'No Reason for Alarm' Spot Checks On Cattle Resumed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department, concerned that dozens of cattle feedlots are still using a banned cancer-causing growth stimulant, is resuming spot checks of slaughter houses.

The department's Food Safety and Quality Service announced resumption of the national DES sampling program — suspended four months ago — in a memorandum sent this week to regional directors.

Use of DES on cattle has been banned since November, but the department announced last week it had held up slaughter of cattle from 30 feedlots after learning of continued use of the drug.

Since then, the Food and Drug Administration has identified more than 50 feedlots, mostly in the Great Plains area, that allegedly have violated the DES regulations.

A source, who asked not to be identified, said the move involves inspection of at least 20 tissue samples from cattle each week. The Agriculture Department and the FDA are combining forces for the program.

For years, the department's food quality agency checked carcasses of slaughtered animals for traces of DES, as well as other drugs that can show up in meat supplies. The checks were discontinued last December, after the DES ban went into effect.

As part of the renewed effort to keep DES out of the nation's beef supply, the agency's field offices were given guidelines for curbing illegal use of the chemical, a synthetic hormone administered to cattle for years as a feed additive or implanted in pellet form.

The memorandum also outlined procedures for dealing with feedlots that have illegally used the drug. Those guidelines require identification of all cattle implanted since the deadline, conditions for removal of the implants, and withholding of the cattle from sale to meat-packing plants until the drug has been expelled.

Initially, some 70,000 cattle were said to be withheld from market until all traces of the drug had been expelled. But officials now say as many as 200,000 head eventually may be found in violation.

DES — diethylstilbestrol — has been shown to cause cancer and birth defects on animals and has been linked to cancer and other disorders in humans.

However, federal officials say there is no reason for consumer alarm. They say "the hazard posed by DES in beef is not from a few exposures, but from continuing exposures over a number of years."

They also say "there is no appreciable health risk to the public from consumption of beef" treated with DES that may have reached consumers in recent months.

UNDERSTAND WE HAD A DOZEN or more people go over to Amarillo Wednesday to see and hear Ronald Reagan, Republican candidate for president.

We had planned to go and had our press credentials cleared with the Secret Service, but just couldn't get away in time. If you ever wanted to see our next president in person, you may have missed your chance. I've noted over the years that chances of eyeballing a president are much better when he's a candidate.

We attended a press conference for Jack Kennedy, accompanied by Lyndon Johnson, in Lubbock a number of years ago. As it turned out, we got to see two of our presidents—but that was the only chance before or since!

IT MAY BE THAT PRAISE, like gold and diamonds, owes its value to its scarcity, as Samuel Johnson said.

But most of us would prefer to err on the side of giving too much praise than too little. One who would agree was the wife of an old Vermont named Eb.

Old Eb was, like many of his breed, rather stingy with words. He said very little, and then rather grudgingly. One evening he was sitting on the front porch with his wife. The long day's work, the good supper, and the peaceful sights and sounds dusk must have softened him up.

Eb took out his pipe out of his mouth and said, "When I think of what you've meant to me all these years, Judith, sometimes it's more than I can stand not to tell you!"

IN 1976 JIMMY CARTER PROMISED when he ran for election to the highest office in the land that he would cut the bloated White House staff by at least one-third.

Apparently he isn't doing too well—if his wife's staff is any indication.

Mrs. Gerald Ford's personal staff totaled 12 persons. According to White House records, obtained by a Congressman after the Carter administration refused to show them to the press, Mrs. Carter's personal staff now numbers 21 aides and costs taxpayers about $650,000 a year.

Her staff is almost as large as the entire staff of the vice president, Walter Mondale, who has 26 aides.

Mrs. Carter's top assistant, staff director Edith Dobbelle, makes $56,000 a year—exactly the same amount paid President Carter's adviser on national security affairs, Zbigniew Brzezinski.

Poerner Visits Hereford

John Poerner, Democratic candidate for Railroad Commissioner, flew into Hereford's Municipal Airport yesterday and visited with several interested citizens for a brief period. Poerner made stops in Amarillo, Dumas, Perryton and Odessa Thursday. On hand here to visit with the candidate were Mike Patrick, Austin Rose, Vance Crume, and Judge Glen Nelson, left of the candidate, and Dist. Judge Wes Gulley and Mike Carr.

When Carter Talks to Begin

Sadat Expects Israel To Give Ground

WASHINGTON (AP) — As he challenged Israel to give ground on autonomy for Palestinian Arabs, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said differences over that issue do not threaten the existing peace treaty between Egypt and Israel.

"The normalization between us is a fact and there is no going back," Sadat said at a news conference at Blair House before flying home to Cairo late Thursday.

Nonetheless, Sadat's public message to Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin was clear: Soften the Israeli position on the Palestinian question or risk continued unease throughout the Mideast.

Begin calls on President Carter next week in the wake of Sadat's declaration that recognizing Arab rights in East Jerusalem and on the West Bank of the Jordan River "is the only sure way to peace and harmonious existence."

Left behind, also, was a clear implication that Sadat and Carter had agreed on some new approaches. Among them, Sadat told reporters, was to implement self-administration for the Palestinians first in Gaza, the least troublesome of the territories held by Israel.

Sadat also hinted that some ticklish issues, such as control of water resources, might be deferred for eventual decision between Israel and the Palestinians.

"It is not our right," Sadat said. "Neither President Carter nor I will discuss anything that concerns the Palestinians behind their back." He said he would like to explain his views to the Israeli parliament and appeared willing to return here for another round of summit meetings with Carter.

Sweepstakes Taken By HHS Band

Hereford High School's Honors Band won Sweepstakes honors yesterday in Amarillo, where they competed in the annual UIL concert and sight reading contest. Bands from AAA and AAAA schools throughout the Panhandle participated in the contest, which took place in Amarillo Civic Center.

The Honors Band won Sweepstakes by adding "I" division ratings in concert and sight reading to the "I" rating they earned in October in marching competition. Bands from Amarillo High School and Pampa High School also took Sweepstakes honors at the UIL competition.

Hereford also sent their symphonic and concert bands to the UIL meet and each came home with a "I" in concert and "II" in sight reading. Bill Huff is director of the symphonic band and Randy Vaughn conducts the honors and concert bands.

Bob Blaton, band director from Kline High School near Houston, was among the judges who officiated during the band concert yesterday.

Households in Deaf Smith County and the area received a 1980 census questionnaire the last week of March and they should have been returned April 1. Census takers will be calling on some households for additional information, or to check on forms not mailed back. Enumerators will have portfolios and highly visible red, white and blue official cards for identification. They are sworn to secrecy not to reveal any individual's census answers.

U.S. Urges Israel To Recall Troops

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The United States is reportedly urging Israel to withdraw its troops from southeastern Lebanon, and Defense Minister Ezer Weizman says they won't stay permanently.

Weizman met here Thursday with William Brown, the U.S. charge d'affaires, who an announcement said requested "clarification" of Israel's intentions in southern Lebanon. No details of the meeting were released, but U.N. sources said the United States was urging the Israelis to pull back.

"There is some indication of a beginning of a withdrawal of the Israeli forces," a spokesman for Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said in New York. But no such indications were reported from the border area.

Israeli military sources said the army crossed the border to block more Palestinian guerrilla raids like the one on an Israeli settlement last Monday in which three Israelis and the five guerrillas were killed. The sources indicated the troops might stay until after Prime Minister Menachem Begin's visit to Washington next week.

Cold Front Hits Panhandle

By The Associated Press — A cold front pushed through the Texas Panhandle early today, bringing with it cooler temperatures and brisk northerly winds gusting to 40 mph.

Scattered thunderstorms were forecast for the eastern two-thirds of the state with some possibly severe from the Hill Country and South Central Texas eastward into Southeast Texas.

Showers were also forecast tonight for Northwest Texas and there was a slight possibility of some light snow in extreme northwest sections of the Panhandle.

Cooler temperatures were forecast for northern sections of the state. Highs were to range from the 40s and 50s in the Panhandle to the 80s and 90s in South Texas.

Despite Pervasive Use of Pills Most People Don't Abuse Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Drug Abuse Council says despite the growing, "pervasive" use of mind-altering drugs in America, most people who use drugs do not abuse them and pose no threat to society.

The council said the nation may as well accept some use of drugs as inevitable. Drugs have been used "since the beginning of recorded time and will predictably remain so," it said.

It cautioned against a return to what it called the alarmism of the Nixon administration's "war on drugs."

Despite the nearly $6 billion the federal government has spent since 1971 on drug treatment and law enforcement efforts, "more Americans use and misuse more psychoactive drugs than ever," the council said.

But while use of mind-altering drugs from alcohol to marijuana and heroin is "pervasive, misuse is much less frequent," it said.

The councils scheduled a news conference today to discuss the findings, contained in a 291-page book, "The Facts About Drug Abuse."

Publication of the book caps a seven-year, $10 million study, sponsored mainly by the Ford Foundation.

It predicted heavy use of drugs "will prevail at least through the next few years" and called for policies that distinguish between recreational use of drugs and misuse that harms society.

It backed experimenting with heroin to treat heroin addicts and endorsed decriminalization of possessing marijuana in small amounts.

The council noted that heroin treatment programs generally assume users are addicts, but said there is "convincing evidence that more individuals use heroin than are addicted."

"By adhering to an unrealistic goal of total abstinence from the use of illicit drugs, opportunities to encourage responsible drug-using behavior are missed," said the council.

Current drug policies "reflect assumptions and events more than a half century old, despite the fact that many of those assumptions were erroneous or founded in demagoguery," it said.

Despite alarm about the millions of high school and college students who experiment with drugs or use them regularly, "clearly the majority exercises personal restraint," it said. The number in serious difficulty from drug abuse "is relatively small."

The council, now disbanded, was headed by Bethuel M. Webster, a New York lawyer. Its president was Dr. Thomas E. Bryant, who also chaired the President's Commission on Mental Health in 1977-78.

Also funding it were the Carnegie Corp., the Commonwealth Fund, the Kaiser Family Foundation and the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Nixon Says World

War III Underway

LONDON (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon, in a book excerpt published here today, said World War III has already begun and the Soviets are on the "verge of decisive supremacy over the West."

"In the 1980s, America will confront two cold realities for the first time in modern history. The first is that, if war were to come, we might lose. The second is that we might be defeated without war," Nixon wrote in an excerpt from his forthcoming book, "The Real War," published in the British weekly newsmagazine "NOW."

The excerpt deals primarily with superpower rivalry but touches on Iran, the Middle East, Africa, NATO and South America.

Nixon wrote that since he resigned the presidency in 1975, "The military position of the United States relative to that of the Soviet Union has seriously worsened and the peril to the West has greatly increased."

He said the Carter Administration's 1977 decision to cancel production of the B-1 bomber, designed to counteract the Soviet Union's Backfire bomber, "may have been one of the greatest strategic blunders this nation has ever made."

Lance Lent Money

On 'Character'

ATLANTA (AP) — Former U.S. Budget Director Bert Lance, accused in a bank fraud case of misstating his collateral to obtain loans, told a federal court jury that as a banker he lent people money on their character rather than collateral."

Lance's own character, meanwhile, got a high rating from President Carter's mother, Lillian Carter, who called him "quite a man."

Lance and Mrs. Carter were the first two witnesses Thursday as the defense launched its case.

The president's long-time friend, on trial with three associates for nearly three months, is charged with 10 counts alleging misapplication of funds in loans to friends and family and two counts alleging false statements to a bank where Lance borrowed money.

Twenty of the original 33 counts in the indictment remain to be decided by the federal court jury.

Seizure of Coffee

Beans is Ordered

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has ordered the seizure of $20 million worth of coffee beans contaminated by a poisonous industrial chemical, officials said.

The coffee beans were contaminated three weeks ago when bags of antimony trioxide broke open at the Jacksonville Port Authority warehouse where it was being stored. The coffee has been kept under lock since the contamination was discovered two weeks ago.

The Jacksonville Times-Union reported that the Florida Department of Agriculture also has ordered a halt to sales of "large amounts" of coffee already processed at the Maxwell House plant here.

John Taylor, director of the FDA's Division of Regulatory Guidance in Washington, said the agency doesn't feel the contamination poses an acute public health hazard. But he said the FDA is concerned about the possible effects of the chemical on heavy coffee drinkers over a long period of time.

It was unknown whether any of the coffee has reached supermarket shelves.

Taylor said General Foods Corp., producers of Maxwell House Coffee, has been told by letter of the seizure order. He added that the coffee beans suffered only surface contamination and may be able to be washed and safely processed.

Volcano in Third

Week of Spouting

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — With clouds of ash, two heavy earthquakes and a "weak" pair of harmonic tremors, Mount St. Helens humbled into its third week of eruptions.

Ash continued to spout from the 9,677-foot volcano Thursday, but eruptions were only visible to scientists and others flying above clouds which obscured the view from the ground, a U.S. Forest Service spokeswoman said.

Both harmonic tremors were reported Thursday morning and described as very weak. Scientists have said harmonic tremors indicated the movement of magma - molten rock - within the volcano.

But Craig Weaver, a U.S. Geological Survey seismologist, said the tremors also could indicate the movement of steam or other gases.

The southwest Washington volcano began erupting ash March 27. No lava has been seen. Weaver said the mountain appeared to be in a "steady state" with its quakes and tremors.

Odds Favoring Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) — With 22 Republican presidential primaries to go, the odds favoring Ronald Reagan's nomination for the White House are getting better every day.

Four years ago, he won more than he lost in the states that are yet to be contested this time.

The competition was tougher then. And Reagan didn't even run in Pennsylvania, conceding to then-President Gerald R. Ford the state that could virtually clinch the nomination in 1980.

This year's Pennsylvania primary is coming up on April 22 after what amounts to a mid-season break in the primary competition.

Given the lead he has now, and the shape of states to come, it would take an incredible political blunder to render the former California governor vulnerable to his GOP challengers.

To review the bidding, it will take 998 delegate votes to win the Republican nomination. Reagan has 372. George Bush is in second place — 300 delegates behind.

"It has been a very fickle political year," Bush told the American Society of Newspaper Editors the other day. "Things have changed. This is no exercise in futility...."

But Bush has yet to prove otherwise, and Pennsylvania is his last real chance to do it. After that one, the pace intensifies and the competition moves south and west — to Reagan country.

Bush said his task is to make himself known; to have his views registered with the voters. That sounds logical — but Bush scored his biggest victory of the season when he was least known.

It was his upset over Reagan in the Jan. 21 Iowa caucuses that first focused attention on his candidacy.

Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois isn't entered in Pennsylvania, and the primaries that follow are even less inviting for him than for Bush.

Next up, on May 3, is Texas, where Anderson wouldn't stand a chance even if he tried. He isn't. Bush is from Houston. But Reagan won Texas overwhelmingly in 1976, capturing the entire delegation over Ford.

Pennsylvania is vital to Bush — and any other Republican who would like to see Reagan stalled. But there, in a state where he got scant delegate support and only 5 percent of the popular vote on write-ins in the 1976 primary, Reagan appears strong this time.

There still are 1,411 GOP delegates to be chosen. And Reagan won't talk about running mates or any of the other decisions that await a nominee, saying he doesn't want to jinx himself.

But the numbers are all his way, and the competition ahead is largely in his territory.

Hijacker Identified By Havana Broadcast

MIAMI (AP) — The man who hijacked an American Airlines jet to Cuba has been described as a dental school dropout and Moslem convert who was trying to escape racial and religious prejudice in the United States.

Prensa Latina, the official Cuban news agency, identified the hijacking suspect Thursday as Muhammad Jalal Deen Akbar, formerly Gerald Leland Merity.

Officials at the University of California-San Francisco said a man by the same name quit their dental school last year.

Havana radio broadcasts monitored in Miami identified the man as a "former student of odontology born in Minneapolis, Minn."

He quoted him as saying that he "abandoned his studies at the University of San Francisco late last year because of political and religious conflicts with university authorities." "He said that he left the United States for religious and political reasons because any leader that shows the Negroes the way is exposed to being destroyed, black-mailed or assassinated," the broadcast said.

Officials at UC-San Francisco said Akbar, 35, first registered at the School of Dentistry in the fall of 1977. The school said Akbar, who gave his hometown as Minneapolis, withdrew voluntarily at the beginning of the current term and had no record of disciplinary problems.

A quiet man described as a black in his 30s scaled a wall at the Ontario, Calif., airport Wednesday morning and forced his way aboard an American Airlines Boeing 727. Seven crew members were aboard but no passengers. The plane was forced to go to Havana with a fueling stop at Dallas. The plane and crew returned to Miami late Wednesday, leaving the hijacker in Havana.

The State Department in Washington said that Cuba informed the United States the hijacker was in custody and would be prosecuted there.

Tornado Warnings Bring Back Memories

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — Last week, almost on the anniversary of 1979's killer tornado, warning sirens whined again as black clouds came rolling toward town from the west.

"I didn't panic," said Mona Brake. "I just slowly started to cry."

Mona, 22, remembers April 10, 1979, the day a triple-tailed twister roared through Wichita Falls, killing 46 persons. The storm took both her legs and her marriage.

Ron and Mona Brake were on their way to a homemakers' class at a shopping center that night. They drove right into the path of the storm.

Mona's legs were crushed, and both were amputated. For days, doctors were not even sure she would live, but she has been fitted with artificial limbs, gone through six months' rehabilitation, bought a new car and gone to work full-time as a secretary.

"I thought she'd be dependent on us for everything," said Mona's mother, Wanda Brockman, "but she's not. She's so independent."

She also has moved in with her parents and filed for divorce.

"It was a marriage like any other marriage," she said of her five years with Ron, 24, her high-school sweetheart. "It had some pressures, some problems. This (the tornado) just triggered it."

Ron has had 16 operations on his left leg, and his spleen has been removed. He is still on crutches and had to change jobs, giving up his stock clerk's position at G.H. Foster Co. for a desk job.

"I've always done pretty much whatever they (the company) wanted me to do," he said with a shrug, but he is not so calm about what the tornado and its emotional aftermath did to his marriage. He thinks Mona's family must bear most of the blame.

"They seemed to change towards me after the tornado," he said. "Me and Mona could probably get along, but now I can get along with her family, and she's living with them now."

Thursday, the anniversary of the tornado, was "just another day" for Mona. But Ron had ghosts to chase. He planned to leave work and drive the same route he had driven a year earlier, the day a tornado changed his life.

"I just feel a need to drive it again," he said.

Washington Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's more evidence the United States is headed into the long-predicted recession.

Retail sales fell in March for a second straight month, dropping 1.3 percent below the February total, according to Commerce Department figures released Thursday.

Adren Cooper, a Commerce Department analyst, said, "There's more of a recession pattern in consumer spending than we have seen so far. The only thing that made any significant gain in March was food store sales, and that typically keeps going even in recession." Many economists had predicted a recession last year, but that was staved off by higher levels of consumer buying than had been expected.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harrison Salisbury, a former New York Times editor and foreign correspondent, claims the National Security Agency illegally intercepted his international cables.

Salisbury, who once covered the Soviet Union for the Times, asked for $10,000 damages in a suit filed Thursday in federal court. He also wants a court order directing the NSA to give him its files on him. Mark H. Lynch, Salisbury's attorney, said Salisbury believes his cables were intercepted after he filed a Freedom of Information request seeking CIA and FBI files under his name.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is proposing long-term loans and construction loan guarantees for health maintenance organizations, which some persons see as alternatives to expensive health care arrangements between doctors and patients.

Terms of interim regulations proposing the loans and guarantees were published Thursday in the Federal Register. A health maintenance organization offers comprehensive medical services, including hospitalization, for a fixed, pre-paid periodic fee. Studies have shown they tend to reduce costs by emphasizing preventive medicine. Recent figures show there are more than 200 HMOs with a membership of 7.5 million

WASHINGTON (AP) — A credit union trade group has asked for another increase in the interest rates it can charge for loans, a request that came less than two weeks after the federal government decided to permit higher rates.

President Carter signed a law March 21 raising the maximum loan rate at federal credit unions from 12 percent to 15 percent annually. On Thursday, the Credit Union National Association sought approval to raise the rate "in line with current money market conditions," although it did not specify a level. The prime lending rate, which is the interest commercial banks charge their most credit-worthy customers on short-term loans, is at 20 percent.

Castration Law Proposal Fails

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A freshman state representative has failed in a last-ditch effort to revive his proposal calling for castration of sex offenders.

Rep. Frank Shurden of Henryetta, a Democrat, tried to attach his proposal to a resolution calling for a referendum on eliminating the governor's role in the parole process.

His move produced some lively debate in the House and was headed for a vote before being ruled out of order. Last session, the House by a lone vote turned down Shurden's original bill, calling for "asexualization" of certain sex offenders.

His new proposal would have required life prison terms for persons convicted of first-degree rape, sexual molestation of a child and sodomy.

It would have allowed sex offenders to be paroled, however, if they "voluntarily" agreed to a castration procedure.

Iran

release of the American hostages.

Wednesday the Moslem militants occupying the U.S. Embassy in Tehran since Nov. 4 threatened to kill all 50 of their captives if the United States intervened militarily. On Thursday, one of the militants told NBC News they would kill them all if Iraq or any other U.S. "puppet" invaded.

"If they should kill any of our people, a border spat with Iraq would be the least of their problems," a White House official in Washington commented.

Iraq urged other Arab nations to rally behind it against Iran, and its official news agency declared: "This crazy, racist Khomeini is nothing but a turbaned shah."

The nine nations of the European Common Market announced that their ambassadors in Tehran would call on Bani-Sadr and demand that a date be set for the release of the hostages. They said the ambassadors would return home with the Iranian response, and the governments would review their policies toward Iran at that time. Japan also called its ambassador home from Tehran for consultations. Foreign Ministry sources in Tokyo said.

Meanwhile, the allies took no punitive action in support of the Americans because of their need for Iranian oil.

Foreign ministers of the 12 other West European nations that with the Common Market nine make up the Council of Europe adopted a statement calling for the "immediate liberation" of the hostages. Several of them also summoned their ambassadors from Tehran for consultation.

Carter told the American Society of Newspaper Editors meeting in Washington Thursday he was "disappointed" at the allied response to his appeals. He said the United States "will pursue every — and I repeat — ever legitimate use of power to bring our people home."

Band

In his comments, he wrote, "I am tremendously impressed with the three bands from Hereford we heard today. You have something real great going. Congratulations to the band staff, students, parents and administration who have made this possible. A real pleasure to hear these bands."

The Honors Band was described as "just a great band" by Bill Fean, a judge from Odessa High School. Harris Brinson of San Angelo stated "Some fine players—nice band. I really enjoyed hearing you."

Judges' comments concerning the symphonic band included Brinson's "Fine band. You have rehearsed these selections well"; Bla-ton's "Overall a real good job, overall program played very well. Good work;" and Dean's "Fine group, shows good teaching."

Of the concert band, it was noted: "Music is well rehearsed. A lot of good work is being done. Keep it up;" and "Fine group with fine teaching"; plus, "Overall a very musical performance.

Good to hear the good sounds and attention to details. Band seems to follow conductor well, good communication."

This is the 22nd consecutive year that the HHS band has earned a "1" division rating in concert. During the 22 years in which Hereford has competed, the local bands have won 19 Sweepstakes honors.

in Lebanon permanently," Weizman said in an army radio interview. "I wish we could leave Lebanon. I wish we could reach a situation in Lebanon like we have with Egypt."

Explaining Israel's military thrust across its northern frontier, Weizman said, "First of all (it was done) to make it easier on the settlements ... This battle has gone on for 10 or 12 years and it's not a simple thing."

Israel's string of collective farms lining the rugged Galilee border with Lebanon have been frequent targets of attacks by Palestinian guerrillas from Lebanon. But the attack Monday on the Misgav Am kibbutz coincided with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's meeting in Washington with President Carter, and there was speculation that another raid would be staged while Begin was meeting with Carter.

U.N. sources said the Israelis have deployed about 360 soldiers and 23 armored personnel carriers anchored in five emplacements along an 11-mile-long arc some three miles inside Lebanese territory.

Lebanon accused Israel of an "insolent violation" of U.N. resolutions and demanded a Security Council session on the "explosive situation." The council was to meet in closed session this afternoon to discuss the situation and what to do about it.

Israeli military sources who declined to be identified said the troops in Lebanon had not run into any guerrillas so far. Nor did they encounter any of the U.N. peacekeeping troops based in southern Lebanon since April 1978, the sources said in Metulla, Israel's northernmost frontier town.

Israel claims the U.N. troops bear part of the blame for the Misgav Am attack because the Palestinians crossed their zone to reach the frontier. A military investigation also found fault with Israel's electronic surveillance system which is supposed to guard against such incursions.

Business Mirror

New Minority Group Seen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Corporations have a new minority group to worry about, says an expert on retirement policies — militant older workers who are suing companies that try to put them out to pasture before they're ready to go.

"One of the biggest problems in industry today is posed by the white male worker in his 50s," says industrial gerontologist Michael Batten. "Through litigation, blacks, Chicanos and women all got theirs. Now the middle-aged white man is getting his. This guy doesn't have a lobby and doesn't need one. He just picks the phone and tells his lawyer, 'Hey, I'm being discriminated against.'"

American Can is being sued by more than 1,000 older workers who allege the company cut its work staff, a so-called "reduction in force," by forcing elderly employees to retire. Batten noted during a recent seminar on "Work, Aging and Retirement" at the University of Southern California.

"What with the back wages, merit increases and promotions these workers would have received while normally employed, the cost to American Can could go to $30 million by the time the litigation is cleared up," says the 46-year-old Batten, a consultant to such firms as Hughes Aircraft, IBM and the Knight-Ridder newspaper group.

Congress in 1978 amended the Age Discrimination in Employment Act to prohibit forced early retirement and raise the mandatory retirement age from 65 to 70. But Batten says elderly workers can't count on the government to protect them.

"The private bar seems to be the best hope for older workers," Batten said in an interview. "It's very sad that the older worker has to litigate, but in the absence of strong federal enforcement of the act, the best thing he can do is get a good lawyer."

The new militancy displayed by older workers is forcing companies to re-examine their attitudes toward employees over 50, Batten says. Corporations who think older workers are less productive or can't be taught new tricks are being forced to justify those beliefs in court.

"Subjective judgments on the abilities of older workers are being thrown out by the courts," he said. "You have to prove it. We're simply not accepting stereotypes about the older worker."

"Fashion Notes," a Spring Style show, was presented by The Vogue and The Brogue Wednesday afternoon at the Country Club with entertainment by Cal Garrett, soloist, and Dee Anne Caison, organist. On the menu for the afternoon was oriental spinach, salad, cauliflower-broccoli salad, assorted relishes, chicken breast Hawaii on almond coconut rice, fresh pineapple, buttered asparagus spears, hot breads and assorted pastries. Models for the spring review included Kay Lynn Cavness, Gladys Cavness, Carmen Flood, Carolyn Hays, Helen Higgins, Debbie Jones of Dallas, Nancy Josseland, Ruth McBride, Marcella McLain, Kathy Moore, Jean Reinauer, Sue Sims, Marcia Snyder, Judy Wall and Gayle Yosten. Others modeling the new trends were Cheyenne and Creedence Futrell, twins; and Brady and Earl Brookhart. It was noted during the fashion review for women that pleats and peplums are in style. Hemlines were noticed as being two or three inches below the knee. Dropped waistlines and shoulder pads have made a remarkable comeback into women's fashions. As for the men, slim lapels, shorter collars and slimmer ties were rated popular in the spring fashions by Earl Brookhart, Brogue owner. Door prizes for the afternoon were won by Penny Jessup and Edna Gault.

Temple Baptist Welcomes Brasher

Steve Brasher, new minister of music and youth at Temple Baptist Church will be leading the music in the church's revival April 13-20. Brasher, 24, is a 1979 music education graduate of Texas Tech University. He attended Odessa Junior College and Odessa High prior to Tech. He has served as music and youth minister with First Baptist Church at Sundown. As a member of Bacon Heights Baptist Church in Lubbock, he directed the junior high choir for a year and a half. Brasher has led the music during Temple Baptist Church youth revival last August. Revival services will be both noon and 7:30 p.m. each day with the Rev. J.E. Meeks of Muleshoe First Baptist Church and the Rev. J.L. Bozeman, pastor of Temple Baptist Church, giving the sermons.

The public is invited to attend the worship services during the revival.

Weight Control Seminar Planned at Plainview

A Weight Control Seminar will feature information to help consumers with weight control problems and exercises. The special program will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 29, in the Centennial Room at the Hale County State Bank in Plainview. The program is free and is sponsored by the Hale County Family Living Committee.

Featured speaker will be Mary K. Sweeten, Food and Nutrition Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, College Station. Mrs. Sweeten has had extensive experience in dietary analysis and is a noted authority in this area. She is a registered dietician. She received her B.S. degree in home economics from the University of Texas, completed dietetic internship at Indiana University Medical Center and received her M.S. in food, nutrition and institutional administration from Oklahoma State University.

Before coming to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service she worked as Therapeutic Dietician, Administrative Dietician, and research associate. Mrs. Sweeten is a native of Big Springs and the granddaughter of the late County Judge John Edward Kinney from Roberts County.

Mrs. Sweeten will be bringing information about weight control, weight related problems, fad diets, exercise and ways to lose weight and keep it off. She will be giving a slide presentation and lecture covering weight control followed by a question and answer period.

Information will be given to the group on "Look Your Best While Losing Weight" by Mrs. Wynon Mayes, County Extension Agent. Included will be suggestions for dressing thin, how to create the thin look with sleeves, necklines, color, patterns and accessories.

A variety of educational pamphlets will be given free to those attending. Those who have specific diet problems related to weight control should plan now to attend this educational program on Tuesday, April 29, 7:30 p.m. in the Centennial Room of the Hale County State Bank. The public is invited to attend.

For additional information, one can contact Mrs. Wynon Mayes, County Extension Office, 296-7466.

Spring Fling Set Saturday Evening

Medical expenses of Allan Brockman will be defrayed by proceeds of tomorrow evening's Spring Fling, to be sponsored by Merry Mixers Square Dance Club in the County Bull Barn.

Round dancing will commence at 7 p.m. and the Grand March is scheduled at 8 o'clock.

The public is invited to attend the annual event, free of charge. Each dancing couple will be asked to pay a $4 admission fee.

Callers for the evening will be Roy Johnson and Freddie McKee, both of Amarillo.

Skaters Reminded Of Pledges

Youngsters who participated in the Muscular Dystrophy Association Skate-A-Thon on April 2 are required to turn in their pledge money before 6 p.m. Saturday, April 12 in order to be eligible for prizes.

Jerry Johnson, local MDA chairman, issued a reminder that pledge money should be submitted to Playhouse Skating Rink, where winners will be named at 6 p.m. Saturday. Those raising the most money will receive a portable television, first place; an AM/FM radio, second place; or a pair of skates, third place.

Cooler attics mean cooler houses.

An attic-ventilating fan installed near the roof peak -- with air intakes in the eaves or in the gable sidewall -- will reduce attic temperatures and ultimately the interior of the home, says Sue Young, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Mrs. Young is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Dressed To Kill

Ann Landers

Grandchildren Blues

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It's such a joy to have my grandchildren come with their moms and dads for a few hours on Saturday or Sunday. I bake special cookies, buy extra goodies and games and hope they enjoy themselves.

After several hours of eating and playing, we kiss goodbye--and then I view the wreckage. I see ashtrays full of half-chewed candy, peanut shells on the floor, broken crayons and cookies crushed into the rugs, half-empty soda glasses on the tables, cake plates and apple cores on the window sills, frosting smeared on the walls, and paper napkins torn in bits and stuffed between sofa cushions. The bathrooms are a mess--towels on the floor and soap floating in the sink.

Question: Why are daughters and daughters-in-law so blind? Don't they see the work they leave behind? Why can't they help clean up the house before they leave? Do they really consider themselves "guests" and not members of the family?

Please write a column about this, Ann. I'll bet thousands of grandmas will frame it and hang it on the wall. I know I will. -- Bone-Weary

DEAR B.W.: I hope you'll do more than frame it, dear. Autograph it and send a copy to your daughters and daughters-in-law. And this goes for every grandma out there who has the problem. DEAR ANN LANDERS: I had to laugh when I read the letter from the paper carrier's mother in Aberdeen, S.D., who complained because the paper costs her son $3.80 a month and very few people ever gave him $4 and said, "Keep the change."

How would she like it in Madison, Wis., where it costs $7 a month and the paperboy throws the paper on the roof, into the bushes, into mud puddles and the highest snowbank in the winter? That's what I've been putting up with. Some people don't know when they are well off. Please tell them.--Daisy

DEAR DAISY: Kwitchebellyachin', lady: I pay $10.20 a month in Chicago and consider it a bargain. Just think of the variety of services your newspaper performs. It not only keeps you up to the minute with what's going on all over the world, it contains information that can be extremely helpful and even life-saving. And don't forget I'm in there seven days a week!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several weeks ago a reader asked what you did with the letters after you finished reading them. Your reply was, "Everything goes into the shredder." You then went on to explain that some people sign their right names and it could be damaging if anyone got hold of those letters. Every once in a while people ask you to rerun a certain letter. If you shared them, how are you able to run them again? It doesn't add up.--Marysville Joe

DEAR JOE: We have kept the scrapbooks of every column I've ever written, starting with the first one, which ran Oct. 17, 1955.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,
If American farmers think they have it rough now, they haven't seen anything yet. And if they have plans for leaving their farms to their children, that won't likely be possible.

Without Congressional approval, U.S. bureaucrats (4 departments) initially will use 16.7 million taxpayer's dollars of their departments' appropriations to set up farming (and eventually industrial) communes in Alabama, Louisiana and Florida. Eventually to become all-encompassing.

The U.S. has the best agricultural and industrial know-how in the world. Yet, Israelis are to come to the U.S. to plan and direct these communes that will be patterned after Israeli kibbutz (on land that once belonged to Palestinians). Those Israeli kibbutz are patterned after Marxist communes in Russia that were planned and directed by Jews, as were the Russian slave labor camps, according to A. Solzhenitsyn's "The Gulag Archipelago Two."

This Federal-Israeli-Communist scheme to control our land and food will cost U.S. taxpayers $140,000 per commune family. Each family will be "selected" by the "directors." No independent farmer near such government controlled and subsidized communes could compete even if mortgage or loan money were easily available to independent land owners. In hard times that would make it easier and cheaper to take over the independent's land.

One may wonder how this communist scheme came about: When Dale Milford was in Congress he criticized fellow congressmen for allowing their staff to write legislation. (Next election Milford was defeated by Martin Frost);

In the meantime, try to get details on "Collective Farming" in the U.S. by writing to: Texas Farm Bureau, Research and Education, Box 489, Waco, Texas Zip 76703. Ask for copy of "Collective Farming." Pages 274, 275, 276 from "Facts For You," Vol. XXII, #45, Nov. 16, 1979.

Remember, no matter how the schemers try to sweet talk this project, it is collective farming, communism and is the foot in the door to complete government control of our land and food.

Thank you,

Devers Awarded 'Best Speaker'

Bill Devers was awarded "best speaker of the day" honors when the Hereford Toastmasters Club held its regular Thursday morning at the Thompson House.

B.J. Gilliland served as Toastmaster of the Day. The regular table-top session was replaced by a "listening-to-learn segment" which encouraged people to be more aware of the necessity for listening.

Dr. Milton Adams was named best evaluator of the meeting. The club welcomed Ray Owens as a new member, and Terry Cooke was introduced as a guest.

Anyone interested in Toastmasters can contact president Rocky Lee at 364-4855.

Parks May Be Going Back Up Boardwalk

By PETER MATTIACE
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Put out to pasture by the Miss America Pageant, Bert Parks may be going up the Boardwalk again — to work for a new casino hotel.

The 65-year-old Parks confirmed Thursday he is close to an agreement to promote the 500-room Brighton Hotel & Casino. The $65 million Brighton is scheduled to open as Atlantic City's fourth casino around May 31.

"Aren't you proud of Daddy?" Parks said in a telephone interview from his winter home Hollywood, Fla. "I'm coming home to Atlantic City. But, hey, I never left those lovely people. You just don't throw away 25 years just like that."

Parks said his contract, which has not been signed, calls for him to make guest appearances, radio and television commercials for the Brighton. "I fervently hope the deal goes through," Parks said. "But until you write your name down, it doesn't mean a thing."

Brighton officials could not be reached for comment.

Parks, who sang "There She Is" to tearful Miss Americas since 1955, has made several television appearances and commercials since pageant officials confirmed Jan. 2 that they would not renew his one-year contract.

Pageant officials announced that Ron Ely, television's first Tarzan and now a Los Angeles game show host, would replace Parks.

Albert A. Marks Jr.,

executive officer of the pageant, and Campbell's Soup spokesman Scott Rumbaugh confirmed Thursday that the company would end its sponsorship. Marks said Nestle Co. would join Gillette, a 22-year sponsor, and Kellogg's, a 12-year sponsor.

The Newspaper Bible

AND YOU CAN HAVE IT FOR THE ASKING

WHEN the Lord knew that the Pharisees had heard about the greater crowds coming to Him than to John to be baptized and to become His disciples (though Jesus Himself didn't baptize them, but His disciples did).

He left Judea and returned to the province of Galilee. He had to go through Samaria on the way.

And around noon as He approached the village of Sychar, He came to Jacob's Well, located on the parcel of ground Jacob gave to his son Joseph. Jesus was tired from the long walk in the hot sun and sat wearily beside the well.

Soon a Samaritan woman came to draw water, and Jesus asked her for a drink.

He was alone at the time as His disciples had gone into the village to buy some food.

The woman was surprised that a Jew would ask a "despised Samaritan" for anything - usually they wouldn't even speak to them! - and she remarked about this to Jesus.

He replied, "If you only knew what a wonderful gift God has for you, and who I am, you would ask Me for some living water!"

"But you don't have a rope or a bucket," she said, "and this is a very deep well! Where would you get this living water?"

And besides, are you greater than our ancestor Jacob? How can you offer better water than this which he and his sons and cattle enjoyed?"

Jesus replied that people soon become thirsty again after drinking this water.

"But the water I give them," He said, "becomes a perpetual spring within them, watering them forever with eternal life."

Leader Appoints TOPS Chairmen

Committee chairmen for the coming year were appointed by Mary Williamson, leader of TOPS Club #941. Thursday morning during the chapter's regular meeting at the Community Center.

Appointed to serve were Christine Larson, hospitality chairman; Anna Vogler, song leader; and Camelia Jones, prize and cheer committee chairman.

In other business, the club voted to have a "Slimming for Summer" contest in which fake money will be given as a reward for weight loss, attending meetings, keeping calorie charts and giving programs. Fines will be levied for weight gains.

A TOPS weight barometer was posted to chart the club's progress in losing 100 pounds.

Military Muster

Marine Pvt. Phillip D. Simon, son of James C. and Joyce A. Simon of 329 Cherokee, has completed the infantry combat training course at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

During the six-week course, he received classroom instruction and participated in field exercises involving infantry tactics; the construction and camouflage of fighting positions; and the use of mines, demolitions, and intra-company communications equipment. His specialized training centered on the duties of a rifleman, with emphasis on squad tactics and the techniques of fire of the squad's weapons.

A 1976 graduate of Hereford High School, he joined the Marine Corps in September 1979.

Spec. 4 Alfred High Jr., son of Mrs. Ethelene High, 405 Ave. E., recently completed a primary non-commissioned officer leadership course at Fort Riley, Kan.

The course provided instruction in chemical, biological and radiological training, drill and ceremonies, physical training, and weapons qualifications.

High, who entered the Army in August 1978, is assigned to the 4th Cavalry. He is a 1977 graduate of Hereford High School.

His father, Alfred High Sr., lives in Childress.

Navy Radioman 2nd Class Frank F. Mancillas, son of Atanacio F. and Blasa R. Mancillas of 401 Mable has departed for a deployment to the Western Pacific and recently participated in exercise "Rimpac 80" in the Pacific Ocean.

He is a crewmember aboard the aircraft carrier USS Constellation, homeported in San Diego. While deployed, his ship is operating as a unit of the U.S. 7th Fleet.

"Rimpac 80" was a major Fleet exercise which involved 41 ships, 200 aircraft and 20,000 sailors and airmen from Australia, Canada, Japan, New Zealand and the U.S.

The Constellation is 1,062 feet long, carries a crew of 2,800 and can accommodate 2,150 personnel and 85 aircraft assigned to an attack aircraft wing.

A 1975 graduate of Hereford High School, Mancillas joined the Navy in December 1976.

Marine Lance Cpl. Murray K. Hazlett, son of Kenneth E. and Shirley B. Hazlett of 113 Aspen, has reported for duty at El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana, Calif.

A 1976 graduate of Hereford High School, he joined the Marine Corps in January 1979.

Spec. 5 Garry N. Embry, son-in-law of Mrs. Nell Pope, Route 3, recently was assigned to the 34th Field Artillery at Fort Sill, Okla.

Embry's wife, Judy, is with him near the fort.

Pvt. Joseph L. Orthman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Orthman, 612 Irving, recently completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Marine Sgt. Douglas E. Arntt, whose wife, Elsa, is the daughter of Daniel M. Aguirre of 150 Irving, has reenlisted for four years while serving with 2nd Force Service Support Group, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

He joined the Marine Corps in December 1973.

Marine Lance Cpl. Floyd L. Brown, son of Lester and Alice Brown of 612 Irving has been promoted to his present rank while serving at the Marine Barracks, Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

A 1979 graduate of Hereford High School, he joined the Marine Corps in January 1979.

Wes Klett Named Band Commander

COLLEGE STATION — Wes Klett of Hereford has been named commander of "B" Infantry Band in Texas A&M University's 1980-81 Corps of Cadets.

He officially takes the post next fall, as a senior.

The assignment is one of the most sensitive leadership jobs in the cadet-operated Corps, say military science professors. Along with 41 other cadet officers, company, squadron or battery commanders have the most direct leadership contact with underclassmen in the 2,100-member Cadet Corps. They will hold the rank of cadet major and be among 60 cadet commanders.

The Corps provides a leadership lab for cadets in Air force, Army, Marine Corps and Navy officer-commissioning programs at Texas A&M, but is organized separately from the ROTC programs. Many of its graduates go on to military assignment as career officers. Others accept research commissions upon graduation.

Other uniformed Texas A&M students are not officer candidates but join the Corps for the leadership training.

Son of Dr. and Mrs. Hollis Klett of 2026 Plains, the "B" Band commander majors in animal science and is a 1977 graduate of Panhandle High School.

THE HOT DOG VENDOR

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs.

He sold very good hot dogs.

He put up signs along the highway and advertised in the newspaper telling how good they were.

He stood on the side of the road and cried:

"Buy a hot dog, Mister?"

And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders.

He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade.

He finally got his son home from college to help him out.

But then something happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio and watching TV?"

There's a big depression.

The foreign situation is terrible.

The domestic situation is worse."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he listens to the radio and watches TV and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his signs and cancelled his newspaper ads and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs. And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son" the father said to the boy.

"We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

Fires 66 for Share of Masters Lead

Mitchell Breaks Foreign Stranglehold

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jeff Mitchell, a self-taught player who got his start on a 9-hole course with a $10 set of used clubs, was cast in the unlikely role of America's standardbearer Thursday.

The long-hitting Texan became the only U.S. player to break a foreign stranglehold in the opening round of the 44th Masters golf tournament when he claimed a share of the lead with a 6-under par 66.

It came at the end of a day dominated by tricky, swirling winds that apparently had been conquered by only two players — Australian David Graham, the PGA champion, and Spain's Seve Ballesteros, the British Open winner — who had fashioned their 66s much earlier in the day.

Mitchell, a strapping 25-year-old, gained his share of the lead over the 7,040-yard Augusta National Golf Club course with the best putting of his career and the advice of his veteran caddy, Robert "Cigarette" Jones.

"It's almost like a dream come true," said Mitchell, who was a fourth-year Monday morning qualifying "rabbit" until he won a Masters invitation with his first four victory in the Phoenix Open earlier this season.

"This has to be one of the best putting rounds I've ever had," added Mitchell, who had an impressive nine 3s on his scorecard. "If I keep putting like I putted today, I'd say I have a real good chance."

He called Jones, his tour caddy, "the best caddy in Augusta. He's been here a long time. I think he's the honorary caddy master around here. He told me all about this course. He's been helping me read the greens a lot."

Mitchell foresaw an outstanding putting round when he salvaged a par with a 20-footer on the second hole. He had birdie putts of 18, 12 and 30 feet on the frontside and came back with a pair in the 1-5-foot range before knocking in a 25-footer on the final hole in the final playing group of the day.

The leaders enjoyed a 2-shot advantage over Jack Newton, another Australian, and former U.S. Open champion Hubert Green.

There were two other Americans deadlocked in sixth place at 69, Tom Kite and Larry Nelson, but the biggest story had been the collapse of some of the game's top names.

Jack Nicklaus, on the Nicklaus, a five-time Masters champion. "But the first year I won here, I started with a 74."

Then there was Tom Watson, Player of the Year in each of the last three seasons, who had a had a 73 and declared, "There were no highlights. I didn't play well at all."

But, Watson wasn't giving up.

"Your feel comes and goes from day-to-day," he said. "I can get back on track."

And, Tom Weiskopf, a four-time Masters runnerup, set an unwanted Masters record when he plunked five shots into Rae's Creek along the par 3 12th green, taking a 13 on the hole a finishing with a fat 85 for the day.

"It is extremely embarassing," he said. "But I'll be there to tee off tomorrow."

Graham, an international star with victories on five continents, also fired his 66 without a bogey, knocking in three birdie putts of six feet or less, two more at 12 feet and finally a 15-footer on the par 5 15th.

The wind, he said, didn't bother him.

"You never get a day in Australia where the wind doesn't blow, so you learn to play in the wind," said Graham, who has made his home in the U.S. for the last 10 years because he considers this "the hub of golf" where the best players perform.

"You learn so much playing on the U.S. tour," he said.

"I was looking for the strikeout and then the ground ball, in that order." As it was, Manager Dick Howser of the New York Yankees didn't get either from Rich Gossage Thursday night.

All he got was a wild pitch with the bases loaded from his ace reliever and a number in the loss column.

Gossage came into the game in relief of Tom Underwood in the 12th with one out and proceeded to throw his only pitch low and away from catcher Rick Cerone. The ball bounced to the backstop, allowing Mickey Rivers to race home from third with the only run of the game.

"Boy, I can find a way to mess them up," said Gossage. "I wanted to get the ball down. If (Richie Zisk) did hit it, I wanted him to hit it on the ground."

Starting pitchers Jon Matlack of the Rangers and Ron Guidry of the Yankees dueled brilliantly for nine innings before turning the game over to relievers.

Matlack yielded only three hits and retired the last 18 hitters he faced before giving way to Jim Kern in the 10th. Matlack, who struck out five and walked none, retired 25 of the last 26 batters he faced.

Guidry allowed two singles, retiring the final 12 batters and 20 of the last 21. He struck out four and permitted no walks before he was relieved by Underwood in the bottom of the 10th.

In other American League action, the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Chicago White Sox 5-3; the Detroit Tigers beat the Kansas City Royals

5-1; the Milwaukee Brewers outscored the Boston Red Sox 9-5 and the Minnesota Twins stopped the Oakland A's 9-7 in 12 innings. Cleveland and California, open tonight in Anaheim.

Orleans 5, White Sox 3

Eddie Murray's two-run double keyed a four-run first inning that carried Baltimore and Jim Palmer over Chicago. Palmer, an eight-time 20-game winner, posted his 226th career victory with late relief help from Tim Stoddard.

Tigers 5, Royals 1

Rookie Kirk Gibson hit a home run and a triple, and Jack Morris tossed a three-hitter to lead Detroit over Kansas City. Gibson smashed a solo homer to tie the score in the fourth, and tripled off loser Dennis Leonard to ignite a three-run uprising in the sixth.

Twins 9, A's 7

Roy Smalley and Rick Soffel hit solo homers in the 12th to lead Minnesota over Oakland in Billy Martin's first game as the A's manager. Smalley led off the Twins' 12th with a homer to right field off Steve McCatty after going hitless his first five at-bats. Soffel homered with two outs for his third hit of the game.

Hawks Topple 76ers To Keep NBA Playoff Contention Alive

ATLANTA (AP) — Tiny Charlie Criss, Atlanta's inspirational mighty mite, combined with two of his towering teammates Thursday night to lift the Hawks back into contention in their National Basketball Association playoff with the Philadelphia 76ers.

Criss, the smallest player in the NBA at 5 feet 8, slithered through the 76ers for 11 of his 16 points in the final period to power the Hawks to a 105-93 triumph and narrow Philadelphia's lead to 2-1 in the best-of-seven series.

Game No. 4 will be played in Atlanta Sunday. The 76ers swept the first two games in Philadelphia.

"Criss really gave them life," said Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham. "The guy's got a heart as big as anyone I've ever seen. That's why he's in this league. We're going to have to make a slight adjustment for him."

Wayne "Tree" Rollins, the biggest Hawk at 7 feet 1, and his backup at center Steve Hawes, also were devastating.

"Those three all played an outstanding game. Hawes and Rollins had 38 points between them and 30 rebounds. Another big key was they had no turnovers and 16 offensive rebounds between the two of them," said Cunningham.

Hawes was Atlanta's leading scorer with 20 points and added 13 rebounds and six assists, while Rollins had 18 points, 17 rebounds and six blocked shots. Criss also had six assists.

Julius Erving led Philadelphia with 26 points and Lionel Hollins added 22 points.

The other three playoff series resume tonight, with the Seattle SuperSonics at the Milwaukee Bucks, the Los Angeles Lakers at the Phoenix Suns and the Houston Rockets at the Boston Celtics.

The Bucks and Sonics split a pair of overtime games in Seattle, and although the series has shifted sites, Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson is playing down the home-court advantage.

"We have both been able to win on the road, and both of us have been able to win at home," he said. "I wouldn't say we have established a home-court advantage of any sort."

The home court has been a big advantage in games between Los Angeles and Phoenix. The Lakers have won 20 of the last 22 meetings at Los Angeles, but the Suns have taken 21 of the last 23 at Phoenix.

The Lakers won the first two games of this series on their home floor, but the Suns shot 59.5 percent from the field and extended Los Angeles to overtime before losing, the second game.

Houston knows it must stop Boston's running game if it is to even its series with the Celtics. But that's something the Rockets have been unable to do, losing all six of their meetings during the regular season and dropping the series opener 119-101, a game in which Boston dominated play around the boards.

"We know we're spotting them quickness, but when you're spotting them aggressiveness and intensity, there's no way you can beat them," said Rockets Coach Del Harris. "We've got to get tougher physically and play with some intensity."

Jr. High Netters Fare Well In Tourney

The Hereford Jr. High tennis team composed of netters from both La Plata and Stanton Jr. High rounded out play with Abernathy Thursday holding a 5-3 decision over the Antelopes in the boys singles division, 2-4 in the girls singles competition and 1-1 in both boys and girls doubles action.

Hereford netter Blair Rogers cinched a win over Abernathy's Mike Griffen with straight set victories 6-4, 6-0 to lead the way in the boys singles division while Mike Allred capped a victory over Mike Hartman 6-1, 6-4. Donnie Anderson whipped Ted Beard 6-4, 6-3, Eddie Aguilar overrode Tony Ortiz 6-2, 6-1 and Brian Paetzold won his affair 6-3, 9-7, 6-1.

In the girls division, Vanessa Sims stifled Ruth Rosalez in straight set victories 6-1, 6-0 while Whitney Parris defeated Antelope netter Garcia 6-3, 3-6, 5-0.

Robbie Snyder and Mike Allred combined their talents once more in the boys doubles competition and routed Abernathy's Ortiz-Hartman duo 7-5.

Hereford combo Gentry-Sims upended duo Rozalez and McKenzie in their match of the day 6-2 for the only victory accumulated in the girl's segment of doubles play.

The Hereford tennis team currently holds a 1-1 ledger in season play and is scheduled to meet the Levelland Lobos Monday in the squad's next duel meet of the year.

Goss Grabs Clinches 4 Runs To Lead Way for Shreveport

By The Associated Press

It was home run night as the Texas League season opened with homers figuring in the outcome of all four games.

A grand slam homer by Rich Goss provided four of Shreveport's 6 runs in a 6-5 victory over Arkansas Thursday night.

In other Texas League action, San Antonio beat Midland, 17-15, in a game where 6 balls went sailing out of the park, Tulsa beat Jackson, 7-1, and Amarillo slipped past El Paso, 5-3.

Goss' homer came in the second inning and Shreveport wound up its scoring for the night in the third inning when catcher Jeff Ransom had a two-run double.

Arkansas got a three-run homer from catcher George Bjorkman and a solo homer by Fred Tisdale. Mark Calvert, who struck out 6 and gave up 5 hits, was the winning pitcher. Starter Al Olmstead, who gave up all 6 runs, was the loser.

A 3-run homer by right-fielder Mike Bradley and a solo homer by shortstop Alex Traveras came back-to-back in the eighth inning as San Antonio beat Midland, 17-15, in a real slugfest. San Antonio had got a 3-run homer from second baseman Larry Fobb in the fourth inning.

Midland rightfielder Tom Grant had two home runs and first baseman Joe Hicks added another in a losing cause.

Brian Holton was the winning pitcher. The loser was John Perlman.

Hungry Cubans Want to Leave Homeland

MIAMI (AP) — While their relatives chomp on quarter-pounders in Miami hamburger joints, families in Cuba carefully ration the quarter-pound of meat that must last them 10 days.

While their relatives run thriving shops and restaurants or climb the ladders of American business, workers in Cuba find their jobs dull and frustrating, with little prospect for bettering themselves.

While Miami Cubans wear expensive designer jeans and gaudy jewelry, the people in Cuba wear plain-colored, poorly made clothes.

A gloomy portrait of life in Cuba emerges from conversations with the newest refugees to arrive here, and even recent Cuban government statements admit the island nation is staggering in its 21st year under President Fidel Castro.

There have been reports from Cuba of increased street crime, worker absenteeism and black market activities.

Some 10,000 Cubans — made desperate by a worsening economy and freshly aware of a better life available elsewhere — have been jammed into the compound of the Peruvian embassy in Havana since last weekend. The human flood began when six Cubans crashed a bus through the embassy gates seeking asylum, and Castro removed guards from the embassy area. The Cuban government calls the people at the embassy "vagrants and bums" and says they may leave. Some Cuba-watchers say they believe Castro is hoping to end his nation's malaise by allowing such "anti-social" refugees to emigrate.

"I think that the events (at the Peruvian embassy) are playing more or less as Castro wanted them to play," said Harvard University professor Jorge Dominguez, author of several books on Cuba.

"The people there are so desperate to leave, they will do anything. This is the opportunity they have been waiting for," said Benjamin Valdes Perez, a former political prisoner.

"Some people from my hometown of Artemisa ran all the way to Havana when they heard the news," Perez said. Artemisa is about 30 miles southwest of Havana.

"Thousands of young people are trying to leave. There is nothing for them there," said Jose Mario Campos, 28. He said Cuban youths don't have the sentimental attachment to the island of their parents.

Campos, who arrived here last week with four other refugees after a daring escape aboard an inner-tube raft, is one of a growing number of Cuban "boat people" arriving in the United States in the past six months.

Perez, who spent 10 years in a Cuban prison for treason, arrived here Monday on a flight carrying other prisoners released under a program begun two years ago. Some 8,000 former prisoners have emigrated to the United States under a 1978 agreement.

Perez carried a list of Miami exiles he was asked to contact by relatives in Cuba. He said rumors are rampant that Castro will soon open a port to all Cubans wishing to leave.

In 1965, Castro reacted to a series of boat escapes by opening the northern port of Camarioca. Over 5,000 Cubans were picked up by boats rented or borrowed by members of southern Florida's Cuban exile population, which now numbers half a million persons.

Another apparent factor in the unrest is a program that has allowed more than 100,000 exiles to visit their homeland since 1978. Their glowing portrait of life in America differs with the Castro government's version: that Cubans in the United States live a disgraceful ghetto life.

"When they talk to their families, they learn how much worse the Cuban economy is, and they then want to live in Miami," said exile leader Dr. Diego Medina.

"For 20 years the people have lived in hunger, and they can't take it any more. Thousands — millions — want to leave," said Abelardo Zamora, 35, who served five years in prison for alleged sabotage.

"People get tired of working because the future doesn't get better. Things keep getting worse."

"In one month, a family must live on five pounds of rice, 20 ounces of grain, three quarter-pounds of meat. There are a lot of eggs, but there is not enough of anything else," Zamora said.

Zamora said Castro's frank state-of-the-union address last December increased the Cubans' despair, and that his countrymen were stunned when some 20,000 cigar industry workers were laid off last month after disease ruined 50 percent of the country's tobacco crop.

In addition, some 20 percent of this year's sugar crop has been devastated by fungus, officials say.

Castro told a government assembly in December that his country had become increasingly dependent on the Soviet Union. He expressed his dismay over low production standards in everything from sugar cane to clothes-making, and "evident resistance" of the people to government policy.

Castro's brother Raul, in a speech last fall, criticized Cuban workers for "lack of discipline and control, irresponsibility, negligence and cronyism."

"The Cuban people are convinced that they are living in a critical present and will have an even worse future. That belief was reaffirmed by Castro himself," said Dr. Salvador Lew, president of Spanish-language Miami radio station WQBA.

Chrysler Raises Estimate Of Loss to $750 Million

DETROIT (AP) — Struggling Chrysler Corp., blaming its plight on "the deteriorating economy," raised its 1980 loss estimate to $750 million — just hours after a government board reported the automaker would seek new ground rules for obtaining $1.5 billion in needed federal loan guarantees.

The new loss projection released Thursday is $100 million more than previous estimates and $250 million higher than Chrysler's forecast of just two months ago.

According to the board report, the No. 3 automaker "seriously underestimated its need for federal assistance" and will not be able to meet the requirements for $1.5 billion in federal loan guarantees in the way Congress designed the program.

Chrysler said it needs more of its medicine now, asking that a third of those guarantees be given this year, up from the $200 million the automaker estimated in February.

Chrysler last year lost $1.097 billion, the largest corporate loss in U.S. history.

The company blamed its troubles on "the deteriorating economy" and tight money that has kept dealers and customers from buying.

The government's opinion came in a report to Congress that said Chrysler "has made considerable progress" in recent months at operating and financing plans to correct problems, but "the seriousness of its situation is not to be underestimated."

The 21-page report was the first by the Chrysler Corp. Loan Guarantee Board since Congress approved the bailout in December. The board must approve Chrysler's program before the loan guarantees can be issued. It has the authority to change the requirements.

The board said Chrysler's ideas on how it would stand up to its competition "may be too optimistic."

Chrysler's market share fell in the first quarter, from 10.6 percent in the same period of 1979 to 9.5 percent. In March, however, the share was 10.5 percent, the amount the company says it must maintain to stay afloat. In the final 10 days of March, it got 11.5 percent.

That was, Chrysler's best showing since last summer, but analysts attributed the boost to a customer rebate program which has been continued. And market share means less when the market is in a slump.

Chrysler said it will ask the Carter administration to change the rules so it can qualify for the federal loan guarantees. The company wants to cut from $400 million to $209 million the amount it must get from banks that have been unwilling to extend new credit.

In exchange, the corporation said it would sell $210 million more in assets than the $300 million the loan-guarantee law requires. Chrysler also said it would raise $169 million in cash through new loans and loan concessions from foreign creditors.

The company last week said its 150 lenders had given "preliminary concurrence" to its refinancing proposals.

The board said only that "the current status of negotiations does not provide a basis for determining whether the plan will be achieved and would be consistent with the statutory requirements."

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Government troops drove off bands of guerrillas who killed 25 peasants and burned fields in rural areas around the capital, national guard spokesmen said.

"We know the subversives captured peasants and later executed them," a national guard spokesman said Thursday at Cojutepeque, a town 45 miles northwest of the capital where the government said leftists killed 14 people Wednesday as "vengeance against peasants who refuse to cooperate." Defense Minister Col. Jose Guillermo Garcia said guardsmen had repelled leftist guerrillas attacking Chalatenango, a town 50 miles northeast of the capital.

"The army has all parts of the country under control," Garcia said. Political violence has claimed an estimated 1,000 lives in this tiny Central American country this year as leftists fight to impose a Marxist government, rightists struggle to preserve the privileges of a tiny elite, and the government seeks to institute reforms to avert full-scale civil war.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Workers recovered the partially burned corpse of Anastasio Somoza Garcia, the father of former President Anastasio Somoza Debayle who ordered the body cremated shortly before he was overthrown last year.

The local newspaper La Prensa on Thursday published photographs of the partially opened crypt, the charred coffin and partially burned remains. The elder Somoza founded the family dynasty in 1936, and his sons Luis and Anastasio ruled until July 16, 1979, when the dynasty ended in a civil war that claimed an estimated 50,000 lives. The father was assassinated Sept. 21, 1956, and Luis died of a heart attack in 1967.

HONG KONG (AP) — Intelligence sources say they have evidence Vietnam's Communist regime may be preparing for another mass expulsion of ethnic Chinese from the nation, which could lead to another wave of "boat people." As evidence, the sources cited reports that a number of boats were being built in Vietnamese ports, possible to carry refugees.

Hong Kong government officials declined to comment on reports they were preparing to cope with a new exodus. Last year, tens of thousands of ethnic Chinese fled Vietnam in boats, and many are believed to have perished at sea. Of the more than 70,000 that arrived in Hong Kong, 30,000 have resettled elsewhere.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — A hand grenade thrown into a crowd watching an open-air film killed 17 people and seriously injured 28 others in southeastern Thailand, authorities said.

LEGAL NOTICE
On or about March 26, 1980, Pioneer Natural Gas Company ("Pioneer") a division of Pioneer Corporation, filed a Statement of Intent with the Railroad Commission of Texas proposing to increase natural gas rates to the following large volume special contract customers:
American Cotton Growers
Celanese Chemical Company
Dorchem, Inc.
Hi Plains Feed Yard, Inc.
Plainview Oil Mill, Ltd.
Lubbock Beef Processors, Inc.
Occidental Chemical Company
Tal Pro, Inc.
Texas Pipe Line Company
The proposed rate change, which has been agreed to by these customers, consists of an increase from 29.92¢ per Mcf to 33.90¢ per Mcf above Pioneer's cost of gas plus certain adjustments for changes in the Consumer Price Index. The rate change is to become effective thirty-five (35) days after filing of the aforesaid Statement of Intent, or such other date as is permitted by the Railroad Commission.
The increase will not constitute a "major change" in rates as defined in Section 43(b) of Article 1446c, V.A.T.C.S., and will not affect any of Pioneer's customers other than those listed herein.

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
He can't build muscles

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm a 16-year-old male, I'm 5 feet 7 and weigh 140 pounds. About a year ago I went on a barbell exercise program and have been exercising regularly for about an hour on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. My problem is that I cannot build muscle. Also I'm trying to lose some weight and cannot succeed. I thought it might be due to an inadequate diet but I wasn't sure. I eat mostly carbohydrates and I try to eat a correct diet but it doesn't seem to help. Can you give me any advice?

DEAR READER - The two most important aspects of building muscle are the type of exercises and manner in which you do them and the kind of diet that you eat. You should be able to develop muscles on an exercise program three days a week provided it's properly designed. The right exercises, of course, are strength exercises, which include barbells or any of the other devices available in many health clubs and gymnasiums that you can use to contract the muscles against resistance. Some enthusiasts do too much exercise when they're trying to grow muscles. Exercise does use calories and the individual who is doing weight training to develop arm muscles and then spends an excessive amount of time running may burn up the calories that he needs to help build the muscles.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 5-4, Weight Training for Energy and Weight Control. It will give you some helpful information on the types of exercise programs needed and how the diet influences your progress. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Regarding your diet, it should be planned in such a way to give you at least 100 grams of good quality protein a day during the time that you're trying to grow muscles. It also should contain enough calories so that you won't use up that protein simply as fuel. A reasonable amount of the protein ought to be available for new muscle building.

That does not mean that you need a lot of protein supplements or special foods that are sometimes advocated. You can get that amount of good quality protein from lean red meat, poultry or fish. And you can also get a lot of good protein from good fortified skim milk. I presume that when you say you want to lose weight that you mean you want to get rid of some excess fat that's in places where you don't want it. The calories from that fat can be used as a source of energy. The fat itself can't be converted to protein but since the fat will be used for energy, it spares the protein in your diet, making the protein available for building muscles.

While you're trying to build your muscles if you eat enough calories it's certainly all right for you to develop other exercise programs as well. In fact, I usually favor a well-rounded exercise program that includes strength exercises, flexibility exercises and endurance exercises. That way not only will you develop good muscles but you'll develop a good heart and lungs and a healthy, flexible body.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Could you kindly explain what triglycerides are in terms a lay person can understand. My recent physical showed that the triglycerides level had increased from 146 to 333 in two-and-a-half years. My doctor tried to explain it to me but I didn't understand. My blood pressure was 150 over 78 and I'm 5 feet 7 and weigh 165 pounds. I'm 70 years old.

DEAR READER - Triglyceride is a chemical name for fat. Most of the body fat you have underneath your skin is in the form of triglycerides. So whenever you hear the word triglyceride just think of fat. Triglycerides tend to be higher in the blood of people who are overweight.

FAITH TEACHES US THE MEANING OF REAL WEALTH

From the great love of money, the evil that springs is the same kind of trouble that avarice brings. With the habit of wanting material things That we usually cannot afford. When we shorten our lives with all work and no play, Then our taxes increase while the years fade away; And the loss of our health is a high price to pay For excessive financial reward. If you'll go to the Church of whatever your creed, There's a lesson you'll learn on the evils of greed; For the only true riches that you'll ever need Will be found in the love of the Lord!

— Gloria Nowak

"Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy."
— I Timothy 6:17

Heaven does not choose its elect from among the great and wealthy.
— William M. Thackeray
