30.

Snyder varsity defeated Fort Stockton 15-7, 10-15 and 15-10 to complete a three-match sweep of Tiger opponents here Thursday night.

Snyder freshmen and junior varsity teams had won earlier in the evening. The frosh edged Levelland 15-6, 6-15 and 15-9, while the junior varsity defeated Fort Stockton 15-11 and 15-12.

The Tigers, who were to open play in the Snyder Tournament against Lubbock Coronado this morning, flashed past the Panthers in the first game. Snyder scored the first six points of the contest, then rattled off five more to lead 11-1 before Fort Stockton staged a rally.

But Snyder struggled most of the rest of the night. An inability to hold on to the serve combined with tough defensive play by Fort Stockton to keep the Tigers from gaining momentum.

Snyder led 6-2 in the second game, but an illegal substitution caused the Tigers to lose a point. Though they got the point back moments later, Fort Stockton rattled off nine to take the lead for good.

The hosts appeared to regain the momentum in the third game as they jumped out in front again, 8-1. But the Panthers chipped away at the lead until it was 12-9. Snyder never picked up its stride, but kept Fort Stockton from taking the advantage, and eventually eeked out the 15-10 victory.

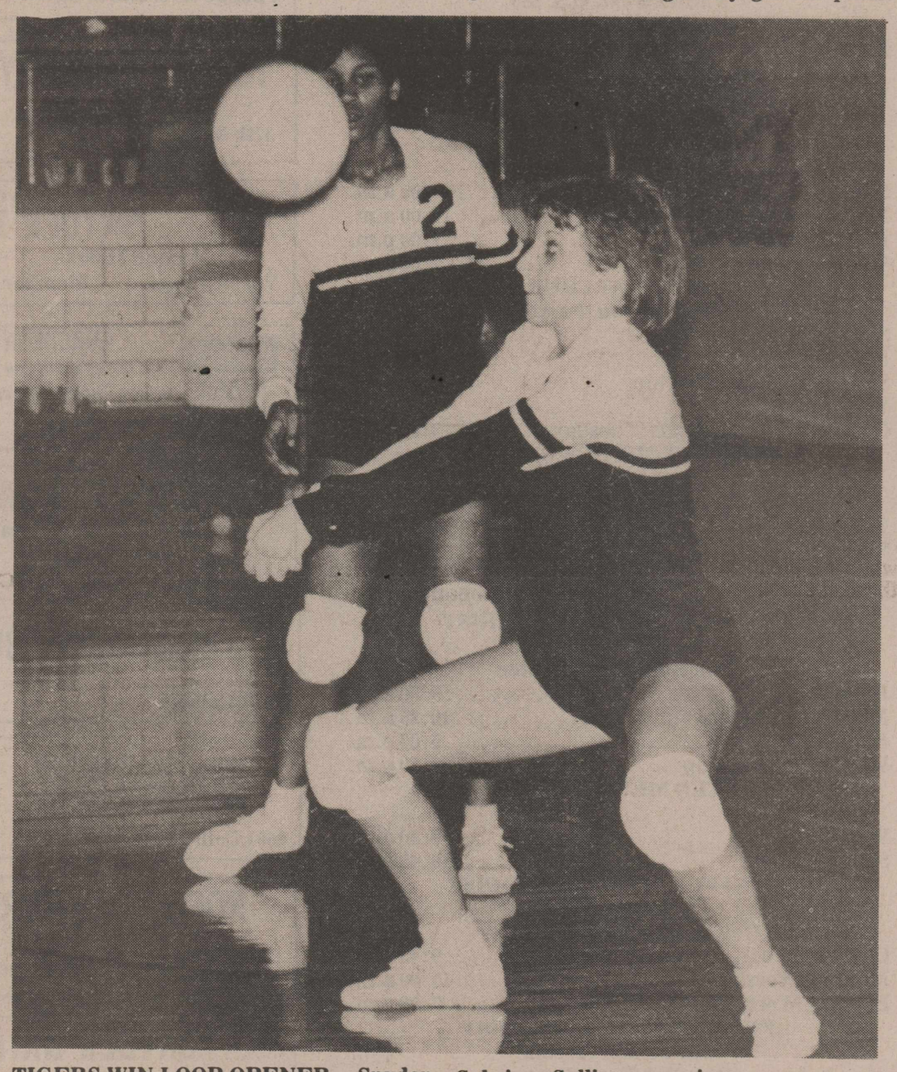

Unofficially, Cari Walker served for 11 points in the three-game match. Mona Green also had 11 while Sabrina Sullivan notched 9, Karlene Thompson 5, Tricia Gregory 3 and Susan Brim 1.

Snyder is now 5-4 for the season, 1-0 in District 2-4A play.

Serving up points for the junior varsity were Kima McLarty and Pam Casias, 9 each, Cintia Gonzales 5, Leslie Ward 3, Allison Adams 2 and Brenda Zajicek and Hope Hernandez 1 each.

For the freshmen, it was Julie Williams with 11, Tammy Williamson with 9, Christy Valdez 5, Stephanie McKnight 3, Tracy Warton and Jayme Gregory 2 each and Carrie Fortune and Angela Castillo 1 apiece.

Snyder varsity was to play Coronado at 9 this morning in the two-day, four-team Snyder Tournament.

2-4A grid roundup

Five of the eight District 2-4A teams look for repeat wins this weekend, while Snyder, Pecos and Lamesa hope to notch their first victories of the season.

In results last week, Andrews defeated Seminole 44-0, Fort Stockton ripped Canutillo 56-14; Sweetwater plugged Wylie 33-14; Lake View rapped Del Rio 40-21, Monahans nipped El Paso Eastwood 16-12, Riverside edged Pecos 14-13, Levelland bounced Lamesa 20-6 and Big Spring stopped Snyder 26-8.

Of this week's opponents, five teams post 1-0 slates. Andrews is at Midland High, a 30-7 winner over Monterey, while Monahans is at Midland Lee, a 38-7 victor over Coronado.

Abilene High, an 18-9 winner over Wichita Falls Rider, entertains Sweetwater and Dunbar, a 33-6 victor over Lubbock High, plays in Snyder.

In other games, Fort Stockton welcomes Alpine, a 19-3 loser to Marfa; Pecos is at Carlsbad, a 10-9 winner over El Paso Austin; Lake View hosts Stamford, a 20-0 loser to Hamlin; and Lamesa entertains Brownfield, which opens its season tonight.

Six-man roundup

District 2-1A teams put on their cleats for the second time this weekend, with some good games projected throughout the area.

Five of the nine 2-1A teams won last week, including touted Highland, Lueders-Avoca and Trent. Ira and Grady also notched victories.

Looking for their first wins will be Borden County, a 51-20 loser to Dawson; Hermleigh, defeated 53-29 by Wellman; McCaulley, edged 42-38 by Blackwell; and Paint Creek, a 49-28 victim of Weinert.

Borden tries Wellman in Wellman, while Hermleigh hosts Blackwell and Paint Creek is at Woodson. Woodson was a 30-12 winner over Benjamin last Friday.

Highland, a 48-12 victor over Christoval, entertains Cotton Center. Cotton Center is 1-0, having defeated New Life Christian last week, 46-0.

Trent welcomes Divide, a team Ira romped 50-0. The Gorillas whipped Novice 58-24 last week. Ira hosts Loop tonight. Loop opened with a 32-27 loss to Grady. Meanwhile, Grady's Wildcats are up against stiffer competition at home against Dawson.

In the other game, Lueders-Avoca, a 15-14 winner over Rochester, entertains Paint Rock. Paint Rock is 0-1 after losing 76-52 to Mozelle.

Cats fall behind early, lose to Breckenridge

BRECKENRIDGE -- Snyder junior varsity fell behind by 19 points in the first quarter here Thursday night, then went on to lose to Breckenridge, 26-16.

The Cats, now 1-1, will travel to Rule to meet Rule varsity next Thursday at 8 p.m.

"They had us 19-0 in the first quarter. After that we seemed to wake up and play a little better," said Coach Robert Crawford.

"We really didn't get very many breaks. They scored one TD after a drive in which they recovered two fumbles that they made yardage on. We were just too slow getting started and that cost us the game."

Snyder's first touchdown was set up in the second quarter when the Cats held the hosts to a punting situation. The ball was centered too high and several Snyder players - including Jimmy Hunter, Steve Parker and Robert Patterson - tackled the punter on the Breckenridge 10. Quarterback back Mike McWilliams ran the ball to the 1-yard line on first down and Mitch Page scored on the next play. Page also ran over the two-point coversion, 19-8.

The Cats gave up seven more points before scoring their final touchdown in the third quarter. Snyder scored when Tim Kershaw took a pitch around left end and raced for 50 yards. Hunter ran over the conversion.

Western 8 strokes back in tourney

The Westerners, led by Mike Standly's medalist-leading 68, shot a 300 over the first 18 holes Thursday. New Mexico Junior College Red paced the first-day action with a 292.

Western has another team here, the Green team, which was in ninth place with a 309.

"We didn't play real well but everybody is a little nervous the first tournament and we're hoping to pull up a little bit today," said Coach Dave Foster. "This is the strongest our conference has been in a long time. Every team has got quite a few good players."

Though the tournament is a non-conference one, only teams from the Western Junior College Athletic Conference (WJCAC) are playing here.

Midland Gold is in second place with a 296, followed by New Mexico Military Red with a 298 and Odessa White and South Plains Orange with 299s.

Standly's 68 leads the medalist race by one stroke over South Plains' Rick Houston. Mike Stevens of Odessa is at 70. Par here is 72.

Others for WTC Blue are Mark Ingbrigtsen, 75; Clark Dennis, 79; Jim Batjer, 80 and Jack Fallin, 78.

Playing for WTC Green are Eric McGraw, 73; Joe Don Davis, 76; Clay Everheart, 79; Barry Boyett, 82; and Mark Bailey, 81.

Beta Sigma Phi meets at MAWC

Beta Sigma Phi members met Tuesday evening at the Martha Ann Woman's Club for their first meeting of the club year. Dena Ellis, president, conducted the meeting with 17 members present.

Mrs. Ellis began the meeting with the Opening Ritual. The minutes were read by secretary Sue Sewell and Brenda Hedges gave the treasurer's report.

In the business portion of the meeting Mrs. Ellis announced that the local chapter, Lambda Kappa, had reached a three-star status. Other business included reports from standing committees. Cyndee Gayle announced the Friendship Luncheon will be Saturday, Sept. 10, in her home at 11:30 a.m. The "Southern Dreamin'" couple's social will be Sept. 23 in the ranch home of Barbara and Joel Hamlett. Other reports were from Carolyn Limmer, program chairman; Twila Polk, ways and means; and Cyndee Gayle and Jacalyn Lowrance, MAWC. The business meeting was concluded with president Ellis conducting the Closing Ritual and Mizpah.

The program, "History: Effect on and by Women" was given by Mona Bryan. Mrs. Bryan began her program by tracing women's roles in society from Biblical times. Women who were mentioned as an important influence from the Bible were Deborah, Ruth, Lydia, Mary and Martha, and Mary, mother of Jesus.

Other historical times and cultures of significance to women were Reformation and 18th Century Indian and Black women. In the 19th Century women were affected by such women as Abigail Adams, Elizabeth Stanton and Susan B. Anthony.

Mrs. Bryan explained how the role of women in marriage, child rearing, employment and social activities has changed over the centuries. She concluded with a group discussion on the roles of women today and in the future.

For Cornelius-Dodson House...

Quilt given to HSCI

June McGlaun, memorial chairman of Historic Scurry County Inc., recently received a quilt in behalf of the organization to be used in the Cornelius-Dodson House from Janie Graham and Helen Roberts. Also present was Thadine Harless who quilted the top and lining which had belonged to Ada Jane Martin, Mrs. Graham's mother and Mrs. Roberts' grandmother. Mrs. Harless spent approximately 125 hours quilting the bed cover.

Mrs. Martin pieced the top in about 1920. She had also sewn the lining together and rolled it up in the quilt top. Portions of the lining were pieced from sugar sacks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Martin Sr. came to Scurry County in 1908 and settled in the Dermott area. Janie, their tenth child, was born in Coryell County in 1905.

Persons wishing to make memorial contributions, monetary or otherwise, may contact June McGlaun at 3207 42nd St. or call her at 573-9742.

SNACK FARE
Molasses Cookies & Milk

SOFT MOLASSES DROP COOKIES

The amount of baking soda called for provides tender texture and good color and flavor.

2¼ cups fork-stirred unbleached all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground ginger
¼-pound stick butter
½ cup sugar
1 large egg
½ cup molasses
½ cup water

On wax paper or in a bowl, stir together flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and ginger. In the large bowl of an electric mixer cream butter and sugar; add egg and molasses; beat until blended — mixture will look curdly. Add half the flour mixture and half the water; beat gently until smooth; repeat with remaining flour mixture and water. Drop by level tablespoonfuls, several inches apart, on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven until lightly browned — 8 to 10 minutes. With a wide metal spatula, remove to wire racks to cool completely. Store in a tightly covered container with wax paper between layers. Makes about 4½ dozen thin cake-like cookies. If you use regular cookie sheets, wipe each well with paper toweling between bakings. Toward end of baking wash and thoroughly dry sheets before using.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

You have all heard about the bridge player who could resist anything but temptation. In this case temptation was the chance to get a ruff or two in dummy. South rose with dummy's ace of diamonds in order to lead the singleton club. West won and shifted to a trump. South won in dummy, came to his hand with king of diamonds and ruffed a club with dummy's six of trumps.

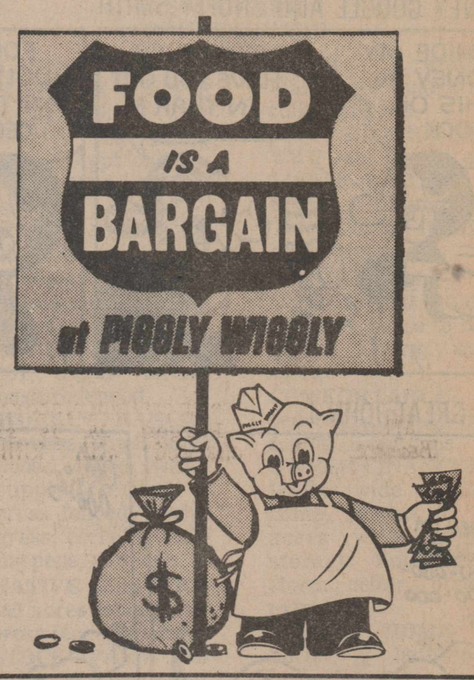

Then the hand collapsed. He was stuck in dummy and had to lead a heart. West won with the 10 and led a second trump. South wound up with just eight tricks and a very disgruntled partner.

If South had just looked at dummy's heart suit, he would have found a way to do infinitely better. He should win the diamond lead with his king in order to lead a heart at trick two.

If West plays the 10, as he almost surely will, South will hop up with dummy's king and lead a second heart. Later he will get to ruff a heart high, draw trumps and wind up making 11 tricks. He will have to lose a club at some time or other.

For the record, when playing any contract, look at your longest suit and see if you can establish it to score long suit tricks.

Food costs cause wholesale prices to increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices, driven up by the first food price increase in four months, rose 0.4 percent in August, the government said today.

Food price hikes, largely the product of the summer's drought and heat wave, were posted for vegetables, poultry, eggs and pork. Food prices rose 0.4 percent, matching the overall gain.

Experts had been predicting that the devastating weather would send food prices up next year, but the speed with which the increases are being felt shows just how severe the drought and heat have been.

Even with the food price increases, however, many economists say that the Labor Department's wholesale price calculation for all of 1983 may rise at its slowest pace since the mid-1960s.

Indeed, prices for the first eight months of the year were flat. For the year ending in August, prices rose just 1.4 percent, their best 12-month showing since 1967. They had risen 3.7 percent in 1982.

This summer's weather was felt in a number of statistics in today's Producer Price Index for finished goods:

—Vegetable prices skyrocketed 16.5 percent, a dramatic turnaround from July's 11.9 percent decline.

—Poultry prices soared 5.1 percent after falling 2 percent in the preceding month.

—Egg prices, off 1.4 percent in July, were up 4.4 percent.

—Pork prices rose 0.6 percent after five months of sharp declines.

On the plus side, prices continued falling for beef and veal, down 1.3 percent, a sharp cutback, however, from July's 4.8 percent drop.

As for beef and veal prices, which have been moderating as breeders liquidate their herds rather than pay high feed prices, many analysts expect higher prices in the coming months as the liquidation ends and the supply of cattle going to market shrinks.

Fresh fruit prices fell 5.6 percent.

As for other areas of the wholesale price report, the department said energy prices rose a modest 0.3 percent, slightly higher than the 0.2 percent gain of the previous month.

Gasoline prices rose 0.4 percent, less than half the 0.9 percent gain of the month before. Natural gas prices edged downward 0.2 percent after tumbling 1.2 percent. Heating oil prices rose 0.5 percent after falling 0.7 percent.

The energy price calculations reported today were actually for July. That component of the wholesale price measure lags a month because energy companies report their prices too late for inclusion in the most recent index.

Rockets strike U.S. Marine zone

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The U.S. Marine zone at the international airport was rocketed twice during the night after President Ronald Reagan pledged "whatever support it takes" to shield American peacekeepers from attacks.

No new casualties were reported.

Another barrage struck close to the international peacekeeping force's French contingent at its mid-city base. A French spokesman denied a local press report that the French aircraft carrier Foch retalitated by shelling artillery positions in the Druse-controlled central mountains.

Associated Press photographer William Foley today said the first rocket barrage came at about midnight and the second about 75 minutes later.

Nine rockets hit in the first attack and three in the second, sending the 1,200 Marines at the airport into bunkers and foxholes on each occasion, Foley reported.

No further attacks had occurred by dawn, but artillery fire could be heard n the mountains, where Christian and Druse militias have been struggling for control since the Israeli army withdrew to a new defense line further south last Sunday.

The rocketing came a day after the U.S. Navy frigate Bowen fired on and destroyed a Druse militia battery that had shelled the airport, where four Marines have been killed and 28 wounded since late last month.

In a telephone call to the Marines' commander, Col. Tim Garaghty, Reagan offered his condolences Thursday for the casualties and said: "I am determined to see to it that we provide you whatever support it takes to stop the attacks on your positions.

"Tell the Marines the entire nation is proud of you and the outstanding job you are doing under difficult odds," Reagan told Garaghty. The telephone call was reported in Washington by Larry Speakes, the chief White House spokesman.

Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., said in Washington he would try to get Congress to block funding for the Marine contingent as of Nov. 1 unless Reagan filed a report acknowledging the Marines are in a combat situation and seeking congressional approval for their continued presence.

He contended Reagan had moved the Marine force into a war position without proper congressional approval.

The Druse claimed in a statement Thursday that Lebanese troops and Christian militiamen "massacred" 40 people at a Druse religious shrine in Ebey, 7½ miles southeast of Beirut. There was no independent confirmation of the claim, the latest in a series of reports of massacres this week by both Christians and the Syrian-backed Druse.

This level of investment would be considered in light of developments on long range supplies, including the Stacy reservoir permit which is to be argued before the Texas Supreme Court Oct. 26. The court this week granted two points of error from a 3rd Court of Appeals judgment upholding the CRMWD permit to build the project to supply 113,000 ac. ft. annually for upper Colorado River basin and Permian Basin needs.

In response to this, Ivie has said he is confident the district is "still in a sound position."

"Of course, we would have preferred that the writ of error had been denied on all counts, but we are not surprised that the supreme court will hear the matter. We are encouraged that only two points were found to consider. Our planning will proceed as it has in the past," he said.

Pleas heard by court was placed on probation for five years.

Turner was also fined $500 in connection with the case.

Angel Carreon, charged with felony criminal mischief after driving his car through the front doors of the Snyder police station on July 20, was placed on probation for five years when he pleaded guilty to those charges.

Carreon was also ordered to pay fines and restitution totaling in excess of $2,000 in connection with the offense.

Also drawing a five-year probated sentence was Michael Allen Peck. He was indicted Tuesday for the July 30 burglary of the Jerry Pace residence in Snyder and pleaded guilty to charges of burglary of a habitation. Peck was also fined $500.

Two local men, Joe Ernest Luera and Arnulfo Hernandez, were placed on felony probation for two years each after they entered guilty pleas to DWI charges. Both defendants were fined $500.

Wrecks noted

Two minor two-vehicle traffic mishaps were reported in Snyder Thursday.

The 2500 Block of Ave. R was the scene of the first at 11:51 a.m. Involved in it were a 1974 Chevrolet driven by Mary Ramos of 1500 Ave. I and a 1983 Chevrolet driven by Kimberly Parker of the WTC Apartments.

The day's second mishap was reported in the 3700 Block of College Ave. at 9:16 p.m. Involved in it were a 1982 Pontiac driven by Todd Wayne Jeffery of 700 E. 37th St. and a 1979 Buick driven by Danny Ray Dennis of 501 28th St.

Damage from both was listed as minor to moderate and no injuries were reported in either incident.

One theft cleared as 2 more reported

Snyder police officers closed one theft case filed Wednesday and began investigations of two more cases reported Thursday.

Employees of the Westside 66 station called city police at 1:49 p.m. Thursday and reported finding the portable evaporative air conditioner reported stolen by Dessie Mae Johnson Wednesday afternoon.

The unit had apparently fallen out of Mrs. Johnson's truck in the vicinity of the gas station rather than being stolen.

Alice Grey of 2604 46th St. called police at 8:37 p.m. and reported the theft of a ring from her residence. The ring was thought to have been taken sometime earlier in the day and its value was not estimated.

John Bernal filed the day's second theft report shortly after midnight Thursday. He told investigators that a 10-speed bicycle valued at $105 had been taken from the front of a residence at 2208 Ave. T sometime between 7 p.m. and midnight Thursday.

Two suspects were arrested on misdemeanor charges Thursday evening. One juvenile male was arrested for public intoxication and later released to his parents while one other man was arrested for PI and also charged with possession of prohibited drug paraphernalia.

Dear Abby

Young Son's Benders Break Mother's Heart

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1983 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My 13-year-old son goes to his friend's house to drink beer every Saturday and Sunday afternoon. His friend is 15, and I don't know if his parents are home at this time or not.

Should I let my son go on doing this and bury my head in the sand like an ostrich? I can't tie him up in his room for the next five years.

I don't want him to turn into an alcoholic by the time he is 18. He has come home from his friend's house so drunk he can hardly talk or walk straight. He keeps promising not to do it again, but it's the same story the next weekend. Please help me.

DISTURBED MOM IN LODI, OHIO

DEAR MOM: If you love your son (and I'm sure you do or you wouldn't have written to me), you will forbid him to visit his beer-drinking friend again. Allowing him to spend his weekends getting drunk makes you guilty of child abuse! Please call Alcoholics Anonymous and ask for its help. Your son is possibly an alcoholic already. I beg you not to put this off. It's the most important thing you have to do today.

DEAR ABBY: I was supposed to get married in July of '82, so my co-workers gave me a shower. I postponed my wedding because my fiance said he wasn't ready for marriage, but he promised we'd get married at a later date. My co-workers insisted I keep the gifts, thinking we would eventually marry. Now, 14 months later, my fiance tells me he thinks we should call it quits — that we are not "right" for each other.

I am so embarrassed about those shower gifts. Should I just haul them back to the office and go up and down the hall giving out presents like a department store Santa Claus? Or should I mail each gift back individually?

My friends and relatives have offered to return all the gifts for me while I'm away on my vacation. I don't think this is proper, although it would be easier for me. When I tried to return the gifts last year, everyone insisted I keep them, but now I know they must be returned.

What is the best way to handle this?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Feeling as you do, you should return them yourself. Start by telling a few of your closest co-workers that your engagement is off; therefore, you are returning all the shower gifts next week.

You aren't the first girl this has happened to, so don't be embarrassed. You are to be commended for insisting on returning those shower gifts. Many do not.

DEAR ABBY: My husband, "George," and I enjoy cruises and tours. We are both in our late 60s. The problem: George always finds a pretty young girl he wants his picture taken with, so he hands his camera to someone and says, "Would you please take our picture?"

He always manages to put his arm around the girl's waist or shoulder to give the impression that they're more than strangers.

When the trip is over and the snapshots have been developed, he carries them to his hangout, the coffee shop in our small town, and proudly shows them around as though being with a young lady is a great accomplishment.

When I tell him this irritates me, he says I'm a poor sport to object to his harmless picture taking.

What do you think, Abby?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: By this time, the folks at the coffee shop must know George for the harmless, fun-loving shutterbug he is, so don't rain on his parade. Just be glad you have each other and are able to travel for pleasure.

Body said to respond to expressions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mimicking the facial expressions associated with such emotions as anger, happiness and sadness can trigger some of the physical changes brought on by the real feelings, San Francisco researchers contend.

In experiments using professional actors as well as scientists, researchers say they were able to measure changes in heart rate, temperature and the electrical resistance of skin when faces showed emotion.

Moving facial muscles apparently sends signals to the autonomic nervous system — the part that controls certain muscle and gland activity — that spur the physical reactions, said the report to be published next Friday in Science magazine.

Since people tend to imitate the expressions of those around them, the research may have a bearing on why smiles can be infectious in a happy group or why feelings of anger can turn a crowd into a mob, say researchers.

Imitating the expressions of others in social situations may mean people actually experience some sensation of what others feel and have deeper empathic feelings than previously believed.

The findings also could have implicatioms for people who are sad, depressed or suffering with certain emotional problems. If they initiate the opposite emotional expressions, this might trigger more positive feelings.

Paul Ekman, Robert W. Levenson and Wallace V. Friesen said studies they conducted at the University of California School of Medicine in San Francisco indicate that even very similar emotions such as anger and fear can trigger noticeably different physical reactions.

For instance, both anger and fear resulted in similar heart rate increases. But vascular function, as measured by the temperature of extremities, was distinct. Temperatures went up with anger, but fell below normal with fear, noted the study.

The researchers studied six emotions — surprise, disgust, sadness, anger, fear and happiness. All subjects, including 12 actors and four scientists, were videotaped during the exercises. They also wore heart rate monitors on their chests and sensors to measure temperature and skin resistance on their fingers.

Without being told what emotions they were mimicking, subjects got instructions to move parts of their faces into certain positions and hold the resulting expressions for 10 seconds.

For instance, some were told to raise their eyebrows and pull them together, then raise their upper eyelids and finally to stretch their lips horizontally back toward their ears.

This model for the fear expression resulted in higher heart rates, lower temperatures and a slight decrease in skin resistance.

The researchers said the experiments not only showed general distinctions between positive and negative emotions, but for the first time showed different nervous system reactions among negative emotions. For example, by looking at different measurements, disgust and anger could be distinguished from each other as well as from fear or sadness, said the study.

Accident etc is taking toll

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. Rep. Charles Wilson, a shoo-in whenever he runs for office in his East Texas district, admits that a cocaine investigation and hit-and-run accident are trying his constituents' patience with his sometimes flamboyant lifestyle.

"I'm glad the election is not next week with a strong opponent," Wilson told the Dallas Times Herald in an interview published today.

The Lufkin Democrat returned Wednesday night to tour his East Texas district and meet with constituents for the first time since the Justice Department dropped its drug investigation of him and the automobile accident occurred. He spent most of the August recess with a House delegation in Europe and the Middle East.

Some friends and political associates say Wilson could be in trouble.

"I've told him that whether it's true or not, there's too many allegations, like on the drug deal," said Angelina County Democratic Chairman John Henry Tatum. "I've told him that it doesn't matter whether he's guilty or not, he can't stand many more allegations."

Wilson, whose playboy image earned him the moniker "Good Time Charlie," has never been seriously challenged for his seat in the conservative, Southern Baptist district.

Voters "are more tolerant than they used to be," said Orange County Democratic Chairman Bob Montagne.

The 50-year-old bachelor survived a charge of driving under the influence of a drug, reduced from a driving while intoxicated offense, when he served in the Texas Legislature. And he weathered a controvery over his part-ownership of a Washington nightclub.

But 1983 has been his most trying year, primarily because of the six-month federal drug investigation into allegations that he used cocaine at several parties.

Two weeks after the Justice Department announced that it was dropping the probe, Wilson ran his 1979 Lincoln Continental into the rear of another car on a Potomac River bridge and left the scene. He told police he thought he had hit a guardrail and fined $25 Wednesday for a misdemeanor offense of colliding.

The investigation and accident seem to have caused Wilson more problems than any other recent incidents.

"There has to be a point where it really works against him and there has to be a point where somebody comes along, a well-financed candidate," said Tatum, a Lufkin lawyer. "Where that point is, I don't know."

One Wilson friend, who asked not to be named, told the Times Herald that even people closeest to him are running out of patience.

"I think they have been loyal to Charlie and expect a little reciprocation," he said. "His good deeds tend to get overshadowed by his shenanigans."

Wilson appears to remain popular with many voters, but there is an undercurrent of exasperation with his controversial personal life.

"He lives a little too fast a life," said Lufkin barber Eugene Crawford.

And, said Kenny Kendrick, a Lufkin hardware store employee, "I think there are a good many (voters) who think he plays around too much."

Church sets education observerance

Sunday will be an important date at First Christian Church as they will be celebrating the new school year by emphasizing education and its importance.

All classes in the Sunday School Department will meet in the sanctuary at 10 a.m. for a short program and the presentation of promotion certificates.

Education will continue to be celebrated during morning worship service. Special recognition of teachers in church school as well as teachers in public school, both active and retired, who are members of First Christian Church will be noted.

Also, special music will be offered by the junior and senior high school and adult choirs.

Education Day celebration will continue Sunday evening with a sack lunch at the church. Everyone is asked to bring a sack lunch of the type they took to school.

New members of First Christian Church will be honored guests and a skit "classroom chaos" will be presented by members of the congregation.

Sunday School starts each Sunday monring at 9:45 a.m. with worship services at 10:50 a.m. The "Abundant Life" class taught by J. D. Smith begins at 6 p.m. each Sunday evening with worship services following at 7 p.m. Adult choir practice is at 6:30 p.m. each Wednesday.

Help for osteoporosis

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — About 10 years ago I was told I had arthritis of the spine. Since then it has been getting worse. After my fall last year it really caused me a lot of pain. I wore a brace for five months.

I asked my orthopedic doctor if I had osteoporosis. He said yes, which frightened me. I asked if there was something I could do or take to stop the process from getting worse or to improve the condition.

He said perhaps Os-Cal Forte with hormones would help. It so happens I have been taking Premarin for a number of years and have been decreasing the amount until now I take one 0.3 milligram tablet three times a week.

So now I am taking both Premarin and Os-Cal Forte. I need to know if my condition will get better. Can the bone structure of my spine improve if I keep on this? Is there anything else I can do?

DEAR READER — It is not unusual for a person to have both arthritis and osteoporosis. The latter is loss of bone mass and is in fact related to a decreased absorption of calcium with increasing age. There is an important decrease of a derivitive of vitamin D in the body.

An increased calcium intake is advisable, probably 1.5 grams a day. Female hormones, estrogens, also help to arrest or prevent the bone loss. I still see comments that physicians are reluctant to prescribe estrogen to post-menopausal women because of the concern that it may increase the risk of endometrial cancer. That does not need to be a problem because good studies now show that if enough progesterone is given, too, there is no increased risk of cancer.

Fluoride also helps in some cases. I would like for you to see a rheumatologist to sort out which is arthritis and which is osteoporosis in your case and to get you on a proper program with the right amount of calcium, vitamin D and estrogens along with whatever other medication seems indicated in your particular case.

Meanwhile I am sending you The Health Letter 6-10, Osteoporosis: Bone Softening. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you give me some information on the new calcium blocker, Procardia? Will it rob my bones of needed calcium? I am on two and my pressure is the same as a 23-year-old. Before the doctor put me on it I was dizzy and had chest pains, but not the real painful kind.

Procardia is new in this country so I will be pleased to hear from you.

DEAR READER — It must be confusing to the public, but a very small amount of calcium that exists as ions, not in combination as a calcium salt, is essential for nerve and muscle action. These ions migrate into and out of the muscles in the walls of the arteries. By blocking the calcium migration the muscle contractions are prevented.

This prevents spasms that close off the arteries. This action on the muscles in the walls of the arteries also lowers blood pressure.

The calcium in your bones is calcium salt, particularly calcium phosphate. It will not be affected in any way by Procardia. I'm glad you have had such success with it.
